ALEX G. SPANOS

Owner

Alex Spanos and his wife Faye are shining examples of how the American spirit of hard work and determination can pay off for those willing to follow their dreams.

In 1951 at the age of 27, Alex Spanos decided he could no longer support his growing family on $40 per week working in his father's bakery. So he borrowed $800, purchased a used catering truck and set out on his own by providing catering and support services for the migrant farm workers in California's Central Valley.

From those humble beginnings, Spanos' tireless work ethic built one of the leading real estate and development companies in the industry, and today he is the patriarch of one of the most accomplished and philanthropic families in the United States.

A.G. Spanos Companies is among the nation's largest family-owned construction companies, and his personal commitment to quality and integrity is now carried on by his family in the daily operation and management of the San Diego Chargers as well as the 10 companies that bear his name.

Spanos made family part of his formula for business success. The A.G. Spanos organization, including the Chargers, is a family-run operation. Spanos' amazing journey and his passion for giving back is outlined in his autobiography, "Sharing the Wealth: My Story," a compelling first-hand account of the events and decisions in his life that became his basic fundamentals for success.

His success in the construction and development industry allowed him to pursue many dreams, including purchasing the Chargers on Aug. 1, 1984. Alex turned over the day-to-day operations of the Chargers to his oldest son, Dean, in 1994. Today he enjoys retirement and watching sons, Dean and Michael, along with grandsons, A.G. and John, guide the Chargers organization to success.

Spanos' community spirit and generosity are renowned California and around the world. Few can match the benevolence and philanthropy that Alex and Faye have shown through their support of deserving institutions and community-service efforts. San Diegans have Spanos to thank for the huge economic windfall of two Super Bowls and a Republican National Convention to San Diego. In addition to the millions of dollars provided personally by the Spanos family, the Chargers Community Foundation, which Spanos established, has delivered more than $9 million to help San Diego's youth by supporting education as well as health and fitness programs.

In 2008 the President of the Hellenic Republic, Mr. Karolos Papoulias, awarded Spanos the Medal of the Commander of the Order of Honor. The honor came in recognition of the many contributions to his country of heritage, Greece.

These acts of caring demonstrate the commitment of a man whose rags-to-riches story has been an inspiring example for others. Though his life has taken him places he never dreamed possible, Spanos has always maintained roots in his family, friends and hometown of Stockton, California.

Alex and Faye are celebrating 63 years of marriage in 2011 (Aug. 22). And they will celebrate with their four children – Dean, Dea (Mrs. Ron Berberian), Alexis (Mrs. Barry Ruhl), and Michael – 15 grandchildren, and three great grandsons.

Chargers Owner Alex Spanos and his wife Faye will celebrate 63 years of marriage in 2011. Spanos purchased the team in 1984.

DEAN A. SPANOS

Chairman of the Board — President

OWNERSHIP
ADMINISTRATION

The San Diego Chargers have become one of the NFL's most successful and respected franchises under the leadership of the organization's Chairman of the Board—President, Dean Spanos.

Spanos has provided the direction, resources and environment to build and maintain consistent success. As a result, the Chargers won 79 games during the last seven seasons (2004-10). That includes three playoff wins and five AFC West titles (2004, 2006-09). Only three teams have won more games during that span.

Spanos became President and Chief Executive Officer of the Chargers early in 1994. That same year San Diego's team rose to prominence in the NFL with its most memorable season in team history when it took the community of San Diego for a thrilling ride all the way to Super Bowl XXIX.

Spanos' leadership is felt throughout the National Football League as well as all Spanos corporate entities. He played an integral role on the NFL's Management Council Executive Committee (CEC) during the recent labor negotiations. He oversees all business and football operations for the Chargers while also serving on the NFL's Business Ventures, International and Legislative Committees. Also, as president of the A.G. Spanos Companies, he and his brother, Michael, oversee all construction operations nationwide.

Spanos' commitment to San Diego and the team is undeniable. He has dedicated years of hard work and millions of dollars to develop a plan to give San Diegans a modern Super Bowl-quality stadium and secure a long-term home for their football team. The reason for this heartfelt bond: Dean, his wife Susie, and their two sons, A.G. and John, proudly have called San Diego home for more than 26 years.

Spanos' efforts to build a special relationship between the team and its fans have helped the Chargers become one of San Diego's most popular and talked-about institutions. These efforts were acknowledged in 2006 when the Chargers were named the League's most fan-friendly team by FansVoice.com. Nothing grabs the attention of San Diegans like the Chargers, whose games have become the highlight of weekends during the season. Television ratings of games are unsurpassed while day-to-day news of the team dominates local talk shows and newscasts.

TRADITION OF GIVING

Spanos has continued the long-standing tradition of community service and support established by the Spanos family and the Chargers. His heartfelt commitment to San Diego has played a key role in the team's success. The Spanos family is recognized as one of pro football's most philanthropic families and one of Southern California's most active and caring contributors. Their financial and emotional support of youth sports and education in San Diego is unmatched.

Last year, Spanos and the Chargers received one of the most prestigious awards presented for community service. The Association of Fundraising Professionals recognized the organization as San Diego's Outstanding Philanthropic Corporation and honored Spanos at the 38th Annual National Philanthropy Day Awards Luncheon.

"I'm fortunate to be in a position to help people and organizations that need and deserve our support. My family is proud to be a part of the San Diego community," Spanos said.

The Chargers Community Foundation continues to be a leader in assisting schools, honoring volunteers, supporting youth sports and aiding critical causes important to the community. Along the way, the Foundation and the family have provided more than $11 million to support a wide range of services and resources for programs directly affecting youth and families in the county.

The Foundation's largest ongoing program, Chargers Champions, was created in 1999 specifically to help San Diego County's schools and students. The program has surpassed the $4 million mark in providing direct assistance to local schools, teachers and students.

The focus of Chargers Champions is to improve the fitness levels of students in the county. To do this, Chargers Champions provides grants directly to San Diego County schools for fitness, nutrition and athletic programs on area campuses.

Local student-athletes received a giant boost in 2000 when the Spanos family and Chargers Community Foundation supplied the initial funding to organize the first-ever freshman football and girls volleyball programs in the 16 San Diego City high schools. This major public-private partnership created more than 1,000 extracurricular opportunities for students.

Youth football in San Diego has known no greater champion than the Spanos family and the Chargers. Their support of the California Interscholastic Federation's (CIF) annual high school football championship games allow the games to be played in Qualcomm Stadium. The Alex Spanos All-Star Classic, the longest-running high school all-star football game in California, is another example of their support. This devotion to youth football led the national Pop Warner organization to name the Chargers its 2007 NFL Team of the Year.

OWNERSHIP, COACHING & ADMINISTRATION

In 2007, when wildfires ravaged San Diego County for the second time in five years, Spanos jumped to the forefront with a $1 million donation to aid affected families and the recovery effort. He made an identical $1 million contribution immediately following the wildfires that hit the community in 2003.

Spanos also is a strong supporter of San Diego's Police, Fire and Sheriff's departments. Thanks to his generosity, Critical Communications Centers have been upgraded and mobile command units for the Police department have been purchased. Spanos' support was used to purchase wildfire fighting gear as well as other fire-fighting equipment for local agencies. And in response to an increase in child abduction cases, Spanos hosted and paid for critical law enforcement training classes for the Sheriff's department.

Spanos continues to be a major force in San Diego's business and civic communities. He has been a top contributor to Rady Children's Hospital, the San Diego Blood Bank, the Huntington's Disease Society of America, San Diego State University's Campanile Foundation, University of San Diego, STAR/PAL, the San Diego Police Foundation, the San Diego Hall of Champions and the San Diego High School Sports Association.

Dean and Alex Spanos secured Super Bowl XXXII (1998) for the City of San Diego, a huge economic benefit for the community. Super Bowl XXXVII in January 2003 brought more than $300 million to the San Diego economy and marked the second time in five years that the San Diego region enjoyed the financial windfall of hosting a Super Bowl.

COMMUNITY HONORS

Community honors come frequently to Dean and his wife, Susie.

In 2011 the Salvation Army recognized the Chargers' dedication to helping San Diego's homeless citizens during their annual Golden Bells ceremony. The award is given to local leaders for their efforts to improve their community and shine a light on people in need. In 2010 the American Diabetes Association honored Spanos at its annual Fathers of the Year Dinner. In 2007, the local Salvation Army named Dean and Susie as their Most Valuable Philanthropists.

Spanos was honored in 2006 when President George W. Bush appointed him as a Board of Trustees member of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. Also in 2006, he was the honored recipient of the Golden Achievement Award from the Boys & Girls Clubs of San Diego. In addition that year, Junior Achievement of San Diego honored him for his community leadership and specifically for his support of youth education initiatives by inducting him into its Hall of Fame.

The Warner Award, the top honor of the national Pop Warner football organization, was bestowed on him for his commitment to youth football and its Little Scholars education initiative in 2005. The San Diego Chapter of the National Football Foundation also presented Spanos with its highest honor, the Distinguished American Award. In 2004, the Police Historical Society presented him with their first Cota Award for community philanthropy and support of law enforcement.

Spanos had the unique distinction of being a second-generation recipient of the renowned Ellis Island Medal of Honor in 2002, 16 years after his father was similarly honored. He was also inducted into the DeMolay International Alumni Hall of Fame in 2002. DeMolay International is an organization dedicated to preparing young men to lead successful and productive lives.

In 2001, the San Diego Hall of Champions Sports Museum presented Dean and Susie with its Community Champions Award, the Hall's most distinguished award. The couple also received the Harold Leventhal Community Service Award in 2003, the top national award of the Huntington's Disease Society of America.

BUSINESSMAN AND FAMILY MAN

Dean Alexander Spanos was born in Stockton, California. He earned varsity letters in football and golf at Lincoln High School in Stockton. Dean received Lincoln High School's Hall of Fame Award, which honors alumni whose contributions and accomplishments are representative of the school. He was recognized for his achievements in the areas of business and athletics. Spanos continued his golfing career at the University of the Pacific in Stockton, graduating in 1972 with a degree in business administration. He maintains close ties with his alma mater, having served as a regent at the university.

An avid golfer since his college years, Dean has been on the winning team in five Pro-Am tournaments, including back to-back wins in 1990 at the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic and the AT&T National Pro-Am at Pebble Beach with partner Hubert Green. He successfully defended his title at the Hope Classic in 1991. Spanos' first win came with Green at the 1985 Bing Crosby Pro-Am at Pebble Beach, where he was awarded the "Most Valuable Amateur" trophy for supplying the most help to his professional partner. Later that year, his second win came in the 1985 Senior Players Reunion Pro Am in Dallas, where he teamed with Billy Casper.

Susie received the prestigious Celebration of Life Award this year from the American Cancer Society. She also recently became a new trustee at the Mingei Museum. She is a spokeswoman for the NFL's cancer campaign and is a breast cancer survivor. She also was honored as a "Woman of Dedication" by the Salvation Army in 2001 and has been named the Woman of the Year by the San Diego Leukemia Society for her philanthropic work in the community.

Susie is active in and on the board of many charitable organizations in San Diego, including the San Diego Women's Foundation. She is an advisory member of Las Patronas, one of San Diego's leading non-profit organizations. Susie has been a driving force in supporting the San Diego Blood Bank and its umbilical cord blood program, helping the Chargers' annual blood drive become one of the most successful in the nation.

Dean and Susie's eldest son, A.G. is the Chargers' chief executive officer. Previously he spent five years as the team's director of marketing programs and business development. A.G. is a graduate of the business school at the University of Southern California. Prior to joining the Chargers full-time in 2001, he worked in the NFL Europe office in London and at the NFL office in New York. As a freshman, A.G. attended Tufts University in Medford, Mass., where he was a member of the football team. In high school, he earned six varsity letters as a two-sport athlete (basketball and football) at La Jolla Country Day School.

Son John is the team's director of college scouting. Previously he was the assistant director after serving as a pro and college scout. Spanos graduated from Wake Forest University with a degree in business in 2002. He also interned one summer and later worked one year at the NFL Management Council's office in New York. While at The Bishop's School in La Jolla, John earned nine varsity letters in a variety of sports – football, basketball and golf – and played on three championship teams. John and the former Jodie Badgley were married in June.

OWNERSHIP, COACHING & ADMINISTRATION

MARK FABIANI

Special Counsel to the President

Mark Fabiani joined the Chargers in 2002. His primary function is to work with the greater San Diego community to explore opportunities for a new state-of-the-art football stadium in the San Diego region.

Since joining the Chargers, Fabiani and his La Jolla-based firm, Fabiani & Lehane LLC, has taken the lead in working with taxpayers and fans to create a publicly-acceptable solution to the stadium issue. He also has managed the grass-roots effort to solicit ideas from the community.

In 2000, Fabiani served as the deputy campaign manager for communications and strategy for former Vice President Al Gore's presidential campaign — the closest presidential election in modern history. He was responsible for coordinating the campaign's communications and media strategies and tactics, including the Vice President's post-election Florida vote count effort. Fabiani also served as the campaign's chief spokesperson, appearing daily on national television broadcasts.

Prior to serving under Gore, Fabiani held the position of special counsel to President Bill Clinton from 1994 through the '96 presidential campaign. Fabiani provided legal, communications and political counsel to the President and First Lady of the United States on allegations and investigations of White-water and other related matters. As part of his duties Fabiani produced and communicated the legal, legislative, and political responses to inquiries from the media, Capitol Hill and investigative agencies. In this role, Fabiani also served as the White House's principle spokesperson before the national media, appearing regularly on major news shows.

Fabiani's experience with complex problem resolution also includes four years of service as deputy mayor of Los Angeles and chief of staff to Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley. In that post, he managed political strategy, media relations, policy analysis and an executive staff of 129 for the mayor. Fabiani directed day-to-day interaction between the mayor's office and the media, general managers of city departments, the City Council, and the city's principle private sector companies and public sector institutions.

Fabiani, who graduated cum laude from Harvard Law School in 1982, also has served in senior positions at the United States Department of Justice and the Department of Housing and Urban Development. As a deputy assistant attorney general at the Justice Department, he was responsible for policy development for the Attorney General. As deputy assistant secretary at HUD, Fabiani implemented the federal government's Empowerment Zone Initiative for urban revitalization.

Fabiani's firm, Fabiani & Lehane LLC, provides strategic advice and tactical execution to companies and individuals facing complex financial, marketing, communications and legal challenges.

Fabiani was born in Ellwood City, Pennsylvania. He earned a bachelor's degree in philosophy from the University of Redlands. Fabiani and his family have resided in the San Diego area since 1996.

A.J. SMITH

Executive Vice President — General Manager
27th NFL Season, 13th season with Chargers

Since A.J. Smith took the reins of the Chargers on April 22, 2003, after his close friend and long-time associate, John Butler, lost his battle with cancer, the Chargers have won 80 games and five AFC West championships in eight years.

Before Smith was named general manager, the Chargers had not been to the playoffs or had a winning record for seven consecutive seasons.

Now, for the first time in their 51-year history, the Chargers have a string of seven consecutive seasons without a losing record.

Smith continues a fast rise up the charts toward becoming the winningest general manager in Chargers history. Sid Gillman is ranked first all-time with 93 wins while serving as both general manager and head coach for 12 seasons (1960-71). Smith is entering his ninth year at the helm and is seven wins from passing Johnny Sanders (86 wins) for the second-most during a Chargers general manager's tenure. Sanders held the post for 11 seasons (1976-86).

Smith is widely recognized as one of the National Football League's top general managers and talent evaluators. This success on the field has led to recognition in several national publications. He was named the NFL's 2004 Executive of the Year by Pro Football Weekly, the Professional Football Writers of America (PFWA), FoxSports.com and CBS Sports-Line.com. In 2006, Forbes named him its top NFL General Manager, and in addition, the magazine ranked Smith fourth overall among his counterparts in the four major professional sports leagues in the U.S. and Canada (NFL, NBA, NHL and MLB). In 2009, USA Today ranked Smith sixth on their list of the Top 20 Personnel Executives in the NFL, and Forbes recognized Smith once again in 2010, ranking him fifth on its list of the Top 10 NFL GMs.

The team's success since Smith took over as general manager has not been lost on the organization. On Jan. 1, 2008, President Dean Spanos rewarded Smith with a five-year contract extension through 2014.

Smith has made a plethora of noteworthy player moves. In perhaps his most memorable, Smith selected quarterback Eli Manning with the first overall pick in the 2004 NFL Draft and less than an hour later, traded him to the New York Giants for Philip Rivers (the fourth overall choice) and several draft picks.

Smith has made many notable decisions during his tenure, including the recommendation he made to Spanos in 2007 that the Chargers hire Norv Turner as head coach. Spanos and Smith have since had a front-row seat as Turner guided the team to three AFC Western Division championships in his first four years and a 41-23 record.

Prior to assuming the general manager's role in San Diego, Smith spent the previous 27 years moving methodically through the ranks of professional football. He worked as a part-time scout, full-time scout, assistant director of scouting, director of scouting and assistant general manager before being promoted to executive vice president-general manager of the Chargers.

Indianapolis Colts President Bill Polian said of Smith: "In football, A.J. has been there and done that with everything there is to do in the game, going back to the USFL days. He is a quintessential football man."

And Baltimore Ravens General Manager Ozzie Newsome added: "A.J. learned from Bill Polian in Buffalo. And he learned from George Allen in the USFL. He's been around successful people, so he's learned the right way to do things."

Smith began his second tenure with the Chargers on Jan. 18, 2001, as assistant general manager and director of pro personnel. His duties included monitoring NFL transactions, evaluating pro talent, and handling tryouts and free agent contracts.

Smith has worked in pro football since 1977, including three years in the United States Football League in the early 1980s. He spent 14 seasons (1987-00) with the Buffalo Bills, joining the team as an area scout in 1987 before being named assistant director of college scouting in 1989. In 1993, Smith became director of pro personnel.

During his tenure in Buffalo, referred to as the "Glorious Years" in Bills history, Smith worked closely with Hall of Fame coach Marv Levy as the team's assistant director of college scouting. And during that time, Buffalo made appearances in Super Bowls XXV, XXVI and XXVII. Smith was promoted to director of pro personnel prior to the Bills' appearance in Super Bowl XXVIII.

Smith served as the Chargers' pro personnel director from 1985-86. He also held scouting positions with the USFL's Chicago Blitz (1982-83) and Pittsburgh Maulers (1984). He began his NFL career in 1977 as a volunteer part-time scout for the New York Giants under the direction of Jim Trimble and moved on to become a part-time scout for the New England Patriots (1978-80) and Houston Oilers (1981).

Smith made his start in football as an assistant coach at Cranston West High School in Cranston, Rhode Island, from 1971-76. He was the head coach of the Rhode Island Kings of the Eastern Football League in 1976 and an assistant coach at the University of Rhode Island in 1978.

Smith is a graduate of Bishop Hendricken High School in Warwick, Rhode Island. He was a standout on the football and track teams and was inducted into the school's hall of fame in 2003. Smith earned a degree in health and physical education from Kentucky Wesleyan College in 1971. In June 2005, Smith returned to his alma mater for the dedication and presentation of a plaque in his honor, which hangs in the A.J. Smith Weight Room inside the Woodward Health and Recreation Center.

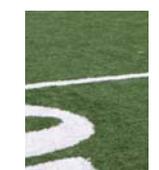

Smith played semi-pro football as a wide receiver with the Attleboro (Mass.) Kings of the Eastern Football League from 1972-74 and had a tryout with the Washington Redskins in 1974. He was inducted into the American Football Association's Minor Semi-pro Football Hall of Fame in 1990. Smith also taught health and physical education in the Providence (R.I.) junior high school system from 1971-85.

Smith and his wife, Susan, reside in Del Mar. The Smiths have two children: a daughter, Andrea, and a son, Kyle.

Andrea graduated Cum Laude from Cortland State in New York with a degree in sports management, where she was an honorable mention All-America volleyball player for the Red Dragons. Andrea now lives in San Diego and is the Manager of Petco Park Suites for Major League Baseball's San Diego Padres.

Kyle graduated from Youngstown State, where he had an outstanding career as a wide receiver and punt returner. Following his senior campaign, Smith was named the team's most valuable player and was invited to play in the 2006 Hula by a running back in NFL history. And in 2009, McGuire negotiated Philip Rivers' six-year, $92 million contract extension, the largest player contract negotiated in team history.

Bowl All-Star game. After Youngstown State, Smith had free agent opportunities with the Minnesota Vikings in 2006 and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 2007. He went on to play in NFL Europa with the Berlin Thunder in 2007 and was on the practice squad for the Arena League's Arizona Rattlers in 2008. Smith's professional playing career ended in 2010 after a stint on the practice squad with the CFL's Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Smith now lives in Dallas, Texas, and is the southwest area scout for the Washington Redskins.

McGuire joined the Chargers after serving as the senior manager of labor operations for the NFL's Management Council from 1996-98. He was the league's manager of player personnel from 1991-96, and originally joined the NFL in 1987 as a player personnel analyst. McGuire also worked in the personnel department for the United States Football League from 1984-86.

During his tenure in the National Football League office, McGuire became a leading expert on the NFL's salary cap and Collective Bargaining Agreement, which was created in 1993 between the NFL and the NFL Players' Association.

