THE CLUB

With the second most wins in MLS history and a pair of MLS Cup championships to their name, the LA Galaxy enter their fifteenth MLS season with renewed spirits following their run to the 2009 MLS Cup Final where they narrowly missed out on the third championship in club history.

Initially formed by LA Soccer Partners, the team played the inaugural 1996 season at Pasadena's Rose Bowl, which was filled to capacity for the opening game - a 2-1 win over the MetroStars behind goals from Cobi Jones and Arash Noamouz.

On June 16 of that inaugural season, more than 92,000 fans packed the Rose Bowl to see the Galaxy defeat the Tampa Bay Mutiny and the U.S. National Team play to a 2-2 draw with Mexico. That days' crowd of 92,216 was a league record that stood for more than ten years before being broken in 2006. The club has continued in that vein, and has held the league's average attendance a record nine times in the first 14 years of MLS, including six straight seasons (2003-08) after opening The Home Depot Center in 2003.

Led from the front by El Salvadoran playmaker Mauricio Cienfuegos, U.S. veteran Cobi Jones and Eduardo 'El Tanque' Hurtado, and a tight defensive unit organized by team captain Dan Calichman and Robin Fraser, with Mexican goalkeeper Jorge Campos, the team racked up a 19-13 record on their way to a Western Conference title and a berth in the MLS Cup against D.C. United in 1996.

In a game played in a torrential downpour in Foxboro, Mass., the Galaxy were up 2-0 on goals by Hurtado and Chris Armas before falling 3-2 on a golden goal header by Eddie Pope.

After a 1-7 start to the 1997 season, original head coach Lothar Osiander was replaced by assistant coach Octavio Zambrano, who led the team to a second place finish in the West with a 16-16 record before falling in the playoffs to the Dallas Burn.

In his first full season as head coach in 1998, Zambrano gave his team the chance to push forward in the attack from the opening kick until the final whistle. The players responded by netting 85 times in the regular season, setting an MLS record for goals in a season that still stands today. Cobi Jones (19 goals), Welton (17 goals) and Mauricio Cienfuegos (13 goals) all tallied career-highs for goals and the Galaxy scored three or more goals in 15 of their 32 games.

Offensive firepower however did not come at the expense of defense. Dan Calichman was lost early in the season to a broken leg, but the addition of Paul Caligiuri and the rise of goalkeeper Kevin Hartman allowed the team to hold their opponents to a league low 44 goals and post seven shutouts as the team rolled to a 24-8 record and an MLS record 68 points.

However, regular season success did not carry over into postseason play. After exacting playoff revenge on Dallas with a two-game sweep that saw LA outscore them 9-3, the Galaxy fell to the expansion Chicago Fire in a shootout finish at Soldier Field.

In October 1998, Anschutz Entertainment Group (AEG) purchased the Galaxy with a new vision to become "The club by which all others are measured". Upon taking over the club, AEG sought to shape the Galaxy into a brand on the local, national and international level.

By the end of AEG's first full season of ownership, the Galaxy were once again Western Conference champions, this time under new head coach Sigi Schmid, who replaced Zambrano after a 2-3 start to the season. The Los Angeles defense was once again the best in the league, allowing only 29 goals in 32 games.

Schmid led the team to a 20-12 record and berth in MLS Cup, but the curse of Foxboro Stadium continued to haunt the team. Once again playing D.C. United, stalwart defender Robin Fraser was lost to a broken collarbone just minutes into the match, and United was able to claim their third MLS title after a 2-0 win.

In their first full season under Schmid, the Galaxy finished the 2000 season second in the West with a 14-10-8 record, with the eight draws coming courtesy of the discontinuation of the shootout to settle regular season games that were tied at the end of 90 minutes.

While able to sweep the Tampa Bay Mutiny out of the playoffs, Los Angeles fell just shy of a return trip to MLS Cup as they were eliminated by the eventual champion Kansas City Wizards. After a win and a draw in the first two games of the series against the Wizards, the Galaxy fell in Game Three 1-0 before losing again in the sudden death series tiebreaker, that sent K.C. to MLS Cup.

The Galaxy were finally able to take home some silverware in 2001, bringing home the first two championships in club history. Participating in the 2000 CONCACAF Champions Cup, they took the regional title with a 3-2 win over Olimpia of Honduras, despite the tournament's 2001 preseason timeslot.

In league play, a 14-7-5 record once again gave the team second place in the Western Conference and a chance to play for the previously unheard of 'Treble' of MLS Cup, U.S. Open Cup and CONCACAF Champions Cup titles. After disposing of the MetroStars and Chicago, Sigi Schmid's squad advanced to the MLS Cup, where they fell for a third time, this time to California rivals San Jose on an extra time goal from Dwayne DeRosario. Luis Hernandez and Landon Donovan traded first half strikes to send the game into halftime tied 1-1. Neither team could find a breakthrough in the second half, sending the match to extra time where DeRosario would score the MLS Cup winning goal for the Earthquakes.

Despite still suffering from the sting of defeat in MLS Cup, the Galaxy were able to claim a second honor one week later, winning their first Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup title. Defender Danny Califf nodded home a golden goal winner in extra time of the Open Cup Final at Titan Stadium in Fullerton to give the Galaxy a 2-1 victory over the New England Revolution.

A month before the 2002 season, the Galaxy signed Guatemalan striker Carlos Ruiz, and the man nicknamed "El Pescadito" or "The Little Fish" immediatlety staked his claim as one of the top goalscorers in the history of MLS. He scored six goals in his first four games with the club en route to an eventual team record tally of 24 goals on the year for Ruiz who would go on to be named MLS MVP.

The team ended the 2002 season 16-9-3 and in first place in the West, and advanced through the playoffs by demolishing Kansas City and Colorado. The MLS Cup was once again held in Foxboro, but this time it was at the new Gillette Stadium and the opposition was the hometown Revolution.

Playing before a packed house of mostly New England fans, the Galaxy and Revolution were scoreless at the end of ninety minutes. In extra time, it was Ruiz who gave the team their first MLS Cup championship, sliding onto a long cross from Tyrone Marshall and pushing the ball past goalkeeper Adin Brown for the game-winning golden goal, sending Galaxy fans into hysterics.

In 2003, the Galaxy moved to their new base at The Home Depot Center, but were forced to play their first eight games on the road while waiting for construction to be completed for the June home opener. While a 0-4-4 record was respectable, a July trip to South Korea to play against some of the best club sides in the world at the FIFA Peace Cup further crowded the schedule and the team struggled to achieve their best form. LA ended the season with a 9-12-9 record that pitted them against a very strong San Jose team in the playoffs.

The Galaxy claimed a 2-0 win at The Home Depot Center in the first leg of the new playoff system and traveled to Spartan Stadium with high expectations. Those expectations were even higher after scoring twice inside the opening 15 minutes to lead with a 4-0 aggregate score. But the Earthquakes would go on to score five straight goals, four in regulation and one in extra time, to take the series and eliminate the Galaxy en route to winning MLS Cup a few weeks later in Carson.

Before the 2004 season, longtime Galaxy legend Mauricio Cienfuegos announced that he had retired. While the loss of the Salvadoran playmaker was difficult, Schmid was able to replace him with a pair of players in Austrian veteran Andreas Herzog and former U.S. international Jovan Kirovski. However, the Galaxy coach would not be there at the end of the season as he was replaced late in the season by former U.S. National Team head coach Steve Sampson.

Given the changes, the team did well to finish second in the Western Conference with an 11-9-10 record, and beat Colorado in the Western Conference Semifinals before falling to Kansas City in the Conference Final.

In 2005, with the addition of U.S. National Team star forward Landon Donovan, the Galaxy took the coveted 'Double' of the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup and MLS Cup, making it their most successful season to date. With World Cup and Gold Cup duties depleting the roster throughout the season, young players like striker Herculez Gomez - who took the place of Carlos Ruiz who had been traded to Dallas - and defender Ugo Ihemelu were able to step up and show their talents.

In late September, the club claimed their second U.S. Open Cup title with a 1-0 win over FC Dallas at The Home Depot Center courtesy of a Gomez goal. They made the MLS playoffs via the final Western Conference slot and advanced to the MLS Cup after defeating San Jose 4-2 on aggregate in the Western Conference Semifinals and knocking off Colorado 2-0 in the Western Conference Championship behind two Landon Donovan goals to book a spot in the MLS Cup. Once again the New England Revolution were the opponent; with the newly-opened Pizza Hut Park in Frisco, Texas serving as the venue.

Just as in 2002, the two sides were scoreless after 90 minutes, only for the Galaxy to earn a victory courtesy of an extra time goal from a Guatemalan player. This time, it was a glorious volley from Guillermo 'El Pando' Ramirez – just his second goal of the season and the first from the run of play that gave the Galaxy a 1-0 victory and sent the trophy back to Los Angeles.

However, the joy of 2005 was soon replaced by a tumultuous 2006 that saw the tragic death of the club's President and General Manager Doug Hamilton on a flight back from Costa Rica where the Galaxy had just lost in the CONCACAF Champions Cup. The loss of the team's chief architect was felt on the field as well as the Galaxy struggled to defend their MLS Cup championship. In June, Frank Yallop was hired to replace Steve Sampson and he began to pull the club out of its early season struggles. However, a late season run, which included the club's capture of the Honda SuperClasico against Chivas USA, was not enough and LA missed the playoffs for the first time ever

The Galaxy fared slightly better in the Open Cup, returning to the Final four the fourth time in six years, only to fail to defend its 2005 title, falling 3-1 to the Chicago Fire at TOYOTA Park.

The 2007 campaign started with a bang as the club announced in January that it had signed English midfielder David Beckham. One of the world's greatest players, Beckham would come to LA in July after finishing up his contract at Real Madrid, helping them win the La Liga Championship.

July also saw the Galaxy debut a new look as well as their newest player with the unveiling of the Galaxy's new brand, colors and logo. A classic look of white jerseys with navy blue piping, white shorts and white socks was used for the club's primary kit while navy blue and gold was featured on the secondary uniform. The Galaxy's new logo was a traditional navy blue crest which prominently features a quasar, which is the heart of a Galaxy.

Despite making his debut in front of a sold out crowd and millions of viewers on ESPN, Beckham's first season in LA was blighted by injuries to both himself and the rest of the Galaxy squad. Once again, Frank Yallop's team put together a late season run, only to fall just short, losing their final game of the season in Chicago to miss out on a playoff berth by the narrowest of margins.

The 2007 season also saw the Galaxy's participation in the inaugural SuperLiga, which pitted the best teams in the United States against the best club teams in Mexico. The Galaxy finished at the top of their group, despite falling to Chivas de Guadalajara at the L.A. Coliseum, by defeating FC Dallas and Pachuca to set up a semifinal meeting with D.C. United. Goals in that game from Beckham, his first for the club, and Landon Donovan sent LA through to the Final where they would once again meet Pachuca. The visitors from Mexico took an early lead in the Final, only for Chris Klein to equalize with an acrobatic bicycle kick deep into second half stoppage time, sending the game to extra time. The Galaxy had the better of the chances in the extra 30 minutes, but were unable to break the deadlock, sending the game to penalties where Pachuca would emerge victorious 4-3.

But success in SuperLiga was not enough and Yallop was released from his contract in November. He was replaced by former Dutch international Ruud Gullit, one of the game's all-time greats.

However, despite success early in 2008, the Galaxy struggled in the middle of the season, going a club record 12 games without a win and slipped to the bottom of the standings. Gullit left the club in August and was replaced by two-time MLS Cup champion coach Bruce Arena, who is the all-time leader in wins by a coach in U.S. National Team history. However, despite having a roster that included Landon Donovan, who led MLS with 20 goals in 25 games, Edson Buddle, whose 15 goals were a career-high and the third most in the league, as well as Beckham, Sean Franklin, Chris Klein and Eddie Lewis, the Galaxy were unable to qualify for the MLS Playoffs for the third straight season.

Unlike the previous season, the 2009 campaign did not start brightly as the club managed just one win in their first 11 games. However, Bruce Arena's team also lost just once in that time, going 1-1-9 to open the season while tallying a 10-game unbeaten streak from early April until early June for the fourth longest unbeaten streak in club history.

Setting the tone for the Galaxy in the early part of the season was the club's newly stingy defense. After allowing a club record 62 goals in 2008, Arena set about to bolster the club's back line, brining in goalkeepers Donovan Ricketts and Josh Saunders as well as established veterans like Gregg Berhalter, Todd Dunivant, Dema Kovalenko and Stefani Miglioranzi and a pair of rookies in A.J. DeLaGarza and Omar Gonzalez to go along with the 2008 Rookie of the Year, Sean Franklin. That group would go on to set an MLS record by allowing 31 fewer goals on the season and set a club record with 12 clean sheets.

At the other end of the field, Landon Donovan once again led the way over the first third of the season before heading to South Africa for the FIFA Confederations Cup in early June. Shortly before his return, the club acquired Alecko Eskandarian from Chivas USA to provide some help in the attack and the former No. 1 overall pick did not disappoint, scoring twice his first three games with the club.

The attack received another boost in mid July when David Beckham re-joined the club after spending the first half of the year on loan at AC Milan. High profile friendlies against Milan and Barcelona, in which Beckham scored in front of more than 93,000 fans at the Rose Bowl, setting the team up for a late season surge

With the club now at full strength, the top spot in the Western Conference soon became a distinct possibility. Beckham scored his first goal of the year in a win over Chivas USA on August 29, securing the Honda SuperClasico title for the Galaxy. Just over a month later, a 1-0 win over Chicago saw LA move into first place in the Western Conference for the first time since June 2008 and clinched the club's first playoff berth since 2005. A draw at Houston and a home win over San Jose allowed the Galaxy to claim the top seed in the Western Conference for the first time since 2002 and set up a playoff meeting with Chivas USA.

The entire city of Los Angeles was on edge as the city's two clubs met in the Western Conference Semifinal Series at The Home Depot Center. In the first-ever postseason meeting between the two sides, Chivas USA were the home team in the first game of the series. Mike Magee and Landon Donovan scored for the Galaxy in that game as they managed to pull out a 2-2 draw, setting up a winner-take-all return leg. The Galaxy were the home team this time and before a capacity crowd, claimed a 1-0 win behind Landon's Donovan's second half penalty kick to dispatch Chivas USA and send LA to the Western Conference Championship.

All that was left to stand between the Galaxy and a record sixth trip to MLS Cup was the Houston Dynamo. The 90 minutes of regulation was not enough to decide a winner as the game remained scoreless. Late in the first half of extra time, Gregg Berhalter scored his first-ever goal for the club to put LA in front. Donovan added a penalty kick, his 17th career postseason goal, making him the all-time leader in MLS playoff goals, late on to seal a 2-0 win for the Galaxy and send the club back to MLS Cup in Seattle.

There, the opponent would be Real Salt Lake who won the Eastern Conference Championship after finishing fifth in the West and then dispatching the Columbus Crew and Chicago Fire. The Galaxy took a 1-0 lead just before halftime when Beckham and Donovan combined to set up Magee for his second goal of the playoffs. But after the break things turned for LA as former Galaxy forward Robbie Findley scored to tie the score at 1-1 and Galaxy goalkeeper Donovan Ricketts suffered a broken hand and was forced to exit the game. Omar Gonzalez would also have to go off because of an injury before the game went to extra time.

The scoreline would remain level through the 30 minutes of extra time, making MLS Cup 2009 the league's second championship game to be decided on penalties. Despite a pair of saves by Josh Saunders in the shootout, the Galaxy fell 5-4 on penalties, making Real Salt Lake the 2009 MLS Cup champions.

After getting so close to earning a third MLS Cup championship in 2009, Bruce Arena's team is once again primed to make a return to MLS Cup and earning their first piece of silverware in five years.

Con la segunda mejor suma de victorias en la historia de la MLS, y un par de campeonatos a su crédito, el LA Galaxy ingresa la décimo quinta temporada de la MLS con los espíritus renovados y en busca de un tercer titulo después de haber terminado la temporada 2009 como subcampeones de la final de la Copa MLS.

Fundado por el LA Soccer Partners, el Galaxy jugó la temporada inaugural de 1996 en el Rose Bowl de Pasadena, que se llenó totalmente para el juego inaugural, la victoria de 2-1 sobre los MetroStars con goles de Cobi Jones y Arash Noamouz.

El 16 de junio de la temporada inaugural, más de 92,000 aficionados llenaron el Rose Bowl para ver al Galaxy derrotar al Tampa Bay Mutiny y a las Selecciones Nacionales de Estados Unidos y México empatar a dos. La presencia de 92,216 aficionados impuso un récord de la Liga que se mantuvo vigente hasta 2006. El club se ha mantenido como uno de los más taquilleros de la Liga, siendo lider en promedio de taquilla en ocho de las primeras doce temporadas de la MLS, y en todas las temporadas desde que se mudaran al Home Depot Center en 2003.

Con una delantera organizada por el salvadoreño Mauricio Cienfuegos, y con jugadores como el estadounidense Cobi Jones y Eduardo "El Tanque" Hurtado, y una defensa liderada por el capitán Dan Calichman y Robin Fraser, y con el portero mexicano Jorge Campos, el equipo acumuló una marca de 19-13-0, el título de la Conferencia del Oeste y un lugar en la final de la Copa MLS en contra del D.C. United.

Bajo una torrencial lluvia en Foxboro, MA, el Galaxy tomo tomó la ventaja con goles de Hurtado y Chris Armas, pero terminó siendo derrotado con un gol de oro en el alargue, convertido por Eddie Pope.

Tras iniciar la temporada de 1997 con una marca de 1-7, el técnico Lothar Osiander fue reemplazado por su asistente Octavio Zambrano, que llevó al equipo al segundo lugar del Oeste con una marca de 16-16 antes de ser eliminados en la liguilla por el Dallas Burn.

En su primera temporada completa al frente del equipo, la de 1998, Zambrano desató el poder ofensivo de sus pupilos, y estos le respondieron anotando 85 goles en la temporada regular, récord aún vigente en la MLS, y con Cobi Jones (19), Welton (17) y Mauricio Cienfuegos (13) imponiendo marcas personales en esa temporada.

Pero el equipo no solo destacó en su delantera. En su línea defensiva, el equipo perdió al Calichman por casi toda la temporada debido a una pierna fracturada, pero el fichaje de Paul Caligiuri y la aparición del portero Kevin Hartman le ayudaron al equipo a limitar a sus oponentes a 44 goles, con siete blanqueadas. El equipo acumuló una marca de 24-8 y sus 68 puntos impusieron un nuevo récord de la MLS.

Sin embargo, el éxito de la temporada regular no los acompañó en la postemporada. Tras vengarse de Dallas, barriéndoles en los dos partidos en los que el marcador global favoreció a Los Ángeles 9-3, el Galaxy fue derrotado por el equipo de expansión Chicago Fire en los shootouts, en el partido jugado en el Soldier Field.

En octubre de 1998, Anschutz Entertainment Group (AEG) compró al Galaxy con la nueva visión de convertirle en "el club por el cual se mida a todos los demás". Al tomar posesión del club, AEG buscó establecer al Galaxy como una marca reconocida a nivel local, nacional, e internacional.

