CLUB HISTORY

1995

On October 17, 1995, the New England Revolution was born. Behind the leadership of Investor/Operators Robert K. Kraft, Jonathan A. Kraft and the Kraft family, the Revolution was established as one of Major League Soccer's 10 original clubs with Foxboro Stadium as its home venue. U.S. internationals Alexi Lalas and Mike Burns - a Massachusetts native - were allocated to New England as the Revs' founding players.

15-17 Overall

The Revolution began its inaugural campaign under head coach Frank Stapleton, fielding star players Burns, Lalas, Alberto Naveda, Welton, and, later in the season, Joe-Max Moore. The Revs' first MLS game was a 3-2 loss at Tampa Bay Mutiny on April 13, 1996, but New England came back a week later to earn its first victory, a 1-0 win over the MetroStars. The following weekend, the Revs prevailed in their first game at Foxboro Stadium, defeating eventual MLS Cup champion D.C. United, 2-1, in a shootout. The Revs missed out on the 1996 MLS playoffs, although Foxboro Stadium was the site of the inaugural MLS Cup.

15-17 Overall
MLS Cup Playoffs

Thomas Rongen replaced Stapleton, who resigned at the conclusion of the 1996 season, as head coach. Rongen led the Revolution to the club's first-ever berth in the MLS Cup Playoffs, where the team fell to defending MLS Cup champion D.C. United.

New England also led the league in attendance, with 342,762 fans watching Revolution soccer in 1997. The team made some notable acquisitions during Rongen's first year, including goalkeeper Walter Zenga and forward Giuseppe Galderisi.

11-21 Overall

In 1998, the team struggled throughout the club's third campaign as stalwarts Moore and Burns missed a substantial portion of the season with the U.S. National Team at the World Cup in France. The Revolution dropped nine straight games between May and early July. In August, Rongen and his staff resigned and Zenga, the Revs' goalkeeper, took over as player/coach. New England went 3-3 down the stretch. Off-season acquisition Raul Diaz Arce scored 18 goals to go along with eight assists, while Moore added seven goals and 15 assists.

12-20 Overall

Prior to the season, the Revolution acquired former U.S. Men's National Team captain John Harkes, Giovanni Savarese and Dan Calichman to help boost the team's bid to return to the playoffs. Zenga continued as player/coach, and the team made several acquisitions in mid-season, including Mario Gori, Leonel Alvarez and Jeff Baicher, but the team was unable to come together and make a run into the postseason. For the second consecutive year, the Revs made a late-season coaching change as Zenga was relieved of his playing and coaching duties and replaced by Steve Nicol for the team's final two matches. For the second time in four years, Foxboro Stadium hosted MLS Cup.

13-13-6 Overall
MLS Cup Playoffs

Before the start of the 2000 campaign, Sunil Gulati, a longtime executive with Major League Soccer and U.S. Soccer, was named Managing Director of Kraft Soccer, while Brian O'Donovan was appointed Chief Operating Officer and former U.S. National Team defender Fernando Clavijo was named head coach. MLS also moved to three four-team divisions and eliminated shootouts to decide games. The Revs finished second in the Eastern Conference and earned the club's second-ever MLS Cup Playoffs berth on the last day of the regular season, finishing with the best record in club history. Wolde Harris scored 15 goals while Imad Baba added nine goals and eight assists and Ted Chronopoulos five goals. The Revs advanced to the MLS Cup Playoffs, but lost to Chicago.

7-14-6 Overall
U.S. Open Cup Final (Fullerton, Calif.)

Among the Revs' newcomers for 2001 were Jamaican midfielder Andy Williams, Caté, a Brazilian playmaker, and Jay Heaps - the 1999 MLS Rookie of the Year and Massachusetts product - who was acquired in a mid-season trade.

The Revolution went winless in its first six games and despite several strong stretches during the season, the team failed to qualify for the MLS Cup Playoffs. In the 2001 U.S. Open Cup, however, the Revolution advanced to the championship game against the LA Galaxy. On Oct. 27, in Fullerton, Calif., the Revs took an early 1-0 lead into the second half, but LA leveled the game and Danny Califf scored two minutes into extra time to clinch the title for the Galaxy.

12-14-2 Overall
MLS Cup Playoffs
MLS Cup 2002 (Foxborough, Mass.)

The Tampa Bay Mutiny and the Miami Fusion ceased operations in the off-season, and the Revs acquired Steve Ralston in the resulting Allocation Draft. New England also took Taylor Twellman with the second pick in the MLS

SuperDraft and acquired goalkeeper Adin Brown. The Revs went 1-2-1 on their season-opening road trip, before defeating the Dallas Burn 2-0 on May 11 in the first event held at the newly-constructed, $325 million Gillette Stadium. Twellman tallied twice in the win - two of his club single-season record 23 goals that season. Clavijo was fired on May 23, replaced on an interim basis by assistant coach Steve Nicol. The Revs went 5-0-1 down the stretch, clinching a playoff berth on the final day of the season. New England then defeated the Chicago Fire in the MLS Cup Quarterfinals, the club's first playoff series victory, before earning a series victory over Columbus in the Eastern Conference Championship to advance to MLS Cup 2002 at Gillette Stadium. An MLS Cup Playoffs record crowd of 61,316 saw the Revs lose to the Galaxy on a golden goal in the 113th minute. After earning MLS Coach of the Year, the Revs named Nicol head coach of the team on Nov. 6.

12-9-9 Overall
MLS Cup Playoffs
Eastern Conference Final

Joe-Max Moore returned after a three-year stint with Everton in England, and the Revs also added key newcomers Pat Noonan, Shalrie Joseph and Matt Reis to the fold. The Revs struggled in the middle portion of the season, going two months without a win, and New England found itself mired in fifth place in early September. But the Revs went 6-0-1 to close the season and clinched second place in the Eastern Conference. Twellman (15 goals) was sidelined for the playoffs with a fractured left foot, and Noonan led the team to a victory over the MetroStars in the Eastern Conference Semifinals. In the Eastern Conference Final, the Revs missed the chance to return to the MLS Cup when Chicago's Chris Armas scored the golden goal in the 11th minute of overtime. The Revs were the highest scoring team in MLS (55 goals) in the regular season.

