Year of the Great Confluence

For the big-league starved fans of the Upper Midwest, the Big Day came on October 26, 1960, date of the transfer of the American League Senators from Washington to the Minneapolis and St. Paul territory, and the merger of three proud baseball traditions.

For their new fans to gloat about, the renamed Minnesota Twins brought with them three pennants won in Washington, in 1924, '25 and '33, and a world championship in 1924.

Now, their new boosters could claim a share of such Senator greats as Clark C. (Old Fox) Griffith, Walter (Big Train) Johnson, Joe Cronin, Leon (Goose) Goslin, Clyde (Deerfoot) Milan, Ed Delahanty, James (Mickey) Vernon, Roy Sievers, and others.

Reciprocally, the Twins could now absorb the glories of 18 American Association pennants — nine won by St. Paul and nine by Minneapolis — in 59 seasons.

They could be reminded of the tremendous pennant burst by St. Paul in 1920, with the Saints winning 115, losing only 49, posting a .701 percentage, and running away from Joe McCarthy's second-place Louisville Colonels by 28½ games. Mike Kelley, the American Association's grand old man, managed that one and four other Saints flag winners before buying the Minneapolis club and putting together three more championship combinations.

The pattern for winning ball in St. Paul was set early, in the first year of minor league ball, in fact. That was in 1877, when the Red Caps of St. Paul won the League Alliance flag.

In 1884, St. Paul actually got a taste of major league status with a franchise which lasted but two weeks in the old Union Association. That club won two games, lost six, then was disbanded. St. Paul competed briefly in the company of such later-to-be big league metropolises as St. Louis, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Washington, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Kansas City and, strangely enough, Altoona, Pa.

In 1894, Minneapolis was a charter member of the new Western League, formed by the Old Roman, Charles Comiskey. Ban Johnson, later to be founder of the American League, was the Western's first chief. Comiskey, a fine first baseman, bought the Sioux City franchise in 1895 and moved it to St. Paul and the Twin City teams competed against each other in the top rated minor league through '99.

When the American League began taking shape in 1900, it appeared as though Minneapolis and St. Paul might gain charter status. The new league was being formed along Western League patterns. But, alas, big league status was to prove elusive for 60 more years. First Minneapolis was dropped in favor of Baltimore and New York. Then Comiskey packed off his St. Paul club to Chicago where, as the White Sox, they won the American League's first pennant in 1901.

St. Paul and Minneapolis performed in the re-formed Western minor league in 1901 and the American Association from 1902 on. Minneapolis also had representation in the Northern League in 1913.

Down through the years, the heroes were plentiful in both cities.

In Minneapolis . . . the ace lefthanded pitcher Nick Altrock, 19-game winner in 1910, and later famous with the Senators as baseball's funniest coach . . . Unser Joe Hauser and his 69-home run season of 1933 . . . Rosy Ryan and Roy Patterson, star righthanders . . . Gavy Cravath, later the National League's home-run king . . . Ted Williams, at 19, winning the American Association batting championship with a .366 mark . . . Willie Mays, blasting an incredible .477 during a six-week stretch of 1951, being promoted to the Giants and leading them to the pennant that same year . . . Andy Cohen . . . Donie Bush . . . Joe Cantillon.

In St. Paul . . . Charlie Hall pitching sixteen straight victories for the 1915 team and Charlie Dressen making the fans of the same period swoon over his hitting and fielding . . . Tom Sheehan pitching the final six weeks of the

TWINS-SENATORS MEDICAL STAFF

GEORGE (DOC) LENTZ is in his fifteenth season as Twins-Senators' trainer. A native of Williamsport, Pa., he trained teams at Dickinson Seminary and Catholic and George Washington Universities. He also taught classes for trainers at George Washington. His patented protective helmet is used by most major league teams. In the fall, he is trainer for the Washington Redskins.

DR. WILLIAM E. PROFFITT, JR. takes over as Twins' club physician after four years in the same position with the now defunct Minneapolis Millers of the American Association. Born in Danville, Ill., schooled in Buffalo, N. Y., and graduated from the University of Minnesota, Dr. Proffitt half-backed the Gophers in 1932, '33 and '34, the latter a national championship year. Dr. Proffitt also lettered in track and was the University's heavyweight boxing champion in 1934 and '35. An active swimmer, water skier and golfer, Dr. Proffitt is married and has a son and daughter.

Calvin R. Griffith, Twins President

SCION OF A famous baseball pioneering family, Calvin Robertson Griffith proved he was a trail blazer himself on October 26, 1960. That was the day he opened the Upper Midwest to big league baseball by transferring his Washington Senators to the Twin Cities of Minnesota.