Born in Riverhead, New York, McGuire graduated with a degree in athletic administration in 1984 from St. John's University in Jamaica, New York. He played football and baseball at Riverhead High School.

McGuire and his wife, Jane, have two children—son Kevin and daughter Shannon—and reside in Rancho Bernardo.

Ed McGuire has enjoyed a steady ascent since joining the Chargers in 1998 as coordinator of football operations. In 2007, he was promoted to executive vice president of football operations, and in 2008 he became assistant general manager.

McGuire is in charge of all football operations for the Chargers. He oversees player contract negotiations as well as the day-to-day business and administrative operations of the scouting department, coaching department, equipment and video departments, training staff, and strength and conditioning staff.

One of McGuire's key roles involves serving as the chief negotiator for all player contracts. The Chargers have made a concerted effort to re-sign their own players and McGuire has played an integral role in the process. In 2004, McGuire negotiated an eight-year contract extension for 2006 NFL MVP and two-time NFL rushing champion, LaDainian Tomlinson. At the time, the deal was the largest contract ever signed

NORV TURNER

Head Coach

27th NFL Season, 6th with Chargers

Norv Turner, whose teams have won three of the last four AFC Western Division Championships, has led one of the most successful eras in Chargers history.

Named NFL Coach of the Year by USA Today in 2009, Turner's accomplishments in the last four seasons are among the best in franchise history. His 41 wins over the four-year stretch are second only to the team's 42 from 1978-81, and he and Don Coryell are tied for the most AFC West titles in a four-year period (three). Turner's winning percentage in the regular season (.641) is the franchise's best, as is his combined mark (.629), including playoffs, and he's tied with Coryell and Bobby Ross for the most playoff wins in team history (three). Turner has saved some of his best coaching for late in the season as evidenced by his 28-7 regular-season record after Nov. 1, including 17-2 in December and January.

In 2010, Turner's Chargers led the NFL in total offense and total defense. San Diego finished the season strong, winning seven of its last nine.

The Chargers led the NFL in 2010 in total offense (395.6 ypg), average yards per play (6.1) and yards per pass play (8.7). They scored the second-most points in the NFL (441) and averaged 27.6 points per game, becoming the NFL's first team ever to average more than 25.0 points a game for seven consecutive seasons, including four-straight under Turner.

Turner faced one of the more challenging seasons of his NFL coaching career in 2010 as the Chargers' roster endured constant change throughout the season. Seventy-four different players appeared in at least one game for the Bolts, equaling Arizona's NFL record (2005) for the most players in a non-strike season. In total, the Chargers made 109 roster moves between final cuts (Sept. 4) and the end of the regular season.

Despite the constant roster shuffling, the Chargers offense rarely wavered. At the end of the year, the Chargers were one of only two NFL teams to feature a quarterback with at least 30 touchdown passes, a running back with at least 10 rushing touchdowns and a receiver or tight end with at least 10 touchdown catches. It's a feat that had been achieved only one other time in franchise history (1981).

The Chargers' running game also showed significant progress in 2010. After falling to 31st among the league's 32 teams in 2009, the Chargers ranked 15th in 2010 and showing balance, they were the NFL's only team to register more than 4,500 yards thru the air and 1,800 on the ground.

From 2007-09, Turner became the first Chargers coach to start his career with three-straight division titles. A feat no NFL coach had accomplished since Barry Switzer won three straight NFC East titles with Dallas from 1994-96.

Quarterback Philip Rivers has been a shining star in Turner's offense. He led the NFL with 4,710 passing yards in 2010, his third-straight 4,000-yard season, equaling the franchise best.

In 2008, Turner led the Chargers through one of the greatest turnaround seasons in NFL history. His team started 4-8, but won its final four to close the season 8-8. The Chargers won the AFC West and became the first team in the current division format to win their division when trailing by three games with three left to play. Turner then led the Chargers to a thrilling 23-17 overtime win against Indianapolis in the Wild Card Playoffs and into the Divisional Playoffs for a second-consecutive year.

Turner's first season at the helm in San Diego in 2007 was filled with excitement. He led the team to a career-high 11 wins and became just the second head coach in team history to win the AFC West in his first season. Turner also became the first Chargers coach since Ross to win a playoff game in his first season, winning not just one, but two as San Diego defeated Tennessee in the Wild Card Playoffs and Indianapolis on the road in the Divisional round. The run ended in New England in the AFC Championship Game, but not before Turner became only the sixth head coach in NFL history to lead a team to the championship game in his first season at the helm.

Chargers fans were given a glimpse of Turner's offensive wizardry in 2001 when he spent a season as the team's offensive coordinator. The offense improved 17 spots in the rankings, surging from 28th to 11th, while finishing the season with a 3,000-yard passer, a 1,000-yard rusher, and 1,000-yard receiver for only the second time in team history.

Turner left San Diego after the 2001 season, spending the next five years between Miami, Oakland and San Francisco. He spent two seasons as the Dolphins' offensive coordinator (2002-03), two as the Raiders' head coach (2004-05) and one as the 49ers' offensive coordinator (2006). Six years later on Feb. 19, 2007, he returned to the Chargers.

Turner was born in the Bay Area suburb of Martinez, California, the same city that produced baseball legend Joe DiMaggio. He grew up the middle of five children, all of whom were raised by his mother, Vicky, a single parent. Vicky battled multiple sclerosis, spending the latter years of her life in a wheelchair before her passing in 1989. Turner's oldest sister, Janis, also suffers from the disease. Turner serves on the board of the San Diego Chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society and last May served as the Honorary Chair for the MS Society's Golf Invitational at the La Jolla Country Club.

Before she died, Vicky steered her sons toward sports. Norv's younger brother, Ron, followed in his footsteps, excelling on the collegiate gridiron and later in the coaching profession. Ron spent nine years (2001-09), including an NFC Championship season in 2006, as the offensive coordinator for the Chicago Bears and is currently the quarterbacks coach for the Indianapolis Colts.

As a teenager, Turner played quarterback and safety at Alhambra High School in Martinez. He earned a scholarship to the University of Oregon and won three varsity letters (1972-74) as a quarterback for the Ducks, spending two of his three seasons as the backup to former Charger and Pro Football Hall of Fame quarterback Dan Fouts. One of the assistant coaches on Oregon's staff, John Robinson, would later give Turner his first big break as a coach. First though, Turner landed a job as a graduate assistant at Oregon in 1975.

Robinson accepted the head coaching job at the University of Southern California in 1976, and he invited Turner to join him. Turner spent the next nine seasons in Los Angeles, winning four Rose Bowls and a national championship in 1978. He coached wide receivers, defensive backs, quarterbacks and served as the Trojans' offensive coordinator. In 1980, Turner tutored what is regarded by many as one of the finest defensive backfields in college football history, featuring safeties Ronnie Lott and Dennis Smith, both of whom went on to become NFL first-round draft choices in 1981. The backfield also included Joey Brown-er, who was drafted in the first round in 1983 by Minnesota, and a cornerback named Jeff Fisher, who would leave USC as a seventh round draft pick and later become the head coach of the Houston Oilers/Tennessee Titans.

In 1985 Turner landed his first NFL coaching job when Robinson hired him as an assistant coach with the Los Angeles Rams, assigning him to work alongside offensive coordinator Ernie Zampese, a disciple of the "Air Coryell" offense. Zampese taught Turner the ins and outs of the offensive system made famous by former Chargers Head Coach Don Coryell.

In 1991, Jimmy Johnson hired Turner as the offensive coordinator in Dallas. It proved to be a turning point in Turner's career as the Cowboys won back-to-back Super Bowl titles (XXVII and XXVIII) following the '92 and '93 seasons. Turner worked with three future NFL Hall of Famers in Dallas: quarterback Troy Aikman, running back Emmitt Smith and wide receiver Michael Irvin. Turner almost single-handedly resurrected Aikman's career in Dallas. In the two seasons before Turner's arrival, Aikman threw just 20 touchdown passes and 36 interceptions. In his first season in Turner's offense, Aikman posted the first positive touchdown-to-interception ratio of his career and led the Cowboys to the NFC Divisional Playoffs. A year later, Aikman passed for a career-high 3,445 yards with 23 touchdowns while leading Dallas to a 13-3 record and its first NFC East title since 1985. Aikman continued his ascent in the playoffs, directing the Cowboys to three-straight postseason wins en route to capturing MVP honors following Dallas' 52-17 win over the Buffalo Bills in Super Bowl XXVII. The following year, Aikman completed a franchise-record 69.1 percent of his passes and led the Cowboys to a second-consecutive Super Bowl win over the Bills. And when he was enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2006, Aikman asked Turner to be his presenter.

Smith and Irvin also flourished under Turner. They led the NFL in rushing and receiving, respectively, in 1991, marking the first time since the NFL-AFL merger in 1970 that teammates led the league in both categories. Since then it has happened only one other time (Indianapolis, 1999).

Catapulting off his success in Dallas, Turner earned his first head-coaching assignment, joining the Washington Redskins in 1994. He spent seven seasons in Washington, leading the Redskins to four winning seasons and the NFC East title in 1999. During his tenure, Turner was a mentor to Pro Bowl quarterbacks Brad Johnson and Gus Ferrotte. Johnson flourished in Turner's offense, throwing for 4,005 yards in '99, only the second 4,000-yard season in Redskins history.

Several running backs also have flourished in Turner's offensive system. Three won NFL rushing titles while playing for Turner, including LaDainian Tomlinson (2007), Smith (1991-93) and Miami's Ricky Williams (2002).

Turner, his wife, Nancy, and their youngest son, Drew, live in Del Mar, California. Drew is in his senior year at the University of San Diego. Their daughter, Stephanie, lives in Los Angeles, is an actress who has appeared in several movies and television shows, and is the creator and content provider for FootballBrat.com. Oldest son Scott has followed in the coaching footsteps of his father and uncle and serves as the offensive quality control coach for the Carolina Panthers.

CLARENCE SHELMON

Offensive Coordinator
21st NFL Season
10th season with Chargers

Shelmon took a lead role in coordinating the NFL's top-ranked offense in 2010. The Chargers led the NFL in total offense, average yards per play and average yards per pass play, and they scored the second-most points in the NFL.

Promoted to offensive coordinator in 2007, Shelmon spent the previous 16 seasons as one of the NFL's top running backs coaches.

Shelmon and John Pagano are the longest-tenured assistants on the Chargers' current coaching staff.

From 2002-06, Shelmon oversaw five straight 2,000-yard rushing seasons in San Diego. He had a hand in history in '06 when the Chargers rushed for a team-record 2,578 yards and LaDainian Tomlinson won the NFL MVP and Offensive Player of the Year Awards. Tomlinson also captured the NFL rushing title and set league records for rushing touchdowns, total touchdowns and points in a season.

Shelmon has worked with a number of great backs during his career. Besides Tomlinson and Lorenzo Neal in San Diego, Emmitt Smith and Chris Warren combined for 11 Pro Bowls while being tutored by Shelmon. Tomlinson accounted for four, Neal for two, Smith for two and Warren for three.

Shelmon has been responsible for several unique training methods devised during his coaching career, including a ball-control drill that involves running to three different cones while carrying a football attached to a giant bungee cord.

Shelmon was born in Bossier City, Louisiana and graduated from Airline High School. He played running back at the University of Houston and graduated with a degree in education. After graduation, Shelmon went to camp as a free agent with the New England Patriots. Waived in camp by the Patriots, Shelmon attended Long Island University where he worked toward a master's degree in guidance and counseling before embarking on a career in coaching.

Shelmon and his wife, Nancy, created a scholarship fund in 1999 in memory of his mother, Ruby Shelmon. The fund helps pay for the college education of four high school seniors from his hometown.

GREG MANUSKY

Defensive Coordinator
11th NFL Season
6th season with Chargers

The San Francisco 49ers' defensive coordinator from 2007-10 and a former Chargers linebackers coach, Manusky returns to San Diego in 2011 as the Bolts' new defensive coordinator where he'll run the same 3-4 defense the Chargers have employed since 2004.

Manusky has 10 years of NFL coaching experience, including five with the Chargers. In his last season with the Chargers in 2006, Manusky's linebacking corps accounted for 42.5 of the team's 61 regular-season sacks.

His squads in San Francisco had similar success. In 2009, the 49ers' defense did not allow a touchdown in five separate games while forcing an NFL-best 21 fumbles, allowing just 3.6 yards per rush and sacking opposing quarterbacks 44 times.

A linebacker and standout special teams performer during a 12-year playing career that included stops in Washington, Minnesota and Kansas City, Manusky has coached an impressive list of Pro Bowl players, including Patrick Willis, Justin Smith and Walt Harris with the 49ers, Shawne Merriman, Donnie Edwards and Junior Seau with the Chargers, and LaVar Arrington with the Washington Redskins.

Manusky retired from the NFL in 1999 after a career that saw him play in 113 consecutive games during one stretch and earn All-Madden Team honors following the '91 season. During training camp in 2000, he worked as a volunteer linebackers and special teams coach with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, and a year later, landed his first NFL job as the linebackers coach with the Redskins.

A native of Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, Manusky attended Dallas High School in Wilkes-Barre before moving on to Colgate University where he was a four-year letterwinner and an All-Colonial League selection. As a senior in 1987, Manusky was named the Colonial League's Defensive Player of the Year. He graduated with degrees in education and geology.

CRIS DISHMAN

Assistant Secondary
16th NFL Season
3rd season with Chargers

The Chargers led the NFL in pass defense in 2010 and secondary coach Steve Wilks and Dishman, a former Pro Bowl and All-Pro cornerback in his own right, deserved to take a bow for their success. Cornerback Antoine Cason led the team in interceptions, while he, safety Eric Weddle and fellow corner Quentin Jammer ranked 1-2-3 in passes defended.

A participant in the NFL's Minority Coaching Fellowship Program, Dishman worked training camps with the Miami Dolphins in '06, Oakland Raiders in '07 and Chargers in '08 before landing a full-time gig in San Diego in 2009.

Dishman was an All-Big Ten pick as a senior at Purdue, where he also competed in track. In 1988, the Houston Oilers selected him in the fifth-round of the NFL Draft and he played 13 seasons, including two in Washington (1997-98) when Norv Turner was the Redskins' head coach. Dishman also played for Kansas City and Minnesota, retiring in 2000 with 43 career interceptions and three touchdown returns.

Dishman had a career-high six interceptions in 1991, pulling down Pro Bowl and All-Pro honors. In '93 he had another six-pick season, while forcing a career-high four fumbles. In '97, his first season in Washington, Dishman was named to the Pro Bowl after intercepting four passes and returning one for a touchdown.

A native of Louisville, Kentucky, he was inducted into the Kentucky Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2009

HAL HUNTER

Offensive Line
6th NFL Season
6th season with Chargers

By committee, the Chargers rushed for more than 1,800 yards and scored 18 rushing touchdowns in 2010, due in large part to the play of the offensive line. Center Nick Hardwick and tackle Jeromey Clary both returned from injury to start all 16 games, while guard Kris Dielman earned his fourth-consecutive trip to the Pro Bowl. The unit should continue to rank among the league's best well into the future with cornerstone left tackle Marcus McNeill, a two-time Pro Bowler, now under contract through 2015.

A long-time college assistant before making the jump to the NFL, Hunter has seen the Chargers average 1,915 rushing yards per year and score 99 touchdowns on the ground during his first five seasons in San Diego.

On the collegiate level, Hunter was the offensive coordinator at Indiana University where his star player was quarterback and Big Ten Player of the Year, Antwaan Randle El, a second-round pick of the Pittsburgh Steelers in 2002. Hunter also coached at LSU where he served as assistant head coach in 1999. At the end of that '99 season, he was named interim head coach for one game after Gerry DiNardo was fired by the school and led the Tigers to a 35-10 win over rival Arkansas. Hunter's star pupil at LSU was offensive lineman Alan Faneca, who also was drafted by the Steelers with their first-round pick in the 1998 NFL Draft.

Hunter was born in Canonsburg, Pennsylvania. He was a standout football player and wrestler at Belle Vernon (Pa.)

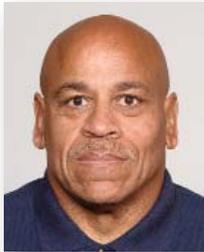

High School. He became a Dean's List student at Northwest and graduated with a 3.6 GPA and a degree in communications. Hunter played linebacker for the Wildcats, but a neck injury in 1978 ended his career prematurely. Following the injury, he remained with the team, working with the defensive line and serving as a strength coach.

Hunter and his wife, Tracy, have two sons: Hal IV and Andrew. Hal plays football for the U.S. Naval Academy, and Andrew will be attending Indiana University.

DON JOHNSON

Defensive Line
7th NFL Season
3rd season with Chargers

With Johnson and his fiery demeanor leading the defensive line, it's no surprise that the Chargers' defense was the NFL's best in 2010. Tackle Antonio Garay led the way as the Chargers ranked first in total defense, second in sacks and fourth in run defense. First acquainted in Chicago, Johnson oversaw Garay's breakout year in which he was named a Pro Bowl alternate after setting career-highs and leading the Chargers' defensive line in tackles, sacks, tackles for loss and quarterback hits. He's the latest prodigy to be coached by Johnson, who also tutored two-time Pro Bowl tackle Tommie Harris with the Bears.

Johnson came to the Chargers from the Windy City where he coached a 2006 squad that won the NFC title and played in Super Bowl XLI.

A former participant in the NFL's Minority Internship Coaching Program with the San Francisco 49ers, Johnson helped coach Riverside Community College to four bowl games and a junior college national championship in 1989.

A native of Newark, New Jersey, Johnson played linebacker at Butler Community College and Jersey City State in the mid-1970s, later earning a free agent tryout with the New York Jets. He ended up playing for the USFL's New Jersey Generals.

Johnson has spent 26 years as a high school and college basketball official, including eight at the NCAA Division I level. He was the president of the Orange County (Calif.) Basketball Officials Association for four years and the California Basketball Officials Association for two.

CHARLIE JOINER

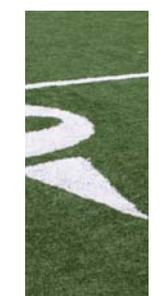

Wide Receivers
43rd NFL Season
20th season with Chargers

Joiner did a masterful job in 2010, overseeing a position that endured constant change. A team-record 17 different players caught passes from Philip Rivers, including eight wide receivers. A pleasant surprise was rookie Seyi Ajirotutu, an undrafted free agent who helped lead the Chargers to a November win in Houston with a 100-yard, two-touchdown performance.

Joiner oversaw Vincent Jackson's first-career Pro Bowl season in 2009 when he caught 68 passes for 1,167 yards and nine touchdowns. Jackson became the first Charger to post consecutive 1,000-yard receiving seasons since 1995-96 and the only NFL receiver to average over 17.0 yards per catch for the 2008 and '09 seasons.

A Hall of Fame player in his own right, Joiner spent 18 AFL and NFL seasons with Houston (1969-72), Cincinnati (1972-75) and the Chargers (1976-86). He was drafted by the Oilers in the fourth round of the 1969 NFL Draft as a defensive back, and retired on Jan. 12, 1987, as the league's all-time leader with 750 career catches. Joiner was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1996 with final career totals of 12,146 yards and 65 TDs. And when he retired, his 239 career games played were the most ever by an NFL wide receiver.

Joiner caught a team-record 586 passes in San Diego. He was selected to Pro Bowls following the 1976, '79 and '80 seasons and inducted into the team's Hall of Fame in '93. Joiner still ranks second in team history in receiving yards (9,203) and fourth in touchdown catches (47). He was selected as the team's Most Inspirational Player seven times, and the City of San Diego celebrated "Charlie Joiner Days" in 1984 and '86.

After retiring, Joiner stepped into coaching and never stopped. He started with the Chargers and moved on to Buffalo where the Bills went to the playoffs six times, won two AFC Championships and played in Super Bowls XXVII and XXVIII. Wide receivers Eric Moulds and Andre Reed both had record-breaking seasons for the Bills under Joiner as Moulds was selected to two Pro Bowls and Reed to three.

A native of Many, Louisiana, Joiner was a four-year letterman at Grambling State University (1965-68). In 1990, he was inducted into the Louisiana Hall of Fame. Joiner and his wife, Dianne, have two children, Jynaya and Kori.

Linebackers
16th NFL Season
10th season with Chargers

Tied with Clarence Shelmon as the longest-tenured assistants on the current Chargers' coaching staff, Pagano has turned San Diego's linebacking corps into one of the NFL's best.

Led by Shaun Phillips, who earned his first-career Pro Bowl nod in 2010, Bolts linebackers accounted for 27 of the team's 47 sacks, just one behind AFC Champion Pittsburgh for the NFL lead. San Diego led the NFL in total defense in 2010 and the linebackers helped hold 10 of 16 opponents to under 100 yards on the ground.

Besides Phillips' excellence, Pagano tutored Shawne Merriman, who led the NFL in sacks in 2006, was selected to play in three Pro Bowls and won the NFL's Defensive Rookie of the Year Award in 2005.

