There are not enough facts known about what type of data center is going in, who the clients are going to be and what exactly is going to be done. They need to be put a 6 month moratorium on this and do a feasibility study about what is actually going to be built. If they can't get the data they need they need to tell them to pound sand. You can't make informed decisions when you are pumping propaganda from each side. The truth is somewhere in the middle and that is what needs to be found out.
