MATCH PREVIEW

Saturday's affair appears to be a good early test, as FC Tulsa is the lone of the four Championship squads with two games under their belt to have taken the full six points from them, courtesy of wins over regional rivals and Central Division foes OKC Energy FC (3-1 W on April 24) and Sporting Kansas City II (2-0 W on May 1). Indy Eleven could do the same with a victory on Saturday after starting off on the right foot in last weekend's gritty (in more ways than one) 1-0 triumph at Birmingham Legion FC.

For Indy Eleven, it was defense carrying the day, with fourth-year goalkeeper Jordan Farr beginning his tenure as the Eleven's #1 between the posts (literally and figuratively) with a three-save shutout. In front of him, newcomer A.J. Cochran had a Team-of-the-Week "honorable mention" caliber performance in his debut in the center of Head Coach Martin Rennie's traditional three-man backline, but it was truly a team performance from back to front on the defensive side of the ball, a collective effort the Scottish sideline boss appreciated after the opening win.

That defense will get put to the test Saturday evening, with Tulsa putting up five goals and 11 shots on target across its opening two games. The Tulsa attacking portfolio is diversified - forward Dario Suarez has hit home in each contest and Joaquin Rivas bagged a brace in the opener, while Jorge Corrales has a couple of assists and Rodrigo da Costa has registered a goal and assist.

2021 USL CHAMPIONSHIP REGULAR SEASON RECORDS

Indy Eleven: 1W-0L-0D, 3 pts. (+1 GD), 3rd in Central Division
 FC Tulsa: 2W-0L-0D, 6 pts. (+4 GD), 1st in Central Division

STARTING THE SEASON ON THE FRONT FOOT

After 210 days of patiently waiting for the offseason to end, Indy Eleven wheeled away with the first three points of 2021 after defeating Birmingham Legion I-0 on the road in both team's season openers. Despite less-than-ideal pitch conditions at BBVA Field, the Boys in Blue found the eventual game-winning goal in the 28th minute via forward Manuel Arteaga's strike in BHM's penalty area. It was also a standout performance for New in Blue defender A.J. Cochran, whose seven clearances and five interceptions earned him a spot on the bench in the USL Championship's Team of the Week in Week 2. The I-0 shutout was also the first clean sheet of the season for goalkeeper Jordan Farr as he enters his fourth season with the club.

NOW DEBUTING...

Last Saturday featured a slew of new faces for Indiana's Team - in fact, throughout the 90-minute affair, only four of the 15 players that appeared during the game had played for Indy in previous seasons while the other 11 made their official Indy Eleven debuts:

A.J. Cochran - May 1, 2021 at BHM (Starting XI)
 Rece Buckmaster - May 1, 2021 at BHM (Starting XI)
 Aboubacar Sissoko - May 1, 2021 at BHM (Starting XI)
 Nicky Law - May 1, 2021 at BHM (Starting XI)
 Gershon Koffie - May 1, 2021 at BHM (Starting XI)
 Patrick Seagrist - May 1, 2021 at BHM (Starting XI)
 Manuel Arteaga - May 1, 2021 at BHM (Starting XI)
 Cammy Smith - May 1, 2021 at BHM (Starting XI)
 Jeremiah Gutjahr - May 1, 2021 at BHM (Sub 74')
 Jared Timmer - May 1, 2021 at BHM (Sub 90+2')
 Jordan Hamilton - May, 2021 at BHM (Sub 62')

LONGEST OFFSEASON EEEEEVVVVVEEEERRRR

If you thought last year's early season hiatus felt like a long time away from the field, then the 2020/21 offseason must have felt like being stuck in purgatory. Last Saturday's match at Birmingham marked 210 days between regular season games for Indiana's Team - nearly SEVEN MONTHS since last year's regular season finale at Saint Louis FC on October 3, marking the longest break ever between games in the Eleven's now eight-season history.

MAXIMUM EFFECT

Speaking of that game against STLFC, Indy Eleven last week welcomed a member of the Missouri side's coaching staff in the person of Max Rogers, who joins Head Coach Martin Rennie's staff alongside fellow assistant coaches Phil Presser and Andy Swift. Rogers spent 2018-20 USL Championship seasons as an assistant on the Saint Louis FC sidelines, and brings additional experience from time with MLS outfit Orlando City FC and Scottish side St. Mirren FC (read more in Rogers' mini bio later in the notes, or click here to read more at IndyEleven.com).

