Health Education for Students With Visual Impairments

The Future Belongs to Everyone.

Every student should have access to a quality and comprehensive health education. APH developed this guidebook specifically for teachers who provide instruction to students with visual impairments, ages 5 through 21.

Although the guidebook provides ways to make many aspects of health education accessible to students with visual impairments, it does not provide a comprehensive curriculum that covers all areas of health education.

Features and Benefits

- Includes chapters on the following topics:
  - Diet and Nutrition
  - Personal Health
  - Sex Education
  - Communicable and Noncommunicable Diseases and Disease Prevention
  - Injury Prevention and Safety
- Reflects the National Health Education Standards and the National Sexuality Education Standards.
- Supports many areas of the Expanded Core Curriculum.
- Designed to support particular needs that arise within existing health education curricula when teaching students with visual impairments in a school or a specific course or program.
- Guidebook and accompanying videos (on flash drive) assist teachers in providing meaningful experiences in health education instruction within the realm of their particular school curriculum.
- Accessible html and brf versions of the guidebook text are included.

Note: This guidebook is intended for teachers only. APH does not recommend that any student read this guidebook or view the accompanying videos.

Here's what our field testers had to say:

"Lots of great information and tools; teachers should be able to find something useful and appropriate for any student, any age, any modification."

"This resource was very well made and presented. It is up to each school and teacher to determine what/when/how this manual's material is appropriate."
