

MATCHDAY

MATCH PREVIEW

On Wednesday evening at Starfire Stadium, Sounders FC (0-1-0, 0 points) hosts Arizona United SC (0-1-0, 0 points) in the second fixture of a five-match homestand for S2.

On March 25, S2 opened its second USL campaign with a 1-0 loss to Sacramento Republic FC. After a scoreless first hour of play, referee Baboucarr Jallow signaled for a penalty in the 62nd minute on a challenge from Seattle defender Tony Alfaro. Sacramento's Thomas Stewart buried the attempt from the spot to the bottom right corner.

Arizona United SC fell 2-0 on the road to LA Galaxy II on March 26. The Western Conference side is in its third USL campaign, after finishing 10-13-5 in 2014 and 10-16-2 last season. The club performs under the direction of first-year Head Coach Frank Yallop, who made nearly 500 appearances as a player and coached in MLS from 2001-2003 and 2006-2015.

S2 SETS EXPECTATIONS FOR SOPHOMORE SEASON

By Cameron Rizzardini

Seattle Sounders FC 2 began its 2016 USL campaign on March 25 at Starfire Sports, the club's second since its inception in October 2014.

Following a successful maiden voyage with a playoff appearance and two players ultimately signed to first-team contracts, S2 will be looking to advance its developmental purpose and process.

"With S2, it's not so much about winning," said Head Coach Ezra Hendrickson. "We do want to win because we feel that winning is a part of a player's development...but the main focus is to develop these players."

S2 has been successful so far in its player development, earning forwards Andy Craven and Oalex Anderson first-team contracts. There is still room for improvement, however, and one primary focus of the improvement over last year will be keeping the consistency of the roster.

"We went through 44 players last year, so we're hoping to have more consistency," Hendrickson said. "With a little more consistency we can better develop players and that's what S2 is really all about."

Hendrickson also indicated some big changes to come for S2 in not only player turnover, but also formation and style of play.

"I think it's best for us if we're mimicking what the first team is doing because that way it's an easier slide," said Hendrickson. "At the end of the day, the goal of S2 players is to get to the first team and I think that helps them to be better prepared."

Midfielder Zach Mathers is a prime example of a player who might benefit greatly from S2's adoption of the 4-3-3 formation. As a second-round SuperDraft selection to the Sounders in January, Mathers will be looking to make the jump when the time comes, and some experience with the first team's formation will be critical if the call comes.

"I've actually never played it before with any college or club team, so it's different for sure," Mathers said of the 4-3-3. "With a 4-4-2 you've got some more help on the wings whereas now we have three guys forward a bit more so in the midfield we have to be tighter...So that's going to be a little bit different for me."

With new teammates and a formational shift to master, Mathers has his work cut out for him, but expressed confidence about getting started with his S2 career. "The guys are good with S2," said Mathers, "so it'll be a great learning experience for me."

TYLER MILLER

MAKING THE JUMP

At his introductory press conference in January 2015, Sounders FC General Manager & President of Soccer Garth Lagerwey identified a clear mission for the organization:

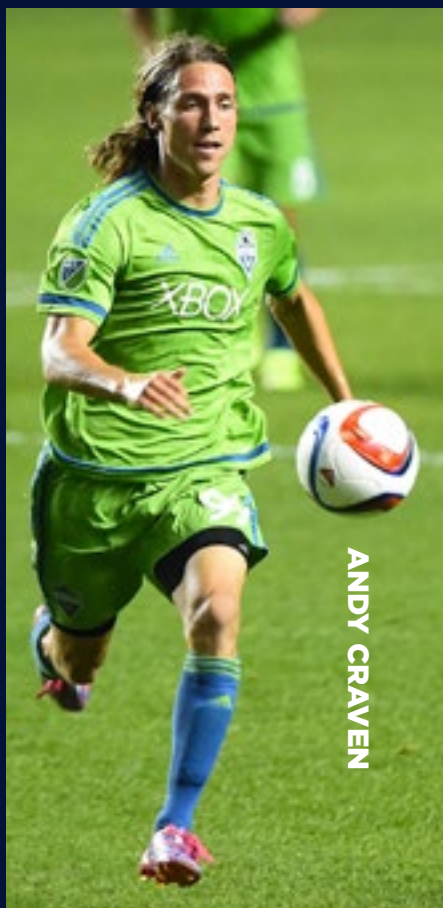

"You have to vertically integrate the clubs," Lagerwey said. "You have your First Team, and you have to push strategically to grow the Sounders, but you have to, below that, integrate S2 and the Academy."