Thus, just before his 49th birthday, as president of the newly named Minnesota Twins, he created and met head-on the biggest challenge of a lifetime full of challenges . . . this one to establish that in the states of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Montana and western Wisconsin, there are enough fans to justify their claim to big league status.

It was a heart-wrench for Mr. Griffith to move his family from the Nation's Capital. He had lived there since he was ten years old. Born Calvin Robertson in Montreal, he was adopted and brought to Washington by his uncle, Hall of Famer Clark C. Griffith, one of the great old-time pitchers, co-founder of the American League, and patron saint of baseball in the District of Columbia.

Uncle Clark deliberately bred Calvin to succeed him as president of the Senators and it's doubtful that any other present team leader had better preparation than the Twins' leader.

He began as mascot of the pennant-winning Washington teams of 1924 and '25 and was educated at Staunton Military Academy in Virginia and George Washington University in the Capital City.

At Staunton and George Washington, Calvin starred in basketball and played third base, pitched and caught in baseball. At one time, he was sought as a player by the Cubs, who withdrew their bid when his relationship to Clark Griffith was revealed.

In 1935, Uncle Clark assigned Calvin to a three-year hitch as treasurer and president of the Senators' Chattanooga farm team. From 1938 through '41, he held the same two posts at Charlotte.

At Chattanooga and Charlotte, Calvin even had some whirls at managing and proved a two-fisted field leader. His Charlotte clubs won a pennant, barely missed two others and broke attendance records. He helped prepare for the majors such players as Early Wynn, Al Evans, Jake Early, Jim Bloodworth, Sherry Robertson, Joe Haynes and Bobby Estalella.

He married Natalie Nivens of Charlotte and they have a son, Clark II, and two daughters, Corrine and Clare.

In 1942, Calvin was recalled to Washington to serve as his Uncle Clark's chief lieutenant. He began by operating the club's concessions department at Griffith Stadium. Then, he was permitted to negotiate the Senators' radio and television contracts. Later, he was given authority to negotiate player trades.

On October 27, 1955, Uncle Clark passed away and Calvin inherited the presidency of the Senators five days later. It was a team which had been tied to the second division for nine straight years and had been far outclassed for two decades in the competition for young player talent.

Calvin Griffith charted a vigorous expansion of the team's farm operation and scouting departments. He shortened the home-run distances, creating new long-ball interest by Washington fans. He engineered a series of shrewd trades. He turned the tide.

There was an upswing in attendance persisting through his five years at the helm in Washington. The Senators began to land more than their share of the better young ballplayers. The farm system improved. The parent club got better until last year, it escaped the cellar and barely missed a spot in the first division.

Then came the decision to transfer the Senators to Minnesota, Calvin Griffith at the same time making certain by pledge to Washington fans that there would be a new team to replace his in the Capital City which had been so good to him.

Mr. Griffith brings with him to Baseball's New Frontier a promising team and an enthusiastic, imaginative crew of young department heads who reflect his own vigor and optimism.

A new era has been ushered in by baseball's newest pioneer.

Manager

LAVAGETTO, Harry A.

"Cookie"

Born in Oakland, California, on December 1, 1912. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 183 lbs. Former infielder, batted and threw righthanded. Italian ancestry. Married. Winter home, Orinda, California.

A quiet, firm, patient teacher, star-maker, one-time World Series hero, Cookie became Washington's 19th American League manager on May 7, 1957. From almost the day he took the reins, the performance of the Senators, now the Minnesota Twins, improved.

Cookie was one of the National League's better third basemen for 14 seasons. He achieved his peak of fame during the 1947 World Series. In the fourth game, he pinch-hit a two-out, two-run double for Brooklyn in the last half of the ninth that not only beat the Yankees, 3-2, but broke up Floyd Bevens' bid for a no-hitter.

In 1949, when he was closing out his playing career with his home town Oakland club, Cookie was tapped for his first coaching job by the new manager there, Chuck Dressen. Lavagetto remained Dressen's chief lieutenant from that point until May, '57 in a tour which took him to Brooklyn, back to Oakland and finally to Washington.

An intense student of the game, Cookie is generally credited with moving Dodgers' First Baseman Gil Hodges closer to the plate, a maneuver which led to Hodges' developing into one of the National League's most feared home-run hitters. This was the same guard-the-plate tactic that Cookie advised for Roy Sievers in the spring of 1957. In '57, the relocated Sievers became Washington's first modern home-run champion.

As a player, Cookie was a hard competitor with a great will to win. It's this same type of spirit that he tries to instill in his players now. His dashing style of play promises many an interesting summer's day and evening for the fans of the Twins in 1961.

Players

ALLISON, William Robert "Bob" Outfielder

Born in Raytown, Missouri, July 11, 1934. Height: 6 ft. 4 in. Weight: 218 lbs. Bats right, throws right. Married.

