LEADERSHIP

ALEX G. SPANOS

Owner

Alex Spanos and his wife Faye are shining examples of how the American spirit of hard work and determination can pay off for those willing to follow their dreams.

"I always believed in the pursuit of one's dreams. In buying the Chargers, I've been able to realize a dream," Spanos said upon purchasing the team in 1984.

In 1951 at the age of 27, Alex Spanos decided he could no longer support his growing family on $40 per week working in his father's bakery. So he borrowed $800, purchased a used catering truck and set out on his own by providing catering and support services for the migrant farm workers in California's Central Valley.

From those humble beginnings, Spanos' tireless work ethic built one of the leading real estate and development companies in the industry, and today he is the patriarch of one of the most accomplished and philanthropic families in the United States.

A.G. Spanos Companies builds multi-family housing and master planned communities and is one of the nation's largest family-owned builders. Alex Spanos' personal commitment to quality and integrity is now carried on by his family in the daily operation and management of the Los Angeles Chargers as well as the companies that bear his name.

Spanos made family part of his formula for business success. The A.G. Spanos organization, including the Chargers, is a family-run operation. Alex turned over the day-to-day operations of the Chargers to his oldest son, Dean, in 1994, 10 years after purchasing the team on Aug. 1, 1984. Today he enjoys retirement and watching his sons, Dean and Michael, along with grandsons A.G. and John guide the Chargers as they celebrate 33 years of the family's ownership.

Spanos' amazing journey and his passion for giving back is outlined in his autobiography, "Sharing the Wealth: My Story," a compelling first-hand account of the events and decisions in his life that became his basic fundamentals for success.

Spanos' community spirit and generosity are renowned. Few can match the benevolence and philanthropy that Alex and Faye have shown through their support of deserving institutions and community-service efforts. One of his more generous contributions resulted in the opening of the Alex G. Spanos Heart & Vascular Center in Sacramento. Southern Californians have Spanos to thank for the huge economic windfall of two Super Bowls (1998 and 2003) and a Republican National Convention in San Diego. In addition to the millions of dollars donated by Spanos and the Chargers Community Foundation, which he established, the Spanos family has delivered nearly $13 million to help San Diego's youth by supporting education as well as health and fitness programs.

In 2008, the President of the Republic of Greece, Mr. Karolos Papoulias, awarded Spanos the Medal of the Commander of the Order of Honor. The honor came in recognition of his many contributions to the birthplace of his parents.

These acts of caring demonstrate the commitment of a man whose rags-to-riches story has been an inspiring example for others. Though his life has taken him places he never dreamed possible, Spanos continues to reside in his hometown of Stockton, Calif.

Alex and Faye are celebrating 69 years of marriage in 2017. And they will celebrate with their four children (Dean, Dea, Alexis, Michael and their spouses), 15 grandchildren, and 10 great grandchildren.

Chargers Owner Alex Spanos and his wife Faye will celebrate 69 years of marriage in 2017. Spanos purchased the team in 1984.

DEAN A. SPANOS

Chairman of the Board

Under the leadership of Owner and Chairman of the Board Dean Spanos, the Los Angeles Chargers are making bold moves to set up the franchise for long-term success in an exciting new market. Spanos is providing senior leadership, strategic direction and critical resources as the Chargers begin a new chapter in their storied history.

Spanos has led the team through numerous franchise records and victories. During the 11 seasons from 2004-14, the Chargers won 113 games (playoffs included) -- five of which were AFC West championships (2004, 2006-09) -- and four play-off games. Only three teams in the NFL won more games during that time span.

Spanos had served as President of the Chargers since early in 1994, the same year the team culminated its most memorable season with an appearance in Super Bowl XXIX. Dean and his father, Alex Spanos, also secured Super Bowl XXXII (1998) and Super Bowl XXXVII (2003) for their community, each event bringing an estimated windfall of more than $300 million to the local economy.

In 2015, Spanos handed over the reins of day-to-day leadership to sons A.G. and John. Eldest son A.G. Spanos now serves as President-Business Operations while John Spanos is President-Football Operations.

Dean's leadership is also present throughout the National Football League. As a member of the NFL's Management Council Executive Committee (CEC), he played an integral role in negotiating the NFL's current labor agreement. Through 2015, Spanos served as chairman of the NFL's Business Ventures Committee, which has oversight regarding various league commercial activities, including consumer products, sponsorship, events, marketing, and new business initiatives. To this day, Spanos continues to serve on both committees. His previous committee work included membership on the NFL's International and Legislative Committees.

Spanos also serves as President of the A.G. Spanos Companies, and along with his brother, Michael, oversees all construction operations nationwide.

TRADITION OF GIVING

The Spanos family has a multi-generation commitment to community involvement, and is recognized as one of the NFL's most philanthropic families and one of Southern California's most active and caring contributors to local causes. Their financial and emotional support for youth, sports, education and our brave men and women in uniform has been a hallmark of their team ownership and legacy.

In 1995, the Spanos family created The Chargers Community Foundation, which has since provided nearly $13 million to support a wide range of services and programs directly benefiting children and families. In 1999, Dean Spanos created the Foundation's largest ongoing program, Chargers Champions, which has provided nearly $6 million in direct assistance to schools, teachers and students. The program provides grants to improve fitness, nutrition and athletic programs on school campuses.

The generosity of the Spanos family reaches throughout California. When wildfires ravaged San Diego County in 2003 and again in 2007, the family made identical $1 million donations to aid affected families and the recovery effort.

In 2010, the Association of Fundraising Professionals recognized the generosity of the family and Chargers organization when they were both named as San Diego's Outstanding Philanthropic Corporation, one of the most prestigious awards for community service.

In 2012, following the passing of former Chargers linebacker Junior Seau, Dean and his wife Susie brought a shocked team and community together when they hosted a "Celebration of Life" for Seau. The event was seen and heard live by more than 150,000 fans and made it possible for a grieving community to heal and pay tribute to its native son.

In 2014 the A.G. Spanos Heart and Vascular Center at Mercy General Hospital in Sacramento opened thanks to a lead gift of $15 million from the family, the largest gift Mercy General had ever received. In speaking at the opening, Dean said the family's commitment to Mercy General Hospital was to ensure that that no one from the region would ever be turned away from proper care for lack of space or the kind of critical care they needed.

In 2014, Spanos pledged $500,000 to the University of California-San Diego to upgrade and expand the existing Alex G. Spanos Training Facility, which was then renamed and opened as the Alex G. Spanos Athletic Performance Center. UCSD is the Chargers' former training camp home and this gift raised the value of the family's support of the institution to more than $1.6 million.

Spanos is also known for his generous backing of youth and high school football and, in 2015, he and the Chargers were honored by National Pop Warner with its prestigious NFL Team of the Year Award -- in recognition of the team's outstanding support for youth football and cheer at all levels. The Chargers, who were also honored in 2007, are the only NFL team to be so honored twice.

Spanos has also been a long-time contributor to many other important charities and organizations working to improve the lives of children and families, including: the Make-A-Wish Foundation; American Cancer Society; Armed Services YMCA; Susan G. Komen; Rady Children's Hospital; Girl Scouts; Huntington's Disease Society; San Diego Blood Bank; STAR/PAL; Special Olympics of Southern California; San Diego Food Bank; Casa de Amparo; and the Salvation Army.

COMMUNITY HONORS

Honors for their generosity come frequently to Dean and Susie.

Most recently, the Spanos family and the Chargers received the Light of Hope Award from the Epilepsy Foundation of San Diego. In 2015 San Diego's Military Advisory Council presented the family with their annual Achievement Award for the team's outstanding annual support of the region's military. The Armed Services YMCA also recognized the team's longtime support of military families with its 2015 Vice Admiral St. George Award.

In 2014, the Spanos family received the Outstanding Community Service Award among all family-owned businesses by the San Diego Business Journal.

Previously, the Make-A-Wish Foundation presented the team with its Wish-Granting Partner of the Year Award while the California State Athletic Director's Association presented the Chargers with its President's Merit Award, both in 2012. The Rotary Club of San Diego also presented Spanos and the Chargers organization with its prestigious Heilbron Award, given to companies that "exemplify the pay it forward spirit – that give of themselves and their professional expertise to advance the well-being and success of others in the community."

The Spanoses received the 2012 Herb Klein Spirit of San Diego Award from the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce at the organization's annual awards dinner. In 2011, the Salvation Army recognized Spanos and the Chargers' dedication to helping San Diego's homeless citizens during their annual Golden Bells ceremony.

In 2010, the Association of Fundraising Professionals recognized Spanos and the Chargers as San Diego's Outstanding Philanthropic Corporation, one of the most prestigious awards for community service.

The American Diabetes Association honored Spanos at its annual Fathers of the Year Dinner in 2010. In 2007, the local Salvation Army named Dean and Susie as their Most Valuable Philanthropists.

In 2006, President George W. Bush appointed Spanos as a Board of Trustees member of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. That same year, he was the honored recipient of the Golden Achievement Award from the Boys & Girls Clubs of San Diego, and Junior Achievement of San Diego inducted him into its Hall of Fame for his community leadership and specifically for his support of youth education initiatives.

The Warner Award, the top honor of the national Pop Warner football organization, was bestowed on Spanos for his commitment to youth football and its Little Scholars education initiative in 2005. The San Diego Chapter of the National Football Foundation also presented him with its highest honor, the Distinguished American Award. In 2004, the Police Historical Society presented him with their first Cota Award for community philanthropy and support of law enforcement. Dean and Susie received the Harold Leventhal Community Service Award in 2003, the top national award of the Huntington's Disease Society of America.

Spanos has the unique distinction of being a second-generation recipient of the renowned Ellis Island Medal of Honor, so honored in 2002, 16 years after his father was similarly honored. He also was inducted into the DeMolay International Alumni Hall of Fame in 2002. DeMolay International is an organization dedicated to preparing young men to lead successful and productive lives.

In 2001, the San Diego Hall of Champions Sports Museum presented Dean and Susie with its Community Champions Award, the Hall's most distinguished award.

BUSINESSMAN AND FAMILY MAN

Dean Alexander Spanos was born in Stockton, Calif. He earned varsity letters in football and golf at Lincoln High School and later received Lincoln High School's Hall of Fame Award, which honors alumni whose contributions and accomplishments are representative of the school. Dean was recognized for his achievements in the areas of business as well as athletics.

Spanos continued his golfing career at the University of the Pacific in Stockton, graduating in 1972 with a degree in business administration. He maintains close ties with his alma mater, having served as a regent at the university. An avid golfer post college, Dean has been on the winning team in five Pro-Am tournaments, including back-to-back wins in 1990 at the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic and the AT&T National Pro-Am at Pebble Beach with partner Hubert Green. He successfully defended his title at the Hope Classic the following year. Spanos' first win came with Green at the 1985 Bing Crosby Pro-Am at Pebble Beach, where he was awarded the "Most Valuable Amateur" trophy for supplying the most help to his professional partner.

Susie Spanos is a spokeswoman for the NFL's cancer campaign and is a breast cancer survivor. She was also honored as a "Woman of Dedication" by the Salvation Army in 2001 and has been named the Woman of the Year by the San Diego Leukemia Society for her philanthropic work in the community.

Susie works with and serves on the boards of many charitable organizations. These organizations include the San Diego Women's Foundation, the board of the Salvation Army and as an advisory member for Las Patronas, one of San Diego's leading non-profit organizations. Susie has been a driving force in supporting the Blood Bank's umbilical cord blood program, helping the Chargers' annual blood drive become one of the most successful in the nation.

Dean and Susie have two sons, A.G. and John, and two grandsons.

EXECUTIVE STAFF

GWEN EVANS

Executive Assistant to the Chairman of the Board

MICHAEL A. SPANOS

Vice Chairman

Michael A. Spanos is Vice Chairman of the Chargers. In that capacity, he assists in financial and management matters pertaining to the team. Michael joins his brother – Chairman of the Board Dean Spanos – in steering the direction of the organization.

As president of the A.G. Spanos Companies, Michael is responsible for the company's planning and development activities around the country. He monitors and oversees the office divisions in states where the company builds and develops. His responsibilities also extend to the areas of property management, land acquisition and preparation of all plans for future direction, growth and construction of the company's multi-family communities and land development activities. From the company headquarters in Stockton, Michael travels regularly across the country to monitor and manage building projects.

Born in Stockton, Calif., he attended Lincoln High School and graduated from the University of the Pacific, with a bachelor's degree in business administration. In 1989, Michael was appointed to the Board of Regents at the University of the Pacific, where he served for five years. Michael continues to contribute both his time and resources to the development and support of charitable projects involving youth sports and education. He and his wife, Helen, have five children and reside in Stockton.

A.G. SPANOS

President - Business Operations

A.G. Spanos was named President—Business Operations for the Chargers in May 2015. He oversees all day-to-day business operations of the organization, including marketing, sales, public relations, digital media and community relations. He also represents the organization at all NFL and ownership meetings.

Previously, Spanos served as executive vice president—chief executive officer from 2011-15, executive vice president—executive officer from 2008-10 and director of marketing programs and business development from 2003-07.

Spanos knows the power of professional sports and the Chargers ability to lift the spirits of an entire community. With that in mind, his number-one goal is, and always has been, to ensure the Chargers enjoy success on the field. Crucial in that effort is helping the franchise establish an undeniable home-field advantage. Since 2003, the Chargers have posted a winning record at home nine times, including 2006 when the team went undefeated at home for the first time in franchise history.

Working to ensure this trend will continue, Spanos oversaw the multi-million dollar upgrades to StubHub Center during the summer of 2017. The venue, home to the Chargers through the 2019 season, will be one of the most unique experiences in the league – providing fans with unmatched sightlines and unprecedented proximity to NFL action. From security to parking, seating manifest to the aforementioned capital improvements, Spanos has been dedicated to ensuring that games at StubHub Center will be an unparalleled experience Chargers fans won't soon forget.

Another aspect of being competitive on the field is providing players and coaching staff with critical resources. Under Spanos' direction, the Chargers secured space for both training camp and a new practice facility during the 2017 offseason. The team's new training camp home at Jack Hammett Sports Complex in Costa Mesa, Calif., has undergone extensive field modifications to bring it up to NFL standards – a benefit the community will also soon enjoy – while the team's new practice facility, also in Costa Mesa, is receiving a dramatic overhaul as well. The state-of-the-art facility will provide the Chargers with the latest in technology and equipment and house the team's more than 130 full-time employees, not including players.

Off the field, with an emphasis on the fact that Season Ticket Members are the backbone of the organization, the Chargers have added more value, greater access and have rebranded the team's most loyal fans as 'Season Ticket Members' under Spanos' direction. Key benefits of being a Season Ticket Member have grown to include the creation of dedicated service representatives, unique opportunities surrounding the Chargers practice facility, stadium tours, exclusive practice sessions at both mini-camp and training camp and an upgraded, more transparent seat relocation program among other items.

In an effort to quench Chargers fans' unending thirst for information about their team, Spanos created the organization's digital media department in 2012. The department has been instrumental in providing an endless supply of unique content available only on the team's official website, Chargers.com, while expanding the Chargers' digital footprint across various social media platforms. Additionally, recognizing the benefits of producing web, digital and television content in-house, Spanos led the effort to construct a new television and editing studio in the team's practice facility and has been instrumental in acquiring new talent to support the team's ever-expanding media initiatives.

Spanos attended La Jolla Country Day School in La Jolla, Calif., lettering in football and basketball. He played football as a freshman at Tufts University in Medford, Mass., before returning to California to continue his education at the University of Southern California, where he earned a bachelor's degree in marketing from the Marshall School of Business.

Spanos is the grandson of Owner Alex Spanos, and he is the eldest son of Chairman Dean Spanos and his wife Susie. A member of YPO-LA and GenNext in Orange County, he and his wife, Kamri, reside in Laguna Beach with their two sons, Dean II and Leonidas.

JOHN SPANOS

President - Football Operations

John Spanos was named President—Football operations for the Chargers in May 2015. He oversees all of the team's football operations, including player personnel, coaching, player finance and the salary cap, medical, equipment, video, player engagement and security. He also represents the team at League and Management Council meetings.

Spanos began working for the Chargers in 1995, originally spending his summers in the football operations department as an assistant. From 1998-2000, he worked on contract negotiations and managing the salary cap under the direction of Ed McGuire before moving to New York to work in the NFL league office.

In 2003 Spanos began working full-time as a scout. He methodically worked his way up through the organization before his career took a giant leap forward in 2013 when he was named Executive Vice President of Football Operations. This new position afforded him the opportunity to put his first big imprint on the organization, and he did just that as a key member of the selection committee responsible for the hiring of General Manager Tom Telesco. That year, the team returned to the playoffs for the first time since 2009 and won its first playoff game since 2008.

Spanos has seen his role in the NFL Draft grow exponentially since his ascension in 2013, and the results have been overwhelmingly positive. The team's 2013 draft yielded Pepsi Next NFL Rookie of the Year Keenan Allen. The 2014 draft class was headlined by cornerback Jason Verrett, who was selected to his first Pro Bowl in 2015 after leading the team in interceptions and passes defended. The 2015 NFL Draft yielded the team's leading rusher in top pick Melvin Gordon, while second-round pick, linebacker Denzel Perryman, came within five tackles of the first 100-tackle season by a rookie in team history. The 2016 draft class produced NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year Joey Bosa and tight end Hunter Henry, who led the team in touchdown receptions during his rookie season. Most recently, the 2017 draft class received high marks from media pundits as the team brought in, among others, Clemson National Champion wide receiver Mike Williams and All-American linemen Forrest Lamp and Dan Feeney.

The 2017 season will mark Spanos' 22nd year in the NFL and his 19th with the team, with previous assignments within the organization including stints as a pro and college scout (2003-05), assistant director of college scouting (2006-07) and director of college scouting (2008-12).

It's no coincidence that Spanos' ascension within the organization coincided with one of the most successful eras on the field in franchise history. From 2004-09, the Chargers won 67 regular-season games, third-most in the entire league. They also won three playoff games during that stretch, giving them 70 total wins from 2004-09, which was fourth-most in the league. The Chargers reached the playoffs five times from 2004-09 and advanced to the AFC Championship Game in 2007. Since 2003, the Chargers have been to the playoffs a total of six times.

From 2001-03 Spanos served two stints in the NFL's Management Council office in New York. In 2008, he further expanded his business acumen when he was among a select list of NFL executives invited to participate in the NFL's Executive Education Program at the Stanford Business School in Palo Alto, Calif.

Spanos continues to work closely with McGuire. They have managed the salary cap and retained some of the team's top players, negotiating multiple contract extensions for several current and former All-Pro players including Antonio Gates, quarterback Philip Rivers and Hall of Fame running back LaDainian Tomlinson.

Staying true to his scouting roots, Spanos serves on the board of directors for National Football Scouting and is an Honorary Member of the University of California-San Diego (UCSD) Athletic Board.

In June 2010, Spanos was named one of the "Top 40 Under 40" Greek-Americans by Greek America Magazine. The acknowledgment came in recognition of his achievements in both business and community leadership.

Spanos was born in Stockton, Calif. He attended The Bishop's School in La Jolla where he lettered in football as a wide receiver and defensive back. He also lettered in golf and basketball, and was a member of three CIF championship teams. After Bishop's, Spanos attended Wake Forest University, graduating with a degree in business.

John and his wife Jodie reside in Corona del Mar.

TOM TELESKO

General Manager

23rd NFL Season, 5th with Chargers

With a keen eye for acquiring talented players, Tom Telesco serves his fifth season as General Manager of the Chargers in 2017.

