On The Cover

THE PAUL D. BOWLEN MEMORIAL BRONCOS CENTRE

On March 5, 1990 the Denver Broncos moved into the Paul D. Bowlen Memorial Broncos Centre, the state-of-the-art headquarters for the National Football League team. The complex is named for the Broncos owner's late father, and is the culmination of Pat Bowlen's desire to maximize a positive working environment for his team, which won back-to-back World Championships with victories in Super Bowls XXXII and XXXIII. The Broncos, who were the only American Football Conference club to appear in the three Super Bowls during the 1980s, are one of six franchises in NFL history to win back-to-back Super Bowls.

The training facility is situated on 13.5 acres in the rapidly expanding Dove Valley Business Park in south Arapahoe County. It includes an administrative building, two full-size practice fields and a smaller workout field.

The Bowlen Broncos Centre is a two-story building totaling 60,000 square feet, well over twice the size of the team's previous facility. The ground floor houses the main entry, visitors area, trophy display area and media room, in addition to the play-related facilities, which encompass the locker room, meeting rooms, training area, weight room, equipment room and video department.

It is on the second level, which is accessible through two stairways adjacent to the lobby area, that most of the administrative offices are located. These include the offices for Pat Bowlen, Mike Shanahan, Neal Dahlen and Joe Ellis, as well as those of all assistant coaches and football operations personnel. The second floor is divided into one wing for administrative offices and another for coaches and meeting rooms. The Broncos' extensive computer operation also is located on the second floor.

There is ample practice space available for use by the Broncos, as both practice fields are 100 yards and one of them has a unique design system that includes underground wiring to prevent the turf from freezing and thus allows the Broncos to practice year-round on unfrozen natural grass. The complex also includes a smaller, 50-yard natural grass workout field and the Broncos' indoor "bubble," which houses a 70-yard artificial turf field.

The expansive weight room and training room are among the largest in the entire league, and the Bowlen Centre also includes a separate building that houses two racquetball courts for training and leisure use by players and staff members.

PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

PAT BOWLEN

Team President Pat Bowlen ushers in a new era in Denver Broncos football this season, the inaugural campaign at INVESCO Field at Mile High—a state-of-the-art facility that will give Denver the opportunity to continue fielding championship contenders at the highest level.

Champions are built from the top, and Denver Broncos owner Pat Bowlen is a model of leadership in the scope of his drive and commitment. "I want us to be number one in everything," Bowlen has often said in a recurring theme that marks his management style.

Everyone knows it is the owner who provides the financial backing that is integral to a championship team, but many fans are unaware that much of the heart, soul, and drive of this championship organization comes directly from Pat Bowlen.

Last year the Broncos rebounded from a disappointing campaign to post an 11-5 record and again make the AFC playoffs, setting the stage for Super Bowl contention again in 2001.

The Broncos enter 2001 at the pinnacle of sports franchises, balancing a great record on the playing field, player stability that is startling in this era of free agency, a string of home sellouts that will mark 32 consecutive years this season, and with construction completed on a new stadium, INVESCO Field at Mile High, that will allow Denver to compete at the NFL's highest level for decades to come.

Bowlen has made all these moves with one goal unchanged: to aggressively position the Broncos for yet another run at a Super Bowl championship for the Mile High City. No one sets higher standards for the Broncos than Pat Bowlen himself, whose unchanging goal is to have his franchise annually regarded among the finest in pro sports, with victory being the measuring stick for that success. Thus, the goal of Denver's dynamic and energetic chief executive remains firmly set on repeating the World Championship seasons of 1997 and '98.

Bowlen comes into the 2001 season having spearheaded the drive for and building of a critically needed new stadium that will mutually benefit the Broncos and the Mile High City, with INVESCO Field at Mile High poised to open this season.

The Broncos remain in the top two among all NFL teams in merchandise sales, a telling barometer that national interest in the team remains at the highest level.

Denver Broncos owner Pat Bowlen directed his franchise to an elite level of sports accomplishment in 1998 when Denver became just the sixth National Football League franchise to win back-to-back Super Bowl championships.

In posting a decisive 34-19 win over the Atlanta Falcons in Super Bowl XXXIII, Denver joined Green Bay, Miami, Pittsburgh (twice), San Francisco and Dallas as the only back-to-back Super Bowl champions in NFL history, and the Broncos became the first American Football Conference team to reach that lofty status in two decades.

Pat Bowlen's deft guidance provides the foundation of leadership on which the Broncos won a franchise record 17 games—14 in the regular season—in 1998, including a 13-0 start that resulted in Denver going an entire calendar year without a loss.

His Broncos set standards that will be very difficult for any club to match, winning a record seven postseason games in two years (1997-98), a record 33 wins in two years (1997-98) and a record 46 wins in three years (1996-98). In addition, Pat Bowlen has watched his Broncos become just the second team in modern NFL history to go undefeated during regular season play at home for three consecutive seasons (1996-98).

He works closely with Head Coach Mike Shanahan in maintaining the team's roster in the present era of free agency, and the resulting player stability was a major factor in the brilliant performance of the 1998 Broncos.

As much as the Broncos first World Championship one year earlier was for John Elway and the team's legion of fans, no one was more deserving of that triumph or the one that followed in 1998 than Pat Bowlen, whose single-minded pursuit of the Super Bowl title has been unwavering since he purchased the Broncos in 1984.

His 1997 Broncos fulfilled the team's lifelong quest in bringing the Mile High City the World Championship with their sterling 31-24 triumph over the Green Bay Packers, in the process becoming the first American Football Conference team to win in 14 years and just the second wild card to win the Super Bowl under the NFL's present playoff system.

It is the owner himself who charts the course for this highly successful franchise, infusing his team and employees with the drive to attain those goals. Financially and philosophically, his pursuit of a championship is absolute, whether judged by the Broncos' pursuit of free agents, by his pledge to contribute over $100 million to INVESCO Field at Mile High, or simply by his fierce desire to have his Broncos at the pinnacle in all ways that success can be measured.

Well into his second decade as the Broncos' chief executive, Pat Bowlen comes into 2001 braced with the satisfaction of great success, both for his franchise and the NFL structure, and yet at the forefront of new challenges for the team, the city and the league.

The Broncos' President and Chief Executive Officer has fashioned a powerful reputation among his peers as a bold, dynamic leader who is single-minded in his pursuit of excellence, whether in representing Denver and the Broncos or the hierarchy of the National Football League.

His reputation as a superb owner is well known nationally. In December of 2000 ESPN conducted a fan poll asking which NFL owner is the best for whom to play, and Pat Bowlen finished first among all 31 owners with 44.7 per cent of more than 60,000 votes cast.

In addition to his role with the Broncos, Bowlen was a key figure in spearheading both the league's labor and TV contracts. He has been a member of the NFL Management Council Executive Committee, and is currently the Chairman of the highly prestigious NFL Broadcasting Committee, while also serving on the NFL Finance Committee. A pivotal voice in league policy, he also is Chairman of the NFL Enterprises/NFL Films Executive Committees and serves as a member of the NFL International Committee and the Board of the NFL Europe League. Bowlen also is active on a special NFL expansion committee.

In his role as Chairman of the NFL Broadcasting Committee he once again spearheaded the negotiations for the league's new television contract, at over 18 billion dollars the most lucrative single-sport contract in history.

Two-thousand-one will be the 32nd straight year of home sellouts, longest in the American Football Conference, and that streak is just one measure of the Pat Bowlen success story in Denver.

During his tenure as President and Chief Executive Officer of the Broncos (1984-2000) Bowlen's team has dominated the American Football Conference Western Division in posting more division titles (seven), conference Championship Game appearances (six), and Super Bowl appearances (five) than any other club in the division. Under Bowlen's leadership the Broncos have had 10 playoff appearances and just two losing seasons.

The 1995 campaign began a new era both for the Broncos and the NFL, and Pat Bowlen played an integral role in both, selecting a dynamic new head coach in Mike Shanahan while also having had a pivotal role in the creation of the new collective bargaining agreement and the television contract, changing the face of professional football in the process.

The Broncos' dynamic chief executive followed up the hiring of Shanahan by once again becoming a major player in the league's free agency. Under Bowlen's leadership Denver has been very aggressive in the marketplace, with unrestricted free agents becoming a major component of the Denver roster.

He presides over a franchise that by any standard has been one of the NFL's most successful in this time frame (1984-2000). In Bowlen's 17 years of ownership the Broncos have played 21 postseason games, with all regular and postseason games sold out at Mile High Stadium.

The Broncos President has seen the team's consecutive home game sellout streak stretch to 250 straight regular and postseason games through the end of the 2000 campaign, as Denver led the entire National Football League in actual in-stadium attendance over that 17-year period. The Broncos drew nearly 11 million fans to Mile High Stadium from 1984-2000, tops in the NFL, and this year they will extend that with the opening of INVESCO Field at Mile High.

Bowlen's 17 years of ownership have resulted in the best home record (105-32) in the AFC. Bowlen finished second in The Sporting News 1987 Executive of the Year balloting.

In addition to winning seven division crowns, Bowlen's franchise has had regular season win totals of 14, 13 (twice), 12 (twice), 11 (four times) and 10. In fact, 10 of the 11 finest campaigns in team history have come during the Bowlen regime.

In 1991 Bowlen's team had the greatest turnaround in team history, finishing with a 12-4 record that included the American Football Conference Western Division title and the fourth AFC Championship Game appearance of Bowlen's vibrant ownership.

Bowlen's focus for the coming year is to once again put his team in line to defend its title. The Broncos own AFC Championship wins in 1986, 1987, 1989, 1997 and 1998. Denver was the only AFC franchise to make three Super Bowl appearances in the 1980s and without question Pat Bowlen provides the organizational thrust that has served as the catalyst to the Broncos' outstanding record.

The Broncos once again will pursue a championship season from their spacious headquarters, the Paul D. Bowlen Memorial Broncos Centre, a 60,000-square-foot state-of-the-art office and training complex in Arapahoe County's Dove Valley location. The move into this new facility, which came on March 5, 1990, accomplished one of Bowlen's significant goals, that being to upgrade the Broncos' working facility and in so doing solidify the foundation for continued success.

Pat Bowlen was introduced as the majority owner of the Denver Broncos on March 23, 1984, and that announcement triggered a new era in franchise history, one which has coupled success on the playing field with enthusiasm for an even brighter future.

He immediately put his own mark on the Broncos, establishing a solid administration and creating a positive atmosphere that was a major factor in the team's success both on and off the field.

The team responded with a 13-3 record and the American Football Conference Western Division championship in 1984, following that up with an 11-5 record that just barely kept the Broncos out of the playoffs in 1985.

Having established a solid foundation, Bowlen took a dramatic step toward the future during 1986 with the construction of 60 luxury Penthouse Suites atop the west side of Mile High Stadium.

Bowlen and the Bowlen family acquired 100% ownership of the Broncos franchise in July 1985.

Born in Prairie du Chien, Wis., he attended high school there and went on to the University of Oklahoma, where he earned degrees in both business (1965) and law (1968).

He is President of the Denver Broncos Charities Fund and in that capacity has donated over $16 million to charitable organizations in the Denver area since the inception of that fund in 1993.

Bowlen has served as the Honorary Chairman of the Colorado Special Olympics for 16 years, and was that organization's Outstanding Celebrity in 1993. Bowlen has served as the Honorary Chairman of the Colorado Family Classic to benefit St. Joseph's Hospital for 17 years and this is his sixth year as Chairman of the Capuchin Friars fund-raising dinner. He also chaired the 1989 Centennial Scholarship rally at the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley and was Co-Chairman of the Rose Medical Center Critical Care Campaign from 1986-89.

In addition, Bowlen was elected to the University of Denver Board of Trustees in 1987, and is active on several committees. He chairs the Athletic Affairs Committee and plays a role in the Capital Campaign for major athletic gifts, while also serving on the Buildings and Grounds Committee. His previous DU committee memberships include the Institutional Advancement Committee and Institutional Advancement/University Relations subcommittee. He was also named to the Colorado Academy Board of Trustees in 1991.

A member of the American Ireland Fund Dinner Committee for the past nine years and a Trustee for the Irish Community Center for two years, the Broncos' owner also is a member of Colorado Concern.

He also serves on the Board of Trustees of the Hawaii Maritime Center and was the 1992 honoree at the American Ireland Fund dinner.

Bowlen is a member of several clubs and societies, including the Chief Executive's Organization, the Canadian and Edmonton Bar Associations, and the Law Society of Alberta. Bowlen is also a past member of the Young President's Organization.

He also is Chairman of the Board and Director of Hambledon Estates Limited, and Northern Development Company Limited of Edmonton.

Bowlen maintains an active lifestyle and exercises extensively as part of his daily regimen. He has competed in the Ironman Triathlon—an event in which one must swim 2.4 miles, ride 112 miles on a bicycle, and run 26.2 miles, all consecutively—as well as in other triathlon races and several marathons.

Pat and his wife, Annabel, have a family of seven children.

Mike Shanahan is one of just five head coaches in the history of the NFL to win back-to-back Super Bowls, with Denver's victory over Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII, followed by its defeat of Atlanta in Super Bowl XXXIII. Shanahan has the best winning percentage (.667) of any head coach in club history, and has compiled a 39-9 home record, including three straight undefeated campaigns from 1996-98.

MIKE SHANAHAN

The Denver Broncos have won more games than any other team in football (71) over the last six seasons, and they come into 2001 poised for Super Bowl contention—both of those qualities are directly attributable to leadership by arguably the finest head coach and football mind in the game today, Vice President of Football Operations/Head Coach Mike Shanahan.

Those 71 wins by Mike Shanahan include seven straight in the playoffs during the 1997 and 1998 World Championship seasons, years in which he firmly established himself among the game's sideline greats.

He does not rest on his laurels, nor allow his team to, yet in the past six seasons his overall record of accomplishment has been unmatched. His accomplishments since taking command of the Broncos are far greater than most coaches have achieved in entire careers, yet Mike Shanahan does not live in the past, but puts all his ample talents and energy into success for the present, thus stamping the 2001 Broncos as a team with which to be reckoned in the National Football League.

Every successful team has one key leader, and those organizations that have achieved ultimate success have an ultimate leader—an individual combining exceptional talent and organizational skills with the dynamic drive to lead others to success. Mike Shanahan is that lightning rod for the Denver Broncos championship history, and few coaches in NFL annals have spearheaded as much dramatic achievement.

His stunning record as the Broncos' mentor places him in the legendary class of Vince Lombardi, Don Shula and Chuck Noll as coaches with back-to-back Super Bowl championships. Lombardi, Shula, and Noll already have been inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Despite the almost unparalleled level of success attained in the last six years, complacency and satisfaction are qualities completely foreign to Mike Shanahan, a brilliant coach and leader who is perpetually driven by the goal of taking his team back to the Super Bowl.

The Broncos stand as the perfect symbol of a team manifesting the personality of its head coach-maintaining discipline, focus, preparation, mental toughness, and physical effort—all qualities indelibly stamped onto the franchise by Head Coach/Vice President of Football Operations Mike Shanahan, whose superb guidance directed the Broncos to victory in Super Bowls XXXII and XXXIII.

Shanahan elevated his career and the Broncos to new levels in 1997 and 1998 as the intense and personable Denver Broncos head coach made his mark on Super Bowl history, coming into the 2001 campaign as one of only 11 all-time National Football League head coaches with two Super Bowl victories, and one of only two of that exclusive fraternity actively coaching (George Siefert of Carolina is the other). Within that select group of 11 coaches, six have been inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame—the previously referenced Lombardi, Shula and Noll, along with Bill Walsh, Tom Landry and Joe Gibbs.

Following his magnificent 1998 season, the Broncos' coach was named AFC Coach of the Year by the Kansas City 101 Club and by the Touchdown Club of Columbus (his second time to be honored by each organization).

Under Shanahan's brilliant guidance, Denver has:

- posted the most wins in pro football (71) over the past six years.
- posted the most wins in pro football history in a two-year period (33 in 1997-98).
- posted the most wins in pro football history in a three-year period (46 in 1996-98).
- won the most postseason games ever in a two-year period (seven, 1997-98).
- won 18 straight games over 1997-98 to tie the all-time NFL record for consecutive wins.
- been undefeated for three straight regular seasons at home (1996-98), just the second team ever to do so.
- posted a 22-2 record in its last 24 games during the back-to-back title years.

He is the first coach in history to win two Super Bowl titles in his first four years coaching a team, and he is the only coach to have directed two different teams to a 500-point season (the 1998 Broncos scored 501 points, and Shanahan's 1994 San Francisco offense scored 505). The 500-point mark has only been reached six times overall in pro football history.

The architect of San Francisco's offense in the 49ers' 1994 World Championship season, Shanahan not only can boast of three titles in the past six years, but he is one of only 11 coaches ever to win Super Bowls with two different clubs.

His winning percentage is the best by any coach in Denver history—in 1998 he reached his 40th win faster than any coach in franchise history, and in 2000 he reached his 50th win faster than any coach in franchise history. Team President Pat Bowlen heaped additional praise on his brilliant coach by naming him Vice President of Football Operations during the 1998 campaign.

While his seal of leadership already had been permanently ingrained into the entire Broncos organization, Shanahan took his first steps in the direction of legend when he joined Tom Flores in 1997 as the only two coaches in pro football history to post four wins in one postseason.

In his third and fourth seasons at the helm of the Denver Broncos, Mike Shanahan not only led the Broncos to their first Super Bowl victories, but in 1998 he became the winningest active coach in postseason play in the process (seven wins in the two-year period, with a total postseason record of 7-2). That .777 winning percentage trails only the legendary Vince Lombardi's .900 mark (9-1) among coaches with more than five postseason wins.

Mike Shanahan now has that glittering postseason record of 7-2—which added to a regular season mark of 64-32 give him a combined record of 71-28 (an exceptional .718 percentage) in six years as head coach of the Broncos. Not only is that record the best among all coaches in Denver history, but his home record is a staggering 39-9 (.813) in regular season play. That .813 winning percentage at Mile High Stadium is the third best by one coach, in one stadium, in NFL history.

Since Shanahan took over the Broncos' coaching reins in 1995, Denver has scored 30 or more points 29 times (twice in postseason) at Mile High Stadium and 20 or more points 42 times (four times in playoff action) at Mile High Stadium in 48 regular season and four playoff games. They have scored 30 or more points 46 times (including three times in the playoffs) and 20 or more points 75 times in the 88 regular season games and eight postseason games under him. Denver's record in the 46 games in which it has scored 30 or more points under Shanahan is an amazing 44-2 (which includes 3-0 in playoff competition), including a 29-0 mark (which includes 2-0 playoff record) at Mile High Stadium.

Over the last nine years (six in Denver and the previous three in San Francisco) Mike Shanahan's offenses have finished number one in the NFL four times, second twice, and third twice; in two of those campaigns Denver was just 17 yards and 83 yards short of the number one spot.

Since 1995, his first year in Denver as head coach of the Broncos, Denver has stressed the running game as one of the keys to a prolific offense, and in those six seasons the Broncos have gained more rushing yards (13,378) and more total yards (35,632) than any other team in the NFL.

In 1998 the defending world champions stormed to their second straight title with an offense that scored 501 points and finished third in the NFL in total yards, while the defense had another spectacular postseason, allowing just 25 points and two touchdowns while sparking a remarkable 13-1 turnover ratio in the playoffs.

The 1998 Broncos set team records with 14 regular season and 17 overall wins, starting off with a stunning 13-0 record and marking Denver as a team that went an entire calendar year without a loss.

Ten Broncos were named to the Pro Bowl following that magnificent season, but throughout it all Shanahan's inspired direction was nationally recognized as the driving force behind the back-to-back World Champion Broncos.

In 1997 he directed a Denver offense that scored a total of 583 points (29.2 per game) during the entire 1997 season, the fifth highest total in NFL history and the second highest total in AFC history for a combined regular and postseason. Of course, in 1998 Shanahan's Broncos topped that mark by producing 596 regular and postseason points. The all-time high of 636 points came from the 1994 World Champion San Francisco 49ers, for whom Shanahan was the offensive coordinator.

He led his team to a 12-4 regular season record in 1997, marking the first time in franchise history that the team won 12 or more games in back-to-back seasons.

His high-powered offense reached 30 points a franchise record nine times during the 1997 regular season and twice in the postseason. Denver also broke the franchise record for most points in a season (previously 391 in 1996) in just their 13th game of 1997 and broke the record for most touchdowns in a season (previously 47 in 1996) in just their 14th game.

The Broncos stormed through 1997 postseason play to their eventual World Championship with a home win over Jacksonville and subsequent road victories at Kansas City and Pittsburgh, defeating those Super Bowl contenders in their home parks on back-to-back weeks, answering any lingering questions about the status of Denver as the best team in the American Football Conference.

It has been widely documented that the Broncos posted one of the greatest upsets in Super Bowl history, played in perhaps the best Super Bowl game ever, and ended the National Football Conference's 13-year domination in the NFL's Championship Game.

The Broncos posted their win—in fact, their four wins—in convincing style.

Under Mike Shanahan's steady control and forceful leadership, the Broncos had no question that they were the best team in football, and their postseason performance reflected that belief every step of the way.

In 1997 postseason play, Denver scored nine touchdowns in nine goal-to-go situations, including four-of-four in Super Bowl XXXII.

Conversely, opponents started six drives in Denver territory in the postseason, netting just six points (two field goals).

Denver scored 13 touchdowns in 16 red zone opportunities in postseason and of the Broncos' 46 postseason possessions, Denver scored 16 times (14 touchdowns and two field goals), accomplishing that feat against teams with a combined record of 51-16 at the time of each game.

The Broncos had posted the biggest win by a sports team in Colorado history, and one of the most significant in NFL history, all with Shanahan pointing the way. The Broncos had entered the playoffs as a wild card, but their head coach never let the team's compass waver even slightly from the only goal he had ever set.

Shanahan in 1996 led his club to a 13-3 record that was the best in the NFL as well as the finest record in Denver history, earning both NFL Coach of the Year (Touchdown Club of Columbus) and AFC Coach of the Year (Kansas City 101 Club) honors for 1996.

His team's performance in 1996 gave notice that this is a regime driven by a single goal, that of taking the Broncos to the pinnacle of pro football success. The Broncos were undefeated in October and November as they ultimately built their record to 12-1 in clinching their division title and playoff berth on December 1, thus becoming one of the earliest teams to clinch in NFL history. In clinching home-field advantage on Dec. 1 as well, the Broncos joined the 1985 Chicago Bears as the only two teams in the past 27 years to accomplish that by Week 13.

While the disappointment of Denver's 1996 playoff loss to Jacksonville gripped Shanahan as much as it did the entire region, it also served to further his resolve to return the Broncos to that level once again.

A dynamic and disciplined leader, who has completely revitalized the Denver organization over the past six years, Shanahan is the focal point from which the entire organization takes its direction and energy.

Under Shanahan's tutelage the Broncos led the entire NFL in total offense in 1996, after having rewritten the Denver record books in 1995. In fact, the last six Broncos' seasons have produced the most prolific six-year total offense statistics in franchise history.

Renowned for his organizational ability and recognized as one of the brightest offensive strategists in football, Shanahan has restructured both the team and the entire football operations department of the Broncos to deal successfully with the new personnel and financial dynamics of pro football.

In his first season as the Denver Broncos' head coach, Shanahan improved the team to a .500 record (8-8) and contention in the very competitive AFC Western Division, while immediately stamping the Denver offense with his signature as the most productive unit in the AFC, finishing third in the entire NFL. Under Shanahan in 1995, the Broncos had the most prolific offense in franchise history, breaking team records in points scored (388), total yardage (6,040), total passing yardage (4,260), first downs passing (205) and highest average gain per play (5.7), while tying the team records for touchdown passes (27) and average gain per rush (4.5). At the same time, the Bronco defense improved 13 positions, from last in the NFL the previous year to 15th under Shanahan's leadership.

Denver Broncos President and Chief Executive Officer Pat Bowlen named Mike Shanahan as Head Coach of his NFL franchise on January 31, 1995, ushering in a new era for a team that has made five Super Bowl appearances under Bowlen's ownership. The Broncos' head coach has a seven-year contract and complete control of all aspects of football operations.

Shanahan, 48, came to Denver from the World Champion San Francisco 49ers, where he served as offensive coordinator for three seasons (1992-94). The 49ers' offense reached astonishing levels under Shanahan's leadership. San Francisco's three-year offensive averages under Shanahan's direction were the most productive in the history of pro football. His three-year averages included being number one in total points (an average of 470 per year), total touchdowns (61), rushing TDs (24), passing TDs (32), third-down efficiency (49%), total offense (an average of 6,225 yards annually) and average yards per play (6.2 yards per attempt).

His three-year period as offensive coordinator included the 49ers setting numerous team records during Shanahan's tenure, including the first time ever that San Francisco led the NFL in total offense in consecutive seasons (1993 and 1994), along with remarkable records for most touchdowns (66), passing yards (4,302), total offense (6,435), first downs (372), completion percentage (70.3 %) and average yards per play (6.30).

San Francisco quarterback Steve Young re-wrote many NFL passing records and was named the NFL most valuable player twice in his three years under Shanahan's guidance, in addition to throwing for six touchdowns and earning Super Bowl XXIX most valuable player honors.

During his NFL career Shanahan has been a part of teams that have played in nine AFC or NFC Championship Games, in addition to his six Super Bowl appearances, five with Denver and the Super Bowl XXIX game with San Francisco. In his nine seasons coaching at the collegiate level, Shanahan's teams participated in eight bowl games, winning two national championships.

A driving force behind the Broncos' offense for all three of their Super Bowl appearances in the 1980s (following the 1986, 1987 and 1989 seasons), he first came to Denver in 1984 as coach of the club's wide receivers. He served as offensive coordinator from 1985-87, and then returned to Denver as quarterbacks coach on Oct. 16, 1989, after serving as head coach of the Los Angeles Raiders in 1988 and through the first four games of the 1989 campaign. Shanahan inherited a team that was 5-10 in 1987 and improved it to 7-9 his first season. After starting 1-3 the following year, he was dismissed.

His second stint in Denver included not only the 1989 Super Bowl appearance by the Broncos, but the team's fourth AFC Championship Game appearance of the Bowlen era (1991 at Buffalo), with Shanahan again serving as offensive coordinator.

A native of Oak Park, Ill. (8/24/52), Michael Edward Shanahan attended East Leyden High School in Franklin Park, where he earned numerous honors. In a student body population of 2,500, Shanahan was voted athlete of the year as well as most valuable player in both football and track. He set a still-standing single-game school record with 258 yards rushing on 17 carries (a 15.2 average).

He received a scholarship to Eastern Illinois University, where he played quarterback and lost a kidney in the spring game of his junior year, which began his coaching career a year earlier than was intended. Mike also received his bachelor's and master's degrees at EIU.

He began his coaching career at Oklahoma in 1975-76, serving as an assistant coach for the Sooners, and they won the national championship in his first year on their staff (1975).

Shanahan was Northern Arizona's backfield coach in 1977 at the age of 24, and the Lumberjacks averaged a school-record 391.1 yards that season. A year later, Shanahan returned to Eastern Illinois as offensive coordinator and helped guide his alma mater to the Division II title. The year before Shanahan's arrival the team was 1-10. In 1979 he served as offensive coordinator at Minnesota, where he implemented the run-and-shoot offense, with the result being that the Gophers set 40 school offensive records. Mike moved on to Florida the following year, inheriting the second poorest offense in Division I football, as well as a team record of 0-10-1. In Mike's four years the team broke many offensive school records and went to four straight bowl games. During his stint at the college coaching level, his teams had a combined record of 77-29-3.

Recognized as one of the most dynamic offensive minds in the game, Shanahan thus was an assistant coach in college at age 21, an offensive coordinator at the Division I level by 25 and at the NFL level at 32 in his first Denver stint.

Mike and his wife Peggy have two children, son Kyle and daughter Krystal, both of whom attend the University of Texas, where Kyle is a wide receiver for the Longhorns.

Overall the club has scored 30 or more points 47 times (including four in postseason) and 20 or more points 76 times (seven in postseason) in the 105 games (includes eight postseason games) that Shanahan has been the head coach. Denver's record in the 47 games in which it has scored 30 or more points under Shanahan is an amazing 45-2 (includes 4-0 in postseason), including a 29-0 (includes 2-0 in postseason) mark at home. The team scored 596 total points in 19 games (31.4 per game) in 1998, which now ranks sixth all-time (second in AFC) for points scored in a regular and postseason combined. Not surprisingly, the team to score the most points in an entire season was the 1994 World Champion San Francisco 49ers, for whom Shanahan was the offensive coordinator.

Shanahan in the Postseason — Mike Shanahan has made 12 ventures into the postseason, including four as a head coach, having gone to the postseason as an assistant in 1984, 1986-87, 1989, 1991 (all with Denver) and 1992-94 (San Francisco), and as a head coach in 1996-98 and 2000 (Denver). He has coached in six Super Bowls and has earned three Super Bowl rings (1994 with San Francisco; 1997 and '98 as head coach with Denver). Shanahan has coached in nine conference championship games, having won six of them (two as a head coach) and five of those six with Denver. His postseason record as a head coach is 7-2, the most wins among active coaches and second best all-time, behind only Vince Lombardi (9-1). He was 12-7 in the postseason as an assistant, including a 7-5 mark with the Broncos. Shanahan's postseason mark of 7-2 (.778) ranks No. 1 in terms of winning percentage among Broncos' head coaches.

Shanahan Ranks Among the Best in the Super Bowl — With Denver's victory over Atlanta in Super Bowl XXXIII, Mike Shanahan claimed his second Super Bowl title in his first four years as Broncos head coach, tied for the fastest in NFL history to post two Super Bowl victories.

GENERAL MANAGER

NEAL DAHLEN

Neal Dahlen is in his third year as the Denver Broncos General Manager, and his main focus this off-season has been to work on numerous and varied player personnel moves that will help return the team to championship status.

His promotion to General Manager in 1999 was a tribute to his outstanding work in player evaluation, negotiation and acquisition, with that personnel work proving to be an integral factor in the Denver Broncos' back-to-back world championships in 1997 and '98.

Dahlen comes into 2001 in his sixth season with the Broncos, having been the club's Director of Player Personnel until his promotion.

Two thousand one marks Dahlen's 38th year overall in football, and he is involved in all aspects of player acquisition for the Broncos, working very closely with Head Coach Mike Shanahan in building the team that represents Denver on the field and in the community. In addition, his role encompasses a variety of administrative responsibilities relative to the organization's direction.

Dahlen is unique in professional football as the only individual—including players, coaches, and administrators—to have played a key role on seven world championship teams. Dahlen obviously has had a major role on the Broncos' Super Bowl championships in 1997 and 1998 (XXXII in San Diego and XXXIII in Miami), but in addition he was a vital cog in the player personnel department of the San Francisco 49ers during all five of their Super Bowl championship seasons (XVI in 1981 in Detroit; XVIV in 1984 in Palo Alto; XXIII in 1988 in Miami; XXIV in 1989 in New Orleans; and XXIX in 1994 in Miami).

He joined the Broncos on March 4, 1996, renewing his association with Shanahan, with whom he had worked while Shanahan was the San Francisco 49ers' offensive coordinator from 1992-94.

Dahlen spent 17 years with the 49ers organization, beginning in 1979 as a part-time assistant to the coaching staff. In 1984 he took on full-time duties as director of research and development, and later served as the team's coordinator of football operations.

During his final three years in San Francisco Dahlen held the title of coaching administrator/financial liaison, a role that saw him work directly with 49ers Head Coach George Seifert on player personnel and management matters. He was primarily involved with monitoring financial affairs relating to player personnel, acting as the coaching staff liaison with the administrative staff, and was responsible for the acquisition of free agent players, negotiating player contracts, and developing game plan scouting reports for the defensive coaching staff.

A physical education major at San Jose State, Dahlen played quarterback for the Spartans and graduated in 1963, also earning his master's degree from the school in '64.

In June of 1999 Dahlen was inducted into the San Mateo County Sports Hall of Fame for his athletic accomplishments as a player, coach and administrator. He resided in San Mateo County for more than 40 years and in addition to being a star high school and college athlete Neal had a number of championship teams in football and baseball as a high school coach prior to joining the 49ers.

He coached football at the College of San Mateo for three years before beginning his 19-year career as a prep coach and administrator.

Born in Spokane, Wash., April 13, 1940, Neal and his wife, Nancy, make their home in Aurora, Colo. They have four grown children: Laurie, Sherri, Christy and Tim.

ASSISTANT COACHES

FRANK BUSH • SPECIAL TEAMS

NFL Season: 10th (7th year with Broncos)

Frank Bush continues to broaden his coaching résumé in 2001 as he takes on the responsibility of coaching the special teams in his seventh year on the Broncos staff. He moves into that new role after one year as the club's nickel package/secondary coach, which followed five years as linebackers coach. In that role he was highly successful in molding a unit that played an integral role in Denver's back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98.

Bush's linebacking corps produced the team's top three tacklers in both 1998 and '99, and the top two in '97. The 1999 accomplishment was even more remarkable, and showed the club's depth at the position, considering that 1997-98 tackle leader John Mobley missed nearly the entire season because of a knee injury.

In 1999 Glenn Cadrez (97), Bill Romanowski (94) and rookie Al Wilson (88) paced the team, combining to contribute nearly one-third of the Broncos' total tackles. Wilson was elevated into the starting lineup in the wake of Mobley's injury, and proceeded to show the kind of promise that was expected when he was made the team's No. 1 draft choice.

In 1998 Mobley (132), Cadrez (105) and Romanowski (95) paced the club, as Romanowski was voted to his second Pro Bowl in three years at strongside linebacker, and Denver ranked No. 3 in the NFL against the rush. Bush also successfully implemented Cadrez into the starting position at middle linebacker in 1998, while continuing to mold Mobley into one of the game's brightest young defensive stars at the weakside position.

Bush's troops produced the team's No. 1 and No. 2 tacklers in 1997—Mobley (162) and Romanowski (117)—as Denver won its first-ever Super Bowl. Mobley was named first-team All-Pro by the Associated Press, leading a defensive unit that raised its level of play over the latter part of the season and was crucial to the club's title run.

The linebacking corps was much improved in 1996, following the addition of Romanowski through free agency and Mobley through the draft. They joined Allen Aldridge to form an outstanding starting group that played a major role in the Broncos' improvement to the No. 4 defensive ranking in the NFL, including a No. 1 ranking against the rush. Romanowski's impact was immediate as he earned his first Pro Bowl invitation in nine NFL seasons.

In his first year in Denver, 1995, Bush's linebackers were part of a defensive unit that improved its league ranking by 13 places to figure 15th overall in the NFL.

Bush joined the Broncos staff in 1995 after spending the previous 10 years with the Houston Oilers as a player, scout and assistant coach. He began his coaching career in 1992, when he coached the Oilers linebackers. Under Bush's tutelage, several members of the linebacking corps earned postseason honors as Houston boasted one of the most aggressive defenses in the NFL.

Before his coaching tenure with Houston, Bush was a college scout for the Oilers from 1987-92. During that period Bush was the primary college scout in the Western states, helping to bring in some of the players who made the Oilers a very successful team during his tenure.

Bush, 38, was considered one of the most talented young players during his two years in the NFL until a spinal injury prematurely ended his career. In 1985, he played in all 16 games with 11 starts and contributed 114 tackles and four sacks (including two of John Elway). For his efforts, he was selected to UPI's first-team All-NFL rookie squad.

Bush was a fifth-round draft choice of the Oilers in 1985 out of North Carolina State. As a three-year starter for the Wolfpack he recorded 247 tackles, 15 sacks and four interceptions. He majored in communications while at N.C. State.

A native of Athens, Ga., Bush was born Jan. 10, 1963. He and his wife, Stephanie, reside in Aurora, Colo.

LARRY COYER • LINEBACKERS

NFL Season: 3rd (2nd year with Broncos)

Larry Coyer is in his second season on the Broncos coaching staff in 2001, in charge of the club's linebackers. In his 32nd year of coaching on either the collegiate or professional level, Coyer came to Denver from the University of Pittsburgh, where was defensive coordinator from 1997-99.

Coyer directs a unit that features as much talent and experience as any on the team. Each of the top four linebackers from 2000 return, including starters John Mobley, Bill Romanowski and Al Wilson. Mobley and Romanowski finished Nos. 1-2 on the team in tackles last year (133 and 121), while Wilson ranked fourth (104). Mobley was signed to a new long-term contract in the offseason, Romanowski has not missed a game in his 13-year career and Wilson continues to blossom as he enters just his third NFL season.

While at Pittsburgh, Coyer directed a defensive unit that showed significant improvement each season, culminating in a 1999 showing that included top-five rankings in the Big East Conference in all major defensive statistical categories. Two of his standouts, safety Ramon Walker and defensive lineman Demond Gibson, earned All-Big East honors that season.

In 1998, the Panthers ranked third in the Big East in total defense, and over the course of the 1997-98 seasons, the unit amassed 62 sacks, the highest two-season total at Pittsburgh since 1990-91.

Prior to his stint at Pittsburgh, Coyer was defensive coordinator at Iowa State for two seasons (1995-96). That post was preceded by a one-year assignment as defensive line coach for the New York Jets in 1994.

Coyer's other professional coaching experience came in the United States Football League, as linebackers coach with the Michigan Panthers (1984-85) and defensive coordinator with the Memphis Showboats (1986).

Additionally, Coyer was the defensive coordinator at East Carolina in 1993, where under his guidance, the Pirates improved in virtually every defensive category. He also served as defensive backs coach at Ohio State (1991-92), assistant head coach/defensive backs coach at Houston (1990) and linebackers coach at UCLA (1987-89). Prior to his stint in the USFL, Coyer was defensive coordinator at Iowa State (1979-83), Oklahoma State (1978) and Iowa (1974-77) and defensive backs coach at Bowling Green.

A 1964 graduate of Marshall University, Coyer began his coaching career at his alma mater in 1965 as defensive coordinator, a position he maintained through the 1967 season.

A native of Huntington, W.Va., Coyer was born April 19, 1943. He and his wife, Jan, make their home in Aurora, Colo. Their son, Matt, is a former member of the NCAA Champion Indiana University soccer team. His son, Justin, was an all-state football player in high school, and currently resides in Iowa.

RICK DENNISON • OFFENSIVE LINE

NFL Season: 7th (all with Broncos)

Rick Dennison moves into a new role in 2001, taking over the duties of offensive line coach. Now in his seventh season on the Broncos' coaching staff, Dennison spent the previous four seasons coaching the club's special teams (1997-2000) after two years as an offensive assistant (1995-96).

Dennison takes over a unit that has annually been regarded as the best in the business under Alex Gibbs. Anchoring the line is perennial Pro Bowl center Tom Nalen, who is joined by returning starters Dan Neil, Matt Lepsis and Lennie Friedman to form the nucleus of a group that looks to continue the legacy of the Broncos offensive line.

In his previous role, the play of Dennison's special teams units was instrumental in the club's success, highlighted by Denver's back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98. Dennison's coverage units held opponents to a tie for the deepest average drive start in the AFC in 2000 (26.1 yard line). One of Dennison's most outstanding performers, Detron Smith, was recognized in 1999 for his excellence in an often under-appreciated realm, being voted to the Pro Bowl as the special teams performer. It marked the third time in Dennison's tenure with the Broncos that he has seen one of his pupils earn a Pro Bowl invitation.

Kicker Jason Elam enjoyed the finest season of his six-year NFL career in 1998, earning his second Pro Bowl selection by setting a franchise record for PATs in a season (58 for 58) and converting 85% (23 of 27) of his field goal attempts. Elam also tied Tom Dempsey's 28-year old NFL record for longest field goal, with a 63-yarder vs. Jacksonville, Oct. 25, 1998. His career numbers continue to escalate as well, with Elam becoming the all-time leading scorer in franchise history during the 1999 season, while also establishing franchise dominance in field goals, field-goal attempts and PATs. He finished the 2000 season having converted an NFL-record 313 consecutive PATs, dating back to his rookie season.

Punter Tom Rouen consistently performed at or near the top of the league rankings under Dennison's tutelage, posting a gross punting average of more than 46 yards-per-punt for the second year in a row in 1999 to lead the NFL. His career-best 46.9-yard average in 1998 ranked second, while Dennison's kick-return unit ranked sixth in the NFL, staking the Broncos to an average drive start of their opponents' 28-yard line.

Under his guidance in 1997 the Broncos' special teams played an integral role in leading the franchise to its first World Championship. Darrien Gordon tied for the NFL lead with three touchdowns on punt returns and ranked second in the NFL in punt return average (13.6), while Elam ranked second in the AFC (4th NFL) in scoring (124) and Rouen ranked fourth in the AFC (5th NFL) in net punting average.

As a unit, Denver's kickoff and kick coverage teams ranked among the league leaders, as the Broncos recorded an average drive start of 28.6 (2nd AFC/4th NFL), while forcing their opponents to an average drive start of 24.4 (4th AFC/9th NFL). Denver also led the NFL in punt return average (13.5).

A former standout linebacker for the club, Dennison joined the coaching staff in 1995 after spending the previous three years coaching at Suffield Academy in Connecticut. He served for two years in Denver as an offensive assistant, providing quality control work and assistance of all types to the offensive coaching staff before being promoted to special teams coach Feb. 12, 1997.

In Dennison's two years on the offensive staff the Broncos' offense posted the most prolific two-year total offense numbers in franchise history, including a No. 1 NFL ranking in total offense for 1996, and a bevy of franchise offensive records set in both seasons.

Dennison, 43, played inside linebacker for the Broncos from 1982-90, playing in 128 games, including 52 starts and three Super Bowls. In 1989, he received the Ed Block Memorial Award for Courage. Dennison ranked second on the team in tackles in 1988 with 133 and led the team with three fumble recoveries.

Perhaps the best performance of his career came in a 1987 playoff game against Houston when he registered eight tackles and a quarterback pressure. He also had an excellent season in 1984 when he had 164 stops and a career-high three sacks in his first full season as a starter. Dennison was a free agent acquisition by the Broncos in 1982.

Dennison joined the Broncos in 1982 after a fine college career at Colorado State where he was a second-team Academic All-American as a senior and earned three varsity letters. In 1979, Dennison received his bachelor's degree in civil engineering from CSU, followed by a master's degree in the same field from CSU in 1982.

Dennison, born in Kalispel, Mont., on June 22, 1958, attended Rocky Mountain High School in Fort Collins where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. His father, George, is president of the University of Montana.

Rick, his wife, Shannon, and sons Joseph and Steven, reside in Englewood, Colo.

KARL DORRELL • WIDE RECEIVERS

NFL Season: 2nd (both with Broncos)

Karl Dorrell is in his second season coaching the Broncos' wide receivers after a widely successful initial season with the club in 2000. Dorrell's receivers played an integral role in elevating the overall offensive unit to franchise records in total yards, passing yards and first downs.

Under Dorrell's tutelage wide receivers Ed McCaffrey and Rod Smith took their performance to new levels last year. Smith earned the first Pro Bowl selection of his six-year career while shattering the franchise record with 1,602 receiving yards and tying the record with 100 receptions. McCaffrey had the most productive season of his 10-year career by catching a franchise-record 101 passes for 1,317 yards, now second best behind Smith's 1,602. Both finished in the NFL's top four in receptions and in the top 10 in receiving yards.

Smith's 1,602 yards tied for the eighth-highest single-season total in NFL history, while the duo became just the second pair from the same team ever to post 100 more catches in the same season. Smith and McCaffrey were virtually unstoppable with 13 100-yard games between them in 2000, and return this season with a talented supporting cast looking for even greater performances under Dorrell's guidance.

Prior to his arrival in Denver Dorrell coached 12 years on the collegiate level, including seven seasons as an offensive coordinator. In his career as a player and coach, Dorrell took part in 12 bowl games, including three Rose Bowls, two Fiesta Bowls and two Cotton Bowls. He came to Denver from the University of Washington, where he spent the 1999 season as offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach. In his one season at the school the Huskies led the Pac-10 in time of possession with an average of 32:57 per game, and scored 28.3 points per game.

Dorrell has close ties to the Denver Broncos organization and the Rocky Mountain region. He assisted the Broncos coaching staff during training camp in both 1993 and '99 through the NFL's Minority Coaching Fellowship program, and was offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach at the University of Colorado from 1995-98, after a previous stint as wide receivers coach from 1992-93.

During his first tenure at CU, two of Dorrell's wide receivers, Charles Johnson and Michael Westbrook, became just the fourth pair of receivers on the same team in NCAA history to accumulate more than 1,000 yards in the same season. Johnson and Westbrook are two of the six collegiate players Dorrell has coached who have gone on to the NFL—three of whom were first-round draft choices.

A former wide receiver himself, Dorrell began coaching in 1988 as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, UCLA. His other coaching stops include Central Florida (1989; receivers), Northern Arizona (1990-91; offensive coordinator/receivers) and Arizona State (1994; wide receivers). In his first experience as an offensive coordinator, Dorrell made his mark at NAU, directing the Lumberjack offense to a school record for first downs in a season, and the second-highest total offense figure in school history.

Dorrell, 37, earned his bachelor's degree from UCLA in 1986, and completed his playing career ranked second in school history in receptions (108) and fourth in receiving yards (1,517). He had a brief professional career, spending part of the 1987 season with the Dallas Cowboys before being placed on injured reserve.

A native of Alameda, Calif. (12/18/63), Dorrell is a graduate of San Diego's Helix High School, where he was a two-time all-league selection and honorable mention All-America as a senior.

Karl and his wife, Kim, have two children, Chandler (6) and Lauren (3), and reside in Englewood, Colo.

GEORGE DYER • DEFENSIVE LINE

NFL Season: 20th (7th year with Broncos)

George Dyer is in his 20th season coaching in the NFL and his seventh with the Broncos as defensive line coach. He came to Denver in 1995 following a three-year stint in Los Angeles where he was the Rams' defensive coordinator and defensive line coach (1992-94). Dyer joined the Rams staff after nine years with the Seattle Seahawks (1983-91) where he was also in charge of the defensive line, and one year with the Buffalo Bills (1982).

Dyer's defensive line unit has been instrumental in the Broncos' overall success in recent years, highlighted by back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98. Denver's sack total increased in each of Dyer's first five seasons, from 23 the year before his arrival, to 30, 40, 44, 47 and then 50 in 1999, with the figure still registering in the 40s (44) in 2000. The 1999 figure tied for third most in franchise history, and the most since 1992.

Last season defensive tackle Trevor Pryce—Denver's 1997 first-round draft choice—continued to blossom under Dyer's tutelage, earning his second consecutive Pro Bowl invitation in just his fourth NFL season. Pryce led the Broncos with 12 sacks in 2000 after registering 13 in 1999, tied for the fifth-best single-season mark in franchise history. Overall, the defensive line has accounted for 64 of the club's 94 sacks (68%) over the past two seasons.

Pryce returns in 2000 with fellow veteran starters Maa Tanuvasa and Kavika Pittman, while veterans Mike Lodish, Harald Hasselbach and Lester Archambeau and recent draft choices Montae Reagor (1999) and Jerry Johnson (2000) look to team with veteran newcomers to make an impact this season as well.

Dyer's unit in 1998 featured the team's individual sack leaders in Pryce (8.5) and Tanuvasa (8.5), who led a defensive unit that posted the seventh-highest sack total (47) in franchise history. The line was equally proficient against the run in 1998, allowing just 1,287 yards, the second-lowest total in franchise history, behind only the nine-game total of 935 yards allowed during the strike-shortened 1982 season.

Dyer's 1997 unit boasted three players with at least eight sacks—Tanuvasa and defensive ends Neil Smith and Alfred Williams, each with 8.5—spearheading a defensive group that posted 44 for the season, the highest Denver total since 1993. Tanuvasa, a Dyer pupil on the Rams' practice squad in '93, showed considerable growth in his third season, and Smith was voted to his sixth Pro Bowl.

In his first two seasons in Denver, Dyer's defensive line helped the entire defensive unit improve its league ranking from 28th in 1994 to fourth in '96—including a No. 1 ranking against the rush.

During his tenure in the NFL, Dyer has coached All-Pro linemen wherever he has been, including six-time Pro Bowler Fred Smerlas and Ben Williams in Buffalo; Jacob Green, Cortez Kennedy and Joe Nash in Seattle and Sean Gilbert in Los Angeles. While in Denver he has tutored Pro Bowl players in Williams (1996), Smith ('97) and Pryce (2000-01). Dyer's 1994 Rams defense ranked seventh in the NFC and 12th in the league against the pass and their defensive line gave up an average of just 3.6 net yards per rush, which tied them for third in the NFC and sixth in the NFL.

In 1983, Dyer's defensive line in Seattle averaged 2.7 sacks per game, as the Seahawks advanced to the AFC Championship Game for the only time in their history. Prior to joining the Bills, Dyer served as defensive coordinator at Arizona State (1980-81) and at Michigan State (1977-79). He also coached for the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League from 1974-76 and had stints with San Jose State (1973) and Idaho (1972).

Dyer, 61, started his coaching career at Humboldt State (1964-66) before becoming head coach at Coalinga Junior College in Central California, in 1967. He was defensive coordinator at Portland State from 1968-71.

As a player, Dyer was a center and linebacker at UC Santa Barbara from 1961-63. He is a graduate of San Gabriel High School in San Gabriel, Calif.

Dyer (5/4/40), born in Alhambra, Calif., makes his home in Aurora, Colo., with his wife Marjorie. The Dyer family includes son George and his wife Pam; son Doak and his wife Shauna; daughter Tami and her husband Ken Dalle Molle, and sons Frank "Lefty" Dalle Molle (3) and Hank Dalle Molle (1); and daughters Darci and Marni.

ALEX GIBBS • ASST. HEAD COACH / OFFENSIVE LINE

NFL Season: 18th (11th year with Broncos)

Alex Gibbs is in the seventh year of his second tour of duty with the Broncos in 2001, and his 38th year overall in coaching. This year he has stepped back from his full-time duties, and with the promotion of Rick Dennison to offensive line coach, Gibbs will contribute more in the role of a consultant to the offensive coaching staff.

Gibbs returned to Denver in 1995 to assume the role of assistant head coach/offensive line coach under Mike Shanahan, and since has further enhanced his reputation as an elite coach in the National Football League. Gibbs, who coached in Denver from 1984-87, has coached for every franchise in the AFC West except Seattle, spending time with the Raiders (1988-89), Chargers (1990-91) and Chiefs (1993-94) in addition to his two tenures in Denver.

His offensive line unit played an integral role in Denver's success in the late 1990s, highlighted by back-to-back World Championships in '97 and '98. Gibbs' troops paved the way for a punishing ground game while providing superior pass protection. The Broncos have not allowed more than 35 sacks in a season since Gibbs' return in 1995, and have posted two of top six marks in club history during that period: 25 sacks allowed in 1998 and 26 in '95.

In seven playoff games over the two championship seasons, Denver averaged an astounding 185 rushing yards per game, while allowing an average of just 1.4 sacks. The Broncos ranked No. 1 in the NFL in rushing in 1996, No. 5 in '97 and No. 3 in '98 and 2000, while the offense overall led the NFL in 1996 and '97, and ranked third in '98 and second in 2000.

In 2000, center Tom Nalen earned his fourth straight Pro Bowl invitation under Gibbs' guidance, as he continues to establish himself as one of the elite centers in the National Football League. Nalen's play—as well as that of his offensive linemates—was crucial to an offensive output that included franchise records for total yards (6,554), passing yards (4,243) and first downs (383).

The 1999 season was highlighted by Nalen's third straight Pro Bowl selection—his first as a starter—during a year of transition following the retirement of future Hall of Famer John Elway.

The Denver offense set six franchise records in 1998, and that all began up front where Gibbs' unit served as the catalyst for such tremendous output. Those records included total offense (6,092), first downs (347), points scored (501), rushing yards (2,468), rushing touchdowns (32) and total touchdowns (62). In addition, the 1998 unit allowed just 25 sacks, the lowest total in franchise history for a 16-game season. Individually, Nalen, tackle Tony Jones and guard Mark Schlereth were each named to the Pro Bowl, due in large part to the performance they turned in blocking for NFL Most Valuable Player Terrell Davis, who gained over 2,000 yards to win the rushing title. It was Davis' fourth straight 1,000-yard season, and he earned his third consecutive Pro Bowl nod in the process.

Gibbs' line gained broad recognition for its contribution to Denver's first title run in 1997, clearing the way for an astonishing rushing average of 187 yards-per-game in the playoffs. In Super Bowl XXXII vs. Green Bay, the line bullied the opposition for 179 rushing yards—100 of which came in the second half when the Broncos controlled the clock and the line of scrimmage en route to the historic win. In all, Denver running backs recorded a total of 15 100-yard games over the course of the 20-game regular season and postseason slate, including Davis' 157-yard, MVP effort in the Super Bowl.

The 1997 team also led the NFL in scoring (472) and touchdowns (55), setting franchise records in each category. The offensive line received a rare group award following Denver's '97 Wild Card win over Jacksonville, as the entire unit was named NFL Offensive Player of the Week, marking just the second time in NFL history such an award has been bestowed to an offensive line.

While the strength of the offensive line has been its ability to function as a unit, Gibbs' linemen have been singled out with Pro Bowl invitations in each of the six seasons since his return to Denver. In addition to Nalen's fourth straight selection last year, Jones and Schlereth were selected in '98 and left tackle Gary Zimmerman was voted to the Pro Bowl in 1995 and '96.

It has been Gibbs' ability to mold that unit into the league's best that allowed the Broncos' offense to put up the most prolific six-year totals in franchise history over the 1995-2000 seasons. He had worked the same magic in Kansas City, dropping the Chiefs' sack total from 48 in 1992 to 19 in '94. Under his guidance, tackle John Alt and guard Will Shields earned Pro Bowl and consensus all-rookie honors, respectively, in 1993, as the Chiefs advanced to the AFC Championship Game.

In the first two years after his return Denver (1995-96), Gibbs succeeded at the very task that had formed the basis for his glowing reputation in the NFL: protecting the quarterback. Gibbs' offensive line allowed just 57 sacks over those two seasons—a dramatic reduction from the total of 55 allowed in 1994 alone, prior to Gibbs' return. The 57 sacks (26 in '95 / 31 in '96) were the sixth fewest in the NFL over that two-year period (third in the AFC) and the lowest two-year total in franchise history.

In 1992, Gibbs was the offensive line coach for the Indianapolis Colts, whose sack total dropped by 13 in the one season he was there. Prior to that, he spent the 1990-91 seasons in San Diego, where he helped put together a line that propelled the Chargers to the second-best rushing offense in the league in 1991 with an average output of 140.5 yards per game. The Chargers were the league's third most potent rushing offense in 1990, averaging 141.1 yards per game.

Gibbs spent the 1988-89 seasons with the Los Angeles Raiders, where he coached with current Broncos head coach, and then-Raiders head coach Mike Shanahan. While at Los Angeles, he helped to groom the talents of guard Steve Wisniewski, who has been a Pro Bowl selection eight times in his career.

Gibbs had first become an NFL assistant in 1984 with the Broncos, serving as the club's offensive line coach for four seasons. He was part of a staff that saw Denver earn trips to two straight Super Bowls (XXI and XXII). Under Gibbs' guidance, guard Keith Bishop earned All-Pro and Pro Bowl honors in 1986 and '87.

Gibbs coached at the collegiate level for 13 seasons before entering the pro ranks. He worked at Duke (1969-70) and Kentucky (1971-72) before moving to West Virginia (1973-74), where he worked under head coach Bobby Bowden. He then became the offensive coordinator/line coach at Ohio State (1975-78) where his line troops opened up the holes that enabled Archie Griffin to claim back-to-back Heisman Trophy awards. In 1979, Gibbs became offensive coordinator at Auburn, a position he held for three seasons. He then coached the offensive line at Georgia from 1982-83. Gibbs also spent three years at Mount Airy (N.C.) High School where he won a pair of state championships.

Gibbs, 60, is a native of Morganton, N.C., where he was a running back and defensive back at Davidson College. He studied pre-law and then earned his master's degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in European history, and later received his doctorate in education from Auburn.

Gibbs (2/22/41) is not the only athlete in his family. His son David, who joined the Broncos coaching staff this past offseason as safeties coach, was a defensive back on Colorado's 1990 National Championship team, where his teammates included Broncos punter Tom Rouen. Gibbs' son Mark played at UCLA, and his son Chuck played for Army.

Alex has five children: sons Steve, David, Chuck and Mark, and daughter Sandy.

David Gibbs • Safeties

NFL Season: 1st

David Gibbs is in his first season with the Denver Broncos, joining the defensive coaching staff during the offseason after four seasons as defensive coordinator/secondary coach at the University of Minnesota.

Gibbs, who will coach the Broncos safeties, brings 10 years of coaching experience at the college level to his new position. He is, however, no stranger to the Broncos organization and the Denver area, having spent a great deal of time with the club during his father, Alex's, 10-year Broncos coaching tenure and having played and coached at the University of Colorado in nearby Boulder.

Gibbs was the youngest defensive coordinator in Division I-A when hired in 1997, and directed a dramatic defensive turnaround in his four seasons with the Golden Gophers from a unit that ranked last in the Big Ten in every major statistical category before his arrival. His defense reached its peak in 1999 when Minnesota finished fourth in the conference and 22nd in the nation in total defense by allowing just 319.9 yards per game, the best performance by a Gopher team since 1985. They led the Big Ten in pass defense and ranked second in pass defense efficiency and scoring defense, the latter two figures ranking eighth nationally.

Gibbs' star pupil, safety Tyrone Carter, was a two-time All-American and won the Jim Thorpe Award under his tutelage, and parlayed his collegiate success into a starting position as a rookie with the Minnesota Vikings. Carter was U of M's first back-to-back All-American since 1961-62, and overall Gibbs' defense produced an All-American three consecutive seasons for the first time at the school since 1961-63.

In 1998 Minnesota's rushing defense ranked fourth in the Big Ten and 13th in the nation, at 103.7 yards per game, the school's best figure since 1962. In addition, during Gibbs' tenure, the Minnesota defense posted the top three single-season sack figures in the school's rich football history, posting a record 44 in 1999, followed by its 41 in 1997 and 38 in 1998.

Gibbs, 33, came to Minnesota from Kansas where he was defensive secondary coach in 1995-96, following graduate assistants stints at Colorado (1993-94) and Oklahoma (1991-92).

A 1990 graduate of Colorado with a bachelor's degree in marketing, Gibbs was a four-year letterwinner at defensive back for the Buffaloes. He started every game in 1989 when CU fashioned an impressive 11-1 overall record en route to an Orange Bowl bid and a No. 4 ranking in the final national poll. He collected Academic All-Big Eight honors as a senior in 1990 when he helped lead the Buffs to an 11-1-1 overall record and the co-National Championship following a 10-9 win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl. During his collegiate career, Colorado registered a combined record of 37-10-1 and played in three bowl games.

A native of Mount Airy, N.C., Gibbs is a graduate of Auburn (Ala.) High School. He was born Jan. 10, 1968. David and his wife, Debbie, make their home in Castle Rock, Colo.

Gary Kubiak • Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks

NFL Season: 8th (7th year with Broncos)

Gary Kubiak is in his seventh season as Denver's offensive coordinator in 2001, coming off six highly successful seasons in which the offensive unit has produced numbers unparalleled in the history of the organization, highlighted by back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98.

Kubiak, who owns three Super Bowl rings, is one of just 11 NFL coaches to win a Super Bowl with two different franchises (San Francisco, 1994) and one of just six to win a title with a team from each conference.

He returned to the Broncos organization in 1995 with head coach Mike Shanahan, after the pair coached together in 1994 in San Francisco, where Shanahan was offensive coordinator, Kubiak was quarterbacks coach and fellow Broncos assistant coach Brian Pariani (tight ends) was an offensive assistant.

Kubiak's return to Denver—where he played quarterback behind All-Pro John Elway from 1983-91—has been marked by extraordinary success. The Broncos have produced the National Football League's No. 1 offense twice during Kubiak's tenure (1996-97)—a first in franchise history—and have ranked in the top three overall in five of his six seasons: No. 2 in 2000 No. 3 in 1995 and '98. The total offensive numbers produced in Kubiak's first six years at the controls mark the most prolific six-year totals in club annals.

The 2000 season saw a rekindling of the offensive firepower that marked Kubiak's first four seasons, as the club set franchise records in three major offensive categories, bettering marks established earlier in Kubiak's tenure. The Broncos set new standards for total offense (6,554), passing offense (4,243) and first downs (383), while third-year quarterback Brian Griese and wide receiver Rod Smith earned their first career Pro Bowl invitations and center Tom Nalen earned his fourth straight. Additionally, rookie running back Mike Anderson broke numerous franchise records with 1,487 yards and 15 touchdowns to earn AP Offensive Rookie of the Year honors, along the way posting the best single-game performance by a rookie in NFL history (251 yards rushing) and the fourth-best outing overall in NFL history. It was the second straight year a Broncos rookie running back had topped 1,000 yards, following Olandis Gary's 1,159 rushing yards in 1999.

The Broncos set new single-season standards for touchdowns and points scored three consecutive seasons from 1996-98, and posted new records for yards per rush in both 1997 and '98. Denver has also scored 30 or more points in a game 47 times (including four times in postseason) in the 105 regular and postseason games since Kubiak's hire. In the six years that Kubiak has been at the controls of the Denver offense, Denver has accumulated more rushing yards (13,378) and total yards (35,632) than any team in the NFL.

Denver has had 22 Pro Bowl selections from the offensive side of the football in Kubiak's six seasons as offensive coordinator, and is the only team in NFL history to produce a 3,000-yard passer (John Elway), a 1,500-yard rusher (Terrell Davis) and a 1,000-yard receiver (Shannon Sharpe, '96 and '97; Rod Smith, '97) two years in a row, doing so in 1996 and '97.

Kubiak has been instrumental in the development of Griese, who has started 23 games for the Broncos over the past two seasons and led the NFL in passer rating (102.9) in 2000 en route the Pro Bowl. He set a franchise record for completion percentage (64.3%) last year and posted the second best touchdown-to-interception ratio in NFL history with 19 scoring tosses and just four interceptions (4.75-1). In 1999 Griese became just the eighth quarterback in the NFL since 1970 to throw for more than 3,000 yards (3,032) in the year of his first start.

Denver set six offensive franchise records in 1998, establishing new marks for total yards (6,092), rushing yards (2,468), touchdowns (62), rushing touchdowns (32), points (501) and first downs (347), as the Broncos scored 30 or more points in 12 of their 19 games. Davis was the NFL rushing champion, gaining a franchise-record 2,008 yards to become just the fourth NFL player ever to top 2,000. Davis, named the league's Most Valuable Player, was joined by Elway, Tony Jones, Ed McCaffrey, Nalen, Mark Schlereth and Sharpe to give Denver an unprecedented seven offensive players voted into the Pro Bowl, and Elway closed his Hall of Fame career as Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl XXXIII.

Davis won the AFC rushing title (2nd NFL) with 1,750 yards in 1997, and went on to win Super Bowl Most Valuable Player honors en route to an all-time NFL record for rushing attempts and yards in a combined regular and postseason. Elway, Davis, Sharpe and Nalen earned Pro Bowl berths in '97, while the offense set club records for points (472; 1st in NFL), touchdowns (55; 1st in NFL) and yards per rush (4.6), and led the league in total offense for the second straight year. The rushing total of 2,378 yards was the highest since the team record of 2,451 was set in 1978.

The Broncos led the NFL in total offense for the first time in 1996 after figuring third (1st AFC) in '95 with a franchise-record 377.5 yards-per-game average. The '96 club set a new team record for total points (391) and tied the record for highest average gain per rush (4.5) which was set a year prior, in Kubiak's first season. Davis led the AFC in rushing (2nd NFL), broke five team records, was named AFC Offensive Player of the Year and was selected to his first Pro Bowl.

Davis and Elway joined Sharpe and tackle Gary Zimmerman to give Denver four offensive players in the Pro Bowl. The 1996 Broncos offense, under Kubiak's direction, became just the fifth in NFL history—and first in Broncos history—to produce a 3,000-yard passer (Elway—3,328), 1,500-yard rusher (Davis—1,538) and 1,000-yard receiver (Sharpe—1,062) in the same season.

Kubiak wasted no time making an impact in his first season as offensive coordinator, as the 1995 Broncos broke team records for points scored (388), total yards (6,040), passing yards (4,260), first downs passing (205) and highest average gain per play (5.7; tops in the AFC). Individually, wide receiver Anthony Miller topped the 1,000-yard mark (1,079) and set a franchise record for touchdown receptions (14), while Davis topped the 1,000-yard rushing mark (1,117) and finished second in the NFL Rookie of the Year balloting. Overall, three members of the Broncos' offensive unit—Miller, Sharpe and Zimmerman—were chosen to play in the Pro Bowl.

During the 1994 season, Kubiak coached the league's most dominant quarterback, Steve Young, in San Francisco. Young not only led the 49ers to a victory in Super Bowl XXIX, but he also earned Super Bowl MVP honors, as well as the NFL's Most Valuable Player award, besides setting numerous passing records during the campaign. He also became the NFL's all-time passer-rating leader and the first quarterback to lead the league in passing four years in a row.

Prior to his year in San Francisco, Kubiak coached the running backs at his alma mater, Texas A&M, from 1992-93. During his two seasons the Aggies posted a record of 22-3 and played in back-to-back Cotton Bowls. His star pupil at A&M was Greg Hill, a first-round pick by Kansas City in 1994. Hill was second-team All-America as a junior (The Sporting News) and first-team All-Southwest Conference, as well as an All-SWC pick as a senior by the Dallas Morning News, despite missing four games. He rushed for 2,046 yards and 21 touchdowns in Kubiak's two years at College Station. Also in Kubiak's backfield was current Broncos fullback Detron Smith.

Before embarking on his coaching career, Kubiak played nine seasons (1983-91) as a quarterback for the Broncos. During that time he was a member of three Super Bowl teams and appeared in 11 of the 14 playoff games played by the Broncos during his tenure. He played in 119 games for Denver (second all-time among quarterbacks behind John Elway), with five starts over that period (4-1 record). Kubiak completed 173 passes in 298 attempts for 2,020 yards, with 16 interceptions and 14 touchdowns. He also rushed for 238 yards and two touchdowns, and his completion percentage of .581 is the fifth-best mark in team history. Kubiak also holds the Broncos' second-best single-season mark for interception avoidance (.013; one interception in 75 attempts), set in 1984.

Kubiak's final performance in a Denver uniform was probably his finest moment as a Bronco, when he relieved an injured John Elway in the 1992 AFC Championship Game at Buffalo (1/12/92) and completed 11-of-12 passes for 102 yards and added 22 yards rushing, though the Broncos fell to the Bills 10-7. He entered the game in the fourth quarter and drove the Broncos into Buffalo territory three times, including an 85-yard touchdown drive that cut Denver's deficit to three points. Kubiak was an eighth-round draft pick of the Broncos in 1983.

As a player at Texas A&M, Kubiak made the Player's All-SWC team in 1982 and earned appearances in the Blue-Gray and Hula Bowl all-star games. In 1982 he led the SWC in attempts (324), completions (181), percentage (55.9), yardage (1,948), touchdowns (19) and total offense (1,885). As a junior he set conference records for touchdown passes in a game (six against Rice) and percentage in a game (19-21 for 90.5% against Arkansas), and ranked second in the SWC in passing (1,908) and total offense (1,986). He has a degree from A&M in physical education.

While at St. Pius High School in his native Houston, Gary made all-state, all-district, and All-America and set the state passing record with 6,190 yards. He lettered four years in football, basketball and baseball, and made all-state in all three sports in both his junior and senior years. He was also all-state twice in track.

Kubiak was recognized for his outstanding accomplishments with induction into the prestigious Texas High School Sports Hall of Fame in March 1999.

Gary (8/15/61) and his wife, Rhonda, reside in Greenwood Village, Colo., with their three sons, Klint, Klay and Klein.

ANTHONY LYNN • SPECIAL TEAMS ASSISTANT

NFL Season: 2nd (both with Broncos)

Anthony Lynn is in his second season on the Broncos coaching staff in the capacity of special teams assistant. He joined the staff in August 2000 after his playing career was cut short in training camp because of repeated occurrences of neck stingers. One of the Broncos most outstanding special teams players during his career, Lynn brought immediate impact in his area of emphasis.

Last season Denver's coverage units allowed opponents the worst average drive start in the AFC (26.1 yard line).

Lynn played seven seasons in National Football League as a fullback, including four with the Broncos (1993, 1997-1999). He was a member of the back-to-back World Championship clubs in 1997 and '98, and throughout his career was regarded as one of his team's locker room leaders as well as being one of the strongest players, both mentally and physically.

Lynn played in 83 games (61 as a Bronco) and made one start in his career, rushing 28 times for 177 yards (6.3) with a long of 67 and catching three passes for 35 yards (11.7) with a long of 21. He recorded 45 career special teams tackles and had one forced fumble and one fumble recovery on special teams. Lynn also played in nine postseason games and made six special teams tackles with one forced fumble.

Lynn, 32, entered the NFL as a undrafted free agent with the New York Giants in 1992 and made his first NFL roster with the Broncos in 1993. He played in 13 games that season, then was injured throughout the 1994 season. He signed with San Francisco for the 1995-96 seasons and played in 22 games (1 start), rushing for 175 yards on 26 carries (6.7) and catching two passes for 14 yards (7.0). His 1995 season was limited to six games because of a broken left ankle suffered in a game at Indianapolis. Lynn re-signed with Denver in 1997 and finished his career with the club.

A college standout at Texas Tech, Lynn rushed for 1,911 yards and 17 touchdowns on 481 carries (4.0) in his career. He earned All-Southwest Conference honors as a junior when he ran for 884 yards and eight touchdowns on 224 carries (3.9).

A native of Celina, Texas, Lynn is a graduate of Celina High School. He was born Anthony Ray Lynn Dec. 21, 1968 in McKinney, Texas. Anthony and his wife, Cynda, have two children, D'Anton (11) and Danielle (7), and make their home in Centennial, Colo.

PAT MCPHERSON • OFFENSIVE ASSISTANT

NFL Season: 4th (all with Broncos)

Pat McPherson is in his fourth year on the Broncos' coaching staff, and his third as offensive assistant. He spent his first season, 1998, as a defensive assistant before moving to the offensive side of the ball. In his current role, McPherson handles a variety of quality control duties for an offense that continues to perform as one of the elite units in the National Football League.

Last year McPherson worked with an offense that set club records for total offense (6,554), passing yards (4,243) and first downs (383), and scored 30 or more points in 10 of 16 games.

In his first year working with the offense in 1999, McPherson was involved in the production of a unit that featured a 3,000-yard passer (Brian Griese), two 1,000-yard receivers (Ed McCaffrey, Rod Smith) and a 1,000-yard rusher (Olandis Gary).

Working with the defensive staff in 1998, McPherson played a role in tutoring a defense that ranked third in the NFL against the run, and 11th in the overall defensive rankings.

McPherson was hired by the club April 7, 1998 following a four-year coaching stint at his high school alma mater, Bellarmine College Prep in San Jose, Calif. In addition to coordinating the defense and coaching the inside linebackers, McPherson's duties also included teaching English, algebra and physical fitness. During his tenure at Bellarmine, the football team compiled a record of 35-11, won three consecutive league titles and made one section championship appearance as well as two semifinal appearances. He also gained valuable coaching experience volunteering with the San Francisco 49ers in 1996, in a defensive quality control capacity.

McPherson holds a bachelor's degree in English and an M.B.A. from Santa Clara, where he captained the football team and was voted Most Inspirational Player as an inside linebacker during his senior season of 1992. He began his collegiate career at UCLA in 1987, where he received the Charles Pike Award in recognition as the school's outstanding freshman football player. McPherson signed with the 49ers as a rookie free agent in 1993 and participated in three preseason games, including one versus the Broncos at Mile High Stadium.

A native of San Jose, Calif., McPherson was an all-state and All-America inside linebacker at Bellarmine College Prep, where he earned Scholar-Athlete of the Year honors as a senior. He was voted captain of the North team in California's North-South Shrine Game played at the Rose Bowl.

McPherson, 32, worked with the National Multiple Sclerosis Society in Santa Clara, Calif., in 1994, organizing and implementing the chapter's largest fund-raising event, the 1994 MS Walk. His father, Bill McPherson, coached in the NFL for 21 years and is currently in his second year as director of pro scouting for the San Francisco 49ers.

Pat was born April 15, 1969 in Santa Clara, Calif. He and his wife, Shannon, reside in Littleton, Colo.

RON MILUS • DEFENSIVE BACKS

NFL Season: 2nd (both with Broncos)

Ron Milus is in his second year as the Broncos' defensive backs coach in 2001, following a nine-year coaching career at the collegiate level.

In his first season with the club Milus' defensive backs accounted for 21 of the club's 27 interceptions, the highest total by a Broncos team since 1987, and tied for sixth most in franchise history. In addition, he oversaw the development of several young defensive backs—cornerback Deltha O'Neal and safety Kenoy Kennedy—who received more playing time as the season progressed, and along with safeties Eric Brown and Billy Jenkins should prove to be the future of the Broncos defensive backfield.

Prior to his arrival in Denver Milus was defensive backs coach at Texas A&M in 1999. That followed an eight-year stint (1991-98) at his alma mater, Washington, where he was a standout cornerback and return specialist from 1982-85. Milus was defensive backs coach for the Huskies from 1992-98, and in his time at UW coached in six bowl games, including two Rose Bowls.

Milus' defensive backs were instrumental in the play of an overall defensive unit that led the nation in 1993 with 22 interceptions, and two years later posted 16 to lead the Pac-10.

Milus joined the Husky coaching staff in 1991 as a graduate assistant, and was a part of the school's co-National Championship team that season. When he was elevated to a full-time position a year later he was the youngest assistant coach in the Pac-10, at age 28.

His first coaching assignment was a three-year stint at Lincoln High School in Tacoma, Wash., from which he is a 1982 graduate.

Milus, 37, was a four-year letterwinner at Washington (1982-85) as a cornerback and return specialist, where he returned 49 punts for 410 yards and a touchdown, and ranks in the school's top 10 in punt return yardage. As junior he ranked fourth in the nation with an average of 12.4 yards per return. Milus earned his bachelor's degree in society and justice from Washington in 1986.

A native of Tacoma, Wash. (11/25/63), Ron and his wife, Sandra, have two sons, Ryan (11) and Bobby (7), and reside in Englewood, Colo.

BRIAN PARIANI • TIGHT ENDS

NFL Season: 12th (7th year with Broncos)

Brian Pariani is in his seventh year coaching the Broncos' tight ends, a group that has played an integral role in the club's offensive success in recent seasons, highlighted by back-to-back World Championships. Pariani came to the Broncos in 1995 after spending the previous five seasons (1990-94) with the San Francisco 49ers, coaching alongside Broncos head coach Mike Shanahan and offensive coordinator Gary Kubiak.

With Denver's win in Super Bowl XXXII, Pariani joined a list of just 11 NFL coaches who have won World Championships with two different organizations, and one of just six to win a title with a team from each conference. The Broncos' triumph in Super Bowl XXXIII made Pariani a three-time Super Bowl winner.

The contribution of Denver's tight ends continued to be crucial in 2000 as Pariani's unit accounted for 99 receptions (28% of the club's total), second most in his six-year Broncos tenure. Veteran Dwayne Carswell caught a career-high 49 passes to rank third on the team, while second-year man Desmond Clark had a breakout season with 27 catches to rank fourth. Up-and-coming third-year player Billy Miller joins newly acquired free agent Patrick Hape to round out the tight end corps and give the club significant depth at the position.

Overall, Pariani's tight ends have caught more passes (522) for more yards (6,321) over the last six seasons than any other group of tight ends in the NFL. That productivity has helped propel the Broncos' offense to the most prolific six-year totals in franchise history, highlighted by a No. 1 NFL total offense ranking in 1996 and '97. The 1998 team set franchise records for touchdowns (62), points (501), total offense (6,092) and first downs (347), while the 2000 club erased the total offense mark (6,554) and set new standards for passing yards (4,243) and first downs (383). Additionally, Pariani's tight ends have helped clear holes for a Broncos running game that has ranked in the NFL's top five in five of his six seasons with the club, including a No. 1 ranking in 1996.

The Broncos' tight end group combined to catch 85 passes in 1999—among the most in the league—for 977 yards and four touchdowns. Those figures are especially significant considering perennial Pro Bowler Shannon Sharpe played in only five games due to injury, and caught just 23 of those 85 passes.

In 1998 Shannon Sharpe led all NFL tight ends in receiving yards (768), while ranking third among his peers in receptions (64) and tying for the AFC lead in receiving touchdowns (10). He was a unanimous All-NFL selection for the seventh straight year, and became the first tight end in league history to post seven straight 50-catch seasons. The Broncos' depth at tight end was never more evident than in their Super Bowl XXXIII win over Atlanta, when Sharpe left the game in the first quarter with a knee injury. Carswell and Byron Chamberlain performed admirably, with Chamberlain catching three passes for 29 yards and recovering two Atlanta on-side kicks.

In 1997 Sharpe led the club in receptions (72) for the sixth straight year, and led all NFL tight ends in receptions and receiving yards (1,107) for the second straight year. Sharpe's 1,107 yards represented a career high, and marked his third 1,000-yard season, tying him with Todd Christensen and Kellen Winslow for most 1,000-yard seasons by a tight end in NFL history.

In 1996 Sharpe led all NFL tight ends with career highs for receiving yards (1,062) and touchdowns (10), while posting his second most receptions (80), en route to All-NFL honors. His 1995 numbers (63 catches) led the team and earned Sharpe his fourth straight Pro Bowl, first under Pariani's tutelage.

Pariani started his NFL coaching career in 1990 as a scouting assistant with the 49ers. He then became the team's offensive coaches' assistant for the next four seasons, working directly with the offensive coaches and quarterbacks, assisting with daily practices and game plans. The 49ers' offense led the league in total yards in 1992 and '93, and scored a team-record 505 points and 62 touchdowns in '94 en route to a Super Bowl title.

After earning his political science degree from UCLA in 1989, Pariani served as a graduate assistant with the Bruins, helping head coach Terry Donahue's offense during the 1989 season.

Pariani attended Marin (Calif.) Catholic High School where he played football, baseball and basketball. He is a native of San Francisco, Calif. (7/2/65). He, his wife, Stephanie, and daughters Jessica and Gianna, reside in Castle Pines, Colo.

Ray Rhodes • Defensive Coordinator

NFL Season: 21st (1st year with Broncos)

Ray Rhodes joins the Broncos coaching staff as defensive coordinator in 2001, following an outstanding 20-year NFL coaching career that includes nine years as either a head coach or defensive coordinator. Rhodes comes to Denver after serving in the same capacity with the Washington Redskins last season, following five seasons as head coach of the Green Bay Packers (1999) and Philadelphia Eagles (1995-98).

Rhodes began his coaching career in 1981 after a seven-year playing career in the league as a wide receiver and defensive back with the New York Giants and San Francisco 49ers in the 1970s.

Rhodes, 50, improved the Redskins' defensive ranking to fourth in the NFL in 2000 after inheriting a unit that ranked 30th the year before. He led an overall improvement by a defense that allowed the fewest first downs (254), total net yards (4,474) and points (269) by a Redskins team since 1992, and produced more sacks than any Washington club since 1991. In addition, two of his standouts—defensive end Marco Coleman and cornerback Champ Bailey—made the Pro Bowl.

Rhodes was head coach of the Green Bay Packers in 1999, where the club posted a record of 8-8 in his only season with the organization. Prior to that he spent four years as head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, where he was named NFL Coach of the Year in his initial season, 1995. He earned the honor by leading the Eagles to the playoffs with a 10-6 record and advancing his team to the NFC Divisional Playoff round. It was the first of two consecutive postseason trips for Rhodes' Philadelphia club, making him the only head coach in the Eagles' 67-year history to qualify for the playoffs in each of his first two seasons. His overall record as a head coach is 37-41-1 (.469).

Prior to his tenure in Philadelphia Rhodes was defensive coordinator for San Francisco's 1994 World Championship club, for which Broncos Head Coach Mike Shanahan was offensive coordinator. He orchestrated a stellar defense filled with new faces. In fact, of that unit's 11 starters, six were new to the team in '94. That reshaped unit went on to log 35 takeaways and five defensive touchdowns. San Francisco's Rhodes-led defense thoroughly shut down the potent San Diego Chargers offense in Super Bowl XXIX, led by four Pro Bowl performers: safeties Merton Hanks and Tim McDonald; cornerback Deion Sanders and defensive tackle Dana Stubblefield.

Rhodes was defensive coordinator in Green Bay for two seasons (1992-93) prior to his appointment with the 49ers. In his second season the Packers defense flourished, helping lead the team to its first playoff appearance since 1982, and sent a pair of Packer defensive players (safety LeRoy Butler and defensive end Reggie White) to the Pro Bowl for the first time in 15 years. Safety Chuck Cecil earned a Pro Bowl nod under his tutelage in '92. In all, Rhodes took a unit that had ranked 10th in the NFL in '91 and elevated it to the No. 2 overall ranking in just two seasons.

Rhodes began his coaching career in 1981, spending two seasons as assistant secondary coach before being promoted to defensive backs coach for the 1983-91 seasons. He went on to become one of only four men to serve on the coaching staff of all five of the 49ers' Super Bowl winning teams (George Seifert, Bobb McKittrick and Bill McPherson were the others). In Rhodes' 12 seasons as a 49ers assistant, the team earned postseason berths 10 times and advanced to the NFC Championship Game on seven occasions.

In 1981, his first season as an assistant, Rhodes helped the 49ers win Super Bowl XVI with three rookies starting in the defensive backfield—cornerbacks Ronnie Lott and Eric Wright and safety Carlton Williamson. As the 49ers secondary coach through 1991, he also saw those same three players, plus safety Dwight Hicks, reach the Pro Bowl, among the 16 total Pro Bowl invitations earned by his defensive backfield pupils.

Born Oct. 20, 1950 in Mexia, Texas, Raymond Earl Rhodes graduated from Mexia High School where he won all-state honors in football in football as a running back and defensive back. He also lettered in track and field, helping the school reach the state basketball finals.

As a collegian Rhodes spent two years as a running back at Texas Christian University (1969-70) before transferring to the University of Tulsa (1972-73). At Tulsa he was converted to a wide receiver, defensive back and kick returner, while also lettering in track and field.

Selected by the New York Giants in the 10th round of the 1974 NFL Draft, he played wide receiver in his first three NFL seasons, including 1975 when he led all NFC receivers with a 20.7 yards-per-catch average. Two years later, however, Rhodes was switched to defensive back by the Giants and won a starting job at cornerback. In 1979, he was sent to San Francisco as part of a four-player trade that also saw Tony Dungy, presently the head coach of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, sent from the 49ers to the Giants.

Rhodes and his wife, Carmen, have four daughters: Detra (11/4/70), Candra (5/25/76), Tynesha (9/10/79), and Raven (5/23/85).

Greg Saporta • Asst. Strength & Cond.

NFL Season: 7th (all with Broncos)

Greg Saporta is in his seventh season as assistant strength and conditioning coach for the Broncos. He assists head strength coach Rich Tuten in coordinating the year-round strength and conditioning program for the team.

Saporta came to the Broncos in 1995 from the University of Florida where he spent two separate stints as an assistant strength coach under Tuten. He originally began as a student assistant at Florida in 1981, and became assistant strength coach in 1985. Saporta held that position until 1988, when he went to the University of North Carolina to assume the same position from 1988-92, once again working with Tuten, who had been named Strength Director.

Saporta returned to Florida in 1992 to resume his position as assistant strength coach, which he held until April 1995 when he joined the Broncos' staff. During his initial stay in Gainesville, Saporta served on the same staff as Broncos head coach Mike Shanahan, who was the Gators' offensive coordinator at the time.

