

Dear School Board Member,

Today I'm writing to thank you for being committed to what is best for our children and your students. I also want to call your attention to a matter of grave concern to many people which I'm sure is your concern as well.

For nearly eight years now, we have all witnessed a rogue administration promoting the agenda of vocal, deep-pocketed activists to put in place social engineering policies by creating laws and policies out of thin air and giving special rights to micro-minorities such as the transgender population. This leaves most families wondering how to navigate an ever-changing culture and, quite frankly, if they should choose a different mode of education for their children.

I would ask that you counter these initiatives, not only for family protection but for the preservation of natural law. You may know a primary purpose of early schools was to teach all children in America to read the Bible. It says, "He (meaning God) created them male and female and blessed them." (Genesis 5:2) We believe the government, founded by men who believed in God, has been hijacked by those who reject God. They want to rule despotically over you and those whom you serve and force on all families and children dangerous social engineering concepts and rules that offend people of faith and destroy families.

We ask you to seriously consider these issues as you are pressed to implement "guidance."

- "Gender identity" activists have shown a willingness to systematically destroy the very bedrock of our country—the nuclear family—for some utopian dream.
- When sexually developed men can come into any public bathroom, school shower or dressing area and invade the privacy of women how can a woman or little girl feel safe? If someone gets attacked because of your policies, deep pockets may not help.
- Cases are already mounting across the country of predators intimidating and attacking women in school facilities. If your own wife, daughter, sister or mother was threatened, don't you believe the first responsibility of you have, as a board member should be to not enable perversion or encourage potential predators?
- On May 13, 2016, the Obama Departments of Education and Justice issued what many called a "decree" for schools (and now hospitals) to change their restroom, locker room and shower room policies to remain gender open based upon intent—not biology.
- Most families we talk to see nothing correct about a "guidance" like this. The threat to take away school money (our tax dollars) from schools and students if compliance to this social engineering experiment is withheld seems Orwellian, cruel to children and extremely heavy-handed.

I believe that being “human” means God created a physical reality good for human beings and reflective of whom He is. It took two beings—man and woman—to totally reflect His image. As creatures made in the image of God, sexual difference matters. God established identities and personal values as the foundation of a marriage that can produce the next generations of students. I believe only love expressed through the complimentary sexual differences of husband and wife is ordained as the method to create new life and maintain society.

Some in government who don’t believe in God or respect His unique creation want to encourage individuals to remake themselves into another image. This neo-pagan idea means they can choose any idea of sexual expression to use or abuse their bodies. However, their God-given chromosomes, paired as XX or XY, don’t change.

The “transgender” ideology is grounded in the idea of the body gender as non-essential to our being. Therefore, “gender” is fluid--a mere social construct. A man may be “trapped” in a woman’s body, or vice versa. While reconstructive surgery can make one look different on the outside, the roles assigned to men and women do not change over time in God’s eyes.

The spiritual transformation called for by Jesus Christ in the Bible is far better than any change that will come from social engineering. It makes sense of our humanity and restores our dignity. Our bodies are God’s good gift to us—vessels by which we may give Him glory as we work to provide for our families and help others.

Not only are there the costs that come from not providing protection to our citizens and progeny, transgender people have a suicide rate 20 times that of non-transgender people. When worked out, these neo-pagan ideas may sear the conscious of the next generation and hasten our national decline.

I am fervently praying that you will commit to protecting families in our society in accordance with God’s Word. I strongly believe the harmful, dangerous and unnecessary policies inflicted on us by rogue administrations catering to a few rather than protecting the many will weaken rather than strengthen our nation.

Sincerely,