Al final de la primera temporada completa como parte de AEG, el Galaxy era nuevamente campeón de la Conferencia del Oeste, esta vez bajo la tutela del nuevo entrenador Sigi Schmid, que reemplazó a Zambrano tras un inicio con marca de 2-3. La defensa de Los Ángeles fue nuevamente la mejor de la Liga, permitiendo sólo 29 goles en 32 partidos.

Schmid llevó al equipo a acumular una marca de 20-12 y a jugar la final de la MLS Cup, pero la maldición de Foxboro siguió aquejando al equipo. Nuevamente el rival fue el D.C. United, y el equipo perdió al defensor Fraser temprano en el encuentro, y el United logró hacerse con su tercera corona de la MLS al ganar con marcador de 2-0.

En su primera temporada completa bajo las órdenes de Schmid, el Galaxy terminó la temporada 2000 como segundo lugar de la Conferencia del Oeste, con marca de 14-10-8, los empates producto de la abolición de los shootouts como forma de desempatar los partidos de la temporada regular.

Aunque en la postemporada el equipo barrió al Tampa Bay Mutiny, Los Ángeles no pudo retornar a la final de la MLS Cup, al ser eliminados por los eventuales campeones, Kansas City Wizards. Tras una victoria y un empate en los primeros dos partidos de la serie contra los Wizards, el Galaxy cayó en el juego número tres 1-0 y fueron derrotados en el desempate a muerte súbita, que envió a Kansas City a la gran final.

El Galaxy finalmente pudo llevar un trofeo a sus vitrinas en 2001, llevando a casa los primeros dos campeonatos de su historia. En la pretemporada del 2001 se agenciaron la Copa de Campeones de CONCACAF del 2000 al derrotar 3-2 al Olimpia de Honduras.

En la liga, una marca de 14-7-5 los ubicó en el segundo puesto de la Conferencia del Oeste, con la oportunidad de agenciarse el primer "triplete": la Copa MLS, el U.S. Open y la Copa de Campeones de la CONCACAF. Tras eliminar a los MetroStars y a Chicago, el equipo de Sigi Schmid avanzó a la final de la MLS Cup, donde fueron derrotados por tercera vez, esta vez por sus vecinos del norte de California, San José, con un gol en el alargue de Dwayne DeRosario. En el primer tiempo Luis Hernández y Landon Donovan anotaron por cada equipo, y no fue sino hasta en el tiempo extra que Rosario decidió al ganador.

A pesar de la dolorosa derrota en la final de la MLS Cup, el Galaxy logró obtener su segundo trofeo una semana después. El defensor Danny Califf anotó un gol de oro en el alargue para darle al Galaxy la victoria por 2 a 1 sobre el Revolution en la final del Abierto de los Estados Unidos "Lamar Hunt".

Antes del arranque de la temporada 2002, el Galaxy fichó al delantero guatemalteco Carlos Ruiz, y "El Pescadito" le mostró a la MLS que tan escurridizo era en el arranque de la temporada contra el D.C. United. Ruiz anotó los dos goles en el triunfo por 2-1, siendo el primero de ellos un clásico de Ruiz, que burló a Eddie Pope antes de batir al portero del United. Ese sería el primero de sus 24 goles esa temporada, en la que además fue nombrado jugador más valioso de la Liga.

El equipo finalizó la temporada 2002 con una marca de 16-9-3, en primer lugar del Oeste, y avanzó en la liguilla demoliendo a Kansas City y a Colorado. La final de la MLS Cup fue disputada nuevamente en Foxboro, pero esta vez el inmueble sería el nuevo Gillette Stadium, y los rivales los locales del Revolution.

Jugando en un estadio casi lleno de aficionados de New England, el Galaxy y el Revolution no se hicieron daño en los primeros 90 minutos. En el alargue, Ruiz le dio al equipo su primer trofeo de la MLS Cup, al cerrar la pinza tras un trazo largo de Tyrone Marshall para batir al portero Adin Brown, para ganar el partido con un gol de oro, ante la celebración de la fanaticada galáctica.

En el 2003, el Galaxy se mudó a su nueva casa en El Home Depot Center, pero se vieron obligados a jugar sus primeros ochos partidos en la carretera, en espera de que la construcción finalizara antes del partido inaugural en junio. Aun cuando su marca de 0-4-4 era respetable, y tras un viaje en el mes de julio a Corea del Sur para enfrentarse a algunos de los mejores equipos del mundo, al equipo le costó encontrar su mejor nivel y terminó la temporada con una marca de 9-12-9, que los enfrentó a un muy poderoso equipo de San José en la liguilla.

El Galaxy se llevó una ventaja de 2-0 tras el partido de ida en El Home Depot Center, y viajó al Spartan Stadium con altas expectativas. Tras anotar dos goles en los primeros quince minutos del partido y con una ventaja de 4-0 en el marcador global, los Earthquakes le dieron la vuelta al marcador en lo que es considerado por muchos como el mejor juego de la MLS alguna vez jugado….y por otros como el peor.

El Galaxy encajó cinco goles sin respuesta y San José se agenció la serie y eventualmente se coronó campeón de la MLS en Carson.

Antes de la temporada 2004, el salvadoreño Mauricio Cienfuegos anunció su retiro del futbol activo, y fue reemplazado por el austríaco y veterano Andreas Herzog, quien llegó al equipo junto a Jovan Kirovski. Este año también vio la partida de Sigi Schmid, quien cedió su lugar al ex técnico de Selección Nacional; Steve Sampson.

A pesar de los cambios, el equipo finalizó con un récord de 11-9-10 y derrotó al Colorado Rapids en la semifinales de la Conferencia del Oeste, para luego caer ante Kansas en el juego por el título de la Conferencia del Oeste.

En el 2005, en adición a la adquisición de la estrella de Selección Nacional, Landon Donovan, el Galaxy se agenció del doblete al ganar la Copa de la MLS y el Copa Abierta Lamar Hunt, siendo esta su temporada mas exitosa hasta el momento. Con las eliminatorias mundialistas, el novato delantero Herculez Gómez y otros como el defensor Hugo Ihemelu suplieron a los ausentes y a Carlos Ruiz, quien fue traspasado a Dallas.

A finales de septiembre, el club se agenció su segunda Copa Abierta Lamar Hunt, con un triunfo de 1-0 sobre el FC Dallas en el Home Depot Center, con Herculez Gómez como anotador. Llegaron a la liguilla de la MLS con el último boleto de la Conferencia del Oeste y avanzaron a la gran final tras derrotar a San José 4-2 en el global en las semifinales de la Conferencia y eliminar a Colorado 2-0 con goles de Landon Donovan, lo que les dio el pase a la final. Nuevamente el New England Revolution fueron los oponentes, esta vez en el flamante Pizza Hut Park de Frisco, Texas como sede.

Nuevamente los equipos empataron a cero después de 90 minutos, pero el Galaxy se adjudicó la victoria con un gol en el alargue de otro guatemalteco, Esta vez, fue Guillermo "El Pando" Ramírez, quien con una gloriosa volea convirtió su segundo gol de la temporada, dándole al Galaxy la victoria 1-0 y el trofeo de la MLS.

Sin embargo, las alegrías del 2005 se disiparon en un muy tumultuoso 2006, iniciando con el súbito fallecimiento del Presidente y Gerente General del club Doug Hamilton, cuando este volaba de regreso de Costa Rica, donde el Galaxy había perdido en la Copa de Campeones de CONCACAF. La pérdida del arquitecto del equipo también se notó dentro de la cancha y el Galaxy se vio en muchos problemas para defender su corona de la MLS. En el mes de junio, Frank Yallop fue contratado para reemplazar a Steve Sampson, con el afán de sacar al equipo de su mal comienzo liguero. Sin embargo, una recuperación en las postrimerías de la temporada regular, que incluyó la captura del Honda SuerClásico contra Chivas USA, no fue suficiente y Los Ángeles se quedó fuera de la liguilla por primera vez en su historia.

Al Galaxy le fue un poco mejor en la Copa Abierta, regresando a las semifinales por cuarta vez en seis años, pero fue derrotado en la defensa de su corona, cayendo ante el Chicago Fire 3-1 el 27 de septiembre en el TOYOTA Park.

La campaña de 2007 inició con bombos y platillos, al anunciarse en enero que el club había obtenido el fichaje del mediocampista inglés David Beckham. Considerado uno de los mejores jugadores del mundo, Beckham se incorporaría al equipo en Julio tras terminar su vínculo contractual con el Real Madrid, con quienes ganaría el título de la Liga española.

En julio el Galaxy estrenó un nuevo uniforme junto con su más nuevo fichaje, al presentar la nueva marca, colores y logotipo. Un uniforme clásico de camiseta blanca con detalles azul marino, pantalones cortos y calcetas blancas fueron usados como la primera equipación, mientras que el azul marino y dorado fueron los colores de la segunda equipación. El nuevo logotipo del Galaxy es una cresta azul marino en la que predomina un quasar, que es el corazón de una Galaxia.

A pesar de hacer su debut en un estadio lleno y ante millones de televidentes en ESPN, la primera temporada de Beckham en Los Ángeles se vio mermada por lesiones, propias y de algunos de sus compañeros. Nuevamente, el equipo de Frank Yallop resurgió al final de la temporada regular, pero se volvería a quedar fuera de la liguilla al perder el último partido de la temporada regular en Chicago.

En 2007 el Galaxy también participó en la primera SuperLiga, que enfrentó a los mejores equipos de los Estados Unidos contra los mejores clubes de México. El Galaxy fue primero de su grupo, a pesar de perder contra el CD Guadalajara en el Coliseo de Los Ángeles, derrotando al FC Dallas y al Pachuca, y enfrentándose al D.C. United en la semifinal. Con goles de David Beckham (su primero para el club), y de Landon Donovan, el Galaxy avanzó a la final donde nuevamente se enfrentaron al Pachuca. Los visitantes de México tomaron la ventaja tempranera, pero Chris Klein empató con una acrobática chilena en el tiempo de descuento, mandando la justa al alargue. El Galaxy tuvo las mejores oportunidades en los 30 minutos del tiempo extra, pero no pudieron anotar, y en los tiros libres desde el manchón de penalti el Pachuca se alzó con la victoria por 4-3.

Pero el éxito en la SuperLiga no fue suficiente y Yallop fue separado del club en noviembre. Su reemplazo fue el ex seleccionado holandés Ruud Gullit, quien es considerado uno de los mejores jugadores de todos los tiempos.

A pesar de buenos resultados en lo arranque de la temporada, en Galaxy sufrió durante una racha de 12 partidos sin ganar a mediados de la temporada y llegó a ocupar el último lugar de la tabla general. Gullit dejó el puesto en agosto y fue remplazado por Bruce Arena, quién ha ganado la Copa MLS en dos ocasiones y el director técnico mas victorioso en la historia de la Selección Nacional de los Estados Unidos. Pero aunque entre el plantel del Galaxy estaban jugadores como Landon Donovan, quien termino la temporada como el máximo goleador de la MLS con 20 goles, Edson Buddle, quien anotó 15 goles, y Beckham al igual que Chris Klein, Eddie Lewis y Sean Franklin, el Galaxy no pudo entrar a los playoffs por tercera temporada consecutiva.

El inicio del 2009 no fue el mismo que el 2008, en sus primeros 11 partidos el club consiguió solo una victoria. Pero, al mismo tiempo, el equipo de Arena concedió solo una derrota y empezó con una marca de 1-1-9 y tuvo una racha de 10 partidos sin perder que empezó en abril y termino en junio, la cuarta racha con más duración en la historia del club.

Aunque no se estaba ganando, era obvio que el equipo estaba mejorando mejor defensivamente. Un año después de haber permitido 62 goles en el 2008, Arena empezó a mejorar la defensiva fichando a los porteros Donovan Ricketts y Josh Saunders y a los veteranos Gregg Berhalter, Todd Dunivant, Dema Kovalenko y Stefani Miglioranzi. Además de haber elegido a los novatos A.J. DeLaGarza y Omar González. Ese grupo, junto con el retorno de Sean Franklin, el novato del año del 2008, solo permitió 31 goles e impuso una marca de 12 blanqueadas, la figura más alta en la historia del Galaxy.

En la ofensiva, Landon Donovan otra vez fue el líder del equipo en esta categoría durante la primera tercera parte de la temporada, antes de tener que irse a Suadfrica con la selección para participar en la Copa Confederaciones de la FIFA en junio. Previo a su regreso, el equipo adquirió al delantero Alecko Eskandarian para ayudar con la ofensiva, el ex jugador de Chivas USA no decepciono, anotando goles en dos de sus primeros tres partidos.

El ataque recibió otro empuje a mediados de julio cuando regreso David Beckham de Italia, donde había estado jugando durante la primera mitad de la temporada con el AC Milan en préstamo. Amistosos de alto calibre contra el Milan y Barcelona, en el cual Beckham anoto un gol en frente de más de 93.000 en la Rose Bowl, ayudaron vigorizar al equipo para la segunda mitad de la temporada.

Con el plantel del club ya finalizado, el equipo se propuso la meta de terminar la temporada regular en la primera posición de la tabla de posiciones de la Conferencia del Oeste. Beckham anotó su primer gol del año contra Chivas USA el 29 de agosto, asegurando el titulo del Honda Superclásico para el Galaxy. El siguiente mes, la victoria de 1-0 sobre Chicago alzo al club al primer lugar de la Conferencia del Oeste y clasificó para la postemporada, caso que no sucedía desde el 2005. Un empate en Houston y una victoria contra San Jose ayudó al Galaxy terminar la temporada con la primera posición de la Conferencia del Oeste. En la postemporada, el Galaxy se enfrenó a Chivas USA.

Todo Los Ángeles estaba llenó de ansiedad ya que los dos clubes locales se estaban enfrentando en las semifinales de la Conferencia del Oeste en El Home Depot Center. El primer encuentro entre los dos clubes en la postemporada, el partido de ida, Chivas USA fue el equipo local en El Home Depot Center. Mike Magee y Landon Donovan anotaron los goles para el Galaxy en ese partido, que termino empatado 2-2, dándole todavía más importancia al partido de vuelta. El Galaxy fue el equipo local y frente un estadio lleno a su capacidad, el club galáctico le ganó a su rival Chivas 1-0 con un penal de Landon Donovan en el segundo tiempo, mandando a Los Ángeles a la final de la Conferencia Oeste contra el Houston Dynamo.

El Dynamo es lo único que quedaba entre el Galaxy y el regreso a la Copa MLS, el sexto viaje a la final de la MLS para el club galáctico. Los equipos terminaron empatados 0-0 al terminar los 90 minutos y tuvieron que jugar tiempos extras para decidir un ganador. Fue casi al final del primer tiempo extra que el defensa Gregg Berhalter anotó el primer gol del partido, y el primero con el Galaxy. Donovan agregó otro gol en el segundo tiempo, un penal, su gol núm. 17 en la postemporada en su carrera, imponiendo una nueva marca en la MLS, para ayudar al Galaxy vencer a Houston 2-0 y conseguir su boleto para la Copa MLS en Seattle.

En la final, el contrincante fue el Real Salt Lake, quien terminó la temporada regular en la quinta posición de la tabla del oeste, pero elimino al Columbus Crew y el Chicago Fire para ganar la final de la Conferencia del Este.

El Galaxy anotó el primer gol del partido y al medio tiempo tenia ventaja de 1-0 con gol de Magee, quien finalizó una jugada que empezó con Beckham y Donovan. En el segundo tiempo, las cosas cambiaron. El ex galáctico Robbie Findley anotó el gol del empate, en la misma jugada, Ricketts sufrió una fractura en su mano y se vio forzado salir del partido. Omar González también tuvo que salir del partido en tiempo de compensación debido a una lesión.

Una semana después de haber jugado un partido de tiempos extras contra Houston, el Galaxy tuvo que jugarse otros 30 minutes después de que los primeros 90 minutos acabaron con el marcador 1-1. Pero los tiempos extras no fueron suficientes y la final se decidió por penales. A pesar de un par de atajadas por el portero suplente Josh Saunders, el Galaxy perdió el campeonato en penales, 5-4.

Después de haber estado tan cerca de ganar su tercer titulo en la MLS, Bruce Arena y su equipo tiene como su meta regresar al Galaxy a la final de la Copa MLS, y ganar el campeonato por primera vez en cinco años.

TOM PAYNE
President of Business Operations

Tom Payne enters his eighth season with the club and his second season as the Galaxy's President of Business Operations. In this role, which he was promoted to on November 1, 2008, Payne oversees all facets of the Galaxy front office, including corporate partnerships, ticket sales, marketing, programming, communications, operations, and community development, as well as assisting General Manager and Head Coach Bruce Arena with team personnel matters.

Payne carries with him an extensive background in the sports and entertainment industry. He has worked for the Galaxy since 2003 and previously served as the club's Assistant General Manager (2006-2008) and Vice President of Programming and Business Development (2003-2006). In those roles, Payne organized the many international friendlies that the club plays at The Home Depot Center and all around the world. He was instrumental in positioning the Galaxy to host exhibitions against world renowned teams such as AC Milan, FC Barcelona, Real Madrid, Rangers, the Korean National Team and Yokohama F. Marinos, as well as 2007's World Series of Football, which saw raucous crowds in attendance to watch the Galaxy host Tigres UANL of Mexico, Suwon Samsung Bluewings of Korea and Chelsea of the English Premier League, who played the Galaxy in front of a capacity crowd on national television in what was David Beckham's debut for the Galaxy. Additionally, Payne played an important role in the rebranding and transition of the club upon the arrival of Beckham in July 2007.

In 2007 and 2008, Payne was a central figure in arranging and organizing the club's successful preseason and postseason tours, which saw the Galaxy play friendlies in Australia, China, Hong Kong, Korea and New Zealand, as well as a number of games in North America; playing in Vancouver, Minneapolis and Edmonton. Payne also played a pivotal role in the club's involvement in the first two installments of the Pan-Pacific Championship, in Hawaii in 2008 and in 2009 at The Home Depot Center. Under his leadership, the Galaxy continue to be one of the leaders in Major League Soccer in all major business categories.

The 46-year-old created the Galaxy Programming Department, which focuses on increasing the exposure and participation in the club's grassroots programs such as the Copa LA tournament, the Galaxy Fantasy Camp program, MLS Futbolito, the Galaxy Clasico adult tournament, and several other grassroots initiatives, including the club's numerous community clinics. Additionally, Payne sits on the board of the LA Galaxy Foundation and LA Scores, a local charitable organization that uses soccer, poetry and community service to enrich the lives of at-risk elementary-age youth.

Before joining the Galaxy, Payne served as the Sales Manager for Disney's Wide World of Sports in Orlando from 1998-2003. At Disney, Payne helped create Disney's Soccer Showcase, which was named by Soccer America, the top-ranked youth/college soccer showcase in the country for top college bound prospects. Payne was instrumental in introducing college coaches to the event, and possesses extensive knowledge of the collegiate and youth soccer system and landscape in the U.S.