Washington's Rookie of the Year in 1959, Allison was one of the league's most respected players again in '60 as pointed up by the fact that only Eddie Yost (125) and Mickey Mantle (111) drew more walks than Bob (92). In '59 the onetime Kansas University fullback led the league in triples and came within one of Ted Williams' rookie home run record of 31. Fast and aggressive, he's one of the league's top stealing threats with 13 and 11 thefts in his first two seasons. He's a fine fielder with a mighty arm. He can play first base in a pinch although right field is his real cup of tea. When the Senators moved to the Twin Cities last fall, Bob was the first player to move his residence there. He soon was hired by Coca-Cola for public relations purposes.

ARRIGO, Gerald "Gerry" Pitcher

Born in Chicago, June 12, 1941. Height: 6 ft. 1 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded.

A curve baller who completed seven of the 11 games he started, Gerry had the best earned run average in his league in 1960. Because he didn't work enough innings, he did not qualify for the official championship. He pitched one shutout by himself and teamed up for a tandem shutout another time. The Twins drafted him from the organization of his hometown White Sox.

BATTEY, Earl Jesse, Jr. Catcher

Born in Los Angeles, California, January 5, 1935. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 205 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married, has three children. Lives in Washington, D. C.

The Home Plate Club of Washington awarded Earl a bronzed catcher's mitt at the end of the 1960 season because the members rated him the best catcher in the American League. This sentiment was echoed by Manager Cookie Lavagetto of the Twins as well as Paul Richards of Baltimore. Figures bear out their contention. Last season, his first as a regular in the American League, Earl led all regular catchers in batting, runs scored, hits, total bases (199), doubles and runs batted in. He caught the most games (136), handled most chances and threw out the most base-runners (65). His 15 homers set a club record for catchers and only Cleveland's John Romano outhomered him among American League receivers (Romano had one more than Battey). New York's Elston Howard and Boston's Russ Nixon tied him in triples with three each. Even his four stolen bases were most for a catcher.

Earl topped all catchers in the American League's Most Valuable Player balloting and was eighth in the overall standings. His performance vindicated the much-publicized pre-season '60 trade which brought Don Mincher and cash along with Battey from Chicago for Washington's all-time slugger Roy Sievers. Earl seemed to delight in putting his best foot forward against his White Sox ex-mates. He played in all 22 games against them, batted .333, hit six doubles, four homers and knocked in 15 runs against them. He put a halt to the White Sox's traditional go-go success against the old Senators. When the White Sox first signed Battey, their scouts, Hollis Thurston and Doc Bennett, had to outbid the famed Harlem Globetrotters for his services, Earl was that good a basketball player.

BERTOIA, Reno Peter Third Baseman

Born in St. Vito, Udine, Italy, on January 8, 1935. Height: 5 ft. 11½ in. Weight: 185 lbs. Throws and bats righthanded. Married.

The majors' only Italian-born player, Reno moved to Canada when he was two years old. Given his first big chance as a regular when Harmon Killebrew was moved from third base to first last season, Reno was topped in the fielding averages by only All-Star Brooks Robinson of Baltimore. Once a long-ball hitter, Reno switched in '60. He's one of the few players who separates his hands on the bat. The change resulted in line drive sprays to all fields and more value to his team. An alumnus of the University of Michigan and Assumption College, Reno was originally signed by Detroit at a reported $25,000 bonus.

BRUCKBAUER, Frederick J. "Fred" Pitcher

Born at Sleepy Eye, Minn., May 27, 1938. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 175 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married.

This curve-baller, a product of the University of Minnesota, won Rookie of the Year honors in the Three-Eye League in 1959 but sporadic soreness of the arm hampered him in '60. He went to training camp with the old Senators in '60 and was impressive until his arm acted up. Assigned to Charlotte, Fred got off to a brilliant start with a no-hit pitching effort until one was out in the eighth inning against Columbia. He yielded one hit in the eighth and a three-run homer in the ninth to win, 6-3, but the arm miseries returned. After the close of the season, Fred's tonsils were removed, relieving him of an infectious condition which might have caused the soreness. Signed for a sizeable bonus by Scout Dick Wiencek after Fred pitched Minnesota to two national collegiate titles, Bruckbauer was acclaimed by his Gopher coach Dick Siebert as the best pitcher he had ever worked with. Fred was 17-4 for Siebert with a 10-2 mark in Big Ten competition and a 1.70 ERA.

Pitcher

Born in Philadelphia, Pa., on October 17, 1942. Height: 6 ft. 2 in. Weight: 200 lbs. Throws and bats righthanded. Single. Lives in Bristol, Pa.