8-13-9 Overall
MLS Cup Playoffs
Eastern Conference Final

It was a roller coaster season, with the Revs earning a 1-4-2 mark through April and May before stringing together a seven-game midsummer unbeaten run. Injuries to key players saw others like Andy Dorman and Matt Reis step up, but as September began, the Revs sat in last place. However, the Revs made another late-season push - going 3-2-0 down the stretch - and used a 2-1 home victory over Chicago on the last night of the season to clinch a playoff berth. New England defeated the Columbus Crew in the conference semifinals - helped by Reis' two penalty kick saves in Game Two of the series. The Revs then played D.C. in the Eastern Conference Final at RFK Stadium, a 3-3 thriller widely considered MLS' best match ever. New England lost to the eventual champions on penalty kicks after three times coming back from one-goal deficits, capped by Noonan's 85th minute equalizer. Also in 2004, Twellman scored his 42nd goal as a member of the Revolution to become the club's all-time leading goal scorer and Clint Dempsey earned MLS Rookie of the Year honors.

17-7-8 Overall
MLS Cup Playoffs
MLS Cup 2005 (Frisco, Texas)

The Revolution had its best regular season in club history, setting team records for wins (17) and points (59). The Revs also set records with their six-game winning streak that was part of the club-record 11-game unbeaten streak to open the season. In the MLS Cup Conference Semifinals the Revs again came from behind to defeat the MetroStars on aggregate to advance to the team's fourth Eastern Conference Championship in a row, where the Revs downed Chicago, 1-0, at home on a fourth-minute Dempsey goal. In MLS Cup 2005, the Revs fell to LA, 1-0, in double overtime. Despite the championship game loss, the team accumulated many individual accolades, including Twellman claiming MLS MVP honors, Dempsey, Shalrie Joseph and Twellman earning spots on the league's Best XI squad, and unparalleled first-year defender Michael Parkhurst winning Rookie of the Year accolades.

12-8-12 Overall
MLS Cup Playoffs
MLS Cup 2006 (Frisco, Texas)

Although the Revs returned the majority of their roster from the record-setting 2005 squad, a rash of injuries and international call-ups limited the Revs' early-season success. Dempsey (U.S.) and Avery John (Trinidad & Tobago) were both named to their countries' World Cup squads and missed seven weeks of MLS action. Nicol used a different starting 11 almost every game to contend with his personnel shortages, but in what had become an annual ritual, the Revs assembled another late-season run, going 5-0-2 to close the schedule and surge into the playoffs. The Revs defeated Chicago in the Eastern Conference Semifinal series, coming back from a two-goal aggregate deficit at home in Game Two to earn the series victory in penalty kicks. Against D.C. in the Eastern Conference Championship, the Revs downed United, 1-0, for the conference crown behind Twellman's fourth-minute strike to advance to MLS Cup at Pizza Hut Park in Frisco, Texas, for the third time in club history. The Houston Dynamo, however, was crowned champion after winning on penalty kicks, 4-3, after the 1-1 stalemate following extra time, during which Twellman's 113th-minute go-ahead goal in extra time was negated by a Brian Ching tally just over a minute later.

14-8-8 Overall
MLS Cup Playoffs
U.S. Open Cup Champion
MLS Cup 2007 (Washington, D.C.)

The Revs resumed their place at or near the top of the Eastern Conference standings, finishing second after another consistent season under Nicol, the longest-tenured coach in MLS. Midyear, the team won its first-ever cup championship, winning the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup behind a 3-2 victory at FC Dallas on Oct. 3 as rookie Wells Thompson scored the game-winner in the second half. The team uncharacteristically entered the playoffs winless in their final three regular-season matches, but once again reached the MLS Cup championship match, defeating the New York Red Bulls in the Eastern Conference Semifinal Series (1-0 on aggregate) and Chicago, 1-0 in the Revs' record-setting sixth consecutive Eastern Conference Championship match. At MLS Cup 2007, New England and Houston played the first-ever rematch of the previous year's final, with the Dynamo repeating the 2006 result and taking a 2-1 victory at RFK Stadium in Washington. Twellman scored his league-leading third playoff goal in the first half, but Houston struck twice in the second to repeat as champions.

2008
12-11-7 Overall
MLS Cup Playoffs
SuperLiga Champion

The Revolution reached the postseason for the seventh consecutive year with a third-place finish in the Eastern Conference, but an up-and-down campaign ended with a first-round playoff exit. Despite early-season injuries to Twellman and Ralston, the Revs soared to the top of the MLS standings with a 10-4-3 record through 17 games. During a month-long break from the league schedule in July, New England became the first MLS team to win SuperLiga, a feat that was capped by a remarkable victory over the Houston Dynamo in a penalty shootout in the competition's final on Aug. 5. However, fixture congestion and a rash of injuries slowed the Revolution late in the season, as the club went 2-7-4 during the final 13 games and slipped from first to third in the conference. For the fourth consecutive year, New England met the rival Chicago Fire in the playoffs - this time in the Eastern Conference Semifinals - but for the first time in that stretch, the Fire eliminated the Revs. A 3-0 aggregate loss in the two-game series ended the Revolution's season and snapped the club's record of six straight appearances in the conference final.

2009
11-10-9 Overall
MLS Cup Playoffs

Once again, the Revolution reached the playoffs, pushing the league's longest active streak to eight straight seasons. With Twellman still out because of injury, the Revs recorded just two wins in the first nine games of the season. Twellman returned for two games which the Revs both won, but was shelved for the rest of the season. New England advanced to the semifinals of SuperLiga 2009, falling to the Fire in the semifinals, and came out of the tournament hot, going 5-1-1 in the next seven league games to move up the East standings at the end of August. Despite winning just three games the rest of the season, the team advanced to the postseason on the heels of a 1-0 win on the road at Supporters Shield winner Columbus in the final game of the regular-season. The Revs also extended their streak of meeting Chicago in the postseason, matching up against the Fire in the conference semifinals. After taking a 2-1 win at home in game one, the Revs dropped a 2-0 decision on the road to bow out of the playoffs.

