News and Notes

OFFENSE VS. DEFENSE

It'll be an unstoppable force vs. an immovable object on Saturday as the USL Eastern Conference's best offense visits a top defense through three games in 2018 at First Tennessee Park. Charlotte comes into the match with eight goals in three games and unbeaten. Nashville has allowed a paltry two goals in three games.

WORLD CUP CREDENTIALS

Independence defender Jungsoo Lee boasts quite the résumé. In the 2010 World Cup in South Africa, Lee scored two goals for South Korea in the group stage propelling the Asian side to the Round of 16. In total, Lee has five goals in 54 appearances for South Korea.

GOALS ON GOALS

While Nashville SC found its first goal of the season last weekend, Charlotte's Jorge Herrera has already bagged four goals this season. Herrera has been incredibly efficient scoring those goals on six shots. Last Saturday, Herrera scored twice helping Charlotte come from behind twice to draw Atlanta United 2 at home.

STARTING TO GEL

Nashville's offense got off to a slow start, but a breakthrough could be coming. In the first two games, Nashville SC managed just 14 shots and only a handful on net. Last Saturday in Bethlehem, Nashville peppered the Steel FC net with 12 shots and seven on target. The uptick in offense resulted in the club's first goal and signs of chemistry developing on the field were evident for the new club.

FIRST COMPETITIVE GOAL

While Ropapa Mensah will always be known for scoring the first Nashville SC goal in club history in a friendly, the first goal that will count was scored by Michael Cox. After earning a penalty in the 6' minute last Saturday, March 31 against Bethlehem Steel, Cox stepped up to the spot and confidently slotted the goal home giving Nashville SC its first-ever USL lead.

DEFENSE IS STREAKING

Nashville SC's backline and keeper Matt

Pickens are on a hot streak. The group has not allowed a goal since the 66' minute of the team's opener at Louisville City FC, a streak that sits at 204 minutes. That streak is the longest active streak in the Eastern Conference in 2018 and tied for the longest streak in the USL this season with Orange County SC keeper Andre Rawls.

SLIM PICKENS

Keeper Matt Pickens has earned back-to-back shutouts and is one of five USL keepers with two shutouts this season. In three games, Pickens has made eight saves while just allowing two goals.

NEW TO NASHVILLE

David Edgar signed with Nashville SC this week, bolstering the defensive unit. Edgar comes to Nashville with both Premier League and MLS experience in his 13-year playing career. He suited up for Newcastle United and Burnley in the EPL and for Vancouver Whitecaps in the MLS. Edgar will wear the No. 11 for Nashville.

MOLOTO WITH WEEKLY HONOR

Midfielder Lebo Moloto was named to the USL's Team of the Week bench after his performance against Bethlehem Steel FC. Moloto completed 92 pct. of his passes in the match.

HISTORIC NIGHT AT NISSAN

Nashville SC fans showed up in droves for the club's first USL home game. Almost 19,000 fans showed up in the rain to witness Nashville SC's first earned point of the USL-era. Giveaways at the game included gold rally towels and commemorative tickets while country music star SaraBeth Swagerty performed the national anthem.

2018 SEASON TICKET UPDATE

Another record that Nashville SC fans are closing in on is an USL inaugural season ticket record. The supporters are less than 500 season tickets away from surpassing the mark set by FC Cincinnati in its inaugural season of 6,103.

The Premier League squads drew a record crowd for a soccer match in Nashville with over 56,000 people in attendance.

SEASON OPENING DISAPPOINTMENT

The task was always going to be tough for Nashville SC opening up its season at defending USL champs Louisville City. The hosts started their title defense on a strong note, scoring two second half goals to down Nashville 2-0.

HISTORIC STARTING XI

The club's first-ever Starting XI in the loss to Louisville consisted of Forwards: Michael Cox and Robin Shroot, Midfielders: Lebo Moloto, Michael Reed and Matt LaGrassa, Defenders: Ryan James, London Woodberry, Liam Doyle, Justin Davis and Kosuke Kimura, and Keeper: Matt Pickens.