In December 2008, the Galaxy made MLS history when they signed Tristan Bowen to a Generation adidas contract, making him the first player in league history to be signed by a club directly from their youth academy. The 19-year old, who is a member of the United States Under-20 National Team, was a member of the Galaxy Academy U-20 team while also representing the club at the 2007 and 2008 SUM U-17 Cup. He made a series of Reserve Division appearances for the Galaxy at the end of the 2008 season before making his first team debut as a second half substitute in a friendly against the Oceania All-Stars in Auckland, New Zealand in December 2008. Bowen went on to make his MLS debut in June 2009 when the Galaxy played at San Jose.

In January 2010, the Galaxy again formed a connection between their Youth Academy and first team, selecting UCLA and U.S. Under-20 National Team midfielder Michael Stephens, in the first round of the 2010 MLS SuperDraft. Prior to being selected by the Galaxy, Stephens played for the club's U-20 team in both 2008 and 2009, helping the team to a 14-5-1 record and score 49 more goals than their opponents.

In addition to Bowen and Stephens, a number of current Galaxy Youth Academy players have been called in to the U.S. National Team program, including Josh McNeely and Riley Wolfe. Additionally, former Galaxy Academy player Eric Gonzalez was given a spot in the U.S. Under-17 National Team's Residency Program in Florida beginning in the Fall of 2009.

En enero del 2010, el Galaxy volvio a formar una conexión con sus fuerzas básicas y el primer equipo al seleccionar el mediocampista Michael Stephens de UCLA y la Sub-20 de la Selección Nacional de los Estados Unidos en la primera ronda del SuperDraft de la MLS del 2010. Stepehens jugó con la Sub-20 del LA Galaxy en el 2008 y 2009, ayudando al equipo conseguir una marca de 14-5-1 y anotar más de 49 goles.

The Home Depot Center is a 125-acre, $150 million development in Carson, featuring state-of-the art stadiums and facilities for soccer, tennis, track & field, cycling, lacrosse, rugby, volleyball, baseball, softball, basketball and other sports. Designated as an "Official U.S. Olympic Training Site," The Home Depot Center is the nation's most complete training facility for Olympic, amateur and professional athletes.

Created around a 27,000-seat soccer stadium, 8,000-seat tennis stadium, 10,000-seat track & field facility and a 2,450-seat indoor velodrome, the complex is located on the campus of California State University, Dominguez Hills. The Home Depot Center is home to Major League Soccer's Los Angeles Galaxy and Chivas USA. In addition, the site is the U.S. Soccer Federation's (USSF) national team training headquarters and the location of the United States Tennis Association's (USTA) USA High Performance National Training Center. The development is also designated as an official training site for USA Cycling and USA Track & Field.

Since opening on June 1, 2003, with the inaugural Home Depot Track & Field Invitational, The Home Depot Center has hosted some of the finest national and international competitions in the world. In the facility's first year of operation, it hosted the 2003 MLS All-Star Game, 2003 MLS Cup game and the 2003 FIFA Women's World Cup championship match. Since then, The Home Depot Center has hosted major soccer tournaments and matches, including the qualifying for the prestigious Copa Libertadores – InterLiga, SuperLiga, CONCACAF Men's & Women's Gold Cup matches, the World Series of Football and the annual Super Clásico, featuring Los Angeles' intra-city rivalry, the Los Angeles Galaxy versus Chivas USA. The Home Depot Center hosted the LA Women's Tennis Championships presented by Herbalife, a Tier II Sony Ericsson WTA Tour event, showcasing tennis' most elite female athletes, from 2004 to 2009. The facility is also home to the nation's premier indoor velodrome and hosted the UCI Track Cycling World Cup Classics 2005—2007, and, in 2005, hosted the World Championships. Across three disciplines (soccer, tennis, cycling), more than 45 U.S. athletes who competed in the 2008 Beijing Olympics trained at The Home Depot Center in preparation for the Games.

The Home Depot Center's commitment to athletics and training also extends to the surrounding communities. Tennis courts, soccer training fields and a three-mile jogging trail with 12 fitness stations around the perimeter of the development is available to local residents as well as other facilities and amenities. Through foundations established by AEG-operated entities such as the Galaxy, the Los Angeles Kings (NHL) and STAPLES Center, more than $5 million has been pledged to community organizations in the last seven years, including new donations targeting the local Carson community established by The Home Depot Center Charitable Foundation.

The Home Depot Center is southern California's legacy to sports, building character through competition.

CAL STATE DOMIGUEZ HILLS

California State University, Dominguez Hills, named "the most diverse campus in the West" by U.S. News & World Report, is located in the city of Carson, minutes from Downtown Los Angeles. Founded in 1960, it now serves approximately 13,000 students primarily from the South Los Angeles/South Bay communities of Southern California. CSUDH offers a wide choice of bachelor's and master's degree programs and, through its School of Education, provides the highest percentage of graduates earning state teaching credentials in the CSU system.

Also, CSUDH is a nationwide leader in distance learning programs, having been featured on National Public Radio's "Morning Edition." CSUDH produces more live TV programming than any other CSU. And, the university was the first accredited university in the nation to design an academic degree for the Internet, the Master of Science in Quality Assurance, which remains the only one of two MSQA programs offered in California. Additionally, CSUDH is noted for its minority science education programs, which partner with area research institutions to provide real-world laboratory experience and the impetus for seeking careers in the sciences. In the School of Health, the Division of Nursing offers advanced education for registered nurses, the largest nursing program in the West, reaching statewide and nationwide through Cable TV.

CSUDH is committed to its students, the urban community in which it is located, and the concept that higher education is not an endeavor in which only a few, for economic or social reasons, can be productive participants. Such an ethnically and culturally diverse student population reflects the changing face of America and provides CSUDH students a rich educational experience to prepare them for the business and cultural world of the 21st century.

CARSON, CALIFORNIA

In 1782, the area now known as the city of Carson, California, was founded by Spanish soldier Juan Jose Dominguez. When Dominguez retired from military service in that year, the governor rewarded him with the first land grant in the history of California, a vast expanse of some 75,000 acres. This territory, named Rancho San Pedro, stretched from the Los Angeles River all the way west to the Pacific Ocean, encompassing what today would be the cities of Carson, Torrance, Redondo Beach, Lomita, Wilmington, and parts of San Pedro.

After suffering decades of neglect as an unincorporated part of Los Angeles County, the citizens of Carson went to the polls on February 6, 1968 to vote on whether to officially incorporate their community as an independent city. Almost 10,000 of the 17,531 registered voters in Carson cast a vote on that February morning. When the ballots were counted, the vote was 6,301 to 3,834 in favor of incorporation. Thus was the City of Carson born, the eighth-largest city in Los Angeles County.

Today, Carson is a vibrant city of approximately 90,000 people. Economic development has been a major goal for Carson over the last 35 years. The 1984 Los Angeles Olympics helped the city on its way by building a velodrome in Carson and staging the cycling events there. Although that velodrome is no longer in existence, a new one was built locally as part of the Home Depot Center complex on the campus of Cal State – Dominguez Hills.

CAL STATE DOMÍNGUEZ HILLS

La Universidad Estatal de California en Domínguez Hills, llamado "el campus más diversificado en el Oeste" por el U.S. News & World Report, está localizada en la ciudad de Carson, a sólo unos minutos del centro de Los Ángeles. Fundada en 1960, cuenta en la actualidad con aproximadamente 13,000 alumnos que provienen primordialmente de las comunidades del Sur de Los Ángeles y South Bay del Sur de California. La universidad ofrece una variedad de programas académicos de licenciaturas y maestrías, y a través de su Escuela de Educación, provee el más alto porcentaje de graduados que obtienen sus permisos para ser maestros en el estado en el sistema CSU.

También, la universidad es líder nacional en programas de educación a distancia, siendo mencionada en el programa de Radio Nacional "Morning Edition". Y la Universidad fue la primera acreditada en todo el país para diseñar un grado académico en Internet, el Master of Science in Quality Assurance, que es el único programa que queda en California. Adicionalmente, La universidad es famosa por sus programas de educación científica a minorías, que trabajan con instituciones investigativas para proveer experiencia real en un laboratorio y el ímpetu para estudiar carreras científicas. En la Escuela de las Ciencias de la Salud, la división de Enfermería ofrece educación avanzada para enfermeras registradas, siendo el programa de enfermería más grande del Oeste, llegando a todo el estado y al resto del país a través de la televisión por cable.

La universidad está comprometida con sus alumnos, la comunidad urbana en donde esta ubicada, y al concepto de que la educación superior no es sólo para pocos por razones económicas o sociales. Con una población estudiantil tan diversa étnica y culturalmente, allí se refleja la cambiante cara de los Estados Unidos. Provee a sus alumnos una experiencia educacional valiosa que los prepara para el mundo de negocios y cultural del Siglo XXI.

CARSON, CALIFORNIA

En 1782, el área ahora conocida como Carson, California, fue fundada por el soldado español Juan José Domínguez. Cuando Domínguez se retiro del servicio militar ese año, el gobernador lo premió con la primera parcela de tierra otorgada en la historia de California, con una vasta extensión de 75,000 acres. Este territorio, llamado Rancho San Pedro, llegaba desde el Río Los Ángeles hasta el Océano Pacífico, cubriendo lo que ahora son las ciudades de Carson, Torrance, Redondo Beach, Lomita, Wilmington y partes de San Pedro.

Tras sufrir décadas de descuido como una zona no incorporada al condado de Los Ángeles, los ciudadanos de Carson fueron a las urnas el seis de febrero de 1968 a decidir si se incorporarían oficialmente como una ciudad independiente. Casi 10,000 de los 17, 531 votantes registrados en Carson votaron en esa mañana de febrero. Cuando las papeletas fueron contadas, el voto fue de 6,301 a 3,834 a favor de la incorporación. Es así como nació la ciudad de Carson, la octava ciudad más grande del Condado de Los Ángeles

Hoy, Carson es una vibrante ciudad de 90,000 residentes. El desarrollo económico ha sido un enfoque importante e Carson durante los últimos 35 años. Los Juegos Olímpicos de Los Ángeles 1984 ayudaron a la ciudad con la construcción de un velódromo en Carson y programando los eventos de ciclismo allí. Aunque ese velódromo ya no existe, uno nuevo fue construido localmente como parte del complejo del Home Depot Center en el Campus de CSUDH.

Bruce Arena
General Manager and Head Coach/
Gerente General y Director Técnico

The 2009 MLS Coach of the Year, Bruce Arena enters his third season with the Galaxy. One of the most successful head coaches in U.S. National Team history and a two-time MLS Cup Champion Head Coach with D.C. United, Arena is scheduled to be inducted to the National Soccer Hall of Fame in August 2010. He was named General Manager and Head Coach of the LA Galaxy on August 18, 2008, becoming the seventh coach in club history. In his dual role, Arena oversees all of the club's soccer operations, including training, tactics, scouting and player acquisitions.

Since joining the Galaxy, Arena has led the club to a 14-11-15 record and a first place finish in the Western Conference during the 2009 season. He completely re-hauled the club's roster prior to the start of the 2009 season, bringing in 16 new players while helping the Galaxy reach MLS Cup for the first time since 2005.

The all-time leader in wins amongst coaches in U.S. National Team history, Arena led the U.S. to the FIFA World Cup twice, including an historic quarterfinal berth in 2002 in Japan/Korea. Arena took over as head coach in November 1998 and was in charge for nearly eight years, collecting a 71-30-29 all-time record, while leading the U.S. to the CONCACAF Gold Cup title in 2002 and 2005, the 2000 Nike U.S. Cup championship, as well as a third place finish in the 1999 Confederations Cup in Mexico.

A two-time MLS Cup winning coach, Arena is one of just four coaches ever to win the MLS Cup on more than one occasion. Additionally, only he and current Seattle Sounders FC Head Coach Sigi Schmid have won multiple MLS Cup championships and the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup.

Arena was the first coach in D.C. United history, joining the club for its inaugural season in 1996. He would spend three seasons with United, reaching the MLS Cup three times, winning it twice, in addition to reaching the U.S. Open Cup Final twice, winning one. He also helped United become the first MLS team ever to win the CONCACAF Champions Cup and the Interamerican Cup, winning each in 1998.

After a slow start to their inaugural season, Arena helped re-vitalize United and led the club to a second place finish in the Eastern Conference. Then, after losing their first postseason game against the MetroStars, Arena and United won their next five games to win the inaugural MLS Cup, culminating with a 3-2 extra time win over the Galaxy in the rain at Foxboro Stadium.

Ten days later, United completed the "Double" by becoming the first MLS club ever to win the U.S. Open Cup, defeating the Rochester Rhinos 3-0.

Arena followed up that performance a year later by being named the MLS Coach of the Year after leading United to the best record in MLS and a second MLS Cup championship in as many years, defeating the Colorado Rapids 2-1 at RFK Stadium.

In 1998, his final season with United, Arena again led United to the Eastern Conference championship, finishing the regular season with the second best record in the league. But despite becoming the first MLS club to win the CONCACAF Champions Cup in August of that year and the Interamerican Cup, United fell in their bid for a third consecutive MLS Cup title, falling to the Chicago Fire.

Following the 2006 FIFA World Cup in Germany, Arena parted company with National Team and returned to MLS when he was named the Sporting Director and Head Coach of the New York Red Bulls in August 2006. He spent a year and a half with the Red Bulls, compiling a 16-16-10 record while helping New York reach the postseason both years. He helped to develop young stars like Jozy Altidore and Dane Richards while also signing players like Juan Pablo Angel, who was a finalist for the MLS MVP award and the Newcomer of the Year Award in 2007.

The 58-year old Fairfax, Va. native has a career regular season record of 91-62-25 in MLS and a postseason mark of 16-5-4. He has the fourth most regular season wins in MLS history and last year he joined Sigi Schmid, Bob Bradley and Steve Nicol as the only four coaches in MLS history to have 100 or more wins combined in regular season and postseason play.

Following a brief stint at the University of Puget Sound (1976), Arena was named the head coach at the University of Virginia, in 1978. He held that position for 18 years, helping the Cavaliers to five ACC Tournament Championships and five National Championships, including four in a row from 1991-1994.

El Técnico del Año de la MLS en el 2009, Bruce Arena ingresa su tercera temporada con el LA Galaxy. Con el Galaxy, Arena tiene una marca de 14-11-15 y se ha coronado campeón de la Conferencia del Oeste en el 2009. Arena cambio casi por completo el plantel del equipo para la temporada 2009, trayendo 16 jugadores nuevos para ayudar al Galaxy llegar a la final de la Copa MLS por primera vez desde el 2005.

El técnico con más victorias mientras al mando de la selección nacional de EE.UU., Arena guío a los americanos a dos copas mundiales, incluyendo el histórico avance hasta a los cuartos de finales en el 2002 en Corea/Japón. El guió a los EE.UU a títulos en la Copa Oro de la CONCACAF en 2002 y 2005, la Copa U.S. Nike, y también un tercer lugar en la Copa Confederaciones en 1999 en México.

Arena también es uno de tres técnicos que ha levantado la Copa MLS en más de una ocasión, y el único de esos técnicos que también ha ganado la Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup. Arena fue el primer técnico en la historia del D.C. United, empezando con el club con la temporada inaugural en 1996. Estuvo tres temporadas con United, llego a la final de Copa MLS tres veces, gano dos, y también llego a la final de la Copa Abierta de los Estados Unidos dos veces. También ayudo al United ser el primer equipo de MLS en ganar la Copa de Campeones de la CONCACAF y la Copa Interamericana, ganando ambos en 1998.

La temporada inaugural no empezó con el pie derecho, pero con Arena al mando y Marco Etcheverry y Jaime Moreno en el campo United termino en segundo lugar de la Conferencia del Este. United perdió su primer partido de los playoffs, contra el MetroStars, pero ganaron su siguientes cinco en consecución para coronarse como los primeros campeones de la Copa MLS, al ganarle en la lluvia 3-2 al Galaxy en muerte súbita en el Estadio Foxboro.

A 10 días del campeonato, United ganó la Copa Abierta de Los Estados Unidos al derrotar los Rochester Rhinos 3-0.

En 1997, Arena fue elegido Entrenador del Año de la MLS después de haber guiado United al mejor record de la temporada regular y un segundo campeonato de la liga al ganarle al Colorado Rapids 2-1 en el Estadio RFK.

En 1998, su última temporada con United, Arena guió una vez más a su equipo a la Copa MLS, pero a pesar de que United hizo historia al ser el primer equipo en ganar la Copa de Campeones CONCACAF en agosto de ese año y la Copa Interamericana, el Chicago Fire gano el campeonato.

Después de la Copa del Mundo en el 2006, Arena regreso a MLS en Agosto de 2006, cuando fue nombrado director deportivo y director técnico de los New York Red Bulls. Estuvo un año y medio con los Red Bulls, compilo un record de 16-16-10 y ayudo a Nueva York llegar a la liguilla ambos años. El ayudo a jugadores jóvenes como Jozy Altidore y Dane Richards madurar y también firmo a jugadores como Juan Pablo Angel, quien fue finalista para ganar Jugador Más Valioso de la MLS y Contratación del Año de la MLS en 2007.

Un nativo de Fairfax, Va., Arena, 56, tiene un record de 96-62-25 en la campaña regular y 16-5-4 en la liguilla. Él esta en cuarto lugar en la lista de técnicos con mas victorias en la historia de MLS. Cobi Jones
Assistant Coach/Asistente Técnico

A true Galaxy legend who scored the first goal in club history, Cobi Jones enters his 15th season with the club and his third as an assistant coach. Jones retired after the 2007 season, ending a long and distinguished playing career. Shortly after his retirement, Jones was named by Ruud Gullit to be one of his assistants for the 2008 campaign.

Following Gullit's departure in August 2008, Jones served as the Galaxy's Interim Head Coach for one game, a 2-2 draw with Chivas USA that clinched the Honda SuperClasico title for LA, before returning to his role as an assistant when Bruce Arena was named head coach on August 18.

Jones is the only player in MLS history to have played each of the first 12 seasons of the league's history with the same team, having joined the Galaxy in March 1996. The club's all-time leader in nearly every statistical category, Jones scored 70 goals and added 91 assists in 306 career regular season games. Jones is one of just four players in league history to record 70 goals and 90 assists during his MLS career and still ranks ninth in league history in games played.

His best season in MLS came in 1998 when he set career highs for goals (19) and assists (13), despite missing nearly two months of play while with the U.S. National Team at the 1998 FIFA World Cup in France. Jones tallied either a goal or an assist in 18 of the 24 games that he played that season and was named the Galaxy's MVP and a finalist for MLS MVP as the Galaxy set a league record for goals scored that still stands today.

The 39-year-old won his first league championship when he captained the Galaxy to the club's first-ever MLS Cup title in 2002. Jones also captained the Galaxy to their first Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup championship in 2001 and the 2000 CONCACAF Champions Cup. In 2005, he was part of the Galaxy's "double" winning team that won both the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup and MLS Cup.