This huge youngster was signed by Executive Vice President Joe Haynes in June, 1960, and he proceeded to pitch Wytheville, Va., to the Appalachian Rookie League pennant. He completed five of the eight games he started and landed an All-Star berth. The Twins think so much of this fastballer they promoted him to the varsity roster so as to protect him from the first-year draft of minor league players.

"Billy"

Infielder

Born in Cleveland, Ohio, on August 18, 1934. Height: 5 ft. 11 in. Weight: 180 lbs. Throws and bats righthanded. Single.

Acquired from the Red Sox in a trade for Herb Plews in June, 1959, Billy has seemingly reserved his best efforts for the Boston games. In '59, he hit .303 against his former mates, reaching base 13 straight times in one stretch against them. In '60, he hit all three of his homers against them. A valuable handy man, Billy can be spotted at shortstop, third and second. He was signed to his first pro contract by Red Sox Scout Joe Stephenson following graduation from Dorsey High in Los Angeles for a reported bonus of $60,000.

DOBBEK, Daniel John

"Dan"

Outfielder

An exceptionally gifted young man, Dangerous Dan could blossom at any time into one of the league's stars. He runs well, has power, is a fine fielder and has a powerful arm, a rare combination. However, he had difficulty in putting together more than three or four outstanding games at a time. A product of Western Michigan University, Dobbek was signed for the old Senators by Scout Dick Wienczek.

The old Senators lost a bidding duel for this promising southpaw in June of 1960 but succeeded in nabbing him for the $25,000 draft price from the St. Louis Cardinals chain in December. He's fast and completed three of the six games he started as a freshman in the Midwest League.

GARDNER, William Frederick " Billy " Second BasemanBorn in New London, Conn., on July 19, 1927. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 180 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married.*

Billy was obtained from Baltimore just before the opening of the 1960 season and he was one of the best at making the double play. He had a hand in 103 twin killings. He surprised with the bat, too, leading the club in hits with 152 and belting nine homers, the most ever hit by a Washington second baseman. On June 2, 1960, a date on which the Senators started their hottest streak of the year, Billy had one of his best days. In a doubleheader at Boston, he hit the first grand slam homer of his big league career. He also had a double and another homer. A gutty performer, Billy played the last two weeks of the season without telling Manager Cookie Lavagetto that he had a broken finger. In 1957, when Billy led the American League second basemen in fielding, in double play production and in hitting two baggers, he was named Baltimore's Most Valuable Player by Orioles sportswriters. A clutch hitter, he was once described as a "bust- yer-back player" by Casey Stengel, former Yankees manager.

Pitcher

Born August 29, 1932, at Winona, Minnesota. Height: 5 ft. 10 in. Weight: 180 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in San Francisco, Calif.

A football and baseball standout at the University of Minnesota in the early 1950s, Paul returns to the scene of his greatest triumphs. The Twins obtained him from the Pittsburgh organization on February 5. A terrific halfback, Paul became one of the few athletes to make the All-America teams in both football and baseball, accomplishing the feat in 1952. The New York Giants signed him for baseball in 1954 at a reported bonus of $60,000.

Because of his bonus status, Giel had to stay on the Giants varsity for two seasons and became bench worn. A hitch in the Army also seemed to hold him back. Now, after a brief shot with the Pirates, Paul is ready to make his big bid for big league stardom. He has been most successful as a relief pitcher but will get a chance as a starter, too.

GREEN, Leonard Charles "Lenny" Outfielder

Born in Detroit, Mich., on January 6, 1933. Height: 5 ft. 10 in. Weight: 170 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Married.

This fleet ball-hawk took charge as the Twins' regular center-fielder in mid-1960 and proceeded to lead the club in batting. His 21 steals also established him as the team's best base-stealer since 1945 when George Case and George Myatt each thefted 30. Despite his late call to everyday duty, Lenny was topped in steals in the American League only by Luis Aparicio and Jim Landis of the White Sox. To obtain Lenny, back in 1959, the Twins had to trade their 1958 Rookie of the Year, Albie Pearson, to Baltimore.

JACOBS, Lamar Gary "Jake" Outfielder

Born in Youngstown, Ohio, on June 9, 1937. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 175 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Single.

A June, 1959, graduate of Ohio University, this bonus youngster is making swift strides in the direction of the big leagues. After being chosen the South Atlantic League's All-Star centerfielder last season, Jake was acclaimed by the managers as the loop's top candidate for future American League stardom. He stole 18 bases to finish third in that department. He has enormous range and the 420 chances he handled were 84 more than his closest outfield competitor. Jake guards that plate and is a fine bunter. He was hit by 12 pitches, most in his league in '60. In his junior year at Ohio U., Jake hit .467, second highest in national collegiate circles. As a senior, he hit .394. In 45 games those two seasons, he hit a total of eight homers although he is not tabbed as a power hitter. He was scouted by Floyd Baker and Dick Wiencek and was signed after being screened by Farm Director Sherry Robertson at Griffith Stadium.