GILLETTE STADIUM

On May 11, 2002, Gillette Stadium opened its doors as the new home of the New England Revolution and has become one of the best home fields in all of Major League Soccer. With annual world-class soccer events staged at the facility, Gillette Stadium has also become the hub of soccer in the Northeast region.

Entering the 2010 season, the Revs have posted a 60-34-27 record (.607 winning percentage) in the confines of Gillette Stadium during the regular season, and a 9-1-4 postseason mark, including MLS Cup 2002 before 61,316 fans, an MLS Cup Playoffs attendance record.

The team's combined 69 victories in the regular season and postseason are MLS' second-highest total at home since the start of the 2002 season. The Revs' eight home playoff wins lead the league during that same time period.

On an international level, U.S. Soccer has enjoyed some of its greatest success on home turf at Gillette Stadium with the men's and women's national teams posting a combined 11-1-2 record at Gillette Stadium. On May 19, 2002, the U.S. Men's National Team played its final game on U.S. soil before the 2002 World Cup, facing European powerhouse, the Netherlands. On April 14, 2007, the U.S. women kicked off their final domestic tour before the 2007 Women's World Cup with a 5-0 victory over Mexico. Gillette Stadium has also hosted matches in the 2003, 2005, 2007 and 2009 CONCACAF Gold Cups with the U.S. men going undefeated (6-0-2) at the stadium in that span.

While the U.S. has seen great success in Foxborough - a 20-1-5 mark overall including matches at the former Foxboro Stadium - the facility has also hosted other world-class soccer events. On Sept. 12, 2007, the men's national teams of Brazil and Mexico played before a record crowd of 67,684 - the largest soccer crowd ever at the stadium and in New England. Other international powerhouses who have played at Gillette Stadium include Ireland and Bolivia.

Gillette Stadium has been the site of several memorable international club friendships, including matches between European giants Barcelona and Juventus on Sunday, July 27, 2003; Chelsea and A.C. Milan on July 24, 2005, and most recently, A.C. Milan and Internazionale on July 26, 2009. Other international clubs that played at Gillette Stadium include Celtic FC and Sporting Lisbon.

Gillette Stadium's predecessor - Foxboro Stadium - helped begin the tradition of world-class soccer in the region. Foxboro Stadium hosted 10 U.S. Men's National Team games, where the U.S. posted a 7-0-3 all-time record. The town of Foxborough, between Foxboro Stadium and Gillette Stadium, has also boasted host to men's and women's World Cup Qualifiers, 1994 FIFA World Cup matches, 1999 and 2003 FIFA Women's World Cup matches, international friendly matches and Women's Gold Cup games since 1991.

ROBERT K. KRAFT Investor/Operator

Robert Kraft is the Founder, Chairman and CEO of The Kraft Group, based in Foxborough, Mass. The Kraft Group is the holding company of the Kraft family's many businesses, with interests concentrated in six areas: manufacturing of paper and packaging, international distribution of forest products, sports and entertainment, real estate development, private equity investing and philanthropy.

Kraft is widely recognized as one of the most successful owners in professional sports. As Investor/Operator of the New England Revolution (Major League Soccer), Chairman and CEO of the New England Patriots (National Football League) and owner of Gillette Stadium and Patriot Place, Kraft has created a world-class sports and entertainment environment in New England.

Under Kraft's leadership, the New England Revolution and the New England Patriots have delivered nine conference titles and three league championships, while his private-financing of Gillette Stadium has given fans a world-class facility in which to enjoy New England's championship tradition.

Kraft's long-standing support of soccer in the United States dates back to his efforts in the early 1990s to secure Foxborough as one of the nine host venues for the 1994 FIFA World Cup. With the bid process underway for the 2018 and 2022 FIFA World Cups, Kraft has continued his work to bring the world's biggest sporting event back to the United States by accepting a position on the Board of Directors of the U.S. Bid Committee. Gillette Stadium is one of the 18 venues that will be included on the U.S. bid.

The success of the 1994 World Cup ushered in a new era in New England sports and on June 6, 1995, the Kraft family made the founding Investor/Operator of the Revolution, joining Major League Soccer for its inaugural season in 1996. Since then, the Krafts have hosted the MLS Cup championship game in Foxborough three times, including the 2002 final between the Revolution and the Los Angeles Galaxy, which was played in front of the largest crowd in MLS Cup history (61,316).

The United States' Men's and Women's National soccer teams have also enjoyed tremendous support from the Kraft family and soccer fans throughout New England. Since 1990, Foxborough has hosted 29 international matches involving U.S. teams at Foxboro Stadium (1990-2001) and Gillette Stadium (2002-present). The U.S. teams have enjoyed remarkable success in those games, compiling a combined record of 22-1-6 in those games. In addition to hosting games in the 1994 Men's World Cup, Foxborough was a host city for both the 1999 Women's World Cup, when more than 50,000 fans watched the U.S. women defeat North Korea, 3-0, and the 2003 Women's World Cup.

JONATHAN A. KRAFT Investor/Operator

Jonathan Kraft, an Investor/Operator of the New England Revolution, has guided the organization from its infancy to its present position as one of the most successful and respected teams in Major League Soccer. Kraft is also the President and Chief Operating Officer of The Kraft Group, based in Foxborough, Mass. The Kraft Group is the holding company of the Kraft family's many businesses, with interests concentrated in six areas: manufacturing of paper and packaging, international distribution of forest products, sports and entertainment, real estate development, private equity investing and philanthropy.

In its sports and entertainment division, The Kraft Group's holdings include the four-time conference champion New England Revolution and the three-time world champion New England Patriots, as well as Gillette Stadium, the world-class venue that both franchises call home. Kraft oversees the operation of all three sports entities. As the President of the Patriots, Kraft has been the day-to-day driving force behind the rebuilding and rebranding of the franchise since 1994, bringing long-overdue stability to the once wayward organization. It has been a remarkable transformation, as the Patriots have evolved from worst to first in many categories, both on and off the field. Over the past 16 years, the Patriots have won more Super Bowls (3), more overall games (183) and more often (.651 winning percentage) than any other team in the NFL. They also set NFL records for the longest consecutive win streaks in the postseason (10).

In 1995, Kraft was involved in securing one of Major League Soccer's founding clubs and principally responsible for bringing the MLS's championship game to New England in the league's first season of operation in 1996.