TRANSFERS OF POWER

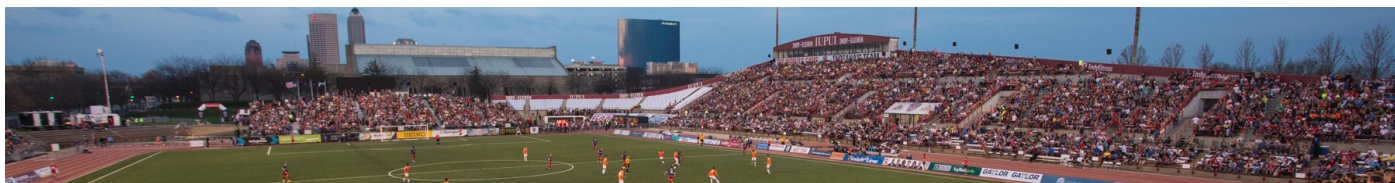

Part of the offseason makeover came in the form of five transfer transactions, marking what we believe to be the most active season ever for a USL Championship side in the transfer market. Four of those moves saw players sold to Major League Soccer franchises - FW Tyler Pasher (Houston Dynamo), GK Evan Newton (Vancouver Whitecaps), Josh Penn (Inter Miami), and Cal Jennings (LAFC) ... the latter actually never suiting up for the Boys in Blue after signing on a free transfer from Memphis 901 FC in December. Speaking of Memphis, that is where the fifth transfer, MF Mitch Guitart, landed after another transfer deal in March.

WELCOME BACK

Of the 10 returning players to Indy Eleven, only six were regular contributors during the 2020 campaign - GK Jordan Farr, DF Neveal Hackshaw, DF Karl Ouimette, MF Ayoze, MF Carl Haworth, and FW Nick Moon (the other four were Academy Contract returnees GK Alex Sveta-noff, DF Matthew Senanou, MF Patrick McDonald, and FW Matthew Roo). Of those six regulars, Farr, Ayoze, and Ouimette will be spending their fourth seasons with Indiana's Team in 2021, Hackshaw his third, and Moon and Haworth their second.

OH CAPTAINS, OUR CAPTAINS

Speaking of Ayoze and Karl Ouimette, the veteran duo were named this week as the team's Captain and Vice-Captain, respectively, for the 2021 season. Ayoze has more than earned the right to wear the captain's armband, the 35-year-old Spaniard serving as the elder-statesman of the squad and the heart of the soul of the team's on-field pulse. Backing him up will be the 28-year-old Quebec native Ouimette, who is taking the field for his tenth professional campaign in 2021. With Ayoze sitting out last week's opener in Birmingham, it was Ouimette who was the first to don the armband for the Boys in Blue in 2021.

News & Notes

WHO WHO WHO'S ... HOOSIERS

This year's squad has plenty of Hoosier State representation, with four players coming "Back Home Again" to Indiana (if you will). The three native Hoosiers new to the team are Auburn's own Rece Buckmaster, Bloomington native Jeremiah Gutjahr, and the pride of "The Region" in Crown Point's Alex Svetanoff. In addition, Jared Timmer is now an "honorary Hoosier" after spending four years at Butler University in Indianapolis from 2015-19, while Gutjahr and Buckmaster were "actual Hoosiers" while attending Indiana University, both attending the Bloomington campus from 2015-18.

NEW YEAR, NEW GEAR

Not only is the bulk of the roster new for 2021, but so are the kits Indiana's Team will suit up in after the organization made the jump to global sports apparel giant and USL Championship partner PUMA in February. The squad will debut their new secondary white kits Saturday in Birmingham before living up to their "Boys in Blue" moniker at home next Saturday against FC Tulsa.

STEP (BACK) UP TO "THE MIKE"

That home opener next weekend against Tulsa will mark Indy Eleven's official return home to IUPUI's Michael A. Carroll Stadium, which Indiana's Team called home for its first four seasons of existence from 2014-17 (marking the squad's entire "NASL era"). In all, more than 620,000 fans and supporters filed into Carroll Stadium for a combined 70 regular season, postseason, Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup, and exhibition contests between 2014-2019, adding a new and electric atmosphere to Indianapolis' thriving sports scene along the way. This will not mark the team's first USL Championship games in the venue, as Indy Eleven hosted a pair of Eastern Conference Playoffs contests at Carroll Stadium in 2019.