Telesco has infused the Chargers' roster with young players, building primarily through the draft. As the calendar turned to 2016, Telesco brought some of the NFL's top veteran free agents to the Chargers. They included wide receiver and kick returner Travis Benjamin, nose tackle Brandon Mebane, safety Dwight Lowery and cornerback Casey Hayward. Telesco added even more star power to the roster in April with another heralded draft class headlined by two-time Big Ten Defensive Player of the Year Joey Bosa from Ohio State.

Hayward went on to earn his first Pro Bowl selection after leading the league in interceptions while Bosa garnered numerous accolades, including Defensive Rookie of the Year, after leading all NFL rookies with 10.5 sacks. 2015 Mackey Award winner Hunter Henry also put together a stellar rookie campaign by leading the Chargers in touchdowns with eight - tied for the most in the NFL by a tight end. With the selection of Melvin Gordon to the 2016 Pro Bowl, Telesco's last three first round draft picks have either made the Pro Bowl or earned league honors.

In 2015, all five of the Chargers draft picks made the team's opening-day roster and contributed throughout the season. First-round draft choice Melvin Gordon became the team's leading rusher and second-round pick Denzel Perryman came within five tackles of the first 100-tackle season by a rookie in team history.

Telesco also uncovered several gems in rookie free agency, including Nick Dzubnar, who became the team's leading special teams tackler, and Josh Lambo, who was the NFL's top rookie kicker.

Telesco was hired by the Chargers in January 2013. Forty-years-old at the time of his hiring, he became the youngest general manager in team history. Immediately following his hire, Telesco was part of the search committee responsible for hiring Mike McCoy as the team's head coach. Telesco then helped the Chargers return to the playoffs in 2013 with a roster that featured 25 players who joined the team prior to or during the season.

Telesco made several notable free agent acquisitions in 2013, including running back Danny Woodhead and tackle King Dunlap. His first draft with the Chargers yielded three prominent starters, including guard D.J. Fluker, linebacker Manti Te'o and wide receiver and 2013 Pepsi Next NFL Rookie of the Year Keenan Allen.

Telesco's second draft class in 2014 was equally impressive. The team's first four picks all made the opening-day roster and 2014 first-round pick Jason Verrett made his first Pro Bowl after leading the team in interceptions and passes defended in 2015.

A native of Buffalo, N.Y., Telesco prepped at St. Francis High School in Athol Springs, N.Y. Days prior to Super Bowl XLVIII in January 2014, which was co-hosted by New York and New Jersey, Telesco was recognized for their accomplishments on the floor of the New York State Senate by Senator Timothy Kennedy.

After graduating from St. Francis, Telesco played wide receiver at John Carroll University in Ohio. He was a starter on the Blue Streaks' 1994 Ohio Athletic Conference Championship team, and two of his teammates at John Carroll were Chris and Brian Polian, sons of Bill Polian, a 2015 inductee into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

While attending John Carroll, Telesco spent four summers (1991-94) as a training camp intern with the Buffalo Bills. At that time, the elder Polian was the Bills' general manager. Polian left Buffalo for Carolina in 1994 and after Telesco graduated from John Carroll with a degree in business management in 1995, Polian hired him to work in the Panthers' scouting department. In 1998, Telesco and Polian moved on to Indianapolis, where Telesco would spend his next 15 NFL seasons as a college scout, pro scout, director of pro scouting, director of player personnel and vice president of football operations. He worked in Indianapolis during Peyton Manning's entire career with the Colts and later part of the team that brought Andrew Luck to the Colts with the first pick of the 2012 NFL Draft. Telesco also was involved in Colts drafts that featured four-time Pro Bowl running back Edgerrin James, five-time Pro Bowl wide receiver Reggie Wayne, and Dwight Freeney, a seven-time Pro Bowler as a Colt.

Telesco's tenure in Indianapolis was one of the most successful eras in Colts history. They played in two Super Bowls, including a victory over Chicago in Super Bowl XLI. From 1998-2012, the Colts won 154 regular-season games, eight division titles and they appeared in the playoffs 12 times. Indianapolis set an NFL record with 12 or more wins in seven consecutive seasons and they won an NFL-record 23 straight regular-season games during the 2008-09 seasons. Their 115 regular-season wins from 2000-09 set an NFL record for wins in a decade.

In March 2015, Telesco was invited to be a speaker at the NFL's Career Development Symposium in Arizona. The program, attended by nearly 70 coaches and front office executives, was designed to engage aspiring head coach and general manager candidates. Telesco was one of only two active general managers invited to address participants at the symposium.

Telesco and his wife, Larah, have a daughter, Elena, and two sons, Thomas and Nicholas.

ANTHONY LYNN

Head Coach

26th NFL Season, 1st with Chargers

On Jan. 13, 2017, the Los Angeles Chargers made their first official transaction, naming Anthony Lynn the 16th head coach in franchise history and the first African-American head coach in team annals. The 48-year-old Lynn joined the Chargers after spending the last two seasons (2015-16) as the assistant head coach and running backs coach for the Buffalo Bills.

A native of Celina, Texas, some 40 miles north of Dallas, Lynn was an All-Southwest Conference running back as a collegian at Texas Tech, where he rushed for 1,911 yards and 17 touchdowns on 481 carries. That helped him earn a ticket to the NFL where he signed with the New York Giants as an undrafted free agent in 1992. After being released by the Giants, Lynn signed with Denver in 1993 and appeared in 13 games for the Broncos. In 1994, he suffered a broken leg and spent the year on injured reserve. Lynn moved on to the Bay Area in 1995, spending two seasons with the San Francisco 49ers (1995-96) before concluding his career in Denver (1997-99) where he won back-to-back Super Bowl championships (XXXII and XXXIII) with the Broncos. Lynn hung up his cleats after the '99 season, having played in 83 career games.

Lynn jumped right into the coaching ranks in 2000, spending three seasons (2000-02) with the Broncos as an offensive assistant and assistant to special teams. In 2003, he landed his first full-time position gig as the running backs coach for the Jacksonville Jaguars (2003-04). That was followed by similar positions with the Dallas Cowboys (2005-06), Cleveland Browns (2007-08), New York Jets (2009-14) and Bills (2015-16). Lynn carried the additional title of assistant head coach in New York in 2014 and with the Bills for his two seasons there.

Lynn spent the last two seasons (2015-16) with the Bills, including the final 14 games of the 2016 season as their offensive coordinator and the final game of the year as their interim head coach. The Bills led the NFL in both of Lynn's seasons in both rushing yards (2,630 in 2016 and 2,432 in 2015) and rushing touchdowns (29 in 2016 and 19, tie in 2015). The Bills also led the League in average yards per carry (5.3 in 2016 and 4.8, tie in 2015) in each of his two seasons in Upstate New York. More impressively, at his last two coaching stops (New York and Buffalo), his teams combined to rush for 18,218 yards during that span (2009-16), the most combined yards in the NFL over that time period. In Los Angeles, Lynn will take over a team with a workhorse running back in Melvin Gordon, who broke out with 1,416 yards from scrimmage and 12 touchdowns in 2016.

The fact that Lynn is coaching today is a miracle in and of itself. Back in 2005, early in Lynn's first season with the Cowboys, he was hit by a drunk driver while crossing a street. The impact was so violent that it's a miracle he survived. The accident happened as Lynn was leaving a restaurant following dinner with several Cowboys coaches. The impact threw him an estimated 40-50 feet and he landed on top of a parked Volkswagen. The force of the impact totaled the car. Pittsburgh Steelers Offensive Coordinator Todd Haley was with Lynn at the time. He narrowly avoided being hit himself and was the first to render aid to Lynn. The damage tally was extensive – two collapsed lungs, three broken ribs, major facial and shoulder damage that required four surgeries and temporary paralysis – yet despite it all, Lynn walked out of the hospital in less than two weeks.

Lynn was raised in Texas by a single mom, Betty Jackson, a former all-state basketball player who had coaching aspirations herself. Lynn's maternal grandfather, Tommy Lynn, a farmer and former baseball catcher, helped raise Anthony. Mother and grandfather helped instill a tireless work ethic in Lynn at an early age. By 13, he was working 40-60 hour weeks doing construction in the summertime. He worked his way up the construction ladder and had become a foreman by the time he was in high school. One of his responsibilities was driving his crew to job sites for a company that built shopping malls and custom homes. It spurred an interest in interior design and Lynn initially studied interior fashion design in college.

Lynn has since reconnected with his father, Donald Wilson, a Los Angeles native who once tried out for the Dodgers as a left-handed pitcher. Wilson now resides in Corona.

Lynn is married to Stacey Bell Lynn. He has two children, son, D'Anton, and daughter, Danielle. Stacey is a news anchor at WNBC in New York City. D'Anton played football collegiately at Penn State and professionally with the New York Jets and the Canadian Football League's Hamilton Tiger-Cats. Danielle studied at the University of Oklahoma and is currently in graduate school at the University of North Texas.

GEORGE STEWART

Special Teams Coordinator–
Assistant Head Coach
29th NFL Season
1st season with Chargers

A longtime NFL assistant coach, George Stewart takes over as the Chargers' special teams coordinator and assistant head coach after spending the last 10 seasons as the wide receivers coach for the Minnesota Vikings.

Last season, wide receiver Cordarrelle Patterson was named to his second-career Pro Bowl after leading the NFL in kickoff return average for the third time in his career, a league record. The Vikings also for the first time since 1981 had three players top 800 yards receiving, including wide receivers Stefon Diggs and Adam Thielen.

A native of Little Rock, Ark., Stewart was a standout guard at the University of Arkansas from 1977-80. The Razorbacks played in four straight bowl games during his tenure and won the Southwest Conference title in 1979. Stewart, who was named to the Razorbacks' All-Decade Team for the 1970s, earned All-SWC honors as a junior in 1979, and he was a team captain as a senior in 1980. Stewart signed with the Kansas City Chiefs as an undrafted rookie in 1981 but spent the season on "Reserve-Injured."

Stewart entered the coaching ranks in 1983 as a graduate assistant at Arkansas, working under the famed Lou Holtz. He followed Holtz to the University of Minnesota a year later, taking over as the Golden Gophers' offensive line coach. Under Holtz, the Gophers made a rapid turnaround, finishing 7-5 and beating Clemson in the 1985 Independence Bowl, Minnesota's first bowl victory since the 1962 Rose Bowl. In 1986, Stewart joined Holtz at Notre Dame as linebackers coach. In Stewart's third and final season in South Bend in 1988, the Irish finished 12-0 and defeated West Virginia in the Fiesta Bowl en route to being crowned national champions.

Stewart spent the first 11 seasons of his NFL career (1989-99) coaching special teams, first in Pittsburgh (1989-91) under the legendary Chuck Noll, then in Tampa Bay (1992-95), where he also coached tight ends for two seasons, and finally in San Francisco (1996-99) where he worked under both Bill Walsh and George Seifert. Stewart helped Pittsburgh's Rod Woodson earn Pro Bowl honors as a returner three straight years (1989-91) and he saw kicker Mike Husted earn All-Rookie honors in Tampa Bay in 1993. In San Francisco, one of Stewart's star pupils was Chargers Head Coach Anthony Lynn.

For the last 17 years, Stewart has coached wide receivers, including three seasons in San Francisco (2000-02), four in Atlanta (2003-06) and 10 in Minnesota (2007-16).

In San Francisco, the 49ers advanced to the playoffs five times in Stewart's seven seasons, including a trip to the NFC Championship Game in 1997. Under Stewart's guidance, Terrell Owens was selected to three-straight All-Pro teams and Pro Bowls from 2000-02.

In Atlanta, the Falcons won an NFC South title in 2004 and advanced to the NFC Championship Game.

In Minnesota, Stewart helped wide receiver Percy Harvin earn multiple NFL Rookie of the Year honors in 2009, while fellow wideout Sidney Rice earned a Pro Bowl nod that same season after ranking second in the NFC with 1,312 receiving yards. Harvin, the Vikings' top return man, set a Vikings franchise record with 2,081 total net yards. Also with Minnesota, Stewart oversaw Patterson's earning of first-team All-Pro and Pro Bowl accolades as the NFL's top kick returner as a rookie in 2013. And finally in 2015, Stewart helped Stefon Diggs earn All-Rookie honors after becoming the first rookie in franchise history to lead the team in receptions.

KEN WHISENHUNT

Offensive Coordinator
30th NFL Season
3rd season with Chargers

Ken Whisenhunt returns for his third season as offensive coordinator in his second stint in 2017.

Whisenhunt re-joined the Chargers in 2016 and the Bolts were the only team in the NFL to feature six players with at least 35 catches, 400 yards receiving and two touchdown catches. Philip Rivers threw for 4,386 yards and 33 touchdowns, tied for second-most in a season in franchise history. The Chargers stretched the field as Rivers completed a career-high 16 passes of 40 yards or longer. Tyrell Williams led the Chargers with 1,059 receiving yards and a 15.3 yards-per-catch average. And Melvin Gordon ranked 10th in the NFL with a team-leading 1,416 yards from scrimmage while tying for ninth with 12 total touchdowns.

A native of Augusta, Ga., Whisenhunt played quarterback and tight end at Georgia Tech from 1980-84. In 1985, the Falcons drafted him in the 12th round and he played nine seasons in the NFL, including four with the Falcons (1985-88), two with the Washington Redskins (1989-90) and three with the New York Jets (1991-93). He played in 74 games during his career and caught 62 passes for 601 yards and six scores.

Whisenhunt earned a degree in civil engineering from Georgia Tech and entered the coaching field in 1995, spending two seasons (1995-96) as the special teams and tight ends coach at Vanderbilt.

In 1997, Whisenhunt landed his first NFL coaching job tutoring tight ends with Baltimore (1997-98). It led to stints with the Cleveland Browns (1999), Jets (2000) and Pittsburgh Steelers (2001-03). In 2004, Whisenhunt was named the Steelers' offensive coordinator. At the conclusion of his second season (2005), he earned a Super Bowl ring after Pittsburgh defeated Seattle, 21-10, in Super Bowl XL. Quarterback Ben Roethlisberger was Whisenhunt's star pupil in the "Steel City."

Whisenhunt earned his first head coaching position with Arizona in 2007. He spent six seasons with the Cardinals (2007-12), winning a franchise-record 49 games. Arizona went 4-2 in the postseason and represented the NFC in Super Bowl XLIII in 2008.

Whisenhunt worked closely with Kurt Warner in Arizona.

They helped lead the Cardinals to their Super Bowl appearance and back-to-back NFC West titles in 2008-09, the Cardinals' first titles since 1975 and their first back-to-back division crowns since 1974-75. Whisenhunt became the first Cardinals coach to go .500 or better in his first six seasons with the team and the Cardinals were one of the NFL's best home teams under Whisenhunt as they combined to go 33-18 at University of Phoenix Stadium, including 3-0 in the playoffs. The Cardinals also went 7-2 under Whisenhunt in overtime games.

Whisenhunt is in his second stint with the Chargers. He first joined the team in 2013, helping the Bolts to a 9-7 season that was followed by a win at Cincinnati in the AFC Wild Card Playoffs. Philip Rivers enjoyed one of the finest seasons of his career while working in tandem with Whisenhunt. He was named NFL Comeback Player of the Year and selected to the Pro Bowl after completing a team-record and NFL-leading 69.5 pct. of his passes for 4,478 yards and 32 touchdowns with just 11 interceptions. It all added up to a team-record tying 105.5 passer rating. Rivers completed a then-team-record 378 passes for the Chargers in 2013.

Whisenhunt left San Diego after the 2013 season to become the head coach in Tennessee. The Titans' head coach in 2014 and for the first eight weeks in 2015, Whisenhunt helped mold quarterback Marcus Mariota, the Titans' top pick in the 2015 NFL Draft.

Whisenhunt is an avid golfer. As a teen, he worked the 18th-hole manual scoreboard at the Masters golf tournament. He's played the course a number of times, including May 2008 when he shot an even par 72 that featured an eagle two on the par-4 11th hole. Whisenhunt contemplated a career in professional golf and after retiring as a player in 1993, he spent a year away from football and played golf extensively, including competing in the '94 U.S. Mid-Amateur at the Hazeltine National Golf Club in Chaska, Minn. Whisenhunt's best career score is a 65 and he has made two holes-in-one during his lifetime.

GUS BRADLEY

Defensive Coordinator
 12th NFL Season
 1st season with Chargers

Gus Bradley joins the Chargers as defensive coordinator in 2017 after spending the past four seasons (2013-16) as the head coach of the Jacksonville Jaguars.

The Jaguars ranked sixth in the NFL in overall defense in 2016, surrendering just 321.7 yards per game, while ranking fifth against the pass (215.2 ypg).

A native of Zumbrota, Minn., Bradley went to college at North Dakota State where he played free safety and was the team's punter. A four-time Academic All-North Central Conference selection and a member of the Bison's 1988 national championship team, Bradley earned degrees in business administration and physical education from NDSU, as well as a master's degree in athletic administration.

Bradley began his coaching career at North Dakota State, spending two seasons (1990-91) as a graduate assistant, followed by a four-year run as the defensive coordinator and linebackers coach at Fort Lewis College (1992-95). For four months (December 1995-March 1996), Bradley also served as the head coach at Fort Lewis.

Bradley returned to North Dakota State in 1996 and spent the next 10 seasons (1996-05) serving in a number of different roles, including defensive coordinator, assistant head coach and linebackers coach. As NDSU's defensive coordinator in 2005, the Bison led the Great West Football Conference in scoring defense, pass defense, total defense and turnover margin.

In 2006, Bradley landed his first NFL job in Tampa Bay. He spent one season (2006) as a defensive quality control coach and two (2007-08) as the Buccaneers' linebackers coach. Linebacker Derrick Brooks earned Pro Bowl appearances in each of his two seasons working with Bradley.

In 2009, the Seattle Seahawks hired Bradley as defensive coordinator and he helped mold Seattle's defense into one of the league's best. The Seahawks made postseason appearances following two of Bradley's four seasons (2009-12) in the Pacific Northwest. In 2009, the Seahawks posted two shutouts at home for the first time since 1986. In 2011, Seattle's defense ranked ninth in the NFL for just the sixth top-10 finish in the club's 36-year history and first since 1997. Three Seahawks defenders — Earl Thomas, Kam Chancellor and Brandon Browner — were selected to the Pro Bowl. And in his final season with the Seahawks in 2012, Seattle set franchise records for fewest points (15.3) and yards per game allowed (306.2), the former of which led the NFL. At the end of the 2012 season, Thomas was voted to his second consecutive Pro Bowl, while Richard Sherman earned first-team Associated Press All-Pro honors after leading the team and tying for second in the NFL with eight interceptions.

In 2013, Bradley was named the head coach of the Jacksonville Jaguars. In his first season, the Jaguars posted a 4-4 mark following the bye week, with three of the wins on the road. In 2014, Jacksonville showed significant improvement in sacking opposing quarterbacks. The Jags raised their sack total from 31 in Bradley's first season to 45 in his second (2014), a total that ranked sixth in the NFL. The Jaguars led the NFL with 12 sack/forced fumbles and ranked third with 19 total forced fumbles. In 2015, Jacksonville's offense produced 44 touchdowns, third in team history, and the team scored 376 points, fifth in team annals.

In Cregg's first year with the Broncos (2014), Denver's offensive line featured new starters at all five positions. Despite the changes, the Broncos allowed the fewest sacks in the NFL (17) and ranked fourth in the League in total offense (402.9 ypg). Tackle Ryan Clady earned his fourth-career Pro Bowl nod.