In 1999, Kraft developed the creative private-financing strategy to gain

Kraft is a lifelong New England sports fan who began attending Boston Patriots games during their infancy in the 1960s. When the franchise moved to Foxborough in 1971, he purchased season tickets for his family, an account he maintained for the next 23 years before purchasing the team in 1994.

The Kraft family has built the Patriots into one of professional sports' model organizations. Since purchasing the team in 1994, the Patriots have won more games (183), including more playoff games (17), more conference championships (5) and more Super Bowl championships (3) than any other team in the NFL. The Patriots also own two of the league's longest consecutive win streaks with 21 straight victories (including playoff games) and 10 straight wins in the playoffs.

Kraft began his business career with the Rand-Whitney Group, Inc. of Worcester, Mass., a company that converted paper into packaging for various industries. He later acquired the company. In 1972, he founded International Forest Products, a trader of paper commodities that now does business in more than 80 countries. Together, Rand-Whitney and International Forest Products comprise one of the largest privately-owned paper and packaging companies in the United States. The Kraft Group was founded to serve as the holding company for the family's varied business interests, whose holdings include the Rand-Whitney Group, Rand-Whitney Containerboard, International Forest Products, the New England Patriots, the New England Revolution, Gillette Stadium, Patriot Place and a portfolio of more than 30 private equity investments.

A native of Brookline, Mass., Kraft attended public schools before attending Columbia on an academic scholarship. Upon graduation, he received a fellowship to Harvard Business School, where he earned a master's degree in business administration.

Kraft serves on the board of directors for Viacom. He is also on the executive committee of the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute, where he established the Robert K. Kraft Family Blood Donor Center. He is a trustee emeritus at Columbia and is a trustee of Boston College. He has also received honorary degrees from several colleges and universities. In 2006, Kraft was awarded the NCAA's highest honor when he received the Theodore Roosevelt Award, which is presented annually to a distinguished citizen of national reputation and outstanding accomplishments.

For more than three decades, the Kraft family has been one of New England's most philanthropic families, donating tens of millions of dollars in support of local charities and civic affairs. The Krafts recently pledged half a million dollars to the Greater Boston Food Bank to enhance the Kids Café program. The contribution assures thousands of Boston-area children receive nutritious meals five days a week. A million dollar donation by the Krafts helped fund the Kraft Family Center at the Foxborough branch of the YMCA.

approval for the construction of Gillette Stadium. Throughout the stadium initiative, no one was more involved in each phase of the project, including the planning, construction, opening and on-going operation and development of Gillette Stadium. Kraft worked closely with stadium designers to create a world-class sports and entertainment facility that would highlight features indigenous to New England. His team delivered on the promise of a fan-friendly facility, on time and under budget.

Kraft and the project team also drew praise for innovative environmental practices. In June of 2001, the Environmental Business Council presented The Kraft Group with the Environmental Award for Corporate Leadership. In May of 2002, The Kraft Group received New England's Environmental Merit Award from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for the development and construction of Gillette Stadium.

On May 11, 2002, the Krafts opened Gillette Stadium, now known as one of the world's premier sports and entertainment facilities, with a match between the New England Revolution and the Dallas Burn. One week later, the U.S. Men's National Team made its first appearance at Gillette Stadium. On Oct. 20, 2002, MLS Cup returned to Foxborough for the third time in seven years, with the Revolution vying for the league's top honors in front of an MLS Cup record crowd of 61,316 fans.

A Williams College graduate, Kraft also earned an MBA from Harvard Business School. He is on the board of directors for several organizations, including the Children's Hospital Trust and Pop Warner Little Scholars, Inc. He is also currently serving as a member of the Overseers' Committee to Visit Harvard Business School and as a member of the board of trustees at Williams College and the Belmont Hill School.

Kraft is active in youth athletics, coaching Pop Warner football, youth soccer and Little League baseball in the greater Boston area. In 2006, he was the recipient of the Warner Award, named after Glenn S. "Pop" Warner. The award is presented annually and is considered Pop Warner's highest honor.

Kraft and his wife, Patti, have three children.

Brad Feldman is in his 10th season with the Revolution and his fourth in his current role in which he oversees all aspects of the Revolution's groundbreaking television broadcasting enterprises.

As the head of TV production, Feldman manages the production of the Revolution's live game telecasts on its regional partner and is closely involved with the team's television activities, including all in-game content and shoulder programming.

Feldman joined the Revs organization in 2001 as a TV and radio announcer. He broadcast all four of the Revs' MLS Cup appearances on Sports Radio 850 WEEI and was an announcer for the club's U.S. Open Cup and SuperLiga championship-winning matches. This is his sixth season as the team's play-by-play voice.

In May 2003, Feldman joined the organization full time as the team's director of communications and later added soccer broadcasting oversight to his duties before focusing on the team's broadcast operations at the start of the 2007 season.

Feldman's announcing resume includes four seasons as a play-by-play commentator on ESPN International, calling matches for several top European soccer leagues. He has also announced games on Fox Soccer Channel and Setanta Sports and frequently serves as a guest expert on WEEI Sports Radio, national radio and Boston-area TV stations.

After earning degrees from the Johns Hopkins University (B.A.) and the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism (M.S.), Feldman worked in TV production, broadcast news, publishing and as a newspaper reporter. He also earned his MBA from Northeastern University in 2009.

Feldman lives west of Boston with his wife, Liz, and daughter, Miriam.

JAMES MULLINS

Director of Ticket Sales

James Mullins is in his fourth season as the Revolution's Director of Ticket Sales, having joined the club's front office staff in January 2007. He is responsible for directing the Revolution ticket sales staff and its initiatives, and implementing new sales programs to increase the Revs' long-term attendance and growing the season-ticket holder base.

Since his arrival, Mullins has spearheaded the growth of the club's ticketing group, creating a dedicated service team for existing season ticket holders, while adding dedicated account executives that continue to grow the fan base. Additionally, Mullins' group developed the successful "Defend the Fort" campaign in 2009 to help bolster a supporter's culture among Revolution fans.

