THE MOSCOW CLUB

Assigned to examine a portentous tape sneaked out of Moscow by a mole, CIA Kremlinologist Charlie Stone finds himself in an espionage investigation of staggering complexity. As he hops among three continents, often the target of both the KGB and the CIA, Stone succeeds in vindicating his father, branded a traitor by McCarthy, while nosing out a plot by the head of the KGB to stage a violent coup during a Moscow summit that will end glasnost and set the world on its ear.

"Superbly exciting.... Surpasses both Forsyth and Ludlum."

—Publishers Weekly

EXTRAORDINARY POWERS

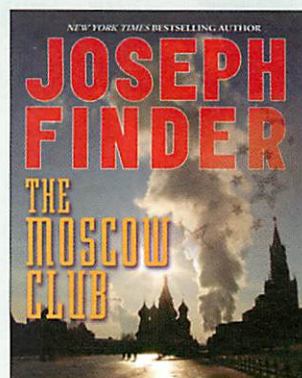

Harrison Sinclair, director of the CIA, has been killed in a car accident. His son-in-law, Ben Ellison—an attorney and ex-agent—instantly hears rumors of sinister forces within the Agency. The hunt for the truth will rush Ben headlong into a web of conspiracy beyond his control, where he is compelled back into the employ of the CIA, and lured into a top-secret espionage project in telepathy that will endow him with "extraordinary powers"...

*"Joseph Finder's first novel, The Moscow Club, instantly established him as one of the finest writers of espionage novels; Extraordinary Powers is even better.... Finder is perhaps the foremost chronicler of the new world order. Very well-written, ingeniously plotted, fast-paced, and frighteningly credible."*

FRAGMENTSMARILYN MONROE

EDITED BY STANLEY BUCHTHAL AND BERNARD COMMENT

An extraordinary, unprecedented collection of private writings from one of the twentieth century's greatest stars

Marilyn Monroe's image is so universal that we can't help but believe that we know all there is to know of her. But what of the other Marilyn? Beyond the headlines was a woman far more curious, searching, and hopeful than the one the world got to know.

Now, for the first time, we can meet this private Marilyn and get to know her in a way we never have before. Fragments is an unprecedented collection of artifacts—notes to herself, letters, and even poems. The easy grace and deceptive lightness that made her performances so memorable emerge here, as does the simmering tragedy that made her last appearances so heartbreaking.

MARILYN MONROE was the defining actress of her age. Acclaimed for her performances in Some Like it Hot, The Seven Year Itch, and many other films, Monroe also studied with Lee Strasberg at the Actors Studio. She died in 1962.

DR. RICK BRINKMAN AND
DR. RICK KIRSCHNER

Read by the authors

Available in audio for the first time, this classic shows how to bring out the best in people at their worst. Now totally revised for a new generation of bothersome behaviors.

With their 1994 international bestseller, Drs. Rick Brinkman and Rick Kirschner armed a civility-starved world with no-nonsense strategies for dealing with difficult people with tact and skill. Since then, the world has changed dramatically: technology designed to bring people closer together has only made it that much harder to avoid “people you can’t stand.”

At best, such people can make life stressful and unpleasant. At worst, they can keep you from achieving important goals. The good news is that you don’t have to let them do either!

Updated and revised for the digital age, this new edition of Brinkman and Kirschner’s bestselling guide shows readers how to successfully combat the whiners, grenades, tanks, snipers, close-talkers, pedants, and other rude, crude, and inconsiderate people who can ruin your day at work, in stores, on the street, in restaurants, at the movies, in waiting rooms, by fax, phone, email, and online.

DR. RICK BRINKMAN AND DR. RICK KIRSCHNER are naturopathic physicians, professional speakers and trainers, and the coauthors of bestselling audios and videos.

THE SQUEAKY WHEEL

GUY WINCH, PhD

Read by Sean Runnette

How to complain effectively to get the results you want

Psychotherapist Guy Winch offers practical and psychologically grounded advice on how to determine what to complain about and what to let slide. He demonstrates how to convey our complaints in ways that encourage cooperation and increase the likelihood of getting resolutions to our dissatisfactions. The principles he spells out apply whether we're dealing with a rude store clerk, a bureaucrat, a coworker, our teenager, or a spouse or partner who's driving us crazy.

