ALEX G. SPANOS

Owner

Alex Spanos and his wife Faye are shining examples of how the American spirit of hard work and determination can pay off for those willing to follow their dreams.

In 1951 at the age of 27, Alex Spanos decided he could no longer support his growing family on $40 per week working in his father's bakery. So he borrowed $800, purchased a used catering truck and set out on his own by providing catering and support services for the migrant farm workers in California's Central Valley.

From those humble beginnings, Spanos' tireless work ethic built one of the leading real estate and development companies in the industry, and today he is the patriarch of one of the most accomplished and philanthropic families in the United States.

A.G. Spanos Companies is among the nation's largest family-owned construction companies, and his personal commitment to quality and integrity is now carried on by his family in the daily operation and management of the San Diego Chargers as well as the 10 companies that bear his name.

Spanos made family part of his formula for business success. The A.G. Spanos organization, including the Chargers, is a family-run operation. Spanos' amazing journey and his passion for giving back is outlined in his autobiography, "Sharing the Wealth: My Story," a compelling first-hand account of the events and decisions in his life that became his basic fundamentals for success.

His success in the construction and development industry allowed him to pursue many dreams, including purchasing the Chargers on Aug. 1, 1984. Alex turned over the day-to-day operations of the Chargers to his oldest son,

Dean, in 1994. Today he enjoys retirement and watching sons, Dean and Michael, along with grandsons, A.G. and John, guide the Chargers organization to success.

Spanos' community spirit and generosity are renowned California and around the world. Few can match the benevolence and philanthropy that Alex and Faye have shown through their support of deserving institutions and community-service efforts. San Diegans have Spanos to thank for the huge economic windfall of two Super Bowls and a Republican National Convention to San Diego. In addition to the millions of dollars provided personally by the Spanos family, the Chargers Community Foundation, which Spanos established, has delivered more than $11 million to help San Diego's youth by supporting education as well as health and fitness programs.

In 2008 the President of the Hellenic Republic, Mr. Karolos Papoulias, awarded Spanos the Medal of the Commander of the Order of Honor. The honor came in recognition of the many contributions to his country of heritage, Greece.

These acts of caring demonstrate the commitment of a man whose rags-to-riches story has been an inspiring example for others. Though his life has taken him places he never dreamed possible, Spanos continues to reside in his hometown of Stockton, California.

Alex and Faye are celebrating 64 years of marriage in 2012. And they will celebrate with their four children – Dean, Dea, Alexis, Michael and their spouses – 15 grandchildren, and three great grandsons.

DEAN A. SPANOS

Chairman of the Board — President

The Chargers have become one of the NFL's most successful and respected franchises under the leadership of Chairman of the Board - President Dean Spanos.

Spanos has provided the direction, resources and environment to build and maintain consistent success. As a result, the Chargers won 87 games during the past eight seasons (2004-11), including five AFC West titles (2004, 2006-09) and three playoff victories. Only three teams won more games during that span.

Spanos became President of the Chargers early in 1994, the same year the team culminated its most memorable season in team history with an appearance in Super Bowl XXIX.

Spanos' leadership is felt throughout the National Football League as well as all Spanos corporate entities. As a member of the Management Council Executive Committee (CEC), he played an integral role last year in negotiating the NFL's new labor agreement. He serves as chairman of the NFL's Business Ventures Committee, which has oversight regarding various league commercial activities, including consumer products, sponsorship, events, marketing and new business initiatives. He also serves on the League's International and Legislative Committees.

In addition, as president of the A.G. Spanos Companies, Dean and his brother, Michael, oversee all construction operations nationwide.

Spanos' commitment to San Diego and the team is undeniable. He has dedicated years of hard work and millions of dollars to develop a plan to give San Diego a modern Super Bowl-quality stadium and secure a long-term home for their football team. The reason for this bond: Dean, his wife Susie, and their two sons, A.G. and John, proudly have called San Diego home for more than 27 years.

Spanos' efforts to build a special relationship between the team and its fans have helped the Chargers become one of San Diego's most popular and talked-about institutions. These efforts were acknowledged in 2006 when the Chargers were named the League's most fan-friendly team by Fans-Voice.com. Nothing grabs the attention of San Diegans like the Chargers, whose games have become the highlight of weekends during the season. Television ratings of games are unsurpassed while day-to-day news of the team dominates local talk shows and newscasts.

TRADITION OF GIVING

Spanos has continued the long-standing tradition of community service and support established by the Spanos family and the Chargers. For Dean and Susie – who just celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary, this commitment comes from the heart.

This past offseason, Dean and his family as well as the entire Chargers community were shaken by the sudden passing of Chargers iconic linebacker Junior Seau. Dean and his wife Susie hosted a "Celebration of Life" for Seau. The event was seen and heard live by more than 150,000 San Diegans, making it possible for a grieving community to come together, heal and pay tribute to one of San Diego's native sons.

The Spanos family is recognized as one of pro football's most philanthropic families and one of Southern California's most active and caring contributors. Their financial and emotional support of youth sports and education in San Diego is unmatched.

In 2010, the Association of Fundraising Professionals recognized Spanos and the Chargers as San Diego's Outstanding Philanthropic Corporation, one of the most prestigious awards for community service.

"I'm fortunate to be in a position to help people and organizations that need and deserve our support. My family is proud to be a part of the San Diego community," Spanos said.

The Chargers Community Foundation continues to be a leader in assisting schools, honoring volunteers, supporting youth sports and aiding critical causes important to the community. The Foundation and the Spanos family have provided more than $11 million to support a wide range of services and resources for programs directly affecting youth and families in the county.

The Foundation's largest ongoing program, Chargers Champions, was created in 1999 specifically to help San Diego County's schools and students. The program has surpassed the $4.5 million mark in providing direct assistance to local schools, teachers and students.

The focus of Chargers Champions is to improve the fitness levels of students in the county. It provides grants directly to San Diego County schools for fitness, nutrition and athletic programs on area campuses.

Additional examples of Spanos' largesse are too many to count. In 2000 local student-athletes received a giant boost when the Spanos family and Chargers Community Foundation supplied the initial funding to organize the first-ever freshman football and girls volleyball programs in the 16 San Diego City high schools. This major public-private partnership created more than 1,000 extracurricular opportunities for students.

Dean Spanos, continued

Youth football in San Diego has known no greater champion than the Spanos family and the Chargers. Their support of the California Interscholastic Federation's (CIF) annual high school football championship games allows the games to be played in Qualcomm Stadium. The Alex Spanos All-Star Classic, the longest-running high school all-star football game in California, is another example of their support. This devotion to youth football led the national Pop Warner organization to name the Chargers its 2007 NFL Team of the Year.

In 2007, when wildfires ravaged San Diego County for the second time in five years, Spanos jumped to the forefront with a $1 million donation to aid affected families and the recovery effort. He made an identical $1 million contribution immediately following the wildfires that hit the community in 2003.

Spanos also is a staunch supporter of San Diego's Police, Fire and Sheriff's departments. Thanks to his generosity, Critical Communications Centers have been upgraded and mobile command units for the Police department have been purchased. Spanos' financial support enabled local agencies to purchase wildfire fighting gear as well as other fire-fighting equipment. And in response to an increase in child abduction cases, Spanos hosted and paid for critical law enforcement training classes for the Sheriff's department.

Spanos continues to be a major force in San Diego's business and civic communities. He has been a top contributor to Rady Children's Hospital, the San Diego Blood Bank, the Huntington's Disease Society of America, San Diego State University's Campanile Foundation, University of San Diego, STAR/PAL, the San Diego Police Foundation, the San Diego Hall of Champions and the San Diego High School Sports Association.

Dean and his father, Chargers Owner Alex Spanos, secured Super Bowl XXXII (1998) for the City of San Diego, a huge economic benefit for the community. Super Bowl XXXVII in January 2003 brought more than $300 million to the San Diego economy and marked the second time in five years that the San Diego region enjoyed the financial windfall of hosting a Super Bowl.

COMMUNITY HONORS

Community honors come frequently to Dean and his wife, Susie.

Dean and Susie received the 2012 Herb Klein Spirit of San Diego Award from the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce at the organization's annual awards dinner. In 2011 the Salvation Army recognized the Chargers' dedication to helping San Diego's homeless citizens during their annual Golden Bells ceremony. The award is given to local leaders for their efforts to improve their community and shine a light on people in need. In 2010 the American Diabetes Association honored Spanos at its annual Fathers of the Year Dinner. In 2007, the local Salvation Army named Dean and Susie as their Most Valuable Philanthropists.

Spanos was honored in 2006 when President George W. Bush appointed him as a Board of Trustees member of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. Also in 2006, he was the honored recipient of the Golden Achievement Award from the Boys & Girls Clubs of San Diego. In addition that year, Junior Achievement of San Diego honored him for his community leadership and specifically for his support of youth education initiatives by inducting him into its Hall of Fame.

The Warner Award, the top honor of the national Pop Warner football organization, was bestowed on him for his commitment to youth football and its Little Scholars education initiative in 2005. The San Diego Chapter of the National Football Foundation also presented Spanos with its highest honor, the Distinguished American Award. In 2004, the Police Historical Society presented him with their first Cota Award for community philanthropy and support of law enforcement. Dean and Susie received the Harold Leventhal Community Service Award in 2003, the top national award of the Huntington's Disease Society of America.

Spanos had the unique distinction of being a second-generation recipient of the renowned Ellis Island Medal of Honor in 2002, 16 years after his father was similarly honored. He was also inducted into the DeMolay International Alumni Hall of Fame in 2002. DeMolay International is an organization dedicated to preparing young men to lead successful and productive lives.

In 2001, the San Diego Hall of Champions Sports Museum presented Dean and Susie with its Community Champions Award, the Hall's most distinguished award.

BUSINESSMAN AND FAMILY MAN

Dean Alexander Spanos was born in Stockton, California. He earned varsity letters in football and golf at Lincoln High School in Stockton. Dean received Lincoln High School's Hall of Fame Award, which honors alumni whose contributions and accomplishments are representative of the school. He was recognized for his achievements in the areas of business and athletics. Spanos continued his golfing career at the University of the Pacific in Stockton, graduating in 1972 with a degree in business administration. He maintains close ties with his alma mater, having served as a regent at the university.

An avid golfer since his college years, Dean has been on the winning team in five Pro-Am tournaments, including back to-back wins in 1990 at the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic and the AT&T National Pro-Am at Pebble Beach with partner Hubert Green. He successfully defended his title at the Hope Classic in 1991. Spanos' first win came with Green at the 1985 Bing Crosby Pro-Am at Pebble Beach, where he was awarded the "Most Valuable Amateur" trophy for supplying the most help to his professional partner. Later that year, his second win came in the 1985 Senior Players Reunion Pro Am in Dallas, where he teamed with Billy Casper.

Susie received the prestigious Celebration of Life Award last year from the American Cancer Society. She is a spokeswoman for the NFL's cancer campaign and is a breast cancer survivor. She also was honored as a "Woman of Dedication" by the Salvation Army in 2001 and has been named the Woman of the Year by the San Diego Leukemia Society for her philanthropic work in the community.

Susie is active in and on the board of many charitable organizations in San Diego, including the San Diego Women's Foundation. She is a trustee at the Mingei Museum and an advisory member of Las Patronas, one of San Diego's leading non-profit organizations. Susie has been a driving force in supporting the San Diego Blood Bank and its umbilical cord blood program, helping the Chargers' annual blood drive become one of the most successful in the nation.

Dean and Susie's eldest son A.G. is the Chargers' chief executive officer. Previously he spent five years as the team's director of marketing programs and business development. A.G. is a graduate of the business school at the University of Southern California. Prior to joining the Chargers full-time in 2001, he worked in the NFL Europe office in London and at the NFL office in New York. As a freshman, A.G. attended Tufts University in Medford, Mass., where he was a member of the football team. In high school, he earned six varsity letters as a two-sport athlete (basketball and football) at La Jolla Country Day School.

Son John is the team's director of college scouting. Previously he was the assistant director after serving as a pro and college scout. John graduated from Wake Forest University with a degree in business in 2002. He also interned one summer and later worked one year at the NFL Management Council's office in New York. While at The Bishop's School in La Jolla, John earned nine varsity letters in a variety of sports – football, basketball and golf – and played on three championship teams. John and his wife Jodie reside in La Jolla.

MICHAEL A. SPANOS

Executive Vice President

Michael A. Spanos became executive vice president of the Chargers in 1995. In that capacity, he assists in financial and management matters pertaining to the team. Michael joins his brother, President Dean Spanos, in steering the direction of the organization and the vision for a new stadium for the San Diego region.

As executive vice president of the A.G. Spanos Companies, Michael is responsible for the construction and development activities of the organization around the country. He monitors and oversees the office divisions in the states where the company builds and develops. His responsibilities also extend to the areas of property management, land acquisition, as well as to the preparation of all plans for any future direction and growth of the company's construction and land development activities. From the company headquarters in Stockton, Michael travels regularly across the country to monitor and manage building projects in several states.

Born in Stockton, California in 1959, he attended Lincoln High School and graduated from the University of the Pacific, where he earned a bachelor's degree in business administration. In 1989, Michael was appointed to the Board of Regents at the University of the Pacific, where he served for five years. Michael continues to contribute both his time and resources to the development of several projects involving youth sports and education. He and his wife, Helen, have five children and reside in Stockton.

MARK FABIANI

Special Counsel to the President

Mark Fabiani joined the Chargers in 2002. His primary function is to work with the greater San Diego community to explore opportunities for a new state-of-the-art football stadium in the San Diego region.

Since joining the Chargers, Fabiani and his La Jolla-based firm, Fabiani & Lehane LLC, has taken the lead in working with taxpayers and fans to create a publicly-acceptable solution to the stadium issue. He also has managed the grass-roots effort to solicit ideas from the community.

In 2000, Fabiani served as the deputy campaign manager for communications and strategy for former Vice President Al Gore's presidential campaign — the closest presidential election in modern history. He was responsible for coordinating the campaign's communications and media strategies and tactics, including the Vice President's post-election Florida vote count effort. Fabiani also served as the campaign's chief spokesperson, appearing daily on national television broadcasts.

Prior to serving under Gore, Fabiani held the position of special counsel to President Bill Clinton from 1994 through the '96 presidential campaign. Fabiani provided legal, communications and political counsel to the President and First Lady of the United States on allegations and investigations of White-water and other related matters. As part of his duties Fabiani produced and communicated the legal, legislative, and political responses to inquiries from the media, Capitol Hill and investigative agencies. In this role, Fabiani also served as the White House's principle spokesperson before the national media, appearing regularly on major news shows.

Fabiani's experience with complex problem resolution also includes four years of service as deputy mayor of Los Angeles and chief of staff to Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley. In that post, he managed political strategy, media relations, policy analysis and an executive staff of 129 for the mayor. Fabiani directed day-to-day interaction between the mayor's office and the media, general managers of city departments, the City Council, and the city's principle private sector companies and public sector institutions.

Fabiani, who graduated cum laude from Harvard Law School in 1982, also has served in senior positions at the United States Department of Justice and the Department of Housing and Urban Development. As a deputy assistant attorney general at the Justice Department, he was responsible for policy development for the Attorney General. ## A.J. SMITH

Executive Vice President — General Manager
28th NFL Season, 14th season with Chargers

A.J. Smith has been the architect of the most successful era in Chargers history and is just two wins shy of becoming the team's all-time winningest general manager.

Smith, who is entering his 10th year at the helm, took the reins of the Chargers on April 22, 2003, after his close friend and long-time associate, John Butler, lost his battle with cancer.

The Chargers were 13-35 in the three seasons prior to Smith being named general manager, but since then the Bolts have won 91 games overall and five AFC West championships.

Further, before Smith was named general manager, the Chargers had not been to the playoffs or had a winning record for seven consecutive seasons. Going into 2012, the Chargers have assembled a string of eight straight seasons without a losing record.

The late Sid Gillman holds the franchise's all-time record for wins by a general manager with 92. Gillman served for 11 seasons (1960-70). Gillman and Smith are tied for the most division titles by a general manager with five apiece.

During Smith's nine-year run as general manager, the Chargers have acquired the most Pro Bowl talent in the NFL, sending 15 different players to the league's all-star contest. The New England Patriots are a close second with 14.

Smith is widely recognized as one of the National Football League's top general managers and talent evaluators. This success on the field has led to recognition in several national publications. He was named the NFL's 2004 Executive of the Year by Pro Football Weekly, the Professional Football Writers of America (PFWA), FoxSports.com and CBS Sports-Line.com. In 2006, Forbes named him its top NFL General Manager, and in addition, the magazine ranked Smith fourth overall among his counterparts in the four major professional sports leagues in the U.S. and Canada (NFL, NBA, NHL and MLB). In 2009, USA Today ranked Smith sixth on their list of the Top 20 Personnel Executives in the NFL, and Forbes recognized Smith once again in 2010, ranking him fifth on its list of the Top 10 NFL GMs.

The team's success since Smith took over as general manager has not been lost on the organization. On Jan. 1, 2008, President Dean Spanos rewarded Smith with a five-year contract extension through 2014.

Smith has made a plethora of noteworthy player moves. In perhaps his most memorable, Smith selected quarterback Eli Manning with the first overall pick in the 2004 NFL Draft and less than an hour later, traded him to the New York Giants for Philip Rivers (the fourth overall choice) and several draft picks.

Smith has made many notable decisions during his tenure, including the recommendation he made to Spanos in 2007 that the Chargers hire Norv Turner as head coach. Spanos and Smith have since had a front-row seat as Turner guided the team to three AFC Western Division championships in his first five years and a 49-31 record.

Prior to assuming the general manager's role in San Diego, Smith spent the previous 27 years moving methodically through the ranks of professional football. He worked as a part-time scout, full-time scout, assistant director of scouting, director of scouting and assistant general manager before being promoted to executive vice president-general manager of the Chargers.

Baltimore Ravens General Manager Ozzie Newsome said: "A.J. learned from Bill Polian in Buffalo. And he learned from George Allen in the USFL. He's been around successful people, so he's learned the right way to do things."

Smith began his second tenure with the Chargers on Jan. 18, 2001, as assistant general manager and director of pro personnel. His duties included monitoring NFL transactions, evaluating pro talent, and handling tryouts and free agent contracts.

Smith has worked in pro football since 1977, including three years in the United States Football League in the early 1980s. He spent 14 seasons (1987-00) with the Buffalo Bills, joining the team as an area scout in 1987 before being named assistant director of college scouting in 1989. In 1993, Smith became director of pro personnel.

During his tenure in Buffalo, referred to as the "Glorious Years" in Bills history, Smith worked closely with Hall of Fame coach Marv Levy as the team's assistant director of college scouting. And during that time, Buffalo made appearances in Super Bowls XXV, XXVI and XXVII. Smith was promoted to director of pro personnel prior to the Bills' appearance in Super Bowl XXVIII.

Smith served as the Chargers' pro personnel director from 1985-86. He also held scouting positions with the USFL's Chicago Blitz (1982-83) and Pittsburgh Maulers (1984). He began his NFL career in 1977 as a volunteer part-time scout for the New York Giants under the direction of Jim Trimble and moved on to become a part-time scout for the New England Patriots (1978-80) and Houston Oilers (1981).

Smith made his start in football as an assistant coach at Cranston West High School in Cranston, Rhode Island, from 1971-76. He was the head coach of the Rhode Island Kings of the Eastern Football League in 1976 and an assistant coach at the University of Rhode Island in 1978.

Smith is a graduate of Bishop Hendricken High School in Warwick, Rhode Island. He was a standout on the football and track teams and was inducted into the school's hall of fame in 2003. Smith earned a degree in health and physical education from Kentucky Wesleyan College in 1971. In June 2005, Smith returned to his alma mater for the dedication and presentation of a plaque in his honor, which hangs in the A.J. Smith Weight Room inside the Woodward Health and Recreation Center.

Smith played semi-pro football as a wide receiver with the Attleboro (Mass.) Kings of the Eastern Football League from 1972-74 and had a tryout with the Washington Redskins in 1974. He was inducted into the American Football Association's Minor Semi-pro Football Hall of Fame in 1990. Smith also taught health and physical education in the Providence (R.I.) junior high school system from 1971-85.

Smith and his wife, Susan, reside in Del Mar. The Smiths have two children: a daughter, Andrea, and a son, Kyle.

Andrea graduated Cum Laude from Cortland State in New York with a degree in sports management, where she was an honorable mention All-America volleyball player for the Red Dragons. Andrea now lives in San Diego and is the Manager of Petco Park Suites for Major League Baseball's San Diego Padres.

Kyle graduated from Youngstown State, where he had an outstanding career as a wide receiver and punt returner. Following his senior campaign, Smith was named the team's most valuable player and was invited to play in the 2006 Hula Bowl All-Star game. After Youngstown State, Smith had free agent opportunities with the Minnesota Vikings in 2006 and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 2007. He went on to play in NFL Europa with the Berlin Thunder in 2007 and was on the practice squad for the Arena League's Arizona Rattlers in 2008. Smith's professional playing career ended in 2009 after a stint on the practice squad with the CFL's Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Smith now lives in Atlanta and is the south-east area scout for the Washington Redskins.

ED MCGUIRE*Executive Vice President of Football Operations — Assistant General Manager

25th NFL Season, 15th season with Chargers

Ed McGuire has enjoyed a steady ascent since joining the Chargers in 1998 as coordinator of football operations. In 2007, he was promoted to executive vice president of football operations, and in 2008 he became assistant general manager.

McGuire is in charge of all football operations for the Chargers. He oversees player contract negotiations as well as the day-to-day business and administrative operations of the scouting department, coaching department, equipment and video departments, training staff, and strength and conditioning staff.

One of McGuire's key roles involves serving as the chief negotiator for all player contracts. The Chargers have made a concerted effort to re-sign their own players and McGuire has played an integral role in the process. In 2004, McGuire negotiated an eight-year contract extension for 2006 NFL MVP and two-time NFL rushing champion, LaDainian Tomlinson. At the time, the deal was the largest contract ever signed by a running back in NFL history. And in 2009, McGuire negotiated Philip Rivers' six-year, $92 million contract extension, the largest player contract negotiated in team history.

McGuire joined the Chargers after serving as the senior manager of labor operations for the NFL's Management Council from 1996-98. He was the league's manager of player personnel from 1991-96 and originally joined the NFL in 1987 as a player personnel analyst. McGuire also worked in the personnel department for the United States Football League from 1984-86.

During his tenure in the National Football League office, McGuire became a leading expert on the NFL's salary cap and Collective Bargaining Agreement, which was created in 1993 between the NFL and the NFL Players' Association.

Born in Riverhead, New York, McGuire graduated with a degree in athletic administration in 1984 from St. John's University in Jamaica, New York. He played football and baseball at Riverhead High School.

McGuire and his wife, Jane, have two children—son Kevin and daughter Shannon—and reside in Rancho Bernardo.

NORV TURNER

Head Coach

28th NFL Season, 7th with Chargers

Norv Turner has the highest winning percentage in team history. USA Today's NFL Coach of the Year in 2009 owns a 52-34 (.605) record with the Chargers, including 49-31 (.613) in the regular season. He's 21-9 against the AFC West with identical 7-3 records against Oakland, Denver and Kansas City. He owns an impressive three division titles and two second place finishes in the AFC West. His regular-season Chargers record after November 1 is 32-12, including 21-3 in December and January. Turner's 49 regular-season wins are the franchise's most in a five-year stretch since 1977-81.