Saporta, 44, received his bachelor's degree in physical education with a concentration in exercise physiology from Florida in 1985. He previously had attended Buffalo State University in New York, where he lettered for two years in football and rugby, as well as participating in track.

Saporta, born Feb. 18, 1957, is originally from Manhattan, N.Y. He and his wife, Nancy, reside in Denver.

CEDRIC SMITH • ASST. STRENGTH & COND.

NFL Season: 1st

Cedric Smith joins the Broncos coaching staff for his first season as assistant strength and conditioning coach in 2001. He joins strength and conditioning coach Rich Tuten and assistant Greg Saporta in handling all aspects of the Broncos in-season and off-season programs for players.

Smith, who played seven years in the National Football League between 1990-98, spent the past two years as a fitness manager and consultant with Gold's Gym in Phoenix, Ariz.

During his career Smith played for Minnesota (1990), New Orleans (1991), Washington (1994-95) and Arizona (1996-98). As a fullback he played in 72 career games (14 starts) and rushed 40 times for 100 yards (2.5) with a long of 13 and two touchdowns, while catching 20 passes for 141 yards (7.1) with a long of 28 and two touchdowns. He also returned five kickoffs for 83 yards (16.6) during his career. Smith's most productive season came with Washington in 1994 when he played in 14 games and started eight, rushing for 48 yards on 10 carries and catching 15 passes for 118 yards (7.9) and a touchdown. He spent his final season, 1998, on injured reserve with the Cardinals.

Smith, 33, was a three-year starter at Florida, where he paved the way for Emmitt Smith, and where Tuten was strength and conditioning coach. A three-time Southeastern Conference All-Academic selection, Smith rushed for 389 yards and four touchdowns on 102 carries during his collegiate career. He earned a degree in rehabilitative counseling from Florida, and in 1992-93, while out of football, worked in a mental hospital in Gainesville, Fla.

Smith (5/27/68) was an All-Alabama fullback at Enterprise (Ala.) High School. He and his wife, Nicole, have three sons, Chandler (7/13/93), Canyon (3/19/96) and Cole (8/12/99).

JOHN TEERLINCK • PASS RUSH SPECIALIST

NFL Season: 13th (5th year with Broncos)

John Teerlinck is in his fifth year as the Denver Broncos' pass-rush specialist, hired in February 1997 to that newly created position. Teerlinck has established himself as one of the NFL's best in that area in his 12 seasons in the league, and is largely responsible for the development of several of the league's most dominant pass rushers.

In the four years since Teerlinck's arrival in Denver the Broncos have posted more sacks than any other team in the AFC and rank third in the NFL. The increased emphasis on the pass rush, and the resulting pressure on opposing quarterbacks, was paramount to the defensive effort that helped propel Denver to back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98.

The Broncos' defense increased its sack total in each of Teerlinck's first three seasons with the club (44, 47 and 50), and still posted an impressive 44 last year. The 1999 total of 50, which tied for the third most sacks in franchise history, and the highest since 1992, ranked second in the NFL for sack percentage (9.2%). Overall, the defensive line has accounted for 64 of the club's 94 sacks (68%) over the past two seasons.

Defensive tackle Trevor Pryce has blossomed under Teerlinck's tutelage, posting 13 and 12 sacks the past two seasons to earn consecutive Pro Bowl berths in just his third and fourth NFL seasons. Pryce is just the latest in a string of talented NFL defensive linemen who Teerlinck has groomed in his career.

With three starters returning, in addition to a strong influx of veterans and promising young players vying for time in the defensive line rotation, the unit appears poised to put even greater pressure on opposing quarterbacks in 2001.

In 1998, defensive linemen tied for the team lead in sacks for the second consecutive year, as Pryce and Maa Tanuvasa each posted 8.5. The team total of 47 was the highest by a Denver club since 1992 and ranked second in the AFC. The line also played an integral role in Denver posting a No. 3 ranking against the rush in 1998, and allowing just two opposing running backs to top the 100-yard mark.

The performance of the defensive line in 1997 was crucial to the Broncos' successful navigation through a four-game postseason slate, which included 11 sacks, and culminated with the first World Championship in franchise history. The line boasted three players with at least eight sacks—defensive ends Neil Smith and Alfred Williams, and Tanuvasa each with 8.5—spearheading a defensive group that posted 44 for the season, the highest Denver total since 1993. Especially promising was the development of Tanuvasa, who had entered the year with five career sacks over his first two seasons.

Teerlinck came to Denver from Detroit where he had spent two seasons as the Lions' Assistant Head Coach/Defense. While there he dramatically improved the club's sack totals, posting an average of 37 per season, up from a total of 28 the year prior to his arrival. His 1995 squad registered 42 sacks for an NFC-high 317 yards lost. Individually, Henry Thomas posted a career-high 10.5 sacks under Teerlinck's guidance in 1995—the most by a Lion since 1988—and in '96 Robert Porcher notched a career-high 10 to lead the team.

Prior to his two-year stint in Detroit, Teerlinck spent three years as defensive line coach for the Minnesota Vikings. Under his tutelage, the Vikings' defensive line was known for its dominating play and relentless pursuit of opposing quarterbacks. Three of the four linemen he coached in Minnesota were named All-Pro. The Vikings led the league in rushing defense each of his last two seasons (the Vikings limited their opponents to 68.1 yards per game in 1994, the fourth fewest in NFL history) as Minnesota led the league in total defense in 1993 and finished fifth in 1994.

In 1993, the Vikings led the NFC in defense against the run and finished third in the league in sacks-per-pass-play. Also in 1993, the Vikings' front four totaled 41 sacks, the most by any defensive line in the league and more than 16 other entire teams in the league. The Vikings' 51 sacks in 1992 were the second most in team history and Chris Doleman was named the NFC's Defensive Player of the Year. Teerlinck has the distinction of tutoring two conference defensive players of the year: former Bronco Michael Dean Perry in 1989 while the two were with the Cleveland Browns, and John Randle in Minnesota, whom Teerlinck groomed from an undrafted rookie to a consensus All-Pro in 1993-94.

Teerlinck spent one season with the Los Angeles Rams (1991) before joining the Vikings staff, and prior to that spent two seasons with Cleveland (1989-90) where the Browns set a franchise record in 1989 with 45 sacks. He began his pro coaching career in 1983 under the late George Allen with the USFL's Chicago Blitz, who would later become the Arizona Wranglers. The team led the USFL in defense and sacks in each of his three seasons. Teerlinck's players also held nine of the 12 All-USFL defensive line spots available during the league's three-year existence.

Teerlinck spent three years (1980-82) at the University of Illinois under Mike White before moving into the pro ranks. During Teerlinck's tenure, the Fighting Illini had back-to-back winning seasons (1981-82) and played in their first bowl game since the early 1960s. Teerlinck spent two years (1978-79) as the defensive coordinator at Eastern Illinois, along with Broncos Head Coach Mike Shanahan, prior to joining the Fighting Illini staff. In 1978, the Panthers won the NCAA Division II national title with Teerlinck and Shanahan on the coaching staff. His first coaching job was at Iowa Lakes Junior College in 1977 after being released from the San Diego Chargers' roster in late August.

A fifth-round draft choice by San Diego in 1974, Teerlinck started two games at defensive end his rookie season. He started five of the first six games at defensive tackle in 1975 before suffering a knee injury, which ended his career two years later.

Teerlinck earned Little All-America honors and was co-captain as a senior at Western Illinois. He was the team's defensive MVP after posting 122 tackles and 14 sacks in 1973. Teerlinck still holds a share of the school's single-game record with four sacks in a 1973 contest, while also being a member of the school's Hall of Fame.

A 50-year old native of Rochester, N.Y. (4/9/51), Teerlinck was named All-Chicago Catholic League at Fenwick High School. He holds a bachelor's degree in physical education from Western Illinois and earned a master's degree in education from Eastern Illinois. In 1986 he opened a highly successful brokerage business in Phoenix, Ariz.

John and his wife, Sue, have five children: Ann, Bill, Mark, Molly and Mary.

BOBBY TURNER • RUNNING BACKS

NFL Season: 7th (all with Broncos)

Bobby Turner is in his seventh season as the Broncos' running backs coach, a position he took over in 1995. He came to Denver with 20 years coaching experience at the collegiate level.

In his final collegiate coaching stop Turner was assistant head coach, offensive coordinator and running backs coach at Purdue.

Turner served in the same capacity at Ohio State from 1989-90, during which time the Buckeyes went to two bowl games and had one of the best running games in the Big Ten.

Prior to his stint at Ohio State Turner coached the running backs at Fresno State (1983-88) and at his alma mater, Indiana State (1975-82). He accepted a position as backfield coach at ISU in 1975 and spent three of his eight seasons there (1976, '77, '82) as the defensive backs coach in addition to five years as special teams coordinator (1978-82). Turner was also the strength and conditioning coordinator from 1975-77.

Turner began his coaching career at Haworth High School in Kokomo, Ind., as an assistant with the football and basketball teams.

A native of East Chicago, Ind. (5/6/49), Turner enjoyed a fine career as an all-conference defensive back at Indiana State, where he played both football and basketball. He set the school record as a sophomore with nine of his 16 career interceptions, including two returned for touchdowns. He earned his bachelor's degree in health and physical education in 1972 and his master's from ISU in education/administration in 1976.

Turner, 52, attended East Chicago Washington High School where he played four sports (football, basketball, baseball and track).

Bobby and his wife, Kimberly, have three daughters, Nacole, Krishana and Kiaana, and make their home in Aurora, Colo.

RICH TUTEN • STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

NFL Season: 7th (all with Broncos)

Rich Tuten is in his seventh season as the Broncos' strength and conditioning coach. He coordinates the organization's year-round strength and conditioning program with assistance from Greg Saporta and Cedric Smith.

Under Tuten's guidance during the Mike Shanahan regime, the Broncos' offseason strength and conditioning program has become a model among NFL franchises. It has been overwhelmingly successful, not only in terms of attendance by Broncos players, but in their performance on the field, as Denver captured back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98.

Tuten came to the Broncos in 1995 from the University of Florida, where he was the Director of Strength and Conditioning from 1980-88, and also from 1993-94. He was the Athletic Strength Director at the University of North Carolina from 1989-92.

While at both schools, Tuten supervised the strength and conditioning programs for every intercollegiate sport. With UF he also served as the head strength and conditioning coach for the nationally ranked Gator football team, and played a key role in the design of Florida's current strength and conditioning complex.

At North Carolina Tuten helped the Tar Heels make major advancements in their strength and conditioning program, helping them to be able to compete with the top collegiate programs in the country. Besides his work at collegiate institutions, Tuten is also a member of the National Strength and Conditioning Association.

Tuten has worked with many athletes who have gone on to enjoy success in the NFL, including Emmitt Smith (Cowboys), Neal Anderson (former Bear), Ricky Nattiel (former Bronco), John L. Williams (former Seahawk and Steeler), Errict Rhett (Buccaneers, Ravens, Browns) and Godfrey Myles (former Cowboy) at Florida, as well as former Bronco Rondell Jones at North Carolina.

Tuten, 47, has also coached with two current members of the Broncos coaching staff. He coached with head coach Mike Shanahan at Florida from 1980-83; with secondary coach Zaven Yaralian at Florida from 1983-87 and with his assistant Greg Saporta at both Florida and North Carolina from 1981-94.

A 1979 Clemson University graduate, Tuten was a three-year letterman and starting nose guard for the Tigers. He was named to the All-America Strength team in 1978 and was part of the 1978 Atlantic Coast Conference champion Tiger squad. Tuten registered nine tackles and three sacks against Maryland that season to help clinch the conference title. He was named ACC Defensive Player of the Week for his efforts. He received his degree in therapeutic recreation from Clemson in 1978.

Tuten, born Dec. 30, 1953, attended Wakefield High School in Arlington, Va., where he participated in football, wrestling and track. He is a native of Columbia, S.C.

He and his wife, Donna, reside in Highlands Ranch, Colo., with their two sons, Will and Matt.

STEVE WATSON • DEFENSIVE ASSISTANT

NFL Season: 1st

Steve Watson, while not new to the Denver Broncos organization, is new to the coaching staff in 2001, joining the staff as a defensive assistant. He worked with the club in training camp as a coaching intern last year, and continued working with the team at all home games during the 2000 season.

Watson has been in private business in Denver and northern Colorado since his retirement from the team in 1987. In addition to his business interests, Watson has been very active in working with current players as a member of the Broncos' Alumni Council.

One of the most popular players in team history, Watson was a wide receiver for the Broncos from 1979-87, finishing his sterling career with 353 receptions for 6,112 yards and 36 touchdowns. He also was recognized as an outstanding special teams player during his pro career.

Watson had three 1,000-yard seasons (1981, '83 and '84), and was named to the Pro Bowl in 1981. That year he posted the best numbers of his career for yardage (1,244), touchdowns (13) and reception average (20.7), while his season high of 69 receptions came in 1984.

Watson had 16 100-yard games and 49 straight games with at least one reception, and still ranks among the team's all-time leaders in all reception categories. He had single-game highs of 11 receptions (1984, vs. Pittsburgh in the playoffs) and 183 yards (on 10 receptions at Los Angeles vs. the Rams in 1982).

Watson joined the team in 1979 as a free agent from Temple University, where he was a four-year letterman at wide receiver. He was selected to the All-East team, plaing in the East-West Shrine Game to close out his college career. Watson also won three letters and two conference championships as a long jumper, graduating with a degree in parks administration.

A native of Baltimore, Md. (5/28/57), Watson was a three-sport star at St. Mark's High School in Wilmington, Del. He and his wife, Pam, have a son, Stephen Ross, Jr., (5/5/88) and two daughters, Brittany (6/21/86) and Rachel (1/24/90). The family makes its home in Aurora, Colo.

ZAVEN YARALIAN • HEAD COACH'S ASSISTANT

NFL Season: 11th (1st with Broncos)

Zaven Yaralian joins the Broncos coaching staff for his first year in 2001 as head coach's assistant. Yaralian brings 25 years of coaching experience to his new position, including 10 seasons in the NFL and three as a defensive coordinator at the pro level.

Yaralian comes to the Broncos after serving as defensive coordinator for the New Orleans Saints from 1997-99, where his defensive troops ranked at or near the top of the league rankings in several major defensive categories. In 1998 the Saints ranked first in the NFC and third in the NFL in red zone defense, and tied for first in the NFL and tied for fourth in the NFL with 21 interceptions.

Yaralian's defensive strategy improved a defense that ranked 13th in the NFL the year prior to his arrival to fourth in 1997. That club set a franchise record with 59 sacks, while his 1998 unit set a club record with nine defensive touchdowns.

Prior to his stint in New Orleans Yaralian coached the secondary for the New York Giants from 1993-96, directing a unit that allowed the fewest points in the NFL (205) in his first year. The Giants' defense ranked in the NFL's top 10 against the pass in three of his four seasons in New York. Yaralian previously coached the Chicago Bears' secondary from 1990-92, where his 1990 group led the league with 31 interceptions.

Yaralian began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Nebraska, in 1975. He then coached the defensive backs at Washington State from 1976-77 before moving on to Missouri in the same role from 1978-82. Yaralian served as the secondary coach at Florida from 1983-87 and added the additional role of defensive coordinator during the latter three seasons of the stint. In 1983 he coached on the same staff as Broncos Head Coach Mike Shanahan, who was in his final year as assistant head coach/offensive coordinator for the Gators before joining the Broncos as receivers coach the next year. Yaralian then moved on to Colorado where he coached defensive backs from 1988-89 before joining the Bears' staff in 1990. He was a member of the coaching staff of Colorado during their national title game against Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl at the conclusion of the '89 season.

Yaralian was a two-year starter at cornerback for Nebraska before a short stint with the Green Bay Packers in 1974 and the Philadelphia Bell of the World Football League in 1975.

Born February 5, 1952, Yaralian grew up in California. He and his wife, Lorraine, have two sons, Blake and Garrett.

PLAYER PERSONNEL

RICK SMITH

DIRECTOR OF PRO PERSONNEL

Rick Smith is in his second season in charge of the Broncos' pro personnel operations, and his sixth overall with the club. He spent his first four years in Denver as an assistant on the defensive coaching staff, working with the secondary.

Smith's primary role involves developing, implementing and directing the club's overall pro personnel endeavors, and assisting with the negotiation of contracts for free agents.

In his four years on the Broncos' coaching staff Smith worked with a defensive unit that consistently ranked among the NFL's best, including rankings of No. 4 in 1996, No. 5 in '97 and No. 7 in '99, as well as back-to-back World Championships in '97 and '98. The club won more games (46) from 1996-98 than any other team in NFL history over a three-year period.

In 1999 the Broncos ranked eighth in the NFL in pass defense and did not allow an opposing quarterback to throw for more 278 yards all season. Denver's pass defense in 1997 posted a No. 5 ranking in the NFL, and limited four of the 16 regular season opponents to 3 points or fewer, including one shutout. In his first year, Smith helped coach a defensive unit that improved from No. 15 to No. 4 in the NFL—including a No. 1 ranking against the run for just the second time in franchise history. The defense set or tied three different franchise records in 1996.

Smith, 31, was hired April 3, 1996, following a two-year stint as defensive backs coach at his alma mater, Purdue. He had left Purdue in February to accept a coaching position at Texas Christian, but spent just one month there before being hired by the Broncos.

A 1992 Purdue graduate, Smith began his coaching career with the Boilermakers shortly after his graduation, serving as the school's assistant strength and conditioning coordinator. In that role, Smith worked exclusively with football, volleyball and wrestling before being promoted to the role of interim strength and conditioning coordinator during the summer of 1993.

Smith was a starter at strong safety and defensive captain for Purdue as a senior in 1991. A native of Petersburg, Va. (9/3/69), he attended Meadowdale High School in Dayton, Ohio. Smith is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Smith and his wife, Tiffany, make their home in Parker, Colo.

TED SUNDQUIST

DIRECTOR OF COLLEGE SCOUTING

Ted Sundquist is in his 10th season with the Broncos organization and his sixth as Director of College Scouting. He spent the 1995 season apprenticing under former college scouting director Jerry Frei before being promoted to his current post following the 1996 draft. Sundquist was a pro and college scout for the Broncos in 1993-94.

Sundquist's main duty is to oversee the Broncos' entire college college scouting process, as well as its 11-person department. In addition he is responsible for evaluating the top collegiate players to supplement reports gathered by the team's area scouts; assisting General Manager Neal Dahlen in the negotiation of player contracts and managing the scouting department's $1.2 million budget. Since February 2000 he has also assisted in the long-range management of Denver's salary cap.

For the past six years, when the Broncos have been perhaps the NFL's most successful organization, Sundquist has evaluated every draftable player and endorsed such standouts as Terrell Davis, Olandis Gary, Mike Anderson, Trevor Pryce and Brian Griese. He has also had success with undrafted free agents such as Matt Lepsis.

At age 39, Sundquist has already established himself as one of the league's top directors of college scouting. A testament to this first came in 1997 when Sundquist was selected to sit on the five-member Executive Committee of National Football Scouting, Inc. He is also a member of the selection committee for the annual National Invitational Camp.

Sundquist's backround is more diverse than most in his profession. He played collegiately at the Air Force Academy, participating on two bowl championship teams. While stationed in Berlin as a flight commander for the 6912 Electronic Security Group from 1986-88 Sundquist supervised and directed 45 Air Force personnel, as well as $35 million worth of equipment. He also reported highly perishable defense information to Theater Tactical Commanders and briefed general officers and state department officials regarding flight operations.

Upon his return to the United States Sundquist rejoined the Air Force coaching staff, with which he had worked during the 1984 season. Along with his varsity coaching duties he was the head coach for the USAFA Preparatory School in 1990-91, and took an active part in scouting for the Falcons.

Sundquist also was a member of the U.S. National Bobsled Team from 1984-88, and competed in the Olympic Trials in '88. A Texas native, Sundquist played at Spring Woods High School in Houston with major-league pitching great Roger Clemens. From there Sundquist moved on to the Air Force and eventually the University of Colorado, where he earned his master's degree in public administration 1992.

Sundquist was born May 1, 1962 in Houston. He and his wife, Amy, live in Parker, Colo.

Bob Beers

College Scout

Bob Beers is in his seventh season with the Broncos' scouting staff, joining the organization in June 1995 after a very successful season on the coaching staff of the World League's Amsterdam Admirals. He is responsible for scouting the Western United States.

With Beers as offensive coordinator in 1995, the Admirals compiled a 9-1 regular season record and advanced to the World Bowl. Amsterdam's regular season record equaled that of the 1991 London Monarchs, tying the club for the best record in WLAF history.

Prior to his stint with the Admirals, Beers served two seasons as head coach at Western Montana where he guided the program to Frontier Conference titles and earned Coach of the Year honors both seasons. His 1994 team claimed the conference title and garnered the school's first ever berth in the NAIA national playoffs, advancing to the Final Four and finishing with an 8-3 record. The Bulldogs finished second in the nation in passing (3,535 yards) and total offense (5,000), and 10 Bulldogs earned All-America honors, including two first-teamers.

In 1993, the Western offense set 23 school records, led the nation in passing (3,069 yards) and finished second in total offense (4,206).

Beers began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at the University of Montana before moving on to Montana Tech where he served as defensive coordinator from 1972-74. He then spent 10 years in the prep ranks of Montana and Oregon before returning to Montana as offensive line coach under Don Read. He entered the professional ranks in 1990 as offensive coordinator for the Frankfurt Galaxy of the World League before returning to the collegiate ranks to begin his two-year stint as head coach at Western Montana.

A 1965 graduate of Sunset High School in Beaverton, Ore., Beers earned his bachelor's degree from the University of Montana where he was an All-America linebacker as a junior and senior. Bob and his wife Janelle have three children: son Bobby (28), who was an All-America wide receiver for Western Montana, and is now coaching in the NFL Europe League with Berlin; daughter Carrie (27), a Western graduate who now teaches middle school English in Oregon; and daughter Joey (10). The family resides in Redmond, Ore.

Prior to his involvement with the Broncos organization, Cornell scouted for the Dallas Cowboys during and after his illustrious playing career. Green began scouting for the Cowboys in 1970 while still an active player, and continued scouting through 1979, at which time he entered private business until coming to the Broncos in 1987.

Green, 61, was signed by the Cowboys as a free agent and went on to play for Dallas from 1962-75, at cornerback for 10 years before moving over to safety for his last four seasons. Green earned Pro Bowl honors seven times, winning that honor at both cornerback and safety.

He did not play college football but was a two-time All-America basketball player (1959-60 and 1961-62) at Utah State, where he averaged 23 points per game at forward for the Aggies from 1959-62. Cornell's brother, Pumpsie Green, had a lenghty career in major league baseball.

DENVER'S WINNING TRADITION

Denver Broncos football enters its 42nd season in 2001, playing in a new stadium and looking to return to the pinnacle of success they enjoyed with back-to-back Super Bowl wins following the 1997 and 1998 seasons. The Broncos will pursue that goal while playing before sellout crowds at brand-new INVESCO Field at Mile High. It will mark the 32nd consecutive season of sold out games for the club, the first 31 of which came at Mile High Stadium. The team has sold out 237 consecutive regular season games, and 250 straight including playoff games. Broncos fans have watched their team amass one of the NFL's finest records since the club's first winning season in 1973, enduring just five losing seasons—tied for second fewest in the NFL—as shown in the list below.

This season also marks Pat Bowlen's 18th as President and Chief Executive Officer of the Broncos. During that time, Denver has enjoyed a virtually unmatched level of success in the context of the entire NFL and within the American Football Conference Western Division.

More than 650,000 people descended on downtown Denver January 27, 1998 to salute the World Champion Broncos two days after their victory over Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII in San Diego. A parade through the streets of the city culminated in a rally at Civic Center Park, where Colorado Governor Roy Romer and Denver Mayor Wellington Webb officially welcomed the Super Bowl champions home. A similar gathering was held a year later, February 1, 1999, when the Broncos returned home from Miami after defeating Atlanta in Super Bowl XXXII. Governor-elect Bill Owens and Mayor Webb joined the festivities to salute the back-to-back World Champs.

DENVER LEADS THE AFC IN SUPER BOWL APPEARANCES — The Broncos made their sixth Super Bowl appearance against Atlanta Jan. 31, 1999, the most by any current American Football Conference franchise, and second most in the NFL behind Dallas (8). By winning back-to-back Super Bowls (XXXII and XXXIII) the Denver Broncos became one of just six franchises to "repeat," marking the seventh time the feat has been accomplished.

COMING BACK STRONGER — Since the Super Bowl was first played after the 1966 season, only three teams have won the game and gone on to post a better record the following season, including the 1997-98 Broncos teams. All three teams not only improved their record, but repeated as Super Bowl champions.

THE BRONCOS' STREAKS — The Broncos' undefeated home finish in 1998 was the club's third in a row, making them only the fourth franchise in NFL history to complete three straight regular seasons at home without losing a game, and only the third to win every home game for three straight years. Furthermore, Denver is the only team to accomplish this feat since the 16-game schedule was implemented in 1978. That adds up to a 24-game win streak at Mile High Stadium for the Broncos, the third-longest home winning streak in NFL history. Overall, the 1998 Broncos began the season by reeling off 13 straight wins, the second-best start in NFL history, contributing to an NFL-record-tying 18-game winning streak (regular and postseason combined).

What to Look For From the Broncos in 2001

- The Broncos seek to become the third team to win three Super Bowls in a five-year period. The Pittsburgh Steelers (1974-78) and Dallas Cowboys (1992-96) are the only teams to accomplish this feat.
- The Broncos look to extend their NFL-best home record of 167-54-1 (156-52-1 in regular season) since 1974. The regular season victories and total victories are the most in the NFL over that period.

Mike Anderson

- Needs three rushing touchdowns to pass Gerald Willhite (17) for seventh place; eight to pass Jon Keyworth (22) for sixth place and 11 to pass Otis Armstrong (25) for fifth place on Denver's all-time rushing touchdowns list.

Terrell Davis

Mike Anderson proved to be one of the National Football League's best stories of 2000, as the sixth-round draft choice from Utah was named NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year by the Associated Press and shattered every Broncos rookie rushing record. Starting just 12 games he rushed for more yards (1,487) than all but five other rookie backs in league history. Anderson's 251-yard rushing performance at New Orleans late in the season was the best by any rookie in NFL history and was only topped overall in league annals by Corey Dillon (278), Walter Payton (275) and O.J. Simpson (273). He joins All-Pro Terrell Davis and 1999 Broncos super-rookie Olandis Gary (1,159 yards) to give Denver the deepest and most talented backfield in the NFL. Humble and hard-working, Anderson not only took his accomplishments in stride, but also played with pain throughout the final month of the season on an injured left knee that required surgery after the season to repair torn meniscus cartilage. The surgery was successful and put Anderson back at full strength by the start of mini-camp in May. Anderson was the Broncos sixth-round choice in the 2000 NFL Draft (189th overall) out of Utah.

OFF THE FIELD

Mike Anderson was named NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year by the Associated Press last season, garnering 40 of the 50 media votes to become the first Bronco to win the award. His path to the NFL is what makes the story so remarkable. Anderson did not play football in high school at Fairfield (S.C.) Central. He turned out for the team, but became a drummer in the school's marching band when coaches insisted he play offensive line instead of running back. Upon graduation, he enlisted in the Marine Corps, and spent parts of his four years on peace-keeping missions in Somalia and Kenya. It was at Camp Pendleton where he took up football again, which led to a two-year stop at Mt. San Jacinto Community College—where he earned All-America honors—and the University of Utah, where he rushed for 2,404 yards in two seasons. Anderson was drafted by the Broncos in the sixth round (189th) in 2000 at age 26.

2000: Anderson was named NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year by the Associated Press, Pro Football Weekly and Football Digest; NFL Rookie of the Year by USA Today; NFL Offensive Rookie of the Month and AFC Offensive Player of the Month for December and NFL Offensive Rookie of the Month for September and earned All-Rookie honors from Pro Football Weekly, Football News and Football Digest. He played in all 16 games and started 12 (Gms. 2-4, 6-8 and 11-16), and was the third leading rusher in the AFC (4th NFL) with a franchise rookie-record 1,487 yards (4th best season in franchise history and tied for 5th best by a rookie in NFL history) and 15 touchdowns on 297 carries (5.0), with a long of 80. He also caught 23 passes for 169 yards (7.3) to give him a franchise rookie-record 1,656 total yards from scrimmage, seventh most in the AFC (12th NFL). Anderson's 15 touchdowns and one two-point conversion gave him 92 total points on the season, fourth most in the AFC (T5th NFL). In his last eight starts Anderson averaged 125.4 yds. per game (1,003 yds.), and in his 12 starts overall averaged an NFL-best 121.5 yds. per game. His 577 yds. in Games 12-14 was the best three-game total in franchise history (previous best: Terrell Davis, 512, 1998) and the fifth best three-game total in NFL history, while his 5.0 yds.-per-carry average was the best in the AFC (3rd NFL) this season for players with 100 or more carries and ranked third in franchise history (No. 1 by a rookie). Anderson's 15 rushing touchdowns led the AFC and ranked second in the NFL; set a franchise rookie record; tied for second most by a Bronco in a single season; tied for second most by a rookie in NFL history and already placed him eighth on Denver's all-time career list. Anderson led all NFL rookies in rushing yards, touchdowns, rushing touchdowns, scoring and first downs (84), and ranked second in total yds. from scrimmage. He also ranked fourth in the AFC (T5th NFL) in total touchdowns and tied for fifth in first downs (T7th NFL). Additionally, Anderson's 297 rushing attempts were the most by a rookie in Broncos history and were fourth most overall in franchise history. Anderson's five 100-yd. rushing games tied the franchise rookie record (Humphrey, 1989), while his four games of 30 or more carries were the most by any player in franchise history in the same season. In the season finale vs. S.F. (12/23) Anderson rushed for 85 yds. on 26 carries (3.3) and scored two touchdowns in Denver's 38-9 win to solidify the best rushing season by a rookie in Broncos franchise history. In Week 15 vs. Sea. (12/10) Anderson notched his franchise rookie-record sixth 100-yd. rushing day of the season with 131 yds. on 29 carries (4.5) with a long of 19 and two touchdowns. He became the first rookie in franchise history to rush for 100 or more yards in three consecutive games. A week earlier at New Orleans (12/3) Anderson posted the best rushing day in franchise history—and fourth best in NFL history—and set an NFL rookie record with 251 yds. on a career-high 37 carries (6.8) to earn both AFC Offensive Player of the Week and Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week. His day included a franchise-record four touchdowns, all on the ground, while his 37 carries tie for second most in team history. Anderson also set a new franchise record with 256 total yds. from scrimmage, and his combined rushing total at N.O. and at Sea. the week before (446 yds.) was the third best two-game total in NFL history (1. O.J. Simpson, 476 in 1976; 2. Walter Payton, 467 in 1977). He surpassed Gary's rookie single-season record of 1,159 yds. (1999) in the game and set a new standard for rushing TDs by a rookie, breaking the record of 7 held by Gary (1999), Terrell Davis (1995) and Bobby Humphrey (1989). In the Saints game he became the first player in franchise history to rush for more than 100 yds. in both halves (146/105), and posted his second 100-yd. qtr. in as many weeks (105, 2nd qtr.) Anderson had his previous best day as a pro at Sea. (11/26) and earned AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for the first time in his career. He broke his own franchise single-game rookie rushing record with 195 yds. and two touchdowns on 30 carries (6.5), including the longest run of his career, an 80-yd. touchdown dash in the 4th qtr. to provide the winning points in a 38-31 triumph. It was the longest scoring run by a rookie in franchise history and tied for the second longest overall. In the Seattle contest Anderson rushed for a career-best 153 yds. in a half (2nd), including his first 100-yd. qtr. (115 in the 4th). In his seventh start of the season, vs. S.D. (11/19), Anderson posted career-best receiving numbers with six catches for 41 yds. (6.8). He logged his third 100-yard game of the season in Week 7 vs. Cleve. (10/15) with 103 yds. on 20 carries (5.2), including a 26-yard touchdown run, his longest of the day. In Week 3 at Oakland (9/17) Anderson followed his stunning debut with an even more impressive performance, setting a new Broncos rookie record for single-game rushing and earning Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week honors. Starting for the second week in a row in place of Davis (ankle) he rushed for 187 yards—including 109 in the second half alone—on 32 carries (5.8) and caught one pass for 2 yds. in Denver's 33-24 road win. He broke Gary's rookie record of 185 yds. (at Det., 12/25/99) in posting the sixth-best rushing day overall in franchise history, and his 32 carries were second most by a Broncos rookie (tied for sixth most overall). Anderson's day included three runs of 20 yards or more (20, 23 and 29), and gave him the most rushing yards ever by a Bronco in his first two starts, while ranking as one of just nine rookies in NFL history to rush for 100 yards or more in his first two starts. Anderson made his first NFL start vs. Atlanta (9/10), filling in for the injured Davis and rushed for 131 yds. and two touchdowns on 31 carries. In so doing he became the first player in franchise history to rush for more than 100 yards in his first start. It was just Anderson's second NFL game, and his first seeing any offensive action, as he played solely on special teams in the opener at St. Louis (9/4). He scored on runs of 2 and 20 yds. in the 1st and 2nd qtrs., respectively, and caught one pass for 18 yds. on the day. Preseason: Anderson played in all four preseason games and finished third on the team in rushing with 88 yards on 21 carries (4.2), with a long of 24 and two touchdowns. He also tied for the team lead with five special teams tackles and returned one kickoff for 26 yards. In the Broncos' AFC Wild Card playoff loss at Baltimore (12/31) Anderson started at halfback and rushed for 40 yds. on 15 carries and caught two passes for 10 yds. (5.0).

COLLEGE: Anderson was a two-time all-conference honoree at Utah where he finished his two-year career with the best per-game rushing average in school history (102.4). He led the Western Athletic Conference in rushing as a junior with 1,173 yards and 12 touchdowns on 244 carries and served as team captain in his senior campaign when he rushed 1,231 yards and 12 touchdowns on 229 carries to earn All-Mountain West Conference honors. Anderson's 254 rushing yards in the 1999 Las Vegas Bowl set a new school record in his final collegiate game, and followed a 204-yard outburst on 32 carries in his final regular season game vs. New Mexico. He was an exercise and sport science major at Utah. Anderson tranferred to Utah from Mt. San Jacinto Community College where he was a two-time JUCO All-American (1996-97) and team most valuable player. He was named California State JUCO Offensive Player in '97 when he rushed for 1,686 yards, following a 1,511-yard season in '96 that culminated with his team winning the L.A. Bowl.

With the addition of Steve Beuerlein, the Broncos can now boast the deepest quartet of quarterbacks in the NFL entering the 2001 season, with three out of the four members having been selected to play in the Pro Bowl. A seasoned veteran, he led the NFL in completions in 1999 and was selected to his first Pro Bowl, in his 13th season, which tied him with St. Louis Cardinals offensive lineman Bob Young (1978) for the most seasons played before earning an initial Pro Bowl selection. Beuerlein was also the second-oldest quarterback to be selected to a Pro Bowl behind Buffalo's Doug Flutie who was 36 at the time of his selection in 1998. He has started 44 consecutive games, the third longest active streak in the league. Beuerlein has played in 134 games (97 starts) in 14 seasons and completed 1,793 of 3,148 passes (57%) for 22,732 yards and 139 touchdowns with 102 interceptions. He has also rushed for 442 yards on 211 carries (2.1) and four touchdowns. In five postseason games (two starts) Beuerlein has 271 passing yards, five rushing yards, one touchdown pass and one interception. He earned a Super Bowl ring with Dallas in 1992 as Troy Aikman's backup. Beuerlein entered the NFL in 1987 as a fourth round selection of the Los Angeles Raiders (110th overall) out of Notre Dame. He played four seasons with the Raiders (1987-90), followed by stints with the Cowboys (1991-92), Cardinals (1993-94), Jaguars (1995) and Panthers (1996-2000).

2000: Beuerlein started all 16 games for Carolina, completing 324 of 533 passes (60.8%) for 3,730 yds. and 19 touchdowns with 18 interceptions. He also rushed for 106 yds. on 44 carries (2.4) and scored once. Beuerlein finished the season having started 44 consecutive games, which ranked as the third longest active streak among NFL quarterbacks behind Brett Favre (141) and Peyton Manning (48). In the season opener at Washington (9/3) he completed 17 of 26 passes for 183 yds. and a touchdown and rushed twice for 10 yds. His lone touchdown pass was a 20-yarder to Wesley Walls. Beuerlein became the first quarterback to start consecutive season openers in the team's brief history. The next week at San Francisco (9/10) he completed a season-high 24 of 32 passes for a season-high 364 yds. with three touchdowns and one interception. The 364 yds. passing ranked as the third highest single-game total in team history. He directed an offense that fell one yard shy of having three 100-yd. receivers for the first time in franchise history with Donald Hayes totaling 115 yds., Muhsin Muhammad 108 yds., and Walls 99 yds. He also set the team record with an 11.38-yd. average passing, eclipsing the previous mark of 10.57 set by Kerry Collins at Atlanta in 1996 (11/3). Versus St. Louis (12/3) he completed 20 of 30 for 195 yds. with two interceptions to become the first signal-caller in the team history to pass for more than 3,000 yds. in consecutive seasons.

1999: In a season that ranks among the best in NFL history, Beuerlein's 4,436 passing yds. and 36 touchdowns earned him distinction as one of just 11 passers in NFL history to record more than 4,000 yds. and 30 touchdowns in a season, as he started all 16 games for Carolina. The feat was rewarded with his first career Pro Bowl selection, making him the second-oldest quarterback selected for a postseason trip to Hawaii, behind Buffalo's Doug Flutie who was 36 in 1998. Beuerlein's passing total amounted to the 11th-most passing yds. in a season in NFL history while his 36 touchdowns tied Steve Young for sixth-most in a single season. For the season he posted a 94.6 quarterback rating on 343 of 571 passing (60.1%) for 4,436 yds. with 36 touchdowns and 15 interceptions in addition to rushing 27 times for a career-high 124 yds. and two touchdowns. Beuerlein led the League in passing yds. and completions and ranked second in touchdown passes, quarterback rating and pass attempts. He entered the year with three 300-yd. passing days to his credit but recorded five such outings in 1999 with 373 at Green Bay (12/12); 368 vs. San Francisco (12/18); 334 at Washington (10/3); 332 vs. New Orleans (1/2) and 300 at San Francisco (10/17). Not known for his mobility, his improbable 5-yd. touchdown run on fourth-and-goal with no time remaining at Green Bay earned the Panthers an upset 33-31 win, marking the first victory for a visiting team at Lambeau Field in December since 1991. Beuerlein's 29 completions (on 43 attempts) and 373 passing yds. set team single-game marks. He also set a team record with five passing touchdowns vs. New Orleans (1/2) in the season finale. Beuerlein began the season by completing 16 of 32 passes for 207 yds. with one touchdown, a 5-yd. pass to Wesley Walls, and an interception at New Orleans (9/12), before throwing for three touchdowns and 216 yds. on 16 of 26 passing with one interception vs. Jacksonville (9/19), with scoring passes of 1 and 10 yds. to Walls and 60 yds. to Muhsin Muhammad. Versus Cincinnati (9/26) Beuerlein threw a 4-yd. touchdown to Walls among 17 completions on 23 attempts for 204 yards. At Washington (10/3) he posted 334 passing yards, the fourth 300-yd. passing day of his career and first of the season, completing 23 of 47 attempts with a touchdown on a 6-yd. scoring pass to Walls. Beuerlein added his fifth career 300-yd. passing day the following week at San Francisco (10/17) with an even 300 yds. on 23 completions among 36 attempts with four touchdowns, a 22-yarder to Muhammad, a 25-yarder to Walls and 7- and 33-yarders to Patrick Jeffers, as well as three interceptions. He was 26 of 47 for 299 yds. with no touchdowns and one interception vs. Detroit (10/24), ending a team-record streak of 11 straight games with a touchdown pass. Beuerlein completed 21 of 35 passes for 256 yds. with three interceptions at Atlanta (10/31) before throwing for 281 yds. on 21 of 34 passes with three touchdowns vs. Philadelphia (11/7), tossing scoring passes of 4 and 12 yds. to Muhammad and 21 yds. to Jeffers. When he was relieved by Steve Bono in the fourth quarter of the Philadelphia game it ended a streak of 1,185 consecutive plays in a 20-game span during which he did not miss a snap. At St. Louis (11/14) Beuerlein completed 24 of 39 passes for 286 yards, including a 14-yd. touchdown pass to Walls and two interceptions. He set a team record with 15 consecutive completions, connecting on the first nine passes of the game at the Rams after completing his final six passes vs. Philadelphia. Beuerlein totaled 199 yds. on 21 of 27 passing with two touchdowns in three quarters at Cleveland (11/21) with an 8-yd. strike to Walls and a 1-yd. toss to Brian Kinchen, which was also the 100th touchdown pass of his career. Versus Atlanta (11/28) Beuerlein completed 18 of 27 passes for 262 yds. with three touchdowns, posting a 135.1 quarterback rating for the game. Versus St. Louis (12/5) He completed 21 of 42 passes for 266 yds. with three touchdowns on passes of 15 yds. to Walls, 36 yds. to Donald Hayes and 71 yds. to Jeffers, in addition to two interceptions. At Green Bay (12/12) in one of the most memorable games in the Panthers' five-year history, Beuerlein re-wrote the team's record books for passing, but also had one of the most exciting plays in team history with a 5-yd. quarterback draw for a touchdown on fourth-and-goal as time expired to give Carolina a 33-31 victory. He set team marks with 29 completions for 373 yds. on 42 attempts in addition to three touchdowns, with tosses of 35 and 38 yds. to Jeffers and 26 yds. to Kinchen. Beuerlein directed the team to scores on all four second-half possessions netting three touchdowns and a field goal. He was equally masterful the following week vs. San Francisco (12/18), throwing for 368 yds. with four touchdowns in addition to 20 yds. rushing, including a season-long 16 yd. run. His 136.7 single-game quarterback rating was his highest as a Panther, as he directed the offense to scores on its first four possessions, creating a streak of eight consecutive drives with scores dating back to the previous game at Green Bay. Beuerlein threw touchdown passes of 8, 14 and 7 yds. to Muhammad as well as a 55-yarder to Jeffers, while his 368 passing yds. made him the most prolific passer in team history with 8,356 yards, eclipsing the previous mark of 8,306 held by Kerry Collins. At Pittsburgh (12/26) he completed 18 of 35 passes for 263 yds. and two touchdowns, including a career-long 88-yd. score to Jeffers as well as a 43-yd. "Hail Mary" touchdown to Jeffers with seconds remaining in the first half. In the season finale vs. New Orleans (1/2) Beuerlein threw a career-high five touchdowns among 22 completions on 41 attempts for 322 yards. He threw touchdowns of 7 yds. to Muhammad, 37 and 15 yds. to Walls and 40 and 32 yds. to Jeffers as he closed the season with three 300-yd. passing games in the final four contests. For the season the Panthers' offense set single-season team records for points with 421 and net yds. with 5,698. In the Pro Bowl in Honolulu (2/6) Beuerlein completed four of seven passes for 85 yds. and a touchdown. 1998: Operating with efficiency, Beuerlein directed the Panthers to 20 or more points in nine of his 12 starts and completed 216 of 343 attempts to tie for the league's No. 1 ranking with a 63.0 completion percentage. He threw for 2,613 yds. and a team-record 17 touchdowns, along with 12 interceptions. Overall, his 88.2 season rating placed him fifth in the NFC. After seeing no action as a reserve in the first four games of the season Beuerlein became the Panthers starter in dramatic fashion and responded masterfully. Playing in his first game as a full-time starter he faced his former Cowboys mates at Dallas (10/11) and completed 22 of 32 attempts for 286 yds. and three touchdowns with one interception. He completed his first 12 passes of the game and, combined with two completions from the final game of 1997, set a team mark for consecutive completions with 14. In the first half alone Beuerlein completed 12 of 13 passes with two touchdowns and completed 16 of 17 passes through the first three quarters. He threw scoring passes of 35 and 16 yds. to Rocket Ismail and a 3-yd. score to William Floyd. The following week at Tampa Bay (10/18) Beuerlein completed 22 of 31 passes for 234 yards. Versus. Buffalo (10/25) in an ESPN Sunday Night game he threw for 286 yds. on 22 of 39 passing with one touchdown, an 8-yd. pass to Mark Carrier, and two interceptions. A week later vs. New Orleans (11/1) Beuerlein completed 13 of 17 passes for 132 yards, two touchdowns and one interception with touchdown passes of 1 yd. to Muhammad and 33 yds. to Ismail. At San Francisco (11/8) he threw for 265 yds. and a touchdown, a 20 yarder to Ismail, on 25 of 41 passing before completing 17 of 30 passes for 160 yds. with two interceptions vs. Miami (11/15). Beuerlein increased his record to 2-0 as a starter at St. Louis (11/22) with a team single-game record 80.76 completion percentage on 21 of 26 passing for 211 yds. with two touchdowns and an interception. His scoring tosses went 1 and 13 yds. to Walls. Beuerlein completed 18 of 33 passes for 235 yds. with three touchdowns and an interception vs. San Francisco (12/6), including touchdown strikes to Muhammad (12 yds.), Ismail (40) and Anthony Johnson (38). He completed 16 of 25 passes for 264 yds. with a touchdown and two interceptions vs. Washington (12/13), including a 29-yd. screen pass for a score to Tshimanga Biakabutuka, before completing 15 of 25 passes for 193 yds. and two touchdowns vs. St. Louis (12/20), including a 3-yd. touchdown to Muhammad and season-long 68-yd. scoring throw to Luther Broughton. 1997: Beuerlein was a significant contributor for the Panthers, starting three games and appearing in relief four times, including appearances in three of the last four weeks of the season. His 58.2% completion rate was his highest mark since 1993 and his 109.9 fourth-quarter passer rating ranked third in the NFL. With Kerry Collins' preseason injury sidelining him for the first two games of the season Beuerlein started the season opener vs. Washington (8/31) and completed 12 of 26 passes for 108 yds. with a touchdown and an interception. He rebounded the following week at Atlanta (9/7), completing 21 of 35 passes, including 11 of 15 passes for 156 yds. in the fourth quarter in a 9-6 come-from-behind win. When Collins returned to the lineup Beuerlein remained on the sideline in games at San Diego (9/14) and vs. Kansas City (9/21), before a highly-efficient outing in relief duty vs. San Francisco (9/29), completing nine of 11 passes (81.8%) for 94 yds. and two touchdowns. He completed 19 of 35 passes for 227 yds. and two touchdowns in a return to the starting lineup at Minnesota (10/12), tossing scoring passes of 16 yds. to Walls and 5 yds. to Rae Carruth. Beuerlein remained on the sideline for contests at New Orleans (10/19), vs. Atlanta (10/26), vs. Oakland (11/2), at Denver (11/9), at San Francisco (11/16) and at St. Louis (11/23), before replacing an injured Collins in the second quarter vs. New Orleans (11/30). At Dallas (12/8) Beuerlein entered the contest for one third-quarter series and completed one of two attempts for 38 yards. He did not play vs. Green Bay (12/14) before a valiant effort vs. St. Louis (12/20) when he entered the game in the fourth quarter and completed 10 of 17 passes for 129 yds. and a touchdown in a failed comeback attempt. 1996: Beuerlein played an invaluable role for the Panthers in 1996, winning three of his four starts in relief of Kerry Collins, among his eight total appearances. His 93.5 quarterback rating was the highest single-season mark of his career while his interception percentage (1.6) was his second-lowest. After not playing vs. Atlanta (9/1) and seeing spot action at New Orleans (9/8) Beuerlein had a stellar day in a starting role against San Francisco (9/22), completing 22 of 31 passes (71.0) for 290 yds. and two touchdowns with one interception, en route to a single-game quarterback rating of 108.3. He led the Panthers to scores on each of the team's first three possessions, including a game-opening touchdown drive that was the first such allowed by the 49ers defense in 28 consecutive games. Beuerlein completed 17 of 20 passes in the first half, including 11 completions in a row. Directing the Panthers to a season-high 389 yds. of total offense, he was awarded honors as the Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week. At Jacksonville (9/29) Beuerlein lost 24-14 to his former team and completed 15 of 30 passes for 219 yds. and a touchdown before leaving the game in the fourth quarter with a calf cramp. He did not play at Minnesota (10/6); appeared in the final series to run out the clock vs. St. Louis (10/13) and did not play vs. New Orleans (10/20) or at Philadelphia (10/27). Beuerlein relieved an injured Collins in the third quarter at Atlanta (11/3) and completed seven of 15 passes for 69 yds. and a touchdown in addition to a run of 12 yds. in a 20-17 loss. He filled in briefly for Collins vs. the Giants (11/10), handing off to Johnson for the team's second touchdown and completing his only pass attempt for six yards. Starting the following week at St. Louis (11/17) Beuerlein finished with 130 yds. on 13 of 28 passing with a touchdown and an interception. In a decisive second-half effort, he directed the Panthers to scores on three of their first four drives, completing nine of 14 passes for 82 yds. and a touchdown, and helped the Panthers rebound from a 10-3 halftime deficit to win 20-10. At Houston (11/24) he started for the second straight week and connected on 11 of 18 passes for 165 yds. with three touchdowns. His performance included touchdown passes of 30 and 12 yds. to Willie Green and a 40 yd. toss to Walls in his final on-field action of the season. Beuerlein was a reserve but did not play in the Panthers' last six games of the season, including playoff contests vs. Dallas (1/5) and at Green Bay (1/12). 1995: Beuerlein started six of the seven games in which he played for the expansion Jacksonville Jaguars and completed 71 of 142 attempts (50.0%) for 952 yards, four touchdowns and seven interceptions. He also rushed five times for 32 yards. Versus the Panthers in the Hall of Fame Game (7/29) Beuerlein played the first quarter and completed six of nine passes for 108 yds. with an interception. He started the Jaguars' inaugural regular season game vs. Houston (9/3) and completed seven passes for 54 yds. before being replaced in the third quarter. At Cincinnati (9/10) Beuerlein threw a 71-yd. touchdown before leaving the game in the middle of the second quarter with a sprained right medial collateral ligament. His pass to running back Randy Jordan was the Jaguars' first touchdown in franchise history and their longest play of the year. Inactive at the Jets (9/17) Beuerlein was active but did not play vs. Green Bay (9/24). In the team's first win the following week at Houston (10/1) he completed eight of 18 passes for 117 yds. and an interception as a starter. Beuerlein was active but did not play vs. Indianapolis (12/10) before starting for Mark Brunell at Detroit (12/17), completing 10 of 21 passes for 136 yds. with three interceptions. He was inactive vs. Cleveland (12/24). Beuerlein was acquired by the Jaguars as the first overall pick in the 1995 Expansion Draft from the Arizona Cardinals. 1994: Beuerlein started seven of the nine games he played for the Arizona Cardinals and completed 130 of 255 passes (51.0%) for 1,545 yds. with five touchdowns and nine interceptions. He started the season's first two games, at the Rams (9/4) and vs. the Giants (9/11), and completed 28 of 62 (45.2%) passes for 266 yards, a touchdown and three interceptions before being replaced by Jim McMahon in the Cardinals' third game. He returned to the starting lineup at Washington (10/16) and completed 16 of 34 passes for 194 yards, a touchdown and three interceptions in a 19-16 overtime win. Beuerlein was 18 of 31 for 213 yds. and a touchdown vs. Dallas (10/23) and 13 of 26 for 251 yds. vs. Pittsburgh (10/30), including completions of 63 and 51 yards. At Philadelphia (11/6) he completed 19 of 30 passes for 219 yds. and a touchdown before engineering a last-minute 10-9 victory at the Giants (11/13) while playing on a sprained knee in a gutsy 17 of 33 performance for 180 yards. After arthroscopic surgery on his knee kept him inactive for three weeks Beuerlein came off the bench vs. Cincinnati (12/18) with an eight of 13 passing performance and a game-sealing fourth-quarter touchdown drive. He did not play in the season finale at Atlanta (12/24). 1993: Beuerlein joined the Cardinals as an unrestricted free agent and had one of the best seasons for a Cardinals passer in team history. He completed over 60 percent of his passes eight times and over 70 percent in four games and totaled 258 completions on 418 attempts for 3,164 yds. and 18 touchdowns. His season completion percentage of 61.7 set a team mark, and he set a team record for consecutive completions, connecting on his first 14 passes at Atlanta (1/2). Beuerlein went on to connect on 27 of 33 attempts for an 81.8 percentage in the game, setting a Cardinals single-game record. He had three-touchdown-pass outings at New England (10/10), at San Francisco (10/24) and at Atlanta (1/2). Beuerlein hit on seven of nine attempts for 52 yds. vs. New Orleans (10/31) before he sprained his right knee and missed the Cardinals' next two games. (431), and directed his team to a 30-27 overtime win. 1992: Beuerlein saw action in all 16 games for the Cowboys, as the team's holder on extra points and field goals. He played briefly in two games, completing two of five passes for 26 yds. vs. Seattle (10/11) and two for two attempts for 26 yds. at Detroit (11/8). Beuerlein played much of the second half in the Cowboys' regular-season finale vs. Chicago (12/27), completing eight of 11 passes for 99 yards. He played in all three Cowboys playoff contests, including the Super Bowl XXVII triumph over Buffalo, holding on extra points and field goals. 1991: Beuerlein was traded from the Raiders to Dallas in the preseason for a fourth-round pick. He took over for an injured Troy Aikman and led the Cowboys to victories in their last five games, including the last four as a starter. Beuerlein relieved Aikman at Washington (11/24) and threw a scoring pass in a 24-21 victory for the first win of the Cowboys season-ending streak. For the year he threw for 909 yds. and five touchdowns with two interceptions on 68 of 137 passing (49.6%). RESIDES: Aurora, Colo.

Eric Brown enters his fourth season with the Broncos and has taken on more of a leadership role on the defense as a three-year starter with tremendous athletic ability. Last year he started all 16 games for the first time in his career and posted his best numbers by far. He also put behind him the injury bug that had befallen him in his first two seasons, limiting him to 11 games in 1998 (groin) and 10 games in '99 (knee). Brown began to emerge as a defensive force in '99, leading the team in tackles by a sizeable margin at the time of his injury. Brown has now played in 37 career games and started 36, making 225 tackles (177 solo), including 2.5 sacks (-16), as well as four interceptions, 13 passes defensed and four fumble recoveries. He was selected by Denver in the second round (61st overall) of the 1998 draft.

OFF THE FIELD

Eric created the Vision 26 Foundation in 1999, a non-profit organization that raises money to improve the lives of inner-city youth in his hometown of San Antonio, Texas, through mentoring and scholarship programs. He has also been involved in the Read Like a Pro literacy program.

2000: Brown started at free safety in all 16 games and ranked fifth on the team with a career-high 102 tackles (86 solo), including a sack (-8) of Doug Johnson vs. Atlanta (9/10). He also set career highs for interceptions (3), passes defensed (76) and fumble recoveries (3), while adding one special teams tackle. Brown intercepted a pass for the second straight week at N.O. (12/3), picking off a throw from Aaron Brooks in the 4th qtr. He had an outstanding all-around game at Sea. (11/26) with eight tackles (6 solo), one pass defensed, his second interception of the season and his third fumble recovery. The interception came in the end zone to thwart a Seahawks scoring opportunity. Brown's first interception came at the Jets (11/5). His first fumble recovery came at Oak. (9/17) and his second came at Cin. (10/22). Brown posted a season high 11 tackles at S.D. (10/8) and had 10 (9 solo) vs. K.C. (9/24). He started at free safety in the AFC Wild Card Playoff Game at Balt. (12/31) and posted five tackles (4 solo). It was his first NFL postseason game.

1999: Brown started at free safety in the seasons' first 10 games and led the team with 80 tackles (62 solo), including 1.5 sacks (-8), before being placed on injured reserve (Nov. 18) because of a partially torn posterior cruciate ligament in his right knee. The injury occurred in the 1st qtr. at Seattle (11/14). Despite missing the final six games of the season, Brown finished the year ranked fourth on the team in tackles, and also added an interception and three passes defensed. He also had one special teams tackle. Brown posted a then-career-high 11 tackles (6 solo) at K.C. (9/19), and then topped that figure a week later with an astonishing 20 (14 solo) at Tampa Bay (9/26). Brown's partial sack came vs. the Jets (10/3), combining with Maa Tanuvasa to bring down Rick Mirer, and his first career solo sack came at New England (10/24), dropping Drew Bledsoe for a 7-yd. loss in a crucial third-down situation in the 4th qtr. His interception came against Green Bay's Brett Favre (10/17). 1998: Brown—named to the all-rookie teams of Football News, Football Digest and College & Pro Football Newsweekly — started 10 games and played in 11 at strong safety, recording 43 tackles (29 solo), as well as three passes defensed and a fumble recovery in his rookie season. He also had eight tackles on special teams, including a season-high 2 vs. Jacksonville (10/25). Brown played but did not start at Seattle (10/11), being replaced in the starting lineup by Tyrone Braxton as the Seahawks opened in a three-wide receiver set, and was then inactive for games 11-14 and 16 because of a groin injury suffered in practice 11/19. He returned to action at Miami (12/21), starting at strong safety, but came out in the second quarter when the injury flared up again, and was back on the inactive list (Fri.) for the season-finale vs. Seattle (12/27). Brown's Week 1 start vs. New England (9/7) was the first of his NFL career, as he became the second rookie defensive back to start for a defending Super Bowl champion, following Washington's Darrell Green, who did so in 1983. He recovered his first NFL fumble at Washington (9/27) in the fourth quarter to set up Denver's final touchdown in a 38-16 win. Brown turned in the high-tackle performance of his young career at Cincinnati (11/1), posting 10 (9 solo) to rank second on the team. Brown was declared inactive for all three postseason contests because of a groin injury that kept him out of five of the final six regular season games. In the preseason Brown played in all four games and started two (at St. Louis, 8/8, and at Tennessee, 8/29) at strong safety. He was inserted into the starting lineup on a full-time basis the week of the Tennessee game.

COLLEGE: Brown was a two-year starter at Mississippi State, where he was named All-American by The Poor Man's Guide to the NFL Draft and earned All- Southeastern Conference second-team honors as a senior in 1997. For his career he made 102 tackles (77 solo), including six sacks (-50), and posted three interceptions (33 yds. in returns, 1 TD), eight passes defensed, two forced fumbles and four fumble recoveries. Brown was a business information systems major at Mississippi State. He began his career at Blinn College in Brenham, Texas, where he lettered twice as a strong safety and was the top-ranked junior college defensive back in the country.

PERSONAL: Brown was a standout defensive back at Converse-Judson High School in San Antonio, Texas, where he also lettered in track with a high-jump best of 7 feet, a long-jump best of 24 feet and triple-jump best of 50 feet. Eric Jon Brown was born March 20, 1975 in San Antonio, Texas. He has a daughter, Taylor (1/17/00), and resides in Aurora, Colo.

Keith Burns established himself as one of the unsung heroes on the Broncos team during his first tenure with the club (1994-98), and lived up to that upon his return three games into the 2000 season. Re-signed Sept. 19, 2000, Burns brought an immediate spark to Denver's special teams and made it one of the league's best units over the final 13 weeks of the season. One of the most liked players in the locker room, Burns has also become a more integral part of the defensive system and has been a major part of Denver's goal-line defense. He signed with Chicago as an unrestricted free agent in 1999 and spent one season with the club before his return to Denver. Burns has played in 103 regular season games (one start), compiling 106 tackles (64 solo), including 1.5 sacks (-9), to go along with one interception (15 yds.), three passes defensed, one forced fumble, 125 special teams tackles and six kickoff returns for 59 yds. (9.8) with a long of 18. He led the Broncos in special teams tackles in 1996 (16), 1998 (19) and 2000 (24) and tied for the team lead in 1995 (16). Burns' postseason resumé includes nine games played, eight tackles and one fumble recovery on special teams, and two kickoff returns for 30 yds. (15.0). Burns was drafted by the Broncos in the seventh round in 1994 (210th overall).

2000: Burns re-signed with the Broncos Sept. 19 and played in all 13 remaining games, posting two tackles (1 solo) and one pass defensed. Despite missing the first three games he led the team with a career-high 24 special teams tackles—including a team-high four at N.O. (12/3) and vs. Cleve. (10/15)—and had three forced fumbles and one fumble recovery on special teams. Burns was outstanding on special teams vs. Sea. (12/10), posting two tackles, his third forced fumble and his first fumble recovery of the season. He knocked the ball from the hands of Seahawks kick returner Charlie Rogers in the third qtr. after a Denver touchdown and pounced on the ball to set up a field goal that gave the Broncos a 24-3 lead. He forced his second fumble at N.O. (12/3). Burns saw his first action vs. K.C. (9/24) and posted two special teams tackles. He added one more vs. N.E. (10/1) and two the following week at S.D. (10/8). In the latter contest he saw his only defensive action of the season and posted two stops (1 solo) and a pass defensed. Burns made one tackle on special teams in Denver's AFC Wild Card Playoff Game at Balt. (12/31). Burns played in all four preseason games with Chicago and posted 21 tackles (12 solo) and one forced fumble, while also contributing four special teams tackles. He led the Bears in tackles in the first and last games of the preseason with 12 (6 solo) at the Giants and eight (6 solo) vs. Tennessee, but was waived in the final cutdown by the Bears.

1999: Burns signed with Chicago as an unrestricted free agent April 6 and played in 15 games with the Bears. He ranked second on the club with a then-career-high 22 special teams tackles. Defensively he added seven more stops and grabbed his first career interception (at Wash., 10/31), which he returned 15 yds. Burns posted a special teams tackle in his first game with Chicago (vs. K.C., 9/12) and replaced an injured Sean Harris at middle linebacker in the second half at Min. (10/10). He had a season-high four tackles (2 solo) at S.D. (11/21). 1998: Burns played in all 16 games for the Broncos, seeing action on defense and special teams. He posted eight defensive tackles (6 solo) with one pass defensed, while adding a team-leading 19 tackles on special teams, including a season-high five vs. Philadelphia (10/4). His pass defensed at Washington (9/27) was the first of his NFL career. Burns left the San Diego game (11/29) in the 1st qtr. with a left thigh bruise, and did not return. Burns saw action at linebacker and on special teams in all three postseason games, making a team-leading five tackles (3 vs. Jets) on special teams and recovering a fumble. The recovery came in the 3rd qtr. of the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17), on the kickoff that followed the Broncos' first touchdown of the day, giving Denver possession at the Jets' 31-yd. line, trailing 10-7. The possession led to a Jason Elam field goal and a 10-10 tie, en route to a 23-10 victory. Burns added a special teams tackle in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31). 1997: Burns played in all 16 games and contributed on defense and special teams. He recorded three tackles on defense (2 solo), added 10 more on special teams and returned three kickoffs for 37 yards (12.3). He returned one kickoff for eight yards at Seattle (9/7) and also had one assisted tackle at Atlanta (9/28) and two solo tackles at San Diego (11/30). He also made 16 special teams tackles, according to unofficial press box statistics, to tie for the team lead. Against Seattle (12/1) Burns was in on 11 defensive plays and made two tackles (1 solo), while also contributing one tackle on special teams. He was also involved in the goal-line stand that helped clinch the Broncos' 17-12 victory over Chicago (11/10). In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Jacksonville (1/4/97) Burns made one special teams tackle and returned one kickoff for 14 yards. He had offseason surgery on his right shoulder Jan. 15, 1997. 1995: Burns saw action in all 16 games in his second year, playing both at linebacker and on special teams. He made 22 tackles (14 solo)—including 1.5 sacks—and forced a fumble on defense, in addition to leading the team with 16 special teams tackles. He also had two fumble recoveries on special teams. Burns recorded his first career sack against Washington (9/17), dropping Redskins quarterback Gus Frerotte for an eight-yard loss in the fourth quarter. His season high in tackles came at Seattle (10/1) when he recorded six (5 solo) and added one on special teams. Against Oakland (10/16), Burns saw his most extensive action of the season after Dave Wyman was ejected in the first quarter following a personal foul. He responded with four tackles (3 solo) and a forced fumble as the Broncos went on to shut out the Raiders 27-0. Burns recovered fumbles on special teams in back-to-back games, versus San Diego (11/19) and at Houston (11/26). 1994: Burns played in 11 of the Broncos' 16 games during his rookie season, including one start on opening day against San Diego (9/4). He immediately made his presence felt by recording nine tackles (8 solo), second-best on the team, in his first NFL game in place of the injured Dave Wyman. His next-best numbers came two weeks later against the Raiders (9/18) when he notched five stops (4 solo). Dwayne Carswell enters his eighth season with the Broncos and his third as the starter at tight end. Carswell is the senior member of a talented group of tight ends who combine to make it one of the strongest units on the team. Carswell took his game to a new level in 2000, more than doubling his previous career bests with 49 receptions for 495 yards and three touchdowns. He had previously distinguished himself as one of the Broncos' top special teams players, being chosen captain of that unit in 1997. Carswell has played in 93 career games (34 starts), catching 107 passes for 965 yards (9.0) with a long of 43 yards and six touchdowns, while making 29 special teams tackles. He has also played in nine postseason games (one start), in which he has caught seven passes for 63 yards (9.0) with a long of 26 and made two special teams tackles. Carswell has played in every game for the Broncos since 1996, competing in 80 consecutive games entering the 2001 season. He began his career with the Broncos in 1994 as a rookie free agent from Liberty University.

2000: Carswell started all 16 games at tight end and set career highs in every receiving category by ranking third on the team with 49 receptions for 495 yds. (10.1) and three touchdowns, with a long of 43. He eclisped his previous career highs for receptions and yds. (24/201, 1999) by Week 8 and his standard for TDs by Game 13. Carswell posted his career-best third touchdown of the season on the longest reception of his career, a 43-yarder from Gus Frerotte at N.O. (12/3). His second came on a 5-yd. pass from Frerotte vs. S.D. (11/19). Carswell's 35-yd. reception at Cin. (10/22) was the longest of his career at the time, en route to a career-high 68 yds. on four receptions. His touchdown came on a 14-yd. pass from Brian Griese at S.D. (10/8), among his three catches for 29 yds. (9.7). Carswell posted a season high five receptions vs. Atl. (9/10) for a then career-high 54 yds. Carswell twice caught three passes for 31 yds. (at New England, 10/24 and vs. Minnesota, 10/31), and caught three for 22 at Jax. (12/13). His first touchdown of the season came on a 9-yd. reception from Griese in the 4th qtr. vs. Seattle (12/19). Carswell took over the starting tight end position after Shannon Sharpe went down in Week 5 at Oakland (10/10) with a broken clavicle, and shared playing time with Byron Chamberlain. 1998: Carswell played in all 16 games as the second tight end and caught four passes for 51 yds. (12.8) with a long of 15, as well as on special teams, where he made 10 tackles and forced a fumble (at K.C., 11/16). Carswell started as the second tight end for Denver against the Chargers on Oct. 6, as the Broncos opened the game in a two-tight end set. He caught a three-yard pass and made one special teams tackle. He also saw plenty of action at tight end in Denver's regular season opener against the Jets, as Shannon Sharpe was nursing a slightly sprained ankle. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff vs. Jacksonville, Carswell saw action as the backup tight end, catching two passes for 18 yards with a long of 10, and also contributed on special teams in his first career postseason game. 1995: Carswell was declared inactive for seven of the Broncos' first 13 games, before making his first career start against Seattle Dec. 10. He replaced the injured Shannon Sharpe (eye) and Jerry Evans

(knee) in the starting lineup, and did so again the following week at Kansas City (12/17) when he caught two passes for 32 yards, including a career-best 23-yarder. He sprained his ankle on the second play of the game, but played through it. For the year, Carswell caught three passes for 37 yards and made two special teams tackles. His first action of the season came at Seattle (10/1) when he played on special teams, and he made his first appearance on offense versus Arizona (11/5). Carter helped pace another 200-yard rushing game at St. Louis (12/13) before suffering an ankle injury that forced him to miss the game the following game vs. San Francisco (12/20). He returned to the lineup for the season finale at New York, but did not start because the Patriots opened in a double-tight end formation. He replaced Raymont Harris at fullback in the season opener vs. Minnesota after the Harris suffered a broken collarbone on the second play of the game. Carter made his NFL starting debut the following week on Monday Night Football vs. Green Bay (9/11). He did not start in the season finale vs. Philadelphia (12/24) due to a shoulder injury, but did play in the game. Carter proved to be a tremendous asset as a receiver out of the backfield and scored his first career touchdown on a 12-yard reception vs. Pittsburgh (11/5). 1994: Carter contributed on special teams in 14 games as a rookie with Chicago, but did not receive significant playing time on offense. He finished the season with one reception for 24 yards and returned six kicks for 99 yards (16.5). Carter returned his first career kick 20 yards at Miami (11/13). He was selected by the Broncos in the sixth round (179th overall) of the 1999 NFL Draft.

It was just his second career reception. Clark played in a reserve role and on special teams in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31), catching one pass for 5 yds. and making one special teams tackle.

George Coghill continues to fashion a very productive NFL career since signing with the Broncos out of the World League in 1997. His playing time has increased over the past three seasons, including a starting job late in the 1999 season after free safety Eric Brown was placed on injured reserve in Week 12. He should provide a challenge at either safety position, and undoubtedly be relied upon to provide veteran depth in the secondary in 2001. In 38 career games (5 starts), Coghill has made 47 tackles (38 solo), intercepted two passes, knocked down five others and forced a fumble while also adding 41 special teams tackles and returning six punts for 45 yards (7.5) with a long of 10 and three fair catches. He was named a special teams captain by vote of his teammates for the second half of the 2000 season. Coghill joined the Broncos as a free agent July 16, 1997 and showed steady improvement in his game during a season on the practice squad. He entered the league in 1993 as a rookie free agent with New Orleans, but spent the year on injured reserve, and was out of football in 1994. Coghill then played in the World League from 1995-97 with the Scottish Claymores before signing with Denver.

2000: Coghill saw action on special teams in all 16 games and ranked second on the team with a career-high 21 special teams tackles, including a season-high four at the Jets (11/5). He saw his first defensive action of the season vs. Oak. (11/13) and posted one solo tackle and a forced fumble, the first of his career. He also played on defense the following week vs. S.D. (11/19). Coghill was voted a special teams captain by his teammates for the second half of the season, joining Detron Smith. Coghill saw action on special teams in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and made one tackle.

OFF THE FIELD

George created the George Coghill Foundation in his native Fredericksburg, Va. The foundation is a non-profit organization that helps needy families and children through several events and programs, including providing Thanksgiving and Christmas meals to the needy; a unique Mother's Day event in which flowers are distributed to women in hospice care; a "Smash Illiteracy" program in which Coghill reads to schoolchildren; and a free football camp for more than 100 children. A scholarship is awarded annually in the name of George's mother, Elaine, to benefit a child raised in a single-parent environment. To raise money for the scholarship he hosted a celebrity golf tournament in the Denver area this past May.

1999: Coghill played in 13 games and started five, posting 34 tackles (28 solo), four passes defensed and an interception, while ranking fifth on the team with 11 special teams stops. He was named the starter at free safety after Eric Brown was placed on injured reserve Nov. 18 (knee), and made his first NFL start vs. Oakland (11/22) on Monday Night Football. He responded with a then-career-high eight tackles (7 solo). Coghill did not start vs. Seattle (12/19), being replaced by Darrius Johnson, but recorded four tackles (3 solo) on the day. He posted a new career high in the season-finale vs. San Diego (1/2) with a team-leading 12 tackles (11 solo). Coghill missed three games early in the year because of a second-degree sprain of his left medial collateral ligament, suffered in the 3rd qtr. of the season-opener vs. Miami (9/13). He returned to special teams play at Oakland (10/10) and made one tackle. His high game came at New England (10/24) when he made four special teams stops. Coghill played the final three quarters at free safety after Brown left the game with partially torn knee ligaments at Seattle (11/14) and posted two solo tackles. His interception came in the end zone vs. K.C. (12/5) as he hauled in an Elvis Grbac pass to thwart a Chiefs scoring threat in the 3rd qtr. 1998: Coghill saw action in nine games (at Sea., 10/11; at Cin., 11/1 and each of the final seven games of the year) and was declared inactive for the other seven (3 Fri./4 Sun.) in his first season of NFL play. He posted 12 tackles (9 solo) and one pass defensed, as well as his first career interception (at San Diego, 11/29), which he returned 20 yds. On special teams Coghill made nine tackles and returned three punts for 20 yds. (6.7) with two fair catches and a long of 8 (twice). Coghill saw his first professional action at Seattle (10/11) in a special teams capacity. He made his first two career special teams stops in his next appearance, at Cin. (11/1), and added two more in his third game, at Kansas City (11/16) on Monday Night Football. Coghill saw his initial action on defense in the latter contest, and posted the first two tackles of his career. He saw action on defense in each of the final seven games. He snared his first career interception at San Diego (11/29), picking off a Craig Whelihan pass with 46 seconds left in the game, to go along with a career-high four tackles (3 solo). Coghill saw action at safety and on special teams in all three postseason games. He made one solo tackle and forced a fumble in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31), stripping Jamal Anderson of the ball in the 4th qtr., leading to a recovery by Tyrone Braxton. He also added two special teams tackles in the game, and had one in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17). 1997: Coghill played in the World League with the Scottish Claymores before signing with the Broncos just prior to the start of training camp (7/16). He spent the entire season on the Broncos' practice squad, earning his first Super Bowl ring. Coghill was waived Aug. 24, 1997, but was re-signed to the practice squad Aug. 25. 1996: Coghill played in the World League with the Scottish Claymores. 1995: Coghill played in the World League with the Scottish Claymores. 1994: Coghill was in training camp with New Orleans but was released Aug. 22. 1993: Coghill was signed by New Orleans as a rookie free agent April 27, 1993. Chris Cole enters his second season with the Broncos looking to utilize his lightning speed and superb athletic ability as he continues to hone his skills at the wide receiver position. Playing in eight games a year ago he made considerable progress, and showed promise as a kick returner as well. Cole joined the Broncos as the club's third-round draft choice in 2000 (70th overall) from Texas A&M.

2000: Cole saw action in eight games and was inactive for the other eight. He played in four straight games (wks. 2-5) after being inactive for the season-opener, but then missed five weeks because of a dislocated left elbow suffered vs. N.E. (10/1). Cole returned to practice after the Broncos bye week (Wk. 9), and returned to game action in Week 12 vs. S.D. (11/19). He was inactive again for the final two games (at K.C., 12/17 and vs. S.F., 12/23). Cole returned 11 kicks for 264 yds. (24.0) with a long of 37, and posted six special teams tackles. Cole saw his first NFL action vs. Atlanta (9/10) and posted one special teams tackle and one kickoff return for 17 yds., then added another tackle at Oak. (9/17), along with three kickoff returns for 84 yds. (28.0), including a long of 37. Cole was declared inactive for the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31).

Cole's best numbers came as a junior in 1998 when he started nine of 13 games and led the Aggies in receptions (38), receiving yards (667) and touchdowns (5), while posting a 17.6 yards-per-catch average. His yardage total ranks sixth on the Aggies' single-season list. He played as a true freshman in 1996, then caught 25 passes for 333 yards as a sophomore. He closed his career with 22 catches for 363 yards in 1999. Cole was a sociology major at Texas A&M, and was a member of Aggie Athletes Involved, a community outreach program.

Showing great quickness and cutback ability he rushed for 183 yards and a touchdown on 54 carries. TERRELL DAVIS — RUNNING BACK

5-11 • 210 • 7TH YR. • GEORGIA

BORN: October 28, 1972 in San Diego, Calif.
HIGH SCHOOL: Lincoln Prep High School, San Diego, Calif.
RESIDES: Aurora, Colo.

Terrell Davis returns to the field in 2001 with renewed desire to return to the elite level he had reached by the close of the 1998 season. After two seasons in which he has been plagued by a variety of injuries and played in just nine games, Davis returns healthy and focused, eager to re-establish his dominance. His 1999 season was reduced to just four games because of a torn right anterior cruciate ligament and a partially torn medial collateral ligament, as well as cartilage damage. He manged just five games (four starts) in 2000 because of ankle and lower leg injuries that began in the opening game and hounded him throughout the season. Prior to the injuries, Davis was clearly at the top of his game and was arguably the league's most outstanding player, coming off a 1998 season in which he was voted the National Football League's Most Valuable Player by the Associated Press, as the Broncos claimed their second straight World Championship. Davis, MVP of Super Bowl XXXII, is one of just nine players in NFL history to win both League and Super Bowl MVP honors in his career, joining Bart Starr, Terry Bradshaw, Marcus Allen, John Elway, Joe Montana, Steve Young, Emmitt Smith and Kurt Warner. He is still on a path that has him poised to make a run at every significant rushing record in the game, all the while maintaining an active role in the Denver community, and a nationwide effort to improve the lives of America's youth through his Terrell Davis Salute the Kids Foundation and his support of Pop Warner football.

Davis led the AFC in rushing for three straight seasons, from 1996-98, and won his first NFL rushing title in '98 after finishing second behind Detroit's Barry Sanders for two years prior. He set the all-time NFL record for most rushing yards gained (2,476) in a regular and postseason combined in 1998, after setting the mark for attempts (495) in 1997. Davis also owns the best postseason per-rush (5.6) and per-game (142.5) averages in NFL history, while holding the third best per-game average for regular season play (98.7; Jim Brown is No. 1 at 104.3 and Barry Sanders is No. 2 at 99.8). Here is a look at some of Davis' more prominent career statistical notes after six seasons:

OFF THE FIELD

Terrell created the Terrell Davis Salute the Kids Foundation in 1999 to benefit children in need in both Denver and his hometown of San Diego. The foundation has many annual charity events, including a celebrity golf tournament in each city every spring. The events raise money to support programs that promote and develop the academic, recreational, psychological and physical well-being of children. Throughout the regular season the Salute the Kids Foundation selects 10 children to attend a Broncos home game. The children are selected through various organizations such as the YMCA, Boys & Girls Club and Outreach Program for the Homeless. A life-long migraine headache sufferer, Terrell has also formed the Terrell Davis Foundation for Migraine Education and Treatment, in conjunction with Novartis Pharmaceutical Company.

- Just 70 games into his NFL career (69 starts), Terrell Davis is the Broncos' all-time leading rusher, with 6,906 yards. He also ranks third in rushing attempts (1,488), first in rushing touchdowns (60), first in total touchdowns (65) and third in career rushing average (4.64).
- Davis has 157 receptions for 1,211 yards (7.7 avg.) and five touchdown receptions.
- He has 8,117 total yards from scrimmage (2nd) and 8,117 combined yards (3rd).
- Davis already holds or shares 54 team records (21 in the postseason), including most points scored in a season (138 in 1998), most total yards from scrimmage in a season (2,225 in 1998), most rushing yards in a season (2,008 in 1998), most rushing touchdowns in a season (21 in 1998), most touchdowns in a season (23 in 1998), most rushing attempts (31) and rushing yards (184) in a postseason game, and most rushing and total touchdowns (3) in a postseason game.

1998 NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE MOST VALUABLE PLAYER

Terrell Davis was voted the National Football League's 1998 Most Valuable Player by the Associated Press, becoming the second Broncos player ever to win the award. John Elway was MVP in 1987. Davis earned the award by posting just the fourth 2,000-yard season in NFL history, with a franchise-record 2,008 and 23 total touchdowns. He is the 13th running back to claim the award and only the fourth running back in the last 13 years to earn the most coveted individual award in professional football.

- Davis also has the most rushing yards in postseason play by a Bronco (871) and the most rushing and total touchdowns in postseason play by a Bronco (11).
- In 1998 Davis earned the Associated Press NFL Most Valuable Player Award, only the second Bronco (John Elway in 1987) to do so, and became just the eighth player in NFL history to win both the NFL MVP and Super Bowl MVP awards during their careers.
- Davis reached the 6,000-yard rushing plateau faster than any player in Broncos' history, and third-fastest in NFL history. He also reached 7,000 total yards from scrimmage mark faster than any other Denver player, and second-fastest in NFL history.
- Davis ranks No. 1 all-time in 100-yard rushing games in the regular season by a Bronco (32), recording his 30th in just his 59th NFL contest (12/13/98) after notching his 25th in just his 50th NFL contest (10/11/98). Only three running backs in NFL history reached 30 100-yard rushing games more quickly than Davis.
- Davis is one of only three players to rush for 6,000 yards in his first four seasons and ranks third in all-time rushing yards in the first four seasons of an NFL career.
- Davis is one of only seven players to rush for 1,000 yards in each of his first four NFL seasons, and in 1998 became only the second player in NFL history with three straight 1,500-yard rushing seasons, as well as the second player to ever have three such seasons in his first four years in the NFL.
- One of Davis' most notable accomplishments was becoming the lowest-drafted player to rush for 1,000 yards in his first season. He posted a 1,117-yard rookie season in 1995 after being selected by the Broncos in the sixth round with the 196th overall pick.

In just three years of participation in the postseason, Davis has already re-written the Broncos postseason record book, laying claim to 21 franchise records (54 overall). Here is a look at Davis' postseason franchise records:

- Most rushing attempts (32) and yards (199) in a game; most rushing TDs and total TDs in a game (3); longest run from scrimmage (62); most rushing and total TDs for a career (12); most total yards from scrimmage in a game (206); most total yards from scrimmage in a career (1,271); most points scored in a single postseason (48); most points scored in a career (74); most rushing yards in one year's postseason games (581); most rushing yards in a career (1,140); most 100-yard rushing games (7); most consecutive 100-yard rushing games (7); most consecutive games scoring a touchdown (7); most consecutive 20-carry performances (7); most two-point conversions in a single postseason (1); and most two point conversions in a career (1).

NFL MVP & SUPER BOWL MVP

With his Associated Press Most Valuable Player award for the 1998 season, Terrell Davis became the eighth different player (it has happened nine times) to be named both League and Super Bowl MVP during their careers. Davis joins former Broncos quarterback John Elway to make Denver one of only two clubs to have multiple players accomplish the feat (San Francisco: Joe Montana and Steve Young).

DAVIS' PER-GAME AVERAGE RANKS THIRD ALL-TIME

Terrell Davis' career rushing average of 98.7 yards-per-game ranks No. 3 in NFL history, behind only Hall-of-Famer Jim Brown and future Hall-of-Famer Barry Sanders. Here's a look at the top three:

TOP THREE ALL-TIME PER-GAME RUSHING AVERAGES

	PLAYER	YDS./GM.	YEARS PLAYED
1.	Jim Brown	104.3	1957-65
2.	Barry Sanders	99.8	1989-98
3.	Terrell Davis	98.7	1995-present

What is most amazing is that it took him only four postseason games to pass Sammy Winders' 461 rushing yards (11 games). Also, Davis is the only AFC rushing leader in the 35-year history of the Super Bowl to be on the winning side in a Super Bowl, doing so in Super Bowls XXXII and XXXIII. A conference leader has only made it to the Super Bowl nine times, with Emmitt Smith (Dallas in 1992, '93 and '95) and Davis being the only leaders to win the game. Larry Brown (Washington in 1972), Thurman Thomas (Buffalo in 1990, '91 and '93) and Jamal Anderson (1998) are the only other conference rushing champions to make it to the Super Bowl. Davis was drafted by Denver 196th overall in the sixth round of the 1995 NFL Draft.