Complaining constructively can be extremely empowering and it can significantly strengthen our personal, familial, and work relationships. Applying our new-found complaining skills to customer-service representatives, corporate leaders, and elected officials increases the odds that our comments will be taken seriously. If we all complained more effectively, squeaky wheels could change our own lives as well as the world for the better.

GUY WINCH, PhD, received a doctorate in clinical psychology from New York University, completed a postdoctoral fellowship in family and couples therapy, and has been using complaints as a therapeutic tool in his psychotherapy practice for more than a decade. He also dabbles in stand-up comedy. This is his first book. He lives in New York City.

MICHAEL PALMER

The New York Times bestselling author and master of suspense delivers another novel at the crossroads of politics and medicine in this shocking thriller

Read by Robert Petkoff

On the night of the State of the Union address, President Max Hilliard expects to give the speech of his career. But no one anticipates the terrifying turn of events that forces him to quarantine everyone in the Capitol building. A terrorist group calling itself “Genesis” has unleashed WRX3883, a deadly, highly contagious virus, into the building. No one fully knows the deadly effect of the germ except for the team responsible for its development—a team headed by Hilliard himself. The only one who might be able to help is virologist Griffin Rhodes, currently in solitary confinement in a maximum security federal prison for alleged terrorist acts, including the attempted theft of WRX3883 from the lab where he worked. Rhodes has no idea why he has been arrested, but when Hilliard offers to free him in exchange for his help combating the virus, he reluctantly agrees to do what he can.

Meanwhile, every single person in line for presidential succession is trapped inside the Capitol—except one: the Director of Homeland Security, who is safely at home in Minnesota, having been selected as the “Designated Survivor” for this event. With enemies closing in, and the security of the nation at stake, Griff must unravel the mysteries of WRX3883...and time is running out.

A HEARTBEAT AWAY

MICHAEL PALMER is the author of fifteen novels of medical suspense, all international bestsellers. His books have been translated into thirty-five languages. In addition to his writing, Palmer is an associate director of the Massachusetts Medical Society Physician Health Services, devoted to helping physicians troubled by mental illness, physical illness, behavioral issues, and chemical dependency. He lives in eastern Massachusetts.

PRAISE FOR MICHAEL PALMER:

ROBERT JORDAN

WINTER'S HEART

The eagerly-awaited Macmillan Audio edition of book nine of The Wheel of Time

Read by Kate Reading and Michael Kramer

Rand, with Min, is on the run, and Cadsuane, in Carhien, is trying to figure out where he is headed. His destination is, in fact, one she never considered.

Mazrim Taim, leader of the Black Tower, is revealed to be a liar. But what is he up to?

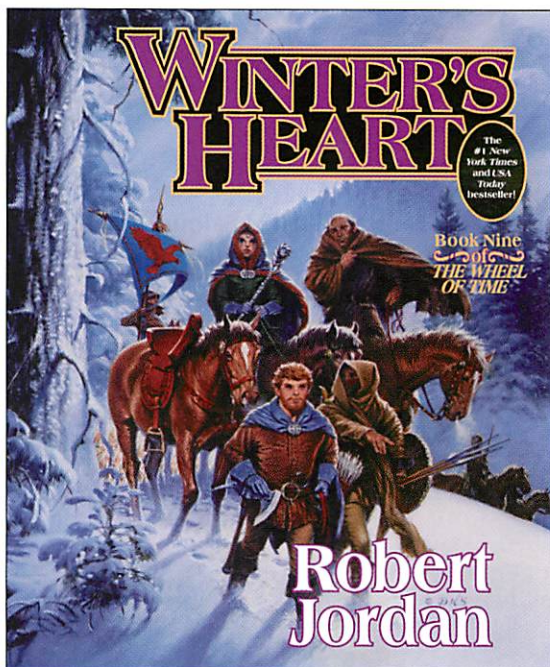

Faile, with her companions Bain and Chiad (the Aiel Maidens) and Queen Alliandre and Morgase, is a prisoner of Sevanna's sept.

Perrin is hunting desperately for Faile. With Elyas Machera, Berelain, the Prophet, and a very mixed "army" of disparate forces, he is moving through country rife with bandits and roving Seanchan... and in the wolfdream the man called Slayer seems to be hunting Perrin. In addition, the Forsaken are ever more present.