The Broncos won Super Bowl 50 in Cregg's second season in the Mile High City, defeating Carolina, 24-10. Denver's squad featured six new players who made starts along the offensive line.

RON MILUS

Defensive Backs
18th NFL Season
5th season with Chargers

Chargers Defensive Backs Coach Ron Milus added a fourth-consecutive Pro Bowl performer to his stable in 2016 when cornerback Casey Hayward led the NFL and set a career high with seven interceptions.

Hayward went on to become the first Chargers defender to capture the NFL's interceptions crown outright since 2007. With Hayward leading the way, the Chargers led the NFL with 18 picks and the team recorded at least one takeaway in 15 of 16 games. The Chargers had 11 different players record at least one interception in 2016, most in the NFL by any one team and the most by a Chargers squad since 2004.

Prior to Hayward, former safety Eric Weddle earned Pro Bowl invitations in both 2013 and '14 and cornerback Jason Verrett earned all-star honors in 2015. During Milus' first season with the Chargers in 2013, the defense recorded 10 interceptions in their last nine games of the season, playoffs included, after intercepting just four in the season's first nine games. And in 2014, the Chargers ranked fourth in the NFL in pass defense. In 2015, Verrett led the team in interceptions and passes defended.

A native of Tacoma, Wash., Milus was a cornerback and return specialist at the University of Washington in the mid-1980s. He moved into coaching in 1988, starting at Tacoma's Lincoln High School. That led to a graduate assistant's position at Washington and then ultimately a seven-year stint as the Huskies' defensive backs coach. Washington made two Rose Bowl appearances during Milus' tenure and led the nation with 22 interceptions in 1993.

Milus moved on to the NFL in 2000, joining the Denver Broncos as defensive backs coach. In his first season, the secondary racked up 21 interceptions, its highest total since 1987. A year later in 2001, cornerback Deltha O'Neal made the Pro Bowl after tying for third in the NFL with nine interceptions. Milus spent three seasons in Denver before splitting time between Arizona, the New York Giants, St. Louis and Carolina. He returned to Denver for a second stint in 2011.

In 2012, the Broncos led the NFL in fewest yards allowed per pass play. They ranked second in total defense and third in pass defense en route to winning the AFC West with a 13-3 record and earning the top seed in the AFC playoffs. Cornerback Chris Harris returned two of his three interceptions for touchdowns and veteran corner Champ Bailey was selected to the Pro Bowl for the 12th time in his career.

Former NFL tight end Alfredo Roberts is in his first season with the Chargers. A long-time NFL assistant coach who has worked primarily with tight ends, this marks Roberts' first stint coaching running backs.

Roberts most recently spent four seasons (2012-15) coaching tight ends in Indianapolis. In 2014, Colts tight ends combined for 18 touchdown catches. Coby Fleener and Dwayne Allen became the first pair of tight ends in NFL history to score eight touchdowns apiece in a single season.

A native of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Roberts graduated from the University of Miami (Fla.), where he was a member of two national championship teams as a tight end. The first came under Howard Schnellenberger in 1983, which also was the school's first national championship, and the second came in 1987 under Jimmy Johnson. Roberts played on five bowl teams for the Hurricanes, including two Orange Bowls, two Fiesta Bowls and one Sugar Bowl.

Roberts was an eighth-round pick by the Kansas City Chiefs in the 1988 NFL Draft. He spent three seasons with the team. In 1991, he joined the Dallas Cowboys and was part of two Super Bowl championship teams under the guidance of Johnson in 1992 and '93. Roberts played in every game for five consecutive seasons until his career ended in 1994 following foot and knee injuries. GIFF SMITH

Defensive Line
7th NFL Season
2nd season with Chargers

Long-time defensive line coach Giff Smith heads into his second season coaching the position for the Chargers.

The Chargers' defensive line performed beyond admirably in Smith's first season. As a unit, the Bolts boasted the NFL's 10th-ranked rush defense. The Chargers held nine of their 16 opponents to less than 100 yards on the ground and recorded the NFL's second-highest percentage of tackles for loss. Smith's star pupil was defensive end Joey Bosa, who captured NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year honors after leading the Chargers and all NFL rookies with 10.5 sacks. Despite playing in just 12 games, Bosa also led the Chargers in tackles for loss and quarterback pressures. As a unit, the Chargers defensive line accounted for nearly half (16) of the team's 35 sacks on the season.

A native of Mableton, Ga., Smith was a three-time All-America defensive end at Georgia Southern. He was a national captain as a senior and a part of three NCAA I-AA national title teams (1986, 1989, 1990) for the Eagles.

Smith launched his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Arkansas (1991-93) and Georgia (1994-95) before spending three seasons (1996-98) coaching wide receivers and the secondary at Georgia Southern. He went on to spend five seasons (1999-03) coaching the defensive line at Tulane before taking over as the defensive line coach at Georgia Tech in 2004. In 2007, the Yellow Jackets led the nation in sacks (47) and ranked second in tackles for loss. One of Smith's top players was Joe Anoa'i, a first-team All-ACC pick in 2006, who is now known as Roman Reigns and won World Wrestling Entertainment's (WWE) heavyweight championship in April 2016. Three additional linemen who played for Smith at Georgia Tech went on to play in the NFL. They include Michael Johnson, Vance Walker and Derrick Morgan.

Smith moved to the NFL in 2010, taking over as the defensive line coach for the Buffalo Bills. He spent three seasons in Buffalo (2010-12), during which time defensive tackle Kyle Williams was selected to the first two Pro Bowls of his career and defensive end Mario Williams had a 10.5-sack season.

Prior to joining the Chargers, Smith spent two years (2014-15) coaching the defensive line in Tennessee. In 2014, Smith helped the Titans implement a 3-4 scheme, and defensive tackle Jurrell Casey posted a career-high 13 tackles for loss. In 2015, the Titans racked up 39 sacks, tied for 12th in the league. The defensive line accounted for 13.5 of those sacks, including a team-high-tying seven by Casey, who was selected to his first-career Pro Bowl following the season.

Smith and his wife, Jennifer, have two children, Ava and Sam. In 2000, Smith was inducted into Georgia Southern's Athletic Hall of Fame.

RICHARD SMITH

Linebackers
30th NFL Season
1st season with Chargers

A former defensive coordinator for the defending NFC Champion Atlanta Falcons, Richard Smith departed the Peachtree State after Super Bowl LI and he'll return to his native Los Angeles to join the Chargers as linebackers coach in 2017. Smith is one of the Chargers' most-experienced coaches with 29 years of NFL coaching under his belt.

Smith spent the last two seasons with the Falcons (2015-16). In his first, Atlanta's defense improved from 32nd to 16th in total defense and in his second, his unit helped carry the Falcons all the way to NRG Stadium and a date with New England in Super Bowl LI. One player who really excelled under Smith was outside linebacker Vic Beasley, who racked up 19.5 sacks over the last two seasons, including a league-leading 15.5 in 2016.

Smith is a former offensive lineman who played at Rio Hondo Junior College in California from 1975-76 before transferring to Fresno State (1977), where he helped the Bulldogs to the Pacific Coast Athletic Association title. Following his playing career, Smith transitioned into coaching, returning to Rio Hondo to coach the offensive line for two seasons (1979-80). That led to stints at Cal State-Fullerton (1981-83), California (1984-86), and Arizona (1987) before he landed his first NFL job with the Houston Oilers in 1988.

Smith coached in Houston from 1988-92, handling special teams, while also assisting with the tight ends, linebackers, and offensive line. During his time with the Oilers, Smith worked closely with Pro Football Hall of Fame offensive lineman Bruce Matthews. From 1993-96, Smith coached special teams and linebackers for two seasons for the Denver Broncos.

From 1997-02, Smith served as the linebackers coach in San Francisco. During his six seasons in the Bay Area, four 49ers linebackers earned Pro Bowl acclaim — Ken Norton, Jr., Lee Woodall, Winfred Tubbs and Julian Peterson. Smith spent the 2003-04 seasons as the assistant head coach and linebackers coach in Detroit.

In 2005, Smith landed his first post as a defensive coordinator with the Miami Dolphins. That year, Miami finished the season ranked second in the NFL with 49 sacks. That led to a three-year stint as the defensive coordinator for the Houston Texans (2006-08). Smith's defense in Houston produced two Pro Bowl and two second-team Associated Press All-Pro performers in outside linebacker DeMeco Ryans and defensive end Mario Williams.

Smith left Houston in 2009 and he spent the next six seasons coaching linebackers, including two in Carolina (2009-10) and four in Denver (2011-14). During his time in Carolina, the Panthers had one of the NFL's top overall defenses and they collected the third-most takeaways in the NFL. Linebacker Jon Beason also earned Pro Bowl honors in 2009.

In Denver, Smith coached on four straight playoff teams, including a 2013 squad that won the AFC title and faced Seattle in Super Bowl XLVIII. Cumulatively during his four seasons in Denver, the Broncos ranked third in the league in rushing defense, fourth in third-down defense and seventh in total defense. Smith helped develop linebacker Von Miller, who has become one of the NFL's most dominant defenders. In 2011, Miller was named NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year and selected as a Pro Bowl starter after tying Denver's franchise rookie record with 11.5 sacks. In 2012, Miller set a team record with 18.5 sacks en route to being named first-team All-Pro and runner up for NFL Defensive Player of the Year. In 2014, Miller was selected to a third-career Pro Bowl after leading the Broncos and ranking sixth in the NFL with 14 sacks.

Smith has four children — Morgan, Aimee, Whitney and Travis — and is married to wife Renee.

SHANE STEICHEN

Quarterbacks
7th NFL Season
6th season with Chargers

A former assistant and quality control coach, Shane Steichen will coach quarterbacks for the Chargers for a second season in 2017.

In Steichen's first season as quarterbacks coach in 2016, Philip Rivers passed for 4,386 yards and he tossed 33 touchdown passes. It was the fifth-highest single-season yardage total of his career and seventh-highest in franchise history, and it was the second-highest season touchdown total of his career and tied for the second-highest season mark in franchise annals. Rivers also completed a career-high 16 passes of 40 yards or longer, a total that ranked second in the NFL.

A native of Sacramento, Calif., Steichen played quarterback at Oak Ridge High School in El Dorado Hills, Calif. He was named area MVP by the Sacramento Bee in 2002 after leading his squad to conference CIF sectional titles. Steichen went on to play collegiately at Nevada-Las Vegas, where he left as the school's 12th all-time leading passer. He earned a degree in journalism and media studies and after graduation, spent one season as a student assistant and two as an offensive graduate assistant at UNLV.

Steichen worked as an offensive assistant at Louisville in 2010 before spending 2011-12 as a defensive assistant with the Chargers. He also spent 2013 as an offensive quality control coach in Cleveland, working with the quarterbacks. Because of injuries, three Browns quarterbacks started multiple games that season with each passing for over 300 yards at least once. It marked the first time in franchise history and sixth time in NFL history that it had ever happened.

From 2014-15, Steichen was an offensive quality control coach for the Chargers, working primarily with the team's wide receivers. In 2014, the Chargers were the only team in the NFL to feature four players with at least 778 yards receiving and four touchdown catches. Three of the four were wide receivers. The same four players each also finished the season with more than 50 catches, just the fourth time in franchise history that a team had four 50-catch players. In 2015, the Chargers were the only team in the NFL with seven players who each had at least 400 yards receiving and three touchdown catches. Four of the seven were again wide receivers.

Steichen and wife, Nina, have a son, Hudson. Steichen's older brother, Sean, was a former punter at Boise State.

In 2013, Williams was invited to participate in the NFL's Bill Walsh Minority Coaching Fellowship program with the Chicago Bears and in 2014, the Bears invited him back to serve as a coaching intern. During both stints in Chicago, Williams worked closely with Special Teams Coordinator Joe DeCamillis. In 2015, Williams completed a similar internship with the Detroit Lions.

Williams joined the Chargers by way of the University of South Dakota, where he coached from 2012-15. In 2015, he was the Coyotes' special teams coordinator. JAHLEEL ADDAE

Safety
5-10, 195
5th NFL Season
5th with Chargers

Free Agent - '13
Central Michigan
Riverview HS
Valrico, Fla.

One of the National Football League's hardest-hitting safeties, the Chargers made sure Jahleel Addae would be around to deliver plenty more blows by re-signing him to a four-year contract in March, just prior to his becoming an unrestricted free agent.

Nicknamed "The Hitman," Addae is back to 100 percent after a collarbone injury sidelined him for eight games last season.

Coming off a career-high 65-tackle season in his first year as a starter in 2015, Addae was looking forward to a big year in 2016. He racked up 13 tackles in the Chargers' first two games, but late in the team's Week 2 contest vs. Jacksonville, he suffered the collarbone injury, sidelining him for the next eight games. He returned to the starting lineup in late November, just in time to help lead a win in Houston. He started the last six games, finishing the season with 49 tackles, capping off the year by recording his first NFL interception and returning it 90 yards for a touchdown in the Bolts' season finale against Kansas City. It was the seventh-longest interception return in franchise history.

Addae joined the Chargers as an undrafted rookie in 2013. He made the opening-day roster primarily as a special teams performer. As he gained the coaches' confidence, Addae became a defensive regular late in the year. He made a number of big plays late in the season and led the secondary with 13 tackles in the playoffs. When the Chargers beat Kansas City in their regular-season finale to qualify for the playoffs for the first time since 2009, Addae made a key third-down pass breakup during the Bolts' game-winning defensive stand. Then in the postseason, he had a key fumble recovery in the team's AFC Wild Card Playoff win at Cincinnati and a forced fumble a week later in the divisional playoffs at Denver.

While Addae enjoyed success on the field in 2013, he faced adversity off it. At the same time, he was trying to make inroads with the Chargers, Addae learned that his mother, Jennifer, was battling breast cancer back in their hometown of Valrico, Florida. Thankfully, today she is cancer free.

Addae has shown his appreciation for her courage in battling the disease by serving as an honorary chair for the 2014-16 Susan G. Komen Races for the Cure.

Addae's older brother, Jahmile, was a four-year starter at West Virginia. After a brief NFL career, Jahmile transitioned into coaching, and he is now coaching safeties at the University of Arizona.

KEENAN ALLEN

Wide Receiver
6-2, 211
5th NFL Season
5th with Chargers

Draft 3 - '13
California
Northern Guilford HS
Greensboro, N.C.

It's hard to imagine a more heartbreaking script than the one lived out by Keenan Allen in 2016. First, you have to go back to 2015 when the start to a record-breaking season was derailed by a rare kidney injury suffered while making a touchdown catch in Baltimore. That injury led to a hospital stay back in San Diego, and it sidelined Allen for the final eight games of the 2015 campaign.

Fast forward back to June 2016 and the Chargers rewarded Allen with a four-year contract extension through 2019. He was also selected as the team's recipient of the Ed Block Courage Award. Allen had made a complete recovery from the kidney injury, and he had an outstanding offseason and training camp. It all carried over into the 2016 season opener in Kansas City. The Chiefs had no answer for Allen as he quickly caught six passes for 63 yards and the Bolts jumped out to an early 21-3 lead. Quarterback Philip Rivers seemingly couldn't miss as he completed 15 of his first 17 passes for 143 yards and a touchdown with Allen in the game. But then on the very first play after the two-minute warning of the second quarter, Allen went to plant after making a catch, and he quickly fell to the ground, clutching his right knee. He immediately knew it was bad and he was right. The diagnosis — a torn ACL. Allen's injury had a profound impact on the team, especially the Bolts' offense. Kansas City would go on to rally for a 33-27 win in overtime and on the following day, Sept. 12, Allen was placed on "Reserve-Injured" and his season was officially over.

Now fully recovered from the knee injury, the Chargers are hopeful that Allen can revert to the form he showed back in 2015. It was then that he racked up 67 catches in just 7 1/2 games, tied for third in NFL history at the mid-point of a season. His season-to-date included a 15-catch performance in the season opener against Detroit, tying the franchise single-game mark. Two weeks later, he caught a dozen passes, including two touchdowns, in a game at Minnesota. Three weeks later, he caught 14 passes at Green Bay's Lambeau Field to become the first player in NFL history with at least 12 catches in three of his team's first six games of a season.

Allen finished the 2015 season with 67 catches, 725 yards and four scores. Even though he played less than half the season, teammates selected him as the squad's offensive player of the year.

SUPPORTING OUR TROOPS

In April 2016, Allen co-hosted a two-day football camp for youth from the Kaiserslautern Military Community at Ramstein Air Base in Ramstein, Germany, with Washington Redskins wide receiver Andre Roberts. It was Allen's first time visiting Europe. Allen and Roberts also visited the USO's Warrior Center, they signed autographs at Ramstein Air Base, they visited the Landstuhl Regional Medical Center, and they spent time at the USO's Deployment Center for Active Duty Troops.

ZEN SPORTS BALM

Allen is a majority stakeholder in the company Zen Enterprises that manufactures a product called Zen Sports Balm, which is used to relieve aches and pains associated with muscles and joints, especially for individuals suffering from arthritis, backaches, strains, sprains, and bruises.

Allen's breakthrough season in 2015 didn't come as a surprise to those close to the young wide receiver. After an inconsistent 2014, Allen made a commitment to improving his overall conditioning. He completely revised his diet and improved his training methods. He even started to wear a heavy sweatshirt under his pads when he practiced, so he felt lighter and faster on game days.

A third-round draft pick in 2013, Allen took the NFL by storm that season, earning NFL Rookie of the Year and NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year honors from multiple organizations. In his second season, Allen had another outstanding year, leading the team with 77 catches, good for 783 yards and four scores.

Looking back, as unfathomable as it might sound, Allen's NFL career almost never materialized.

A projected first-round pick out of Cal-Berkeley, Allen's pre-draft stock fell as the result of a knee injury late in his senior season. The Chargers snagged Allen in the third round, but during his first few months in San Diego, the coaching staff limited his reps to make sure that he was fully recovered from the knee injury. Allen also found himself stacked behind a talented group of veteran wide receivers. At one point during training camp, he began questioning himself and his position with the team. He considered walking away to continue his education at Cal and pursue a career in his other field of dreams: Music. Ultimately it was his mother, Doris, convinced Allen to stick with football. Around the same time he was struggling with his future, returning starter Danario Alexander went down with a knee injury, and suddenly Allen found himself receiving more reps with the offense. In the Chargers' second game of the season in Philadelphia, Malcom Floyd suffered a season-ending neck injury. With Floyd out, Allen's number was called. On just his second play, Allen caught an 18-yard pass on a 3rd-and-8 play that ignited a touchdown drive and a season that would end with Allen being celebrated center stage as the Pepsi Next NFL Rookie of the Year at New York City's Radio City Music Hall.

Allen went on to lead the team and set franchise rookie receiving records with 1,046 yards and 71 catches. He led all NFL rookies in catches, yards and touchdowns (eight), topping the 1,000-yard plateau during the Bolts' regular-season finale. He became just the fifth rookie since 2000 to rack up over 1,000 yards. In three games late in the season, Allen caught five touchdown passes, the most by a Chargers wide receiver in a three-game span since 1996. It included an impressive two-game stretch in the course of five days when he caught two touchdowns vs. the New York Giants on Dec. 8 and two more at Denver on Dec. 12. Twice in 2013, Allen racked up more than 100 yards in back-to-back games, a feat that hadn't been achieved by a Chargers rookie since 1960.