OFFSEASON OVERHAUL

The longer than usual offseason allowed Martin Rennie & Co. to tinker with the roster more than usual, resulting in 16 new players on what is now Indy Eleven's 28-man roster heading into Saturday's opener at Birmingham. The newcomers include:

GK: Bobby Edwards

DF: Rece Buckmaster, A.J. Cochran, Aidan Liu, Nedeljko Malic, Jared Timmer

MF: Jeremiah Gutjahr, Gershon Koffie, Nicky Law, Patrick Seagrist, Aoubacar Sissoko, Peter-Lee Vassell

FW: Manuel Arteaga, Jordan Hamilton, Cammy Smith, Gordon Wild

INTERNATIONALLY KNOWN

Indy Eleven's 2021 roster features an even split right down the middle with 13 domestic players and 13 international signings. Of the baker's dozen of international players, Canada is the most represented country with four players, while three players carry dual citizenship (birth country listed first in these instances):

Bosnia & Herzegovina/Austria: Nedeljko Malic

Canada: Jordan Hamilton, Karl Ouimette

England/Canada: Carl Haworth

England: Nicky Law

Germany: Gordon Wild

Ghana: Gershon Koffie

Jamaica: Peter-Lee Vassell

Mali/Canada: Aoubacar Sissoko

Scotland: Cammy Smith

Spain: Ayoze

Trinidad & Tobago: Neveal Hackshaw

Venezuela: Manuel Arteaga

CENTRAL FOCUS

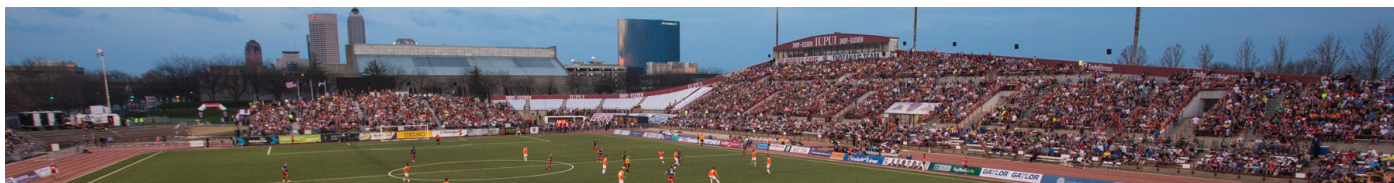

After competing against a necessarily condensed slate of competition in 2020, Indy Eleven will expand its opposition horizons this year as a member of the eight-team Central Division, highlighted by the presence of archrival Louisville City FC. The new grouping also includes Atlanta United 2, Birmingham Legion FC, Memphis 901 FC, OKC Energy FC, FC Tulsa, and Sporting Kansas City. Indy Eleven will face each division foe four times throughout the 32-game season.

The squad's four match-ups against out-of-division opposition include several marquee matchups, featuring games against 2019 USL Championship title winner Real Monarchs SLC, two-time defending Western Conference runner-up El Paso Locomotive FC, perennial Eastern Conference contender Pittsburgh Riverhounds SC, and Eastern up-and-comer Loudoun United FC.

FAMILIAR FACE...

There will only one familiar face that Indy Eleven fans might recognize on the opponent's team sheet this weekend, which is that of FC Tulsa Assistant Coach Nemanja Vukovic. The 37-year-old former defender was a member of Indiana's Team for two seasons (2016-17) and started in all but two of his 64 appearances in all competitions, scoring two goals and seven assists in that span.

After ending his career 15+ year playing career during his final stop with FC Tulsa (formerly Tulsa Roughnecks) at the end of 2018, Vukovic was welcomed to Head Coach Michael Nsien's technical staff in 2019 and has served as one of the team's assistant coaches since. During the elongated offseason, Vukovic earned his UEFA "B" License heading into the 2021 season.

Cochran was a lineup mainstay in the Championship for Atlanta United 2 in 2018 and his hometown Saint Louis FC squad in 2016-17. In total, Cochran has scored three goals and added eight assists across 118 Championship appearances since 2015.