Pagano was born and raised in Boulder, Colorado. He was an all-state linebacker at Fairview High School who later played the position at Mesa State (Colo.) from 1985-88 and graduated with a degree in business marketing. His older brother, Chuck, is the defensive coordinator for the Baltimore Ravens, and their father, Sam, spent 26 years as the head coach at Fairview High School, and also coached football internationally in Taiwan, Germany, France and Italy.

SEYI AJIROTUTU

Wide Receiver
6-3, 211
2nd NFL Season
2nd Season with Chargers

Free Agent - '10
Fresno State
Oak Ridge HS
El Dorado Hills, Calif.

Almost every year, one undrafted free agent emerges from the group and outperforms expectations. In 2010, that player was Seyi Ajirotutu.

A teammate and roommate of Chargers' first-round draft pick Ryan Mathews both in college and the pros, Ajirotutu is tall and athletic. His toughness and acrobatic catches helped him earn a spot on the roster. Ajirotutu began the season on the team's practice squad, but it took just seven weeks for him to be signed to the active roster when injuries ravaged the team's depth at the position. Just three weeks later Ajirotutu was thrust into the rotation and he delivered an unbelievable 111-yard, two-touchdown performance, including a game-winning 28-yard touchdown catch in the fourth quarter, to lead the Chargers to a critical road win against the Houston Texans.

Though born in Mountain View, Calif., Ajirotutu's father, Leke, was born in Nigeria. His name is pronounced Shay-EE Ah-JEER-uh-too-too, which means "God has done this" when translated to English. An electrical engineer, Leke and Seyi's mother, Wilma, pushed all their children to excel in both athletics and academics. Seyi earned a degree in finance from Fresno State and interned with Northwestern Mutual while in college and with the Polakov Financial Group in San Diego this offseason. His sister, Yemi, graduated from Stanford with a 4.4 GPA and is in medical school at UCLA, while his brother, Toyin, is headed toward law school.

DAVID BINN

Long Snapper
6-3, 228
18th NFL Season
18th with Chargers

Free Agent - '94
California
San Mateo HS
San Mateo, Calif.

The longest tenured player on the Chargers' roster and the only remaining player from the Chargers' 1994 Super Bowl team, long snapper David Binn returns in 2011 after a hamstring injury forced him to miss all but one game in 2010.

Binn is the franchise's all-time leader in seasons played (17) and games played (256). The injury, however, brought to an end his team-record streak of 179 consecutive games played.

Known for pinpoint accuracy, Binn is among the best at his trade. He joined the Chargers as an undrafted free agent from Cal-Berkeley in '94 and has spent his entire NFL career in Lightning Bolts. Long regarded as one of the league's most durable players, Binn had missed only one game in his career due to injury prior to last season.

Binn's accurate snaps have helped the careers of several of the leading kickers and punters in team history, including the team's current duo of Nate Kaeding and Mike Scifres, and past greats like John Carney and Darren Bennett. In 2006, Patriots coach Bill Belichick selected Binn to the AFC Pro Bowl squad as the conference's "need" player. It marked Binn's first and only Pro Bowl appearance.

An avid golfer, Binn maintains a handicap that hovers in the low single digits. He has been invited to compete in golf tournaments around the country, and in 1999 he won a trip to Hawaii in a hole-in-one contest.

Binn is a long-time supporter of the local military. In May 2003, he visited the aircraft carrier USS Abraham Lincoln at sea as the ship and its crew returned to San Diego from the war in Iraq. Aboard the ship, he met President George W. Bush, who had also flown to the carrier to deliver a speech to the nation declaring an end to the hostilities in Iraq. Binn was photographed with the nation's Commander in Chief. In 2000, he received a special invitation to fly in an F-18 with the Navy's Blue Angels.

Binn has also been one of the Chargers' most active players in the local community. In 1998, he started the David Binn Foundation to support environmental education and scholarship programs. The foundation supports several worthy causes including the annual "Teddy Bear Drive to Children's Hospital," in which local police deliver stuffed animals to patients.

Binn has visited many interesting places, including Russia, Hawaii, Alaska, Australia, Europe and Costa Rica.

A native of Foster City in Northern California, Binn was honored in his hometown in 2007 when he was elected into the San Mateo County Hall of Fame, joining such stars as NFL Hall of Fame wide receiver Lynn Swann and former San Francisco Giants slugger Barry Bonds.

Binn and his wife, Jennifer, have a son, Jackson.

CURTIS BRINKLEY

Running Back
5-9, 208
2nd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent - '09
Syracuse
West Catholic HS
Philadelphia, Pa.

Curtis Brinkley is a survivor. What else can you say about a man who survived an attempt on his life and plays with a bullet just an inch from his heart.

A record-breaking running back at West Catholic High School in Philadelphia, Brinkley was back in his hometown in July 2009, just three months after signing with the Chargers and completing offseason workouts. His sister, Niveka, called one evening and asked Curtis if he could pick her up from work at an area medical center. While waiting in his car outside the medical center, a gunman - later identified as his sister's boyfriend - approached the car and fired into the vehicle, not realizing that the man behind the wheel was Niveka's brother, Curtis.

Brinkley was shot three times. Doctors were able to remove two of the bullets but a third was lodged so close to his heart that they decided it was too dangerous to remove. The boyfriend later turned himself in to the police and plead guilty to a felony charge of aggravated assault. Brinkley, meanwhile, survived this horrific event and returned to the Chargers less than a year later.

Assured by doctors that it was safe to resume his football career with a bullet so close to his heart, Brinkley trained and ran harder than ever. He performed well enough in training camp and the 2010 preseason to earn a spot on the team's practice squad, and just two weeks into the season he was brought up to the active roster when injuries left the team's running backs in short supply. Brinkley did not play in the Chargers' Week 3 contest in Seattle and returned to the practice squad the following week. Later in the season another opportunity presented itself when Brinkley returned to the active roster in late November. In true storybook fashion, Brinkley received his first-ever regular-season NFL carry late in an ESPN Monday Night Football game against the Denver Broncos when his teammates decided to change the play call in the offensive huddle. Instead of a fullback dive, the ball went to Brinkley, who carried it nine yards for a first down that enabled the Bolts to take a knee and run out the clock for a victory.

Now an advocate for the Crime Victims Fund, Brinkley is hopeful of earning even more playing time in 2011 and adding yet another chapter to his storybook NFL career.

ANTOINE CASON

Cornerback
6-1, 195
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Draft 1 - '08
Arizona
Los Alamitos HS
Long Beach, Calif.

Antoine Cason couldn't get his hands on the football enough in 2010. He led the team with four interceptions and 11 passes defended, and he became the team's featured punt returner late in the season. And the former first-round pick, who waited two years to crack the starting lineup, averaged 16.5 yards per punt return, which would've been the league's second-highest had he accrued enough returns to qualify for the rankings. Cason finished just six returns shy of qualifying to rank among the league's leaders.

A former Jim Thorpe Award winner as the nation's top defensive back at Arizona, Cason returned to his alma mater in 2010 to have his jersey honored during the Wildcats' nationally-televised game against USC.

Cason is one of more than a dozen family members to play Division I college football. His father, Wendell, was a defensive back at the University of Oregon and went on to play for the Atlanta Falcons. His brother, Dione, ran track at Washington State and cousin, Ken-yon Rambo, was a receiver at Ohio State before playing for the Dallas Cowboys and New York Jets. Another cousin, Aveion Cason, was an All-America tailback at Illinois State and played for the Detroit Lions, St. Louis Rams and Cowboys.

Cason is one of a number of Chargers who regularly volunteer for community service. In college, he joined forces with former Wildcat teammate, Matt Brooks, to create a campaign to fight cancer known as "Cason Cares." Cason became involved after losing his grandfather, Royce Rambo, to cancer in Feb. 2006. The goal of Cason Cares was to raise money for cancer research. Cason and Brooks sold rubber wristbands for $3 apiece and the pair made a generous donation to the American Cancer Society before an Arizona men's basketball game in December '07.

Cason's favorite hobby is bowling. He's also a fan of American muscle cars, particularly the Mustang.

 RETURNING PLAYERS

Luis Castillo has become a steadying presence and one of the anchors of the Chargers' defensive line. A starter in all 16 games in 2010, Castillo was a key contributor for the NFL's top-ranked defense, leading the line with 12 quarterback pressures, third-most on the entire squad.

Castillo is only the second Dominican player to be drafted and start in the National Football League. He has built an image that goes well beyond the United States and the Dominican Republic. In 2008, he was one of three NFL players invited to spend a week visiting with U.S. troops stationed at military bases in Kyrgyzstan and Afghanistan. A seasoned traveler, Castillo has also visited Egypt, Greece and China on his own.

Castillo is fluent in Spanish. He was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., and moved to the Dominican Republic with his mother, Maria, when he was a child. They returned to the States when he was 5 and the family settled in New Jersey. Luis returns to the Dominican Republic every offseason where he is revered as a national icon. During trips to the Dominican, Castillo has hosted youth football clinics and other community projects. In 2005, he was honored with the Youth of the Year Award for excellence outside of the Dominican Republic.

Castillo has also emerged as a community leader in San Diego. In July 2008, he was honored with the Roberto Clemente Award for Sports Excellence for his work in the Hispanic community. He hosts an annual "Shop with a Charger" holiday-season event for abused and neglected children, and in April 2010, he and San Diego Padres' closer Heath Bell co-chaired the 10th Annual Celebrity Waiter Luncheon for STAR/PAL (Sports Training, Academics, Recreation/Police Athletic League).

Castillo's mother is one of his heroes. She was raised in a small village in the Dominican that had no running water or electricity and few educational opportunities. Today, she runs a multimillion-dollar company in New York that imports hair-care products from her homeland. Luis hopes that he too can emulate his mom's success in the business world. In 2007, he returned to his alma mater and enrolled in the NFL's Business Management and Entrepreneurial Program at the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern. The four-day program focused on developing and selling a brand and evaluating franchise opportunities. He attended the program with teammate Shaun Phillips.

This offseason, Castillo married longtime girlfriend, Myriam. The newlywed couple honeymooned in Bora Bora.

Gardner, Mass.

The Chargers retained a key piece of their defensive line when Cesaire opted to re-sign a two-year deal to remain with the Chargers. A starter for all 16 games for the first time in his career in 2010, Cesaire helped the Chargers lead the NFL in total defense and rank fourth against the run. Now he'll be tasked with a new challenge as Cesaire will help groom the Chargers' top choice in the 2011 NFL Draft, fellow defensive end Corey Liuget.

Undeterred by the fact that Liuget is projected to start over Cesaire, the ninth year veteran reached out to the rookie immediately after the draft and even offered to open his home to the young protege.

This past offseason while the NFL was in the midst of a work stoppage, Cesaire went back and finished the necessary classwork to earn his degree in liberal studies from Southern Connecticut State. And in May, he returned to the New Haven, Conn. campus and took part in the school's commencement ceremonies.

Cesaire was born in Massachusetts, but his parents emigrated to the United State from Haiti. When a 7.0 earthquake rocked the island nation in Jan. 2010, it hit particularly close to home. Luckily, no members of the Cesaire family were harmed in the quake or its aftermath.

Jacques is married to the former Jill Murray and the couple has a young daughter, Viviana, who was born in March 2009. The Cesaires work with the United Way in Jill's hometown of Groton, Connecticut, and in San Diego they oversee a nonprofit foundation that benefits the Monarch School for homeless teens. They also contribute to a Chargers program to help feed the city's homeless every Thursday night. In 2008, Jacques was presented with an award from the United Way for outstanding work in the community.

One of Jacques' closest friends on the team is Quentin Jammer, who works with the San Pasqual Academy, a school that is very similar to the Monarch School. The last two years, Cesaire and Jammer have partnered to host a charity bowling event to raise funds for the two schools.

Jerome Clary won the Chargers' 2010 Ed Block Courage Award after playing every offensive snap in 2010. He was the only offensive player to participate in every snap in mates for team effort as well as individual performance.

As reward for his play on the field and his professionalism off of it, the Chargers signed Clary to a new four-year contract shortly after the NFL Lockout ended.

Clary was having one of the best seasons of his career in 2009 when it ended early as the result of a serious ankle injury late in the Chargers' Nov. 22 game at Denver. He had started the first 10 games and the team's offensive line was collectively playing some of its best football when the injury struck. In fact, the Chargers rushed for a season-high 203 yards and didn't give up a single sack in that game. Following surgery, Clary spent his entire offseason in San Diego rehabilitating the ankle, and the hard work paid dividends. He returned to his familiar right tackle spot in 2010 and started every game as Philip Rivers put up one of the most prolific passing seasons in team history.

Clary's career took off in 2007. A reserve most of the season, Head Coach Norv Turner inserted him into the starting lineup at right tackle in early December to give the team's struggling running game a spark. Over the final five games, the Chargers rushed for 880 yards and eight touchdowns, and went 5-0.

Clary and wife, Breanna, had their first child, son Cannon, in March 2009. Besides being a dad, Clary's hobbies include playing golf and spending time at the beach.

STEPHEN COOPER

9th NFL Season
9th with Chargers

Free Agent - '03
Maine
Wareham HS
Wareham, Mass.

After opting to test the free agent market following the NFL Lockout in 2011, Cooper made the decision to return to the Chargers, signing a one-year deal in August.

Cooper is a two-time winner of the team's Most Inspirational Player Award (2009-10).

Cooper's inspiration to lead extends well beyond the field. A few years ago, he opened the doors of his San Diego home to his nephew, Mark Williams, who had also grown up in Cooper's hometown of Wareham, Mass. Williams was struggling in school, straying from athletics, and according to his mother, spending too much time with the wrong crowd. His mother sent him to San Diego to live with Cooper, who in turn enrolled Williams at Mt. Carmel High School. After a rocky start in San Diego, Williams settled into his new environment and improved his grades. He also made a significant impact on the football field helping lead the Sundevils to the playoffs in 2009.

A former undrafted rookie and one of just a handful of players to make it to the NFL from the University of Maine, Cooper was the first member of his family to graduate from college. He had enrolled at Maine as a quarterback, but later switched to defense and went on to become the

VETERANS & RETURNING PLAYERS

Atlantic-10 Conference's Defensive Player of the Year at his new and current position, linebacker. Cooper would like to become a teacher and a coach when his playing career comes to a close.

Cooper has two sons, Koby and Kye King, and a daughter, Karis. The middle of five children, he often returns to Wareham to spend time with his family. Cooper is still a local legend in his hometown for quarterbacking Wareham HS to a Super Bowl championship in 1995. In 2006, the school retired his former No. 4 jersey during the Chargers' bye week and Cooper was able to attend the ceremony.

SAN DIEGO CHARGERS

PATRICK CRAYTON

12

Wide Receiver
6-0, 205
8th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Trade (Dallas) - '10
Northwestern Oklahoma State
DeSoto HS
DeSoto, Texas

An explosive wide receiver who can line up anywhere on the field, Patrick Crayton joined the Chargers in a trade with Dallas just before the start of the 2010 season and immediately bolstered the Bolts' receiving corps.

He was on his way to a career season in 2010 when he suffered a severe wrist injury at the end of a touchdown catch-and-run during a November ESPN Monday Night Football game against the Denver Broncos. Despite playing in just nine games, Crayton still ended his season as the team's fourth-leading receiver.

In his native Texas, Crayton and his wife, Najjyyah, started the Helping Hands Foundation, which assists at-risk youth in Dallas. The Craytons have worked with Big Brothers-Big Sisters,

The Boys and Girls Clubs and Against The Odds, a non-profit that helps children whose parents are incarcerated.

Crayton is an alumnus of the NFL's Business and Entrepreneurial Program. He attended the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School program in 2008 and is a part-owner of PX3, a company that makes specially-designed mouthpieces for football players.

Crayton and Najjyyah have two sons, Patrick Jr. and Preston. Crayton's brother, Bradley, is a senior linebacker at Abilene-Christian University in Abilene, Texas.

Crayton's hobbies include playing in a co-ed softball league with Najjyyah, traveling and playing video games with the couples two sons.

KRIS DIELMAN

Guard
6-4, 320
9th NFL Season
9th with Chargers

Free Agent - '03
Indiana
Troy HS
Troy, Ohio

By the time he hangs up his cleats, Kris Dielman is likely to go down as one of the best guards ever to put on a San Diego Chargers uniform. Already a member of the Chargers' 50th Anniversary All-Time Team, Dielman has been voted to the last four Pro Bowls, he's a two-time Associated Press second-team All-Pro, and in 2010 he was selected by teammates as the Chargers' Lineman of the Year for the third time in his career.

Dielman is old-school, a throwback to the early NFL. He's missed just three games in the last six seasons and in 2010 he was a key cog in the NFL's top-ranked offense.

Dielman has been the starting left guard since 2005 and the Chargers have rushed for more than 1,700 yards in five of the six seasons since. He's also been in the starting lineup for two of the top three single-game rushing performances in team history, including a club-record 289 yards in an AFC West-clinching win over Denver in 2008.

Dielman had one of his finest seasons in 2006 when the Chargers rushed for a team-record 2,578 yards. A year later, he was rewarded with his first Pro Bowl selection after playing an entire season without yielding a sack.

Dielman had added incentive to play well in 2007. An unrestricted free agent following the '06 season, he passed up a chance to chase riches and start anew in a different NFL city and signed one of the biggest contracts awarded to an offensive lineman in team history.

One of the biggest reasons Dielman elected to stay in San Diego is that the Ohio native owns a home on a hill overlooking Pacific Beach. The house offers a stunning panoramic view of San Diego from the La Jolla coast to Mexico. Today Dielman resides there with wife, Sandi, and son, Reid.

Dielman works closely with the Marine Corps-Law Enforcement Foundation (MCLEF), an organization that raises money to provide advanced education for the children of Marines and law enforcement officers killed in the line of duty. Dielman's father, Mike, an Army veteran, died when Kris was a 17-year-old high school senior, and he has two cousins who served in both the Army and Navy.

Away from football, Dielman enjoys going to San Diego Padres games, or watching NASCAR races, rodeos and ultimate fighting. A regular in the Padres' clubhouse, Dielman is friends with several current and former Padres, and in 2005 he caught a foul ball at a game. He's also been to Bristol, Tenn., to sit in the pit area to watch racing live at the Bristol Motor Speedway. Dielman has also met several of NASCAR's top drivers, including San Diego native and Sprint Cup Champion Jimmie Johnson, Dale Earnhardt, Jr. and Clint Boyer.

Guard-Tackle

3rd NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Free Agent - '08
San Diego State
Green Valley HS
Henderson, Nev.

Versatility has been a trademark strength for Brandyn Dombrowski in San Diego.

A year after starting two games at right guard and seven at right tackle in his first full NFL season, Dombrowski was asked to open the 2010 season at left tackle while the Chargers were without the services of Marcus McNeill. Dombrowski started the first five games, protecting Philip Rivers' blind side. The Chargers performed well with Dombrowski in the starting lineup, yielding just 11 sacks and rushing for 126 yards a game, including 151 in a win over Jacksonville and 180 in a win over Arizona.

Dombrowski grew up in Henderson, Nev., and played collegiately at San Diego State. His father, Ken, is a former defensive tackle who played for the the Canadian Football League's Hamilton Tiger Cats and Calgary Stampeders, as well as the USFL's Pittsburgh Maulers.

Since joining the Chargers, Dombrowski has supported efforts to assist the local military. He's joined Kris Dielman at several events benefitting the Marine Corps-Law Enforcement Foundation (MCLEF), and last November he helped pass out Thanksgiving turkeys to military families from the Armed Forces YMCA in San Diego. Dombrowski also co-hosted a bowling event to help raise funds to purchase new helmets for the kids who compete in the Alpine Pop Warner Football League. Alpine is a suburb east of San Diego.

LARRY ENGLISH

Outside Linebacker
6-2, 255
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Draft 1 – '09
Northern Illinois
Marmion Military
Aurora, Ill.

A solid rookie season that concluded with a big effort in the 2009 season finale had Larry English and fans looking forward to big things in 2010.

English played in all 16 games as a rookie. He was on the field regularly on both defense and special teams, and he tied Shaun Phillips for the team lead with 16 hits on the opposing quarterback.

Unfortunately, second-year expectations were curtailed when a foot injury shelved English early in his second season. The injury initially kept him out of the lineup for six games, but flareups later in the season further limited his play and English played in only half of the team's 16 games. Now that 2011 is here, English is looking forward to the opportunity to flash the explosiveness that led the Chargers to make him a first-round pick in 2009.

At Northern Illinois, English was a two-time winner of the Vern Smith Leadership Award as the top player in the Mid-

American Conference. He became only the second defensive player in MAC history to win the award once and more impressively, he became only the fourth player ever to win it twice. English left Northern Illinois as the school's all-time leader in sacks (31.5) and tackles for loss (63). An honor roll student, he was also one of only 30 students nationwide to be nominated to receive the Lowe's Senior CLASS Award for excellence in Classroom, Character, Community and Competition.

English's excellence on the field is impressive for a young man who's battled asthma since early childhood. The affliction has steered him toward a partnership with the American Lung Association and his LEAD (Leading Education to Athletes for their Dreams) Foundation, which he created with the help of his mother, Susan. The two entities hosted an event in San Diego called the Fight For Air Climb, and they've created a program called Open Airways for School to help diagnose asthma in students.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: First-round pick (16), April 25, 2009...signed five-year deal, Aug. 2.