Allen's outstanding play continued into the post-season as he led the team with eight catches for 163 yards and two touchdowns. It included a 142-yard, two touchdown performance in the divisional playoffs at Denver. It was the Chargers' second-most receiving yards in a playoff game and the team's first two-touchdown game in the playoffs since Jan. 1983 (Kellen Winslow). Allen's yardage total tied for the second-most by a rookie in a playoff game in NFL history (Eagles TE Keith Jackson, 1988) and he became the league's first rookie since New England's Julian Edelman (Jan. 2010) with two touchdown catches in a postseason game.

Long before the 2013 NFL Draft, Allen was a player coveted by Chargers General Manager Tom Telesco. In 2011, Telesco attended Cal's game against USC at San Francisco's AT&T Park and he noted that Allen stood out on a field that was loaded with great players. Allen enjoyed one of the most prolific days of his career that evening against the Trojans, catching a career-best 13 passes for 160 yards.

Allen left Cal after his junior season having caught a school-record 205 career passes. His half-brother, Zach Maynard, was his quarterback all three years at Cal. Maynard originally enrolled at the University of Buffalo, but transferred to Cal so that he and Allen could be teammates. In 2011, they combined for the longest pass play in school history, a 90-yard score against the Washington Huskies.

One of Allen's closest friends is Detroit Lions receiver, Marvin Jones. They became teammates at Cal after Jones hosted Allen during his recruiting visit.

Allen is a supporter of youth sports. He is the sponsor for a 13-and-under AAU basketball team nicknamed the Slayers. Last July, he returned to his hometown of Greensboro, N.C., to host a football camp at his alma mater, Northern Guilford High School. In 2016, he teamed up with a local Boys & Girls club to introduce a program called "Catches for Kids" in which supporters could donate money for each of Allen's catches.

JERRY ATTAOCHU

Defensive End
6-3, 252
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Draft 2 - '14
Georgia Tech
Archbishop Carroll HS
Washington, D.C.

Jerry Attaochu (uh-TAU-choo) is eager to get back into the fold for the Chargers in 2017.

Coming off a career year in 2015 during which he set career highs in tackles, sacks and tackles for loss, Attaochu was looking forward to a big season in 2016. His year, however, was cut in half by injuries as Attaochu appeared in just eight games. He missed three games in the middle of the season as result of an ankle injury and then during his second game back in late-November in Houston, Attaochu suffered a broken foot that brought his season to an early end.

A raw talent and former second-round pick, Attaochu heads into 2017 with career totals that include 86 tackles, 10 sacks and 20 tackles for loss.

Attaochu was born in Ibadan, Nigeria. He moved to the United States at age eight. His father, Paul, was an exchange student in the U.S. in the 1980s, who later returned to Nigeria where he married Attaochu's mother, Comfort. When the family returned to the States, they settled in Washington, D.C. Attaochu didn't start playing football until the ninth grade, and it was a bit of a fluke that he did. Attaochu stumbled into a line for athletic physical exams, thinking they were for the soccer team, only to discover they were actually for the football team at Archbishop Carroll (Washington, D.C.) High.

Attaochu parlayed that misunderstanding into a collegiate career at Georgia Tech that saw him earn All-America and All-ACC accolades. One of the nation's most gifted athletes, he racked-up a school-record 31.5 career sacks for the Yellow Jackets.

The Chargers selected Attaochu in the second round (50th overall) of the 2014 NFL Draft. He had long had his eye on becoming a Bolt. Eager to play in San Diego, Attaochu had approached several members of the Chargers' coaching and scouting staff at the 2014 NFL Senior Bowl to gauge the team's interest in him.

Attaochu is a passionate soccer fan whose favorite teams are the United States, Nigeria and France.

Attaochu was a science, technology and culture major at Georgia Tech. With an eye toward life after football, he spent two years interning with the Barton Executive Search Firm in Atlanta, where Tech's campus is located.

Attaochu was selected as the Chargers Man of the Year in 2016 for his work in the community. Attaochu and his father founded the Glory's Hope Sickle Cell Foundation in 2015. Attaochu's younger sister, Glory, suffers from Sickle Cell Disease. The Foundation supports research, education and creates awareness of Sickle Cell in both Africa and the United States. In 2016, Attaochu organized a blood drive in Washington D.C. to help children and adults with Sickle Cell and in March, he hosted a Spin Cycling event.

In 2016, Attaochu also spent time on Capitol Hill as part of the American Diabetes Association's Team Tackle campaign. He joined forces with fellow NFL players to raise diabetes and pre-diabetes awareness.

CHARGERS MAN OF THE YEAR

Attaochu was selected as the Chargers' 2016 Man of the Year for his work in the community. In honor of his selection, Attaochu was asked to announce the Chargers' third-round pick of the 2017 NFL Draft on national television.

MAN HE'S FAST

At his pro day at Georgia Tech in 2014, Attaochu posted a 10-yard split time in the 40-yard dash (1.55) that was one-hundredth of a second faster than what Jadeveon Clowney, the draft's No. 1 overall pick, recorded at the 2014 NFL Combine.

JOE BARKSDALE

Tackle
6-5, 326
7th NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent — '15
Louisiana State
Cass Tech HS
Detroit, Mich.

The Chargers' 2015 Lineman of the Year, Joe Barksdale has started 31 of 32 games for the Bolts over the last two seasons.

Barksdale originally joined the Chargers in May 2015, agreeing to a one-year contract late in free agency. The former Oakland Raiders third-round draft pick exceeded expectations, playing 624 snaps, more than any player on the roster, including quarterback Philip Rivers. Barksdale not only played a lot, but he played on both sides of the line. He started all 16 games at right tackle, but four times during the season he was forced to switch sides to play left tackle when injuries hit. After his outstanding season, the Chargers rewarded Barksdale with a four-year contract last March.

Barksdale was drafted by the Raiders in 2011. He played in all 16 games as a rookie before Oakland waived him early during his second season. He was then claimed by the Rams. Barksdale played sparingly for St. Louis in 2012, but three weeks into the 2013 season, he was inserted into the starting lineup at right tackle and he remained there for 13 of the Rams' final 14 games. In 2014, he started all 16 games at right tackle. After the year had ended, instead of re-signing with the Rams, Barksdale opted to test the waters of free agency, which ultimately led him to the Chargers.

Barksdale plays the game with a chip on his shoulder. That's what happens when you go from a highly-touted free agent to nearly being out of the game just over a year later. As motivation, he keeps a list in his locker that features things he intends to work on each week and throughout the season at hand.

Barksdale's career has been filled with several twists and turns that helped him get to where he is today. The Detroit native spurned offers from colleges all over the country to become the first-ever LSU football player to hail from the Wolverine State. He enrolled at LSU as a defensive tackle, but the Tigers had a defensive front loaded with All-Americans, so the coaching staff convinced him to move to the offensive line, and the rest is history. Barksdale played on LSU's national championship team as a freshman in 2007, and then he started three seasons at both left and right tackle.

In March 2015, Barksdale married his long-time girlfriend, Brionna Blackwell, who holds a master's degree in public relations. They grew up in Detroit and have known each other since third grade. Last December, Joe and Brionna became first-time parents to a little girl, Kennedy.

Several years ago, Barksdale took up guitar and he has since become an accomplished blues musician. He wowed guests at their wedding when he knocked out a few tunes at the reception. In 2015, Barksdale visited the Fender guitar factory in Corona, Calif., and the visit was profiled on ESPN's NFL Countdown prior to a Bolts' Monday Night Football game against Chicago. The late Jimi Hendrix has long been one of Barksdale's musical idols and the folks at Fender presented him with a brand-new Hendrix commemorative guitar that was just being released to add to his collection. Barksdale has formed his band named "The Reapers." This past year, the band hosted a weekly open jam session at a Southern California music establishment. Profits from the jam sessions helped support the Fender Music Foundation, a nonprofit organization that supports music and education programs in schools.

Barksdale also supports the Boys & Girls Clubs. In December 2015 as part of National Day of Giving, Barksdale treated 50 children to a holiday shopping spree to purchase gifts for their families at a Southern California JCPenney store.

In March, the Chargers signed running back and Southern California-native Kenjon (ken-yawn) Barner, to a one-year deal.

JOEY BOSA

Defensive End
6-5, 280
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Draft 1 - '16
Ohio State
St. Thomas Aquinas HS
Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

The consensus 2016 NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year, Bosa led the Chargers and all NFL rookies in 2016 with 10.5 sacks. His total tied for 13th in the League among all players and his sack total was the most by a NFL rookie since 2011.

Bosa became the first Chargers rookie since Shawne Merriman in 2005 (10.0) and just the fifth in team history (since 1982) to record 10 or more sacks. The others include Chris Mims (1992), Burt Grossman (1989) and Leslie O'Neal (1986). Bosa's 10.5 sacks were second among that group to O'Neal's 12.5.

Bosa finished the 2016 season with at least a half-sack in each of the team's last six games, the longest stretch by a Chargers' player since Marcellus Wiley had sacks in seven straight to open the 2001 season.

Bosa's rookie season is all the more impressive considering he played in only the team's final 12 games. A contract impasse caused him to miss all of training camp, and his eventual debut was then slowed by a hamstring injury. Bosa made his long-awaited NFL debut Oct. 9 at Oakland and right away showed the League what was about to come. Bosa logged two sacks that day against the Raiders and became just the fifth player since 2002 to collect two sacks in his NFL debut.

Two weeks after the Raiders game, Bosa delivered another two-sack performance during a road, overtime win over the eventual NFC Champion Atlanta Falcons. In doing so, he became the first NFL player since Denver's Elvis Dumervil (2006) and the first Charger since sacks became official stat in 1982 to log two two-sack performances in his first three NFL games.

Bosa reaped a heap of awards in 2016 beside defensive rookie of the year honors. His debut performance against Oakland kickstarted a month that led to his selection as NFL defensive rookie of the month for October. He repeated that feat in December and became the first player since Dwight Freezey in 2002 to earn multiple defensive rookie of the month awards. Bosa also was named Pepsi's NFL Rookie of the Week after his two-sack performance against the Falcons. And when the season ended, more awards poured in. Bosa was voted the Chargers' co-Lineman of the Year, he was named a fourth-alternate to the Pro Bowl, and he was selected to a host of all-rookie teams.

Bosa was the Chargers' first-round pick in the 2016 NFL Draft. He was the third overall selection. Bosa played three college seasons at Ohio State where he was as a two-time Big Ten Defensive Lineman of the Year, a two-time first-team All-America and a 2014

National Champion.

Bosa is a second-generation NFL player. His father, John, was a first-round pick by the Miami Dolphins in 1987 after playing collegiately at Boston College. His uncle, Eric Kumerow, was a four-year letterman as a linebacker at Ohio State and a team captain as a senior. Kumerow also was selected in the NFL Draft by the Dolphins, going a year after John Bosa in 1988 and coincidentally he too went at pick No. 16. The Bosas are the fifth father-son duo to be first-round picks in the NFL in the last 10 years.

Several other members of the Bosa family played football in college and the NFL. Joey's grandfather, Palmer Pyle Jr., played on the offensive line at Michigan State before being drafted by the Baltimore Colts. He played six years in Baltimore. Pyle's brother, Mike, played nine seasons at center with the Chicago Bears. Joey's cousin, Jake Kumerow, played collegiately at D-III Wisconsin-Whitewater before spending the 2015 season on the Cincinnati Bengals practice squad. And Joey's brother, Nick, was an ESPN Freshman All-America at Ohio State in 2016.

Outside of football, one of Bosa's favorite hobbies is cooking. The product of an Italian family, Bosa learned to cook from his mom, Cheryl, coincidentally another Ohio State grad. His mom's favorites include veal osso buco with risotto and skirt steak with Chimichurri sauce and tortellini. In San Diego, Bosa has relied on The Food Network and a local food delivery service to expand his repertoire.

JATAVIS BROWN

Outside Linebacker
5-11, 221
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Draft 5 - '16
Akron
Glades Central HS
Belle Glade, Fla.

All-Rookie inside linebacker Jatavis Brown may have been the steal of the 2016 NFL Draft. When Chargers General Manager Tom Telesco selected the reigning Mid-American Conference Defensive Player of the Year in the fifth round, his phone blew up with congratulatory messages from war rooms around the League. Scouts labeled Brown as being undersized at 5-11 and teams hoped he would fall to them in a later round, but the Chargers beat them to the punch, snagging the former Akron star with the 175th overall pick.

Brown had been a three-time first-team All-MAC performer for the Zips in addition to being the conference's defensive player of the year in 2015. A team captain as a senior, he set school records at Akron for career tackles for loss and season tackles for loss and sacks. Despite all the accolades, Brown wasn't invited to participate in either the Senior Bowl or the NFL Scouting Combine following his senior season. It wasn't the first time he'd been overlooked. A native of Belle Glade, Fla., Brown grew up in the same neighborhood as Chargers wide receiver Travis Benjamin. While Benjamin was recruited to play at the University of Miami, the 'Canes made no such offer to Brown. So lightly recruited was he that Brown didn't even receive his first scholarship offer until three weeks before National Signing Day. It came from Akron. Rather than take a recruiting visit to the school, Brown looked the university up on the internet, liked what he saw, and signed a letter of intent with the Zips.

When the Chargers drafted Brown, he became the first player from Akron to be drafted by the Bolts.

Brown earned several All-Rookie honors after a season in which he ranked second on the squad with 73 tackles. It included 3.5 sacks and nine tackles for loss.

Brown's rookie season had its highs and lows, both on the field and off. The high included an award-winning performance in an early-October game versus the defending Super Bowl Champion Denver Broncos when Brown recorded a sack, a forced fumble, and a team-leading 12 tackles. The low would come just eight days later when Brown would learn that his 83-year-old father, Alfred, had passed just as he was set to board a team flight to Atlanta for a game against the Falcons. Some 35 family members, including Brown's dad, had been scheduled to join the Chargers in Atlanta. Brown found out about his father's passing just before boarding the team charter, yet he opted to remain with his teammates and travel to the Peachtree State. After a 33-30 overtime victory over the eventual NFC-Champion Falcons in which he played every defensive snap, then-Head Coach Mike McCoy presented Brown with a game ball in an emotional locker room.

The loss of his father was not the first time that Brown had encountered personal heartache in his immediate family. When Brown was just nine, his 12-year-old brother, Dimarques, died in an accidental drowning while fishing.

Free Agent – '15
Fresno State
Modesto Christian HS
Modesto, Calif.

Modesto, Calif., native Isaiah Burse returns for his third season with the Chargers in 2017. A former practice squad player, Burse appeared in nine games for the Bolts in 2016, taking over as the team's featured kick and punt returner midway thru the season.

Burse is both blessed and thankful for the opportunity that has been afforded him in the NFL. The product of a broken home, Burse was adopted by Mark and Michelle Dobbins when he was just a sophomore at Modesto (Calif.) Christian High. Dobbins was an assistant coach at Modesto Christian who also ran an athlete-performance program.

Burse excelled as a prep at Modesto Christian, earning state player of the year honors after leading the Crusaders to a 15-0 record and a CIF small-school state title as a senior. A dual-threat quarterback, Burse finished his high school career with more than 4,000 yards and 61 touchdowns rushing, while racking up nearly 7,000 yards and 87 touchdowns through the air.

With stability for the first time in his life, Burse parlayed his success at Modesto Christian into a college career at Fresno State where he earned a degree in criminology corrections while racking up nearly 6,000 yards and 22 touchdowns on the football field.

Burse's birth mother resides in Arizona, while his father resides in California's Central Valley. Burse has a sister and two brothers, but he credits the Dobbins' and their son, Aaron, for helping him find success in life.

In his free time, Burse enjoys movies, video games and playing basketball.

A natural right-hander, Burse taught himself to become ambidextrous. He did so by spending time each day writing with his left hand to make it stronger.

TYREEK BURWELL

Tackle
6-6, 310
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent — '15
Cincinnati
Whitman HS

For Tyreek Burwell, beating long odds has become a way of life.

The third-year tackle was one of only four undrafted rookies to earn a spot on the Chargers' 53-man roster coming out of training camp in 2015. He's gained valuable experience his first two seasons, appearing in 16 games.

Burwell is a raw talent. A native of Huntington Station, N.Y., he garnered limited attention as a prep at Walt Whitman High School, primarily because he played a number of different positions for the Wildcats. He ended up starting his college career at Division III SUNY-Cortland where he played tight end.

After two years at SUNY-Cortland, Burwell was eager to transfer to an FBS school, so he put together his own highlight tape and shipped it off to a handful of schools. Very few responded, but one that did was the University of Cincinnati, which offered Burwell an opportunity to walk on. The only problem was that Burwell couldn't afford the out-of-state tuition, so he took a year off from school and football and worked at a Cheesecake Factory restaurant in Long Island so he could sock away some extra cash to pay for his tuition.

A year later in 2012, Burwell enrolled at Cincinnati and Bearcats coach Tommy Tuberville convinced him to shift from tight end to offensive line. Hesitant at first, Burwell obliged and added 25 pounds to his 270-pound frame. He ended up earning Scout Team Player of the Year honors in 2013 before earning playing time in 2014. That combined with an impressive Pro Day in which he repped 225 pounds on the bench press 30 times and posted a 4.97-second clocking in the 40-yard dash helped him earn an opportunity with the Chargers.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Signed with Chargers May 12...waived Sept. 10...re-signed to practice squad, Sept. 12...signed to active roster, Sept. 30.

2016: Took over at left tackle for final offensive series Oct. 2 vs. New Orleans. 2015: NFL debut Oct. 4 in 30-27 win vs. Cleveland...saw action as extra tackle in goal-line offense for two plays, one of which was one-yard touchdown catch by John Phillips for 27-19 lead in fourth quarter...saw one snap at right guard on last play of third quarter Oct. 12 vs. Pittsburgh...saw first action of career at left tackle Nov. 1 at Baltimore when Chris Hairston left with injury...saw action at right tackle Dec. 6 vs. Denver for injured Joe Barksdale...took over at

COLLEGE: Played in 11 games with four starts at tackle as senior at Cincinnati in 2014...redshirted in 2013 due to NCAA transfer rules...spent 2011-12 seasons at SUNY-Cortland as tight end, catching one pass for touchdown in 2012...communications major.

A 2014 fifth-round choice, Ryan Carrethers has seen action in 24 games with three starts in his first three NFL seasons.

Carrethers is the first-ever Arkansas State player to be drafted by the Bolts. A two-time All-Sun Belt Conference performer, Carrethers blocked a 38-yard field goal attempt with no time remaining to secure a 23-20 victory over Ball State in the GoDaddy Bowl, his final collegiate contest.

A native of Nashville, Tenn., Carrethers attended

Brentwood Academy in Nashville, where he was a two-time state champion heavyweight wrestler who went undefeated as a senior.

Carrethers is one of the team's strongest players. At his college pro day, he bench-pressed 36 reps at 225 pounds, stopping only when the plates fell off the bar. And while playing at Arkansas State, he broke the school's squat record as a sophomore. Carrethers can squat more than 700 pounds.

KELLEN CLEMENS

Quarterback
6-2, 220
12th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

UFA (St. Louis) - '14
Oregon
Burns HS
Burns, Ore.

Kellen Clemens will play his fourth season with the Chargers in 2017. A second-round pick of the New York Jets in 2006, Clemens' career has taken him to the Jets, Washington, Houston and the St. Louis Rams. His resume boasts 21 NFL starts. Clemens started the last nine games for the Rams in 2013, leading them to wins in four of their last seven games.