In Tar Valon, the schemers and counter-schemers in Elaida's White Tower are shaken to the core when Egwene and the rebels appear suddenly outside the walls.

In Ebou Dar, the Seanchan princess known as Daughter of the Nine Moons arrives—and Mar, who has been recuperating in the Tarasin Palace, is introduced to her. Will the marriage that has been foretold come about?

There are neither beginnings nor endings to the turning of the wheel of time. But it is a beginning...

RAWHIDE DOWN

DEL QUENTIN WILBER

Read by Jason Culp

For the first time, a minute-by-minute account of the attempted assassination of Ronald Reagan

In March 30, 1981, President Reagan walked out of a hotel in Washington, D.C. and was shot by a would-be assassin. For years, few people knew the truth about how close the president came to dying, and no one has ever written a detailed narrative of that harrowing day. Now, drawing on exclusive new interviews, Del Quentin Wilber tells the electrifying story of a moment when the nation teetered on the brink of chaos. With cinematic clarity, we see the Secret Service agent whose fast reflexes saved the president's life; the brilliant surgeon who operated on Reagan as he was losing half his blood; and the small group of White House officials frantically trying to determine whether the country was under attack. Most especially, we encounter the man code-named Rawhide, a leader of uncommon grace who inspired affection and awe in everyone he met.

Reagan was the only serving U.S. president to survive being shot in an assassination attempt. In Rawhide Down, the story of that perilous day—a day of chaos, crisis, prayer, heroism and hope—is brought to life as never before.

DEL QUENTIN WILBER is an award-winning reporter for the Washington Post. He has spent most of his career covering law enforcement and sensitive security issues, and his work has been a finalist for the Pulitzer Prize. He lives in Washington with his wife and two sons.

HELLHOLE

BRIAN HERBERT AND KEVIN J. ANDERSON

Read by Scott Brick

An all-new epic original science fiction series from the stunning imaginations of bestsellers Brian Herbert and Kevin J. Anderson

Reeling from a recent asteroid impact, tortured with horrific storms, tornadoes, hurricanes, earthquakes, and churning volcanic eruptions, the planet Hellhole is a dumping ground for undesirables, misfits, and charlatans...but also a haven for dreamers and independent pioneers.

An exiled general named Adolphus has turned Hellhole into a place of real opportunity for the desperate colonists who dare to make it their home. While the colonists are hard at work developing the planet, General Adolphus secretly builds alliances with the leaders of the other Deep Zone worlds, forming a clandestine alliance against the tyrannical, fossilized government responsible for their exile.

What no one knows is this: the planet Hellhole, though damaged and volatile, hides an amazing secret. Deep beneath its surface lies the remnants of an obliterated alien civilization and the buried memories of its unrecorded past that, when unearthed, could tear the galaxy apart.

BRIAN HERBERT has been nominated for both the Hugo and the Nebula Awards. In 2003, he published Dreamer of Dune, a Hugo Award-nominated biography of his father.

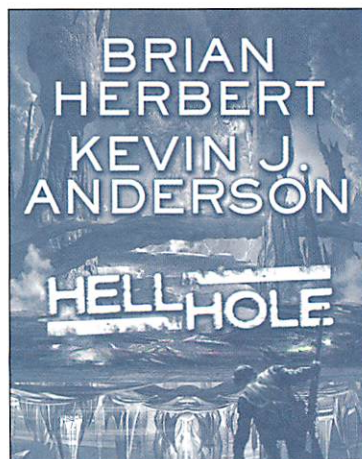

KEVIN J. ANDERSON has been nominated for the Nebula Award, the Bram Stoker Award, and the SFX Reader's Choice Award. He set the Guinness-certified world record for the largest single-author book signing.

"Unquestionably, Herbert and Anderson can spin a great yarn while producing a vivid, mystifying universe, filled with characters that are both endearing, and loathsome!"