Essentially, Lagerwey wanted a pipeline. Before reaching the First Team and playing in front of the biggest crowds in MLS, players would develop necessary skills and attributes that translate to the next level, all while representing the Sounders FC crest.

Last season, Sounders FC 2 strung together a successful inaugural campaign. This success lies deeper than qualifying for the postseason and reaching the fourth round of the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup, though. In 2015, Sounders FC 2 produced three players who were signed to First Team contracts: Andy Craven, Tyler Miller and Oalex Anderson.

In June, Craven became the first S2 player to make the leap. He started 12 of his 14 appearances in the USL regular season, scoring five goals and adding a team-high five assists. The University of North Carolina product went on to appear in three MLS matches before suffering an MLC sprain in training.

"One of the reasons S2 was created was to develop talent and reward players for their hard work and standout play, and Andy is a true example of that concept," Lagerwey said in June.

Miller became the second player to join the MLS side after signing with S2 last July, following a stint with SVN Zweibrücken of the German Fourth Division. He made one appearance for S2, a 4-0 shutout victory over Arizona United SC on July 12, before undergoing successful thumb surgery on his right hand on July 28. Miller was a Second Round selection for Seattle in the 2015 MLS SuperDraft after a record-setting career at Northwestern University.

"Tyler has great potential as a goalkeeper and showed promise in the limited time we had to work with him last season," said Head Coach Sigi Schmid. "We're excited to continue that development in 2016 as he works further with our staff and the rest of the goalkeeper group."

Earlier this month, Anderson became the most recent S2 player to be signed to a First Team contract. Anderson started seven of 16 appearances for S2 during the 2015 USL season after signing on April 11. The speedy striker scored four goals in just 758 minutes. Internationally, Anderson has 20 caps for the St. Vincent and the Grenadines National Team since his debut in February of 2014, scoring 10 international goals.

"It's exciting to see our development system at work in signing one of our standout S2 players to the First Team," said Lagerwey. "Oalex has a lot of potential, which he showed last season, and we're happy to have him join the senior squad."

HEAD COACH EZRA HENDRICKSON

Ezra Hendrickson initially joined Sounders FC as an Assistant Coach on January 20, 2009, after completing a 14-year professional career, including 12 seasons in Major League Soccer. He is now the Head Coach of Sounders FC 2, the club's USL PRO team.

Hendrickson played parts of eight seasons for Sigi Schmid, including three in Columbus prior to his retirement. Hendrickson appeared in 266 regular season matches with 225 starts. Playing defense, he scored 23 goals and added 30 assists.

He also played in 32 postseason games with five goals and three assists. Hendrickson was a member of three MLS Cup championship teams, winning two with Schmid. Together, they won the 2002 MLS Cup with the Los Angeles Galaxy and the 2008 MLS Cup in Columbus. Hendrickson was also with the champion D.C. United team in 2004.

A native of the island of St. Vincent in the Caribbean, Hendrickson began his career in 1997 with the New York MetroStars, before joining the Galaxy later that season. He totaled six seasons in Los Angeles, where he won the 2000 CONCACAF Champions Cup, scoring two goals in a 3-2 victory, and the 2001 Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup, scoring one goal in a 2-1 victory. He was named Galaxy's Most Valuable Player for the 2001 season.

Hendrickson went to Dallas in 2003 and began the next season with the A-League's Charleston Battery before joining D.C. United for its run to the 2004 MLS Cup. After starting all 31 appearances in 2005 for Chivas USA, Hendrickson was acquired by Columbus in early 2006.

An All-American and business administration major at Drake University, Hendrickson first played professionally with New Orleans of the USISL Select League (1995-96). After earning his first international cap in 1995, he served 12 years as captain of the St. Vincent and the Grenadines national team. Hendrickson earned his U.S. Soccer "A" Coaching License in December of 2008. He is a resident of Layou, St. Vincent, and has two daughters, Xavia and McKenzie.