In addition to his distinguished career in MLS, Jones was also a permanent fixture on the U.S. National Team from 1992-2004, playing in three consecutive World Cups (1994, 1998, 2002). For his career, Jones amassed a record 164 caps for the Red, White and Blue, scoring 15 goals and adding 22 assists, which are the second most in National Team history. In 2000, Jones had six goals and nine assists for 21 points in 16 National Team matches, setting a record for the most points in a year by a National Team player, a record that stood until 2007.

A native of Westlake Village, Calif., Jones played college soccer as a walk-on at UCLA, eventually leading the Bruins to the 1990 NCAA Championship. Enshrined into the UCLA Hall of Fame in 2002, Jones finished his college career with 23 goals and 37 assists in 90 games. After representing the U.S. at the 1992 Barcelona Olympics, Jones went on to play overseas in both Europe and South America, playing for Coventry City of the English Premier League and Brazilian side Vasco de Gama.

Una verdadera y emblemática leyenda del equipo Angelino que anotó el primer gol en la historia del equipo, Cobi Jones ingresa a su decimoquinta temporada con el club y su tercera en la función de asistente técnico del equipo que comanda Bruce Arena. En marzo de 2007, Jones anunció su retiro del futbol activo luego de concluir su doceava temporada como jugador emelesero. Poco después, la leyenda del numero 13, fue nombrado como asistente técnico del elenco Angelino, por el técnico holandés, Ruud Gullit, para la campaña de 2008 de la Major League Soccer de Estados Unidos.

Después de la salida de Gullit en agosto del 2008, Jones fue nombrado Director Técnico interino para un partido, un empate 2-2 contra Chivas USA que amarro el titulo del Honda Superclásico para el equipo Galáctico. Después del partido, regreso a servir la función de asistente con la llegada de Bruce Arena como Director Técnico.

Jones, de 39 años de edad, es el único jugador en la historia de la MLS en haber participado con el mismo equipo a lo largo de sus doce años como profesional, luego su llegada al club galáctico en la temporada inaugural de la liga en1996. El líder de todos los tiempos del club en casi todas las categorías de estadística, anotó un total de 70 goles, se apuntó 91 asistencias de gol en únicamente 306 juegos de temporada regular. Jones es uno de únicamente dos jugadores en lograr 70 goles y 90 asistencias durante si carrera emelesera, así como uno de cuatro en haber aparecido en 300 o mas juegos de liga en temporada regular.

Su mejor temporada como jugador activo llegó en 1998, cuando se apuntó metas record como profesional al anotar 19 goles, y 13 asistencias a pesar de perderse casi dos meses de juego debido a su participación con la selección de las barras y las estrellas en el Mundial de Francia de 1998. Jones registro un gol a por lo menos una asistencia en 18 de los 24 juegos que jugó en esta temporada y al final de la misma fue nombrado como el Jugador Más Valioso del equipo así como finalista para el jugador mas valioso de la liga, en un año donde el Galaxy impuso una cifra de mas goles anotados en una temporada que aun sostiene el día de hoy.

Dos veces ganador de la Copa de la MLS (2002 y 2005), Jones igualmente fue instrumental en los títulos de la Copa Lamar Hunt en 2001 y 2005), así como el campeonato de Campeones y Sub Campeones de la Concacaf en 2000.

En adición a su distinguida carrera emelesera, Jones también fue un pilar inamovible en la Selección Nacional de Estados Unidos desde 1992 a 2004, jugando de paso tres Copas del mundo de forma consecutiva (1994, 1998 y 2002). En su carrera, Jones acumuló un total de 164 partidos con su selección anotando de paso 15 goles con 22 asistencias de gol, segunda cifra más grande en la historia del equipo de las barras y las estrellas. En el 2000, Jones anotó seis goles, y nueve asistencias de gol para un total de 21 puntos en 16 juegos con Selección Nacional, imponiendo un record de más puntos en un sólo año para un jugador de selección nacional. Record que se mantuvo hasta el pasado 2007.

Nativo de Westlake Village, Calif., Jones jugó su carrera colegial como un agregado en UCLA, eventualmente liderando a los "Ositos" al titulo colegial de 1990. Miembro del salón de la fama de UCLA en 2002, Jones finalizó su carrera colegial con 23 goles y 37 asistencias en 90 partidos. Tras representar a Estados Unidos en la Olimpiada de 1992 en Barcelona, emigró a Europa y Sudamérica, donde jugó con el Coventry City de la liga Premier inglesa y el Vasco de Gama de Brasil.

MLS Highlights

2009: Finished second on the Galaxy in scoring, tallying five goals in 19 games for the club. He missed the first month of the season with a right quad strain, but returned to the field in late April. Buddle scored his first goal of the season late in a 1-1 draw vs. Kansas City on 5/30, and then added the game-winner a week later on 6/6 at Toronto FC, a game LA won 2-1., becoming the 15th player in MLS history to score 70 career regular season goals. After scoring in the Galaxy's 1-0 friendly win over CS Herediano on 6/9, he added his third league goal of the season on 7/11 at Chivas USA, heading home the only goal in LA's 1-0 win. Buddle played the 200th regular season game of his career at New York on 7/16, but suffered a right foot sprain a few days later in the friendly with AC Milan on 7/19. That injury forced Buddle to miss seven weeks of play, but he returned on 9/12 vs. FC Dallas to score his fourth goal of the season in a 6-3 loss. He was on the scoresheet again a week later, scoring his fifth and final goal of the season in a 2-0 win vs. Toronto FC on 9/19. In the playoffs, Buddle started all four of the Galaxy's games, including MLS Cup when he missed LA's final penalty kick attempt in the deciding shootout. 2008: In his first full season with the Galaxy, Buddle enjoyed his best season in MLS as he finished third in the league with a then-career-high 15 goals. He was named to the MLS All-Star Team for the first time and entered the game as a second half sub in the 3-2 win over West Ham. Collected a pair of MLS Player of the Week awards after scoring hat tricks at FC Dallas on 5/18 and at San Jose on 6/14. Had 10 goals in a seven game span from 5/18-6/29. The Galaxy were 4-2-1 in that span and were 5-2-4 on the season when Buddle scored a goal. He added goals in each of the final two legs of the Honda SuperClasico on 7/10 and 8/14 before tallying three more goals in the final two months of the season. 2007: Acquired by the Galaxy in mid-June from Toronto FC, Buddle went on to appear in 16 games for the club, tallying five goals to place second on the club for the season. He made an immediate impact upon joining the Galaxy, scoring in each of his first two games with the club vs. Real Salt Lake (6/17), just 25 minutes into his debut and vs. Columbus (6/23), making him the first Galaxy player since Diego Serna in 2003 to score in each of his first two games with the club. However, a re-emergence of an Achilles injury forced him to the sideline for most of July and early August. He returned in time to score late at New York on 8/18, a goal that tied the score at 4-4 in that game which the Red Bulls went on to win 5-4. Buddle was back on the scoresheet in the 3-1 win vs. Colorado on 9/8, tallying the game-winner in that game, but suffering a hamstring injury in the process, ruling him out for a month. Buddle was back on the field in time for the game vs. Toronto FC on 10/13 when he scored the game-winning goal in the 78th minute to give LA a 2-1 win. That goal also meant that Buddle scored against all three of his former clubs while with the Galaxy. He eclipsed the 10,000 career minutes played mark against Real Salt Lake on 9/1. Buddle also played in three SuperLiga games, two Reserve Division games and one Open Cup match for LA. Prior to joining the Galaxy, Buddle played 481 minutes in 10 games with Toronto FC, recording two assists. 2006: Was acquired by the Red Bulls prior to the start of the season and scored six goals in 28 games, playing a career-high 2,112 minutes during his only year in New York. 2005: Continued his strong form by scoring nine goals and adding two assists for the Crew, giving him 39 goals in four years. 2004: Scored 11 goals to lead the team while also adding a pair of assists as Columbus pulled off the longest unbeaten streak in MLS history at 18 games to win the Supporter's Shield. He was twice named MLS Player of the Week, including once after scoring four goals in a 4-2 win over New York on 9/18. 2003: Recorded his first double digit goalscoring season, tallying 10 goals and four assists in just 16 starts for the Crew. He also scored four of the Crew's six goals in the CONCACAF Champions Cup. 2002: Helped the Crew win the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup in his second season, tallying nine goals and a career-high five assists while beginning to establish himself as one of the top young forwards in MLS. 2001: After one season in the A-League, Buddle joined the Columbus Crew and tallied three goals in 17 appearances as a rookie. Adquirido por Los Ángeles: Llegó de Toronto en un intercambio por el defensor Tyrone Marshall el 13 de Junio de 2007.

Destellos de la MLS

2009: Terminó segundo en el Galaxy en anotaciones, anotando 5 goles en 19 partidos. Se perdió el primer mes de la temporada con una lesión en su cuádriceps derecho, pero regresó a las canchas a finales de abril. Buddle anotó su primer gol de la temporada en el empate 1-1 contra Kansas City el 5/30, y después anotó el gol del triunfo una semana más tarde, el 6/6 en la visita al Toronto FC, encuentro que el Galaxy ganó 2-1, convirtiéndose así en el décimo quinto jugador en la historia de la MLS en anotar 70 goles en la temporada regular. Tras anotar en el amistoso que el Galaxy ganó 1-0 al CS Herediano el 6/9, anotó su tercer gol de la temporada el 7/11 contra Chivas USA, de cabeza en el triunfo por 1-0 de LA. Buddle jugó su juego de temporada regular número 200 en New York el 7/16, pero se lastimó el pie derecho unos días después durante el amistoso contra el AC Milan el 7/19. La lesión obligó a Buddle a perderse siete semanas de competencia, pero regresó el 9/12 contra el FC Dallas para anotar su cuarto gol de la temporada en la derrota por 6-3. Volvería a anotar una semana más tarde, anotando su quinto y último gol de la temporada en el triunfo por 2-0 sobre Toronto FC el 9/19. En la postemporada, Buddle fue titular en los cuatro partidos disputados por el Galaxy, incluyendo la final por la Copa MLS, donde falló el último tiro desde el manchón de penalti en la tanda de desempate. 2008: En su primera temporada completa con el Galaxy, Buddle disfrutó su mejor temporada en MLS después de terminar como el tercer mejor anotador de la liga con una marca personal de15 goles. Fue nombrado al juego de estrellas por prima vez en su carrera y entro al partido en el segundo tiempo de la victoria 3-2 contra West Ham. Colecto un par de premios de jugador de la semana después de anotar tres goles en un partido frente a FC Dallas el 5/18 y San Jose el 6/14. Anotó 10 goles en una racha de siete partidos del 5/18-6/29. El Galaxy tuvo una marca de 4-2-1 durante esa racha y 5-2-4 en la temporada cuando Buddle anotó. 2007: Adquirido por el Galaxy a mediados de junio en un intercambio con Toronto FC, Buddle apareció en 16 partidos con el equipo Angelino, anotando cinco goles para terminar en segundo lugar en el equipo en anotaciones. Tuvo un impacto casi inmediato con el equipo, anotando en sus dos primeros partidos ante el Real Salt Lake (6/17), apenas transcurridos 25 minutos en el reloj en su debut, y ante Columbus (6/23), convirtiéndolo en el primer jugador desde Diego Serna en 2003, en anotar en sus dos primeros partidos con el equipo. No obstante, una recaída de su lesión en el tendón de Aquiles lo forzó a perderse algunos partidos por la mayor parte de julio y un tramo del mes de agosto. Retornó justo a tiempo, para anotar en los últimos minutos en el partido ante Nueva York el 8/18, un gol que empató el partido 4-4 y que los RedBulls ganaron por marcador de 5-4. Buddle volvió anotar en la victoria de 3-1 sobre Colorado el 9/8, apuntándose el gol de la victoria en ese partido pero sufriendo un tirón en el proceso, lesión que lo dejó fuera de acción por espacio de un mes. Buddle retornó a tiempo para el partido ante el Toronto FC el 10/13 cuando anotó el gol de la victoria de 2-1 en el minuto 78 de juego. Ese gol significaba la hazaña de Buddle, quien con el Galaxy, le había anotado a sus tres ex equipos en competencia emelesera. El delantero de 26 años luego eclipsó la marca de 10,000 minutos jugados, cuando jugo ante el Real Salt Lake el 9/1. Buddle también jugó tres partidos de la SuperLiga, dos partidos con la reserva del equipo y un juego de Copa Abierta de los Estados Unidos Lamar Hunt. Previo a su arribo al Galaxy, Buddle jugó 481 minutos en 10 partidos con el Toronto FC, apuntándose dos asistencias de gol. 2006: Fue adquirido

He played every minute of each of the Galaxy's 32 MLS regular season games as well as all four playoff games for the club to become the first player in club history to accomplish the feat. He assisted on a Cobi Jones goal in a 2-2 draw with the MetroStars on 6/4 and then set up Mike Enfield in a 1-1 draw against New England a month later. 2004: Appeared in just 16 games as a result of injury, making 13 starts for the Earthquakes. However, he was healthy enough to be back in the lineup during the MLS Cup Playoffs, playing the full 90 minutes in each of San Jose's two games. He was named his club's co-Humanitarian of the Year. 2003: Dunivant was selected by San Jose with the sixth overall pick in the 2003 MLS SuperDraft and was an ever-present member of the MLS Cup winning side, appearing in and starting all 30 games for the Earthquakes. MLS Highlights
2009: The Galaxy's Defender of the Year and an instant fan favorite, Ricketts was a major reason for the Galaxy's defensive improvements in 2009. He missed much of the preseason and the first two games of the regular season with various injuries before making his MLS debut on 4/11 vs. Chivas USA. He kept a clean sheet in that game, making five saves, and was named the MLS Player of the Week. That was the first of nine shutouts on the season for Ricketts, tying him for the second most shutouts in a single season by a Galaxy goalkeeper. He earned his first win on 5/2 vs. New York when he made one save in a 1-0 win. His second win came on 6/5 at Toronto FC when he made a season-high 10 saves. He missed two games in July while with Jamaica at the CONCACAF Gold Cup, but returned in time to play in the 3-1 win at New York on 7/16, saving a Juan Pablo Angel penalty in second half stoppage time. He played the first half of the friendly with AC Milan on 7/19, allowing one goal. One week later, Ricketts was forced to leave the 1-1 draw at Kansas City after suffering a hip injury when he crashed into the post while trying to stop a Claudio Lopez shot. That injury forced him to miss the friendly with Barcelona, but he was back in the lineup for the 2-1 win at New England on 8/8. He kept three consecutive clean sheets from 8/19-8/29, helping the Galaxy to wins at Chicago on 8/19 and vs. Chivas USA on 8/29 and a draw at D.C. United on 8/22, though he had to leave the win over Chicago with five minutes left because of a cut above his right eye that required stitches. He allowed a season-high six goals vs. FC Dallas on 9/12, but then kept a clean sheet a week later vs. Toronto FC, making one save to become the first goalkeeper since 2006 to earn a shutout after allowing six goals in the previous game. He earned his 10th win of the season in the regular season finale vs. San Jose on 10/24, making two saves in a 2-0 win. That shutout was the Galaxy's 12th of the season, setting a new club record. In the postseason, Ricketts continued his fine form, shutting out Chivas USA in Game Two of the Western Conference Semifinal Series and Houston in the Western Conference Championship. He made two saves during MLS Cup, but was forced to leave the game in the 66th minute with a broken hand, Ricketts left the game shortly after allowing a goal to Robbie Findley, snapping the club's streak of 314 minutes without allowing a goal.

Career Highlights
2008: Ricketts returned to his original club, Village United, for the end of the 2008 campaign before signing with the Galaxy in December. He appeared in one game for the Jamaican National Premier League team before coming to MLS. 2004-08: Ricketts joined Bradford City of England's League Two in July 2004 and appeared in four games during his first season before establishing himself as the club's top goalkeeper. He played in more than 100 games for the club before March 2008 when he was refused entry back into England following an appearance with the Jamaican National Team as the result of a discrepancy on his work permit. As a result, he was released by the club at the end of the 2007-08 season. 2004: Signed with Bolton Wanderers of the English Premier League in January, where he was joined by fellow Jamaican National Team player Ricardo Gardner. However, he did not appear in any games for Bolton in his time at the Reebok Stadium, and he signed with Bradford in July. 2002-04: Began his professional career in Jamaica with Village United, one of the nation's top clubs.

Ricketts has earned 75 caps with the Jamaican National Team since making his debut in a World Cup Qualifier against St. Vincent and the Grenadines in the run up to the 2002 FIFA World Cup. Ricketts kept a clean sheet in that game as Jamaica won 1-0 in Kingstown. Despite having never been capped by the full National Team, Ricketts was in his country's final 22-man squad as they qualified for the 1998 World Cup in France for the first time in Jamaica's history. He was on the roster, but he did not play in the tournament with Warren Barrett preferred in goal. He featured in Jamaica's World Cup qualifying bids for the 2002, 2006 and 2010 World Cups, having appeared in a total of 24 World Cup qualifiers during the last three qualification cycles. He played in and started all eight of Jamaica's World Cup qualifiers in 2008, keeping five clean sheets, including in each of their last three games, only to see Mexico narrowly sneak into the final round of qualifying on goal difference, eliminating Jamaica. He has twice played against the United States in World Cup qualifiers, with both matches finishing 1-1. In December 2008, he helped lead Jamaica to the Digicel Caribbean Championship, keeping three clean sheets in five games and allowing two goals in the other two games. The tournament was held in Jamaica and saw Ricketts and the Reggae Boyz win for the first time in 10 years, defeating Grenada 2-0 to lift the crown. He was in goal for all three of Jamaica's games at the 2009 CONCACAF Gold Cup, allowing just two goals in those three games as Jamaica narrowly missed out on advancing to the Quarterfinals.

Adquirido por Los Angeles: Fichado por el Galaxy el 23 de diciembre de 2008.