In Mullins' first three years in New England, his efforts received national attention as the Revs' average attendance increased by almost 5,800 fans per game - a 49 percent increase - since the 2006 season, the greatest increase in both statistics in the league in that time frame. The team's average jumped from 11,786 in 2006 - ranking 11th of 12 teams in the league - to 17,580 in 2008, fourth in the 14-team league. The club's 2008 attendance marked the team's highest average mark in 10 years - since 1998.

Mullins joined the Revs after six successful seasons with the LA Galaxy. While with the Galaxy, Mullins earned the 2004 MLS New Business Leader Award and the 2003 and 2004 MLS Sales Revenue Awards. He also finished in the league's Top Ten for Group Sales in 2002.

Before joining the Revolution, Mullins was the Corporate Sales Manager in Los Angeles, where he sold and executed the Galaxy's sales programs and led the sales team to unprecedented levels of profitability.

Mullins attended California State University-Long Beach, and spent five years in the United States Marine Corps, serving tours of duty in Operation Desert Shield/Desert Storm. While in the Corps, Mullins served as a rifle expert, and was awarded several medals and commendations.

KATHLEEN CASERIO

She also oversees all partner and sponsor activations - both on-site and off-site - and works with new and existing partners to increase their involvement with the Revolution.

Caserio began her career with the Kraft Sports Group in 2000, working with the marketing group to promote the opening of Gillette Stadium, which was then under construction. She later moved to the events group, where she assisted with the operations of the organization's special events and team trips, as well as overseeing soccer-specific activities. She transitioned to the sponsor relations group in 2004, and worked with clients to activate and execute all aspects of their relationships with the Kraft Sports Group. In 2006, she combined all of her previous roles into her current position, where she directs all of the organization's marquee events, including annual charitable golf tournament, exclusive Revs ticket-holder events, Sponsor Summit, Patriots Training Camp and Awards Gala. Additionally, Summers served as the press officer for the MLS All-Star team in both 2007 and 2008, accompanying the Revolution technical and training staffs to the game.

Summers came to the Revs after three seasons as an assistant director of media relations at The University of Texas, where she handled all of the publicity needs for several of the school's top-ranked athletic programs and several internationally-recognized student-athletes. She also assisted with press operations for football and men's and women's basketball.

Before UT, Summers worked for four years at Boston College - including two years as an assistant media relations director - handling several of the school's athletic programs, including the women's basketball team and men's hockey team during its 2001 NCAA Championship run.

During her seven years in collegiate athletics, Summers directed media efforts and press operations for numerous NCAA, Big East and Big 12 Conference championships. She has also earned many national awards for her annual team publications and collateral.

In his first stint with the Revolution in 2007, Kropelin worked closely with the team's management to execute major soccer events at Gillette Stadium, including the 2007 CONCACAF Gold Cup and record-setting Brazil-Mexico match. He also maintained several in-house accounts on behalf of the ticketing staff.

He also oversaw publicity of the team's community involvement, as well as the department's intern program.

While with the Engineers, Lemieux coordinated all sports information activities for 10 of the school's then-NCAA-high 41 sports, including men's soccer and men's hockey. In addition to his own sports responsibilities, Lemieux also assisted with game day media operations for football and men's and women's basketball.

He also spent the summer of 2005 with Massachusetts Premier Soccer's Cape Cod Crusaders (PDL), assisting with all aspects of the team's marketing and communications efforts. He also served as the marketing and production organizer of the All-Star Skills Gala, which featured members of both the Crusaders and Boston Renegades (W-League).

A Cape Cod native and former contributor to the Cape Cod Times covering the Cape Cod Baseball League, Lemieux graduated summa cum laude from Ithaca College with a degree in sports information and communications. STEVE NICOL Head Coach

Now in his ninth season at the helm of the Revolution, Steve Nicol is the longest-tenured coach in Major League Soccer and is regarded as one of the top tacticians and evaluators of soccer talent in this country. His 98 career victories entering the 2010 season have eclipsed the combined win total (73) of the previous four head coaches in Revolution club history.

Nicol was named head coach of the team on Nov. 6, 2002, after serving as the interim head coach for the final 21 games of the 2002 regular season and the postseason.

In each of his eight seasons with the Revolution, Nicol has guided the club to the MLS Cup Playoffs, including six consecutive Eastern Conference Championship games - an MLS record - between 2002 and 2007, and has four times led the team to MLS Cup (2002, 2005, 2006 & 2007). The Revs are one of just three MLS clubs to return to MLS Cup in back-to-back seasons. Nicol is the only coach in league history to bring the same team to the playoffs in eight consecutive seasons, and the Revs also currently hold the league's current longest postseason appearance streak (eight seasons).

Nicol's hiring marked yet another impressive accomplishment in the Scotland native's distinguished career. During his playing days, Nicol, 47, gained worldwide fame while playing for Liverpool FC in England's top division before moving on to play for Notts County, West Bromwich Albion, Sheffield Wednesday and Doncaster Rovers.

Nicol, who was born in Troon, Scotland, began his pro career at the age of 18 with Ayr United before being signed by Liverpool in 1981. At the time, his £300,000 transfer fee was the Ayr United club record.

While with Liverpool, Nicol made 467 appearances as a defender and midfielder and scored 46 goals. He was at the heart of a Liverpool side that won four English League Titles, three FA Cup Titles and the 1984 European Cup. In 1989, his importance to the team was honored when Britain's soccer writers named him Footballer of the Year. FORT

YOUTH TEAM OVERVIEW

In April 2008, the New England Revolution announced the formation of its fully-funded youth development program. Now in its second year, the Revs field Under-16 and Under-18 teams, which play in the prestigious U.S. Soccer Development Academy.

The U.S. Soccer Development Academy includes the top youth programs from around the country, as well as 10 other MLS clubs' youth development teams.

In an effort to afford the region's players the opportunity to train and compete at an elite level, the Revolution's youth development program is fully-funded by the club. Qualified and talented players are accepted on the teams without regard to their financial situation. All player needs and expenses related to soccer activities - training, facilities, equipment, uniforms, travel associated with competitions - are provided by the Revolution.

KARL EDMONDS

DIRECTOR OF YOUTH DEVELOPMENT // HEAD COACH UNDER-18s

Karl Edmonds is one of the most established coaches and talent evaluators in New England youth soccer, having spent 12 years as the Director of Soccer and Player Development for Seacoast United Soccer Club, a perennial power on both the regional and national scenes based in Hampton, N.H. He was hired as the Revolution's Director of Youth Development in August of 2009.