Clemens grew up in Burns, Ore., a cowboy town located in the southeast corner of the state that was more than 100 miles removed from the nearest interstate. His biological father, Vernon Vincent, was killed in a mill accident when Kellen was just six months old and his mother remarried John Clemens a couple of years later. After remarriage, the family moved onto a 3,500-acre Black Angus beef cattle ranch that had been in the Clemens family for six generations since 1870. Located in Harney County in Ore., the family's home was the county's first school house before it became an actual working ranch. As a child, Clemens worked on the ranch, doing things like herding cattle, bailing hay and fixing machinery. It's also where he learned to play football and he often trained by dragging tractor tires through the hay fields. John Clemens played defensive back at Portland State in the early 1980s and his grandfather, Delmer Clemens, played at Oregon in the 1950s.

Before enrolling at Oregon, Kellen prepped at Burns (Ore.) High where he set state records for passing yards and touchdowns. He went 31-7 as a starter and became the only player from the state to earn Parade Magazine All-America honors. He led the Highlanders to the state finals as a senior.

At Oregon, Clemens set single-season passing records and he finished his career as the Ducks' third all-time leading passer in both yards and touchdowns. Unfortunately, his career ended prematurely when he broke his leg in the eighth game of his senior season as result of a horse-collar tackle during a game. Still enamored with his upside, the Jets drafted Clemens in the second round of the 2006 NFL Draft.

A practicing Roman Catholic, Clemens married his wife, Nicole, while playing at Oregon. She attended the University of San Diego. The couple has three children: Kate, Grant, and Scarlett. In 2008, Clemens, Nicole and young daughter, Kate, attended a mass conducted by Pope Benedict in Washington D.C., and after the mass as part of the Papal procession, the Pope walked by and blessed the couple's daughter.

Clemens has four sisters, two of whom, Maria and Jessica, played college volleyball at Portland State after winning state championships in volleyball, basketball and track at Burns High.

Sacramento, Calif.

Asante Cleveland is a Sacramento, Calif., native who has spent time with the San Francisco 49ers, New England Patriots and Chargers. He's appeared in 14 games during his career.

A business major at the University of Miami (Fla.), Cleveland interned with the 49ers marketing department during the 2015 offseason. He shadowed different members of the team's staff, learning skills that included graphic design, youth football and stadium sales. He also took part in the team's planning meetings leading up to the 2015 NFL Draft.

In 2016, Cleveland completed a second internship with Comcast Sportsnet in Washington D.C. as part of an NFL program. At Comcast, Cleveland gained experience covering the NBA's Washington Wizards, the NHL's Washington Capitals and the University of Maryland's men's basketball team.

Cleveland has a deep and distinctive voice. Recently, he's given thought to work as a voice actor after his playing days come to an end. In a twist of fate, Cleveland had an opportunity to meet one of the industry's most well-known voice actors before a Chargers-Raiders game last October in Oakland. Dennis Haysbert, better known as the behind-the-scenes voice in Allstate Insurance commercials, is a lifelong Raiders fan and he happened to be at the Bolts-Raiders game at O.co Coliseum. Cleveland and Haysbert had a chance to meet pregame, and the two exchanged contact information and have kept in touch.

Cleveland began playing soccer at the age of six and continued for eight years as a midfielder until trying out for football as a freshman in high school. The baseball coaches at Christian Brothers (Sacramento, Calif.) High tried to sway Cleveland into becoming a pitcher, but the aspiring tight end declined.

It's safe to say that Cleveland inherited some of his athletic ability from his father, Allen, a former defensive end who spent time with the Dallas Cowboys in the late 1970s and was part of their 1977 NFC and Super Bowl XII championship team. He later went on to work for the California Department of Corrections. Cleveland's mother, Javetta, is the deputy superintendent of the Berkeley (Calif.) School District.

Cleveland's hobbies are bowling and bow-fishing.

Free Agent – '16

Columbus, Ohio

Jeff Cumberland is looking to make a comeback for the Chargers in 2017. The Chargers originally signed the former New York Jets tight end to a one-year contract in April 2016, but Cumberland's season ended before it started when he suffered a season-ending Achilles injury during a preseason game. Fully healed and trimmed down, Cumberland is set to play his eighth NFL season.

A former undrafted free agent who entered the NFL with the Jets in 2010, Cumberland has caught 86 passes for 1,119 yards and 10 touchdowns during his career.

Cumberland's 2016 Achilles injury was the second of his career. Three games into his second season with the Jets in 2011, Cumberland suffered his first. He bounced back to play in 15 games the following year (2012) and over the next four seasons, he played in 61 of 64 possible games. After the 2012 season, Cumberland's Jets teammates selected him as their winner of the Ed Block Courage Award.

Cumberland went to school at the University of Illinois where one of his teammates was Chargers defensive tackle Corey Liuget. Cumberland majored in sports management at Illinois, and during the 2011 season when he missed 13 games with the Achilles injury, he took advantage of the time by performing an internship in the Jets' sales department. Still looking to further his education, Cumberland was accepted into the University of Miami's Master of Business Administration for Artists and Athletes Program in January 2016.

A native of Columbus, Ohio, Cumberland had the values of hard work, dedication, faith and community instilled in him by the woman who raised him, Grandmother Rosline Cumberland. He still maintains close ties to his hometown where he oversees the Jeff Cumberland Foundation, which hosts several annual events, including a youth football camp, a holiday toy giveaway and a Thanksgiving turkey giveaway. One of the frequent beneficiaries of Cumberland's benevolence is the Boys and Girls Clubs. In December 2014, the NFL Players Association named Cumberland as its Community MVP.

Cumberland is also a staunch supporter of the U.S. military and is deeply concerned about critical causes such as cancer awareness.

KYLE EMANUEL

Outside Linebacker

3rd NFL Season

Draft 5 - '15
North Dakota State
Schuyler Central HS
Schuyler, Neb.

A versatile performer, Kyle Emanuel, has been a key cog in the Chargers' linebacking corps.

A fifth-round draft pick out of North Dakota State, Emanuel played in 31 of 32 games during his first two seasons and tallied 79 stops.

At NDSU, Emanuel won the 2014 Buck Buchanan Award as the Football Championship Subdivision's top defensive player. He led the FCS with 19.5 sacks and 32.5 tackles for loss. The Schuyler, Neb., native enrolled at NDSU after being overlooked by his home state's schools despite an all-state prep career. It was a fortuitous move as the Bison went 58-3 during his career in the process of capturing four conference titles and four NCAA championships.

It didn't take long for Emanuel to prove that he belonged in the NFL. In his very first regular-season game in the Bolts' 2015 opener versus Detroit, Emanuel recorded an interception, a pressure that led to another, a 13-yard sack and two tackles for loss.

This year, Emanuel will have some familiarity as new Chargers Defensive Coordinator Gus Bradley both played and coached at North Dakota State.

Shortly after being drafted by the Chargers last May, Emanuel gained notoriety when he sent a tweet seeking congratulations from Hollywood starlet Julianne Hough, who wasted little time in obliging the request from the Chargers' newest linebacker.

Last September, the Chargers added former New Orleans Saints defensive tackle Kaleb Eulls. As an undrafted rookie in 2015, Eulls spent the season on New Orleans' active roster, appearing in four games.

A native of Yazoo City, Miss., Eulls is a hero in his hometown. Back in 2009, early in his senior year at Yazoo County High School, Eulls disarmed a gun-wielding girl on a school bus full of elementary, junior high and high school students. In all, 22 children ages 5 to 18 were on the bus. The 14-year-old girl who produced the weapon, a .380 caliber semi-automatic, was retaliating against kids who had teased her. When the school's bus driver was unable to calm the girl down, Eulls sprang into action, getting her to focus on him and then tackling her and taking the gun when she shifted her focus for just a moment. Eulls fled out the back of the bus with the gun, emptied its chamber and brought the chaotic scene to an end. Eulls was credited with saving countless lives.

Antonio Gates will embark upon 2017 on the cusp of history as he begins his 15th NFL season with 111 touchdown catches, tied for most in NFL history by a tight end and tied for sixth all-time.

It's been quite a journey for the former college basketball standout from Detroit who undoubtedly merits Pro Football Hall of Fame consideration when he hangs up his cleats.

Gates has been elected to eight Pro Bowls and five Associated Press All-Pro teams. He's a member of the NFL's All-Decade Team (2000-09), one of the 50 Greatest Chargers of All-Time, a four-time Chargers Offensive Player of the Year and a five-time Team Captain.

Gates is the franchise's all-time leader in career receptions (897), receiving yards (11,192) and touchdown catches (111). All-time among tight ends, Gates ranks third in receptions and receiving yards, and he's tied with Tony Gonzalez for first in touchdowns. Gates' 111 touchdown catches are the most in the NFL since he entered the league in 2003. He has 21-career multi-touchdown games during that stretch, most by a tight end in NFL history. And as one of the most clutch receivers in League history, Gates' 38 touchdown catches on third-down are fourth in NFL history and most by a tight end.

Eight times in 14 seasons, Gates has led the team in receiving touchdowns. He has four seasons with 10 or more touchdowns, the second in NFL history by a tight end.

Gates has led the team in catches eight times and yards five times. His 21 career 100-yard games are sixth in team annals.

Gates enjoyed one of his top statistical seasons in 2014, but it came on the heels of a personal tragedy. In July of that year, Gates' younger sister Pamela died after a three-year battle with Lupus. Gates missed the Chargers' entire offseason program so that he could remain in Detroit, close to his family. Gates and his sister were extremely close and her illness hit him hard. With his football home halfway across the country from his hometown, Gates even pondered retirement. The Chargers remained supportive, and Gates stayed by Pamela's bedside even as she lie in a coma for weeks before her passing. She died the day he ultimately returned to San Diego to join his teammates for the start of training camp. Gates made his peace with Pamela's illness before returning to Southern California and it provided both inspiration and a springboard for what lie ahead. He started the season on a tear, catching nine touchdown passes in the team's first eight games. It tied the team record for touchdowns in the first half of a season, and he ended the year with 12, tied for most in the NFL among tight ends. It also was his highest season tally since 2004. Gates had turned 34 two months before the 2014 season started and he became only the fourth 34-year-old player in NFL history with a 12-touchdown season, joining Cris Carter, Marvin Harrison and Terrell Owens.

Gates' route to the NFL has been well-chronicled. When he signed with the Chargers as an undrafted rookie in 2003, he had not played football since his senior season at Detroit's Central High School. He began his collegiate career at Michigan State under the assumption that he could play both football and basketball, but when then-football coach Nick Saban relented, Gates chose to focus on hoops and decided it was best to leave the East Lansing campus. An up-and-down start to his basketball career sent him to three different schools before he finally found a home at Kent State. He played there two seasons and helped lead the Golden Flashes to a 52-15 record and back-to-back Mid-American Conference championships. As a senior in 2002, Gates led the 10th seed Golden Flashes to the Elite Eight of the NCAA Tournament with wins over No. 7 seed Oklahoma State, No. 2 seed Alabama and No. 3 seed Pittsburgh. An honorable mention All-America as a senior, Gates ended his career as the sixth-leading scorer in school history. In 2010, Gates had his No. 44 jersey retired by the school, and in May of this year, he was inducted into the Mid-American Conference's Hall of Fame during ceremonies in Cleveland.

With a disarming smile that has made him easily recognizable and approachable off the field, Gates is prominent community figure. When the NFL sought out spokespeople to appear in their "No More" campaign to stop domestic violence in 2014, Gates was among a select group of players asked to appear in a series of television public service announcements. He hosts an annual Shop with a Charger event in which he treats homeless, neglected and abused children to a special night that includes a Christmas shopping spree. A staunch supporter of the Huntington's Disease Society of America, Gates has served for some years as the honorary chairman for the Shoot to Cure HD, which raises much-needed research funds for the HDSA. Gates also has worked closely with Promises2Kids, an organization that offers support to the foster youth community.

And back in his hometown of Detroit, Gates is involved in boxing as the owner of AG Promotions.

He has a stable of young fighters and regularly stages fight cards in and around the Motor City. Gates' paternal grandfather, Henry Hank, was a professional boxer in the 1950s and '60s who went 62-31-4 with 40 wins by knockout as a middleweight and light heavyweight. Hank's 1962 fight against Joey Giardello was voted the Fight of the Year by Ring Magazine. Old photos show a striking resemblance between Gates and his grandfather. Gates now works with his cousin, Tony Harrison, who is one of boxing's top young middleweights. Harrison is off to a 24-2-0 record with 20 wins by knockout to start his career.

Gates' wife, Sasha, is an aspiring R&B musician. Besides being a mother to the couple's two children, Sasha previously starred on the E! reality show WAGS. She also helps run the Dolling Foundation, which inspires women to maintain a strong sense of self by enhancing their natural beauty that was compromised by hair loss due to catastrophic illness or tragedy.

Antonio Gates and Philip Rivers have connected on 84 touchdowns during their careers, most in NFL history for a tight end-quarterback tandem. New England's Tom Brady and Rob Gronkowski are second with 67.

Rivers and Gates' 84 touchdowns are also third-most all-time between a quarterback and receiver. The only combinations with more are Steve Young and Jerry Rice (85) and Peyton Manning and Marvin Harrison (112).

Gates has actually caught 86 touchdown passes since Rivers became the team's starting quarterback in 2006, but two of the touchdown passes were thrown by LaDainian Tomlinson on halfback-option plays.

MELVIN GORDON

Running Back
6-1, 215
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Draft 1 - '15
Wisconsin
Bradford HS
Kenosha, Wis.

A 2016 Pro Bowl performer and the Chargers' reigning Offensive Player of the Year, the arrow is definitely pointing up for Chargers running back Melvin Gordon.

Originally a Pro Bowl third-alternate, Gordon was selected to the AFC All-Star squad after rushing for 997 yards in 2016. He ranked 13th in the NFL. Gordon missed the Bolts' last three regular-season games due to knee and hip injuries, narrowly missing out on recording the the 20th 1,000-yard rushing season in franchise history.

One of the highlights of Gordon's 2016 campaign was a 261-yard performance during a 43-35 win over the Tennessee Titans. Gordon was named the AFC's Offensive Player of the Week after his effort which included 196 yards on the ground. Gordon's 261 total yards were third-most in a game in team history, while his 196 rushing yards were ninth.

Another of the main contributors to Gordon's all-star selection was a 12-touchdown season. After not finding paydirt once as a rookie in 2015, Gordon led the Chargers and tied for ninth in the NFL in touchdowns, scoring 10 rushing and two receiving. He became the first player in NFL history to follow a season with no rushing touchdowns with a 10-TD season. His 10 rushing TDs ranked sixth in the NFL.

Gordon finished 2016 with 1,416 yards from scrimmage (997 rushing and 419 receiving), a total that ranked 10th in the League and 16th on the franchise's all-time single-season list. His three 40-plus yard rushes in 2016 tied for second in the NFL.

Gordon made large strides between his first two years by increasing his training regimen. Besides participating in the Chargers' offseason program, Gordon spent time in Houston training with former NFL Most Valuable Player Adrian Peterson. Once an idol of Gordon's, the two backs have become close friends.

Gordon originally joined the Chargers as the team's first-round pick in the 2015 NFL Draft. The former University of Wisconsin product won the 2014 Doak Walker Award as the nation's top running back and he finished second in voting for the 2014 Heisman Trophy. Gordon rushed for 4,915 yards and scored 49 total touchdowns for the Badgers. Both totals ranked third in school history.

A native of Kenosha, Wis., Gordon originally came onto the radar of Chargers General Manager Tom Telesco when he rushed for 216 yards and a touchdown on just nine carries in the 2012 Big Ten Championship Game against Nebraska.

Gordon's redshirt junior season in 2014 was his breakout campaign. He rushed for a Big Ten-record 2,587 yards, second-most in FBS history. Gordon's 184.8-yard per game average was the most by an FBS player since former Chargers great LaDainian Tomlinson averaged 196.2 yards per game for TCU in 2000. Gordon became just the third player in FBS history to rush for at least 2,000 yards and score 30 touchdowns, joining Barry Sanders and Kevin Smith.

An only child, both of Gordon's parents played an instrumental role in his upbringing. His mother, Carmen, a nurse, has never missed one of his games. Before enrolling at Wisconsin, she often shuttled Melvin to and from football camps and combines as far away as Tennessee and Alabama to help his football career. She also stayed after him to maintain good grades and the life science communications major was named to a host of all-academic teams during his college career at Wisconsin. Melvin wore No. 25 for the Badgers because it was his mother's age when he was born.

Gordon's father, Melvin Jr., also known as "Big Bo," played an instrumental role as well. He taught his son the importance of strength and conditioning. The family had a weight room in the basement of their Kenosha home and Melvin Sr., was a regular fixture in the weight room at Bradford High School. Gordon continued his intense training regimen at Wisconsin where he once ran every step in Camp Randall Stadium while wearing a weighted vest. The elder Gordon also made sure that his son had an appreciation for the NFL's great running backs who had helped pave the way. A former semi-pro football player, the elder Gordon used to show his son tapes of great running backs like Sanders and Walter Payton.

While growing on the football field, Gordon is adding to his legacy off it. Last December, Gordon teamed up with the Armed Forces YMCA and Rally Health to host a holiday build-a-bike event for more than 50 children and teenagers of Naval servicemembers.

CHRIS HAIRSTON

Guard-Tackle
6-6, 330
6th NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent - '15
Clemson
Carver HS
Winston-Salem, N.C.

The versatile Chris Hairston originally joined the Chargers on a one-year contract in 2015 and he became one of the team's most valuable performers. Hairston played in all 16 games that season and started 11. As injuries wreaked havoc on the Chargers' offensive line, he saw time at every position but center, starting nine games at left tackle, one at left guard and one at right guard, while also seeing time at right tackle. The 2016 season was much of the same as Hairston played in 15 games with five starts, including four at left tackle and one at right tackle.

Hairston proved to be equal parts tough and versatile right from the get-go. During his first year with the Chargers, Hairston turned in perhaps his most impressive performance during a game against Green Bay just six days after he suffered a severe ankle injury during a Monday Night Football game against the Pittsburgh Steelers. As injuries left the Chargers shorthanded on the offensive line, Hairston defied the odds and played a season-high 92 snaps against the Packers as Philip Rivers set franchise records for attempts, completions and yards. His gritty performance caused an emotional Rivers to tear up after the game.

Hairston and his high school sweetheart, the former Carmen Baldwin, were married in July. The couple has two children – son, Chris Jr., and daughter, Chloe.

Hairston's second cousin is former Baylor University guard-forward Ishmail Wainright, who played in all 35 games for the Bears as a senior in 2016-17 while averaging 5.5 points per game and 5.1 rebounds.

CASEY HAYWARD

Cornerback
5-11, 192
6th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

UFA (Green Bay) - '16
Vanderbilt
Perry HS
Perry, Ga.

Casey Hayward had one heck of a first season with the Chargers in 2016.

Just ten months after signing a new three-year pact with the Chargers, Hayward was a first-time Pro Bowler, the Chargers' Most Valuable Player and Defensive Player of the Year, and a second-team All-Pro. Hayward led the NFL and set a new career high with seven picks as he became the first Chargers defender to win the League's interceptions title outright since 2007. Hayward also paced the Bolts with 23 passes defended in 2016.

It's safe to say that Hayward played the 2016 season with an angel on his shoulder. Just prior to the opening of Chargers training camp, Hayward learned that his mom, Tish, had succumbed after a lengthy battle with breast cancer. Together, she and Casey had overseen the Hayward's Hands Foundation, which annually hosts a number of events, including a Thanksgiving Drive, a Christmas Toy Drive and a youth football camp in his native Perry, Ga. Prior to her passing in 2015, Tish was honored by NFL Mothers and Paradigm 360 for her work with Casey and the Foundation.