Destellos de la MLS
2009: El Defensor del Año del Galaxy y uno de los favoritos de la afición, Ricketts fue uno de los motivos por los cuales la zona defensiva del Galaxy mejoró en el 2009. Se perdió una buena parte de la pretemporada y los dos primeros juegos de la temporada regular debido a diferentes lesiones antes de hacer su debut en la MLS el 4/11 ante Chivas USA. Mantuvo su marco invicto en ese partido, con cinco atajadas, y fue nombrado jugador de la MLS de la semana. Ese fue el primero de nueve partidos en los cuales Ricketts mantuvo invicta su portería, la segunda mejor marca en la historia del Galaxy. Tuvo su primera victoria el 5/2 contra New York, con una atajada en el triunfo por 1-0. Su segundo triunfo llegó el 6/5 en Toronto cuando tuvo 10 atajadas, su máximo total en la temporada. Se perdió dos partidos en el mes de julio al ser convocado para jugar con la Selección Nacional de Jamaica en la Copa Oro de la CONCACAF, pero regresó a tiempo para jugar en el triunfo por 3-1 en New York el 7/16, donde atajó un tiro de penalti a Juan Pablo Angel en tiempo de descuento del segundo tiempo. Jugó la primera mitad del partido amistoso contra el AC Milan el 7/19, donde le anotaron un gol. Una semana más tarde, Ricketts tuvo que salir del partido que el Galaxy empató 1-1 contra Kansas City, al sufrir una lesión de cadera tras estrellarse contra el poste al tratar de atajar un tiro de Claudio "El Piojo" López. Dicha lesión lo obligó a perderse el partido amistoso contra el FC Barcelona, pero regresó a la titularidad en el triunfo por 2-1 en New England el 8/8. Mantuvo su marco invicto en tres partidos consecutivos entre el 8/19 y el 8/29, ayudándole al Galaxy en los triunfos contra Chicago el 8/19 y contra Chivas USA el 8/29, así como en el empate en la casa del D.C. United el 8/22, aunque tuvo que salir en el triunfo ante Chicago con cinco minutos por jugarse por una cortadura sobre su ojo derecho que requirió puntos de sutura. Permitió seis goles contra el FC Dallas el 9/12, pero mantuvo nuevamente su valla invicta una semana más tarde contra el Toronto FC, donde con una atajada se convirtió en el primer arquero en mantener invicta su valla tras haber permitido seis goles en el partido anterior. Obtuvo su décimo triunfo de la temporada en el último partido de la temporada regular contra San José el 10/24, con dos atajadas en el triunfo por 2-0. La blanqueada fue la duodécima del año para el Galaxy, un récord para la franquicia. En la postemporada, Ricketts continuó con su buen desempeño, blanqueando a las Chivas USA en el Juego dos de la serie Semifinal de la Conferencia del Oeste, y a Houston en la Final de la Conferencia del Oeste. Hizo dos atajadas durante la Copa MLS, pero tuvo que salir del partido definitorio del campeonato en el minuto 66 con una fractura de mano, tras encajar el gol de Robbie Findley, rompiendo así la racha del equipo de 314 minutos sin permitir goles.

Destellos de su carrera
2008: Ricketts retorno a su primer club profesional, Village United, para el fin de la campaña del 2008. Solo jugó un partido para el equipo de la Liga Nacional Jamaiquiña antes de firmar con LA. 2004-08: Ricketts fichó con Bradford City de la Liga Dos de Inglaterra en julio de 2004. Jugó cuatro partidos esa temporada para establecerse como el portero titular del club para la siguiente campaña. Jugó más de 100 partidos en cuatro años con el club antes de que su reingreso al país no fuera permitido después de haber jugado con la Selección de Jamaica en marzo de 2008 debido a una discrepancia en su visa de trabajo. Por ende, fue puesto en liberta por el club al término de la campaña 2007-08. 2004: Fichó con Bolton Wanderers de la Liga Premier de Inglaterra en enero, jugando aun lado de su compatriota Ricardo Gardner. Pero, no vio el campo de juego durante su tiempo en Bolton en el Estadio Reebok, y firmo con Bradford en julio. 2002-04: Empezó su carrera profesional en Jamaica jugando con Village United, uno de los mejores clubes en ese país.

Selección Nacional
Ricketts ha jugado en 72 partidos internacionales con la Selección Nacional de Jamaica. Su debut fue en una eliminatoria para la Copa Mundial de la FIFA 2002 contra San Vincente y las Granadinas. Ricketts blanqueo a San Vincente y las Granadinas en ese partido que Jamaica ganó por el marcador de 1-0 en Kingstown. A pesar de nunca haber sido convocado por la selección mayor, Ricketts fue incluido en el plantel de Jamaica para la Copa Mundial de 1998 en Francia, el primer mundial en la historia de Jamaica. No jugó en ese mundial, Wade Barrett fue el arquero titular, pero ha jugado un rol importante en las eliminatorias de 2002, 2006 y 2010, habiendo jugado 24 partidos de eliminatorias durante sus tres ciclos mundialistas. Jugó e inició los ocho partidos que Jamaica jugó en las eliminatorias para la Copa Mundial de Sudáfrica en el 2008, terminó con cinco blanqueadas, incluyendo los tres últimos partidos. A pesar de los buenos resultados que tuvieron, México avanzo al hexagonal por adelante Jamaica debido a diferencia de goles. 2009 SEASON

Final Record: 12-6-12, 48 pts. (First, Western Conference)

The LA Galaxy snapped a three-year run of missing the postseason by winning the Western Conference Championship in 2009 and reaching MLS Cup. The Galaxy finished first in the Western Conference with a 12-6-12 record and dispatched Chivas USA and the Houston Dynamo in the Western Conference playoffs before falling on penalties to Real Salt Lake in MLS Cup 2009.

The Galaxy opened the season with a 2-1-9 record, including a 10-game unbeaten streak that saw the Galaxy go 2-0-8 following an early season loss to Colorado. But over the second half of the season, Bruce Arena's squad was able to turn many of those ties into wins and the club quickly vaulted up the Western Conference standings.

Landon Donovan was once again the attacking star for the Galaxy, scoring a team-best 12 goals to go along with six assists en route to being named the club and MLS Most Valuable Player. He was aided in the attack by Edson Buddle and Alan Gordon, as well as offseason acquisitions Jovan Kirovski and Mike Magee. During the campaign, Alecko Eskandarian was brought in to provide goals, while David Beckham returned from his loan spell at AC Milan to further bolster the LA attack.

But while that group was taking care of matters at one end of the field, it was in the defensive third that the biggest improvement was seen. First year goalkeeper Donovan Ricketts immediately became a fan favorite, combining with Josh Saunders for a club record 12 clean sheets and allowing 31 fewer goals than in the season before, setting a new MLS record.

That duo was helped out in large by a host of new faces, including 2009 MLS Rookie of the Year Omar Gonzalez, who combined with the 2008 Rookie of the Year Sean Franklin and his college teammate A.J. DeLaGarza to give the Galaxy one of the youngest and most talented backlines in MLS. Todd Dunivant and early season acquisition Gregg Berhalter provided a veteran influence in defense, as did the duo of Dema Kovalenko and Stefani Miglioranzi, who served as the link between the defense and the attack.

A 10-3-3 mark over the final four months of the regular season pushed the Galaxy to the top of the Western Conference standings for the first time since 2002 and set up a playoff meeting with Chivas USA.

Following a 2-2 draw in the opening game of the series, Landon Donovan scored to give the Galaxy a 1-0 win in front of a capacity crowd at The Home Depot Center and a berth in the Western Conference Championship against Houston.

That game was scoreless after 90 minutes and went to extra time, where Gregg Berhalter scored his first goal for the club to put LA up 1-0. Donovan added a late penalty to become the all-time leading scorer in the MLS Cup Playoffs, and send the Galaxy to MLS Cup 2009.

However, the dream of a third MLS Cup title would die in Seattle as, despite going ahead 1-0 through Mike Magee just before halftime, the Galaxy were unable to hold onto their lead. The score was tied after 90 minutes of regulation and 30 minutes of extra time, meaning that the match would be decided on penalties, where the Galaxy fell 5-4 to narrowly miss out on the MLS Cup championship.

2008 SEASON

Final Record: 8-13-9, 33 pts. (Sixth, Western Conference)

For the third consecutive season, the Galaxy failed to qualify for the MLS Cup Playoffs, finishing sixth in the Western Conference with a record of 8-13-9, despite scoring an MLS-best 55 goals on the season.

Despite a disappointing 4-0 loss to Colorado in the season opener, the Galaxy had a successful start to their first season under Ruud Gullit. Following their season opening loss, the club quickly found its footing and jumped to the top of the Western Conference standings. From May 18-June 14 the Galaxy won four of five games, scoring three or more goals in each win, to sit three points clear of their conference rivals. However, starting with a 3-3 home draw against Columbus on June 21, the Galaxy would go a club record 12 games (0-6-6) without a win and quickly faded from the postseason picture.

During that streak, on August 12, the club relieved General Manager Alexi Lalas of his responsibilities and Head Coach Ruud Gullit also left the club. A week later Bruce Arena was hired as the seventh coach in club history, bringing 2003 MLS Coach of the Year Dave Sarachan along with him as his Associate Head Coach.

That duo claimed their first win on September 20 with an emphatic 5-2 win over D.C. United, Arena's first club, with Landon Donovan scoring a hat trick and adding an assist. However, that result and a 3-2 win over Colorado in October were the Galaxy's only wins over the final four and a half months of the year and the club finished six points behind the final playoff spot, missing the postseason for the third straight season.

But despite the disappointing results, the 2008 season was full of individual honors for Galaxy players. Landon Donovan won the Budweiser MLS Golden Boot as the league's leading goalscorer with a career-high 20 goals to go along with nine assists. Donovan, who was also named the Galaxy's Most Valuable Player, had six multi-goal games in 2008 and was named the MLS Player of the Month in April and the MLS Player of the Week on four separate occasions. His fellow forward Edson Buddle was third in the league with 15 goals, which were also a career-high for the New York native. Both of those players were named to the MLS All-Star Team, which beat West Ham United 3-2 in Toronto, as was David Beckham who had five goals and a team-best 10 assists in his first full season with the Galaxy.

Sean Franklin, the Galaxy's first round pick in the 2008 MLS SuperDraft, was not named to the All-Star Team, but the Palmdale native did have an immediate impact on his new club. Franklin appeared in 27 games for the Galaxy and was named the club's Defender of the Year. Additionally, Franklin was named the Gatorade MLS Rookie of the Year, making him the first Galaxy player ever to win the award.

2007 SEASON

Final Record: 9-14-7, 34 pts. (Fifth, Western Conference)

For the second consecutive season, the Galaxy failed to qualify for the MLS Cup Playoffs, finishing fifth in the Western Conference with a record of 9-14-7.

The year began with a bang for LA as the club announced the signing of David Beckham in early January, making him the club's first-ever Designated Player. The England international agreed to join the club after the completion of his season with Real Madrid, meaning that he would miss the first half of his new club's season.

The Galaxy's schedule was weighed heavily toward the back end of the season, giving the club the opportunity to have Beckham in the lineup for more than half the season, but also creating a heavy schedule from mid-July on through the end of the campaign. The schedule had definite effects over the first three months of the season as LA, despite strong showings from Landon Donovan, who again led the team in scoring, Kyle Martino, Joe Cannon and rookie Ty Harden, stood at just 3-5-4 and had been knocked out of the U.S. Open Cup by the July All-Star break.

A July 21 friendly against Chelsea saw Beckham make his LA debut, but the team continued to struggle, despite drawing massive crowds in every market to which they traveled, and sat in last place in the Western Conference heading into mid-September when the tide began to turn.

Following a 2-2 draw at Real Salt Lake on Sept. 19, the Galaxy won five straight, with Gavin Glinton, Chris Klein, Edson Buddle, Carlos Pavon, Kyle Martino and Troy Roberts all scoring huge goals for the club to give the Galaxy a chance at postseason qualification. A draw with New York in the regular season home finale meant that Frank Yallop's squad would need a win in Chicago on the season's final day to reach the postseason. However, despite a spirited performance, the Fire grabbed a late goal to win 1-0 and end the Galaxy's 2007 campaign.

The Galaxy also took fans on a wild and memorable ride in the inaugural SuperLiga tournament, which pitted four MLS teams against their Mexican counterparts. Wins over Pachuca and FC Dallas, in a thrilling 6-5 encounter, saw the Galaxy win their group and set up a semifinal matchup with D.C. United. David Beckham scored his first-ever goal for the Galaxy, beating Troy Perkins with a freekick from 25 yards out, and then set up Landon Donovan to seal the win and set up a SuperLiga Final meeting with Pachuca. A first half own goal and an injury to Beckham could have been enough to kill off LA, but the players kept fighting and grabbed an equalizer with the final kick of regulation, as Chris Klein scored with an acrobatic overhead kick, sending the match to extra time. The Galaxy had the better of the play in the extra session but could not conjure up a winner, sending the match to penalties where Pachuca eventually came out victorious, winning 4-3 to win SuperLiga.

The 2007 season will also be remembered as the final season in the long and illustrious playing career of Cobi Jones. A true Galaxy legend, Jones retired after the 2007 season as the club's all-time leader in every statistical category for the club. The 37-year old reminded fans just how good he is with a series of sensational showings, perhaps none greater than his two-goal performance off the bench to earn LA a 2-2 draw with the Kansas City Wizards on July 7 after falling behind 2-0 early in the second half.

Final Record: 11-15-6, 39 pts. (Fifth, Western Conference)

The Los Angeles Galaxy finished the 2006 regular season as the fifth place team in Major League Soccer's Western Conference, ending the season with an 11-15-6 record and collecting 39 points. For the first time in club history, the Galaxy did not qualify for the MLS Playoffs, snapping the longest playoff streak in League history at ten seasons (1996-2005).

The year began with tragedy with the passing of the club's President and General Manager Doug Hamilton as he returned from Costa Rica after seeing the club play in the CONCACAF Champions' Cup. Just how much he meant to the Galaxy organization might not be as easy to understand. Hamilton was the architect of the Galaxy's two MLS Cups. A perennial candidate for MLS' Executive of the Year -- and the person for whom the league award is now named -- Hamilton played an integral part in bringing veteran players like Tyrone Marshall, Chris Albright and Landon Donovan to the Southland. His impact on the team -- and the void he left -- was immeasurable at the start of the '06 campaign.

Knowing that no one person could fill Hamilton's shoes, AEG's first step was to announce Alexi Lalas as the President and General Manager of the club. Lalas, who played for the Galaxy from 2001-2003, returned to the club as their top executive to oversee all business and soccer operations. He had spent the last year as President and General Manager of the New York Red Bulls (formerly the MetroStars) after serving as General Manager of the San Jose Earthquakes from 2004-2005. In addition, AEG promoted Tom Payne to Assistant General Manager to help oversee the business operations for the team.

On the field, Los Angeles opened the season looking to defend their 2005 MLS Cup championship, but a 1-0 loss to the New England Revolution foreshadowed the struggles to come as the club posted a 2-2-1 record over the first five games of the year. The season continued to slip away as the club went on a six-game losing streak, falling to last place in the conference with a 2-8-1 record.

On June 6, the Galaxy announced that head coach Steve Sampson had been relieved of his duties. A day later, the club introduced Canadian National Team and former San Jose Earthquakes head coach Frank Yallop as the club's new head coach, whose job would be to turn around the struggling side.

With Yallop at the helm, the Galaxy slowly began to respond going 0-2-2 in his first four games before stringing together the club's first three-game winning streak of the season. The team gained momentum and fought to make the playoffs, but a home-and-away series with FC Dallas to end the season proved too much as the teams split the two games, knocking L.A. out of the play-offs for the first time ever.

At The Home Depot Center, Los Angeles finished with the eleventh-best home record in MLS at 6-6-4. On the road, the Galaxy recorded the third-best record in the league with a 5-9-2 mark. The Galaxy posted a 7-10-3 record against fellow Western Division foes and a 4-5-3 record against teams outside its division.

Los Angeles led the league in attendance for the fourth consecutive time and seventh overall (1996, 1998, 2000, 2003, 2004, 2005, and 2006). The club welcomed 333,016 fans to the The Home Depot Center for an average of 20,814 per game, including three sellouts (4/1, 9/30 and 10/14). 2005 SEASON

Final Record 13-13-6, 45 pts. (Fourth, Western Conference)

The Galaxy finished the regular season with a 13-13-6 record for 45 points and a fourth place finish in the Western Conference. The 2005 campaign can best be described as a season of ebbs and flows for the Galaxy, but with an impressive finish that saw the club win the U.S. Open Cup and MLS Cup championships.

By season's end, the team had finished exactly where it started – at .500 with a 13-13-6 record – including a stellar record of 10-3-3 at The Home Depot Center, third-best in MLS and an 11-8-1 record against Western Conference foes.

Los Angeles led the League in attendance for the sixth time, welcoming 387,256 fans to The Home Depot Center for an average of 24,204 per game.

In the offseason, Head Coach Steve Sampson and General Manager Doug Hamilton took charge of re-tooling the roster. The Galaxy acquired international reinforcements in Pablo Chinchilla (Costa Rica), Ednaldo da Conceicao (Brazil), Paulo Nagamura (Brazil), Guillermo "El Pando" Ramirez (Guatemala), Michael Umaña (Costa Rica), in addition to Americans Steve Cronin, Todd Dunivant and Herculez Gomez.

However, the biggest move was signing of U.S. National Team star Landon Donovan, preceded by the departure of Carlos Ruiz. In all, only 11 of the 28 players from the 2004 playoff roster remained as the team entered the 2005 playoffs.

A fast start, with only two losses through the first two months of the season (6-2-1) gave way to some difficult losses in June (1-3-2) and July (1-2-2). But it was during that time that the roster was ravaged by call-ups to national teams participating in the final round of CONCACAF qualifying to 2006 FIFA World Cup Germany.

The arrival of August provided yet another challenge, when the team entered the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup. Entering the prestigious knockout tournament in the fourth round, they defeated inter-city rivals Chivas USA 5-2, the San Jose Earthquakes 2-0 at Spartan Stadium, and the Minnesota Thunder 5-2, setting up the Galaxy's first ever Cup Final of any sort at The Home Depot Center. In the Open Cup Final, the Galaxy defeated FC Dallas 1-0 with a goal from Gomez, his sixth of the tournament.

In the playoffs, Los Angeles captured the club's second MLS Cup title with an unexpected run through the playoffs. The Galaxy opened by defeating the top seeded San Jose Earthquakes 3-1 at home and then earned a 1-1 draw on the road to advance 4-2 on aggregate. In the Western Conference Championship, the Galaxy beat the Colorado Rapids 2-0 with two strikes from Donovan to earn a fifth trip to the MLS Cup.

At the MLS Cup final, the unlikely hero was Guatemalan international Guillermo "El Pando" Ramirez, whose overtime volley propelled the Galaxy to their second championship in club history.

2004 SEASON

Final Record 11-9-10, 43 pts. (Second, Western Conference)

The Galaxy finished the regular season as the second place team in the Western Conference, ending the season with an 11-9-10 record and collecting 43 points in the process.

At The Home Depot Center, Los Angeles finished the season tied for the second best home record 8-2-5 in MLS. On the road, the Galaxy finished tied for the fourth best record in MLS at 3-7-5.

For the second consecutive season, the Galaxy topped Major League Soccer in average attendance with an impressive 23,809 per contest. In addition, the Galaxy became the first club in MLS history to draw more than 20,000 fans per game in thirteen of fifteen home games, including closing out the season with three consecutive sell out crowds for a total of five on the season.

The Galaxy jumped out to a quick start, going unbeaten in their first four games before finishing at 7-5-3, 24 pts over the first 15 games. It was stalwart forward Carlos Ruiz and offseason acquisitions, forward Jovan Kirovski and midfielder Andreas Herzog that sparked the club's fast start combining for 16 goals and seven assists. All three were later voted to the 2004 MLS All-Star squad along with teammates Chris Albright and Cobi Jones.

In the second half, the Galaxy won their first two games before going winless over the next seven games (0-2-5) and posted a 4-4-7 record for 19 points. On August 18, LA appointed former U.S. and Costa Rica National Team manager Steve Sampson as head coach. With seven games remaining in the season, Sampson needed only two games to get his first victory and helped the Galaxy clinch a playoff berth for the ninth straight season.