2010: Career-high 1.5 sacks and two tackles for loss in 31-0 win over Kansas City Dec. 12. 2009: First-career sacks in back-to-back games vs. Pittsburgh and Denver, Oct. 4 and 19... Game Ball from coaching staff after season-highs of seven tackles and six quarterback hits vs. Washington Jan. 3.

COLLEGE: Three-time first-team All-Mid-American Conference...MAC Player of Week vs. Tennessee and Kent State in 2008...MAC and team-leading 10.5 sacks as junior to rank 11th in nation, including school-record five sacks vs. Idaho...tied school record with 12 sacks and set school mark with four forced fumbles as soph...also set school record with six tackles for loss in '06 game vs. Temple...played in 50 games with 47 starts at defensive end...finished career with 237 tackles, 63 tackles for loss, 31.5 sacks, eight forced fumbles and four fumble recoveries...medical redshirt in 2004...played at Northern Illinois from 2004-08...honor roll student majored in liberal arts and sciences.

PERSONAL: Born in Aurora, Ill....highly-decorated linebacker and fullback at Marmion Military Academy in Aurora...lettered in basketball and track (discus)...uncle, Charles Robinson, lettered as fullback at Wisconsin in 1972.

MALCOM FLOYD

Wide Receiver
6-5, 225
6th NFL Season
8th with Chargers

Free Agent - '04
Wyoming
River City HS
Sacramento, Calif.

When the new collective bargaining agreement took shape in late July, it appeared as though unrestricted free agent Malcom Floyd was headed out of Southern California after seven seasons in San Diego. But after exploring several options, Floyd decided to return to the Chargers, inking a new two-year deal on August 5.

The consummate pro both on and off the field, Floyd's game seems to reach new heights every year.

A deep-ball threat with a measured vertical leap of more than three feet (40 inches) Floyd often comes up with any ball he leaves his feet to catch. Last season his 19.4 yards per catch average ranked fourth in the NFL. That ability to make plays downfield led one former teammate to christen him with the nickname "M-80."

The high point of Floyd's 2010 campaign was a 213-yard performance in the Chargers' October game at Oakland. It tied for the fourth-best single-game performance in team history and was the most yards in a game by a Chargers receiver since 1985. Floyd's effort against the Raiders included a 41-yard touchdown catch and a team-record 154 yards in the first half.

It took a while, but Floyd finally earned a chance to start for the Chargers in 2009 and he set career-highs in catches and yards. He averaged a whopping 17.2 yards per catch, tied with teammate Vincent Jackson for the second-highest average in the NFL.

Floyd is the second NFL wide receiver in the family. His older brother, Malcolm, played wide receiver for the Houston Oilers, Tennessee Titans and St. Louis Rams in the mid '90s.

Floyd's hobbies include playing basketball, riding jet skis and spending time with family, friends and teammates. He was an all-conference basketball player in high school and his team won an intramural championship while he was in college at Wyoming.

ANTONIO GARAY

Defensive Tackle
6-4, 320
5th NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent – '09
Boston College
Rahway HS
Rahway, N.J.

Antonio Garay was one of the NFL's most inspiring stories of 2010. Four years removed from a potentially career-ending broken right leg and shattered ankle as result of a horrific chop block that took nearly two years to heal, Garay became a starter for the first time in his career and had a breakthrough season.

Selected as a third-alternate to the AFC Pro Bowl squad, Garay had 5.5 sacks, tied for second among all NFL defensive tackles, and he led the Chargers' defensive line and set new career highs in tackles, sacks, tackles for loss and quarterback hits. Garay played in every game, starting all but one, and was a key reason the Chargers led the NFL in total defense and ranked fourth against the run.

One play in particular stuck out during Garay's stellar '10 season. During the Chargers' Nov. 28 nationally-televised game in Indianapolis on NBC's Sunday Night Football, Garay put guard Jeff Linkenbach on his heels and drove him backward into quarterback Peyton Manning. The play forced Manning to the ground, and even though Garay wasn't credited with a sack, it was one of the most impressive plays of the NFL season and was shown on a number of highlight shows around the country.

After Garay's injury in 2007, his path back to the NFL was anything but easy. To help, his agent posted some of Garay's workout videos on YouTube and he even scheduled a workout where Garay ran with a bunch of teenagers. But the sacrifices were worthwhile, especially when the New York Jets signed him to their practice squad in Oct. 2009, and just seven weeks later the Chargers signed him to their active roster. One of the main reasons the Chargers opted to sign Garay was his familiarity with defensive line coach Don Johnson, who was Garay's position coach in Chicago when he suffered the horrific injury.

A native of Rahway, N.J., Garay is a second-generation freestyle wrestler. His family sports the most wrestling medalists in N.J. history. Garay's uncle, Louie Garay, won the New Jersey state championship in 1955. Another uncle, Carlos Garay, finished second in '57. Antonio's dad, Tony, finished third in '66. His brother, Dan, also owns a state title. But Antonio may have been the best of them all. A state champion as well in his weight class (275 lbs.), Garay was undefeated as a high school senior. Wrestling and football, where he was a high school All-American, led Garay to Boston College. He excelled in both sports until BC dropped wrestling prior to his senior year. Garay had finished fourth in the NCAA Championships as a sophomore and is the only wrestling All-American in Boston College history. In 2009, the school inducted Garay into its Athletics Hall of Fame. Garay concluded his collegiate athletic career on the gridiron, and despite suffering severe injuries in both his junior and senior seasons, the Cleveland Browns drafted him in the sixth round in 2003.

Garay comes from a diverse family. His mother, Marsha, is Jewish and his father is Catholic and a combination of Puerto Rican, Costa Rican and Jamaican. Both of Garay's parents were two-sport athletes at Hofstra University, where they met. His mom was a softball pitcher and captain of the tennis team and his dad wrestled and played football. One of the most highly-touted defensive linemen in the country in 1971, Garay's father spent time in the NFL with the Los Angeles Rams, Oakland Raiders, New England Patriots and New York Jets. Garay's mother has instilled Jewish heritage in Antonio and his siblings, and as such, one of his ambitions is to visit Israel and wrestle in the Maccabi Games, an international Jewish athletic event similar to the Olympics that is held in Israel every four years under the auspices of the Maccabi Federation. He also has been mentioned as a candidate to one day represent the United States in wrestling at the Summer Olympics.

This June, Garay was invited to teach a clinic at the New Jersey All-State Wrestling Camp.

Garay is working toward starting the "Set the Tone" foundation, whose mission will be to help kids in the community prepare for college. Garay earned bachelor's degrees in both English and marketing, and a master's degree in secondary education with a focus on English from Boston College.

ANTONIO GATES

Tight End
6-4, 260
9th NFL Season
9th with Chargers

Free Agent - '03
Kent State
Central HS
Detroit, Mich.

Antonio Gates was motoring along at record-breaking pace in 2010 until a foot injury struck during the Chargers' sixth game of the season in St. Louis. It turned out to be a torn plantar fascia in his right foot and the effect of the injury spoiled Gates' run at history.

Gates still finished his season with a team-leading 10 touchdown catches, earning second-team All-Pro honors and an invitation to his seventh-straight Pro Bowl. He recently was voted by his peers as the 22nd best player in the NFL today. Gates is the only NFL player with at least eight touchdown catches in each of the last seven seasons.

Heading into 2011, Gates (529 career rec.) needs just one catch to tie LaDainian Tomlinson (530) for third in team history and 12 to tie Kellen Winslow (541) for second. Gates also has 18-career 100-yard receiving games, tied with John Jefferson for seventh in team history (playoffs incl.). He needs just one more to tie Anthony Miller (19) for sixth.

The only current Charger named to the NFL's All-Decade Team (2000-09) and one of the Chargers' 50 Greatest Players of All-Time, Team President Dean Spanos and General Manager A.J. Smith locked up Gates for the long haul in 2010, signing him to a six-year contract that will keep him in San Diego through 2015.

A seven-time Pro Bowler and a three-time first-team All-Pro, Gates' career numbers rank among the NFL's leading receivers at his position. From 2003-10, he leads all tight ends in TD catches (69), ranks second in receiving yards (7,005) and third in catches (529). When Darren Sproles led the Chargers with 59 catches in 2010, it ended Gates' run of six-straight seasons (2004-09) leading the team.

To properly put Gates' numbers into perspective, there are presently seven modern-era tight ends enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Gates' career touchdown total exceeds all seven. They include Winslow, John Mackey, Ozzie Newsome, Dave Casper, Jackie Smith, Charlie Sanders and Mike Ditka.

Gates' unique route to the NFL has been well-chronicled. When he signed with the Chargers in 2003, he had not played football since his senior season at Central High School in Detroit. He began his collegiate career at Michigan State under the assumption that he could play both football and basketball, but when the football coach relented, Gates chose to focus on hoops and decided it was best to leave the East Lansing campus. An up-and-down start to his basketball career sent Antonio bouncing to three different schools before he finally found a home at Kent State, where in two seasons he helped lead the Golden Flashes to back-to-back conference championships and the Elite Eight of the NCAA Tournament in 2002. Gates left the Kent, Ohio campus as the school's sixth-leading scorer and he returned to the Kent, Ohio, campus in Feb. 2010 to have his No. 44 jersey retired by the school.

Gates' basketball background has also had an impact on the community. Annually he serves as the honorary chairman for the Shoot to Cure HD, a speed free-throw shooting contest and event that raises money for the Huntington's Disease Society of America. He also hosts "Shop with a Charger," a unique Christmas event for homeless, neglected and abused children.

If Gates' athletic career had not steered him toward football or basketball, it's possible he may have fashioned a career in boxing. His paternal grandfather, Henry Hank, was a professional boxer in the 1950s and '60s. Hank fought 97 professional bouts as a middleweight and light heavy-weight, winning 62 of them. His 1962 fight against Joey Giardello was voted the Fight of the Year by Ring Magazine. Old photos show a striking resemblance between Gates and his grandfather, and many in the family believe that Gates inherited his athletic ability from him.

Had Gates not opted for a career in athletics, he might have tried his hand as a firefighter. A couple of years ago, a group of firefighters attended a training camp practice and one of the most enamored players was Gates. He told several of them that long ago he'd dreamed of being a firefighter so several weeks later, the assistant San Diego fire chief returned to Chargers Park and presented Gates with a SDFD firefighters jacket with his own name and number.

In July, Gates married the former Sasha Dindayal. The wedding took place in Del Mar, Calif.

STEVE GREGORY

Strong Safety
5-11, 195
6th NFL Season
6th with Chargers

Free Agent - '06
Syracuse
Curtis HS
Staten Island, N.Y.

Steve Gregory faced the most trying of his five NFL seasons in 2010. The team's opening day starter at strong safety for the first time in his career, Gregory was off to a solid start when a violation of the NFL's substance abuse policy sidelined him for four games in October. He returned to the field a month later and reassumed his role in the defensive backfield, but in his first game back Nov. 7 at Houston, a shoulder injury forced him to the sidelines once again. The injury kept Gregory off the field for the next three games, but he returned in time for the stretch run and finished the season on a positive note.

Gregory and his wife, former Syracuse field hockey star Rosanne Geraty, have formed the "SG Squad," a nonprofit foundation whose goal is to promote fitness, education and healthy lifestyles for the students, educators and administrators of the San Ysidro School District, an area south of San Diego near the Mexican border. The foundation rewards the hardest working students with school supplies, clothing and Chargers tickets. Last year, the SG Squad also hosted a Thanksgiving Dinner Giveaway for low-income families and a holiday bowling party where each child received a new pair of shoes for the holidays. Beyond San Diego, the SG Squad has also lent assistance to the Little Falls High School football team in Little Falls, New York. In 2008, Gregory received a President's Volunteer Service Award from the President's Council on Physical Fitness for his work with the SG Squad.

Gregory grew up in Staten Island, New York. His father, Steve, and stepmother, Judy, are both retired from the New York Police Department. However, both were on active duty when the terrorist attacks of 9/11 struck New York City. Unsure of his own future in football, Gregory took the New York City Police test upon graduation from Syracuse.

Gregory's hobbies include golf, video games, movies, pool, bowling, darts and poker. He played baseball through high school as a SS and CF and had tryouts with the New York Mets and Yankees before enrolling at Syracuse.

NICK HARDWICK

Center
6-4, 305
8th NFL Season
8th with Chargers

Draft 3B - '04
Purdue
Lawrence North HS
Indianapolis, Ind.

Nick Hardwick returned to his old self in 2010. A year after missing 13 games due to an ankle injury, Hardwick assumed his familiar role as the anchor of the Chargers' offensive line and started every game for the NFL's No. 1 ranked offense. Hampered by a series of foot and ankle injuries in recent years, Hardwick started all 16 games for just the second time in his career in 2010, and his teammates acknowledged the challenges Hardwick has overcome by honoring him with a share of the team's Emil Karas Memorial Award as its most inspirational player.

A member of the Chargers' 50th Anniversary All-Time Team and a Pro Bowl selection in 2006, Hardwick calls out blocking signals for the entire offensive line. A starter since his rookie season (2004), the Chargers have rushed for at least 1,700 yards in every season that Hardwick has started at least 12 games, including a team-record 2,578 yards in '06.

Hardwick grew up in Indianapolis where he was a stand-out prep wrestler with dreams of becoming a Marine aviator. One of his father's cousins, Joe McCormick, was a former Air Force pilot. Hardwick earned a pilot's license before he turned 18 and went to Purdue on a Marine Corps ROTC Scholarship. But after former Chargers quarterback Drew Brees led the Boilermakers to the 2001 Rose Bowl, Hardwick saw the excitement it generated on the Purdue campus, and the following fall he decided to walk on to the school's football team. A year after earning a spot as a scout team defensive tackle, Hardwick became the Boilermakers' starting center and earned all-conference honors. Hardwick's wife, Jayme, is also a former Boilermaker. She played soccer for Purdue's women's team.

Hardwick maintains close ties to his alma mater. In 2007, he endowed a football scholarship at the school that is given annually to a walk-on player who earns it, just as Hardwick did. And in 2008, Purdue presented him with the Drew Brees Mental Attitude Award, presented by the Joe Tiller/Northwest Indiana Chapter of the National Football Foundation. Hardwick became the fourth former Boilermaker to receive the award. Brees chooses the winner each year to recognize an athlete who exemplifies exceptional mental attitude.

Hardwick is the team's union representative. In 2009, he attended the NFL's Business and Entrepreneurial Program at the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania. A special program for NFL players and front office employees, Hardwick spent a week learning a broad range of business topics from some of the country's most well-known educators.

Hardwick's interest in the military has inspired him to join teammate Kris Dielman in supporting the Marine Corps-Law Enforcement Foundation (MCLEF), an organization that raises money to provide advanced education for the children of Marines and law enforcement officers killed in the line of duty.

Hardwick enjoys reading, drawing and participating in a wide range of extreme sports that includes surfing, snowboarding and skateboarding. As a youth in Indianapolis, he also played hockey on a traveling team that competed throughout the U.S. and Canada. One of his teammates from that squad was John-Michael Liles, a defenseman for the NHL's Toronto Maple Leafs.

JACOB HESTER

Fullback

4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Draft 3 – '08
Louisiana State
Evangel Christian HS
Shreveport, La.

Jacob Hester was voted the Chargers' Special Teams Player of the Year in 2010, but he made his biggest impact in the offensive backfield. He became the primary blocking back and helped the Chargers' run game improve 16 spots in the NFL rankings, from 31st in 2009 to 15th in 2010. The Chargers rushed for 1,810 yards and their rushing average surged from 88.9 yards per game in '09 to 113.1 in '10. Unselfish, Hester opened holes for Mike Tolbert and Ryan Mathews to become the first running back duo in franchise history with at least seven rushing touchdowns each.

In 2010, he started the Hester Sports Foundation in his native Shreveport, Louisiana. The foundation has hosted football camps, a skeet-shooting tournament and a 7-on-7 football tournament.

Hester's wife, Katie, is the niece of former St. Louis Cardinals standout wide receiver Pat Tilley, and Hester is a distant cousin of Hall of Fame quarterback Terry Bradshaw. In September 2009, the Hesters had their first child, a son named Jackson.

Hester's favorite musician is Elvis Presley.

VINCENT JACKSON

Wide Receiver
6-5, 230
7th NFL Season
7th with Chargers

Draft 2 - '05
Northern Colorado
Widefield HS
Colorado Springs, Colo.

Vincent Jackson had a trying year in 2010. Tendered by the Chargers as a restricted free agent, Jackson opted to hold out at the start of the season and did not report to the squad until Oct. 30. When he did sign, he spent the next three weeks on the "Roster-Exempt" list and did not appear on the field until the Chargers' nationally-televised Nov. 28 Sunday Night Football game at Indianapolis. Jackson's debut was short-lived, however, as he strained a calf early in the contest and was sidelined again, this time for two weeks. He finally returned healthy for the Chargers' Dec. 12 game against division rival Kansas City and a week later against San Francisco turned in a spectacular performance with three touchdowns and 112 yards on five catches.

For 2011, Jackson has been designated as the Chargers' Franchise player.

Jackson had a Pro Bowl season in 2009, setting career-highs in receptions (68), yards (1,167) and touchdowns (nine). He helped the Chargers lead the NFL in yards per catch (13.3) and completions of 20+ yards (67); he tied teammate Malcom Floyd for second in the league with a 17.2 ypc avg., and he became the only receiver in the NFL to average over 17.0 ypc each of the last two seasons (18.6 ypc in 2008). Jackson also joined Antonio Gates (1,157 yards) as the first Chargers receiving duo to top 1,000 yards since 1985, and their combined total of 2,324 yards was the most by two Chargers since 1980. And Jackson, who went for 1,098 yards in 2008, became the first Charger to post consecutive 1,000-yard seasons since 1995-96.

Jackson was a solid prep student-athlete at Widefield High School in Colorado Springs, Colorado. Yet despite outstanding grades (4.1 GPA), a seat in student government, the offer of an academic scholarship from Columbia University, a solid prep football career and steady employment that included cleaning rooms in a Super 8 Motel and selling vacuum cleaners door-to-door, Jackson was unable to attract attention or a scholarship offer from either of the state's two biggest schools: Colorado or Colorado State. Undeterred, Jackson took his skills to Division I-AA Northern Colorado where he became a standout in football and basketball. He re-wrote most of the school's football records, was a two-time All-America, and became the highest NFL draft choice in school history. Jackson also played two seasons of basketball, earning all-league honors while leading the team in points and assists.

Jackson spent much of his childhood in Louisiana. His parents, Terence and Sherry, both served in the Army, his dad as a first sergeant medic. The family lived in Phoenix, Arizona, and Grafenwoher, Germany, before settling in Colorado Springs. Jackson's experience as an Army brat led him to join forces with mycelebritees.com and "Guide On," a nonprofit mentoring program for kids who have lost a parent in combat. A portion of the proceeds from each "Action" Jackson T-shirt sold on mycelebritees.com goes directly to "Guide On."

Jackson has also hosted a football camp and volunteered with the San Diego Food Bank.

QUENTIN JAMMER

Cornerback
6-0, 204
10th NFL Season
10th with Chargers

Draft 1 - '02
Texas
Angleton HS
Angleton, Texas

Voted one of the 50 Greatest Chargers of All-Time, Quentin Jammer was a cornerstone for the NFL's top-ranked defense in 2010. He started every game for a unit that led the NFL total defense, pass defense and yards allowed per pass play.

A physical bump-and-run corner, Jammer has spent his entire career in San Diego. He and his wife, Alicia, are very active in the San Diego community. They oversee the Jammer Family Foundation and have partnered with the San Pasqual Academy, a first-of-its-kind residential education campus designed specifically for foster teens. Currently Jammer and Philip Rivers are assisting the school in generating the funding of a new on-campus football stadium. The Foundation hosts an annual Thanksgiving Dinner, and Jammer has invited players from the Academy's football team to be his guests at Chargers practices. He's also provided them with equipment for their own team, and at each home game he invites 20 students from the Academy to sit in the Chargers Community Corner.

In March 2009, San Diego County Supervisors Greg Cox and Ron Roberts presented the Jammers with a proclamation, honoring them for their work with the Academy. And in February '09, the Harlem Globetrotters honored Jammer during a tour stop at the San Diego Sports Arena.

The Jammers also lend their support to Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD). In 2010, Jammer hosted a golf tournament to support MADD's efforts to fight drunk driving and underage drinking.

When able to get away, the Jammers and their three sons, Kaden (5), Kaleb (3) and Kasen (2), enjoy vacationing in Mexico and spending time with family and friends in San Diego and their native Texas. They like to entertain and often host other members of the Chargers' secondary at their home for barbecues and Bible study sessions. Another of Jammer's hobbies is golf and he's a member of The Crosby and Fairbanks Ranch Country Clubs in San Diego.

Jammer's younger brother, Quandre Diggs, has followed in Quentin's footsteps and is a freshman cornerback at the University of Texas. Their cousin, Cedric Woodard, also played at Texas in the late '90s and enjoyed a six-year career as a defensive lineman with the Seattle Seahawks and New Orleans Saints.