KAAAT, James Lee "Kitty" Pitcher

Born November 7, 1938, at Zeeland, Mich. Height: 6 ft. 4 in. Weight: 205 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Married.

A poised fastballer, who also has a fine curve, Kaat is one of the Twins' brighter hopefuls for 1961. He had an early trial with the old Senators last spring and beat the Yankees' Whitey Ford in a brilliant 5-4 duel, Jim yielding only one earned run. Then, returned to Charleston to gain needed experience, Jim completed 10 of his 20 starts and won a place on the American Association All-Star team. Signed out of Hope College by Scout Dick Wiencek, Jim began to blossom in 1958 when he led the Pioneer League in victories, earned run average and complete games, finishing fifth among all minor league pitchers in strikeouts. In a 1959 game for Chattanooga, he fanned 19 Nashville batters to set a Southern Association record.

KILLEBREW, Harmon Clayton "Harm" Infielder

Born in Payette, Idaho, on June 29, 1936. Height: 5 ft. 11 in. 193 lbs. Throws and bats righthanded. Married.

One of baseball's most exciting young figures, the Payette Strong Boy blasted 27 homers in the last half of the 1960 season to boost his season's total to 31, fifth highest in the American League. A pulled hamstring muscle in his right leg had hobbled him during the first half of the campaign following a 42-homer performance in 1959, tying him for the title with Rocky Colavito. The Killer made the big switch in '60 from third base to first and showed a lot of class there. Manager Cookie Lavagetto terms Harmon one of the finest athletes he has ever seen and feels the slugger could play the outfield well, if ever needed there.

Around the league's stadiums, they're beginning to point in awe at spots reached by Harmon's tape-measured clouts. Last year, he became the first player in 25 years to hit a homer onto the left field roof in Detroit. He almost put one out of the Baltimore stadium. His strength comes naturally. His dad, Clay Killebrew, was a great fullback at Millikin College in Illinois and West Virginia Wesleyan. Harmon's grandfather, the original Harmon Clayton Killebrew, was a legendary strongman, reputed to have been the heavy-weight wrestling champion of the Illinois detachment of the Union Army during the Civil War.

Harmon, himself, was an outstanding high school quarterback and received numerous college scholarship offers. He was the first bonus player ever signed by the Twins (then the Senators). Ossie Bluege, then the club's farm director, signed Harmon after a recommendation by the late Senator Herman Welker (Rep., Idaho). In 1959, Killebrew blossomed as the starting third baseman in the All-Star Game at Pittsburgh. In addition to becoming the second Washington player ever to win the home-run title, he tied Roy Sievers' club record with his 42 homers. Harm quickly found a new home in the Twin Cities, signing as a regular on the WTCN radio and television sports broadcasting team.

KORCHECK, Stephen Joseph "Steve" Catcher

Born in McClellandtown, Pa., on August 11, 1932. Height: 6 ft. 1 in. Weight: 205 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married.

A one-time All-Star catcher in the South Atlantic League and Southern Association, muscular Steve's rise toward the majors was impeded last season by a broken collarbone and injured leg at Charleston. He's a fine receiver and has a strong arm. Steve first gained national prominence as a center and fullback at George Washington University where he was named to the AP All-America third team. The San Francisco 49ers made him their No. 3 draft pick in 1953.

KRALICK, John Francis "Jack" Pitcher

Born June 1, 1936, at Youngstown, Ohio. Height: 6 ft. 1 in. Weight: 175 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Married.

The frail appearance of this University of Michigan alumnus is deceiving. The wiry lefthander, given his first chance as a starter on June 26 last season, responded with a 2-1, 10-inning victory over Baltimore. He added six other route-going jobs to his record to finish behind only Pedro Ramos and Camilo Pascual on the old Senators. Two of his victories were shutouts over Boston and Kansas City. Formerly in the White Sox organization, Jack pitched a no-hitter against Union City in the Kitty League in 1955 and another against Fargo-Moorhead in the Northern League in 1956. Scout Dick Wiencek signed him as a free agent for Washington in 1958 after seeing him pitch a no-hitter in the National Baseball Congress Tournament in Wichita.

LEE, Donald Edward "Don" Pitcher

Born in Globe, Arizona, February 26, 1934. Height: 6 ft. 4 in. Weight: 200 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married.

One of the staff workhorses as a rookie last season, big Don was invaluable both as a starter (20 games) and reliever (24). He didn't complete his first game until he whipped Boston, 5-1, on September 2, but his earned run average was one of the best on the staff. He can throw from all angles and with good all-around stuff. His dad, Thornton Lee, was a star lefthander for the White Sox. Don was an All-America at the University of Arizona and was signed at a bonus for the Detroit organization by Marvin Owen, a onetime teammate of Papa Lee. After enjoying fine success in the American Association, Lee was drafted from the Milwaukee organization by Washington for $25,000 during the winter of 1959-60.