In the conference semifinal, the Galaxy lost the first leg on the road to the Colorado Rapids 1-0 before winning the return leg at home 2-0 to advance to the Western Conference Final. However, the Galaxy were unable to find a breakthrough against the home side, the Kansas City Wizards, losing 2-0 to end the club's postseason run.

2003 SEASON

Final Record 9-12-9, 36 pts. (Fourth, Western Conference)

The Los Angeles Galaxy finished the regular season as the fourth place team in the Western Conference, ending the season with a 9-12-9 record and collecting 36 points in the process. The 2003 season also marked the first time in Major League Soccer's eight year history that one team hosted both the Pepsi MLS All-Star Game and the MLS Cup final in the same season.

Los Angles finished with a 9-3-3 record at home, the second-best home mark in MLS and led the league in attendance, drawing 329,752 fans to The Home Depot Center. That number was good enough for an average of 21,983, up 15.4 percent from the 19,047 they drew in 2002, the club's last season in the Rose Bowl.

Forced to play a league-record eight games at the start of the season on the road while construction was completed at The Home Depot Center, the defending MLS Cup Champions posted a 0-4-4 record over the first two months and went on to post an 0-9-6 road mark on the year.

In June, the team settled into a comfortable rhythm, posting a 3-1-2, including a record of 3-0-1 at the new cathedral for soccer in the Americas. July was a light month in league play for the Galaxy as the team spent nearly two weeks competing against some of the best club sides in the world at Peace Cup Korea 2003.

After returning stateside, the team ran off a 4-1-1 mark over the remainder of July and all of August, bolstered by a three-pronged strike force of Guatemalan Carlos Ruiz, Alejandro Moreno and mid-season acquisition, Diego Serna.

The Galaxy and The Home Depot Center presented the 2003 MLS All-Star Game on August 2. The All-Star Game was a hotly contested battle between a team of MLS All-Stars and Mexican club CD Guadalajara in front of a sold-out crowd of 27,000 that resulted in a 3-1 victory for the MLS side, thanks to MVP and hometown hero, Galaxy striker Carlos Ruiz.

In the last two months of the season, the Galaxy faded but were able to maintain their position in the MLS Cup Playoff race, despite posting losing records in September (1-3-0) and October (1-2-1). For the eighth time in club history, the Galaxy would qualify for the playoffs, only to come up against the top seeded San Jose Earthquakes.

In the first leg of the home-and-home, aggregate goal, conference semifinal at The Home Depot Center, the Galaxy would shock the Earthquakes 2-0. In the return leg in San Jose, LA would jump out to a 2-0 lead and a 4-0 aggregate goal lead, only for San Jose to respond in one of the best comebacks in MLS History, scoring five consecutive goals to knock LA out of the playoffs.

2002 SEASON

Final Record 16-9-3, 51 pts. (First, Western Conference)

The Galaxy captured their first MLS Cup Championship in 2002, defeating the New England Revolution, 1-0, on October 20 at Gillette Stadium. MLS MVP Carlos "El Pecadito" Ruiz scored the game-winning goal in the 113th minute, with assists from Tyrone Marshall and Chris Albright.

Signed just before the start of the season, Ruiz made huge waves in MLS by scoring a league-best 24 goals to become the first Galaxy player to win the league's MVP award. Ruiz's 24 goals on the season ranked fourth all-time in MLS and the striker also set a new league record for game-winning goals with nine strikes on the season.

The club finished their seventh MLS season with a league-leading 16-9-3 record and 51 points, claiming the Western Conference Championship and Supporters Shield. The Galaxy finished first in Western Conference play with an 8-5-3 record and in second place overall in conference play among all MLS teams. In non-conference play, Los Angeles finished second with a 8-4-0 record among Western Conference clubs, as well as second for the best non-conference record among all MLS teams.

At the Rose Bowl, Los Angeles finished the season with the second best home record 11-1-2 in MLS. On the road, the Galaxy finished tied for the fifth best record in MLS at 5-8-1.

LA also ranked second in the league in attendance for 2002, averaging 19,047 (up 10% from 2001) for a total of 289,663 fans at the Rose Bowl.

A slow start to the season saw the Galaxy play six straight overtime games from March 23 to May 4 and suffer a 5-0 loss to the MetroStars on June 15, the worst loss in club history. However, Head Coach Sigi Schmid changed the club's formation and refocused the defense, guiding the team to an 11-4-1 record for the balance of the season. The Galaxy also became the first team to win three consecutive games during the 2002 season and even went on to close out the season with four straight victories.

In the MLS Cup Playoffs, the Galaxy opened the conference semifinal against the Kansas City Wizards winning Game One in overtime 3-2 and Game Three 5-2, but lost Game Two 4-1 on the road to win the in the first to five points series 6-3. In the conference finals, the Galaxy swept past Colorado, winning Game One 4-0 at home and closing out the season with a 1-0 win in Game Two to advance to the championship.

Returning to the site of two previous MLS Cup defeats in Foxboro, Mass, the Galaxy looked to exercise a few ghosts against the New England Revolution. In overtime, off season acquisitions Ruiz, Marshall and Albright would combine for the game's only goal, giving the club its first MLS Cup Championship in three appearances.

Four days after their MLS Cup triumph, the Galaxy flew to Columbus for the U.S. Open Cup Final. Battling the fatigue of an overtime final and long travel, the Galaxy lost to the Crew 1-0 to miss out on the elusive Double.

2001 SEASON

Final Record: 14-7-5, 47 Points (First, Western Division)

The Galaxy finished their sixth MLS season with a record of 14-7-5, good for 47 points and first place in the Western Division and the third-best overall record in the league. The first place finish marked the fourth time the club has finished atop its division or conference. Despite a slow start, losing their first two matches of the season, the Galaxy battled back and finished the season on a high note, winning seven of their last nine games. At the Rose Bowl, Los Angeles finished tied for the third-best home record in the MLS at 9-3-1. They also had the third-best record on the road with a 5-4-4 mark. The Galaxy led the Western Division with a record of 7-3-0. Los Angeles also attained three milestones in 2001: their 300th goal, 100th victory and 1,000th point.

With a strong push by the Galaxy in 2001, the club advanced all the way to the MLS Cup, only to be defeated by the San Jose Earthquakes. Los Angeles, who defeated the Metrostars in the quarterfinals and the Chicago Fire in the semifinals to reach the MLS Cup, fell short in sudden death overtime, 2-1, to finish runner-up for the third time in MLS Cup.

The Galaxy established a team milestone on April 28, 2001, with their 300th goal. Cobi Jones, who scored the club's first goal on April 13, 1996, and is the team's all-time leading scorer, also established a personal milestone in this victory, 3-2, over the Colorado Rapids. The U.S. National Team star scored the 300th goal in club history in the 22nd minute. Jones took Peter Vagenas' pass, got a step on defender Lance Key and beat goalkeeper Adin Brown. With his second goal just before halftime, Jones became only the sixth player in league history to reach the 50-goal plateau. It was Jones' ninth multi-goal MLS game and his first since July 8, 2000 at Miami.

Los Angeles became the first team in MLS history to reach the 100-victory mark on June 23, 2001, in the 2-0 win over the Metrostars. The Galaxy, who won their inaugural game on April 13, 1996, when Cobi Jones and Arash Noamouz each scored in the 2-1 victory over the MetroStars, reached this mark at home in the Rose Bowl. Jones, along with Greg Vanney and Mauricio Cienfuegos, were the only remaining players from the first season's roster.

Despite falling in MLS Cup, the Galaxy were able to claim a championship, winning the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup. Danny Califf's golden goal in overtime gave the Galaxy a victory in the U.S. Open Cup championship, 2-1, over the New England Revolution on October 27 at Titan Stadium. The victory gives Los Angeles their first domestic championship. Alexi Lalas' golden goal in overtime gave the Los Angeles Galaxy a dramatic 1-0 U.S. Open Cup Semifinal victory over the Chicago Fire at Titan Stadium on August 22.

2000 SEASON

Final Record: 14-10-8, 50 points (Second, Western Division)

The Galaxy finished their fifth MLS season with a 14-10-8 record, good for 50 points and second place in the Western Division and the fifth-best overall record in the league. The runner-up finish marked only the second time in history the club had not finished in first place in its division or conference (the other time being 1997). A strong start (6-0-5) saw the Galaxy go unbeaten in 11 straight games, from March 18 to May 20, despite the club's lowest scoring season in five years (47 goals).

At the Rose Bowl, Los Angeles finished with the seventh-best home record in MLS at 8-3-5. On the road, the Galaxy recorded the third-best record in the league with a 6-7-3 mark. The Galaxy posted a 5-3-4 record) against fellow Western Division foes and had the second-best record (behind Chicago) among MLS squads against teams outside its division (9-7-4).

Los Angeles led the league in attendance for the third time (1996 and 1998 were the others), welcoming 326,392 fans to the Rose Bowl for an average of 20,400 per game. The average attendance was up nearly 3,000 fans per game over 1999.

Despite a strong run by the Galaxy in 2000, which saw the club advance to the MLS Semifinals for the fourth time in five seasons, the team fell one game short of returning for its third MLS Cup. Los Angeles was defeated by the Kansas City Wizards in Game Three of the semifinals, losing in regulation and the sudden death mini-game, 1-0. The Galaxy fell for only the second time in a semifinal series, with both defeats coming at the hands of the eventual MLS Cup champions (Chicago Fire in 1998 was the other). In spite of not having home field advantage, the Galaxy tied Game One in Kansas City, 0-0, and returned to the Rose Bowl for a sudden death overtime win, 2-1. The victory in Game Two meant the Galaxy needed only a win or a tie to advance to the finals, but the Wizards came up big behind league MVP and Pepsi Goalkeeper of the Year Tony Meola. Earlier in the quarterfinals, Los Angeles dumped the Tampa Bay Mutiny, 2-0, to advance, marking the fourth time the club had swept a playoff series.

1999 SEASON

Final Record: 20-12, 54 points (First, Western Conference)

The Galaxy finished the season with a 20-12 record for 54 points and earned the Western Conference regular season title for the second consecutive season and third time in club history (1996, 1998 & 1999). A slow start to the season (2-3) and a lackluster performance from MLS' highest scoring team in 1998 (85 goals) saw head coach Octavio Zambrano relieved of his duties on April 22. In his place, Los Angeles named local college legend, Sigi Schmid as the club's new head coach. In his first year as head coach, Schmid led the Galaxy to a 17-9 record good for 49 points. After Schmid joined the Galaxy, Los Angeles went through a season-long transformation from a team with potential to a berth in MLS Cup '99, where they lost to D.C. United 2-0. For that, Schmid was named All Sport Coach of the Year. At the Rose Bowl, Los Angeles finished the season with the third-best home record 12-4 in MLS. On the road, the Galaxy was 8-8. The Galaxy tied for the best record against conference opponents with a 13-7 record and as the top club versus the East, notching a 7-5 record.

Los Angeles had four players who ranked among league leaders in several categories. Cobi Jones finished 16th among league scorers with eight goals and eight assists, good for 24 points. Jones, along with Carlos Hermosillo, finished tied for 15th among goal scorers with eight goals apiece. Mauricio Cienfuegos was among the league leaders in assists for the fourth year in a row as he recorded a personal-high 17 helpers to finish tied for second Cienfuegos also finished first in game-winning assists with eight. Goalkeeper Kevin Hartman had yet another record-breaking season, as he finished first among MLS netminders in goals-against-average (0.91), wins (20) and minutes played (2,870) and tied for first in shutouts (11) and games played (32).

In addition to Schmid's coaching accolade, the Galaxy took home lots of hardware from MLS in '99. Defender Robin Fraser and midfielder Cienfuegos were both named to the AT&T Best IX for the third time, while Hartman earned his first nod. Also, the Galaxy keeper was named Pepsi Goalkeeper of the Year and Fraser won the BIC Defender of the Year award.

Final Record: 24-8, 68 points (First, Western Conference)

The Galaxy started the 1998 campaign where it left off the 1997 regular season, on a hot streak, winning its first nine consecutive games to give the club an MLS-record 15-game regular season win streak. Los Angeles went on to finish the season with a franchise-best 24-8 overall mark, matching the league record for most wins in a season set by D.C. United on the same day (9/24/98). The 24 wins earned the Galaxy the Western Conference regular season title for the second time in the club's short three-year history (also 1996).

The club was 11-5 at home and an MLS-record 13-3 away from the Rose Bowl. Los Angeles enjoyed its most success against the Western Conference, going 16-4 (.800) against the West (8-2 at home, 8-2 on the road). The Galaxy also finished as the league's hottest team with an 8-2 mark in their last 10 games. The club went 6-4 in their final 10 home games, but won eight of their last 10 road tilts (8-2).

With 85 goals scored in 32 regular season games, the Galaxy demolished the MLS single-season scoring record of 70 goals (D.C. United in 1997). In fact, the Galaxy posted at least a two-goal margin of victory in 14 of its last 19 wins, including a three-goal margin in nine of the 19 victories. The Galaxy also recorded an MLS season-high 104 helpers for a total of 274 points (85-104=274). The club averaged 2.66 goals-per-game, including 3.38 GPG when recording a victory.

The Galaxy finished with not only the best scoring squad in Major League Soccer history tallying 85 goals, but also with the best defense, allowing a mere 44 goals with seven shutouts. The goal total marked the second time in the club's history that it held its opponents to 44 strikes. The Galaxy defensive corps allowed 1.38 goals per game, holding 21 of its 32 opponents to one goal or less in regulation. Furthermore, the 44 goals allowed by the Galaxy tied for second-best in MLS history (Columbus allowed 41 in 1997).

Galaxy goalkeeper Kevin Hartman was among league leaders in several goalkeeping categories. The 6-1, 174-pound netminder led the league in wins (22), tied for second in shutouts (7), and finished second among minutes leaders (2,544). Hartman, also known as "El Gato" for his catlike instincts around the net, finished second in the league with a 1.38 goals-against average.

The Galaxy posted their 24th win with a 1-0 victory in the season finale against the Chicago Fire, which proved to be a preview of the Western Conference Final. Los Angeles recorded an MLS-record 68 points, falling short of earning a full three points in just two of their 24 wins.

1997 SEASON

Final Record: 16-16, 44 points (Second, Western Conference)

Although the Galaxy started its season with a 1-7 record, the club was able to go 15-9 the rest of the way to qualify for the playoffs. Galaxy management relieved head coach Lothar Osiander of his duties on June 10, and the team proceeded to win five of their next seven games under former assistant coach Octavio Zambrano. Los Angeles swept all five matches in July, moving into fourth place in the Western Conference. The club held on to the last playoff spot until they made their rapid climb up the conference ladder in August and September.

The Galaxy went 11-5 after the All-Star break, earning 28 points to move from fifth to second in the Western Conference with 44 points to earn its second postseason berth. The club also hit the back of the net more frequently, outscoring opponents 38-22 during the 16 post-All-Star contests.

Los Angeles defeated Kansas City 2-0 at the Rose Bowl on September 28 to win its sixth consecutive game and capture second place in the Western Conference. The Galaxy offense went into high gear during the streak, outscoring opponents 18-5. The win over the Wizards put Los Angeles at a .500 record for the first time during the season. The club finished as the hottest team in the MLS, winning 10 of its last 15 games, including the final six in a row.

Under Zambrano, the Galaxy recorded a 13-7 record. The club also showed scoring prowess, outscoring its opponents 46-28 in the 20 games after the Ecuadorian native took over the coaching reins. The Galaxy earned just seven points in its first 12 games, but subsequently recorded 37 points in 20 games under Zambrano and earned home field advantage in the first round of the playoffs against the Dallas Burn.

The Galaxy's defense was once again among the league's best. The club finished the regular season giving up only 44 goals for a 1.38 goal average. Los Angeles' stingy defense was second behind the Columbus Crew (41 goals, 1.28). The Galaxy defense logged nine shutouts to lead the league just ahead of the Crew with eight and the Colorado Rapids with seven.

1996 SEASON

Final Record: 19-13, 49 points (First, Western Conference)

Divide the inaugural Major League Soccer season into thirds when talking about the Galaxy in 1996. Los Angeles won 12 games to begin the season, but a rough mid-season stretch where the Galaxy lost five straight games kept fans on the edge of their seats throughout the season. Finally, a late season surge enabled Los Angeles to capture the 1996 Western Conference crown with a 19-13 mark (49 pts.).

The Galaxy continued their hot streak in the playoffs, defeating the San Jose Clash 2-1 in a three-game playoff series prior to dispatching the Dallas Burn 2-0 on their way to the MLS title game. However, it was not meant to be as the Galaxy lost to D.C. United at MLS Cup '96, 3-2, in overtime at Foxboro Stadium. Despite the heartbreaking loss, the Galaxy returned home to a hero's welcome.

Ecuadorian striker Eduardo "El Tanque" Hurtado scorched opposing defenses in 1996, tallying 21 goals and seven assists for 49 points. The 6-3, 200-pound forward used his imposing physical size and nice touch around the goal to finish tied for second in MLS scoring. Two key reasons for Hurtado's success up front were the play of midfielders Mauricio Cienfuegos and Cobi Jones. Cienfuegos, a key member of El Salvador's National Team, blossomed into one of the MLS' elite playmakers. Jones' versatility allowed him to play in the midfield and score goals up front.

Mexican National Team goalkeeper Jorge Campos showed why he is considered one of the world's best goalkeepers, ranking first in MLS with a 1.20 goals against average. Campos, whose acrobatic style of play and colorful apparel have made him one of the world's most famous goalkeepers, also saw some time at forward and registered one assist. Campos attributed some of his statistical success to central defenders Dan Calichman and Robin Fraser. Calichman, a veteran of Japan's famed J-League, and Fraser, a physical player who brought great composure to Los Angeles's back line, provided the Galaxy with an experienced and organized defense. Fraser was joined by Hurtado and Cienfuegos on the inaugural MLS Best IX.

Thanks to Campos, Jones, Hurtado, Cienfuegos, Fraser, Calichman, and the other members of the 1996 squad, the Los Angeles Galaxy captured the attention of soccer fans throughout the country and around the world.

CONCACAF CHAMPIONS LEAGUE HISTORY

CONCACAF CHAMPIONS LEAGUE

Since their inception in 1996, the Galaxy have competed in five editions of the CONCACAF Champions League (formerly known as the CONCACAF Champions Cup), winning the regional championship in 2000 when they became the second MLS club to win the tournament.

After winning the Western Conference Championship in 1996, the Galaxy were entered into the 1997 Champions Cup where they would go on to reach the Final against Mexican side Cruz Azul. LA reached the final of the-then 16-team tournament by defeating Santos Laguna (Mexico) 4-1 in the first round and knocking off Luis Angel Firpo (El Salvador) 2-1 in the quarterfinals. The Galaxy then defeated MLS rival D.C. United 1-0 in their own stadium in the semifinals to qualify for the Champions Cup Final.