With 111 career wins, including playoffs, Turner ranked fifth among active NFL head coaches in wins at the conclusion of the 2011 season. The only coaches with more were Bill Belichick, Mike Shanahan, Tom Coughlin and Andy Reid. Turner's win total also ranks 34th all-time among all NFL coaches. Tom Flores and Vince Lombardi were among those that Turner passed on the all-time wins list during the 2011 season. Turner is within reach of a number of coaches as he heads into 2012, including John Madden (112) and Don Coryell (114).

After Turner won his 100th career game in the Chargers' 2011 season opener against Minnesota, players presented him with a Game Ball in the locker room.

Turner joined the Chargers in 2007 and has led the team to the playoffs three times as AFC West Champions, including an appearance in the '07 AFC Championship Game. Only five teams have made more playoff appearances than Turner's Chargers and only eight have won more than San Diego's three in the postseason. Turner is tied with Don Coryell and Bobby Ross for the most playoff wins in team history (three).

As the head coach and offensive play-caller, Turner has helped the Chargers achieve offensive feats rarely seen before in the 52-year history of the franchise.

The Bolts have scored more than 400 points and averaged more than 25.0 in NFL and franchise-record eight straight seasons, including all five under Turner. In 2011, the Chargers boasted a 4,000-yard passer, a 1,000-yard rusher and a 1,000-yard receiver for only the third time in franchise history, and one of the two previous (2008) was also under Turner's watch. The Chargers have ranked in the NFL's top 10 for total offense the last three seasons, including the league's top ranking in 2010. The Chargers are the only team in the NFL to pass for more than 4,500 yards and rush for more than 1,800 each of the last two seasons. And the Chargers have racked up more than 6,000 total net yards the last two seasons, the first time it's been done in San Diego in consecutive seasons since 1983-85.

Turner's penchant for strong finishes rang true once again in 2011 as he led the Chargers to a record of 4-1 down the stretch. The coach oversaw an up-and-down campaign in '11 that began and ended with 4-1 records.

In 2010, Turner's Chargers led the NFL in total offense and total defense. San Diego finished the season strong, winning seven of its last nine. The Chargers also led the league in average yards per play (6.1) and yards per pass play (8.7), while ranking second in points scored (441).

Turner faced one of the more challenging seasons of his NFL coaching career in 2010 as the Chargers' roster endured constant change throughout the season. Seventy-four different players appeared in at least one game for the Bolts, equaling Arizona's NFL record (2005) for the most players in a non-strike season. In total, the Chargers made 109 roster moves between final cuts (Sept. 4) and the end of the regular season.

Despite the constant roster shuffling, the Chargers offense rarely wavered. At the end of the year, the Chargers were one of only two NFL teams to feature a quarterback with at least 30 touchdown passes, a running back with at least 10 rushing touchdowns and a receiver or tight end with at least 10 touchdown catches. It's a feat that had been achieved only one other time in franchise history (1981).

From 2007-09, Turner became the first Chargers coach to start his career with three-straight division titles.

Quarterback Philip Rivers has been a shining star in Turner's offense. He passed for 4,624 yards in 2011 to become only the fifth player in NFL history to pass for more than 4,500 yards in consecutive seasons. It followed a 2010 season in which Rivers passed for a career-high 4,710 yards. Working with Turner, Rivers has passed for at least 4,000 yards in the last four seasons, a franchise record and an accomplishment that only has been matched by two other NFL signal callers, Peyton Manning and Drew Brees.

In 2008, Turner led the Chargers through one of the greatest turnaround seasons in NFL history. His team started 4-8, but won its final four to close the season 8-8. The Chargers won the AFC West and became the first team in the current division format to win their division when trailing by three games with three left to play. Turner then led the Chargers to a thrilling 23-17 overtime win against Indianapolis in the Wild Card Playoffs and into the Divisional Playoffs for a second-consecutive year.

Turner's first season at the helm in San Diego in 2007 was filled with excitement. He led the team to a career-high 11 wins and became just the second head coach in team history to win the AFC West in his first season. Turner also became the first Chargers coach since Ross to win a playoff game in his first season, winning not just one, but two as San Diego defeated Tennessee in the Wild Card Playoffs and Indianapolis on the road in the Divisional round. The run ended in New England in the AFC Championship Game, but not before Turner became only the sixth head coach in NFL history to lead a team to the championship game in his first season at the helm.

Chargers fans were given a glimpse of Turner's offensive wizardry in 2001 when he spent a season as the team's offensive coordinator. The offense improved 17 spots in the rankings, surging from from 28th to 11th, while finishing the season with a 3,000-yard passer, a 1,000-yard rusher, and 1,000-yard receiver for only the second time in team history.

Turner left San Diego after the 2001 season, spending the next five years between Miami, Oakland and San Francisco. He spent two seasons as the Dolphins' offensive coordinator (2002-03), two as the Raiders' head coach (2004-05) and one as the 49ers' offensive coordinator (2006). Six years later on Feb. 19, 2007, he returned to the Chargers.

Turner was born in the Bay Area suburb of Martinez, California, the same city that produced baseball legend Joe DiMaggio. He grew up the middle of five children, all of whom were raised by his mother, Vicky, a single parent. Vicky battled multiple sclerosis, spending the latter years of her life in a wheelchair before her passing in 1989. Turner's oldest sister, Janis, also suffers from the disease. Turner serves on the board of the San Diego Chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society and last May served as the Honorary Chair for the MS Society's Golf Invitational at the La Jolla Country Club.

Before she died, Vicky steered her sons toward sports. Norv's younger brother, Ron, followed in his footsteps, excelling on the collegiate gridiron and later in the coaching profession. Ron spent nine years (2001-09), including an NFC Championship season in 2006, as the offensive coordinator for the Chicago Bears. He is now the quarterbacks coach for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers after holding the same post in 2011 for the Indianapolis Colts.

As a teenager, Turner played quarterback and safety at Alhambra High School in Martinez. He earned a scholarship to the University of Oregon and won three varsity letters (1972-74) as a quarterback for the Ducks, spending two of his three seasons as the backup to former Charger and Pro Football Hall of Fame quarterback Dan Fouts. One of the assistant coaches on Oregon's staff, John Robinson, would later give Turner his first big break as a coach. First though, Turner landed a job as a graduate assistant at Oregon in 1975.

Robinson accepted the head coaching job at the University of Southern California in 1976, and he invited Turner to join him. Turner spent the next nine seasons in Los Angeles, winning four Rose Bowls and a national championship in 1978. He coached wide receivers, defensive backs, quarterbacks and served as the Trojans' offensive coordinator. In 1980, Turner tutored what is regarded by many as one of the finest defensive backfields in college football history, featuring safeties Ronnie Lott and Dennis Smith, both of whom went on to become NFL first-round draft choices in 1981. The backfield also included Joey Browner, who was drafted in the first round in 1983 by Minnesota, and a cornerback named Jeff Fisher, who would leave USC as a seventh round draft pick and later become the head coach of the Houston Oilers/Tennessee Titans.

In 1985 Turner landed his first NFL coaching job when Robinson hired him as an assistant coach with the Los Angeles Rams, assigning him to work alongside offensive coordinator Ernie Zampese, a disciple of the "Air Coryell" offense. Zampese taught Turner the ins and outs of the offensive system made famous by former Chargers Head Coach Don Coryell.

In 1991, Jimmy Johnson hired Turner as the offensive coordinator in Dallas. It proved to be a turning point in Turner's career as the Cowboys won back-to-back Super Bowl titles (XXVII and XXVIII) following the '92 and '93 seasons. Turner worked with three future NFL Hall of Famers in Dallas: quarterback Troy Aikman, running back Emmitt Smith and wide receiver Michael Irvin. Turner almost single-handedly resurrected Aikman's career in Dallas. In the two seasons before Turner's arrival, Aikman threw just 20 touchdown passes and 36 interceptions. In his first season in Turner's offense, Aikman posted the first positive touchdown-to-interception ratio of his career and led the Cowboys to the NFC Divisional Playoffs. A year later, Aikman passed for a career-high 3,445 yards with 23 touchdowns while leading Dallas to a 13-3 record and its first NFC East title since 1985. Aikman continued his ascent in the playoffs, directing the Cowboys to three-straight postseason wins en route to capturing MVP honors following Dallas' 52-17 win over the Buffalo Bills in Super Bowl XXVII. The following year, Aikman completed a franchise-record 69.1 percent of his passes and led the Cowboys to a second-consecutive Super Bowl win over the Bills. And when he was enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2006, Aikman asked Turner to be his presenter.

Smith and Irvin also flourished under Turner. They led the NFL in rushing and receiving, respectively, in 1991, marking the first time since the NFL-AFL merger in 1970 that teammates led the league in both categories. Since then it has happened only one other time (Indianapolis, 1999).

Catapulting off his success in Dallas, Turner earned his first head-coaching assignment, joining the Washington Redskins in 1994. He spent seven seasons in Washington, leading the Redskins to four winning seasons and the NFC East title in 1999. During his tenure, Turner was a mentor to Pro Bowl quarterbacks Brad Johnson and Gus Frerotte. Johnson flourished in Turner's offense, throwing for 4,005 yards in '99, only the second 4,000-yard season in Redskins history.

Several running backs also have flourished in Turner's offensive system. Three won NFL rushing titles while playing for Turner, including LaDainian Tomlinson (2007), Smith (1991-93) and Miami's Ricky Williams (2002).

Turner, his wife, Nancy, and their youngest son, Drew, live in Del Mar, California. Drew is a senior year at the University of San Diego. Their daughter, Stephanie, lives in Los Angeles, is an actress who has appeared in several movies and television shows, and is the creator and content provider for FootballBrat.com. Oldest son Scott has followed in the coaching footsteps of his father and uncle and serves as the offensive quality control coach for the Carolina Panthers.

ASSISTANT COACHES

RICH BISACCIA

Assistant Head Coach—
Special Teams
11th NFL Season
2nd season with Chargers

After helping rescue San Diego's special teams from near dormancy in 2011, Rich Bisaccia was promoted to Assistant Head Coach—Special Teams soon after the '11 season ended.

While Bisaccia helped restore credibility, it did not come without challenges. Kicker Nate Kaeding was injured on the first play of the season, but punter Mike Scifres coolly stepped in and helped lead the Chargers to a win over the Minnesota Vikings with a clutch fourth-quarter field goal. Days later, Nick Novak was signed and in 15 games set new team records for field goals of 40 and 50 yards or longer in a season. Scifres had an outstanding year, averaging a career-best 47.5 yards per punt. Long snapper Mike Windt remained steady, while Richard Goodman earned Special Teams Player of the Week honors the last week of the season after a team-record 105 yard kickoff return touchdown during a win in Oakland.

From 2002-10, Bisaccia coached in Tampa Bay. In his first season, the Buccaneers won Super Bowl XXXVII.

Bisaccia's special teamers in Tampa Bay earned three Pro Bowl selections, 13 NFC Player of the Week awards and four NFC Player of the Month awards. The Buccaneers scored four touchdowns on kickoff returns, four on punt returns, and blocked 10 field goals, five punts and three PATs.

In 2009, the Buccaneers led the NFL with six blocked kicks. They also led the league in kickoff return average and ranked second in opponent kickoff return average.

A former defensive back at Yankton College in South Dakota, the native of Yonkers, New York began his coaching career at Wayne State (Neb.) College in 1983.

Bisaccia and wife, Jeanne, have three daughters, Michele, Elizabeth and Madeline, and a son, Richie.

HAL HUNTER

Offensive Coordinator—Offensive Line
7th NFL Season
7th season with Chargers

Hal Hunter received a well-deserved promotion in 2012 when Head Coach Norv Turner named him offensive coordinator. The Chargers' offensive line coach since 2006, Hunter helped stabilize a unit beset by injury in 2011 as 13 different players saw time along the line, including 11 starters. Despite the near constant change, the line helped the Chargers rush for more than 1,800 yards and 16 touchdowns for the second straight season, while allowing the eighth-fewest sacks.

In Hunter's six seasons in charge of the offensive line, the Chargers have allowed the NFL's fifth-lowest sack total (171), while averaging 1,907 rushing yards per season and scoring 115 touchdowns on the ground.

Hunter's arrival in San Diego was pre-dated by 24 seasons of coaching on the collegiate level, including a two-year stint as offensive coordinator at Indiana University where his star player was quarterback and Big Ten Player of the Year, Antwaan Randle El. Hunter also coached at LSU where he served as assistant head coach in 1999. At the end of that '99 season, Hunter was named interim head coach for one game after Gerry DiNardo was fired, and he led the Tigers to a 35-10 win over rival Arkansas.

Hunter was born in Canonsburg, Pa. He was a standout in football and wrestling at Belle Vernon (Pa.) High. Hunter became a Dean's List student at Northwestern and graduated with honors, earning a degree in communications and economics. Hunter played linebacker for the Wildcats, but a neck injury in 1978 ended his career prematurely. Following the injury, he remained with the team, working with the defensive line and serving as a strength coach.

Hunter and his wife, Tracy, have two sons: Hal IV and Andrew. Hal is a senior and plays football for the U.S. Naval Academy, and Andrew will be a freshman at Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo in the Fall.

ADMINISTRATION*A.G. SPANOS

Executive Vice President — Chief Executive Officer

A.G. Spanos oversees all day-to-day business operations of the San Diego Chargers, including marketing, sales, public relations and community relations activities. He also represents the organization at all NFL and ownership meetings.

Spanos was named executive vice president—chief executive officer in July 2011 after serving five seasons as the team's director of marketing programs and business development (2003-07) and three as its executive vice president—executive officer (2008-10).

Key among his many priorities, Spanos has spearheaded several initiatives to create more value for season ticket holders. To reward and thank the Chargers' most loyal customers that he refers to as the team's "life's blood," Spanos created the most attractive list of benefits ever available, including exclusive events with the team at Training Camp and Qualcomm Stadium, behind-the-scenes tours, and once-in-a-lifetime prize packages and opportunities.

Spanos also works diligently with the team's customer service, stadium and security partners to enhance the Chargers fans' game-day experience and the team's Fan Conduct Program. Fan behavior is a strategic priority for the NFL and the Chargers organization. During the NFL's unannounced stadium security checks of all 32 venues last season, the Chargers had the most outstanding review and ranked first among all teams in the League's "Fan Conduct Best Practices" audit in 2011.

In an effort to quench Chargers fans unending thirst for information about their team, Spanos recently created the team's first-ever digital media department. The department will be instrumental in providing an endless supply of unique content available only on the team's official website, while expanding the Chargers' social media footprint.

Spanos' decision to lower the price of 6,500 seats going into the 2011 season proved successful as it provided Chargers fans with more of the most affordable NFL tickets in the country while also easing the path to additional sellouts and live local telecasts. Also under his direction, the team implemented its first Law Enforcement Appreciation Night at a game in 2010 and brought in internationally renowned For-eigner to perform free of charge for fans in the parking lot before the game.

Spanos was responsible for the development and implementation of the Chargers' new logo and marks in 2007, including new uniforms. He coordinated efforts with the stadium concessionaire to launch the opening of the Chargers Team Store at Qualcomm Stadium and he has worked closely with the merchandise partners who supply the store as well as the team's Online Pro Shop at Chargers.com.

Spanos has continued the Chargers' long-standing tradition of community support and involvement. In 2002, Spanos founded "Chargers Auction," which offers official Chargers merchandise and team-worn memorabilia online and has raised more than $530,000 for charity. A.G. has served on the Executive Committee and the Board of Directors for the San Diego Hall of Champions Sports Museum and a Trustee for the San Diego Sports Commission. He also serves on the Board of Directors for the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce and the San Diego Police Foundation.

Most recently in 2012, A.G. accepted several community honors on behalf of the Spanos family and the Chargers. He accepted the Make-A-Wish Foundation's Wish-Granting Partner of the Year Award as well as the President's Merit Award from the California State Athletic Director's Association. The Rotary Club of San Diego also presented Spanos and the Chargers with its Heilbron Award, given to companies "that exemplify the pay it forward spirit — that give of themselves and their professional expertise to advance the well-being and success of others in the community."

In June 2010, in recognition of his achievements in business and community leadership, Spanos was named one of the "Top 40 Under 40" Greek Americans by Greek America Magazine. Before joining the Chargers full-time in 2001, Spanos assisted the director of strategic planning for NFL Europe's London office, analyzing market research for the entire league. While a student at the University of Southern California, he also spent one summer at the NFL office in New York assisting the business operations department.

Spanos earned a Bachelor's degree in marketing from the Marshall School of Business at USC. He spent one summer completing an internship at KFMB-TV in San Diego as a production manager. He played football as a freshman at Tufts University in Medford, Mass.

ANTWAN BARNES

Free Agent - '10

To say that Antwan Barnes had a breakout season in 2011 would be an understatement. A reserve linebacker who had all of 9.5 sacks combined prior to last season, Barnes planted himself firmly on the NFL's radar after an 11-sack season in '11.

Barnes saved his biggest splash of 2011 for a nationally-televised contest against the Baltimore Ravens in mid-December, the team that drafted in him the fourth-round in 2007 and traded him to Philadelphia three years later. For Barnes, it was an opportunity at payback and NBC's Sunday Night Football audience saw him sack Ravens quarterback Joe Flacco four times, tied for the most in a game by an NFL player all season. Barnes started five games for the Chargers in 2011, the first starts of his NFL career, and tied for 11th in the league in sacks.

Barnes enjoys spending time with his family, bowling, playing cards and music. He played the trumpet and drums in his middle school band and will still occasionally pick up a trumpet and belt out a few tunes. He's also considering a career in the music industry after football.

Barnes was raised primarily by a single mom and his grandmother, Addie Arrington, who passed in 2001. Seeing the struggles they both endured, Barnes recently started the Antwan Barnes Foundation. His goal is to help single mothers get a fresh start, while providing college scholarships to children raised by a single mother. As part of his foundation, Barnes held a free football camp for kids ages 6-17 this summer at his alma mater, Norland High School in Miami.

Free Agent - '11

Colin Baxter heads into 2012 as a backup center for the Chargers with experience under his belt.

He gained valuable experience as a rookie, starting two games for the New York Jets when their starting center Nick Mangold was injured. Baxter returned to the Chargers late in 2011 and contributed on special teams.

The 6-3, 310-pounder has long been known as a tough, hard-nosed competitor. As a child, he was thrown out of a little league baseball game for mowing over a catcher with a shoulder-first slide into home. In high school, he was a force both on the football field and the wrestling mat, where he posted a 37-7 record as a senior. And at Arizona, Baxter started 49-straight games, playing the last half of his senior season with a torn meniscus in his right knee. Only surgery, which would prepare him for the NFL, prevented him from playing in his final collegiate game, the 2010 Alamo Bowl.

Baxter likes classic cars. In high school, he drove a 1964 Ford Galaxie that he and his grandfather worked on while Baxter was a teen.

CURTIS BRINKLEY

Running Back
5-9, 208
3rd NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Free Agent - '09
Syracuse
West Catholic HS
Philadelphia, Pa.

Curtis Brinkley is a survivor. What else can you say about a young man who grew up in the housing projects of Philadelphia, lost his father when he was a sophomore in college, survived an attempt on his life, and now plays the game he loves with a bullet just an inch from his heart.

A record-breaking running back at West Catholic High in Philadelphia, Brinkley was back in his hometown in July 2009, just three months after signing with the Chargers and completing offseason workouts. His sister, Niveka, called one evening and asked Brinkley if he could pick her up from the adult-care facility where she worked. While waiting in his car, a gunman - later identified as his sister's ex-boyfriend - approached the vehicle and fired three shots, not realizing that the man behind the wheel was Niveka's brother, Curtis.

Brinkley was shot three times. He was able to escape in the car, but a few blocks from the incident, he crashed through some bushes and a fence before losing consciousness and backing his car into an SUV parked in a driveway. He was rushed to a local hospital where doctors were able to remove two of the .357-caliber bullets, but a third was lodged so close to his heart that they decided it was too dangerous to remove. The boyfriend later turned himself in to the police and plead guilty to a felony charge of aggravated assault. Brinkley, meanwhile, returned to the Chargers less than a year later.

Assured by doctors that it was safe to resume his football career, Brinkley trained and ran harder than ever. He performed well enough in training camp and the 2010 pre-season to earn a spot on the team's practice squad, and just two weeks into the season he was brought up to the active roster when injuries left the team's running backs in short supply. Brinkley did not play in the Chargers' Week 3 contest in Seattle and returned to the practice squad the following week, but later in the season another opportunity presented itself and Brinkley returned to the active roster in late November. In true storybook fashion, he received his first-ever regular-season NFL carry late in an ESPN Monday Night Football game against the Denver Broncos when his teammates decided to change the play call in the offensive huddle. Instead of the fullback dive called in from the sidelines, the ball went to Brinkley, who carried it nine yards for a first down that enabled the Chargers to take a knee and run out the clock for a victory.

Brinkley's storybook career continued in 2011 as he scored his first NFL touchdown in another Monday Night Football game in Kansas City's Arrowhead Stadium and he made his first NFL start in the Chargers' season finale in Oakland. In December, teammates voted Brinkley as the team's winner of the Ed Block Courage Award.

Brinkley is now an advocate for the Crime Victims Fund.

RONNIE BROWN

Running Back
6-0, 230
8th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (Philadelphia) - '12
Auburn
Cartersville HS
Cartersville, Ga.

The Chargers solidified their corps of running backs when they agreed to terms in June on a one-year contract with former first-round draft pick Ronnie Brown. The 6-0, 230-pounder spent the 2011 season in Philadelphia.

A former Auburn Tiger, Brown was the second overall pick in the first round of the 2005 NFL Draft by the Miami Dolphins. In six seasons for the Dolphins, he rushed for 4,815 yards and 36 touchdowns, while catching 184 passes for 1,491 yards and a pair of scores. He ranks third on the Dolphins' all-time list for rushing yards and touchdowns, and is tied with Hall of Fame running back Larry Csonka for the second-most 100-yard rushing games in team history. From 2005-07, Brown averaged better than 4.0 yards per carry for the Dolphins, becoming the team's first back to do so for three-straight seasons since Tony Nathan from 1983-85.

Brown posted his only 1,000-yard season in 2006, rushing for 1,008 yards for the Dolphins. He earned a Pro Bowl selection in 2008 after scoring a career-high 10 touchdowns, while rushing for 916 yards. A versatile threat, Brown also threw two touchdown passes for the Dolphins out of the Wildcat formation, one each during the 2008 and '09 seasons against New England.

The 30-year-old Brown is a native of Cartersville, Ga. The state's 2A Player of the Year in football as a senior at Cartersville High, Brown also was a stellar baseball player.

He was drafted by Major League Baseball's Seattle Mariners in the 50th round in 2000. Brown bypassed the major leagues to attend Auburn where he was a two-time second-team All-SEC pick.

In Sept. 2010, Brown started the Ronnie Brown Project and a campaign entitled "23 Ways to Stop Youth Violence." It was a project with one main goal: to stop violence in schools. His target was middle and high school students in Miami-Dade and Broward Counties in Florida, and Brown worked closely with the Jason Taylor Foundation, Teen Truth Live and the Miami-Dade Violence Intervention Project to make the program a success. Brown still visits schools on a regular basis to deliver his message.

Now married to Taylor, his former college sweetheart, Brown's message carries a personal tone as he could have fallen into the same trap as many of today's youth. Both of his parents dealt with legal issues when Ronnie was a child and it would've been easy for his life to go astray. Fortunately, Brown had a supportive family that looked after him in Cartersville and his parents' troubles are long a thing of the past.

Brown was a communications major at Auburn. During his junior year, he interned at the Auburn Network, editing and producing highlight films.

VINCENT BROWN

Wide Receiver
5-11, 184
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Draft 3A- '11
San Diego State
Rancho Cucamonga HS
Rancho Cucamonga, Calif.