LEMON, James Robert "Jim" Outfielder

Born in Covington, Virginia, on March 23, 1928. Height: 6 ft. 5 in. Weight: 200 lbs. Throws and bats righthanded. Scotch-Irish ancestry. Married and has two children.

That Jim Lemon has lived down a record-setting 138-strikeout season of 1956 is evidenced by these facts: in 1960, the Covington Clouter was one of only three American Leaguers to knock in 100 runs (his second straight 100-RBI year); his 38 homers left him only two short of Mickey Mantle's championship total of 40; he was sixth among American League sluggers with a .508 percentage; he and his former roommate Roy Sievers shared the honor of drawing the most intentional walks, 8; he and Minnie Minoso hit the most sacrifice flies, nine; and Casey Stengel named Jim to the American League All-Star team. Jim played in more games than any other Senator last season. He was also the club pace-setter in total bases (268), homers, RBI and sacrifice flies. The long man with the whiplash swing has enjoyed a number of big days during his career. In the 1955 Southern Association All-Star Game, he hit four homers. In August, 1957, with President Eisenhower on hand, Jim belted Yankee Whitey Ford for three successive homers. And on September 5, 1959, he homered twice in one inning against Boston and drove in six runs in that inning to tie a major league record.

LUMENTI, Raphael Anthony "Ralph" Pitcher

Born in Milford, Mass., December 21, 1936. Height: 6 ft. 2 in. Weight: 190 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Single.

The onetime bonus kid from the University of Massachusetts boasts some of the best potential on the Twins' staff with his crackling fast ball and good curve. In former years, he was troubled by wildness, then late last season by a sore arm. Before he went lame in 1960, Ralph pitched a couple of shutouts for Charleston, a six-inning no-hitter against Louisville and a three-hitter. The year before, at Charlotte, he also had a no-hitter against Savannah. During the past winter, Ralph's tonsils were removed and he should be ready for his big shot in the majors.

McAVOY, Thomas John "Tom" Pitcher

Born August 12, 1937, at Brooklyn, N. Y. Height: 6 ft. 4 in. Weight: 195 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Married.

This promising fireballer in 1960 suffered two freak injuries which have placed his baseball future in jeopardy. In January, in the Nicaraguan Winter League, he uncorked a 3-and-2, bases-loaded pitch with such force he actually broke his pitching arm just below the shoulder. After allowing the injury nearly seven months to heal, Tom, re-conditioning himself for a comeback, again broke the arm just above the elbow while casually warming up in Washington. In the two seasons before the cruel breaks, Tom pitched three two-hitters in the minors and he hurled three innings of one-hit shutout ball in his only major league game, against the Red Sox.

Born in Huntsville, Ala., on June 21, 1938. Height: 6 ft. 3 in. Weight: 205 lbs. Bats lefthanded and throws righthanded. Married and has two children.

Obtained from the White Sox along with Earl Battey in the swap for Roy Sievers last season, Don showed Manager Cookie Lavagetto a big league swing in trials with the old Senators. As it was, he made the jump from Class A to AAA ball in '60, while jumping his batting average 28 points and over the .300 mark. He was conceded to have a good chance of landing at least a pinch hitting job with the Twins in '61.

MOORE, Raymond LeRoy "Farmer Ray" Pitcher

Born June 1, 1926, at Meadows, Md. Height: 6 ft. 1 1/2 in. Weight: 205 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Single.

This prematurely grayhaired tobacco farmer was one of the big reasons why the old Senators were able to rise from the American League basement last season. Purchased from the White Sox in June, he gave the Senators tremendous relief pitching help, especially in July and August. During one stretch, he appeared in 34 out of 72 games, won three, lost two and was the "saving" reliever in 10 other Washington victories. When a pulled rib cartilage in early September sidelined him, the Senators' relief work sagged and the club missed out on its chance to finish in the first division. While incapacitated, Moore was given a "special night" by friends in his native Upper Marlboro, Md. They presented him with a $3,000 cabin cruiser and $1,000 in hunting and fishing gear.

PASCUAL, Camilo Alberto "Potato" Pitcher

Born in Havana, Cuba, on January 20, 1934. Throws and bats righthanded. Height: 5 ft. 11 in. Weight: 175 lbs. Married.