VETERANS & RETURNING PLAYERS

The NFL's most-accurate kicker of all-time (.865), Nate Kaeding was 23-of-28 for the Chargers in 2010. It included a career-high five made field goals in an NBC Sunday Night Football game at Indianapolis in November during which he drilled a season-long 50 yarder. Kaeding missed three games last season due to a groin injury that initially surfaced in practice prior to the '10 Pro Bowl, and three of his five misses in 2010 were on attempts of 50 yards or longer.

Kaeding now heads into 2011 having made 76 of his last 77 regular-season field goal tries from 40 yards or closer.

Kaeding made the Pro Bowl in 2009 after going 32 of 35, a new franchise single-season record for FG percentage (.914). He scored a team-record 146 points and made a personal-best 20 FGs in a row to close out the regular season. Unfortunately he suffered the above-mentioned groin injury and missed the all-star game.

Kaeding is an avid golfer. Looking to improve his leg swing several years ago, he enlisted the services of local golf pro, Derek Uyeda, to videotape and analyze his kicking. The idea was born while golfing with fellow special teamers David Binn and Mike Scifres. Uyeda attends Kaeding's workouts and films his kicking. After he's finished, the two review the tape so that Nate can improve his kicking mechanics.

Looking to do whatever he can to get a leg up, Kaeding also struck up a friendship with Jan Stenerud, one of the greatest NFL kickers of all-time. And he's trained at St. Vincent's in Indianapolis, where professional trainers worked with him on maximizing his physical strengths, and a sports psychologist helped with his mental approach to the game.

A beneficiary of Kaeding's success has been the Ronald McDonald House Charities in San Diego. Since 2008, fans have been able to make pledges to the Ronald McDonald House based on the number of successful kicks Kaeding makes. Fans who make donations are then entered into a drawing for a chance to win prizes. Kaeding has also served as a spokesperson and made personal appearances on behalf of Ronald McDonald House Charities. The RHMC provides a comfortable place to stay for families whose children face and are being treated for life-threatening illnesses.

Kaeding is still renowned in his native Iowa. In July 2009, the Cedar Rapids Kernels minor-league baseball team invited Kaeding to a game and had him kick autographed footballs to the crowd between innings. He is part-owner of the Short's Burgers and Shine restaurant in Iowa City. And in college, Bob's Your Uncle Pizza and Cafe, named a pizza after the former Hawkeye standout.

Kaeding and wife, Samantha, have two sons, Jack and Wyatt. Samantha is a former school teacher. Nate earned a teaching certificate in secondary education from the University of Iowa and completed the Character Education Certification Program at the University of San Diego.

TRAVIS LaBOY

Outside Linebacker
6-3, 250
7th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (San Francisco) - '11
Hawaii
Marin Catholic
San Rafael, Calif.

After a year away from football due to a painful foot injury, Travis LaBoy made a successful return to the National Football League in 2010, playing for his hometown San Francisco 49ers. Unfortunately, while his foot held up fine, it was his knee that gave way in a mid-December game in San Diego against the Chargers. The injury landed LaBoy a spot on the "Reserve-Injured" list, but he is healthy once again and eager to become a playmaker on the Chargers' top-ranked defense. A native of San Rafael, Calif., LaBoy spent his first four seasons in Tennessee, followed by one-year stints with the Arizona Cardinals and 49ers.

LaBoy endured an extremely tough upbringing as a child growing up in Hawaii. His father left the family when he was just a small child and for a little over a year, LaBoy, his mom, Angela, and brother, C.J. lived out of a van. Luckily for the boys, their mother found a caring man and future husband in a gentleman named Art, who helped raise the two boys as if they were his own. Since those trying days, both boys have gone on to enjoy successful careers, Travis in the National Football League and C.J. as a sports agent with Octagon Sports and Entertainment, and of course, Travis is one of his clients.

LaBoy has since reconciled with his father, Cliff, who coincidentally was an honorable mention All-America lineman at Hawaii in 1974. Travis even spends time as a volunteer with his father's nonprofit organization, Ho'olauna, which tutors children in Hawaii.

Now married to Nohealani, LaBoy and his wife have two sons, Koby and Koa. LaBoy started his own nonprofit foundation (S.A.C.K.), Supporting Autistic Causes and Kids, which supports educational, recreational and physical activities for kids with autism and their families.

Throughout his career, LaBoy has sported a look of long flowing curly hair, however, when he arrived in San Diego he had a much shorter look after cutting and donating his locks to "Locks for Love," a nonprofit organization that uses real hair to make wigs for cancer patients who have lost theirs due to Chemotherapy treatments.

VAUGHN MARTIN

Defensive End-Tackle
6-4, 308
3rd NFL Season

Draft 4A – '09
Western Ontario
South Secondary
London, Ontario

Vaughn Martin, an import from the Canadian college ranks, could be poised for a breakout season in 2011 after two years of learning the nuances of the NFL.

Engaging and affable, Martin is a native of Lucea, Jamaica. As a youth, the primary sports that he played were cricket and soccer. When Martin was nine, his mother, Doreen, married a man who lived in Toronto and Martin and his mother moved to Canada. They lived in Toronto and later in London, Ontario, which is where Martin learned to play hockey and football. He didn't play high school football until the 10th grade and played just two collegiate seasons. In between, Martin played two seasons of summer ball in the Central Ontario Football League and played for Team Canada at the 2006 NFL Global Championships. Team Canada went 5-0 and posted five shutouts while Martin was named to the All-Tournament Team.

After high school, Martin spent a year at the Milford Prep School in New York. Ticketed to attend Michigan State after prep school, a mixup over his transcripts prevented him from becoming a Spartan. Instead Martin enrolled at Western Ontario, where he led the Mustangs to the Vanier Cup, Canada's collegiate national championship football game, as a freshman. Teammates at Western Ontario had nicknamed the freshman sensation, "Vicious." After the Vanier Cup, Martin applied for the NFL Draft with three seasons of college eligibility remaining. He became the first Canadian underclassman to get drafted by an NFL team. Martin played defensive end and tackle at Western Ontario, and played fullback in the team's short-yardage offense.

Martin was one of the most intelligent players to emerge from the 2009 NFL Draft, scoring a 38 on the league's Wonderlic Test.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Fourth-round pick (113), April 26, 2009...signed four-year contract, July 25.

2010: Sack on 3rd-down play in fourth quarter of 35-14 win vs. Denver Nov. 22...outstanding game with team-high three quarterback hits on Brodie Croyle in 31-0 shutout win over Kansas City Dec. 12. 2009: Game Ball Jan. 3 vs. Washington after playing season-high snaps.

COLLEGE: GoodLife Fitness Athlete of Week after 2008 game vs. Queen's University...finished career with 92 tackles, 7.5 sacks, 17.5 tackles for loss, 22 quarterback pressures and touchdown on interception return...social sciences major.

RYAN MATHEWS

Running Back
6-0, 218
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Draft 1 – '10
Fresno State
West HS
Bakersfield, Calif.

Ryan Mathews helped put the legs back in the Chargers' running game in 2010. The Bolts' first-round pick in the '10 NFL Draft, Mathews and teammate Mike Tolbert provided a potent one-two punch, combining for more than 1,400 yards and 18 touchdowns. They became the only running back duo in franchise history to score at least seven rushing touchdowns each, and they became the franchise's first rushing duo to each top 600 yards since 1993. And Chargers fans hope that Mathews gave them a glimpse of things to come when he closed out the 2010 season with a 120-yard, three-touchdown performance to key a 33-28 win over the Denver Broncos at Invesco Field.

Mathews' path to the NFL was far from easy. He was raised by a single mother, Tricia, who gave birth when she was just 16. With her own mother battling a drug addiction, Tricia turned to relatives to find a place to stay and raise Ryan. Unfortunately, Tricia ran out of options and ultimately settled on the backseat of her 1969 Oldsmobile Cutlass Supreme. Their story is both heartbreaking and inspiring. After several months of living in the car, bathing and washing Ryan's clothes at a public park and feeding him from a Riverside, California soup kitchen, Tricia found a stable home with her grandmother, Glenna, in nearby Tehachapi.

With a roof over her head, Tricia found work while her grandmother looked after young Ryan. Tricia worked up to three jobs a day to save money and support her son. After years of saving and living with Ryan's grandmother, Tricia had saved enough money to move them to Bakersfield, where Ryan enrolled at West High School. It was there that Tricia landed a well-paying job, but one of the drawbacks was that it included extensive travel. At the time, the Mathews household had grown by one as Ryan's best friend, Dante, had moved in with them to escape a home rife with drug use. With Tricia away working, Ryan and Dante often had the apartment to themselves and as a result, Ryan's academics began a steady slide.

Things became particularly bad following a 235-yard, six-touchdown performance by Mathews in the league championship game his junior year. With a D-average and on the verge of being ineligible for his senior year, Mathews was challenged by both his mother and Fresno State Head Coach Pat Hill. It was a crossroads for the budding star. His mother's plea carried the most weight as she reminded him of the sacrifices she made to raise him and it had a profound effect. Mathews fulfilled a promise to buckle down in school. He maintained his eligibility and proceeded to put together a 3,396-yard, 44-touchdown senior season that had coaches calling from across the country.

Despite the attention, Mathews stayed true to his commitment to Fresno State's Hill. A classic downhill runner with a blend of power and speed, Mathews broke out as a junior at FSU, rushing for a school-record and NCAA-leading 1,808 yards and 19 touchdowns. He tallied 17 runs of at least 20 yards and enjoyed some of his best days against the nation's top defenses, including a 234-yard, three-touchdown performance against Boise State. Mathews became the only player in the nation to rush for more than 100 yards against three Top-25 teams in 2009, doing so against No. 5 Cincinnati, No. 6 Boise St. and No. 14 Wisconsin.

Eager to make amends to his mother for her sacrifices and right earlier wrongs, Mathews applied for early entry to the 2010 NFL Draft. Ironically, one of Mathews' childhood heroes was LaDainian Tomlinson and Mathews secretly hoped to be drafted by the Chargers. Unbeknownst, the Chargers were so smitten with Mathews that they traded up 16 spots to select Mathews with the 12th overall pick in the first round. And coincidentally, he became the first running back selected by the Chargers in the first round since Tomlinson in 2001.

Both Ryan and Tricia Mathews reside in San Diego. They have created a foundation, the Trish and Ryan Mathews Door of Hope Chest, and partnered with the Salvation Army to assist homeless women and children transition to independent living.

RANDY McMICHAEL

Tight End
6-3, 248
10th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Free Agent - '10
Georgia
Peach County HS
Fort Valley, Ga.

The Chargers' decision to sign Randy McMichael as an insurance policy for Antonio Gates in 2010 proved to be a fortuitous one as he was able to step in when Gates was slowed for much of the season by a nagging foot injury. McMichael played in all 16 games, starting 11, and had two critical touchdown catches during a pivotal November win at Houston. He's now back for a second run in San Diego.

A fourth-round pick by Miami in 2002, McMichael spent his first two NFL seasons playing for Chargers Head Coach Norv Turner, who was then serving as the Dolphins' offensive coordinator. McMichael left the Dolphins as the team's all-time most prolific tight end, catching 283 passes for 3,096 yards while not missing a single start in five seasons.

A single father of four, McMichael enjoys working with kids. In Miami, he started the Randy McMichael Foundation and still hosts an annual shopping event with at-risk kids.

McMichael enjoys travel, golf and fine cigars. Countries he's visited include the Dominican Republic, Brazil, Costa Rica and Trinidad. Recently he and a friend opened a business renting jet skis on the beach in Trinidad.

McMichael comes from an athletic family. His sister, Kendra, is a junior small forward at Allen University in Columbia, South Carolina and his mom, Angel, was the Georgia Player of the Year at Griffin High School in 1978.

MARCUS McNEILL

Tackle
6-7, 336
6th NFL Season
6th with Chargers

Draft 2 - '06
Auburn
Cedar Grove HS
Ellenwood, Ga.

The Chargers' left tackle, Marcus McNeill was the team's Lineman of the Year in 2009 and he's a two-time Pro Bowl selection. He protects the blind side of quarterback Philip Rivers and the two share a unique Southern bond in that Rivers grew up in Athens, Alabama and McNeill went to college in Auburn, Alabama. McNeill is popular inside the locker room where his smile and sense of humor helps to keep things light.

McNeill opted to hold out at the start of the 2010 season after being tendered as a restricted free agent. Though he could've extended his holdout until the end of October and still receive credit for an accrued season, McNeill reported to the team Sept. 25. He missed three games but returned to the starting lineup on Oct. 17 in St. Louis, just days after he and the Chargers agreed to terms on a long-term contract through 2015.

Though it took a bit to get his game legs back, McNeill was named a second-alternate for the Pro Bowl after starting the last 11 games of 2010 and unofficially surrendering just two sacks on the season. He was also on the field for three of the team's top rushing performances of the year, including a 207-yard effort in the Chargers' 31-0 win over the Kansas City Chiefs in mid-December.

The Chargers selected McNeill in the second round of the 2006 NFL Draft and the choice paid immediate dividends. McNeill helped the Bolts rush for a team-record 2,578 yards in '06, and according to the coaches' grading system, he allowed only two sacks in close to 500 pass plays. McNeill earned All-Pro and All-Rookie honors, and became just the third rookie offensive lineman in NFL history to be selected to the Pro Bowl.

After seeing two of his closest friends pass when they were young, McNeill has a soft spot in his heart for children. It prompted him to start "Mack's Miracles," a nonprofit foundation whose goal is to promote healthy lifestyles and fight childhood obesity. Since 2008 he's hosted an annual football camp in Clarkston, Georgia, and donated $10,000 to his alma mater, Cedar Grove High School, to help with the purchase of new athletic equipment. When Marcus played at Cedar Grove, his father, James, was his coach. McNeill also pitched for Cedar Grove's baseball team and had a fastball that registered in the mid-90s.

McNeill has a young son, Marcus II, and enjoys spending time with family. His father is now a teacher and coach at Cedar Grove Middle School and his mother, Leola, is a retired nurse and Colonel in the Air Force Reserves. McNeill's hobbies include basketball, baseball, bowling and movies.

SCOTT MRUCZKOWSKI

Center
6-5, 310
7th NFL Season
7th with Chargers

Bowling Green
Draft 7 - '05
Benedictine HS
Garfield Heights, Ohio

Mruczkowski (merch-COW-ski) is back for a seventh season as the backup to Nick Hardwick after signing a one-year contract to remain a Charger in July.

Mruczkowski played the finest football of his career in 2009, anchoring the offensive line for 13-plus games as starting center Nick Hardwick was sidelined with a severe ankle injury. Mruczkowski was immediately pressed into duty when Hardwick was injured during the third quarter of the Chargers' season opener in Oakland. "Mooch" performed admirably that night as the Chargers rallied for a late fourth-quarter game-winning touchdown and afterward earned a Game Ball from the coaching staff for his effort.

Unfortunately for Mruczkowski, he too would fall victim to the injury bug, suffering a season-ending ankle injury late in the Chargers' Dec. 20 win at home against Cincinnati. But because of his work ethic, courage and selfless play, the coaching staff awarded him with another Game Ball following the Bengals game.

His brother, Gene, also was an offensive lineman and played for the New England Patriots and Miami Dolphins. In 2004 while the Mruczkowski brothers were playing golf at the Brandywine Country Club in Ohio, Scott scored a hole in one on the course's par-three ninth hole.

Mruczkowski also enjoys fishing and spending time at the beach. A Cleveland-area native, he certainly doesn't miss Ohio winters. His uncle, Steve, owns a boat and a cabin on Catawba Island in Ohio and taught him and his brother to fish when they were kids.

In Feb. 2010, Mruczkowski married the former Kate LaMaster. The wedding took place in Jaco, Costa Rica, and several of his teammates including Hardwick, Kris Dielman and Steve Gregory attended the wedding.

OGBEMDI NWAGBUO

Defensive End-Tackle
6-4, 312
3rd NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Free Agent - '08
Michigan State
Mt. Miguel HS
Spring Valley, Calif.

Ogemdi Nwagbuo (oh-GEM-dee new-WAH-boe) rose from obscurity to become a key member of the Chargers' defensive line. A practice squad member in 2008 who was likely destined for the same role in '09, Nwagbuo made the Chargers' opening day roster with a solid training camp and a rash of injuries along the defensive line. Over the last two seasons, Nwagbuo has proven that he belongs in the NFL. He'll look to expand his role even further in 2011.

Nwagbuo's background is unique. His parents were born in Lagos, Nigeria, and even though "O.G.," as he is referred to by teammates, was born in San Diego, he was given a Nigerian name, which translated to English means "my time will come."

Nwagbuo got a late start playing football. As a junior at Mt. Miguel High School in the San Diego suburb of Spring Valley, he played just three snaps. Later, the CIF, the governing body of high school sports in California, ruled Nwagbuo ineligible for his senior season because his family had moved and he'd violated the CIF's transfer rules. After graduating, Nwagbuo enrolled at Southwestern College in Chula Vista, California, where he got his first real exposure to the game. Despite limited football experience, Nwagbuo had a successful two-year stint at Southwestern, earning second-team all-conference honors as a sophomore. It led to a scholarship offer from Michigan State, where he played football and earned a degree in interdisciplinary studies. Nwagbuo was then signed as a free agent by the New York Giants. He went through training camp with the Giants in '08 but got cut before the season started. Out of football, Nwagbuo took a job in customer service for Enterprise Rent-a-Car in San Diego. The Chargers would later sign Nwagbuo to their practice squad in Dec. 2008 and he took a small break from Enterprise, but returned to work for them after the season. In fact, he continued to work at Enterprise through the Chargers' 2009 offseason conditioning program, leaving the job only a couple weeks before training camp began in late July.

Nwagbuo took additional steps to prepare for his post-football career this offseason by participating in a couple of internships. He completed one in the player development department at the NFL headquarters in New York City, and another with J Public Relations, an all-female PR firm in San Diego.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Signed with New York Giants, May 1, 2008...waived Aug. 30...signed to Chargers' practice squad, Dec. 8...re-signed, Jan. 16, 2009.

SHAUN PHILLIPS

Outside Linebacker

8th NFL Season
8th with Chargers

Draft 4 - '04
Purdue
Willingboro HS
Willingboro, N.J.

Though he at one time playfully referred to himself as 'the other guy,' Shaun Phillips has proven he is 'the guy' when talking about the Chargers' defense.

In May 2011, the NFL Network ranked Phillips 97th on its list of the NFL's Top 100 Players, as voted by current players.

Ranked No. 4 on the team's career sacks list with 56.5, Phillips has been an ironman, having not missed a start since 2007. Last season, he earned his first-career Pro Bowl invite after helping the Chargers lead the NFL in total defense. The Chargers' Defensive Player of the Year the last two years, Phillips paced the squad with 11 sacks to rank 10th in the NFL in 2010. He also led the Bolts with 16 tackles for loss and 19 quarterback pressures, while tying for the team lead with 15 quarterback hits.

Phillips is one of the top fundraisers and spokespersons for the After-School All-Stars, a nonprofit organization that designs after-school programs for inner-city youth. Phillips donates $1,000 to the After-School All-Stars for every sack that he records. He has raised more than $100,000 through his on-field performance as well as by hosting celebrity events, including fashion shows, and bowling, dodgeball and golf tournaments. Phillips also hosts an annual Christmas party, and last May he hosted a special Mother's Day Brunch for the working mothers of the children who are in the program. And to further aid the growth of the After-School All-Stars, Phillips started "Touchdown Shutdown," a program in which other NFL players could make donations to the After-School All-Stars based on their on-field production. In 2010, with the help of teammates Antoine Cason and Stephen Cooper, the three players contributed nearly $45,000 to the After-School All-Stars.

Phillips had a chance to inspire the next generation of all-stars in June when he gave the keynote address during graduation ceremonies at his alma mater, Willingboro High School in New Jersey.

Phillips holds a degree in management from Purdue and is the first member of his family to graduate from college. In 2006, he enrolled in the NFL's Business Management and Entrepreneurial Program at the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University and in March 2010, he completed a Wall Street internship at the New York Stock Exchange.

Phillips enjoys spending time with his sons, Jaylen, twins Camron and Marcus, and his mom, Sherri. His hobbies include cooking, reading, fashion bowling, playing basketball, watching movies and traveling around the world.

PHILIP RIVERS

Quarterback
6-5, 228
8th NFL Season
8th with Chargers

Trade (NY Giants) - '04
North Carolina State
Athens HS
Athens, Ala.

Philip Rivers has become the unquestioned leader of the San Diego Chargers. One of the first to arrive at Chargers Park each day, and last to leave, Rivers is one of the team's most popular players and a reigning three-time team MVP, as voted by his teammates. Charismatic both on and off the field, Rivers can usually be found exchanging friendly banter with locker room neighbor Antonio Gates or engaged in a game of dominoes with fellow signal-caller, Billy Volek.

Ranked as the NFL's 26th best player in a recent poll conducted among his peers, Rivers had an all-star season in 2010, one that ended with him finally getting to play in the Pro Bowl. A three-time all-star selection, Rivers missed the previous two opportunities due to injury and the birth of his son, but he finally made it to Hawaii and played in this year's game.

