It's LA Kings Night at StubHub Center!

The LA Galaxy and LA Kings are uniting tonight to celebrate two of the most successful professional sports franchises in Los Angeles.

The first 12,500 fans into the stadium will receive a one-of-a-kind LA Galaxy x LA Kings Supporters' Scarf. "Los Angeles" is featured prominently on one side with black and grey stripes, while "City of Champions" is printed on the back over navy and gold stripes.

Ahead of the match, LA Kings Alumni Derek Armstrong and Daryl Evans will be on hand for a pregame autograph session in SoccerFest from 6:15-7:15 p.m. Legendary LA Kings national anthem performer Pia Toscano will sing The Star-Spangled Banner. The LA Kings Ice Crew and the team's mascot, Bailey, will also be in attendance, ramping up the crowd alongside Cozmo and the Galaxy Star Squad.

Warming up for the match, LA Galaxy players will don a black LA Galaxy x LA Kings crossover warm-up shirt, with a white and gray sash taking place of the Galaxy's traditional navy blue and gold sash as well as the logos of both organization on each side of the chest. Each player's warm-up will be up for auction, with proceeds benefitting the LA Galaxy Foundation.

For half a century, the Los Angeles Kings have been bringing excitement, passion and Stanley Cup® glory to Southern California, delighting their deeply loyal fan base by being a leader in incredible events and employing the greatest players in NHL history. The legacy continues as they recently celebrated their 50th Anniversary, striving for innovation in a constant pursuit of excellence with a first-class commitment to their fans and partners, and with an unmatched pledge to improving their community for the next 50 years and beyond.

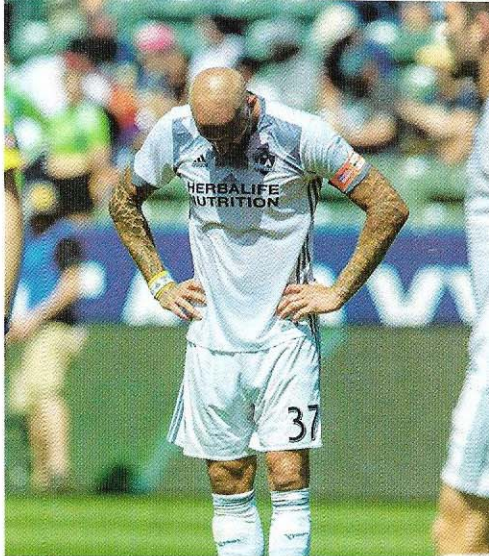

LA Galaxy left disappointed following loss at home to Seattle: “We need to be better”

It was a day to forget, to put it mildly, for the LA Galaxy in Sunday's 3-0 loss to the Seattle Sounders in front of 24,931 at StubHub Center.

It was a particularly difficult one for the likes of right-sided midfielder Romain Alessandrini and rookie right back Nathan Smith, who often bore the brunt of Seattle's pressure in a performance that left the five-time MLS Cup champion Galaxy understandably disappointed.

In Smith's case, the newcomer out of UCLA had to go against Jordan Morris, who gave the right side of the Galaxy lineup fits all afternoon. Smith, who attended UCLA, said nothing really surprised him about his old foe in Morris, a Stanford product – “He did put on a little muscle,” Smith joked about the 6-foot, 185-pounder – and the Seattle winger did not have a point Sunday. But it was his constant pressure that helped produce three first half goals as Seattle cruised to only its third victory all-time at StubHub Center.

“I knew they might overload that side of the field,” Smith said, “but I was prepared for that. I kind of had a feeling it might happen.”

The Sounders' strategy also kept Alessandrini in check. The Frenchmen came into the game with a three-game scoring streak that included four goals during that span, but he didn't get much of anything going Sunday.

Seattle's three-goal flurry in a 15-minute stretch of the first half – which included an own goal by the Galaxy's Ashley Cole – forced the Galaxy to play catch-up the rest of the afternoon.

“They just overloaded,” Galaxy head coach Curt Onalfo said. “[Nicolas] Lodeiro has a free role and their left back (Joevin Jones) gets forward really well. With Morris' speed on that side of the field, it's a very, very difficult thing to deal with.

It got so bad that Onalfo brought in midfielder Baggio Husidic for winger Ema Boateng at the 38-minute mark.

“Unfortunately (Boateng) took the sacrifice,” Onalfo said. “We were just getting overloaded and overrun in the midfield in the entire half, so we had to make a change where we added another midfielder. And it actually immediately worked.