2000: Davis played in five games and started four, rushing for 282 yds. on 78 carries (3.6) with a long of 24 and two touchdowns. An ankle/foot injury sustained in the season opener at St. Louis (9/4) hampered Davis through the first half of the season, keeping him out of five of the next seven games (vs. Atl., 9/10; at Oak., 9/17; at S.D., 10/8; vs. Cleve., 10/15 and at Cin., 10/22). He started the next two games (at the Jets, 11/5 and vs. Oak., 11/3) then returned to the inactive list for the final six games and Denver's AFC Wild Card Playoff Game at Balt. (12/31) after developing a stress reaction in his left lower leg. He wore a protective boot for the final four weeks of the regular season and the Broncos' one postseason week. Prior to the injury Davis returned to action Nov. 5 at the Jets after missing three full games (Wks. 6-8) and looked to be in midseason form with 33 carries for 115 yds. (3.5) and a touchdown in Denver's 30-23 win. Davis' 33 carries were the third-most of his career (second most for a non-overtime game) and his most since Nov. 16, 1997 at K.C. It was the 32nd regular season 100-yd. rushing game of Davis' career, and the first since Dec. 27, 1998 vs. Sea. (last overall was Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atl., 1/31/99, 25-102). Davis made his second start of the season in Week 5 vs. N.E. (10/1) and rushed for 24 yds. on nine carries (2.7) with a long of 11 before aggravating his injury and leaving the game in the 2nd qtr. He returned from a two-game hiatus vs. K.C. (9/24) and played in a reserve role, rushing six times for 41 yds. (6.8) with a long of 24. Davis was active but did not play at Oak. (9/17) because of the injury, one week after being declared inactive for Denver's home opener vs. Atl. (9/10). Davis started at halfback vs. the Rams (9/4) and rushed for 34 yds. on 9 carries (3.8) with a long of 12, playing in his first game since Oct. 3, 1999. He left the game in the 2nd qtr. with the ankle injury and did not return. Davis was voted team captain for the offense by his teammates. He started all four preseason games as he began his comeback from major knee surgery 10 months earlier.

1999: Davis started the first four games of the season before tearing his right anterior cruciate ligament, partially tearing his medial collateral ligament and sustaining cartilage damage vs. the Jets (10/3). He carried 67 times for 211 yds. (3.1) with a long of 26 and two touchdowns, and caught three passes for 26 yds. (8.7) with a long of 10 before his season was abruptly ended. Davis underwent surgery Oct. 13 at the world-renowned Steadman-Hawkins Clinic, and immediately embarked upon a 4-6 month rehabilitation process.

1998: Davis turned in a performance in 1998 that ranked among the greatest of all-time by a running back, claiming Associated Press NFL MVP honors with 25 votes, topping Minnesota QB Randall Cunningham (14) and WR Randy Moss (4), as well as Atlanta RB Jamal Anderson (4). He was also named Offensive Player of the Year by AP, first-team All-NFL and a starter in his third

DAVIS HOLDS SINGLE-SEASON RUSHING MARKS

Terrell Davis' 1997 and 1998 regular and postseason combined totals for rushing attempts and yards rank No. 1 and No. 2 all-time for an entire season. Meanwhile, his 26 total touchdowns in 1998 rank No. 4 all-time, and his 14 100-yard games in both 1997 and 1998 tie for first all-time. The NFL's rushing and touchdown-scoring champion also picked up NFL MVP accolades from Pro Football Weekly and the Professional Football Writers of America, as well as Player of the Year honors from The Sporting News and Football Digest; Offensive Player of the Year from College & Pro Football Newsweekly and AFC Player of the Year from Football News. He capped his glorious run by picking up AFC Offensive Player of the Year honors from the Kansas City 101 Club, Professional Star of the Year acclaim for the second year in a row from the San Diego Hall of Champions and an ESPY Award for Pro Football Performer of the Year after becoming just the fourth player in league history to top the 2,000-yard rushing mark in a season. In the postseason he extended his NFL-record streak of 100-yard rushing performances to seven, in leading Denver to its second straight World Championship. Davis started at halfback in all 16 games and won his first NFL rushing title with 2,008 yards and 21 touchdowns on 392 carries (5.1), with a long of 70 (at Sea., 10/11), to become just the fourth player in league history to top the 2,000-yard rushing mark in a single season. His total ranked third-best all-time behind Hall-of-Famer Eric Dickerson's 2,105 (1984) and Barry Sanders' 2,053 (1997), and helped Davis become the Broncos' all-time career rushing leader with 6,413 yards, passing Floyd Little (6,323; 1967-75). He amassed his total in just 61 career games, giving him the best per-game rushing average in NFL history at 105.1 yards per game at the end of '98, just ahead of the only other player to average more than 100 yds. per game: Jim Brown (104.3). Davis also caught 25 passes for 217 yards (8.7) and two touchdowns

DAVIS' 1998 REGULAR SEASON RUSHING TOTAL RANKS AMONG BEST ALL-TIME

Terrell Davis' 1998 season will be one to remember for a long time in Denver, as he produced more total yards from scrimmage, rushing yards, attempts and touchdowns than any player in a season in franchise history. His rushing total of 2,008 yards ranks No. 3 all-time in a single season by any back, and No. 1 all-time by an AFC back. He also holds the No. 15 spot on the list:

DAVIS SETS BRONCOS' 100-YARD GAME MARK FOR A SEASON

Terrell Davis' 178-yard performance against Seattle, Dec. 27, 1998, was his 11th 100-yard game of the 1998 regular season, breaking his own team record of 10 set in 1997.

in '98 to account for 2,225 total yards from scrimmage (2nd in NFL). Davis finished his fourth season with a whopping 7,594 total yards in his career, second-most ever in the first four years of a career, trailing only Dickerson (7,842). Davis' 23 total TDs were the most by a Bronco in a single season, and tied for third-most in NFL history (Jerry Rice, 1987 and O.J. Simpson, 1975) behind Emmitt Smith's 25 (1995) and John Riggins' 24 (1983). He shattered his previous club record of 15 set in 1996 (13 rush./2 rec.) and '97 (15 rush.), and his 21 rushing TDs also represent a team record, six better than the 15 he scored in 1997. In all for 1998, Davis set franchise single-season records for attempts (392), yards (2,008), rushing TDs (21), total TDs (23), total yards from scrimmage (2,225), total combined yards (also 2,225—that total includes returns), scoring (138) and 100-yd. games (11), conquering several more new categories in the Broncos' record book. Davis finished the season with 61 total touchdowns for his career (in 61 games), more than any other Bronco in history (Floyd Little, 54, 1967-75), and scored more touchdowns in the first four years of an NFL career than any other player (Marcus Allen—58). He also scored more rushing touchdowns per game (.918; 56 in 61 gms.) for his career than any other player in history. Davis became just the third player in NFL history to reach the 1,000-yd. plateau in the first seven games (1,001) of a season, matching Hall of Famers Jim Brown (Cleve., 1958) and O.J. Simpson (1973 and '75), and is the second back in NFL history to string together three straight 1,500-yd. rushing seasons (Barry Sanders, 1994-97). He recorded his third 1,500-yd. season in just his fourth year, tying Dickerson for fastest in league history to post such a total. In games 2-8 he put together a franchise-record streak of seven 100-yd. rushing performances. Davis in 1998 led the NFL in rushing yards, touchdowns, rushing touchdowns, first downs (112) and points (138), and ranked second in total yards from scrimmage (2,225). He was named AFC Offensive Player of the Month for September (94-489-5.2-63t-6 in four games) and October (81-512-6.3-70-6), the third and fourth such awards of his career (Sept. 1996 and '97), and earned four AFC Offensive Player of the Week awards (Wks. 2, 5, 8 and 17; 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th of his career), while also garnering a Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week honor (Week 2). Davis was outstanding in Week 2 vs. Dallas, rushing for

DAVIS AMONG 100-YARD GAME LEADERS

With his 147-yard effort at the New York Giants Dec. 13, 1998, Terrell Davis recorded his 30th career 100-yard rushing game in just his 59th regular season contest, making him the fourth-fastest to reach that plateau among all-time NFL running backs. Here is a look at the top five:

2.	Eric Dickerson	L.A. Rams	53

5.	Walter Payton	Chicago	65

Davis has rushed for 100 or more yards 32 times in his regular season career, and the Broncos have posted a 28-4 record in those contests. Denver is a perfect 7-0 in the postseason when Davis rushes for 100 yards.

191 yards and three touchdowns on 23 carries (8.3), including touchdown runs of 59 and 63 yds. to earn both AFC Offensive Player of the Week and Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week honors. The 191-yard rushing total ranked sixth on his personal single-game ledger, and the two long runs—which came on successive plays—stand as the fourth-longest (63) and sixth-longest (59) of his career (7 of his top 9 have gone for touchdowns), and made him just the third player in NFL history to post two scoring runs of 50 yards or longer in the same quarter (Cliff Battles, Wash. vs. Pitt., 10/17/37, 60 & 72 yds. in 4th qtr.; LeShon Johnson, Ariz. vs. N.O., 9/22/96, 56 & 70 yds. in 4th qtr.). Davis' 138 yards in the first quarter (best one-quarter total of his career) vs. Dallas (9/13) gave him his second career 100-yd. quarter, en route to his seventh career 100-yd. half (154). His three rushing touchdowns tied the franchise record and moved him past Sammy Winder (39) into second place on the Broncos all-time rushing touchdowns list. He set a franchise record vs. Dallas by scoring a rushing touchdown for the sixth straight game, besting the previous record of five that he shared with Winder (Davis—'97, Winder—'85). Davis' first two touchdowns of the season came in the season-opener vs. New England (9/7) on a 9-yard run in the second quarter that gave Denver a 17-0 lead, and a 1-yard run in the fourth quarter for a 27-14 margin. In that game he passed Otis Armstrong (4,453 yds.) to move into third place on Denver's all-time rushing list. He went over 100 yds. again at Oakland (9/20) with 28 carries for 104 yds (3.7), and moved past Otis Armstrong (1,023) for third on the Broncos' all-time list for rushing attempts. He then went over the century mark again the next week at Washington (9/27) with 119 on 21 carries (5.7), including a 42-yd. touchdown run that ranked at the time as his seventh-longest rush from scrimmage. The score came in the third quarter to give Denver a 24-0 lead. Davis was spectacular again vs. Philadelphia (10/4), posting his 24th career 100-yd. game with 168 yards and two touchdowns on 20 carries—all in the first half—to earn AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for the fifth time in his career. He did not play in the second half with the game comfortably in hand. Davis gained 120 yards and scored both touchdowns (20- and 1-yd. runs) in the first quarter— his third career 100-yd. qtr.—and had reached 168 yds. by halftime to post a new career high for a half before resting for the remainder of the contest. Davis' two rushing touchdowns moved him into a tie with Floyd Little (43) for the franchise career record, and gave him 45 total touchdowns to move ahead of Riley Odoms (44) and Lionel Taylor (44) for fourth on Denver's all-time list. In the Philadelphia contest he also became just the seventh player in NFL history to amass more than 5,000 rushing yards in the first four years of a career, and did so in his 50th NFL game to became the fourth-fastest to accomplish the feat (Eric Dickerson-45 gms., Earl Campbell-46, Jim Brown-48). He also Terrell Davis' 149-yard rushing performance at Cincinnati, Nov. 1, 1998, extended his own team record for consecutive 100-yard games to seven. Separately, he has an NFL-record seven-game streak of 100-yard performances in the postseason.

Dialing Long Distance for Six

On Sept. 13, 1998, Terrell Davis had 59- and 63-yard touchdown runs on consecutive carries in the first quarter. It marked just the third time in NFL history that a player has posted two scoring runs of 50 yards or longer in the same quarter:

became just the sixth Bronco ever to amass 6,000 total yards from scrimmage, doing so faster than any of the others (50 gms.). Davis posted the second-highest rushing total of his career—and the second-highest in the NFL in 1998—at Seattle in Week 6 with 208 yds. and a touchdown on 30 carries, giving him a franchise-record fifth-straight 100-yd. rushing performance. His 70-yd. scamper in the 4th qtr. was the longest non-scoring rush of his career, and his second-longest overall, helping him to his fourth career 100-yd. qtr. (122; 4th) and his ninth career 100-yd. half (135; 2nd). With one touchdown in the Seattle contest, Davis became the Broncos' all-time leader in rushing touchdowns, topping the previous record held by Little (43 from 1965-77). He kept his record-breaking form intact in his next outing vs. Jacksonville (10/25), racking up 136 yds. and a franchise-record-tying 3 TDs (3rd time with 3 rushing; 5th time with 3 total TDs) on 31 carries (4.4), as well as a career-high 76 yards on 5 receptions to record 212 total yds. from scrimmage and earn his third AFC Offensive Player of the Week award of '98 (6th of career) and seal his second straight AFC Offensive Player of the Month award (4th of career). Davis finished the day at 1,001 rushing yds. in the first 7 games of the season, tying him with Jim Brown (Cleve., 1958) and O.J. Simpson (1973 and '75) as the fastest to reach 1,000 yds. in a season. His three touchdowns also moved him past Sammy Winder (48) for second place on the Broncos' all-time career touchdown list. In the game he also passed Walter Payton to claim the fifth-highest rushing total in the first four years of an NFL career, and extended his franchise-record streak of 100-yd. games to six. Davis climbed to new heights at Cincinnati (11/1) with 149 yds. and 2 TDs on 27 carries (5.5) to move past Sammy Winder (5,428) into second place on the Broncos' all-time rushing list. He also caught one pass for 3 yds. It was Davis' seventh straight 100-yd. game, to extend his franchise-record streak, and the 27th of his career. His streak would end a week later vs. San Diego (11/8) when he tallied 69 yds. on 20 carries and 19 more on two receptions, but he still managed to make history with his two touchdowns. After a 4 yd. TD reception from Bubby Brister in the first qtr. for his first receiving TD of the year, Davis scored on a 24-yd. run in the second qtr.—his longest carry of the day—to notch his franchise-record 16th TD of the season. In Game 10 at Kansas City (11/16) on Monday Night Football, Davis carried 18 times for 111 yds. (6.2) and scored his 16th rushing touchdown of the season on his longest rush of the day (41 yds.) to set a new franchise single-season mark (15 by Davis in '97). It was also his 55th career TD (51 rush./4 rec.), making him the Broncos' all-time leader, and established a franchise record by scoring a rushing touch-

Fewest Games Needed to Reach 1,000 Yards in a Single Season

With his 136-yard rushing performance against Jacksonville Oct. 25, 1998, Terrell Davis became just the third player in NFL history to rush for 1,000 yards in seven games, joining the likes of Hall of Famers Jim Brown and O.J. Simpson. This feat has now been accomplished four times, twice by Simpson:

On Nov. 29, 1998 at San Diego, Terrell Davis surpassed the 1,500-yard rushing mark for the season, reaching that plateau for the third consecutive season — a feat previously accomplished by only Barry Sanders. By doing so in his fourth year, Davis tied Eric Dickerson as the only players in league history to rush for 1,500 or more yards three times in the first four seasons of a career:

Davis provided the spark the Broncos needed vs. Oakland (11/22), muscling his way to 162 yds. on 31 carries, including a 1-yd. TD run in the 2nd qtr., to go along with 26 yds. on three pass receptions. In the game he moved from sixth to second place on the NFL's all-time list for total yards from scrimmage in the first four years of a career (passing Thurman Thomas, Emmitt Smith, Marcus Allen and Barry Sanders), finishing the day at 7,007 (Eric Dickerson—7,428). With 110 yds. in the 1st half, Davis notched his 10th career 100-yd. half (4 of which have come in one qtr.), and with his rushing touchdown extended his franchise-record streak to eight straight games with such a score (12 rushing TDs in the 8 gms. of the streak). Davis was held to 74 yds. on 24 carries at San Diego (11/29), but went over the 1,500-yd. rushing mark for the season, giving him three straight seasons over 1,500, a feat achieved previously by just one man: Detroit's Barry Sanders (1994-97). Davis was held under 100 yds. for just the third time all season, and the second time by San Diego. He tied the franchise record for touchdowns in a game for the sixth time in his career vs. Kansas City (12/6), scoring three and rushing for 88 yds. on 24 carries, while also catching five passes (ties season high) for 45 yds. He scored on runs of 1-yd. each in the 1st, 2nd and 3rd qtrs., the latter of which was the 59th of his career, giving him more total TDs in the first four years of a career than any other player in history (Marcus Allen, 58). In the K.C. game, Davis fumbled for the first time in the regular season since Nov. 2, 1997 vs. Seattle, a span of 443 carries and 477 total touches. It was, however, the first time he had lost a fumble since Nov. 24, 1996, at Minnesota, a span of 767 carries and 836 total touches. At the Giants (12/13), Davis logged his 10th 100-yd. game of the season to tie his franchise record from 1997, and the 30th of his career, with 147 yds. on 28 carries (5.3). In so doing, Davis eclipsed his franchise record for rushing yards in a season (1,750) set the year before, finishing the day at 1,801 with two games remaining. His 27-yd. TD with 4:08 remaining in the game gave Denver a 16-13 lead, and was his 56th career rushing TD to pass Earl Campbell and Eric Dickerson for most in the first four years of a career. In the season-finale vs. Seattle (12/27), Davis needed 170 yards to become just the fourth player in NFL history to rush for 2,000 or more yards in a single season—and delivered, with 178 yds. on 29 carries (6.1) to finish at 2,008 yds., third-best all-time (Dickerson-2,105 in 1984; Sanders-2,053 in 1997), and claim his first NFL rushing title. Davis' 1997 and 1998 Postseasons Rank Among Best All-Time

With his 30-carry, 157-yard performance against Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII, Terrell Davis finished the 1997 postseason with 581 yards on 112 carries in four games. His attempts and rushing yardage both rank second in NFL history for a single postseason, and he scored an NFL postseason record eight touchdowns, surpassing by two the mark of six held by six other players. Davis added his name again to the list in 1998, posting the third-highest yardage total, and the highest total for a three-game postseason:

Davis' Postseason Averages Best All-Time

Terrell Davis' 5.6 yards-per-carry career average in postseason play (1,140 yards on 204 carries) ranks first all-time among NFL running backs. He also possesses the NFL's best yards-per-game average in the postseason, at 142.5 (1,140 in eight games).

the second Bronco to do so, joining Otis Armstrong, who led the league with 1,407 yds. in 1974. He gained 54 yds. in the 1st qtr., 28 in the 2nd, 51 in the 3rd and 45 in the 4th, with the final, history-making yardage coming on a 15-yd. run on 2nd-and-6 from the Seahawks' 48-yd. line with 8:52 remaining in the game. Along the way he also became the Broncos' all-time leading rusher, topping Floyd Little's previous record of 6,323 yds. in the 3rd qtr. It was his franchise-record 11th 100-yd. game of the season, and tied for the fifth-highest single-game rushing total in franchise history (tied for his own fourth-highest), and earned him AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for the fourth time in 1998. 1998 Postseason: Davis started at halfback in all three postseason contests and rushed for 468 yards on 78 carries (6.0) to run his combined season rushing total (regular and postseason combined) to an NFL-record 2,476 yds., topping his own previous league standard of 2,331 set one year earlier. He also caught four passes for 69 yds. (17.3) with a long of 39, which came in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31). During the 1998 postseason Davis moved up to sixth in NFL all-time postseason rushing yardage with 1,140 yards, passing Larry Csonka (891) and John Riggins (996) in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17). Davis' 468 rushing yards in the 1998 playoffs represent the third-highest rushing total in one postseason (John Riggins, 610 yards in 1982; Davis, 581 in 1997), and the highest for a three-game postseason. His career postseason rushing averages of 142.5 yds.-per-game and 5.6 yds.-per-attempt stood as the best in NFL history after 1998, and Davis finished the season with the record for most consecutive 100-yard rushing games in the postseason with seven, a figure that also ties him with Dallas' Emmitt Smith most total 100-yard games in the postseason. Davis now holds every major franchise postseason rushing record, and also became the all-time leader in touchdowns (12) and points scored (74). In the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) he set a Broncos postseason record with 199 rushing yards—the fourth-highest single-game total in NFL postseason history—on 21 carries (9.5; also a franchise record), with two touchdowns. Davis, who also caught one pass for 7 yards, was scintillating as he temporarily moved into eighth place on the NFL's career postseason rushing list, finishing the day at 871 career yards to pass Chuck Foreman (860), Roger Craig (841) and Earnest Byner (839). Both touchdowns came in the 1st qtr. on runs of 1 and 20 yards to give Denver a 14-0 lead, and his 62-yard run on the first play of the second half was the longest postseason run in franchise history, topping his 59-yard burst in the 1997 Wild Card win over Jacksonville (12/27/97). His 21 carries made him the Broncos' all-time postseason leader in that category, finishing the day at 147 to pass Sammy Winder (144), and he had his first postseason 100-yd. half (129; 1st half). He followed that performance with 167 yards on a franchise postseason-record 32 carries (5.2) in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets

Davis Becomes Broncos' Postseason Rushing Leader; Climbs NFL Chart

Here is a look at the top three Broncos postseason rushers of all time, and the top six NFL postseason rushers of all-time:

Davis Owns Fifth-Best Postseason Rushing Game

With a 199-yard outburst vs. Miami in an AFC Divisional Playoff Game, Jan. 9, 1999, Terrell Davis etched his name further into the NFL record book. His performance—while also representing a Broncos postseason record—ranks fifth on the NFL's all-time postseason single-game list:

(1/17), including a 31-yd. touchdown run in the 3rd qtr. that was his longest carry of the day. He also caught one pass for 12 yds. Davis' TD gave the Broncos a 20-10 lead en route to a 23-10 win and a repeat appearance in the Super Bowl. It also gave him a rushing TD in seven consecutive postseason games, tied for the third-longest streak in NFL history. Davis capped his brilliant season with 102 yards on 25 carries (4.1) in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31). His longest rush went for 15 yards, and he added two catches for 50 yards, including a 39-yarder, the longest reception of his career. The 100-yd. performance was Davis' seventh in a row in the postseason, an NFL record, and his 14th in 1998 (regular and postseason combined) to tie himself and Barry Sanders (both 1997) for the NFL record. With the win, Davis also became became the second player in NFL history to win the NFL rushing title and the Super Bowl in the same season (Dallas' Emmitt Smith has done it three times: 1992, 1993 and 1995).

1997: Davis took many huge steps towards being touted as the best running back the sport has seen in many years, putting up numbers never before reached by a Broncos running back—not even himself a year earlier. Among the franchise records set by Davis in 1997 were new standards for rushing yards in a season (1,750), most rushing touchdowns in a season (15), most rushing attempts in a season (369), 100-yard performances in a season (10) and total yards from scrimmage in a season (2,037). He also tied the NFL record for most two-point conversions in a year with three, a feat that had been accomplished seven times prior. His postseason effort was also one to remember, as he posted four consecutive 100-yard games and scored an NFL-record eight touchdowns (all on the ground) to lead Denver to its first ever World Championship. Davis also added his second Pro Bowl appearance to his resumé as well as earning numerous individual awards, including Super Bowl XXXII Most Valuable Player honors. Among Davis' awards for his performance during the 1997 season were AFC Player of the Year by the KC 101 Club and Football News as well as first-team AFL-Pro honors from the Associated Press, Sports Illustrated, Pro Football Weekly, College and Pro Football Weekly, The Sporting News, Football News, Football Digest and USA Today. He was also given the Mackey Award by the NFL Players Association as the AFC's best running back. Davis, who started the first 15 games of the year, finished his third season in the NFL with 1,750 yards on 369 carries (4.7 avg.) and 15 rushing touchdowns, to go along with 42 receptions for 287 yards (6.8 avg.). All rushing numbers were career highs and franchise highs. He won the AFC rushing crown and finished second in the NFL, each for the second straight year, and was also second in the AFC and in the NFL in both rushing attempts and touchdowns scored, first in the AFC (2nd NFL) in total yards from scrimmage (2,037) and first in the NFL in rushing first downs and total first downs. Davis tied for first in the NFL in

Davis Re-Writes Broncos Postseason Record Book

In just three journeys into the postseason, Terrell Davis has been so spectacular that his name dominates every category of the Broncos' postseason record book. He has played just eight postseason games, and owns seven of the top nine single-game performances in both rushing attempts and rushing yards. Davis' ledger includes the entire top four in attempts and the top five in yardage.

DAVIS CARRIES STRING OF SEVEN STRAIGHT POSTSEASON 100-YARD GAMES INTO 2001

Terrell Davis enters the 2001 season riding an NFL-record streak of seven straight 100-yard rushing performances in postseason play:

scoring by a non-kicker (96), and tied the NFL record for two-point conversions scored in a single season, recording three to match the effort of seven previous players. In the season-opener vs. Kansas City (8/31) Davis recorded the 11th 100-yard rushing performance of his brief NFL career, totaling 101 yards on 26 carries and one TD in Denver's 19-3 win. In that game he passed Bobby Humphrey (593) for sixth place in all-time rushing attempts by a Bronco. At Seattle (9/7) Davis rushed for 108 yards on 21 carries and one TD as the Broncos beat the Seahawks 35-14, and Davis notched his second straight 100-yard effort to mark the first time in his career he had back-to-back 100-yard games to start a season. Davis also tied Jon Keyworth for fifth place on the Broncos' list for rushing touchdowns with his 22nd. A week later vs. St. Louis Davis made it three straight 100-yard outputs by rushing for 103 yards on 21 carries in Denver's 35-14 victory, and he tied the franchise record for the second time in his career the following week by posting his fourth straight 100-yard effort. This was no ordinary effort, however, as Davis rushed 27 times for a franchise record 215 yards and one TD in Denver's 38-20 victory over the Bengals (9/21). He totaled a team-record 228 yards from scrimmage and topped the 3,000-yard rushing plateau in just his 34th game to establish another team record, and moved into third place in rushing touchdowns with his 23rd, passing Jon Keyworth. He also passed teammate John Elway for fourth place all-time in rushing yards, moving to 3,181. His efforts against the Bengals earned him AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors as well as Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week honors. A week later at Atlanta (9/28) Davis was held below 100 yards (23-79-1TD) for the first time all season in Denver's 29-21 victory, but still managed to pass Keyworth (699) for fifth place all-time in career rushing attempts by a Bronco. His explosive start to the season earned him AFC Offensive Player of the Month honors for September, the second time he has won such an award (also in September of 1996). Davis stole the Monday Night spotlight in Week Six vs. New England (10/6), as he continued his mastery of the New England Patriots with a 32-carry, 171-yard, two-touchdown performance in Denver's 34-13 victory. During the contest, Davis became the fastest Bronco in franchise history to reach 4,000 total yards from scrimmage, moved into fourth place all-time in rushing attempts by a Bronco, rushed for 100 yards for the 15th time, tying the franchise record, and moved into fourth place all-time in rushing touchdowns by a Bronco. His efforts earned him Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week honors for the second time in three weeks. It also upped his rushing total in three career games against the Patriots to 422 yards. Two weeks later, after the bye, at Oakland (10/19) he rushed for 85 yards on 23 carries (two touchdowns) and added seven receptions for 70 yards in Denver's first loss of the season. During the contest, Davis became the ninth player in NFL history to rush for 3,500 yards in his first three seasons. He also reached the 100-reception plateau for his career, equaling his career high with seven catches, and set a career high

SUPER BOWL XXXII MOST VALUABLE PLAYER

Terrell Davis, a native of San Diego, made history in winning the Pete Rozelle Award as Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl XXXII. He not only became the first player to be named Super Bowl MVP for a game played in his hometown, but also became the sixth-lowest (now seventh-lowest) drafted player to receive this honor. The other players who were drafted even later than Davis (6th round, 196th selection in 1995) were Richard Dent (Chicago, 8th round, MVP in Super Bowl XX), Jake Scott (Miami, 7th round, MVP in VII), Roger Staubach (Dallas, 10th round, MVP in VI), Larry Brown (Dallas, 12th round, MVP in XXX), Bart Starr (Green Bay, 17th round, MVP in I and II) and Kurt Warner (Green Bay, undrafted free agent, MVP in XXXIV). Davis and Marcus Allen (MVP XVIII) have made Lincoln High School in San Diego the only high school ever to produce two Super Bowl MVPs. Davis' jersey No. 7 was retired at the high school in a special ceremony held Tues., Jan. 20, 1998 during Super Bowl week.

with 70 receiving yards. Davis also tallied his third two-point conversion of the season, tying a single-season NFL record shared by seven other players. Davis broke new ground again at Buffalo (10/26) when he rushed for 207 yards on a franchise-record 42 carries and one touchdown in Denver's 23-20 overtime victory over the Bills. He also had five receptions for 29 yards, giving him 236 total yards from scrimmage, another franchise record. Also during the contest, Davis set franchise records for most 100-yard rushing games in a career (his 16th), most carries in a game (42, breaking Bobby Humphrey's record of 34 set in 1990 and the 4th-highest total in NFL history) and fewest games needed to reach 1,000 rushing yards in a season (eight, breaking his own record of 10 set in 1996). He handled the ball 47 times during the contest, one off the NFL record, and also passed William Andrews for the eighth-most rushing yards in the first three years of a career. Davis also became the eighth back in NFL history to rush for 1,000 in each of his first three seasons in the league (the first Bronco to ever do so) and the first Bronco to have three 1,000-yard rushing seasons in his career. The next week vs. Seattle (11/2) Davis reached the 100-yard plateau once again (21-101) to tie his own team record (1996; also Bobby Humphrey, 1990; Otis Armstrong, 1974) for 100-yard games in a season, as Denver won 30-27. It enabled Davis—in just the ninth game of the year—to pass his rookie rushing total of 1,117 yards, accomplished in 14 games. Davis also had six receptions for 17 yards in the game, making him the team's leading receiver for the second straight week, and passed Marcus Allen for the 10th-most total yards from scrimmage over the first three years of an NFL career, as well as passing Jim Brown for the seventh-most rushing yards in the first three years of a career. A week later Davis established a new franchise record with his eighth 100-yard game of the season, tallying 104 yards on 21 carries, and passed Walter Payton for the sixth-most rushing yards in the first three years of an NFL career. A week later at Kansas City (11/16) Davis ran his streak of 100-yard games to four as he tied Otis Armstrong's and Bobby Humphrey's franchise record for the third time in his young career. He also became the fourth-quickest player in NFL history (and the quickest in franchise history) to rush for 4,000 yards (41 games), and also passed Billy Sims and Thurman Thomas for eighth place in most total yards from scrimmage over the first three years of a career. He was held under 100 yards for just the second time all season vs. Oakland Nov. 24 on Monday Night Football, but tied his own franchise record with three touchdowns, and set a new standard with all three coming via the ground. Davis had twice previously posted two rushing and one receiving touchdown in the same game, but never three rushing. It marked the 19th time in franchise history that a player had scored three touchdowns in a game and the fifth time that all three scores were rushing touchdowns. During the contest, Davis also went over the 5,000-yard mark in total yards from scrimmage in his career faster than any player in franchise history (42 games). He also became just the eighth player in league history to accomplish this feat in the first three years of his career.

DAVIS ONE OF FASTEST IN NFL HISTORY TO REACH 6,000 CAREER RUSHING YARDS

In just his 58th NFL game, Dec. 6, 1998, vs. Kansas City, Terrell Davis reached the 6,000-yard rushing mark, and did so faster than all but three other backs in league history (Eric Dickerson — 53 games; Earl Campbell — 56; and Jim Brown — 58). He is third all-time in rushing yards in the first four years of a career:

Davis continued his assault on the record books the following week in his hometown of San Diego (11/30), rushing for more than 150 yards for the fourth time this season—and more than 100 yards for the 10th time—by totaling 178 yards on 26 carries and one TD in Denver's 38-28 victory over the Chargers. This was Davis' 20th 100-yard game in just his 43rd NFL contest, making him the fifth fastest player to reach 20 100-yard performances. He also set new single-season marks in rushing and total yards from scrimmage, surpassing his own team marks set in 1996 (1,538 rushing / 1,848 total). He also passed teammate John Elway (32) for third place in career TD runs, passed Emmitt Smith, William Andrews and Herschel Walker for seventh, sixth and fifth place, respectively in total yards from scrimmage during the first three years of a career, and passed Smith for fifth place all-time in rushing yards in the first three years of a career. His rushing touchdown was his 13th, tying his own team record (1996). Davis moved into third place all-time in rushing yards during the first three years of a career (4,333) with his 75-yard output at Pittsburgh (12/7), passing Barry Sanders and Ottis Anderson, and also went over the 2,000-yard mark in single-season total yards from scrimmage (26th time in NFL history), broke his own team mark for rushing touchdowns in a season with his 14th, and broke his own team record for rushing attempts in a season (345). It was only the fourth of five times in 1997 that he would fail to reach 100 rushing yards in a game. This was also Davis' 14th consecutive game with at least 20 carries, breaking the NFL record previously held by Terry Allen (1995-96). At San Francisco (12/15) on Monday Night Football Davis rushed for just 28 yards on 10 carries and caught two passes for zero yards in just over a quarter of Denver's 34-17 loss to San Francisco. He left the game in the second quarter due to a mild anterior cruciate sprain to his right shoulder, but not before registering his 15th rushing touchdown of the season, tying his own franchise record for total touchdowns in a season (13 rush./2 rec., 1996). The injury forced him to be deactivated for the Broncos' regular season finale against San Diego. It was only the third game of his career that he had missed, including the two to end the 1995 regular season. In the preseason Davis looked sensational in limited duty, starting all five games at halfback and rushing 34 times for a team-leading 211 yards (6.2) with a long of 37 and two touchdowns. He also caught three passes for 46 yards (15.3) with a long of 20. Both rushing TDs came in the finale against San Francisco (8/23) on runs of 6 and 11 yards.

1997 Postseason: In Davis' short NFL career, he has put up some astounding postseason numbers—most of them in 1997. He finished the 1997 postseason with 112 carries for 581 yards (5.2 avg.) and eight touchdowns in four games—all Broncos wins en route to the World Championship. Davis also had eight catches for 38 yards (4.8 avg.) in the postseason, brining his career post-

T.D. SCORING TDS IN BUNCHES

Terrell Davis' touchdown against Seattle in the 1998 season-finale (Dec. 27), was his 21st rushing and 23rd total for the season, a franchise record, and among the most ever scored by an individual in a single NFL season. He led the league in scoring by a non-kicker in 1998, with a franchise-record 138 points:

DAVIS ONE OF FASTEST IN NFL HISTORY TO REACH 7,000 CAREER TOTAL YARDS

With his 188-yard total offense output against Oakland Nov. 22, 1998, Terrell Davis, in just his 56th NFL game, became the fastest Broncos player ever to reach 7,000 total yards from scrimmage. He also became just the second player in NFL history to reach 7,000 total yards in his first four NFL seasons, and now boasts the NFL's second-highest total yardage figure after the first four years of a career:

season numbers (5 games) to 126 carries for 672 yards (5.3 avg.) and nine touchdowns, plus 15 receptions for 62 yards. In Denver's 42-17 AFC Wild Card Playoff Game victory over Jacksonville (12/27/97) Davis had the longest run in a postseason game by a Bronco (59 yards), and also logged the most carries (31), rushing yards (184), rushing touchdowns (2) and total touchdowns (2) of any Broncos postseason performer ever. His 5.9 yards-per-rush average against the Jaguars was topped only in team postseason annals by teammate Derek Loville's 9.4-yard average in the same game (11-103) and his own 6.5 average in the 1996 playoff game against the Jaguars. During the contest, he also moved into third place all-time in both carries and rushing yards in the postseason by a Bronco, passing Gaston Green (36) and Bobby Humphrey (38) in attempts and Gene Lang (138) and Humphrey (169) in yards. In Denver's 14-10 Divisional Playoff win at Kansas City (1/4/98), Davis rushed for 101 yards and two touchdowns on 25 carries (third-most ever in a postseason game by a Bronco), and added one reception for 17 yards, his longest postseason reception to date. This was Davis' second career postseason 100-yard game (second in a row), setting a new franchise record for postseason 100-yard games. He also set the franchise record for most rushing and total touchdowns by a Bronco in the postseason with five. For the second consecutive week he tied the team record for most rushing and total touchdowns in a postseason game with two. Davis showed his mettle again the following week in Denver's 24-21 AFC Championship Game victory at Pittsburgh (1/11/98), rushing for 139 yards on 26 carries, and added his fifth postseason touchdown of 1997. It was his third consecutive 100-yard game in the postseason, tying four other NFL players for third place all-time in consecutive postseason 100-yard rushing games. He also passed Freeman McNeil (349 in 1982), Natrone Means (358 in 1996) and Thurman Thomas (390 in 1990) for fifth, fourth and third place respectively in most rushing yards in a single postseason. Teamwise, Davis surpassed David Treadwell (32) for the second-most points scored in franchise postseason history (38), passed his teammate John Elway (80) for second place in postseason rushing attempts (96), and passed Elway (410) and Sammy Winder (461) to move into first place in postseason rushing yards by a Bronco. Lastly, Davis' 26 carries equaled the second-most carries in a postseason contest by a Bronco, tying Sammy Winder and remaining eight carries behind his own record he set in the Wild Card Game against Jacksonville (12/27/97). The 141 total yards represented his second-highest total in the postseason (195 vs. Jax., 12/27/97) and placed him second all-time in postseason total yards from scrim-

TOUCHDOWN TERRELL

With his three touchdown runs vs. Kansas City Dec. 6, 1998, Terrell Davis passed Marcus Allen and moved into first place for most total touchdowns scored in the first four years of a career. Davis also passed Barry Sanders, Eric Dickerson and Chuck Foreman on the historic day:

mage by a Bronco to earn NFL Offensive Player of the Week honors. Davis then capped one of the most memorable individual seasons in NFL history by rushing for 157 yards on 30 carries and scoring three touchdowns to earn Most Valuable Player honors in Denver's 31-24 victory over Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII, in his hometown of San Diego (1/25/98). Davis also had two receptions for eight yards during the contest. The three TDs (all on the ground) tied a Super Bowl record for most points scored and most touchdowns scored in a single game, and he also set a Super Bowl record with three rushing touchdowns in a single game. The 157 yards ranks fifth all-time in a Super Bowl and the 30 carries ties for fourth all-time in a Super Bowl. Even more remarkable is the fact that Davis missed the entire second quarter while trying to fight off the onset of a migraine headache. He returned to start the second half and helped Denver control the ball and clock the rest of the way. Davis recorded his fourth consecutive 100-yard rushing game in post-season play, tying Thurman Thomas for the second-longest postseason 100-yard game streak in NFL history, and notched his 24th career 100-yard rushing game (fourth in the postseason), with Denver posting a 21-3 mark in those games (4-0 in postseason). It was also Davis' 14th 100-yard performance of the entire season, tying Barry Sanders (14 in 1997) for the NFL record. Davis also set the single-season record for most postseason touchdowns (8) and most postseason rushing touchdowns (8), and passed Marcus Allen (466 in 1983) for second place all-time in rushing yards in one postseason with 581 (John Riggins, 610, 1982). His 56 points scored moved him past Rich Karlis (55) into first on the Broncos' all-time postseason scoring list. He also passed Sammy Winder and Vance Johnson to move into first place all-time in postseason yards from scrimmage by a Bronco (734 yards in five games; avg. of 146.7 per game), and passed Eric Dickerson and Riggins to move into first place all-time in rushing yards (2,331) and rushing attempts (495) for an entire season (regular and postseason). His regular and postseason total of 23 touchdowns (all on the ground) rank tied for fourth all-time. Davis, who had his high school jersey retired the Tuesday prior to the game became the second player from San Diego's Lincoln High School to receive Super Bowl MVP honors (Allen in January, 1984), making him the sixth-lowest drafted player to win the MVP award (sixth round in 1995). He also became the first player in the 32-year history of the game to earn this award while playing the game in his hometown.

1996: Davis' list of 1996 honors included Associated Press NFL Offensive Player of the Year, Sports Illustrated and UPI NFL Player of the Year, his first Pro Bowl selection, All-Pro selections from the Associated Press, Sports Illustrated, The Sporting News, USA Today, Pro Football Weekly, Football Digest and College & Pro Football Newsweekly, All-AFC nods from UPI and Football News and a third-place showing in the AP NFL Most Valuable Player voting. Davis led the AFC and was second in the NFL in both rushing yards (1,538 yards on 345 carries; 4.5) and total yards from scrimmage (1,848), and led the NFL in first downs earned (108). He was second in the AFC (3rd NFL) in both rushing touchdowns (13) and total touchdowns (15), and set franchise records in both categories. He also set franchise single-season records in rushing attempts, rushing yards and total yards, topping previous standards held by Sammy Winder (296 carries in 1984) and Otis Armstrong (1,407 rushing yards and 1,812 total yards in 1974). With 15 total touchdowns, Davis broke the franchise single-season record of 14 held by Sammy Winder (1986) and Anthony

T.D.'s 50-yard TDs

Terrell Davis' 59- and 63-yard touchdown runs against Dallas Sept. 13, 1998 were the fifth and sixth scoring runs of 50 yards or more in his four-year career, ranking him among the NFL's active leaders in touchdown runs of 50 or more yards:

Miller (1995), and joined tight end Shannon Sharpe (10 TDs) to give the Broncos two players with double-figure touchdowns in the same season for the first time in franchise history. Davis teamed with QB John Elway and TE Shannon Sharpe to make the Broncos only the sixth team in NFL history to have a trio that had a 3,000-yard passer, 1,500-yard rusher, and 1,000-yard receiver. The trio along with WR Rod Smith, duplicated the feat in 1997, becoming the first team do this in back-to-back seasons and only the third team to have two 1,000-yard receivers as part of the group. Davis got off to a quick start in '96, putting together a string of five 100-yard games over a six-game span—including four in a row —beginning with Week Two at Seattle when he tallied 111 yards on 28 carries in Denver's 30-20 victory. A week later vs. Tampa Bay (9/15) he posted the second-highest rushing total of his young career with 137 yards on 22 carries (6.2) despite missing more than a quarter due to symptoms of a migraine headache. He also finished with 23 receiving yards on four catches (5.8). Davis left the game late in the first quarter when his vision became blurred and he felt nauseous, but he returned to start the second half and carried the entire offense to the come-from-behind win. He rushed eight times for 39 yards on the Broncos' 14-play, 80-yard game-winning drive that consumed 8:11 in the fourth quarter. He capped the drive with a three-yard touchdown run to give Denver the 27-23 win. The following week at Kansas City (9/22) he put together his third straight 100-yard game, rushing for 141 yards (second-highest in his career at the time) and two touchdowns on 19 carries (7.4). He scored from six yards out in the first quarter, then topped that with a then-career-best 65-yard scoring run in the second. He had already tallied 130 yards on 14 carries by halftime. The following week at Cincinnati (9/29) he notched his fourth straight 100-yard game with 112 yards on 24 carries (4.7). His long carry was a 19-yarder. His fourth straight game over the century mark tied a Broncos record set by Bobby Humphrey in 1990 and Otis Armstrong in 1974. On Oct. 6 vs. San Diego he rushed 17 times for 50 yards, while suffering the effects of a migraine headache that kept him out of the game for much of the second quarter. The Broncos used primarily a one-back offense during the game due to a knee injury suffered by starting fullback Aaron Craver the week before at Cincinnati. He also caught a season-high six passes for 42 yards after not catching a pass in the previous two games. Davis had the best day of his young career on Oct. 20 vs. Baltimore, setting a franchise record with 194 yards on 28 carries (6.9), including a career-best 71-yard touchdown run in the first quarter of Denver's 45-34 victory. The run was the fourth-longest ever by a Bronco, and the longest since 1973 (Joe Dawkins at K.C., 10/7). He also scored later from four yards out, and caught three passes for 19 yards (6.3). His 213 total yards also were a career high. Davis' reached the 2,000-yard rushing mark for his career with his 77-yard effort vs. Kansas City (10/27), making him the fastest to reach that milestone in Broncos history. It was his 22nd game, four earlier than Bobby Humphrey who reached the mark in his 26th game. Versus Chicago (11/10) Davis' 25-yard run in the second quarter pushed him over the 1,000-yard mark for the season, the earliest a Bronco has ever done so (game 10; Otis Armstrong topped 1,000 in the 12th game of the '74 season). Nov. 17 at New England he tallied his sixth 100-yard game of 1996, rushing for 154 yards on a career-high 32 carries, and adding 56 yards on four catches for 210 total yards in Denver's 34-8 victory. The performance earned him not only AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for the second in 1996 (also Week Eight), but also the Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week award. His total yardage figure was second-best in his career, trailing only his 213-yard effort vs. Baltimore (10/20). He also tied his own (and several others') Broncos record with three touchdowns, rushing for two and catching another, matching his effort vs. Washington last year (9/17). Davis' 68 yards at Minnesota (11/24) allowed him to move past Bobby Humphrey (2,386 yards) on the franchise's all-time rushing list. Davis' touchdowns in the game came on a one-yard run and a one-yard pass reception, giving him five scores over a two-game stretch. On Dec. 1 vs. Seattle Davis tallied his seventh 100-yard game of the 1996 season, tying Otis Armstrong's franchise record set in 1974, during Denver's 34-7 division-clinching victory. Davis carried the ball 26 times for 106 yards and one touchdown, and caught two passes for 15 yards. The following week at Green Bay (12/8) he rushed for 54 yards on 14 carries to establish franchise single-season records in both categories, topping the previous highs of 1,407 yards (Otis Armstrong, 1974) and 296 carries (Sammy Winder, 1984). Davis' five-yard carry to end the first half was the run that put him over Armstrong's yardage record. Against the Raiders (12/15) Davis carried the ball 27 times for 80 yards with a long of 12 and one touchdown, to set a new Broncos single-season record for total yards in a season in Denver's 24-19 win. He topped the previous standard of 1,812 yards set by Otis Armstrong in 1974. His three-yard touchdown run in the first quarter staked Denver to an early 7-0 lead, and was his 14th of the season, tying a franchise record. At San Diego (12/ 22) he started at tailback but played only into the second quarter. He carried nine times for 21 yards and a touchdown, and caught one pass for nine yards. His one-yard touchdown run in the first quarter put Denver ahead 10-0. In the game Davis surpassed Jon Keyworth (2,653 yards) for fifth place on the Broncos' career rushing list, and registered his 15th touchdown (13 rushing, two receiving) to establish a new franchise record. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff vs. Jacksonville (1/4/97) Davis started at tailback and rushed 14 times for 91 yards (6.5) with a long of 47 yards and one touchdown, while catching a game-high seven passes for 24 yards with a long of 6. His 47-yard run in the first quarter was the longest ever by a Bronco in the postseason, and set up Denver's first touchdown. Davis' 91 rushing yards were the second-most by Bronco in the postseason, trailing only Sammy Winder's 102-yard effort vs. New England, Jan. 4, 1987, and his seven receptions tied for third-most in a postseason game with Vance Johnson (1/14/90 and 1/12/92), Steve Sewell (1/12/92) and Jesse Myles (12/24/83). Davis scored on a two-yard run with 7:37 remaining in the game to pull Denver within 23-20, and added the two-point conversion himself. Davis mildly sprained the medial collateral ligament in his right knee in the first quarter, and left the game for several plays before returning.

Even more remarkable than Terrell Davis' 32 100-yard games is his list of 100-yard halves, which stands at 10—as well as four 100-yard quarters—after his first six years in the league:

30 games with one touchdown (3 more in postseason)

1995: Davis started 14 of the Broncos' 16 games, missing the final two (at Kansas City, 12/17 and at Oakland, 12/24) with a hamstring tear suffered in the first quarter vs. Seattle (12/10). For the season he led the team with 1,117 rushing yards on 237 carries (4.7) with seven touchdowns and a long of 60 yards (at Houston, 11/26) that went for a touchdown. Through the air, Davis caught 49 passes for 367 yards (7.5) with one touchdown and a long reception of 31. He was voted by his teammates as the club's Offensive MVP for '95, and finished second in the voting for NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year by a nationwide media panel. He garnered 16 votes, trailing only New England's Curtis Martin, who tallied 57, but was selected by Football Digest as its NFL Rookie of the Year. Davis was also voted to All-Rookie teams published by Pro Football Weekly and Football News, and was selected as a Pro Bowl alternate at runing back. In 1995 Davis became the first Bronco to rush for 1,000 yards in a season since Gaston Green tallied 1,037 in 1991, and the first Broncos rookie to do so since Bobby Humphrey racked up 1,151 in 1989. He is also the lowest-drafted player in National Football League history to rush for 1,000 yards in his rookie season. The Chargers' Don Woods, who rushed for more than 1,000 in 1974, was also a sixth-round pick (by the Packers), but was selected earlier overall in the draft than Davis, the 196th pick in the 1995 draft. His season total of 1,484 total yards from scrimmage ranked fifth in the AFC and 16th in the NFL—despite missing two games—and were the most ever by a Broncos rookie. He finished third in the AFC in rushing (1,117 yards; 9th NFL) and fourth in total first downs (76; tied for 18th NFL). In the season opener vs. Buffalo, Davis started at tailback in his first professional game, carrying the ball a team-leading 20 times for 70 yards (3.5) with a long of 17, and catching two passes for nine yards (4.5) with a long of seven. He scored his first professional touchdown on a three-yard run with 3:22 remaining in the game to cap the Broncos scoring. Davis became the sixth Broncos rookie to start at tailback in a season-opener, and the first since Jeff Alexander in 1989. His statistics were the best of any of the six previous opening-day starters. Against Washington (9/17), Davis tied a Broncos' record with three touchdowns (2 rushing, 1 receiving) in a 13-carry, 68-yard performance, and caught a team-leading seven passes for 61 yards. Davis registered his first 100-yard performance in his ninth professional game, rambling for 135 on 22 carries against Arizona (11/5), including a 34-yarder. Davis' 135 yards against Arizona were the most by a Broncos running back at Mile High Stadium since Dec. 8, 1974 (Otis Armstrong, 183 yards against Houston), and the most by a Bronco in any game since Sept. 29, 1991 (Gaston Green, 158 yards at Minnesota), as well as the highest single-game total by a rookie in Broncos franchise history. His 34-yard run on the second play from scrimmage was the longest of his career up to that point, and highlighted an opening drive on which he carried the ball six times for 60 yards, capped by a 5-yard TD run that put the Broncos ahead 7-0. He also caught three passes for 25 yards, with a long of 18, to give him a then-career-best 160 total yards from scrimmage. He topped that effort in Game 11 vs. San Diego (11/19) when he powered his way to 176 yards on 30 carries—the third-best rushing performance in club history at the time. It was the most yards by a Bronco since Bobby Humphrey gained 177 on 34 carries at Buffalo Sept. 30, 1990, and the most by a Bronco at Mile High, again, since Armstrong's aforementioned effort in 1974. He gained 98 yards in the first half, and also finished strong, carrying the ball six times for 53 yards on the Broncos' final drive, which was capped by a 32-yard game-winning field goal from Jason Elam with 0:02 remaining. Davis surpassed the 1,000-yard mark against Jacksonville (12/3) on his first carry of the day, a 13-yarder around left end, en route to a 21-carry, 84-yard performance. Davis strung together three 100-yard games in four outings late in the season, going for 135 vs. Arizona (11/5), 176 vs. San Diego (11/19) and 110 at Houston (11/26). His 60-yard scoring jaunt in the second quarter of the Houston game was the longest of his career, and the longest by a Bronco since 1992. He also caught a career-best seven passes for 30 yards. With his 140 total yards from scrimmage, Davis improved his season total to 1,348, surpassing Bobby Humphrey for the most total yards in a season by a Broncos rookie (Humphrey had 1,307 in 1989). Davis began training camp behind several players on the Broncos' depth chart at running back, but worked his way into the starting lineup by the final preseason game at Jacksonville (8/25/95).

COLLEGE: Davis continued a strong tradition of standout tailbacks from Georgia throughout the '80s and '90s—following in the footsteps of Herschel Walker, Rodney Hampton, Garrison Hearst and Tim Worley—after transferring from Long Beach State. He spent his first collegiate season playing under George Allen for the 49ers, until the program was eliminated following the 1991 season, in which Davis rushed for 262 yards and two touchdowns on 55 carries (4.8). He transferred to Georgia where he played three seasons—the first behind Garrison Hearst, who finished third in the Heisman Trophy voting in 1992. He finished his career at Georgia with 1,657 yards on 317 carries (5.2) and 15 touchdowns. Davis also caught 46 passes for 529 yards (11.5) and four touchdowns. As a senior in 1994 Davis played in eight games as a scatback and started seven. He missed three contests due to a groin injury, but still managed to lead the team with 445 yards and seven touchdowns on 97 carries (4.6 average), in addition to 31 receptions for 330 yards (10.7). He had his finest campaign as a junior when he played in all 11 games and started six at scatback, leading the team with 824 yards on 167 carries (4.9) and five touchdowns, along with 12 receptions for 161 (13.4) and three scores. Davis played behind Garrison Hearst as a sophomore in his first year at Georgia in '92, seeing action in 10 games, and finished the season with 388 yards on 53 carries (7.3) and three touchdowns, plus three receptions for 38 yards (12.7) and one score. He was a consumer economics major at Georgia.

PERSONAL: Davis was an All-CIF second-team all-league first-team selection as a senior at Lincoln Prep in San Diego, Calif., where he played six different positions, including nose guard, and also lettered in track. His No. 7 was retired by the school Tues., Jan. 20, 1998 in a ceremony attended by Davis during preparations for Super Bowl XXXII in San Diego. He is an avid Sony PlayStation video game player who particularly enjoys playing Madden Football '99. Davis was presented with a 1997 ESPY Award for Best Performance Under Pressure, in recognition of his record-breaking exploits in Super Bowl XXXII, and a 1998 ESPY for Pro Football Performer of the Year. Since the 1997 season he has made appearances on The Late Show with David Letterman, The Tonight Show with Jay Leno, Live with Regis and Kathy Lee, the WB network sitcom Sister, Sister and Sesame Street. In January, 1998, Davis—a life-long sufferer of migraine headaches—signed an agreement with New York-based Novartis Pharmaceuticals Corp. to endorse the company's Migranal nasal spray, which he used during the Super Bowl to combat the onset of a migraine. Part of the deal also calls for the establishment of The Terrell Davis Foundation for Migraine Education and Treatment. Davis has also established the Terrell Davis Salute the Kids Foundation to focus his charitable endeavors toward bettering the lives of children. He traveled to Washington, D.C., April 20, 1999 to testify before the Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources about the urgent need for more urban parks and open space. An avid supporter of Pop Warner football, Davis was invited by Jon Butler, executive director of Pop Warner Little Scholars, to testify in favor of a bill that would appropriate a portion of some oil and gas revenues for parks and open space. Davis makes his home in Aurora, Colo. He was born Oct. 28 1972, in San Diego, Calif.

OFF THE FIELD

Jason is a licensed commercial airplane pilot, who plans to fly full-time when he completes his playing career. Throughout his career Jason has been very active in the community, volunteering with Sungate and the Ronald McDonald House.

Jason Elam continues to rank among the elite kickers in the National Football League as he enters his ninth professional season. The two-time Pro Bowl selection, who has scored more than 100 points in each of his eight pro seasons, took a step toward football immortality in October 1998 when he tied the NFL record for longest field goal, converting a 63-yard attempt vs. Jacksonville (10/25/98). He also now holds the NFL record for consecutive point-after attempts converted, ending the 2000 season having made 313 in a row. He made the first 24 of his career before his only regular season miss, a block by Minnesota's Tim Irwin, Nov. 14, 1993. Elam is the Broncos' all-time leading scorer (949), becoming just the 39th player in NFL history to pass the 900-point plateau. He also holds club records for career field goals (204), field-goal attempts (261), field-goal percentage (.782) and PATs made (337) and attempted (338). Additionally, he holds the top three single-season marks in club history for field goals and the top four marks for PATs and PAT attempts, as well as the top mark for field-goal percentage (.852 in 1998), while scoring in all 124 career games, the longest streak in franchise history. His excellence is nearly unmatched around the league, as he leads the NFL in total points scored over the past eight seasons (949), while ranking second in field goals (178) made since 1994. Elam remains the NFL's fifth most accurate kicker on field goal attempts from inside 40 yards (140/151; .927). Elam's 51-yard field goal in Super Bowl XXXII was the second-longest in Super Bowl history (54 yds., Steve Christie, Buf., SB XXVIII), as well as the longest in Broncos postseason history, and his 6-for-6 output on point-after attempts in the AFC Wild Card Game vs. Jacksonville (12/27/97) also set a Broncos postseason record. Elam now ranks second in all-time postseason scoring by a Bronco (60 points), and has made more point-after attempts (30) in the postseason than any other player in franchise history. Elam also ranks second in field goals made (10) in the postseason by a Bronco, and his 12 attempts rank second all-time. In the regular season Elam is 23-37 (.621) for his career on field goal attempts of 50 yards or more, including a 5-8 mark in 1999. He is 22-34 (.647) from 50-59, and 1-3 in the 60+ range, missing from 66 yds. vs. Seattle in 1995 (Dec. 10) and 64 vs. Seattle in 1999 (Dec. 19). His streak of three staight games with a field goal of 50 or more yards (last game of 1996 through second game of 1997) tied Elam with three other NFL players (Horst Muhlmann, 1970; Tom Dempsey, 1971; and Chris Bahr, 1981) for the longest such streak since the AFL-NFL merger in 1970. Elam was honored in October 1996 as one of the Broncos' three nominees for the True Value/NFL Man of the Year Award, and has twice been named AFC Special Teams Player of the Week (Week 8, 1998 and Week 9, 1999). He has kicked nine game-winning or game-saving field goals in his outstanding career. Elam was selected by the Broncos in the third round (70th overall) of the 1993 NFL Draft out of Hawaii.

2000: Elam was 18-24 (75%) on field goal attempts and 49-49 on PATs to account for 103 points on the season, 10th most in the AFC, despite missing three games. His 49 PATs were most in the NFL and ranked second in franchise history behind his 58 in 1998. Elam's five PATs at N.O. (12/3) gave him an NFL record for consecutive PATs, breaking Norm Johnson's standard of 301 (Elam finished the season having made 313 straight). Elam suffered fractures of two transverse process bones in his lower back (L2, L3 vertebrae) on a kickoff return just before halftime vs. Atlanta (9/10) and missed three games (at Oak., 9/17; vs. K.C., 9/24 and vs. N.E., 10/1). He began kicking again after the K.C. game, and returned to game action at S.D. (10/8), converting all three point-after attempts. He experienced soreness in his back in the S.D. game, and was still affected by it a week later vs. Cleve. (10/15) when he was relieved of his kickoff duties. Elam still handled place-kicking chores and accounted for 14 of Denver's 44 points vs. the Browns by going 3-4 on field goals and 5-5 on PATs. With his three PAT attempts at the Jets (11/5) Elam passed Jim Turner (304) for most

Longest PAT Streak in NFL History

Jason Elam broke Norm Johnson's NFL record of 301 consecutive point-after attempts when he went 5-5 at New Orleans, Dec. 3, 2000. Below is a look at the top three PAT streaks in NFL history:

Most Consecutive Point-After-Touchdown Conversions, NFL History

	Player	Team(s)	PATs	Dates
1.	Jason Elam	Denver	313	1993-current
2.	Norm Johnson	Phi./Pit./Atl.	301	1991-99
3.	Eddie Murray	Min./Was./Phi./Dal./T.B./K.C./Det.	250	1988-97

PAT attempts in franchise history. His game-winning 41-yd. field goal vs. Oak. (11/13) marked the ninth time in his career he converted a game-winning or game-saving field goal in the 4th qtr. or overtime. It was the first time in his career Elam kicked the winning field goal as time expired. He became the first Bronco to make 200 field goals in a career with his successful boot from 26 yds. vs. S.D. (11/19). With his 51-yard field goal vs. Atl. (9/10) Elam finished the 2000 season having connected on 23 of 37 (.621) attempts from 50 yds. and beyond in his career (22-34, .647 from 50-59 and 1-3, .333 from 60+). Elam successfully converted his only kick of the day in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31), making a 31-yd. field goal in the 2nd qtr.

1999: Elam converted all 29 point-after attempts and was 29-36 (80.6%) on field goal attempts to account for 116 points on the season (T5th AFC/T6th NFL). He scored in all 16 games to run his career streak to 111 games, the longest in franchise history, and also made two tackles on special teams. Elam tied for sixth in the NFL in field goals (29). With his seven points vs. the Jets (10/3), Elam eclipsed Jim Turner (742 points; 1971-79) to become the all-time leading scorer in Denver Broncos franchise history (now 846). Already the franchise record-holder for career field goals (184), Elam became the leader in field-goal attempts (previously Turner, 233) and PATs made (Turner, 283) vs. Seattle (12/19), and finished the season with 237 and 288, respectively. Elam's 26-yd. field goal with 10:18 to play at Oakland (10/10) was the seventh game-winning field goal of his career, lifting Denver to a 16-13 win. Elam was 5-7 on field-goal attempts of 50-59 yds. in 1999, to improve his career percentage from that range to 63.7% (21-33). He was successful from 50 yds. at K.C. (9/19), 51 yds. vs. the Jets (10/3), 55 yds. at S.D. (11/7); 53 yds. vs. Oak. (11/22) and 50 vs. S.D. (1/2), while missing from 53 vs. Green Bay (10/17) and 59 at New England (10/24). The 55-yarder at San Diego was the third-longest of his career, and the longest since his NFL-record-tying 63-yarder vs. Jacksonville the year before (10/25/98). The effort earned Elam AFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors for Week 9, as he made four field goals and scored 15 points in the game, his highest single-game totals for both categories since setting career highs with 5 FGs and 16 pts. at K.C., Nov. 16, 1997. Elam matched the four-field-goal effort vs. Oakland (11/22) on Monday Night Football, including one of the most pressure-filled of his career, from 53 yds. out with 7 seconds remaining to tie the score at 21-21 and send the game to overtime. It proved to be the eighth game-winning or game-saving field goal of his career, as the Broncos went on to win 27-21 with Elam converting from 24, 30, 38 and 53 yds. on a cold (26˚), snowy night.

1998: Elam turned in the finest all-around performance of his six-year NFL career, being selected to his second Pro Bowl, named second-team All-NFL by the Associated Press, College & Pro Football Newsweekly and All-AFC by Pro Football Weekly and Football News. He carved out his place in NFL history Oct. 25 vs. Jacksonville when he tied the pro football record for the longest field goal, clearing the crossbar from 63 yds. away as time expired in the first half to match the 28-year old standard set by New Orleans' Tom Dempsey (vs. Detroit, Nov. 8, 1970). The kick shattered the previous club record of 57 yds. by Fred Steinfort (vs. Wash., 10/13/80) and the previous Mile High Stadium record of 58 yds. by Cleveland's Steve Cox (12/4/83), and earned Elam AFC

Elam Among the Leaders

Jason Elam ranks among the league leaders in fields goals made inside 40 yards since he entered the league in 1993:

Elam Ties One of Football's Longest-Standing Records

On Oct. 25, 1998, Jason Elam tied a 28-year old NFL record by kicking a 63-yard field goal against the Jacksonville Jaguars at the end of the first half. He matched Tom Dempsey's record set Nov. 8, 1970 as a member of the New Orleans Saints against Detroit (a game-winner):

Longest Field Goals in NFL History

	Player	Team	Opponent (Date)	Distance
1.	Jason Elam	Denver	vs. Jacksonville (10/25/98)	63
	Tom Dempsey	New Orleans	vs. Detroit (11/8/70)	63
3.	Morten Andersen	New Orleans	vs. Chicago (10/27/91)	60
	Steve Cox	Cleveland	at Cincinnati (10/21/84)	60

Special Teams Player of the Week and Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week honors for the first time in his career. It was the fourth field goal of 60-or-more yards in NFL history, with Cox (60 yds. vs. Cin., 10/21/84) and Morten Andersen (N.O., 60 yds. vs. Chi., 10/27/91) joining Elam and Dempsey in the 60+ club. Elam enjoyed his finest season statistically in 1998, converting 23 of his 27 field goal attempts for a career-best and franchise-record percentage of .852, and all 58 point-after attempts for 127 total points, while also making one tackle on a kickoff return. Elam tied for third in the AFC (T5th NFL) in scoring among kickers, and his 58 PAT conversions ranked second-most in the NFL, while also representing a team record for a single season (previous: 46 by Elam, 1996, '97). He strained his right hamstring in the second quarter vs. Philadelphia (10/4) and was unable to play in the second half. Elam practiced sparingly the following week, but was able to play at Seattle (10/11), converting all three point-after attempts. He was 3-4 on kickos of 50 yards or longer, with his successful boot from 53 yards in Week 1 vs. New England (9/7), his NFL-record-tying 63-yarder vs. Jacksonville, his 52-yarder at Miami (12/21) and his miss from 55 yds. vs. Seattle (12/27). The 53-yarder had been Elam's longest field goal since converting from the same distance in the 1997 season-opener vs. Kansas City (8/31/97). Versus Dallas (9/13) he tied a franchise record that he already shared with four other players by converting six point-after attempts. A week later at Oakland (9/20) his two field goals moved him past Rich Karlis (137) for second place on Denver's all-time field goal list, and he became the Broncos' all-time field goal leader at San Diego, with his 152nd (Jim Turner, 151). Elam's 13 pts. vs. Jacksonville (10/25) moved him past Karlis (655) for second on the all-time franchise scoring list, finishing the year with 730 points. Elam set a franchise record for consecutive field goals made in Game 10 at Kansas City (11/16) on Monday Night Football, converting his 14th in a row to top Rich Karlis' previous standard of 13 (1984-85), and ran his streak to 19 straight before having a 37-yd. attempt vs. Kansas City (12/6) blocked. His four PATs at San Diego (11/29) pushed his total to 47, besting his own previous franchise record of 46, achieved in 1996 and '97, and he finished the year with 58. Elam made six of eight field goal attempts and all 11 point-after attempts for a team-leading 29 points in three postseason contests to move into second place in all-time postseason scoring by a Bronco. He also moved into the club postseason lead in point-after attempts (30) and second place in field goals made (9) and attempted (11). He made his only field goal attempt (32 yds.) and all five point-after attempts to account for eight points in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9). That effort, however, was overshadowed by what he did a week later in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17), tying a franchise record with three field goals (also accomplished by David Treadwell, vs. Cleve., 1/14/90 and Rich Karlis, at Cleve., 1/11/87) and drilling both point-after attempts for 11 points on the day. Elam's 48-yarder ties for the third-longest in franchise playoff history, matching Rich Karlis' vs. the Giants in Super Bowl XXI (1/25/87). Elam had a busy day in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31), converting two of four field goal attempts and all four point-afters for 10 points in the Broncos' 34-19 win. He was successful from 26 and 37 yards in the 2nd and 4th qtrs., respectively, and missed from 38 and 48 yards in the 3rd, the first two postseason misses of his career. 1997: Elam converted 26 of his 36 field goal attempts—including three from beyond 50

Elam Among the Leaders (Part 2)

Jason Elam ranks first in the NFL in points scored (949) since entering the league in 1993, and ranks second in field goals made since the beginning of the 1994 season (178). Here is a look at the top five in each category:

ELAM ETCHES NAME IN SUPER BOWL RECORD BOOK

Jason Elam's second-quarter 51-yard field goal in Super Bowl XXXII vs. Green Bay not only gave Denver a 17-7 lead, it was the second longest field goal in Super Bowl history, trailing only a 54-yarder by Steve Christie in Super Bowl XXVIII:

yards (50, 51 and 53)—and tied his own franchise record (1996) for PATs in a season by going a perfect 46-46 in that department. His 124 total points on the season ranked second in the AFC (4th NFL), and his 46 PATs led the AFC (2nd NFL). Elam's three field goals from beyond 50 yards in 1997 gave him 14 for his career (23 att.), and a .609 percentage from that range. He also made one special teams tackle on the year. Elam surpassed the 500-point plateau with his final point-after attempt at Seattle (9/7), becoming only the third Bronco in history to do so, and the fastest in terms of games played (66). He had a streak of three straight games with a field goal of 50+ yards snapped vs. St. Louis (9/14), a streak that dated back to the '96 season finale when he converted a 51-yarder at San Diego (12/22/96). In so doing, Elam became just the fourth kicker since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger to connect on field goals of 50 or more yards in three consecutive games. The others were Horst Muhlmann (1970), Tom Dempsey (1971) and Chris Bahr (1981). Elam was inactive for the New England game (10/6) because of groin and hip flexor injuries to his right leg, suffered the previous week at Atlanta (9/28). He missed most of that game after sustaining the injury on the kickoff following the Broncos' first touchdown. The New England game was the first missed by Elam in his five-year NFL career. With his first point-after at Oakland (10/19) Elam set a new Broncos record for consecutive games scoring at least one point (70), surpassing Rich Karlis' team record, set from 1984-88. He has now scored at least one point in the last 79 games in which he has played. He kicked the game-winning 33-yard field goal in overtime at Buffalo (10/26), the second time in his career that Elam has won a game for the Broncos in OT. The first was at Kansas City (20-17) Dec. 4, 1994. Elam tied his own franchise record with five field goals at Kansas City (11/16), matching the standard achieved previously by himself (vs. Buffalo, 9/3/95), Rich Karlis (vs. Seattle, 11/20/83) and Gene Mingo (vs. San Diego, 10/6/63). In that game he also tied his career high for field goal attempts in a game (6). In the postseason Elam was perfect, converting all 15 point-after attempts and both field goal attempts, of 43 and 51 yards. The 51-yard field goal in the Super Bowl was the second-longest in Super Bowl history (54 yds., Steve Christie, Buff., SB XXVIII), as well as the longest in Broncos postseason history, and his 6-for-6 output on point-after attempts vs. Jacksonville (12/27) also set a Broncos postseason record, topping the previous mark (5 of 5) held by Rich Karlis (vs. Cleveland, 1/17/88). 1996: Elam convert-

ELAM'S NINE GAME-WINNING OR GAME-SAVING FIELD GOALS

Oct. 23, 1994: 54-yard FG with 10:02 remaining in the fourth quarter put Denver up 17-15. He added a 25-yarder with 4:07 left to help Denver to a 20-15 victory at San Diego.

Dec. 4, 1994: Booted a 34-yard FG with 2:48 remaining in overtime to give Denver a 20-17 victory at Kansas City.

Nov. 19, 1995: Kicked a 32-yard FG with :02 left to give Denver a 30-27 win over San Diego.

Dec. 24, 1995: Kicked a 37-yard FG with :48 remaining to give Denver a 31-28 victory at Oakland, knocking the Raiders out of the playoffs and enabling the Broncos to finish with a non-losing record (8-8).

Oct. 26, 1997: Kicked a 33-yard FG with 1:56 remaining in overtime to give Denver a 23-20 victory at Buffalo in one of the longest weekends of the franchise's history, as the team had to overcome a blizzard in Denver that almost prevented them from leaving town and a 20-0 fourth-quarter flurry by the Bills.

Nov. 2, 1997: Kicked a 22-yard FG with 7:28 remaining to give the Broncos a 30-27 victory over the Seattle Seahawks.

Oct. 10, 1999: Kicked a 26-yard FG with 10:18 remaining to give the Broncos a 16-13 victory over the Raiders in Oakland.

Nov. 22, 1999: Kicked a 53-yard FG with 0:07 remaining, in freezing, snowy weather, to tie the Raiders in a Monday Night Football game at Mile High Stadium, forcing overtime. The Broncos won in OT.

Nov. 13, 2000: Kicked a 41-yard FG as time expired to give Denver a 27-24 win over Oakland in the final Monday Night Football game at Mile High Stadium.

ed 21 of 28 field goal attempts and all 46 point-after attempts to lead the team with 109 points. A hip flexor injury he suffered at Seattle in Week Two (9/8) hindered his performance during the middle of the season. The injury occurred when he was hit in the leg while following through on a kick. Elam's 109 points figured eighth among AFC kickers, and made him the first player in Broncos history to achieve four seasons with 100 or more points, having done so in each of his four professional seasons. He was also credited with one special teams tackle on the season. Elam converted three field goals in a game on two separate occasions, doing so at Seattle (9/8) in a 30-20 Denver victory and at Oakland (11/4) in Denver's 22-21 Monday Night win over the Raiders, their third of four consecutive wins over their arch-rival. Elam also tied the team record for most extra points in a game with six against Baltimore (10/20) in a 45-34 Bronco triumph. He connected on his only 50+-yard field goal of the '96 season at San Diego (12/22) in the regular season finale. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff vs. Jacksonville he did not attempt a field goal and was 1-2 on point-after attempts, having his first try of the day blocked by the Jaguars' Clyde Simmons. 1995: Elam finished tied for third in the NFL in scoring—tied for second among kickers—with 132 points, and tied for second in field goals made with 31 as he was voted to his first Pro Bowl appearance. The 132 points are the second-most by a Bronco in a single season, and the 31 field goals broke Elam's own record of 30 set in '94. On the season he was 31-38 (.816) on field goal attempts and 39-39 on point-after attempts. His breakthrough season also included second-team All-Pro honors from both the Associated Press and College & Pro Football Newsweekly, as well as All-AFC honors from Pro Football Weekly. He also punted once for 17 yards and contributed two special teams tackles. Elam was 5-7 (.714) on field-goal attempts of 50 yards or longer—inlcuding one missed attempt of 66 yards versus Seattle (12/10)—to improve his career numbers from that distance to 10-16 (.625). His 66-yard attempt was the second-longest kick ever attempted by a Bronco, trailing only the 73-yard attempt (also missed) by Fred Steinfort at New England in 1980 (9/29), and was the longest ever attempted at Mile High Stadium. His five field goals of 50 yards or more tied a Broncos single-season record, originally held by Fred Steinfort (5-8 in 1980). Elam's 56-yarder at Houston (11/26) was the longest of his career, and the second-longest in franchise history, behind Steinfort's 57-yarder vs. Washington, Oct. 13, 1980. At Oakland on Christmas Eve Elam scored 11 points, including the game-winning 37-yard field goal with 48 seconds remaining, in Denver's 31-28 win. It was the second time in '95 that Elam had kicked a game-winning field goal in the final minute, following his 32-yard effort that beat San Diego with 0:02 remaining (11/19). The San Diego game-winner was the third of Elam's career, and his first in the final seconds of regulation. Elam made a franchise-record 13 straight field goals during the middle of the season, beginning with a 30-yarder at Seattle (10/1), and ending with a 35-yarder against San Diego (11/19). Elam set the tone for his stellar season in the opener against Buffalo (9/3), tying a Broncos single-game record with five successful field goals in six attempts (22, 52, 20, 38, 37; missed from 38). 1994: Elam matched his rookie total of 119 points scored (fourth on the Broncos' all-time single-season scoring list) and set a Broncos record for successful field goals in a season with 30 (37 attempts). He also was a perfect 29-for-29 on point-after attempts, giving him a two-year accuracy of .986 (70-of-71). His two-year field-goal percentage of .778 moved him into second on the Broncos' all-time career list, just behind David Treadwell (.779 from 1989-92). His accuracy on kicks inside 40 yards was impeccable in '94, as he converted 22-of-22 kicks within that distance. Elam tied his NFL long and the fourth-longest kick in Broncos history with a 54-yard field goal at San Diego (10/23). He accounted for nine of the Broncos 15 points in a 15-13 win over Cincinnati (11/27) by converting 3-of-5 attempts (34 yards, 33 and 37). He also connected for three field goals at New York (3-for-3) and at Seattle (3-for-4). Elam had just one field goal attempt blocked, a 50-yard attempt against Atlanta (11/20). 1993: Elam showed his leg strength on several long field goals during the 1993 season. His 119 points (fourth-highest figure in Bronco history) placed him fourth in the AFC and seventh in the NFL. Elam was successful on 4 of 6 field goal attempts longer than 50 yards. His 54-yarder in the week two game vs. San Diego (9/12) was the fourth-longest in team history. That came one week after he tied for the third-best single game performance at the New York Jets (9/5) in the season opener. In that game he went 4-4. For the year Elam made 26 field goals, tying for fourth-best in team history.

COLLEGE: Elam was a superb combination kicker in college, holding virtually every school and conference scoring record at the University of Hawaii. He finished his career with 79 field goals, just one shy of the NCAA record held by Jeff Jaeger (80). Elam holds the Western Athletic Conference scoring record with 395 points, and made 30 of 43 field goals of 40 yards or more. Elam finished his collegiate career with a .790 field goal percentage, connecting on 79 of 100 attempts, with his longest being a 56-yarder. He finished 157 of 160 in PATs for the Rainbows. As a senior Elam was selected first-team All-America (Kodak and The Poor Man's Guide to the NFL Draft) and was first-team All-WAC. He made 16 of 25 field goals and 44 extra points, finishing with 92 points for the season. He also finished his collegiate career with a 43.5-yard average on 84 punts. Elam was a communication major.

PERSONAL: Jason and his wife, Tamy, a former Broncos cheerleader, have a son, Jason, Jr. (2/28/97) and a daughter, Jordan Noel (10/21/99). The family makes its offseason home in Braselton, Ga. Jason is a licensed commercial airplane pilot, who plans to fly full-time when he completes his NFL playing career. Jason was first-team all-county and second-team all-state at Brookwood High School in Snellville, Ga., where he also lettered in swimming and track. Jason was born March 8, 1970 in Fort Walton Beach, Fla.

RESIDES: Jacksonville, Fla.
ACQUIRED: Unrestricted Free Agent (Jacksonville), 2001
PRO YEAR: 5th • YEAR WITH BRONCOS: 1st
NFL GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 28/9

The addition of Todd Fordham to Denver's offensive line provides the talent and depth to keep this unit ranking as one of the best in the NFL. He figures to fight for significant playing time as he comes over from the Jacksonville Jaguars, with whom he played in 28 games, including nine starts, in his first four NFL seasons. Fordham joined the Jaguars as an undrafted free agent in 1997.

2000: Fordham played in all 16 games (eight starts) with Jacksonville. He took over the starter's role at right tackle for the final eight games of the season, helping the Jags to a season-long five-game winning streak. He also helped running back Fred Taylor top the 1,000-yard rushing mark.

1999: Fordham missed the entire season after he tore his left medial collateral and anterior cruciate ligaments in the preseason (8/7) and was placed on injured reserve. 1998: Fordham saw action in 11 games, primarily on special teams, and made one start at right guard. He missed the first two regular season games after suffering an injury during the preseason. Fordham fielded one kickoff for no yards vs. Tampa Bay (11/15) and made his first NFL start Dec. 13 vs. Tennessee. He was inactive for both postseason contests. 1997: Fordham played in one game as a rookie, seeing action at tackle in the season-finale at Oakland (12/21). He dressed but did not play at Denver in the AFC Wild Card Game (12/27). Fordham signed with the Jaguars as an undrafted free agent on April 21.

COLLEGE: A four-year letterman at Florida State, Fordham played in 44 career games and was named second-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference and first-team All-ACC by Football News as a senior in 1996. He was honorable mention All-ACC as a junior when he did not allow a sack all season. Fordham earned his bachelor's degree in business from Florida State.

PERSONAL: A native of Atlanta, Ga., Fordham was a first-team 4A all-state defensive end at Tift County High School in Tifton, Ga., playing on both sides of the ball. He was first-team 4A All-State at defensive end and was named one of the top 12 offensive lineman in Georgia by the Atlanta-Journal Constitution. He also played tight end. Fordham is very active in the community and frequently speaks at local churches and elementary schools and visits with at-risk youth. He and his wife, Mandy, have a son, Carter (1). Lindsey Todd Fordham was born Oct. 9, 1973 in Atlanta.

OFF THE FIELD

Gus annually holds a Celebrity Golf Tournament in Reston, Va., to support the American Heart Association. Frerotte's claim to fame on the links is a hole-in-one at a course in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho in 1997.

Gus Frerotte returns to the Broncos in 2001 for a second season after signing another one-year contract in March. He initially came to Denver before last season as an unrestricted free agent and proved to be a vital asset as he guided the club to a 4-2 record while Brian Griese was injured, keeping Denver's playoff hopes alive. Frerotte set the Broncos' all-time single-game passing record in a win vs. San Diego last November, tallying 462 passing yards while tying franchise records for completions (36) and touchdowns (5). A veteran who has produced as both a starter and backup in his seven-year NFL career, Frerotte has played in 72 games (58 starts) and completed 54% (1,057-1,942) of his passes for 13,662 yards and 66 touchdowns, with 59 interceptions. He has also rushed 118 times for 215 yards (1.8) and four scores. Frerotte was selected to the Pro Bowl in 1996 when he started all 16 games for Washington and passed for a career-high 3,453 yards and 12 touchdowns. He was originally drafted by the Redskins in the seventh round (197th overall) out of Tulsa in 1994, and played five years with the Redskins before signing a free agent contract with Detroit in 1999.

2000: Frerotte played in 10 games and made six starts (vs. K.C., 9/24; vs. S.D., 11/19; at Sea., 11/26; at N.O., 12/3; vs. Sea., 12/10 and at K.C., 12/17), completing 138 of 232 passes (60%) for 1,776 yds. and nine touchdowns with eight interceptions. He did not start the season finale vs. S.F. (12/23), but played almost the entire game after replacing the injured Brian Griese (shoulder) on the first series. Frerotte finished the day completing 18 of 29 passes (62%) for 205 yds. and a touchdown. The scoring toss went 25 yds. to Ed McCaffrey in the third qtr. to give the receiver a Broncos' record 101 receptions for the year. He also rushed three times for 23 yds., including a 13-yd. touchdown run for his first score since 1997. Frerotte led Denver to its sixth straight win—the fourth in a row after replacing the injured Griese—in Wk. 15 vs. Sea. (12/10), completing 14 of 25 (56%) for 201 yds. with one touchdown and one interception. It was Denver's fourth straight game scoring 30 or more points, a feat the Broncos have only accomplished twice before (both in 1998). Frerotte guided the Broncos to a 38-point performance for the third straight week at N.O. (12/3), completing 11 of 16 (69%) for 201 yds. and a touchdown in a 38-23 win, for a 132.3 passer rating. In his third start, at Sea. (11/26), Frerotte completed 15 of 31 (48%) for 244 yds. and a touchdown with two interceptions, leading Denver to a 38-31 win. He also rushed six times for 23 yds. (3.8). Frerotte made his second start of the season vs. S.D. (11/19), replacing Griese (shoulder), and set a Broncos franchise record with 462 passing yards as he rallied Denver to 21 straight 4th-qtr. points on three touchdown passes for a 38-37 win. Frerotte also tied the franchise high for completions (36) and touchdown passes (5), and came within one pass attempt of the franchise record (58). He also threw four interceptions to go along with his career highs in every other category. Frerotte broke Frank Tripucka's 38-year old club record of 447 passing yds. (at Buffalo, 9/15/62), tied the record for TD passes (5) held by Tripucka (vs. Buffalo, 10/28/62) and John Elway (vs. Minnesota, 11/18/84) and tied Elway's completions record of 36 (vs. San Diego, 9/4/94). With one more pass attempt he would have tied Elway's record of 59 (at Green Bay, 10/10/93). Frerotte hit McCaffrey for a 1-yd. TD pass in the 2nd qtr., Dwayne Carswell for a 5-yd. score in the 3rd, and then connected with Rod Smith (26 yds.), Desmond Clark (10 yds.) and McCaffrey (5 yds.) in the 4th qtr.—the latter with 1:33 remaining—for the dramatic one-point win. His 4th-qtr. passer rating was 112.0 (11-17, 167, 3 TD/1 INT). He also led the Broncos to 34 total first downs (tied team record), 24 passing first downs (2nd most ever) and 536 total yds. (3rd most ever). Frerotte made his first start in place of Griese (shoulder) vs. K.C. (9/24) and completed 18 of 31 (58.1%) for 208 yds. with a long of 25 and one interception. He also rushed twice for 19 yds. (9.5) with a long of 11 and was sacked once (-11). Frerotte had played in one previous game, in the fourth quarter vs. Atl. (9/10). He was the backup but did not play in the other six games. Frerotte started in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and completed 13 of 28 passes (46%) for 124 yds. with one interception. He rushed once for -1 yd. on a kneel-down at the end of the first half and was sacked four times (-34).

