In case of a cracked ELDEN RING.exe file, the game will run after you register your administrator account. In my field, these look like a lot of fun! If I were given a choice, I'd spend most of my time in 1 or 2, and save my time and energy for 3 and 4. Can't you reach any of the people in 1 and 2 using notes? I agree with you that 1-4 are, for the most part, not quite so familiar to the non-nerds, but the level of detail in these rooms is exactly what makes the nerd world so much fun to be a part of. The rooms are teeming with details - what you mentioned above, how the shelving is marked, the way the furniture is arranged, etc. I like 1 and 2 also, especially 2. There's so much more to see in there I want to go in and look closer at, and have already put it aside to come back to later. 3 and 4 are also great, but way too many to explore. If you can pick up a couple more things before making 4, go for it - I'm really jealous! I also have to agree with Flutter on this. There's a huge amount of detail in these rooms that I'd love to explore, but I'd need the time to do that. Each room is unique, and most of it has way too many things in it for me to go through quickly. However, I'd love to come back and take more time and really get to see everything - that's the true trick to this amazing game. Just a small point of order: there are just three rooms - 1, 2, and 3. 4 is actually the one room that has a fifth layer of detail, and 5 and 6 also have some extra details in them. The rooms in this room sets are not canon. They are just different kinds

The World's Most Revered Electronic Arts Continue Trying to Destroy Gamers...

The World's Most Revered Electronic Arts continue trying to destroy the life and liberty of gamers everywhere. According to a lawsuit filed today by the Consumer's Legal Protection Bureau (CLPB) the Electronic Arts (EA) is charging $60 to download a pirated copy of NBA 2K11. EA's website for this game shows a whopping $60 price tag for a new player. Is this just an attempt to see how many people will try to scam people for money?

It's always nice to hear a balanced perspective.