Rivers' 2010 numbers were astounding. With a cast that included a team-record 17 different pass catchers, he threw for an NFL-leading 4,710 yards, 10th-most for a single season in NFL history. On pace for 5,000 yards much of the year, Rivers' eventual total was third-highest in franchise annals. And he set a new career high with six 300-yard games, including a team-record 455 in the Chargers' Sept. 26 game at Seattle. The 4,000-yard season was Rivers' third-straight, tying Fouts for the most-consecutive 4,000-yard seasons in team history. By the midpoint of the '10 season, Rivers managed to throw for 2,649 yards, a new NFL record for the first eight games of the season, another mark which Fouts (2,580) had previously set (1982). Included among his yardage totals, Rivers completed an NFL-leading 66 passes of at least 20 yards, while 12 of those went for touchdowns, second-most in the NFL.

Speaking of touchdowns, Rivers again found the end zone with regularity in 2010, tossing 30 touchdown passes and becoming the first quarterback in team history to throw more than 25 in three-straight seasons. It included a team-record stretch of 23 straight games with a touchdown pass, surpassing the previous mark of 20-straight set by Fouts in 1979-80. Among that streak was a pair of four-TD efforts in consecutive games at Houston and against Denver, equaling a feat that only Fouts (1985) and Drew Brees (2004) both accomplished for the Chargers. Eleven different players caught touchdown passes from Rivers in 2010, most in team history for a non-strike season.

The Chargers' all-time leader for career completion percentage (.637) and passer rating (97.2), Rivers will embark on 2011 with the second-highest rating in NFL history, behind only Aaron Rodgers (98.4) of the Super Bowl Champion Green Bay Packers. He'll also enter 2011 just 339 yards shy of 20,000 for his career. Rivers ranked second in the NFL in passer rating in 2010 (101.8) and is the only quarterback in the league to post a season passer rating over 100 each of the last three seasons. In fact the only passers to ever post a rating of 100.0-or-higher for three straight years are Steve Young and Peyton Manning. Rivers' outstanding rating in 2010 was aided by a team-record single-season completion percentage (.660). His 2010 rating was also aided by the fact that Rivers throws few interceptions. He owns the NFL's longest streak of regular-season games started without throwing three-or-more interceptions (82) at the start of a career. To compare, the previous record of 57 was established by Hall of Fame quarterback Joe Montana.

Late in the season is when Rivers has typically been at his best. He owns a 99.0 career passer rating in December, which is second in NFL history, and based on 5,220 passing yards and a 40-to-14 touchdown-to-interception ratio. Since becoming a starter in 2006, Rivers owns the NFL's third-highest passer rating (98.9) in Weeks 9-16 of the regular season, and as a starter, he is 37-7 (.841) in regular-season games played in November, December and January, including 22-2 in games in December and January.

Overall, Rivers has led the Chargers to four AFC West titles. He's 58-29 (.667) as a starter (including playoffs), 23-7 in AFC West games and 34-10 (.773) at Qualcomm Stadium.

Rivers originally came to the Chargers in 2004 in a blockbuster trade with the New York Giants. Less than an hour after the Bolts selected Eli Manning with the No. 1 pick in the '04 NFL Draft, Manning was on his way to the Big Apple in exchange for Rivers and a slew of draft picks. Rivers spent the majority of his first two years on the sidelines behind Brees, taking the reigns in 2006. That '06 season was memorable as Rivers was voted to the Pro Bowl after leading the Chargers to a team-record 14 wins, including 10-straight to close out the season. The Chargers also finished undefeated at home for the first time in team history. The '06 squad scored a team-record 492 points and Rivers achieved some notable marks along the way. He became the first NFL quarterback to rally a team from 17-point deficits in consecutive weeks, doing so on the road in Cincinnati and Denver. During the two wins, Rivers was in the midst of a streak of 19-straight scoring drives that ended in touchdowns without settling for a field goal. That too was a team record and it was the fifth-longest streak in NFL history. Rivers finished the year as the NFL leader in passer rating during the fourth quarter (116.6) and the third and fourth quarters combined (99.3).

In 2007, Rivers led the Chargers to the AFC Championship Game. Including playoffs, the team put together an eight-game winning streak down the stretch during which Rivers completed 133 of 214 (62.1%) for 1,656 yards with 14 touchdowns and only five interceptions for a rating of 98.2, nearly 16 points higher than his cumulative season rating (82.4). Rivers' toughness, both mental and physical, was put on full display in the final weeks of the regular season and the playoffs. In a December victory at Tennessee, he had to leave the game after spraining his knee in the first half, but he returned in the second half and led the Chargers to a come-from-behind victory in overtime. He continued to play and fought through the final month of the season in severe pain. Then a different knee injury sent him to the sideline in the Bolts' Divisional Playoff game in Indianapolis. After backup Billy Volek led the Chargers to an improbable win over the Colts, Rivers had arthroscopic surgery to repair a torn ACL on Monday and just six days later he started and took every snap on a frigid day in the AFC Championship Game at New England.

In 2008, Rivers topped Fouts' team record for single-season touchdown passes and recorded his first 4,000-yard season. He set a team record and led the league with a season rating of 105.5, joining Brees as the only Chargers QBs to finish a season with a rating over 100.0. Cool under pressure, Rivers was the NFL's second-leading passer on third downs (110.7) and in the fourth quarter (111.7). He threw an NFL-best 15 touchdown passes on third down and led the Chargers to an NFL-high 152 points in the fourth quarter. He logged six 300-yard games in '08, the most since Fouts had seven in 1985. Rivers even did it in back-to-back games, something not done by a Chargers quarterback since 1991. And he capped off 2008 with a sensational December, leading the Chargers to the playoffs. He went 4-0 to improve his career record in December to 14-0 and completed 80-of-121 (66.1%) for 1,054 yards with 11 touchdowns and just one interception. His passer rating for the month, a lofty 120.3, was second in the NFL.

The 2009 season saw Rivers selected to the Chargers' 50th Anniversary All-Time Team. He threw 28 touchdown passes and posted a passer rating of 104.4. He was one of just five NFL QBs in '09 to pass for more than 4,000 yards, throw 25 or more touchdowns and record a season passer rating of 100.0-plus. Rivers' passer rating was the NFL's third-highest in '09, and four times — tied with Brett Favre for most in the NFL — he posted a single-game passer rating of 130.0 or better. Rivers also had four games in 2008 where he rated 130.0 or better and is the only quarterback in team history to post four such games in a season. During the team's 11-game win streak to close out the regular season, Rivers completed 69.0% of his passes (209 of 303) for 2,735 yards and a rating of 112.0 while throwing 21 touchdown passes and only six interceptions. His passer rating during those 11 weeks was the highest in the NFL.

Rivers grew up in Decatur, Alabama. His dad, Steve, a former linebacker at Mississippi State, was the head football coach at Decatur High School and Philip was a water boy for the team. Shortly before Philip was set to enroll at Decatur, Steve took the head coaching job at nearby Athens HS and Philip followed. He played linebacker as a sophomore and moved to quarterback as a junior. Since his first season under center at Athens, Philip has never had a losing record, going 11-2 (1998) and 10-3 (1999) at Athens; 8-4 (2000), 7-5 (2001), 11-3 (2002) and 8-5 (2003) at North Carolina State, and 14-2 (2006), 11-5 (2007), 8-8 (2008), 13-3 (2009) and 9-7 (2010) with the Chargers. A five-time MVP in bowl games, including the 2004 Senior Bowl, Rivers had a 3-1 bowl record at N.C. State.

Now the latest Rivers prodigy to emerge from Athens is Philip's younger brother, Stephen, who is headed to LSU to play quarterback and wear the same No. 17 that Philip wears in San Diego.

Rivers and his wife Tiffany, parents of five children (four girls and a boy), launched "Rivers of Hope" in 2010, a non-profit foundation whose goal is to help abandoned children find permanent loving homes and provide children in foster care with a semblance of a normal life.

Rivers' interest in foster children was sparked after participating in a calendar photo shoot for San Diego County Adoption Agency several years back. It was the first time Rivers interacted with foster kids and he was moved by the constant change the children had to endure when moving from foster home to foster home. Rivers of Hope has already raised more than $200,000 through football camps and a 5K fun run. Rivers has been able to treat foster kids to Chargers and San Diego Padres games, and trips to Sea World. Rivers and teammate Quentin Jammer have also joined forces with San Pasqual Academy, a residential-education campus for foster teens, to assist in the funding of a new on-campus football stadium for the students.

Rivers is part-owner of D1 Sports Training and Therapy, a training and rehabilitation center in Huntsville, Alabama.

The Chargers added one of the most feared hitters in the game to their roster with the free agent signing of Sanders, a two-time Pro Bowl selection.

Sanders went to the Pro Bowl following the 2005 and '07 seasons in Indianapolis, where he spent the first seven seasons of his career. Sanders became the fourth safety in NFL history to claim Defensive Player of the Year honors after a stellar '07, recording 132 tackles, 3.5 sacks and two interceptions a year after helping the Colts to their second Super Bowl championship.

Known for his physical tenacity, injuries are the only thing that has slowed Sanders, who hasn't been subjected to many NFL games (48) relative to his age and remains a fierce tackler.

Sanders' given name is Demond, but his mother, Jean, began calling him Bob as a young child. Sanders' father, Marion, was an aspiring prizefighter who worked in a foundry making metal castings to support the family.

As a child, Sanders loved acrobatics. He developed a habit of climbing on top of boxes or benches and doing flips, or running up a wall reminiscent of Jackie Chan. Growing up in the same hometown of Erie, Pa. as Hall of Fame wide receiver Fred Biletnikoff, Sanders made his mark on the field early. A backup running back at McKinley Middle School, he tackled the starter in practice with such ferocity that he couldn't play for two weeks, earning Sanders the starting job.

Despite his tough on-field persona, Sanders was active in the Indianapolis community. The Pop Warner organization honored him with its Humanitarian Award in '09, and his Bob Sanders Chasing Dreams Foundation (www.bob-sandersfoundation.org) strives to provide educational opportunities and cultural enrichment to students in grades 8-12.

MIKE SCIFRES

Punter
6-2, 221
9th NFL Season
9th with Chargers

Western Illinois
Draft 5 - '03
Destrehan HS
Destrehan, La.

The next person who claims NFL kickers and punters aren't tough obviously hasn't met Chargers punter Mike Scifres (SIGH-fres). The franchise's all-time leader for career punting average (44.5) and a member of the Chargers' 50th Anniversary All-Time Team, Scifres has excelled the last two seasons despite enduring the painful effects of a bilateral hernia that first surfaced in 2009. Making matters even worse, as the protection broke down in front of him, Scifres had an NFL-leading four punts blocked in 2010 and a fifth deflected. Despite the near constant pressure, Scifres still averaged a team-record 46.7 yards per punt in '10. Now with the injury healed and new special teams coach Rich Bisaccia on board, Scifres is hoping to get back to the form that saw him be named a Pro Bowl alternate six seasons running from 2004-09.

Scifres credits his leg strength and flexibility to a workout regimen that includes weightlifting and Pilates.

It was almost a fluke that Scifres ended up with the Chargers. It happened on a recommendation from Kyle Smith, the son of Chargers General Manager A.J. Smith. As a freshman at Youngstown State, Smith had returned punts against Scifres, who played for Missouri Valley Conference foe, Western Illinois. Less than a year after fielding the call from Kyle, and despite having Pro Bowl punter Darren Bennett on the roster, Smith drafted Scifres in the fifth round in 2003.

Scifres cemented his resume as one of the NFL's top punters during an outstanding 2008 season when he set a team record and ranked third in the league with a 40.9-yard net punting average. He allowed zero or negative punt return yards in seven games. He had only five touchbacks in 51 punts (9.8%) for the entire season and landed 19 those of 51 attempts inside the 20. Among players with 40-or-more punts, only two others allowed fewer than Scifres' 146 return yards, and only five teams had more than 15 punt return yards against the Chargers all season.

Scifres continued his season with a record-breaking night in the Bolts' AFC Wild Card Playoff win over the Indianapolis Colts. He landed all six of his punts inside the 20, the highest number and percentage of punts ever landed inside the 20 during a playoff game. He also averaged a playoff-record 51.7 net yards per punt as the Colts managed just six punt return yards for the game. As a result of Scifres' outstanding work, the Colts were forced to start drives at their own 10, 19, 3, 7, 9 and 1-yard lines following punts. Scifres' last punt may have been his best, a kick that rolled out of bounds at the 1-yard line, setting the stage for the Chargers' late fourth-quarter comeback.

2008 wasn't the first time that Scifres experienced post-season success against Indianapolis. In '07, he helped send the Chargers to the AFC Championship Game with another dominating performance in the Divisional Playoffs at the RCA Dome. Scifres set a team postseason record by averaging 59.0 yards per punt. He saved his best for last again, hitting a postseason team-record 66-yarder with the Bolts backed up at their own 14-yard line and only 1:42 left in the fourth quarter. Kicking from his own goal line, the Colts fielded Scifres' punt at their own 20. That punt lit a fire on the Chargers' sideline and the defense ended the Colts' season on downs four plays later, sending the Chargers on to New England.

One of the beneficiaries of Scifres' success has been the Ronald McDonald House Charities in San Diego. Since 2008, fans have been able to make pledges to the Ronald McDonald House based on the number of punts inside the 20 that Scifres lands. Fans who made donations get entered into a drawing for a chance to win prizes. Scifres has also served as a spokesperson and made personal appearances on behalf of Ronald McDonald House Charities. The RHMC provides a comfortable place to stay for families whose children face and are being treated for life-threatening illnesses. Throughout his career, Scifres has also been a big supporter of San Diego's Rady Children's Hospital.

Speaking of children, Scifres' wife, Stacey, gave birth to the couple's first children, twins Berkeley and Bristyn, in April.

Scifres went to high school in Destrehan, Louisiana, not far from New Orleans. One of his prep teammates was Baltimore Ravens safety Ed Reed, who funny enough was the team's punter at the time. Because of Reed's strong leg, Scifres was initially relegated to kickoffs, field goals and extra points. Few would've guessed that Scifres would turn out to be such a special player. Scifres and Reed have remained friends.

Scifres is one of the team's best golfers. He plays regularly with his special teams mates David Binn and Nate Kaeding. Scifres likes to golf in exotic locales like Hawaii and Mexico, and currently plays to a 15 handicap.

Free Agent - '10
Colorado State
Pueblo County HS
Pueblo, Colo.

Kory Sperry enjoyed somewhat of a storybook season in 2010. Originally signed by the Chargers as an undrafted rookie from Colorado State in 2009, Sperry spent the '09 season in Miami after his release from San Diego. He was waived by the Dolphins in 2010, claimed briefly by his hometown Denver Broncos and then waived again, returning to the practice squad in San Diego. But when injuries began to decimate the tight end position, the Chargers brought Sperry up to the active roster and the Pueblo, Colorado native started his first game of the season against the Broncos. An honor roll student at Pueblo County High School, Sperry was once honored by the Broncos as a Hero of the Week.

Sperry's hobbies include rebuilding and customizing classic cars, camping and spending time outdoors.

TAKEO SPIKES

Linebacker
6-2, 242
14th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (San Francisco) - '11
Auburn
Washington County HS
Sandersville, Ga.

The Chargers bolstered the middle linebacker position with the free agent signing of Spikes, a two-time Pro Bowl selection.

A former first-round draft pick, Spikes went to the Pro Bowl following the '03 and '04 seasons in Buffalo. The 13th overall pick of the 1998 draft, Spikes spent his first five seasons with Cincinnati before playing for the Bills, Eagles and 49ers.

The proven veteran leader provides a physical presence in the middle of the defense. Spikes finished 2010 with his highest tackle total in seven seasons and also made three interceptions. Spikes now has 10 seasons with triple-digit tackles and ranks sixth among active NFL players with 1,244 career stops. His 18 career interceptions tie for fifth among active NFL linebackers since 1998 and his six picks since 2008 tie for second. His size 20 neck has generated attention, leading to parody Twitter and Facebook accounts.

NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell and the NFL Players Association appointed Spikes to the first-ever Player Advisory Council in '07. Spikes was part of a six-man committee established to advise Goodell on a wide range of player issues.

Away from football, Spikes launched 51 Ways, Inc. (www.TakeoSpikes51.com) with former NFL linebacker Carlos Emmons in 2003. The non-profit foundation provides financial, spiritual and physical resources to families that have children with cancer or blood disorders. Both players grew up in Georgia and lost family members to cancer.

While a 49er, Spikes starred in his own Bay Area television show, "TKO TV," on Comcast SportsNet.

Spikes answers to the nicknames "TKO" and "Spikedog," but his parents named him "Takeo" after Japanese Prime Minister Takeo Miki, who served from 1974-76. Takeo means "great warrior" in Japanese. His father, Jimmie, worked in a chalk mining plant, and his mom, Lillie, was a high school special education teacher. Spikes' first job experience came with his father in the plant. His brother, Brandon Spikes, is a second-year linebacker for the New England Patriots. Following family tradition, Spikes named his daughter Jakai, also a Japanese word that translates as "beautiful flower."

DARRELL STUCKEY

2nd NFL Season

Draft 4 - '10
Kansas
Washington HS
Kansas City, Kan.

Darrell Stuckey had what basically amounted to a red-shirt year in his rookie season with the Chargers in 2010. Drafted in the fourth round, Stuckey was expected to challenge for the team's starting strong safety spot, but a hamstring injury during training camp slowed him throughout the preseason and into the regular season, costing him a shot at any significant playing time in 2010. Now healthy, Stuckey is eager to demonstrate the skills he showed as a collegian when he was a two-time All-Big 12 choice for the Kansas Jayhawks.

At KU, Stuckey was not only one of the school's most-talented athletes, but also one of it's most popular and academically gifted students. He graduated in four years and was named to the Athletic Director's Honor Roll. Stuckey was one of the Jayhawks' most active student-athletes in the community and that benevolence has carried over to San Diego. He enjoys delivering motivational speeches and regularly volunteers to lend a helping hand with community projects.

As a collegian, Stuckey's 295 career tackles were second-most all time among Jayhawks defensive backs. The only player with more was former NFL great Leroy Irvin, who had 347 from 1976-79. Stuckey was the Jayhawks' first non-linebacker to lead the team in tackles since 2000.

Stuckey has three brothers and three sisters. His younger sister, Denae, played basketball at Iowa State.

Stuckey's hobbies include painting and drawing.

A mountain of a man with an infectious personality and smile, Thomas gained valuable experience in 2010. He played in a handful of games and learned daily in practice and meetings from the veteran players that surrounded him on the Chargers' defensive line.

Chargers' General Manager A.J. Smith thought so highly

MIKE TOLBERT

Running Back
5-9, 243
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Draft 5A – '10
Coastal Carolina
Douglas County HS
Douglasville, Ga.

The Chargers' Offensive Player of the Year, Mike Tolbert had plenty of chances to dance for the Bolts and their fans in 2010. Tolbert has become a fan-favorite for his end zone dance celebrations, and last season he gave the home crowd plenty to celebrate after leading the team and tying for sixth in the NFL with 11 rushing touchdowns. Tolbert and teammate Ryan Mathews help put the legs back in the Chargers' running game as they combined for more than 1,800 yards on the ground, with Tolbert piling up a team-best 735 of them. Tolbert and Mathews became the first running back duo in franchise history with at least seven rushing touchdowns each, and they paired to become the first Chargers duo to eclipse 600 yards on the ground since 1993.

With a do-anything attitude, Tolbert is also one of the Chargers' top special teams players. In 2009, he led the squad with 22 special teams tackles, and even though his total dropped to eight in 2010, he still tied for fourth on the team.

To better stand up to the rigors of the long football season, Tolbert began boxing this offseason in an effort to improve his fitness and conditioning. Twice a week he climbed into the ring at the Community Youth Athletic Center in National City, south of downtown

San Diego and trained with some of the area's top heavy-weight fighters.

Tolbert grew up in Douglasville, Georgia, near Atlanta. He was raised primarily by a single mother, Secelia Tolbert, and his late grandmother, Shirley Walker. While Secelia Tolbert often worked two jobs to support Tolbert and his older sister, April, the two kids spent a good portion of their formative years being looked after by their grandmother. In December 2008, Walker passed away just days before the Chargers met the Cleveland Browns in Ohio. It was a difficult time for Tolbert, who paid tribute to the woman that helped raise him the only way he knew how, by scoring a touchdown on a career-long 66-yard catch-and-run and then pointing to the sky to salute her from the end zone in Cleveland Browns Stadium.

Tolbert came from near obscurity to make the team in 2008, doing it the hard way as an undrafted rookie from Coastal Carolina. He became the first-ever Chanticleer to play for the Chargers.

A car aficionado, Tolbert has an automobile collection that includes a Maserati and a restored 1973 Caprice Classic.

LOUIS VASQUEZ

Guard
6-5, 335
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Draft 3 – '09
Texas Tech
Corsicana HS
Corsicana, Texas

Louis Vasquez endured a rough second NFL season after earning All-Rookie honors during his first. Vasquez plays a physically demanding position for the NFL's No. 1-ranked offense. Injuries forced him out twice in 2010: first a knee injury, and later a neck injury. When healthy, Vasquez started 10 games and the Chargers benefitted from his tough and nasty disposition at the right guard spot.