News and Notes

PRESEASON RESULTS

Nashville SC has found a result in six of its seven preseason friendlies, three wins and three draws. The club beat Orlando City SC, Chattanooga FC and Lipscomb University and drew Chicago Fire, Ottawa Fury and FC Cincinnati.

LION TAMERS

Nashville SC got its first win in Orlando in a closed scrimmage against the MLS side Orlando City SC. After falling behind 1-0 six minutes into the match, Nashville roared back with two goals in the second half on its way to a 3-1 victory. Moloto, Cox and Winn all scored against the Lions.

SINGING IN THE RAIN

On Feb. 10 at First Tennessee Park, the inaugural Nashville SC home friendly, drew just over 9,000 fans in spite of monsoon-like conditions. The sellout crowd saw Nashville SC take on Atlanta United FC of MLS. It was the first professional soccer game played by a team from Nashville since 2001.

FIRST GOAL IN CLUB HISTORY

The first Nashville SC goal in club history came off the foot of 20-year-old striker Ropapa Mensah in the 64' minute of the club's opening friendly against Atlanta United FC. The ball was well-worked to Mensah, starting with a long ball from Liam Doyle, off the head of Tucker Hume and then the foot of forward Alan Winn. Mensah chipped the ball over keeper Alec Kann to knot the game at 1-1.

ON THE TELLY

Thanks to broadcast partner, Sinclair Broadcast Group, 27 of Nashville SC's USL matches this season will be broadcast locally in Nashville. Fans will be able to find the games locally on WUXP MyTV30.

FROM THE GROUND UP

Gary Smith, 49, was named as head coach for Nashville's first professional soccer club on April 12, 2017. While this is Smith's first time coaching in the USL, he has managed clubs the MLS, NASL and English League One and Two. In 2010, he led the Colorado Rapids to its second MLS Cup championship appearance winning its first MLS Cup. Smith begins his 21st season coaching after a 12-year playing career. It will be his seventh season as a head coach.

The Harlow, England, native began his youth career in the Arsenal youth system. Smith's father continues to be the head video scout for the club. In 1983, Smith joined Fulham's youth academy and made his first appearance in the 1985-1986 season. After four years with the club, Smith signed with Colchester United in 1987 and played 12 games with the club. Smith joined the Wycombe Wanderers in the second-half of the 1989-1990 season after playing one game for Enfield FC. In the two seasons that followed, Smith scored four goals in 66 appearances and cemented the club's trust as a starting central midfielder.

Smith's next few seasons were plagued with injuries that he would never fully recover from but was determined to continue his career regardless of his ailments. He bounced around to a few clubs including Welling United and Barnet FC. Smith played his last professional game with Barnet but after a rigorous rehabilitation process, began his amateur career in 1995 with Aylesbury United. Smith made 43 appearances in the 1996 campaign and made his final amateur appearance in a 3-1 victory over the Heybridge Swifts in April 1997. Injuries forced Smith to prematurely retire at the age of 29 but created a smooth transition into his coaching career after spending some time as a player-coach.

Less than one year after his retirement, Smith started his coaching career with Wimbledon FC. He worked toward his UEFA 'A' licence while with the club and received an offer from Wycombe Wanderers to coach their youth team once he received his coaching certification. In 2004, Smith was promoted to assistant first-team coach and filled in as the assistant manager due to the resignation of club manager, Tony Adams. The club stayed unbeaten under his watch until his interim title ceased and he resumed his position as the youth coach.

In June of 2005, Smith was offered the Assistant Academy Manager position at Watford FC leaving Wycombe to join John Gorman and his staff. After only a month with his new role, he was tasked with coaching the reserve team for Watford. Additionally, he was given the role of the U18 team manager taking on both responsibilities. In 2007, Smith returned to his Arsenal roots and worked as a scout for the club alongside his father.