Edmonds oversees the youth development program, working closely with the Revolution's technical staff to create and implement the youth teams' coaching curriculum and training systems. He is also the head coach of the Revs' Under-18 squad.

Edmonds joined the Revolution after a decorated 12-year stint with Seacoast United, where his clubs won a staggering 65 state championships, more than 10 USL regional championships and one national championship. During his time with Seacoast from 1998-2009, Edmonds coached more than 10,000 players ranging in age from 6-20 and helped hundreds of players move on to successful college soccer careers. He was named the 2007 New Hampshire State Coach of the Year.

The Revolution's technical staff, under the direction of Vice President of Player Personnel Michael Burns, oversees all instruction and development of the teams' players. Karl Edmonds, the Revs' Director of Youth Development, runs the program with the assistance of his staff.

Under Major League's Soccer's "Homegrown Protected List," the Revolution is able to protect up to three players per year who have played with the club's youth teams. Should those protected players sign with MLS, they would not go through the MLS SuperDraft but would be placed directly on the New England Revolution roster. Through the structure of MLS' youth development program, players' amateur status is preserved and they do not jeopardize their collegiate eligibility by playing for the Revs' youth teams.

In addition to his success on the field, Edmonds was also heavily involved in several successful ventures off the field for Seacoast United, including the creation of a $6 million outdoor field complex which houses four turf fields.

After earning his bachelor's degree in Business Administration and Sports Management from Southern New Hampshire University (formerly New Hampshire College) in 1993, he remained at the school to obtain his master's degree in International Business in 1996.

An apprentice with the famed Liverpool Football Club from 1984-1987, Edmonds was an All American and two-year captain during his college career at Division II New Hampshire College (1989-1993). A native of Liverpool, England, Edmonds spent two years in the United Soccer Leagues with the Boston Storm (1995) and New Hampshire Phantoms (1996) while serving as an assistant coach with his alma mater's women's team.

Edmonds lives in southern New Hampshire with his wife, Maureen, and their three children, Lilly, Evan and Elizabeth.

DEVEN APAJEE

REVOLUTION ACADEMY DIRECTOR // ASSISTANT COACH UNDER-18s

Deven Apajee is currently in his fifth year with the Revolution, serving in a variety of roles with the club's various youth programs. In addition to being the Director of Player Development Programs for the Revolution Academy, Apajee is also the Program Coordinator for the Youth Development Program and the primary assistant coach for the Revolution Under-18 team under Director of Youth Development, Karl Edmonds. Additionally, Apajee handles all administrative matters for both the Under-16 and Under-18 teams.

During his tenure at the helm of the Revolution's commercial youth development program, the Revolution Academy has expanded into a year-round training and development program in communities from Maine to Rhode Island.

An experienced youth coach and player development professional, Apajee began his coaching experience with Leyton Orient FC in England as the club's Football Development Officer. After coming to the United States, he worked with MLS Camps and then served as the Director of Youth Development for the Chicago Fire. At the youth level, Apajee is the Director of Coach Education & Player Development for Super Liga, Rhode Island's youth club league, and he currently coaches at the Premier club level.

Apajee possesses an engaging style that commands young players' attention. A native of London, England, Apajee holds USSF "B" and UEFA "B" coaching licenses.

He resides in Cranston, Rhode Island with his wife, Dawn, and their two children.

BRYAN SCALES

HEAD COACH UNDER-16s

Bryan Scales enters his first season as the head coach of the New England Revolution's Under-16 team, while continuing to fulfill his duties as head coach of the University of Massachusetts Lowell men's soccer team. He also serves as a scout for the U.S. Men's National Team in the U.S. Development Academy and an assistant coach with the Under-15 boy's national team.

Scales' previous work experience includes an 11-year stint as the head coach of the men's soccer team at Cornell University (1998-2009), where he ranks fourth on the all-time wins list with 61 career victories.

He was named the NSCAA Division I Coach of the Year for the New York region in 2001, while he was also a finalist for national coach of the year that same season.

A 1991 graduate of Hartwick College, Scales received his NSCAA International Premier Diploma in 2007 in Curitiba, Brazil.

Prior to his time at Cornell, Scales held positions as an assistant coach with both the U.S. Olympic Development Program Region I Team and Harvard University's men's soccer team.

JOHN FREDERICK

ASSISTANT COACH UNDER-16s

John Frederick enters his second season as an assistant coach for the New England Revolution's Youth Development Program after most recently working as an assistant coach with the Massachusetts Olympic Development Program Under-17 team.

Currently an assistant coach for the men's soccer team at the College of the Holy Cross, Frederick holds his USSF "B" coaching license. He also received his NSCAA Premier Diploma from the Lilleshall National Sports Centre in England in 2004.

Frederick's previous work experience includes serving as the head coach for both the Algonquin Regional High School and Marlborough High School's boys' varsity soccer teams and coaching stints with the Tri-Valley Eagles and FC Puma.

KARL SPRATT

GOALKEEPERS COACH

Karl Spratt enters his first season as the goalkeepers coach for the New England Revolution's Youth Development Program after joining the club in November 2009.

Spratt's previous work experience includes coaching stints with a variety of English club academy programs, including Sunderland AFC – currently of the Barclays Premier League – and Darlington FC. He also spent time as the head goalkeepers coach with various universities in the Northeast of England.

A graduate of the University of Sunderland, Spratt holds a bachelor's degree in sport and exercise development and his FA goalkeeping license.

A native of Newcastle, England, Spratt spent time as a player with Manchester United's youth academy, while he was also part of an England National Team developmental squad at the U-18 level.

U.S. SOCCER DEVELOPMENT ACADEMY

DEVELOPING THE NEXT GENERATION

U.S. Soccer's Development Academy program is driven by the game and its players, coaches and referees. This game-centric approach allows for long-term development to occur through a deep understanding of what makes players successful around the world. As the sport of soccer grows in the United States, young players in our country need the proper environment to compete against the world's elite.