Vasquez, whose first name is pronounced LEW-iss, is one of only a handful of Mexican-American players in the NFL. He has Aztec Indian heritage on both sides of his family as well. He's also a rarity in his own family as his father stands 5-foot-5 and his mother 5-foot-3. Vasquez is 6-foot-5 and 335 pounds. He hails from a family with a steep and rich boxing background, including his grandfather, after whom he is named. Vasquez has done plenty of boxing himself and his other hobbies include fishing, trap shooting and spending time with family and friends.

BILLY VOLEK

Quarterback
6-2, 214
12th NFL Season
6th with Chargers

Trade (Tennessee) - '06
Fresno State
Clovis West HS
Fresno, Calif.

For the second time in the last four seasons, Billy Volek had the opportunity to leave San Diego in pursuit of a starting job elsewhere. However the veteran quarterback and California native again decided that the grass doesn't get much greener than playing for one of the NFL's most successful franchises while living in America's Finest City, so in July 2011, Volek signed a new two-year contract to stay with the Chargers through the 2012 season.

Volek gives the Chargers an experienced backup who is well-liked and respected in the locker room. In 11 NFL seasons, Volek has played in 37 games and started 10. All 10 starts came with the Tennessee Titans. Since joining the Chargers via trade in October of 2006, Volek has appeared in 13 games.

His most significant action as a Charger came in the fourth quarter of the 2007 AFC Divisional Playoffs at Indianapolis after Philip Rivers was taken to the locker room with a knee injury. Volek came off the bench and led the Bolts on an eight-play, 78-yard touchdown drive. His one-yard quarterback sneak for the go-ahead touchdown with less than five minutes left in the fourth quarter proved to be the game-winning score.

Despite starting only 10 games during his career, Volek holds the distinction of passing for the most yards (2,789) by an NFL QB in his first 10 starts (since 1970). Those 10 starts included a record-breaking two-game stretch in 2004 when he passed for 426 yards against Kansas City and 492 yards at Oakland to become only the fourth player in NFL history to record back-to-back 400-yard passing games. He joined Dan Fouts (1982), Dan Marino (1984) and Phil Simms (1985) as the only quarterbacks to achieve the feat. Volek also became just the second (Simms) to record 900 or more passing yards during a two-game span.

Volek spent 10 years of his childhood in the small town of Walla Walla, Washington, where former Titans teammate Peter Sirmon and former NFL quarterback Drew Bledsoe were raised. Volek, who is the same age as Sirmon and four years younger than Bledsoe, became friends with both future NFL players at an early age. Volek's older brother, Joe, was best friends with Sirmon's older brother, John. The Voleks' dad, John, is a former head football coach at Sacramento State and Fresno (Calif.) City College and is now the athletic director at Sierra College in Rocklin, California.

Volek played collegiately at Fresno State and is one of several quarterbacks from the school who have gone on to have successful NFL careers, including Trent Dilfer, David Carr and Kevin Sweeney. Carr, the first pick in the 2002 NFL Draft, was Volek's backup during his sophomore, junior and senior seasons.

Volek and wife, Kerri, have three kids, daughter, Morgan, and sons, Carter and Benett. His hobby is skiing.

KELLEY WASHINGTON

Wide Receiver
6-3, 217
9th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Free Agent - '10
Tennessee
Sherando HS
Stephens City, Va.

A reliable wide receiver and performer on special teams, Kelley Washington is back for a second go-around in San Diego after signing with the Chargers for the final eight games of the 2010 season. He established nearly an instant connection with quarterback Philip Rivers, who targeted Washington nine times down the stretch on third-down plays, and Washington caught all nine, converting them into first downs.

Originally a third-round pick of the Cincinnati Bengals in 2003, Washington gained national notoriety during for his touchdown dance, dubbed "The Squirrel" during a nationally-televised Sunday Night Football game on NBC. The video is now posted on YouTube and has generated more than 4 million hits. A prep quarterback and safety who was lightly recruited out of high school, Washington opted to pursue a baseball career after the Florida Marlins chose the infielder in the 10th round of the 1997 Major League Baseball draft. From 1997-00, Washington played in 295 minor league games in the Marlins organization as both a shortstop and third baseman. But after batting just .213 with nine home runs and 98 runs batted in for the Marlins, Washington opted to give football another shot, enrolling at the University of Tennessee. As a Volunteer, Washington earned All-America honors as a freshman and applied for the NFL Draft after just his second season in Knoxville.

Two of Washington's close friends and former minor league roommates are Boston Red Sox pitcher Josh Beckett and Minnesota Vikings wide receiver Javon Walker.

ERIC WEDDLE

Free Safety
5-11, 200
5th NFL Season
5th with Chargers

Draft 2 - '07
Utah
Alta Loma HS
Alta Loma, Calif.

A second-team Associated Press All-Pro, Eric Weddle led the secondary with 93 tackles and held down the back line for the NFL's top-ranked unit in both total defense and pass defense in 2010. San Diego ranked 31st among the NFL's 32 teams in pass defense in 2008, Weddle's first season as a starter, but it improved to 11th in 2009 before leading the league in '10. It's the second year in a row that Weddle topped the secondary in total tackles.

So pleased have the Chargers been with Weddle's performance that in July 2011, the team inked the Southern California native to a new five-year contract that will make him one of the highest-paid safeties in the National Football League.

As a first-year starter in 2008, Weddle made an immediate impact. He started all 16 games, ranked second on the team in total tackles, just one behind the team leader, and he set a team record with an 86-yard fumble return for a touchdown against Atlanta. Though he didn't start as a rookie in 2007, Weddle was part of a secondary that led the NFL with 30 interceptions. He capped his first professional season with a timely interception of Peyton Manning at the goal line in the Bolts' Divisional Playoff win over the Indianapolis Colts.

Weddle grew up in Alta Loma, about an hour north of San Diego. His family are long-time Chargers fans.

Weddle and his high school sweetheart, Chanel, were married in La Jolla in July 2005. They have a daughter, Brooklyn Marie, and a son, Gaige. They wed before Eric's junior season at Utah and lived near Utah State in Ogden where she went to school and played soccer for the Aggies. Weddle commuted nearly an hour each way to Salt Lake City where the University of Utah is located for school and football.

KION WILSON

Linebacker
6-0, 240
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Free Agent – '10
South Florida
Raines HS
Jacksonville, Fla.

Staring down adversity and beating long odds is something that most men rarely do, but Kion Wilson isn't most men.

An undrafted free agent who made his way onto San Diego's practice squad out of training camp and later on to the active roster, Wilson's life has been marred by tragedy. The fourth-youngest among eight brothers and sisters, Wilson's father was murdered when he was three. One of his brothers spent time in prison. His brother Kellon was shot and killed during an argument with his girlfriend's estranged husband. His brother, Darius, was shot and killed while working security at a Miami nightclub, and four friends from his Miami neighborhood were also killed during their youth.

Fearing Kion would be next, his mother, Glenda Marshall, sent him to an alternative boarding school and later moved the family to a safer neighborhood in Jacksonville. It was there that Wilson became a standout football player and long-distance runner at Raines High School, which would lead to an opportunity at Mississippi's Pearl River Community College. Wilson racked up 215 tackles in two seasons at Pearl City before returning to Florida and signing on with the University of South Florida. He played two seasons at USF, earning All-Big East Conference honors as a senior before making the leap to the NFL.

Wilson played in just three games as a rookie for the Chargers in 2010. A fluke ankle injury suffered during practice cut his season short, but Wilson still collected five special teams tackles in just three games, including four in the Bolts' October game at Oakland. The Chargers are eager to see if a healthy Wilson can bolster a special teams unit that struggled in a number of areas in 2010.

Wilson's uncle, Elliott Walker, played running back for the San Francisco 49ers in 1978 and his cousin, Cleveland Pratt, played wide receiver and defensive back and coached in the Arena Football League.

MIKE WINDT

Long Snapper

2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Free Agent – '10
Cincinnati
Elder HS
Cincinnati, Ohio

It was through a rather remarkable turn of events that rookie Mike Windt became the Chargers' long snapper in 2010. After injuries sidelined David Binn, James Dearth and Ryan Neill, and the Chargers cut veteran Ethan Albright, they turned to the Cincinnati native and NFL rookie, who was solid through the team's final 11 games. Windt's accurate snaps helped stabilize an erratic season for the Chargers' kicking duo of Nate Kaeding and punter Mike Scifres.

Binn, the Chargers' all-time leader for career games played, is healthy. It appears that he and Windt will compete to be the team's long snapper in 2011.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Signed with Cincinnati as undrafted rookie April 30, 2010...waived Aug. 30...signed two-year contract with San Diego, Oct. 13.

Draft 1 – '11
Illinois
Hialeah HS
Miami, Fla.

The Chargers opened the 2011 NFL Draft by selecting Liuget (LEE-jit), a second-team All-Big Ten choice as a junior at Illinois. A native of Miami, Florida, Liuget had grown homesick and contemplated returning home after his sophomore season in Champaign, Illinois, but some tough love from his mom, Lorene, persuaded him to stick it out. Instead of moping at his situation, Liuget used it as motivation to push himself harder to excel and he lost 25 pounds between his sophomore and junior seasons. Feeling re-invigorated, Liuget had a career year in 2010 and opted to leave school a year early to apply for the NFL Draft. The Chargers fell in love with his toughness, tenacity and relentless approach to the game in making him their first-ever first-round pick from the University of Illinois. Liuget played mostly defensive tackle in college, but the Chargers plan to line him up at defensive end.

Liuget credits his mom and stepdad, George, with being the biggest influences on his life. He has very faint memories of his biological father, DeJa, who was killed while visiting his grandmother in Haiti in 1993. As a tribute to his late father, Liuget wore No. 93 at Illinois.

Liuget is the youngest of five children in his family. He has two older brothers and two older sisters, Ideidre and Latronika, who both serve in the Army.

MARCUS GILCHRIST

Cornerback-Kick Returner
5-10, 193
Rookie

Draft 2A – '11
Clemson
Andrew Wingate HS
High Point, N.C.

The Chargers used their first of two picks in the second round to select Gilchrist, a versatile, durable and strong athlete who is adept at covering receivers both outside and in the slot, and one who is also a legitimate return threat in the kicking game. Gilchrist put up 26 bench-press repetitions at the 2011 NFL Combine, second-most among all defensive backs. It wasn't a surprise as Gilchrist won CU's Strength Training Award during the Spring of 2010 as the Tigers' strongest player pound-for-pound.

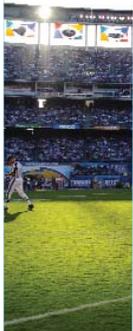

Gilchrist may have inherited some of his strength and toughness from his father, Ronny, a retired United States Marine.

As a senior at Clemson, Gilchrist earned honorable mention All-ACC honors after leading the Tigers with 10 passes defensed and averaging just under 24 yards per kickoff return and more than 10 yards per punt return. Gilchrist's durability is a plus as the young corner tied Clemson's school record by playing in 53 career games.

The Chargers stayed close to home with their first of two picks in the third round, grabbing San Diego State's Brown, the third all-time leading receiver in school history with 209 catches and 3,110 yards, and a two-time All-Mountain West Conference selection. Just the 12th 1,000-yard receiver in school history as a senior in 2010, Brown's 1,342

Todman ranked second in the country in rushing as a junior in '10, racking up 1,695 yards and 14 touchdowns, and became the first unanimous choice for the league's offensive player of the year award since Miami's Gino Torretta in 1992. Draft 7 – '11

The Chargers capped off their 2011 draft class with Gachkar, a first-team All-Big 12 choice by the Associated Press and a solid special teams player. Gachkar led one of the most improved defenses in the nation in 2010 with a team-best 81 tackles. He also led the Tigers in interceptions, forced fumbles, fumble recoveries and blocked kicks. Gachkar has an inspirational story. After his freshman year in 2007, Gachkar was diagnosed with Thoracic Outlet Syndrome. Basically a blood clot developed because his collarbone and rib cage were too close together to allow proper blood flow through his veins. As a result, Gachkar had to have major surgery to remove one of his ribs, and a second surgery later when another clot developed. In total, Gachkar spent more than 20 hours in surgery and nearly a month in the hospital where he lost 30 pounds. The surgeries initially put Gachkar's football future in doubt, but he was diligent in his rehabilitation and fortunately made it back for the 2008 season without missing a single game.

2010 GAME SUMMARIES

Kansas City Chiefs 21, San Diego Chargers 14 Monday, September 13, 2010 Arrowhead Stadium (Kansas City, MO)

The Chargers opened their season on a rainy Monday night in Kansas City's Arrowhead Stadium and fell to the Chiefs, 21-14. The Chargers had four tries to tie the game from inside the Chiefs' six-yard line in the final 1:14 but Kansas City came away with the victory. The Chargers outgained Kansas City 389 to 197 and won the time of possession battle, 37:28 to 22:32. Three big plays were the difference for the opportunistic Chiefs, who scored on a 56-yard run, a 94-yard punt return and a two-yard touchdown catch just three plays after a Chargers fumble and KC return set the Chiefs up with a first down at the Bolts' 12-yard line.

Legedu Naanee had his first career 100-yard game that included career-long 59-yard touchdown catch in 3Q...his five catches and 110 yards were both career highs. Antonio Gates' three-yard TD catch in 1Q was his 60th career TD...34-yard catch to five on 3rd-and-4 set up TD.

Shaun Phillips' six-yard sack in 1Q ended KC three-and-out...Chargers scored on ensuing possession for 7-0 lead...Phillips ended two other KC drives with six-yard TFL on 3rd-and-4 in 2Q and tackle for no gain on 3rd-and-3 play in 4Q.

Steve Gregory led team with seven tackles...his open-field tackle of Jamaal Charles one yard shy of first down on 3rd-and-9 in late 3Q forced punt that resulted in Naanee TD on ensuing possession...Naanee's TD brought Chargers within seven points of Chiefs. C.J. Spillman led team with three special teams tackles.

2010 IN REVIEW

Seattle Seahawks 27, San Diego Chargers 20 Sunday, September 26, 2010 Qwest Field (Seattle, WA)

Five turnovers and two long kickoff returns for touchdowns proved too much to overcome as the Chargers fell, 27-20. The Chargers trailed 17-0 but rallied to tie the game at 20-20 with 6:39 to go in the fourth quarter, however, on the ensuing kickoff Leon Washington went 99 yards for his second return touchdown of the game and the Seahawks reclaimed the lead at 27-20. The Chargers fought til the game's waning seconds, driving twice deep into Seattle territory, however, both drives ended on downs short of the goal line and the Seahawks hung on for the win. The Chargers finished the game with 518 total net yards, their highest output since 512 in a game at Kansas City Oct. 19, 1986. Philip Rivers passed for a team-record 455 yards and threw a career-high 53 passes. Quentin Jammer and Paul Oliver both made big defensive plays in 2Q. Jammer made an over-the-shoulder INT of a 41-yard pass at the goal line and Oliver punched the ball out of Deion Branch's arms just before the goal line on what was going to be a 42-yard TD...instead the ball sailed through the end zone for a touchback. Malcom Floyd scored the Chargers' first TD and had several big third-down catches, converting three of 3rd-and-10 or longer...Buster Davis set up the Floyd TD with a career-long 49-yard catch and finished with a career-best 82 yards. Brandon Siler sacked Matt Hasselbeck in the end zone for a safety to bring the Chargers within 17-9 in 3Q, while totaling a team-high three TFLs and two QB hits. Antonio Gates 12-yard TD catch in 4Q was 63rd of his career for second all-time among TEs...Legedu Naanee caught a two-point pass, the team's first since 2008. Gates finished the game with seven catches, raising his career total to 496 and moved past Lance Alworth (493) for fourth in team history. Shaun Phillips had a sack late in 4Q, 47.5 of his career, to move past Junior Seau (47.0) for fifth on the team's all-time sacks list. Nate Kaeding raised his career point total to 767 on his 3Q 29-yard field goal to overtake Rolf Benirschke (766) for third in team history.

SAN DIEGO CHARGERS

Oakland Raiders 35, San Diego Chargers 27 Sunday, October 10, 2010 Oakland Alameda-Coliseum (Oakland, CA)

The Chargers gave up the game's first 12 points on special teams miscues, yet rallied to take the lead before ultimately falling to the Raiders, 35-27. The game, which took nearly four hours to play, featured a punt blocked out of the end zone for a safety, another blocked and returned for a touchdown, a fumble returned for a touchdown and three lost fumbles by San Diego. The Chargers fought back from the 12-0 deficit to take a 24-15 lead, but Oakland rallied as well with two scores and the Raiders grabbed a 28-27 advantage late in the fourth quarter. The Chargers mounted a late drive and were within range to try a potential game-winning field goal, but a costly holding penalty was followed one play later by a fumble return touchdown for the Raiders, who held on and picked up their first win over the Chargers since 2003.

Antonio Gates caught 19-yard TD pass in 2Q, tying team record for ninth-straight game with TD catch (Lance Alworth, 1963).

Malcom Floyd had 213 yards receiving, eighth 200-yard game in team history, and tied with Alworth for fourth-highest in team history...was most yards in game by Chargers receiver 1985...Floyd had 41-yard TD catch in 3Q to give Chargers 24-15 lead...had team-record 154 yards reciving in first half.

Philip Rivers passed for 431 yards, ninth-best in team history...290 yards in first half was career high.

Kevin Burnett led defense with 11 TTs and two sacks.

2010 IN REVIEW

St. Louis Rams 20, San Diego Chargers 17 Sunday, October 17, 2010 Edward Jones Dome (St. Louis, MO)

The Chargers dug themselves into an early hole and never were able to fully recover. The Rams rushed for 117 yards and rookie quarterback Sam Bradford completed 58 percent of his passes for 198 yards with a touchdown and no interceptions. St. Louis' defense though was the key to the game as the Rams' defenders sacked Philip Rivers seven times. For the Chargers, Legedu Naanee (hamstring) did not play, and both Antonio Gates (leg) and Malcom Floyd (hamstring) left the game early due to injuries. Philip Rivers (1,344) had 22 completions to move past Stan Humphries (1,335) for third-most in team history.

Patrick Crayton had a game-high 117 yards receiving.

Kevin Burnett had a sack, his fifth in the last three games.

Mike Scifres averaged 59.5 yards on six punts, while also handling kickoff duties for Nate Kaeding, who injured his groin during pregame warmups.

Buster Davis caught a TD pass, his first since 2007.

New England Patriots 23, San Diego Chargers 20 Sunday, October 24, 2010 Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

Four first-half turnovers doomed the Chargers as they dug themselves a 23-6 hole, only to see a late rally fall short. Three fumbles and an interception led to 10 Patriots points and were the difference as New England led 13-3 at the half. The loss came at the expense of a terrific defensive effort as the Chargers held the Patriots to just 179 yards of total offense.

Philip Rivers led two 4Q TD drives, including four-yard TD pass to Antonio Gates for 20th straight game with TD pass, tying Dan Fouts' team record. Gates (6,763) moved past Kellen Winslow (6,741) for sixth in receiving yards by tight ends in NFL history...four-yard TD catch in 4Q was eighth of season, extending his NFL record of consecutive seasons with eight or more TDs to seven.

Antwan Barnes, in just his second game with Chargers, had career-high two sacks, both on third down plays, along with three QB pressures on third-downs that all led to NE punts...his two sacks for 19 yards in losses both forced FG tries.

Antwan Applewhite and Kevin Burnett both had key TFLs during late NE drive that set Chargers up for potential GW drive...Applewhite's stop came on fourth-and-one at NE's own 49-yard line.

San Diego Chargers 33, Tennessee Titans 25 Sunday, October 31, 2010 Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers overcame several special teams miscues, including a blocked punt for a safety and a botched point after try, to rally from a 19-7 deficit for a 33-25 victory. Several players credited Head Coach Norv Turner's motivational halftime talk, and San Diego's defense, which held the Titans to 65 yards rushing, made a late stand in the final minute to close out the victory.

Philip Rivers passed for 305 yards and raised his season total to 2,649, most ever in first eight games of season...previous mark was Dan Fouts' 2,580 yards in 1982...was Rivers' fifth 300-yard game of season, tying his career-high...Rivers also threw TD pass in 21st consecutive game, breaking tie with Fouts for team record. Rivers threw two TD passes...first to Antonio Gates was their 41st hookup, tying Fouts' and Kellen Winslow's team record for TDs between QB and TE...also tied Fouts & Winslow and John Elway & Shannon Sharpe for fourth-most between QB-TE duo in NFL history.

Rivers turned around game in 3Q by avoiding sack and converting third-down pass to Seyi Ajrotutu that kept TD drive alive and ignited 20-point run for 27-19 lead. Gates finished the game with 123 yards, his 18th career 100-yard game, tying John Jefferson for seventh-most in team history...one of his catches, 48-yard TD, was season-long.

Mike Tolbert scored seventh TD in as many games...36-yard run in 3Q was season-long. Offensive line cleared way for 156 rush yards and allowed only one sack in 37 pass plays.