1999: Frerotte was the backup to Charlie Batch in Detroit, but played well in starting six regular season games, in addition to the NFC Wild Card playoff game at Washington. He signed with the Lions March 3 after playing his first five NFL seasons with Washington. Frerotte started Games 9-14 for the injured Batch (fractured right thumb) and completed 175 of 288 (.608) for 2,117 yards, nine touchdowns and seven interceptions. He had an excellent effort against his former team, vs. Washington (12/5), completing 21-of-32 for 280 yds. and a score in a 33-17 victory. Frerotte completed a then-career-high 29 passes vs. Chicago (11/25) in a 21-17 Thanksgiving Day victory. He enjoyed a huge game in his first start as a Lion at Arizona (11/14), throwing for a then-career-high 375 yards on 24-of-39 passing with two touchdowns, and completing a career-long 77-yard bomb to Germane Crowell for a score. The 375 yards passing was the second highest single-game total in Lions' history. Frerotte had previously spearheaded two last-minute comebacks in relief of Batch. He entered the contest vs. St. Louis (11/7) early in the third quarter and completed 12 of 16 passes for 209 yards and two touchdowns, including the game-winning 12-yard strike to Johnnie Morton with 28 seconds left to give the eventual Super Bowl champion Rams their second straight defeat. Frerotte relieved Batch for the third time in the second quarter of the regular season finale at Minnesota (1/2) after Batch had re-aggravated his fractured right thumb. His first action of the season came when he played the entire second half vs. Minnesota (10/17) and led the club on a two-minute drill, which ended in a game-winning field goal with seven seconds to go. 1998: Frerotte appeared in three games (two starts) during an injury-plagued season with Washington and completed 25 of 54 passes for 283 yards and a touchdown. He was the starter in the season opener at the Giants (9/6), but suffered a shoulder injury in the third quarter that forced him from the game, ending an 8-of-12, 93-yard, one-touchdown performance. Frerotte was the backup the next four games, but did not play, then relieved Trent Green at Philadelphia (10/11), completing 7-of-16 passes for 73 yards. He started the next week at Minnesota (10/18), but then returned to the backup role and did not play in the final nine games. 1997: Frerotte started the first 13 games for Washington before missing the final three because of a broken hip suffered vs. St. Louis (11/30). He finished the season on injured reserve, having completed 204 of 402 passes (.507) for 2,682 yards and 17 touchdowns. He was particularly effective on third down (86.1 rating; 4th in NFC) as the Redskins finished fourth in the NFL, converting 42.3 percent. He completed 19 of 36 passes for 265 yards and a score vs. Arizona (9/14), with his 40-yard scoring toss to Michael Westbrook clinching a Redskins' win in the first-ever game played at Jack Kent Cooke Stadium. Frerotte was strong the following week at Jacksonville (9/21), completing 16 of 24 for 244 yards and three touchdowns to hand the Jaguars their first loss of the season. He helped break a two-game Washington losing skid by completing 14 of 20 passes for 192 yards and two touchdowns in a win at Chicago (11/2). Versus St. Louis (11/30) Frerotte played the entire 4th quarter with a fractured hip but still managed to direct the game-tying drive with less than two minutes remaining. 1996: Frerotte started all 16 games for Washington and set career highs for passing yards (3,453), attempts (470), completions (270), completion percentage (57.3), quarterback rating (79.3; 3rd in NFL) and fewest interceptions (11) to earn a berth in the Pro Bowl. He missed only one offensive play during the season, sitting out while catching his breath vs. San Francisco (11/24). Frerotte had the second lowest interception rate in the NFL (2.3 percent) and his 3,453 passing yards ranked seventh all-time by a Redskin, while his 270 completions ranked eighth in team annals. He was solid vs. the Jets (9/29), completing 15 of 22 passes for 257 yards and a season-long 52-yard touchdown toss. Frerotte had an outstanding game at New England (10/13), completing 18 of 33 attempts for 280 yards and two touchdowns. He set a career high with 346 yards on 21-of-32 passing in the season finale vs. Dallas (12/22). 1995: Frerotte enjoyed a breakthrough year, starting 11 games for Washington and completing 199 of 396 passes for 2,751 yards and 13 touchdowns. He came off the bench in the opener vs. Arizona (9/3) and led the Redskins to a win over the Cardinals on 9-of-15 passing for 157 yards and two touchdowns, including a career-high 73-yard touchdown bomb. Frerotte started the next 10 games in place of the injured Heath Shuler and led the NFL in passing yards in October (1,276). He closed the month with a then-career-high 345 passing yards vs. the Giants (10/29). Frerotte backed up Shuler in Games 12-15, then started the finale vs. Carolina (12/24) for Shuler (broken finger). 1994: Frerotte began his rookie season in Washington third on depth chart behind veteran John Friesz and fellow rookie Heath Shuler, but was thrust into a starting role by late October. He started four games and completed 46 of 100 passes for 600 yards and five touchdowns. Frerotte was the third-stringer for the first seven games before making his first start at Ind. (10/23) and earning NFC Offensive Player of the Week honors by passing for 226 yards and two touchdowns on 17 of 32 accuracy in a 41-27 win that snapped a five-game losing streak.

Frerotte became only the fourth NFL rookie quarterback to win that award, joining Cleveland's Bernie Kosar (1985), Detroit's Rodney Peete (1989) and Seattle's Rick Mirer (1993). His 17 completions and 226 yards passing were the most ever by a Redskins' rookie quarterback in his debut. The following week vs. Philadelphia (10/30) Frerotte became the first Redskins' rookie quarterback to throw three touchdowns in a game since Al Dorow threw four in 1954.

COLLEGE: Frerotte finished his career as Tulsa's second all-time leading passer behind T.J. Rubley, with whom Frerotte played in 1991-92, passing for 5,480 yards and 32 touchdowns on 432-of-860 accuracy. As a senior in 1993 he completed 214-of-383 for 2,871 yards and 21 touchdowns, the highest yardage total by a Tulsa quarterback in 28 years. He threw six touchdowns vs. East Carolina in '93 and passed for more than 300 yards six times during his senior campaign and more than 200 yards on nine occasions. He also punted and posted a 35.5-yd. average as a sophomore in '91. Frerotte started eight games as a redshirt freshman in 1990 after Rubley was injured, and made his first start at Oklahoma in front of 70,325 fans.

PERSONAL: As a prep junior in 1988 at Ford City (Pa.) High School, Frerotte led his team to the district final for the first time in school history. He pitched and played third base for Ford City's state championship baseball team as a sophomore in 1987. Frerotte earned four letters in baseball in high school, as well as three each in basketball and football. He spent his last college semester as a corporate fitness consultant for the Pittsburgh Pirates. Gus' cousin, Mitch, played guard for the Buffalo Bills in 1987, 1990-92 and was on injured reserve with the Seattle Seahawks in 1993-94. He annually hosts the Gus Frerotte Celebrity Golf Tournament in Reston, Va., to benefit the American Heart Association. One of Gus' top golf accolades is a hole-in-one at a course in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, in 1997. He and his wife, Ann, have a daughter, Abigail (6), and sons Gunnar (3) and Gabriel (2). The family makes its home in Littleton, Colo.

Lennie Friedman's career took a turn in a positive direction last year as he started eight games at left guard when Mark Schlereth was injured, and looks to be the front-runner to succeed the 12-year veteran. Having missed his rookie season because of a knee injury Friedman was eager to fulfill his promise in 2000 and did just that as a part of one of the best offensive lines in the NFL. His first step toward that goal came overseas throughout the spring of 2000 as he played for the Barcelona Dragons of the NFL Europe League. Friedman was selected in the second round (61st overall) by the Broncos in 1999.

2000: Friedman saw action in all 16 games and made eight starts. He took over the starting left guard spot full-time when Mark Schlereth (left knee) was placed on injured reserve Nov. 15. Friedman made his first two starts at left guard at Cin. (10/22) and the Jets (11/5). He saw his first offensive action vs. Cleve. (10/15) in the 4th qtr. at left guard in place of Schlereth, after playing on special teams only in the first six games. He also replaced Schlereth in the 4th qtr. vs. Oak. (11/13). Friedman started at left guard in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31). He was allocated by the Broncos the NFL Europe League during he spring, where he played for the Barcelona Dragons.

1999: Friedman tore his left anterior cruciate ligament in preseason and was placed on injured reserve (8/31).

COLLEGE: Friedman was a three-year starter at left guard for Duke, where he earned first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors from The Sports Network as a senior. He also received one start at right tackle and one at left tackle as a sophomore. Friedman played in seven games as a freshman, as a backup at right tackle. He saw his first collegiate action vs. Navy, becoming the first true freshman offensive lineman to play at Duke since Chris Port in 1986. Friedman earned his bachelor's degree in psychology and plans to enroll in medical school after his football career.

PERSONAL: Friedman was a SuperPrep Top 17 and All-New Jersey pick at West Milford (N.J.) High School. He started three years on both sides of the ball, winning all-conference honors as a junior defensive tackle—setting a school record with 111 tackles—and as a senior offensive tackle. Friedman was team MVP as a junior and senior and played in the North-South All-Star Game. He earned three letters in football, two in basketball and three in track and field. He was a National Honor Society member, a National Football Hall of Fame inductee and recipient of the Scholar Athlete Award. Lennie's father, Michael, played basketball and football at Wagner College. Leonard Lebrecht Friedman was born Oct. 13, 1976 in Livingston, N.J. He and his wife, Katie, reside in Englewood, Colo.

Piling up the Points

Through the 2000 season, the Broncos have scored 13,038 points in 41 seasons of play and 612 regular season games (318 per season; 21.3 per game). The 10,000th point in franchise history was scored Oct. 31, 1993 by running back Robert Delpino when he plunged into the end zone from one yard out in the third quarter of Denver's 28-17 win over Seattle. The total was at 9,997 points before the touchdown. At Denver's current seasonal pace, the club will score its 15,000th point sometime during the 2007 season. The 13,000th point was scored in 2000.

OLANDIS GARY — RUNNING BACK

5-11 • 218 • 3RD YR. • GEORGIA

BORN: May 18, 1975 in Washington, D.C.
HIGH SCHOOL: Riverdale Baptist High School, Riverdale, Md.
RESIDES: Aurora, Colo.
ACQUIRED: Draft #4 (120th overall), 1999
PRO YEAR: 3rd • YEAR WITH BRONCOS: 3rd
NFL GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 13/12

Olandis Gary faces the challenge in 2001 of returning from a torn anterior cruciate ligament that reduced his second NFL season to one game. After a rookie performance in 1999 that was nothing short of brilliant, Gary was injured in last year's opener and now competes with Terrell Davis and Mike Anderson for playing time in a Broncos backfield that enters training camp as the deepest and most talented in the league. As a rookie he embraced the challenge of replacing the injured Davis and exceeded all realistic expectations. Gary, who also hails from Davis' alma mater, Georgia, burst onto the scene in Week 5 and went on to set what was then a franchise rookie rushing record with 1,159 yards in just 12 games. His 96.6 yards-per-game average ranked third in the National Football League behind only Washington's Stephen Davis and Indianapolis' Edgerrin James. Gary has played in 13 games (12 starts) and rushed for 1,239 yards on 289 carries (4.3) with a long of 71 yards and seven touchdowns. He has also caught 24 passes for 169 yards (7.0) with a long of 21 for 1,408 total yards from scrimmage. Gary was a fourth round draft choice (120th overall) of the Broncos in 1999.

2000: Gary was placed on injured reserve Sept. 8 because of a torn right anterior cruciate ligament suffered in the season opener at St. Louis (9/4). He underwent surgery Sept. 11 and began rehabilitation immediately. Gary had replaced the injured Terrell Davis in the 2nd qtr. and was the primary ball-carrier for the remainder of the contest, tallying 80 yds. on 13 carries (6.2) with a long of 25 while catching three passes for 10 yds. (3.3) with a long of 7. The injury occurred midway through the 3rd qtr., and a magnetic resonance imaging test performed the following morning revealed the complete tear.

1999: Gary — chosen All-Rookie by Pro Football Weekly, Football News, College & Pro Football Newsweekly and Football Digest — started each of the final 12 games at halfback and rushed for a rookie franchise-record 1,159 yards and seven touchdowns on 276 carries (4.2) with a long of 71, and caught 21 passes for 159 yds. (7.6) with a long of 21. He also had one successful two-point conversion (vs. Min., 10/31). Gary, despite being declared inactive for each of the seasons' first four games, ranked sixth in the AFC (11th NFL) in rushing yards, and second in the NFL among rookie rushers. He ranked third in the NFL in average yards per game, at 96.6, just behind the Redskins' Stephen Davis (100.4) and the Colts' Edgerrin James (97.1). His 1,159 rushing yards not only rank No. 1 by a rookie in franchise history, but also sixth overall on the Broncos' all-time single-season list. Additionally, Gary's seven rushing touchdowns tied Bobby Humphrey (1989) and Terrell Davis (1995) for the rookie franchise record, while his 276 rushing attempts rank second (Humphrey, 294). His 185 rushing yards at Detroit (12/25) and 183 the week before vs. Seattle (12/19) are the top two single-game marks ever posted by a Broncos rookie, and rank Nos. 6 and 7 (tie) on the club's all-time list, while also representing the second-highest two-game total in franchise history (368), behind Davis' 376 in back-to-back games in 1998 (168 vs. Philadelphia, 10/4 and 208 at Seattle, 10/11). Gary became the first NFL player with back-to-back games with at least 180 rushing yards since 1986 (Joe Morris, N.Y. Giants, 181 twice, 10/27 & 11/2), and the first NFL rookie to do so since 1983 (Eric Dickerson, L.A. Rams, 192 on 9/25 and 199 on 10/2). With four 100-yard games on the season Gary broke Davis' rookie franchise record of 3. As testament to the vital role Gary played for the Broncos after Davis' injury, he set an NFL record for most carries after the first six games of a career, with 151 (avg. of 25.2/gm.). He broke the old record of 149 set by Dickerson in 1983, and James, also in 1999. Gary played in his first NFL game at Oakland (10/10), starting at halfback because of a hamstring injury to Derek Loville. He carried the ball 20 times for 64 yds. (3.2) with a long of 11 and caught a 10-yd. pass to help lift Denver to its first win of the season. He started again the following week vs. Green Bay (10/17) and carried the ball 37 times for 124 yds. (3.4) and one touchdown, while catching two passes for 26 yds. (13.0). Gary's 37 carries represent the second-highest single-game figure in franchise history, exceeded only by Terrell Davis' 42-carry effort in a 1997 overtime battle at Buffalo (Oct. 26), and were the third-most by an NFL back in 1999. His number of carries set a Broncos single-game rookie record, while his yardage total was the seventh-highest by a Broncos rookie at the time (now ninth). Gary's first career 100-yard rushing effort vs. Green Bay, combined with the 100-yd. receiving figures posted by Byron Chamberlain (123) and Ed McCaffrey (116), gave Denver a 100-yd. rusher and two 100-yd. receivers in the same game for the first time in franchise history. Gary's 60-yd. run at New England (10/24) was the longest of his career at the time, and at the end of the season remained tied for the fifth-longest run from scrimmage by a rookie in Broncos history, and tied for the fourth-longest non-scoring run by a rookie. In the New England contest he set a new career high for both receptions (4) and receiving yards (39). Gary notched his second career 100-yd. game at San Diego (11/7) with 108 yds. and two touchdowns on 30 carries (3.6) with a long of 23. The 23-yarder, which came in the 3rd qtr., accounted for his first TD of the day, followed by a 5-yd. scoring run in the 4th. In notching his second career 100-yd. game, Gary did so faster than any Bronco in history (5 games). The San Diego defense had not allowed a 100-yd. rusher in 26 games, since Davis tallied 178 at Qualcomm Stadium (11/30/97). In his first appearance on Monday Night Football, vs. Oakland (11/22), Gary rushed 22 times for 95 yds. (4.3), including the game-winning touchdown on a 24-yd. run in overtime. His fifth touchdown of the season came vs. K.C. (12/5), and he added his sixth — and scored for the third game in a row — at Jacksonville (12/13) on a 1-yd. run in the 2nd qtr. Gary climbed to new heights vs. Seattle (12/19) with 183 yards on 22 carries (8.3) to set a new Broncos rookie record, which he would top a week later. With 183 he topped Davis' standard of 176 (vs. S.D., 11/19/95), and earned AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors in the process. His day included a career-best 71-yard run in the 4th qtr., the longest run by a rookie in franchise history and tied for the fourth-longest run from scrimmage overall. It was also the longest non-scoring run in Broncos history, and the sixth-longest in the NFL in 1999. Gary became the first Bronco other than Davis to post four 100-yd. rushing performances in one season since 1991 (Gaston Green, 5) when he powered his way to a new career-high 185 yds. on 29 carries with one touchdown at Detroit (12/25). It was a big day for Gary, who not only eclipsed the 1,000-yd. mark for the season, but passed Davis (1,117 in 1995) for second-most rushing yards by Broncos rookie, finishing the day at 1,121. His 185 yds. were the fourth-most by an NFL back in 1999; sixth-most in Broncos history, and topped his 183-yd. effort from the previous week for the all-time Broncos rookie mark. Included in his total was a 45-yard touchdown run in the 3rd qtr., his seventh rushing touchdown of the season to tie the Broncos rookie record. Gary's total for the 3rd qtr. alone was 134 yds., en route to a franchise-record 174-yd. second half. He closed with 38 yds. on 18 carries vs. S.D. (1/2) to set the franchise rookie rushing mark (1,159), passing Humphrey (1,151 in 1989). Gary was declared inactive for the season's first four games. In the preseason Gary played in all five games and led the team in rushing with 181 yds. on 42 carries (4.3). He scored one touchdown and his longest rush went for 21 yds. Gary also caught four passes for 16 yds. (4.0) with a long of 13.

Born: August 23, 1978 in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Pro Year: 2nd • Year with Broncos: 2nd
NFL Games Played/Started: 16/0 • Postseason: 1/0

Ian Gold enters his second NFL season with aspirations of expanding his role in the Broncos' defensive scheme, after flashing impressive skills as a rookie. Lightning quick and extremely agile, Gold made an impact as linebacker, edge rusher and special teams standout in 2000, playing in all 16 games and posting 21 tackles. He added 11 more on special teams and blocked a punt that he returned for a touchdown, while also picking up two other fumbles. Gold was the first of Denver's two second round draft choices in 2000, selected 40th overall out of Michigan.

2000: Gold played in all 16 games, seeing action in a reserve role on defense and special teams. Defensively he posted 21 tackles (20 solo), including two sacks (-4), as well as a forced fumble. He recorded 11 solo tackles in a two-game span (Gms. 13-14), posting five vs. Sea. (12/10) after a career-high six at N.O. (12/3). On special teams Gold ranked third on the team with 11 tackles, as well as one blocked punt (returned for a touchdown) and two fumble recoveries (vs. Cleve., 10/15 and vs. Atl., 9/10). Gold was spectacular on Monday Night Football vs. Oak. (11/13), registering a sack of Rich Gannon on which he forced a fumble that the Broncos recovered. He also blocked a Shane Lechler punt and returned it 12 yds. for a touchdown in Denver's 27-24 win, and made two special teams tackles to earn AFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors. Gold became the first Bronco to return a blocked punt for a touchdown since Rob Nairne returned one 22 yds. for a score vs. N.E., Nov. 11, 1979. Gold made his NFL debut in the season opener at St. Louis (9/4) and posted four tackles (3 solo). He played in a reserve role and on special teams in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and posted one solo tackle in his first postseason game.

COLLEGE: Gold was a four-year letterwinner and two-year starter at Michigan, converting from running back to linebacker as a sophomore. He earned All-Big 10 honors as both a junior (second team) and senior (first team), leading the team in tackles (95; 71 solo) in his final campaign with the Maize and Blue. He played in every game as a sophomore in his first season as a linebacker, following a true freshman season in which he mostly saw special teams duty as a running back. He played in four bowl games, the Outback, Rose, Citrus and Orange. Gold was a kinesiology major at Michigan. His mother and father are both Michigan graduates, and Ian was born at the UM Hospital, in Ann Arbor, Mich.

PERSONAL: Gold was a SuperPrep All-American, Blue Chip Illustrated All-Midwest, Detroit News Blue Chip, All-Mega Conference, all-area and Associated Press Class A/AA all-state pick as a running back at Belleville (Mich.) High School. A three-year letterman, he rushed for 934 yards and 21 touchdowns while returning a pair of punts for scores as a senior, despite missing the final two games with a knee sprain. Gold's junior-year numbers included 920 yards and 17 touchdowns. He also lettered in basketball (guard) and track (sprinter/high jumper). Ian's brothers, twins Jason and Jeremy, played football at Central Michigan. Both of his parents graduated from the University of Michigan, and Ian was born Aug. 23, 1978 at the University of Michigan Hospital. His full name is Ian Maurice Gold.

Brian Griese — Quarterback

6-3 • 215 • 4th Yr. • Michigan

High School: Columbus High School, Miami, Fla.
Resides: Denver, Colo.
Acquired: Draft #3 (91st overall), 1998
Pro Year: 4th • Year with Broncos: 4th
NFL Games Played/Started: 25/23

Brian Griese solidified his position among the elite quarterbacks in the National Football League as a second-year starter in 2000, earning his first Pro Bowl berth and leading the league in passer rating (102.9), while tying for the second-best touchdown-to-interception ratio (19-4) in NFL history. He and his father, Hall of Famer Bob Griese, are the only father-son combination in league history to win NFL passing titles, as the elder Griese posted a league-best 87.8 passer rating in 1977. Now in his fourth pro season Griese seeks to avoid the injury bug that has shortened his two seasons as a starter to 14 and 10 games. In 25 career games (23 starts) Griese has completed 60.4% of his passes (478-791; second best in franchise history) for 5,722 yards and 33 touchdowns, with 19 interceptions. He has also rushed for 236 yards and three touchdowns on 79 carries. Griese's 102.9 passer rating for 2000 was the best in franchise history, as is his career rating of 85.3. Perhaps his most memorable game last season came vs. Oakland on Monday Night

Off the Field

Brian holds an annual golf tournament in Michigan to benefit C.S. Motts Children's Hospital. The money raised goes to help kids attend sporting events, purchase wheelchairs and provide housing for the parents of some of the children. He has also been actively involved in fundraising efforts for the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation, and is the honorary chairman for this year's Race for the Cure in Denver.

Football when Griese played with a separated throwing shoulder and led Denver to a crucial division win, earning the NFL.com All-Heart Performance of the Year Award. Griese started 13 games for the Broncos in 1999 and became just the eighth NFL quarterback since 1970 to pass for more than 3,000 yards in the year of his first start. He was named AFC Offensive Player of the Week for Week 6 after passing for 363 yards and two touchdowns in a win over Green Bay. Griese has engineered three fourth-quarter or overtime game-winning or game-saving drives in his young career. He underwent successful surgery on his right (throwing) shoulder Jan. 5, 2000, at the conclusion of the 1999 season, and again Jan. 10, 2001, after the 2000 season. Griese was selected by the Broncos in the third round (No. 91 overall) of the 1998 NFL Draft, out of Michigan.

2000: Griese—voted to play in the Pro Bowl this season for the first time in his career—started 10 games and completed 216 of 336 passes (franchise-record 64.3%) for 2,688 yds. and a career-high 19 touchdowns, with just four interceptions and a long of 61 for an NFL-best passer rating of 102.9. His 4.75-1 TD-to-INT ratio was the second best in NFL history behind Steve DeBerg's 5.75-1 ratio (23-4) with Kansas City in 1990. He also rushed 29 times for 102 yds. (3.5) and one touchdown with a long of 18. Griese was voted by his teammates an offensive captain at the midpoint of the season, joining Terrell Davis. Griese led the AFC in completion percentage (2nd NFL) and yards-per-attempt (8.00; 4th NFL), and despite missing six full games and most of another, still ranked sixth in touchdown passes (T12th NFL); eighth in passing yards; ninth in completions and 10th in attempts. He was also the NFL's leading passer on third-down (109.6 rating) and ranked second in fourth-quarter passing (112.6 rating). He started nine of the first 10 games, but then missed five games because of a separated acromioclavicular (AC) joint in his right (throwing) shoulder, suffered vs. Oak. (11/13). He returned to practice on a limited basis the week of the K.C. game (12/17), and returned to the starting lineup the following week for the finale vs. S.F. (12/23), but was only able to play part of the first series before leaving the game because of pain in his shoulder. Griese was inactive vs. S.D., 11/19; at Sea., 11/26; at N.O., 12/3; vs. Sea., 12/10; at K.C., 12/17 and for the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt.,12/31). Versus Oakland on Monday Night Football (11/13) Griese showed tremendous courage and leadership, and earned the NFL.com All-Heart Player of the Week Award (and later the All-Heart Performance of the Year Award), by playing the majority of the game with a separated AC joint in his right (throwing) shoulder and engineering a fourth-quarter game-winning drive—the third of his career. Griese suffered the injury on Denver's second offensive series, and was taken to the locker room for examination. He returned to the game on the second play of the 2nd qtr., and played the remainder of the contest, completing 25 of 37 (68%) for 262 yds. and a touchdown, with one interception. On the Broncos' 10-play, 83-yd. touchdown march that put them ahead 24-10 in the 4th qtr., Griese completed 6 of 6 for 73 yds. Then, with the score tied at 24, and 1:01 remaining on the clock, Griese led a 7-play, 44-yd. drive to set up Jason Elam's 41-yd. game-winning field goal. He covered 42 yds. on four straight pass completions and the final two yards on a quarterback sneak to set up the field goal attempt. Showing his affinity for performing in the clutch, from the midway point of the 3rd qtr. he completed 15 of his final 17 pass attempts (88%) for 161 yds. and a touchdown (125.7 rating), and in the 4th qtr. alone he completed 9 of 11 (82%) for 102 and a touchdown (135.6 rating). At one point he completed 11 straight passes for 119 yds.—tied for the fifth longest completion streak in franchise

Griese Makes History as NFL Passing Leader

Brian Griese led the NFL in passer rating for the 2000 season, compiling a franchise-record 102.9 mark. His father—Pro Football Hall of Famer member Bob Griese—also led the league in passer rating, in 1977, making the Grieses the only father-son combination to have won single-season NFL passing titles during their careers. Here is a look at the top three from 2000:

history. A week earlier Griese began the second half of the season by throwing for more than 300 yds. for the third game in a row, tying an all-time Broncos franchise record, at the Jets (11/5). He completed 22 of 35 passes (63%) for 327 yards and two touchdowns (both to Ed McCaffrey) with one interception to tie the record held by John Elway (1996, 1993-94). It was Griese's fifth 300-yd. passing day of the season, tied for most in a season (Elway, '95), and the seventh of Griese's career, second most in team history. Griese was particularly sharp on third downs (the Broncos converted 12 of 18 for the game), completing 13 of 16 passes (81%) for 225 yards and two touchdowns, achieving the highest possible passer rating (158.3) in such situations. With the score tied 20-20 late in the 3rd qtr. he led Denver 71 yds. in 10 plays over 5:24 for the go-ahead 23-yd. Elam field goal, then 80 yds. in 8 plays over 4:12, capped by a 47-yd. TD pass to McCaffrey for a 30-20 lead. Griese turned in an impressive performance at Cin. (10/22), throwing for a career-high 365 yds. on 30 of 45 passing (67%), with two touchdowns and one interception. Griese's two touchdown passes gave him 16 for the season, a personal single-season high (14, 1999). He matched his career high with three touchdown tosses for the second week in a row (fourth career) in a Week 7 win over Cleve. (10/15), as he completed 19 of 34 passes (56%) for 336 yds. All three scoring passes went to Rod Smith (17 yds., 22 and 32). It was Griese's third 300-yd. game of the season—a plateau he had already reached by halftime (18-33, 304 yds., 2 TDs), making him the first NFL player to pass for 300 yards in a half since Dec. 5, 1999 (Jeff Garcia, S.F., 307 vs. Cin., 2nd half). With five 300-yd. passing performances in his first 19 starts, Griese reached that number faster than any quarterback in franchise history (Tripucka, 31st start; Elway, 40th start). He threw three touchdown passes the week before at S.D. (10/8), among his 27 completions in 40 attempts (68%) for 235 yds. Two of his scoring tosses went to McCaffrey (2 and 5 yds.) and the other went to Dwayne Carswell (14 yds.). Griese had returned to his starting role in Week 5 vs. N.E. (10/1) after missing the previous game because of a partially torn labrum in his right shoulder, suffered at Oak. (9/17). He set career highs for completions (31) and attempts (50) in the New England game, while posting his second highest yardage total (361; now third), to go with one touchdown and one interception. Griese's 50 attempts tied for the sixth most in a game by a Broncos quarterback, and were the most since John Elway threw 59 passes at Green Bay, Oct. 10, 1993. His 31 completions were the fourth most in a game by a Bronco, and the most since Elway completed a franchise-record 36 vs. San Diego, Sept. 4, 1994. In the New England game Griese also ended a streak of 181 consecutive passes thrown without an interception, eight shy of the franchise record (Elway, 189 in 1997). He was designated the third quarterback vs. K.C. (9/24) because of the injury. Before missing the K.C. game Griese had begun the year with three consecutive outstanding performances, the last of which came at Oakland (9/17) when he engineered a 33-24 win over the previously unbeaten Raiders and completed his fourth straight game without an interception. He connected on 21 of 31 (67.7%) passes for 213 yards and two touchdowns, with a long of 35. Griese's touchdowns went 10 yds. to McCaffrey and 1 yd. to Howard Griffith. He was impressive the previous week vs. Atlanta (9/10), tying his career high with three touchdown passes while completing 20 of 33 passes (61%) for 268 yds. His touchdowns went 6 yds. to Griffith and 11 and 37 yds. to Rod Smith. Griese made a spectacular 2000 debut on Monday Night Football at defending Super Bowl champion St. Louis (9/4), completing 19 of 29 passes (65.5%) for 307 yds. and two touchdowns, for a passer rating of 123.8, best in the NFL for Week 1. He also rushed for a touchdown (8 yds.) among his four carries for 28 yds. (7.0), and was sacked four times (-33). His touchdown passes went 25 yds. to R. Smith and 7 yds. to Desmond Clark.

1999: Griese played in 14 games, and started 13, completing 261 of 452 (57.7%) passes for 3,032 yds. and 14 touchdowns, with 14 interceptions and a long of 88. He rushed 46 times for 138 yds. (3.0) and two touchdowns with a long of 23, and been sacked 27 times (-176). With 3,032 passing yards in 1999, Griese became just the eighth quarterback in the NFL since 1970 to pass for more than 3,000 yards in the year of his first start. Griese was active but did not play in Weeks 9 and 10 (at S.D., 11/7; at Sea., 11/14) because of a sore shoulder, and played in a reserve role vs. Oak. (11/22) in Week 11. In Griese's first NFL start, vs. Miami (9/13), he performed well, completing 24 of 40 passes (60%) for 270 yds. and three touchdowns. His longest completion was a 61-yd. touchdown to Ed McCaffrey on his sixth attempt of the night, and just the ninth of his career. All three of Griese's touchdown passes went to McCaffrey, as the duo folllowed the initial TD connection with scoring strikes of 11 and 4 yds. in the third and fourth quarters, respectively. Griese added his fourth touchdown of the season at Tampa Bay (9/26) on a 12-yd. pass to McCaffrey in the 1st qtr. He temporarily established a new longest career pass with a 71-yd. completion to Rod Smith vs. the Jets (10/3). Griese notched his first NFL win as a starter at Oakland (10/10), completing 17 of 29 (58.6%) for 234 yds. and one touchdown, with one interception, while rushing a career-high seven times for 16 yds. (2.3). The touchdown came on a 3-yd. pass to Rod Smith just before halftime, capping an efficient 5-play, 57-yd. drive that consumed just 40 seconds of clock time. On the drive, Griese completed all four of his passes for 57 yds., and carried the ball 5 yds. on Denver's only running play. The win also marked Griese's first NFL game-winning fourth-quarter drive, as he marched the Broncos 63 yds. in 11 plays for the winning 26-yd. field goal. He made it two wins in a row with his performance against Green Bay (10/17), completing 19 of 31 passes (61.3) for a career-high 363 yds. and two touchdowns with one interception, to earn AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors. The yardage figure was the 11th-highest single-game total in franchise history, and the highest by a first-year starter. His 88-yard shovel-pass completion to Byron Chamberlain in the contest was the longest non-scoring pass play in franchise history, and the seventh-longest overall, and was the longest pass play in the AFC (T3rd NFL) in 1999. Griese also rushed for his first NFL touchdown in the contest, a 2-yarder in the 4th qtr. to provide the final margin of 31-10. Griese made it two games in a row with both a passing and rushing touchdown, at New England (10/24), part of a 25-of-38, 316-yard effort that saw him become the first Broncos first-year starter to exceed the 300-yd. passing mark in back-to-back games. The 25 completions represented a new career high, as did his 23 rushing yards (3 carries) and his longest carry of 14 yds. After missing two games with a sore shoulder, Griese entered the Oakland game (11/22) in the 4th qtr. and sparked the Broncos to a 27-21 overtime victory. He completed 6 of 14 passes for 60 yds. with a long of 24, and rushed twice for 1 yd., while being sacked once (-2). Griese led Denver to field goals on two of his three fourth-quarter drives — the latter coming with just 7 seconds remaining in the game — to force an overtime session, in which Olandis Gary scored on a 24-yd. run for the game-winner. The game marked Griese's second career fourth-quarter or overtime game-saving or game-winning drive. Griese returned to the starting lineup vs. K.C. (12/5) and completed 20 of 36 for 227 yds. (55.5%) with one interception. He had his best game in terms of completion percentage (73.3%) at Detroit (12/25) on 22 of 30 passing for 171 yds. in a 17-7 Denver win. In the preseason Griese was named the Broncos' starting quarterback Aug. 30, replacing Bubby Brister. In five preseason games (1 start) he completed 68 of 101 passes (67.3%) for 716 yds. and 6 touchdowns with just one interception, to compile a passer rating of 103.4. He rushed twice for 5 yds. (2.5) with a long of 3, and was sacked three times for 23 yds. 1998: Griese was designated the Broncos' third quarterback for 14 of the 16 games in his rookie season. He saw his first NFL action in Week Five vs. Philadelphia (10/4), replacing Bubby Brister in the fourth quarter. Griese completed 1 of 3 passes for 2 yds. with one interception, while also being credited with four rushing attempts for -4 yds. He completed his first NFL pass for a 2-yd. gain to Vaughn Hebron. Griese was active for the Broncos' Monday Night game at Kansas City (11/16), as the backup to starter Bubby Brister, with John Elway being designated Denver's third QB because of strained rib cartilage. In the preseason, Griese played in all four games and completed 27 of 50 passes (54.0) for 372 yards and two touchdowns with one interception. His longest completion, of 48 yards, went to Justin Armour for the game-winning touchdown vs. New Orleans. Griese, who also rushed 14 times for 32 yards (2.3) with a long of 8, directed game-winning fourth-quarter drives in each of his first three appearances. In the postseason Griese was designated the Broncos' third quarterback for all three contests. With Denver's 34-19 conquest of Atlanta in Super Bowl XXXIII (1/31), Griese, a rookie, completed his second straight championship season, after quarterbacking the University of Michigan to the collegiate national championship in 1997.

COLLEGE: Griese helped lead the Michigan Wolverines their first national championship in 49 years as a senior in 1997, earning first-team All-Big 10 Conference honors. Griese led the Wolverines to a 12-0 mark and a share of the national championship with Nebraska, defeating Washington State in the Rose Bowl with an MVP performance. He was a finalist for the Davey O'Brien Award and the recipient of the National Football Foundation & Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete Award. Griese completed 193 of 307 passes (62.9%) for 2,293 yards, 17 touchdowns and only six interceptions, breaking the previous school single-season records of 189 completions of 296 passes by Todd Collins in 1993. 0nly Collins (2,509 in 1993 and 2,518 in 1994) and Jim Harbaugh (2,729 in 1986) have thrown for more yards in a season for the Wolverines. Griese's interception percentage of 1.95% was the fourth-lowest in school annals. He was an Academic All-Big Ten Conference pick as a junior, playing mostly in a reserve role (35 of 61, 57.4%, 513 yds., 3 TD, 2 Int.). Griese started the last nine games as a sophomore, completing 127 of 238 passes (53.4%) for 1,577 yards, 13 touchdowns and 10 interceptions. He saw action only as a holder for placements and field goals for the last nine games of his freshman season after redshirting in 1993. Griese finished his college career with 355 completions in 606 attempts (58.6%) for 4,383 yards, 33 touchdowns and 18 interceptions. Griese was a philosophy major.

PERSONAL: Griese was a Prep Football Report All-Southeast, Miami Herald all-city second-team and all-state third-team selection as a senior at Columbus High School in Miami, Fla., completing 101 of 183 passes for 1,387 yards and seven touchdowns in his final year. He hit on 194 of 335 attempts for 2,356 yards and 19 scores during his career. Griese also lettered in basketball, averaging 10 points per game, and added another letter in golf. His father, Bob, played 14 years with the Miami Dolphins and was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1990. Brian holds an annual golf tournament in Michigan to benefit C.S. Motts Children's Hospital. The money raised goes to help kids attend sporting events, purchase wheelchairs and provide housing for the parents of some of the children. He has also been actively involved in fundraising efforts for the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation, and is the honorary chairman for this year's Race for the Cure in Denver. Brian David Griese was born March 18, 1975 in Miami.

OFF THE FIELD

Howard is involved with the Jefferson County (Colo.) Self-Sufficiency Council, an organization that provides transportation, housing and other assistance to displaced families and those in need. He authored a book "Laying it on the Line; Notes of a team player" that was published in December 2000.

Howard Griffith has established his place among the elite fullbacks in the NFL in his four seasons in Denver. Griffith has paved the way for three different Broncos running backs—including two rookies—to post 1,000-yard seasons, fueling a running game that finished in the top four in the NFL in 1997, '98 and 2000. His blocking for Terrell Davis in 1998 produced the third-most prolific single-season rushing total by a player in pro football history (2,008 yards) and he has since propelled back-to-back rookies to instant stardom: Olandis Gary (1,159 in 1999) and Mike Anderson (1,487 in 2000). Griffith scored two touchdowns in Denver's 34-19 win over Atlanta in Super Bowl XXXII, as the Broncos claimed their second straight World Championship. He scored three touchdowns in the 1998 postseason, and scored four total over the course of the 1997-98 postseasons, all of which came in either the AFC Championship or Super Bowl. A testament to his incredible blocking skills is the fact that Griffith is the only fullback in NFL history to block for five different single-season 1,000-yard rushers in his career (Jerome Bettis with the Rams in '94, Anthony Johnson with the Panthers in '96, Davis in '97 and '98; Gary in '99 and Anderson in 2000). Griffith has now played in 121 NFL games (87 starts) and rushed for 351 yards on 121 carries (2.9) with three touchdowns. His receiving statistics include 123 catches for 850 yards (6.9) and nine scores. Griffith has participated in 10 postseason games (9 starts) and tallied 20 rushing yards and 130 receiving yards with five touchdowns (2 rushing, 3 receiving). The two touchdowns in Super Bowl XXXIII tied for the second-most in a Super Bowl game, and left Griffith tied for fifth in career Super Bowl rushing TDs. Griffith is tied for fourth on the Broncos' all-time postseason rushing TD list, and is tied for third in total TDs (4; 2 rush./2 rec.) with Vance Johnson. Originally drafted by Indianapolis in 1991 (237th overall), Griffith was waived after training camp and spent the '91 season on Buffalo's practice squad, followed by a stint on San Diego's practice squad in '92. He then played for the L.A. Rams (1993-94) and Carolina (1995-96) before signing with Denver as an unrestricted free agent Feb. 18, 1997.

2000: Griffith—named second-team All-Pro by College & Pro Football Newsweekly and Football Digest—started at fullback in 14 games and caught 16 passes for 101 yds. (6.3) with a long of 16 and two touchdowns, and rushed five times for 4 yds. (0.8) His first touchdown came on a 6-yd. pass from Brian Griese vs. Atlanta (9/10) and his second (1 yd.) came a week later at Oak. (9/17). Griffith tore his left posterior cruciate ligament and sustained damage to his meniscus vs. N.E. (10/1). He played through the pain the following week at S.D. (10/8), but opted for arthroscopic surgery to repair the damage Oct. 10. He was declared inactive vs. Cleve. (10/15) and at Cin. (10/22), and returned to action at the Jets (11/5). Griffith continued to perform as arguably the top fullback in the NFL, not only with his own offensive production, but in blocking for Denver's third-ranked rushing attack, which featured seven 100-yard individual efforts in 2000—a club rookie-record six by Mike Anderson (131, 187, 103, 195, 251 and 131 yds.) and Davis' 115 yds. at the Jets (11/5). Anderson became the fifth different 1,000-yard running back for whom Griffith has blocked in his career, and the second straight rookie. Griffith started at fullback in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and caught one pass for 16 yds.

1999: Griffith started at fullback in all 16 games and rushed 17 times for 66 yds. (3.9) with a long of 13 and one touchdown, and ranked fourth on the team with 26 receptions for 192 yds. (7.4) with a long of 20 and one touchdown. His receiving numbers were the second-best of his seven-year career, behind the 27 receptions for 229 yds. he accumulated with Carolina in 1996. Griffith suffered a pinched nerve in his neck vs. Green Bay (10/17), and missed practice time the following week, but started at New England (10/24) the next Sunday. Griffith's highest rushing numbers of the season came vs. G.B. (7-25), while his top receiving numbers came vs. K.C. (4-26). He also

NEED 1,000? CALL GRIFF

Broncos fullback Howard Griffith is the only player in NFL history to block for five different single-season 1,000-yard rushers. He has helped produce six individual 1,000-yard seasons for halfbacks on three different teams. Terrell Davis owns two of the six 1,000-yard efforts, including one of the four 2,000-yard seasons in NFL history (1998). Adding to Griffith's accomplishment is the fact that his two most recent beneficiaries, Olandis Gary and Mike Anderson, have been rookies. Each has set a new Broncos' rookie rushing record.

Third best single-season rushing performance in NFL history* had four receptions earlier in the year at K.C. (9/19). His longest reception (20 yds.) and his lone receiving touchdown came at Seattle (11/14), with the score coming on a 1-yd. pass from Chris Miller that gave Denver a 17-10 lead. Griffith scored his first regular season rushing touchdown as a Bronco — and his first since Dec. 1, 1996 — in Denver's 27-21 overtime defeat of Oakland (11/22) on Monday Night Football. Griffith sprained his ankle vs. Seattle (12/19) and left the game in the 3rd qtr., but returned to the starting lineup the next week at Detroit (12/25). 1998: Griffith — named second-team All-NFL by Football Digest — started at fullback in 13 of the 16 games and played in 14, rushing four times for 13 yards (3.3) with a long of 16 (the longest rush of his career, @NYG, 12/13), while catching 15 passes for 97 yards (6.5) with a long of 15 (vs. N.E., 9/7) and three touchdowns. Griffith's three receiving TDs matched his entire career total prior to '98 (5 seasons), and were the most by a Broncos fullback in a single season since Bo Dickinson posted the franchise record of four in 1962. He played but did not start at Seattle (10/11) as the Broncos opened the game in a two-tight end alignment, and then missed the Cincinnati game (11/1) with a hamstring strain. Griffith returned to the starting lineup a week later vs. San Diego (11/8), but left the game during the first series because of a second-degree medial collateral tear in his left knee, and did not return. The injury also sidelined Griffith for the following week's game at Kansas City (11/16). Griffith's first scoring reception of the season came on a 3-yd. toss from Bubby Brister at Oakland (9/20), and his second came a week later on a 14-yarder at Washington (9/27), also from Brister. He missed most of the fourth quarter vs. Jacksonville (10/25) because of a right hamstring injury that forced him out of the next week's game at Cincinnati (11/1). Griffith returned to the starting lineup vs. Oakland (11/22) and caught two passes for 8 yds., including a 3-yd. scoring reception from Elway in the 4th qtr., his third of the year. Griffith had his most productive day of the season statistically at the Giants (12/13), rushing twice for 11 yds. (5.5) — including a career-best 16-yd. carry in the 3rd qtr. — and caught two passes for 11 yds. (5.5) with a long of 9. Griffith's primary contributions came as a blocking back in support of the Broncos' overall running game, which ranked second in the NFL with an average of 154.3 yards-per-game. In the postseason Griffith started at fullback in two of the three games (Broncos opened in a two-tight end alignment in the AFC Championship Game) and rushed four times for nine yards (2.3) and two touchdowns, while catching three passes for 32 yards (10.7) and one touchdown. He also provided stellar lead-blocking for a dominant rushing attack that averaged 183 yds. per game in the postseason. Griffith caught one pass for 14 yds. while paving the way for Terrell Davis in his franchise postseason-record 199-yard rushing performance in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9), and caught another for an 11-yd. touchdown in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17). The TD provided Denver's first points of the day, and began the Broncos' comeback from a 10-0 3rd-qtr. deficit. It marked the third straight season in which Griffith caught a touchdown pass in a conference championship game (1996 NFC-Carolina at Green Bay; 1997 AFC-Denver at Pittsburgh). All four of Griffith's rushing attempts came in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31), including two touchdowns on 1-yd. runs in the 1st and 4th qtrs. The first gave Denver a 7-3 lead, and the second increased the margin to 24-6. The two touchdowns tied for the second-most in a Super Bowl, and left Griffith tied for fifth in career Super Bowl rushing TDs. He rushed for nine yards total in the game, and added one reception for seven yards. In the 1998 postseason Griffith touched the ball just seven times (4 rush. att., 3 rec.) and scored three touchdowns. 1997: Griffith played in 15 of the 16 games and made 13 starts at fullback in his first year in Denver, opening holes for Terrell Davis while also shouldering his share of the offensive load. For the year he rushed nine times for 34 yards (3.8) with a long of 9 yards (vs. K.C., 8/31), and caught 11 passes for 55 yards (5.0) with a long of 20 (at Oakland, 10/19). He had a season-high four receptions at Pittsburgh (12/7) for 18 yards. Griffith did not start vs. Oakland (11/24) and at Kansas City (11/16) because the Broncos opened both games in a two-tight end set (Dwayne Carswell), and he was inactive for the Buffalo game (10/26) because of soreness in his right knee resulting from a medial collateral injury originally suffered at Atlanta (9/28), which kept him out for most of that game. Griffith's injury was initially thought to be a second-degree tear that might keep him out for 3-5 weeks, but an MRI proved negative and he was back in the starting lineup a week later vs. New England (10/6). He re-injured the knee in the third quarter at Oakland (10/19) and missed the remainder of that game, as well. His best rushing performance of the season came against St. Louis (four carries) in Week Three and Kansas City (two carries) in Week One, gaining 13 yards on the ground in each game. He paved the way for a franchise record 10 100-yard rushing games by backfield mate Terrell Davis, including two 200-yard efforts (vs. Cinc., 9/21 and at Buff., 10/26). In the postseason Griffith started all four games at fullback and rushed five times for 11 yards (2.2) with a long of 4 yards, and caught five passes for 58 yards (11.6) with a long of 23 and one touchdown. He also earned recognition for the lead-blocking he provided for Super Bowl MVP Terrell Davis, who rushed for more than 100 yards in all four postseason games. In the AFC Wild Card Playoff win vs. Jacksonville (12/27) Griffith put forth a stellar effort, helping power Denver's running game to 310 yards on the day, courtesy of two 100-yard rushers, Terrell Davis (184) and Derek Loville (103). Griffith did not run the ball himself, but provided powerful lead-blocking, and caught two passes for 9 yards with a long of 8. In Denver's 14-10 AFC Divisional Playoff victory at Kansas City (1/4/98) he rushed four times for nine yards (2.3), while providing exceptional lead-blocking for Terrell Davis, who finished the day with 101 yards. Griffith's touchdown reception in the AFC Championship Game at Pittsburgh (1/11/98) put Denver ahead to stay at 17-14, and helped propel the Broncos to the Super Bowl. His other reception for 11 yards came earlier on the same drive. In Super Bowl XXXII vs. Green Bay (1/25) Griffith rushed once for 2 yards and caught one pass for 23 yards, while paving the way for Super Bowl MVP Terrell Davis' 157-yard rushing effort. His 23-yard reception on the Broncos' game-winning drive in the Super Bowl gave Denver a first down at the Green Bay 8-yard line in the closing minutes. The play was identical to the one on which he scored his only touchdown of the season two weeks prior in Pittsburgh. 1996: Griffith started 14 of 16 games for Carolina, with his only two non-starts coming in games where the Panthers opened in a three-receiver formation (12/1 at San Francisco and 11/17 at St. Louis). For the season he rushed 12 times for seven yards (0.6) with one touchdown and set career highs for both receptions (27) and receiving yards (223) and scored one receiving touchdown. Perhaps his greatest contribution, however, was the devastating blocking he provided for tailback Anthony Johnson who logged 1,120 yards on the year. Griffith had 36 yards receiving on four catches vs. the NY Giants (11/10), including a touchdown reception, and added a touchdown run three weeks later vs. Tampa Bay (12/1) for his two scores on the year. He also had 24 receiving yards on five catches in the 1996 postseason, including Carolina's only touchdown of the NFC Championship Game at Green Bay (1/12/97) on a three-yard reception. On the day he had four catches for 23 yards against the Packers. The previous week against Dallas in an NFC Divisional Playoff Game he had one reception for one yard. 1995: Griffith set career highs in rushing yards and attempts with 197 yards on 65 carries while highlighting his ability as a blocker and serving as an important part of the Panthers offense. After serving as a reserve for the first five games of the year, Howard took over full-time starting duties vs. the Jets (10/15), gaining five yards on three carries and hauling in two catches for 14 yards. Versus New Orleans (10/22) Griffith became the first Panther to score two touchdowns in a game, scoring on a two-yard run and a one-yard reception from Kerry Collins. At New England (10/29) Griffith aided in Derrick Moore's 119-yard rushing day with key blocks while adding three carries for 11 yards and a reception for 15 yards. At the Rams (11/12) he led the team with 13 carries for 46 yards and two catches for five yards. Versus Arizona (11/19), in a start at RB, he had the best rushing performance of his career with a team-leading 88 yards on 25 carries and was part of a running game that amassed a team-high 180 yards rushing. At New Orleans (11/26), he started at running back before spraining his right ankle in the first quarter. After a week inactive vs. Indianapolis (12/3) he saw brief time vs. San Francisco (12/10) but did not record a carry. Griffith was the 16th player selected in the expansion draft from the Los Angeles Rams, February 15, 1995 (8th round). 1994: Griffith started 10 games at fullback for the Los Angeles Rams, where he helped clear the way for All-Pro Jerome Bettis, who rushed for more than 1,000 yards for the second consecutive season. A capable receiver, Howard caught 16 passes, including his first career touchdown in a game vs. the Denver Broncos (11/6), a three-yard pass from Chris Chandler that gave the Rams a 27-21 victory. His nine rushes for 30 yards were the first of his career. 1993: Griffith signed as a free agent with the Rams, for whom he contributed on special teams, returning eight kickoffs for 169 yards (21.1), second-best on the squad. 1992: Griffith signed on the Chargers practice squad October 23 where he remained for the rest of the season. 1991: Drafted by the Indianapolis Colts in the ninth round (237th overall), Griffith was waived in training camp and was signed to the Bills practice squad where he was a part of Buffalo's 1991 AFC Championship.

COLLEGE: Griffith finished his career at Illinois with school records for career touchdowns (33), touchdowns in a season (15) and single-game rushing yards (263), among others. During his senior season (1990) Howard set an NCAA record with eight touchdowns vs. Southern Illinois. As a junior (1989) he ranked second on the team with 39 catches for 287 yards and earned honorable mention All-America acclaim from The Sporting News.

PERSONAL: An all-conference running back at Percy Julian High School in Chicago, Ill., Griffith also lettered three years in baseball. He is an avid Sony Playstation video game player, particularly in Madden Football. Howard Thomas Griffith was born Nov. 17, 1967 in Chicago. He and his wife, Kim, have two sons, Howard II (9/21/96) and Houston (12/7/99). The family makes its home in Lone Tree, Colo.

Harald Hasselbach continues to be one of the Broncos' most dependable and versatile defensive linemen, playing a number of positions along the line. He took over the starting left end position late in the 1998 season, and helped propel the Broncos to their second consecutive Super Bowl win. In his seven years with the club he has not missed a game, playing in all 112 contests played by the Broncos and making 29 starts. For his career he has recorded 202 tackles (144 solo), including 17.5 sacks (-117.5), with six passes defensed, four forced fumbles and four fumble recoveries. He has also played in nine postseason games (three starts) and made 17 tackles (10 solo). Hasselbach began his professional career in 1990 with the Calgary Stampeders of the Canadian Football League, for whom he played four seasons before signing with the Broncos as a free agent in 1994.

OFF THE FIELD

Harald and his wife, Aundrea, have been very active in the Denver community, hosting a Christmas party for disadvantaged youth each of the past three years. They also—along with former teammate Ray Crockett and his wife April—organized a charity auction in May 1999 that raised $50,000 for victims of the Columbine High School tragedy. Harald is also an aficionado of custom motorcycles. He and Aundrea produced and marketed for 1999 and 2002 wall calendars featuring Broncos players, Owner Pat Bowlen and Head Coach Mike Shanahan, with proceeds from sales going to a Denver-area charity called HEADstrong, which is dedicated to the prevention of traumatic head injury.

2000: Hasselbach played in all 16 games for the seventh straight season, including a start in the Week 2 contest vs. Atlanta (9/10) at right defensive end because of an injury to Kavika Pittman (neck). He posted 13 tackles (8 solo), including 2.5 sacks (-10.5) as he ran his consecutive games played streak to 112. In the Atlanta game he shared a 7-yd. sack of Chris Chandler with Trevor Pryce, and posted a 1-yd. solo sack of Doug Johnson, on which he forced a fumble that was recovered by Maa Tanuvasa. Hasselbach's second sack came on Jeff Garcia (-6) vs. S.F. (12/23). He played in a reserve role in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and made four solo tackles.

1999: Hasselbach played in all 16 games and started two (at K.C., 9/19 and at T.B., 9/26) at right defensive end in place of Alfred Williams (back spasms). He made 25 tackles (17 solo), including 2.5 sacks (-14.5). Hasselbach and Keith Traylor combined to bring down Oakland's Rich Gannon for a 9-yd. loss in Denver's 16-13 Week 5 win (10/10), and Hasselbach notched his first solo sack of the season on New England's Drew Bledsoe (10/24) for a 9-yd. loss. He was poked in the eye and suffered a fractured orbital bone at San Diego (11/7), missing about one quarter of playing time. Hasselbach continued to play through the injury, which required surgery Tues., Nov. 23, during the Broncos' bye week. He posted his last sack of the season in the finale vs. S.D. (1/2), dropping Jim Harbaugh for a 1-yd. loss. 1998: Hasselbach saw action along the defensive line in all 16 games and started three (at Seattle, 10/11; at Miami, 12/21 and vs. Seattle, 12/27) at left defensive end, recording 27 tackles (24 solo), including three sacks (-26). His first came vs. Philadelphia (10/4) when he dropped Bobby Hoying on the Eagles' first series of the game, and his second came at Seattle (10/11) when he collared Warren Moon for a 9-yd. loss just before halftime. Hasselbach's third came in a crucial fourth-quarter situation against Jacksonville's Mark Brunell (10/25) for a 12-yd. loss. He suffered a sprained ankle in the 4th qtr. vs. Oakland (11/22), and did not return to the game, but was well enough the following week at San Diego (11/29) to play in his usual position. Hasselbach's starts in the final two games of the season came in place of Neil Smith (strained abdominal) at left defensive end. In the postseason Hasselbach started at left defensive end in all three games and posted five tackles (1 solo). He made his first start in six career postseason appearances in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) and made one assisted tackle, and added two more in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17). Hasselbach tallied two stops (1 solo) in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31). 1997: Hasselbach played in all 16 games and made strong contributions on the defensive line in a reserve role, recording 23 tackles (19 solo), including a 1.5 sacks (-14.5), and one pass breakup. He made three starts at left defensive end, replacing an injured Neil Smith (triceps) vs. Seattle (11/2), Carolina (11/9) and Oakland (11/24). In his first start, Hasselbach responded with his first solo sack of the season for a 10-yard loss, and then posted a season-high five solo tackles vs. Oakland. He also had three stops against Carolina (11/9) and two each against St. Louis (also half a sack, 9/14) and at Buffalo (10/26). In the postseason Hasselbach played in all four games as a reserve on the defensive line and recorded seven tackles (4 solo), including an assist in the Wild Card Game (12/27), two solos in the Divisional Playoff Game (1/4/98), three tackles (two solo) in the Championship Game, and one solo in Super Bowl XXXII. 1996: Hasselbach played in all 16 regular season games and started one at left defensive end (at Green Bay, 12/8). For the season he recorded 17 tackles (14 solo) — including two sacks (-20) — as well as two passes defensed and two forced fumbles as a key contributor on Denver's defensive line rotation. On opening day vs. the Jets (9/1) Hasselbach had two solo tackles and one sack in Denver's 31-6 victory. He added another sack the following week in Denver's 30-20 win at Seattle (9/8). He had a season-high four tackles (two solo) in Denver's 34-7 victory vs. Kansas City (10/27), and added two tackles (one solo) at Green Bay (12/8) in his only start of the season. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff vs. Jacksonville (1/4/97) Hasselbach saw action on the defensive line and made one solo tackle. 1995: Hasselbach saw action in all 16 games and made 10 starts in place of the injured Dan Williams (knee), finishing the season with 31 tackles (22 solo), four sacks, two passes defensed and four fumble recoveries. He took over the starting left defensive end position at Seattle (10/1), and continued to start at New England (10/8), vs. Oakland (10/16) and vs. Kansas City (10/22). After returning to his backup role for two games, Hasselbach returned to the starting lineup against San Diego (11/19) when Williams suffered another knee injury. His four sacks on the season came at Seattle (10/1), vs. Kansas City (10/22), vs. San Diego (11/19) and at Oakland (12/24), a game in which he posted his highest tackle total of the year (6; 4 solo). 1994: Hasselbach turned some heads after spending the previous four seasons with the Calgary Stampeders of the Canadian Football League. He played in all 16 games for the Broncos, including the final nine in a starting role at defensive right tackle. For the season Hasselbach accounted for 66 total tackles (40 solo) — including two sacks (-13) — one pass defensed and one forced fumble. He was given his first start against Cleveland (10/30) and responded with five total tackles (2 solo), then posted his best numbers of the season the following week with 10 tackles (3 solo) against the Rams (11/6). Hasselbach went on to start the final nine games of the season and recorded his first NFL sack against Cincinnati (11/27). His impressive play allowed the team to rest previous starter Dan Williams who was slowed by injury. Hasselbach was an instant hit in training camp, then progressed slowly during the regular season before jumping into the starting lineup. 1990-93: Hasselbach spent four seasons with the Calgary Stampeders of the CFL, emerging as one of the league's top defensive stars. He posted four-year career totals of 72 tackles and 14 sacks, seven of which came in his final season, 1993.

COLLEGE: Hasselbach lettered one season (1989) at the University of Washington as a reserve defensive lineman for a Husky team that defeated Florida 34-7 in the 1989 Freedom Bowl. He made four solo tackles during his senior season (1989), his second consecutive as a backup to All-American and former San Francisco 49ers defensive end Dennis Brown. Hasselbach redshirted in 1985 and spent the next three seasons as a non-letterman squad member with great physical attributes and potential.

PERSONAL: A native of Amsterdam, Holland, Hasselbach has also lived in Suriname, Indonesia, Kenya and Canada. He is fluent in Dutch, French and German. His father is a retired agronomist whose job took the family all around the world before settling in British Columbia. Hasselbach grew up playing soccer, cricket, rugby and field hockey as well swimming, and did not begin to play football until his final two years at South Delta High School in Tsawassen, B.C., where he was a two-year letterman offensive and defensive tackle. He was named to the Fraser Valley All-Star team and was an All-British Columbia choice. Harald, his wife Aundrea, their daughter Ashlee (8) and son Terran (5), make their home in Aurora, Colo. Jarious Jackson returns for his second NFL season fresh off a four-month stint during the spring as the starting quarterback for the Barcelona Dragons of the NFL Europe League. He hopes to use his experience and seasoning in Europe—as other Broncos teammates have done—as a springboard to lay the foundation for a long career in the NFL. After playing in just two games but showing promise as a rookie, Jackson was a natural for allocation to the NFL's developmental league, and looks to display his growth in the Broncos' 2001 training camp. He threw just one pass in 2000 and had one rushing attempt in his two regular season games, but also played in Denver's AFC Wild Card Game at Baltimore and completed 5 of 10 for 54 yds. with a long of 15. Jackson was selected by the club in the seventh round of the NFL Draft, 214th overall) out of Notre Dame.

2000: Jackson played in two games (at K.C., 12/17 and vs. S.F., 12/23) and attempted one pass, which fell incomplete. He also had one rushing attempt for -1 yd. on a kneel down to end the S.F. game. Jackson was designated the third quarterback for nine games and was the backup, but did not play, in the other five. (vs. K.C., 9/24; vs. S.D., 11/19; at Sea., 11/26; at N.O., 12/3 and vs. Sea., 12/10). He was elevated to the backup position because of an injury to starter Brian Griese, who was designated the third quarterback for the first game he missed, and was inactive for the other five. Jackson played in a reserve role in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and completed 5 of 10 passes (50%) for 54 yds. with a long of 19. He was also sacked once (-9). He replaced starter Gus Frerotte in the 4th qtr. and directed the Broncos' final two drives in his first postseason game.

COLLEGE: Jackson was a two-year starter at Notre Dame where he set school single-season records for passing yards (2,753), completions (184) and attempts (316) while throwing 17 touchdown passes as a senior in 1999. The marks for completions and attempts were held by Ron Powlus (1997) while the yardage mark was held by Joe Theismann (1970). For his career (37 games, 22 starts) Jackson completed 306 of 536 passes (57.1%) for 4,820 yards and 34 touchdowns with 21 interceptions, and rushed for 877 yards and 13 touchdowns on 251 carries (3.5). As a junior he guided the team to a 9-2 record by completing 104 of 188 passes (55.3%) for 1,740 yards and 13 touchdowns. Jackson played in nine games as a sophomore and six as a freshman. He was a marketing major, enrolled in the College of Business Administration.

PERSONAL: Jackson was an All-America pick by SuperPrep, Prep Football Report and Bluechip Illustrated and ranked sixth nationally among quarterbacks by Bluechip Illustrated and 10th by SuperPrep at Tupelo (Miss.) High School. He also was a USA Today honorable mention pick, one of five quarterbacks named to the Super Southern 100 by the Atlanta Journal-Constitution and rated one of top 100 players nationally by the Chicago Sun-Times after earning three letters in football as a quarterback, defensive back and outside linebacker. He was a first-team all-state quarterback as a senior in 1994 and played in the Mississippi-Alabama postseason all-star game. Jackson played defensive end as a sophomore and started seven games at safety as a senior. He earned two letters in track as a sprinter and one as a forward in basketball. Jarious K. Jackson was born May 3, 1977 in Tupelo, Miss., and makes his home in Littleton, Colo. His father, Jarious, played football at Alcorn State.

Billy Jenkins enters his second season in Denver after coming to the club via trade from St. Louis during the the 2000 offseason. He teams with Eric Brown to give Denver a young, talented and hard-hitting pair of safeties who should solidify the position for years to come. After one year playing together the two look to take their performance to new heights in 2001. Jenkins played three NFL seasons with the Rams, and was a full-time starter for the last two, winning a Super Bowl ring in 1999. For his career, the 5-10, 205-lb. safety has started 47 of the 64 games in which he has played, compiling 370 tackles (274 solo), including four sacks (-31), as well as eight interceptions—including a career-high four last year—25 passes defensed, three forced fumbles and 39 special teams tackles. He was signed as an undrafted free agent by St. Louis in 1997, out of Howard University.

His four interceptions tied for second on the team, and included a career high two picks vs. Cleve. (10/15), one of which he returned 32 yds. for his first NFL touchdown. Jenkins posted his first interception as a Bronco a week earlier at S.D. (10/8) with a theft of a Jim Harbaugh pass (17-yd. return). His fourth came vs. Sea. (12/10) with an end zone grab of a Jon Kitna pass that bounced off the helmet of Broncos linebacker Al Wilson. Jenkins recorded 10 or more tackles in three games this season, led by a season-best 15-tackle effort at K.C. (12/17), the second highest total of his career. He made 17 tackles in a game vs. Carolina, Nov. 22, 1998, while with the Rams. Jenkins recorded 11 tackles (10 solo) vs. N.E. (10/7), a week after posting his previous high of nine (7 solo), vs. K.C. (9/24). His third forced fumble of the season came vs. Sea. (12/10), preceded by one vs. Atl. (9/10) and one vs. K.C. (9/24). Jenkins posted seven tackles (6 solo) in the Atl. game (9/10), and matched that total with seven more (6 solo) at Oak. (9/17). Jenkins started at strong safety in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and led the team with 12 tackles (10 solo), including a sack of Trent Dilfer (-10) on which he forced a fumble.

1999: Jenkins started all 16 games for the Super Bowl champion Rams and posted 116 tackles (84 solo), including one sack, as well as two interceptions and 12 passes defensed. K.C. Jones has gained considerable knowledge and experience in his four years with the Broncos, and played in all 16 games last season as a reserve center and special teams performer. He spent his first season on injured reserve in 1997 (torn pectoral muscle) and then spent the next two seasons on the active roster as a valuable backup at the center position, though he did not see any game action. Jones entered the NFL as a rookie free agent with the Broncos out of Miami (Fla.) in '97.

OFF THE FIELD

K.C. and teammate Matt Lepsis have a friendship that dates back to their teen years, though they attended different high schools and colleges.

2000: Jones played on special teams in all 16 games, and saw his first offensive action of the season vs. Cleve. (10/15), replacing center Tom Nalen late in the contest. He also saw action on special teams in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31). In the preseason Jones played in the final three games after missing the opener (at Ariz., 8/5) because of a low back strain.

1999: Jones was declared inactive for the first 15 games, and was active but did not play in the season-finale vs. San Diego (1/2). He underwent knee surgery to repair cartilage damage Tues., Sept. 28, and missed two weeks of practice, returning the week of the Green Bay game (10/17). Miami won or shared the Big East title four of the five years Jones was there, only missing out in 1993. Jones was named an Associated Press first-team All-American in 1996 as well as a freshman All-America choice by the Poor Man's Guide to the NFL Draft. He was a physical therapy major at Miami.

After a rookie season in which he played in 13 games and made a number of big plays, Kenoy Kennedy enters his second NFL season with great potential to make an impact in new defensive coordinator Ray Rhodes' scheme. He joins 2000 starters Eric Brown and Billy Jenkins to give Denver one of the most athletic, young, hard-hitting groups of safeties in the NFL. Kennedy posted six solo tackles and an interception as a rookie, and added four tackles on special teams. He was the second of Denver's two second round draft choices in 2000 (45th overall) out of Arkansas, where he followed in the footsteps of former Broncos great Steve Atwater and broke several of Atwater's statistical records.

He played on defense in Gms. 9-14, before playing on special teams only at K.C. (12/17). Kennedy's first three career tackles came on Monday Night Football vs. Oak. He played on special teams in the first three games, but suffered an injury to his posterior cruciate ligament at Oak. (9/17) and was declared inactive for the next three (vs. K.C., 9/24; vs. N.E., 10/1 and at S.D., 10/8). Kennedy returned to practice the week of the S.D. game, and returned to game action vs. Cleve. COLLEGE: Kennedy is the only defensive back in Arkansas Razorback history to lead his team in tackles, doing so in both his junior and senior seasons, and broke the school's career tackle record for a defensive back, previously held by former Broncos great Steve Atwater (1985-88). A two-time All-Southeastern Conference choice and a third-team All-American as a senior, Kennedy moved into the starting lineup in the seventh game of his freshman season and did not miss a game, starting all 38 remaining contests. He finished his career with 287 tackles (182 solo), including two sacks (-13), as well as five interceptions (190 return yards), 20 passes defensed, four forced fumbles and seven fumble recoveries. Leeuwenburg is in his 10th NFL season, having played in 137 games (108 starts) with Chicago (1992-95), Indianapolis (1996-98), Cincinnati (1999) and Washington (2000). He has also played in and started three postseason contests.

2000: Leeuwenburg played in all 16 games with Washington and started 12. He signed with the club June 12.

1999: Leeuwenburg stared nine of the 14 games in which he played with Cincinnati. He signed with the Bengals at the end of the preseason (Sept. 3) and did not play in Weeks 1 and 3. He had gone through training camp with Indianapolis but was released by the Colts Aug. 31. 1998: Leeuwenburg started all 16 games at center for Indianapolis and played every snap for a line that allowed only 22 sacks all season, second fewest in the NFL. The Colts also posted seven individual rushing performances of 100 or more yards on the year. 1997: Leeuwenburg started all 16 games for Indianapolis, his first as a center in the NFL. He teamed with LT Adam Meadows, LG Doug Widell, RG Tarik Glenn and RT Tony Mandarich to start every game of the season, the fourth time the Colts had featured all five linemen starting every game in a season since 1963. He was inactive at Dallas (9/15) due to a left ankle injury, ending a 50-game streak of starts, the last 34 at right guard. Leeuwenburg started in the Colts' playoff loss at Pittsburgh (12/29). He had signed with Indianpolis as an unrestricted free agent Feb. 21. 1995: Leeuwenburg started all 16 games at right for the Bears, who surrendered an NFL-low 15 sacks for the season. 1994: Leeuwenburg started all 16 games for the Bears at right. He also handled kick and punt snapping duties and started both of Chicago's postseason contests. 1993: Leeuwenburg started all 16 games (six at LT, 10 at RT) for the Bears. He was projected to play center, but injuries pressed him into duty at tackle. 1992: Leeuwenburg saw reserve action in 12 games as a rookie with the Bears. He was inactive for the first game and active but did not play in games 2-4. Leeuwenburg was drafted by Kansas City in the ninth round (244th overall) but was waived by the Chiefs and claimed off waivers by Chicago Sept. 2.

What is the Origin of the Name Denver Broncos?

The name "Denver Broncos" was chosen from 500 entries in a name-the-team contest in January, 1960. The name was suggested by Ward M. Vining of Lakewood. But the football team isn't the first Denver Broncos. Denver's 1921 entry in the Midwest Baseball League was also called the Broncos.

HIGH SCHOOL: Frisco High School, Frisco, Texas
RESIDES: Parker, Colo.

OFF THE FIELD

Matt and teammate K.C. Jones have a friendship that dates back to their teen years, though they attended different high schools and colleges.

Matt Lepsis has elevated his game in the past two seasons, starting every contest for the Broncos at right tackle and developing into one of the better young tackles in the NFL. He is one of four returning linemen on what has been the premier unit in football over the past six years, joining center Tom Nalen and guards Dan Neil and Lennie Friedman. After spending his initial season on the reserve/non-football injury list and one season as a backup, Lepsis made a smooth transition to the starting lineup in 1999 and showed considerable improvement over the course of the season. He played for the Barcelona Dragons of the NFL Europe League during the spring of 1998. Lepsis has played in 48 career games and made 32 starts. He signed with the Broncos as a rookie free agent, April 29, 1997, from Colorado.

2000: Lepsis started at right tackle in all 16 regular season games, as well as Denver's AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31).

1999: Lepsis started all 16 games at right tackle. He made his first NFL start in the opener vs. Miami (9/13). In the preseason Lepsis played in all five games and started four at right tackle, winning a battle with Trey Teague for the starting position entering the regular season. 1998: Lepsis saw action in all 16 games on special teams, and limited duty as a reserve tackle. He played in his first professional regular season game in the season-opener vs. New England (9/7), replacing Harry Swayne at right tackle early in the fourth quarter and playing the remainder of the game. At Washington (9/27) Lepsis lined up as an eligible receiver on the line in a goal-line situation. He also played the fourth quarter at right tackle vs. Philadelphia (10/4) and the third quarter at right tackle at Seattle (10/11). In the postseason Lepsis played in all three games, both on the offensive line and on special teams. He played the final 2-1/2 quarters at right tackle in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) after Tony Jones left the game with a knee injury. Regular right tackle Harry Swayne moved to Jones' left tackle position, while Lepsis — playing in his first-ever postseason game — filled in admirably for Swayne on the right side, as the offensive line gave up just one sack for the day and cleared the way for 250 rushing yards. Earlier in the game, Lepsis was in on several offensive snaps as an eligible receiver, while also seeing action on special teams throughout the contest. He played on offense and special teams again in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17), seeing several offensive plays as an eligible receiver on the line. Lepsis also saw action in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31). 1997: Lepsis spent the season on the reserve/non-football injury list due to a college knee injury.

COLLEGE: Lepsis played in 36 games as a tight end for Colorado (including bowl games), with 16 starts. He caught 45 passes for 519 yards and 3 touchdowns, including a two-yard reception for a score in the 1996 Cotton Bowl win over Oregon, capping a junior season in which he earned second-team All-Big Eight honors. Lepsis graded out as a 90% blocker during his career at CU and added seven special teams tackles to his credit. He also lettered three times in track at CU and was a two-time All-American in the discus with a collegiate best of 196 feet. Lepsis was a history major.

PERSONAL: Lepsis was an All-Southwest selection at Frisco (Texas) High School, where he was the Class 3A Defensive Player of the Year and a two-time state discus champion. He had the second-best discus throw in the country in 1992 (204'-8"), and was also a member of the National Honor Society. Lepsis also bench presses more than 400 pounds and squats more than 600 pounds. He and teammate K.C. Jones have a friendship that dates back to their high school years, though the two attended different colleges. Lepsis was born January 13, 1974 in Conroe, Texas. He and his wife, Shana, reside in Parker, Colo.

LEON LETT — DEFENSIVE END

BORN: October 12, 1968 in Mobile, Ala.
HIGH SCHOOL: Fairhope High School, Fairhope, Ala.
RESIDES: Dallas, Texas
ACQUIRED: Unrestricted Free Agent (Dallas), 2001
PRO YEAR: 11th • YEAR WITH BRONCOS: 1st
NFL GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 109/73 • POSTSEASON: 14/9

Leon Lett ascended from a rookie struggling to get playing time to being a two-time Pro Bowl defensive tackle during his days with the Cowboys and now looks to resurrect his career with the Broncos. He earned a spot in Dallas' starting lineup in 1994 and continued to show the ability to completely take over games from his right tackle position or while filling in at end. Nicknamed "Big Cat" by teammates for his agility, Lett has evolved into a player who not only creates havoc along the line of scrimmage but has a tendency to disrupt plays in the offensive backfield. He has played in 109 games (73 starts) and recorded 361 tackles (201 solo), including 22.5 sacks (-133) and 37 tackles for losses (-83), as well as 128 QB pressures, 26 pass breakups, eight forced fumbles, seven recovered fumbles and four blocked kicks. He has also played in 14 postseason contests (nine starts), including three Super Bowl victories. Lett entered the NFL in 1991 as the Cowboys' seventh round draft choice (173rd overall).

2000: Lett played in nine games (seven starts) and recorded 35 tackles (14 solo), 2.5 sacks (-17), one tackle for loss (-1), four pass breakups and one forced fumble in his last season in Dallas. His season high of six tackles came at Washington (9/18) and at Carolina (10/1). He also had three tackles and a pass breakup against Arizona (10/22) and four stops at Philadelphia (11/5). Lett sprained his left medial collateral ligament during practice Nov. 8 and was inactive for five games before being placed on injured reserve Dec. 14.

1999: After missing the first eight games of the season due to a league-imposed suspension, Lett totaled 25 tackles, 10 quarterback pressures, three tackles for losses, two fumble recoveries, 1.5 sacks and a forced fumble over the second half of the season. Against Green Bay (11/14) in his first game back, he registered two quarterback pressures and a pass defensed in limited playing time. The next week at Arizona (11/21) he totaled two tackles, two passes defensed and a tackle for a loss while helping limit the Cardinals to 207 yards of offense. He recorded two tackles and two pressures while helping shutout Miami (11/25), limiting the Dolphins to 69 yards rushing on 20 carries on Thanksgiving Day. Lett led the team with three quarterback pressures at New England (12/5) before tying his career-high with nine tackles against Philadelphia (12/12). He also added a tackle behind the line of scrimmage, a forced fumble, which he recovered, and half a sack against the Eagles. Against the N.Y. Jets (12/19), he earned his first start at defensive end since December 1995 for the injured Greg Ellis and posted three tackles and a tackle for a loss. Lett moved back into the tackle rotation at New Orleans (12/24) and recorded four tackles and recovered a fumble. He registered four tackles and a sack in the season finale against the N.Y. Giants (1/2/00), and then logged three tackles, three pressures and two tackles behind the line of scrimmage in the Cowboys NFC Wild Card Playoff Game at Minnesota (1/9/00). Lett underwent arthroscopic surgery Feb. 4 to repair meniscus damage in his right knee. 1998: In the Cowboys new shifted defensive front, Lett played defensive tackle on either side of nose tackle Chad Hennings. This new defensive look helped Lett earn his second Pro Bowl selection after leading the team with seven tackles for losses, finishing second with 20 quarterback pressures and third with four sacks. Lett missed the final three preseason games after spraining his left knee in a scrimmage against New Orleans (8/11), but returned to the starting lineup for the season opener against Arizona (9/6). He was used primarily on third downs the next week at Denver (9/13) due to the knee injury. Back in the starting line-up at the N.Y. Giants (9/21), he recorded his first sack, two pressures and two tackles. He logged four tackles against Oakland (9/27) before leading all defensive linemen with five tackles at Washington (10/4). Against Carolina (10/11), Lett helped limit the Panthers to 37 rushing yards on 21 carries while posting two tackles and 1.5 sacks. He had three tackles and two tackles behind the line of scrimmage while helping limit the Bears to 2.5 yards-per-rushing attempt at Chicago (10/18). At Philadelphia (11/2), he registered a season-high five pressures while totaling four tackles in helping limit the Eagles to 200 yards of offense. He tallied four tackles and half a sack against the Giants (11/8) before helping limit Arizona (11/15) to 32 rushing yards on 21 attempts with five tackles. After posting four tackles and a tackle for a loss at New Orleans (12/6), he led the team with a season-high tying five quarterback pressures at Kansas City (12/13) while adding five stops. He recorded four tackles against Washington (12/27), and he tallied three tackles in the NFC Wild Card Playoff Game vs. Arizona (1/2/99). Following the season, Lett underwent surgery March 18 to remove loose bodies from his right elbow. 1997: After missing the first 13 games due to a league suspension, Lett was reinstated by the NFL and returned to practice on Dec. 1. In his first game back following a one-year layoff, Lett had seven tackles, two quarterback pressures, a pass defensed and a tackle for a loss against Carolina (12/8). He recorded a tackle on his very first snap of the season and a quarterback pressure on his third. He followed that with a three-tackle performance at Cincinnati (12/14), and then recorded five tackles, half a sack and a tackle for a loss against the N.Y. Giants (12/21). 1996: A key part of a Dallas defense that finished the season ranked third in the NFL, Lett emerged as one of the league's most dominant defensive players. In six consecutive games (Wks. 4-9) he recorded a tackle behind the line of scrimmage, and for three straight weeks he forced a fumble. Despite missing the final three games of the regular season following a Dec. 3 NFL suspension, Lett led the team with seven tackles for loss. He also tied for the team lead with a career-high three forced fumbles and was third on the club with 20 quarterback pressures. In the home opener Lett had two tackles and a tackle for a loss against the N.Y. Giants (9/8) while helping limit them to 105 total yards. He tied his career high with two sacks against Indianapolis (9/15), the second multiple sack game of his career, while adding six tackles and a forced fumble. He established a career-high with nine tackles at Buffalo (9/22). In that game, he had a key tackle that forced a fumble at the Dallas one-yard line that went out of the end zone for a touchback. The following week at Philadelphia (9/30), Lett earned his first career NFC Defensive Player of the Week honor when he logged six tackles, a sack, a tackle for a loss, two quarterback pressures, a pass defensed, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery. He also blocked a 29-yard field goal in the fourth quarter to preserve a 23-17 lead. When the Dallas defense limited Arizona (10/13) to 58 yards rushing on 22 carries, Lett provided six tackles and a tackle for a loss. At Miami (10/27), he helped limit the Dolphins to 48 yards rushing with three tackles and a tackle for a loss. His second quarter fumble recovery at San Francisco (11/10) helped turn the momentum as the Dallas defense held the 49ers to 128 total yards after the first quarter. Lett logged two pressures, a tackle and half a sack in a Monday night showdown with Green Bay (11/18). He posted four tackles against Washington (11/28), while also breaking up a pass and registering three quarterback pressures as Dallas limited the Redskins to 209 total yards. 1995: The 1995 season was full of ups and downs for Lett. He started the season slowly but came on strong during the Cowboys drive to Super Bowl XXX, finishing the season tied for the team lead with six tackles for a loss and third on the team with 19 quarterback pressures. In the season opening win at the N.Y. Giants (9/4) Lett recorded his third blocked field goal in the last two seasons to help preserve Dallas' first shutout since Oct. 11, 1992. Two weeks later at Minnesota (9/17), he recorded five tackles, two tackles for a loss, a sack and a fumble recovery. In late October, Lett posted five tackles, a tackle for a loss and a quarterback pressure at San Diego (10/15) and then came back in the next game at Atlanta (10/29) to post seven tackles. Following the Atlanta game, the NFL suspended Lett for four games, but he returned against Washington (12/3) to record four tackles. Lett was a key part of the Cowboys' December run to the playoffs, recording 22 tackles, two sacks, 12 quarterback pressures, a forced fumble and a recovered fumble over the final four regular season games. With injuries keeping Charles Haley out of the lineup at Philadelphia (12/10), Lett recorded his first start at defensive end since the end of the 1993 season. He went on to post five tackles, bat down a pass, recover a fumble and tie his career-high with six quarterback pressures. While still at end the next week against the N.Y. Giants (12/17) he tied his season high with seven tackles, a sack, a tackle for a loss and three quarterback pressures. Late in the game he moved back inside to tackle, and the next week at Arizona (12/25) he returned to his right tackle spot, recording six tackles and three quarterback pressures. He also logged a sack and forced a fourth quarter fumble at the Cowboys 17-yard line to stop a scoring drive. In the postseason opener against Philadelphia (1/7/96), Lett recorded three tackles, a sack and a quarterback pressure. He received a game ball for his play against Green Bay (1/14/96) in the NFC Championship Game, totaling three tackles, a sack, a quarterback pressure and his first career interception, setting up a Dallas touchdown. 1994: Lett entered the 1994 season with 60 career tackles and six career starts, but he went on to start all 16 games and collect 68 tackles. In addition, his 26 quarterback pressures were good for second on the team, helping him earn a spot in the starting lineup for the NFC at the Pro Bowl. Lett started the season by recording a career-high six quarterback pressures at Pittsburgh (9/4) while helping the Dallas defense log nine sacks and limit the Steelers to 126 yards of total offense. In the Cowboys home opener against Houston (9/11) Lett had five tackles and five quarterback pressures. In an overtime loss to Detroit (9/19) on Monday night, Lett established a club record when he blocked two field goals in the same game—the first at the end of regulation and the second in overtime—despite being limited defensively because of a groin injury suffered during practice. In the club's next Monday night game against the N.Y. Giants (11/7) Lett received a game ball for recording four tackles and his first sack of the season. The following week at San Francisco (11/13) Lett logged the first multiple sack game of his career with two takedowns of Steve Young. In back-to-back games against Washington (11/20) and Green Bay (11/24) Lett accounted for 12 tackles, including a career-high six solo stops against the Redskins. His play helped limit Green Bay to 29 yards rushing on 18 attempts. In December, Lett posted seven tackles against Cleveland (12/10) and came back in the season finale at the N.Y. Giants (12/24) to log six tackles and a sack. 1993: Although he saw action in only 11 games, Lett led all defensive linemen in passes deflected (4) for the second straight season. Despite being hobbled during the season by a broken ankle, Lett displayed his versatility in moving along the defensive line to replace fallen teammates. For the season, Lett saw playing time all along the defensive line, including starts at both right tackle and right end. Lett nabbed his first NFL start in the season opener at Washington (9/6) in place of an injured Tony Casillas and recorded three tackles. He returned to back-up duty at Phoenix (9/19) but fractured his right ankle in the second quarter. It was a re-injury of a fracture Lett first suffered during summer workouts, and it kept him out of the next five games. Lett returned to the line-up in time to again face Phoenix (11/14) recording two tackles and batting two passes down at the line of scrimmage. Bouncing between right tackle and right end, Lett recorded five tackles at Atlanta (11/21) and batted down two passes against Miami (11/25). He earned starts at right tackle against Philadelphia (12/6) and at Minnesota (12/12) in place of an injured Russell Maryland, and tied for the lead among all defensive linemen with four tackles against the Vikings. Lett started at defensive end against Washington (12/26) when Haley's back kept him out of the line-up. The following week at right end at the N.Y. Giants (1/2/94), he logged five tackles and added three quarterback pressures. When Maryland was injured in the second quarter, Lett moved back inside to fill the void at tackle, and he went on to start all three postseason games at right tackle, finishing third on the team with 17 postseason tackles. In the Divisional Playoff Game against Green Bay (1/16/94), Lett recorded a season-high six tackles, a tackle for a loss, two passes defensed, recovered a fumble and had three quarterback pressures. One of his deflected passes was intercepted by Haley early in the fourth quarter and led to a Dallas field goal. For the second year in a row, Lett was responsible for one of the most memorable plays of the Super Bowl when he forced Thurman Thomas to fumble early in the third quarter. James Washington picked up the loose ball and returned it 46 yards for a touchdown, tying the game at 13-13 and swinging the momentum back in Dallas' favor. Lett also added six tackles on the day. 1992: After starting the season slowly, Lett picked up the pace when Dallas faced a string of AFC West teams. Against Seattle (10/11) he had two tackles, two quarterback pressures and a pass defensed. The next week he recorded his first career sack along with two tackles against Kansas City (10/18), and in Los Angeles (10/25) he recovered a fumble at the Raiders' 32-yard line in the fourth quarter. Primarily used at right tackle in passing situations, he finished the season tied for second on the team with 19 quarterback pressures, including at least one pressure in each of the final seven regular season games. In the postseason, Lett was at his best, tying for the team lead with two tackles for losses and leading the team with three forced fumbles. He also established a record for the longest fumble return in Super Bowl history when he rambled 64 yards in the fourth quarter with a Buffalo miscue. Lett put the finishing touches on the Cowboys' Super Bowl XXVII victory when he sacked Frank Reich on the game's final play. 1991: After making the 47-man roster, Lett was placed on injured reserve with a back problem Aug. 27 and spent the next 11 weeks working to improve his strength and weight. He was re-activated Nov. 21 and against undefeated Washington (11/24) at RFK on his first regular-season play in the NFL, Lett stuffed Redskins' running back Earnest Byner after a one-yard gain. He played some at defensive tackle the final five games of the season and in the playoffs. The first person from Emporia State to make a Cowboys' roster, Lett was the first player to be drafted from the school since Steve Henry in the fifth round in 1979 and the first defensive lineman selected from Emporia State since John Lohmeyer in the fourth round in 1973.

