A new bag policy is in effect at StubHub Center

To continue improving safety measures for all fans, effective immediately StubHub Center has implemented a policy that will limit the size and type of bags permitted to enter the stadium. This new policy, which will enhance stadium safety and expedite entry to the stadium, will apply to all events hosted at any of the StubHub Center venues StubHub Center and the LA Galaxy advise fans not to bring bags of any kind to the stadium for events. Bags that adhere to the below standards will be permitted to enter StubHub Center:

PERMITTED:

- One-gallon clear plastic freezer bag (Ziploc bag or similar).
- Small clutch bags, approximately the size of a hand, with or without a handle or strap can be taken into the stadium with one of the clear plastic bags.

All 2017 LA Galaxy Season Ticket Members can receive a complimentary clear LA Galaxy bag that can be collected at the Item Pick-Up booth on the June 24 and July 4 game days. All other fans will be able to purchase clear LA Galaxy bags at the LA Galaxy Team Store. Prohibited items into StubHub Center include, but are not limited to: purses larger than a clutch bag, coolers, briefcases, backpacks, fanny packs, cinch bags, luggage of any kind, computer bags and camera bags or any bag larger than the permissible size.

Bags that adhere to the below standards will be permitted inside StubHub Center:

- Bags that are clear plastic or vinyl and do not exceed 12" x 6" x 12"
- One-gallon clear plastic freezer bag (Ziploc bag or similar)
- Small clutch bags, approximately the size of a hand, with or without a handle or strap can be taken into the stadium with one of the clear plastic bags

US service members who are also big MLS fans: Here's how you can help them

As he stood on the field at the StubHub Center following the LA Galaxy's 2-2 draw with the Houston Dynamo on June 17, Eric Landin couldn't find the words.

He's a Sergeant First Class in the United States Army, a 13-year veteran who served one combat deployment as part of Operation Iraqi Freedom and Landin stood opposite Ashley Cole trying to find the right way to break the ice.

He thought about letting the LA Galaxy fullback and Chelsea legend know that he, in fact, supports Manchester United. Instead, star-struck, Landin could only muster a few words.

"Good game, mate," Landin told Cole.

Landin was one of four service members that night to participate in a jersey swap with LA Galaxy players. It is part of an initiative called "Operation: Back of the Net" in conjunction with Southern New Hampshire University (SNHU), the United Service Organizations and Major League Soccer to honor and raise money for men and women who serve the United States and are transitioning back to civilian life.

For every goal scored by a US-based MLS club between July 1 and July 6, SNHU will donate $3,000 to the USO in support of transitioning service members. SNHU will also donate $1 for every retweet using the hashtag #SNHUgoals during the same time period.

For Landin, who has sacrificed a great deal for his service, including missing his children's birthdays due to his deployment, the MLS jersey swap was a chance to create a once-in-a-lifetime memory.

"Being provided the opportunity to share a special moment in the sport you love with your loved ones kind of makes up for that kind of stuff," Landin said. "You get to create new special moments with your family."

Landin grew up in El Paso, Texas, the oldest of four boys raised by a single mother. He had a chance to attend a local college straight out of high school, but he had greater aspirations.

"I wanted to get out of El Paso, to see the world and experience life," Landin said. "If I stayed back at home going to college, I'd just be working at the same grocery store, still stocking shelves."

Landin played some pickup soccer in El Paso growing up, but he wasn't a real soccer fan. That changed on his first deployment when he found himself in Korea a year after the 2002 FIFA World Cup, where the USA famously advanced to the quarterfinals.

There was still a buzz in Korea from the event and Landin found himself playing in pickup games every Sunday against some locals.

"We just put the ball down, played, took a break and shared some cultural stuff," Landin said. "We were having fun sharing our love of the game."

He did the same at Fort Huachuca in Arizona and again in Germany and Iraq, where he was gifted an Iraqi national team jersey.

"There was all kind of dust going up everywhere, but we were enjoying it," Landin said.

Landin also brought a soccer ball as part of a humanitarian mission in Liberia, replacing the tattered sphere that barely resembled a ball for some local kids.

It was in Korea that Landin met his wife, Cynthia, who was also in the Army. She played, too, though a torn meniscus and ACL in Afghanistan forced her to hang up her boots.

As his soccer fandom grew, so did his MLS affinity. His favorite MLS players are fellow Texas native Clint Dempsey and Landon Donovan and because David Beckham played in Los Angeles, Landin leaned toward supporting the LA Galaxy.

That became official when he was offered the chance to see his first game a few months after moving to the Los Angeles area last August.

"As many times as I've been overseas, I had never been to a game before," said Landin, who is currently serving as an Army recruiter in Culver City, Calif. "One day my company commander said we have LA Galaxy tickets that the USO provided, who would like to go?"

Landin's eyes bulged and his arm shot up.