Mike Scifres had fourth punt block of season in 1Q...later though, hit 48-yarder from end zone late in 4Q prior to team's final defensive stand.

San Diego Chargers 36, Indianapolis Colts 14 Sunday, November 28, 2010 Lucas Oil Stadium (Indianapolis, IN)

Playing on a short week, the Chargers turned in one of their most dominating performances of the season, defeating the Colts, 36-14, before a national television audience on NBC's Sunday Night Football. The Chargers intercepted Peyton Manning a season-high four times, returning two for touchdowns, and held the Colts to a season-low 24 yards rushing. It was the first time since 1961 that the Chargers returned two interceptions for touchdowns in the same game. And for the fifth time in team history and first since 2000, the Chargers did not allow a rushing first down. The Chargers added a fifth takeaway on a fumble and ended a third-quarter Colts' drive on downs. The Chargers led 16-14 at the half and outscored the Colts, 20-0, in the second half to put the game away. Key to the game was the Chargers' kickoff coverage. Indianapolis averaged just 16.7 yards per on nine returns, and after the game, Chargers Head Coach Norv Turner awarded every member of the kickoff coverage unit with a Game Ball. Turner won his 100th career game, including playoffs.

Philip Rivers posted highest career completion percentage (.826) in going 19 of 23...he completed last 13 passes and was perfect 11 of 11 (113 yards) in second half. Rivers did not throw TD pass, however, ending team-record and NFL's longest active streak of consecutive regular-season games with at least one (23).

Nate Kaeding kicked career-high five FDs, including season-long 50-yarder. Kevin Burnett earned Game Ball from Head Coach Norv Turner...scored Chargers' first TD 29-yard INT return and tied for team lead with 10 TTs...also had two TFLs.

Stephen Cooper had INT and FF...both led to Kaeding FGs. Mike Tolbert rushed for 103 yards and scored his ninth TD of the season.

Shaun Phillips had three TFLs, sack and two QB pressures. Eric Weddle also earned Game Ball...INT on 3rd-and-9 and 41-yard return for TD...also broke up two deep passes intended for Reggie Wayne.

Antonio Garay led team with three QB hits and made play of night, driving guard Jeff Linkenbach into Manning and forcing him to ground for Phillips to sack.

Antoine Cason helped end 3Q drive on downs with PBU vs. Wayne...later iced game with team-leading fourth INT of season.

Pat Watkins led squad with three solo STTs.

Oakland Raiders 28, San Diego Chargers 13 Sunday, December 5, 2010 Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers suffered their first December loss since 2005 as Oakland converted two San Diego turnovers into 14 points and led 21-3 at the half. The Chargers had a couple of opportunities to cut into the Raiders lead before the half, but successive drives ended in Oakland territory, one on downs and another on a missed field goal. In the second half, the Chargers drew to within 21-13, but the Raiders answered with a touchdown drive of their own and held on to defeat the Bolts. The Chargers rushed for a season-low 21 yards and for just the second time ever were held without a rushing first down. Oakland, meanwhile, rushed for 251 yards.

Philip Rivers completed his first pass and was incomplete on his second, officially ending consecutive completions streak at 14, tied for second-most in team history with Drew Brees (2005) and Jim Harbaugh (1999)...he finished previous week's game in Indianapolis with 13 straight completions.

In 4Q, Rivers and Antonio Gates hooked up for their 42nd career TD, fourth-most by any QB-TE tandem in NFL history.

Kelley Washington caught pass to become 16th different player to catch pass from Rivers in 2009, most of any team in NFL.

Brandon Siler started for injured Stephen Cooper and had career-high 12 TTs. Antwan Applewhite tallied sack and two TFLs.

2010 IN REVIEW

Cincinnati Bengals 34, San Diego Chargers 20 Sunday, December 26, 2010 Paul Brown Stadium (Cincinnati, OH)

The Chargers' quest for a fifth-consecutive AFC West title ended in Cincinnati as the 3-11 Bengals shocked the Chargers on a frigid day in Ohio with snow flurries passing through the Queen City. A mishandled reverse on the game's opening play set the wheels in motion for a Bengals touchdown and a slow start for the Chargers, who trailed 13-3 at the half. With the wind at their backs to start the second half, the Chargers scored a touchdown to cut the deficit to 13-10, but an interception on the final play of the quarter proved costly as the Bengals answered with a touchdown to extend the lead back to 10. The Chargers were able to get within a single score once again on a field goal, but the Bengals caught the Chargers on a quick-snap play and extended their lead to 14 points.

Mike Tolbert left field on stretcher following collision in 1Q, suffering neck sprain and shoulder contusion...he did not return.

Ryan Mathews scored Chargers' first TD on career-long 23-yard run.

Kelley Washington caught TD in 4Q...11th Charger to catch TD pass in 2010.

Antwan Applewhite set up Chargers' first points of game with FF against Cedric Benson...Ogemdi Nwagwu recovered...in 3Q, Applewhite and Antonio Gary combined for (-5) TFL on Benson to force punt...Bolts scored first TD on ensuing possession...Applewhite finished game with season-high nine TTs.

Eric Weddle led team with season-high 12 TTs.

Jacques Cesaire tied season high with two TFLs.

San Diego Chargers 33, Denver Broncos 28 Sunday, January 2, 2011 Invesco Field (Denver, CO)

The Chargers closed out the 2010 season with a victory to finish 9-7. After falling behind early, 7-0, the Chargers scored on six straight possessions, posting 26 unanswered points for a 26-7 lead. The Broncos rallied late and had a chance to steal a victory in the game's waning moments, but San Diego's defense refused to buckle and preserved the win. The Chargers outgained the Broncos by 110 total yards, 447-337, and in time of possession, 34:22-25:38.

Ryan Mathews had season-bests of 26 carries, 120 yards and three TDs, scoring from 27, 12 and 31 yards...first three-TD performance by Chargers RB since 2008.

Nate Kaeding booted four FGs, including three longer than 40 yards (42, 45 and 47).

Kelley Washington kept the Chargers' first TD drive moving with 16-yard catch on 3rd-and-7...while Vincent Jackson added 19-yarder on another 3rd-and-7...Jackson later made an acrobatic catch on pass he tipped to his self for 26 yards on 3rd-and-5 during FG drive.

Malcom Floyd had one of catches of year, 41-yard one-hander on play that also drew pass interference flag...catch led to Kaeding FG.

Shaun Phillips blew up double-reverse for 18-yard loss that led to late 2Q punt and Charger FG before halftime.

Antoine Cason's season-long 62-yard PR led to FG for 26-7 lead.

Brandon Lang first-career sack in 4Q vs. Tim Tebow.

2008 AFC Divisional Playoffs Pittsburgh Steelers 35, San Diego Chargers 24 Sunday, Jan. 11, 2009 - Heinz Field (Pittsburgh, PA)

The Chargers' run through AFC Playoffs came to abrupt end in Pittsburgh as Steelers dealt Chargers 35-24 setback on cold and snowy day in Steel City. Chargers staked out to early lead on long touchdown catch by Vincent Jackson and led or were tied for most of first half, but game's momentum changed right before and right after halftime. Down 10-7, Pittsburgh drove 66 yards for touchdown just before halftime, giving them their first lead of night at 14-10. Steelers got ball first coming out of locker room and drove 77 yards for another score that extended lead to 21-10. Darren Sproles' 63-yard kickoff return gave ball to Chargers at Pittsburgh's 23-yard line, but Philip Rivers' first-down pass was tipped and intercepted by Steelers. Though replays showed ball appeared to hit ground, play withstood instant replay challenge and Pittsburgh maintained possession. Chargers' defense held and forced punt, but punt inadvertently hit unknowing Eric Weddle and Steelers recovered and took over at Chargers' 23. Again Chargers defense would hold, stopping Pittsburgh on downs at one, but with Bolts offense unable to get out of shadow of its own goal line, Steelers got ball again in San Diego territory and 49 yards later, Steelers scored to take 28-10 lead. San Diego managed pair of late touchdowns, including 62-yarder by Sproles, who finished game with 274 all-purpose yards, but Pittsburgh held Bolts at bay and held on for win.

The Chargers' 2004 postseason came to early end as in 20-17 overtime loss to New York Jets in Wild Card Playoff Game at Qualcomm Stadium. sellout crowd of 67,536 braved elements as Drew Brees led furious fourth quarter comeback during which Chargers outscored New York 10-0 to send game into overtime. Given new life by roughing-the-passer penalty on what appeared to be San Diego's last play of game, Brees found Antonio Gates in end zone for one-yard touchdown pass with 11 seconds left to send game to extra period. It was only second overtime playoff game in team history. Both teams traded possessions in extra period before Nate Kaeding's game-winning attempt from 40 yards sailed wide right, opening door for New York to drive down and kick game winner with five seconds left in overtime. Keenan McCardell scored game's first touchdown on 26-yard catch. He was initially ruled out of bounds, but San Diego challenged call and ruling was reversed. It was McCardell's sixth-career touchdown catch in postseason. Brees opened game by completing his first eight passes and on McCardell touchdown drive, he was 5 of 5 for 61 yards and touchdown. He finished night 31 of 42 (.738), setting team playoff record for completion percentage.

Super Bowl XXIX

San Francisco 49ers 49, San Diego Chargers 26

Sunday, Jan. 29, 1995 - Joe Robbie Stadium (Miami, FL)

The Chargers were no match for high-powered San Francisco offense as 49ers scored early and often en route to handing San Diego 49-26 defeat. Steve Young passed for four first-half touchdowns as 49ers jumped out to 28-10 lead at halftime. Barage continued in second half and Young finished night with 325 yards and six touchdown passes. Chargers' offense was forced to play catch-up most of game, and as result, quarterback Stan Humphries passed 49 times, completing 24 for 275 yards with one touchdown, but two interceptions proved costly. Natrone Means became youngest player in Super Bowl history to score touchdown when 22-year-old dived over 49ers' defense for a one-yard scoring plunge in first quarter. Chargers rookie Andre Coleman tied Super Bowl record for longest kickoff return when he went 98 yards for touchdown in third quarter. Following kickoff return, Humphries passed to Mark Seay for first two-point conversion in Super Bowl history. Later, after 30-yard Humphries to Tony Martin touchdown pass late in fourth quarter, Humphries completed his second two-point conversion of game, this time to Alfred Pupunu. Linebackers Dennis Gibson and Junior Seau led Chargers with 11 tackles apiece, while Seau added sack. Raylee Johnson paced Chargers with two sacks.

1992 AFC Divisional Playoffs Miami Dolphins 31, San Diego Chargers 0 Sunday, Jan. 10, 1993 - Joe Robbie Stadium (Miami, FL)

The Chargers history-making season ended with 31-0 loss to Miami Dolphins in Joe Robbie Stadium. Intermittent downpours and soggy field slowed both teams early as each squad was forced to punt on their first four series. Second quarter proved disastrous for San Diego. Stan Humphries was intercepted three times with each leading to Dolphins touchdown and 21-0 halftime lead for Miami. San Diego also suffered fumbled snap on punt attempt in period. Chargers could not get on track in second half either, as Miami chalked up 10 more points and forced two more San Diego turnovers. Chargers' defense was on field most of game (37:08). Junior Seau recorded personal-best 19 tackles. Dolphins special teams put Chargers in poor field position on several occasions, including punts, which pinned San Diego's offense back on its own five, six, four and 15-yard lines.

1965 AFL Championship Game Buffalo Bills 23, San Diego Chargers 0 Sunday, Dec. 26, 1965 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

It was the same two teams that met in 1964 Championship game with scene shifting from East to West Coast. But there obviously was no hometown advantage for San Diego Chargers. Coach Lou Saban's Buffalo Bills found 59-degree weather much to their liking in San Diego's Balboa Stadium, rolling to 23-0 victory before 30,361 downhearted fans. San Diego's offensive unit was unable to generate any type of serious attack after first quarter and Jack Kemp-led Bills broke loose in second period. Kemp teamed with end Ernie Warlick for initial score, 18-yard pass play capping 60-yard drive. Just 2:20 later, Bills struck again on 74-yard punt return by Butch Byrd and at half-time, Buffalo was ahead 14-0. In second half, Chargers were able to contain Buffalo's ground game and Kemp's passing, but couldn't stop talented toe of place-kicker Pete Gogolak. His soccer-style kicks connected twice in third quarter from 11 and 39 yards and once more in final period from 32 yards.

SAN DIEGO CHARGERS

1964 AFL Championship Game Buffalo Bills 20, San Diego Chargers 7 Sunday, Dec. 26, 1964 - War Memorial Stadium (Buffalo, NY)

Lou Saban sent his Buffalo Bills out for post-Christmas gift after three lean years and one near miss in American Football League. Bills found what they were looking for and wrapped up defending champion San Diego Chargers, 20-7, for AFL Championship before 40,242 howling hometown fans. Chargers started out as if they meant to repeat their 51-10 conquest of Boston Patriots in 1963 title game. They boomed from their own 20 in four plays with pay-off 26-yard strike from retiring quarterback Tobin Rote to tight end Dave Kocourek. Keith Lincoln's PAT at 2:16 of first period was last time San Diego got on scoreboard. Disaster soon struck visitors when Lincoln was forced out of action with broken rib on "the tackle heard around world" by Buffalo linebacker Mike Stratton. Coupled with absence of Lance Alworth, injury to Lincoln left Chargers offense impotent. Buffalo forged to 13-7 halftime lead on field goals from 12 and 17 yards by rookie ace Pete Gogolak and four-yard touchdown run by halfback Wray Carlton. Bills tallied again in final quarter on sneak by quarterback Jack Kemp.

1963 AFL Championship Game San Diego Chargers 51, Boston Patriots 10 Sunday, Jan. 5, 1964 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

Before 30,127 in Balboa Stadium and 30 million more on national television, Keith Lincoln ran, caught and passed like no other athlete ever has in professional title match as Californians crumbled Boston Patriots, 51-10. Chargers' offense produced 610 yards. Lincoln accounted for 349 of them in virtuoso performance that included touchdown sprint of 67 yards, touchdown reception of 25 yards, 206 yards gained rushing, 123 gained pass receiving and 20 gained passing. Lincoln's heroics were mightily abated by others on San Diego team that played with brilliance. It was powerhouse show by team that had failed in two previous tries to win AFL title. But Patriots, with league's proudest defensive outfit, were no match for San Diegans. Splendidly prepared by Sid Gilman to combat Boston's almost constantly rushing linebackers, Chargers scored on their fourth scrimmage play, as well as their sixth and 10th. Patriots' ground attack suffered after fullback Larry Garron incurred head injury midway through second period. Garron later returned to game but remained in it only briefly.

The 1961 American Football League Championship game in San Diego's Balboa Stadium was carbon copy of previous season's title game in that Houston Oilers beat San Diego Chargers 10-3. On Jan. 1, 1961, Oilers edged Chargers, 24-16, in Houston's Jeppesen Stadium. live audience of 29,556 fans and nationwide television audience estimated in vicinity of 40 million viewers witnessed monument to defensive football at its best. crowd at stadium was limited because game was played on Christmas Eve and game was telecast into Los Angeles area and many San Diegans received LA's ABC affiliate, Channel 7. Oilers scored on 46-yard field goal by George Blanda midway through second quarter and added clincher, 35-yard touchdown pass by Blanda to Billy Cannon, late in third quarter. Chargers only scoring came on 12-yard field goal early in final period. Indication of evenness of ballgame is that both clubs had total net offense of 256 yards.

HISTORY OF CHARGERS UNIFORM

Helmet was white with gray facemask. It had dark blue bolt and black numbers outlined in gold. Home jersey was Collegiate blue with white numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in gold. White strip on each shoulder had dark blue bolt outlined in gold. Road jersey was white with Collegiate blue numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in gold and white lightning bolts on sleeves outlined in gold. Was also Collegiate blue strip on each shoulder with white bolt outlined in gold. Pants were white with dark blue lightning bolt outlined in gold running down each leg. Owner Barron Hilton chose lightning bolts because he associated "Charge" of lightning with lightning bolt. He also liked bolts that were on helmets of Air Force Academy football team, but wanted something slightly different, so had "Chargers Bolt" designed to be different and placed on uniforms.

1961-65

Bolt on helmet, shoulders and pants is changed to gold. On home jersey, helmet and pants, bolt is outlined in blue. On road jersey, it is outlined in white.

1966

Bolt on helmet is changed to dark blue. Pants are changed to gold with solid white stripe running down each leg, outlined in blue. Stripe replaces lightning bolt.

1967

Gold bolt is placed back on helmet with blue outline. Home jersey is darker shade of blue and has white numbers on front, back and sleeves, and white strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt. Road jersey had darker blue numbers also on front, back and sleeves and blue strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt. Lightning bolt is placed back on pants, dark blue and outlined in white.

1968-71

Home jersey is changed to Powder blue with white numbers on front, back and sleeves with white strip on each shoulder and gold lightning bolt outlined in blue. Road jersey is still white with Powder blue numbers on front, back and sleeves, and Powder blue strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt outlined in white.

1972

Lightning bolt on pants is again replaced by solid white stripe running down each leg, outlined in Powder blue.

1973-78

Numbers on home uniform are changed to gold outlined in white. Numbers on road uniform remain Powder blue outlined in gold.

1979-83

Helmet is changed to Navy blue with gold facemask and gold lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and white. Primary jersey is white with Royal blue numbers outlined in white and gold. Secondary jersey is Royal blue and features gold numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in blue and white. Lightning bolt is brought back to pants. It is white with Royal blue outline.

1984

White lightning bolt on pants is placed inside blue strip. Patch is worn on front of jersey celebrating Silver Anniversary of Chargers being original AFL franchise.

1985

Home jersey is changed to Navy blue with gold numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in Navy blue and white. There was white strip on each shoulder that had gold lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue. Road jersey is white with Navy blue numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in white and gold, and Navy blue strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and white. Strip on pants is changed to Navy blue. Lightning bolt on pants is gold with Navy blue and white outline.

Number on front, back and sleeves of home jersey is changed to white with Navy blue and gold outline.

Lightning bolt on helmet is changed from gold to white and features Navy blue and gold outline. Facemask on helmet is changed from gold to Navy blue. White strip on Navy blue home jersey is removed, leaving white lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and gold. Lightning bolt on shoulders of road jersey is changed to white with Navy blue and gold outline and remains on Navy blue strip. Lightning bolt on pants is removed and replaced with Navy blue strip outlined in white and gold.

1988-89

Road pants are changed to Navy blue with white stripe down each pant leg outlined in Navy blue and gold.

1990-91

White lightning bolt returns to pants. On home white pants, it is outlined in Navy blue and gold and is in blue strip down each pant leg. On road Navy blue pants, there is just white lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and gold down each pant leg. There is no strip on road pants.

1992-06

Uniforms feature Navy blue jerseys and white pants for most home games, white jerseys and Navy pants for road games, and Powder blue jerseys with white pants for designated home games. On all jerseys, bolt has been moved down sleeve, below shoulder. Bolt is Gold and outlined in both powder blue and Navy. On Navy and Powder blue jerseys, bolt is in white strip, and on white jerseys, bolt is in Navy blue strip. Numbers are now on shoulder above bolt. Front of all jerseys have Chargers scripted across front above numbers and below NFL shield. Team name, numbers and player's names all feature new font. Home white pants feature strip down side of each pant leg with curved bolt in Navy strip to be worn with Navy jerseys and Powder blue strip to be worn with Powder blue jerseys. Navy pants feature same bolt inside of white strip down each pant leg. Helmet is changed to metallic-white and features Gold bolt outlined in Powder blue and Navy.

QUALCOMM STADIUM

Qualcomm Stadium, the Chargers' home since 1967, underwent an expansion in 1997 that included the addition of 11,500 seats, a club level, 37 new suites and a new west-end Jumbotron screen.

The centerpiece of the renovated stadium was the Club level. Chargers season ticket holders who purchase seats on the Club level enjoy amenities exclusive to Club members. The 7,800 Club seats are wider and padded, and come equipped with an attached drink holder. Club members enjoy wait service at their seats, featuring a menu complete with a variety of food specialties, as well as the comfort of four fan-friendly lounges where they can relax in an air-conditioned setting before, during and after games. Restrooms on the Club level also are upgraded.

The former Jack Murphy Stadium was renamed Qualcomm Stadium after the Qualcomm Corporation contributed $18 million for naming rights. Additionally, the total number of parking spaces at the stadium was increased to 19,000, including 461 handicapped spaces, making the parking lot at Qualcomm Stadium the second-largest in the National Football League. There was a significant increase in restroom capacity at the stadium, with the number of women's facilities almost doubled and the men's restroom capacity increased by 33 percent.

San Diego Stadium was originally built in 1967 as a home for the Chargers at a cost of $27 million. It was dedicated at a Chargers-Lions game on August 20, 1967, before a crowd of 45,988. The 1997 renovation marks the second major facelift to occur at the stadium. Originally built to a capacity of 52,000, the stadium was expanded in 1984 to increase seating capacity to 60,100. The most recent renovation increased the seating capacity at the stadium to approximately 70,000.

The team played before its first-ever sellout crowd on December 3, 1967, when 52,661 turned out to see the Chargers battle the Oakland Raiders.