CHELSEA CAIN

Bestseller Chelsea Cain kicks her series into high gear with a brand-new villain for Detective Archie Sheridan

With Beauty Killer Gretchen Lowell locked away behind bars once again, part of Portland detective Archie Sheridan can finally rest. Meanwhile the city of Portland is in crisis. Several people have drowned in heavy rains that have flooded the Willamette River. But the medical examiner discovers that in fact, the latest victim was poisoned before she went into the water—she didn't drown at all. And a little detective work shows that three more “accidental drownings” were actually murders. Portland has another serial killer on its hands, and Archie has a new case. Meanwhile reporter Susan Ward is following up on an entirely separate mystery: the dramatic flooding has unearthed a skeleton, murdered more than fifty years ago, during catastrophic flooding that killed at least fifteen people.

As Archie tries to catch his killer, he has to battle the rising waters first.

Laura Domela

CHELSEA CAIN's first three novels featuring Archie Sheridan have all been New York Times bestsellers. Also the author of Confessions of a Teen Sleuth, a parody based on the life of Nancy Drew, and several nonfiction titles, she was born in Iowa, raised in Bellingham, Washington, and now lives in Portland, Oregon, with her family.

THE TRINITY SIX

CHARLES CUMMING

Read by John Lee

From the author of the New York Times Notable Book Typhoon comes his most accomplished, compelling thriller yet

One of the enduring mysteries of modern espionage is the Cambridge Spy Ring—the group that included Anthony Blunt, Kim Philby, Guy Burgess, and Donald Maclean—and the identity of the long-rumored sixth man. Many theories have been proposed over the years, yet no one has come forth with any irrefutable proof. And Sam Gaddis, an academic with a specialty in modern Russian history, is the least likely person to do so. Until an old friend reveals that she's working on just that story, only to die suddenly; Sam's need for money becomes pressing, and he finds his way to someone claiming to have access to the real sixth man.

But the few remaining people with any direct connection to that sixth man begin dying unexpectedly, MI-6 begins tracking Gaddis trying to throw him off the trail, and he finds himself in the cross-hairs of a very real, very dangerous plot emanating from the highest levels of contemporary Russia. As Sam risks everything he has and everyone he loves to unravel the layers of secrets surrounding the identity of the sixth man, someone else is equally determined, for reasons unknown, to keep the details surrounding the long-standing deception surrounding the sixth man buried forever.

CHARLES CUMMING is the author of several international bestselling thrillers, including A Spy By Nature, The Spanish Game, and Typhoon. A former British Secret Service recruit, he is a contributing editor of The Week magazine and currently lives in London.

PRAISE FOR TYPHOON:

"Cumming is making a name for himself with espionage thrillers being compared to those being written by John le Carre."

As Mira's windows are targeted, her personal life begins to shatter as well. She catches a glimpse of her dead husband in a crowd, then he's gone. She hears his voice on the phone, telling her something only he could know. Mira begins to doubt herself—and the man she's falling in love with. When Mira's assistant is brutally murdered, her nude body found posed in the dappled colored light of Mira's prize restoration, Mira becomes the focus of the police's investigation. THE CORNER OFFICE

ADAM BRYANT

Read by Oliver Wyman

Dozens of top CEOs reveal their candid insights on the keys to effective leadership, and the qualities that set high-performers apart

What does it take to succeed in business, and to inspire others? Adam Bryant of the New York Times decided to answer these and other questions by sitting down with more than fifty CEOs and asking them how they do their jobs and the most important lessons they learned as they rose through the ranks. Over the course of probing interviews, they shared memorable stories and eye-opening insights.

The Corner Office draws together lessons from chief executives like Steve Ballmer (Microsoft), Carol Bartz (Yahoo), Jeffrey Katzenberg (Dreamworks), and Alan Mullaly (Ford), from which Bryant has crafted an original work that reveals the keys to success in the business world, including the five qualities these CEOs value most in employees. Bryant also demystifies the art of leadership and shows how executives at the top of their game get the most out of others.

Leadership is not a one-size-fits-all skill, and these CEOs offer different perspectives that will help anyone who seeks to be a more effective leader and employee. For aspiring executives—of any age—The Corner Office offers a path to future success.

ADAM BRYANT is the deputy national editor of the New York Times and writes the popular “Corner Office” feature in the paper’s Sunday Business section. He was the lead editor for the team that won the 2010 Pulitzer Prize for national reporting and is a former senior writer and business editor at Newsweek. He lives in Westchester County, New York.