"Right here!" he said.

Landin was at StubHub Center to see the LA Galaxy defeat Real Salt Lake 3-1 in the Knockout Round of the 2016 MLS Cup Playoffs in October.

"My family loved it," Landin said. "We didn't know what to think, how my kids would take it or if they'd be bored. But we had a blast."

Landin said he will remain an LA Galaxy fan, even with LAFC coming to town next year.

"It depends," Landin said. "Maybe if [LAFC] sign Wayne Rooney things will change."

LA Galaxy to host longest-standing Fourth of July fireworks show in professional sports during match vs. RSL

The LA Galaxy will host the club's 22nd-annual Fourth of July Fireworks Show following the match against Real Salt Lake at StubHub Center on July 4 at 7:30 p.m. PT, presented by Spectrum SportsNet and Spectrum Deportes. The Galaxy have played at home on July 4 every year since the club's founding in 1996; it is the longest streak of home games played on the Fourth of July holiday in all professional sports.

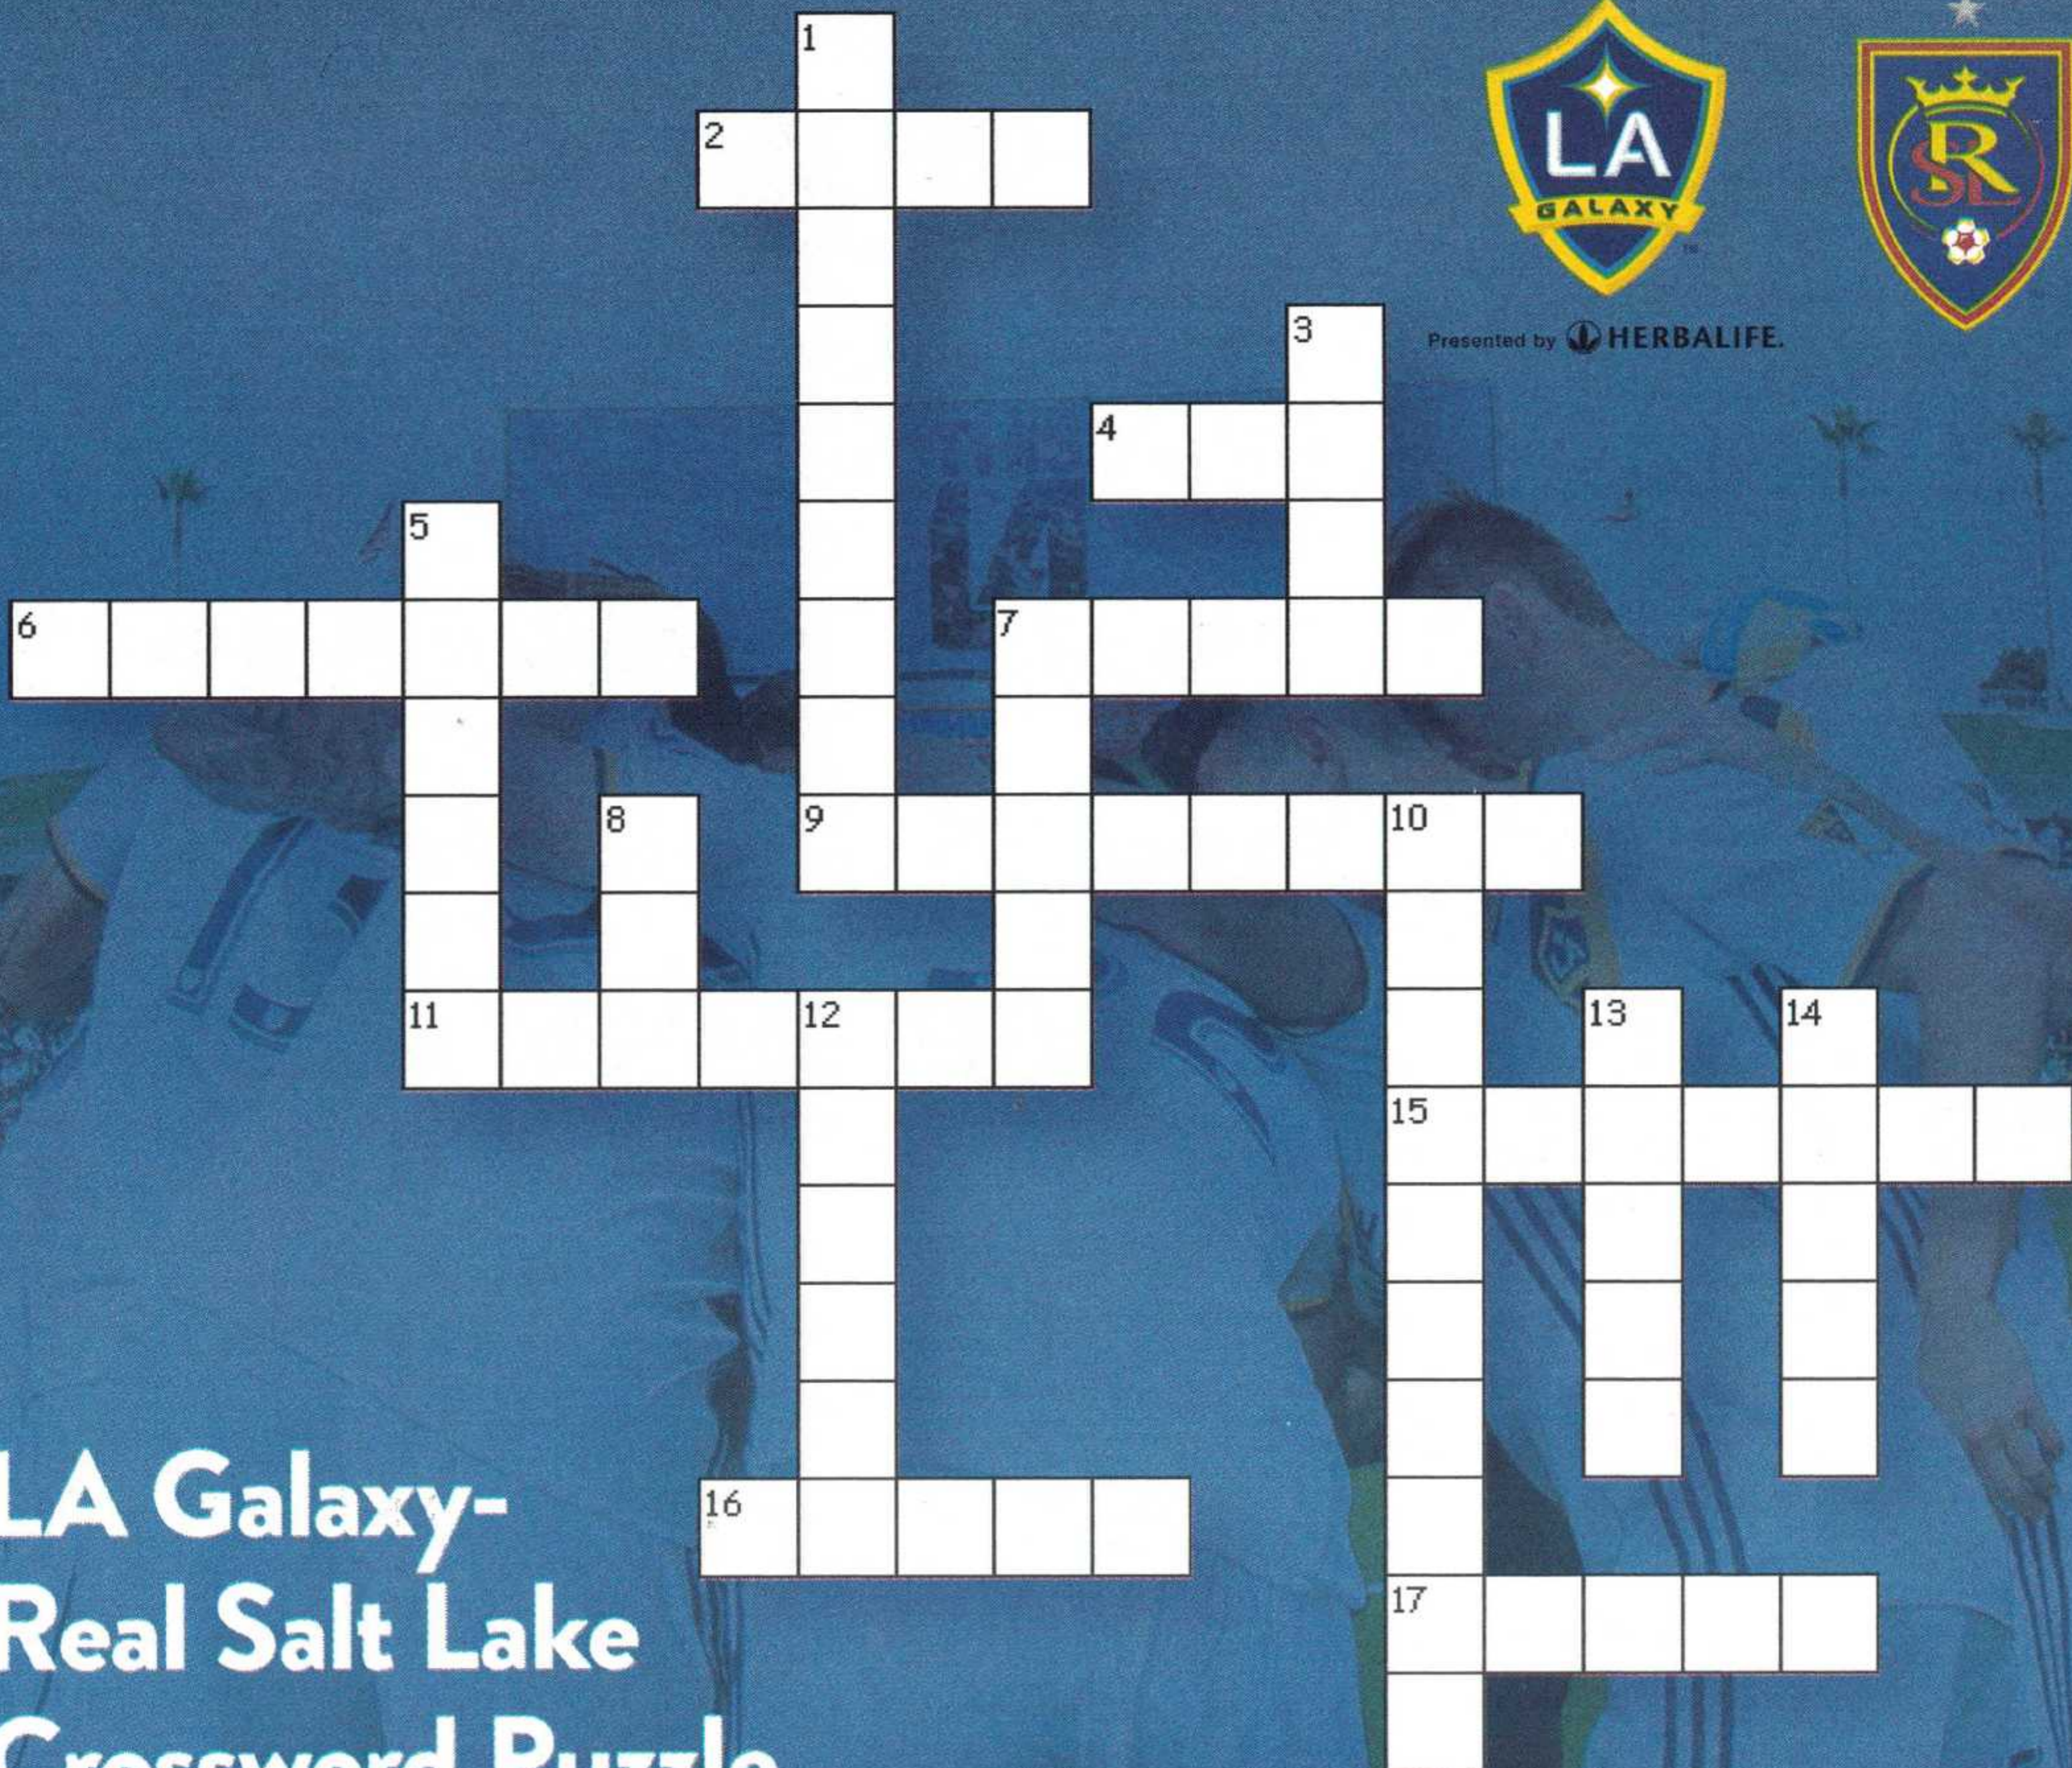

The fireworks show will start 10 minutes after the final whistle. For fans in attendance, there will be a test launch at halftime for fans to ensure good viewpoints of the postgame festivities. The fireworks show will last 15 minutes and feature a special playlist created by VickOne throughout the show. Fans will be able to watch the show from areas throughout StubHub Center.

During warm-ups before the match, Galaxy players will be wearing specialized warm-up tops with numbers featuring the American flag. Fans will be able to get their hands on these signed player-worn warm-ups while also benefitting the LA Galaxy Foundation. Text GALAXY to 52182 or go to <http://www.galaxy.gesture.com> to register and start bidding on the LA Galaxy 4th of July warm-ups. LA Galaxy Foundation will continue their support of local military families and veterans as they honor Mission Continues as the Community Partner of the Match, a national non-profit group that empowers veterans adjusting to life at home by finding purpose through community impact.

Each camp includes professional training, an LA Galaxy sack pack and water bottle, an LA Galaxy camp shirt, an LA Galaxy player appearance and autograph sessions, and a ticket to an LA Galaxy home game. Elite and Fantasy camp registrations include two tickets per participant.

LA Galaxy camps are designed to provide a better understanding of the game's overall tactics in a safe and fun environment. The Galaxy staff teaches using age-appropriate technical and tactical exercises designed by LA Galaxy Academy coaches with the player in mind. Players are put in an exciting soccer environment consisting of modern camp games, unique fitness learning, challenging skills demonstrations, and small-sided competitions. The Galaxy strive to identify and develop key players in the community that could advance to play for the LA Galaxy one day.