COLLEGE: A big part of a defense that held opponents to 4.1 yards-per-play and 3.1 yards-per-carry during his two years at Emporia State, Lett finished second on the team in sacks and earned All-NAIA District 10 honors despite missing three games due to a leg injury as a senior. He had a monster effort with six tackles, two tackles for a loss, a sack, an interception and a blocked kick against Northeastern Oklahoma State in 1990. Lett transferred to Emporia State after two seasons at Hinds Community College in Raymond, Miss.

PERSONAL: Lett starred in football and basketball at Fairhope (Ala.) High School. A sociology major at Emporia State, Lett participated in the Shriner's Christmas Gift Drive in 1991. He has a daughter, Shanavia (7/3/87). Leon Lett, Jr., was born Oct. 12, 1968 in Mobile, Ala. He makes his home in Dallas.

Steve Lindsey joined the Broncos as a kickoff specialist midway through last season and performed well in his six games with the club. He enters his first training camp with the club in 2001 after spending all of 1999 and half of 2000 with Jacksonville. Lindsey signed with San Francisco as an undrafted free agent in 1998.

2000: Lindsey was acquired by the Broncos Nov. 16 to be the team's kickoff specialist and played in his first game with the club vs. S.D. (11/19). He performed those duties for each of the Broncos' final six regular season games and the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31). Lindsey played the first 10 games of the season with Jacksonville before being waived Nov. 14. He handled all kickoffs for the Jaguars, and also performed place-kicking duties for four games (vs. Cin., 9/17; at Ind., 9/25; vs. Pit., 10/1 and vs. Balt., 10/8) while Mike Hollis was injured, scoring 20 points on 5 of 7 field-goal accuracy and 5 of 5 on PATs. He also punted in the season opener at Cleve. (9/3) due to an injury to Bryan Barker, and averaged 39 yds. on three punts (117 yds.) with a long of 46 and one touchback. Lindsey was 2/2 on field goal attempts inside 20 yds., 1/3 from 30-39 and 2/2 from 40-49, including a career-best 49-yarder vs. Balt., 10/8).

1999: Lindsey was a kickoff specialist for Jacksonville who played in all 16 games and led the NFL in touchbacks with 22. He also played in both playoff contests. The starting position of Jaguars' opponents after kickoffs improved from 29.2-yard line in 1998 (13th in the AFC) to 26.4-yard line in '99 (second in the AFC). Lindsey had three touchbacks in Week 2 at Carolina and received a special teams game ball for the first time. He registered his first special teams tackle at Pit. (10/3). Ed McCaffrey — Wide Receiver

Born: August 17, 1968 in Waynesboro, Pa.
High School: Central Catholic High School, Allentown, Pa.
Resides: Parker, Colo.
Acquired: Unrestricted Free Agent (San Francisco), 1995
Pro Year: 11th • Year with Broncos: 7th
NFL Games Played/Started: 156/84 • Postseason: 14/9

Ed McCaffrey's 2000 season was not only one for the record books, but served notice that his name belongs among those of the NFL's top wide receivers, and among the best to wear a Denver Broncos uniform. His 101 catches broke Lionel Taylor's 39-year-old franchise record, and put McCaffrey—along with teammate Rod Smith—among an elite group in NFL history to reach triple figures in receptions for a season. The consummate professional, McCaffrey earned his first Pro Bowl berth in 1998 and has since posted progressively better numbers in each of the past two seasons. The 11th-year pro, who signed with Denver as an unrestricted free agent in 1995, continues to be one of the most stable performers in the league at his position, showing an unerring ability to make the tough catch in clutch situations. McCaffrey, one of the best route-runners in the league, has played in 156 games (84 starts) over his 10-year career, catching 471 passes for 6,230 yards (13.2) and 52 touchdowns, while posting 15 100-yard games. In Broncos annals he ranks fifth in career receptions (368), eighth in receiving yards (5,008) and fourth in receiving touchdowns (43). He has also played in 14 postseason games (nine starts) and caught 42 passes for 554 yards (13.2) with a long of 47 and two touchdowns, winning three World Championships with the Broncos (1997 and 1998) and 49ers (1994). His postseason numbers as a Bronco rank third in receptions (36) and fifth in receiving yards (490). McCaffrey is one of just 35 players in NFL history to win a Super Bowl with two different teams, and one of only 15 to win one in each conference. He entered the NFL in 1991 as a fourth-round draft choice of the New York Giants (No. 83 overall) out of Stanford.

Off the Field

Ed has been one of the Broncos' most community-minded players in his six years with the club. The McCaffrey Family Foundation strives to improve the lives of children, assisting those whose medical situations have created financial or academic hardship and those who show great promise and work ethic who need additional resources. Ed has co-hosted the Watson-McCaffrey Golf Classic the past two summers at Breckenridge and Copper Mountain, with proceeds benefiting the Summit House and Ronald McDonald House Charities of Denver. He also hosted the third annual Celebrity Softball Classic in Denver in June. Ed has several food products bearing his name throughout the state of Colorado, including Ed's Rocky Mountain Mustard, Horseradish and a cereal named Ed's End Zone O's.

2000: McCaffrey—named All-Pro by Sports Illustrated—started all 16 games and posted the best numbers of his 10-year career with a franchise-record 101 receptions for 1,317 yds. (13.0), with a long of 61 and eight touchdowns. He ranked second in the AFC (3rd NFL) in receptions and fifth (10th NFL) in receiving yds. His 101 receptions topped the previous franchise record of 100 by Lionel Taylor in 1961, and his 1,317 yds. ranked second in team history behind the record-breaking total of 1,602 by teammate Rod Smith this season. McCaffrey became the 27th player in NFL history to log 100 receptions in a season, with his franchise record-breaking 101st fittingly coming on a 25-yd. touchdown pass in the third qtr. of the season finale vs. S.F. (12/23). With teammate Rod Smith also reaching 100 catches McCaffrey and Smith became the second tandem in NFL history each catch 100 passes in a season (Detroit's Herman Moore-123 and Brett Perriman-108 did so in 1995). McCaffrey also tied for third (T5th NFL) in third-down receptions (27-351-13.0-4); tied for fourth in the AFC (T6th NFL) in receiving touchdowns; ranked 13th in first downs earned (68) and third in receiving first downs (4th NFL). In Denver's 31-24 win over Sea. (12/10) McCaffrey logged his career-best fifth 100-yd. receiving game of the season—and his 14th as a Bronco, tied with Shannon Sharpe for fourth most in franchise history—with eight catches for 112 yds. (14.0). It was a big day for McCaffrey whose 5-yd. touchdown reception from Gus Frerotte was his 42nd as a Bronco, moving him into sole possession of fourth place on the club's all-time list, ahead of Riley Odoms. He also passed Steve Watson (353) for fifth place on the club's all-time receptions list (now 368) and Mark Jackson (4,746) for eighth place in receiving yds. (now 5,008). McCaffrey tied his career-high for the third time this season with 10 receptions for a career-high 148 yds. (14.8) vs. S.D. (11/19), and caught two touchdown passes—the latter the game-winner with 1:33 remaining. On the day McCaffrey eclipsed his previous single-season high of 71 receptions (1999), and with two TDs moved into a tie with Riley Odoms (41) for most scoring receptions in franchise history. McCaffrey capped a five-game hot streak at the Jets (11/5) with a game-high (tie) six receptions for 96 yds. (16.0) and two touchdowns, including a long of 47. His 47-yd. touchdown reception in the 4th qtr. proved to be the game-winner, as it gave Denver a 30-20 lead in an eventual 30-23 win. In the Jets game he passed Rick Upchurch (4,369 yds.) for ninth place on Denver's all-time receiving yards list. McCaffrey eclipsed the 100-yd. receiving mark for the second straight game at Cin. (10/22) with a then-career-high 136 yds. on 10 catches, tying his career high. It was his third 100-yd. game of the season and 13th of his career. He has 12 as a Bronco, fifth most in franchise history. It marked the second straight week both McCaffrey and Rod Smith and topped the 100-yard receiving mark, just the second time in franchise history that feat has occurred, and the first since 1962. The previous week vs. Cleve. (10/15) McCaffrey caught five passes for 129 yds. (25.8) with a long of 61 yds. In the contest he moved past Al Denson (4,150 yds.) for 10th place on Denver's all-time receiving yards list. In Denver's 21-7 Week 6 win at S.D. (10/8) McCaffrey posted a new career-high 10 receptions for 71 yds. (7.1) and two touchdowns, moving him ahead of teammate Rod Smith (now seventh with 349) and Haven Moses (302) for sixth place on the Broncos' all-time receptions list. A week earlier vs. N.E. (10/8) McCaffrey had tied his previous career high with nine receptions for 91 yds. (10.1). He had seven receptions at Oak. (9/17) for 92 yds. and his first touchdown, which came on a 10-yd. pass from Brian Griese. McCaffrey was slowed by a groin injury vs. Atlanta (9/10), but still managed one catch for 5 yds. In the opener at St. Louis he hauled in a game-high seven passes for a season-best 115 yds. (16.4). His night included a long of 35, en route to his 11th career 100-yd. game. McCaffrey finished the year ranked fifth in club history in career receptions (368), eighth in receiving yards (5,008) and fourth in receiving touchdowns (43). McCaffrey started in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and led all receivers with a postseason career-high eight catches for 75 yds. (9.4), with a long of 16. He moved into third place in both postseason receptions and receiving yds. in Broncos history, finishing the day with 36 for 490 (13.6) in his postseason career. McCaffrey passed Steve Sewell (31) on the receptions list and passed Mark Jackson (426) and Shannon Sharpe (474) on the yardage list.

1999: McCaffrey started 15 games and ranked second on the team with a career-high 71 receptions for 1,018 yds. (14.3) and seven touchdowns with a long of 78 (TD). He tied for seventh in the AFC in receiving touchdowns, while ranking eighth in the AFC in receptions and 10th in receiving yards. With 1,018 receiving yards in 1999 McCaffrey became the sixth player in franchise history to post back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons, and together with Rod Smith (1,020) made it two straight years with two receivers topping 1,000, and the fourth time overall in franchise history. McCaffrey was declared inactive (Fri.) for the Week 9 game at San Diego (11/7) because of a deep knee bruise. He led all receivers in the opener vs. Miami (9/13) with 105 yds., and matched his career high with three touchdowns. The first came on his then-longest career reception (61 yds.) in the 1st qtr., followed by 11- and 4-yd. scoring catches in the 3rd and 4th qtrs., respectively, all from Brian Griese. It was McCaffrey's seventh career 100-yd. game. He added his fourth TD of the season at Tampa Bay (9/26) with a 12-yd. scoring reception from Griese. McCaffrey caught five passes for a game-high 88 yds. at Oakland to help Denver notch its first win of the season. He came up big again the next week vs. Green Bay (10/17) with his eighth career 100-yd. game, hauling in five passes for 116 yds. (23.2) and two touchdowns from Griese. His second score came on a 78-yd. reception — the longest of his career — and featured an outstanding show of strength and determination on McCaffrey's part, fighting off Packers safety Darren Sharper with an imposing stiff-arm to free himself for the final 15 yds. to the end zone. McCaffrey combined with Byron Chamberlain (123 rec. yds.) and Olandis Gary (124 rush. yds.) vs. Green Bay to give Denver two 100-yd. receivers and a 100-yd. rusher in the same game for the first time in franchise history. He was the game's leading receiver again at New England (10/24) in Week 7, notching his ninth career 100-yd. performance with 5 catches for 111 yds. His final catch left him with a mild concussion, as he landed partially on his head and neck after being upended while leaping to make the grab. A week later vs. Minnesota (10/31) McCaffrey caught two passes for 18 yds. (9.0) despite missing about one-third of the game because of a blow to the head in the first half and a deep bone bruise in his left knee in the second. McCaffrey posted his 10th career 100-yard game at Seattle (11/14), catching six passes for a game-high 125 yds. (20.8) and one touchdown, with a long of 42. His touchdown came on a 23-yd. pass from Chris Miller in the 3rd qtr. to tie the game at 10-10. McCaffrey led all receivers with 82 yards on seven receptions vs. Oakland (11/22), and was the game's high receiver with seven catches at Detroit (12/25), for 65 yds. He was exemplary in the community as well, being named the Denver Broncos nominee for the prestigious NFL Man of the Year Award. 1998: McCaffrey — selected to start in the Pro Bowl for the first time in his eight-year career and named second-team All-NFL by the Associated Press and All-AFC by Football News — started at wide receiver in 15 of the 16 games and enjoyed the finest statistical season of his career in all four receiving categories with 1,053 yds. on 64 receptions for an average of 16.5, with 10 touchdowns. He enjoyed an exemplary year off the field, as well, being named the "Sprint Broncos Man of the Year" for 1998. McCaffrey tied for the AFC lead in receiving TDs (T6th NFL), tied for sixth (T13th NFL) in total TDs, ranked sixth in the AFC (14th NFL) in receiving yards and tied for 15th in receptions, while his yards-per-catch avg. of 16.5 ranked sixth in the AFC (11th NFL). He posted a reception of 32 yds. or longer in 9 of the 15 games he played in '98 (32, 33, 37, 38, 41, 41t, 44, 48, 48), finished the year having scored 13 TDs in his last 18 regular season games, dating back to the 1997 season. He turned in an outstanding '98 debut vs. New England (9/7), leading all receivers with seven catches for 97 yards (13.9), while also recovering a Patriots onside kick attempt in the final two minutes. His longest reception (44 yds.) came on the first play of the game and tied for the longest of his career. He followed that with a then-career-high 117 yards on five receptions vs. Dallas (9/13), including a 38-yard reception from backup QB Bubby Brister in the fourth quarter. His first two touchdowns of the season came in Week Three at Oakland (9/20), on a 1-yd. reception from John Elway and a 13-yd. grab from Brister, followed by a 19-yd. TD reception from Brister the next week at Washington (9/27). In Week 5 vs. Philadelphia (10/4) McCaffrey caught two passes for 60 yds., including a career-best 48-yarder from Brister on the first play from scrimmage, and his fourth touchdown of the year on a 12-yd. reception in the second quarter. He led all Denver receivers in yardage vs. Jacksonville (10/25) with 92 on three receptions, including a 41-yd. TD from Elway on the first play of the 2nd qtr., his fifth TD of the year. McCaffrey posted a new career high with 133 receiving yds. at Cincinnati (11/1) on seven receptions (19.0), including his sixth TD of the season. The score came on a 25-yd. pass from Elway in the 4th qtr. of a 33-26 come-from-behind win. He matched that career high, as well as his career-high for receptions, with a 9-133 performance vs. San Diego (11/8), which included a 7-yd. touchdown reception from Brister, his seventh of the year. It came early in the 3rd qtr. and gave Denver a 20-0 lead. McCaffrey posted back-to-back 100-yd. games for the first time in his career during the 1998 season (7-133 at Cin., 11/1 and 9-33 vs. S.D., 11/8), and recorded four of his six career 100-yd. games in 1998. Additionally, it marked just the sixth time in Broncos history that a player has posted receiving totals of 130 yds. or more in back-to-back games. McCaffrey caught one pass for 19 yds. at Kansas City (11/16) before leaving the game in the 1st qtr. with a hamstring strain. That injury also forced him to miss his first start of the season a week later vs. Oakland (11/22), as he was declared inactive the day of the game. McCaffrey bounced back a week later at San Diego (11/29), returning to the starting lineup and catching 5 passes for 74 yds. (14.8) and 2 TDs, both coming in the 1st qtr. on passes of 15 and 37 yds. from John Elway. The two scores gave him a career-high 9 for the season, and the five receptions allowed him to match his career high of 49. McCaffrey extended his career-high TD total to 10 vs. Kansas City (12/6), part of a 6-catch, 103-yd. performance that saw him break his previous single-season best of 49 catches, finishing the day at 55. It was McCaffrey's fourth 100-yd. game of the year, and the sixth of his career, and included a 48-yd. reception from Elway, tying the longest of McCaffrey's career. McCaffrey joined Rod Smith (165 yds.) to give Denver two 100-yd. receivers in the same game for the first time since Nov. 20, 1994 vs. Atlanta (Cedric Tillman—175, Anthony Miller—102). McCaffrey went over the 1,000-yd. receiving mark for the season with his 42 yds. at Miami (12/21), joining Rod Smith (1,222) to give Denver two 1,000-yd. receivers in the same season for the just the third time in franchise history (1994 and '97). McCaffrey suffered a tendon tear in his left ring finger in practice Aug. 11, and missed one preseason game (vs. New Orleans, 8/14). McCaffrey started at wide receiver in all three postseason games and caught 11 passes for 190 yds. (17.3) with a long of 47, the longest postseason reception of his career (vs. the Jets, 1/17/99). In the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) he caught three passes for 52 yds. (17.3), and followed that up with three more catches for a team-high 66 yds. (22.0) in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17). He was superb again in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31), catching five passes for 72 yds. with a long of 25, all in the second half. 1997: McCaffrey started 15 of the 16 games at wide receiver and ranked fourth on the team in receptions, with 45 for 590 yards (13.1), a long of 35 yards and a career-best eight touchdowns, tied for fifth-most receiving touchdowns in the AFC. McCaffrey missed his only game of the season in Week 15 at Pittsburgh (12/7) when he was declared inactive because of a strained hamstring. His first big performance of the 1997 season came at Seattle (9/7) in Week Two when he was matched up with rookie CB Shawn Springs and produced one of the biggest days of his career, catching eight passes for 93 yards and two touchdowns in Denver's 35-14 victory. Against St. Louis the next week (9/14) he had just one reception, but it was a 23-yard touchdown in the third quarter that put Denver ahead 35-7, en route to a 35-14 victory. The following week he caught his third touchdown of the season, a 32-yarder against Cincinnati (9/21) in Denver's 38-20 victory. He finished the day with four receptions for 62 yards. At Oakland (10/19) McCaffrey had three receptions for 61 yards and a 28-yard touchdown that brought Denver to within 28-25 in the fourth quarter, the score by which Denver would drop its first game of the season. In Denver's next matchup with the Raiders (11/24) he had four catches for 51 yards, including a diving 35-yard reception that set up Denver's first touchdown of the game en route to a 31-3 win on Monday Night Football. The next Sunday at San Diego, McCaffrey caught seven passes for a career-high 111 receiving yards (the second 100-yard game of his career) in Denver's 38-28 win. In that game he caught two touchdown passes (4 and 21 yards) to raise his total to seven, ending a five-game scoring drought since catching his fifth in the fourth quarter at Oakland (10/19). He closed the regular season with a four-catch, 32-yard performance that included his eighth touchdown of the year to set a new personal high. The touchdown came on a 1-yard reception from John Elway in the second quarter to put Denver ahead 21-3, en route to a 38-3 victory. In the postseason McCaffrey started at wide receiver in all four games and tied for the team lead in receptions (12) with Shannon Sharpe, covering 171 yards (14.3) with one touchdown, as he joined a list of just 30 players in NFL history to win a Super Bowl with more than one team (San Francisco, SB XXIX). In the Wild Card Game against Jacksonville (12/27) he caught two passes for 35 yards, including a 25-yarder on the Broncos' first possession on third-and-15 that kept the drive alive and set up their first score of the day. In Denver's 14-10 AFC Divisional Playoff win at Kansas City (1/4/98), McCaffrey caught three passes for 56 yards, including a 43-yarder on third-and-five early in the fourth quarter that set up Terrell Davis' game-winning touchdown with 12:32 remaining. In the AFC Championship Game at Pittsburgh (1/11) he caught five passes for 37 yards, including a one-yard score right before the half to give Denver a 24-14 advantage. The Broncos held on to win 24-21 and advanced to their first Super Bowl in eight years. In Super Bowl XXXII against Green Bay, McCaffrey caught two passes for a team-high 45 yards, including a 36-yarder in the third quarter on Denver's 13-play, 92-yard drive (the longest of the game) that put them ahead 24-17. He also threw a crushing block on Packers' linebacker Brian Williams to free Howard Griffith for the bulk of his yardage on a 23-yard pass play from Elway that set up Denver's game-winning touchdown late in the fourth quarter. 1996: McCaffrey started 15 of the 16 regular season games at wide receiver opposite Anthony Miller and posted the second-best totals of his career with 48 receptions for 553 yards (11.5) and a long of 39 yards with a career-high seven touchdowns. He missed the Chicago game (11/10) when he was declared inactive because of a lower-back bruise. McCaffrey established a career high and tied a Broncos franchise record with three touchdown receptions against Baltimore (10/20). Easily his most dramatic touchdown catch of the year came at Minnesota (11/24) when he hauled in a five-yard John Elway pass that was tipped in the air three times by Vikings players, catching it at the one-yard line and diving backwards into the endzone for the score with 19 seconds left in the game. His longest reception of the year was a 39-yard touchdown from Elway in the season-opener against the Jets (9/1), and his most historic was his catch of Elway's 250th career touchdown pass in the second quarter vs. Seattle (12/1). McCaffrey sprained his ankle in practice Sept. 11 but was able to play four days later against Tampa Bay (9/15). In the season-opener vs. the Jets (9/1), McCaffrey started at wide receiver and caught a team-high four passes (tied with Shannon Sharpe) for 61 yards (15.3), including a 39-yard touchdown to put the Broncos ahead 14-0. In week five at Cincinnati (9/29) he caught five passes for 80 yards in a true iron-man performance. He was the victim of several vicious hits, but managed to return to the game each time, earning high praise from his teammates in the lockerroom after the Broncos' 14-10 victory. Versus San Diego (10/6) McCaffrey caught five passes for 58 yards with one touchdown (9 yards) and a long of 31 yards. His touchdown came with 8:22 remaining in the game, and put Denver ahead by the eventual final margin of 28-17. Two weeks later vs. Baltimore, McCaffrey tied a Broncos franchise record with three touchdown receptions, coming on passes of 4, 6 and 8 yards from Elway. In all he caught seven passes for 76 yards. His third TD of the day, a 6-yarder with 10:57 remaining, put the Broncos on top 38-34 en route to a 45-34 win. He had one of his best games of the year at Minnesota (11/24), catching six passes for a season-high 83 yards and one touchdown. His touchdown provided the winning points in Denver's 21-17 come-from-behind win, as he hauled in a thrice tipped five-yard pass from Elway with 19 seconds remaining in the game, and lunged backwards into the end zone for the score. It was his sixth touchdown of the year, surpassing his previous best of five as a New York Giant in 1992. Versus Seattle (12/1) he caught a team-high five passes for 43 yards with a long of 12 and one touchdown. His four-yard touchdown reception in the second quarter was the 250th touchdown pass of Elway's career, ninth-most in NFL history. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff vs. Jacksonville (1/4/97) McCaffrey started his first playoff game and caught five passes for 54 yards, including a long of 15 yards for his one touchdown on the day. His score came with 1:50 remaining in the game and pulled Denver to within 30-27. 1995: McCaffrey played in all 16 games and made four starts (vs. Buffalo 9/3, at San Diego 9/24, at Seattle 10/1 and vs. Kansas City 10/22). He had, at the time, the second-most productive season of his career, catching 39 passes for 477 yards (12.2), with a long of 35 yards and two touchdowns, and also rushed once for -1 yard. In his debut as a Bronco vs. Buffalo (9/3), McCaffrey started in place of the injured Anthony Miller and caught four passes for 52 yards. He hauled in a 35-yarder from John Elway on the Broncos' final scoring drive to set up Terrell Davis' three-yard, game-sealing touchdown run. In Week Three vs. Washington (9/17) McCaffrey caught a season-high five passes for 70 yards (14.0), including a clutch 19-yarder from Elway during the Broncos' game-winning 80-yard drive.

Denver won the game on the final play 38-31. Against Arizona (11/5), McCaffrey caught one pass, a 23-yarder in the fourth quarter for his first touchdown as a Bronco and the 10th of his career. Against Jacksonville (12/3), McCaffrey saw action as the third receiver and made three catches for 48 yards, including a 24-yarder. He also rushed once on a reverse for -1 yard. In the season finale at Oakland (12/24), McCaffrey — who started in the Broncos' four-wide receiver set — caught a career-high nine passes for 99 yards and one touchdown, with a long of 27 yards, to help lift the Broncos to a 31-28 win. McCaffrey's four-yard, one-handed touchdown reception with 5:46 remaining in the game tied the score at 28-28. McCaffrey was acquired by the Broncos as an unrestricted free agent from San Francisco March 7. 1994: McCaffrey played in all 16 regular season games for the 49ers and in all three postseason games. He had 11 catches for 131 yards (12.0 average) and two touchdowns in the regular season and one reception for five yards in the playoffs. He also had eight special teams tackles in the regular season. McCaffrey caught one pass for eight yards, recorded two special teams tackles and forced a fumble at Detroit (10/9). He had three receptions for 34 yards, including a 34-yard touchdown versus Tampa Bay (10/23), and recovered an on-side kick late in the fourth quarter of the 49ers 21-14 victory over Dallas (11/13). He caught five passes for 59 yards, including a one-yard touchdown in the regular season finale at Minnesota (12/26). His one reception against San Diego in the Super Bowl (1/29/95), a five-yarder, came in the second quarter. McCaffrey was acquired by the 49ers July 25, 1994 as a free agent after being waived by the Giants July 18. 1993: McCaffrey played in all 16 regular season games with one start for the New York Giants, and also played in both New York playoff contests. He finished fourth on the team with 27 receptions for 335 yards and two touchdowns. He had touchdown receptions vs. Philadelphia (10/17) and Phoenix (11/28). McCaffrey's one start came against the Jets (10/31) when he replaced an injured Mike Sherrard in the lineup. Ricardo McDonald was signed in the offseason by the Broncos for the second year in a row and seeks to find a spot among a deep linebacking corps. A full-time starter in each of his eight NFL seasons, McDonald originally signed with Denver May 23, 2000 as an unrestricted free agent from Chicago, with whom he played in 1998 and '99 after spending the first six years of his career with Cincinnati. He has played in 119 games (111 starts) and has recorded 565 tackles (401 solo), including 14.5 sacks, as well as one interception, 14 passes defensed, nine forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries. In his career McDonald has played both defensive end and outside linebacker in a 4-3 set and inside linebacker in a 3-4 set. He entered the NFL in 1992 as a fourth-round draft choice (88th overall) of the Cincinnati Bengals.

2000: McDonald went through training camp with the Broncos (signed May 23) but was waived Aug. 15. He spent the season out of football.

1999: McDonald started at strongside linebacker in all 16 games for Chicago and posted 74 tackles (40 solo), sixth most on the team. He tied for the team lead with a season-high 11 tackles at Tampa Bay (10/24/99) and also shared a sack in that same game. McDonald also forced a fumble and finished with six tackles vs. New Orleans (10/3) and forced a fumble and had four tackles at

Minnesota (10/10). The 1999 season marked the second time in his career (1995) that he started all 16 games. 1998: McDonald played in 15 games and started 14 in his first season with the Chicago Bears, after signing with the club as an unrestricted free agent from Cincinnati in the off-season. He finished ninth on the team with 57 tackles (36 solo), including one sack (-24), while also posting career highs in forced fumbles (2) and passes defensed (4). McDonald had a season-high eight tackles (6 solo) in a division contest at Tampa Bay (9/20) and broke up two passes vs. Detroit (10/4). He recorded six tackles and a pass breakup at Tennessee (Oct. 25) and six more tackles at Green Bay (12/13). McDonald recorded three tackles, including his first sack of the season vs. Baltimore (12/20), but suffered a hamstring injury in the third quarter and had to leave the game. He was placed on injured reserve Dec. 22, before the final game of the season. 1997: McDonald played in 13 games and made 12 starts in his final year with Cincinnati, recording 64 tackles (50 solo)—third most on the team—with one sack. He switched from outside to inside linebacker, as the defense went from a 4-3 look to a 3-4 set. McDonald was the team's leading tackler through the first eight games of the season before suffering a knee injury that forced him out of the lineup temporarily. He tied for the team lead in tackles with eight in the season opener vs. Arizona (8/31). McDonald led the team with 10 stops at Denver (9/21) and was back on top again the next week against the Jets with nine stops and a pass defensed. McDonald also recorded seven tackles against Tennessee (10/12). He recorded four tackles and a pass defensed at the Giants (10/26) before spraining his right medial collateral ligament. McDonald was inactive because of the injury the following week, and recorded his lone sack of the season the next week at Indianapolis (11/9), playing in a reserve role due to the injury. He returned to the starting lineup at Pittsburgh (11/16), collecting two tackles, but then sat out again the next week vs. Jacksonville (11/23) because of the knee. McDonald started the next three contests before sitting out the season finale vs. Baltimore (12/12) because of bronchitis. 1996: McDonald played in 16 games (15 starts) with Cincinnati and recorded 64 tackles (40 solo), including a career-high-tying five sacks (-32), which ranked second on the team. He had six tackles in the season opener at St. Louis (9/1), and then five tackles—including a sack of John Elway—against Denver (9/29). McDonald had one sack among four solo stops vs. Houston (10/6) and a season-high two sacks among his five tackles at San Francisco (10/20). His other sack came against Pittsburgh (11/10). McDonald had a season-high nine tackles gainst Indianapolis (12/22). 1995: McDonald started all 16 games for the first time in his career and led all Cincinnati linebackers with a career-high five sacks (-17) among his 64 tackles (47 solo). He played right linebacker for the first 11 games and then switched to left linebacker position for the remaining five contests to replace the injured James Francis. McDonald had a season-high seven tackles in the season opener at Indianapolis (9/3) and recorded a sack and recovered a fumble vs. Jacksonville the following week (9/10). He had a career-high three sacks and a forced fumble at Tampa Bay (10/8). 1994: McDonald started all 13 games in which he played and recorded 45 tackles (30 solo), including one sack. He was inactive for the first two games of the season while still rehabilitating a knee injury from 1993. He returned to the starting lineup in Week 3 vs. New England (9/18) and started the next four games. McDonald had seven tackles and a sack against Pittsburgh (10/16) and recorded six tackles at the Giants (12/11). He was inactive vs. Dallas (10/30) because of the knee. 1993: McDonald played in 14 games and started 12 for Cincinnati and posted a career-high 102 tackles (87 solo) to rank second on the team. He started the first seven games at inside linebacker, then played in a reserve role in Weeks 8-9. He returned the starting lineup in games 10-14. McDonald posted 11 tackles in a win over the Raiders (11/28) and had a career-high 12 stops vs. New England (12/12). He tore his left anterior ligament against the Rams the following week (12/19). He was placed on injured reserve Dec. 24. 1992: McDonald played in all 16 games and made 13 starts in his NFL rookie season with Cincinnati. He finished second on the Bengals' squad with 95 tackles (71 solo), along with one interception, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery. He missed the first six games of the year after undergoing lumbar micro-endoscopic surgery on Sept. 5th. McGlockton's streak of 80 consecutive starts was snapped when he was listed as inactive against the Raiders (9/6). He had five tackles against Pittsburgh (10/26), the Jets (11/1) and Denver (11/16), and recovered a fumble at San Diego (11/22). McGlockton sacked John Elway at Denver (12/6) and then forced a fumble in the season finale at Oakland (12/26). 1997: McGlockton started all 16 games in his last season with the Raiders, earning his fourth consecutive Pro Bowl appearance. OFF THE FIELD

John has served as spokesperson for the Broncos Bunch Kids Club, while also being involved in the Newspaper in Education program. He is also host to the annual John Mobley Football Camp.

John Mobley overcame a major obstacle last season as he successfully came back from a torn anterior cruciate ligament that shorted his 1999 season to two games, and led the Broncos in tackles with 133, the second highest total of his five-year career. He returned to the form that saw him earn All-Pro honors in 1997, and made him a catalyst in Denver's back-to-back World Championship run. Mobley has an incredible knack for finding the football and is a devastating hitter once he does. He has started 63 of the 65 games in which he has played and posted 533 tackles (386 solo), including 8.5 sacks (-48), with 36 passes defensed, seveb forced fumbles, two fumble recoveries and four interceptions (28 yds.). He has scored one NFL touchdown, on a 13-yard interception return in 1997 (vs. N.E., 10/6), and earned his first All-NFL honors that season with selections by the Associated Press, The Sporting News, Pro Football Weekly, Football Digest and College & Pro Football Newsweekly. Mobley has one AFC Defensive Player of the Week award on his résumé, winning the honor for Week Six of the '97 season. He was named to the NCAA Division II Football Team of the Quarter Century (1973-1997) in 1998, joining the likes of Pro Football Hall of Famer Walter Payton and All-Pro performers Brent Jones, John Randle, Darrell Green and Greg Lloyd. Mobley entered the NFL in 1996 as the Broncos' first-round draft choice (No. 15 overall) out of Kutztown.

2000: Mobley played in 15 games and started 14 at weakside linebacker, and led the team in tackles with 133 (92 solo), including two sacks (-16), while also adding two forced fumbles, an interception and a team-leading 10 passes defensed. He also had two tackles on special teams. Mobley posted a career-high 16 tackles at K.C. (12/17), and forced a fumble. His previous best was 15 tackles, accomplished twice in 1997 (Sept. 21 vs. Cin., and Oct. 6 vs. N.E.). Mobley did not start but saw significant action at N.O. (12/3) just six days after having surgery on his right thumb. Glenn Cadrez started in his place as Mobley played with a large cast on his hand and still managed to post five solo tackles. Mobley's first sack came at Sea. (11/26) on Brock Huard (-5) in the game in which he fractured his thumb. He underwent surgery Nov. 27 to insert a pin in the thumb. His second sack came in the finale vs. S.F. (12/23) when he dropped Jeff Garcia for an 11-yd. loss. Mobley posted a then-season-high 14 tackles vs. N.E. (10/1), a week after posting his previous high of 12 tackles vs. K.C. (9/24). His interception came at Oak. (9/17) on the Raiders initial possession of the second half, with the score tied 24-24. Mobley intercepted the ball in the end zone and turned the momentum for the Broncos as the defense shut out the Raiders in the second half. He started his first game in nearly a year in Week 2 vs. Atlanta (9/10) and led the team with 10 tackles (6 solo) and two passes defensed. Mobley was declared inactive (Mon.) for Denver's Week 1 clash at St. Louis (9/4), as he continued to recover from arthroscopic knee surgery (right). Mobley began training camp on schedule with the club after season-ending knee surgery in 1999, but underwent arthroscopic surgery on his right knee Aug. 4 and missed all four preseason games. Mobley started at weakside linebacker in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and posted six solo tackles.

1999: Mobley was placed on injured reserve Sept. 22 after suffering a season-ending tear of his right anterior cruciate ligament in the 1st qtr. of Denver's Week 2 loss at K.C. (9/19). He underwent surgery Sept. 28. Mobley started at weakside linebacker in each of the first two games and posted 13 tackles (10 solo) with one pass defensed. He led the team in the opener with 11 stops (9 solo).

1998: Mobley started at weakside linebacker in 15 of the 16 games and led the team for the second straight year with 132 tackles (105 solo), including one sack (-7), two forced fumbles, one fumble recovery, one interception and a career-best 13 passes defensed, third-most on the team. The sack came at Oakland (9/20) in the fourth quarter. He has also recorded six tackles on special teams (high of 2 at Miami, 12/21 and vs. Phila., 10/4). Mobley recorded double-figure tackle totals in back-to-back games early in the season (11 vs. Dallas, 9/13; and 10 at Oakland, 9/20), and strung together three more later in the season (12 vs. S.D., 11/8; 10 at K.C., 11/16 and 12 vs. Oak., 11/22). Overall he posted no fewer than five tackles in every game of the season. Mobley strained his right hamstring in practice Sept. 24, but was able to start at Washington three days later. His only non-start came at Seattle (10/11) when the Seahawks opened the game in a three-wide receiver alignment. Mobley recorded seven tackles (5 solo) at Cincinnati (11/1), to go along with a forced fumble and a career-high four passes defensed. He stepped up big and stripped Bengals RB Corey Dillon of the ball at the Broncos' 3-yd. line late in the 1st qtr., as Bill Romanowski fell on the fumble to squelch a potential Cincinnati scoring drive. Mobley posted a season-high 12 tackles the next week vs. San Diego (11/8), including 10 solo stops, and tied his season high vs. Oakland (11/22), including 9 solo stops. His third career interception came at San Diego (11/29), on an errant Craig Whelihan pass late in the first half. Mobley's fumble recovery came at the Giants (12/13) in the 4th qtr. after WR Ike Hilliard lost control of the football. He missed the preseason finale (at Tenn., 8/29) to rest a hyperextended left knee, injured vs. Green Bay (8/24). Mobley started at weakside linebacker in all three postseason games and tied for fourth on the team with 14 tackles (10 solo), including one sack (-6), as well as two passes defensed and a fumble recovery. In the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) he made two solo tackles with one pass defensed. He contributed nine tackles (7 solo) in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17), along with a pass defensed and his one fumble recovery, which came after Bill Romanowski knocked the ball out of Keith Byars' hands at the Broncos' 13-yd. line. Mobley's first career postseason sack came in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta, among three total tackles (1 solo). The sack of Chris Chandler came midway through the 3rd qtr. for a 6-yd. loss. 1997: Mobley — named first-team All-NFL by the Associated Press, The Sporting News, Pro Football Weekly and Football Digest; and second-team by College & Pro Football Newsweekly — started all 16 games at weakside linebacker and continued to blossom in his second NFL season, putting together a performance as outstanding as that of any other linebacker in the NFL. He led the team with 162 tackles (113 solo), including four sacks (-23), one interception which he returned for a touchdown (13 yds.), three forced fumbles, one fumble recovery and eight pass breakups, while also adding seven tackles on special teams. He posted double-figures in tackles a remarkable nine times in 16 games. In the regular season opener vs. Kansas City Mobley led the team with nine tackles (6 solo) in Denver's 19-3 victory. The game held extra significance for Mobley, as his father, Lee, watched him play in person for the first time since his sophomore year in high school (1990). Lee has been in a nursing home for seven years since suffering a stroke. The following week at Seattle (9/7) he made five tackles (3 solo) and one pass defensed in Denver's 35-14 win. The next week vs. St. Louis (9/14) he recorded his first sack of the year (-4), among seven tackles (5 solo) he made on the day. In Week Three vs. Cincinnati (9/21) Mobley registered a career-high 15 tackles (11 solo) in an outstanding performance that included his second sack of the season (-3) and a pass breakup. On Monday Night Football vs. New England (10/6) he had the best all-around game of his young career, tying a personal best with 15 tackles (12 solo; career high), snaring his second career interception and returning it 13 yards for a touchdown for a 14-0 lead, causing a fumble, breaking up a pass and making a tackle on special teams in Denver's 34-13 victory. His efforts were recognized with AFC Defensive Player of the Week honors from the NFL. He wasted no time making an impact on the game, ending the Patriots game-opening drive at the Broncos' 28-yard line when he knocked the ball loose from Terry Glenn after a 19-yard reception, setting up the Broncos first touchdown. He then scored the second himself when he picked off a Drew Bledsoe pass and waltzed 13 yards into the end zone for his first professional touchdown, igniting a fired-up Mile High Stadium crowd of 75,821. On Nov. 2 vs. Seattle he posted a team-high 13 tackles (11 solo), while also adding another on special teams in Denver's 30-27 victory. On Nov. 9 vs. Carolina he had another fine all-around day with seven tackles (3 solo), including a sack (-12), and the first fumble recovery of his career. His sack of Kerry Collins came in the first quarter, and early in the second quarter he pounced on a fumble caused by Allen Aldridge, halting a Panthers scoring threat at the Denver 10-yard line. The next Sunday at Kansas City (11/16) he posted his fifth double-figure tackle total of the season, recording 10, including a team-high eight solos in Denver's 24-22 loss. Against Oakland on Monday Night Football (11/24), Mobley had another outstanding performance in prime time, posting 10 tackles (8 solo), including his fourth sack of the year (-4), to go along with two pass breakups. He also forced a fumble by Napoleon Kaufman early in the third quarter after he chased down the speedy Kaufman from behind in the backfield, setting up a recovery by Mike Lodish at the Raiders 28. The Broncos responded with a field goal to up their lead to 24-3. The next Sunday at San Diego (11/30) he tied for the team-lead with nine tackles (6 solo), while adding a forced fumble and a pass breakup. He posted a team-high 12 tackles (5 solo) with one pass defensed at Pittsburgh (12/7), and led the team again the following week at San Francisco on Monday Night Football (12/15) with 10 tackles (8 solo), while also adding one more on special teams. He closed out the regular season vs. San Diego (12/21) by posting a team-high 12 tackles (8 solo), while also adding one more on special teams. In the postseason Mobley started all four games at weakside linebacker and led the team with 24 tackles (21 solo), in addition to two passes defensed and one special teams tackle. In the AFC Wild Card Playoff vs. Jacksonville (12/27) Mobley started at weakside linebacker and led the team with six tackles (4 solo). In Denver's 14-10 AFC Divisional Playoff at Kansas City (1/4/98), he led the team with seven solo tackles. In the AFC Championship Game at Pittsburgh (1/11) he posted five tackles (4 solo) with one pass defensed, and also added one tackle on special teams in Denver's 24-21 victory. In Super Bowl XXXII vs. Green Bay (1/25) Mobley posted six solo tackles with one very huge pass defensed in Denver's 31-24 victory. The pass break-up occurred on fourth-and-six from Denver's 31-yard line with 32 seconds remaining. Mobley stepped in front of Brett Favre's aerial that was intended for Mark Chmura and knocked it to the ground to seal Denver's first ever world championship. 1996: Mobley turned in an outstanding rookie season, starting all 16 regular season games and the Broncos' one playoff contest at weakside linebacker. He was named to NFL All-Rookie teams selected by Pro Football Weekly, Football News and College & Pro Football Newsweekly, finishing fifth on the team with 93 tackles (67 solo) and 1.5 sacks (-2). Mobley also broke up four passes, intercepted another (at Minnesota, 11/24) and added four tackles on special teams. He registered a season-high 12 tackles (9 solo) at Cincinnati (9/29), including his first career sack as he dropped Bengals quarterback Jeff Blake. He also came up big at New England (11/17), leading the team with eight solo tackles to spearhead a defensive effort that limited the Patriots' rushing attack to 17 yards in a 34-8 win. At Green Bay (12/8), Mobley made seven tackles (3 solo), knocked down two passes and combined with Michael Dean Perry for the Broncos' only sack of Brett Favre. Mobley remained injury-free much of the season, missing significant time only during the San Diego game (10/6) when he strained a groin muscle in the first half. He started his first postseason game against Jacksonville (1/4/97) and came up with eight tackles (6 solo) and one pass defensed. Mobley entered training camp second on the depth chart at weakside linebacker, but quickly cemented a starting position after producing a 14-tackle performance (12 solo) in the preseason opener at San Francisco (8/3). In that game, Mobley was all over the field in the second half and delivered a hit on Gino Torreta that knocked the 49ers' signal-caller out of the game. He finished the preseason with 19 tackles (16 solo), one interception and three pass break-ups.

He has garnered numerous All-NFL honors over the past four seasons while providing leadership and stellar play as veteran the anchor of the Broncos' offensive line. 1999: Nalen started at center in all 16 games, and was selected to his third consecutive Pro Bowl—first as a starter—while also garnering first-team All-NFL honors from Football Digest and The Sporting News (tie), and second-team honors from the Associated Press. Nalen underwent successful surgery on his right knee Jan. 5, precluding him from playing in the Feb. 6, 2000 Pro Bowl. 1998: Nalen — selected All-NFL by USA Today — started at center in all 16 games and was selected to play in the Pro Bowl for the second straight season. He played an integral role on an outstanding offensive line that allowed just 25 sacks — the third-lowest total for a full season in franchise history, and the lowest since 1971 — while paving the way for the only the fourth 2,000-yard rusher in NFL history (Terrell Davis-2,008) and the league's second-ranked rushing attack at 154.3 yards per game. The Broncos set a team record for points in a season for the second year in a row, this time with 505. Nalen started at center in all three postseason games and helped pave the way for a rushing attack that averaged 183 yds.-per-game as Denver won Super Bowl XXXII. 1997: Nalen started all 16 games at center and had a breakout season, being selected to his first Pro Bowl and earning second-team All-NFL honors from College & Pro Football Newsweekly. He provided not only youth, but also tremendous talent, to a veteran offensive line regarded among the league's best. He made his first career pass reception at Oakland (10/19), catching a John Elway pass for -1 yard after it was batted at the line of scrimmage by the Raiders' Chester McGlockton. The Broncos' offense set a team record by scoring 472 points in one season and led the NFL in total offense (367 yards per game) for the second straight year, leading the AFC for the third straight year. Nalen was part of a unit that powered Broncos running backs to 15 individual 100-yard performances over the 20-game regular and postseason slate. In the postseason Nalen started at center in all four games as part of an offensive line that dominated opponents and allowed Denver to control games with its rushing attack. The Broncos averaged 187 rushing yards per game in the postseason, and the offensive line was named NFL Offensive Player of the Week for Denver's Wild Card win over Jacksonville (12/27/97). Nalen, starting at center, playing an integral role in the offensive unit piling up club postseason records of 511 total yards and 42 points in Denver's 42-17 win over the Jaguars. The line played a key role in running back Terrell Davis earning MVP honors in the Super Bowl with 157 rushing yards and three rushing touchdowns. 1996: Nalen started all 16 regular season games at center, playing a key role on a unit that cleared the way for AFC rushing leader Terrell Davis (1,538 yards) and allowed just 31 sacks. He suffered a partial tear to his medial collateral ligament early in the Minnesota game (11/24) and was listed as questionable for the Seattle game (12/1) but did start. He also started Denver's lone playoff contest. The Broncos rushed for over 100 yards in a game on 10 occasions during the 1996 season, and topped the 200-yard mark on four of those occasions. Overall, the Broncos' offense was the most productive in football in 1996, averaging 361.9 yards per game. 1995: Nalen started 15 of the Broncos' 16 games, missing only the Week Four matchup at San Diego (9/24) while recovering from arthroscopic surgery to repair a lateral meniscus tear in his left knee suffered in the Washington game (9/17). He underwent arthroscopic surgery at the Steadman-Hawkins Clinic in Vail, Colo., Sept. 18, and was expected to miss three to four weeks, but returned to his starting position at Seattle (10/1). Behind the blocking of Nalen and the rest of the offensive line, Denver was able to rush for over 100 yards in a game 11 out of 16 times during the 1995 season, and produce a 1,000-yard rusher in rookie Terrell Davis (1,117). 1994: Nalen played in seven games for the Broncos, including a start at left guard in his first NFL appearance against the Rams (11/6). Nalen continued to make appearances on the offensive line over the remainder of the season. Nalen entered camp in July as a rookie draft choice out of Boston College, was waived just prior to the start of the regular season and then re-signed to the practice squad Sept. 6. He was signed to the active roster the week of the Rams game to start in place of an injured Jon Melander.

COLLEGE: Nalen was a three-year starter at Boston College, earning numerous honors that included third-team Associated Press All-America, second-team All-Big East, and first-team ECAC citations. He closed out his outstanding college career with appearances in the East-West Shrine and Senior Bowl games. In 1993 Nalen was an honorable mention All-American and All-Big East second-team pick by The Poor Man's Guide to the NFL Draft, starting all year and leading the way as the Eagles ranked fourth in the nation in total offense (506.4 yards per game). Nalen's blocking was a key factor in the Boston College upset win over Notre Dame in South Bend. Nalen started every game from 1991-93 after serving as the deep-snapper, backup center and then starting center for the last three games in 1990. He redshirted in '89.

Dan Neil's rise to the upper echelon of NFL guards was confirmed in 2000 as he and his linemates kept Denver's high-powered offense clicking on all cylinders and setting team records. After becoming a starter in just his second season Neil has started all but one game the past three seasons and has helped clear the way for back-to-back rookies to rush for more than 1,000 yards, following a campaign in which Terrell Davis topped 2,000. He had a breakthrough year in 1998, starting all 16 regular season and all three postseason games for the Broncos at right guard as Denver won its second straight World Championship. Neil seized the starting role in preseason and never relinquished it, giving the heralded Denver offensive line a much-needed infusion of young talent. Neil and his linemates played a key role in clearing holes for NFL MVP Davis, who posted the third-highest single-season rushing total in league history. A young player with strong work ethic and tenacious blocking skill, Neil figures to be a fixture along the Denver offensive line for years to come after signing a new contract prior to the 2001 season. He has played in 50 regular season games and started 47, and has also started in all four postseason games he has played. Neil was selected by the Broncos in the third round (No. 67 overall) of the 1997 NFL Draft with a pick obtained in a trade with the New York Jets that allowed Denver to move up 21 places for the opportunity to select him.

2000: Neil started at right guard in all 16 regular season games and the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31). He turned in another solid season as the Broncos ranked No. 2 in the NFL in total offense while breaking several franchise records. Neil and his linemates cleared the way for running back Mike Anderson post the fifth best rushing total by a rookie in NFL history—1,487 yards—and score 15 touchdowns, while limiting opponents to just 30 sacks.

1999: Neil started at right guard in 15 games. He left the Detroit game (12/25) in the second half with a knee injury and was declared inactive for the season-finale a week later vs. San Diego (1/2). The sprain of his medial collateral ligament did not require surgery, but was estimated to need 4-6 weeks recovery time. 1998: Neil started all 16 games at right guard. He made his first professional start in the season-opener vs. New England (9/7). Neil played an integral role on an outstanding offensive line that allowed just 25 sacks—the third-lowest total for a full season in franchise history, and the lowest since 1971—while paving the way for only the fourth 2,000-yard rusher (Terrell Davis-2,008) in NFL history and the NFL's second-most productive rushing attack at 154.3 yards per game. Neil started all three postseason contests at right guard and helped pave the way for a rushing attack that averaged 183 yds.-per-game en route to the Broncos' second straight Super Bowl win. He made his first career postseason start in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9). 1997: Neil was declared inactive for 10 of the 16 games in his rookie season and played in three. He was active for the first time as a pro vs. Seattle (11/2), but did not play, and then saw his first NFL action vs. Oakland (11/24) on Monday Night Football. He played on special teams and as a reserve at guard in the fourth quarter. Neil was slowed at the start of the season by a groin injury that required surgery Aug. 27. His other game action came on special teams in both games against San Diego (11/30 and 12/21). In the postseason Neil was declared inactive for all four games. Neil was chosen by the Broncos in the third round with the 67th overall selection.

COLLEGE: One of the strongest players in school history at Texas, Neil was a consensus All-America and all-conference selection as both a junior and senior, and was a finalist for the Outland Trophy in 1996. He started every game for four years after redshirting as a freshman in '92, bringing his total to 48 straight, the school's longest streak at the time. Neil won the team Iron Man title every year he was at Texas, and in 1995 received the school's D. Harold Byrd Leadership Award. Neil was a sports management major at Texas, where he earned Athletic Director's Honor Roll accolades in 1993 and was very active in Longhorn Community Service efforts.

PERSONAL: Neil was a Parade All-America selection and earned Class 5A first-team all-state honors at Cypress Creek High School in Cypress Creek, Texas. He was rated as the state's best offensive line prospect by Max Emfinger's Blue Chip Illustrated and Tom Lemming's Prep Football Report, and one of the top line prospects in the nation by most recruiting lists. Neil was also twice named all-district and received honorable mention All-America consideration from USA Today. He married his high school sweetheart, Amylyn, after the 1996 Sugar Bowl on January 6, 1996. Dan and Amylyn have a daughter, Alexandra Lee (12/4/98), and a son, David Garner (8/20/00). The family makes its home in Lone Tree, Colo. Amylyn's uncle, Larry Cox, played defensive tackle for the Broncos from 1966-68. Daniel Neil was born October 21, 1973 in Houston, Texas.

DELTHA O'NEAL — CORNERBACK

5-10 • 196 • 2ND YR. • CALIFORNIA

24

BORN: January 30, 1977 in Palo Alto, Calif.
HIGH SCHOOL: Milpitas High School, Milpitas, Calif.
RESIDES: Aurora, Colo.
ACQUIRED: Draft #1 (15th overall), 1999
PRO YEAR: 2nd • YEAR WITH BRONCOS: 2nd

Deltha O'Neal comes into his second NFL season with great expectations after a rookie campaign in which he made an immediate impact in the return game and improved steadily in the defensive scheme as the season progressed. By the end of the season O'Neal was receiving more playing time and made a number of big plays. He will be called upon to compete for a starting cornerback spot in 2001, and should benefit from his first full offseason in Denver. O'Neal played in all 16 games last year and posted two solo tackles, five passes defensed, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery. He ranked second among NFL rookies in kickoff return average at 24.0 on 46 returns and ranked third returning punts at a 10.4 clip. O'Neal was Denver's No. 1 draft choice in 2000 (15th overall) out of California.

2000: O'Neal—named All-Rookie as a punt returner by Football News—saw action on special teams in all 16 games, and saw his first NFL action on defense at Cin. (10/22) in Week 8. He played on defense again in each of the final seven games (Gms. 10-16), totaling two solo tackles, five passes defensed, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery. O'Neal recovered a fumble at K.C. (12/17) after the ball was stripped from Sylvester Morris by John Mobley after a catch. He saw his most significant action of the season at Sea. (11/26) and posted his first tackle and forced fumble, as well as two passes defensed. He broke up his first pass in the S.D. contest. O'Neal ranked sixth in the AFC (11th NFL) in kickoff returns with an average of 24.0 yds. (46-1,102), and seventh in the AFC (11th NFL) in punt returns with an average of 10.4 yds. (34-354). He ranked second among NFL rookies in kick return average and third in punt returns. O'Neal's 46 kickoff returns tied for fourth most in a season by a Bronco, while his 1,102 yards on kick returns ranked fifth all-time. O'Neal's kickoff returns include an 87-yarder for a touchdown and a 62-yarder, while his punt returns include a 64-yarder. All three long returns came in a three-game period, Wks. 5-7, giving him a return of 62 yds. or longer in three straight games. He also added five tackles on special teams. O'Neal's 25-yd. punt return in the 4th qtr. vs. S.D. (11/19) gave the Broncos a first down at the Chargers' 45-yd. line with 3:44 remaining, setting up the game-winning touchdown drive. He also had a career-high six kickoff returns in the game (157 yds.; 26.2 avg.). O'Neal returned a kickoff 62 yds. vs. Cleve. (10/15), his second longest of the season. O'Neal had his best day on punt returns at S.D. (10/8), returning three for 72 yds. (24.0), including a career best return of 64 yds. in the 4th qtr. to set up Denver's final touchdown. He delivered the first big play of his young career vs. New England (10/1) when he returned a free kick after a safety 87 yards for a touchdown. It was his first NFL touchdown and the first kickoff return for a touchdown by a Bronco since Vaughn Hebron's 95-yard scoring return at Miami, Dec. 19, 1998. O'Neal saw action in a reserve role and on special teams in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31). He returned one kickoff for 13 yds. and three punts for 13 yds. (4.3) with a long of 7 in his first postseason game.

COLLEGE: O'Neal finished his stellar career at California as the school's career leader in all-purpose yards with 5,005 (111.2 per game) and tied an NCAA career record by returning five interceptions for touchdowns. O'Neal set a school record with 356 yards via interception returns, and also finished his career with all-time records for punt returns (110), punt-return yards (1,169), kickoff returns (99) and kick-return yards (2,472). In his career he scored 12 touchdowns by five different methods: interception return (5), punt return (1), kickoff return (2), rushing (2) and receiving (2). He earned consensus first-team All-America and All-Pac-10 honors as a senior (both on defense and as as a return specialist), and was named Pacific-10 Conference Defensive Player of the Year. O'Neal was named Pac-10 Conference Player of the Week four times—twice on defense and twice on special teams—and accounted for six touchdowns: four on defense and two on special teams. Starting all 11 games at left cornerback, O'Neal tied for the NCAA lead with nine interceptions, including an NCAA-record four returned for touchdowns. His 280 yards on interception returns outpaced any other player by more than 100 yards, and represented a new school record. On special teams O'Neal ranked seventh in the nation and No. 1 in the conference with 19 kickoff returns for 555 yards (29.2) and a touchdown, and also returned 42 punts for 428 yards (10.2) and another score, leading the team with an average of 114.5 all-purpose yards per game. He had a school-record-tying 100-yard return for a touchdown vs. Oregon. In the season-finale vs. Stanford, O'Neal scored twice on special teams, taking a kickoff back 100 yards and a punt 58 yards. He was honorable mention All-Pac-10 as a junior after switching from tailback to cornerback midway through his sophomore season. O'Neal graduated from Cal with a degree in social welfare.

PERSONAL: O'Neal earned Blue Chip Illustrated All-America honors as the 10th-ranked defensive back in the West at Milpitas (Calif.) High School, where he was student body president as a senior. He was named second-team all-state as a multi-purpose player by Student Sports magazine, and still holds the school record for career rushing yards with 2,312—including 1,301 yards as a senior. O'Neal capped his prep career with 14 rushing touchdowns and one receiving score as a senior in 1994. As a return man he scored four touchdowns on punt and kickoff returns. Deltha Lee O'Neal III—nicknamed "Trey"—was born Jan. 30, 1977 in Palo Alto, Calif.

Darryl Pounds returns for his second season in Denver looking to add the same veteran skill and savvy that contributed to the Broncos' success in 2000. His first season with the club was cut short by an elbow injury that landed him on injured reserve after 10 games, but he looks to come back healthy and strong in 2001. A leader both on and off the field throughout his six-year NFL career, Pounds has played in 78 games (four starts) and posted 152 tackles (115 solo), including three sacks (-23), as well as nine interceptions (115 yds., 1 TD), 23 passes defensed, four forced fumbles and five fumble recoveries. He has also played in two postseason contests. Pounds joined the Redskins in 1995 as a third-round draft choice (68th overall) and played his first five NFL seasons with the club.

OFF THE FIELD

Darryl made weekly trips to visit with patients at National Children's Medical Center in Washington, D.C., during the 1999 season. In 2000 he participated in a forum discussion on current issues involving athletes and society on the Black Entertainment Television program "Teen Summit."

2000: Pounds played in nine of 10 games in a reserve role and on special teams before being placed on injured reserve Nov. 15 with a dislocated right elbow. For the season he posted seven special teams tackles, tied for third most on the team at the time of his injury. He had a season-high three special teams stops in Week 2 vs. Atlanta (9/10). Pounds underwent surgery to place a pin in his thumb Oct. 16 and was declared inactive for the following game, at Cin. (10/22). He returned to action in the next game at the Jets (11/5), but then dislocated his right elbow vs. Oak. (11/13).

1999: Pounds played in all 16 games with no starts for Washington, posting 17 tackles (all solo), three forced fumbles, one fumble recovery, three interceptions (36 yards) and two passes defensed. He also added one special teams tackle and one forced fumble in two postseason games, with all of those stats occurring in Washington's playoff win over Detroit. In the season-opener against Dallas (9/12), Pounds came off the bench to collect five tackles (four solo) and record his first interception of the year. A week later at the Giants (9/19) he recorded his only sack of the season and added two tackles, a forced fumble and a special teams tackle. Pounds had his second interception of the season, a forced fumble, six tackles (four solo), a pass breakup and two special teams tackles against Carolina (10/3). In the regular-season finale against Miami, he had his third interception of the season, one forced fumble, one recovered fumble along with seven tackles(3 solo). 1998: Pounds played in all 16 games for Washington (3 starts) and had a career-high 63 tackles (48 solo), eight passes defensed and 10 special teams tackles on the season. He started in Week 3 against Seattle and had two tackles and one special teams stop. Two weeks later against Dallas he started and recorded 10 tackles (nine solo). Pounds then started again two weeks later against Minnesota and registered five tackles (four solo) and one pass defensed, as well as a fumble recovery on special teams. He had four solo tackles two weeks later against Arizona. In Week 15 against Tampa Bay Pounds recorded six tackles (five solo) and three passes defensed in a Redskins' victory. 1997: Pounds played in all 16 games with no starts and had a breakthrough season with 42 tackles (34 solo), including two sacks (-9), as well as three interceptions (42 yds.), nine passes defensed, a forced fumble and two recoveries. He had an interception in a Week 1 victory at Carolina and had three tackles and a sack in Week 9 against the Bears. A week later at Detroit he returned an interception for a touchdown. He also forced a fumble and returned it 18 yards for a touchdown in the season-finale vs. Philadelphia (12/21). 1996: Pounds played in 12 games (one start) for the Redskins, registering 17 tackles (16 solo), two passes defensed, one fumble recovery and two interceptions (11 yards). He also had seven special teams tackles. His only start came in Week 5 against the Jets. Both interceptions came in Week 10 against the Cardinals (11/10). 1995: Pounds played in nine games with no starts as a rookie for the Redskins. He didn't play in his first game until Week 8 because of a bulging disk in his back suffered during training camp. Pounds finished the season with seven tackles (three solo) and his first career interception in Week 12 against Philadelphia (11/26). He was a third round (68th overall) selection in the NFL Draft.

COLLEGE: Pounds was a four-time first-team All-Southland Conference selection at Nicholls State, only the third player to ever accomplish this feat. OFF THE FIELD

Trevor is an accomplished DJ who has released his own CD of originally produced music. It is titled "Progress... Think For Yourself." Guest appearances by various rap artists were made on the album.

Trevor Pryce last season put an exclamation point on his breakthrough 1999 season by earning his second straight trip to the Pro Bowl and running his two-year sack total to 25, raising his career total to 35.5 in just four seasons. Rewarded with a new long-term contract before the 2001 season, Pryce now looks forward to a long career with the Broncos, and stands poised to make a run at the franchise's all-time sack leaders. He earned his first Pro Bowl berth and consensus All-NFL honors in 1999 and made numerous All-Pro lists again in 2000 along with his Pro Bowl nod. A three-year starter for the Broncos, Pryce has ranked in the NFL's top 10 in sacks each of the past two seasons, and has either shared or held outright the team sack lead for three straight seasons. His 13 sacks in 1999 are fifth most in franchise history. Pryce has now played in 55 games (49 starts) and made 181 tackles (140 solo), including 35.5 sacks (-217.5), as well as two interceptions, five forced fumbles, two fumble recoveries, a blocked field goal and a touchdown on a fumble return. He has also played in eight postseason games (3 starts) and added 13 tackles (9 solo), including one sack, as well as a pass defensed. Pryce was the Broncos' first round draft choice (28th overall) in 1997.

2000: Pryce—voted as a Pro Bowl starter for the second straight season, while earning second-team All-Pro honors from College & Pro Football Newsweekly and All-AFC nods from Pro Football Weekly and Football News—started at right defensive tackle in all 16 games and posted 44 tackles (36 solo), including a team-leading 12 sacks (-76.5), as well as two forced fumbles and one fumble recovery (at Oak., 9/17) which he returned 28 yds. for his first NFL touchdown. Pryce ranked fifth in the AFC (T9th NFL) in sacks—No. 1 among defensive tackles (No. 3 NFL)—and recorded 5.5 (-33) in the three-game period of Weeks 5-7. His 12th sack came in the finale vs. S.F. (12/23) when stripped the ball from Jeff Garcia for a 9-yd. loss. He posted sacks in back-to-back games, dropping Rich Gannon for a 4-yd. loss vs. Oak. (11/13) and Ryan Leaf for a 5-yd. loss vs. S.D. (11/19) to raise his total to nine for the season, and made it four sacks in four weeks with his two sacks at N.O. (12/3). It was Pryce's fifth career multi-sack game, and gave him 34.5 sacks for his career to move ahead of teammate Maa Tanuvasa (33) for 10th on the all-time franchise list. He missed the second half at Cin. (10/22) with a knee sprain. In Week 7 he dropped Cleve. quarterback Tim Couch (10/15) for a 5-yd. loss in Denver's 44-10 win, a week after his stellar performance at S.D. (10/8) when he tied his career high with three sacks of Jim Harbaugh (-17). That performance was preceded by a 1.5-sack effort on New England's Drew Bledsoe (10/1). The San Diego game marked the third time in his career Pryce had posted three sacks in a single game, and was his fourth career multi-sack game. He posted a solo sack of Atlanta's Chris Chandler (-8) in Week 2, on which he forced a fumble, and shared a 7-yd. sack of Chandler with Harald Hasselbach later in the game. Pryce started at right defensive tackle in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and posted a career postseason-high seven solo tackles.

1999: Pryce was chosen as a starter in his first Pro Bowl appearance; named first-team All-NFL by the Associated Press, Sports Illustrated and College & Pro Football Newsweekly; second-team All-NFL by Football Digest and All-AFC by Pro Football Weekly. He started at right defensive tackle in 15 games and ranked eighth on the team — tops among defensive linemen — with 50 tackles (36 solo), including a team-leading and career-high 13 sacks (-75), as well as one interception, three forced fumbles and one fumble recovery. Pryce ranked second in the AFC (5th NFL) in sacks, and posted more than any other defensive tackle in the league. His 13 sacks tied for fifth on Denver's all-time single-season list, and were the most by a Bronco since Alfred Williams notched 13 in 1996. Pryce's interception came in the backfield at K.C. (9/19), as he pulled the ball out of the air after Elvis Grbac was hit by Neil Smith while trying to throw. It was his second career interception. Pryce's first three sacks came at Tampa Bay (9/26) on Trent Dilfer, establishing a career high.

It marked the first time since Oct. 6, 1997 (Maa Tanuvasa) that a Bronco had registered three sacks in one game. He added his fourth a week later (10/3), dropping the Jets' Rick Mirer for a 5-yd. loss, and made it three weeks in a row with a sack by dropping Oakland's Rich Gannon for a 9-yd. loss in Denver's 16-13 Week 5 win (10/10). Pryce raised his season total to six sacks vs. Minnesota (10/31) with an 8-yd. sack of Jeff George for a safety to give Denver a 9-0 lead in the 1st qtr. His seventh came at San Diego (11/7) on Jim Harbaugh (-3). Pryce turned in perhaps the most important play of the game in Denver's 27-21 overtime win against Oakland (11/22) on Monday Night Football, stripping the ball from Raiders quarterback Rich Gannon on a sack in overtime, and recovering the fumble to give Denver possession at Oakland's 24-yd. line in overtime. Denver's Olandis Gary scored on a 24-yd. run on the next play to win the game. Pryce tied his single-game career high with three sacks (-11) of Mark Brunell at Jacksonville (12/13), and ran his season total to 12 with a 7-yd. sack of Jon Kitna vs. Seattle (12/19). He knocked the ball loose on his first sack to record his third forced fumble of the season. Pryce sustained a knee injury in the Seattle game that was bothersome enough to keep him out of the following week's game at Detroit (12/25). He returned a week later for the season-finale vs. S.D. (1/2) and posted his 13th sack, dropping Moses Moreno for a 3-yd. loss. 1998: Pryce started at right defensive tackle in 15 of the 16 games and ranked seventh on the team — No. 1 among defensive linemen — with 59 tackles (48 solo), including a career-high 8.5 sacks (-56.5) to tie for the team lead and tie for 10th in the AFC. He played but did not start at Seattle (10/11) because the Seahawks opened the game in a three-wide receiver alignment. Pryce's first sack came in Week 3 at Oakland (9/20) on the Raiders' Jeff George (-7), and his second came two weeks later vs. Philadelphia (10/4) when he dropped Bobby Hoying for a 4-yd. loss. He posted his third (-7) a week later at Seattle (10/11) on John Friesz in the fourth quarter, and followed that with his first career two-sack game vs. Jacksonville (10/25), dropping Mark Brunell for 17 yds. in losses. He ran his sack total to six at Kansas City (11/16) on Monday Night Football, dropping Rich Gannon for a 10-yd. loss midway through the 4th qtr. on a 4th-and-9 play from the Broncos' 10-yd. line, and added his seventh the next week on Oakland's Donald Hollas (11/22). He combined with Maa Tanuvasa to sack Giants QB Kent Graham (-11) in the 2nd qtr. at New York (12/13) to raise his total to 7.5, and finished the year with a 4-yd. sack of Seattle's Jon Kitna in the season-finale (12/27). Pryce recorded his first career interception at Washington (9/27), picking off a Trent Green pass in Broncos territory to thwart a Redskins drive just before halftime. His first career blocked field goal came early in the second quarter of the season-opener vs. New England (9/7) when he penetrated the Patriots' line to thwart a 37-yd. attempt by Adam Vinatieri, making the recovery as well, to set up Denver for a drive that would result in a touchdown and a 17-0 lead. Pryce recorded a career-high eight tackles (6 solo) at Cincinnati. Preseason: Pryce started all four games at right defensive tackle and recorded eight tackles (5 solo), in his first preseason as a full-time starter. Pryce saw action at defensive tackle in all three postseason games and started two, making four tackles (1 solo). In the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) he did not start as the Broncos opened the game in their nickel formation. He did see starter's playing time, however, and made two assisted tackles. He posted one solo tackle in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17) and added one assisted tackle in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31), starting both contests, as Denver repeated as Super Bowl champions. 1997: Pryce played in the final eight games of the season and started three (at San Diego, 11/30; at Pittsburgh, 12/7 and vs. San Diego, 12/21) at right defensive tackle in place of Maa Tanuvasa (ankle). He was declared inactive for the first eight games. For the season he posted 28 tackles (20 solo), including two sacks (-9.5), as he notched a half a sack in each of his first two NFL appearances (Seattle, 11/2 and Carolina, 11/9), and his first solo vs. San Diego (12/21). He split the two sacks with Tyrone Braxton and Mike Lodish, respectively. Pryce saw his first professional action vs. Seattle (11/2) and responded with two tackles, including half a sack (-0.5). He made his first NFL start at San Diego (11/30) and performed well with three solo tackles. Pryce started his second straight contest at Pittsburgh (12/7). His high-tackle games on the season came vs. Oakland (11/24) and at San Francisco (12/15), posting seven stops (5 solo) in each. In the postseason Pryce played in all four games as a reserve defensive tackle and recorded two tackles (1 solo), including a sack of Jacksonville quarterback Mark Brunell in the Wild Card game (12/27/97) and an assisted tackle at Pittsburgh (1/11) in the AFC Championship Game.

COLLEGE: Pryce played one season (1996) at defensive end for Clemson, starting all 11 games and earning first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors, after transferring from Michigan where he played linebacker in 1993-94 (20 games/8 starts). He sat out the 1995 season due to NCAA transfer rules. Pryce finished his collegiate career with 118 tackles (72 solo), including 11.5 sacks (-105 yards) and 24 tackles for loss (-127), as well as 31 quarterback pressures, three forced fumbles, three fumble recoveries and two passes defensed. He was a communications major.

PERSONAL: Pryce was a consensus All-American and the top-rated defensive line prospect in the country by The Sporting News at Lake Howell High School in Casselberry, Fla. He earned All-Central Florida, all-conference and all-district accolades, and also excelled in track, finishing second in the district finals in the 110-meter high hurdles (15.0). He was born Aug. 3, 1975 in Brooklyn, N.Y. Trevor has a daughter, Khary Elise (10/28/99), and resides in Aurora, Colo.

Bill Romanowski seems to get better with age, as he continues to play at the top of his game in his 14th NFL season. His stellar play in recent seasons has been integral to the Broncos' overall success, highlighted by back-to-back World Championships and 1997 and '98—the second time Romanowski had accomplished a repeat in his career. He was a member of San Francisco's victorious Super Bowl XXIII and XXIV teams, giving him four Super Bowl rings in his career. Romanowski is one of just three players to win back-to-back Super Bowls with two different organizations, joining Marv Fleming (Green Bay, SBI and SBII; Miami, SBVII and SBVIII) and Charles Haley (San Francisco, SBXXIII and SBXXIV; Dallas, SBXXVII and SBXXVIII), and one of just 20 to win back-to-back twice in their careers. Romanowski also holds the distinction of being one of only 35 players to win a Super Bowl ring with two different teams, and is one of just 15 to win one in each conference. Romanowski is also one of the most durable athletes in the sport, having never missed a game due to injury during his 13 seasons in the league (208 games), which includes 96 consecutive starts (187 overall). His streak of 208 games played ties for the fifth longest streak among active players (third among position players). He has compiled 1,244 tackles (903 solo), including 26.5 sacks (-176.5), with 17 interceptions (98 yds., 1 TD), 63 passes defensed, 15 forced fumbles and 17 fumble recoveries. He has played in 23 postseason games and started 17, including four Super Bowls (all victories) and seven conference championship games, among 10 total playoff appearances. (6 NFC/4 AFC). His postseason numbers feature 104 tackles (85 solo), including two sacks (-15), with two interceptions, seven passes defensed, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery. Romanowski was voted to his first Pro Bowl in 1996, and duplicated that feat in 1998. The consummate winner, Romanowski's teams have won 70% of their regular season games in his 13-year career, posting a record of 145-63 (72-24, 75%, with San Francisco; 17-15, 53%, with Philadelphia; and 56-24, 70% with Denver). In the postseason his teams have won 74% of their games, with a 17-6 record (9-2, 75% with San Francisco; 1-1, 50% with Philadelphia; and 7-2, 78% with Denver). Romanowski was chosen in the third round (80th overall) of the 1988 draft by San Francisco, following an outstanding career at Boston College.

2000: Romanowski started at strongside linebacker in all 16 games and ranked second on the team with 121 tackles (88 solo), including 3.5 sacks (-17), while also adding two interceptions, three passes defensed, two forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries. He matched his season high in the finale vs. S.F. (12/23) with 13 tackles (9 solo), including a sack of Jeff Garcia for an 8-yd. loss. He posted his third game of 10 or more tackles at N.O. (12/3) with 10 (7 solo). Romanowski's two interceptions came in back-to-back games, as he picked off the Raiders' Rich Gannon (11/13) and the Chargers' Ryan Leaf (11/19). His first forced fumble came at Cin. (10/22) when he stripped the ball from Corey Dillon into the hands of teammate Eric Brown, and his second came vs. Sea. (12/10). Romanowski posted his highest tackle total of the season vs. S.D. (11/19) with 13 (11 solo), his highest total since a 15-tackle effort at Buf. in 1997 (Oct. 26). His previous high came in Week 7 vs. Cleve. (10/15) with 10 (8 solo). In the opener at St. Louis (9/4) he had five solo tackles, including a sack of Kurt Warner (-6), and added half a sack in Wk. 3 at Oak. (9/17). Romanowski started at strongside linebacker in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and posted four tackles (2 solo).

1999: Romanowski started at strongside linebacker in all 16 games and ranked second on the team with 94 tackles (69 solo), while ranking second in interceptions (3) and fourth in passes defensed (9). The three pickoffs tied his single-season career high (1996), while his 35 return yards represent a new career high. Romanowski's first interception of the season came in the 4th qtr. vs. the Jets (10/3) on a 3rd-and-goal play from the Broncos 4-yd. line, temporarily giving Denver hope while trailing 14-13. He followed that a week later with an interception of Oakland's Rich Gannon (10/10), and added his third, off Jim Harbaugh, at San Diego (11/7). Romanowski returned the latter 18 yds. for his first NFL touchdown, and made the play even more interesting by fumbling at the 1-yd. line and recovering in the end zone. 1998: Romanowski—selected to play in the Pro Bowl for the second time in his 11-year career—started at strongside linebacker in all 16 games and was outstanding, ranking third on the team with 95 tackles (71 solo), including a career-best 7.5 sacks (-56.5), as well as two interceptions, nine passes defensed, three forced fumbles and three fumble recoveries. He had a fine outing in Week 1 vs. New England (9/7) with a season-high 12 tackles (9 solo), including a career-high two sacks (-22), as well as a forced fumble. His first sack came midway through the first quarter with the Patriots operating from their own 10-yard line, and the second came on the opening play of the fourth quarter. Romanowski followed that with a brilliant all-around performance at Oakland (9/20), which included his first interception of the season (and first since last year's game at Oakland, 10/19/97), as well as his third sack, which came on a 1st-and-goal play from the Broncos' 10-yd. line, disrupting a drive that eventually ended in a Raiders field goal. Romanowski's fourth sack came in Week Four at Washington (9/27), dropping Trent Green for a 2-yd. loss. He missed the second half vs. Philadelphia (10/4) because of a groin strain initially suffered a week earlier at Washington, and finished with just one assisted tackle. He reached 5.5 sacks for the year with 1.5 (-11.5) against Jacksonville QB Mark Brunell (10/25) in Week 8. The next week at Cincinnati (11/1), Romanowski pounced on a Corey Dillon fumble (forced by John Mobley) at the Broncos' 3-yd. line to squelch a potential Bengals' scoring drive. A week later vs. San Diego (11/8) Romanowski again played a role in an opponent turnover near the goal line, this time forcing a Natrone Means fumble at the Denver 2-yd. line that was recovered by Maa Tanuvasa at the 3 late in the 4th qtr. Romanowski's next sack came vs. Oakland (11/22) when he pinned Donald Hollas for an 8-yd. loss midway through the 1st qtr., and he extended his career-high total to 7.5 vs. Kansas City (12/6) with a 2-yd. sack of the Chiefs' Rich Gannon. At New York (12/13) Romanowski recovered a fumble in the 4th qtr., forced by Tyrone Braxton, and a week later at Miami (12/21) added his third recovery of the year early in the 2nd qtr. to set up Denver's first TD drive of the night. Romanowski started at strongside linebacker in all three postseason contests and posted a team-leading 22 tackles (15 solo), including a sack (-7), as well two passes defensed, an interception, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery. In the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) he posted six tackles (3 solo), as well as a pass defensed and his second career postseason interception. Romanowski's pickoff of Dan Marino came in the 3rd qtr., and was his first in the postseason since his rookie year of 1988 with San Francisco. He added a team-leading 11 tackles (8 solo) in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17), to go along with his first career postseason forced fumble and fumble recovery. He stripped the ball from Keith Byars in the early-going of the second quarter, leading to a recovery by John Mobley, and was the beneficiary of a forced fumble by Steve Atwater early in the 4th qtr, pouncing on the loose ball to halt a Jets drive at the Broncos' 28-yd. line. Romanowski had another solid game in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31), posting five tackles (4 solo), including a 7-yd. sack of Chris Chandler, and a pass defensed as he earned his fourth Super Bowl ring (2 with San Fran., 2 with Denver) and became one of just three players in league history to enjoy repeat Super Bowl wins with two different organizations. The sack came in a crucial situation in the 1st qtr., as Atlanta faced a 3rd-and-goal at the Denver 8-yd. line on the opening drive of the game. The Falcons were forced to settle for a field goal and did not reach the end zone until the 4th qtr. when the game was virtually out of reach. 1997: Romanowski started all 16 games at strongside linebacker and ranked second on the team with 117 tackles (77 solo), including two sacks for 18 yards lost (at Atlanta, 9/28 and vs. Cincinnati 9/21), and also posted one interception, two passes defensed and two forced fumbles. He posted his first of three double-figure tackle performances vs. St. Louis (9/21) with 12 stops (5 solo). His others came at Buffalo (10/26), with a season-high 15 (9 solo), and at San Francisco (12/15) with 15 again on Monday Night Football. His first sack of the season came vs. Cincinnati (9/14) in a 38-28 Broncos win, and his second came two weeks later at Atlanta (9/28). His interception came at Oakland (10/19). Romanowski was named a defensive team captain at mid-season, joining Steve Atwater. In the postseason Romanowski started all four games at strongside linebacker and joined a list of just 30 NFL players who have won a Super Bowl with more than one team (San Francisco, SB XXIII, SB XXIV), and one of just 13 to win one in each conference. In the postseason he recorded 18 tackles (15 solo) with one pass defensed. In the AFC Wild Card Playoff vs. Jacksonville (12/27) he posted four tackles (3 solo) and then the next week in Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff Game at Kansas City (1/4/98) he posted five more solo tackles in Denver's 14-10 win. In the AFC Championship Game at Pittsburgh (1/11) Romanowski posted four tackles (3 solo) in Denver's 24-21 triumph. He posted five tackles (4 solo) with one pass defensed in Denver's 31-24 defeat of Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII (1/25/98). 1996: Romanowski started all 16 games at strongside linebacker and made a tremendous impact on the Broncos' defensive unit, earning his first trip to the Pro Bowl, second-team All-Pro honors from College & Pro Football Newsweekly and second-team All-AFC kudos from UPI. His veteran leadership elevated the play of the entire defense to reach a No. 4 ranking in the league, as he led the team with 128 tackles (94 solo), three sacks (-10), three interceptions, three fumble recoveries and 12 passes defensed. Romanowski's three sacks tied his previous best ('93) while his three interceptions established a new career high. Romanowski had a sack in his debut in a Broncos uniform vs. the Jets (9/1), one of nine stops (8 solo) he made in Denver's 31-6 win. The first two of his three fumble recoveries on the season and his first interception all came at Seattle (9/8) in a 30-20 Broncos win. Two weeks later at Kansas City (9/22) he came up big again, snaring his second interception of the season, and eighth of his career, while also leading the team with 12 tackles (9 solo). Versus San Diego (10/6) he led the team with 11 tackles (9 solo) in a spirited performance that sparked the Broncos' defense to a second-half shutout en route to a 28-17 win. The following week vs. Baltimore (10/20) Romanowski made a team-high 10 tackles (8 solo), including a half a sack (-4) on which he combined with Jumpy Geathers to drop Ravens quarterback Vinny Testaverde in the fourth quarter. He followed that performance with 10 tackles (7 solo) and two passes defensed in Denver's 34-7 rout of Kansas City (10/27), then made 11 tackles (8 solo), one sack (-5) and one pass defensed at Oakland on Monday Night Football as the Broncos prevailed over the Raiders 22-21. Three weeks later at Minnesota (11/24) Romanowski finished with 10 tackles (9 solo) and one pass breakup in Denver's 21-17 win. His career-best third interception of the season came in the season-finale at San Diego (12/22). Romanowski started at strongside linebacker and made two solo tackles in Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff vs. Jacksonville (1/4/97). He signed with the Broncos Feb. 23, 1996, the first free agent signed by the franchise in '96. 1995: Romanowski started all 16 games at left linebacker for the Eagles, finishing second on the team in tackles with 127 (77 solo), and adding two interceptions and one sack. He put together three straight 10-tackle outings against the Giants, at Washington and at Seattle in Weeks 11-13. In Week 14 against Dallas, Romanowski had an outstanding afternoon, recording a season-high 15 tackles and one pass defensed. He made the biggest play of the game when he put a huge hit on Cowboy's running back Emmitt Smith to stuff him at the line of scrimmage on the Cowboy's 29-yard line on a fourth-and-inches play with the game tied at 17. That stop allowed Gary Anderson to kick a 42-yard game-winning field goal and gave the Eagles a 20-17 victory. He recorded nine stops (six solo) and forced a critical fumble by Arizona's Garrison Hearst in Week 15. Romanowski had an amazing season-finale at Chicago, registering a mind-boggling 24 tackles (17 solo) and intercepting a pass as well as recovering a fumble. On Dec. 30 in an NFC Wild Card Game vs. Detroit, Romanowski had one tackle in Philadelphia's 58-37 victory. He did not see much action because the Eagles played primarily in a nickel defense with a substantial lead. The following week in an NFC Divisional Playoff Game at Dallas, Romanowski had 11 tackles (10 solo). 1994: Romanowski was acquired by the Eagles on draft day '94 from the 49ers when the Eagles traded their third- and sixth-round choices to San Francisco. He started 15 games at left linebacker, a spot that was previously occupied by perennial All-Pro Seth Joyner. "Romo" finshed fifth on the team with 96 tackles, including 2.5 sacks. He started 72 consecutive regular season games until the Eagles started their Oct. 24 game against Houston with five defensive backs. He also had two interceptions on the season. 1993: Romanowski had his finest season as a pro, leading the 49ers in tackles for the third time in four years with a career-high 105 stops (82 solo), including three sacks. He led the team in tackles eight times, including 15 stops and a forced fumble against Cincinnati (12/5). In two playoff games he totalled 11 tackles (10 solo). 1992: Romanowski started all 16 games for San Francisco, leading the team in tackles with 80 (65 solo). He started 14 games at outside linebacker and two at inside linebacker. Romanowski also had three special teams tackles on the season. In two playoff games, he had seven tackles (six solo) and one sack. 1991: Romanowski started all 16 games and finished the year with 76 tackles (67 solo), one sack, one interception and two fumble recoveries. He posted a then-career-high 10 tackles at the L.A. Rams (11/25). 1990: Romanowski started all 16 games for San Francisco and finished as the team leader in tackles with 79 (68 solo), leading the team in tackles six times. In two playoff games he had 12 stops (11 solo) and three special teams tackles. He had his best game of the year in the NFC Championship Game vs. the New York Giants, when he registered a team-high eight stops. 1989: Romanowski played in all 16 games, and made four starts. He had 53 stops on the year (47 solo), two fumble recoveries and one interception. He also had eight special teams stops. In three playoff games he had 12 stops (ten solo) and six special teams tackles as the 49ers won their second consecutive Super Bowl title, this one over the Broncos 55-10. 1988: Romanowski played in all 16 games and made eight starts, including his first professional game at New Orleans, in which he earned a game ball for his efforts. He finished the season with 53 tackles (38 solo), three forced fumbles and seven special teams tackles. In three playoff games he had four solo stops and one interception, which came in Super Bowl XXIII against Cincinnati off Boomer Esiason, as the 49ers defeated the Bengals 20-16. Romanowski was a third-round pick (80th overall) by the 49ers out of Boston College.

