EXCELLENCE IN EDUCATION & COMMUNITY CONFERENCE

Advancing Equity through Teaching and Learning: Practices and Possibilities

Call For Proposals Deadline: Friday, February 16, 2025

The Excellence in Education and Community Conference (EECC '25), hosted by CUNY Lehman College's Center for Teaching and Learning, invites students, instructors, staff, and Bronx community members from all disciplines and sectors to submit proposals. We seek topics that promote equity, raise awareness, and address societal and community barriers through innovative teaching, learning, and outreach. Note: This call welcomes proposals from underrepresented disciplines, studies, and relevant organizations in the local Bronx community.

Theme: Advancing Equity through Teaching and Learning: Practices and Possibilities

This inclusive theme recognizes how developments in teaching and learning among students, instructors, and staff, as well as the local Bronx community, can tackle emergent topics across areas, such as:

- Food & Housing Insecurity, Environmental Poverty
- Biases in Healthcare (e.g. Access, Mental Health, Cultural/Social Barriers)
- Xenophobia and Barriers to Immigration
- Barriers to Education and the Arts, Barriers to Information & Digital Divide

Sessions

We propose a diverse range of session types to accommodate varying presentation styles and engagement approaches, such as:

- Lehman Lightning Talks (10-minutes)
- Co-presentations (Instructors and Students and/or Staff)
- Interactive Workshops
- Live Poster and Paper Presentations
- Live Demonstrations,
- Panels With Time For Q&A,
- Multi-modal Presentations (E.G. Pre-recorded Sessions, Listening Sessions, Performances, Installations)

Through pedagogical approaches, course projects, student-teaching partnerships, field experiences, and more, this theme recognizes the contributions and value of teaching and learning in higher education and society.

Important Dates

- Deadline for CFP: Sunday, February 16, 2025
- Notification of acceptance: Monday, March 03, 2025