In February 2008, Smith got his first taste of MLS when he was tasked to create an Arsenal academy within the Colorado Rapids due to an ownership demand for partnership. Smith caught his first huge break in his coaching career when he assumed the interim head coaching position after the resignation of Fernando Clavijo. He inherited a Colorado team that was at the bottom of the league rankings. Smith understood he had a mountain to climb but was prepared for the opportunity.

Smith was given a very short leash by owners but showed promise in his ten-game trial period. On November 11, 2008, the interim tag was removed from his title and Smith was given a three-year contract with the Colorado Rapids. In his first game as head coach, the Rapids lost to Chivas USA 2-1 but quickly rebounded and beat Kansas City Wizards 2-1. The Rapids finished their first campaign under Smith in ninth-place after losing to Real Salt Lake to finish the season.

Only two years removed from taking his first head coaching job, Smith led his team on an unprecedented run that landed him among the best coaches in the MLS. After making some savvy preseason acquisitions, Smith managed to make the MLS Cup playoffs as the seventh-seeded team. Colorado's regular season play was outstanding and they finished atop the division in home wins. Smith pushed his club into the conference semifinals where they narrowly defeated Columbus Crew on penalties.

A week later, Colorado defeated the San Jose Earthquakes 1-0 at home sending them to the MLS Cup Final. On November 21, 2010, Smith's Rapids defeated FC Dallas 2-1 in extra-time, winning Colorado its first MLS Cup. Winning the MLS Cup also made Smith the first-ever English coach to win a cup in the MLS.

Smith's third season with the Rapids started hot but quickly became derailed with injuries to key players. As the reigning MLS champs, Colorado was invited to play in the CONCACAF Champions League for the first time in club history, but the experience was short-lived. They were knocked out in group stage play after losing to Santos Laguna, 2-0. The 2011 MLS season was Smith's last in his role as head coach of the Colorado Rapids. Smith led the team to a sixth-place finish and lost in the conference semifinals after defeating Columbus Crew in the wildcard round. Colorado announced that they were not extending Smith's contract only five days after the loss to Sporting KC in the conference semifinals.

A month removed from departing Colorado, Smith was named manager of Stevenage's League One team. He signed a two-year contract with the new club and won his first game at the helm sending the club to the FA Cup fifth-round for the first time in club history. Stevenage only won one league game out of 13 in his first season with nine draws.

Smith entered the 2012-2013 season trying to rebuild as many of the previous players left for different clubs. He managed to facilitate a league high eleven-game unbeaten run, finding themselves in second-place in the league. Stevenage drastically fell off the mark and lost three of the final four games of the season, falling into 15th place. Shortly after, Stevenage announced they were parting ways with Smith.

In December of 2014, Smith was named as the Atlanta Silverbacks head coach for the 2015 season after the NASL announced that it would take ownership of the club. The previous ownership group could not find additional funding and the NASL brought Smith in to boost morale for the club's future.

In April of 2017, Nashville SC made Gary Smith the first head coach in club history. Coach Smith lives in the Nashville area with his wife, Emma, and children, Millie, Summer, and Sonny.

CHARLOTTE MOVING STADIUMS
Charlotte Independence are breaking ground on a $32,000,000 renovation of American Legion Memorial Stadium that will be completed sometime in the next 3 years. Jim McPhilliamy, Independence managing partner says, "being able to play in the new stadium will put the Charlotte Independence in a position to grow the beautiful game here in the Queen City and create something our whole community can be proud of." Independence is currently off to the best start in the club's history with a 2-0-1 record that has put the side top of the Eastern Conference standings. Charolette is hopeful for the venue not only attract more fans to games, but also attract state-wide events in addition to providing a greater stage for the city's local rivalries in other sports.

AGE IS JUST A NUMBER
Charlotte Independence played Atlanta United 2 on Saturday which produced a 2-2 draw. ATL 2's George Bello, who is only 16, created the first goal of the match after his cross deflected off a CLT defender for an own goal. On the flip side of the age spectrum, Jorge Herrera, 38, scored two goals for Charlotte showing that age could not slow down the conditioned Colombian.