COLLEGE: Romanowski was among the finalists for the Butkus Award as a senior in 1987 at Boston College, given annually to the top linebacker in the nation, as he led the Golden Eagles with 156 tackles. He was the Defensive MVP of the 1985 Cotton Bowl against Houston with 13 tackles, as he and QB Doug Flutie helped lead the Eagles to a 45-28 victory and a final ranking of No. 4 in the national polls. He had at least seven tackles in every game of the 1986 season as a junior, and intercepted four passes for 44 yards. He also registered a team-high 150 tackles as a sophomore in 1985. Romanowski earned a bachelor's degree in general management from Boston College.

PERSONAL: Romanowski resides in Littleton, Colo., with his wife Julie, son Dalton James (3/15/94) and daughter Alexandra (4/4/97). In addition to playing football, he lettered twice in basketball and was a standout on the baseball squad at Rockville High School in Vernon, Conn. He was the No. 2-rated linebacker in the state as a senior. In 1994 he donated $100 for each of his 96 tackles to The Caring Foundation of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield. Bill and Julie created The Romanowski Family Foundation for the Future—a fund of the Denver Foundation—to provide ongoing help to children in Colorado and throughout the country. The purpose of the foundation is to help educate, heal, support and inspire children. It seeks to provide access to camps, after-school programs, motivational events and medical care, and supports organizations that serve children in need. William Thomas Romanowski was born April 2, 1966 in Vernon, Conn.

Tom Rouen enters his ninth season in Denver as one of the leading punters in the history of the franchise, ranking second in career punts and third in yards-per-punt average. He led the NFL in gross punting average in 1999 (46.5) after posting the best yards-per-punt average of his career in '98 (franchise-record 46.9). Rouen has also been impeccable as Jason Elam's holder on field goals and point-after attempts for eight seasons, playing an extremely key role in Elam's NFL-record-tying 63-yard field goal in '98. He has also held for Elam as the Broncos kicker ran his streak of successful PAT attempts to an NFL-recod 313 to close the 2000 season. Rouen has played in 128 career games since signing with the Broncos as a free agent in 1993. Rouen has also played in 10 postseason games, and ranks second on that list, as well, with 45 career punts.

OFF THE FIELD

Tom is married to five-time Olympic gold medalist Amy Van Dyken. Van Dyken dominated the swimming portion of the 1996 Summer Games in Atlanta, becoming the first U.S. woman to claim four gold medals in one Olympics, then added a fifth in the 2000 summer games in Sydney, Australia. Rouen and Van Dyken were married in February 2001.

2000: Rouen averaged 40.2 yds. on 61 punts (2,455 yds.) with a long of 62, and placed 18 inside the 20-yd. line with nine touchbacks. He also had one punt blocked and made one special teams tackle, and posted a net average of 32.3. Rouen tied his career high (third time) with nine punts at S.D. (10/8). He handled kickoffs during the second half vs. Atlanta (9/10) after Jason Elam left the game with a back injury. Rouen punted a Broncos postseason-record nine times in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and averaged 38.4 yds. per punt with a net of 35.6. His longest punt of 62 yds. represented a personal postseason best.

1999: Rouen averaged 46.5 yds. on a career-high 84 punts (3,908 yds.), with a net avg. of 35.6 and a long of 65 yds. He placed 19 punts inside the 20-yd. line and had 16 touchbacks, while also adding one special teams tackle (vs. Oak., 11/22). Rouen led the NFL with a gross average of 46.5, making him the first Bronco to do so since Mike Horan in 1990. He was spectacular at Oakland (10/10) in Denver's first win of the season, averaging 54.2 yds. on five punts, and posted an average of 53.2 yds. on 18 punts over a four-game span beginning with that game (Games 5-8). Rouen set a career high with five punts placed inside the 20-yd. line vs. Oakland (11/22), and his nine punts were also a career high, which he duplicated the next week vs. K.C. (12/5). In the latter contest he also set a career mark for punting yardage in a game (479). Additionally, his 18 punts in games 11-12 (vs. Oak., 11/22 and vs. K.C., 12/5) were the most in a two-game span during his career. 1998: Rouen averaged a career-best and franchise-record 46.9 yards on 66 punts (3,097 yds.) with a net average of 37.6, 10 touchbacks and 14 punts placed inside the 20-yd. line, and had one punt blocked (William Thomas, Phila., 10/4) for a safety. He also had one special teams tackle. Rouen ranked second in the NFL in punting average, and ranked fourth in the AFC (7th NFL) in net average. His longest punt (76 yds. at Oak., 9/20) established a new career best and ranked as the third longest punt in Broncos history, while also standing as the longest in the NFL in 1998. He also had a 71-yarder vs. Phila. (10/4). In that contest vs. the Eagles Rouen attempted an extra-point in the third quarter because of an injury to Jason Elam, but missed wide left. Rouen played a crucial role in a history-making play Oct. 25 at Mile High Stadium vs. Jacksonville, providing the placement for Jason Elam's NFL-record-tying 63-yd. field goal in the closing seconds of the first half. Rouen averaged 44.9 yards on 10 punts (449 yds.) in three postseason games, and had one attempt blocked, for a net average of 34.1. He also had one rushing attempt of -9 yds. after a bobbled snap and subsequent fumble recovery. In the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) he averaged 48.5 yards on two punts (97 yds.) and posted a net average of 33. The 48.5 punting average represented a franchise single-game best for the postseason. A week later in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17), Rouen tied a franchise postseason record with seven punts (Mike Horan vs. Wash., Super Bowl XXII, 1/31/88) and averaged 45.3 yds.-per-punt, but had one attempt blocked, lowering his net average to 34.3 for the game. Early in the 3rd qtr. New York's Blake Spence burst through the Denver line to block the punt and Fred Baxter recovered at the Broncos' 1-yd. line, placing the Jets in position for the touchdown that put them ahead 10-0. Rouen also recorded the longest punt of his postseason career during the Jets game, with a 59-yard boot, and posted a special teams tackle. Rouen's only punt in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31) went for 35 yds., and was downed inside the Falcons' 20-yd. line. 1997: Rouen averaged 43.3 yards on 60 punts with a net of 38.1, ranking fourth in the AFC (5th NFL). His 43.3-yard average ranked sixth in the AFC (10th NFL). Rouen placed 22 punts inside the 20-yard line and recorded just four touchbacks, with a long of 57 (at Pitt., 12/7). He tied a career-high with eight punts at Buffalo (10/26), matching his previous high set at the Raiders in 1994 (12/11). Rouen closed the regular season on a high note, averaging 48.5 yards (net of 43.8) on four punts with a long of 54 yards at San Francisco (12/15), including three placed inside the 20-yard line, and followed that with a 53-yard average on two punts vs. San Diego (12/21), with a long of 56. In the postseason Rouen averaged 36.4 yards with a long of 53 yards on 17 punts, and placed six punts inside the 20-yard line with just one touchback. He had one attempt blocked, and posted a net average of 31.4 yards. In the AFC Wild Card Playoff vs. Jacksonville (12/27), Rouen averaged 49.5 yards on two punts with a long of 53 (his postseason best), and placed one punt inside the 20-yard line. His third punting attempt of the day was blocked by the Jaguars' Travis Davis and returned 29 yards for a touchdown to cut the Broncos' lead to 21-17 in the third quarter. In Denver's 14-10 AFC Divisional Playoff win at Kansas City (1/4/98), he averaged 36.2 yards on six punts with a long of 51. He placed two inside the 20-yard line and recorded one touchback, while posting a net average of 34.5. In the AFC Championship Game at Pittsburgh (1/11), he averaged 31.4 yards on five punts, and placed one inside the 20-yard line. He closed out the postseason in Super Bowl XXXII vs. Green Bay (1/25/98) by averaging 36.5 yards with a long of 47 yards on four punts, and placed two punts inside the 20-yard line. 1996: Rouen averaged 41.8 yards on 65 punts with a net of 36.2 yards during the regular season, ranking among the top punters in the AFC in the latter category. He had five touchbacks and placed 16 punts inside the 20, with a long of 57 (vs. Tampa Bay, 9/15). Rouen had a 56-yarder against Chicago (11/10), and played a huge role in Denver's 28-17 win vs. San Diego (10/6). He placed two of his five punts inside the Charger 20-yard line to help the Broncos gain the vital field position they needed to overcome a 17-0 first-half deficit. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff vs. Jacksonville (1/4/97) Rouen averaged 42.6 yards on five punts with a long of 52. He placed three punts inside the 20 and had one touchback. 1995: Rouen averaged 42.2 yards on 52 punts, with a net of 37.6. He placed 22 punts inside the opponent's 20-yard line with just three touchbacks, fewest in the NFL. His 42.2-yard average ranked eighth in the AFC (tied for 15th NFL), while his net average of 37.6 was third in the AFC (5th NFL). At San Diego (9/24), Rouen punted five times for 199 yards (39.8) and put three inside the 20-yard line with no touchbacks. Two weeks later at New England (10/8), Rouen placed four of his five punts inside the Patriots' 20-yard line, and followed that a week later vs. Oakland (10/16) with three punts for an average of 56.0, and placed two inside the Raiders' 20-yard line. His first punt — kicked from the back of his own end zone — travelled 61 yards, just shy of his career-best of 62 yards. 1994: Rouen enjoyed an outstanding season, leading the entire NFL in net punting average at 37.1 yards. His overall average of 42.9 yards-per-punt tied him for third in the AFC. Rouen had just one punt in the season-opener, but served notice of the type of year he would have by booming a season-best 59-yarder. He matched that effort again later in the year at San Diego (10/23). His best average per punt (excluding the one-punt, 59-yard effort in the opener) came at Buffalo (9/26) when he covered 100 yards with his two punts (52, 48) for a 50.0-yard average. He was busiest in the game at the L.A. Raiders (12/11) with eight punts for 337 yards (42.1 average). For the season Rouen placed 23 of his 76 punts inside the opponents' 20-yard line. 1993: Rouen punted exceptionally well after earning a roster spot in training camp and preseason. He finished second in the AFC and second in the NFL with a 45.0-yard punting average, fourth-best in Bronco history at the time, and a 37.1-yard net average. Rouen's best game came at San Diego where he averaged 50.5 yards on six punts. 1992: Rouen played for the World League of American Football's Ohio Glory, and participated in the training camp of the L.A. Rams. Rouen earned All-World League honors with a 41.5-yard punt average. 1991: Rouen was a free agent in the New York Giants' training camp.

COLLEGE: Rouen finished his collegiate career with a 42.8-yard average, playing for both Colorado (1988-90) and Colorado State (1987). As a junior, Rouen led the nation in punting with a 45.9-yard average, earning All-America honors.

PERSONAL: Tom is a graduate of Heritage High School in Littleton, Colo., where he played both football and baseball. He is heavily active in the community, speaking at schools and functions in the Denver area. Thomas Francis Rouen was born June 9, 1968 in Hinsdale, Ill. He and his wife, five-time Olympic gold medal-winning swimmer Amy Van Dyken, make their home in Littleton.

The Broncos have grown accustomed to the steady contributions of fullback Detron Smith, whether on special teams or as the backup to starting fullback Howard Griffith. He was recognized for being a leader on Denver's special teams in 1999 by being voted to play in the Pro Bowl as the AFC's special teams performer. That honor proves the respect he has gained from his peers, as well as coaches throughout the league, in his five NFL seasons. Smith is Denver's main wedge-buster on kickoffs, as well as starring on other special teams units. He has played in 76 regular season games and rushed five times for 17 yards (3.4); caught 12 passes for 89 yards (7.4) with a long of 17 and two touchdowns; returned 10 kickoffs for 136 yards (13.6) and made 47 special teams tackles. He has also played in eight postseason contests. Smith was the Broncos' third-round draft choice (No. 65 overall) in 1996 out of Texas A&M.

2000: Smith played in all 16 games for the second straight year, primarily in a reserve role and on special teams. He handled the fullback duties for the entire game at Cin. (10/22), with Howard Griffith out because of injury (knee), and caught a 1-yd. pass for his second career touchdown. Smith made six special teams tackles, forced two fumbles (one on punt coverage at K.C., 12/17 and one on kickoff coverage vs. Atl., 9/10) and returned five kickoffs for 73 yds. (14.6) with a long of 17. Smith saw action on special teams in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and returned one kickoff for 15 yds. and one punt for no gain.

1999: Smith played in all 16 games, rushing once for 7 yds. (at K.C., 9/19) and catching 4 passes for 23 yds. (5.8) with a long of 11. He was selected to his first Pro Bowl as the special teams performer, and was named All-AFC as a special teamer by Pro Football Weekly. Smith led the club in special teams tackles (16) and returned one kickoff for 12 yds. with a long of 11 (1-11 vs. Miami, 9/13 and 0-1 vs. Minnesota, 10/31, as part of a lateral play). In addition, Smith forced a fumble and recovered one on special teams, and blocked a punt (vs. Oak., 11/22). The fumble recovery came at San Diego (11/7) after the Chargers' Chris Penn mishandled a Tom Rouen punt at his own 38-yd. line, setting up a drive that ended in a Broncos field goal for a 26-17 fourth-quarter lead. The play was pivotal, as San Diego had scored touchdowns on two straight possessions to draw within 23-17 with 7:37 remaining in the game, and were set to begin an offensive series in good field position. He forced a fumble on a kickoff return at Seattle (11/14), jarring the ball from Ahman Green's hands to set up a Broncos field goal. Smith tied his career high with two receptions at K.C. (9/19). In Denver's 27-21 overtime win against Oakland (11/22) on Monday Night Football, Smith blocked a Raiders punt in the end zone, resulting in a safety that gave Denver a 12-0 lead. Smith handled the fullback duties in the second half vs. Seattle (12/19) after Howard Griffith left the game with a sprained ankle, and finished the game with two catches for 7 yds. (3.5) with a long of 5. 1998: Smith saw action on special teams and in the offensive backfield in 15 of the 16 games and posted 15 special teams tackles, while also returning three kickoffs for 51 yards (17.0) (1-21 vs. Dal., 9/13; 1-15 at Oak., 9/20 and 1-15 at Miami, 12/21). Smith started two games, including the first start of his career in Week 9 at Cincinnati (11/1) in place of the injured Howard Griffith (hamstring) and caught three passes for 24 yds. (8.0) with a long of 16 (at K.C., 11/16), while helping to pave the way for two Terrell Davis 100-yd. efforts (111 and 149). Smith's 2 receptions in the Cincinnati contest represented a career high. He played almost the entire San Diego game (11/8) at fullback after Griffith left the contest on the first series with a second-degree medial collateral tear in his left knee. Smith still performed well on special teams despite the double-duty, posting a season-high two tackles. His second start came at Kansas City (11/16) on Monday Night Football when he started in place of the still-ailing Griffith. Smith caught a 16-yd. pass and tied his season high with 2 special teams tackles. Smith missed a portion of the Philadelphia game (10/4) after spraining his right knee and ankle during the contest, and was declared inactive (Fri.) the following week at Seattle (10/11) because of the same injuries. He returned to action after the bye week vs. Jacksonville (10/25) and played on special teams (1 tackle), as well at fullback during the 4th qtr. after Griffith suffered his hamstring injury. Smith saw action on offense and special teams in all three postseason games. 1997: Smith contributed in all 16 games at fullback, catching four passes for 41 yards (10.3) and a touchdown (at Atlanta, 9/28), while rushing four times for 10 yards (2.5). He was also a stalwart on special teams, where he made seven tackles and fielded a kickoff for no return, while also serving as the wedge-buster on kickoff coverage. Smith played most of the Atlanta game (9/28) at fullback after Howard Griffith went down with a knee injury on the first series. He recorded his first career rush for one yard in the first quarter, and later snagged his first career reception for a 17-yard touchdown from John Elway in the third quarter to give Denver a 29-14 lead. He also recorded one kickoff return for no yards. After catching one pass for seven yards against the Raiders (10/19), Smith also replaced the injured Griffith at fullback at Buffalo (10/26), but did not start the game as the Broncos opened in a two-tight end set. He rushed once for -2 yards and caught one pass for eight yards. In the regular season finale vs. San Diego (12/21) he rushed twice for 11 yards and caught one pass for 9 yards, and made one tackle on special teams. In the postseason Smith played in all four games as the backup fullback, and also contributed on special teams. He filled in admirably for Griffith in the Wild Card win over Jacksonville (12/27/97), as Denver racked up over 300 yards rushing in the game. His crushing block on Jaguars' linebacker Bryan Schwartz sprung Terrell Davis on his postseason franchise-record 59-yard jaunt late in the third quarter. Smith narrowly missed recovering a Tamarick Vanover fumble near the end of the first half at Kansas City (1/4/98) in Denver's 14-10 AFC Divisional Playoff victory. 1996: Smith played in 13 of the 16 regular season games in his rookie season, missing only the Cincinnati (9/29), Seattle (12/1) and Oakland (12/15) contests when he was declared inactive. He saw some action at fullback, but played primarily on special teams, where he made three tackles according to unofficial press box statistics. Smith, bothered early in training camp by a sprained ankle suffered July 25, played in all four preseason games both on offense and special teams. He did not have a rushing attempt, but did catch six passes for 33 yards (5.5) with a long of 11. Smith was declared inactive for Denver's lone playoff contest vs. Jacksonville (1/4/97).

COLLEGE: Smith was primarily a blocking back during his career at Texas A&M, creating holes first for Greg Hill and then for Leeland McElroy. He rushed 57 times for 184 yards (3.2) and one touchdown, while catching 33 passes for 300 yards (9.1) with a long of 35 yards. Smith also returned five kickoffs for 54 yards (10.8) with a long of 15. In his first two years at A&M (1992-93) Smith's running backs coach was Broncos offensive coordinator Gary Kubiak.

PERSONAL: Smith was a consensus Texas Top 100 selection at Lake Highlands High School in Dallas, and rated the second-best fullback prospect in the Southwest, receiving a perfect score of 10 points on Max Emfinger's Blue Chip List. He carried the ball 181 times for 1,351 yards (7.5) and scored 15 touchdowns. Smith was a wildlife and fisheries major at Texas A&M. Detron Negil Smith was born Feb. 25, 1974 in Dallas. He is single and resides in Aurora, Colo.

OFF THE FIELD

A 1994 graduate of Missouri Southern, Rod holds three different degrees: economics and finance, general business, as well as marketing and management. He began supporting an orphanage in Mexico City in 1994, and in August 1997 had the opportunity to meet the children when the Broncos traveled to Mexico City for a preseason American Bowl game. Rod hosted a group of the children for several hours at the team hotel and donated Broncos hats and t-shirts to more than 400 others.

Just when it seemed Rod Smith might have reached the pinnacle of his pro football career—with two Super Bowl wins to his credit, an 80-yard touchdown catch in Super Bowl XXXIII and two of the top seasons by a receiver in franchise history—he elevated his game to new heights. In 2000 Smith and teammate Ed McCaffrey launched an all-out assault on the Broncos record book, with Smith shattering the previous mark for receiving yards in a season (1,244) by tallying 1,601. En route to his first Pro Bowl selection and numerous All-NFL honors Smith also tied Lionel Taylor's franchise record of 100 receptions, finishing just shy of McCaffrey's new record of 101. The duo became just the second pair of teammates to each log 100 catches in the same season, and Smith became just the 28th player in NFL history to catch 100 passes in a season. His 1,601 receiving yards tied for eighth most in a single season in NFL history, placing him alongside San Diego's Lance Alworth (1965). He led the AFC in receiving yards and ranked third in receptions, and was named AFC Offensive Player of the Month for November. Smith is the only player in Broncos history to put up four consecutive 1,000-yard seasons. The seventh-year pro has now played in 89 games and started 65, catching 357 passes for 5,413 yards (15.2) with 33 touchdowns and a long of 78 yards. He has also rushed 17 times for 178 yards (10.5) with a long of 50 for a touchdown; returned 24 punts for a 12.3-yard average (295 yds.) with a long of 36; returned six kickoffs for a 15.5-yard average (93 yds.) with a long of 29 and completed his only pass attempt, a 14-yarder to John Elway in 1998. Smith now ranks sixth in Broncos history in career receptions, seventh in receiving yards and eighth in receiving touchdowns. He also holds the Nos. 1, 5 and 6 spots on the Broncos' all-time single-season receiving-yardage list, with last year's 1,601 at the top, followed by 1,222 yards in 1998 and 1,180 in '97. His combined four-year regular season receiving total of 5,023 yards from 1997-2000 is the best over a four-year span in franchise history. Smith has also played in nine postseason games (8 starts) and caught 27 passes for 538 yards (19.9) and three touchdowns, with a long of 80, which went for a touchdown in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta. The 80-yard score tied for the second-longest play from scrimmage in a Super Bowl game, and ranks as the longest play from scrimmage in Broncos postseason history. Smith's 152 yards in Super Bowl XXXIII rank as the fourth-highest receiving figure in Super Bowl history, and moved him into second place on Denver's all-time postseason receiving chart. He also ranks fifth in receptions (24), second in receiving touchdowns (3) and fourth in avg. yds. per catch (20.0). Smith's first NFL touchdown in 1995—on his first NFL reception—may always be his most memorable, as he outleaped Washington Redskins future Hall of Famer Darrell Green to haul in a 43-yard Elway pass in the end zone as time expired, giving Denver a 38-31 victory. Smith entered the NFL in 1994 as a rookie free agent with the Broncos out of Missouri Southern. He spent that season on the practice squad before making the 53-man roster for the first time in '95.

2000: Smith—voted to play in his first Pro Bowl; named second-team All-NFL by the Associated Press; named first-team All-Pro by USA Today, College & Pro Newsweekly and Football Digest and All-AFC by Pro Football Weekly and Football News—started at wide receiver in all 16 games and led the AFC in receiving yards (2nd NFL) while ranking third in the AFC (4th NFL) in receptions, with a career-high 100 catches for a franchise-record 1,602 yds. (16.0), an average of 100.1 yards per game. He also had eight receiving touchdowns with a long of 49 yds., and had one touchdown rushing (50 yds.) among his six carries for 99 yds. (16.5). Smith's 100 receptions tied for second most by a Bronco in a single season, trailing only teammate Ed McCaffrey's franchise-record 101 this year and matching the previous standard held by Lionel Taylor (1961). It made him the 28th player in NFL history to reach 100 in a season, and made Smith and McCaffrey the second tandem in NFL history each catch 100 passes in a season (Detroit's Herman Moore-123 and Brett Perriman-108 did so in 1995). Meanwhile his 1,602 receiving yards tied for eighth most in a season in NFL history (with San Diego's Lance Alworth, 1965). Smith was named AFC Offensive Player of the Month for November when he caught 26 passes for 479 yds. (18.4) and one touchdown, and rushed three times for 78 yds. (26.0) and a score to help the Broncos to a 4-0 record. It was the first such honor of his career. Smith ranked third in the AFC (8th NFL) in yds.-per-catch avg.; tied for sixth in the AFC (T11th NFL) with eight receiving touchdowns; ranked fifth in the AFC (10th NFL) in total yards from scrimmage (1,701); led the NFL in receiving first downs (77) while ranking seventh (11th NFL) in total first downs (80); tied for eighth in the AFC (T12th NFL) in third-down receiving (22-408-18.5-LG49-3TD) and tied for the NFL lead in pass receptions of 20 yards or longer, with 28 (Torry Holt). Stretching back to the 1999 season Smith finished 2000 on a tear in his last 25 games, averaging 6.4 receptions for 93.1 yds. per game (160-2,328). Smith caught eight passes for 80 yds. in the finale vs. S.F. (12/23) to reach 100 catches for the season, becoming just the 28th player in NFL history to accomplish the feat in a single season. He also moved past Steve Watson (353) for sixth place on Denver's all-time receptions list (now 357). Smith claimed several more milestones at K.C. (12/17) with his club-record eighth 100-yd. receiving game of the season (6-101), breaking the previous standard of seven set by Taylor in 1960. It was also the 21st of his career, second most in franchise history (Lionel Taylor-24). He had another strong performance vs. Sea. (12/10) with 82 yds. on five receptions (16.4), and also rushed for a first down on a 5-yd. carry out of the backfield. In Denver's 38-31 win two weeks earlier at Sea. (11/26) Smith broke Steve Watson's franchise record for receiving yards in a season (1,244) by catching four passes for 82 yds. (20.5) to reach 1,314 yds. for the year, with four games remaining. He also had the best rushing day of his career at the Seahawks with three carries for 78 yds. (26.0), including a career-best 50-yd. run for a touchdown. Smith was key to the Broncos' 38-37 win over S.D. (11/19), hauling in a game-high 11 receptions for a career-high 187 yds. (17.0), the second highest total in club history. It was Smith's seventh 100-yd. receiving game of the season, tying the previous club record. Smith caught his eighth touchdown pass of the season in the S.D. game, a 26-yarder from Gus Frerotte to trigger a 21-point 4th-qtr. outburst that propelled Denver to the dramatic come-from-behind win. It was the 33rd receiving TD of his career, moving him into sole possession of eighth place on the Broncos' all-time list. Smith also went over the 5,000-yd. receiving mark for his career in the game. In the 10th game, vs. Oak. (11/13), Smith went over the 1,000-yd. mark for the season, his fourth straight 1,000-yd. campaign to extend his own franchise record. Additionally, his four career 1,000-yd. receiving seasons ties the franchise record held by Lionel Taylor (1960-61, '63, '65). A week earlier at the Jets (11/5) Smith tied a franchise record with his third straight 100-yd. receiving game (Taylor-1961, Mark Jackson-1988 and Anthony Miller-1994), catching five passes for a game-high 134 yds. In the contest he passed Mark Jackson (4,746) for seventh place on the club's all-time receiving yards list, and now has 5,413. He eclipsed the 100-yd. receiving mark for the second straight week at Cin. (10/22) with 110 yds. and a touchdown on seven receptions. Additionally, his touchdown was the 32nd receiving score of his career, tying him with Al Denson for eighth in franchise history. It marked the second straight (16.8) with a long of 25. At Oak. (9/17) he had seven catches for the second week in a row. He was sensational vs. Atlanta (9/10) with a game-high seven receptions for 117 yards (16.7) and two touchdowns—one from 11 yds. and one from 37. It was his 14th career 100-yard game and catapulted him over the 4,000-yard mark in career receiving. In the opener at St. Louis (9/4) Smith caught three passes for 88 yds. (29.3) with a long of 47 and one touchdown and rushed once for 8 yds. Smith's touchdown came on a 25-yd. pass from Brian Griese in the 2nd qtr. to put Denver ahead 17-14. Smith started in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and caught three passes for 58 yds. (19.3) with a long of 24. He also rushed twice for three yds. (1.5) with a long of 7.

1999: Smith started 15 games and led the team with 79 receptions for 1,020 yds. (12.9) and four touchdowns with a long of 71. He ranked fifth in the AFC in receptions and ninth in receiving yards, and was magnificent over the final nine games, catching 60 passes for 726 yds., an average of 6.7 and 80.7 per game. By finishing with 1,020 yards, Smith became the first player in franchise history to post three consecutive seasons with 1,000 or more receiving yards, and together with Ed McCaffrey (1,018) made it two straight seasons with two receivers topping 1,000, and the fourth time overall in franchise history. Smith missed the Kansas City game (9/19) due to a groin injury suffered late in the 1st half of the opener vs. Miami (9/13). His first two catches of the season came in Week 3 at Tampa Bay (9/26), and he added three more for a season-high 90 yds. vs. the Jets (10/3). Smith's total vs. the Jets included a 71-yd. reception from Brian Griese in the 1st qtr. He topped all receivers at Oakland (10/10) with 79 yds. on seven receptions (11.3), including his first touchdown of the season, on a 3-yd. toss from Griese just before halftime, despite being hampered by a sore groin. Smith posted his highest yardage total of the season vs. Minnesota (10/31) with seven catches for 117 yards — his 10th career 100-yd. game and first of the year. He led all receivers the following week at San Diego (11/7) with five catches for 70 yds. (14.0), and was the leader again in terms of receptions a week later at Seattle (11/14) with seven for 63 yds. (9.0). Smith posted a then-season-high eight catches in recording his second 100-yd. performance of the season (106) vs. K.C. (12/5). His third touchdown of the season came from Griese at Jacksonville (12/13), and gave Denver a 7-0 1st-qtr. lead. He led all receivers with 6 catches for 92 yds. (15.3) for the game. Smith caught his fourth touchdown of the season vs. Seattle (12/19) on a 14-yd. pass from Griese to move into sole possession of ninth place on Denver's career receiving-touchdown list. He was outstanding in the season-finale vs. S.D. (1/2), tying his career high with nine receptions for a game-high 106 yards (11.8), pushing him over the 1,000-yard receiving mark for a franchise-record third consecutive season. It was Smith's third 100-yard game of the season, and the 12th of his career. Smith was recognized by his teammates for his toughness and dedication by being chosen as the team's nominee for the Ed Block Memorial Award for Courage. 1998: Smith—named second-team All-NFL by College & Pro Football Newsweekly— started at wide receiver in all 16 games and continued to establish himself as one of the league's most productive receivers with a team-leading 86 receptions (fourth-best in club history) for 1,222 yds. (third-best in club history) for a 14.2-yard average and six touchdowns, including a long of 58 (vs. K.C., 12/6). He also gained 63 yards rushing on six reverses (1-37 at Wash., 9/27; 1-9 vs. Phila., 10/4; 1-8 vs. Jax., 10/25; 1-7 at K.C., 11/16; 1-12 at S.D., 11/29 and 1-(-10) at Miami, 12/21) to give him 1,285 total yards from scrimmage, and threw one pass, a 14-yd. completion to John Elway (vs. Oak., 11/22). Smith tied for second in the AFC (T3rd NFL) in receptions and ranked second in the AFC (4th NFL) in receiving yards, while also tying for fifth in fhe AFC (T8th NFL) in third-down receptions (24-352) and ranking eighth (14th NFL) in first downs earned (63). With 1,222 receiving yards this season, on the heels of his 1,180-yd. campaign in 1997, Smith became just the fifth player in franchise history to post 1,000 or more receiving yards in back-to-back seasons (Lionel Taylor, 1960-61; Steve Watson, 1983-84; Anthony Miller, 1994-95 and Shannon Sharpe, 1996-97), and with Ed McCaffrey (1,053) gave Denver two 1,000-yd. receivers in the same season for just the third time in franchise history (1994, '97). He tied his then-career high for receptions vs. Philadelphia (10/4) with 7 for a then-season-high 95 yds. (13.6) and his first two touchdowns of the season. The first score came on an 8-yd. toss from Bubby Brister in the 1st qtr. and a 31-yarder in the 3rd. A week later at Seattle (10/11) Smith shattered his previous career bests with a game-high eight receptions for 136 yards (17.0) and a touchdown, on a season-best 50-yd. reception from John Elway in the first quarter. He posted six catches for 95 yds. (15.8) and a touchdown (28 yds., 4th qtr.) vs. Oakland (11/22), but made the day even more memorable by throwing a pass back to Elway for a 14-yd. completion after taking the ball on a reverse. It was Smith's first career pass completion in the NFL, though he was a part-time quarterback in college. Smith would later haul in a 28-yd. TD pass from Elway in the 4th qtr. to increase Denver's lead to 26-14. At San Diego (11/29), Smith tied his then-career high with 8 receptions and posted his eighth career 100-yd. game (101), while adding a TD on a 13-yd. pass from John Elway in the 2nd qtr. He would post back-to-back 100-yd. games for the first time in his career by virtue of his career-high-tying eight receptions for a career-high 165 yds. (20.6) the next week vs. Kansas City (12/6), which included his longest catch of the season (58 yds. from Elway). It was Smith's ninth career 100-yd. game and his third in '98, as he joined Ed McCaffrey (103 yds.) to give Denver two 100-yd. receivers in the same game for the first time since Nov. 20, 1994 vs. Atlanta (Cedric Tillman — 175, Anthony Miller — 102). He closed the regular season on a high note vs. Seattle (12/27), catching a career-high nine passes for 158 yards (17.6) and a touchdown with a long of 36. His touchdown came on a 33-yd. pass from Elway in the 2nd qtr. to tie the score at 7-7. Smith started at wide receiver in all three postseason games and was the Broncos' leading receiver with 12 receptions for 260 yds. (21.7) and two touchdowns, including an 80-yard score in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31). His previous postseason long accounted for his other touchdown, on a 28-yd. strike from John Elway in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9). In that contest he caught four passes for a team-high 71 yards, including the 28-yd. touchdown reception from Elway early in the 4th qtr. Smith added three more receptions for 37 yds. (12.3) with a long of 15 in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17). But he saved his best for last with a five receptions for a game-high 152 yards in the Super Bowl, including the 80-yd. scoring reception from Elway in the 2nd qtr. to give Denver a 17-3 lead. It tied for the second-longest play from scrimmage in Super Bowl history and the longest pass play in Broncos postseason history, and was the longest in the club's Super Bowl history. Additionally, Smith's yardage total was the fourth-highest in a Super Bowl game, and moved him into second place (from seventh) on the Broncos' postseason career list (480). 1997: Smith started all 16 games at wide receiver and finished second on the team in receptions with 70 for a team-leading 1,180 yards (16.9) with a long of 78 yards and 12 touchdowns in his first year as a full-time starter. The yardage and touchdown totals both represented the third-highest single-season totals in franchise history at the time. He also carried the ball five times on reverses for a net total of 16 yards rushing (3.2), with a long of 21 (at San Diego, 11/30). Smith's 16.9 yards per catch average ranked third in the NFL, and he also ranked fourth in the AFC (T8th NFL) in receiving yardage, tied for 10th (T18th NFL) in receptions, tied for first in the AFC (T2nd NFL) in receiving touchdowns, tied for third (T5th NFL) in total touchdowns and points scored by a non-kicker (T6th NFL), and 11th in total yards from scrimmage (1,143). Smith posted six 100-yard receiving performances in 1997, the second-highest total in franchise history behind Lionel Taylor's seven in 1960. He posted back-to-back two-touchdown games in Weeks Four and Five, and added two more multi-TD games (at Pittsburgh, 12/7 and vs. San Diego, 12/21). Smith posted nine receptions of 30 yards or longer during the regular season (30, 37t, 40, 41, 43, 47, 59t, 72t and 78), plus two more in postseason play (43t and 40). His 72- and 78-yard receptions represent the two longest completions by Elway to the same receiver in a single season. Smith also returned one punt for 12 yards against St. Louis (9/14). It all began on opening day for Smith vs. Kansas City (8/31) when he set then-career highs with five receptions for 122 yards to lead both teams. His total included a career-best 78-yard reception from John Elway late in the second quarter to set up a Denver field goal. It was the third-longest non-scoring reception in Broncos history. Versus St. Louis (9/14), he caught four passes for 126 yards and two scores (from 72 and 38 yards out) in Denver's 35-14 victory. Smith set a career high for receptions (7) in Week Four vs. Cincinnati (9/21)—a feat he would match at Kansas City on 11/16—on 82 receiving yards in Denver's 38-20 victory. He also caught two touchdowns in the game from 1 and 8 yards out for his second straight two-TD game. Smith posted a new career high with 130 yards on five receptions in the Broncos' 34-13 Monday Night win over New England in Week Six (10/6). He registered his first NFL rushing attempt at Oakland (10/19), gaining 14 yards on a reverse, to go along with five passes for 58 yards (11.6). His next 100-yard game came vs. Seattle (11/2) when he caught five passes for 114 yards (22.8), including a 59-yard touchdown reception from Elway in the third quarter to put Denver ahead 27-20. It was Smith's fourth 100-yard game of '97, the most by a Bronco since Anthony Miller had five in 1994. Smith also carried once on a reverse and gained three yards. The next Sunday vs. Carolina (11/9), Smith caught four passes for 40 yards (10.0), including his sixth touchdown of the season on a 20-yard pass from John Elway in the third quarter of Denver's 34-0 romp. At Kansas City (11/16), he tied his career high with a game-high seven receptions for 114 yards, including a long of 43, to notch his fifth 100-yard game of the season, tied for second-most in franchise history. His 43-yarder in the first quarter will likely be remembered as one of the most outstanding the league has seen in recent years, as Smith showed remarkable concentration while drawing a pass interference call and nearly being tripped as the ball neared his hands. Smith's seventh touchdown (15 yds.) came vs. Oakland (11/24) on Monday Night Football, and he added his eighth the following week at San Diego (11/30) on a 5-yard receptoin from Elway, in addition to a career-best 21-yard rushing gain on a reverse. Smith came up big at Pittsburgh (12/7), catching four passes for 115 yards with a long of 41 and two touchdowns, his third two-touchdown game of the season. His scores came on a 37-yard pass play from Elway in the first quarter and a 25-yard play from Elway in the second, as he eclipsed the 1,000-yard receiving mark for the season. He closed the regular season on a high note vs. San Diego (12/21) with his fourth two-TD game, catching four passes for 53 yards and scoring on tosses of 11 and 15 yards from Elway. In the postseason Smith started all four games at wide receiver and caught 11 passes for a team-leading 205 yards (18.6) with a long of 43 yards, which accounted for his only postseason touchdown. The play came in the first quarter of Denver's Wild Card win over Jacksonville (12/27/97) and gave the Broncos a 14-0 lead. He would catch three passes for 99 yards and one TD on the day. All three receptions came in the first half, and came on third down, including a later 40-yard reception on 3rd-and-6 from the Broncos' 12-yard line. That kept the drive alive, as Denver went on to score for a 21-0 lead. His and Ed McCaffrey's blocking from the wide receiver position helped turn reasonable gains on the ground into long ones as Denver racked up 310 yards rushing in the contest, a franchise postseason record and the fifth-most ever in a playoff game. In Denver's 14-10 AFC Divisional Playoff win at Kansas City (1/4/98), he caught two passes for 19 yards. His longest reception, of 17 yards, came on a 3rd-and-7 play late in the second quarter and spotted the Broncos at the Chiefs' 4-yard line, from which they would punch it in to produce their first touchdown of the day and take a 7-0 lead. In Denver's 24-21 AFC Championship Game victory at Pittsburgh (1/11/98), he caught a career play-off-high six passes for 87 yards to lead all Broncos receivers. His longest catch covered 20 yards. Smith started at wideout in Super Bowl XXXII vs. Green Bay (1/25/98), but he did not catch a pass, only recording a fair catch on a punt in the ballgame. 1996: Smith handled the role of No. 3 receiver for much of the season and caught 16 passes for 237 yards (14.8) and two touchdowns, returned 23 punts for 283 yards (12.3) with a long of 36 and posted one special teams tackle after beginning his season late (vs. Baltimore, 10/20) because of injury. Smith's 12.3-yard punt return average was second-best in the AFC and fourth in the NFL. His first touchdown of the year was the game-winner in Game 9 at Oakland, as he hauled in a 49-yard John Elway pass with 4:14 remaining to give the Broncos a 22-21 win on Monday Night Football. On the night he finished with a career-high four receptions for 72 yards. It was the second time in his two seasons that Smith had caught a game-winning pass, following the dramatic final-play 43-yard touchdown grab from Elway to push the Broncos over the Redskins 38-31 (9/17/95) during his rookie season. His other '96 touchdown came against Oakland in Denver's 24-19 victory Dec. 15. Smith was inactive for the first six games of the season while recovering from a broken collarbone suffered in the preseason at Dallas (8/17). He saw his first action of the regular season vs. Baltimore (10/20), catching one pass for 35 yards and returning a kickoff for 29 yards. Smith regained his No. 1 punt returner job prior to the Kansas City game (10/27), in which he fielded seven punts for 99 yards, including a 36-yarder in the first quarter. He also caught two passes for 22 yards against the Chiefs. Smith began throwing and catching again during the week of the Tampa Bay game (9/15). Prior to his injury, Smith was pushing Ed McCaffrey in competition for a starting wide receiver spot, and was the No. 1 punt returner. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Jacksonville, Smith caught one pass for 15 yards, returned two punts for 12 and made two special teams stops. 1995: Smith was used in all 16 games both at wide receiver and on special teams, where he recorded six tackles and forced a fumble. On the season he had six catches for 152 yards (25.3) with a long of 43, and returned four kickoffs for 54 yards (13.5) with a long of 17. Smith's spectacular game-ending 43-yard touchdown reception from John Elway in Week Three gave the Broncos a 38-31 win over Washington (9/17), and was the first of his NFL career. Smith out-jumped and out-dueled Redskins All-Pro Darrell Green for the ball before landing just inside the end zone as time expired. He recorded his first career kickoff return, for 16 yards, at New England (10/8), and forced a fumble on special teams coverage vs. San Diego (11/19). Smith had his best all-around performance in the season-finale at Oakland (12/24), starting at wide receiver as the Broncos opened in a four-wide receiver set. He caught two passes for 56 yards, including a 26-yarder in the fourth quarter on a third-and-10 play, helping the Broncos continue their game-tying drive, en route to a 31-28 come-from-behind victory. 1994: Smith spent the season as a member of the Broncos' practice squad, showing steady improvement each week, after being singed as a rookie free agent.

COLLEGE: Smith enjoyed a stellar career at Missouri Southern, finishing with league records in career receiving yards (3,043) and touchdowns (34). He also broke the school's reception record (153), and was named first-team All-America by AP, Kodak, Football Gazette and NCAA Div. II sports information directors after his senior year. In his final season, Smith caught 63 passes for 986 yards and 13 touchdowns, and was a finalist for the Harlon Hill Award, given annually to the top football player at the Division II level. He was named Missouri Southern's Outstanding

Graduate in 1994, after completing his collegiate studies with three degrees, in economics and finance, general business, as well as marketing and management.

Long Drought

The Broncos' longest current drought between meetings with any NFL opponent is with Indianapolis, whom the Broncos have not faced since Oct. 3, 1993, but will meet at the RCA Dome this year on Sept. 16. In 1999 Denver ended its previous longest drought by facing Detroit for the first time in nine years.

Jimmy Spencer brought a great deal of veteran experience and big-play ability to the Broncos last season in his first year with the club, and looks to resume that role in 2001. He returned two of his three interceptions for touchdowns last year and intercepted a pass in three straight games late in the season. A well-respected player wherever he has been in his nine NFL seasons, Spencer has played in 140 games (78 starts) and posted 23 interceptions. His record also includes 408 tackles (352 solo), including one sack (-1), as well as 113 passes defensed, six fumble recoveries and two forced fumbles. Spencer has also played in two postseason contests. He entered the NFL in 1991 as an eighth-round selection (215th overall) of the Washington Redskins, and spent his rookie season on the club's practice squad. Spencer then played for New Orleans (1992-95), Cincinnati (1996-97) and San Diego (1998-99) before joining the Broncos in 2000.

Off the Field

Jimmy is very involved in youth leadership activities in the Tampa, Fla., area and is curator of the Jimmy Spencer Foundation, which helps send underprivileged kids from his hometown of Belle Glade, Fla., to camps for sports, education, computers and music. He spends time during the offseason speaking in schools about education, drug abuse and religion.

2000: Spencer saw action in all 16 games and made six starts, posting 40 tackles (35 solo), including a sack (-1), six passes defensed, a forced fumble and three interceptions (career-high 102 return yds./2 TDs). He also had three tackles and a fumble recovery on special teams. Spencer started four games late in the season (at Sea., 11/26; at N.O., 12/3; vs. Sea., 12/10 and at K.C., 12/17) in place of the injured Ray Crockett (hamstring), and when not starting was the team's nickel back. Spencer picked off a pass in three straight games (at Sea., 11/26; at N.O., 12/3 and vs. Sea., 12/10)—one shy of the team record (Tyrone Braxton, 1996)—and returned two for touchdowns. His 79-yd. return of a Jon Kitna pass vs. Sea. (12/10) was the third longest in franchise history and the longest of his career, and was his third NFL touchdown. With it he became the first Bronco since Mike Harden in 1986 to score twice on interception returns in the same season, and the fourth in club history to do so (also John Rowser, 1976 and Nemiah Wilson, 1967). His other scoring return (21 yds.) came at Sea. (11/26) in a 38-31 Denver win, and was the first of his career. Spencer forced a fumble at N.O. (12/3) in the same game in which he recorded his second interception of the year. His sack—the first of his career—came vs. Oak. (11/13), as he dropped Rich Gannon for a 1-yd. loss among his season-high seven tackles. He also started vs. Cleve. (10/15) as the Broncos opened the game in a nickel defensive alignment, and started at Oak. (9/17) in place of Crockett. Crockett was injured on the opening kickoff, but entered the game on the first series and Spencer returned to his nickel back role. Spencer saw action in a reserve role in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31).

1999: Spencer tied for the San Diego team lead with four interceptions and led the squad with 16 passes defensed, despite missing the final two weeks of the season. He also ranked fifth on the team with 48 tackles. Spencer started seven of the 14 games in which he played before being placed on injured reserve Dec. 20. He notched his first interception of the season in Week Two against Indianapolis, then two weeks later replaced Charles Dimry in the starting lineup at Detroit and racked up a career-high 12 tackles and two pass breakups in a 20-10 victory. Spencer recorded six tackles and his second interception of the season in Week Six against Green Bay and added his third pick of the year in Week 12 against Cleveland. Spencer had a solid all-around game in Week 13 at Seattle in a 19-16 win, recording his fourth interception of the year to go along with four tackles and two pass breakups. 1998: Spencer signed as free agent with San Diego Sept. 1 and saw action in 15 games with four starts, missing only the opener vs. Buffalo (9/6). He finished the season with 29 tackles (all solo), one interception and eight passes defensed, and added seven tackles on special teams. His three starts came in games 12-14 at right cornerback. Spencer also started at the third cornerback spot and had an interception vs. Oakland (12/20). Spencer had five tackles vs. Denver (11/29) and had a season-high six tackles at Seattle (12/13). 1997: Spencer played in all 16 games and started nine at right cornerback for Cincinnati, posting 38 tackles, one

Spencer led the Bengals with a career-high 21 passes defensed, which was one better than teammate and Pro Bowl starter Ashley Ambrose. He scored his first career touchdown on a 59-yard fumble return vs. Houston (10/6) and added a 19-yard interception return to set up a Cincinnati field goal. Spencer also intercepted a Steve Young pass at Cincinnati's two-yard line in the fourth quarter at San Francisco (10/20). He intercepted a Vinny Testaverde pass in endzone in the second quarter at Baltimore (11/3) and had a season-high 34-yard return on an interception against Jim Kelly at Buffalo (11/17). Spencer was limited to a reserve role in Game 4 because of a thumb injury, and was also inactive for Game 16 at Houston due to a sprained knee, breaking a string of 79 consecutive games played. He originally joined Cincinnati as an unrestricted free agent on March 21, 1996. 1995: Spencer started 15 of 16 games for New Orleans and led the team with four interceptions, while also tallying 66 tackles and 16 passes defensed. Spencer had two interceptions, both of which led to scores, in a victory vs. Carolina (11/26) and tied his career high with nine tackles at the Jets (12/24), while adding one interception and two passes defensed. He became the first Saint to lead the team in interceptions for two straight seasons since Dave Waymer in 1985-86. 1994: Spencer earned the starting left cornerback job for all 16 games and set a career high with five interceptions, while adding 19 passes defensed. He led the team in both interceptions and passes defensed and earned a game ball vs. the Giants (10/2) when he had first career interception and four passes defensed. Spencer intercepted two passes vs. the Rams (10/23), including one on the final series to clinch a 37-34 victory. 1993: Spencer was the Saints' nickel back for the second straight year, starting against multiple-wide receiver sets. He played in all 16 games (3 starts), posting 25 tackles and six passes defensed. Spencer also tied for the team lead with three fumble recoveries, including one he returned 53 yards in a season-opening win over Houston. His special teams play included a blocked PAT at Philadelphia (12/26). 1992: Spencer started four of 16 games for New Orleans in his first season of NFL action. He was signed by the Saints April 12 and saw considerable action, playing cornerback in nickel and dime packages. He had 38 tackles and tied for fourth on the team with nine passes defensed. Spencer's four starts came in games when the Saints opened with five or six defensive backs. He had a season-high six tackles vs. Chicago Sept. 13. In the Saints' Wild Card Playoff loss to Philadelphia, Spencer recorded one tackle and one special teams tackle. 1991: Spencer entered the NFL as an eighth-round selection of the Washington Redskins (215th overall) in the 1991 NFL Draft. He spent his entire rookie season on Washington's practice squad.

Jason Suttle has made great strides in his two seasons with the Broncos, and returns in 2001 to compete for a spot in Denver's secondary, which features several new faces. He earned a spot on Denver's practice squad at the beginning of the 1999 season, and has spent time each of the past two seasons on both the practice squad and active roster. Suttle has played in 10 games with the Broncos, posting two solo tackles on defense, three special teams tackles and a fumble recovery on special teams that came in the end zone for his first NFL touchdown. 2000: Suttle played in the final five games for the Broncos after being signed from the practice squad to the active roster, and made two tackles on defense. On special teams he added two more tackles and a fumble recovery, which came in the end zone at K.C. (12/17) for his first NFL touchdown. He was signed Fri., Nov. 24, and played in his first game two days later at Sea., making one special teams tackle. His first two solo tackles on defense—the first two of his career—came the next week at N.O. (12/3). Suttle played only on special teams vs. Sea. (12/10) and in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. Maa Tanuvasa has developed into a top-flight NFL defensive lineman, capable of playing both the tackle and end positions. He tied for the team lead in sacks in 1997 and '98 (8.5) and tied for second (7) in 1999, and with 33 career sacks ranks third among Broncos defensive linemen in that category behind only Chester McGlockton (46.5) and Trevor Pryce (35.5). Tanuvasa ranks 11th in team history in sacks, moving past Pete Duranko (32.5) on that list last season. He finished the 2000 season as the starter at left defensive end—one of three positions at which he has been a regular starter for the Broncos. After starting the majority of games at right defensive tackle in 1997, Tanuvasa started every game at right defensive end in '98, and split his '99 starts between right and left end. He makes up for his lack of prototypical size with extraordinary quickness, strength and agility. Tanuvasa has played in 80 regular season games (54 starts) and has started every game for the club the past three seasons. For his career he has posted 173 tackles (146 solo), including 33 sacks (-199), with seven fumble recoveries, one forced fumble and one pass defensed. In nine postseason contests (eight starts) he has added 18 tackles (12 solo), including two sacks (-10). Tanuvasa was signed by the Broncos in February 1995 after brief stints with the Rams and Steelers. He was originally an eighth round pick (209th overall) out of Hawaii by the Rams in 1993.

2000: Tanuvasa started at left defensive end in all 16 games and posted 32 tackles (28 solo), including four sacks (-19), as well as a career-high four fumble recoveries. His four sacks gave him 33 for his career, moving him past Pete Duranko (32.5; 1967-70, '72-74) for 11th place on the Broncos' all-time list. He slipped behind teammate Trevor Pryce at N.O. (12/3), who raised his total to 35.5 to claim 10th. He raised his total to four with a 2-yd. sack of Rich Gannon vs. Oak. (11/13). Tanuvasa's third was a 9-yard sack of Cleveland's Tim Couch (10/15) in Week 7, one week after sacking Jim Harbaugh (-8) at S.D. (10/8). His first came on Chris Chandler vs. Atlanta (9/10). Tanuvasa's three fumble recoveries have come vs. Atl (9/10), vs. K.C. (9/24) and at the Jets (11/5). Tanuvasa started at left defensive end in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and posted five tackles (3 solo), including a 2-yd. sack of Trent Dilfer.

1999: Tanuvasa started all 16 games—the first eight at left defensive end and the last eight at right end—and made 43 tackles (36 solo), including seven sacks (-24), tied for second-most on the team. It marked his third straight season with seven or more sacks (8.5 in 1997 and '98), and his third straight year ranking either first or second on the team. Tanuvasa combined with Eric Brown to bring down the Jets' Rick Mirer (10/3) in Week 4, and posted two solo sacks at San Diego (11/7) on Jim Harbaugh (-8). He sacked Oakland quarterback Rich Gannon (11/22) for a 1-yd. loss in Denver's 27-21 overtime win. His high-tackle game came vs. Minnesota (10/31) when he posted five solo stops. Tanuvasa raised his season total to 4.5 sacks vs. Seattle (12/19), dropping Jon Kitna for a 5-yd. loss and forcing a fumble that was recovered by Broncos linebacker Al Wilson, setting up a Broncos field goal. The following week, on Christmas Day at Detroit, Tanvuasa recorded 1.5 sacks of Charlie Batch (-9) to raise his season total to 6. He closed the season with a sack of Harbaugh (-6) in the finale vs. S.D. (1/2). 1998: Tanuvasa started at right defensive end in all 16 games and posted 53 tackles (47 solo), including 8.5 sacks (-73.5) to tie for the team lead and tie for 10th in the AFC, as well as a forced fumble, two fumble recoveries and a kickoff return for 13 yds. (vs. Oak., 11/22). Tanuvasa recorded 5.5 sacks in a six-game stretch during the second half of the season (Nov. 8-Dec. 13). His first sack of the season came in Week 1 vs. New England (9/7) when he dropped Drew Bledsoe midway through the third quarter (-9), and his second came two weeks later at Oakland (9/20) when he toppled Jeff George late in the third quarter (-7). Tanuvasa registered his third sack at Seattle (10/11), dropping Warren Moon for a 5-yd. loss just before halftime, en route to his high-tackle game of the season (7; 5 solo). His fourth came vs. San Diego (11/8) when he dropped Chargers QB Ryan Leaf for a 3-yd. loss on his team's first offensive play from scrimmage. Tanuvasa came up big again late in the game, collecting a Natrone Means fumble that had been forced by Bill Romanowski at the Denver 3-yd. line to keep San Diego out of the end zone with 3:57 remaining in the game. Tanuvasa posted his first two-sack game of the season before a Monday Night Football audience at Kansas City (11/16), dropping Rich Gannon for a 14-yd. loss on the final play of the first half, and for a 9-yd. loss on the Chiefs final series of the game. A week later vs. Oakland (11/22) he raised his total to seven by sacking Raiders quarterback Donald Hollas early in the 4th qtr., and also recorded his first career kickoff return by plowing forward for 13 yds. after fielding a short game-opening kickoff. Tanuvasa made a key play at a crucial moment at San Diego (11/29), stripping the ball from Kenny Bynum at the Broncos' 2-yd. line, thwarting a potential Chargers scoring drive with Denver holding a slim 14-10 lead. He recorded his eighth sack vs. Kansas City (12/6), getting to Rich Gannon for a 4-yd. loss on the Chiefs' final possession. Tanuvasa had previously recovered his second fumble of the season after the ball was knocked loose by Darrien Gordon to end the Chiefs' first drive at the Broncos' 37-yd. line. Tanuvasa combined with Trevor Pryce for an 11-yd. sack of Giants QB Kent Graham at New York (12/13) to raise his season tally to 8.5, en route to a season-high seven solo tackles (tied season-high for total tackles). Tanuvasa started at right defensive end in all three postseason games and posted five tackles (3 solo). In the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) he had one solo tackle, and he came back with one assisted tackle in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17). Tanuvasa closed an outstanding season with three tackles (2 solo) in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31). 1997: Tanuvasa saw action in 15 of the 16 games and started five after moving into a full-time role at right defensive tackle before the ninth game of the season (vs. Seattle, 11/2). He made quite an impact with 21 tackles (20 solo), including 8.5 sacks (-44.5), tied for the team lead and tied for 10th-most in the AFC. Tanuvasa suffered a sprained right ankle early in the first quarter vs. Oakland (11/24) and did not return to the game. X-rays were taken, and proved negative, but the ankle would bother him for the remainder of the season. He played but did not start the next week at San Diego (11/30), and was inactive the following week at Pittsburgh (12/7). Tanuvasa had a breakout game on Monday Night Football vs. New England in Week Six (10/6), posting three sacks (-23) of Patriots quarterback Drew Bledsoe, the most by a Bronco since Simon Fletcher had four in a Nov. 11, 1990 game at San Diego. Tanuvasa's first two sacks came in the season-opener against Kansas City (8/31), and he added his third vs. Cincinnati (9/21). He reached 7.5 with one solo vs. Carolina (11/9) and 8.5 with another solo at Kansas City (11/16). He also had a career-high six solo stops in the K.C. game. In the postseason Tanuvasa started all four games at right defensive tackle and made seven stops (5 solo), including one sack (-8), which came in the Wild Card win over Jacksonville (12/27/97). He had two tackles in that game, two solo stops the next week at Kansas City (1/4/98), two tackles (one solo) at Pittsburgh (1/11/98) in the AFC Championship Game, and one solo stop in Denver's 31-24 Super Bowl XXXII victory over Green Bay (1/25/98). 1996: Tanuvasa played in all 16 regular season games and made one start at right defensive tackle (at San Diego, 12/22) in place of Michael Dean Perry (ankle). He played as a reserve on the defensive line in the other 15 contests and had a breakthrough season with 24 tackles (15 solo)—including five sacks (-39)—and one pass break-up. He also made one tackle on special teams. On opening day vs. the Jets (9/1) Tanuvasa was credited with one of the Broncos' nine sacks in Denver's 31-6 victory. He registered his second sack of the season as well as one solo tackle in Denver's 28-17 win over San Diego (10/6) and added his third sack — among six total tackles (four solo) — at Oakland (11/4) in a Monday Night game won by the Broncos 22-21. Tanuvasa's fourth sack came at New England (11/17), and his season was capped by his career-high fifth at San Diego (12/22), as he started his first NFL contest at right defensive tackle in place of Michael Dean Perry (ankle). For the night he made three total tackles (2 solo) and broke up a pass. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff vs. Jacksonville (1/4/97) Tanuvasa saw action on the defensive line and made one solo tackle. 1995: Tanuvasa, originally signed by the Broncos Feb. 22, 1995, spent the first eight games of the season on the practice squad before being signed to the active roster Oct. 24. He was declared inactive for each of his first two games, before making his first professional appearance against San Diego (11/19), seeing action on special teams. 1994: Tanuvasa spent a portion of the season as a member of the Pittsburgh Steelers practice squad after being released by the Rams in training camp. He started the Rams' first preseason game at Green Bay (8/6/94). 1993: Tanuvasa spent the season on injured reserve with the Rams after injuring his knee in a preseason game at Cleveland (8/21/93).

COLLEGE: Tanuvasa finished his three-year career at the University of Hawaii with 190 tackles (116 solo) and 10 sacks. As a senior he had 84 tackles (57 solo) and 10 sacks. He posted 41 stops (27 solo) as a junior and 65 (32 solo) as a sophomore.

PERSONAL: Tanuvasa was an Oahu Interscholastic Association All-Star selection in both football and track at Mililani High School in Mililani, Hawaii. His first name means "rock" in Samoan, providing the reason for his nickname. Maa Junior Tanuvasa was born Nov. 6, 1970 in American Samoa. His name is pronounced "MAH-ah TAH-noo-VAH-sah." He and his wife, Kris, have a daughter, Chantel (11), and a son, Maa, Jr. (2). The family makes its home in Castle Rock, Colo.

TREY TEAGUE — TACKLE

6-5 • 292 • 4TH YR. • TENNESSEE

70

BORN: December 27, 1974 in Jackson, Tenn.
HIGH SCHOOL: University School of Jackson, Jackson, Tenn.
RESIDES: Jackson, Tenn.
ACQUIRED: Draft #7a (200th overall), 1998
NFL GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 18/4

Trey Teague faces a great challenge in 2001 as he attempts to return to form after spending the majority of last season on injured reserve with a torn right anterior cruciate ligament. One of the Broncos most talented young tackles, Teague will be eager to compete for a starting tackle position this year, but will face stiff competition. He has played in 18 career games and made four starts, all during the 1999 season. Teague was selected by Denver in the seventh round (No. 200 overall) of the 1998 NFL Draft from Tennessee.

2000: Teague saw action on offense and special teams in each of the first two games, but suffered a torn anterior cruciate ligament in his right knee on punt coverage in the 3rd qtr. vs. Atlanta (9/10), and was placed on injured reserve Sept. 12. He underwent surgery in mid-September. Teague replaced Tony Jones at left tackle for a short time in the 3rd qtr. of the opener at St. Louis (9/4).

1999: Teague played in all 16 games and made four starts at left tackle in place of the injured Tony Jones (triceps), at Sea., 11/14; vs. Oak., 11/22; at Det., 12/25 and vs. S.D., 1/2. After making his first two starts Teague moved back behind Jones until Jones was lost for the final two games with an aggravation of the original injury vs. Sea., 12/19. Teague made his first NFL start at Sea. (11/14). He handled the snapping duties for all punts and placements in 1999, and made three special teams tackles (1 each vs. Jets, 10/3; Minnesota, 10/31; and K.C., 12/5). Teague saw brief action at right tackle at Oakland (10/10), and played the whole second half at left tackle at San Diego (11/7) after Jones left the game with knee and triceps injuries. He also saw action on offense at Jacksonville (12/13), as a second tight end. Born: June 21, 1977 in Jackson, Tenn.
High School: Central Merry High School, Jackson, Tenn.
Resides: Aurora, Colo.
Acquired: Draft #1 (31st overall), 1999
Pro Year: 3rd • Year with Broncos: 3rd
NFL Games Played/Started: 31/26 • Postseason: 1/1

Al Wilson has firmly entrenched himself in the Broncos' starting lineup in his first two seasons, and now looks to avoid the injury bug that has limited him. Though he has missed only one game, Wilson has been plagued by nagging shoulder injuries both seasons. He has finished in the top four on the team in tackles in each of his two seasons and displayed the exceptional talent and bone-crushing hitting ability that made him the club's first-round draft choice (31st overall) in 1999. In 31 career games (26 starts) Wilson has posted 192 tackles (143 solo), including six sacks (-32), as well as three interceptions (21 ret. yds.), 12 passes defensed, two forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries. He has also started one postseason game and posted six tackles (4 solo).

2000: Wilson played in 15 games and started 14 at middle linebacker, and ranked fourth on the team with a career-high 104 tackles (73 solo), including a career-high five sacks (-31), while also adding one forced fumble, six passes defensed and three interceptions. He posted a career-high 15 tackles at K.C. (12/17) for his first career double-digit tackle effort. Wilson's third interception of the season came vs. Sea. (12/10) and was returned 20 yds. to the Seahawks' 7-yd. line to set up Denver's first touchdown in a 31-24 win. He raised his sack total to five when he dropped San Diego's Ryan Leaf for a 6-yd. loss (11/19) in Denver's 38-37 win. Wilson posted a sack in back-to-back games when he dropped Cincinnati's Scott Mitchell for a 9-yd. loss in Week 8. A week earlier vs. Cleve. (10/15) he sacked Tim Couch for an 11-yd. loss. Wilson raised his season sack total to 2 by sharing a sack of Drew Bledsoe with Trevor Pryce vs. N.E. (10/1). He returned to action in Wk. 3 at Oak. (9/17) after missing a game (vs. Atl., 9/10) with a dislocated shoulder and posted six tackles (4 solo), including 1.5 sacks (-5) of Raiders QB Rich Gannon. He also forced a fumble in the game. Wilson started at middle linebacker in the opener at St. Louis (9/4) and was spectacular, posting his first two career interceptions. His first came at the Denver 7-yd. line with St. Louis threatening, and his second came in the end zone early in the 4th qtr. as he ran stride-for-stride with Marshall Faulk and held perfect position. Wilson also added four tackles (3 solo). He dislocated his left shoulder in the contest and was inactive for Denver's Week 2 contest vs. Atlanta (9/10). Wilson did not start but played the entire Cleve. game (10/15) because the Broncos opened the game in a nickel defensive package. Wilson started at middle linebacker in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and posted six tackles (4 solo) in his first postseason game.

1999: Wilson played in all 16 games and started 12, and ranked third on the team in tackles with 88 (70 solo), including one sack (-1), as well as six passes defensed, a forced fumble and two fumble recoveries. He also has three special teams tackles. Wilson moved into a starting role at middle linebacker in Week 3 after John Mobley was placed on injured reserve. He played the full game but did not start vs. the Jets (10/3) and Seattle (12/19) because the Broncos opened both games with an extra defensive back (Chris Watson/Tory James). After Mobley's injury in Week 2, Glenn Cadrez moved from the middle to fill Mobley's weakside spot, opening the door for Wilson. Wilson played primarily in goal-line situations and on special teams in the season-opener vs. Miami (9/13), but saw extensive action at middle linebacker at K.C. (9/19) after Mobley left the game in the 1st qtr, and posted nine tackles (8 solo). Wilson put together the finest all-around game of his young career at Oakland (10/10), matching his previous high-tackle total with 9 (8 solo), and adding a sack, a forced fumble and a pass defensed. He tied his career high again at New England (10/24) with nine stops (5 solo). Wilson recovered his first NFL fumble at San Diego (11/7), at the Chargers' 31-yd. line to set up a Broncos touchdown. His second fumble recovery came vs. Seattle (12/19) and set up a Broncos field goal after a Maa Tanuvasa sack of Jon Kitna, which produced the fumble.

COLLEGE: Wilson was a four-year letterwinner and three-year starter at Tennessee, where he was team captain as a senior, helping lead the Volunteers to a 13-0 record and the National Championship. Starting at middle linebacker he recorded 77 tackles (54 solos) with four sacks (-41) and six stops for losses (-7). Wilson was a second-team All-America selection by Football News, American Football Coaches Association and the Football Writers Association, and was a first-team All-Southeastern Conference pick. He was an Associated Press second-team All-SEC selection as a junior, starting at left outside linebacker and also calling the defensive signals. Wilson also started at left outside linebacker as a sophomore. He majored in educational business training.

PERSONAL: Wilson was a Blue Chip Illustrated, SuperPrep and Prep Football Report All-America selection at Central Merry High School in Jackson, Tenn., as well as all-state and West Tennessee Player of the Year by the Lawrenceburg Quarterback Club. He recorded 163 tackles with three forced fumbles as a linebacker and rushed for 1,160 yards with 15 touchdowns his senior year. He rushed for more than 1,000 yards in each of his three years on offense — two at tailback and one at quarterback. Wilson was a three-year starter for a team that reached the playoffs in his junior and senior seasons. He also participated in basketball and track. Aldra Kauwa Wilson was born June 21, 1977 in Jackson, Tenn. He has a son, Carrington Demond Wilson (4), and resides in Aurora, Colo.

He tallied four tackles and one passed defense and was responsible for an interception in the end zone that thwarted a scoring drive at Green Bay (11/1). After posting a season-high eight tackles vs. Carolina (11/8) and at Atlanta (11/15), Woodall suffered a rib injury while twisting to make a tackle vs. New Orleans (11/22) and was inactive vs. the New York Giants (11/22). He led the defense with 13 postseason stops and also notched an interception and two passes defensed. Woodall tied for team honors with eight tackles along with an interception and a pass defensed in an NFC Wild Card outing vs. Green Bay (1/3/99) and recorded five tackles at Atlanta (1/9/99) in the NFC Divisional Playoffs. 1997: Elected to the Pro Bowl for the second time in his career, Woodall started 16 games for the first time and accumulated a career-high 84 tackles (50 solo), serving as a key contributor to a unit that topped the NFL in overall defense. Willie Middlebrooks — Minnesota

Born: February 12, 1979 in Miami, Fla.

Drafted: 1st Round (15th overall)

Willie Middlebrooks brings great athleticism—size, speed and leaping ability—to the cornerback position as Denver's 2001 No. 1 draft choice. In Denver he is reunited with his college defensive coordinator David Gibbs, hired to coach the Broncos safeties this past offseason. A first-team All-Big Ten selection last year, Middlebrooks was a three-year starter for the Golden Gophers who entered the draft with one year of eligibility after his junior season. In 30 career games (26 starts) he tallied 127 tackles (112 solo), four interceptions (55 return yards, 1 TD), 30 passes defensed and one fumble recovery. He missed the final three games of his junior season because of an ankle injury, but earned regard as the best man coverage defender in the Big Ten. Middlebrooks was second-team All-Big Ten as a sophomore. He has been timed at 4.29 in the 40-yard dash and has a 37-inch vertical leap.

2000: Middlebrooks was named first-team All-Big Ten Conference, starting the first eight games at cornerback before an ankle injury shelved him for the final four games. He tallied 33 tackles (30 solo) with on stop for a 3-yard loss and posted one interception and seven pass breakups. Middlebrooks did not allow a pass reception in the first three games vs. Louisiana-Monroe, Ohio U. and Baylor, then posted a season-high 11 solo tackles with two pass breakups in the Big Ten opener vs. Purdue. His interception came in Game 4 vs. Illinois along with a pair of deflections. 1999: Middlebrooks was named second team All-Big Ten Conference by the league's coaches and honorable mention by the media, starting eleven games at cornerback. He recorded 43 tackles (37 solos), including a stop for a 3-yard loss, and also posted one fumble recovery, one interception (26-yd. return for TD) and a team-leading 18 pass deflections. His 26-yard interception return for a touchdown came vs. Louisiana-Monroe and was Minnesota's first since the 1995 season. Middlebrooks came up big in the Illinois game, posting a season best six tackles (5 solo) and knocking down three passes. He matched the three pass breakups against Wisconsin, Penn State and Iowa, and his fumble recovery came in the Sun Bowl vs. Oregon. 1998: Middlebrooks played in every game as a redshirt freshman, starting the final six at cornerback and the Purdue clash at nickel back. For the season he posted 51 tackles (45 solo), including two stops for losses of 16 yards, and also deflected five passes and intercepted two others. He moved from free safety to cornerback after the season's fourth game. Against Houston Middlebrooks registered six solo tackles, a pass deflection and his first career interception, making an acrobatic grab in the corner of the end zone with 0:32 remaining to preserve a 14-7 victory. In his first start, vs. Purdue, he posted a career-high seven tackles (6 solo), and he matched that total (all solo) vs. Ohio State along with his second interception. He also had seven stops vs. Michigan. 1997: Middlebrooks used a redshirt season as a freshman. He was an inter-college programs major at Minnesota

HIGH SCHOOL: Middlebrooks was honored as the District 16-6A Most Valuable Player and named to the All-Dade County team and first-team Class 6A all-state team as a senior cornerback at Homestead (Fla.) High School. He recorded 97 tackles with three interceptions and recovered three fumbles. One of his prep highlights was an interception to clinch a win vs. South Dade during his junior year. NICK HARRIS — CALIFORNIA

PUNTER • 6-2 • 220
BORN: July 23, 1978 in Phoenix, Ariz.
DRAFTED: 4th Round (120th overall)

Nick Harris—just the fifth punter ever drafted by the Broncos, and the second since 1979—was regarded as the premier punter in college football during his career at California. He closed his career as the school's record-holder with 322 punts for 13,621 yards (42.3 avg.), breaking the previous marks of 257 attempts for 10,763 yards by Ryan Longwell (1993-96). The punts and punt yardage also established new NCAA Division 1-A career records, surpassing the previous marks of 320 punts for 12,947 yards by Cameron Young of Texas Christian (1976-79). Harris placed 92 of his punts (28.6%) inside the 20-yard line, and also held for field goals and extra points. He set the school season record for most punts (77) in his freshman year and proceeded to break that record again as a sophomore (87). Known for his booming leg, but also his aptitude for directional punting, Harris has been compared to former Oakland Raiders standout Ray Guy, and has worked in Guy's kicking camps during the summer, where Ray marveled how closely Nick's kicking style resembled his own. A well-conditioned athlete, he boasted the fastest 10-yard dash time (1.77) and second-best 20-yard shuttle time (4.17) on the Cal team.

2000: Harris was named first-team All-Pac-10 for the second straight year and earned All-America consideration, averaging 41.5 yards on 73 punts (3,030 yds.). He placed 36 of his attempts (49.3%) inside the 20-yard line. Just 32 of Harris' kicks were returned and 14 resulted in fair catches, and he also recorded a pair of solo tackles. He had a remarkable day vs. Illinois, placing 10 of his 12 punts inside the 20-yard line and finishing with 497 yds. (41.4 avg.) and a long of 64. Harris averaged 47.8 yards on eight punts vs. Arizona State, with four downed inside the 20, and followed with seven kicks for a 44.1-yard average vs. UCLA.Versus Oregon he punted eight times for a 45.5-yard average and had three kicks downed inside the 20-yard line. 1999: Harris earned first-team All-Pac-10 Conference honors for the first time, as he ranked seventh in the nation with 85 punts for a conference season-record 3,795 yards (44.65 avg.). His average was even more amazing when considering he was asked to pooch kick inside opponent territory 14 times, including six punts from the opponent 40-yard-line or closer. Twenty-one of his kicks were downed inside the 20-yard line and 14 resulted in fair catches, while 29 of his attempts covered 50 yards or longer (including six for more than 60 yards). Harris also recorded 6 tackles (5 solos). Against Rutgers he had five punts for 238 yards (47.6 avg.), including 56, 52 and 67-yarders, and he averaged 50.3 yards on 7 kicks with three punts downed inside the 20-yard line—including long kicks for distances of 65, 50, & 64 yards—vs. Nebraska. He was particularly effective in the UCLA contest, averaging 53.1 yards on 7 punts with long distance kicks of 50, 57, 58, 68 and 60 yards. Harris matched his career high with 11 punts vs. Oregon State, good for 444 yards (40.4), including a career-long 70-yarder (eighth-longest in school history. 1998: Harris set a school season record with 87 punts, gaining 3,546 yards (40.8 avg.), and placed 27 of his attempts inside the 20-yard line. He had 16 of his kicks result in fair catches and collected five tackles (3 solos) on special teams. Harris placed five of his 11 attempts inside the 20-yard line vs. Houston, finishing with a 34.3-yard average, and earned Pac-10 Player of the Week honors vs. UCLA as he gained 406 yards on nine kicks (45.1 avg.) with a long of 53 yards. In the latter contest he placed four punts inside the Bruins' 10-yard line, including one at the 2-yard-line and one at the 1-yard-line. Harris' season-best 63-yarder came vs. Arizona and he averaged 47.7 yards on seven punts vs. Arizona State. 1997: Harris assumed full-time punting duties in his first year with the team, punting 77 times for 3,250 yards (42.2 avg.). WIDE RECEIVER • 6-0 • 193
BORN: December 23, 1977 in Hinsdale, Ill.

Kevin Kasper was regarded as one of the most talented but underrated wide receivers in the 2001 NFL Draft. A first-team All-Big Ten Conference selection and a two-time Academic All-Big Ten chioce, Kasper is an instinctive pass catcher who has the strength to power through defensive backs at the line of scrimmage and will not shy away from his blocking responsibilities. He holds the school career record with 157 receptions and ranks fourth on the all-time list with 1,974 yards receiving in 44 games (21 starts). Kasper set a school season record with 82 catches in 2000, while his 1,010 yards rank second on Iowa's annual record chart. He caught at least one pass in 32 of his final 33 games and is one of seven players in school history to gain over 600 yards receiving in more than one season. Kasper has been timed at 4.52 seconds in the 40-yard dash and has a 40-inch vertical jump.

2000: Kasper was a first-team All-Big Ten Conference selection, starting every game at flanker and hauling in a school-record 82 passes for 1,010 yards (12.3 avg.) and seven touchdowns. His 82 receptions surpassed the previous standard of 64 by Keith Chappelle in 1980, and only Chappelle (1,037 in 1980) had more yards receiving in a season for the Hawkeyes. Kasper led the Big Ten in receptions per game and ranked fifth in receiving yardage. He had five 100-yard games, beginning with a nine-catch, 102-yard effort vs. Western Michigan that included a 6-yard touchdown and a two-point conversion catch after the score. He tallied 129 yards on eight catches vs. Nebraska, including a 29-yard score, and topped the century mark again vs. Indiana with 143 yards and two touchdowns on 11 receptions. Kasper's other two 100-yard games came against Ohio State cornerback Nate Clements—the 21st overall selection in this year's draft—who he torched for 123 yards on 10 catches, and Northwestern, against whom he caught five for 105 and a 42-yard touchdown. 1999: Kasper earned honorable mention All-Big Ten Conference honors for the first time and was named first-team Academic All-Big Ten for the second straight year, starting nine games and catching 60 passes for 664 yards (11.1). His 60 catches were the most by a Hawkeye since tight end Marv Cook grabbed 63 passes in 1988. Kasper also received the Hawkeye Coaches Appreciation Award. He posted two 100-yard games, the first coming against Indiana when he 120 yards on 12 receptions, the third most receptions in a game in school history. Kasper then hauled in a career-high 13 passes for 135 yards vs. Ohio State, including an 18-yard score. His 13 receptions tied the school game-record, first set by Nick Bell vs. Indiana in 1988. Kasper also had 95 yards and a touchdown on seven catches vs. Illinois and 98 yards and a touchdown on six catches vs. Minnesota. 1998: Kasper was named Academic All-Big Ten Conference for the first time in his career, seeing action in 11 games and catching 14 passes for 281 yards (20.1 avg.) and a touchdown. He also earned the offensive hustle award vs. Central Michigan and Illinois. Kasper posted his first career 100-yard game with 115 yards on five receptions vs. Arizona, which included a 62-yard reception. He also caught a 49-yard touchdown pass vs. Northwestern. 1997: Kasper saw action at flanker as a redshirt freshman, catching one pass for 19 yards vs. Iowa State. He also contributed on special teams where he made three solo tackles (vs. Illinois, Purdue and Northwestern). 1996: Kasper, who joined the team as a walk-on, used a redshirt season. He earned offensive scout team MVP honors vs. Indiana and Illinois. Kasper earned his bachelor's degree in marketing from Iowa.

HIGH SCHOOL: Kasper lettered in football, wrestling and track at Hinsdale South High School in Burr Ridge, Ill. He earned first-team all-conference and all-area acclaim, as well as team MVP honors, as a senior when he recorded 39 tackles with two interceptions, two blocked kicks and a fumble recovery as a defensive back and caught 38 passes for 604 yards, setting school records in both categories. He also averaged 23.8 yards on kickoff returns. Kasper finished his career with 70 tackles and three interceptions, while making 53 catches for 723 yards and rushing for 321 yards.

2000 GAME SUMMARIES — WEEK-BY-WEEK

Sept. 4, 2000 • Trans World Dome • St. Louis, Mo.

Weather: Indoors • Attendance: 65,956 • Time: 3:00*

The Broncos dropped their season opener for the second straight year by losing a 41-36 thriller to the defending Super Bowl champion St. Louis Rams in front of a paid attendance of 65,956 at the Trans World Dome and an ABC national television audience on Monday Night Football.

The Broncos came out of the gates firing on all cylinders, stopping the Rams' offense on three plays and then taking six plays to drive 59 yards and take a 7-0 lead on Brian Griese's 8-yard touchdown run. The Rams would tie the score later in the quarter on Az Hakim's 86-yard punt return. A Jason Elam field goal and a 25-yard scoring pass from Griese to Rod Smith sandwiched a five-yard touchdown run by Marshall Faulk, leaving Denver with a 17-14 lead heading toward halftime. But the Rams' Ricky Proehl capped a 77-yard drive with a 7-yard touchdown reception from Kurt Warner to send St. Louis to the locker room up 21-17.

Another Elam field goal sliced the deficit to 21-20 in the third quarter, but two more long scores by the Rams built the lead to 35-20. The Broncos responded by scoring the next 16 points of the contest to take a one-point advantage. Desmond Clark recorded his first pro touchdown on a 7-yard reception from Griese. After Elam's third field goal, Terrell Buckley picked off a Warner pass and returned it 32 yards for the lead. However, the Rams went back down the field on an eight-play, 75-yard drive to produce the fifth and final lead change of the night.