The best pitcher in the American League when he's healthy, Camilo was troubled last season by a series of ailments stemming from a May 27 altercation involving Boston's Pete Runnels. Pascual, angered at Runnel's charge that he was throwing bean-balls, had to be restrained from fighting. However, in the scuffling by teammates to hold back Pascual, his pitching arm was wrenched and he experienced pain while throwing from that point on. Nonetheless, he won 12 games, more than any other righthander on the staff, and his three shutouts were tops, too. When he fanned 15 Red Sox on opening day before President Eisenhower last year, Camilo broke the club record of 14, set by Hall of Famer Walter Johnson 50 years before. Six times, Pascual fanned 10 or more batters in 1960. After August 29, Camilo did not pitch and he laid off during the Cuban League season, too, in order to regain the resiliency his arm had in 1959 when he won 17 and led the American League in complete games and shutouts and was second in strikeouts. Camilo has fanned 100 or more batters for five straight years. His average of 6.8 strikeouts per nine inning game is tops in the league over the last five seasons. Camilo is also a fine batter; in fact, he led the league's pitchers with a .302 average in 1959. He hasn't made a fielding error in nearly three seasons, as well.

RAMOS, Pedro "Pete" Pitcher

Speed and willingness to work characterize the Gay Caballero. He's a fastball pitcher, the league's fastest worker on the mound, also the Twins' fastest baserunner. Last season, he started 36 times and appeared in 274 innings. Nobody in the league topped him in either department. His 62 victories over the last five seasons are tops on the club, as were his 14 complete games last season. Pete came up with a good curve last season and developed into a strike-out artist for the first time. He whiffed 160 batters, second in the American League only to Jim Bunning's 201. He reached a peak of effectiveness July 19 when he pitched a one-hit shutout over Detroit. A bounce single over second base by Rocky Colavito, leading off in the eighth inning, deprived Pete of the no-hitter. A great competitor, Pete has been especially successful against the Red Sox. He holds a lifetime 20-12 advantage over them.

SADOWSKI, Theodore "Ted" Pitcher

Born April 1, 1936, in Pittsburgh, Pa. Bats and throws right-handed. Height: 6 ft. 3 in. Weight: 202 lbs. Single.

This strong young righthander made a conspicuous major league debut last season, coming out of the bullpen in Boston to strike out the great Ted Williams and ice a Washington victory. Sadowski was one of the top relievers in the American Association before being promoted to the old Senators. Ted is a sinker-slider specialist with lots of courage. A brother, Ed, is a catcher for the new Los Angeles Angels. Another brother, Bob, is an infielder in the Cardinals system.

STOBBS, Charles Klein "Chuck" Pitcher

Born in Wheeling, West Virginia, on July 2, 1929. Throws and bats lefthanded. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 205 lbs.

As far as Washington fans were concerned last season, Chuck was baseball's Comeback Pitcher of 1960. After posting a 12-37 record from 1957 through 1959 and being released by both Washington and St. Louis as washed up during that span, Stobbs rebounded in '60 as the Senators' ace lefthander. He starred in early '60 in relief and came through as a winning starter in late season. He started four shutout victories and personally cost Baltimore the pennant by whipping the second-place Birds four straight times. Chuck relies these days on the pin-point control of his curve, slider and sinker, and the know-how acquired in 14 seasons of big league pitching. Chuck first attracted big league scouts as a star quarterback, basketball player and pitcher at Granby High in Norfolk, Va. The Red Sox signed him for a big bonus.

VALDIVIELSO, Jose "Valdy" Shortstop

Born in Matanzas, Cuba, on May 22, 1934. Height: 6 ft. 1 in. Weight: 175 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married.

One of the slickest fielding shortstops in the game, Valdy gave the Senators a great lift defensively during a good part of the 1960 season. He's fast, has a fine arm. In 1957, he led the American Association shortstops in fielding. His dad was once a football player at Boston University.

VALO, Elmer William Outfielder

Born in Ribnik, Czechoslovakia, on March 5, 1921. Height: 5 ft. 10 in. Weight: 190 lbs. Bats left, throws right. Married.

The only present major leaguer born in Czechoslovakia, Elmer is one of the oldest active American League players. At 39 last season, he was still good enough to set four major league records as a pinch hitter. He set them by appearing in most games in a season as a pinch swinger, 81; by walking most times in a season as a pinch batter, 18; by boosting his lifetime total of pinch walks to 80, and by reaching base most often as a pinch hitter, 33 times. He was hit once and had 14 pinch hits, knocking in 14 runs.

VERSALLES, Zoilo "Zorro" Shortstop

Born in Havana, Cuba, December 18, 1940. Height: 5 ft. 10 in. Weight: 150 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Single.

Blessed with a great glove and instinct, this youngster has a highly promising future. At 17, he was Rookie of the Year in the New York-Penn League. At 18 and 19, he was All-Star shortstop in the Three-Eye League and American Association. At 20, a mature Versalles could be one of the American League's brightest players. A line-drive hitter, Zorro is one of the fastest runners in the league. In three abbreviated minor league seasons, he stole 19, 18 and 24 bases. He has a fine arm.