The Chargers stayed close to home with their first of two picks in the third round in the 2011 NFL Draft, grabbing Vincent Brown from San Diego State. He was the 14th former Aztec drafted by the Chargers and the first since quarterback Jesse Freitas in 1974. Brown was the third all-time leading receiver in school history with 209 catches and 3,110 yards, and he was a two-time All-Mountain West Conference selection.

The Chargers had high hopes for Brown's rookie season, but the NFL lockout and a training camp hamstring strain combined to stall the rookie's progress. Brown worked through those issues and he began to contribute during the second half of the season with several catches that made highlight reels across the nation. He made his first start against the defending Super Bowl champion Green Bay Packers and a week later caught his first touchdown pass against the Oakland Raiders. Brown appeared to catch a second touchdown against the Raiders, but instant replay overturned the call despite video evidence that proved to the contrary. Brown later added a second touchdown in another nationally-televised game in Jacksonville and he finished the year with 19 catches for 329 yards and an impressive 17.3-yard average.

Nicknamed V.J., Brown enjoys listening to music and playing drums. He learned to play when he was six years old.

This spring, Brown finished his coursework at San Diego State and earned his degree in philosophy. He participated in the school's graduation ceremonies in May.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Third-round pick (82), April 29, 2011...signed four-year contract, July 29, 2011.

2011: First NFL catch went for first down on 3rd-and-2 in second quarter Oct. 2 vs. Miami to help sustain field goal drive...only other catch went for 20 yards on 3rd-and-15 to help keep alive third-quarter TD drive...first-career touchdown catch (30 yards) to open third quarter Nov. 10 vs. Oakland...two series later, second apparent TD catch of 33 yards was taken away by controversial instant replay reversal.

COLLEGE: First-team All-MWC as senior and second-team as junior...ranked fifth in school history with 23 career touchdown catches...enjoyed school's fourth-best receiving season

(1,342 yards) as senior and led Aztecs to first bowl win since 1969...became school's first 1,000-yard receiver since 2002 and just 12th overall...tied school-record with 13-career 100-yard games...led MWC and ranked sixth in nation with 104.0 ypg avg. in 2010...also led conference with 5.3 catches per game...21.3-yard KOR avg...90-yard TD catch vs. Utah in '10 was third-longest in school history...19.6 ypc avg. as senior ranked fourth in school annals...finished career with 3,957 all-purpose yards...played at San Diego State from 2007-10...philosophy major.

DONALD BUTLER

Inside Linebacker
6-1, 248
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Draft 3 – '10
Washington
Del Campo HS
Fair Oaks, Calif.

One of the top feel-good stories out of San Diego in 2011 was the emergence of inside linebacker Donald Butler.

A third-round pick in the 2010 NFL Draft whom the Chargers traded up 12 spots to select, the Bolts were looking for big things from the former Washington Husky as a rookie. But one afternoon during an early training camp practice, Butler tore his left Achilles tendon during a pass rush drill and his rookie season ended before it began.

Butler spent all of 2010 rehabilitating and when 2011 arrived, the door of opportunity swung wide open. Butler paid close attention and took copious notes from veteran inside backer Takeo Spikes, who was signed as a free agent in July. The two ended up starting side-by-side and Butler's repaired Achilles held up as he and Spikes ranked 1-2 on the team in tackles with 119 and 102, respectively. By the time the '11 season concluded, Butler had started all 16 games and he was the only Chargers defender to hang a number in every statistical defensive category.

Butler studied construction management at Washington. His mom, Janet Rice, was a single parent who worked a number of years for the Oakland (Calif.) Housing Authority while raising Donald and two siblings. Her career path spurred an interest in Donald in the business side of construction, which he pursued while playing football for the Huskies. Butler also spent two of his college years learning on the job as he interned with the Walsh Construction Co. in Tacoma, Wash.

ANTOINE CASON

Cornerback
6-1, 195
5th NFL Season
5th with Chargers

Draft 1 - '08
Arizona
Los Alamitos HS
Long Beach, Calif.

After leading the team with four interceptions and 11 passes defended in 2010, Antoine Cason had high expectations for the 2011 season. Cason overcame mid-season struggles and once again finished the year on a high note, ending the season as the team's leader with 15 passes defended. Cason recorded a season-high four passes defended in the Chargers' season-ending win over the Oakland Raiders and he combined for nine passes defended in late season wins over the Raiders, Jacksonville Jaguars and Buffalo Bills.

A Jim Thorpe Award winner at Arizona in 2007 as the nation's top collegiate defensive back, Cason had his jersey retired by the school in 2010. He is one of more than a dozen family members to play Division I college football. His father, Wendell, was a defensive back at the University of Oregon and went on to play for the Atlanta Falcons. His brother, Dione, ran track at Washington State and cousin, Ken-yon Rambo, was a receiver at Ohio State before playing for the Dallas Cowboys and New York Jets. Another cousin, Aveion Cason, was an All-America tailback at Illinois State and played for the Detroit Lions, St. Louis Rams and Cowboys.

Cason has a long history of community service. At Arizona, he and former Wildcat teammate, Matt Brooks, created a campaign to fight cancer known as "Cason Cares." Cason became involved after losing his grandfather, Royce Rambo, to cancer in Feb. 2006. Cason and Brooks sold rubber wristbands for $3 apiece and the pair made a generous donation to the American Cancer Society for cancer research before an Arizona men's basketball game in December 2007.

Away from football, Cason enjoys spending time with his young son, Antoine, bowling and training.

JACQUES CESAIRE

Defensive End
6-2, 295
10th NFL Season
10th with Chargers

Free Agent - '03
Southern Connecticut State
Gardner HS
Gardner, Mass.

Smart and stout are two words that come to mind when defining defensive end Jacques Cesaire. A one-time undrafted free agent from tiny Southern Connecticut State in New Haven, Conn., Cesaire made the most of that opportunity and built himself an NFL career that now embarks on its 10th professional season. Cesaire has started 66 of 125 career games played and serves as the senior member of the defensive line.

Cesaire was born in Massachusetts, but his parents emigrated to the United State from Haiti. When a 7.0 earthquake rocked the island nation in Jan. 2010, it hit particularly close to home. Luckily, no members of the Cesaire family were harmed in the quake or its aftermath.

Jacques is married to the former Jill Murray and the couple has two children, Viviana and Desmond. Devout Christians, the Cesaire's host regular Bible study sessions at their San Diego home and they oversee a nonprofit foundation that benefits the Monarch School for homeless teens. They also contribute to a Chargers program to help feed the city's homeless on Thursday nights year-round and they work with the United Way in Jill's hometown of Groton, Conn. In 2008, the United Way presented Cesaire with an award for his generous and outstanding work in the community.

One of Cesaire's closest friends on the team is cornerback Quentin Jammer, who has established a relationship with the San Pasqual Academy, a school that is very similar to the Monarch School. The last several years, Cesaire and Jammer have partnered to host a charity bowling event that raises funds for the two schools.

Last offseason while the NFL was in the midst of the lockout, Cesaire returned to SCSU to finish the necessary coursework to earn his degree in liberal studies. He also took part in the school's 2011 commencement ceremonies.

JEROMEY CLARY

Tackle
6-6, 320
6th NFL Season
7th with Chargers

Draft 6A - '06
Kansas State
Mansfield HS
Mansfield, Tex.

The Chargers' winner of the 2010 Ed Block Courage Award, Jeromey Clary is the only offensive player to play every offensive snap each of the last two seasons. It's even more remarkable considering that in late 2009, Clary suffered a serious ankle injury that would later require surgery. The Chargers rewarded their right tackle with a four-year contract just prior to the start of the 2011 season.

Clary became a starter for the Chargers late in the 2007 season. A reserve for most of the year, Head Coach Norv Turner inserted him into the starting lineup at right tackle in early December to give the team's struggling running game a spark. Over the final five games, the Chargers rushed for 880 yards and eight touchdowns, and went 5-0.

Other than the brief stint of time missed due to the injury in '09, Clary has spent the last four full seasons in the offense's starting-11. During that time, the Chargers have rushed for more than 1,700 yards per season and scored 64 rushing touchdowns. Furthermore, Clary and his mates along the offensive line have given Philip Rivers time to pass for more than 4,000 yards and 27 touchdowns in each of those four seasons.

Clary and his wife, Breanna, have two sons, Cannon and JJ. Clary's hobbies include playing golf and spending time with his family.

Stampeders, and the USFL's Pittsburgh Maulers.

LARRY ENGLISH

Outside Linebacker
6-2, 255
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Draft 1 – '09
Northern Illinois
Marmion Military Academy
Aurora, Ill.

For outside linebacker and former first-round draft pick Larry English, expectations have given way to injuries. A promising start to English's career in 2009 has been slowed by injury-plagued seasons in 2010 and '11. English was on the verge of posting big numbers in 2011 when he was shelved for the second-consecutive season by a broken foot.

English will have a fresh start in 2012 and is looking forward to recapturing his rookie form under new defensive coordinator John Pagano.

As a collegian, English was a two-time winner of the Vern Smith Leadership Award as the top player in the Mid-American Conference. He became only the second defensive player in MAC history to win the award once and more impressively, he became only the fourth player ever to win it twice. English left Northern Illinois as the school's all-time leader in sacks (31.5) and tackles for loss (63). An honor roll student, he was also one of only 30 students nationwide to be nominated to receive the Lowe's Senior CLASS Award for excellence in Classroom, Character, Community and Competition.

English has battled asthma since early childhood. As an adult, it has steered him toward a partnership with the American Lung Association and his LEAD (Leading Education to Athletes for their Dreams) Foundation, which he created with the help of his mother, Susan. English has hosted a number of events and programs, including a benefit concert and all-star gala in San Diego, and a football camp and one-on-one reading and mentorship program in his hometown of Aurora, Ill. English also helped create a program called Open Airways that helps schools diagnose asthma in students.

English's uncle, Charles Richardson, lettered as fullback at Wisconsin in 1972.

MALCOM FLOYD

Wide Receiver
6-5, 225
7th NFL Season
9th with Chargers

Free Agent - '04
Wyoming
River City HS
Sacramento, Calif.

Malcom Floyd was all smiles when he returned to the Chargers with a new two-year contract following the NFL lockout of 2011. Unfortunately, the smiles dissipated as the '11 season's script unfolded, following a familiar and frustrating pattern of events for Floyd.

He was off to a solid start in 2011 with a couple of 100-yard games against the Denver Broncos and Kansas City Chiefs. However, in the Chiefs game on Halloween night, Floyd aggravated a hip injury that forced him to the sidelines for the next four games. The Chargers were 4-3 when Floyd got hurt, but lost all four of the games he missed. When he finally returned for an early Dec. game in Jacksonville, the Chargers had fallen to 4-7 and were barely alive in the AFC Playoff hunt. Not surprisingly, the Chargers went 4-1 with Floyd back in the lineup.

Despite the setbacks, Floyd still managed to post impressive numbers in 2011. He caught 43 passes with 41 resulting in first downs, a 95.3 pct. clip that was highest in the NFL. His first 23 catches of the season all went for first downs and his first catch that didn't result in a first down wasn't until Dec. 11. Floyd totaled a career-high 856 yards to go along with five touchdowns and his career-best 19.9-yard average was the highest in the league among players with more than 800 yards receiving. It was also the ninth highest in team history among players with at least 40 catches. Floyd had at least 95 yards and a touchdown in four of the Chargers' last five games last season and he'll look to carry that momentum into the 2012 season.

A deep-ball threat with a measured vertical leap of more than three feet (40 inches) Floyd became a mainstay in the Chargers' offensive lineup in 2008. Since then, he's caught 152 passes for 2,814 yards and his 18.5-yard average is third in the NFL behind only Mike Wallace (18.7) and Victor Cruz (18.7).

Floyd's older brother, Malcolm, played wide receiver for the Houston Oilers, Tennessee Titans and St. Louis Rams in the mid '90s and is now the head football coach at C.K. McClatchy High School in Sacramento, Calif.

Floyd enjoys playing basketball, riding jet skis and spending time with family, friends and teammates. An all-conference hoopster in high school, Floyd's team won an intramural championship while he was in college at Wyoming.

Floyd and his wife, Daphne, have two sons, Maiu and Malc.

ANDREW GACHKAR

Inside Linebacker
6-3, 228
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Draft 7 – '11
Missouri
Blue Valley West HS
Overland Park, Kan.

A seventh-round draft pick in 2011, Andrew Gachkar did exactly what he needed to do to make the team: excel on special teams. Gachkar tied for the team lead with 12 special teams tackles and gained valuable experience in limited time as a reserve inside linebacker. That experience should bode well for the former Missouri Tiger as he heads into his second NFL season.

Gachkar has an inspirational story. In 2007, after his freshman year at Missouri, Gachkar was diagnosed with Thoracic Outlet Syndrome. Basically a blood clot developed because his collarbone and rib cage were too close together to allow proper blood flow through his veins. As a result, Gachkar had to have major surgery to remove one of his ribs and a second surgery later when another clot developed. In total, Gachkar spent more than 20 hours in surgery and nearly a month in the hospital where he lost 30 pounds. The surgeries initially put Gachkar's football future in doubt, but he was diligent in his rehabilitation and he made it back for the 2008 season without missing a game.

By the time Gachkar left Missouri, he did so as a first-team All-Big 12 choice by the Associated Press and a solid special teams player. He led one of the most improved defenses in the nation in 2010 with a team-best 81 tackles, while also leading the Tigers in interceptions, forced fumbles, fumble recoveries and blocked kicks.

Gachkar is engaged to his high school sweetheart, Lauren Nuckolls. They plan to wed in Missouri in March 2013.

JARED GAITHER

Tackle
6-9, 340
6th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Waivers (Kansas City) - '11
Maryland
Roosevelt HS
Greenbelt, Md.

In 2011, Jared Gaither was the Chargers' "Knight in Shining Armor."

In late November, the Chargers found themselves in trouble. The team had lost six games in a row and Pro Bowl left tackle Marcus McNeill had been lost to a neck injury. But the Chargers were in the right place at the right time when Kansas City chose to waive the behemoth 6-9, 340-pound tackle. Immediately the Bolts put in a claim and on Nov. 30, Gaither was awarded to the Chargers.

Chargers offensive line coaches Hal Hunter and Mike Sullivan immediately went to work with Gaither. Incredibly, just five days later, Gaither was in the starting lineup as the Chargers tied their season-high with 38 points in a Monday Night Football victory at Jacksonville that halted the team's losing streak.

Gaither went on to hold down the left tackle spot for the final five games of the season. He did not allow a sack and the Chargers closed the year 4-1.

As the NFL calendar turned to 2012, the Chargers opted to release McNeill and in March they signed Gaither to a new four-year contract.

Everything that Gaither has accomplished thus far in his career is impressive when considering that he's only played football competitively for a relatively short period of time. He didn't play in high school until his senior year. He only played two seasons at the University of Maryland. And he missed the entire 2010 season in Baltimore with a back injury. Still, the Chargers believe Gaither has the size and skill to become one of the NFL's top left tackles.

Cooking is one of Gaither's favorite hobbies. He learned to cook in college by watching the Food Network and he's been profiled on ESPN's Jock Chef and has participated in a number of celebrity chef events during his career.

Gaither also likes to spend time with his four dogs, play video games, fish and spend time out on the water. The very first time he went fishing, Gaither accidentally threw his rod over the side of the boat. He convinced his cousin, Aaron Ball, to give up his rod and Gaither promptly started catching everything in sight and ever since, he's been hooked on the sport.

Gaither visits schools and hosts annual Christmas and Thanksgiving events for underprivileged kids and families in his home state of Maryland. It's something he started doing when he came into the NFL in 2007.

The 6-9 Gaither only played one season of high school football because he was a three-year letterman in basketball. He was originally ticketed to go to South Carolina on a basketball scholarship, but late in the process he de-committed and accepted a football scholarship to Maryland. Gaither's older brother, Jamar, played basketball at West Virginia and is now a coach in Maryland.

Darryl Gamble, an undrafted rookie free agent from Georgia, parlayed a big training camp and preseason into a job with the Chargers in 2011. Gamble's athleticism was on full display for a nationwide audience in the Bolts' preseason opener against Seattle when he racked up two tackles for loss, sacked quarterback Tavaris Jackson once and collected eight total tackles.

Gamble ended up playing only sparingly during his rookie season and also spent five weeks on the team's practice squad, but the experience he gained as a rookie should pay dividends as he heads into year No. 2.

ANTONIO GARAY

Defensive Tackle
6-4, 320
6th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Free Agent – '09
Boston College
Rahway HS
Rahway, N.J.

The Chargers retained a key cog on the defensive line when Antonio Garay signed a two-year contract in March to remain with the Bolts.

The anchor of the line in the team's 3-4 defensive scheme, Garay has a championship background as a freestyle amateur wrestler and it's helped him become one of the league's top defensive tackles. He returns after a 2011 season in which he led the defensive line in tackles (67) and tackles for loss (nine), while ranking second on the team in pressures (10) and quarterback hits (14).

Garay's football story is one of incredible perseverance. Just five years ago as a member of the Chicago Bears, he suffered a broken right leg and shattered right ankle as the result of a horrific chop block that took nearly two years to heal. It was the kind of injury that in most cases is career-ending, but Garay refused to throw in the towel. He spent nearly two full years doing rehab and his big break came when good family friend and former wrestling coach, Joe Ryan, helped him create workout videos and post them on a website for NFL teams to see. The effort paid off in Oct. 2009 when the New York Jets signed Garay to the practice squad.

Just seven weeks after signing with the Jets, the Chargers, in need of help on the defensive line, signed Garay. It was a chance for him to reunite with Don Johnson, his former position coach in Chicago whom he'd played for when he sustained the horrific injury.

Garay saw limited action his first season with the Bolts, but by 2010, the Chargers saw enough to move the 6-4, 320-pounder into the starting lineup and Garay enjoyed a breakout season. He led the defensive line and set new career highs in tackles, sacks, tackles for loss and quarterback hits. His 5.5 sacks tied for second among all NFL defensive tackles and he was selected as a third-alternate to the AFC Pro Bowl squad. Garay played in every game, starting all but one, and was a key reason the Chargers led the NFL in total defense and ranked fourth against the run.

One play in particular stuck out during Garay's stellar '10 season. During the Chargers' Nov. 28 game in Indianapolis on NBC's Sunday Night Football, Garay put guard Jeff Linkenbach on his heels and drove him backward into quarterback Peyton Manning. The play forced Manning to the ground, and even though Garay wasn't credited with a sack, it was one of the most impressive plays of the NFL season and was shown on a number of highlight shows around the country.

A native of Rahway, N.J., Garay is a second-generation freestyle wrestler and his family holds the second-most medals in state history. Garay's uncle, Louie Garay, won the N.J. state title in 1955, uncle, Carlos Garay, finished second in '55, cousin, Carlos Garay, was third in '99 and Antonio's dad, Tony, was third in '66. Garay's brother, Dan, also owns a state title, but Antonio may have been the best of them all. A state champion in his weight class (275 lbs.), Garay was undefeated and won the high school national championship as a senior. He was also an All-American in football, which led him to Boston College. He excelled in both sports until the Eagles dropped wrestling prior to his senior year. Garay finished fourth in the NCAA Championships as a sophomore and won the award for the most pins in the least amount of time at the national tournament. The only wrestling All-American in school history, in 2009 Boston College inducted Garay into its Athletics Hall of Fame.

Garay comes from a diverse family. His mother, Marsha, is Jewish and his father is Catholic and a combination of Puerto Rican, Costa Rican and Jamaican. Both of Garay's parents were two-sport athletes at Hofstra University, where they met. His mom was a softball pitcher and captain of the tennis team and his dad wrestled and played football. One of the most highly-touted defensive linemen in the country in 1971, Garay's father spent time in the NFL with the Los Angeles Rams, Oakland Raiders, New England Patriots and New York Jets. Garay's mother has instilled Jewish heritage in Antonio and his siblings, and as such, one of his ambitions is to visit Israel and wrestle in the Maccabi Games, an international Jewish athletic event similar to the Olympics. Garay also has been mentioned as a candidate to one day represent the United States in wrestling at the Summer Olympics.

Garay is working toward starting a foundation called "Set the Tone," to help kids prepare for college. Garay earned bachelor's degrees in both English and marketing, and a master's degree in secondary education with a focus on English from Boston College.

Garay is still revered in his hometown. In 2011, he was invited to teach a clinic at the New Jersey All-State Wrestling Camp and in 2012, the Sicilian Federation of New Jersey (Federazione Siciliana Del New Jersey) presented Garay with its "Humanitarian of the Year Award."

Off the field, Garay is well-known for unique hair designs that he changes prior to each game. And he turned heads last year when he pulled into the parking lot at Chargers Park behind the wheel of a miniature Smart Car with images of Hello Kitty emblazoned on the sides. Part eco-conscious and part publicity stunt, Garay gained notoriety on a national level while driving the car.

The car is featured as the avatar on Garay's Twitter account (@antoniogaray71) which boasts more than 10,000 followers.

Antonio Gates, the San Diego Chargers' all-time receptions leader, finally returned to 100 percent in 2011.

Hampered by nagging foot injuries, Gates finally found comfort as the 2011 season motored along and he ended the year leading the team in receptions for the seventh time during his Hall of Fame career. For Gates, the highlight came on Christmas Eve in his hometown of Detroit, Mich., when he passed Charlie Joiner to become the Chargers' all-time leading receiver with his 587th career catch. Gates finished the year with 593 catches, leaving him just seven away from 600, a mark that only four tight ends and 58 total players in NFL history have achieved.

Gates ended 2011 on a high note. He was voted to the AFC Pro Bowl squad for an eighth-consecutive season and in the Chargers' season finale at Oakland, he recorded his first 100-yard game of the year and had a season-long 38-yard touchdown catch in a win over the Raiders. Gates' touchdown catch against the Raiders was the 76th of his career, leaving him just five behind Lance Alworth's team record of 81. Considering that Gates has had at least seven TD catches in every season since 2004, it's a matter of when, not if Gates will pass the legendary "Bambi."

From 2004-10, Gates was the only NFL player with at least eight touchdown catches in each of those seasons.

Heading into 2012, he has 19 100-yard receiving games, tied with Anthony Miller for sixth in team history.

Gates is a member of the NFL's All-Decade Team (2000-09) and one of the Chargers' 50 Greatest Players of All-Time. In addition to being an eight-time Pro Bowl all-star, he's been named first-team All-Pro three times during his career. Since his arrival in the NFL in 2003, Gates leads all tight ends in TD catches (76), while ranking third in receiving yards (7,783) and catches (593). To properly put Gates' numbers into perspective, there are presently seven modern-era tight ends enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Gates' career touchdown total exceeds all seven. They include Winslow, John Mackey, Ozzie Newsome, Dave Casper, Jackie Smith, Charlie Sanders and Mike Ditka.

Gates' unique route to the NFL has been well-chronicled. When he signed with the Chargers in 2003, he had not played football since his senior season at Central High School in Detroit. He began his collegiate career at Michigan State under the assumption that he could play both football and basketball, but when the football coach relented, Gates chose to focus on hoops and decided it was best to leave the East Lansing campus. An up-and-down start to his basketball career sent Antonio bouncing to three different schools before he finally found a home at Kent State, where in two seasons he helped lead the Golden Flashes to back-to-back Mid-American Conference championships and the Elite Eight of the NCAA Tournament in 2002. Gates left the Kent, Ohio campus as the school's sixth-leading scorer and he returned to the Kent, Ohio, campus in Feb. 2010 to have his No. 44 jersey retired by the school.