Terrell Davis' comeback from 1999 knee surgery was cut short by a sprained left ankle early in the second quarter and he finished with 34 yards on nine carries. Olandis Gary filled in admirably, rushing for 80 yards on 13 carries and catching three passes for 10 more yards. But a magnetic resonance imaging test performed the following morning would reveal that Gary had suffered a complete tear of his right anterior cruciate ligament midway through the third quarter, though he finished the game.

Ed McCaffrey added seven catches for 115 yards and middle linebacker Al Wilson not only recorded the first interception of his pro career, but he followed that up with another one in the fourth quarter.

2 DENVER 42, ATLANTA 14

Sept. 10, 2000 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 84°, Wind S 10 mph • Attendance: 75,466 • Time: 3:12*

The Broncos evened their record at 1-1 with a 42-14 romp over the Falcons in front of 75,466 at Mile High Stadium. It was Denver's fifth straight victory over Atlanta, extending the longest victory drought for any team in the NFL against them to 18 years.

The Broncos had jumped to a 34-0 lead late in the first half before the Falcons were able to dent the scoreboard, and Denver cruised from there to its fifth victory in the last six home openers.

Rookie Mike Anderson, starting for the injured Terrell Davis and Olandis Gary, filled in admirably by accomplishing something neither Davis or Gary could, rushing for over 100 yards as a rookie in his first career start. Anderson finished the day with 131 yards on 31 carries (4.2) and two touchdowns. He also caught one pass for 18 yards. His offensive output was a perfect compliment to Brian Griese's second straight strong outing, as he completed 20 of 33 passes for 268 yards and a career-high tying three touchdowns. It was his third straight game without an interception as well, dating back to last season.

Rod Smith reeled in two of the scores and totaled 117 yards on seven receptions for the day to post his 14th career 100-yard game. Smith tied Rick Upchurch (267) for ninth place all-time in receptions by a Bronco and went over 4,000 yards receiving in his career with his effort. The Broncos offense was a perfect 9-9 in the red zone after two weeks and had a two-week point total of 78, most ever to start a season.

The Broncos defense was equally impressive, holding Atlanta to one offensive score and without a first down until mid-way through the second quarter. Denver had 17 first downs and a 27-0 lead by that point. The Broncos also recorded six sacks in the game.

3 DENVER 33, OAKLAND 24

Sept. 17, 2000 • Network Associates Coliseum • Oakland, Calif.

Weather: Sunny, 79º, Wind NW 9 mph • Attendance: 62,078 • Time: 2:59*

The Broncos improved to 2-1 and gained a share of first place in the AFC West with a 33-24 victory over the Oakland Raiders at Network Associates Coliseum. The victory was Denver's 10th in its last 11 meetings with Oakland and sixth in a row.

After the Broncos took the opening kickoff and drove 69 yards in 10 plays, capped by Brian Griese's touchdown pass to Ed McCaffrey, the Raiders proceeded to turn the ball over on fumbles on the initial play of each of their first two drives. The Broncos turned both turnovers into points—a touchdown and a field goal—to open a 17-0 lead just 8 1/2 minutes into the game. On the first play Broncos DE Kavika Pittman knocked the ball from Raiders QB Rich Gannon's hand on a sack and DT Trevor Pryce scooped up the ball and dashed 28 yards for a score. Tyrone Wheatley fumbled on the Raiders' next play and Denver produced a field goal out of that miscue.

The Raiders, however, fought back and forced a 24-24 tie by halftime, aided by the performance of Gannon, who led three scoring drives, punctuated by two touchdown passes to Tim Brown. The Raiders also returned a blocked punt for a touchdown to add to their scoring spree.

Oakland's initial drive of the second half looked like a continuation of their second quarter momentum until LB John Mobley intercepted a Gannon pass in the end zone to halt the Raiders threat, propelling the Denver defense to a second half shutout. Former Raider Joe Nedney, signed by the Broncos the week of the game to replace the injured Jason Elam, was perfect on field goals (4-4), including nailing all three attempts in the second half, the only points either team would score.

One of the games' big stories was the continued emergence of rookie RB Mike Anderson, who again was called on to replace an injured Terrell Davis. Anderson was spectacular, setting a Broncos' rookie record by rushing for 187 yards on 32 carries and totaling 189 yards of offense. Anderson became just the ninth back in NFL history to rush for 100 yards or more in his first two NFL starts as a rookie. Griese had another strong outing, completing 21 of 31 passes for 213 yards and two touchdowns, as he completed his fourth straight game without an interception. Ed McCaffrey (92 yards) and Rod Smith (63 yards) each had seven receptions. Defensively, Terrell Buckley helped salt the victory with his second interception of the season late in the fourth quarter. The victory put Denver in a tie for first place for first time since the last week of the 1998 season.

Sept. 24, 2000 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Mostly Cloudy, 36º (wind chill 28º), Wind W 8 mph • Attendance: 74,596 • Time: 2:56*

The Broncos suffered their third consecutive loss to the Kansas City Chiefs, this time in a 23-22 heartbreaker before 74,596 at Mile High Stadium in which the Broncos led for a majority of the contest.

After surrendering a touchdown to the Chiefs on their opening possession, Denver scored the next 19 points of the game on two Joe Nedney field goals, a 26-yard interception return by Ray Crockett (his first of two picks on the day) and a 16-yard run by rookie Mike Anderson.

The Chiefs, however would rattle off 16 of the game's final 19 points to secure the win, scoring the game-winning touchdown with 2:21 to play on a 22-yard pass from Elvis Grbac to Derrick Alexander.

Gus Frerotte, subbing for an injured Brian Griese, performed admirably, throwing for 208 yards on 18-31 passing, but did throw Denver's first interception of the season on the Broncos' last drive of the game.

The contest featured two 100-yard receivers, one for Denver (Rod Smith, 8-134) and one for Kansas City (Tony Gonzalez, 10-127 yds., TD). The game also featured the return of Terrell Davis, who rushed for 41 yards on six carries in limited duty. During the contest, Smith passed Mark Jackson (276) for eighth place all-time in receptions by a Bronco, and Al Denson (4,150) for ninth place in receiving yards by a Bronco. It was Smith's 15th career 100-yard game.

5 NEW ENGLAND 28, DENVER 19

Oct. 1, 2000 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 80º, Wind SE 6 mph • Attendance: 75,684 • Time: 3:05*

The Broncos lost their second straight home game on consecutive weekends for the first time since 1990 by dropping a 28-19 decision to the New England Patriots before 75,684 faithful at Mile High Stadium. It was the Broncos' first loss to New England at Mile High since 1968.

The Patriots scored the first 14 points of the contest and ran out to a 21-3 halftime lead, on the strength of three Drew Bledsoe touchdown passes. The first two, to WR Troy Brown, covered 11 and 44 yards, while the third went 12 yards to RB J.R. Redmond just before halftime. Denver scored its three points on a 20-yard Joe Nedney field goal after failing to put the ball into the end zone after a 1st-and-goal at the 8-yard line.

The Broncos had a glimmer of hope in the third quarter, scoring eight points in an 18-second span, on a New England safety and a Deltha O'Neal kickoff return for a touchdown to pull within 21-11. The safety came when New England punter Lee Johnson intentionally stepped out of the back of the end zone on 4th-and-19 from the Patriots' 1-yd. line to account for the safety, and O'Neal returned the subsequent free kick 87 yards for his first NFL score.

But Denver would draw now closer as New England responded with a 7-play, 77-yard drive that culminated in Bledsoe's fourth touchdown toss of the day, this time covering 9 yards to Terry Glenn, to put the Patriots ahead 28-11 at the close of the third quarter.

Brian Griese set career highs with 31 completions in 50 attempts, and posted his second highest single-game yardage total with 361 yards, but also threw his first interception of the season. Rod Smith tied the franchise record with 13 catches for 160 yards while Ed McCaffrey tied his career high with nine receptions for 91 yards. Smith's yardage figure brought his career total to 4,373, enabling him to pass Rick Upchurch (4,369) for eighth place all-time in receiving yards by a Bronco. However, Terrell Davis (9-24) was hampered again by his sore left ankle and the Broncos were held to 79 yards rushing.

Oct. 8, 2000 • Qualcomm Stadium • San Diego, Calif.

Weather: Sunny, 68º, Wind WSW 7 mph • Attendance: 56,079 • Time: 3:20*

The Broncos evened their record at 3-3 with a 21-7 victory over the San Diego Chargers at Qualcomm Stadium to run their streak to four straight wins over their AFC West rival at their facility.

In a tight defensive struggle, Denver's defense forced three interceptions from San Diego quarterback Jim Harbaugh, setting up two of the Broncos' three touchdowns. The two teams exchanged touchdowns in the first half, with Denver drawing first blood on one of three touchdown passes by Brian Griese. It covered 2 yards to Ed McCaffrey midway the first period, and sent McCaffrey on his way to a career-high 10 receptions.

After the Chargers sent the game to the half tied at 7-7, the Broncos dominated the second half, scoring the only points of the game, thanks to two interceptions by Terrell Buckley. The first of his two picks set up what turned out to be the game-winning touchdown, as Griese hit McCaffrey (career-high 10 receptions for 71 yards) for the second time on the afternoon, this one from five yards out. Griese connected with Dwayne Carswell in the waning moments for the last score of the game, with that drive being set up by rookie Deltha O'Neal's 64-yard punt return.

During the contest, McCaffrey not only caught the 400th ball of his NFL career, but the 300th reception of his Broncos career. He also passed Haven Moses (302) for sixth place all-time in receptions by a Bronco. McCaffrey also passed Rick Upchurch (35) and Steve Watson (36) and tied Vance Johnson (37) for eight place on Denver's all-time touchdown list. His two touchdown receptions also helped him pass Watson (36) and tie Johnson (37) for fifth place all-time in touchdown receptions by a Bronco. Griese completed the game without throwing an interception for the fourth time in five starts, extending his success in interception avoidance, which includes just one interception in his last 237 attempts.

7 DENVER 44, CLEVELAND 10

Oct. 15, 2000 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 59º, Wind NE 7 mph • Attendance: 75,811 • Time: 3:04*

The Broncos snapped a two-game home losing streak by defeating the Cleveland Browns 44-10 in front of 75,811 at Mile High Stadium.

After a slow start—the game was tied 3-3 midway through the second quarter—Denver scored at least 10 points in each of the final three quarters and held the Browns to just a touchdown the rest of the day, allowing the opponent 10 points or less for the second straight contest.

Brian Griese reached the 300-yard passing mark by halftime to post his third 300-yard passing game of the season, and both Ed McCaffrey (129) and Rod Smith (111) each reached the 100-yard mark on five receptions. Mike Anderson also produced 100 yards rushing for the third time this season with 103 yards on 20 carries and one touchdown.

Smith, who recorded the 300th reception of his career in the game, also tied the franchise record with a career high three touchdown receptions. His first two came in the second quarter on 22- and 17-yard strikes from Griese to open up a 17-3 cushion, en route to a 20-3 halftime lead on the strength of a 22-yard Jason Elam field goal. Smith passed Haven Moses (302) for seventh place all-time in receptions by a Bronco during the contest and McCaffrey also reached a milestone by passing Al Denson (4,150) for 10th place all-time in receiving yards by a Bronco.

The Broncos defense scored for the second straight week, as Billy Jenkins returned an interception 36 yards for a touchdown in the fourth quarter. The interception was one of a career-high two pickoffs for Jenkins on the day, and gave him three in the past two games, setting a new single-season high.

This was Denver's third game of the season without committing a turnover. It also marked just the second time in franchise history that the Broncos have had a 300-yard passer, 100-yard rusher and two 100-yard receivers in the same game. The first occurred Oct. 17, 1999 vs. Green Bay.

8 CINCINNATI 31, DENVER 21

Oct. 22, 2000 • Paul Brown Stadium • Cincinnati, Ohio

Weather: Partly Cloudy, 73º, Wind NE 2 mph • Attendance: 61,603 • Time: 3:18*

The Broncos fell victim to one of the most memorable individual performances in NFL history, as Bengals running back Corey Dillon broke Walter Payton's NFL single-game rushing record, posting 278 yards and two touchdowns on 22 carries to lead Cincinnati to its first win of the season, 31-21. Payton's record of 275 yards vs. Minnesota had stood since Nov. 20, 1977.

For the day, the Bengals ran for 407 yards—more than any opponent in Broncos history, and fifth most in NFL history—while throwing for only 14 yards on just two completions. The Bengals did not complete a pass after the first quarter, yet still managed to overcome a 14-3 second quarter deficit. Dillon scored on runs of 65 and 41 yards in the game's final five minutes to seal the outcome. Between the two scoring runs the Broncos pulled to within 24-21 on Brian Griese's 28-yard touchdown pass to Rod Smith with 3:43 remaining, but were not able to contain Dillon on the Bengals' next possession.

In a game littered with incongruous stats, the Broncos scored just 21 points and lost a game in which they amassed 500 yards of total offense and recorded 32 first downs, second most in franchise history. A contributing factor was losing the turnover battle 3-1. On a day in which the defense allowed the most rushing yards in team annals, they held Cincinnati to the fewest completions (tie; 2), the second fewest passing yards (14), the second lowest completion percentage (14.3%), the second fewest passing first downs (tie; 2) and the fifth fewest pass attempts (tie; 14).

All in all, the outcome sullied what was otherwise a brilliant day for Griese, who completed 30 of 45 passes for a career-high 365 yards and two touchdowns, with one interception, as the Broncos fell to 4-4. His primary targets, Ed McCaffrey and Rod Smith, both topped the 100-yard mark for the second straight week, just the second time in franchise history that has happened. McCaffrey tied his career high with 10 catches and set a new career high with 136 yards, while Smith caught seven passes for 110 yards. Griese's two touchdown passes gave him 16 for the season to set a new personal best (14 in 1999).

9 DENVER 30, NEW YORK JETS 23

Nov. 5, 2000 • Giants Stadium • East Rutherford, N.J.

Weather: Partly Cloudy, 51º, Wind NW 20 mph • Attendance: 78,305 • Time: 3:05*

The Broncos improved to 5-4 with a 30-23 victory over the New York Jets in front of a paid attendance of 78,305 at Giants Stadium in East Rutherford, N.J. The win was the first for Denver against the Jets on the road since 1993 and pushed the Broncos into a tie for second place in the AFC West with Kansas City.

The Broncos jumped to a 17-0 lead midway through the second quarter, thanks to the strong running of Terrell Davis and the passing of Brian Griese. Griese connected with Ed McCaffrey on a 1-yard touchdown pass, the first of his two in the game, to put the Broncos ahead 7-0. After a Jets fumble Jason Elam—who became the 39th player in NFL history to score 900 career points—drilled a 31-yard field goal to increase the lead to 10-0. On the Jets next possession, Broncos rookie safety Kenoy Kennedy, playing on defense for the first time, intercepted a Vinny Testaverde pass at the Broncos' 6-yard line, setting up an impressive 15-play, 94-yard drive the culminated in a 4-yard Terrell Davis touchdown run to push the lead to 17-0 midway through the second quarter. It was his first score since Oct. 3, 1999, also against the Jets, because of knee and ankle injuries that had kept him out of 17 of the last 20 games.

New York finally got on the board with a touchdown and a field goal, sandwiched around a 41-yard Elam field goal, to make it 20-10 at the half. The Jets would score the first 10 points of the second half to tie the score, but the Broncos responded by scoring 10 of the game's final 13 points for the victory. The capper was Griese's second touchdown hookup with McCaffrey, a 47-yarder on third-and-four to give Denver a 30-20 lead with 9:00 to play. The Broncos' defense then hung tough to preserve the 30-23 win by thwarting the Jets after a 1st-and-goal at Denver's 2-yard line with 49 seconds remaining.

Griese threw for over 300 yards for the fifth time this season (one off team record) and the third straight contest (tying team record) and Rod Smith had at least 100 yards receiving for the third consecutive game (ties team record) and his sixth this season (one off team record). Smith also passed Mark Jackson (4,746) for seventh place all-time on Denver's receiving yards list. Davis also topped the 8,000-yard mark in total yards from scrimmage and combined yards by a Broncos player. Also, McCaffrey passed Vance Johnson (37) for eighth place on Denver's all-time touchdown list, passed Johnson (37) for fifth place on Denver's touchdown receptions list and passed Rick Upchurch (4,369) for ninth place on Denver's career receiving yards list. Elam passed Jim Turner (304) for first place on Denver's all-time list for PAT attempts during the contest.

Nov. 13, 2000 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Clear, 20º, Wind SE 3 mph • Attendance: 75,951 • Time: 3:19

In the last Monday night game in the history of Mile High Stadium, the Broncos and Oakland Raiders staged an epic that matched the first meeting on the Monday night stage between these two teams back in 1973. However, the Broncos did not have to settle for a tie this time, pulling out a 27-24 victory on the final play of the game to improve their record to 6-4 and pull to within two games of the division-leading Raiders.

A 41-yard field goal by Jason Elam as time expired capped a seven-play, 44-yard drive led by Brian Griese, who played the majority of the game despite separating his shoulder in the first quarter. Griese and Terrell Davis combined with a staunch defensive performance in the second half to give Denver a 24-10 lead with 6:30 left in the contest, but Rich Gannon led the Raiders back with two late scores to tie the contest.

Denver built its sizeable advantage on the strength of rookie linebacker Ian Gold, who had a forced fumble on a sack in the first half and then followed that up with a blocked punt in the third quarter that he returned 12 yards for a touchdown, giving the Broncos a 17-10 lead at the time. Byron Chamberlain reeled in Griese's only touchdown of the night from 11 yards out early in the fourth quarter to stretch the margin to 24-10.

At one point, Griese completed 11 consecutive passes—tied for the fifth-longest completions streak in franchise history—as he finished the contest completing 15 of his final 17 passes for 161 yards and a touchdown after the midway point of the third quarter. In the fourth quarter he was 9 of 11 for 102 yards and touchdown for a passer rating of 135.6

During the contest, wide receiver Rod Smith vaulted over the 1,000-yard mark for the fourth straight season, extending his own team record and tying Lionel Taylor for most career 1,000-yard seasons. The win was the seventh in a row over the Raiders for Denver and the 11th in the past 12 meetings, all occurring since Mike Shanahan's arrival in 1995.

11 DENVER 38, SAN DIEGO 37

Nov. 19, 2000 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Mostly Sunny, 39º (wind chill 23º), Wind NE 13 mph • Attendance: 75,218 • Time: 3:34*

The Broncos improved to 7-4 with the second largest fourth quarter comeback in franchise history, overcoming a 34-17 deficit to defeat the San Diego Chargers 38-37 and sweep the season series for the third time in four years.

On a day when Mike Shanahan became the fastest Denver coach to win 60 regular season games (91st game), backup quarterback Gus Frerotte stole the headlines by setting numerous career highs and franchise records in helping Denver win its third straight game (longest win streak since 1998). Frerotte—who posted career highs in every statistical category—threw for a franchise-record 462 yards and tied the team record with five touchdown passes. His 36 completions tied a team record and his 58 attempts were second.

Wide Receiver Rod Smith also set a career high for receiving yards with 187 on 11 receptions, as well as pulling in the touchdown that started the fourth-quarter comeback. Smith's counterpart Ed McCaffrey tied a career high with 10 receptions and set a new career-high with 148 yards while scoring twice, the second being the game-winner with 1:33 left in the contest. Smith and McCaffrey topped 100 yards in the same game for the third time this season. The other fourth-quarter scoring toss went to Desmond Clark with 4:59 remaining, as Denver scored 21 fourth-quarter points.

Running back Mike Anderson also had a big day replacing an injured Terrell Davis, running for 97 yards on 19 carries and adding a career-high six receptions for 41 more yards, including an 8-yarder on 3rd-and-5 on the game-winning drive.

The Chargers' ability to capitalize on Broncos miscues (27 points off five Denver turnovers) staked them to a large first-half cushion that built into a 34-17 advantage by the end of three quarters. Denver outgained San Diego 536-385 with its third highest yardage total ever, and matched the team record for first downs in a game with 34, including 24 through the air (second most ever).

12 DENVER 38, SEATTLE 31

Nov. 26, 2000 • Husky Stadium • Seattle, Wash.

Weather: Rain, 48º, Wind N 9 mph • Attendance: 68,661 • Time: 3:24*

The Broncos won their fourth game in a row and improved to 8-4 with yet another thrilling finish, this time scoring 14 points in the fourth quarter to defeat the Seattle Seahawks 38-31 at Husky Stadium in front of 68,661 rain-soaked fans.

A steady rain throughout the contest contributed to four Denver fumbles (three lost), and though Denver lost the turnover battle 5-3, the Broncos scored 28 second half points to overcome a 14-3 first half deficit and ring up 500 yards of total offense for the second straight game, the first time in franchise history they have accomplished this feat. Denver's 301 rushing yards were the third most in franchise history, and the most since 1976. The offensive exploits were made even more remarkable by the fact that they were accomplished without starting QB Brian Griese (shoulder) and running back Terrell Davis (calf).

Numerous individual offensive records were set during the contest, starting with Mike Anderson setting the rookie rushing mark for one game for the second time this season (195), as well as setting the record for most total yards from scrimmage by a rookie in a game (209) and tying the rookie record for most rushing TDs in a season (7). Wide receiver Rod Smith set the franchise record for most receiving yards in a season in the first quarter, and then broke off a career-long 50-yard touchdown run in the third quarter, part of a three-carry, 78-yard rushing day to give him 160 yards of total offense.

Despite the impressive numbers, Denver trailed 24-17 entering the final stanza thanks to two fumble recoveries that were returned for touchdowns by the Seahawks defense. However, Smith would break off his 50-yard score and then Jimmy Spencer became the 18th Bronco to score a touchdown in 2000 when he returned Jon Kitna's second interception of the day 21 yards to give Denver the lead, 31-24. The Seahawks would tie the game again, but on 2nd-and-10 from his own 20-yard line, Anderson—who earlier fumbled and saw it returned for a score—streaked down the left sideline 80 yards to put Denver in front for good. It was the second longest scoring run in franchise history.

Gus Frerotte filled in admirably once again for Griese, completing 15 of 31 passes for 244 yards, including a 43-yard scoring toss to tight end Desmond Clark, who had a career-high 73 receiving yards on the day. With 30 carries Anderson became the first rookie in Broncos history to run the ball 30 or more times three times in a season. The win was Denver's eight in the past nine games with Seattle.

13 DENVER 38, NEW ORLEANS 23

Dec. 3, 2000 • Louisiana Superdome • New Orleans, La.

The Broncos clinched their first winning season since 1998 and their fourth in five years with a convincing 38-23 win over the New Orleans Saints in front of 64,900 at the Louisiana Superdome. The Broncos carved up one of the league's top defenses for 483 total yards—including 283 on the ground—building a 28-13 halftime margin and forcing the Saints into a pass-only mode in the second half. The Saints did not run the ball once after the break and tallied just nine rushing attempts for the game—tied for fewest by an opponent in franchise history. The Broncos also won the turnover battle 2-0.

The Broncos' record-setting offensive show lit up the scoreboard for 38 points for the third consecutive game without their starting quarterback (Brian Griese) or tailback (Terrell Davis). Both positions were handled admirably, as Gus Frerotte had a mistake free day, throwing for 201 yards on 11-16 passing and one touchcown, a 43-yarder to Dwayne Carswell that was the tight end's career-long reception. All Mike Anderson did was put forth the best rushing game in team history and the fourth-best in NFL history. His 251 rushing yards were the most by a rookie in NFL history while his 256 total yards from scrimmage were the most ever by a Bronco, and he became the first player in Broncos history to score four touchdowns in a single game. It was also his fifth 100-yard rushing game to tie the franchise rookie record, and Anderson also became the first Bronco to ever rush for 100 yards in each half of the same game and helped Denver become the second NFL team to ever have three different 1,000-yard rushers over a three-year span (Anderson, Olandis Gary and Terrell Davis).

Nearly lost in Anderson's tidal wave of accomplishments was another NFL record set by Jason Elam, as he passed Norm Johnson (301) for most consecutive PATs in NFL history, finishing the day at 303 after successfully converting all five attempts. Wide receiver Ed McCaffrey went over 1,000 yards receiving for the third straight season, only the second Bronco (teammate Rod Smith has four straight) to ever accomplish this feat. It was also his 50th straight game with a catch, third most in Broncos annals.

Dec. 10, 2000 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Cloudy, 22º (wind chill 6º), Wind E 10 mph • Attendance: 75,218 • Time: 3:04*

The Broncos won their sixth straight game and their fourth in a row at Mile High Stadium with a 31-24 victory over the Seattle Seahawks, completing their fourth season sweep of the Seahawks in the last five years.

Mike Anderson eclipsed the 100-yard rushing mark for the third straight game and the sixth time this season to set a Broncos rookie record. His numbers for the day included 131 yards on 29 carries to move past Terrell Davis' 1995 rookie record of 1,484 total yards from scrimmage. He also scored two touchdowns to increase his franchise rookie record to 13.

The defense enabled the Broncos to jump out to a 14-3 lead by halftime, as Al Wilson and Jimmy Spencer each picked off passes. Wilson returned his 20 yards to the Seahawks 7-yard line to set up Denver's first touchdown, and Spencer—who picked off a pass for the third straight game—marked the second time in that span that he returned one for a touchdown, taking his back 79 yards for a score, the third longest interception return in franchise history.

Denver took possession to start the second half and marched 85 yards in 13 plays, culminating in Anderson's first touchdown run of the day, to give Denver a 21-3 advantage. A fumble on the ensuing kickoff was turned into a Jason Elam 38-yard field goal for a 24-3 Broncos lead midway through the third quarter.

But Seattle would respond, scoring touchdowns on each of its next two possessions to cut the margin to 24-17. Jon Kitna passed 4 yards to Sean Dawkins to cap the initial 10-play, 80-yard drive, then 9 yards to Darrell Jackson to cap a 12-play, 68-yard drive.

The Broncos answered the challenge, however, as Gus Frerotte hit Ed McCaffrey for a 41-yard gain to set up Anderson's second score and give Denver a 31-17 lead, enough to withstand Seattle's final touchdown. McCaffrey passed Riley Odoms (41) for fourth place all-time in receiving touchdowns by a Bronco; passed Steve Watson (353) for fifth place all-time in receptions and passed Mark Jackson (4,746) for eighth place all-time in receiving yards. Rod Smith added 82 yards receiving and a key third down conversion on his only rushing attempt of the day, a five-yard gain on a reverse. For the first time during Denver's winning streak, a team rushed for 100 yards, as Seattle tallied 107 on the ground.

Dec. 17, 2000 • Arrowhead Stadium • Kansas City, Mo.

Weather: Clear, 9º (wind chill -1º), Wind W 6 mph • Attendance: 78,406 • Time: 3:03*

The Broncos had their six-game winning streak snapped as they lost to the Kansas City Chiefs 20-7 at frigid Arrowhead Stadium, in what matched the second coldest temperature on record for a Broncos game (9º with -1º wind chill), exceeded only by a 0º/-30º wind chill at the same location, Dec. 18, 1983.

It was the Chiefs' fourth straight victory over the Broncos and marked the first game in which Denver did not score an offensive point during the Mike Shanahan era. Denver's only score came on a fumble recovery in the end zone by cornerback Jason Suttle when a Tom Rouen punt hit punt returner Kevin Lockett in the helmet at the five-yard line. However, Denver would muster no other points than that score, which gave them a 7-3 advantage at halftime.

Kansas City scored all 17 points of the second half and prevented the playoff-bound Broncos from tying the Raiders for first place in the AFC West. Mike Anderson was held to just 62 yards on 12 carries—38 of which came on his first carry of the day—while the Chiefs racked up 264 rushing yards, outgaining Denver 424-291 in total offense. Though it was the Broncos' lowest offensive output of the season, the 291 yards were enough to increase Denver's season total to 6,205 yards, topping the previous franchise record of 6,092 set in 1998.

During the contest Ed McCaffrey moved into second place all-time for most receiving yards in a season by a Bronco, trailing only teammate Rod Smith's record-setting total in 2000. Also, Smith, who caught six passes for 101 yards, set a new franchise record with his eighth 100-yard game of the season. Anderson passed Eddie George (1,368 in 1996) for the ninth best rushing total by a rookie in NFL history and passed Otis Armstrong (1,407 in 1974) for the fourth best rushing total by a Bronco. Meanwhile, Suttle became the 19th different Denver player to score a touchdown this season, tying the franchise record set in 1984. This marked the first time during Shanahan's tenure that a team has beaten Denver four straight times.

16 DENVER 38, SAN FRANCISCO 9

Dec. 23, 2000 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 45º (wind chill 39º), Wind NE 7 mph • Attendance: 76,098 • Time: 3:15*

The Broncos improved their record to 11-5 to close the regular season by defeating San Francisco 38-9 in front of a sell-out crowd of 76,098 in the final game played at Mile High Stadium. The attendance figure was the second largest for the Broncos in their history at Mile High, and the largest for a regular season game.

With their 11-5 finish, the Broncos became the fourth AFC team ever to win at least 11 games in a season four times in a five-year period, and the club set a franchise record for passing yards in a season (4,243). Additionally, Denver's 6,567 total yards for the season ranks fifth in NFL history.

After a scoreless first quarter the Broncos exploded for 17 points in the second quarter and 21 more in the third to open up a 38-0 lead, scoring on six straight possessions. Jason Elam opened the scoring with a 20-yard field goal midway through the second period, followed by a 24-yard touchdown run by KaRon Coleman—his first NFL score—and a 1-yard touchdown run by Mike Anderson to give Denver a 17-0 lead at the break.

Gus Frerotte, who replaced the injured Brian Griese (shoulder) in the first quarter, found Ed McCaffrey for a 25-yard touchdown early in the third quarter to increase the lead to 24-0. It was McCaffrey's 101st catch of the season to break Lionel Taylor's 39-year old franchise record for receptions in a season. Less than two minutes later Frerotte scored on a 13-yard touchdown run and Anderson closed the period with his second score of the day on another 1-yard run for a 38-0 lead.

San Francisco avoided the shutout when Wade Richey converted a 44-yard field goal with 9:04 to play, then padded their total when J.J. Stokes caught an 8-yard touchdown pass from Jeff Garcia with 39 second remaining. The 49ers extended their NFL-record scoring streak to 403 games.

McCaffrey and Rod Smith both reached the 100-reception mark for the season, becoming just the second pair of receivers from the same team to reach 100 in a season, and Smith's 1,602 receiving yards tied for the eighth-best single-season total in NFL history. Anderson, with two touchdown runs, reached 15 for the season to tie for second-most in NFL history by a rookie, and finished the year with 1,500 rushing yards, the fifth-best rookie total ever.

AFC Wild Card Playoff Game
Baltimore 21, Denver 3
Dec. 31, 2000 • PSINet Stadium • Baltimore, Md.

Weather: Mostly Sunny, 22º (wind chill 5º), Wind NNW 20-25 mph • Attendance: 69,638 • Time: 2:54*

The Broncos' season ended in a disappointing 21-3 defeat at the hands of the Baltimore Ravens in an AFC Wild Card Playoff Game at PSINet Stadium in Baltimore on a blustery New Year's Eve day. Denver's offense managed just 177 yards—the club's third lowest output in 28 postseason games—and nine first downs against a record-setting Ravens defense, which put an end to the Broncos' seven-game postseason win streak.

After a scoreless first quarter, Baltimore put the first points on the scoreboard when Jamal Lewis' reach the end zone from 1 yard out early in the second quarter to cap a 10-play, 75-yard drive. The Broncos answered with a 31-yard Jason Elam field goal to narrow the deficit to 7-3 when a promising 12-play, 68-yard drive stalled after a 3rd-and-1 opportunity at the Ravens' 12-yard line. What followed would prove to be the play of the game, if not one of the more bizarre plays of the year.

The Ravens' Corey Harris returned the ensuing kickoff 15 yards to the Baltimore 42-yard line. On 1st-and-10, Baltimore's Trent Dilfer attempted a screen pass to Lewis, who tipped the ball into and out of the hands of Denver cornerback Terrell Buckley. The loose ball was grabbed out of the air by former Broncos tight end Shannon Sharpe who dashed 58 yards for a touchdown, boosting the lead to 14-3.

Baltimore increased its halftime lead to 21-3 late in the third quarter when Lewis ran 27 yards for this second touchdown of the day to cap the scoring.

Denver managed just 83 yards on its eight second-half possessions and was held scoreless to preserve the lowest scoring output (3) in franchise postseason history. The Broncos penetrated Ravens territory just once all day, and ran just seven plays on the Baltimore side of the field.

Broncos quarterback Gus Frerotte, subbing for the injured Brian Griese, completed 13 of 28 passes for 124 yards with one interception, while Ed McCaffrey led all receivers with eight catches for 75 yards. Mike Anderson led the Broncos in rushing with 40 yards on 15 carries. Safety Billy Jenkins and defensive end Maa Tanuvasa each had sacks for the Broncos' defense, which held Baltimore to 244 yards total offense and forced 10 punts.

The term NFL ROOKIE is defined as a player who is in his first season of professional football and has not been on the roster of another professional football team for any regular-season or postseason games. A ROOKIE is designated by an "R" on NFL rosters. Players who have been active in another professional league or players who have NFL experience, including their preseason training camp or being on an Active List or Inactive List, or on Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform for fewer than six regular season games, are termed NFL First-Year Players. An NFL First-Year Player is designated by a "1" on NFL rosters. Thereafter, a player is credited with an additional year of experience for each season in which he accumulates six games on the Active List or Inactive List, or on Reserve/Injured or Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform.

DENVER BRONCOS STARTERS, 1960-2000

Listed below are the usual starters, by position, for the Denver Broncos on a season-by-season basis from 1960-2000. A player must have been the starter for the majority of the games that season to be designated as the starter. If the number of starting assignments at a position were virtually equal, two players have been listed, with the player who had the greater playing time listed first. The term "Ret" is used to designate someone who was a kick return specialist.

2000 AFC Wild Card Playoff Game

Baltimore 21, Denver 3

Dec. 31, 2000 • PSINet Stadium • Baltimore, Md.

Weather: Mostly Sunny, 22º (wind chill 5º), Wind NNW 20-25 mph • Attendance: 69,638 • Time: 2:54*

The Broncos' season ended in a disappointing 21-3 defeat at the hands of the Baltimore Ravens in an AFC Wild Card Playoff Game at PSINet Stadium in Baltimore on a blustery New Year's Eve day. Denver's offense managed just 177 yards—the club's third lowest output in 28 postseason games—and nine first downs against a record-setting Ravens defense, which put an end to the Broncos' seven-game postseason win streak.

After a scoreless first quarter, Baltimore put the first points on the scoreboard when Jamal Lewis' reach the end zone from 1 yard out early in the second quarter to cap a 10-play, 75-yard drive. The Broncos answered with a 31-yard Jason Elam field goal to narrow the deficit to 7-3 when a promising 12-play, 68-yard drive stalled after a 3rd-and-1 opportunity at the Ravens' 12-yard line. What followed would prove to be the play of the game, if not one of the more bizarre plays of the year.

The Ravens' Corey Harris returned the ensuing kickoff 15 yards to the Baltimore 42-yard line. On 1st-and-10, Baltimore's Trent Dilfer attempted a screen pass to Lewis, who tipped the ball into and out of the hands of Denver cornerback Terrell Buckley. The loose ball was grabbed out of the air by former Broncos tight end Shannon Sharpe who dashed 58 yards for a touchdown, boosting the lead to 14-3.

Baltimore increased its halftime lead to 21-3 late in the third quarter when Lewis ran 27 yards for this second touchdown of the day to cap the scoring.

Denver managed just 83 yards on its eight second-half possessions and was held scoreless to preserve the lowest scoring output (3) in franchise postseason history. The Broncos penetrated Ravens territory just once all day, and ran just seven plays on the Baltimore side of the field.

Broncos quarterback Gus Frerotte, subbing for the injured Brian Griese, completed 13 of 28 passes for 124 yards with one interception, while Ed McCaffrey led all receivers with eight catches for 75 yards. Mike Anderson led the Broncos in rushing with 40 yards on 15 carries. Safety Billy Jenkins and defensive end Maa Tanuvasa each had sacks for the Broncos' defense, which held Baltimore to 244 yards total offense and forced 10 punts.

Jan. 31, 1999 • Pro Player Stadium • Miami, Fla.

Weather: Mostly Cloudy, 73º, Wind E 10 mph • Attendance: 74,803 • Time: 3:18*

The Denver Broncos clinched their second straight World Championship with a 34-19 victory over the Atlanta Falcons in Super Bowl XXXIII before 74,803 at Miami's Pro Player Stadium, and millions more watching around the world. With the win, Denver joined just five other franchises who have won back-to-back Super Bowl titles, and posted just the seventh repeat championship in Super Bowl history. The win also gave Denver 33 wins in the past two seasons, and 46 wins in the past three, both NFL records.

Quarterback John Elway claimed the game's Most Valuable Player award by completing 18 of 29 passes for 336 yards (3rd-most in Super Bowl history), including an 80-yard touchdown toss to Rod Smith in the second quarter that tied for the second-longest TD pass in Super Bowl history. He also ran for a 3-yard score in the fourth quarter, making him the the oldest player (38) to score a touchdown in the Super Bowl, eclipsing the record he set a year earlier by scoring in Super Bowl XXXII.

Elway's accurate passing and Terrell Davis' effective running (25 carries, 102 yards) kept the Falcons off balance all day. The Broncos' defense chipped in, as well, with two sacks and four forced turnovers, including two interceptions by Darrien Gordon, who set Super Bowl records for most interception-return yards in a game (108).

Atlanta took the opening kickoff and capped its drive with a 32-yard Morten Andersen field goal, before Denver answered with the game's next 17 points. The first score came on a 1-yard run by fullback Howard Griffith that capped a 10-play, 80-yard opening drive by the Broncos, and the lead was increased to 10-3 on a 26-yard Jason Elam field goal that capped Denver's third possession. After Andersen missed a 26-yard field goal attempt the Broncos' answered with the Elway-to-Smith 80-yard score on the next play to push the lead to 17-3. The Falcons narrowed the margin to 17-6 at halftime with a 28-yard Andersen field goal.

After a scoreless third quarter, Denver took advantage of Gordon's first interception by capping a short 24-yard drive with another Griffith 1-yard touchdown run early in the fourth quarter. Gordon's second pickoff set up Elway's 3-yard touchdown run that put Denver ahead 31-6 with 11:20 remaining. Two late touchdowns by Atlanta sandwiched around a 37-yard Elam field goal to produce the final margin.

Davis set an NFL record with his seventh straight 100-yard game in the postseason, defensive tackle Mike Lodish set a record by playing in his sixth Super Bowl, and Bill Romanowski became just the second player to win back-to-back titles with two different teams.

Jan. 17, 1999 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 41º, Wind NW 24 mph (wind chill 18º) • Attendance: 75,482 • Time: 3:16*

The Broncos clinched their AFC-record sixth berth in a Super Bowl by defeating the New York Jets 23-10 in the AFC Championship Game before a crowd of 75,482 at Mile High Stadium and a CBS national TV audience. The win was Denver's 19th straight at home including postseason.

After not scoring in the first half, the Broncos scored 20 third-quarter points and reached the Super Bowl for the second consecutive season — matching the back to AFC Championships of the 1986 and '87 Broncos.

The Jets had taken a 10-0 lead on a John Hall 32-yard field goal and a 1-yard Curtis Martin touchdown run that was set up by a blocked punt at the Broncos' 1-yard line. That touchdown proved to be just the wake-up call that Denver needed to ignite its offense, as well as the unusually quiet Mile High crowd. On 1st-and-10 from the 36-yard line, John Elway connected with Ed McCaffrey on a 47-yard pass play, and two plays later found fullback Howard Griffith with an 11-yard touchdown pass to get Denver on the board and narrow the Jets' lead to 10-7.

Then, a wind-stifled kickoff was recovered by Keith Burns and turned into a 44-yard Jason Elam field. Another Elam kick of 48 yards gave Denver the lead, and then a 31-yard touchdown run by Terrell Davis gave the Broncos a 10-point cushion they never relinquished.

The Broncos defense — which deserved credit for keeping the Broncos in the game in the first half while the offense sputtered — forced six turnovers (including two interceptions by Darrien Gordon) on the day and held the Jets to 14 yards rushing on 13 carries. The four opponent fumbles recovered by Denver set a franchise postseason record.

Davis set numerous records during the contest, including passing his own NFL-record total of 2,331 yards rushing in an entire season (regular and postseason combined) set in 1997, and rushing for 100 yards for the sixth straight postseason game, tying John Riggins for the most all-time. He also passed Larry Csonka and Riggins for seventh and sixth place in career postseason rushing yards. Tight end Shannon Sharpe tied Vance Johnson (40) for the most receptions in postseason by a Bronco. Elam's three field goals tied a Denver single-game postseason record. The Broncos maintained a perfect record (10-0) in the postseason when outrushing the opponent and a perfect mark (12-0) when leading after three quarters.

DENVER 38, MIAMI 3

Jan. 9, 1999 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 49º, Wind W 13 mph • Attendance: 75,729 • Time: 2:48*

The Denver Broncos won their fifth straight postseason contest and advanced to the AFC Championship Game for the second year in a row with a record-setting 38-3 win over Miami in an AFC Divisional Playoff Game played before 75,729 raucous fans at Mile High Stadium.

The 35-point differential represented Denver's largest margin of victory in a postseason game, and was punctuated by a defensive effort that limited Miami to just 14 yards on 13 carries for an average of 1.1 yards per rush — all of which set new franchise records. The three points allowed were also the fewest allowed by Denver in a postseason game.

The Broncos offense was just as sharp, putting points on the board in all four quarters, including 14 in both the first and fourth quarters. Denver's two first quarter TD both came courtesy of T.D. himself — Terrell Davis — who scored on runs on 1 and 20 yards, the latter of which would qualify for any highlight film as Davis juked two Dolphins defenders with separate moves as he dashed to the end zone. Davis was, unequivocally, the offensive star, posting a franchise-record 199 yards on 21 carries, which also represented the fourth-highest single-game total in NFL postseason history. Davis, who moved into eighth place all-time in NFL postseason rushing in just his sixth game, had rushed for 129 yards by halftime to notch his first 100-yd. half in the postseason, to go along with 10 in the regular season.

Miami closed the gap to 14-3 in the second quarter, scoring it's only points of the game on a 22-yd. Olindo Mare field goal, but Denver answered with an 11-play, 87-yard drive capped by Derek Loville's 11-yard TD run to increase the lead to 21-3 at halftime. The Broncos pushed the margin to 24-3 early in the third quarter when Jason Elam converted a 32-yd. field goal, and put the game far out of reach early in the fourth quarter when John Elway hooked up with Rod Smith for a 28-yd. touchdown play that was his 25th career postseason TD, tying him for fourth-place all-time.

The icing on the cake was provided when Neil Smith picked up a fumble forced by Darrius Johnson at the Broncos' 21-yd. line and ran it back 79 yards for his first career postseason and a 38-3 Broncos lead, that would stand up over the final 9:49 for Denver's most lopsided postseason win.

Shannon Sharpe led all Denver receivers with five catches, while Smith was the top yardage-gainer through the air with 71 on four catches. Defensively, Darrius Johnson and Bill Romanowski each intercepted Dan Marino, with Johnson returning his pickoff 48 yards for the second-longest interception return in franchise postseason history.

DENVER 31, GREEN BAY 24

Jan. 25, 1998 • Qualcomm Stadium • San Diego, Calif.

Weather: Clear and Sunny, 67º, Wind WSW 8 mph • Attendance: 68,912 • Time: 3:25*

The Denver Broncos won their first Super Bowl and became the first representative from the American Football Conference in 14 years to claim the Vince Lombardi trophy, as they used a powerful running game and a solid defensive performance to dethrone the defending Super Bowl champion Green Bay Packers 31-24 in front of 68,912 at Qualcomm Stadium in San Diego, Calif.

Denver running back Terrell Davis, playing in his hometown, was named the game's Most Valuable Player, in recognition of his 157-yard rushing effort on 30 carries, which included a Super Bowl-record three rushing touchdowns, each from 1 yard out. Davis' three total touchdowns and 18 points each tied Super Bowl records, and were made even more remarkable by the fact that he missed almost the entire second quarter when he was sidelined by the onset of a migraine headache.

Both offenses displayed their talents immediately, as Super Bowl XXXII became the first ever in which each team scored a touchdown on its opening possession. The Packers struck first when Brett Favre connected with Antonio Freeman on a 22-yard scoring pass to cap a 76-yard, 8-play opening drive. The Broncos answered by driving 58 yards in 10 plays the first time they touched the ball, culminating in a 1-yard Davis touchdown run with 5:39 remaining in the first quarter.

The Broncos turned two Packers turnovers into 10 more points to take a 17-7 lead early in the second quarter, making them the fourth team in Super Bowl history to score on each of its first three possessions. The first opportunity was created when strong safety Tyrone Braxton intercepted a Brett Favre pass, and eight plays later John Elway rushed around right end for a 1-yard touchdown. Free safety Steve Atwater sacked Favre on the next Green Bay possession, forcing a fumble that was recovered by defensive end Neil Smith. Four plays later Jason Elam converted a 51-yard field goal, the second-longest in Super Bowl history.

Green Bay pulled to within 17-14 with a touchdown just before halftime, and tied the score early in the third quarter on a 27-yard Ryan Longwell field goal. Denver broke the tie late in the third quarter on a 1-yard Davis touchdown run, and looked to increase the lead after recovering a Green Bay fumble on the ensuing kickoff, but Elway was intercepted by the Packers' Eugene Robinson in the end zone on the next play. Green Bay would move 85 yards in just four plays to tie the game at 24-24, setting the stage for Davis' late-game heroics.

After the Denver defense turned back the Packers on their next two possessions — including one advance to the Denver 39-yard line that was thwarted when Steve Atwater broke up a potential first-down pass to Robert Brooks — the Broncos set up shop at the Packers' 49-yard line for their game-winning drive. Five plays later Davis scored his third touchdown of the day, from 1 yard out, giving Denver a 31-24 lead that would hold up over the final 1:45 for the victory.

DENVER 24, PITTSBURGH 21

Jan. 11, 1998 • Three Rivers Stadium • Pittsburgh, Pa.

Weather: Sunny, 38º, Wind SW 3 mph • Attendance: 61,382 • Time: 2:59*

The Denver Broncos advanced to their fifth Super Bowl — and their first since 1989 — with a 24-21 victory at Pittsburgh in the AFC Championship Game, in front of 61,382 fans at Three Rivers Stadium. The Broncos became just the fifth Wild Card team to advance to the Super Bowl, since the Wild Card format was established in 1970.

The passing of John Elway and the running of Terrell Davis, along with a defensive effort that included big play after big play, combined to propel Denver to a 24-14 halftime lead, that they rode to a 24-21 win.

Elway was intercepted by Levon Kirkland on the game's second play, but the Steelers failed to answer when Norm Johnson's 38-yard field goal attempt sailed wide to the left. Denver then got on the board when Davis — who would rush for 139 yards and become the club's all-time postseason rushing leader — capped a six-play, 72-yard drive with an 8-yard touchdown run on the Broncos' second possession.

Pittsburgh evened the score on its next possession, as quarterback Kordell Stewart rushed 33 yards around right end for a touchdown to punctuate a 6-play, 65-yard drive that covered 3:02 on the clock. The Steelers' then broke the deadlock early in the second quarter when Jerome Bettis powered his way into the end zone from one yard out to put the finishing touches on an 11-play, 68-yard drive.

But the Broncos would score the game's next 17 points, and, in effect, put the game away as the defense held up its end of the bargain down the stretch. The scoring began with a 43-yard Jason Elam field goal with 8:20 remaining in the half. After each team punted on its next possession, Denver got the ball back when Ray Crockett intercepted a Stewart bomb in the end zone, setting up a 14-point assault that would send Denver to the locker room ahead 24-14. Elway hit Howard Griffith for a 15-yard touchdown with 1:47 remaining, and Denver then forced a Pittsburgh punt and found the end zone again when Elway connected with Ed McCaffrey for a 1-yard touchdown with 13 seconds left in the half.

Denver rode that 24-14 lead into the fourth quarter before the Steelers scored the only points of the second half on a 14-yard Stewart-to-Charles Johnson touchdown pass with 2:46 remaining. But the Broncos succeeded in running out the clock on their final possession, and established a new franchise record with their 15th win of the season.

Elway tied Roger Staubach for fourth place on the NFL's all-time list for postseason touchdown passes (24) with his two on the day, and the Broncos' three interceptions tied the franchise postseason record for most in a game.

DENVER 14, KANSAS CITY 10

Jan. 4, 1998 • Arrowhead Stadium • Kansas City, Mo.

Weather: Overcast, 32º (wind chill 26º), Wind NW 6 mph • Attendance: 76,965 • Time: 2:59*

The Denver Broncos posted their first road playoff win in 11 years — and only the second in franchise history — with a 14-10 victory over Kansas City in front of 76,965 at Arrowhead Stadium. Denver advanced to its first AFC Championship Game since the 1991 season, on the strength of two Terrell Davis touchdowns — tying the franchise postseason record for the second week in a row — and a defensive effort that limited the Chiefs to just 10 points, tied for the fewest in club playoff history.

Davis broke a scoreless tie late in the second quarter, plowing into the end zone from 1 yard out to give Denver a 7-0 lead with 1:56 remaining in the half, capping an 8-play, 65-yard drive that covered 4:51 on the clock. Key to the drive was a 17-yard John Elway completion to Rod Smith on a third-and-seven play that gave the Broncos a first down at the Kansas City 4.

The Chiefs, limited to 58 yards total offense in the first half, came out strong after the break, moving the ball to the Denver 6-yard line, before settling for a 20-yard Pete Stoyanovich field goal. Kansas City struck again late in the quarter when Elvis Grbac found tight end Tony Gonzalez in the back of the end zone for a 12-yard score and the Chiefs' only touchdown of the day.

The Broncos, however, would answer on their ensuing possession, driving 49 yards in 6 plays for what would prove to be the game-winning touchdown. The key play of the drive was a 43-yard Elway-to-Ed McCaffrey completion on third-and-five from the Chiefs' 44-yard line, which gave Denver a first down at the Chiefs' 1-yard line. After two unsuccessful attempts from close range, Davis muscled his way through the middle of the Chiefs' line for his second touchdown of the day and the fifth of his career in the postseason to establish a new franchise record.

Kansas City would have possession three more times in the game, but would be turned back each time by the Broncos' defense after reaching Denver's 31 (punt), their own 36 (punt) and the Broncos' 20 with 0:19 left (downs). The final play was a pass to the end zone on 4th-and-2 that was knocked down by Darrien Gordon, ending the Chiefs' hopes, and propelling Denver to the AFC title game.

Elway, with 170 passing yards on the day, moved into second place in NFL postseason history in that category, supplanting both Terry Bradshaw (3,833) and Jim Kelly (3,863) to finish the day at 3,940.

1997 AFC Wild Card Playoff Game

Denver 42, Jacksonville 17

Dec. 27, 1997 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Partly Cloudy, 44º (wind chill 19º), Wind N 30 mph • Attendance: 74,481 • Time: 3:02*

The Denver Broncos advanced to the AFC Divisional playoffs by literally running the Jacksonville Jaguars out of town, as they piled up a club postseason-record 310 rushing yards en route to a 42-17 victory in front of 74,481 at Mile High Stadium. The Broncos set numerous other postseason records during the contest, including new standards for rushing attempts (49), total yards (511), points in a quarter (21; 4th qtr.), total points (42), first downs (28), rushing first downs (18) and third-down efficiency (75%), while the 237 yards allowed by the defense was the second-lowest total in Denver's 21-game playoff history.

The Broncos scored touchdowns on each of their first three possessions, racking up a 21-0 lead on 32 offensive plays, during which time the Jaguars ran only six. Terrell Davis capped Denver's opening drive with a 2-yard touchdown run and Rod Smith punctuated the next when he reeled in a 43-yard touchdown pass from John Elway. The lead was increased to 21-0 when Davis — who set franchise postseason records for rushing attempts (31), rushing yards (184) and longest run from scrimmage (59) before leaving in the third quarter with bruised ribs — tied the franchise records for rushing touchdowns and total touchdowns in a postseason game with his second of the day, this one from 5 yards out.

The Jaguars answered by scoring the game's next 17 points, courtesy of a 1-yard Natrone Means touchdown run before the half, a 38-yard Mike Hollis field goal early in the third quarter and a blocked punt by Travis Davis, which the Jacksonville safety returned 29 yards for a touchdown to pull the Jaguars to within 21-17.

But the Broncos dominated from there, as Derek Loville took over for the injured Davis and slashed his way to 103 yards (second-most by a Bronco in postseason) on 11 attempts, and scored two fourth-quarter touchdowns on runs of 25 and 8 yards to tie the club touchdown record already achieved in the game by Davis. Vaughn Hebron then got into the act, scoring Denver's fifth rushing touchdown of the day on a 6-yard run with 1:11 remaining, to push the lead to its final margin of 42-17. With Davis' 184 rushing yards and Loville's 103, Denver became just the third team in NFL postseason history to boast two 100-yard rushers in the same game. Additionally, Denver's 40 minutes and 59 seconds of possession time and their 310 rushing yards both were the fifth-highest recorded in an NFL playoff game.

1996 AFC Divisional Playoff Game

Jacksonville 30, Denver 27

Jan. 4, 1997 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 46º, Wind NW 15 mph • Attendance: 75,678 • Time: 3:02*

The Broncos' most successful season since 1991 came to a surprising end at the hands of the Jacksonville Jaguars in an AFC Divisional Playoff game in front of 75,678 stunned fans at Mile High Stadium, by a final score of 30-27. The loss was Denver's first of the season at home and only their second ever at home in the postseason.

The contest began on a promising note for the Broncos, as they scored on two of their first three possessions to take a 12-0 lead into the second quarter. First, Vaughn Hebron scored his first ever postseason touchdown on a 1-yard plunge on fourth down. During that drive, Terrell Davis set a franchise record for the longest postseason run with a 47-yard scamper. On Denver's next possession, Shannon Sharpe hauled in an 18-yard pass from John Elway to produce the 12-point margin.

The Jaguars then proceeded to score on their next six possessions, with the first five being unanswered by the Broncos, producing a 23-12 advantage for Jacksonville. The Broncos responded with a 9-play, 57-yard drive, capped by a 2-yard touchdown run by Davis, who then tacked on the two-point conversion himself to cut the deficit to three. But then Mark Brunell, who threw for 245 yard and two touchdowns on the day, connected with Jimmy Smith on a critical third-and-five play at the Broncos' 16-yard line with 3:39 remaining in the game to restore a 10-point advantage.

The Broncos again pulled to within three points when Elway found Ed McCaffrey in the end zone for a 15-yard touchdown with 1:50 left, but Denver's magic ran out as the Jaguars held on for the 30-27 win.

During the contest, Elway — who played in his franchise-record 15th postseason game — passed Terry Bradshaw for fourth place on the all-time NFL postseason list for pass attempts. Natrone Means, who led Jacksonville's 203-yard ground attack, rushed for 140 yards on 21 carries. Brunell added 44 more on seven rushes.

1993 AFC WILD CARD GAME

LOS ANGELES RAIDERS 42, DENVER 24

Jan. 9, 1994 • Los Angeles Coliseum • Los Angeles, Calif.

Weather: Sunny, 76º, Wind 0 mph • Attendance: 66,094 • Time: 3:36*

The Broncos returned to the playoffs after a one-year hiatus and faced the L.A. Raiders for the second time in as many weeks, but unlike the previous week, this time it was a do-or-die situation for both teams.

Early on the game looked to have the makings of a defensive struggle, with both teams going four downs and out on their first possession, but the game's pace quickly picked up on the second possession. The Raiders struck first on a 7-play, 80-yard drive that was capped with a nine-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Jeff Hostetler to tight end Ethan Horton.

Quarterback John Elway and the Broncos responded with a drive of their own, going 63 yards in 7 plays, as Elway hooked up with tight end Shannon Sharpe for a 23-yard touchdown. The Raiders bounced back with a 65-yard touchdown toss to wide receiver Tim Brown to take a 14-7 lead. The Broncos responded by driving 64 yards in 11 plays setting up a 16-yard touchdown toss from Elway to tight end Reggie Johnson to tie the score. Hostetler continued to be red hot on the Raiders' next possession, leading the club 84 yards in just five plays. wide receiver James Jett helped pad Hostetler's totals by catching a 54-yard touchdown pass in the five-play drive.

As bad as the Broncos defense looked in three straight possessions, the Broncos offense picked up the slack. In the Broncos' last drive of the half, the offense chewed up nearly seven minutes and went 77 yards to tie the score 14-14. Wide receiver Derek Russell caught a six-yard scoring pass that tied the score, but the real hero of the drive was John Elway who completed passes to six different receivers and showed his versatility by running twice.

The two teams combined for nearly 500 yards of total offense by halftime, but only the Raiders continued that pace in the second half. After receiving the opening kickoff, the Broncos failed to move the ball on their first three possessions, giving the Raiders great field position after three punts that averaged 30 yards by Tom Rouen. The Raiders took advantage, starting drives at the Denver 43 and 35, and their own 48, and parlayed two of those into touchdowns on drives of three and five plays to take a commanding 35-21 lead.

The Broncos made a dent in the score at the beginning of the fourth period on a 33-yard field goal by Jason Elam, but the Raiders responded to that with a 10-play, 76-yard drive that was capped by Napoleon McCallum's third touchdown of the game from one yard out. That would prove to be all of the scoring, as the Raiders walked away with a 42-24 victory.

BUFFALO 10, DENVER 7

Jan. 12, 1992 • Rich Stadium • Buffalo, N.Y.

Weather: Sunny, 42º, Wind SSW 15 mph • Attendance: 80,272 • Time: 2:59*

The Broncos were denied their fifth AFC Championship, losing 10-7 to the Bills before 80,272 in Rich Stadium. Denver's defense shut down the high-powered Buffalo offense, limiting it to just 213 total yards and only 12 first downs, but the Broncos offense failed to capitalize on several first-half opportunities.

Buffalo punted on its first two drives after a total net of -2 yards, and had its third drive ended when nose teackle Greg Kragen tipped and then intercepted a pass on the Buffalo 29. But Denver could not take advantage as David Treadwell's 47-yard field goal attempt sailed wide right. The defense rose up again to thwart the Bills and the Broncos began their next drive on their own 24, but would later stall when Treadwell missed again, hitting the right upright from 42 yards out.

Once again the Bills punted after failing to get a first down, and a 10-yard punt return by Vance Johnson set Denver up on the 50. On first down, quarterback John Elway threw a middle screen to running back Steve Sewell, who gained 26 yards to the Buffalo 24. The Broncos could move no closer than the 20, and David Treadwell's 37-yard attempt hit the right upright, ending the last scoring threat of the first half. Through the first two quarters Denver outgained the Bills 123 yards to 58, had nine first downs to Buffalo's three, and had a time of possession of 20:19, but at halftime the score stood at 0-0.

The Bills' second drive of the third quarter began at their 20 and 11 plays later they faced a third-and-seven on Denver's 26. Kelly attempted to hit wide receiver James Lofton but cornerback Tyrone Braxton intercepted the ball and returned it to the Denver 19. On second-and-10 Elway attempted another middle screen to Sewell, but linebacker Carlton Bailey picked off the pass and ran 11 yards for a touchdown.

The Broncos' first possession of the fourth quarter began with Gary Kubiak at quarterback, replacing Elway, who left the game with an injured thigh muscle. Kubiak drove Denver from its 21 to the Buffalo 23, but the Broncos failed to convert a fourth-down attempt. The Bills then drove 50 yards in 9 plays to score on a 44-yard field goal by Scott Norwood. Now down 10-0, Kubiak engineered a frantic drive in which Denver covered 85 yards in 8 plays, and Kubiak scored a 3-yard quarterback draw to pull Denver within 3 points.

The ensuing onside kick was recovered by the Broncos' Steve Atwater, and Denver began its last chance drive on its 49 with 1:43 left on the clock and two time-outs. On first down, Kubiak hit Sewell for seven yards, but cornerback Kirby Jackson stripped the ball away and he recovered on the Buffalo 44. The Bronco defense forced the Bills to punt, but Denver could only reach the 50 as time ran out. Kubiak, playing his final game as a pro, outgained both Elway and Kelly, completing 11 of 12 passes for 136 yards.

DENVER 26, HOUSTON 24

Jan. 4, 1992 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 36º, Wind W 14 mph • Attendance: 75,301 • Time: 3:09*

The Denver Broncos advanced to their fourth AFC Championship Game in six years after defeating Houston 26-24 before 75,301 in Mile High Stadium. David Treadwell's 28-yard field goal with 20 seconds remaining capped a 12-play, 78-yard drive in which the Broncos converted two fourth-down plays.

Houston quarterback Warren Moon drove his team 70 yards in four plays — highlighted by a 49-yard strike to Haywood Jeffires, who would also haul in the touchdown pass from 15 yards — to put Houston up 7-0 with only 1:46 gone in the game. After a Denver punt, Moon again drove his team down the field and threw his second touchdown pass, this one for 9 yards to wide receiver Drew Hill.

The Broncos started their next possession on their 35 and covered 65 yards in 8 plays to score on a 10-yard pass from quarterback John Elway to wide receiver Vance Johnson, but a fumbled snap on the conversion attempt left the score 14-6. On the sixth play of the ensuing Oilers' drive, Moon was intercepted by free safety Steve Atwater, but a roughing the passer call nullified the effort. Three plays later Houston scored on a 6-yard pass from Moon to wide receiver Curtis Duncan.

The next Oilers' possession ended when Atwater intercepted a pass and gave Denver the ball on its own 12 with 6:03 left in the half. In a drive that saw Elway complete all 6 passes for 64 yards, and Steve Sewell complete one to Johnson for 10, the Broncos covered 88 yards in 12 plays to score on a 1-yard run by running back Greg Lewis, cutting the Houston lead to 21-13. After a missed Houston field goal attempt, the Broncos drove from their 20 to Houston's 31 and David Treadwell nailed a 49-yard field goal, the longest in Denver post-season history. Now up by only five at 21-16, the Oilers reached the Broncos' 7 on their next drive, but had to settle for a 25-yard field goal.

Denver started on its 20 and 9 plays later faced a fourth-and-four from the Houston 41. Elway threw a short pass to wide receiver Michael Young, who broke two tackles and was finally brought down on Houston's 15, a gain of 26 yards. Three plays later Lewis bowled over from one for his second touchdown of the day, making the score 24-23 in favor of Houston. The Oilers' next drive stalled and Greg Montgomery punted to the Denver two. With 2:07 and no time outs remaining, Elway hit Young for a 22-yard gain on first down, but three plays later the Broncos had a fourth-and-six on the 28. Elway dropped back, then scrambled left upfield and ran out of bounds a yard past the first-down marker. Three straight incompletions again left Denver with a do-or-die fourth-down situation. Elway again dropped back and scrambled left, but as he headed upfield he tossed a pass to Johnson, who ran to the Houston 21 for a 44-yard gain. running back Steve Sewell ran for 10 yards on first down, and two plays later Treadwell came on for the winning kick.

SUPER BOWL XXIV

SAN FRANCISCO 55, DENVER 10

Jan. 28, 1990 • Louisiana Superdome • New Orleans, La.

Weather: Indoors • Attendance: 72,919 • Time: 3:21*

The San Francisco Forty-Niners captured their fourth World Championship with a 55-10 victory over Denver in Super Bowl XXIV, played in the Louisiana Superdome. San Francisco quarterback Joe Montana completed 22 of 29 passes for 297 yards and five touchdowns — three to wide receiver Jerry Rice.

The Forty-Niners scored two touchdowns in every quarter and outgained the Broncos 461 yards to 167. After stopping Denver on the game's initial possession, San Francisco drove 66 yards in 10 plays, scoring on a 20-yard pass from Montana to Rice. The Broncos' next possession covered 49 yards in 10 plays and resulted in a 42-yard field goal by David Treadwell.

After limiting the Niners to four yards on their next drive, Denver took possession on its own 49, but on first down running back Bobby Humphrey fumbled and defensive end Kevin Fagan recovered for San Francisco on the Niners' 46. That turnover led to a 7-yard touchdown pass from Montana to tight end Brent Jones, and after a failed extra point attempt, San Francisco led 13-3 with 3 seconds left in the first quarter.

The Broncos failed to cross mid-field in the second period while the Niners scored on a one-yard run by running back Tom Rathman and a 38-yard pass from Montana to Rice. San Francisco was unable to move the ball on the initial drive of the second half, but Elway was intercepted on the first play of Denver's next drive and the Niners took possession on the Broncos' 28. On first down Montana threw a touchdown pass to Rice to put his team up 34-3. The next Denver drive also ended with an interception, leading to a 35-yard scoring pass from Montana to wide receiver John Taylor. The Broncos, spurred by a 34-yard run by Humphrey, moved 61 yards in 5 plays and a penalty to score on a 3-yard run by Elway. San Francisco roared back with an 11-play, 75-yard drive that ended with a 3-yard touchdown run by Rathman. Following another Bronco fumble, running back Roger Craig plowed 1 yard into the end zone to round out the scoring.

DENVER 37, CLEVELAND 21

Jan. 14, 1990 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 53º, Wind W 10 mph • Attendance: 76,005 • Time: 3:28*

The Denver Broncos won their third American Football Conference Championship in four years with a dynamic 37-21 victory over Cleveland before 76,005 fans in Mile High Stadium. Broncos quarterback John Elway threw for 385 yards and three touchdowns, running back Sammy Winder tied a Denver postseason record with two touchdowns, and strong safety Dennis Smith nabbed two of the Broncos' three interceptions. Denver had 497 yards of total offense to the Browns' 256 and had a time possession of 36:53.

The Broncos took the opening kickoff and drove to the Cleveland 1, but on third down, Elway's pitch to running back Bobby Humphrey was fumbled and the Browns' Andrew Stewart recovered on the 8. With 5 minutes left in the first quarter, Smith picked off a Bernie Kosar pass and returned it to the Cleveland 32. Denver moved to the Cleveland 12 but had to settle for a 29-yard field goal by David Treadwell.

Neither team mounted scoring drives until the Broncos took possession on their own 18 with 6:54 left in the half. On first down Elway hit wide receiver Mark Jackson for 12 yards, and three plays later he connected with wide receiver Michael Young for a 70-yard touchdown play. The Browns took the opening kickoff of the second half and drove 70 yards in 6 plays, scoring a 27-yard pass from Kosar to Brian Brennan. Denver roared right back on its next possession, going 80 yards in 6 plays and scoring on a 5-yard pass from Elway to tight end Orson Mobley. The key play on that drive was a 53-yard pass from Elway to Young. Cleveland was unable to move the ball and punted back to Denver. The Broncos moved from their own 40, and buoyed by a 25-yard run by Elway, covered 60 yards in 6 plays and scored on a 7-yard run by Winder, making the score 24-7.

The Browns needed just 6 plays to go 72 yards and score on a 10-yard Kosar-to-Brennan pass, and two plays into Denver's next drive, Cleveland's Felix Wright recovered a Denver fumble and returned it to the Bronco 1. On second down Tim Manoa barreled over from the 2, cutting Denver's lead to 24-21 with one second left in the third quarter. The Broncos shut out the Browns in the final quarter while posting 13 points. Their initial drive of the quarter covered 80 yards in 6 plays and ended with a 39-yard touchdown pass from Elway to Winder. Denver's Kip Corrington intercepted Kosar to set the Broncos up on the Cleveland 39. Denver got as far as the Browns' 17 but had to settle for a 34-yard Treadwell field goal. Smith grabbed his second interception to end the Browns' next drive, leading to a 31-yard field goal.

Jan. 7, 1990 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 55º, Wind W 6 mph • Attendance: 75,868 • Time: 2:57*

The Denver Broncos advanced to their third AFC Championship Game in four years with a come-from-behind 24-23 victory over the Steelers before 75,868 in Mile High Stadium. Although Pittsburgh held the upper hand in total yards (404 to 364) and time of possession (34:14 to 25:46) Denver was able to mount a late fourth quarter drive and score the winning touchdown with just 2:27 remaining.

The Steelers took the opening kickoff return and drove 65 yards in 13 plays, scoring on a 32-yard Gary Anderson field goal. Late in the opening quarter Pittsburgh took possession at its own 7-yard line, but after a 45-yard run by Merril Hoge and a 33-yard Bubby Brister to Tim Worley pass play, Pittsburgh was knocking on the door and scored three plays later on a 7-yard run by Hoge to put Pittsburgh up 10-0.

The Broncos took their first possession of the second quarter and drove 75 yards in 12 plays to score on a 1-yard plunge by running back Mel Bratton on third-and-goal. The Steelers roared back, traveling 77 yards in 12 plays to score on a 9-yard pass from Brister to wide receiver Louis Lipps. The Broncos got the ball back on their own 33 with 20 seconds left in the half. On first down, quarterback John Elway and wide receiver Mark Jackson combined for 26 yards, and then Elway fired a 15-yard pass to wide receiver Ricky Nattiel, putting Denver at the Pittsburgh 26 with 2 seconds left. David Treadwell kicked a 43-yard field goal to pull Denver within 17-10 at the half.

Early in the third quarter, Denver NT Greg Kragen forced a Tim Worley fumble and CB Tyrone Braxton recovered for the Broncos on the Steeler 37. On first down Elway hit wide receiver Vance Johnson for a touchdown, tying the score at 17. Pittsburgh's next two possessions ended in Anderson field goals and the Steelers held a 23-17 lead in the early stages of the fourth quarter. After an exchange of punts the Broncos took possession on their own 29 with 7:06 left in the game. After a first down penalty, making it first-and-19 from the 20, Elway hit Jackson for 18 yards. Elway then handed off to running back Bobby Humphrey, who pitched the ball back to Elway, and he threw a 36-yard strike to Johnson, giving Denver a first down on the Steeler 26. Humphrey ran on the next four plays, gaining 24 yards and taking the ball to the 2. On third-and-goal from the 1, Bratton scored again and Treadwell's extra point gave Denver its first lead of the game with 2:27 left. Pittsburgh got the ball on its own 20, but on third down Brister's signals were drowned out by the crowd and he mishandled the snap. Randy Robbins recovered for Denver on the Pittsburgh 18 and the Broncos were able to run out the clock.

SUPER BOWL XXII

Jan. 31, 1988 • Jack Murphy Stadium • San Diego, Calif.

Weather: Mostly Cloudy, 61°, Wind SW 5 mph • Attendance: 73,302 • Time: 3:40*

The Washington Redskins scored 35 points in the second quarter to power their way to a 42-10 victory over the Broncos in Super Bowl XXII, played at San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium.

Super Bowl MVP Doug Williams of Washington completed 18 of 29 passes for 340 yards and four touchdowns, while rusher Timmy Smith gained 204 yards on 22 carries, scoring twice, and wide receiver Ricky Sanders caught 9 passes for 193 yards and two touchdowns.

Overall, the Redskins gained 602 yards of total offense to Denver's 327. The Broncos took the early lead on their first play from scrimmage, a 56-yard bomb from John Elway to Ricky Nattiel, coming with 1:57 gone in the game. Denver's next possession stalled at the Redskins' 7-yard line, as Rich Karlis put the Broncos up 10-0 with a 24-yard field goal.

In the second quarter, however, Denver's dreams of a World Championship were blown apart by the Redskins. On Washington's first play of the quarter, Williams and Sanders combined for an 80-yard touchdown to bring the score to 10-7. The Redskins took the lead for good on the fifth play of their next possession when Williams hit Gary Clark for 27 yards and a score.

Denver got as far as the Washington 26 on its next drive, but Karlis' 43-yards field goal attempt sailed wide left. Two plays later Timmy Smith scored on a 58-yard run to increase the Washington lead to 21-10. The Redskins' next possession ended with a 50-yard Williams-to-Sanders TD pass, and minutes later, Williams and Clint Didier combined for a 7-yard touchdown pass to give the Washington Redskins a 35-10 lead at halftime.

The Broncos could move only as far as the Redskins' 48-yard line in the second half, while Washington closed out the scoring late in the game on a 4-yard run by Smith.

DENVER 38, CLEVELAND 33

Jan. 17, 1988 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Mostly Sunny, 44º, Wind NE 8 mph • Attendance: 75,993 • Time: 3:37*

Denver's Jeremiah Castille recovered a Cleveland fumble on the Denver 3-yard line with just over a minute left in the game, halting a desperate drive by the Browns and preserving a victory for Denver. With the win, Denver became the first AFC Champion since the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1978-79 to win the conference in consecutive seasons.

The Broncos were presented with the game's first scoring opportunity when Freddie Gilbert caught a deflected Bernie Kosar pass on the contest's third play. Denver took 4 plays to go 18 yards, scoring on an 8-yard pass from John Elway to Ricky Nattiel. The Browns' next drive reached the Bronco 45 before Kevin Mack fumbled, and it was recovered by Steve Wilson on the Denver 40. Two plays later Gene Lang took off on a 42-yard run that would stand for nine years as the longest in postseason history for Denver, taking the ball to the Cleveland 11. Six plays later, on third-and-goal from the 3, Elway's threw incomplete into the end zone, but Cleveland was penalized for holding, giving the Broncos new life at the Browns' 1. Steve Sewell scored on first down to give Denver a 14-0 lead with 11 minutes gone in the first quarter.

The Browns took thirteen plays to move 64-yards for their first points of the game, scoring on a 24-yard Matt Bahr field goal. Elway responded by moving the Broncos 80 yards in 11 plays, capped by a 1-yard Gene Lang touchdown run to up Denver's lead to 21-3. Both teams missed field goals in the latter part of the first half, and the Broncos took their 18-point lead into the dressing room at halftime.

After Elway was intercepted by Felix Wright four plays into the second half, Cleveland needed just three plays to go 35 yards and score on an 18-yard pass from Bernie Kosar to Reggie Langhorne. The Broncos answered four plays into their next drive, when on third-and-10 from the Denver 20, Elway scrambled right and threw to Mark Jackson, who caught the ball at the Bronco 25, evaded two tackles and sprinted for a touchdown to complete an 80-yard scoring play and give the Broncos a 28-10 lead. Kosar and the Browns roared right back, moving 80 yards in 5 plays to score on a 32-yard Kosar-to-Earnest Byner pass.

After a Bronco punt, Cleveland engineered another scoring drive, going 42 yards in 4 plays and scoring on a 4-yard run by Byner to narrow the Bronco lead to 28-24. Just before the end of the third period, Rich Karlis capped off a Denver possession with a 38-yard field goal. The Browns, however, moved 86 yards in 9 plays to tie the score at 31-31 on a 4-yard pass from Kosar to Webster Slaughter. After an exchange of punts, Denver began a drive at their own 25 with 5:14 left in the game. A pair of 26-yard pass plays to Ricky Nattiel put Denver at the Cleveland 20, setting up a 23-yard Elway-Sammy Winder pass play for a touchdown to put the Broncos up 38-31 with just over 4 minutes left. Kosar and the Browns advanced to the Denver 8-yard line with 1:12 remaining, when Byner ran to the 3, but had the ball stripped by Castille, who recovered for the Broncos. Denver was forced into a fourth down situation with 13 seconds left, and punter Mike Horan carried the ball out of the back of the end zone for a safety, making the score 38-33 in Denver's favor. After the ensuing free kick, Cleveland attempted one pass before time ran out.

The Denver Broncos advanced to the AFC Championship game after beating the Oilers 34-10, the largest margin of victory ever for the Broncos in postseason play. The Broncos were led on defense by Mark Haynes and Karl Mecklenburg, who both picked up key interceptions, and on offense by quarterback John Elway (14 of 25, 259 yards, two TDs) and receivers Vance Johnson (4 catches for 105 yards) and Clarence Kay (3 catches for 57 yards and two TDs).

Punter Mike Horan put the Oilers in a hole after the Broncos' first drive stalled, sending a punt to the Houston 5-yard line, where two plays later, a lateral pass from Warren Moon to Mike Rozier was fumbled, and Steve Wilson recovered for Denver on the 1. Gene Lang scored two plays later to give the Broncos an early 7-0 lead. Houston's next drive reached the Bronco 20-yard line before Mecklenburg intercepted a pass and returned it to the Denver 28. Elway hit Kay for 29 yards on the next play to move into Houston territory, and five plays later the same connection was made for a 27-yard touchdown pass, giving the Broncos a 14-0 lead.

Both teams added field goals on their first drive of the second quarter to make the score 17-3 in Denver's favor. On the fourth Denver play after Houston's field goal, Elway threw a 55-yard bomb to Johnson to move the ball to the Oiler 11. Five plays later Elway hit Kay, again for a touchdown on a 1-yard pass to up the lead to 24-3 with less than 2 minutes left in the half.

Denver's first possession of the second half resulted in a Rich Karlis field goal. Houston then took 10 plays to reach the Denver 7, but Mark Haynes picked off a Moon pass in the end zone and returned it 57 yards, a Broncos playoff record. Houston's next drive reached the Broncos 11 but a pass on fourth down fell incomplete. The Oilers got the ball back three plays later when Patrick Allen intercepted an Elway pass, and that led to a 19-yard touchdown pass from Moon to Ernest Givins, cutting Denver's lead to 27-10. The Broncos' Kevin Clark recovered the onside kick that followed, and Denver moved 52 yards in 7 plays to score the final points of the game on a 3-yard run by Elway.

SUPER BOWL XXI

NEW YORK GIANTS 39, DENVER 20

Jan. 25, 1987 • Rose Bowl • Pasadena, Calif.

Weather: Sunny, 76º, Wind W 2-5 mph • Attendance: 101,063 • Time: 3:25*

The New York Giants broke open a close game with 24 unanswered points to open the second half, capturing a 39-20 win over the Broncos in Super Bowl XXI. The game, played before a crowd of 101,063 in Pasadena's Rose Bowl, featured outstanding performances by the two quarterbacks, Super Bowl MVP Phil Simms of New York (22-25, 268 yds., 3 TDs) and Denver's John Elway (22-37, 304 yds., 1 TD).

The Broncos drove to the Giants' 31-yard-line on their opening drive and took a 3-0 lead when Rich Karlis booted a Super Bowl record-tying 48-yard field goal. New York answered with a 9-play, 78-yard scoring drive that culminated with a 6-yard touchdown pass from Simms to tight end Mark Bavaro.

With five-and-a-half minutes remaining in the first quarter, the Broncos took possession on their own 42 after a 28-yard kickoff return by Ken Bell. Elway completed passes on the first three plays of the drive as Denver reached the New York 33. Two Giant penalties left the Broncos with a first-and-10 at the 12, and on third down, Elway called his own number, scoring from 4 yards out on a quarterback draw to give Denver a 10-7 lead. The Giants' next drive stalled and the Broncos got the ball back at the 14-minute mark of the second quarter. On the third play of the drive, on third-and-18, Elway unleashed a 54-yard bomb to Vance Johnson, giving the Broncos a first down on the Giants 28. Seven plays later Denver had a first-and-goal at the New York 1, but failed to score in three plays and Karlis was wide right on a 23-yard field goal attempt.

Denver's Orange Crush defense stifled the next Giant drive at the New York 47, and after a punt, the Broncos got the ball back on their own 15. Controversy entered the game when, on second-and-twelve, Elway threw an apparent completion for a first down to Clarence Kay. The pass was ruled incomplete, a call that was upheld after review of the television replay. On the next play, Giant defensive end George Martin sacked Elway in the end zone for a safety to pull New York within a point of Denver at 10-9. The Denver defense held again, giving Denver the ball at its own 37. Elway quickly hit Steve Watson for 31 yards and Gerald Willhite for 11 more to give the Broncos a first-and-10 at the Giants 21 with 43 seconds left in the half. Denver reached the 16-yard-line, but Karlis was wide right on a 34-yard field goal attempt with 13 seconds left in the half.

New York scored on all three third-quarter drives and outgained Denver in the period 163 yards to 2. With the score at 26-10, the Giants mounted a scoring drive on their first possession of the fourth quarter, and they went up 33-10 after Phil McConkey caught a deflected pass in the end zone, Simms' third touchdown strike of the day. Denver got the ball back at its own 16 and Elway moved the squad to the New York 10, as Karlis kicked a 27-yard field goal to make the score 33-13. The Giants took only 5 plays to move 46 yards for their next touchdown, a 2-yard run by Ottis Anderson which made the score 39-13. Elway took Denver down the field again and hit Vance Johnson with a 47-yard touchdown pass for the game's final points.

Denver 23, Cleveland 20

Jan. 11, 1987 • Cleveland Stadium • Cleveland, Ohio

Weather: Solid Overcast, 30º, Wind NW 14 mph (-5º) • Attendance: 79,915 • Time: 3:50*

Rich Karlis kicked a 33-yard field goal 5:48 into overtime to give the Broncos a 23-20 victory over the Browns. The game was played before a crowd of 79,915 people, who braved a wind-chill of 5 degrees.

Cleveland took an early 7-0 led when Bernie Kosar threw a 6-yard touchdown pass to Herman Fontenot with 5:19 left in the first quarter to cap a 14-play, 86-yard drive. The Broncos stopped the next two Cleveland drives with interceptions, the first Ricky Hunley and the second by Jim Ryan, who returned the ball 26 yards to the Cleveland 9. Four plays later Karlis nailed a 19-yard field goal to make the score 7-3. Denver got another break on Cleveland's next play when Kevin Mack fumbled and Ken Woodard recovered the ball on the Browns' 37. On first down John Elway rambled 34 yards, and two more rushes got Denver to the 1-yard line. On fourth-and-goal Gerald Willhite plunged into the end zone to give the Broncos a 10-7 lead.

Cleveland kicker Mark Moseley tied the score at 10 with a 29-yard field goal with 20 seconds left in the first half. Both teams saw their first two possessions of the second half end in punts before Denver scored on a 26-yard Karlis field goal 12 minutes into the third quarter, capping an 11-play, 61-yard drive. The Browns responded as Mack rushed for 34 yards in a 10-play, 76-yard drive that culminated with a 24-yard Moseley field goal, knotting the score at 13-13. The Broncos' next two possessions ended in punts, and Cleveland followed the second with a 48-yard touchdown strike from Kosar to Brian Brennan on a third-and-six play to put Cleveland ahead 20-13 with 5:43 left in regulation.

The ensuing kickoff rolled to the Denver 2-yard line where Gene Lang fell on it. Pro Bowl-bound Elway then engineered the longest and most important drive of his four-year career. On the fifth play of the drive (2nd-and-7 from the Broncos' 15), Elway rushed for 11 yards and a first down. He then hit Steve Sewell for a 22-yard gain, followed by a 12-yard strike to Steve Watson to give Denver a first down on the Cleveland 40. After an incompletion and an 8-yard sack, Elway threw a 20-yard pass to Mark Jackson, moving the team to the Cleveland 28. Another incompletion was followed by a 14-yard Elway-to-Sewell pass, giving the Broncos a first down on the Brown's 14 with 57 seconds left. After an incompletion Elway ran 9 yards to the Cleveland 5-yard line. On the next play, he hit Jackson for a touchdown, and Karlis's extra point tied the score at 20 with 37 seconds left. Cleveland was unable to move the ball as time ran out in the fourth quarter.

The Browns won the overtime coin toss and elected to receive. Three plays into the drive, (on third-and-two from the Cleveland 38), the Orange Crush rose up to snuff Herman Fontenot for no gain. Cleveland punted and Willhite returned it to the Bronco 25, where the Denver juggernaut revved it up again. On second-and-five, Elway hit Orson Mobley for a 22-yard gain, and three plays later Elway threw a 28-yard pass to Watson. With a first down on Cleveland's 22-yard line, the Broncos rushed three times to get to the 15, and on fourth down, Karlis hit the 33-yard game-winner. Elway accounted for 300 total yards in the game, rushing for 56 and completing 22 of 38 passes for 244 yards. The Broncos kept alive a 1986 record of 13-0 when they scored 20 or more points. Denver also notched its 11th win on natural turf, losing only to San Diego at home on grass.

