GAME 20 - QUICK HITTERS

- Riverhounds SC (9-3-7) kicks off the month of August with a two-game homestand, beginning on Wednesday night against the Richmond Kickers (5-11-3). The second and final meeting between the two sides during the regular season, the Hounds prevailed last time out, 2-1, in Richmond on June 2.
- Wednesday's match will be the 40th meeting all-time between the two teams. Richmond has had the upper-hand for most of it, holding a 20-9-10 advantage.
- Suffering back-to-back losses, the Hounds will hope their strong starts to new months continue, as they are unbeaten in five such contests, including winning four straight. The only time Pittsburgh was not victorious in a contest to open the month was in the season opener - a 0-0 draw at Nashville SC on March 24.
- With such a strong start to the year, the club's first two-game losing streak of the season has brought on a set of unwelcomed firsts. The Hounds saw their eight-game unbeaten streak on the road come to a close last time out, as well as failed to capture a point when scoring at least a goal (4-1-0). Pittsburgh has also allowed a goal in two straight matches for just the second time this season.
- Home cooking might just be what the doctor ordered though, as the two-game homestand features opponents with a combined record of 6-26-6.
- Richmond has struggled to say the least, seeing itself continue to fade out of the playoff pack with losses in three of its last five games (1-3-1). The struggles have been real since its loss to the Hounds on June 2, as the club has conceded 20 goals in its ensuing nine matches. The Kickers are 1-7-0 on the road with their only win coming on July 9 against Penn FC.
- The goal differential for the two teams couldn't be any more different. The Hounds' +12 differential is tied for second-best in the conference, while Kickers are in the red with 18 more goals allowed than scored - making them one of three teams in the East with a negative double-digit differential.
- Midfielder Christiano François carried the Hounds' offense in July, scoring two goals in the month. Last time out against North Carolina FC, he posted a game-high four key passes and has led or tied for the team lead in chances created in the past three games.
- Continuing his ascent up the Hounds' all-time ranks, midfielder Kevin Kerr will hit a milestone with his next appearance, upping his count to 150 games all-time in USL play. Kerr currently ranks second all-time in the category. Also of note, his next assist will tie him for first with David Flavius (25).