Hayward joined the Chargers from Green Bay, where he collected nine interceptions in four seasons, including a team-high six as a rookie in 2012. A second-round pick by the Packers out of Vanderbilt, Hayward also logged 39 passes defended for the Pack, including a team-high 25 during that rookie campaign.

Hayward is one of three Caseys in his family. His father is named Casey as is a half-brother.

Outside of football, Hayward enjoys bowling (his high score is a 240), binge-watching television shows on Netflix and writing poetry.

HUNTER HENRY

Tight End
6-5, 253
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Draft 2 - '16
Arkansas
Pulaski Academy
Little Rock, Ark.

One of the biggest steals of the entire 2016 NFL Draft may have been the Chargers selection of former Mackey Award-winning tight end Hunter Henry from Arkansas early in the second round.

Henry had a terrific rookie season. He led the Chargers with eight touchdown catches – tied for most in the NFL by a tight end and tied for second in the League among rookies. His 478 receiving yards were the most by any rookie tight end in the NFL in 2016.

One of the reasons Henry was the nation's top tight end as a collegian was that he did not drop a single pass thrown in his direction during the entire 2015 season. Henry also proved to be a capable blocker. During that 2015 season, he did not allow a sack or quarterback hurry, and he played a key role in the Razorbacks running game which rushed for more than 200 yards in an SEC-best six conference games.

A native of Little Rock, Ark., Henry's father, Mark, also played at Arkansas (1988-91). Mark was a team captain as a senior in 1991. He is now a Pastor in Little Rock.

Henry's hobbies include hunting, fishing and spending time at the beach.

MELVIN INGRAM

Outside Linebacker
6-2, 247
6th NFL Season
6th with Chargers

Draft 1 – '12
South Carolina
Richmond County HS
Rockingham, N.C.

One of the NFL's top outside linebackers, the Chargers made sure the unrestricted free agent-to-be wasn't going to get away by placing the franchise tag on him.

Ingram has logged 18.5 sacks over the last two seasons, tied for 12th in the NFL during that span. Ingram had a breakout season in 2015 when he led the team with 10.5 sacks, 19 tackles for loss, four forced fumbles and 29 quarterback hits. He became the first Chargers' player to record a double-digit sack season since 2011, and he tied for 12th in the NFL in sacks. Ingram closed out the year by recording a sack in five straight games and had nine in the Bolts' last nine games.

Last season was much of the same for Ingram. He finished second on the squad with eight sacks and 42 pressures, but he led the team with 23 quarterback hits.

One of the reasons Ingram has become a valuable commodity is his ability to remain on the field. While injuries have wreaked havoc on the Bolts in recent years, Ingram has started 39 straight games, including all 16 each of the last two seasons. Besides participating in the Chargers' offseason conditioning program, Ingram works with a private trainer in Miami who strictly monitors his diet while overseeing an intense workout program that includes heavy cardio and boxing. He's also taught Ingram to replace fatty meats, starches and carbohydrates with proteins and vegetables. As a result, Ingram weighs almost 20 pounds less than he did in college, and his body-fat percentage is less than eight percent.

Ever since his second NFL season in 2013, the Chargers have known that Ingram is a special talent. That year, he tore the anterior cruciate ligament in his left knee during an early offseason practice. A medical marvel, Ingram had surgery and returned to the field in early December, just five months removed from the injury, and he helped boost the Chargers into the playoffs for the first time since 2009. The Bolts went 4-0 down the stretch with Ingram back on the field and they won their first playoff game since 2008. In that playoff victory, a wild card win in Cincinnati, Ingram was outstanding as he collected his first NFL interception and he led the team with four quarterback pressures.

Off the field, Ingram is an up-and-coming rap musician who goes by the name "Supamel." Ingram has released two full-length mixtapes, "Franchise Tag" and "From Nothing to Something." One of his favorite songs is called "Pops." It is a tribute to his late father, George Melvin Ingram Jr., who died of a massive heart attack in 1998. It was Ingram's father who many years ago predicted that his infant son would one day play in the NFL.

Following his father's passing, Ingram's mom, Nancy, raised him and his two older sisters as a single parent. At Richmond County High School in his native Rockingham, N.C., Ingram became a football star and three-year starter at point guard for the school's basketball team where he earned the nickname "Supamelvin." So gifted was Ingram that he once walked out of a high school math class so he could go to the school's gym to break the hang-clean record in his school clothes. After a brief warmup, he did so with a lift of 380 pounds, five more than the previous school record. And before the 2006 Shrine Bowl All-Star Game featuring the top high school seniors from North and South Carolina, Ingram threw the fastest pass during a pregame carnival, posting the fastest throws with both his left and right hands. Ingram can also perform a standing back-flip, spin a football in his hand and dunk it over a crossbar, dunk a basketball with ease and throw a football more than 70 yards without taking a step.

In 2015, Ingram launched the non-profit foundation, "Mission Possible." Its purpose is to provide inner-city and low-income children with additional educational opportunities and resources. A celebrity waiter event is the foundation's signature event. Last year, the event raised more than $120,000.

Another cause that is important to Ingram is domestic violence. In 2015, Ingram joined professional skateboarder Tony Hawk and BMX Champion Alise Post in a public service announcement designed to combat domestic violence.

DONTRELLE INMAN

Wide Receiver
6-3, 205
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Free Agent – '14
Virginia
Batesburg-Leesville HS
Batesburg, S.C.

Steady and reliable are two words that come to mind when describing wide receiver Dontrelle Inman.

A former import from the Canadian Football League's Toronto Argonauts, Inman started all 16 games for the first time in his career in 2016 and he finished the year as the Chargers' second-leading receiver.

In three seasons with the Chargers, Inman's stats have gone up exponentially each year. From 2014-16, Inman's catch total went from 12 to 35 to 58; his receiving yardage total went from 158 to 486 to 810, and his touchdown total went from 0 to 3 to 4.

Inman has enjoyed some memorable moments with the Chargers. He caught his first NFL touchdown pass in historic Lambeau Field. He was on the receiving end of the pass that put Philip Rivers over 40,000 yards for his career. And during a 2015 game in Oakland, the wide receiver had to play free safety in overtime after injuries had decimated the Bolts' secondary.

Inman originally came to the NFL in 2011. He signed with Jacksonville, but due to the NFL Lockout, there was no offseason program, and Inman went to training camp far behind the team's veterans. After being released, he caught on with the Argonauts, where he played two seasons (2012-13) and won a Grey Cup championship in 2012. In Toronto, Inman was coached by former NFL quarterback Scott Milanovich, who was a good friend of former Chargers Offensive Coordinator Frank Reich. Looking to return to the NFL, Milanovich gave Reich a glowing recommendation and Inman joined the Chargers in 2014.

Inman earned a spot on the 2014 opening day roster after a preseason that included a 100-yard game against Dallas, highlighted by a 70-yard over-the-shoulder touchdown catch. Once the regular season rolled around, however, his playing time was sporadic. Then during a late December game in San Francisco with the team's postseason hopes on the line, Inman was inserted into the lineup early in the second half of a game the Chargers trailed by 21 points. He made a fingertip catch on the first ball thrown his way and finished the night with seven catches for 79 yards. It included a 17-yard catch on a fourth-down play late in the fourth quarter that was part of a game-tying touchdown drive. The Chargers rallied to defeat the 49ers in overtime, 38-35, matching the greatest comeback in franchise history.

THE GIVING KEYS

Inman is one of several Chargers players who have strengthened the bond inside the locker room with "The Giving Keys," specially engraved keys that are passed from teammate to teammate in times of need. Worn as necklaces, The Giving Keys are meant to inspire others through their pay-it-forward movement. In 2015, Inman presented one engraved with "Strength" to running back Melvin Gordon when the rookie was going through a difficult stretch of the season.

DREW KASER

2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Draft 6 - '16
Texas A&M
Walsh Jesuit HS
Stow, Ohio

A sixth-round draft pick in 2016, Drew Kaser had an All-Rookie season, as he led all NFL rookies and ranked 10th in the NFL with a 46.3-yard average. It was the highest in team history by a rookie and the third-highest in franchise history.

As a collegian, Kaser finished career with the second-highest punt average (46.2) in NCAA history. Kaser always wears a cluster of wristbands, each representing something near and dear to his heart. One represents his mother Kelly's fight with brain cancer, while another represents the love for one of his best friends back home whose father died of a heart attack. There's one for his grade-school football coach who died of cancer, one for "players curing kids cancer," one for "Charlie's Angels" (in honor of a Houston child who survived cancer) and one in his grandfather's memory.

JOSH LAMBO

Kicker
6-0, 215
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent - '15
Texas A&M
Middleton HS
Middleton, Wis.

Josh Lambo has one of the strongest right legs in the National Football League.

In 2016, Lambo led the NFL with 67 touchbacks on kickoffs, and he made 26 of his 32 field goal attempts. Just two seasons into his career, Lambo already ranks sixth in franchise annals with 52 career made field goals.

In August 2015, just months after signing Lambo as an undrafted free agent out of Texas A&M, the Chargers cut ties with veteran Nick Novak, who had been the second-most accurate kicker in franchise history, handing the job to Lambo. His leg strength wowed the Chargers, as did a 53-yard field goal in the preseason and later a 47-yarder as time expired to give the Chargers a 22-19 preseason win.

From there, Lambo simply went on to become the top rookie kicker in the NFL in 2015 and an All-Rookie selection. He scored a rookie-leading 106 points, making 26 of 32 field goals (81.3 pct.) and 28 of 32 PATs (87.5 pct.). He made 19 of his last 23 field goal attempts to close out the season and went 15 of 22 on the season from beyond 40 yards, with a long of 54. Lambo's only misses last season were from 42, 47, 48 (three times) and 60 yards. He made seven of his eight field goal attempts in the fourth quarter, including a 54-yarder for a 20-17 lead over Pittsburgh with 2:56 left on Oct. 12, a game-tying 49 yarder to tie the game at 26-26 with 2:27 remaining on Nov. 1 in Baltimore, and a game-tying 47-yarder with 1:00 left in the fourth quarter Dec. 24 at Oakland.

Lambo's 106 points tied for second in franchise history by a rookie and he recorded a team-record 41 touchbacks on 73 kickoffs, second in the NFL in 2015 among rookies.

Lambo wasn't like most of the other undrafted rookies when he originally signed with the team in May. Even though he'd come to the Chargers from Texas A&M, Lambo had been a professional international soccer player in his late teens. At the age of 14, Lambo was one of the United States' top young goalkeeping prospects. He was invited to leave home and train with the U.S. National Team in Bradenton, Fla. Within a year, Lambo had joined Everton FC of European soccer's Premier League as a trialist where he trained alongside long-time U.S. Soccer star Tim Howard. That experience helped Lambo land a spot on the United States' Under-17 and later Under-20 Teams that would both play for the World Cup.

In 2008, Lambo was the No. 8 overall pick in Major League Soccer's (MLS) draft by FC Dallas. As fate would have it, that would be the beginning of the end of Lambo's career on the pitch. Over the course of the next four years, Lambo dealt with a broken jaw, minimal playing time and several coaching changes that all but ended his future in both the MLS and with Team U.S. Soccer.

After being waived by the MLS in 2012, Lambo returned to Wisconsin. Encouraged by his mom, Irene, who suggested he finish college and try his hand at placekicking, Lambo sought assistance from former University of Wisconsin kicker Tyler Mehlhaff, who also had kicked for the NFL's New Orleans Saints. Lambo's older brother, Zack, had played soccer at Wisconsin at the same time Mehlhaff kicked for the Badgers and he helped put them in touch. Mehlhaff helped Lambo refine his kicking swing, and within a matter of months, Lambo enrolled at Texas A&M where he walked onto the football team.

Lambo played sparingly for the Aggies in 2012, but he won the placekicking job in College Station in 2013 and over the course of the 2013-14 seasons, he hit kicks at an astonishing rate, converting 21 of 25 field goals with a long of 50 and 109 of 110 point after tries. One of those made field goals was a 33-yarder as time expired to give Texas A&M a 41-38 win over Mississippi in 2013 for the Aggies' first walk-off victory in more than two decades.

Lambo and Mehlhaff have remained friends, and the two still train together when Lambo finds himself back home in Wisconsin.

COREY LIUGET

Defensive Tackle
6-2, 300
7th NFL Season
7th with Chargers

Draft 1 – '11
Illinois
Hialeah HS
Miami, Fla.

Corey Liuget was the leading tackler on the Chargers' defensive line in 2016.

One of the NFL's top interior linemen, Liuget signed a multi-year contract extension through 2020 in June 2015. A couple months later, teammates voted him a team captain for the first time in his career. The accolades followed a 2014 campaign in which Liuget led the defensive line in tackles, while leading the team in sacks, tackles for loss and quarterback pressures. He also tied for the team lead in forced fumbles, ranked second in quarterback hits, and scored his first touchdown during a December game in San Francisco.

The Chargers' first-round pick in 2011, Liuget was San Diego's Defensive Player of the Year in 2012. In 2013, he led the team in sacks, tackles for loss, quarterback pressures and quarterback hits. He played some of his best football down the stretch in helping the Chargers reach the playoffs for the first time since 2009. He collected six of his team-leading 10 tackles for loss in the last six games and in the Chargers' Wild Card Playoff win in Cincinnati, he led the line in tackles, while also contributing a sack, a tackle for loss, a pass defended and a quarterback hit.

Liuget's rise on the field is impressive when considering the obstacles he faced early in his career. After being drafted in 2011, the NFL lockout wiped out what would have been Liuget's first off-season with the team. After the lockout ended and the season rolled around, injuries took a toll on the Chargers' defensive line and Liuget was pressed into immediate duty. He played in 15 games and made 13 starts. However, by season's end, his weight had ballooned to more than 325 pounds, due in large part to an extended visit from his mom, Lorene, and her home cooking. Rather than continuing to pack on pounds, Liuget made a decision to travel back to Florida where he could train at his alma mater, Hialeah (Miami) High. The move paid dividends as Liuget lowered his weight to 300 pounds and it set the wheels in motion for a breakthrough 2012 season in which he led San Diego's defensive line in sacks, tackles, tackles for loss and passes defended.

Work ethic is one trait that was drilled into Liuget at an early age. His father, DeJa, was killed while visiting Corey's grandmother in Haiti in 1993. It left Lorene to raise Corey and his four older brothers and sisters as a single parent in Miami's Liberty Square housing projects, also known as the Pork 'n' Beans public housing projects. When her kids were young, Lorene enlisted their help to make ends meet. She would boil peanuts, and make candy apples, conch fritters and sweet potato pies, which Corey and his brothers and sisters would sell. It taught all of the Liuget kids about work ethic and discipline.

Liuget had a standout prep career as a 6-2, 220-pound quarterback at Hialeah High School. He ran a 4.6-second 40-yard dash and was highly recruited by a number of colleges. Despite hailing from a close-knit family that tops 100 in number and a strong recruiting push from the big in-state schools, Liuget opted to chart his own path and enroll at the University of Illinois. After two years in Champaign, Ill., Liuget grew homesick and contemplated returning home after his sophomore season. Some tough love from his mom persuaded him to stick it out and, instead of moping over the situation, he used it as motivation. Liuget lost 25 pounds between his sophomore and junior seasons, and feeling re-energized, had a career year for the Fighting Illini in 2010. Liuget chose to leave school a year early and apply for the 2011 NFL Draft. The Chargers loved the toughness, tenacity and relentless approach to the game that he showed and made him their first-ever first-round pick from Illinois.

Liuget's sisters — Ideidre and Latronika — both serve in the Army.

Liuget enjoys traveling. In 2013, he vacationed in the Dominican Republic, where he learned to surf and scuba dive. In 2014, Liuget and his fiancée, Faven, visited Ethiopia, Dubai, Costa Rica and the Bahamas. And in 2015, the couple visited Egypt and Aruba, while also returning to the Dominican Republic.

Liuget has a son — Corey Jr. — and two daughters — Eden and Eva. When Corey Jr. was an infant, he had surgery to correct a heart defect. To show his appreciation, Liuget lends his time to support the American Heart Association at a number of community events.

THE GRADUATE

In May 2016, Liuget received his degree in sociology from the University of Illinois. Despite leaving school early to enter the 2011 NFL Draft, Liuget followed through on a promise he'd made to his mom, Lorene, and he attended classes at Illinois each off-season to rack up the credits necessary to earn his diploma. On May 15, 2016, Liuget walked with classmates at the Fighting Illini's graduation ceremonies and received his diploma.

One of Liuget's hobbies is fishing. He often goes deep-sea fishing with his cousins when home in Miami. Liuget has also hosted fishing trips in San Diego for children from area nonprofit agencies. One of the beneficiaries of Liuget's love of the water is F3G (Fish, Food, Feel Good), an organization that collects fish from sport fishermen and distributes it free of charge to local charities.

In June, Liuget hosted the third-annual "2 Liuget 2 Quit Youth Football Clinic and 7-on-7 Tournament" in Miami in with the Little Haiti Optimist Club.

In 2015, Liuget was a nominee for the NFLPA's Byron "Whizzer" White Award for outstanding community service.

DWIGHT LOWERY

Safety
5-11, 212
9th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (Indianapolis) – '16
San Jose State
Soquel HS
Soquel, Calif.

Over a nine-year career that includes stints with the New York Jets, Jacksonville Jaguars, Atlanta Falcons, Indianapolis Colts and Chargers, Dwight Lowery has logged 442 tackles, 17 interceptions, 66 passes defended and eight forced fumbles.

Lowery also has returned three interceptions for touchdowns during his career. Four of his 17 career interceptions, including a 69-yard return for a touchdown in 2015, have come against Tennessee.

Of Lowery's 17 career picks, perhaps the most memorable was the one that he returned 26 yards for a score off of Brett Favre to give the New York Jets their final points late in the fourth quarter in a 29-20 win over the Minnesota Vikings on Monday Night Football in 2010.

Early in his football career, there was evidence that Lowery had a bright future. As a prep at Soquel (Calif.) High School, Lowery had seven touchdowns in a game. Several years later as a junior at San Jose State, he snagged a school-record nine interceptions in a single season. And as a rookie with the New York Jets in 2008, Lowery forced five fumbles, tied for fifth in the NFL.

Off the field, Lowery has dedicated himself to using his platform as an NFL player to mentor youth in his native Santa Cruz (Calif.) County. He has spent time with kids from his alma mater, Soquel (Calif.)

High School, as well as Cabrillo College, where he played before attending San Jose State. In 2015, Lowery hosted a youth football camp at Cabrillo.

Lowery's hobbies include spending time with family and friends, hosting barbecues, playing soccer, hanging out at the beach and watching MMA. Lowery is also an avid Star Wars fan who has seen every movie in the series. He has a significant collection of Star Wars comic books and his favorite character is Darth Vader.

Lowery and his wife, Ashley, have a daughter, Amani, and he is extremely close to his younger sister, Aujanae, who survived open-heart surgery as an infant to correct a heart defect.

Lowery's wife survived a kidnapping attempt in Portland, Ore., in March 2010. She and a girlfriend were on their way home from a concert when a man who claimed he worked for the Portland Police Bureau offered them a ride home. The women accepted the stranger's offer and once in the car, he pulled a knife and took them to a deserted road off Interstate-5 where he tried to assault them. Thankfully the women were able to fight off their kidnapper and escape. The case became a national story as it was featured on the TV show America's Most Wanted.

CRAIG MAGER

Cornerback
5-11, 200
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Draft 3 - '15
Texas State
Luling HS
Luling, Tex.

