PREVIOUS MATCH REPORT

MIAMI (June 24, 2017) - The New York Cosmos lost 2-1 in an arduous clash against Miami FC Saturday night at Riccardo Silva Stadium.

“We did things the right way and had possession, but were unlucky to find the second goal,” said Cosmos Head Coach and Sporting Director, Giovanni Savarese. “We tried to win the match, but Miami defended themselves well with 10 men. We will continue to work hard until the end of the Spring Season.”

New York looked ready for a repeat of its 2-0 win in April, putting pressure on the hosts from the get-go. Emmanuel Ledesma picked up a Javi Márquez chip after a Blake Smith giveaway to craft a 6th minute opener from the top of the box, nutmegging a defender to score his third goal in six games. Miami looked to equalize three minutes later, but were denied by the post.

The game got progressively more physical as Miami aimed to gain control. Stéfano Pinho's shot from the edge of the area deflected off Dejan Jaković and into the net, making the teams level in the 20th minute. Two minutes later, Cosmos goalkeeper, Jimmy Maurer, denied Miami the lead, parrying to his right to clear a left-footed shot from Dylan Mares. Maurer was back in action in the 37th minute, coming off his line to block a Blake Smith half-volley at close range.

The Cosmos had a tough start to the second half, as a 47th minute corner kick resulted in Miami's second goal. Richie Ryan's in-swinger found Vincenzo Rennella, whose header from point-blank range put the hosts ahead. New York responded by testing Miami shot-stopper, Daniel Vega, twice in the 55th minute. Márquez and then Ledesma forced Vega to save. The hosts were shaken up again four minutes later, after Kwadwo Poku was issued a straight red card for an elbow to the face of Jimmy Mulligan.

The Cosmos increased their presence in the final third, eager to capitalize against a 10-man Miami. Set pieces gave New York a slew of opportunities. The subbed-in, Pablo Vranjicán, got his head on the ball in the 83rd and 86th minutes, but couldn't get on target. The Cosmos fought hard, as a cross by Walter Restrepo in the fourth minute of stoppage time gave Vranjicán one last attempt to level the score. New York showed plenty of energy throughout the match, but the scoreboard read 2-1 in Miami's favor.

NEW YORK COSMOS vs INDY ELEVEN

DATE: 7/4/17 KICKOFF: 7:30PM VENUE: MCU PARK

WORTH A NOTE

RETURN OF THE KINGS

The New York Cosmos have not played against Indy Eleven since the 2016 Championship Final last November. The Cosmos won their second consecutive and eighth overall NASL title after a post-match penalty shootout.

SHOT-STOPPER SHOWDOWN

Cosmos goalkeeper, Jimmy Maurer and Indy Eleven keeper, Jon Busch, could take the field in Tuesday's game. Both featured in the 2016 Championship Final. Maurer is second in the NASL in saves (39), while Busch is third (35).

NO PLACE LIKE HOME

The Cosmos have never lost to the Eleven at home, winning once and drawing three times.

FORWARD THINKING

New York continue to be consistent in the attack, accumulating 19 goals and 166 shots so far in the 2017 NASL Spring Season, good for second in the league in both categories.

MULLIGAN'S MONTH

New York's Jimmy Mulligan completed 91.5% of his passes in the month of June. Entering this weekend, this ranks as the third highest in the league among players with at least 100 passes attempted in NASL play.

LEDESMA IN THE LEAD

Among players with multiple goals scored in the month of June, only two players enter this weekend with a better shot conversion rate than New York's Emmanuel Ledesma (40.0%).

GOLD CUP CALL-UPS

Four Cosmos players have been called up to their national teams for the 2017 CONCACAF Gold Cup. Midfielders, Andrés Flores and Richard Menjivar, as well as forward, Irvin Herrera, will feature for El Salvador. Defender, Dejan Jaković, received a call-up for Canada.