DENVER 22, NEW ENGLAND 17

Jan. 4, 1987 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 65º, Wind S 9 mph • Attendance: 76,105 • Time: 3:09*

Rulon Jones sacked Tony Eason in the end zone for a safety with 1:37 left on the clock to put Denver up 22-17 and halt the Patriots' final comeback drive. The playoff victory was the first since Jan. 1, 1978 for the Broncos, when they defeated Oakland for the AFC Championship.

The two teams traded punts for the first 9 minutes of the game before Denver posed the initial scoring threat. Starting at their own 20, the Broncos took four plays to reach the New England 7, behind John Elway completions of 39 and 21 yards. On second-and-goal from the 4, Elway rolled around the left side and was hit just short of the goal line. He was penalized (delay of game) for spiking the ball after the play, and that sent Denver back to the 6. Two plays later, Rich Karlis nailed a 27-yard field goal to give Denver a 3-0 lead.

New England mounted a 7-play 87-yard drive later in the quarter, with Eason hitting Stanley Morgan for a 19-yard touchdown. The Broncos roared right back with a 13-play, 82-yard drive that was punctuated by a 22-yard touchdown run by Elway, giving Denver a 10-7 lead midway through the second quarter. The Patriots tied the score on the last play of the half with a 38-yard Tony Franklin field goal.

Denver received the kickoff to open the second half and proceeded to chew up over 9 minutes off of the clock. The Broncos ran the ball 11 times on the drive, which stalled on the Patriot 5. Karlis' 22-yard field goal put Denver up 13-10.

Five plays into the next New England drive, the Patriots took a page out of Dan Reeve's bag of tricks, scoring on a flea-flicker that ended with a 45-yard touchdown pass from Eason to Morgan to give New England its first lead of the game at 17-13. Denver jumped right back on top, traveling 86 yards in 6 plays to score on a 48-yard Elway-to-Vance Johnson pass on the last play of the third quarter.

The two teams both punted three times in the fourth quarter, and the last one, a Mike Horan punt of 54 yards, backed New England to its own 10. On first down, Eason dropped back to pass but was sacked for a safety by Rulon Jones. Denver recovered the onside free kick and held on to the ball to preserve the win.

PITTSBURGH 24, DENVER 17

Dec. 30, 1984 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Mostly Sunny, 52º, Wind N 7 mph* • Attendance: 74,981* • Time: 3:11*

Denver had two possessions in the final two minutes of the game but failed to score as Pittsburgh advanced to the Conference Championship game, ending a Broncos season in which they had compiled a franchise-best 13-3 regular season record.

Denver's opportunistic defense recovered two Steeler fumbles in the first quarter. The first one resulted in a Rich Karlis field goal attempt, but it sailed wide right. Pittsburgh fumbled on the next play, and the Broncos recovered again. That turnover lead to a 7-yard touchdown pass from John Elway to Jim Wright.

Pittsburgh scored on a 28-yard field goal on the first play of the second period, and just before intermission, the Steelers took the lead on Frank Pollard's 1-yard touchdown plunge.

Denver tied the game early in the third quarter on a 21-yard Karlis field goal. The Broncos regained the lead on their next possession, scoring on a 20-yard pass from Elway to Steve Watson. For the game, Watson gained 177 yards on 11 receptions.

The Steelers then mounted a scoring drive of their own, tying the game at 17-17 on a Mark Malone to Louis Lipps pass late in the quarter. Later, Pittsburgh's Eric Williams intercepted an Elway pass and returned it to the Denver 2-yard line with only 2:45 left in the game. Pollard scored two plays later to give the Steelers the lead 24-17. Denver couldn't move the ball on its final two possessions as time expired.

Seattle 31, Denver 7

Dec. 24, 1983 • Kingdome • Seattle, Wash.

Seattle broke open a close contest with two second-half Dave Krieg touchdown passes as the Seahawks beat Denver 31-7 in the AFC Wild Card playoff game.

Seattle scored on its first possession of the day with a 17-yard pass from Krieg to Steve Largent. Later in the first quarter, Denver mounted a 9-play, 76-yard drive, scoring on a 13-yard pass from Steve DeBerg to Jesse Myles. Seattle cornerback Kerry Justin intercepted a DeBerg pass on Denver's next drive and the Seahawks drove to the Denver 20-yard line, with Norm Johnson converting a 37-yard field goal.

Denver then drove to the Seattle 4-yard line, but Gerald Willhite fumbled and Seattle recovered, and then ran the remaining time off the clock. The second half belonged to the Seahawks as Krieg passed for two touchdowns and running back David Hughes ran for another, making the final score 31-7.

1979 AFC Wild Card Playoff Game

Houston 13, Denver 7

Dec. 23, 1979 • Astrodome • Houston, Texas

Weather: Indoors • Attendance: 48,776 • Time: 2:59*

Toni Fritsch kicked two field goals to provide the margin of victory as the Houston Oilers played strong second half defense and defeated the Broncos 13-7, earning the Oilers advancement in the American Football Conference playoffs.

Fritsch opened the scoring with a 31-yard first period field goal, but Denver came back to take a 7-3 lead on a 7-yard pass from Craig Morton to running back Dave Preston, an 80-yard drive that took the Broncos 13 plays.

Houston went ahead to stay on a 3-yard burst by Earl Campbell at 14:14 of the second period. However, Campbell was injured on the play and did not return to action in the second half. Oiler quarterback Dan Pastorini and wide receiver Ken Burrough also left the contest due to injuries, both early in the second half, putting a severe crimp in the Houston attack. But the Broncos were able to move the ball for only 216 yards total offense, and the tenacious Houston defense sacked Morton times for 40 yards in losses as the Oilers held on to win.

Linebacker Bob Swenson intercepted a Gifford Nielsen pass at the Oiler 26-yard line midway through the fourth period, but two sacks of Morton led to a 50-yard field goal attempt by Fred Steinfort. Steinfort's kick hit the upright, and the Oilers later drove for a second field goal by Fritsch, this one of 20 yards, providing the final victory margin.

Denver drove to the Houston 27 at the 2-minute mark, but the Oiler defense again rose to the occasion to stifle the threat and secure the win, eliminating the Broncos from the playoffs.

PITTSBURGH 33, DENVER 10

Dec. 30, 1978 • Three Rivers Stadium • Pittsburgh, Pa.

Weather: Light Rain, 33º, Wind S 5 mph • Attendance: 48,921 • Time: 3:02*

Two fourth-quarter touchdown passes by Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw lifted the Steelers to a 33-10 victory over the Denver Broncos and into the American Football Conference Championship game.

Bradshaw's scoring tosses included a 45-yard bomb to John Stallworth and a 38-yarder to Lynn Swann, capping a brilliant performance by the Pittsburgh passer.

The Broncos took the early lead on a 37-yard Jim Turner field goal, but Pittsburgh's Franco Harris ran for two touchdowns — a 1-yarder and an 18-yarder — and Roy Gerela kicked a 24-yard field goal to give the Steelers a 16-3 advantage. Denver cut the margin to 16-10 on a 3-yard Dave Preston touchdown run, but Gerela kicked another field goal to make the halftime margin 19-10.

Denver threatened to come closer in the third period, but Turner's 29-yard field goal attempt was blocked, and Bradshaw's passing sealed Denver's fate early in the final stanza.

The Steelers rolled to 425 yards total offense, with Bradshaw accounting for 272 through the air — 156 on 10 receptions by Stallworth.

The eventual World Champion Steelers limited the Broncos' ground game to just 87 yards in earning the right to play the Houston Oilers for the AFC crown the following week.

SUPER BOWL XII

DALLAS 27, DENVER 10

Jan. 15, 1978 • Louisiana Superdome • New Orleans, La.

Weather: Indoors • Attendance: 76,400 • Time: 3:32*

The Dallas Cowboys evened their Super Bowl record at 2-2 by defeating the Denver Broncos 27-10 before a sellout crowd of 76,400, plus 90 million television viewers, the largest audience ever to watch a sporting event.

Dallas converted two pass interceptions — by safety Randy Hughes and cornerback Aaron Kyle — into 10 points and Efren Herrera added a 35-yard field goal to give the Cowboys a 13-0 half-time advantage. The Denver offense had trouble getting untracked against the hard-hitting Cowboy defense. The Broncos lost three fumbles and were intercepted twice on their last five possessions of the first half.

The Broncos came back momentarily at the outset of the third period. Craig Morton engineered a drive to the Cowboys 30-yard line from where Jim Turner booted a 47-yard field goal to make the score 13-3. After an exchange of punts, Dallas wide receiver Butch Johnson made a spectacular diving catch in the end zone to complete a 45-yard pass from Roger Staubach to put the Cowboys ahead 20-3.

However, the momentum swung back to the Broncos as Rick Upchurch returned the kickoff 67 yards to the Dallas 26. On the second play of the series, Norris Weese relieved Craig Morton at quarterback. Morton, who was intercepted only eight times during the regular season, had thrown a Super Bowl record four interceptions. Weese guided the Broncos to a touchdown — a 1-yarder by Ron Lytle — to cut the Dallas lead to 20-10 with 5:39 left in the third quarter.

But Dallas clinched the victory when running back Robert Newhouse threw a 29-yard touchdown pass to Golden Richards on an option play with 7:04 remaining in the game. It was the first pass thrown by Newhouse since the 1975 regular season. The Cowboys' offense amassed 325 yards while the defense limited the Broncos to 156 in a game that saw the Cowboys control the ball 38:34 to Denver's 21:26.

Roger Staubach completed 17 of 25 passes for 183 yards while Harvey Martin and Randy White — who were named co-MVPs — led the Cowboys defense which recovered four fumbles and intercepted four passes.

DENVER 20, OAKLAND 17

Jan. 1, 1978 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Mostly Sunny, 18º, Wind NE 3 mph • Attendance: 74,982 • Time: 2:55*

Denver quarterback Craig Morton threw two touchdown passes to Haven Moses as the Broncos defeated the defending NFL Champion Oakland Raiders 20-17 and moved into their first Super Bowl.

Morton, who was drafted and spent nine-and-a-half years with the Cowboys, would face his former Dallas teammates after completing 10 of 20 passes for 224 yards. It would be the second meeting in five weeks for these two teams — Dallas won 14-6 in the regular season finale as Morton played only the opening series due to a bruised hip.

On a sunny, 18-degree day before 74,982 Denver partisans, the Raiders scored on their initial possession as Errol Mann kicked a 20-yard field goal to climax an 18-play drive. Morton hit Moses for their first scoring hookup two plays later on a 74-yard touchdown bomb, and the Broncos were on top to stay.

Denver took advantage of two Oakland turnovers in the second half to win its second game in three meetings with Raiders during the 1977 season. Defensive end Brison Manor recovered running back Clarence Davis' fumble at the Oakland 17 and running back Jon Keyworth scored from the 1-yard line to increase the margin to 14-3 in the third quarter.

Oakland quarterback Ken Stabler hit tight end Dave Casper on the first of two scoring passes to narrow the lead to 14-10 with 39 seconds elapsed in the final period. But on Oakland's next possession, linebacker Bob Swenson intercepted a Stabler pass and ran to the Raiders' 14. Morton then threw 12 yards to Moses for the Broncos' final touchdown. Oakland finished the scoring on the next series as Stabler threw 17 yards to Casper for the game's last touchdown.

Denver controlled the ball for the final 3:08 and gave Red Miller the AFC title in his first year as head coach. Moses, a 10-year veteran, had 5 receptions for 168 yards. The Denver defense, which was No. 1 against the rush in the NFL during the regular season, held the Raiders to 94 yards on the ground.

DENVER 34, PITTSBURGH 21

Dec. 24, 1977 • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 43º, Wind E 9 mph • Attendance: 75,011 • Time: 3:15*

After ties at 7, 14, and 21, veteran Jim Turner kicked a 44-yard field goal to put Denver ahead to stay as the Broncos — in their first playoff game ever — beat the perennial AFC Central Champion Steelers.

Leading 24-21, the Broncos capped their victory with two fourth-quarter interceptions by linebacker Tom Jackson, the last of which set up Craig Morton's 34-yard game-clinching touchdown pass to Jack Dolbin.

Denver capitalized on a blocked punt and a fumble recovery for two scores in the first half, which ended 14-14. Morton and Steeler quarterback Terry Bradshaw traded touchdown passes in the second half before Turner's kick, Jackson's interceptions, and Morton's arm kept Pittsburgh from the AFC title game for the first time in four years.

The Denver victory set up a third game between the AFC Western Champion Broncos and the AFC Wild Card Raiders, who split two regular season games.

RETIRED JERSEY NUMBERS

The Denver Broncos have retired three jersey numbers in their 40-year history: the No. 18 worn by quarterback Frank Tripucka, the No. 44 worn by running back Floyd Little and the No. 7 worn by John Elway. The most recent addition was Elway's, retired in a ceremony at halftime of the Broncos' 1999 season-opening game vs. Miami, Sept. 13, 1999.

John Elway

John Elway, who wore number 7 from 1983-98, led the Broncos to five Super Bowl appearances and two World Championships, and retired ranked second in nearly every all-time NFL passing category. He passed for 51,475 yards and 300 touchdowns in his 16-year career, and retired as the all-time winningest starting quarterback in NFL history, with a career mark of 148-82-1 (.643). Elway was named Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl XXXIII, leading Denver to its second straight World Championship with a 34-19 defeat of the Atlanta Falcons, becoming the only player in NFL history to close his career by earning Super Bowl MVP honors in his final game. His image was forged early in his career, as he developed a reputation for leading the Broncos to victory against seemingly insurmountable odds. Elway directed the Broncos on an NFL-record 47 fourth-quarter, game-winning or game-saving drives in his legendary career. Elway was inducted into the Denver Broncos' Ring of Fame in 1999 — the first inductee for whom the customary five-year waiting period was waived. The only other players to wear No. 7 in franchise history were quarterbacks Mickey Slaughter (1963-66) and Craig Morton (1977-82).

Frank Tripucka

Frank Tripucka, who wore number 18 from 1960-63, was Denver's first quarterback and helped lay the foundation for the club's future success. He played in the American Football League all-star game in 1962 and passed for 7,676 yards in his Denver career. Tripucka's passing total still ranks third in franchise history, and his single-game record of 447 yards at Buffalo, Sept. 15, 1962, remained the franchise record until broken in 2000. He also ranks third in completions (662) and attempts (1,277), fourth in touchdown passes (51) and guided Denver to its first .500 season, with a 7-7 mark in 1962. Tripucka was inducted into the Broncos' Ring of Fame in 1986.

Floyd Little

Floyd Little, who wore number 44 from 1967-75 with the Denver Broncos, as well as during his legendary college career at Syracuse, retired as the club's all-time career leader in rushing yards (6,323) and total touchdowns (54). He held both marks until 1998 when they were eclipsed by Terrell Davis. Little was All-AFL in 1969 and played in two AFL all-star games (1968, 1969) and three Pro Bowls (1971, 1972, 1973). He remains the franchise career record-holder in rushing attempts (1,641), his 89-yard kickoff return in 1968 is the longest non-scoring kickoff return in club history. When Little retired, he ranked among the top 10 rushers in NFL history. Little joined the Broncos in 1967 as the club's No. 1 draft choice, becoming the first No. 1 pick to sign with the team in its eight-year history. During his career, Little helped the Broncos to their first winning seasons in 1973 and '74, with back-to-back 7-5-2 and 7-6-1 marks, and retired in 1975 with Denver just two years away from its first Super Bowl appearance. He was inducted into the club's Ring of Fame as part of its inaugural class in 1984. The only other player to wear No. 44 in franchise history was defensive back Miller Farr in 1965.

DENVER BRONCOS RING OF FAME PROFILES

The Denver Broncos Ring of Fame was created in 1984 by team owner Pat Bowlen to honor former players and administrators who played significant roles in the franchise's history.

The Denver Broncos Ring of Fame gained two new members in 2001, as linebacker Karl Mecklenburg (1983-94) and safety Dennis Smith (1981-94) joined the Ring's 16 other distinguished members.

Quarterback John Elway (1983-99) was inducted into the Ring of Fame in 1999 in a ceremony held at halftime of the Broncos' season-opening Monday Night game vs. Miami, Sept. 13, 1999. As testament to the legend he established during his 16-year career, Elway became the first inductee for whom the customary five-year waiting period was waived.

Elway's induction was the first since 1993 when cornerback Louis Wright (1975-86) joined the Ring of Fame, a year after linebacker Tom Jackson (1973-86) entered the Ring in 1992.

Linebacker Randy Gradishar (1974-83) was the only 1989 inductee, following the 1988 inductions of quarterback Craig Morton (1977-82), wide receiver Haven Moses (1972-81), and kicker Jim Turner (1971-79).

Former defensive back Bill Thompson (1969-81) was honored in 1987, and three players joined the elite group in 1986: quarterbacks Frank Tripucka (1960-63) and Charley Johnson (1972-75), and defensive end Paul Smith (1968-78).

In 1985, former owner Gerald H. Phipps became the first non-player to have his name placed on the Ring.

The Ring of Fame was established in 1984 with an inaugural class of four members: running back Floyd Little (1967-75), defensive end Rich Jackson (1967-72), wide receiver Lionel Taylor (1960-66) and safety Austin "Goose" Gonsoulin (1960-66).

The Ring of Fame is on the facade of Mile High Stadium's north and east stands, just below the third level. The following are biographical sketches of each of the 18 Ring of Fame members, in alphabetical order. The profiles begin below with Elway's, and continue with Gonsoulin's on page 514.

JOHN ELWAY — QUARTERBACK

Year Inducted: 1999
Years with Broncos: 1983-98

CAREER: John Elway capped his brilliant career in 1998 by winning Most Valuable Player honors in Super Bowl XXXIII, leading the Denver Broncos to their second straight World Championship. He also posted the highest quarterback rating of his career in his final campaign, with a rating of 93.0. At the close of the 1998 season Elway ranked second among active NFL players for number of appearances with one team (234) and retired having played in and started (231) more games in more seasons (16) than any player in Denver Broncos history. Elway, the NFL's all-time winningest starting quarterback (148-82-1; .643), was voted to a franchise-record nine Pro Bowl appearances (1986 season, '87, '89, '91, '93, '94, '96, '97 and '98), tied for the most ever by a quarterback (Marino, Moon), and as a starter six times ('87, '89, '93, '96, '97 and '98). He was the NFL's Most Valuable Player in 1987 and AFC Player of the Year in 1993, and was named AFC Offensive Player of the Week 15 times and AFC Offensive Player of the Month twice. Elway was named the Edge NFL Man of the Year for 1992, and was inducted in to the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame in 1999. He ranks second behind Dan Marino in most major NFL career passing categories, including passing yards (51,475), attempts (7,250), completions (4,123) and total offense (54,882). He also figures third in total touchdowns with 334 (300 passing/33 rushing/1 receiving); third in passing touchdowns with 300 (behind Marino and Fran Tarkenton) and leads all NFL quarterbacks in career rushing attempts (774), while figuring fourth in rushing yards (3,407). Elway is the only player in NFL history to pass for over 3,000 yards and rush for over 200 yards in the same season for seven straight years (1985-91). He generated 4,771 of the 5,806 points (82.2%) scored by the Broncos during his 16-year tenure with the club. Elway ranks No. 1 in NFL history in fourth-quarter, game-winning or game-saving drives with 47 (46-0-1 record), and had 36 career 300-yard passing games in the regular season, third among active quarterbacks at the time of his retirement (Marino, Moon). He also caught three passes in regular season play for 61 yards, including a touchdown of 23 yards from Steve Sewell in 1986. In 1997 Elway broke his franchise record for consecutive passes without an interception, with the streak reaching 189 attempts. For his career, Elway had 19 games in which he completed 70% or more of his passes (min. 20 att.) and fashioned a 17-2 record in those games. He started 2,595 drives as a pro and was replaced just 10 times due to injury (.039%).

POSTSEASON: Elway played in a franchise-record 22 postseason games (including five Super Bowls), with 21 starts, and produced a 14-7 record (9-2 at home, 3-2 on the road and 2-3 at neutral sites). He is the only player ever to start in five Super Bowls, and has the NFL's all-time best record as a starting quarterback in Conference Championship Games, at 5-1. The others with four Super Bowl starts are Joe Montana, Terry Bradshaw, Roger Staubach and Jim Kelly. Elway owns or shares 18 Broncos' postseason records, including most passing yards, most touchdown passes and total offense (combined rushing and passing yards). He completed 355 of 651 passes (54.5%) for 4,964 yards, 27 touchdowns and 21 interceptions. He also rushed 94 times for 461 yards (4.9 avg.) and six touchdowns and caught one pass for 23 yards in postseason play. Elway ranks second in NFL postseason history in passing yardage (trailing only Montana-5,772), third in completions (Montana-460, Marino-385) and pass attempts (Montana-734, Marino-687) and fourth in passing touchdowns (Montana-45, Marino-32 and Bradshaw-30). In Super Bowl games Elway ranks No. 1 in pass attempts (152), No. 3 in completions (76), No. 2 in passing yards (1,128) and tied for second in rushing TDs (4) with Franco Harris and Thurman Thomas (Emmitt Smith has 5). Six of Elway's NFL-record 47 fourth-quarter, game-winning or game-saving drives came in the postseason.

1998: Elway was selected to his ninth Pro Bowl (tying Dan Marino and Warren Moon for most by a QB) — his sixth as a starter and his third straight selection — while being inducted in the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame with the Class of 1999 after a season in which he played in 13 of the 16 games (12 starts) and showed that he still ranked among the NFL's most dangerous signal-callers, completing 210 of 356 passes (59.0) for 2,806 yards and 22 touchdowns with 10 interceptions. He was sacked 18 times (-135) and his longest completion was a 58-yd. toss to Rod Smith in Week 14 vs. Kansas City, 12/6). Elway also rushed 37 times for 94 yards (2.5) with a long of 16 (at Miami, 12/21) and one touchdown (vs. Dal., 9/13/98), and caught a 14-yd. pass from Smith (vs. Oak., 11/22). Elway ranked second in the AFC (5th NFL) in passer rating (93.0), first in average gain per attempt (7.88; 4th NFL), while also figuring third in completion pct. (11th NFL), fourth in TD passes (9th NFL) and sixth (12th NFL) in passing yards. He was named AFC Offensive Player of the Week and Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week for his 400-yard passing performance Dec. 6 vs. Kansas City, marking the 15th time in his career he has earned the AFC honor chosen by the NFL. Elway started all three playoff games and completed 45 of 86 passes (52.3%) for 691 yards and three touchdowns with one interception and a long of 80 yds. (TD), and was awarded the Pete Rozelle Trophy as Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl XXXIII, the only player ever to win such honors in his final game. Elway's performance, which lifted Denver to its second straight title, was his best performance in a league-record five Super Bowl starts. Setting a record by being the oldest quarterback to start a Super Bowl (38 years, 7 mos.), Elway completed 18 of 29 passes (.621) for 336 yards — the fourth-highest total in Super Bowl history (third at the time) — and a touchdown with one interception, en route to becoming the first No. 7 in the championship game's history — and the oldest player — to be named MVP. Elway cemented the honor by rushing for a 3-yd. touchdown in the 4th qtr. to give Denver a 31-6 lead, making Elway the oldest player in Super Bowl history to score a touchdown, adding a year onto the record he set with his rushing TD in Super Bowl XXXII. Elway's passing touchdown was perhaps the play of the game, however, as he found Rod Smith deep down the middle of the field in the 2nd qtr. for an 80-yd. scoring play to put Denver on top 17-3. It tied for the second-longest play from scrimmage in Super Bowl history, and was the longest by a Bronco in a Super Bowl.

1997: Elway enjoyed yet another stellar season, quarterbacking the Broncos to the first World Championship in franchise history with a 31-24 win over Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII. He was voted to his eighth Pro Bowl (fifth as a starter), and was named to the All-AFC team by Pro Football Weekly and Football News, and was named second-team All-Pro by College and Pro Football Newsweekly. Elway was also the recipient of the NFL Players Association's Mackey Award as the top quarterback in the AFC. For the year he completed 280 of his 502 pass attempts (55.8%) for 3,635 yards, 27 touchdowns and 11 interceptions. The 27 passing touchdowns set a new franchise record, and his 28 total touchdowns (one rushing) were the second-most of his career (30 in 1996). Elway also had 50 carries for 218 yards rushing (4.4 avg.) on the season, posted a quarterback rating of 87.5 (4th-best in the AFC, 7th in the NFL), and was 10th in the AFC in completion percentage. His third-down passer rating of 87.7 ranked 3rd in the AFC (5th NFL), as did his 27 touchdown passes (4th NFL). Elway helped Denver lead the NFL in total offense (second straight season) and in scoring offense for the 1997 season. He was named AFC Offensive Player of the Week for Week 10 (Nov. 2) when he moved into second place all-time in passing yardage and eclipsed 50,000 yards in total offense for his career in a win over Seattle. Elway would later be named AFC Offensive Player of the Month for November (92-149, 61.7%, 1,231 yards, 8 TDs, 0 INT) as the Broncos went 4-1, marking his second such award ever (October 1996). Elway started all four postseason games and engineered the Denver offense on its four-game run to the World Championship, completing 56 of 96 passes (58.3) for 726 yards and three touchdowns, with two interceptions. He was sacked six times (-44) and carried the ball nine times for 25 yards (2.8) with a long of 10 yards and one touchdown.

1996: John Elway put together one of the finest seasons of his phenomenal 14-year career in, being voted to his seventh Pro Bowl (third as a starter); named second-team All-Pro by AP, College & Pro Football Newsweekly and Football Digest and first-team All-AFC by UPI, Pro Football Weekly and Football News; voted second in the AP NFL Most Valuable Player balloting; voted AFC Player of the Year by the Touchdown Club of Columbus; AFC Offensive Player of the Year by the Kansas City 101 Club; Mackey Award winner for highest quarterback rating in the AFC and AFC MVP by the NFL Players Association. He started 15 of the 16 regular season games and completed 287 of 466 pass attempts (61.6) for 3,328 yards and 26 touchdowns with 14 interceptions, and also rushed 50 times for 249 yards (5.0) with a long of 22 and four touchdowns. His 26 touchdowns tied a career high and franchise record set in 1995. Elway led the AFC in quarterback rating (89.2; 4th NFL), was second in completion percentage (61.6; 5th NFL), third in touchdown passes (26; 4th NFL) and fifth in passing yardage (3,328; 7th NFL), completions (287; 8th NFL) and attempts (466; 9th NFL). His start at Seattle (9/8) marked the 192nd game he has played in his career, most by any player in Broncos franchise history, surpassing Tom Jackson who played in 191 games from 1973-86. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff loss to Jacksonville (1/4/97), Elway started and completed 25 of 38 passes for 226 yards and two touchdowns with a long of 18. He also rushed five times for 30 yards with a long of 19.

1995: Elway started all 16 games, completing 316 of 542 passes (58.3%) for 3,970 yards, a then-career-best 26 touchdowns and 14 interceptions. He threw for more than 300 yards on five occasions, also a career best. It was the 10th time in his 13-year NFL career that he had topped the 3,000-yard mark, joining him with Dan Marino (11) as the only quarterbacks in NFL history to accomplish that feat 10 or more times. He also rushed 40 times for 179 yards (4.5) and one touchdown, with a long of 15. He led the AFC (tied for 5th NFL) in passing yards, finished third (8th NFL) in completions and was third (8th NFL) in pass attempts. Meanwhile, his fourth-quarter passer rating of 95.2 ranked third in the AFC and fifth in the NFL.

1994: John Elway earned his sixth AFC Pro Bowl berth, though he missed two of the final three games (at Los Angeles and vs. New Orleans) due to a strained left knee. He finished the season second in the AFC and fourth in the NFL in passer rating with an 85.7, and third in the AFC in passing yards (3,490), attempts (494) and completions (307), with a 2.0 interception percentage. His 62.1 completion percentage was second in the AFC and sixth overall. Elway went over the 3,000-yard passing mark for the ninth time in his career, second only to Dan Marino's 10, and went over the 40,000-yard career total-offense mark. He rushed for 235 yards (second on the team and his ninth 200-yard season), giving him a season total offense figure of 3,725 in the 14 games he played.

1993: Elway was named AFC Most Valuable Player (NFL Players Association), AFC Offensive Player of the Year (UPI, and the Kansas City 101 Club) and AFC Player of the Year (Football News) in 1993. Elway performed at an MVP-pace all year, earning all-AFC (UPI, Football News) and second-team All-NFL (AP, College and Pro Football Newsweekly, and Football Digest), and he was the starting quarterback in the 1994 Pro Bowl (fifth Pro Bowl berth) after a regular season that saw him lead the AFC in all six major quarterback stats categories. Elway's 1993 stats and rankings included a 92.8 rating (first in the AFC, third in the NFL), 551 attempts (first in the entire NFL), 348 completions (first in the entire NFL), a 63.2 completion percentage (first in the AFC and third in the NFL), 25 TD passes (first in the AFC and second in the NFL), 4,030 yards (first in the AFC). Elway's 1.8 interception avoidance percentage was fourth in the AFC, but stands as the best in Denver history for any quarterback with more than 75 single-season attempts. In 1993 he set new personal and Denver records for total yards offensively (4,183), completions (348), passing yards (4,030), TD passes (25), and completion percentage (that 63.2 mark tied the figure set by Norris Weese in 1978). The 1993 season was Elway's first 4,000-yard campaign and his eighth 3,000-yard season. He also rushed for 153 yards. Elway was named the AFC Offensive Player of the Week twice and was named by his teammates as Denver's offensive MVP.

1992: Elway completed 174 of 316 passes for 2,242 yards, with 10 touchdowns and 17 interceptions. He gained 94 yards and scored twice on 34 rushing attempts. He missed games 11 through 14 because of a bruised tendon in his right shoulder, suffered while running for a first down against the Giants (11/15). Elway earned two AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for the year.

1991: Elway completed 242 of 351 passes for 3,253 yards, a total ranked sixth in the AFC and ninth in the NFL, as he was voted to his fourth career Pro Bowl berth. He threw 12 touchdown passes and tied a career low with just 12 interceptions. He had 36 pass completions of 20+ yards, nine of 40+, five of 50+, and four of 60+. Elway was third on the team with 258 yards rushing, and his six TDs led the team and set a new career single season high. He was bothered throughout the second half of the season by a shoulder problem that was corrected by arthroscopic surgery in the 1992 offseason. Elway started both of Denver's playoff contests, completing 30 of 54 passes (55.6%) for 378 yards and one touchdown with two interceptions. He also rushed 10 times for 49 yards (4.9). Elway completed 11 of 21 passes for 121 yards and an interception before leaving the AFC Championship Game in the fourth quarter with a thigh injury.

1990: Elway completed 294 of 502 passes in 1990 (a .586 completion percentage that stood as the highest over the first 10 years of his career) for 3,526 yards, 15 touchdowns, and 14 interceptions. He gained 258 yards on 50 rushing attempts and scored three touchdowns on the ground.

1989: Elway led Denver to its third AFC Championship in four years and earned his third career Pro Bowl invitation. He completed 223 of 416 passes for 3,051 yards, with 18 touchdowns and 18 interceptions, and he rushed for 244 yards on 48 carries, scoring three times. Elway started all three Denver playoff games, including Super Bowl XXIV vs. San Francisco, and completed 42 of 82 passes (51.2%) for 732 yards and four touchdowns with three interceptions, while also rushing for 91 yards on 16 carries (5.7) with a long of 32 and one touchdown.

1988: Elway threw for 3,309 yards and rushed for 234 yards despite being bothered for most of the season by several nagging injuries. He was voted by teammates as Denver's most valuable offensive player for the fourth straight year, sharing the award with running back Sammy Winder, following a campaign in which he completed 274 of 496 passes, with 17 touchdowns and 19 interceptions to earn his second straight Pro Bowl invitation.

1987: Elway was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player (AP) and the AFC's starting quarterback in the Pro Bowl after turning in a tremendous season in 1987, a year in which he became the first AFC signal-caller since Terry Bradshaw (1978-79) to lead his team to consecutive conference crowns. Elway was named All-NFL (The Sporting News, NEA, AP-second team) and All-AFC (UPI, Pro Football Weekly, The Football News), in addition to being tabbed as the AFC MVP (NFLPA), AFC Player of the Year (The Football News), AFC Offensive Player of the Year (UPI, Kansas City 101 Club), and Colorado Pro Athlete of the Year (Colorado Sports Hall of Fame), as well as earning his second Pro Bowl invitation. He was voted the Broncos' offensive MVP for a regular season performance in which he completed 224 of 410 passes for 3,198 yards, an average of 267 yards per game, with 19 TD passes. He led all AFC quarterbacks in rushing for the fourth straight season was second on the team with a career-high 304 yards, scoring four times. Elway started all three of Denver's playoff contests, including Super Bowl XXII vs. Washington, and completed 42 of 89 passes (47.2%) for 797 yards and six touchdowns with five interceptions, while also rushing 18 times for 76 yards (4.2) with a long of 21 and one touchdown. His 56-yard scoring strike to Ricky Nattiel on Denver's first play from scrimmage provided the earliest touchdown in Super Bowl history (elapsed time of 1:57).

1986: Elway led the Broncos to their first AFC Championship in nine seasons in 1986, while earning his first Pro Bowl berth. He was honored with the Seattle Gold Helmet Award (Professional Football Player of the Year) and received the King of the Hill award from the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame, in addition to being named honorable mention All-NFL (AP) and All-AFC (UPI-second team). Along with his 18 TD passes that year, Elway also scored on an 11-yard run and a 23-yard pass reception from Steve Sewell that is the longest TD catch by a full-time starting QB in NFL history. For the year he completed 280 of 504 passes (55.6%) for 3,485 yards and 19 touchdowns with 13 interceptions, while also rushing 52 times for 257 yards (4.9) with a long of 24 and one touchdown. In the postseason he added 805 more yards on 57 of 107 passing efficiency (53.3%), with three touchdowns and four interceptions, while rushing 15 times for 101 yards (6.7) with a long of 34 and two touchdowns. Elway directed one of the greatest drives in NFL postseason history in pacing Denver to a 23-20 overtime win over Cleveland for the AFC title. He completed 22 of 38 passes for 244 yards and a TD, that coming on a five-yard strike to Mark Jackson that capped a 15-play, 98-yard drive that tied the game at the end of regulation. In overtime Elway drove the team 60 yards in nine plays to the winning field goal.

1985: Elway took some spectacular steps forward in 1985, as he re-wrote the Denver record book. Elway set Broncos single season records for attempts (605, which led the NFL and fell just four passes short of the NFL record of 609 held by Dan Fouts), completions (327, second in the NFL), passing yards (3,891, second in the NFL), total rushing and passing plays (656, first in the NFL), and total offense (4,414, also first in the league).

1984: Elway led the Broncos to a 12-2 record in his 14 regular season starts in 1984. He completed 214 of 380 passes for 2,598 yards, with 18 TDs and 15 interceptions. Not only was his passing a factor in his leadership of the offense, but he finished third on the team in rushing with 237 yards.

1983: Elway started 10 games in 1983, including the first five before being replaced by Steve DeBerg, and five more after DeBerg was injured. While Elway did not have impressive stats as a rookie, finishing 17th among AFC passers, he carried a tremendous emotional burden, having come to the NFL as the most publicized college prospect since Joe Namath in 1965. Elway was the first player chosen in the 1983 draft and joined the Broncos by trade with Baltimore on May 2. The Broncos, in return, gave the Colts quarterback Mark Herrmann, the rights to OL Chris Hinton and a first-round pick in the 1984 Draft (G Ron Solt). He was also chosen by the Oakland Invaders in the 1983 USFL territorial draft

COLLEGE: John concluded his college career with five major NCAA Division I-A records and nine major Pac-10 marks. Elway completed 62.1 percent of his career passes (774 of 1,243, both NCAA highs) for 9,349 yards and 77 touchdowns, while setting an NCAA record for the lowest percentage of passes intercepted in a career (3.13 percent). As a senior, John was a consensus All-American and finished second in Heisman Trophy balloting while setting virtually every Pac-10 and Stanford career record for total offense and passing. A two-sport star, John played baseball for the New York Yankees' Oneonta (N.Y.) single-A farm club in 1982, hitting for a .318 average and knocking in a team-high 25 RBI in 42 games. John, who batted left-handed and threw right-handed, was the Yankees' first selection in the 1981 summer draft (June 8). John hit .349 with nine homers and 50 RBI in 49 games in his final college baseball season as a sophomore. Elway has a degree in economics from Stanford.

PERSONAL: John and his wife Janet have four children, including three daughters, Jessica Gwen (10/17/85), Jordan Marie (6/1/87) and Juliana (3/7/91), and a son, Jack (8/11/89). The family makes its home in Englewood, Colo. In addition to his considerable time spent on the football field, John and Janet poured a great deal of energy into The Elway Foundation — an organization that contributes funds and resources to the prevention and treatment of child abuse. He also owned and operated seven automobile franchises in the Denver area until selling them in late 1997, and now is associated with 17 John Elway AutoNation dealerships in the Denver area. A native of Port Angeles, Wash., Elway was the most highly recruited prep athlete in the nation in 1979 and was listed on Parade, Scholastic Coach, Football News and National Coaches Association All-America teams. He had an unparalleled football and baseball career at Granada Hills High School. John was 129 of 200 for 1,837 yards and 19 TDs as a senior, while leading the baseball team to the Los Angeles City championship with a .491 batting average and a 4-2 pitching record. He completed 60 percent of his high school passes for 5,711 yards and 49 touchdowns. The football field at Granada Hills High School was re-named in John's honor in a ceremony June 5, 1998. The Kansas City Royals selected him in the 18th round of the 1979 summer draft (June 5), although he already had signed a national letter of intent with Stanford. John's late father, Jack, coached his son in the East–West Shrine contest in which John earned Offensive MVP laurels. Jack retired from the Broncos in 2000 after seven years with the club, the last five as the Director of Pro Scouting.

(—the second number is the percentage the quarterback has put his team in position to score, allowing for missed field goal and subtracting those drives ended by the clock and replaced due to injury. #—drives for 1984 add to one more than drives started because Elway replaced Kubiak on one drive.)*

NOTES:

• For his career, he directed Denver to scores in better than 3 in 10 drives; when you adjust the figure as stated above, the figures work to just over 40 in 100).

• In 2,608 career drives started, he was replaced only 10 times due to injury (based on if a replacement QB earned at least one first down on the drive; that's 0.383 percent, or 3.83 in 1,000).

JOHN ELWAY'S FOURTH-QUARTER HEROICS

In his career (1983-98) John Elway has engineered 47 fourth-quarter or overtime, game-saving or game-winning drives for the Broncos, and the team has a record of 46-0-1 in those contests. Those games include:

• 40 fourth-quarter or overtime, game-winning drives (marked on the following page with an asterisk). The Broncos scored the winning points 23 times with fewer than three minutes remaining, 21 times under two minutes and 13 times with less than a minute left.

• seven fourth-quarter, game-tying drives. Denver went on to win six of those contests in regulation or overtime, and one game ended in a tie. The Broncos won in regulation vs. New England (11/4/84) and at Seattle (12/20/85). In overtime, Elway directed the game-winning drive in the AFC Championship Game at Cleveland (1/11/87), while the defense and special teams set up OT wins vs. San Diego (11/17/85), at San Francisco (10/9/88) and at Seattle (10/22/89). The game at Green Bay (9/20/87) ended in a tie.

Elway vs. Hall of Fame Quarterbacks After 16 Seasons

At the time of his retirement, after 16 seasons, John Elway had thrown and completed more passes, and thrown for more yards than all 18 quarterbacks currently enshrined in the Hall of Fame at the equivalent point in each of their careers. He also ranks first in rushing attempts and total offense (combined rushing and passing yards), second in rushing yards, tied for second in rushing touchdowns, second in completion percentage and second in touchdown passes. Among those enshrined in Canton, only Fran Tarkenton had thrown more touchdown passes in his first 16 seasons than Elway, and only Otto Graham has more rushing touchdowns.

ELWAY NAMED 1992 EDGE NFL MAN OF THE YEAR

John Elway was named the 1992 Edge NFL Man of the Year for his work with the Elway Foundation, a non-profit organization which has raised millions of dollars that have been directed toward the prevention and treatment of child abuse throughout Colorado.

Among the groups assisted by the Elway Foundation are Family Focus and the Kempe Children's Foundation. The Elway Foundation in 1991 alone raised over $400,000.

Elway is also a member of the Mayor's Council on Physical Fitness and has served as chairman of the National Kidney Foundation for the Rocky Mountain region.

The NFL Man of the Year award is truly unique in that it is the only league-sponsored award that recognizes a player's off-the-field community service work as well as his playing excellence. Perhaps the most prestigious of all NFL awards, it has been in existence since 1970.

Jackson is one of only three Broncos to wear the Denver uniform for 14 seasons, joining Dennis Smith (14) and John Elway (16). He made three consecutive Pro Bowl appearances from 1977-79 and was named first team All-Pro twice (1977-78). He was also named by his teammates as Denver's defensive MVP in 1974, '76, and '77. FLOYD LITTLE

RUNNING BACK

Year Inducted: 1984

44

THEN: Floyd Little is one of the four original Ring of Fame inductees from 1984. He was the first No. 1 draft pick ever signed by the Broncos and was widely regarded as "The Franchise" for much of his nine-year career. Little was the first serious threat for the Broncos at running back. A Pro Bowl participant in 1971, Floyd twice played in the AFL All-Star game (1968 and 1969). He finished his Broncos career ranked No. 1 on the franchise's all-time list for rushing attempts (1,641), rushing yards (6,323), rushing touchdowns (43) and total touchdowns (54). He now ranks second in all but rushing attempts, having been surpassed in the other three during the 1998 season by Terrell Davis. He still ranks seventh on the Broncos' all-time scoring list with 324 points. Little totaled 12,103 all-purpose yards during his career, including a team-record 2,523 on kickoff returns. Little also holds the Broncos' record for the longest non-scoring kickoff return, of 89 yards (vs. Oakland, Nov. 10, 1968). When Little retired, he ranked among the Top-10 all-time rushers in NFL history. Little was a three-time All-American at Syracuse, following in the footsteps of Jim Brown and the late Ernie Davis as superstar tailbacks for the Orangemen. Little actually shattered most of the records set by his two predecessors, rushing for 2,704 yards, returning punts for 845, kickoffs for 797, and passed for 19 — for a grand total of 4,947 yards. He also scored in 22 of 30 regular season games, including five times in one game.

NOW: Little has gone into business for himself and owns an auto dealership in Seattle, Wash.

THEN: Karl Mecklenburg joined the Ring of Fame in 2001 after establishing himself as one of the most outstanding defensive players in franchise history during his 12-year career (1983-94). Mecklenburg overcame long odds to achieve greatness after being drafted by the Broncos in the 12th round out of Minnesota in 1983—the 310th player chosen. He became a starter by his third season, 1985, and went on to start 141 of the 180 games he played, which places him seventh on the club's all-time list for games played. Mecklenburg was voted to play in six Pro Bowls (following the 1985, '86, '87, '89, '91 and '93 seasons); was named All-AFC and All-NFL four times (1985-87 and '89); was named AFC Player of the Year by Football News in 1986 and played in three Super Bowls as a Bronco: XXI, XXII and XXIV. He finished his career with 1,145 tackles (787 solo) and ranks second in club annals with 79.5 sacks, trailing only Simon Fletcher (97.5). Mecklenburg's career high of 13 sacks came in 1985 and ties for the fifth most sacks recorded by a Broncos player in a single season. He recorded 11 multi-sack games and is the only player in franchise history to record four sacks in a game twice in his career. He shares the franchise single-game record with four other players. Mecklenburg began his collegiate career at Augustana (S.D.) College before transferring to Minnesota, where he earned second-team All-Big Ten honors as a senior in 1982.

NOW: Mecklenburg has been very active locally since his retirement in 1994. He coaches high school football on the staff at Kent Denver School, is a motivational speaker and does promotional work for several local businesses. Karl and his wife, Kathi, have a son, Luke, and a daughter, Kelsey.

Morton, who came to the Broncos through a trade with the New York Giants in 1977, was Denver's starting quarterback for most of the period from 1977-82 and led the team to its first Super Bowl berth in 1977, as he engineered the Broncos to a 12-2 regular season record and home playoff wins over Pittsburgh and arch-rival Oakland. Morton, who also starred with the Dallas Cowboys in the early 1970s, earned a variety of awards for his on-field performance in 1977, including AFC Most Valuable Player honors. GERALD PHIPPS

OWNER

Years with Broncos: 1961-81

THEN: Gerald H. Phipps became the first and only non-player to be inducted into Denver Broncos' Ring of Fame in 1985. Under the guidance of Phipps and his brother Allan, the Broncos rose from their less than auspicious beginnings to the top of the American Football Conference. In 1977, the Broncos laid claim to their first ever AFC Championship, won the Western Division title in 1977 and 1978 and made three consecutive playoff appearances (1977-79). Under Phipps, the Broncos ultimately rose to a position as one of the NFL's most stable franchises. With the success of the Broncos, the doors were opened for other major league teams from other sports to grab a piece of the Denver sports pie. Following the takeover by the Phipps brothers, Denver Broncos season ticket sales improved from 8,002 in 1964 to 22,905 in 1965. Before purchasing the Broncos on February 15, 1965, Phipps was the president of the Gerald H. Phipps Inc. Construction Company, which he continued to operate. Phipps was born March 4, 1915 in Denver.

Mr. Phipps passed away August 6, 1993.

DENNIS SMITH

SAFETY

Year Inducted: 2001
Years with Broncos: 1981-94

49

THEN: Dennis Smith was inducted into the Ring of Fame in 2001, reflective of his stellar 14-year career with the Broncos during which he established himself as one of the most feared safeties in the NFL. A ferocious hitter, Smith was voted to play in six Pro Bowls (following the 1985-86, 1989-91 and '93 seasons), was named All-NFL four times (1985-86, '89 and '93), was named All-AFC four times (1984-86, '98) and played on three Broncos Super Bowl teams (XXI, XXII, XXIV). He was also named the club's Most Inspirational Player in 1992. Smith ranks fourth all-time in games played by a Bronco (184), fifth in games started (170) and sixth in both career interceptions (30) and interception return yards (431). He is one of just three players in the history of the Broncos franchise to play at least 14 seasons with the club, behind John Elway (16) and tied with Tom Jackson. Smith's career totals include 1,171 tackles (794) and 14 sacks. He posted a career-high five sacks in 1983, a career-high five interceptions in '91 and a career-high 120 tackles in '92. Smith was a consensus All-America choice as a senior at USC in 1980, where he lettered four times in football and three times in track. He posted 205 career tackles and 16 interceptions, and played in two Rose Bowls as a Trojan.

NOW: Smith and his wife, Andre, have two children, Tiffany Diamond (17) and Armani Joseph (14), and reside in Hollywood Hills, Calif. Dennis and Andre own and manage a number of properties in Southern California, and also give their time and financial support to the Make-A-Wish Foundation and Covenant House, a home for kids in need.

DEFENSIVE TACKLE

THEN: Paul Smith was inducted into the Ring of Fame in 1986, along with quarterbacks Frank Tripucka and Charley Johnson. Smith posted 55 sacks for his career, sixth-most on the Broncos' all-time list. He also posted 11 sacks in both the 1972 and 1973 seasons, propelling him to back-to-back Pro Bowl appearances. Smith was one of the leaders during the years when Denver was establishing its reputation for defensive excellence with the famed 'Orange Crush." His head coach, John Ralston, once said that Smith was "the finest defensive tackle in pro football." Smith's 11-year career was the longest in Bronco annals until he was surpassed by fellow Ring of Famer Billy Thompson. He was the first 10-year man in Bronco history. Smith played collegiately at New Mexico.

Smith passed away March 14, 2000.

He caught 92 passes during the 1960 season and followed that campaign with a team-record 100 receptions in 1961 (which stood until 2000), leading the AFL in receiving for five of the league's first six years of existence. Taylor was regarded by many as the possessor of the best hands in pro football. He never caught fewer than 76 passes in a season over those first six years, averaging 84.7 catches from 1960-65, at that time the highest six-year total in football history. Taylor was an All-AFL selection in 1960, '61 and '65 and played in the league all-star game in 1962. He performed collegiately at New Mexico Highlands.

BILLY THOMPSON
Year Inducted: 1987
Years with Broncos: 1969-81

THEN: Billy Thompson, regarded by many as the best defensive back in Denver Broncos annals, was the only Ring of Fame inductee in 1987. He was the first player in team history to play 13 seasons with Denver, and he was the team captain for many years. Thompson, despite being retired for 20 seasons, still ranks second on the Broncos' all-time list for games started with 178, first in consecutive starts with 156 and seventh in games played with 179. He finished his career with 61 turnovers, (most in team history), 40 of which came via interceptions (third in team history). He holds two NFL records, one of which has stood for more than three decades. As a rookie in 1969, Thompson became the only player in NFL history to lead the league in both kickoffs and punt returns in the same season. He is also one of only two players in NFL history to return four opponent fumbles for touchdowns. Thompson was a three-time Pro Bowl selection (1977, '78 and '81), and earned All-NFL honors twice (1977 and '78) and All-AFC honors four times (1977-79, '81). Billy also enjoyed a brilliant career at Maryland State (now Maryland-Eastern Shore), earning All-CIAA honors three times as a defensive back and being named team MVP as a senior. He also twice earned NAIA All-America honors. Thompson also made All-CIAA three times in baseball as a centerfielder.

NOW: Thompson was a college scout for the Broncos for two years before moving into the position of Director of Player Relations and Alumni Coordinator. He is now the club's Director of Alumni Relations and in that role coordinates the activities of the Broncos' former players, who remain a vital part of the organization. He works with the Denver Broncos Alumni Council and former Broncos players to integrate their involvement in the club's community outreach programs, which focus on youth, health and hunger initiatives. Thompson is a member of the Board of Directors of The Metropolitan State College of Denver and also volunteers time with the Urban League, Hispanic Chamber of Commerce and several other non-profit organizations. Thompson, his wife Barbara, and their son, Richie, make their home in Aurora, Colo.

QUARTERBACK

THEN: Frank Tripucka — who was one of the four original Ring of Fame inductees—is also one of the original Broncos, playing for the team from 1960-63. Tripucka led the Broncos to their first ever .500 season in 1962 (7-7). He formed half of the Tripucka-to-Lionel Taylor passing combination, as the duo (both Ring of Famers) went on to set various marks together. Tripucka's best statistical season came in 1960 when he completed 248 of 478 passes (51.9%) for 3,038 yards and 24 touchdowns. His 447 yards passing against Buffalo (9/15/62) stood as the team record until 2000, and he shares the team record for most touchdown passes in a game with five (10/28/62 vs. Buffalo). Tripucka also played in the AFL All-Star Game in 1962.

NOW: Tripucka is a retired beer distributor. He currently resides in New Jersey.

At the time of his retirement, Turner ranked second in NFL career scoring with 1,439 points, as well as second in field goals with 304. Turner kicked 521 extra points and was the fourth player to ever reach the 500 mark. He never missed a game as a pro and finished with a streak of 228 consecutive appearances, including 130 as a Bronco, for whom he scored 742 points, easily establishing himself as Denver's all-time scoring leader until Jason Elam eclipsed his mark in 1999. He once had a string of 221 consecutive extra points, which was then the second-longest streak in NFL history. Before joining the Broncos in 1971, Turner was an outstanding kicker for the New York Jets, helping lead the club to a victory in Super Bowl III. He was a three-time letterman as a quarterback at Utah State in the early 1960s.

FORMER BRONCOS IN THE PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

Two players enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame — cornerback Willie Brown and running back Tony Dorsett — spent a portion of their professional playing careers with the Denver Broncos. A brief review of their Hall of Fame careers is outlined below.

WILLIE BROWN — CB — INDUCTED: 1984

Cornerback Willie Brown, inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1984, played for the Broncos from 1963-66, and was named All-American Football League in 1964. He intercepted nine passes that season, including a team-record four in one game (vs. New York, 11/15/64), and was named the outstanding back in the AFL All-Star game in January, 1965.

The 6-foot-1, 195-pound Brown, who played his college ball at Grambling, joined the Broncos as a free agent in Aug. 1963 and played four seasons with the club. In 50 games he intercepted 15 passes and tallied 195 yards in returns, while also returning three punts for 29 yards (9.7) and three kickoffs for 70 yards (23.3).

Brown was traded to Oakland in 1967 and went on to play 12 seasons with the Raiders (1967-78). He was an all-league performer every year from 1968-73, while making three AFL All-Star game (1967-69) and four Pro Bowl (1970-73) appearances. In 16 seasons Brown played in 204 games and finished his career with 54 interceptions for 472 return yards and two touchdowns.

TONY DORSETT — RB — INDUCTED: 1994

Running Back Tony Dorsett, though best known for his brilliant 11-year tenure with the Dallas Cowboys, was a Denver Bronco during the 1988 and 1989 seasons. He joined the Broncos in 1988 and went on to lead the club in rushing that season with 703 yards on 181 carries. He spent the 1989 season on injured reserve before his retirement, and was inducted into the Hall of fame in 1994.

Dorsett, who ranks third on the all-time NFL rushing list with 12,739 yards, captured rookie of the year honors in 1977 with the Cowboys, en route to four Pro Bowl selections (1978, 1981-83). His highest rushing total came in 1981 when he ran for 1,646 yards, just one of eight 1,000-yard seasons during his brilliant career. Dorsett also caught 398 passes for 3,554 yards (8.9) and accounted for 91 total touchdowns (77 rushing, 13 receiving, 1 fumble recovery).

Dorsett was a college star at the University of Pittsburgh where he won the Heisman Trophy in 1976 while leading the Panthers to the national title.

From the steps of the Denver City and County Building, Broncos players and coaches thank the fans for their support, and share the victory with them. Broncos owner Pat Bowlen, head coach Mike Shanahan, quarterback John Elway, running back Terrell Davis, Colorado Governor Bill Owens and Denver Mayor Wellington Webb address the crowd. FEBRUARY 7 — The Broncos are represented in the annual AFC-NFC Pro Bowl in Honolulu by a franchise-record 10 players: safety Steve Atwater, running back Terrell Davis, kicker Jason Elam, quarterback John Elway, tackle Tony Jones, wide receiver Ed McCaffrey, center Tom Nalen, linebacker Bill Romanowski, guard Mark Schlereth and tight end Shannon Sharpe. Davis and Sharpe are unable to play in the game due to injury. APRIL 10 — Chinese Premier Zhu Rongji visits the Paul D. Bowlen Memorial Broncos Centre as part of a nine-day U.S. tour to promote trade with China. The Premier requested the visit as one of the highlights of his trip, and said, "It is a pleasure to visit the home of the Broncos. They are the champions of American football." MAY 2 — John Elway announces his retirement in a press conference at the Inverness Hotel and Golf Club in Englewood. JUNE 6 — Broncos players, coaches and staff receive their Super Bowl rings in a private ceremony, followed by a party at the Broadmoor in Colorado Springs, Colo. AUGUST 7 — Denver defeats San Diego 20-17 in American Bowl '99 at Stadium Australia, in Sydney, Australia, site of the 2000 Summer Olympics. It is the first NFL game played on the Australian continent. SEPTEMBER 13 — John Elway is inducted into the Denver Broncos Ring of Fame in a ceremony held at halftime of Denver's season-opening Monday Night game vs. Miami. He is the 16th inductee into the prestigious group — the first since 1993 (Louis Wright) — and the first for whom the traditional five-year waiting period is waived. Elway's familiar No. 7 is also retired on this night, assuring that the number he wore for 16 brilliant seasons will never be worn again by a Bronco. SEPTEMBER 26 — Broncos tight end Shannon Sharpe becomes the leading receiver in franchise history, catching five passes for 39 yards against Tampa Bay at Raymond James Stadium, to surpass the previous standards held by Lionel Taylor (543-6,872). Sharpe finishes the day at 547 receptions and 6,897 yards. OCTOBER 3 — Kicker Jason Elam becomes the Denver Broncos all-time leading scorer, surpassing Jim Turner (742 points) in Denver's game vs. the New York Jets at Mile High Stadium. Elam's seven points (2 field goals, 1 PAT) raise his career total to 748 points. OCTOBER 17 — Denver has two players post 100 or more receiving yards in the same game for the first time in franchise history, as Byron Chamberlain (123 yards) and Ed McCaffrey (116) both top the century mark in Denver's 31-10 defeat of Green at Mile High Stadium. DECEMBER 19 — Denver linebacker Glenn Cadrez returns a fumble 37 yards for a touchdown in overtime to lift the Broncos over the Seattle Seahawks, 36-30. It is just the second overtime game in NFL history to be decided by a fumble return for a touchdown. In the contest, Jason Elam became the franchise's all-time leader in successful PATs and attempted field goals, passing Jim Turner in both categories.

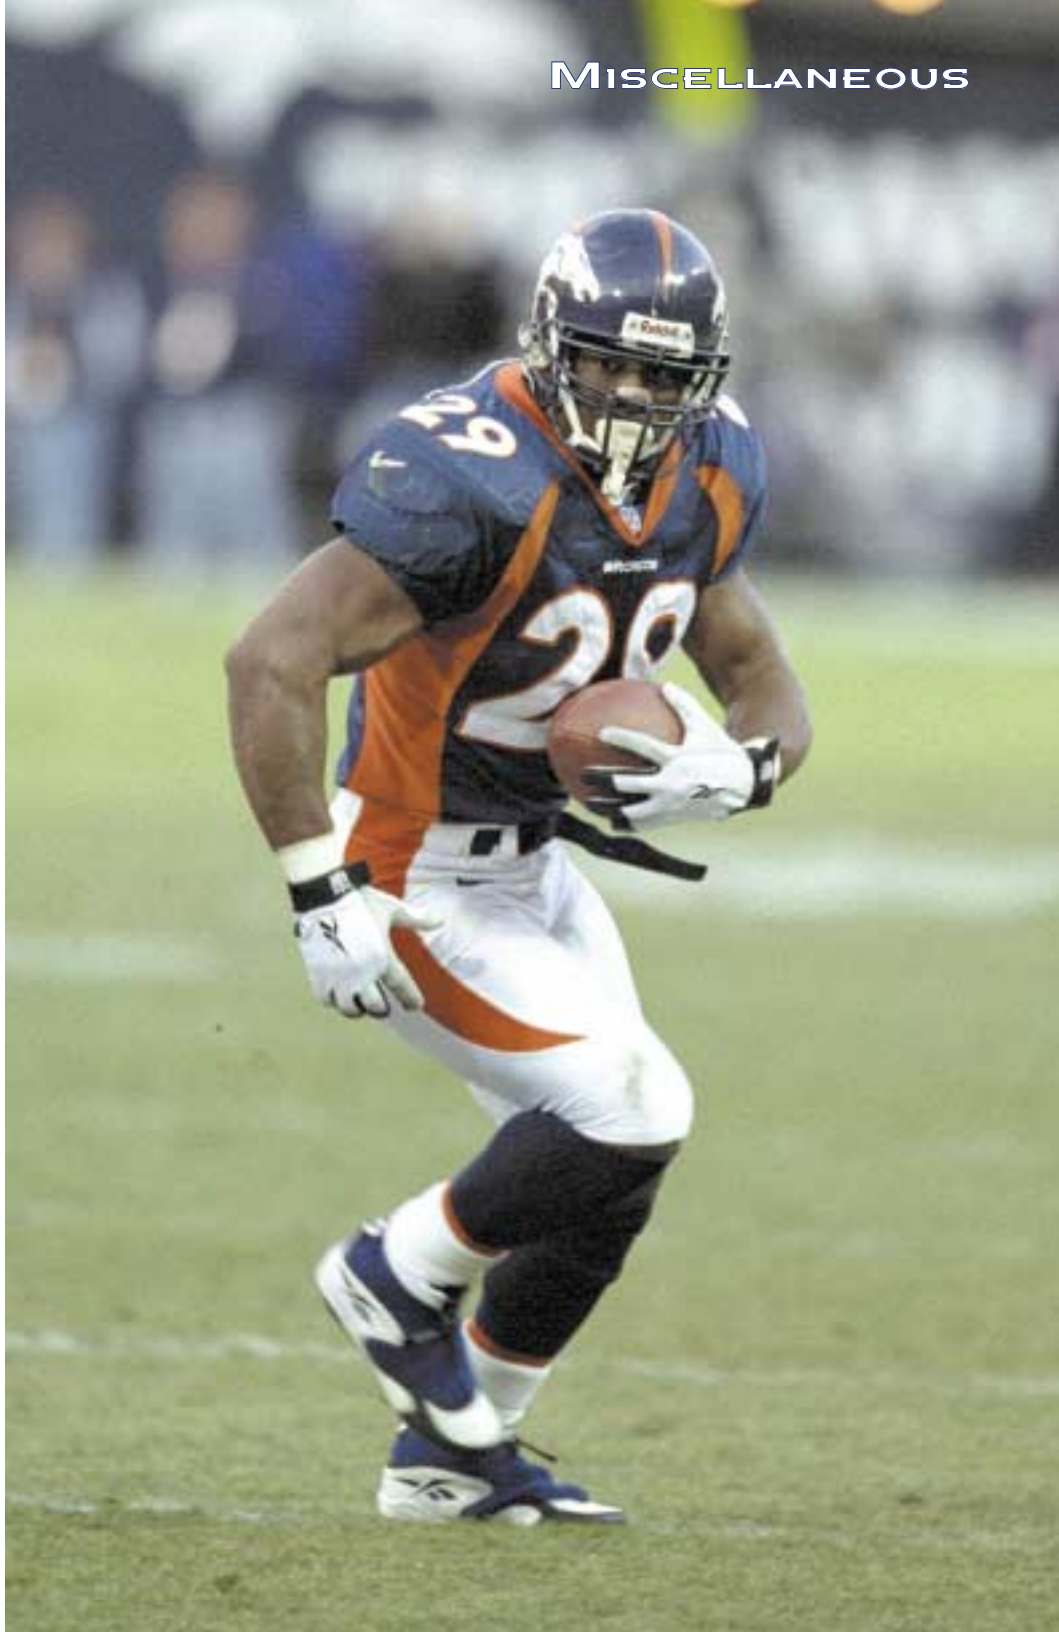
JANUARY 2 — Running back Olandis Gary sets franchise rookie rushing record by finishing the season with 1,159 yards on 276 carries. Also, wide receiver Rod Smith tops the 1,000-yard receiving mark for the third consecutive season — a franchise record — and rookie return man Chris Watson sets a franchise single-season record for kickoff returns (48) in Denver's season-finale vs. San Diego at Mile High Stadium. FEBRUARY 6 — The Broncos are represented at the annual AFC-NFC Pro Bowl in Honolulu by center Tom Nalen, defensive tackle Trevor Pryce and fullback/special teams player Detron Smith. SEPTEMBER 10 — The Broncos begin their final season of play at Mile High Stadium with a 42-14 win over Atlanta, before a crowd of 75,466, in the home opener. SEPTEMBER 17 — Broncos rookie running back Mike Anderson becomes just the ninth player in NFL history to rush for more than 100 yards in each of his first two NFL games, picking up 187 in a win at Oakland. He had 131 the previous week vs. Atlanta. NOVEMBER 13 — Denver defeats Oakland 27-24 in the final Monday Night Football game at Mile High Stadium, on a 41-yard field goal by Jason Elam as time expired. Overall, the Broncos were 16-6 in the 22 Monday Night games player at Mile High, from 1973-2000. NOVEMBER 19 — The Broncos improve to 7-4 with the second largest fourth quarter comeback in franchise history, overcoming a 34-17 deficit to beat the San Diego Chargers 38-37. Quarterback Gus Frerotte, replacing the injured Brian Griese, broke Frank Tripucka's 38-year old franchise passing record (447) with 462 passing yards and tied the team record with five touchdown passes. DECEMBER 3 — Mike Anderson rushes for 251 yards in a 38-23 win at New Orleans to set an all-time NFL rookie rushing record for a single game. He also broke the franchise single-game rushing mark by posting the fourth best rushing day by any player in NFL history, and set a Broncos record with four touchdowns in the game. Jason Elam also set an NFL record, converting his 304th consecutive point-after attempt, breaking Norm Johnson's previous record of 303. DECEMBER 23 — The Broncos play their final game ever at Mile High Stadium, defeating San Francisco 38-9 before the second largest crowd in the stadium's history, 76,098. It was the largest crowd ever for a Broncos regular season game, and those in attendance were treated to an outstanding performance from the home team on this historic day. The Broncos set franchise single-season records for passing yards (4,243) and total yards (6,554), with the latter figure ranking fifth in NFL history. Ed McCaffrey and Rod Smith each hit the 100-catch mark for the season—just the second pair of teammates to do so in the same season in NFL history—with McCaffrey (101) breaking Lionel Taylor's 39-year old franchise record (100), while Smith ties it. Smith shatters the club record with 1,602 receiving yards for the season. Running back Mike Anderson sets franchise rookie rushing records with 1,487 yards and 15 touchdowns for the season.

2001

FEBRUARY 4 — The Broncos are represented at the annual AFC-NFC Pro Bowl in Honolulu by quarterback Brian Griese, center Tom Nalen, defensive tackle Trevor Pryce and wide receiver Rod Smith. Griese and Nalen are unable to play because of injuries.



DENVER BRONCOS COMMITMENT TO THE COMMUNITY

The Community Development Department, in collaboration with Broncos Charities, strives to improve the quality of life for Coloradans through youth, health and hunger initiatives. Since the club's inception in 1960, the Denver Broncos have consistently given back to the community that is so loyal and supportive of the team. The past offseason has been a period of transformation for the Broncos Community Development department. In addition to previous programs, they are excited to introduce even more projects and events that support the Broncos' mission.

DENVER BRONCOS CHARITIES FUND

The Denver Broncos Charities Fund was developed in 1994 to help support non-profit organizations that aim to improve the quality of life for the hungry, homeless and mentally challenged. The DBCF has allowed the team to provide assistance to over 40 different Colorado organizations. Every dollar raised by the Fund is matched by the Robert R. McCormick Tribune Foundation, a charitable trust that works closely with sports teams throughout the United States to better our communities.

Since the establishment of The DBCF an excess 16 million dollars has been granted to numerous charitable organizations throughout Colorado, including Broncos Academy, Ronald McDonald House and Special Olympics of Colorado.

YOUTH PROGRAMS

Gatorade Training Camps

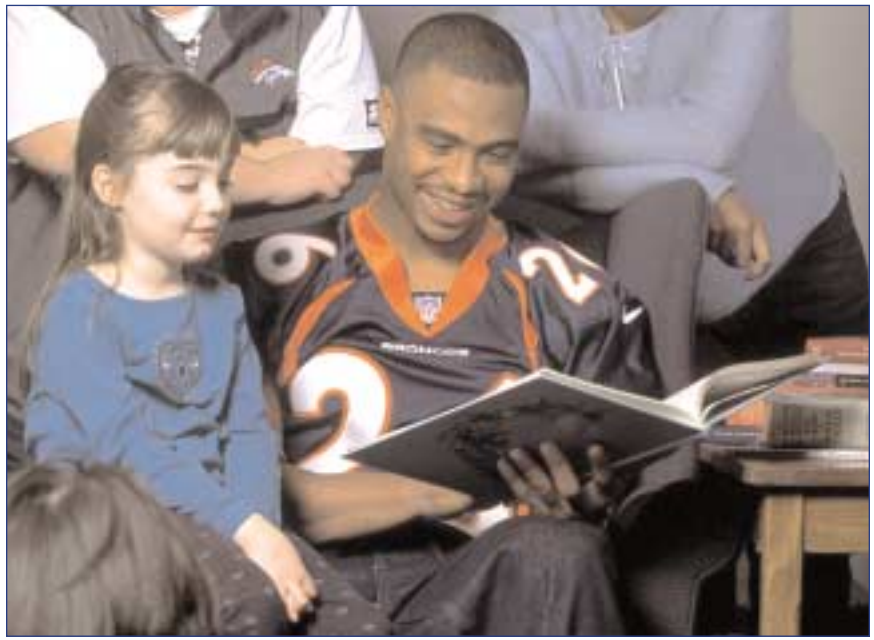
Since 1999, the Denver Broncos and Gatorade have collaborated to offer a series of Junior Training Camps to kids ages six through 12, in hopes of teaching them the game of football in a safe environment. Thousands of Denver area youth have attended the camps that feature motivational talks and activities that teach them basic foundations of health, fitness and football.

Community Fields

The Denver Broncos and the National Football League are working together for the children of Colorado. The Community Fields program has provided the Denver Parks and Recreation Foundation with a $100,000 grant to restore two football fields at Sloan Lake Park. Located less that one-half mile from INVESCO Field at Mile High, the field will benefit approximately 2,000 children from 73 different football teams currently involved in the Denver Police Activities League.

Read Like a Pro

The benefits of reading should be impressed upon a child early in life. So, the Broncos and US Bank have teamed up to present the Read Like a Pro project. The program was designed to help elementary school children develop their reading skills. Read Like a Pro playbooks—including reading materials for students, instructional pamphlets for parents and teachers and information regarding encouraged reading at home—are distributed to participating schools. In addition, Denver Broncos representatives visit various schools to spend time reading to the children.



HEALTH PROGRAMS

Safe Proms in Colorado

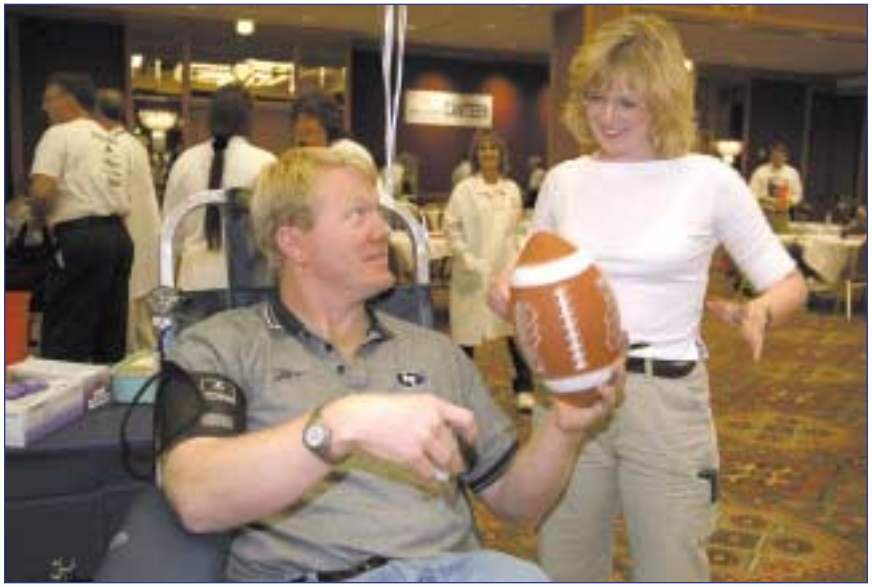
"Tux and Tennies" was the theme of this year's DBCF Special Olympics Colorado Hall of Fame Gala. For the past 15 years Broncos Owner Pat Bowlen has served as the honorary chairperson of the event that provides year-round training and hosts athletic competitions for children and adults with special needs. Current and former and Broncos players donated autographed sneakers for a live auction to help raise proceeds for the program.

Drive for Life

For the past three years the Denver Broncos and Bonfils Blood Center have held the annual "Drive for Life" community blood drive. Last year's event set the record as the largest single-day blood drive in Colorado history. Players, alumni, cheerleaders and staff made substantial efforts to travel to Denver's downtown Adam's Mark Hotel to register and donate blood.

Race for the Cure/Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation

For the past couple of years the Broncos have continued to contribute to the battle to eliminate breast cancer. Through donations to the Susan Komen Breast Cancer Foundation research, education, screening and treatments have continued in an effort to wipe out this devastating disease.



HUNGER PROGRAMS

BRONCOS WIVES FOOD DRIVE

The annual effort by player, coach and staff wives to collect cash donations and non-perishable food items has become more and more successful over the past 19 years of its existence. Each year a home game is selected when the women participate in collecting items from generous fans attending the game. Last year, thanks to the help of everyone involved, a remarkable $90,000 and nearly 124,000 pounds of food were collected to feed the hungry.

DADDY BRUCE THANKSGIVING

For the past seven years Denver Broncos staff, coaches, current and former players have taken part in a Colorado custom. The Daddy Bruce Thanksgiving is 30-year old tradition in which ready-to-cook meals are assembled and delivered to families in need throughout the Denver metro area.

Players Making a Difference

Denver Broncos players know that their jobs don't end when the games and practices do. They continue to make a further impact off the field. Each year players extend themselves to the community of Colorado to help both new and old fans know that the support goes both ways.

The following is a sampling of some of the foundations and events in which our players annually participate:

Eric Brown – The Vision 26 Foundation
Terrell Davis – Terrell Davis' Salute the Kids Foundation
Ed McCaffrey – The McCaffrey Family Foundation
Bill Romanowski – The Romanowski Family Foundation

The Denver Broncos Cheerleaders

The past year has proved to be a demanding and extremely rewarding season for the Denver Broncos Cheerleaders. Aside from their busy schedules practicing, working and donating over 900 hours to various charities, this elite group of women were invited to Hong Kong, China to participate in their annual Chinese New Year parade. Besides representing both the Denver Broncos and the National Football League, they were the only representatives from the United States to be selected for the festival.

Now in their ninth season, the Denver Broncos Cheerleaders are one of the premier teams in the National Football League. The Broncos brought back cheerleaders in 1993 after a 17-year absence and are proud of the work the team does both on the field and, most importantly, in the community.

The Broncos Cheerleaders are selected through auditions held each spring. This year, nearly 300 women tried out for the 26 available positions. Auditions focus primarily on dance ability, however, appearance, personal accomplishments and community involvement are also contributing factors.

Known for their distinctive western uniforms, the Cheerleaders wear long leather chaps and jackets in the fall months, ski-wear for cold games and a more traditional cheerleading leather skirt and vest in the summer months. The three uniform changes give them flexibility with the rapid-changing Colorado weather.

Each member of the Broncos Cheerleaders has an average of 14 years dance experience. In addition, the team is comprised of athletes, students, mothers and businesswomen. For example, on this year's team there are 15 full-time college students, eight bachelor's-degree holders, two master's-degree holders, one Ph. D. candidate, one mother, four teachers, Miss Colorado America 1999, Miss Colorado USA 1999 and Miss Colorado USA 2001.

In 2001 the cheerleaders will have a calendar, poster and other merchandise available for sale. For more information on the Cheerleaders, call (303) 649-0553, or look up their page on the official Denver Broncos web site at www.denverbroncos.com.

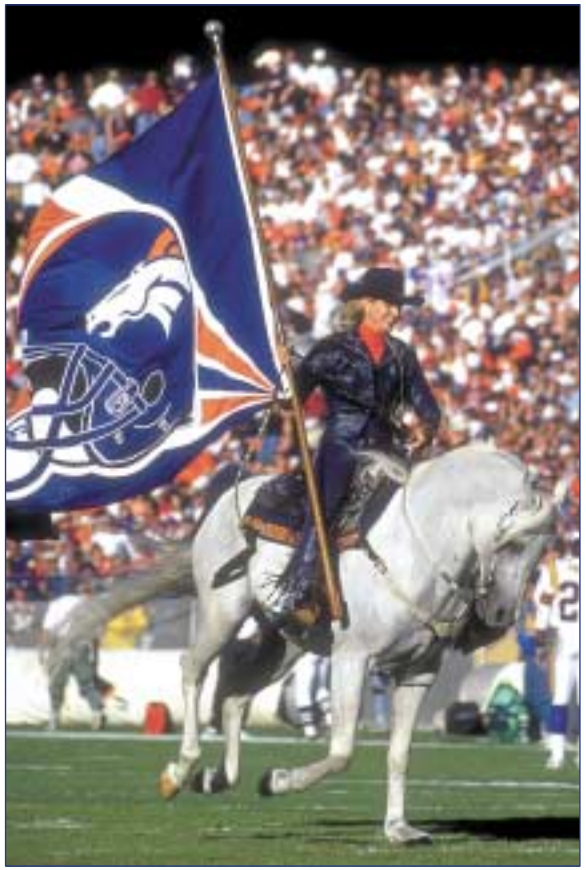
"THUNDER"
THE DENVER BRONCOS MASCOT

When the Denver Broncos take the field at Mile High Stadium, Thunder, the team's mascot, leads the charge.

Although Thunder's registered name is JB Kobask, he was given the "stage name" Thunder for his mascot duties. Thunder made his debut Sept. 12, 1993 for the Broncos' victory over the San Diego Chargers. In addition to appearing at all Broncos games, he has also made appearances at both Super Bowl XXXII and XXXIII.

The 18-year old, pure-bred Arabian stallion, provided by Magness Racing Ventures of Denver, is in his ninth season with the Denver Broncos Football Club in 2001. Throughout his first eight seasons, Thunder has delighted and entertained millions of fans and been a big hit with the children. He has also started a new tradition with the Broncos, holding an annual Christmas party for underprivileged kids of the Denver area.

"We are avid Bronco fans and felt that an Arabian stallion would be an appropriate mascot. We are thrilled to have this chance to show the general public that Arabians are athletic, intelligent and friendly animals," says Sharon Magness, owner of Magness Racing Ventures.



Thunder made his debut as the Broncos' mascot in 1993 and was an instant hit with the team's fans.

Thunder—not bashful in front of crowds—is a champion show horse whose wins include the Hunter Pleasure Champion of the Wyoming Arabian Horse Association Show in 1993, Reserve Champion of the Pure Breed Western Pleasure at the Colorado State Fair in 1989 and first place in Pure Breed Western Pleasure at the Rocky Mountain Arabian Horse Show in 1989.

Thunder is trained by Tom Hudson, manager/trainer of Magness Racing Ventures and an accomplished equestrian. Hudson shows horses in the top Arabian horse shows around the country, although not with Thunder—he has been taken off the horse-show circuit for his career in football.

INVESCO FIELD AT MILE HIGH

The Denver Broncos begin a new era in 2001 as they take the field in a new stadium, INVESCO Field at Mile High. Built adjacent to their previous home of 41 years, Mile High Stadium, the new stadium features first-class, state-of-the art amenities for the teams and fans alike.

With seating capacity set at 76,125, INVESCO Field at Mile High is one of the largest stadiums in the National Football League. It includes 1.7 million square feet of space (approximately twice that of Mile High Stadium), providing the ultimate in comfort and convenience, including wider concourses, wider seats, more restrooms, elevators and escalators and full-service accommodations for people with disabilities.

INVESCO Field at Mile High features 124 luxury suites on two levels, as well as 8,000 club seats. It is highlighted by an emphasis on state-of-the-art technology, while maintaining the traditional aspects of Mile High Stadium that have given the Broncos a decided home-field advantage over the years. Those features include the close proximity of the seats to the field, as well as steel treads and risers that could be used to create the same deafening roar that has characterized Mile High Stadium.

The stadium was designed and built by Turner/Empire/Alvarado Construction and HNTB Architects, in association with Fentress Bradburn Architects and Bertram A. Bruton Architects. Numerous Colorado companies and hundreds of professional designers, engineers and construction tradesmen were involved in the construction of the new state-of-the-art facility.

Construction began during the summer of 1999 and official groundbreaking was held Aug. 17, 1999.

Broncos Stadium History

The Denver Broncos played nearly all of their home games for the first 41 seasons of club history in one building. Known since 1969 as Mile High Stadium, the facility opened in 1948 as Bears Stadium for the Denver Bears of baseball's old Western League, with long range plans to utilize it for football as well. When Denver became a charter member of the American Football League in 1959, the south stands (8,100 seats) and portable east stands (9,616 seats) were added to give a capacity of 34,657 for football. The Broncos began play in 1960.

After Denver voters turned down a stadium bond issue to build an all-purpose metropolitan stadium in 1967, a non-profit group began a fund-raising drive with the goal of purchasing the stadium for the city. In February 1968, the group bought the stadium from Rocky Mountain Empire Sports for $1.8 million and presented it to the city of Denver. A 16,000-seat upper deck was immediately constructed over the west stands, raising the capacity to over 50,000 for the 1968 season. In December 1968, the stadium was renamed Denver Mile High Stadium.

Overall, the Broncos have posted a home record of 191-109-7 (.634) in 41 seasons of play in the AFL and NFL. With the exception of two games played at the University of Denver Stadium (1962 and '63 home openers; 1-1 record), every Broncos home game was played in the single facility known either as Bears Stadium or Mile High Stadium, with the club posting a 190-108-7 record (.638) in the building. The Broncos went 19-40-2 (.328) from 1960-68 in Bears Stadium, then 171-68-5 (.711) from 1969-2000 after the named was changed to Mile High Stadium.

The stadium was filled for every regular season game from the beginning of the 1970 season through its final season in 2000. The Broncos sold out 237 consecutive regular season games, and with postseason contests the total reached 250 over the 31-year period.

Expansion of Mile High Stadium, begun in 1975, was completed for the 1977 season to give the Broncos the seventh-largest home facility in the league. Denver voters passed a $25 million bond issue in 1974 to expand and improve the stadium from its capacity of 51,706 to 75,100. The stadium held 63,532 for the 1976 season, halfway through the project.

Bringing the stadium to its final capacity of 76,098 in 1986 was the construction of 60 Penthouse Suites atop the west stands.

One of the unique aspects of Mile High Stadium was its movable east stands. The massive single section, when fully extended, formed a horseshoe configuration for football, and when retracted, was in position for baseball. The three-tiered structure, measuring 535 feet in length, 135 feet in height and 200 feet in depth, weighed nearly nine million pounds and was moved a distance of 145 feet between the two configurations. The move was facilitated by a process involving a thin layer of water on which the structure moved. Water was pumped onto more than 90,000 square feet of runways and formed a .003-inch sheet upon which the stands rested. Hydraulic rams then pushed the stands forward at the rate of three feet per minute, making the move last somewhere around two hours.

Color Commentary

It's a Rocky Mountain tradition: 850 KOA and the Denver Broncos. For the 32nd consecutive season, Denver's 50,000-watt station serves as the flagship for the Denver Broncos game broadcast network.

Dave Logan is in his fifth full season as voice of the Broncos, following seven years as color analyst on the broadcasts. Logan's background reads like an All-American dream: A Colorado native, he is one of two athletes (Dave Winfield) drafted by franchises in Major League Baseball, the NBA and the NFL. Logan chose the latter, starring for the Cleveland Browns from 1976-83, and ascending into the top five of virtually every receiving category in the franchise record books. He played his final season in Denver in 1984.

Since then, Logan has brought his love for sports and knowledge of the games to Colorado radio listeners as co-host of KOA's award-winning talk show, the Sports Zoo, weekdays from 3-7 p.m. He was named 1997 Broadcast Citizen of the Year in Colorado, following Colorado Sportscaster of the Year awards in 1992, '93 and '98. Logan co-hosts the weekly, in-season television show, "Broncos Huddle with Mike Shanahan," on KUSA-TV, and he is also the head football coach at Chatfield High School in Littleton, Colo. He led Arvada (Colo.) West High School to a state championship in 1997.

Scott Hastings joins Logan in the booth for his fifth year as color commentator, having proved himself a savvy and thorough analyst, complementing Logan's play-by-play. An 11-year veteran of the National Basketball Association, Hastings was a member of the Detroit Pistons' 1989-90 World Champion.

In addition to his co-hosting duties on KOA's Sports Zoo, Hastings provides analysis on professional and college basketball and football for Fox Sports Net Rocky Mountain and TNT, and is a former sports anchor on Denver's Channel 2 "Sports Tonight."