Gates' basketball background has also had an impact on the community. Annually he serves as the honorary chairman for the Shoot to Cure HD, a speed free-throw shooting contest and event that raises money for the Huntington's Disease Society of America. He also hosts "Shop with a Charger," a unique Christmas event for homeless, neglected and abused children.

If Gates' athletic career had not steered him toward football or basketball, it's possible he may have fashioned a career in boxing. His paternal grandfather, Henry Hank, was a professional boxer in the 1950s and '60s. Hank fought 97 professional bouts as a middleweight and light heavyweight, winning 62 of them. His 1962 fight against Joey Giardello was voted the Fight of the Year by Ring Magazine. Old photos show a striking resemblance between Gates and his grandfather, and many in the family believe that Gates inherited his athletic ability from him.

Had Gates not opted for a career in athletics, he might have tried his hand as a firefighter. A couple of years ago, a group of firefighters attended a training camp practice and one of the most enamored players was Gates. He told several of them that long ago he'd dreamed of being a firefighter so several weeks later, the assistant San Diego fire chief returned to Chargers Park and presented Gates with a SDFD firefighters jacket with his own name and number.

MARCUS GILCHRIST

Cornerback
5-10, 193
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Draft 2A – '11
Clemson
Andrews HS
High Point, N.C.

It didn't take long for 2011 second-round pick Marcus Gilchrist to make an impression in San Diego. Almost immediately he earned the job as the team's nickel cornerback and just four games into the season, Gilchrist earned his first NFL start when starter Quentin Jammer was injured. As expected the Miami Dolphins went right after the rookie corner, but Gilchrist intercepted the first pass thrown in his direction and his defense helped the Chargers to victory.

Gilchrist played in 14 games for the Chargers during his rookie season and he started four times. He finished the year with two interceptions, tied for second on the team.

Gilchrist came to the Chargers from Clemson University where he was a star among stars. Four of his defensive teammates were selected in the 2011 NFL Draft. According to the Tigers' coaches though, it was Marcus' football IQ that made him stand out, along with an impressive showing at the NFL combine where he posted a 38-inch vertical leap and put up 26 bench-press repetitions at 225 pounds, second-most among all defensive backs.

Gilchrist had toughness and discipline instilled at home at an early age from his father, Ronny, a retired United States Marine. Ronny played sports and boxed in the service. He had Marcus doing push-ups and sit-ups at an early age, 200 a day when he started playing youth sports, and more as he got older. Marcus' mother, LaJeune, was also the daughter of a coach.

RICHARD GOODMAN

Wide Receiver-Kick Returner

2nd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent – '10
Florida State
St. Thomas Aquinas HS
Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Richard Goodman, or "Goody" as he's known by teammates, saved his best for last in 2011. He closed out the season in grand fashion, earning the AFC Special Teams Player of the Week award after a team-record 105-yard kickoff return for a touchdown that helped the Chargers to a 38-26 season-ending win over their arch rivals, the Oakland Raiders. Goodman played every game last season and ranked fourth in the NFL with a 27.5-yard kickoff return average.

An admitted gym rat, Goodman loves to bowl, work out and stay in shape. He plays football with a bit of a chip on his shoulder after almost being overlooked to play in college. At powerhouse St. Thomas Aquinas in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Goodman didn't become a full-time starter until his senior year. By then, most of the major colleges had doled out their scholarship offers, but when Goodman began to beat some of the top prep recruits in the state during the playoffs his senior season, colleges began to take notice.

Florida State was one of the first to offer a scholarship and the sincerity of former Coach Bobby Bowden is what led Goodman to Tallahassee to play for the Seminoles.

One of Goodman's childhood heroes was Michael Irvin, another alum of St. Thomas Aquinas. The two men grew up in the same area and Goodman has tried to train, compete and approach the game the same way that the Hall of Fame receiver did during his illustrious career.

Goodman is the oldest of four children who was raised by a single mom with help from his paternal grandmother, Olinthia, who passed in 1998. Now that he's grown, Goodman has ambitions of starting a foundation to assist single moms. Goodman has a teardrop tattooed below his right eye in memory of his late grandmother and another on his left forearm that's a tribute to his mother.

Goodman's best friend is Chicago Bears safety Major Wright.

4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Draft 4B – '09
Auburn

The door of opportunity has swung open for Tyronne Green. With the offseason retirement of left guard Kris Dielman, the former fourth-round draft pick will compete for the starting spot on a permanent basis. Last year after Dielman was injured, Green started eight of the final 10 games despite suffering from a painful broken finger.

During his first three seasons, Green has seen time at both right and left guard, while also playing a role on special teams. During training camp and offseason practices, Green has also taken reps at center and tackle. The jockeying of positions though is something Green is used to. He is a converted defensive tackle who played both center and guard at Auburn.

Green's hobbies include singing, bowling, watching movies and playing cards.

REX HADNOT

Center-Guard

9th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (Arizona) – '12
Houston
Lufkin HS
Lufkin, Tex.

Just days after the 2012 NFL Draft, the Chargers added an experienced veteran to their offensive line with the signing of center-guard Rex Hadnot.

Hadnot spent the 2010-11 campaigns with the Arizona Cardinals, where he started all 16 games at right guard in '11. Hadnot was a sixth-round pick (174) of the Miami Dolphins in 2004. He spent his first four NFL seasons with the Dolphins (2004-07) and the 2008-09 seasons in Cleveland before signing with Arizona.

Hadnot's career totals include 113 games played with 93 starts and he's started games at four different positions: right guard (71), center (19), left guard (2) and tackle (1).

Hadnot is a native of Lufkin, Tex., and Lufkin High School, where one of his teammates was former Chargers safety Terrence Kiel, who died in a car accident in 2008.

Hadnot is the creator of the Joshua's Wishing Well Foundation. It's in honor of his younger brother, Joshua, who died when Hadnot was just 11 years old. Joshua was born with three holes in his heart and despite several surgeries, passed away at the age of two. During visits to the hospital in Galveston, Tex., where Joshua was being treated, Hadnot and his mom, Eva Denise Ashworth, often stayed in the local Ronald McDonald House that was affiliated with the hospital. Ever since, Hadnot has continued to support the Ronald McDonald House through his foundation, while also reaching out to assist single mothers going through the difficult times of dealing with a sick child.

Since 2008, Hadnot has hosted a free football camp for kids ages 7-18 back in Lufkin. The camp instruction is free, but he is able to raise funds through concession sales and other means which support Joshua's Wishing Well.

Hadnot is married, Kathryn, and has seven children, four boys and three girls. The boys are Jacob, Joshua, and twin Justin and Tristan. The girls are Kalyn, India and Kassidi.

One of Hadnot's cousins is former Texas Tech running back James Hadnot, a third-round draft choice of the Kansas City Chiefs in 1980. He played with the Chiefs from 1980-83. Another cousin is former NBA and ABA basketball player Jim Hadnot.

NICK HARDWICK

Center
6-4, 305
9th NFL Season
9th with Chargers

Draft 3B - '04
Purdue
Lawrence North HS
Indianapolis, Ind.

After the 2011 season ended, center Nick Hardwick had an important decision to make. He was an unrestricted free agent, a new father and one of his best friends and linemates - left guard Kris Dielman - retired after suffering a serious concussion last season. All of it led Hardwick to ponder whether he wanted to continue playing football, and if he did, whether he wanted to play it in San Diego or make a fresh start elsewhere.

When the dust settled just prior to the start of free agency, Hardwick decided home is where the heart is and he opted to sign a new three-year contract with the Chargers that will keep him in San Diego through the 2014 season. Having the chance to continue in the same city where he started his career lifted a huge burden from the shoulders of Hardwick and his wife, Jayme.

One of the most highly-regarded centers in the game and a member of the Chargers 50th Anniversary All-Time Team, Hardwick comes into 2012 having started 103 career games and 34 straight. Last season, he started all 16 games for the second year in a row and he was selected by teammates as the Chargers' Lineman of the Year. He was also chosen as a third-alternate to the AFC Pro Bowl squad.

With all the accolades, it's hard to believe that just three seasons ago Hardwick suffered an ankle injury so serious that it nearly ended his career. He missed 13 games during the 2009 season, but returned for a late-season push to the playoffs and hasn't missed a game since. Charged with calling out the blocking schemes and making changes at the line of scrimmage, Hardwick has a close bond with quarterback Philip Rivers. A year ago they appeared together on the cover of Sports Illustrated's NFL Preview issue.

When Hardwick started all 16 games for the NFL's No. 1 ranked offense in 2010, teammates honored him with a share of the team's Emil Karas Memorial Award as its most inspirational player.

A Pro Bowl selection in 2006, Hardwick has been a starter since his rookie season (2004). The Chargers have rushed for at least 1,700 yards in every season that he has started at least 12 games, including a team-record 2,578 yards in '06.

Hardwick grew up in Indianapolis where he was a stand-out prep wrestler with dreams of becoming a Marine aviator. One of his father's cousins, Joe McCormick, was a former Air Force pilot and Hardwick acquired his pilot's license before he turned 18. He earned the money to pay for his flying lessons by collecting golf balls at a local driving range. With an eye toward the service, Hardwick went to Purdue on a Marine Corps ROTC Scholarship. But after former Chargers quarterback Drew Brees led the Boilermakers to the 2001 Rose Bowl, Hardwick saw the excitement it generated on the Purdue campus, and the following fall he decided to walk on to the school's football team. A year after earning a spot as a scout team defensive tackle, Hardwick became the Boilermakers' starting center and earned all-conference honors. His wife, Jayme, is also a former Boilermaker. She played soccer for Purdue's women's team.

Hardwick maintains close ties to his alma mater. In 2007, he endowed a football scholarship at the school that is given annually to a walk-on player who earns it, just as Hardwick did. And in 2008, Purdue presented him with the Drew Brees Mental Attitude Award, presented by the Joe Tiller/Northwest Indiana Chapter of the National Football Foundation. Hardwick became the fourth former Boilermaker to receive the award. Brees chooses the winner each year to recognize an athlete who exemplifies exceptional mental attitude.

Owner of a management degree from Purdue, Hardwick is the Chargers' union representative and he guided the players through the NFL Lockout in 2011. He sharpened his business acumen when he attended the NFL's Business and Entrepreneurial Program at the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania in 2009. It is a special program where NFL players and front office employees spend a week learning a broad range of business topics from some of the country's most well-known educators.

In December 2011, the Hardwicks became first-time parents. Son, Hudson Harold, was born the night before the Chargers' nationally-televised game against the Baltimore Ravens. NBC showed America a picture of baby Hudson during the following night's game broadcast.

Hardwick supports the Marine Corps-Law Enforcement Foundation (MCLF), an organization that raises money to provide advanced education for the children of Marines and law enforcement officers killed in the line of duty. He also enjoys reading and drawing. As a youth in Indianapolis, Hardwick played hockey on a traveling team that competed throughout the U.S. and Canada.

MARIO HENDERSON

5th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

Free Agent - '12
Florida State
Lehigh HS
Ft. Myers, Fla.

Former Oakland Raiders tackle Mario Henderson signed a one-year contract with the Chargers, looking to resurrect his career after spending the 2011 season out of the NFL.

A third-round pick in 2007, Henderson was released by the Raiders in 2011 and following the NFL lockout, he was unable to find a job with another team. Eager to get back into a competitive environment, Henderson played for the Colorado Ice of the Indoor Football League in early 2012. The former Florida State standout is eager for a second chance. He is expected to compete to back up left tackle Jared Gaither and right tackle Jeromey Clay.

Henderson got a late start playing football. He transferred high schools as a sophomore and was ineligible to play as a junior. Despite playing only one year of varsity in high school, he earned a scholarship to Florida State where he became the team's starting left tackle late in his junior season.

Henderson endured a tough upbringing in Ft. Myers, Florida. His mom, Sonia, a single parent, died after a bout with breast cancer when Henderson was just nine years old and he was raised by his grandparents, Herbert and Florida. When Henderson reached the NFL, one of the first things he did was pay for a full upgrade of his grandparents' home where he was raised.

Since his mom's passing, Henderson has been an active participant in causes related to breast cancer awareness, including walking in the Susan G. Komen 3-Day event in Jacksonville. Hoping to continue his NFL career with this second opportunity, Henderson would like to start a nonprofit foundation to support breast cancer awareness.

JACOB HESTER

Fullback
5-11, 235
5th NFL Season
5th with Chargers

Draft 3 - '08
Louisiana State
Evangel Christian HS
Shreveport, La.

Jacob Hester is an unselfish player and a jack-of-all-trades both on offense and special teams. As a lead blocker, he helped the Chargers regain some swagger on offense as the Bolts rushed for more than 1,800 yards and 16 touchdowns each of the last two seasons. Though he isn't called upon to carry the ball very often, Hester enjoyed one of his finest moments for the Chargers during their 2011 game at Denver when the team lost its top two rushers to injury. Hester was the only other active back on the roster and he rushed for a career-high 47 tough yards in helping the Chargers escape the Mile High City with a 29-24 win. Hester became an unrestricted free agent after the 2011 season and signed a one-year deal in April to remain with the Bolts.

Hester and his wife, Katie, have two sons, Jackson and Knox. Hester is a huge sports fan. His favorite team is the Atlanta Braves. He's also a huge soccer fan for both the Los Angeles Galaxy and the U.S. National Team. Star player Landon Donovan, is a close personal friend.

Hester also supports his alma mater, Louisiana State, and watches the Tigers play whenever he can. In January 2011, Jacob and Katie were in the stands in Dallas to watch LSU battle Texas A&M in the Cotton Bowl. Hester recently added an LSU locker room chair to his stall at Chargers Park. The chair was a gift from offensive line coach Hal Hunter, a former Tigers assistant.

Hester is a distant cousin of Hall of Fame quarterback Terry Bradshaw and Katie is the niece of former St. Louis Cardinals standout wide receiver Pat Tilley.

In 2010, he started the Hester Sports Foundation in his native Shreveport, La. The foundation hosts an annual football camp, and has also hosted skeet-shooting tournaments and 7-on-7 football tournaments.

A true southerner, Hester likes music and loud, fast cars. His favorite car is the Dodge Challenger and his favorite musician is Elvis Presley. Hester listens to Presley's music while warming up before games.

QUENTIN JAMMER

Cornerback
6-0, 204
11th NFL Season
11th with Chargers

Draft 1 - '02
Texas
Angleton HS
Angleton, Tex.

One of the 50 Greatest Chargers of All-Time, Quentin Jammer is the longest-tenured player on the roster.

He comes into 2012 having played 156 career games in San Diego, 10th most all-time and most by a cornerback. He had to miss a game in 2011 with a hamstring strain and it was only the second one that he's missed since 2002. The other missed game was in 2007. Jammer, 33, is still one of the top defenders in the game and one of its surest tacklers. He boasts career totals of 670 tackles, including 568 unassisted, 18 interceptions and 121 passes defended.

Jammer is one of the Chargers' most giving community supporters. The Jammer Family Foundation enjoys a partnership with San Pasqual Academy, a first-of-its-kind residential education campus for foster teens. Last year, he and teammate Philip Rivers led a drive for the school to generate the necessary funding to build a brand-new football stadium on campus and he and Rivers were featured on ABC's Good Morning America for their work with the Academy. Jammer's Foundation hosts an annual Thanksgiving Dinner for students and he regularly invites players from the Academy's football team to be his guests at Chargers games and practices. He's also provided them with equipment for their own team.

In March 2009, San Diego County Supervisors Greg Cox and Ron Roberts presented Jammer with a proclamation, honoring him for his work with the Academy. And in February '09, the Harlem Globetrotters honored Jammer during a tour stop at the San Diego Sports Arena.

Jammer also supports Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD). In 2010, he hosted a golf tournament to support their efforts to fight drunk driving and underage drinking.

Jammer has three sons: Kaden, Kaleb and Kasen. He enjoys golf, traveling and spending time with family and friends in San Diego and his native Texas.

Jammer is a graduate of the University of Texas where his younger brother, Quandre Diggs, is now a sophomore and also plays cornerback. In June, Jammer returned to Austin, Tex. and hosted a camp for defensive backs. Jammer's cousin, Cedric Woodard, also played at Texas in the late '90s before enjoying a six-year career as a defensive lineman with the Seattle Seahawks and New Orleans Saints.

JARRET JOHNSON

Outside Linebacker
6-3, 260
10th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (Baltimore) - '12
Alabama
Chiefland HS
Cedar Key, Fla.

The Chargers landed one of the top prizes in the NFL free agent pool when outside linebacker Jarret Johnson signed a four-year contract in March. The 6-3, 260-pound standout was rated as the 14th-best available free agent by SI.com. Johnson is expected to take over as the strong outside linebacker in the Chargers' 3-4 defense.

Johnson's durability is one of the traits that made him so attractive to the Chargers. He leaves Baltimore having played in a team-record 129 straight regular-season games for the Ravens, including 80 consecutive starts. Nicknamed "J.J." and "Double-J" by his Ravens teammates, Johnson epitomized the term "blue-collar player" during his nine seasons wearing the Ravens' purple and black. His career totals include 523 tackles, 20 sacks, three interceptions, nine forced fumbles and 21 passes defended.

Johnson, wife Anna, and daughter, Molly-Caroline, make their offseason home in Niceville, Fla., close to Eglin Air Force Base. Johnson has long been a supporter of our nation's armed forces and with San Diego's large population of Marines and Navy personnel along with the team's outreach to area installations, Johnson should have no problem feeling right at home in San Diego.

Johnson is an avid outdoorsman who loves to boat, hunt and fish. Ironically, he loves the outdoors despite coming from a family with a long and trying legacy of men who made a living as commercial crabbers and fishermen. Beginning with his great-grandfather, all of the men in the Johnson family worked on the water, including his father, Ludwig, who was tragically lost at sea when Jarret was just two weeks shy of his eighth birthday. Johnson grew up fishing with his father and his death took a severe emotional toll. It also left his mother, Aida, alone to take care of Johnson and his sister, Mary Beth, with no job and no insurance. She quickly got back on her feet through, finding a job as an emergency response technician, while she also returned to nursing school. The only drawback was that the job required her to drive nearly 150 miles each day to and from work. To aid the family after Ludwig's death, one of his dad's best friends, Harry Rogers, who had worked on oil rigs up in Alaska, relocated to Florida to help Aida and provide Johnson with a father figure. And years later, Aida moved the family to Chiefland, Fla., where Johnson launched his football career on his way to becoming the first male in the family to not work as a fisherman. For a long time, Johnson resented the water and what it represented, but a couple of years ago while visiting Rogers in Florida as he was fighting a losing battle with cancer, Johnson stumbled upon an old book that contained some of his father's old fishing logs. He discovered that his father not only fished for a living, but worked as a fishing guide, a fireman, and he even wrote a fishing report for the local newspaper. This discovery and all that the books contained helped provide Johnson with some closure and it rekindled an interest in fishing and being on the water. Johnson even recently disclosed that had the NFL lockout continued in 2011 that he was considering finding work as a commercial fishing guide, something that is now on hold until his football career comes to a conclusion.

Johnson again lives on the water in Niceville where he owns a 22-foot Pathfinder fishing boat. He has plans to purchase an even larger vessel and name it the Hotspur in honor of his great grandfather, a Danish immigrant whose first fishing boat went by the same name.

And even though Johnson enjoys hunting and fishing, he has a Chocolate Labrador Retriever and has been a spokesperson for the Humane Society and several campaigns aimed at stopping animal abuse.

NATE KAEDING

Kicker
6-0, 187
9th NFL Season
9th with Chargers

Draft 3A - '04
Iowa
West HS
Iowa City, Iowa

The NFL's most-accurate kicker of all-time (.865), Nate Kaeding endured a mentally and physically-demanding season in 2011. Shortly after he sent the season's opening kickoff airborne, Minnesota's Percy Harvin took it back for 103 yards and a touchdown just 15 seconds into the season. Worse for Kaeding, while attempting to stop Harvin during the return, Kaeding planted his left leg and his ACL gave way, bringing a premature end to his '11 season.

After nearly a full year of rehab, Kaeding's leg is back to 100 percent and he's looking forward to extending his career as the NFL's most accurate kicker.

Kaeding heads into 2012 having made 76 of his last 77 regular-season field goal tries from 40 yards or closer. He made the Pro Bowl in 2009 after going 32 of 35, a franchise single-season record for FG percentage (.914), and he scored a team-record 146 points. He also made a personal-best 20 in a row to close out the '09 regular season.

An avid golfer, several years ago Kaeding enlisted the services of local golf pro, Derek Uyeda, to help improve his leg swing. Uyeda attends Kaeding's workouts, videotapes his kicks and together they analyze his form and mechanics. Kaeding also sought the help of Jan Stenerud, one of the best NFL kickers of all-time, and he's trained at St. Vincent's in Indianapolis, where professional trainers worked with him on maximizing his physical strengths.

Kaeding is still renowned in his native Iowa. In July 2009, the Cedar Rapids Kernels minor-league baseball team invited him to a game and had him kick autographed footballs to the crowd between innings. He is also part-owner of the Short's Burgers and Shine restaurant in Iowa City. And in college, Bob's Your Uncle Pizza and Cafe, named a pizza after the former Hawkeye standout.

Kaeding and wife, Samantha, have two sons, Jack and Wyatt. Samantha is a former school teacher. Nate earned a teaching certificate in secondary education from the University of Iowa and completed the Character Education Certification Program at the University of San Diego.

COREY LIUGET

Defensive End

2nd NFL Season

Draft 1 – '11
Illinois

Corey Liuget had to grow up in a hurry as a San Diego Chargers rookie and the team's first pick in the 2011 NFL Draft. He was drafted in April and handed a playbook shortly thereafter, but due to the NFL lockout, he was unable to work with coaches and teammates until the lockout was resolved in late July. Furthermore, injuries hit the defensive line hard and the young rookie was pressed into immediate duty.

Liuget became the Chargers' opening day starter at right defensive end where he remained throughout the season. He started 13 of the 15 games in which he played and his numbers were solid with 26 tackles, five tackles for loss, a sack, a forced fumble and three passes defensed.

Work ethic is one trait that was drilled into Liuget at an early age. His father, DeJa, was killed while visiting Corey's grandmother in Haiti in 1993. It left Corey's mom, Lorene, to raise him and his four older brothers and sisters as a single parent in Miami's housing projects. When her kids were young, Lorene enlisted their help to make ends meet. She would boil peanuts, make candy apples, conch fritters and sweet potato pies, which Corey and his brothers and sisters would sell. It worked and it taught all of the kids about work ethic and discipline.

Liuget went on to have a standout career at Miami's Hialeah High School. Despite hailing from a close-knit family that tops 100 in number and a strong recruiting push from the big in-state schools, Liuget opted to chart his own path and enrolled at the University of Illinois. After a couple of years in Champaign, Ill., Liuget grew homesick though and contemplated returning home after his sophomore season. Some tough love from his mom persuaded him to stick it out and instead of moping over the situation, Liuget used it as motivation. He lost 25 pounds between his sophomore and junior seasons, and feeling re-invigorated, had a career year for the Fighting Illini in 2010. Liuget then chose to leave school a year early and apply for the NFL Draft. The Chargers loved the toughness, tenacity and relentless approach to the game that he showed and made Liuget their first-ever first-round pick from Illinois.

Liuget appreciates living in San Diego, a military city, as his two older sisters, Ideidre and Latronika, both serve our country in the U.S. Army.

COREY LYNCH

Strong Safety

Ft. Myers, Fla.

In late May, the Chargers signed Corey Lynch to provide depth and experience in the defensive secondary and on special teams.

Lynch came over as an unrestricted free agent from Tampa Bay, where he spent the 2009-11 seasons. In his last season with the Buccaneers, Lynch tallied 20 tackles, an interception and four passes defended. He also tied for second on the team with seven special teams tackles.