“We started actually gaining momentum, but then we gave up the third goal on the counter.”

Said Smith, “It was hard. They tried to overlap and had an extra guy in the midfield. That made it difficult for all of us, but at anytime they're going to try and come at me.

“We have Ashley (Cole) and other guys on the left side who are more well-known players. We need to be better.”

Smith said he was confident the team will respond in a positive manner.

“We're disappointed right now,” he said. “But it's a long season and the guys are trying to stay strong.”

LA Galaxy II start youngest lineup in club history

Over the weekend, LA Galaxy II trotted out its youngest starting lineup in club history for the team's 1-1 draw against Orange County SC on Saturday, April 22.

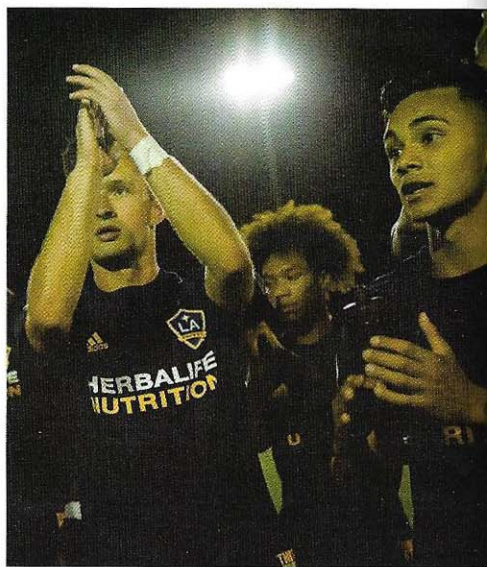

10 players 20-years-old or younger took the field for Los Dos for the opening whistle, making for a team that averaged an age of only 19 in the team's fifth match of the season. Four of those players – Ian Loneragan, Jorge Hernandez, Jonathan Estrada, Alex Juarez – are current members of the Galaxy Academy. Additional Academy reinforcements Zico Bailey (16) and Jake Arteaga (17) entered the match in the second half.

In four years since the club's inception in 2014, Los Dos' Starting XI's have trended younger and younger. LA Galaxy II took the field for the first time in 2014 with an average age of 22.6. In this season's home opener, the club averaged an age of 21.

After the game Saturday, LA Galaxy II Head Coach Mike Muñoz commented on the team's youth.

"My message is going to stay consistent: the kids can play. They just need to be inserted in the right moments. They need to continue to be protected, but they showed tonight, regardless of who the opponent is or what is stage is all about, it's no problem. I'm very proud of them."

Jaime Villarreal and Hugo Arellano, two former Galaxy II and Academy starlets, are perfect examples of what happens when given minutes at a young age with Los Dos. After excelling in both levels of LA Galaxy's developmental system, the two signed MLS contracts this offseason. Arellano inked his contact at the age of 19, Villarreal at the age of 21. Both former pupils of Muñoz, Arellano, Villarreal and other Galaxy II graduates now train with the likes of Giovani dos Santos, Romain Alesandrini and Jelle Van Damme day in and day out.

LA Galaxy II have a bye week before returning to action on Saturday, May 6 against Orange County SC at Orange County Great Park Stadium. The match kicks off at 5:00 p.m. and will be broadcast live on LAGalaxy.com/2.

The Galaxy feature numerous camps for youth players, including Attacking and Defending Principles Camp, Goalkeeper Camp, Elite Camp, Full Day Camp, Female Soccer Camp, among others. For full descriptions, dates, and locations of each camp, visit www.youth.lagalaxy.com. The LA Galaxy have different camp locations throughout the South Bay, Orange County, Glendale, and Santa Barbara areas.

Each camp includes professional training, an LA Galaxy sack pack and water bottle, an LA Galaxy camp shirt, an LA Galaxy player appearance and autograph sessions, and a ticket to an LA Galaxy home game. Elite and Fantasy camp registrations include two tickets per participant.

LA Galaxy camps are designed to provide a better understanding of the game's overall tactics in a safe and fun environment. The Galaxy staff teaches using age-appropriate technical and tactical exercises designed by LA Galaxy Academy coaches with the player in mind. Players are put in an exciting soccer environment consisting of modern camp games, unique fitness learning, challenging skills demonstrations, and small-sided competitions. The Galaxy strive to identify and develop key players in the community that could advance to play for the LA Galaxy one day.
