Please vote No on allowing this or any other data center. Based on the information provided with regards to the amount of water required I don't see why there is any debate to allow it.

Water is always a touchy subject around here, just a few examples listed below:
Just a few short years ago water was so scarce residents weren't allowed to wash their cars or water their lawns. Since then we have seen nearly 40% population growth with no apparent plans to curb population growth.
Our water has been fought over for decades by 3 states.
Gwinnett County has been "illegally sourcing" our lake water.
Currently, we are dealing with numerous unknown (or unwilling to be released) issues withing our water source. The water smells and tastes bad, has been flagged by independent researchers for being of poor quality and containing toxins.
And... this is just the beginning of our water woes....

The commonsense practice sure seems to point towards a pause any expansion (especially those aimed to consume large amounts of water) and really focus on the quality of our water and its delivery infrastructure.

Hall county is promoted as having pride in being a lake community, but that does not appear to be the truth in regards to its water consumption and quality.

The water debate is just one of many reasons to not allow this data center.