Lynch came to the NFL from Division I-AA Appalachian State where he helped lead the Mountaineers to three straight national titles. A three-time All-American, Lynch was perhaps best known as a collegian for blocking a potential game-winning field goal in a 2007 34-32 win at national Division I-A powerhouse Michigan. It was one of six kicks he blocked during his college career.

Lynch's NFL career began in 2008 when the Cincinnati

Bengals drafted him in the sixth round. He spent the 2008 and early part of the 2009 seasons in Cincinnati. In June 2009, Lynch was driving on an interstate in neighboring Kentucky when he witnessed a van drive off the road and plummet nearly 300 feet down an embankment. Lynch quickly pulled over and raced down the embankment where he found four people injured in the van. The most seriously injured was a woman named Cynthia Brennan, whose neck was smashed and pinned against a seat from the force of the accident. Lynch helped free Brennan until emergency personnel responded and his actions were largely credited for helping save her life. Later that year, a healthy and recovered Brennan visited Lynch at a Bengals practice.

Lynch's wife, Cissie Graham Lynch, is the granddaughter of evangelist Billy Graham. His brother, Colton, is a junior defensive back at Harvard.

VAUGHN MARTIN

Defensive End-Tackle

4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Draft 4A – '09
Western Ontario
South Secondary
London, Ontario

Vaughn Martin's rapid rise from the Canadian college ranks to becoming a premier NFL lineman took a major step forward in 2011 when he started 15 games at left defensive end. Originally expected to be a regular in the line's rotation, Martin quickly moved into the starting lineup when Luis Castillo suffered a fractured left tibia just minutes into the season's opening game against Minnesota.

Martin started the Chargers' final 15 games and posted a career-best 49 tackles, second among defensive linemen.

Martin is a native of Lucea, Jamaica where he grew up playing cricket and soccer. When Martin was nine, his mother, Doreen, married a man who lived in Toronto and Martin and his mother moved to Canada. They lived in Toronto and then London, Ontario, which is where Martin learned to play hockey and football. He began playing high school football in the 10th grade and played just two collegiate seasons. In between, he played two seasons of summer ball in the Central Ontario Football League and played for Team Canada at the 2006 NFL Global Championships, where Team Canada went 5-0 and posted five shutouts while Martin was named to the All-Tournament Team.

After high school, Martin spent a year at the Milford Prep School in New York. He was ticketed to attend Michigan State after prep school, but a mixup over his transcripts prevented him from becoming a Spartan. Instead Martin enrolled at Western Ontario, where as a freshman he led the Mustangs a conference title and Canada's collegiate national championship football game. Martin applied for the NFL Draft despite having three seasons of college eligibility remaining, and he became the first Canadian underclassman to get drafted by an NFL team. Martin played defensive end and tackle at Western Ontario, and played fullback in the team's short-yardage offense.

Martin was one of the most intelligent players to emerge from the 2009 NFL Draft, scoring a 38 on the league's Wonderlic Test.

RYAN MATHEWS

Running Back
6-0, 220
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Draft 1 – '10
Fresno State
West HS
Bakersfield, Calif.

Ryan Mathews made quite an ascent from year one to year two of his NFL career, capping off a 1,500-yard season with an invitation to play in the 2012 Pro Bowl.

Chosen by teammates as the Chargers' Offensive Player of the Year, Mathews rushed for 1,091 yards in 2011 and added 455 as a pass-catcher to become just the 14th player in team history to top 1,500 total yards from scrimmage. He was originally tabbed a second-alternate for the AFC Pro Bowl roster, but was invited when two players ahead of him pulled out of the game. Mathews was deserving of the honor after a season in which he ranked seventh in the NFL in scrimmage yards, 10th in rushing yards and seventh again in yards per carry.

Only the 10th player in team history to top 1,000 yards rushing, Mathews really found his legs late in the season, rushing for more than 100 yards in three-straight games against Denver, Jacksonville and Buffalo. During that same stretch, he put together a string of five-straight games in which he had at least one run of 20 yards or longer. Only two other players in franchise history, Natrone Means and Paul Lowe, had similar streaks. Mathews' average of 4.9 yards per carry became the sixth-highest in team history (min. 200 attempts).

Mathews and backfield-mate Mike Tolbert also provided a boost in the Chargers' passing game as Mathews caught 50 passes and their combined total of 104 was the second-most by any running back tandem in the NFL.

Mathews was the Chargers' first-round pick in the '10 NFL Draft. As a rookie, he and Tolbert became the only running back duo in franchise history to score at least seven rushing touchdowns each, and they became the franchise's first rushing duo to each top 600 yards since 1993.

Mathews' path to the NFL was a difficult one. He was raised by a single mother, Tricia, who gave birth when she was just 16. With her own mother battling a drug addiction, Tricia turned to relatives to find a place to stay and raise Ryan. Unfortunately, Tricia ran out of options and ultimately settled on the backseat of her 1969 Oldsmobile Cutlass Supreme. Their story is both heartbreaking and inspiring. After several months of living in the car, bathing and washing Ryan's clothes at a public park and feeding him from a Riverside, California soup kitchen, Tricia found a stable home with her grandmother, Glenna, in nearby Tehachapi.

With a roof over her head, Tricia found work while her grandmother looked after young Ryan. Tricia worked up to three jobs a day to save money and support her son. After years of saving and living with Ryan's grandmother, Tricia had saved enough money to move them to Bakersfield, where Ryan enrolled at West High School. It was there that Tricia landed a well-paying job, but one of the drawbacks was that it included extensive travel. At the time, the Mathews household had grown by one as Ryan's best friend, Dante, had moved in with them to escape a home rife with drug use. With Tricia away working, Ryan and Dante often had the apartment to themselves and as a result, Ryan's academics began a steady slide.

Things became particularly bad following a 235-yard, six-touchdown performance by Mathews in the league championship game his junior year. With a D-average and on the verge of being ineligible for his senior year, Mathews was challenged by both his mother and Fresno State Head Coach Pat Hill. It was a crossroads for the budding star. His mother's plea carried the most weight as she reminded him of the sacrifices she made to raise him and it had a profound effect. Mathews fulfilled a promise to buckle down in school. He maintained his eligibility and proceeded to put together a 3,396-yard, 44-touchdown senior season that had coaches calling from across the country.

Despite the attention, Mathews stayed true to his commitment to Fresno State's Hill. A classic downhill runner with a blend of power and speed, Mathews broke out as a junior at FSU, rushing for a school-record and NCAA-leading 1,808 yards and 19 touchdowns. He tallied 17 runs of at least 20 yards and enjoyed some of his best days against the nation's top defenses, including a 234-yard, three-touchdown performance against Boise State. Mathews became the only player in the nation to rush for more than 100 yards against three Top-25 teams in 2009, doing so against No. 5 Cincinnati, No. 6 Boise St. and No. 14 Wisconsin.

Eager to make amends to his mother for her sacrifices and right earlier wrongs, Mathews applied for early entry to the 2010 NFL Draft. Ironically, one of Mathews' childhood heroes was LaDainian Tomlinson and Mathews secretly hoped to be drafted by the Chargers. Unbeknownst, the Chargers were so smitten with Mathews that they traded up 16 spots to select Mathews with the 12th overall pick in the first round. And coincidentally, he became the first running back selected by the Chargers in the first round since Tomlinson in 2001.

Mathews and his mom now oversee the Trish and Ryan Mathews Door of Hope Chest Foundation. They partnered with the Salvation Army and assist homeless women and children transition to independent living.

In his free time, Mathews is a big video gamer and one of his favorite games is World of Warcraft. In January, Mathews visited Blizzard Entertainment's headquarters in Irvine, Calif. to tour the facilities and meet the game's development team.

LE'RON McCLAIN

Fullback
6-0, 260
6th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (Kansas City) - '12
Alabama
Tuscaloosa County HS
Northport, Ala.

The Chargers were ecstatic in March when they agreed to terms on a three-year contract with two-time Pro Bowl and two-time Associated Press All-Pro fullback Le'Ron McClain.

McClain spent the 2011 season in Kansas City, but he spent his first four years with the Baltimore Ravens, including the 2008 season when he rushed for 902 yards, combined for 1,025 (including receiving yards) and scored 11 touchdowns. Tough, durable and dependable, McClain has only missed one game due to injury in five NFL seasons.

A native of Alabama, McClain became one of the area's leading philanthropists when an EF4 tornado touched down in Tuscaloosa, Ala. in April 2011, leveling homes and businesses throughout the community.

McClain has been an active community participant since entering the NFL. In 2007, he created the Learning Minds Foundation, which emphasizes smart work, self-discipline, focus, teamwork and respect. One element of the Foundation is McClain's annual All-Star Football Camp that he hosts in his hometown of Northport, Ala. In 2009, McClain served as a spokesperson for KaBOOM!, a nonprofit that aims to provide accessible playgrounds for children across America. In recognition of his efforts in the community, the Baltimore Orioles invited McClain to throw out the first pitch before a game against the Texas Rangers in April 2009.

McClain is the CEO for In Ya EarHole Entertainment, a production company that specializes in hosting charity events. He's also the creator and host of the "Beyond the Jersey," a reality show about the budding NFL superstar.

In 2012, McClain returned to school at the University of Alabama to complete his classwork in Human Environmental Services. McClain received his diploma and walked with his classmates during graduation ceremonies in May.

McClain has a daughter named Alex. His hobbies include basketball, fishing and shopping. McClain's younger brother, Ronday is a starting running back at Concordia (Ala.) College. He'll be a junior in 2012.

RANDY McMICHAEL

Tight End
6-3, 248
11th NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent - '10
Georgia
Peach County HS
Fort Valley, Ga.

On numerous occasions, Chargers Head Coach Norv Turner has identified Randy McMichael as one of the team's most valuable players. He's been an invaluable backup to eight-time Pro Bowl tight end Antonio Gates, who has battled foot injuries in recent seasons. As durable as they come, McMichael has played in all 16 games in nine of his 10 NFL seasons and he's appeared in 148 career games, starting 140. McMichael is utilized primarily as a blocking tight end in San Diego's offense, but he has consistently made big catches when his number's been called.

A fourth-round pick by Miami in 2002, McMichael spent his first two NFL seasons playing for Turner, then Dolphins' offensive coordinator. McMichael became Miami's most prolific tight end, catching 283 passes for 3,096 yards while not missing a single start in five seasons.

In 2011, McMichael became the 27th tight end in NFL history to reach 400 career catches. Surprisingly, the player who has more than 400 catches and nearly 4,500 receive-ing yards, has never been selected to play in the Pro Bowl. McMichael's scored 24 career touchdowns and averages 10.8 yards per catch, but the closest he ever came was in 2004 when he was a first-alternate.

A single father of four, McMichael enjoys working with kids. In Miami, he started the Randy McMichael Foundation and hosts an annual shopping event for at-risk kids.

McMichael enjoys travel, golf and fine cigars. Countries he's visited include the Dominican Republic, Brazil, Costa Rica and Trinidad. He and a friend also run a business renting jet skis on the beach in Trinidad.

McMichael's mom, Angel, was a Sergeant in the Army. The family lived in Georgia, Virginia and Germany while Randy was growing up. Angel was a great athlete too, winning Georgia Player of the Year honors in basketball at Griffin High School in 1978. McMichael's sister Kendra also played basketball, recently concluding her career at Allen University in Columbia, South Carolina.

ROBERT MEACHEM

Wide Receiver
6-2, 215
6th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (New Orleans) - '12
Tennessee
Washington HS
Tulsa, Okla.

The Chargers didn't wait long to snag one of the top catches on the 2012 free agent market, agreeing to terms with former New Orleans Saint Robert Meachem on a four-year contract just hours after he became available. A first-round pick in 2007 and a Super Bowl champion with the Saints following the 2009 season, Meachem has an impressive resume that includes 141 career catches, 2,269 yards (16.1 avg.) and 23 touchdowns.

The 27-year-old Meachem was ranked 47th on SI.com's list of the Top 50 available free agents in 2012 and he's expected to fit right into Norv Turner's offensive system.

Meachem was raised in Tulsa, Okla., where he owns an 8.5-acre farm that his grandfather, Leon, passed down to Robert when he was born. The farm is where he learned to ride horses and rope calves before he turned six and it provided a safe haven from Tulsa's notoriously violent street gangs. Meachem's dad, Robert, was an accomplished calf roper himself and the two of them traveled to rodeos in California, Nevada, Texas and Louisiana when Meachem was a child. His very first horse was named "Little Man."

As a child, Meachem also fell in love with basketball. When his father built a regulation-height basket on the farm, Meachem would shoot baskets while sitting on his horse. As a middle and high schooler, Meachem was one of the nation's best young players. As an eighth grader, he led his AAU team to a national title and in the ninth grade he faced a team that featured LeBron James and dunked over the Miami Heat star early in the contest. His success on the hardwood continued into high school as he led Tulsa's Booker T. Washington High to back-to-back state titles following the 2001 and '02 seasons. Football, however, was Meachem's ticket to success so the Parade All-America receiver took his talents to the University of Tennessee where he blossomed into an All-America choice. Meachem opted to leave Tennessee after his junior season and the Saints chose him with the 27th overall pick in the '07 NFL Draft.

Meachem has a very spiritual side to him. It comes from his late sister, Tammie, who was 12 years older and helped raise Meachem as a child. She taught him about tough love and helped him develop into a young man. Tammie though suffered from severe asthma and a non-related skin disease and she passed when Meachem was just in seventh grade.

Meachem and his wife, Shea, have two daughters, Adrianna and Rylli, and they played a major role in his decision to come to San Diego. The Meachems have been very active in the community, hosting Christmas toy drives in New Orleans while also running the Follow Your Dreams Foundation, whose mission is to help youth get involved in community activities and to help provide them with avenues to participate in sports, music lessons and cultural activities. In association with the Foundation, Meachem awards college scholarships and he hosts a football camp in Tulsa that is only open to kids who participate in his Read 60 Program, a literacy program that encourages young people ages 8-18 to take 60 minutes each day to read.

JONAS MOUTON

Inside Linebacker
6-2, 240
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Draft 2B - '11
Michigan
Venice HS
Los Angeles, Calif.

The Chargers were looking for big contributions when they drafted Jonas Mouton in the second round in 2011, but a shoulder injury in the preseason curtailed a promising start to his career.

Mouton's shoulder has recovered and now he's hoping to follow in the footsteps of another inside linebacker and high draft pick, Donald Butler. Just like Mouton, Butler was selected high - picked in the third round in 2010 - but he also suffered an early injury, rupturing his Achilles tendon during training camp. Butler missed the entire '10 season, but he came back and started all 16 games in 2011. Mouton hopes to pen a similar story.

Mouton was the Big Ten Conference's top tackler (117) as a fifth-year senior at Michigan in 2010. He recorded an impressive 264 total tackles as a three-year starter for the Wolverines and the Los Angeles native was a second-team All-Big Ten choice in 2010, also receiving the Wolverines' Roger Zatkoff Award as the team's top linebacker.

Mouton came from Venice High School, where he was one of school's best-ever players. On the first snap of his first-ever high school game, Mouton knocked out a player from rival Carson High. And in college he was given the nickname "The Assassin" after several of the Wolverines' foes met a similar fate.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Second-round pick (61), April 29, 2011...signed four-year contract, July 28, 2011.

2011: Injured shoulder during preseason...placed on "Reserve-Injured" list Sept. 22.

NICK NOVAK

Kicker
6-0, 198
5th NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent - '11
Maryland
Albemarle HS
Charlottesville, Va.

The trials and tribulations of Nick Novak's NFL career are the kind that would discourage most, but Novak has an intense desire to succeed and he became a shining star for the Chargers in 2011.

Novak went to training camp with the Chargers in 2010, knowing chances were slim of taking the team's kicking job from Pro Bowler Nate Kaeding. The Chargers were the sixth team Novak had spent time with after brief stints in Chicago, Dallas, Washington, Arizona and Kansas City. After he was released in 2010, Novak caught on with the Florida Tuskers of the fledgling UFL, for whom he was named the league's Special Teams MVP after hitting 15 of 18 field goals. But during that same season when Kaeding suffered a groin injury, the Chargers attempted to sign Novak but the UFL's rules and stipulations prevented the Chargers from doing so. When the 2011 season came around, a seventh team - the New York Jets - sought out Novak's services, but once again he lost a hotly-contested competition, this time with veteran Nick Folk.

Disappointed, Novak returned to San Diego to live and train. He happened to be having lunch with former NFL kicker Michael Husted the day of the Chargers' 2011 season opener against Minnesota when Kaeding injured his knee on the game's opening kickoff. Just days later, Novak got the call he long waited for that the Chargers wanted to sign him as the team's replacement for Kaeding.

Novak went on to enjoy a storybook season for the Chargers. A career 63.3-percent field goal kicker prior to 2011, Novak made his first 12 field goals for the Bolts, including two in a three-point win over Kansas City, four in a 10-point win over Miami and five in a five-point win at Denver that included a then career-long 51-yarder and a clutch 35 yarder with just 24 seconds left in the fourth quarter. Novak finished the season having made 27 of 34, while setting team records for field goals of 40 (12) and 50 (4) yards or longer. After his successful run in 2011, Novak will be back to compete again with Kaeding in 2012.

Novak helped raise more than $7,500 for the American Cancer Society in 2011. He contributed $100 for every made field goal and the total was matched by both the Chargers and Novak's agent. Novak was inspired to help the ACS in memory of Annie Arth, a family friend who died of ovarian and breast cancer in 2005.

Novak was born in San Diego, which makes his story even more fascinating. He lived here until he was 13, when his parents relocated to work at the University of Virginia. One of Novak's close friends growing up was Kellen Winslow, Jr., son of the Chargers' Hall of Fame tight end and by the same name. The two also share the same godmother.

Novak went to the University of Maryland after a stellar high school football and soccer career in Virginia. He was a scholar-athlete for the Terrapins and twice beat Philip Rivers and North Carolina State with late fourth-quarter kicks.

This offseason, Novak participated in the NFL Business Management and Entrepreneurial Program at the Harvard Business School. He also vacationed in Bora Bora.

ROSCOE PARRISH

Wide Receiver-Kick Returner
5-9, 175
8th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (Buffalo) - '12
Miami
Miami Senior HS
Miami, Fla.

The Chargers added one of the NFL's most-explosive return specialists when they signed former Buffalo Bill Roscoe Parrish.

His arrival in San Diego offers the veteran a chance at a fresh start after an ankle injury ended his 2011 season after two games and a wrist injury ended his 2010 campaign after eight games. Parrish posted record numbers as a punt returner in Buffalo where he was a two-time AFC Special Teams Player of the Week who averaged 12.0 yards per return while taking three punts back for scores. He also became the first player in NFL history to return punts for scores in back-to-back Kickoff Weekend games, doing so in 2007 and '08. Also in 2007 and '08, Parrish led the NFL in punt return average with figures of 15.3 and 16.3, respectively.

Parrish also racked up more than 1,500 receiving yards and seven touchdown catches, while averaging 23.6 yards on kickoff returns.

Parrish grew up in Miami and attended the University of Miami, where he became a hometown star wide receiver and punt returner. As a junior, he took a vicious hit in a game against rival Florida State that landed him in the intensive care unit for two days. Weeks later he endured personal heartache when his grandmother, Jesse Anderson, who helped raise him, passed away the week before the Canes faced Pittsburgh for the Big East title. Parrish flew to Pittsburgh to meet his teammates after her funeral and caught a 45-yard touchdown pass that helped put a seal on the conference championship. Parrish opted to leave Miami after his junior season in 2004 and the Bills selected him in the second round of the '05 NFL Draft.

Quiet and soft-spoken, Parrish enjoys spending time with his kids, Roscoe III, Rohanni and London. He also likes going to movies, listening to music and playing basketball.

Shaun Phillips, one of the most energetic and exciting players in the NFL, endured one of his toughest seasons as a pro in 2011. Phillips was expecting big things coming off his first Pro Bowl season in 2010, but a foot injury plagued him for most of the early part of the '11 season and eventually forced him to the sidelines for four games, his first missed starts since 2007.

Phillips comes into 2012 fourth on the team's all-time sacks list with 60. He is within range of Lee Williams (third with 65.5) and the late Gary Johnson (second with 67), and considering that Phillips has had at least seven sacks in six of his eight NFL seasons, he has a great opportunity to pass both this season.

Phillips earned his first-career Pro Bowl invite in 2010 after helping the Chargers lead the NFL in total defense. The team's Defensive Player of the Year, Phillips paced the squad with 11 sacks to rank 10th in the NFL. He also led the Bolts with 16 tackles for loss and 19 quarterback pressures, while tying for the team lead with 15 quarterback hits. In May 2011, the NFL Network ranked him 97th on its list of the NFL's Top 100 Players.

Phillips is one of the NFL's most-recognized celebrities. He's appeared at numerous red-carpet events and is followed on Twitter by more than 437,000 fans. For

In recognition of his community work, Phillips was invited to deliver the keynote address during graduation ceremonies at his alma mater, Willingboro (N.J.) High School in 2011.

Phillips holds a degree in management from Purdue and is the first member of his family to graduate from college. He's a managing partner of the Katsuya restaurant that opened in San Diego's Andaz Hotel in March 2012. Phillips sharpened his business skills by participating in a Wall Street internship at the New York Stock Exchange in 2010 and in the NFL's Business Management and Entrepreneurial Program at the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University in 2006.

PHILIP RIVERS

Quarterback
6-5, 228
9th NFL Season
9th with Chargers

Trade (NY Giants)-'04
North Carolina State

Athens, Ala.

One of the greatest quarterbacks ever to don a San Diego Chargers uniform, Philip Rivers is the Chargers' all-time leader for career completion percentage (63.5%) and passer rating (95.5). He's led the Chargers to four AFC West titles, is 66-37 (.641) as a starter (including playoffs), 26-10 in AFC West games and 39-13 (.750) at Qualcomm Stadium.

Rivers is coming off a milestone season and embarks on 2012 closing in on 25,000 career passing yards and 200 career touchdown passes. He needs just 715 passing yards to become the 63rd quarterback in NFL history to reach 25,000. And with 163 career touchdown passes, he needs 37 to reach 200, a mark reached by only 31 other signal-callers in league annals.

In 2011, Rivers completed a team-record 366 passes and threw for 4,624 yards. He joined Dan Marino (1980-81), Warren Moon (1990-91), Peyton Manning (2009-10) and Drew Brees (2010-11) as the only players in NFL history with back-to-back 4,500-yard passing seasons. And he joined Manning (1999-04 and 2006-10) and Brees (2006-11) as the only quarterbacks with at least four-straight 4,000-yard seasons.

Demonstrating great peripheral vision and field awareness, four players had at least 50 catches for the Chargers in 2011, something that had only been done two other times in team history (1984 and '05). Also in 2011, Rivers built upon his reputation as one of the NFL's best quarterbacks late in the season. He led the Chargers to a record of 3-1 in December and increased his career passer rating for the month to 99.9, second all-time behind Green Bay's Aaron Rodgers. Rivers' December statistics include 6,323 yards passing and a 3-to-1 touchdown to interception ratio (48 touchdowns and 16 interceptions). Rivers also owns the NFL's second-highest passer rating for Weeks 9-16 of the regular season (97.8). As a starter, he is 41-12 (.774) in regular-season games in November, December and January, including 26-3 in games in December and January.

Rivers' 2011 totals included 27 touchdown passes, making him just the sixth quarterback in NFL history with at least 25 touchdown passes in four straight seasons. He joined an esteemed list that included Manning (1998-2010), Brett Favre (1994-98 & 2001-04), Marino (1984-88), Brees (2006-11) and Rodgers (2008-11).