The U.S. Soccer Development Academy program provides the optimum developmental environment for the nation's top youth soccer players, coaches and referees by emphasizing development through quality training and limited, meaningful competition.

MEANINGFUL TRAINING

Academy teams spend a greater amount of time focused on training to improve as individuals and as a team. The teams and players receive direct feedback and evaluations from National Team Staff and ProZone video analysis. To round-out the complete training environment, Academy teams are tested in their physical capabilities using the SPARQ testing methodology and their hydration levels by Gatorade. They also receive a SPARQ training curriculum for soccer-specific athletic training and Nutrition and Hydration recommendations from Gatorade's Sports Science Institute. Each athlete then gains a greater understanding of how they compare physically against their peers and what they need to do to achieve their optimal performance levels.

COMPETITIVE ENVIRONMENT

The Academy program features teams from the top youth clubs (including those from Major League Soccer) from around the country. Each Academy team plays approximately 30 regular-season games to ensure all games are meaningful. Games are also played according to FIFA's Laws of the Game and officiated by a pool of the nation's top young referees in order to prepare players for the next level of competition. National Team Scouts regularly attend Academy games, so players are evaluated over the course of the season and in their natural positions allowing for better player assessment.

EARLY SUCCESS

As the program enters its second year, it has already dramatically impacted the player development process in the United States. In 2008, more than 100 players from Academy clubs were included in U.S. Youth National Teams and almost 800 graduates from the inaugural Academy class participated in college soccer the following fall. Virtually all college programs use the Academy program as a scouting vehicle and the program has received increased attention from professional scouts representing domestic and international clubs. Visit ussoccer.com to view the top Academy teams in action.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

FORT

2010 MEDIA POLICIES

The New England Revolution is pleased to assist you in your coverage of the team. As an organization, Kraft Sports Group - the New England Patriots and New England Revolution - has specific media policies of which you should be aware as you prepare to cover the team.

PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

All media who have been issued credentials - season, day-of-game or training - are expected to follow the guidelines set forth in this document, as well as the instructions of the Revolution staff, stadium employees and security, or risk limitation of access or revocation of credentials.

Media access issued with the purpose of providing access to interviews and written, audio and visual accounts of the team, as appropriate. No member of the media should use this access for autographs, personal photographs or commercial requests.

MEDIA SERVICES

Press Releases: Requests to be added to the Revolution's media distribution should be emailed to media@revolutionssoccer.net.

Media Guides: A limited number of digital and printed media guides will be made available to regular and national media in 2010. A full PDF version of the media guide will be available on revolutionssoccer.net, and all statistical and biographical information will also be continually updated on revolutionssoccer.net.

Official Web Site: revolutionssoccer.net is the official web site of the New England Revolution. All content posted on the site by the team may be republished in its entirety by media outlets, with credit cited as "New England Revolution." Note that user-generated content, including user comments, photos and videos, MAY NOT be republished without explicit permission.

Video: Media are welcome to embed videos that appear on revolutionssoccer.net.

B-roll & Interviews: With sufficient notice, the Revolution Communications staff will usually be able to provide footage and interviews by request. To request b-roll or pre-taped interviews, please e-mail media@revolutionssoccer.net to inquire about availability.

Twitter: twitter.com/NERevolution (username: @nerrevolution) is the official Twitter page of the New England Revolution and features breaking news and new content posted to revolutionssoccer.net. Media are welcome to re-tweet Revolution content, including play-by-play accounts, using the "RT @nerrevolution" or "via @nerrevolution" tags.

Head shots & Action Photos: The New England Revolution maintains updated headshots on all members of the active roster, including coaches and staff, and has a growing archive that includes players from within the last five seasons and most higher-profile players from the team's history. The team also has a growing archive of action shots of the same groups of personnel, which is available for use by members of the media with proper photo credit.

MEDIA ATTENDING TRAINING SESSIONS

In general, training sessions throughout the season are open to the media. In your coverage of daily sessions, we ask for your cooperation in observing the following practice policies:

1. Please do not report on match strategy deployed at training. This includes describing specific formations, personnel groupings, set pieces and combinations.
2. Please do not quote, paraphrase or report the comments made by coaches, staff or players during a training session.

GENERAL SECURITY POLICIES

Because of security procedures in place at Gillette Stadium, any member of the media who wishes to attend a training session at the stadium's practice fields or on the main stadium field must inform the Revolution Communications staff before the close of business the day before you wish to come. We cannot guarantee admittance to the stadium grounds if we are not aware that you are planning to come to training.

CHECKING IN AT GILLETTE STADIUM

All members of the media who attend any Revolution training session at Gillette Stadium must check in at Security Command, located at the south end of the stadium (through the doors under the red awning). All members of the media who have RSVP'd with the Revs Communications staff will be on a list at the check-in window. Please have proper forms of ID available, which can include MLS season credentials.

GAMEDAY CREDENTIALS

Media members who are not issued season credentials must apply for gameday credentials to the Revolution Communications staff no later than two business days before the match (5 p.m. on Thursdays for Saturday and Sunday matches, 5 p.m. on Mondays for Wednesday matches). All requests will be reviewed and media will be notified if they have been approved for credentials no later than 24 hours before kickoff.

MEDIA WILL CALL

Media Will Call is located at the south end of the stadium at Security Command (through the doors under the red awning). This is for press and photo credentials only. All game tickets will be left at the ticket office in the north end zone (Patriot Place Gate).

MEDIA PARKING

For the majority of the season, all media are to park in Lot 6 for both training and games unless otherwise directed. To enter the stadium, please use the North Entrance (P1) off Rt. 1 and stop at the security gatehouse at the entrance to Gillette Stadium. You will be directed to Lot 6, or the in-use lot, from there.

PLAYER AND STAFF INTERVIEWS

All interviews for Revolution players, coaches, executives and staff must be coordinated through the Communications office.

Training: Unless weather conditions preclude it, all player and staff interviews will be conducted on the practice fields at the conclusion of the training session. All interview requests will be collected by members of the Communications staff during the training session. Generally, head coach Steve Nicol will be available first, followed by the players after they have completed their cool down.

Any interview requests that will require additional time with a player or coach should be made well in advance so that we can make the appropriate arrangements. Please contact a member of the Revolution Communications staff to facilitate all interview requests.

