INTRODUCING . . . CHIVERS SOUND LIBRARY

Complete & Unabridged Audio Books from America

For the past three years Chivers' US offshoot, Chivers North America, has been producing a high-quality range of complete and unabridged audio books known as the Chivers Sound Library, aimed primarily at the American market. Specially recorded in their New York studios, using state-of-the-art digital technology, these audio books have proved so successful and been greeted with such critical acclaim that we felt they may have a far broader appeal.

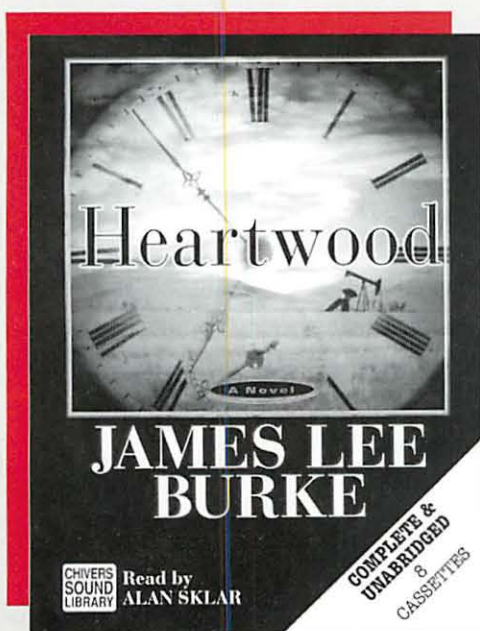

With this in mind, we'd like to offer you the chance to buy these first-class recordings when they are published, and we're sure you'd also want to take a look at their impressive backlist, featuring such popular authors as Lawrence Sanders, Bill Pronzini, Isaac Asimov and Stuart M. Kaminsky.

Among the new titles featured in this brochure are Barbara Delinsky's emotion-packed winner Coast Road; Ellery Queen's The Finishing Stroke, a cunning Christmas murder mystery; and Carl Hiaasen's Sick Puppy, a tale of eco-revenge described by Library Journal as a 'wacky, wonderful and deadly serious novel of dirty politics, big business running amuck'.

If you're looking for authentic American fiction, recorded in America, by Americans, then you really can't afford to ignore Chivers Sound Library.

JAMES LEE BURKE

HEARTWOOD

A Billy Bob Holland Mystery

Read by Alan Sklar ➔

In Attorney Billy Bob Holland's hometown of Deaf Smith, local kingpin Earl Deitrich has made a fortune through illegal transactions. Billy Bob can't shake off his passion for Deitrich's wife, Peggy Jean, and when he takes on the defence of Wilbur Pickett, a man accused of stealing from Deitrich, he finds himself up against not only Earl's power and influence, but also a past Billy Bob can't will away.

'Forget Raymond Chandler. The obsessive return of Burke's ambitious themes, together with his characters' inexhaustible capacity for courage, tenderness and rage, makes him the Faulkner of the American crime novel' – KIRKUS REVIEWS

EDGAR & GOLD DAGGER AWARD WINNING AUTHOR

'Billy Bob Holland is ... angst-ridden and morally shell-shocked, ... but ... [his] moral compass always points to true north ... Don't miss out' – ROCKY MOUNTAIN NEWS

CATHERINE COULTER FALSE PRETENSES

Read by Nicola Amos ➔

Elizabeth Carleton was a beautiful and dazzling concert pianist who seemed to have it all. But when her fabulously wealthy husband is murdered, Elizabeth stands accused, and not even a surprise acquittal in a cliffhanger trial can quiet the whispers of her guilt. Now three attractive men appear out of her past, offering to help and protect her. But whom can Elizabeth trust when she alone knows that the real killer may now be stalking her?

AFTER CAROLINE

Read by Valerie Leonard ➔

Two women who look like twins. Both are involved in car wrecks at the same time. One survives, one does not. Now, plagued by a bewildering connection to a woman she never knew, driven by an urgent compulsion she doesn't understand, Joanna Flynn travels three thousand miles across the country to the town where Caroline McKenna lived and mysteriously died. But Joanna runs into a wall of suspicion as she searches for the truth. Was Caroline's death an accident? Or was she the target of a killer willing to kill again?