While Rivers ranked in the top-10 in virtually every statistical category in 2011, he threw a career-high 20 interceptions, uncharacteristic for a player who had thrown a combined 57 in his previous five seasons. A majority of the picks were thrown early in the season. As a testament to his resiliency, Rivers bounced back later in the year to assemble a career-long string of 170 passes without an interception, easily surpassing his previous career-best of 143.

When the season concluded, Rivers was appointed to his fourth-career and third-consecutive AFC Pro Bowl squad and he was selected by teammates as the Chargers' Most Valuable Player for a fourth-consecutive season. Only the late Junior Seau (five) has been selected team MVP consecutively in more years than Rivers.

Off the field, Rivers was recognized as one of three finalists for the prestigious Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year Award for his work with the Rivers of Hope Foundation. Rivers and wife, Tiffany, launched the Foundation in 2010 and focused on helping unwanted, abandoned and orphaned children find permanent loving homes. The Foundation has raised more than $650,000 through football camps and a 5K Fun Run, and Rivers personally contributes 100 percent of his off-the-field revenue to the Foundation. Additionally, Rivers and teammate Quentin Jammer partnered to help fund a football stadium for San Pasqual Academy, a first-in-the-nation residential education campus designed specifically for foster teens.

Rivers originally came to the Chargers in 2004 in a blockbuster trade with the New York Giants. Less than an hour after the Bolts selected Eli Manning with the No. 1 pick in the '04 NFL Draft, Manning was on his way to the Big Apple in exchange for Rivers and a slew of draft picks. Rivers spent the majority of his first two years on the sidelines behind Brees, taking the reins in 2006. That '06 season was memorable as Rivers was voted to the Pro Bowl after leading the Chargers to a team-record 14 wins, including 10-straight to close out the season. The Chargers also finished undefeated at home for the first time in team history. The '06 squad scored a team-record 492 points and Rivers achieved some notable marks along the way. He became the first NFL quarterback to rally a team from 17-point deficits in consecutive weeks, doing so on the road in Cincinnati and Denver. During the two wins, Rivers was in the midst of a streak of 19-straight scoring drives that ended in touchdowns without settling for a field goal. That too was a team record and it was the fifth-longest streak in NFL history. Rivers finished the year as the NFL leader in passer rating during the fourth quarter (116.6) and the third and fourth quarters combined (99.3).

In 2007, Rivers led the Chargers to the AFC Championship Game. Including playoffs, the team put together an eight-game winning streak down the stretch during which Rivers completed 133 of 214 (62.1%) for 1,656 yards with 14 touchdowns and only five interceptions for a rating of 98.2, nearly 16 points higher than his cumulative season rating (82.4). Rivers' toughness, both mental and physical, was put on full display in the final weeks of the regular season and the playoffs. In a December victory at Tennessee, he had to leave the game after spraining his knee in the first half, but he returned in the second half and led the Chargers to a come-from-behind victory in overtime. He continued to play and fought through the final month of the season in severe pain. Then a different knee injury sent him to the sideline in the Bolts' Divisional Playoff game in Indianapolis. After backup Billy Volek led the Chargers to an improbable win over the Colts, Rivers had arthroscopic surgery to repair a torn ACL on Monday and just six days later he started and took every snap on a frigid day in the AFC Championship Game at New England.

Philip Rivers, continued

In 2008, Rivers topped Fouts' team record for single-season touchdown passes and recorded his first 4,000-yard season. He set a team record and led the league with a season rating of 105.5, joining Brees as the only Chargers QBs to finish a season with a rating over 100.0. Cool under pressure, Rivers was the NFL's second-leading passer on third downs (110.7) and in the fourth quarter (111.7). He threw an NFL-best 15 touchdown passes on third down and led the Chargers to an NFL-high 152 points in the fourth quarter. He logged six 300-yard games in '08, the most since Fouts had seven in 1985. Rivers even did it in back-to-back games, something not done by a Chargers quarterback since 1991. And he capped off 2008 with a sensational December, leading the Chargers to the playoffs. He went 4-0 to improve his career record in December to 14-0 and completed 80-of-121 (66.1%) for 1,054 yards with 11 touchdowns and just one interception. His passer rating for the month, a lofty 120.3, was second in the NFL.

The 2009 season saw Rivers selected to the Chargers' 50th Anniversary All-Time Team. He threw 28 touchdown passes and posted a passer rating of 104.4. He was one of just five NFL QBs in '09 to pass for more than 4,000 yards, throw 25 or more touchdowns and record a season passer rating of 100.0-plus. Rivers' passer rating was the NFL's third-highest in '09, and four times — tied with Brett Favre for most in the NFL — he posted a single-game passer rating of 130.0 or better. Rivers also had four games in 2008 where he rated 130.0 or better and is the only quarterback in team history to post four such games in a season. During the team's 11-game win streak to close out the regular season, Rivers completed 69.0% of his passes (209 of 303) for 2,735 yards and a rating of 112.0 while throwing 21 touchdown passes and only six interceptions. His passer rating during those 11 weeks was the highest in the NFL.

In 2010, Rivers threw for a career-high and NFL-leading 4,710 yards. It was the 10th-most yards for a single season in NFL history and third-most in team history. Along the way, Rivers set a new career high with six 300-yard games, including a team-record 455 in Seattle. The 4,000-yard season was Rivers' third-straight, tying Fouts for the most in team history. By the midpoint of the '10 season, Rivers had managed to throw for 2,649 yards, an NFL record for the first eight games of a season, breaking yet another mark which Fouts (2,580 in 1982) had previously set. During the season, Rivers completed an NFL-leading 66 passes of at least 20 yards and 12 of those went for touchdowns, second-most in the NFL. Rivers ranked second in the NFL in passer rating in '10 (101.8). He was the only quarterback in the league to post a season passer rating over 100 each of the 2008-10 seasons and he joined Steve Young and Peyton Manning as the only passers ever to post a rating of 100.0-or-higher for three straight years. Rivers' outstanding rating was aided by a completion record of 66.0% that set a team single-season record. Rivers found the end zone with regularity in '10, tossing 30 touchdown passes to become the first quarterback in team history with 25 or more in three-straight seasons. It included a team-record stretch of 23 straight games with a touchdown pass, surpassing the previous mark of 20-straight set by Fouts in 1979-80. Amidst that streak was a pair of four-TD efforts in consecutive games at Houston and against Denver, equaling a feat that only Fouts (1985) and Drew Brees (2004) accomplished for the Chargers. Eleven different players caught touchdown passes from Rivers in 2010, most in team history for a non-strike season.

Rivers grew up in Decatur, Alabama. His dad, Steve, a former linebacker at Mississippi State, was the head football coach at Decatur High School and Philip was a water boy for the team. Shortly before Philip was set to enroll at Decatur, Steve took the head coaching job at nearby Athens HS and Philip followed. He played linebacker as a sophomore and moved to quarterback as a junior. Since his first season under center at Athens, Philip has never had a losing record, going 11-2 (1998) and 10-3 (1999) at Athens; 8-4 (2000), 7-5 (2001), 11-3 (2002) and 8-5 (2003) at North Carolina State, and 14-2 (2006), 11-5 (2007), 8-8 (2008), 13-3 (2009), 9-7 (2010) and 8-8 (2011) with the Chargers. A five-time MVP in bowl games, including the 2004 Senior Bowl, Rivers had a 3-1 bowl record at N.C. State.

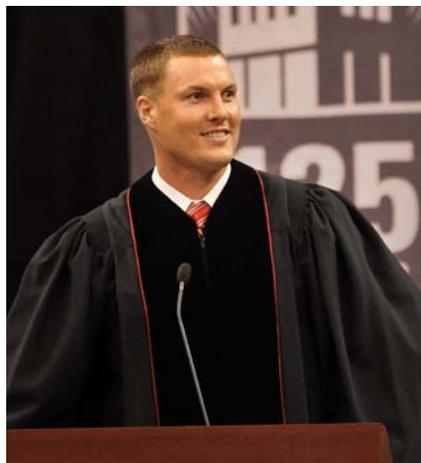

The latest Rivers prodigy to emerge from Athens is Philip's younger brother, Stephen, who is a redshirt freshman quarterback at LSU and wears the same No. 17 that Philip wears in San Diego.

Rivers and his wife Tiffany, have six children (four girls and two boys). He is part-owner of two D1 Sports Training and Therapy Centers located in Raleigh, North Carolina and Huntsville, Alabama.

DANTE ROSARIO

Tight End
6-4, 250
6th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (Denver)- '12
Oregon
Dayton HS
Dayton, Ore.

The Chargers added an experienced pass-catching tight end when they signed Dante Rosario in March.

Rosario, who can help the Chargers as an extra blocker as well as a pass-catcher, has 89 career catches for 1,011 yards and four scores.

A native of tiny Dayton, Ore., Rosario comes from a family with a rich athletic history. His father, Pedro, emigrated to the United States from the Dominican Republic in 1964 to play baseball for the Milwaukee Braves. A left-hander, he played eight seasons of minor league baseball before his arm gave way, ending his career. Rosario's late mother, Yvonne, grew up in Dayton and was a star volleyball player at Oregon State. Yvonne suffered from cancer and died in December 2001, when Rosario was a junior in high school. Before she died, Yvonne encouraged all three of her children to achieve greatness in life.

In the year following her passing, Rosario led tiny Dayton High School to state titles in both football and basketball, leading to the offer of a football scholarship from the University of Oregon. Rosario's younger brother, Sergio, also excelled in sports, playing basketball at both Concordia University and Linfield College. Dante also has a connection to Linfield. He returns to his home state each summer and hosts the "Dante's Inferno Football Camp" at the school.

EDDIE ROYAL

Wide Receiver-Kick Returner
5-10, 185
5th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (Denver) - '12
Virginia Tech
Westfield HS
Chantilly, Va.

The Chargers landed one of the NFL's top free agent offensive and special teams threats when they signed former Denver Bronco Eddie Royal to a three-year contract in March. The Chargers had stiff competition for the Chantilly, Virginia native as his hometown Washington Redskins were also in hot pursuit of the former Bronco.

Chargers fans will remember Royal's exploits during a nationally-televised ESPN Monday Night Football game in 2009 when he returned a kickoff and a punt for touchdowns in the first half of a 34-23 Broncos' win. In total, Royal has returned three punts and kickoffs for touchdowns and he's one of only four players (former Charger Darren Sproles, Minnesota's Percy Harvin and Chicago's Devin Hester) in the NFL to total at least 2,000 yards from scrimmage and 2,000 returns yards since 2008.

Compactly built at 5-10 and 185 pounds, Royal opened eyes at the NFL Combine in 2008 when he bench-pressed 225 pounds 24 times, most among all receivers at the Combine. The Broncos made him a second round pick that year and he immediately let his presence be felt, racking up nine catches for 146 yards and a touchdown in his NFL debut against the Oakland Raiders. When the '08 season concluded, Royal earned All-Rookie honors from both Pro Football Weekly and the Professional Football Writers of America, as well as by The Sporting News after a season in which he posted the second-most catches by an NFL rookie, totaling 91 catches for 980 yards and five touchdowns. Royal also set Broncos rookie records in all three categories, he led all NFL rookies in those categories, and he became the league's first player since the NFL merger in 1970 to record his team's longest run, reception, kickoff return and punt return in the same season.

Royal's career achievements are all the more remarkable considering that he suffered from asthma as a child. Royal was the youngest of Pearl Royal's seven children and three of his siblings also suffered from it. Fortunately, the Medical Care for Children Partnership (MCCP) in Fairfax, Virginia provided the needed medical resources and all four of the kids received the treatment that they needed. Several years ago when Royal signed an endorsement deal with a t-shirt company called Gameday Passion, part of the agreement was that a portion of the proceeds would support MCCP.

Royal's sister, Capt. Christina Royal, is a graduate of the Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets and she is currently a special agent in the United States Air Force's Office of Special Investigations. Christina was the first-ever female regimental commander and the first-ever African-American regimental commander for the Corps of Cadets, where she was in charge of all the cadets at the school. Royal's brother, Chris, played defensive back at Marshall University from 2002-05 and he later played in the Arena Football and AF2 Leagues. In 2007, Chris was the 2007 Spalding Rookie of the Year for the Wilkes-Barre/Scranton Pioneers of AF2. Currently, he is a graduate assistant coach at Marshall.

STEPHEN SCHILLING

2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Draft 6B - '11
Michigan
Bellevue HS
Bellevue, Wash.

Stephen Schilling was a sixth-round draft pick in 2011. When injuries decimated the Chargers' offensive line late in the '11 season, the former honorable mention All-Big Ten choice from Michigan was called upon to start two games at guard in late-November, including his first start at historic Soldier Field.

Schilling held his own and in that first start against the Bears, the offensive line did not allow a sack. He started a week later against Denver and spent the rest of the season contributing on special teams.

Schilling was a four-year starter at Michigan who played both right tackle and left guard. He was a three-time winner of the Hugh R. Rader Jr. Memorial Award as the University of Michigan's top offensive lineman. Schilling redshirted as a true freshman in 2006 and then went on to start 49 games over the next four seasons.

Schilling's girlfriend, Katie, played soccer at Michigan and is a graduate of the University's law school.

Schilling enjoys golf, movies and listening to music.

MIKE SCIFRES

Punter
6-2, 221
10th NFL Season
10th with Chargers

Draft 5 - '03
Western Illinois
Destrehan HS
Destrehan, La.

Mike Scifres (SIGH-fres) had quite a year in 2011. Just days before the regular season opener, the Chargers signed him to a five-year contract extension that will keep him as the team's punter through the 2016 season. When Scifres put pen to paper though, little did he realize that within a few days, he'd not only be called upon to handle punts, but also kickoffs, field goals and point after tries after Nate Kaeding suffered a season-ending knee injury on the opening kickoff of the season against Minnesota. Scifres, the team's backup kicker, coolly responded by nailing a game-tying 40-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter, en route to a 24-17 victory over the Vikings. It was his first made field goal in a live game since his sophomore season at Western Illinois when he kicked a 56-yard game-winner in overtime against Northern Iowa for a conference title.

Beyond his heroics in Week 1, Scifres posted some eye-popping numbers in 2011. He averaged a career-high 47.5 yards per punt and fell just three attempts shy of qualifying for the team's single-season record (min. 50). Scifres punted 47 times in '11 and finished the year ranked sixth in the NFL in gross punting average. He had only two touchbacks in 2011, tying his career low.

The franchise's leader for career punting average (44.8), Scifres is a member of the Chargers' 50th Anniversary All-Time Team and a six-time Pro Bowl alternate (2004-09).

As he enters the 2012 season, Scifres is only eight punts shy of 500 for his career. Only 86 players in NFL history have punted more than 500 times. A look at what Scifres has done with his first 492 punts shows some incredible statistics. Only 204 of his punts have been returned and among the group with more than 500 career punts (since 1970), the fewest number of returns a punter has allowed is 207 by Ken Walter, who punted for Carolina, New England and Seattle from 1997-06. Similarly, Scifres' 45 career touchbacks would be the fifth-fewest among punters for whom complete career data is available, showing just how valuable a weapon he has been for the Chargers.

Scifres credits his career success to a workout regimen that includes weightlifting and Pilates.

It was almost a fluke that Scifres ended up with the Chargers. It happened on a recommendation from Kyle Smith, the son of Chargers General Manager A.J. Smith. As a freshman at Youngstown State, Smith had returned punts against Scifres, who played for Missouri Valley Conference foe, Western Illinois. Less than a year after fielding the call from Kyle, and despite having Pro Bowl punter Darren Bennett on the roster, Smith drafted Scifres in the fifth round in 2003.

Scifres cemented his resume as one of the NFL's top punters during an outstanding 2008 season when he set a team record and ranked third in the league with a 40.9-yard net punting average. He allowed zero or negative punt return yards in seven games. He had only five touchbacks in 51 punts (9.8%) for the entire season and landed 19 those of 51 attempts inside the 20. Among players with 40-or-more punts, only two others allowed fewer than Scifres' 146 return yards, and only five teams had more than 15 punt return yards against the Chargers all season.

Scifres' outstanding season carried into the playoffs where he enjoyed a record-breaking night in the Chargers' AFC Wild Card Playoff win over the Indianapolis Colts. He landed all six of his punts inside the 20, the highest number and percentage of punts ever landed inside the 20 during a playoff game. He also averaged a playoff-record 51.7 net yards per punt as the Colts managed just six punt return yards for the game. The Colts were forced to start drives at their own 10, 19, 3, 7, 9 and 1-yard lines following punts. Scifres' last punt may have been his best, a kick that rolled out of bounds at the 1-yard line, setting the stage for the Chargers' late fourth-quarter comeback.

Scifres also experienced postseason success against Indianapolis in 2007 when he helped send the Chargers to the AFC Championship Game with a dominating performance in the Divisional Playoffs at the RCA Dome. Scifres set a team postseason record by averaging 59.0 yards per punt. He saved his best for last again, hitting a postseason team-record 66-yarder with the Bolts backed up at their own 14-yard line and only 1:42 left in the fourth quarter. Kicking from his own goal line, the Colts fielded Scifres' punt at their own 20. That punt lit a fire on the Chargers' sideline and the defense ended the Colts' season on downs four plays later, sending the Chargers on to the title game.

Scifres went to high school in Destrehan, La. One of his prep teammates was Baltimore Ravens safety Ed Reed, who funny enough was the team's punter at the time. Because of Reed's strong leg, Scifres was initially relegated to kickoffs, field goals and extra points. Few would've guessed that Scifres would turn out to be such a special player. Scifres and Reed have remained friends.

Mike and his wife, Stacie, are parents to twin daughters Berkeley and Bristyn.

TAKEO SPIKES

Inside Linebacker
6-2, 242
15th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

UFA (San Francisco) - '11
Auburn
Washington County HS
Sandersville, Ga.

It didn't take long for veteran inside linebacker Takeo Spikes to make an impression in San Diego. Immediately upon arrival after signing a three-year contract in late-July 2011, Spikes set out to get to know everything and everyone he could inside the Chargers' organization. At the start of training camp, he made a point of sharing meals with different groups of teammates so he could learn about each of them and what made them tick. He struck up an immediate kinship with the team's offensive leader, quarterback Philip Rivers. And just weeks later before the season even started, teammates knew Spikes was a special individual and voted him a team captain.

Spikes paced his new team with 119 tackles, his 11th-career 100-tackle season, and he mentored fellow inside linebacker Donald Butler, who was signed a rookie after missing his entire rookie season with an Achilles injury. Spikes' experience resonated on Butler who ended up ranking second behind Spikes in tackles with 102. At the end of the year, teammates voted another honor for Spikes, this time selecting him as the team's Most Inspirational Player.

Over a 14-year NFL career that has seen him play in Cincinnati, Buffalo, Philadelphia, San Francisco and now San Diego, Spikes has become one of the NFL's most popular players. He's an 11-time team captain and is followed by more than 390,000 fans on Twitter. With an eye toward broadcasting, Spikes has a lengthy background in media. In January, he spent a week doing interviews on various platforms at the ESPN studios in Bristol, Conn. and in February, he was one of the most sought-out athletes to make the rounds of media row at Super Bowl XLVI. While playing in San Francisco from 2008-10, Spikes hosted his own Bay Area television show, "TKO TV," on Comcast SportsNet.

There aren't a lot of players still playing in their 15th season, as Spikes will do in 2012. Typically that type of tenure is limited to kickers, punters and quarterbacks, not linebackers. In 2011 Spikes played in his 200th career game, becoming just the 13th linebacker and 98th non-kicker to reach the milestone. His first start in 2012 mark the 200th of his career. And as further testament to his durability, at the end of the '11 season, Spikes was only one of eight players taken in the first three rounds of the 1998 NFL Draft to still be on an active roster.

Spikes isn't your typical linebacker though and he has devised unique training and conditioning methods that have allowed him to play the game as long as he has. One of which is a hyperbaric chamber in which he often sleeps in his homes in San Diego and Atlanta, breathing pressurized pure oxygen while asleep. It's a technique athletes use to promote the recovery and healing of damaged tissue.

A native of tiny Sandersville, Ga., Spikes learned about hard work from those who were closest to him. He grew up about two hours from Atlanta where his mom, Lillie, was a special education teacher at the local high school and his father, Jimmie, spent 30-plus years working in the chalk mines after working in the south's infamous plantation fields as a youngster. Takeo spent several teenage summers working alongside Jimmie in the mines where father tried to teach son that there was a better life out there for him. The lessons paid large dividends. Jimmie was able to see his son's dream of a professional football career come true before he passed in 2001.

Spikes is still revered in Sandersville. His number is retired at Washington County High School and pictures of Spikes are strewn throughout the school's athletic facilities. Over the years, he's helped the school financially on numerous occasions and in June 2012 he hosted a free football camp at Washington County High for the 11th-consecutive year.

Spikes' reputation as a leader extends beyond the locker room and the playing field. In 2007, NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell and the NFL Players Association appointed Spikes to the first-ever Player Advisory Council, a six-man committee established to advise Goodell on a wide range of player issues.

In 2003, Spikes and former NFL linebacker Carlos Emmons launched 51 Ways, Inc. (www.TakeoSpikes51.com), a non-profit foundation that provides financial, spiritual and physical resources to families that have children with cancer or blood disorders. Both players grew up in Georgia and lost family members to cancer.

Spikes enjoys playing golf in his free time. Teammates often refer to him as "TKO" or "Spikedog," but his parents named him "Takeo" after Japanese Prime Minister Takeo Miki, who served from 1974-76. Takeo means "great warrior" in Japanese. And in keeping with the family tradition, Spikes named his daughter, Jakai, another Japanese word that means "beautiful flower."

Spikes' cousin, Brandon (Spikes), is a starting linebacker for the defending AFC Champion New England Patriots.

In March, Spikes, along with Carolina punter Jason Baker, former NFL linebacker Dhani Jones, Cleveland center Alex Mack and Houston tackle Eric Winston took part in a NFL-USO Tour and visited several military bases in the Middle East. Here Spikes is pictured at Forward Operating Base Farah Afghanistan with Major Rich Fierro and Corporal Yeison Betancur.

MICHEAL SPURLOCK

Wide Receiver-Kick Returner
5-11, 210
5th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (Tampa Bay) - '12
Mississippi
Gentry HS
Gentry, Miss.

The Chargers were aggressive this offseason in their search for wide receivers and kick returners and their search landed former Tampa Bay Buccaneer Micheal Spurlock.

In 2007, Spurlock became a hero in Tampa Bay when he ended 32 years of futility by scoring the franchise's first-ever touchdown on a kickoff return.

Spurlock owns a career 25.1-yard kickoff return average and he's combined to post three returns for scores: two kickoffs and a punt.

Spurlock hails from Indianola, Miss., the same hometown as legendary blues guitarist B.B. King. As a high schooler, he set a state record when he scored all 71 of his team's points in a game, throwing nine touchdown passes, scoring two more TDs on the ground and kicking every one of his team's extra points. An outstanding prep career led to a scholarship from the University of Mississippi where he was recruited by Rich Bisaccia, who later coached Spurlock in Tampa Bay and is now the Assistant Head Coach-Special Teams for the Chargers. Spurlock had the dubious distinction of following two-time Super Bowl-winning quarterback Eli Manning at Ole Miss.

Spurlock and his wife, Danielle, have four daughters, E'Landria, Griselle, Macie and Payton. Having lived through some of the cruelties of life in the NFL, Spurlock was cut by Arizona in 2007 while his wife was eight-and-a-half months pregnant and shortly after the couple had purchased a home. He then signed with Tampa Bay, but on the day he called to inform the Buccaneers that his wife was set to deliver and he needed to return to Arizona, they also told him he was about to be released. Thankfully Spurlock re-signed shortly thereafter and remained with Tampa Bay for the better part of the next five seasons.