Gamedays: The Revs' locker room is open for 60 minutes beginning two hours before kickoff. All media will be asked to clear the locker room 60 minutes before kickoff. This is both at home and on the road. Visiting teams at Gillette Stadium may have different pregame policies, but must also allow pregame access in some manner.

Following the final whistle of the game, teams will be afforded a 10-minute cooling off period in their locker rooms. Following that time, Steve Nicol will conduct a press conference in the production studio, and the team's locker room will be opened to the media. (Please note that the Revs' locker room will not be opened before the press conference begins.) Visiting teams may have different postgame policies so media is advised to check with visiting team PR officials for their protocols.

STILL PHOTOGRAPHERS

Training: Still photographers will be allowed to shoot each practice in its entirety. All photographers are to remain off the playing field and should stay behind the sideline markings of the field. If you are in need of a specific shot or angle that is not included in this area, please see a member of the Communications staff for assistance.

There will be times during practice that the team will practice set pieces, corner kicks and specific team formations. The team requests that these portions of training not be photographed and not be reported on. Thank you in advance for your understanding and cooperation.

Gamedays: All still photographers must wear the photo bib that was issued to them at media will call. Failure to wear the bib while out on the field could result in dismissal from the stadium.

Photographers should set up in the Media Work Room, located at the north end of the stadium service tunnel. A light meal and beverages will be provided in this room before the game. During Patriots Training Camp (late July- mid-August), all photographers must set up in the Blue Level Press Box and no photographers will be allowed in the Media Work Room.

GAMEDAY PHOTOGRAPHER REGULATIONS

Only photographers who are shooting for an accredited media outlet or wire service will be credentialled for games. Freelance photographers will not be credentialled. Photographers will be escorted to midfield prior to the game in order to shoot starting lineups and team photos. At the conclusion of those opportunities, all photographers must adhere to the following MLS-issued photographer guidelines:

1. General photographers are allowed to shoot the game from the endline only.
2. No photographer is allowed to shoot directly behind the goal, and must be off to either side of the goal stanchions.
3. Photographers must remain at one end of the field for the duration of the half, and are only allowed to switch ends at halftime.
4. No one with a photo credential is allowed in the technical (bench) area at any time, including warm-ups.

TV PHOTOGRAPHERS

TV cameras will be allowed to shoot training in its entirety, however, there will be instances - such as set pieces, corner kicks and penalty kicks - where a member of the Revolution Communications staff will ask all TV photographers to stop shooting for a brief time period.

At games, local ENG and news crews will be allowed to shoot the first 15 minutes of each half. At the 15:00 and 60:00 marks of the game, all video cameras must be turned off.

FILING AT THE STADIUM ON NON-GAMEDAYS

If you need to work and file from Gillette Stadium on a non-gameday, please inform a member of the Communications staff in advance of your arrival so the appropriate arrangements can be made. We cannot guarantee available space if we do not know ahead of time.

TELEVISION AND RADIO

TELEVISION

In March 2010, the Revolution announced that the team had created a partnership with Comcast SportsNet, making the regional sports network the official home of the Revolution. Additionally, starting in 2010, the team and network announced they every regionally-produced Revs match would be broadcast in high definition (HD).

The deal continues the Revolution's proud tradition of having every MLS match televised during the course of the club's 15-season history.

In addition to the Revs' matches on CSN, a selection of Revs games will be televised on national broadcast partners ESPN2 and Fox Soccer Channel, in addition to Spanish language broadcast partner Univision (which also includes the Galavision and Telefutura networks).

This season, Kraft Sports Productions will again produce every regionally-televised Revolution match. KSP is headed by Executive Producer Matt Smith and Senior Coordinating Producer Dave Mondillo. Head of Soccer TV Production Brad Feldman supervises production, with Shaw Brown and Jim Daddona returning as the primary producers for Revs' regional telecasts. The experienced tandem of Bob Frattaroli and Shawn Jensen again share directorial duties.

Revs broadcasts in 2010 will feature a new, exciting look as the team enters the realm of high definition.

RADIO

The Revolution is also committed to the best in live game radio coverage. For the first time this season, the Revolution welcomes a new radio partner: 98.5 The Sports Hub will be the primary carrier for Revs radio. In 2010, the Revs have a home on the FM dial and with the newest all-sports station in Boston.

All 30 Revolution regular-season games will again be broadcast on radio and on the web. Jason Dvorkin and Brian Tahmash produce all Revolution radio and webcasting content, including weekly programming, "In the Net," on revolutionsoccer.net.

ANNOUNCERS

Veteran announcer Brad Feldman is now in his 10th season with the Revolution, having called almost 300 matches involving the club. This season marks his sixth as the primary play-by-play announcer for the team's telecasts.

Feldman's resume includes play-by-play commentary for top European competitions on ESPN International and Setanta Sports and announcing MLS, USL and college matches on Fox Soccer Channel. He began his MLS broadcasting career as a sideline reporter on Kansas City Wizards telecasts in 1999. Feldman is a frequent guest on New England and national radio and TV talk programs on the subject of soccer and he hosts the weekly online/podcast, "In the Net" on revolutionsoccer.net.

Color Analyst Jay Heaps begins his first season in the broadcast booth in 2010 after stepping away from the professional game following the 2009 season. Heaps closed his playing career after setting Revolution club records in games, starts and minutes in his eight-and-a-half year Revolution career. Heaps retired ranked third on MLS' career leaders in minutes (27,363), fourth in starts (299) and eighth in appearances (314). The 1999 MLS Rookie of the Year was originally drafted second overall in the 1999 MLS College Draft by the Miami Fusion, and was traded to his hometown Revolution in 2001.

An 11-year MLS veteran, Heaps was honored for his consistently stellar efforts with a call-up to the U.S. National Team in the summer of 2009, where he earned four caps in helping the U.S. earn a runner-up finish at the CONCACAF Gold Cup. At the conclusion of the MLS season, he was also voted Revolution Defender of the Year, marking the first such time he was honored in New England.

Veteran soccer announcer Brad Feldman (left) returns for his 10th season with the Revolution as the club's play-by-play voice, while Jay Heaps (right) begins his first season in the booth as the color analyst after an 11-year MLS career.