'Kay Hooper comes through with thrills, chills and plenty of romance, this time with an energetic murder mystery with a clever twist. The suspense is sustained admirably right up to the very end' – KIRKUS REVIEWS

'Harrowing good fun. Readers will shiver and shudder... Kay Hooper knows how to serve up a latter-day gothic that will hold readers in its brooding grip' – PUBLISHERS WEEKLY

FORTUNE'S ROCKS

Read by Melissa Hughes ➔

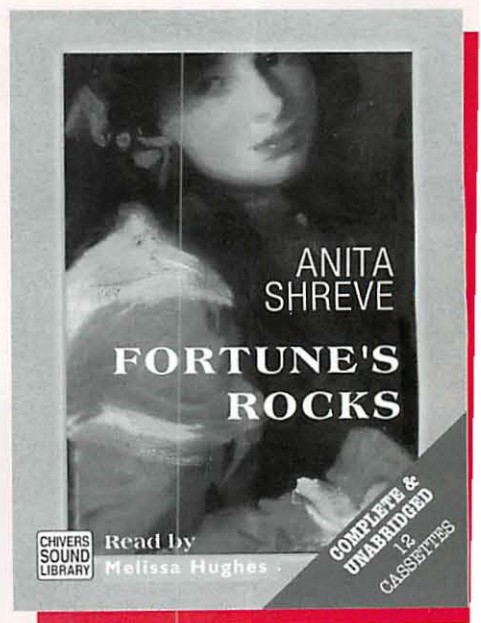

On a beach in New Hampshire in 1900, a young woman makes a rocky passage into adulthood. Olympia Biddeford is the only child of a prominent Boston couple. Her summer at the family's vacation home in Fortune's Rocks is transformed by the arrival of a doctor, a friend of her father's, whose new book about mill-town labourers has caused a sensation. Olympia is completely captivated by him. She and the doctor – a married man, father and nearly three times her age – come together in an unthinkable affair with cataclysmic results that are the price of straying in an unforgiving era.

AMY AND ISABELLE

Read by Stephanie Roberts ➔

Amy Goodrow, a shy high school student in a small mill town, falls in love with her maths teacher, and together they cross the line between fantasy and reality. When discovered, this emotional and physical trespass brings disgrace to Amy's mother, Isabelle, and heightens the shame she feels about her own past. And, as their conflict intensifies, both mother and daughter withdraw completely from one another ...

THE OTHER DAUGHTER

Read by Laurel Lefkow →

In Texas a serial killer is executed, taking to his grave the identity of his only child. In Boston, a nine-year-old girl is adopted by a wealthy young couple. Twenty years later, Melanie Stokes has no memory of her life before the adoption, but someone wants to give it back, even if it includes the darkest nightmare the Stokes family ever faced: the murder of their daughter in Texas. As Melanie searches for her real identity, it seems that the family she loves most may be the people she should trust the least ...

SICK PUPPY

Read by Nick Sullivan →

When Palmer Stoa notices the pickup truck following him, he fears he will be carjacked. But Twilly Spree, the man tailing Stoa, has vengeance on his mind. Twilly has dedicated himself to saving Florida's wilderness and, after watching Stoa dump a trail of fast-food litter out of the window, Twilly decides to teach him a lesson. When Twilly discovers that Stoa is one of Florida's cockiest political fixers, whose latest project is to turn a pristine Gulf Coast island into a shopping mall, the real fun begins ...

'Hiaasen has done it again with this wacky, wonderful and deadly serious novel of dirty politics, big business running amuck, and their potential impact on Florida's fragile ecosystem ... Essential' — LIBRARY JOURNAL

'Sick Puppy follows the contradictory maxims that have become mainstays in Hiaasen's novels. Eccentric characters possess a veneer of realism. Each absurdity is so painfully close to reality it sometimes feels that Hiaasen, who is a Miami Herald columnist, is writing a news story instead of fiction' — BOSTON GLOBE

ASHES TO ASHES

Read by Carrington McDuffie ➔

The newspapers have dubbed him the Cremator. He has already claimed three lives. But this time, Angie DiMarco, a teenage runaway, witnesses the murder. The police have Angie, but she isn't talking. Enter Kate Conlan, a former FBI agent who helps victims and protects witnesses. But Kate is confronted with the most difficult role of her career, for she is the one woman who can stop the Cremator – and the woman he wants next ...

'Hoag has a way of sneaking up on the reader in superior thriller tradition, taking her time in revealing monstrous images lurking in dark corners ... she neatly sidesteps the graphic crudeness of her competitors, while still providing enough surprise twists and stomach-turning carnage to satisfy any heebie-jeebie enthusiast' – PUBLISHERS WEEKLY

THE FINISHING STROKE

An Ellery Queen Mystery

Read by David Edwards ➔

Slow, deliberate murder, planned fantastically well. Ox, nail, monkey, hand, house – tiny replicas of objects came during the first eleven nights after Christmas. On each night also came a warning of impending doom. Ellery Queen and the police were there, but no one saw the messages come. Who was sending them? And who was the intended victim? Then came the twelfth night and the message: 'On the twelfth night of Christmas, Your true love sends to you, This fatal dagger, this jewelled knife, This finishing stroke to end your life.' And when they found the corpse, the dagger was buried deep in its back ...