Spurlock enjoys collecting movies. He started in college and his collection now includes several hundred titles. Sundays are movie day in the Spurlock's home as they gather to watch movies after attending church.

Kansas City, Kan.

The window of opportunity is wide open for third-year safety Darrell Stuckey, who is expected to compete for the team's starting spot at strong safety in 2012.

Stuckey saw his first extensive playing time in 2011, appearing in 14 games, where he was part of a three-way tie for the team lead with 12 special teams tackles. A fourth-round pick in 2010, Stuckey was expected to challenge for the strong safety spot as a rookie, but a hamstring injury during training camp slowed him throughout the preseason and into the regular season, costing him a shot at significant playing time.

Outgoing and gregarious, Stuckey is one of the Chargers' most-active players in the community. As a student at Kansas University, he was not only one of the school's most-talented athletes, but also one of it's most popular and academically gifted. Raised by a single mother, Michele Foulks, Stuckey graduated in four years and was named to the Athletic Director's Honor Roll. He was also one of the Jayhawks' most active participants in student government and community service. Stuckey enjoys delivering motivational speeches and regularly volunteers to lend a helping hand with community projects in San Diego.

As a collegian, Stuckey's 295 career tackles were second-most all time among Jayhawks defensive backs. The only player with more was former NFL great Leroy Irvin, who had 347 from 1976-79. Stuckey was the Jayhawks' first non-linebacker to lead the team in tackles since 2000.

Stuckey has three brothers and three sisters. His younger sister, Denae, played basketball at Iowa State.

Stuckey's hobbies include painting, drawing and collecting DVD movies.

In April 2011, Stuckey married longtime girlfriend, Lacie Reed, and the couple honeymooned in Hawaii.

ERIC WEDDLE

Free Safety
5-11, 200
6th NFL Season
6th with Chargers

Draft 2 - '07
Utah
Alta Loma HS
Alta Loma, Calif.

When the Chargers signed Eric Weddle to a new five-year contract before the 2011 season, a number of critics questioned the team's decision to offer one of the top contracts for a safety who had yet to earn Pro Bowl status. It didn't take long for Weddle and the Chargers to prove the naysayers wrong as he helped clinch two early-season back-to-back wins with late fourth-quarter interceptions on his way to a Pro Bowl season in which he tied for the NFL lead with a career-high seven picks. And it wasn't just Pro Bowl accolades that Weddle earned, as a slew of All-Pro accolades followed, accompanied by his selection as the Chargers' Defensive Player of the Year.

Weddle's 2011 season got off to a fast start. In Week 3 against Kansas City, he sealed the Chargers' 20-17 win with a pick with 55 seconds left in the fourth quarter. A week later with the Miami Dolphins in town, Weddle did it again, picking off Chad Henne with 2:53 left and the Chargers up 26-16. He became just the third Chargers defender in the last 20 years to collect game-clinching fourth-quarter interceptions in back-to-back games. Weddle was the secondary's leading tackler for the fourth-straight season in 2011 as he collected 93 tackles, while his eight passes defended ranked second on the unit.

In 2010, Weddle was named second-team All-Pro by the Associated Press after anchoring a secondary that ranked first in the NFL in pass defense. The Chargers ranked 31st among the NFL's 32 teams in pass defense in 2008, Weddle's first season as a starter, but it improved to 11th in 2009 before leading the league in '10.

As a first-year starter in 2008, Weddle made an immediate impact. He started all 16 games, ranked second on the team in total tackles, just one behind the team leader, and he set a team record with an 86-yard fumble return for a touchdown. Though he didn't start as a rookie in 2007, Weddle was part of a secondary that led the NFL with 30 interceptions. He capped off his first professional season with a key goal-line interception off Peyton Manning in a Chargers' Divisional Playoff win over the Indianapolis Colts.

Weddle grew up in Alta Loma, about an hour north of San Diego. His family are long-time Chargers fans.

Weddle and his high school sweetheart, Chanel, were married in La Jolla in July 2005. They have two daughters, Brooklyn Marie and Silver Jean, and a son, Gaige. They wed before Eric's junior season at Utah and lived near Utah State in Ogden where Chanel went to school and played soccer for the Aggies. Eric commuted nearly an hour each way to Salt Lake City where the University of Utah is located for school and football.

A special education major, Weddle tutored students with learning disabilities. He made regular visits to Utah's Primary Children's Hospital, spoke to children at schools and youth correctional facilities, and volunteered with the Salt Lake City Food Bank. In June 2011, Weddle returned to Salt Lake to host his first Eric Weddle Football Camp. Miami Dolphins defensive back and former Ute teammate, Sean Smith, assisted Weddle with the three-day camp.

Weddle is an avid golfer who plays to a seven or eight handicap and bowls once or twice a week, averaging in the 170s. Other hobbies include baseball, basketball and watching movies.

7th NFL Season

UFA (Seattle) – '12

Alpharetta, Ga.

After a two-year sabbatical in the Pacific Northwest, Charlie Whitehurst returned to San Diego in March and will go into the 2012 season as the backup to Philip Rivers.

Two years ago, the Chargers traded Whitehurst to the Seahawks for a second round choice in the '10 NFL Draft and an additional third-round choice in the 2011 draft. Whitehurst spent two seasons in Seattle, helping the Seahawks clinch the NFC West title in 2010 by leading them to a Week 17 victory over the St. Louis Rams in an NBC Sunday Night Football contest.

An honor roll student throughout his college career at Clemson, Whitehurst earned his degree in marketing in December 2004, a full year before his eligibility expired. He left the Clemson, South Carolina campus as the Atlantic Coast Conference's third all-time leading passer. One of the players who ranked ahead of him was Rivers, who spent his collegiate career at North Carolina State.

Whitehurst's dad, David, was also an NFL quarterback. He played for the Green Bay Packers from 1976-83. When the Chargers played at Lambeau Field in 2007, the Packers were hosting the team's annual alumni weekend and the entire Whitehurst family made the trip to Northern Wisconsin to take part in the festivities and watch the Chargers play.

Whitehurst's sister, Carrie, also went Clemson on an athletic scholarship. She was a forward on the school's women's basketball team.

58 DEMORRIO WILLIAMS

Outside Linebacker
6-1, 235
9th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (Kansas City) - '12
Nebraska
Beckville HS
Beckville, Tex.

The story of Demorris Williams' rise to the NFL is one that very nearly did not get written.

Williams grew up in tiny Beckville, Texas, where he was raised by his mom, Veronica, and grandmother, Ellawize Jones. An uncle, Dexter, who helped raise him was accidentally electrocuted and died when Williams was just four years old. Despite the long odds, Williams thrived in Beckville and by high school, he had become a feared safety who hit anything that moved. Williams, however, was just 170 pounds and major college recruiters considered him too small to play the position at the next level. He instead enrolled at Cisco (Tex.) Junior College, but lasted there only two weeks when homesickness led him back to Beckville. A close friend helped him find a job back home, where he worked 12-hour days in the town's oil fields. It was back-breaking work. That same friend, Jay Hightower, convinced Williams that he should give football one more try.

This time, Williams enrolled at Kilgore (Tex.) College and it was a perfect fit. As a linebacker, he led the Rangers in tackles his first season and sacks his second en route to earning Junior College All-America honors. The Nebraska

Cornhuskers took notice of the budding star and as soon as they offered him a scholarship, Williams accepted. He had an outstanding career at Nebraska where he became a first-team All-Big 12 pick and graduated with a degree in sociology. In 2004, the Atlanta Falcons selected him in the fourth-round of the NFL Draft with the 101st overall pick.

Fast-forward to 2012 and Williams is about to begin his ninth NFL season. He spent his first four years with the Falcons and his last four with the Kansas City Chiefs. Twice he's posted more than 100 tackles: 132 with the Falcons in 2005 and 142 with the Chiefs in 2009. He's also been a beast on special teams, racking up 54 career tackles, while returning a blocked field goal for a touchdown. Equally as impressive, Williams has missed only four games in his NFL career. He had played in 123-straight games, including playoffs, before he was inactive for four games with the Chiefs last season due to a groin injury, but he returned and played in Kansas City's final four games.

Williams is still hailed as a star in Beckville and he has returned to his hometown for the last several years to host a football camp at his former high school.

It was through a rather remarkable turn of events that led Mike Windt to become the Chargers' long snapper as a rookie in 2010. After injuries sidelined David Binn, James Dearth and Ryan Neill, and the Chargers cut veteran Ethan Albright, they turned to the Cincinnati native and NFL rookie, who was solid through the team's final 11 games. Windt's accurate snaps helped stabilize an erratic season for the Chargers' kicking duo of Nate Kaeding and punter Mike Scifres.

In 2011, Windt won a training camp competition with Binn, the Chargers' all-time leader for career games played and retained the job as the team's long snapper. Windt had a flawless season for the Chargers in 2011 and the team is looking for him to continue to get better.

MELVIN INGRAM

Outside Linebacker
6-2, 265
Rookie

Draft 1 – '12
South Carolina
Richmond County HS
Rockingham, N.C.

The Chargers' draft room was full of excitement when South Carolina's Melvin Ingram fell to the Chargers with the 18th overall pick in the first round.

A jack-of-all-trades at South Carolina, Ingram posted the fourth-most sacks in school history and the fifth-most tackles for loss. A team captain and full-time starter as a senior, he helped the Gamecocks rank third in the nation in total defense and 11th in scoring defense. Ingram returned two fumbles for touchdowns, played special teams and scored a touchdown on a 68-yard run during a fake punt against Georgia in 2011. It all led toward him being named just the third consensus first-team All-America in South Carolina history and the first since 1984.

Ingram was also part of a resurgence at South Carolina that peaked when the Gamecocks won a school-record 11 games in his final season, going 11-2, including a 30-13 win over Nebraska in the Capital One Bowl on New Year's Day.

Ingram's athleticism and versatility led teammates to nickname him "Super Melvin" in high school. Ingram can do a standing back-flip, he can dunk a football over the cross-bar, he can dunk a basketball with ease and he can throw a football more than 70 yards.

Ingram spent most of his life in a single-parent household after his father, George Melvin, died when he was young. His mother, Nancy, taught him to be humble, but his dad had taught him that big-time players make big-time plays in big-time situations. It's a message that's stuck with Ingram throughout his football career.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: First-round pick (18), April 26, 2012...signed four-year contract, May 11.

KENDALL REYES

Defensive End
6-4, 300
Rookie

Draft 2 – '12
Connecticut
Nashua North HS
Nashua, N.H.

The Chargers used their second-round pick on Kendall Reyes from Connecticut, a versatile player who lined up at all positions along the defensive line for the Huskies. Reyes was a two-year team captain and a two-time first-team All-Big East Conference pick. As a senior in 2011, he was named to a long list of postseason award watch lists, including the Lombardi Award and the Outland Trophy.

Reyes was one of the quickest players to come out of the Big East Conference and he really impressed NFL coaches and scouts during practices in the week leading up to the 2012 Senior Bowl. Reyes started games at both strong and weak-side defensive tackle at Connecticut as well as strong-side defensive end. By career's end, Reyes had tallied the 10th-most tackles for loss in school history (32.5) and he'd intercepted two passes, returning one for 79 yards in 2010 that was the seventh-longest in the UConn record books.

Reyes is from Nashua, N.H., where he scored the first-ever touchdown in Nashua North High School's history, he became the first NFL draft pick in school history and the first player from Nashua to be drafted into the NFL in 14 years.

BRANDON TAYLOR

Strong Safety
5-11, 210
Rookie

Draft 3 – '12
Louisiana State
Franklinton HS
Franklinton, La.

The Chargers knew Brandon Taylor was a special player so it was no surprise when the team engineered a trade with Miami to move up five spots in the third round to select the former LSU Tiger with the 73rd overall pick of the 2012 NFL Draft.

Taylor grew up in Franklinton, La., the second-youngest of Curtis and Annette Taylor's nine children. He was groomed and toughened by two older brothers, Curtis and Jhyryn, both of whom played for the Tigers. But Taylor charted his own path in football, making a challenging switch from cornerback to strong safety. His willingness to sacrifice for the team made him one of LSU's most popular players. Before his senior season, head coach Les Miles called Taylor into his office and informed the team captain that he'd been chosen to wear the Tigers' coveted No. 18 jersey. In a tradition that was born in 2003, the LSU coaching staff picks one player who exemplifies character and leadership to wear the No. 18 jersey each season. Chargers teammate Jacob Hester also was selected to wear No. 18 during his career in Baton Rouge. Taylor wasn't finished there. He also had another honor bestowed upon him by teammates as he was selected to stand in the rally circle before each game to fire up the team. Both gestures were tremendous honors for the Louisiana native.

Brother, Curtis, played on LSU's National Championship team in 2007 and was drafted by the San Francisco 49ers in 2008. He's currently a reserve cornerback with the Oakland Raiders.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Third-round pick (73), April 27, 2012...signed four-year contract, May 15.

LADARIUS GREEN

Tight End
6-6, 240
Rookie

Draft 4 – '12
Louisiana-Lafayette
Booker T. Washington HS
Pensacola, Fla.

The Chargers used their fourth-round pick in the 2012 NFL Draft to select rangy tight end Ladarius Green from Louisiana-Lafayette. San Diego football fans will remember Green from his five-catch, 121-yard, one-touchdown effort against San Diego State in the 2011 New Orleans Bowl. Now in San Diego, the Chargers believe he can be a big-play complement to Antonio Gates.

A three-time All-Sun Belt League choice, the 6-6, 240-pound Green caught 149 passes for 2,201 yards and 22 touchdowns during his career with the Ragin' Cajuns. His 22 touchdown catches were second-most in school history behind current Denver Broncos wide receiver Brandon Stokley, while his yardage and reception totals ranked fourth and fifth, respectively.

Green also excelled in the classroom, earning a degree in finance in just three-and-a-half years. He spoke publicly about one day pursuing a career in investment banking.

Green was born in Berlin, Germany, while both of his parents served in the military.

Despite his 6-6 frame, Green's nickname is "Pee Wee." It is a moniker he was given as a high school junior when he stood just 5-10, but even though he hit a major growth spurt shortly thereafter, the name stuck and his teammates still refer to him as Pee Wee.

6-4, 330
Rookie

Draft 5 – '12
Penn State
Pemberton Township HS
Brown Mills, N.J.

The Chargers used their fifth-round selection in the 2012 NFL Draft to select guard Johnnie Troutman from Penn State.

Troutman started the last three seasons at left guard for the Nittany Lions without allowing a sack. He was credited for throwing 38 touchdown-resulting blocks during his career and as a senior in 2011 he wasn't flagged for a single penalty. During his junior and senior seasons, Penn

State led the Big Ten in fewest sacks allowed. Troutman was an honorable mention All-Big Ten pick in '11 and he was named the Brooks-Irvine Memorial Football Club of New Jersey's Division I College Player of the Year.

Troutman battled several injuries prior to the draft, including surgery for a pectoral injury in April. Despite the diagnosis, the Chargers still liked what they saw from the former Nittany Lion and made him their choice in the fifth round.

DAVID MOLK

Center
6-1, 300
Rookie

Draft 7A – '12
Michigan
Lemont Township HS
Lemont, Ill.

The Chargers selected Michigan center David Molk, winner of the 2011 Rimington Award as the nation's best center, with their first of two seventh round picks.

The 6-1, 300-pounder was a finalist for the Rimington Award in 2010; he was a consensus first-team All-America in '11, as well as a first-team All-Big Ten pick his final two seasons in Ann Arbor. When Molk won the Rimington Award in 2011, he became only the second Wolverines player to win the award and he was the school's first outright winner.

Molk drew raves at the '12 NFL Combine after posting the most bench-press reps among centers at 225 pounds (41). It's not surprising considering that in 2009, '10 and '11, the National Strength and Conditioning Association named Molk its Athlete of the Year.

Molk plays the game with a heavy heart and with a chip on his shoulder. Tragically, he lost his mom to cancer when he was in the eighth grade and it pushed him to work hard. He started every game at center as a redshirt freshman in 2008 and he started every game at Michigan during his junior and senior seasons until his final collegiate contest, the 2012 Sugar Bowl against Virginia Tech.

During pregame warmups for the bowl game, Molk felt a pop in his foot and coaches decided to sit the fifth-year senior. As he watched the offense struggle on the first series due in part to a couple of errant snaps, Molk put himself into the game for the second series and didn't miss a snap the rest of the way as the Wolverines rallied for a 23-20 win over the Hokies.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Seventh-round pick (226), April 28, 2012...signed four-year contract May 9.

COLLEGE: Earned 2011 Big Ten Conference Rimington-Pace Offensive Lineman of Year Award...team captain as senior...helped Michigan rank second in Big Ten and 13th nationally in rushing in '11 as Wolverines had two 1,000-yard rushers in same season for first time since 1975...also key in team allowing third-fewest sacks in conference...co-winner of Hugh R. Rader Memorial Award as team's top offensive lineman in 2010...started all 13 games as team set school record for total offensive yards (6,011)...earned team's sophomore award for toughness and work ethic during Michigan's 2009 spring drills...recipient of 2008 Iron Wolverine Award as best all-around conditioned lineman...started 41 career games...redshirted in 2007...played at Michigan from 2008-11...sport management major.

The Chargers closed out the 2012 NFL Draft with the selection of running back Edwin "Rock" Baker from Michigan State.

A 2,293-yard rusher with 19 career touchdowns in East Lansing, Baker concluded his career as the 12th all-time

The Chargers dropped a heartbreaker to the Chiefs on ESPN's Monday Night Football, falling in overtime, 23-20. The Chargers trailed nearly the entire night and by as many as 10 points, but a touchdown and two-point conversion tied the game at 20-20 with 7:1 left in the fourth quarter. After a defensive three-and-out, the Chargers had the ball and were driving for a potential game-winning score when Philip Rivers fumbled a snap deep in Chiefs territory with less than a minute remaining. The game went to overtime and the Chargers won the coin toss and took possession, but a Tamba Hall sack contributed to a three-and-out by the Chargers on their first possession. Kansas City made the Bolts pay, driving 69 yards in 14 plays and Ryan Succop won the game on a 30-yard field goal 9:44 into the extra session.

The Chargers hosted the defending Super Bowl Champions in front of the third-largest home crowd in franchise history and the Chargers fought the champs tooth-and-nail to the end before dropping a heartbreaking 45-38 defeat. Despite two interception returns for touchdowns by the Packers and a 21-point deficit in the fourth quarter, the Chargers rallied to get within seven points and had the ball at the end of the game in Packers' territory with a chance to tie and send the game to overtime, but an interception with 14 seconds left sealed the victory for Green Bay.

Chargers Bears 31, San Diego Chargers 20 Sunday, November 20, 2011 Soldier Field (Chicago, IL)

The Chargers dropped their fifth-straight game on a cold in windy day in Chicago's Soldier Field, falling to the Bears, 31-20. With four new starters on offense, including three on the offensive line, the Chargers put up a valiant effort against the Bears, making their score for the remainder of the game until late in the third quarter. Looking to answer following a game that gave Chicago a 24-17 lead, the Chargers turned the ball over and the Bears capitalized quickly with a two-play drive for a touchdown and a 31-17 lead. The Chargers scored three early in the fourth quarter to trim the deficit to 11, but two more fourth-quarter turnovers proved costly and Chicago held on for the win.

Denver Broncos 16, San Diego Chargers 13 (OT) Sunday, November 27, 2011 Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

San Diego Chargers 38, Jacksonville Jaguars 14 Monday, December 5, 2011 EverBank Field (Jacksonville, FL)

San Diego's losing streak stretched to six games as the Denver Broncos handed the Chargers a 16-13 setback in overtime at Qualcomm Stadium. Matt Prater's 37-yard field goal with 29 seconds remaining in the overtime session decided the outcome. The Chargers led 10-0 early, but a long punt return late in the second quarter, followed by a missed opportunity to score up a loose fumble, led to a Broncos touchdown that trimmed the Chargers' lead to 10-7 at half. The Chargers had the ball in Denver territory twice in the second half but could only muster a field goal and the Broncos tied the game late in the fourth on a kick by Prater. The teams traded possessions early in overtime and then the Chargers put together a 10-play, 45-yard drive, but Nick Novak's 53-yard potential game-winning field goal went wide right and the Broncos took over. Tim Tebow moved the Broncos 38 yards in six plays, including a 24-yard run by Willis McGahee, and that drive set up Prater's game-winning kick.

The Chargers snapped a six-game losing streak in emphatic fashion, handing the Jacksonville Jaguars a 38-14 setback before a national TV audience on ESPN's Monday Night Football. The Chargers scored early to take a 10-0 lead, but saw it evaporate when Jacksonville scored touchdowns on consecutive drives to go up 14-10. But then San Diego put the pedal to the metal, scoring 14 points in the final 3:06 of the second quarter and adding seven more early in the third quarter to take a commanding 31-14 lead. In all, five different players scored touchdowns as the Chargers matched their season-high for points in a game.

San Diego Chargers 37, Buffalo Bills 10 Sunday, December 11, 2011 Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers won their second in a row and the 400th game all-time in franchise history, returning home on a short week and rolling to a 37-10 win over the Buffalo Bills. The Chargers scored first and led 16-10 at the half, but early in the third quarter the Bills kicked a field goal and then 92 seconds later recovered a ball in the end zone that had slipped out of Philip Rivers' hands and suddenly they trailed just 16-10. The Bills stopped the Chargers in three plays, but facing a 4th-and-2 from their own 30, Norv Turner called for a fake punt and up-back Eric Weddle sprinted 10 yards for a first down. Seven plays later, Rivers threw a two-yard touchdown pass to Antonio Gates and the Chargers pulled away for the win.

San Diego Chargers 38, Oakland Raiders 26
Sunday, January 1, 2012
O.co. Coliseum (Oakland, CA)

The Chargers' late-season run toward the playoffs and the team's three-game winning streak came to a screeching halt in Detroit's Ford Field as the Lions handed the Bolts a 38-10 setback and themselves qualified for the NFL's postseason for the first time since 1999. Detroit dominated the first half, jumping out to a 24-0 lead behind a nearly flawless Matthew Stafford who was 21 of 26 for 260 yards and three touchdowns at the break. The Chargers finally scored in the third quarter and then recovered an onside kick to climb within 10 points at 24-10 but could no further damage as Detroit scored the last 14 points en route to the win.

The Chargers ended their season on a winning note, knocking off their arch-rivals, 38-26, to finish the season 8-8 and eliminate the Raiders from the playoff hunt. The Chargers staked out to a 24-13 halftime lead, one that could've only been eight points had time not run out for Oakland to attempt a field goal at the end of the second quarter. The Raiders outgained the Chargers in total yards, 520-463, but key red-zone stops kept Oakland out of the end zone and proved the difference in the game.

2008 AFC Divisional Playoffs Pittsburgh Steelers 35, San Diego Chargers 24 Sunday, Jan. 11, 2009 - Heinz Field (Pittsburgh, PA)

The Chargers' run through AFC Playoffs came to abrupt end in Pittsburgh as Steelers dealt Chargers 35-24 setback on cold and snowy day in Steel City. Chargers staked out to early lead on long touchdown catch by Vincent Jackson and led or were tied for most of first half, but game's momentum changed right before and right after halftime.

