GAME 3 - QUICK HITTERS

- Pittsburgh Riverhounds SC (0-0-2) heads into the weekend in search of its first win of the 2018 campaign, facing Toronto FC II (0-2-0) at Highmark Stadium. Saturday's match might be exactly what the doctor ordered, as the Hounds are 5-0-2 all-time against Toronto FC's B-side.
- The head-to-head mark does hide some deception though, as the last four meetings between these clubs have been decided by one goal or less (2-0-2).
- Working in the Hounds' favor is Toronto's defense being quite generous so far in 2018. The hosts have conceded four goals in two matches on averages of 20 shots and eight shots on goal per game.
- A victory on Saturday would be a welcomed change of pace for the Black and Gold with the club currently carrying a nine-game winless streak dating back to August of last season (0-4-5).
- Though early, the Hounds have displayed both a stifling defense and perhaps an unlucky attack. For the former, Pittsburgh is one of only three teams in the Eastern Conference – Cincinnati and Louisville the others – yet to concede a goal all season. The defensive effort has been downright suffocating at times, as goalkeeper Dan Lynd has had to make only two saves total in two clean-sheet efforts – also the first time in the current era of USL play the Hounds have opened the season with back-to-back shutouts.
- On the attack side, the Hounds are outshooting opponents 25-14, but have only seen 24 percent of those shots (6 SOG) forcing saves by the opposing keeper - T-12th in the conference. Add in a struck post by Christiano François at Nashville and Romeo Parkes narrowly missing on three golden chances against Penn FC last weekend and the Hounds might just need a bounce or two to go their way to get rolling.
- Speaking of Parkes, the Hounds will have their depth put to the test this weekend with both him and Joe Greenspan ruled out for Saturday's contest. Parkes is currently the only forward to have a recorded a shot on goal for Pittsburgh, while Greenspan has anchored the backline in the clean sheet showings, averaging a robust 14.5 clearances per game.
- Fellow Jamaican forward Neco Brett is a name that might be worth monitoring in the attack. He's served as a second-half sub the past two matches and potted three goals during the preseason and has seven career goals in USL play across two seasons.