However, despite taking an early 2-0 lead over Cruz Azul in the Final, the Galaxy gave up five straight goals and eventually fell 5-3.

LA was back in the Champions Cup in 1999, but their involvement was shortlived as they fell to Mexican side Necaxa on penalties in a Play-In Game.

However, one year later the Galaxy were able to make it back to the Champions Cup Final and went one step further, winning the tournament by defeating Olimpia of Honduras 3-2 in the final at Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum on January 21, 2001. The Galaxy reached the Champions Cup Final by edging past Real Espana of Honduras and D.C. United in the quarterfinals and semifinals respectively, with both wins coming via penalties.

In the final, Danilo Tosello gave the Central Americans a 1-0 lead after 34 minutes, only for Ezra Hendrickson to equalize two minutes later for LA. Two minutes later the Galaxy were in front as Cobi Jones tallied, giving LA a 2-1 halftime lead. However, just six minutes after the break, the Honduran side equalized through Robert Lima, much to the chagrin of the Galaxy faithful in attendance. But with the clock, creeping toward full time and the Galaxy appearing to be heading to extra time for the third straight game, Hendrickson notched his second goal of the contest, finishing a pass from Mauricio Cienfuegos, in the 78th minute to give LA a 3-2 lead which they would hold until the final whistle.

The Galaxy were back in the Champions Cup in 2003, facing CD Motagua of Honduras in the Round of 16. LA advanced through that series, claiming a 2-2 draw on the road before returning home and winning 1-0 in the second leg on a dramatic Alexi Lalas goal for a 3-2 win on aggregate. But that would be as far as the Galaxy would go as they were once again eliminated by Necaxa in the quarterfinals, falling 6-2 on aggregate. LA lost the first game 4-1 in Fullerton, Calif. before falling 2-1 in the return leg in Mexico.

LA qualified for the Champions Cup again in 2006 when they fell to Deportivo Saprissa of Costa Rica in the quarterfinals. Despite looking like a team still in the early stages of preseason - and facing a team that placed third in the FIFA Club World Championship barely two months earlier - the Galaxy managed to scrape out a scoreless draw with Saprissa in the first leg of their quarterfinal at The Home Depot Center. In the return leg in Costa Rica on March 8, the Galaxy took a 2-0 lead into the half behind goals from Landon Donovan and Josh Gardner, but they could not hang on and dethrone the defending CONCACAF champion, falling 3-2 in extra time.

As a result of their berth in MLS Cup 2009, the Galaxy have qualified for the Champions League for the first time since 2006. The club will enter the competition in the Preliminary Round, with the draw expected to be held early this summer. The Preliminary Round is a two-leg, home and home, aggregate goal format, which will begin in late July.

SUPERLIGA

SuperLiga was introduced in 2007 as the region's first tournament to decide North American superiority. Four MLS clubs battled four of the Mexican First Division rivals in a tournament with a one million dollar payout to the winner.

The Galaxy were one of four MLS teams entered into the inaugural SuperLiga, where they were joined by D.C. United, FC Dallas and Houston, as well as Mexican sides CD Chivas de Guadalajara, Club America, Morelia and Pachuca.

Placed into Group A along with FC Dallas, Pachuca, and Chivas, the Galaxy split their first two games, earning a 2-1 home win over Pachuca and falling 2-1 to Chivas at the Los Angeles Coliseum. That set up a situation where the Galaxy went to their final group game, against FC Dallas at Pizza Hut Park, knowing that a win would see them advance to the semifinals.

The Galaxy came out flying against FCD, scoring four goals in the opening 18 minutes to take a 4-0 lead, stunning the home side. FC Dallas tied to come back in the second half, cutting the lead to 4-3, but Landon Donovan and Carlos Pavon scored late on as LA held on for a 6-5 win that gave them the top spot in Group A, finishing two points ahead of second place Pachuca, and setting up a semifinal meeting with D.C. United at The Home Depot Center.

In the semifinals, the Galaxy and their fans witnessed history as David Beckham, making his first-ever start for the club, scored with one of his trademark freekicks for his first goal in a Galaxy uniform, giving the home side a 1-0 halftime lead. Just after the break, Beckham set up Donovan for his tournament-best fourth goal of the competition, giving the Galaxy a 2-0 advantage which they would not relinquish.

The inaugural SuperLiga Final was a replay of one of the tournament's first games with the Galaxy hosting Pachuca. In a match that is not soon to be forgotten, the visitors took the early lead following an own goal by the Galaxy's Peter Vagenas. That lead would last until the waning moments of regulation when Chris Klein's last second bicycle kick beat Pachuca keeper Miguel Calero, sending the match to extra time.

Neither side was able to score in the extra 30 minutes meaning that the championship would be decided on penalty kicks, with Pachuca going on to win 4-3 to claim the SuperLiga title.

The Galaxy have not qualified for SuperLiga, which is entering its fourth season, since playing in the tournament in 2007.

U.S. OPEN CUP

LAMAR HUNT U.S. OPEN CUP

Dating back to 1914, the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup is the oldest soccer cup competition in the United States and among the oldest in the world. Open to affiliated amateur and professional teams in the United States, the annual U.S. Open Cup is a 96-year-old, single-elimination tournament based upon similar competitions played across the world concurrent with domestic league competition.

The Galaxy have entered the competition every year since 1999, winning the Open Cup twice and reaching the final on two other occasions.

In their first-ever foray to the Open Cup in 1999, the Galaxy won their inaugural game in the tournament, defeating the San Diego Flash 3-2 on a late Clint Mathis goal before seeing their Cup run ended by the Columbus Crew in the quarterfinals.

The Galaxy would go one step further in the 2000 Open Cup, defeating Seattle, San Diego and San Jose before bowing out in the semifinals to Chicago.

In 2001, the Galaxy would claim their first Open Cup title, doing so in dramatic fashion. After comfortable second and third round wins over the Nashville Metros and Seattle Sounders respectively, craziness ensued. A 1-1 draw after 120 minutes with San Jose saw the two sides' quarterfinal matchup go to penalties. There, the Galaxy outlasted the Earthquakes 10-9 as Kevin Hartman saved San Jose's 10th attempt after the two sides had converted 19 consecutive penalties, sending LA to the Semifinals for the second straight season and a rematch with the Chicago Fire. An Alexi Lalas extra time tally gave the Galaxy a 1-0 win over Chicago in the semifinals, booking LA a berth in its first-ever Open Cup Final. Just days after losing on a heartbreaking Golden Goal in the 2001 MLS Cup, it again looked as if a championship would elude the Galaxy. Facing New England in the Final, the Revolution's Wolde Harris gave his team a 1-0 first half advantage. That lead would remain intact until the 70th minute when Ezra Hendrickson equalized, eventually sending the game to extra time. The Galaxy's third straight extra time encounter would end in similar fashion to the first two, as Danny Califf headed home a Cobi Jones corner kick to give the Galaxy the Open Cup for the first time ever.

One year later, wins over Minnesota, San Jose and Dallas put the defending Open Cup champions back in the Final where they would meet the Columbus Crew. The Open Cup Final was played just four days after LA had won its first MLS Cup Championship in New England, but there would not be a similar result this time as the Crew got a first half goal from Freddy Garcia and held on for a 1-0 win.

A year later, the Galaxy made it back to the semifinals with wins over the Fresno Fuego and Seattle Sounders, but dreams of a berth in the Final were ended by a wild 3-2 loss to the eventual champion Chicago Fire at Cardinal Stadium.

The Galaxy's appearance in 2004 was short-lived, bowing out in their first game of the tournament, a 1-0 quarterfinal loss to the Minnesota Thunder, for the first time ever.

The pain of the Galaxy's early exit in 2004 carried over to 2005 and the club showed a determination to get back to the Open Cup Final for a third time. Steve Sampson's team was able to do just that and won its second Open Cup championship, defeating FC Dallas 1-0 in the Open Cup Final at The Home Depot Center. Galaxy forward Herculez Gomez was the hero in the Final, driving home a spectacular first half scissor kick goal to give his team a 1-0 lead that goalkeeper Kevin Hartman would make stand up, giving LA the first piece in the eventual "Double". On their way to the title match, the Galaxy exacted some revenge for their 2004 elimination, knocking off the Minnesota Thunder, 5-2 in the semifinals after edging San Jose, 2-1 in the quarterfinals and opening the tournament with a 5-2 victory over inter-city rival Chivas USA in the Fourth Round.

The defending U.S. Open Cup champions began their defense of the 2005 title on Aug. 1, facing a USASA (adult amateur) team for the first time ever. Goals from Quavas Kirk and Alan Gordon saw the Galaxy end Roma FC's Cinderella run, winning 2-0 at The Home Depot Center to advance to the quarterfinals. There, the Galaxy continued its quest to become the first repeat winner of the tournament since 1982-83, with a 3-1 overtime win over Colorado. After falling behind early in the match, Quavas Kirk tied the game late in the first half. The score stayed 1-1 until extra time where Landon Donovan provided the game-winner in the 93rd minute before putting the game away with a second goal five minutes from time for the final 3-1 scoreline. LA was able to advance to the Open Cup Final for the fourth time in five years, beating the Houston Dynamo 3-1 in the Semifinals. Landon Donovan and Alan Gordon each had a goal and an assist in the match, giving the Galaxy a berth in the Open Cup Final for the fourth time in club history.

However, the Galaxy were unable to repeat as champions as they fell 3-1 to the Chicago Fire at TOYOTA Park. The Galaxy were trying to match the Fire's record for Open Cup titles by an MLS team with three, but Nate Jaqua and Andy Herron scored within six minutes of one another early on en route to the victory. Alan Gordon pulled a goal back for the Galaxy early in the second half to make a game of it. However, any thoughts of an LA comeback were ended in the 88th minute when Thiago assured a win and the Open Cup, for the home side with a late goal.

As a result of not making the 2006 MLS Playoffs, the Galaxy had to win a pair of Play-In Games, defeating Columbus 1-0 on the road and edging New York 3-1 in extra time behind a sensational performance from goalkeeper Steve Cronin, to join seven other MLS clubs in the Third Round draw. There, the Galaxy were eliminated by USL Second Division side Richmond Kickers 1-0, marking just the second time in club history that the Galaxy had been knocked out of the Open Cup by a non-MLS side.

The Galaxy were forced to attempt to qualify for the tournament via a Play-In Game again in both 2008 and 2009, but were defeated by Colorado on each occasion. However, as a result of reaching MLS Cup last season, the Galaxy will automatically enter the Open Cup in the Third Round this season.

WHAT:
Major League Soccer is the top-flight professional soccer league in the United States and was founded in 1996, after the country hosted the 1994 FIFA World Cup. MLS kicks off its 15th season on March 25, 2010 with the League's 16th and newest team, Philadelphia Union, making their debut. MLS continues to grow as teams in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada and Portland, Oregon will become the 17th and 18th clubs in 2011.

TEAMS in 2010:

Eastern Conference:	Western Conference:
Chicago Fire	Chivas USA
Columbus Crew	Colorado Rapids
D.C. United	FC Dallas
Kansas City Wizards	Houston Dynamo
New England Revolution	Los Angeles Galaxy
New York Red Bulls	Real Salt Lake
Philadelphia Union	San Jose Earthquakes
Toronto FC	Seattle Sounders FC

SEASON:
The 2010 MLS regular season opens March 25 and ends Oct. 24. The MLS Cup Playoffs begin Oct 28. MLS Cup 2010, the League's championship game, will take place Nov. 21.

In 2010, the 16 MLS teams will each play a 30-game regular season and eight teams will advance to the MLS Cup Playoffs. The top two teams in each conference, plus four "wild cards" with the most points after 30 games, regardless of conference, will qualify. The team that finishes with the most regular season points is awarded the Supporters' Shield.

For the first time in its history, MLS will not play League games during the group phase of the 2010 FIFA World Cup. The group phase includes the first 48 games of the 64-game tournament that begins on June 11, 2010 in South Africa. The last MLS game prior to the World Cup will be played June 10 and MLS play resumes June 24 after the final group phase game. No MLS games are scheduled on the days of either World Cup Semifinal or the World Cup Final.

More than 38 million fans have attended regular season games in MLS' 14-season history.

In the 2009 MLS All-Star Game, the MLS All-Stars played English Premier League side Everton to a 1-1 draw before losing in penalty kicks at Rio Tinto Stadium, home of Real Salt Lake. MLS now has five victories and the one defeat in PKs against international opponents in All-Star Games. The 2010 MLS All-Star Game will be held at Reliant Stadium in Houston in late July, featuring an international opponent to be announced.

In 2010, 10 of the 16 MLS teams will play in stadiums that were custom built for MLS clubs during the past decade. More soccer stadiums are scheduled to be completed during the next few years (More on stadiums below).

PLAYERS:
In 2009, MLS clubs featured 141 players born in 53 countries outside the United States, demonstrating the diversity of Major League Soccer. Among the five major team professional sports leagues in the United States, MLS is the most diverse. About two-thirds of the entire MLS player pool is U.S.-born.

A description of several notable MLS players follows:

Juan Pablo Ángel (New York Red Bulls): Colombian forward was a standout with Aston Villa in England before joining the Red Bulls as a Designated Player in 2007. Has scored 46 goals in three seasons in MLS.

David Beckham (Los Angeles Galaxy): Former Real Madrid/Manchester United midfielder and current English national team midfielder led the Galaxy to MLS Cup 2009.

Jimmy Conrad (Kansas City Wizards): Veteran defender was a standout for the U.S. World Cup team in Germany in 2006. He's a four-time MLS Best XI member.

Dwayne De Rosario (Toronto FC): De Rosario, from Scarborough, Ontario, is one of the League's most exciting and dangerous playmakers. He is the only two-time MLS Cup MVP winner.

Julian de Guzman (Toronto FC): Former Deportivo de La Coruña (La Liga in Spain) standout and Canadian national team star signed with Toronto in September 2009.

Landon Donovan (Los Angeles Galaxy): Considered the best American player today, Donovan, 27, is the all-time leader in goals and assists for the U.S. Men's National Team, a three-time MLS Cup winner and the League's 2009 Volkswagen Most Valuable Player.

Luis Angel Landin (Houston Dynamo): The 24-year old Mexican forward signed with Houston in August 2009 as the team's first Designated Player. Began his career at Mexican powerhouse Pachuca and had stints with Morelia and Cruz Azul. Has five appearances with the Mexican National Team.

Freddie Ljungberg (Seattle Sounders FC): A former standout with Arsenal and West Ham United of the English Premier League, Ljungberg was a member of the MLS Best XI during his first season in the League.

Guillermo Barros Schelotto (Columbus Crew): The Argentine playmaker was named the League's Volkswagen MVP in 2008 and was also named the MLS Cup 2008 MVP after leading the Crew to their first MLS title. He recorded a League-high 19 assists in 2008 and was recently re-signed for the 2010 season.
Taylor Twellman (New England Revolution): The 2005 MLS MVP and Budweiser Golden Boot winner. Entering 2010, Twellman had scored more MLS regular season goals (111) than any player since he joined the League in 2002. He is expected to return to action in 2010 after playing just 10 matches the last two seasons due to concussions.
Kasey Keller (Seattle Sounders FC): Former U.S. International goalkeeper returned to the United States to play in MLS with his hometown club after a long and successful career in Europe with teams in the German Bundesliga, Spain's La Liga and most recently the English Premier League.
Fredy Montero (Seattle Sounders FC): The 22-year old was the 2009 MLS Newcomer of the year as his 12 goals ranked third in MLS in 2009. He came to MLS from the Colombian First Division where he led the League in scoring twice.

INVESTORS:

Major League Soccer is structured as a single, limited liability company (single-entity). In the single-entity business structure, club operators own a financial stake in the League, not just their individual team. The MLS investors are:

Phil Anschutz & the Anschutz Entertainment Group (AEG): Investor-operator of the Houston Dynamo and Los Angeles Galaxy (other domestic sports business ventures include the Staples Center, The Home Depot Center, the NBA's Los Angeles Lakers and the NHL's Los Angeles Kings).
The Hunt Family (Hunt Sports Group): Investor-operator of FC Dallas and the Columbus Crew (other sports business ventures include the NFL's Kansas City Chiefs and NBA's Chicago Bulls).
The Kraft Family (Kraft Soccer): Investor-operator of the New England Revolution (other sports business ventures include the NFL's New England Patriots).
Kroenke Sports Enterprises: Investor-operator of the Colorado Rapids (other sports business ventures include the NBA's Denver Nuggets, NHL's Colorado Avalanche and NFL's St. Louis Rams).

STADIUMS:

Major League Soccer has elevated the sport's stature in North America by building soccer-specific stadiums. In 1999, the League began moving aggressively to create custom-made venues for its teams that generate the atmosphere and intimacy the game deserves. The seating capacity for these stadiums is between 18,000 and 27,000 and the stadiums share design concepts with some of the finest soccer venues in the world. In 2010, 10 of the League's 16 teams will compete in stadiums built specifically for professional soccer. Red Bull Arena, home of the New York Red Bulls, and Philadelphia Union's new stadium open this season, and the Kansas City Wizards new venue is slated to open in 2011. In addition, the Portland and Vancouver MLS teams will move into stadiums renovated for 2011. The existing soccer-specific stadiums in MLS are:

Columbus Crew Stadium (Columbus, Ohio): Opened in 1999 as the home of the Columbus Crew. Built by the Hunt Family, this stadium has hosted two All-Star Games, MLS Cup and many important U.S. National Team games.

Columbus Crew Stadium (Columbus, Ohio): Opened in 1999 as the home of the Columbus Crew. Built by the Hunt Family, this stadium has hosted two All-Star Games, MLS Cup and many important U.S. National Team games.
The Home Depot Center (Carson, Calif.): Opened in 2003 and is the luxurious home of both the Los Angeles Galaxy and Chivas USA.

Pizza Hut Park (Frisco, Texas): Opened in 2005 as the home of FC Dallas. Hosted MLS Cup 2005 and MLS Cup 2006. A 145-acre multipurpose sports complex with 17 tournament-grade fields.
TOYOTA PARK (Bridgeview, Ill.): Located just 15 minutes south of downtown Chicago, the handsome venue debuted in 2006 and hosted the Sierra Mist All-Star Game with Chelsea FC competing against the MLS All-Stars.
BMO Field (Toronto, Canada): Toronto FC began play in MLS in 2007 and has sold out every regular season home game at the urban venue.
Dick's Sporting Goods Park (Commerce City, Colo.): The Colorado Rapids' stadium opened in 2007 and is the centerpiece of a 24-field soccer complex believed to be one of the world's largest.

Red Bull Arena (Harrison, NJ): The New York Red Bulls state-of-the-art stadium is located 10 miles from midtown Manhattan. It features a dynamic form roof—a curving structure that wraps the entire 25,189-seat stadium in an elegant metal shell.
Philadelphia Union's stadium (Chester, PA): This world-class waterfront stadium located just over 15 miles from Center City, Philadelphia. Built at the foot of the Commodore Barry Bridge, this 18,500-seat stadium will be the home to MLS' newest team and host its first MLS match on June 27, 2010 as Union host the Seattle Sounders FC.