Craig Mager played in 21 games with 10 starts for the Chargers over his first two seasons. In 2016, he played in 11 with eight starts and recorded his first NFL interception along with 29 tackles.

Many players overcome adversity to play in the NFL, but Mager has been forced to endure more than most. He grew up without a father-figure in his life and in 2007, his mom, Cathy, died suddenly, leaving Mager and his three younger sisters without a parent. The kids moved in with their maternal grandmother and Mager became the proverbial man-of-the-house. At the time, he was just 15 years old.

Mager continued to lose mentors close to him. He attended Luling (Texas) High School. Just over a year after his mother died, Luling's Head Football Coach, Robert Dean, died suddenly of pneumonia early during his sophomore season. In January 2013, his former track coach at Luling High, William "Darrell" Jones died in a traffic accident in Gonzales County, Texas. And then in March 2014, Mager's grandmother, the woman who took in him and his siblings after their mother died, passed away too.

All of these tests of faith have made Mager a much stronger person, and it was part of the reason the team had no trepidation about taking the former Texas State cornerback in the third round of the 2015 NFL draft.

SEAN McGRATH

Tight End

3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent - '15
Henderson State, Ark.
Carmel Catholic HS
Mundelein, Ill.

A versatile tight end who is a strong pass-blocker with good hands, McGrath played in all 16 games and made five starts for the Chargers in 2016. It was a significant contribution from a player who just few years ago voluntarily walked away from the game.

McGrath originally came into the NFL as an undrafted rookie with the Seahawks in 2012. He earned a spot on the practice squad and late that year was elevated to the active roster as the Seahawks advanced to the NFC Divisional Playoffs.

The following September, after being waived by Seattle, McGrath was claimed by the Chiefs, and he blossomed in Kansas City. He played in all 16 games in 2013 and started nine, catching 26 passes for 302 yards and a pair of scores.

Fast forward to 2014 and McGrath's demeanor as he reported to the Chiefs' training camp at Missouri Western had changed dramatically. Instead of checking into the dorms and joining his Chiefs teammates, McGrath instead met with Head Coach Andy Reid and General Manager John Dorsey and informed them that he had decided to retire from the NFL. A studio art major in college, McGrath decided that he was going to hang up his cleats and return to Henderson State to finish his master's degree. And with that, McGrath spent the 2014 year out of football.

The itch to play returned and McGrath signed with the Indianapolis Colts in 2015. He earned a spot on Indianapolis' practice squad at the start of the season, and after being released, he signed with the Chargers. McGrath spent five weeks on the Bolts' practice squad before being elevated to the active roster for the 2015 season finale.

McGrath lists disc golf and yoga among his hobbies. He is known around the NFL for his trademark beard. When he played in Kansas City, teammates simply referred to him as "The Beard." McGrath's beard even has its own twitter handle @ Beard_O_McGrath.

11th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

UFA (Seattle) - '16
California
Crenshaw HS
Los Angeles, Calif.

A former Super Bowl champion with the Seattle Seahawks, Brandon Mebane will play his second season for the Chargers in 2017.

The fiery Mebane made an instant impact on the Bolts during his first campaign in 2016. He was voted a team captain at the start of the year, and he was named the team's most inspirational player at the end of it. Routinely, Mebane spoke to the team to help invigorate them before games. He started the first 10 games of the Bolts' season before a Week 10 biceps injury forced him onto injured reserve.

A Los Angeles native, Mebane returned to Southern California after spending his first nine NFL seasons in Seattle where he played in 142 games with 134 starts, including 11 postseason games and nine starts. His career totals (postseason included) with the Seahawks included 386 tackles, 15.5 sacks and a pair of forced fumbles. He was named All-Pro by Sports Illustrated in 2013.

Mebane comes from a very close-knit and athletic family. His father, Walter Jr., played basketball at Norfolk State (Va.). His mother, Joyce, is an outstanding bowler and softball player who also has a history in roller derby. Mebane's grandfather, Walter Sr., was a 6-8, 320-pound defensive tackle who played at Hampton (Va.) University. And his older brother, Walter III, played middle linebacker at Temple.

Mebane's father later served in the Air Force, and his mother spent 40-plus years working as an aerospace engineer for Northrup Grumman. Several of Mebane's uncles also served in the armed forces.

Mebane's wife, Amena, is a lawyer and the couple has two children – Makai and Mahailey.

Mebane's hobbies include listening to music with his kids and watching HGTV and the DIY Networks.

RUSSELL OKUNG

8th NFL Season

UFA (Denver) – '17
Oklahoma State
George Bush HS
Fort Bend, Texas

On the first day of unrestricted free agency in 2017, the Chargers signed veteran left tackle Russell Okung to a four-year contract.

A former Pro Bowl standout and Super Bowl champion, Okung played his first six seasons with the Seattle Seahawks before suiting up for the Denver Broncos in 2016. He has started at left tackle all 100 career games he has played, including 12 in the post-season.

Okung has proven to be one of the NFL's best left tackles since he entered the League in 2010. According to Stats, LLC., Okung has allowed just 24 sacks over his first seven seasons, fourth-fewest among left tackles who've made at least 70 starts.

Okung established himself as a reliable left tackle from the moment the Seahawks selected him in the first round (sixth overall) in the 2010 NFL Draft. He allowed the second fewest sacks (20) in the NFL among linemen with at least 70 starts during his tenure in Seattle.

The 6-5, 310-pound tackle is also known for his run blocking. Over his first five seasons, the Seahawks boasted the NFL's second-ranked rushing attack, averaging 135.2 yards per game. He was named to the Pro Bowl in 2012 after helping Marshawn Lynch run for a career-high 1,590 yards and 11 touchdowns.

Okung anchored an offensive line that guided the Seahawks to back-to-back Super Bowl appearances, including a 43-8 victory over the Broncos in Super Bowl XLVIII.

BRANDEN OLIVER

Running Back
5-8, 208
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Free Agent - '14
Buffalo
Southridge HS
Miami, Fla.

Branden Oliver is chomping at the bit to step foot on the football field. The former undrafted free agent has had a run of bad luck recently. In 2015, a toe injury cost him the final eight games of the season and then in 2016, Oliver tore his Achilles during a Bolts preseason game in Minnesota, and it cost him the entire '16 campaign. Looking for a fresh start and for a chance to turn around his good fortune, Oliver opted to switch numbers and go back to the 32 that he wore as a collegian at the University of Buffalo.

Oliver was one of the feel-good stories of the NFL in 2014. He was an undrafted rookie from Buffalo who was compactly built at 5-foot-8, and he wore the No. 43. With his exciting running style, Oliver had fans waxing nostalgic about the similarities to former Chargers running back Darren Sproles.

Oliver ended 2014 as the Chargers' leading rusher. Along the way, he delivered a couple of memorable performances, twice being named Pepsi NFL Rookie of the Week. Oliver earned his first honor after a 31-0 win over the New York Jets. During the victory, he became the first Charger with a 50-yard catch and a 50-yard run in the same game since Lionel "Little Train" James in 1985, and he became the NFL's first rookie to do so since Clinton Portis in 2002. New York came into the game with the NFL's top-ranked rushing defense, allowing just 63.3 yards per game and Oliver gouged them for 114 yards. His 6.0 yards-per-carry average was double the 3.0 average the Jets had allowed coming into the contest. A week after his showing against New York, Oliver earned his second NFL Rookie of the Week award after rushing for 101 yards in Oakland and scoring the winning touchdown late in the fourth quarter of a 31-28 victory over the Raiders.

These were impressive accomplishments for a young player who wasn't even drafted, despite leaving Buffalo as the school's all-time leading rusher. After a tryout in Indianapolis, Oliver ended up signing with the Chargers. He made the opening day roster after an impressive preseason in which he rushed for 161 yards and a touchdown on just 35 carries for a 4.6 average. Oliver caught the coaches' attention during the Bolts' preseason opener against the Dallas Cowboys when he rushed seven times for 64 yards and had a 16-yard touchdown run and a 27-yard run during the game.

After wrapping up his rookie season, Oliver returned to the University of Buffalo and completed the last two classes he needed to earn his degree in sociology. He plans to use his education and life experience to help others by building orphanages and homeless shelters.

One of Oliver's closest friends is Raiders defensive end, Khalil Mack. The two were teammates and roommates at Buffalo. Oliver's cousin is former NFL wide receiver, Roscoe Parrish.

TENNY PALEPOI

Defensive Tackle
6-1, 298
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Free Agent - '14
Utah
Skyline HS
Salt Lake City, Utah

Tenny Palepoi enjoyed a solid bounce-back season in 2016. Just a year removed from a season-ending foot injury suffered on the opening day of training camp in 2015, Palepoi played in 13 games in 2016 and finished the year with 23 tackles and 20 pressures.

Palepoi was one of only three undrafted rookies to make the Chargers' opening day roster in 2014. He had a leg up in knowing what to expect in the NFL as his older brother, Anton, spent five years as a defensive end in the League with Seattle, Denver and Arizona. Also, their father, Tony, played professional rugby for Samoa's National Team.

While Palepoi experienced the highs of playing in the NFL in 2014, he also endured a personal low. Just days before Thanksgiving, his older brother, Francis, passed away at the age of 42. Palepoi left the Chargers to attend his brother's funeral during a time that is normally reserved for celebration. Shortly after the funeral, Palepoi rejoined his Chargers teammates and matched his season high with three tackles in a 34-33 road win over the Baltimore Ravens.

Palepoi and his wife, Delaney, have three children — daughters Taytum and Remi, and son Liam.

3rd NFL Season

Draft 2 - '15
Miami (Fla.)
Coral Gables HS
Coral Gables, Fla.

Denzel Perryman was the Chargers' leading tackler in 2016. He turned in one of his best performances of the season during a 33-30 overtime win in Atlanta in October. Playing thru a nagging shoulder injury, Perryman helped set up a late fourth-quarter game-tying field goal with his first NFL interception. Then in overtime, a tackle for loss on 4th-and-one set up the Bolts' game-winning field goal drive. The performance earned Perryman AFC Defensive Player of the Week honors.

A former second-round pick out of Miami, Perryman has 175 tackles just two seasons into his NFL career. As a rookie in 2015, Perryman finished second on the team with 95 stops. He racked up 79 tackles in the team's last seven games and fell just five tackles shy of becoming the first rookie in team history to record a 100-tackle season.

Perryman comes from a family of football players. His father, Desmond Sr., played linebacker and fullback at Perryman's alma mater, Coral Gables High School. Perryman's two older brothers, Quintero and Desmond Jr., both played at Coral Gables as well before playing at Rutgers and North Carolina Methodist, respectively. DARIUS PHILON

6-1, 300
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Draft 6 - '15
Arkansas
Vigor HS
Mobile, Ala.

A young and rising talent who is a former sixth-round pick, Darius Philon heads into his third season with the Bolts.

As a second-year player in 2016, Philon played in 14 games, and he made a pair of starts. He finished the season with 16 tackles and a sack.

Philon went to school at Arkansas where he redshirted for a year before playing two seasons (2013-14) for the Razorbacks. With a young son, Darius Jr. – who was born last August – on the way, Philon decided he needed to provide for his family and tossed his hat into the NFL ring after his redshirt sophomore season. Philon rolled the dice by leaving school after just three years, but the Chargers' sixth-round pick played well as a rookie and showed he made the right decision.

At Arkansas, it didn't take long to see that Philon had NFL potential. His first collegiate start came as a redshirt freshman in 2013 against the No. 1 team in the nation, Alabama. That afternoon, Philon racked up a career-high eight tackles against the Crimson Tide.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Sixth-round pick (192nd overall) by Chargers, May 2, 2015.

A journeyman practice squad player who spent time with the Los Angeles Rams, Miami Dolphins and Seattle Seahawks prior to joining the Chargers, Trovon Reed showed great promise while appearing in the final six games for the Bolts.

Reed picked off two passes in those final six games, with the interceptions coming in consecutive weeks against Carolina's Cam Newton and Oakland's Derek Carr. Reed was the only Chargers defender besides Pro Bowl cornerback Casey Hayward to record multiple interceptions in 2016. In the Panthers game, he ran the interception off Newton back 100 yards for an apparent touchdown, but an instant replay review determined he'd been downed by contact, and the touchdown was reversed.

Bronx-raised and Princeton-educated, Caraun Reid was a solid pickup for the Chargers in 2016 after the former fifth-round pick was waived by Detroit.

Reid joined the Chargers just before the team's 2016 season opener and quickly became a valuable reserve. He appeared in San Diego's first seven games and was doing a solid job filling up every column on the team's defensive statistics sheet until suffering a knee injury in week seven when he collided with teammate Denzel Perryman.

Reid spent the remainder of the year on injured reserve, but he's healthy and looking forward to a productive 2017 season.

Reid has two career fumble returns for touchdowns, including a 61-yarder for the Chargers during a game last season at Indianapolis. It was the eighth-longest fumble return in franchise history.

PHILIP RIVERS

Quarterback
6-5, 228
14th NFL Season
14th with Chargers

Trade (New York Giants) - '04
North Carolina State
Athens HS
Decatur, Ala.

One of the National Football League's pre-eminent quarterbacks, Philip Rivers returns for his 14th season with the Chargers and his 12th as the team's starting signal-caller.

A six-time Pro Bowl selection, a seven-time team MVP and a member of the Chargers' 50th Anniversary All-Time Team, Rivers heads into 2017, ranked eighth in NFL history in touchdown passes (314) and 12th in passing yards (45,833). All-time, he also ranks eighth in passer rating (94.7), 10th in completions (3,811) and completion percentage (64.4) and 15th in attempts (5,917).

Besides his standing as one of the NFL's all-time greats, Rivers holds a total of 21 team records and he shares two others.

Rivers is 97-79 (.551) as a starter during his career. He's led the Chargers to four AFC West titles and taken the team to the playoffs five times. His win-loss ledger includes a 56-32 (.636) mark at home and 37-29 (.561) in AFC West games.

Rivers earned his sixth Pro Bowl nod in 2016 after tossing 33 touchdown passes, fourth in the NFL, and throwing for 4,386 yards, fifth in the League. Along the way, he completed a career-high 16 passes of 40 yards or longer, second in the NFL, and he posted a near-perfect passer rating (152.2) on game-opening drives as he completed 43-of-54 for 629 yards with six touchdowns and no interceptions.

One of the NFL's fiercest competitors on the field, Rivers is one of the League's kindest souls off the field. While wife Tiffany and the couple's eight children come first in his life, Rivers has a large community presence, especially when it comes to foster children and those suffering from life-threatening illnesses. More often than not, Rivers dotes on these youngsters away from the glare of the camera.

Rivers was a finalist for the 2011 Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year Award for his work with the Rivers of Hope Foundation, an endeavor he and Tiffany oversaw from 2010-12. The Foundation helped unwanted, abandoned and orphaned children, and raised more than $1,000,000 through football camps, a 5K Fun Run and personal contributions. The Foundation also supported the San Pasqual Academy, a residential education campus designed specifically for foster teens. In 2014, Rivers helped raise more than $112,000 for San Diego's Ronald McDonald House through the "Passing it On" campaign.

Rivers is a devout Catholic. In May 2014, he was invited to deliver the commencement speech to graduating seniors at Catholic University in Washington, D.C. The University also presented him with an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree. It was the second time he was asked to deliver a commencement speech. In May 2012, he did so at his alma mater, North Carolina State University.

Rivers and his wife, Tiffany, grew up together in Alabama. They were married after his freshman season at N.C. State. They have eight children - six girls and two boys.

Rivers' brother, Stephen, played college football as a quarterback at LSU and Vanderbilt before finishing his career at Northwestern State, La., in 2015.

Rivers grew up in Decatur, Ala. His dad, Steve, a former linebacker at Mississippi State, was the head football coach at Decatur High School and Philip was a water boy for the team. Rivers found his passion for the game by watching his dad up close and from backyard games in which the future Chargers signal-caller would mark out a field using chalk and pylons borrowed from the equipment room at Decatur High.

Shortly before Philip was set to enroll at Decatur, Steve took the head coaching job at nearby Athens High School and Philip followed. He played linebacker as a sophomore and moved to quarterback as a junior. After graduation, he enrolled at N.C. State where he led the Wolfpack to four bowl games and a 34-17 record, including 3-1 in bowl games. A five-time MVP in Bowl games, including the 2004 Senior Bowl, Rivers is still the Wolfpack's all-time leader for career passing yards (13,484), attempts (1,710), completions (1,087), touchdowns (95), completion percentage (63.6%), and 300 (19) and 400-yard games (seven). His passing yardage total still ranks 10th all-time among Division-I quarterbacks.

In April 2016, Rivers returned to the N.C. State campus in Raleigh, N.C., for alumni weekend and while there, he delivered a fiery pep-talk to the Wolfpack prior to their annual Kay Yow Spring Game that went viral on social media.

Rivers originally came to the Chargers in 2004 in a blockbuster trade with the New York Giants. Less than an hour after the Bolts selected Eli Manning with the No. 1 pick in the '04 NFL Draft; Manning was on his way to the Big Apple in exchange for Rivers and a slew of draft picks.

Rivers spent most of his first two years on the bench behind Drew Brees before taking the reigns in 2006. That season, Rivers was voted to the Pro Bowl after leading the Chargers to a team-record 14 wins, including 10-straight to close out the season. The Chargers finished undefeated at home for the first time in team history and scored a team-record 492 points. In November, Rivers became the first quarterback in NFL history to rally a team from 17-point deficits in consecutive weeks and he led 19 straight scoring drives that ended in touchdowns, a team record and the fifth-longest streak in NFL history.

Rivers led the Chargers to the AFC Championship Game in 2007. His toughness – both mental and physical – was put on full display in the final weeks of the regular season and the playoffs. During a December victory in Tennessee, he had to leave the game briefly after spraining his knee in the first half. He returned in the second half and led the Chargers to a come-from-behind, overtime victory. Rivers continued to play the final month of the season in severe pain. Things got worse five weeks later when he suffered a torn ACL during the Bolts' Divisional Playoff game in Indianapolis. Backup Billy Volek replaced Rivers and led the Chargers to an improbable win over the Colts. Rivers, meanwhile, had arthroscopic surgery to repair a torn ACL the day after the win over Indianapolis, and just six days later he started and took every snap on a frigid day in the AFC Championship Game at New England.

IMPRESSIVE NUMBERS

- Philip Rivers has thrown three or more touchdown passes in a game a team-record 48 times in his career. The Chargers are 35-13 in those games.
- Rivers has posted a passer rating of 120 or higher 41 times during his career. The Chargers are 36-5 (.878) in those games. He has also posted a rating of 130.0 or higher 22 times and the Chargers are 22-0 in those games.
- Rivers is 37-29 (.561) as a starter in regular-season AFC West games. In 66 division games as a starter, he's completed 1,334 of 2,134 (62.5 pct.) for 16,225 yards with 104 touchdowns and 63 interceptions for a 89.8 passer rating.
- Rivers is one of the NFL's top late-season quarterbacks. Since taking over as the Bolts' starting quarterback in 2006, he has guided the Chargers to a record of 35-18 (.660) in regular-season games played in December and January.
- Rivers is not only great in December and January, but in the second half of the season overall. Throughout his career, Rivers is 58-38 (.604) as a starter in games played after Nov. 1 and his 92.8 career passer rating in Games 9-16 of the regular season ranks 11th all-time.
- Rivers has passed for at least 4,500 yards three times in his career, most in team history. His three 4,500-yard seasons are tied with Matthew Stafford for fifth in NFL history behind Drew Brees' eight, Peyton Manning's six, Matt Ryan's five and Tom Brady's four.