Down 10-7, Pittsburgh drove 66 yards for touchdown just before halftime, giving them their first lead of night at 14-10. Steelers got ball first coming out of locker room and drove 77 yards for another score that extended lead to 21-10. Darren Sproles' 63-yard kickoff return gave ball to Chargers at Pittsburgh's 23-yard line, but Philip Rivers' first-down pass was tipped and intercepted by Steelers. Though replays showed ball appeared to hit ground, play whistled instant replay challenge and Pittsburgh maintained possession. Chargers' defense held and forced punt, but punt inadvertently hit unknown Eric Weddle and Steelers recovered and took over at Chargers' 23. Again Chargers' defense would hold, stopping Pittsburgh on downs at one, but with Bolts offense unable to get out of shadow of its own goal line, Steelers got ball again in San Diego territory and 49 yards later, Steelers scored to take 28-10 lead. San Diego managed pair of late touchdowns, including 62-yarder by Sproles, who finished game with 274 all-purpose yards, but Pittsburgh held Bolts at bay and held on for win.

2008 AFC Wild Card Playoffs
San Diego Chargers 23, Indianapolis Colts 17 (OT)
Saturday, Jan. 3, 2009 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The San Diego Chargers' miracle season of 2008 stayed alive as Bolts rallied from 17-14 fourth quarter deficit behind outstanding defensive effort and legs of Darren Sproles to defeat Indianapolis Colts, 23-17, in overtime in Saturday night home playoff game at Qualcomm Stadium. After trailing 7-0 and 10-7, Chargers rallied and led 14-10 at half. In third quarter, Colts caught Chargers off-guard while substituting defenders and made them pay with 72-yard TD pass from Peyton Manning to Reggie Wayne. San Diego's defense settled down though and did not allow Colts any more points. Key defensive stand late in fourth quarter, fueled by Tim Dobbins' sack of Manning at Colts' one-yard line, allowed offense time for one final drive in regulation. Philip Rivers drove Bolts to Colts' eight-yard line and Nate Kaeding's field goal from 26 yards out tied game with 31 seconds left. San Diego won coin toss in overtime and Rivers led offense on 11-play, 75-yard march that ended with 22-yard touchdown run by Sproles to win game in overtime. Sproles finished night with 328 all-purpose yards, third-most ever by player in NFL playoff game. Dobbins' sack that enabled Bolts to begin comeback was first of his career.

2007 AFC Championship Game
New England Patriots 21, San Diego Chargers 12
Sunday, Jan. 20, 2008 - Gillette Stadium (Foxborough, MA)

Despite playing with torn ACL in his right knee, Philip Rivers started and played entire game. Chargers were doomed by their inability to score touchdowns inside red zone, instead settling for four Nate Kaeding field goals. NFL rushing champion LaDainian Tomlinson, who was unable to complete game. Chargers struck first following Tom Brady interception. Chargers were also hurt by turnovers as second-quarter interception thrown by Rivers resulted in TD and 14-6 lead for Pats. Chargers made another run at Patriots in third quarter, intercepting Brady on opening drive. It would lead to one of game's most critical plays. After turnover, Chargers drove to New England's four, but on 3rd-and-1, Michael Turner was tackled for two-yard loss by former Bolt Juice Seau and Chargers had to settle for another field goal. New England made Chargers pay three series later as Wes Welker caught six-yard pass from Brady and Patriots extended their lead to 21-12. After San Diego punt, New England took ball with 9:13 to play in fourth quarter and killed entire contest scoring 2nd-and-18 early in drive. 2007 AFC Divisional Playoffs

San Diego Chargers 28, Indianapolis Colts 24
Sunday, Jan. 13, 2008 - RCA Dome (Indianapolis, IN)

The Chargers advanced to AFC Championship game in New England with 28-24 win in final-ever game at RCA Dome. Contest included multiple lead changes that were sparked by handful of reserves who were forced into action after key starters were sidelined with injuries. Down 7-0, Philip Rivers threw interception and Colts drove to Chargers' 17-yard line, but Antonio Cromartie forced fumble by Marvin Harrison to end threat. Chargers capitalized, tying game on touchdown pass from Rivers to Vincent Jackson. Late in second quarter, Cromartie snagged his second takeaway when slghtly overthrown Peyton Manning pass went off Reggie Wayne's fingertips. Cromartie returned interception 89 yards for what appeared to be go-ahead score, but holding call during return brought play back to mid-field and teams went to locker room with Indy up 10-7. Chargers scored on their opening possession of second half and took their first lead at 14-10. Indianapolis then drove to Chargers' four, but rookie safety Eric Weddle intercepted pass intended for Kenton Keith. On last play of third quarter, Rivers tossed his third touchdown pass of day, short screen that Daren Sproles took 56 yards to house, but euphoria of 21-17 lead was temporarily damped as Rivers' left game with sprained right knee suffered on play. With Rivers out, LaDainian Tomlinson also battling sore knee and Colts retaking lead 24-21, backups Villy Volek and Michael Turner were called on to carry load. And they delivered with Blake giving Chargers lead one final time on one-yard quarterback sneak with 4:54 remaining. Colts had two late tries to reclaim lead, but Bolts defense buckled down with two stops on downs, including one at Chargers' seven yard line and another that started far down field thanks to 66-yard punt by Mike Scifres as Chargers held on for victory.

Sunday, Jan. 14, 2007 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers' record-breaking season came to end in heart-breaking fashion when New England Patriots overcame eight point deficit in fourth quarter to defeat Chargers, 24-21, in AFC Divisional Playoff game before record crowd of 68,810 in San Diego. After sluggish start by both teams, San Diego took 14-3 lead in second quarter on touchdown runs by LaDainian Tomlinson and Michael Turner, but Bolts defense gave up late score and Patriots trailed only 14-10 at half. New England added field goal in third quarter to climb within point, but Chargers drove 83 yards in nine plays early in fourth and took 21-13 lead when Tomlinson scored from three yards out, game appeared to be all but over when Marlon McCree intercepted Tom Brady on following drive, but Patriots' Troy Brown stripped McCree during runback and Patriots recovered. Five plays later, Reche Caldwell caught four-yard touchdown pass and Pats tied it up on successful two-point conversion. Chargers got ball back with chance to reclaim lead but instead went three-and-out and New England took 24-21 lead on 31-yard field goal with 1:10 left in quarter. Chargers rallied one last time, but Nate Kaeding's 54-yard field goal attempt with just few seconds left came up short and Patriots escaped with win.

New York Jets 20, San Diego Chargers 17 (OT)
Saturday, Jan. 8, 2005 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers' 2004 postseason came to early end as in 20-17 overtime loss to New York Jets in Wild Card Playoff Game at Qualcomm Stadium. sellout crowd of 67,536 braved elements as Drew Brees led furious fourth quarter comeback during which Chargers outscored New York 10-0 to send game into overtime. It was only second overtime playoff game in team history. Both teams traded possessions in extra period before Nate Kaeding's game-winning attempt from 40 yards sailed wide right, opening door for New York to drive down and kick game winner with five seconds left in overtime. Keenan McCardell scored game's first touchdown on 26-yard catch. He was initially ruled out of bounds, but San Diego challenged call and ruling was reversed. It was McCardell's sixth-career touchdown catch in postseason. Brees opened game by completing his first eight passes and on McCardell touchdown drive, he was 5 of 5 for 61 yards and touchdown. He finished night 31 of 42 (73%), setting team playoff record for completion percentage.

Super Bowl XXIX

San Francisco 49ers 49, San Diego Chargers 26 Sunday, Jan. 29, 1995 - Joe Robbie Stadium (Miami, FL)

The Chargers were no match for high-powered San Francisco offense as 49ers scored early and often en route to handing San Diego 49-26 defeat. Steve Young passed for four first-half touchdowns as 49ers jumped out to 28-10 lead at halftime. Barrage continued in second half and Young finished night with 325 yards and six touchdown passes. Chargers' offense was forced to play catch-up most of game, and as result, quarterback Stan Humphries passed 49 times, completing 24 for 275 yards with one touchdown, but two interceptions proved costly. Natrone Means became young player in Super Bowl history to score touchdown when 22-year-old dived over 49ers' defense for a one-yard scoring plunge in first quarter. Chargers rookie Andre Coleman tied Super Bowl record for longest kickoff return when he went 98 yards for touchdown in third quarter. Following kickoff return, Humphries passed to Mark Seay for first two-point conversion in Super Bowl history. Later, after 30-yard Humphries to Tony Martin touchdown pass late in fourth quarter, Humphries completed his second two-point conversion of game, this time to Alfred Pupu. Linebackers Dennis Gibson and Junior Seau led Chargers with 11 tackles apiece, while Seau added sack. Raylee Johnson paced Chargers with two sacks.

HISTORY

1992 AFC Divisional Playoffs
Miami Dolphins 31, San Diego Chargers 0

Sunday, Jan. 10, 1993 - Joe Robbie Stadium (Miami, FL)

The Chargers history-making season ended with 31-0 loss to Miami Dolphins in Joe Robbie Stadium. Intermittent downpours and soggy field slowed both teams early as each squad was forced to punt on their first four series; second quarter proved disastrous for San Diego. Stan Humphries was intercepted three times with each leading to Dolphins touchdown and 21-0 halftime lead for Miami. San Diego also suffered fumble snap on punt attempt in period. Chargers could not get on track in second half either; in Miami chalked up 10 more points and forced two more San Diego turnovers. Chargers' defense was on field most of game (37:08). Junior Seau recorded personal-best 19 tackles. Dolphins special teams put Chargers in poor field position on several occasions, including punts, which pinned San Diego's offense back on its own five, six, four and 15-yard lines.

Saturday, Dec. 29, 1979 - San Diego Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers 1979 season, featuring one of the best teams in franchise history, ended in disappointment as Bolts fell to Houston Oilers, 17-14, in Divisional Playoff game at San Diego Stadium. Chargers were rolling early and took 7-0 lead on Clarence Williams one-yard touchdown on Bolts' first offensive possession of game. But Houston scored 10 unanswered points in second quarter and led at half, 10-7. On opening drive of third quarter, San Diego reclaimed lead when Lydell Mitchell scored on eight-yard run for 14-10 lead. Houston came back later in quarter as Mike Renfro caught 47-yard touchdown pass from Gifford Nielsen and Oilers jumped back out to 17-14 lead. Chargers tried to fight back in fourth quarter, but two Dan Fouts interceptions proved costly and Houston upset Chargers and eliminated them from playoffs.

1965 AFL Championship Game
Buffalo Bills 23, San Diego Chargers 0

Sunday, Dec. 26, 1965 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

It was same two teams that met in 1964 Championship game with scene shifting from East to West Coast. But there obviously was no hometown advantage for San Diego Chargers. Coach Lou Saban's Buffalo Bills found 59-degree weather much to their liking in San Diego's Balboa Stadium, rolling to 23-0 victory before 30,361 downhearted fans. San Diego's offensive unit was unable to generate any type of serious attack after first quarter and Jack Kemp-led Bills broke loose in second period. Kemp teamed with end Ernie Warlick for initial score, 18-yard pass play capping 60-yard drive. Just 2:20 later, Bills struck again on 74-yard punt return by Butch Byrd and at half time, Buffalo was ahead 14-0. In second half, Chargers were able to contain Buffalo's ground game and Kemp's passing, but couldn't stop talented toe of place-kicker Pete Gogolak. His soccer-style kicks connected twice in third quarter from 11 and 39 yards and once more in final period from 32 yards.

1964 AFL Championship Game
Buffalo Bills 20, San Diego Chargers 7
Sunday, Dec. 26, 1964 - War Memorial Stadium (Buffalo, NY)

Lou Saban sent his Buffalo Bills out for post-Christmas gift after three lean years and one near miss in American Football League. Bills found what they were looking for and wrapped up defending champion San Diego Chargers, 20-7, for AFL Championship before 40,242 howling hometown fans. Chargers started out as if they meant to repeat their 51-10 conquest of Boston Patriots in 1963 title game. They boomed from their own 20 in four plays with pay-off 26-yard strike from retiring quarterback Tobin Rote to tight end Dave Kocourek. Keith Lincoln's PAT at 2:16 of first period was last time San Diego got on scoreboard. Disaster soon struck visitors when Lincoln was forced out of action with broken rib on "the tackle heard around injury" by Buffalo linebacker Mike Stratton. Coupled with absence of Lance Alworth, world to Lincoln left Chargers offense impotent. Buffalo forged to 13-7 halftime lead on field goals from 12 and 17 yards by rookie ace Pete Gogolak and four-yard touchdown run by halfback Wray Carlton. Bills tallied again in final quarter on sneak by quarterback Jack Kemp.

1963 AFL Championship Game
San Diego Chargers 51, Boston Patriots 10
Sunday, Jan. 5, 1964 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

Before 30,127 in Balboa Stadium and 30 million more on national television, Keith Lincoln, ran, caught and passed like no other athlete ever has in professional title match as Californians crumbled Boston Patriots, 51-10. Chargers' offense produced 610 yards. Lincoln accounted for 349 of them in virtuoso performance that included touchdown sprint of 67 yards, touchdown reception of 25 yards, 206 yards passing, 123 gained pass receiving and 20 gained passing. Lincoln's heroics were mightily abated by others on San Diego team that played with brilliance. It was powerhouse show by team that had failed in two previous tries to win AFL title. But Patriots, with league's proudest defensive outfit, were no match for San Diegans. Splendidly prepared by Sid Gilman to combat Boston's almost constantly rushing linebackers, Chargers scored on their fourth scrimmage play, as well as their sixth and 10th. Patriots' ground attack suffered after fullback Larry Garron incurred head injury midway through second period. Garron later returned to game but remained in it only briefly.

1961 AFL Championship Game Houston Oilers 10, San Diego Chargers 3 Sunday, Dec. 24, 1961 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The 1961 American Football League Championship game in San Diego's Balboa Stadium was carbon copy of previous season's title game in that Houston Oilers beat San Diego Chargers 10-3. On Jan. 1, 1961, Oilers edged Chargers 24-16, in Houston's Jeppesen Stadium, live audience of 29,556 fans and nationwide television audience estimated in vicinity of 40 million viewers witnessed monument to defensive football at its best. Crowd at stadium was limited because game was played on Christmas Eve and game was telecast into Los Angeles area and many San Diegans received LA's ABC affiliate, Channel 7. Oilers scored on 46-yard field goal by George Blanda midway through second quarter and added clincher, 35-yard touchdown pass by Blanda to Billy Cannon, late in third quarter. Chargers only scoring came on 12-yard field goal early in final period. Indication of evenness of balgame is that both clubs had total net offense of 256 yards.

1960 AFL Championship Game Houston Oilers 24, Los Angeles Chargers 16 Sunday, Jan. 1, 1961 - Jeppesen Stadium (Houston, TX)

The American Football League's first championship game took place Jan. 1, 1961 between Eastern Division champion Houston Oilers and Western Division champion Los Angeles Chargers in Jeppesen Stadium, home of Eastern titlists. Outcome: Houston 24, Los Angeles 16. In 50 degree weather with 70 percent humidity due to week-long rains, Chargers took on Oilers before live crowd of 32,183 and television audience of approximately 45 million viewers. Ben Agajanian kicked field goals of 38 and 22 yards to give Chargers 6-0 first quarter lead. In second quarter, Houston's George Blanda hit Dave Smith on 17-yard touchdown pass, added conversion and kicked 18-yard field goal. Agajanian kicked 27-yard field goal with five seconds left in half to make score Houston 10, Los Angeles 9 at half. In third quarter, Blanda completed seven-yard touchdown pass to Bill Groman and kicked conversion. Chargers responded when Paul Lowe slanted over from two-yard line and with Agajanian's conversion score was Houston 17, Los Angeles 16, at end of three quarters. In fourth quarter, Blanda and Billy Cannon teamed up on 88-yard pass-run touchdown play to conclude scoring. Player of game honors went to Cannon, with Blanda and Lowe deslacked vote behind. Lowe's total yardage on day was 271 yards compared to Cannon's 259. Inability of Chargers to take ball in for touchdowns early in game, settling for three first-half field goals on each occasion, and several bad breaks late in game proved to be difference.

Nov. 27—Junior Seau is formally inducted into the Chargers Hall of Fame.

Dec. 11—Antonio Gates catches his 75th career touchdown pass in a 37-10 win over the Buffalo Bills. Takeo Spikes plays in his 200th career game.

2012

Jan. 1—Philip Rivers passes for 310 yards in a season-ending win at Oakland and becomes only the fifth quarterback in NFL history with back-to-back 4,500-yard passing seasons.

May 2—Twelve-time Pro Bowl linebacker Junior Seau dies of a self-inflicted gunshot wound in his Oceanside, Calif. home. Hundreds of fans flock to his home to pay tribute to the fallen Chargers great.

May 11—A crowd of 20,000 fans visit Qualcomm Stadium on a Friday night for the Celebration of Life memorial for Seau. Guest speakers include Bobby Ross, Dan Fouts and LaDainian Tomlinson. The evening concludes with Chargers' President Dean Spanos announcing that Seau's No. 55 will be retired during ceremonies that will take place at the team's 2012 home opener on Sept. 16 against the Tennessee Titans.

June 18—LaDainian Tomlinson, the Chargers' first-round pick in the 2001 NFL Draft and the NFL's fifth all-time leading rusher, signs a one-day contract and retires as a San Diego Charger after 11 seasons in the NFL. A press conference to announce his retirement is held at Chargers Park and is attended by nearly 200 friends, family, former teammates and media.

HISTORY OF CHARGERS UNIFORM

Helmet was white with gray facemask. It had dark blue bolt and black numbers outlined in gold. Home jersey was Collegiate blue with white numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in gold. White strip on each shoulder had dark blue bolt outlined in gold. Road jersey was white with Collegiate blue numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in gold and white lightning bolts on sleeves outlined in gold. Was also Collegiate blue strip on each shoulder with white bolt outlined in gold. Pants were white with dark blue lightning bolt outlined in gold running down each leg. Owner Barron Hilton chose lightning bolts because he associated "Charge" of lightning with lightning bolt. He also liked bolts that were on helmets of Air Force Academy football team, but wanted something slightly different, so had "Chargers Bolt" designed to be different and placed on uniforms.

1961-65

Bolt on helmet, shoulders and pants is changed to gold. On home jersey, helmet and pants, bolt is outlined in blue. On road jersey, it is outlined in white.

1966

Bolt on helmet is changed to dark blue. Pants are changed to gold with solid white stripe running down each leg, outlined in blue. Stripe replaces lightning bolt.

1967

Gold bolt is placed back on helmet with blue outline. Home jersey is darker shade of blue and has white numbers on front, back and sleeves, and white strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt. Road jersey had darker blue numbers also on front, back and sleeves and blue strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt. Lightning bolt is placed back on pants, dark blue and outlined in white.

1968-71

Home jersey is changed to Powder blue with white numbers on front, back and sleeves with white strip on each shoulder and gold lightning bolt outlined in blue. Road jersey is still white with Powder blue numbers on front, back and sleeves, and Powder blue strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt outlined in white.

1972

Lightning bolt on pants is again replaced by solid white stripe running down each leg, outlined in Powder blue.

1973-78

Numbers on home uniform are changed to gold outlined in white. Numbers on road uniform remain Powder blue outlined in gold.

1979-83

Helmet is changed to Navy blue with gold facemask and gold lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and white. Primary jersey is white with Royal blue numbers outlined in white and gold. Secondary jersey is Royal blue and features gold numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in blue and white. Lightning bolt is brought back to pants. It is white with Royal blue outline.

1984

White lightning bolt on pants is placed inside blue strip. Patch is worn on front of jersey celebrating Silver Anniversary of Chargers being original AFL franchise.

1985

Home jersey is changed to Navy blue with gold numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in Navy blue and white. There was white strip on each shoulder that had gold lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue. Road jersey is white with Navy blue numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in white and gold, and Navy blue strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and white. Strip on pants is changed to Navy blue. Lightning bolt on pants is gold with Navy blue and white outline.

1986-87

Number on front, back and sleeves of home jersey is changed to white with Navy blue and gold outline.

1988-89

Lightning bolt on helmet is changed from gold to white and features Navy blue and gold outline. Facemask on helmet is changed from gold to Navy blue. White strip on Navy blue home jersey is removed, leaving white lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and gold. Lightning bolt on shoulders of road jersey is changed to white with Navy blue and gold outline and remains on Navy blue strip. Lightning bolt on pants is removed and replaced with Navy blue strip outlined in white and gold.

1990-91

Road pants are changed to Navy blue with white stripe down each pant leg outlined in Navy blue and gold.

1992-06

White lightning bolt returns to pants. On home white pants, it is outlined in Navy blue and gold and is in blue strip down each pant leg. On road Navy blue pants, there is just white lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and gold down each pant leg. There is no strip on road pants.

2007-11

Uniforms feature Navy blue jerseys and white pants for most home games, white jerseys and Navy pants for road games, and Powder blue jerseys with white pants for designated home games. On all jerseys, bolt has been moved down sleeve, below shoulder. Bolt is Gold and outlined in both powder blue and Navy. On Navy and Powder blue jerseys, bolt is in white strip, and on white jerseys, bolt is in Navy blue strip. Numbers are now on shoulder above bolt. Front of all jerseys have Chargers scripted across front above numbers and below NFL shield. Team name, numbers and player's names all feature new font. Home white pants feature strip down side of each pant leg with curved bolt in Navy strip to be worn with Navy jerseys and Powder blue strip to be worn with Powder blue jerseys. Navy pants feature same bolt inside of white strip down each pant leg. Helmet is changed to metallic-white and features Gold bolt outlined in Powder blue and Navy.

2012

Starting in 2012, Nike became the official uniform provider for the NFL. They unveiled the new Nike Elite 51 uniforms April 3 in New York. The Chargers' color scheme did not change. The only changes to the uniform are a thin white flap that previously followed the V-neck line now stops just below the shoulder numbers, and Nike's emblematic swoosh appears on the left hip of the pants as well as on the right shoulder pad. Nike's uniform technology is hailed as less restrictive with greater ventilation.

He will participate in his 500th career game with the organization as a player, coach and broadcaster when the Chargers meet the Atlanta Falcons on Sept. 23, 2012. Following his retirement, Bauer spent four seasons (1983-86) as the Chargers' running backs and special teams coach. In 1987, he accepted a job as a sports anchor at News 8 in San Diego and remained there until 2003. ## QUALCOMM STADIUM

Qualcomm Stadium, the Chargers' home since 1967, underwent an expansion in 1997 that included the addition of 11,500 seats, a club level, 37 new suites and a new west-end Jumbotron screen.

The centerpiece of the renovated stadium was the Club level. Chargers season ticket holders who purchase seats on the Club level enjoy amenities exclusive to Club members. The 7,800 Club seats are wider and padded, and come equipped with an attached drink holder. Club members enjoy wait service at their seats, featuring a menu complete with a variety of food specialties, as well as the comfort of four fan-friendly lounges where they can relax in an air-conditioned setting before, during and after games. Restrooms on the Club level also are upgraded.

The former Jack Murphy Stadium was renamed Qualcomm Stadium after the Qualcomm Corporation contributed $18 million for naming rights. Additionally, the total number of parking spaces at the stadium was increased to 19,000, including 461 handicapped spaces, making the parking lot at Qualcomm Stadium the second-largest in the National Football League. There was a significant increase in restroom capacity at the stadium, with the number of women's facilities almost doubled and the men's restroom capacity increased by 33 percent.

San Diego Stadium was originally built in 1967 as a home for the Chargers at a cost of $27 million. It was dedicated at a Chargers-Lions game on August 20, 1967, before a crowd of 45,988. The 1997 renovation marks the second major facelift to occur at the stadium. Originally built to a capacity of 52,000, the stadium was expanded in 1984 to increase seating capacity to 60,100. The most recent renovation increased the seating capacity at the stadium to approximately 70,000.

The team played before its first-ever sellout crowd on December 3, 1967, when 52,661 turned out to see the Chargers battle the Oakland Raiders.