2010 RULES OF COMPETITION

STRUCTURE:
The 16 MLS teams are divided into two conferences:

Eastern Conference – Chicago Fire, Columbus Crew, D.C. United, Kansas City Wizards, New England Revolution, New York Red Bulls, Philadelphia Union, Toronto FC

Western Conference – Chivas USA, Colorado Rapids, FC Dallas, Houston Dynamo, Los Angeles Galaxy, Real Salt Lake, San Jose Earthquakes, Seattle Sounders FC

SCHEDULE:
Each team plays a 30-game regular season schedule. Each MLS team will play two games against the other 15 teams (one home, one away) accounting for the 30 games of the season.

POINT SYSTEM:
Teams will receive three points for a win, one point for a tie and zero points for a loss.

REFEREES:
All referees in MLS are either USSF (United States Soccer Federation) or CSA (Canadian Soccer Association) National Referees. All MLS games played in the US will be assigned by USSF and all games played in Canada will be assigned by CSA.

GAME CLOCK:
The official game time for all Major League Soccer games will be managed on the field by the referee. If necessary, the referee may also allot extra time (a.k.a. "stoppage time") at the end of each period (first half, second half, and if applicable, first overtime period and second overtime period during playoff matches) to allow for injuries, time-wasting or other disturbances.

The stadium clock will display the time from 0:00 to 45:00 and from 45:00 to 90:00 (plus stoppage time where applicable in each half). For statistical purposes, the minutes for goals, substitutions, yellow cards, etc., will be listed from the first minute until the 90th minute. A goal scored at 15 minutes 10 seconds will be listed as having been scored in the 16th minute. Events occurring during stoppage time will follow the international norm by being demarcated with a "+" sign and the extra minutes. For example, a goal scored three minutes into first half stoppage time will be officially identified as happening at "48+".

GAME DAY ROSTERS:
Each team can nominate 18 players for a game day roster. Teams are allowed three substitutions per game.

CAUTIONS AND SUSPENSIONS:
A player will be suspended for one game upon receiving his fifth yellow card – regardless of the nature of the infraction which resulted in his being awarded a yellow card. A second suspension of one game would result after the awarding of an additional three cards as would a third suspension after the awarding of card number eleven. With the "Good Behavior" incentive it is possible for a player to have a caution expunged. If a player goes three games without receiving a yellow card, after an initial warning, the player will have one yellow card expunged. A player may take advantage of the "Good Behavior" incentive only once throughout the season.

MLS CUP PLAYOFFS FORMAT

WHO QUALIFIES:
Eight teams qualify for the 2010 MLS Cup Playoffs. Playoff berths will be determined by points in the standings upon the completion of the regular season. All 16 teams will have played 30 games.

The top two teams in each conference qualify and are seeded 1 & 2 in their respective four-team playoff conference brackets.

The four MLS teams with the next most points, regardless of conference, receive "wildcard" berths.

The four wildcard teams will be seeded according to conference first.
If more than four teams qualify from one conference, the team finishing lower than fourth in its conference will shift over to the other conference bracket.
A team switching conference brackets will be seeded below all other teams in its new conference playoff bracket.

PLAYOFF FORMAT:
Conference Semifinal series are conducted in a home-and-home, aggregate-goal format. The lower seeded team in the Conference Semifinal hosts the first game. The winners of those four series advance to single-game Conference Championships that will determine the MLS Cup Finalists.

The team that scores the most goals in the home-and-home series advances to the single elimination Conference Championship. If the teams are tied after 180 minutes in the Conference Semifinal series, a 30-minute extra time period (divided into two 15-minute periods) will be played followed by kicks from the penalty mark, if necessary. The team with the higher seed between the two Conference finalists will host the Conference Championship game.

In the case of ties after 90 minutes of regulation in the Eastern and Western Conference Championship games and MLS Cup, 30 minutes of extra time (divided into two 15-minute periods) would be played followed by kicks from the penalty mark, if necessary, to determine the winners.

TEAM-STANDINGS TIE-BREAKING PROCEDURES

The team awarded the highest position in the MLS standings will be the team with the greatest number of points (3 points for a win, 1 point for a tie, 0 points for a loss). In the event that two teams finish the regular season with an equal number of points, the following system will be used to break the tie:

1) The highest position shall be awarded to the team with the better win/loss record in current regular season games against all other teams equal in points. (head-to-head competition)

2) If the teams are still equal in the standings, the highest position shall be awarded to the team with the greater goal difference against all other teams during the regular season. (goal differential)

3) If the teams are still equal in the standings, the highest position shall be awarded to the team scoring the greatest number of total goals against all other teams during the regular season. (total goals)

4) If the teams are still equal in the standings, the procedures described in this section shall be applied only to games played on the road by each team against all other teams during the regular season. (road 1-3)

5) If the teams are still equal in the standings, the procedures described in this section shall be applied only to games played at home by each team against all other teams during the regular season. (home 1-3)

6) If the teams are still equal in the standings, the highest position shall be awarded to the team with the fewest team disciplinary points in the League Fair Play table during the regular season.

If the teams are still equal in the standings, the highest position in the standings shall be determined by the toss of a coin.

The first tiebreaker in a three-way tie is also head-to-head, but it is determined via points-per-game versus the other two teams. If two teams are tied in points-per-game head-to-head, the next tie breaker is goal difference.

NOTE: If two clubs remain tied after another club with the same number of points advances during any step, the tie breaker reverts to step 1 of the two-club format.

MLS

2010 REGLAS DE COMPETENCIA

ESTRUCTURA:
Los dieciséis (16) clubes de MLS están divididos entre dos conferencias:

Conferencia del Este – Chicago Fire, Columbus Crew, D.C. United, Kansas City Wizards; New England Revolution, New York Red Bulls, Philadelphia Union, Toronto FC

Conferencia del Oeste – Chivas USA, Colorado Rapids, FC Dallas, Houston Dynamo, Los Angeles Galaxy, Real Salt Lake, San Jose Earthquakes, Seattle Sounders FC

CALENDARIO:
Cada club jugará 30 partidos de Temporada Regular. Cada club de la MLS jugará dos partidos contra cada uno de los otros 15 clubes (series de ida y vuelta), sumando 28 partidos de la temporada.

SISTEMA DE PUNTOS:
Equipos recibirán tres puntos por una victoria, un punto por empate y cero puntos por una derrota.

ÁRBITROS:
Todo árbitro participando en la MLS son árbitros nacionales de la Federación de Soccer de los Estados Unidos (USSF por sus siglas en inglés) o de la Asociación de Fútbol Canadiense (CSA por sus siglas en inglés). Todos los partidos de la MLS jugados en EE.UU. seran asignado un árbitro por la USSF y todos partidos jugados en Canadá serán asignados por la CSA.

TIEMPO DE JUEGO:
El tiempo oficial de todo partido de la Major League Soccer será manejado por el árbitro central. Si es necesario, el árbitro puede designar tiempo de compensación al final de cada período (primer tiempo, segundo tiempo, y si es necesario un primer período de tiempo extra y un segundo período de tiempo extra) para complementar los minutos por razones de lesión, pérdida de tiempo u otros disturbios.
El reloj del estadio mostrará el tiempo de 0:00 a 45:00 y de 45:00 a 90:00 (además de tiempo de compensación donde sea aplicable). Por razones de estadísticas, minutos para goles, sustituciones, tarjetas amarillas, etc., serán colocados del primer minuto hasta el minuto 90. Un gol anotado a los 15 minutos y 10 segundos será anotado como el minuto 16. Eventos que ocurren durante el tiempo de compensación seguirá la norma internacional y será demarcada con la señal "+" y los minutos extra. Por ejemplo, un gol anotado tres minutos dentro del tiempo de compensación del primer tiempo será identificado oficialmente como el minuto "48+".

NOMINAS DEL DIA DEL PARTIDO:
Cada club puede nombrar 18 jugadores a la nómina del partido. Se le permite tres sustituciones a cada club por partido.

AMONESTACIÓN Y SUSPENSIÓN:
Un jugador será suspendido por un partido después de sumar su quinta amonestación - sin importar la naturaleza de la infracción que resultó en la amonestación. Una segunda suspensión de partido resultará tras haber sumado tres tarjetas amarillas adicionales. Una tercera suspensión sería después de acumular 11 tarjetas. Con el aliciente de "Buena Conducta" es posible que un jugador obtenga la cancelación de su amonestación. Si un jugador lleva tres cotejos sin recibir una tarjeta amarilla, después de una advertencia inicial, dicho futbolista tendrá una tarjeta amarilla cancelada. Un jugador puede tomar ventaja del incentivo de la "Buena Conducta" solo una vez durante la temporada.

FORMATO DE PLAYOFFS DE LA COPA MLS Y DESEMPATES EN LA CLASIFICACIÓN:

QUIEN CLASIFICA:
Ocho clubes clasificarán a la Liguilla rumbo a la Copa MLS. Los cupos para la Liguilla serán determinados mediante la puntuación obtenida por los clubes durante la temporada regular. Todos los 16 equipos de la MLS habrán disputado 30 partidos.

Los siguientes cuatro equipos de la MLS con la mayor cantidad de puntos, sin importar conferencia, recibirán un "comodín".

Los cuatro equipos con comodín serán ubicados de acuerdo a su conferencia en primera instancia.

Si más de cuatro equipos clasifican de una misma conferencia, el equipo que culmine más abajo del cuarto en su conferencia pasará a la llave de la otra conferencia.

Un equipo que intercambia grupos será ubicado debajo de los otros clubes es su nueva agrupación de conferencia en la Liguilla.

FORMATO DE LOS PLAYOFFS:
La serie de semifinales de conferencia son llevadas a cabo en un formato de ida y vuelta con marcador global. El club clasificado con menos puntos a la semifinal de conferencia es sede del primer partido de la serie. Los ganadores de estas cuatro series clasifican al Campeonato de Conferencia (un partido en cada conferencia determinará los dos campeones de conferencia). Estos dos campeones serán los finalistas de la Copa MLS.
El club que anote el mayor número de goles en la serie de ida y vuelta clasifica al partido de Campeonato de Conferencia. Si los clubes se encuentran empatados después de los 180 minutos en la serie de semifinal de conferencia, un periodo de 30 minutos de tiempo extra (dividido en dos periodos de 15 minutos) se jugará, seguido por los tiros desde el punto penal, si son necesarios.
El club con el mejor ranking entre los finalistas de las conferencia será sede para el partido de Campeonato de Conferencia.
En caso de un empate después de los 90 minutos reglamentarios en los partidos de Campeonato de Conferencia del Este y Oeste, y en la Copa MLS, un periodo de 30 minutos de tiempo extra (dividido en dos periodos de 15 minutos) se jugarán, seguidos por los tiros del punto penal, si son necesario, para determinar los ganadores.

PROCEDIMIENTOS DE DESEMPATES EN LA CLASIFICACION

El club con la mejor posición en la clasificación de la MLS será el club con el mayor número de puntos (3 puntos por victoria, 1 punto por empate, 0 puntos por una derrota). En el evento que dos clubes terminen la temporada regular con un mismo número de puntos, se aplicará el siguiente sistema para el desempate:

1) La mejor clasificación será para el club con el mejor récord de victorias y derrotas en temporada regular contra todos los otros equipos que se encuentran empatados en puntos (cara a cara)

2) Si los clubes siguen empatados en la tabla, la mejor clasificación será para el club con la mayor diferencia de goles en comparación al resto de clubes durante la temporada regular (diferencia en goles)

3) Si los clubes siguen empatados en la tabla, la mejor clasificación será para el club que anotó el mayor número de goles contra todos los clubes durante la temporada regular (total de goles)

4) Si los clubes siguen empatados en la tabla, los reglamentos presentados en esta sección aplicarán solo a los partidos jugados de visitante por cada club contra el resto de equipos durante la temporada regular (de visita 1-3)

5) Si los clubes siguen empatados en la tabla, los reglamentos presentados en esta sección aplicarán solo a los partidos jugados en casa por cada club contra el resto de equipos durante la temporada regular (en casa 1-3)

6) Si los clubes siguen empatados en la tabla, la mejor clasificación será para el club con el menor número de puntos disciplinarios en la tabla de Fair Play (Juego Limpio) de la liga durante la temporada regular.

7) Si los clubes siguen empatados en la tabla, la mejor clasificación será determinada por un sorteo.

8) El primer desempate en tres vías es también cara a cara, pero es determinado por los puntos- por- partido en contra de los otros dos equipos. Si los dos equipos están empatados en los puntos – por partido cara a cara, el siguiente desempate es de la diferencia en goles.

NOTA: Si dos equipos siguen empatados después que se determine el mejor clasificado, el sistema comienza de nuevo con el primer paso del procedimiento presentado arriba.

On behalf of the LA Galaxy, welcome to the 2010 Major League Soccer season. The past 14 seasons for the club have brought very special memories, including capturing our five championships - the MLS Cup (2002 and 2005), the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup (2001 and 2005), and the CONCACAF Champions' Cup (2000). The LA Galaxy continue to write their history in The Home Depot Center on the Campus of California State University - Dominguez Hills in Carson, Calif. As we enter our 15th season, we hope to make your job of covering the Galaxy as easy and pleasant as possible. GAME DAY

CREDENTIALS
Season media credentials will be issued to recognized newspapers, magazines, websites, television stations and radio stations making reasonable requests. To qualify, an outlet must cover a minimum of twelve of the team's home games. Because of limited photo credentials, it is impossible to allow a freelance photographer access unless assigned to shoot for a specific story or project. Season and single game credential requests can be submitted to the Communications Department.

ROAD CREDENTIALS
Members of the Galaxy's media traveling to road games should submit requests for credentials to the Communications Department no later than five days prior to the road game.

MEDIA WILL CALL
Members of the media needing to pick up their passes at the game will find the Media Check In Window located at the Northwest Box Office of The Home Depot Center. Each person must pick up their own credential and present corresponding photo identification. Media Will Call opens two hours prior to the scheduled kick-off and closes at halftime. All media must enter through the press gate entrance located at the far left of the Northwest Entrance. Media credentials will not be honored at any other entrance. All credentials are non-transferable, and any unauthorized use will subject the bearer to ejection from The Home Depot Center and confiscation of the credential.

BROADCAST
In making requests for broadcast credentials, please specify requirements for spotters and/or statisticians. These services must be arranged in advance, and once they are made, the statisticians must be compensated whether used or not. Broadcast booths at located on the second level of The Home Depot Center. Broadcasters can access the booths through the Southwest stairs or elevator on the West side of the stadium. In addition, media can access the broadcast level through the stairs located in the press box.

PARKING
The Galaxy will distribute a limited number of full-season parking passes, while a small number of passes will be available on a per game basis. Members of the media seeking parking passes are advised to make their requests as early as possible. Please note that the Galaxy will not be able to accommodate all requests. Paid parking is available in Lot 10, 11, 12 and other stadium lots. TV news trucks will be allowed to park in Lot 17 located near the Southeast Entrance of the stadium. TV trucks which provide satellite, uplink or microwave functions will need to make prior arrangements with Calvin Spencer – Broadcast Manager at The Home Depot Center at 310-630-2017 to secure locations.

PRESS BOX
The Galaxy Communications Department will maintain the club's press box on the third level at midfield in The Home Depot Center. The press box will open two hours before kickoff. Admittance is limited to working media members with credentials only. The professional intent of the press box is to provide a meeting and working place for writers, reporters, broadcasters and game personnel. It is imperative that season pass holders notify the Galaxy Communications Department of their intentions to cover a game in order to receive press box seating. Family members and guests will not be accommodated in the press box. Abuse of the press box and press privileges will result in forfeiture of your press pass.

TELEPHONE/WIRELESS ACCESS
Eight courtesy charge-a-call telephones will be provided in the media workroom and requests for individual telephones should be made through the Galaxy Communications Department. The Home Depot Center offers wireless internet access in all areas of the press box and photographers' workroom. The access is free of charge and works with all wi-fi enabled computer equipment. For those computers that do not have wi-fi capabilities, the press box and photographers' work room are equipped with charge-a-call phone lines for dial up access. Media wishing to pay for dedicated LAN connections should be made through the Galaxy Communications Department.

GAME NOTES / STATISTICS
Game notes and statistics will be available in the press box. Statistics will be distributed to each seat throughout the game at halftime and ten minutes following the game. The Galaxy Communications staff will distribute all statistics and materials from the Press Operations room in the Press Box. Periodic announcements will also be made during the game.

LOCKER ROOM ACCESS
Following the conclusion of the match, a postgame press conference will be held in the TV Studio located off the main tunnel. At the end of the press conference, the Galaxy locker room will be open to the media. Galaxy and visitor locker rooms are at the south end of the stadium on the field level. Your cooperation and professional courtesy is asked in maintaining a proper working atmosphere for post game interviews. Absolutely no autographs are allowed during media access periods. Still photographs are not permitted in the locker room without prior consent of the Galaxy Communications Department.
MEDIA CELL PHONES: No media member may use a cell phone at any time inside the locker room. Media members may carry their cell phones into the locker room, but may not use them to place calls, take photographs or conduct interviews.

FIELD ACCESS
Only working newspaper, magazine and network TV photographers and club/stadium officials are permitted on the field during the game. Blue Print/Radio credentials will not be honored for field admittance at any time, unless authorized by the LA Galaxy.

PHOTOGRAPHERS
ENG crews and still photographers holding proper credentials may position themselves along either endline at field level. Immediately prior to each match, photographers who wish to shoot the traditional pre-game team photo will be escorted on cue to the West sideline by photo marshals. Photographers will be instructed to walk only on the sidelines – never on the field of play – en route to these temporary sideline positions. Once team photos have been taken, photographers will be asked to quickly return to their endline photo positions. During the match, photographers are advised that they have restricted freedom of movement. At no time during the match can photographers shoot from directly behind the goal. Also, movement from one end of the field to the other is allowed only at halftime on the sideline behind the team benches. Still photographers DO NOT have access to the locker rooms at any time.

PHOTOGRAPHER PHOTO BIBS
Each accredited photographer will be issued a specially designed photo bib/vest provided by the Galaxy for identification purposes and as a mandatory supplement to the credential. The photo bib serves as a temporary access control device and must be returned to photo marshals at the end of each match. The photo bib must be worn at all times while present at any photo position. Photographers found in unauthorized shooting positions or not wearing a bib risk suspension of their Galaxy credential. ALL photographers are required to wear a vest that must be obtained prior to the game in the Photographers' Workroom.

PHOTOGRAPHERS' WORKROOM
The Photographers' Workroom is located on the field level of The Home Depot Center, at the south end of the stadium. To access this room, photographers are asked to enter the stadium through the Northwest Media Entrance and proceed around the main concourse to the Southeast corner above the main stadium bowl. Option 1: To the right the elevator will take you down to the field level, turn left and the photographers' work is located on the right in the main tunnel. Option 2: Turn left and proceed down section 140 and through the handicap seating into the main tunnel, turn left and proceed under the stadium, the photographers' work room will be half way up the tunnel on the right hand side.