WHISENANT, Thomas Peter "Pete" Outfielder

Born in Asheville, N. C., on December 14, 1929. Height: 6 ft. 2 in. Weight: 200 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married.

A fine spot hitter and outfielder, Pete has the distinction of having twice pinch hit for the great Stan Musial. This was in 1955 when Stan was bothered by a hand injury. Switched later to Cincinnati, Pete led National League pinch hitters with a .400 average (8-for-20) in 1957. Obtained by the old Senators from Cleveland in a trade for Ken Aspromonte in May, 1960, Pete's biggest hit was a ninth-inning game-tying homer against the Yankees.

Farm Hands Assisting in Spring Training

BONIKOWSKI, Joseph

Pitcher

Born January 16, 1941, at Philadelphia, Pa. Bats and throws righthanded. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 175 lbs. Single.

This fine prospect pitched a no-hitter last year, facing only 27 batters at Greensboro, N. C. He walked one batter, then picked him off first base. He ranked second in the Class B league in innings pitched and was fifth in earned run averages. He had 14 complete games and made the All-Star second team. Last winter, he led the Florida Instructional League with a 1.59 ERA while posting a 4-3 record. He's on the Charlotte (South Atlantic) roster.

MILLER, George Evan

Pitcher

Born January 10, 1940, in Philadelphia, Pa. Bats and throws righthanded. Height: 5 ft. 10 in. Weight: 180 lbs.

This graduate of the Philadelphia sandlots won the city's pitch-o-meter speed throwing contest two years ago. His fast one was clocked at about 90 miles per hour. An All-Star selection in his first full professional season, he ranked among the top five in the Class D Alabama-Florida League in earned run average, complete games (12) and strikeouts. He allowed only four homers in 188 innings. He's on the Syracuse (International) roster.

STANGE, Albert Lee

Pitcher

Born October 27, 1936, in Chicago, Illinois. Bats and throws right-handed. Height: 5 ft. 10 in. Weight: 165 lbs. Lives in Broadview, Ill.

This polished sinker-slider specialist was the first pitcher in five seasons to win 20 games in the Carolina League. He landed an All-Star berth by leading the Class B circuit in games started (35), complete games (20), shutouts (3), victories and innings pitched. He missed winning the strikeout title by one. Tried for the first time as a reliever in the Florida Instructional League last winter, Lee was 3-4 with a 3.33 ERA. He's on the Syracuse roster.

VALDESPINO, Hilario

Outfielder

Born January 14, 1939 in San Jose de las Lajas, Havana, Cuba. Bats and throws lefthanded. Height: 5 ft. 8 in. Weight: 165 lbs.

Sandy was described last winter as the best looking player to come out of Cuba in the last 20 years by Bob Maduro, respected Havana baseball mogul. He does everything well. In the American Association in 1960, he handled more chances than any other outfielder and led in throwing out baserunners. He played in left and center. His 10 triples ranked him fifth in that department. He led the Cuban Winter League in batting most of the season. Sandy's on the Syracuse (International) roster but has a good chance of landing on the parent roster.

1923 season with a broken bone in his leg, yet hanging on to win 31 games . . . Bruno Haas and his patented diving catches in Lexington Park's centerfield, 1919-29 . . . Lefty Gomez, Ben Chapman, Everett Scott, Elmer Miller and Dusty Cooke, all later to star with the Yankees . . . and Duke Snider, Larry Sherry, Ralph Branca and Roy Campanella being groomed for Dodgers fame.

The big league silver lining again appeared on the Twin Cities horizon in 1954 after the Giants indicated they might switch their home from New York. There was hope the new home might be in Minnesota.

Stadiums were built through public subscription in the Twin Cities area, on speculation and guts alone. Then the Giants made their move . . . to San Francisco.

Citizens in the Twin Cities showed they had heart, though, and not only continued to expand their stadium facilities, they redoubled their efforts to land a big league franchise.

Their efforts fell short in 1957, '58 and '59. It was on October 26, 1960, just when prospects looked darkest, that success at last came. The American League announced plans to expand to ten teams.

It was at this juncture that Calvin Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, announced his desire to transfer to St. Paul and Minneapolis, stipulating at the same time that such a move be predicated on assurance of a new team in the Nation's Capital. His proposition was accepted by other league members. After six weeks of negotiations, the expansion was effected.

The Minnesota Twins became a new name in the American League lineup along with the newly created Washington Senators and Los Angeles Angels. They joined the Baltimore Orioles, Boston Red Sox, Chicago White Sox, Cleveland Indians, Detroit Tigers, Kansas City Athletics and New York Yankees.

A new era had arrived for fans of the Upper Midwest. They would have many more newer heroes.