MILESTONES

In 2016, Rivers extended several milestones:

- He went over 3,000 yards passing for the 11th-consecutive season (2006-16), tying Ben Roethlisberger for the fifth-longest streak in NFL history behind Brett Favre (18, 1992-09), Peyton Manning (13, 1998-10), Drew Brees (13, 2004-16) and Eli Manning (12, 2005-16).
- He went over 4,000 yards for the eighth time in his career, tied with Tom Brady for third-most in NFL history. The only players with more are Peyton Manning (14) and Drew Brees (11).
- He posted his ninth-straight 25-touchdown season (2008-16), the third-longest streak in NFL history behind Peyton Manning (13, 1998-2010) and Drew Brees (11, 2006-16).
- He finished 2016 with 33 touchdowns, his fifth-career 30-touchdown season, sixth in NFL history. The only players with more are Drew Brees (9), Brett Favre (9), Peyton Manning (9), Tom Brady (6) and Aaron Rodgers (6).
- Rivers ended 2016 having started 176 straight regular-season games, the NFL's second-longest active streak behind Eli Manning's 199. Rivers has started every game since 2006. He, Manning, Brett Favre and Peyton Manning are the only quarterbacks in NFL history to start at least 150 consecutive games.

In 2008, Rivers threw a team-record 34 touchdown passes, tied for most in the NFL. He recorded his first 4,000-yard season and led the league with a team-record passer rating of 105.5. Rivers threw an NFL-best 15 touchdown passes on third down and helped the Chargers score an NFL-leading 152 points in the fourth quarter. He logged six 300-yard games, the most by a Chargers quarterback since 1985, and he became the first Bolts quarterback since 1991 to do so in consecutive games. Rivers capped off 2008 with a sensational December, leading the Chargers to the playoffs with a 4-0 mark to improve his career record in December to 14-0.

In 2009, Rivers was one of just five quarterbacks to throw for more than 4,000 yards, toss 25 or more touchdowns and record a season passer rating above 100.0. Four times — tied with Brett Favre for most in the NFL — he posted a single-game passer rating of 130.0 or better. During an 11-game win streak to close out the regular season, Rivers threw 21 touchdown strikes and completed 69.0 percent of his passes. His cumulative passer rating during those 11 weeks (112.0) was tops in the NFL. By the end of 2009, Rivers had thrown 105 touchdown passes to only 44 interceptions, the best-ever touchdown-to-interception ratio by an NFL quarterback in his first four years as a starter.

In 2010, Rivers threw for an NFL-leading 4,710 yards. It was the 10th-most yards in a season in NFL history and the third-most in team history. Rivers had six 300-yard games, including a then team-record 455 against Seattle. His third 4,000-yard season tied Dan Fouts for most in team history. In the first eight games of the season, Rivers threw for 2,649 yards, an NFL record for the first half of a season, breaking yet another mark which Fouts (2,580) had set in 1982. Rivers also led the NFL with 66 completions 20 yards or longer, including 12 that went for touchdowns. Those were the second-most in the NFL. He completed a team-record 66 percent of his passes and ranked second in the NFL in passer rating (101.8). It capped a 2008-10 stretch in which he was the only quarterback in the league to post a season passer rating over 100.0 each season. Rivers joined Steve Young and Peyton Manning as the only passers ever to post a rating of 100.0 or higher three straight years. Rivers threw 30 touchdown passes in 2010 and became the first quarterback in team history with 25 or more in three-straight seasons. It included a team-record stretch of 23 straight games with a touchdown pass, breaking Fouts' mark of 20 straight (1979-80). During the streak, Rivers joined Fouts (1985) and Brees (2004) as the only Chargers' quarterbacks with back-to-back four-touchdown games.

Rivers completed a then team-record 366 passes and threw for 4,624 yards in 2011, joining Dan Marino (1980-81), Warren Moon (1990-91), Manning (2009-10) and Brees (2010-11) as the only players in NFL history with back-to-back 4,500-yard seasons. Rivers also joined Manning (1999-04 and 2006-10) and Brees (2006-11) as the only quarterbacks with at least four-straight 4,000-yard seasons.

In 2012, Rivers passed for 3,606 yards, ending a run of four straight 4,000-yard seasons. He threw 26 touchdown passes, extending his streak of 25-touchdown seasons to five.

Rivers was named NFL Comeback Player of the Year in 2013 after leading the Chargers to a 9-7 mark. He was selected to the Pro Bowl and named team MVP, both for the fifth time in his career. Rivers completed a team-record and NFL-leading 69.5 pct. of his passes for 4,478 yards and 32 touchdowns with 11 interceptions for a team record-tying 105.5 passer rating. He completed a team-record 378 passes and set a team record with three 400-yard passing games, becoming the first quarterback to throw for more than 400 yards in consecutive games. Rivers also passed for more than 390 yards four times, tying Marino (1984) and Joe Montana (1990) for the most in a season in NFL history. And in another historical context, Rivers joined Favre (2009) and Brees (2011) as the only quarterbacks in NFL history to complete at least 20 passes and 80 percent of their pass attempts three times in a season.

Rivers performed at an all-star level once again in 2014. He led the Chargers to nine wins, including an early-season victory over the defending Super Bowl champion Seattle Seahawks. That win over the Seahawks launched an NFL-record run of five straight games where Rivers posted a passer rating above 120, besting the previous mark of four games set by Johnny Unitas (1965) and Kurt Warner (2009). A Pro Bowl second-alternate, Rivers was named the team's most valuable player for the sixth time in his career after passing for 4,286 yards and 31 touchdowns.

There was no letup in Rivers' game in 2015 as he led the NFL and set new franchise marks for single-season completions (437) and attempts (661). The team's Most Valuable Player for the seventh time in his career and a Pro Bowl alternate, Rivers finished the 2015 season with 4,792 passing yards, second-most in the NFL, and second in a season in team history. He fell just 10 yards shy of matching Fouts' 1981 franchise record of 4,802 yards.

MATT SLAUSON

Center-Guard
6-5, 315
9th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Free Agent '16
Nebraska
Air Force Prep HS
Colorado Springs, Colo.

The Chargers made one of their most valuable additions last May when they signed former Chicago Bears center and guard Matt Slauson.

A former sixth-round pick of the New York Jets who spent four years in New York and three in Chicago, Slauson was named the Chargers' co-lineman of the year in his first season with the team. The accolades weren't a surprise considering Slauson's reputation in Chicago where he was a popular figure on the field and inside the locker room who received the 2015 Good Guy Award, presented by members of the Chicago media.

Slauson started all 16 games for the Chargers at center, providing stability at a position that had been racked by injury. His leadership in the middle of the offensive line helped lead to Pro Bowl honors for quarterback Philip Rivers and running back Melvin Gordon.

Slauson is one of the NFL's strongest players. He can squat nearly 700 pounds, and in Chicago, he set a team record with a 397-pound clean and jerk.

Slauson comes from an extremely tight-knit family. His older brother, Chris, graduated from the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo., and now flies C-17 jets as a Major in the Air Force. When Slauson was in high school, the family relocated from Sweet Home, Ore., to Colorado Springs so they could be closer together. Slauson has supported the military throughout his NFL career, and in 2015, the Bears nominated him for the NFL's Salute to Service Award for his commitment to helping military members and their families.

Slauson comes from a family of swimmers. His mother, Nancy, has battled Multiple Sclerosis for the last 20 years, but a strict regimen inside the pool has helped her stave off the effects of the disease. All of the Slauson kids swam as youths, including older twin brother, Nick, who won multiple state championships and gold medals in swimming, despite challenges he faced growing up due to a prenatal brain injury.

Slauson overcame his own challenges as well. He has battled a stuttering impediment his whole life, and he didn't learn to read until age 10. Often bullied as a youth because of the stuttering and his larger-than-average size, Slauson has become a spokesperson for anti-bullying efforts as an adult.

Slauson spent his early years growing up in Oregon where his family owned a small farm. Slauson and his wife, Cami, his college sweetheart from Nebraska, recently bought a home and small farm not far from the Lincoln, Neb., campus. The Slausons have three children – sons Montgomery and Winston, and daughter Charleigh.

Slauson enjoys riding motorcycles, fishing, and farming in his free time. He owns a couple of Harley-Davidson bikes and has considered going to trade school to learn to become a motorcycle mechanic after his football-playing days come to an end.

DARRELL STUCKEY

Safety
5-11, 212
8th NFL Season
8th with Chargers

Draft 4 - '10
Kansas
Washington HS
Kansas City, Kan.

A three-time Special Teams Player of the Year and a five-time Team Captain, as well as the Chargers' 2015 Walter Payton Man of the Year, Darrell Stuckey does as much to improve people's lives off the field as he does wreaking havoc when he's on it.

Always among the Chargers' leading special teams tacklers despite facing routine double and triple teams, Stuckey has recorded 66 special teams stops over the past six seasons.

Stuckey was the Chargers' Special Teams Player of the Year in 2013, '15 and '16 and he's been a team captain each of the last five seasons (2012-16). In 2015, he was selected to his first Pro Bowl.

Off the field, one of Stuckey's main devotions is the fight against human trafficking. It's a cause he's deeply devoted to, going so far as to donate one of his game checks in recent seasons to the nonprofit Not For Sale. Their primary fundraising program, "Throwdown," helps protect women and children from trafficking and slavery.

Since 2013, Stuckey has hosted a football camp at Bishop Ward High School in Kansas City and since 2014, he's hosted a similar camp at San Diego's Westview High. In 2014, he hosted a free football youth clinic at Free State High School in Lawrence, Kan., and he sponsors the K.C. United Pop Warner Football League in conjunction with USA Football.

In 2015, the Kansas City, Kan., School District presented him with the Reason to Believe Award, which is given to alumni who have made a positive impact in the community.

Stuckey is an active member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Recently, he's served as the host for their annual golf tournament in San Diego.

Stuckey's community presence is in high demand. He's been asked to serve as a celebrity judge for programs in California that raised awareness for mental illness and suicide prevention. He also was asked to be the featured guest speaker at the Marine Aviation Summit in San Diego, and he was asked to speak on a panel at another event about race in sports.

A native of Kansas City, Kan., Stuckey was raised by a single mother, Michele Foulks. Stuckey has three brothers and three sisters. His younger sister, Denae, played basketball at Iowa State.

Stuckey and wife, Lacie, have a son, Jayton James, and a daughter, Kinsley Ann.

KORY TOOMER

Inside Linebacker

4th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Free Agent - '16
Idaho
Shadow Ridge HS
Las Vegas, Nev.

Kory Toomer's career took a giant leap forward in 2016. Primarily a special teams performer his first three seasons in Dallas, St. Louis and Oakland, Toomer found a home with the Chargers in 2016 as he appeared in 13 games while starting eight after being signed off the Raiders' practice squad.

Toomer finished 2016 third on the squad with 69 total tackles. He did a solid job filling in the statistic sheet as he complemented his tackles with a sack, nine tackles for loss and three forced fumbles.

Toomer had an outstanding November as he helped the Bolts to a 2-1 mark for their best month of the season. He started the month with a team-high 11-tackle effort on Nov. 6 vs. Tennessee. In that same game, he forced a fumble that safety Dwight Lowery returned 36 yards for a touchdown to give the Bolts a 33-21 lead. A week later vs. Miami, he was named a team captain for the Dolphins game and Toomer responded with a season-high four tackles for loss among eight stops. Then two weeks on Nov. 27 after the Chargers' bye, Toomer racked up a career-best and team-leading 14 tackles in a 21-13 win at Houston.

Rancho Santa Margarita, Calif.

The 2016 NFL season was akin to a redshirt year for Chargers center Max Tuerk. A third-round pick out of USC, Tuerk spent the year learning the nuances of the position behind veteran Matt Slauson.

At Southern Cal, Tuerk (pronounced Turk) was a three-time All-Pac-12 center and a two-time team captain. Tuerk entered his senior season at USC as an All-America candidate, but his year was cut short by a knee injury in the Trojans' fifth game of the season against Washington.

The versatile Tuerk finished his Trojans career with 38 starts in three-plus seasons, including 18 at center, 14 at left guard, five at left tackle and one at right tackle. As a junior, he was chosen USC's Offensive Lineman of the Year.

JASON VERRETT

Cornerback
5-10, 188
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Draft 1 – '14
Texas Christian
Rodriguez HS
Fairfield, Calif.

A first-time Pro Bowl selection in 2015, Jason Verrett is looking to bounce back after having his 2016 season cut short by a partially torn ACL.

Remarkably, Verrett played through the injured knee early in the season, defending receivers and intercepting passes with his usual tenacity.

In 2015, Verrett was selected to his first Pro Bowl and named Chargers Defensive Player of the Year for the first time in his career after pacing the squad in interceptions and passes defended. He scored his first NFL touchdown after returning a Jay Cutler pass 68 yards for a touchdown during an ESPN Monday Night Football game at Qualcomm Stadium. And during a Dec. 13 in a game against Kansas City at Arrowhead Stadium, Verrett picked off the Chiefs' Alex Smith, marking Smith's first interception in 313 pass attempts (10 games), which had been the second-longest streak in NFL history.

The fact that Verrett is even playing football is a small miracle. Back in 2010 during his freshman season at Santa Rosa Junior College, Verrett suffered a hamstring injury. Trainers told him to go home and ice the leg. What they didn't tell him to do was fall asleep with the ice on his leg. Verrett did just that, and he slept a full night with the ice on his injured hamstring. He suffered a third-degree burn because of it. Fortunately, his mom insisted he go to the hospital where doctors told him had he waited any longer to seek treatment, his leg very well could have become infected, and if it had, doctors most likely would have had to amputate it.

After earning all-state and all-conference honors in his lone season at Santa Rosa, Verrett transferred to Texas Christian for the 2011 season. In his first ever game for the Horned Frogs, they faced a Baylor team that was led by quarterback Robert Griffin III "RG3" and wide receiver Kendall Wright. It was a rough introduction for Verrett as Griffin threw for 359 yards and five touchdowns, while Wright, whom Verrett spent most of the day covering, caught 12 passes for 189 yards and two scores. So distraught was Verrett after the miserable performance to begin his TCU career, he contemplated quitting school and returning home. Two phone calls quickly made it clear that that was not going to be an option. The first was to his brother Tre' and the second was to Lenny Wagner, his freshman coach at Santa Rosa. Neither man was going to stand by and let Verrett quit. And little did Verrett know as he would come to find out later, the man who drafted him, Chargers General Manager, Tom Telesco, was at the TCU-Baylor game that day, scouting for the Indianapolis Colts.

Verrett ultimately settled down and improved each week. Six games into the season, coaches moved him into the starting lineup, and the results were dramatic. Over the Horned Frogs' first six games, the defense was surrendering 267.7 passing yards and 410.0 total yards per game, but then over the last seven games with Verrett in the starting 11, the defense improved significantly, yielding just 194.7 passing yards and 310.0 total yards per game. By the end of the year, Verrett had shown enough to earn honorable mention All-Mountain West Conference honors.

Verrett went on to start three seasons at TCU, and as a senior in 2013, he was named the Big 12 Conference's co-Defensive Player of the Year, a consensus second-team All-America and a first-team All-Big 12 pick. One of the nation's top cover corners that season, opposing quarterbacks only threw 52 passes in his direction and only 17 were completed. Already touted as a likely first-round pick, Verrett's stock went up after he clocked a 4.38 in the 40-yard-dash at the 2014 NFL Scouting Combine, the second-fastest time among the cornerbacks.

Verrett is a native of Fairfield in Northern California. It's home to the Jelly Belly candy factory. Verrett's entire family, including his father, Warren, grew up Raiders fans. Brother Tre' even works for the Raiders as a client services representative. Verrett joked after his introductory press conference that as soon as he was drafted by the Chargers, the entire family would be converting their allegiance to the Chargers.

In 2015 and '16, Verrett served as Race Ambassador for the Kaiser Permanente Bolt to the Q, an annual race from Chargers Park to Qualcomm Stadium that helped support the Boys and Girls Clubs of San Diego.

Verrett was a sports broadcasting major at TCU. ESPN SportsCenter anchor, Stan Verrett, is a distant cousin.

NEW FRIEND

In 2016, Chargers fan and University of California–San Diego Student Wyatt Proctor took a flier on Twitter and invited Verrett to join him at a Padres game. Verrett graciously accepted Proctor's invitation and on April 5, he and Proctor sat front row at Petco Park to watch the Padres battle the Los Angeles Dodgers.

KENNY WIGGINS

Guard-Tackle
6-6, 314
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Free Agent – '17
Fresno State
Elk Grove HS
Elk Grove, Calif.

Kenny Wiggins has been a valuable performer on the Chargers' offensive line.

Wiggins came to the NFL in 2011 and he spent his first two seasons on the practice squad — 2011 in Baltimore and 2012 in San Francisco. In 2013, he spent nine weeks on the Chargers' practice squad and the remainder of the season on the active roster, but the former Fresno State Bulldog never made it into a game. With his practice squad time used up, Wiggins was waived in 2014 and spent most of the year out of football. When injuries depleted the Bolts' offensive line late in 2014, the Chargers brought Wiggins back and signed him to the active roster for their season finale in Kansas City. Doing so also opened the door for Wiggins to try and earn a roster spot again in 2015.

Wiggins was waived again at the end of training camp in 2015. At the time, his football future appeared bleak. As fate would have it, the injury bug struck in San Diego once again and 10 days after being waived, the Chargers re-signed Wiggins. Five days later he saw action in a game on special teams and 12 days later in Minnesota, Wiggins saw his first regular-season game action on the offensive line.

Wiggins ended up playing in the Chargers' final 15 games of 2015 and he started eight. He started games at left and right guard, while also seeing action at right tackle. Wiggins played a total of 401 snaps in 2015, fifth among the team's offensive linemen. It was impressive stuff for a player who months earlier thought his football career might very well have come to an end. At the end of the year, when the NFL awarded performance-based pay bonuses for players who outplayed their adjusted regular-season salaries, Wiggins was the Chargers' top earner and ranked 21st league-wide.

Off the field, Wiggins is an aspiring businessman who collaborated with one of his best friends from childhood, Andrew Gardner, to launch the Gafton clothing line. The name was taken from the street the two grew up on in Elk Grove, Calif., a suburb of Sacramento. Gafton currently offers clothing for both men and women with a wide range of styles. The brand has already taken off both in the United States and abroad.

Wiggins' wife, Jennifer, is a former member of the dance team at Fresno State. The couple wed in April 2014 in Saratoga, Calif.

Aside from his clothing line, Wiggins also has aspirations of a post-football career in broadcasting. A former communications major at Fresno State, Wiggins is a frequent guest on the "Rush Hour" show on ESPN Radio's affiliate in Fresno.

Wiggins enjoys playing basketball and fishing when he's not playing football or training with the Chargers. Before he became an all-league hoopster at Elk Grove (Calif.) High School, Wiggins played on an AAU team in 2004 that was coached by rapper and entertainer Master P. The team played games around the country and featured Master P's son, rapper and actor, Lil Romeo, as well as Toronto Raptors shooting guard DeMar DeRozan. Had Wiggins not opted for a career in football, he received several overtures to play Division I college basketball. Wiggins' brother, Josh, played baseball at Mt. Mercy University, a NAIA school in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

TYRELL WILLIAMS

Wide Receiver
6-4, 205
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent – '15
Western Oregon
Cascade HS
Salem, Ore.

Tyrell Williams enjoyed a breakout second season for the Chargers in 2016. Williams led the Chargers with 69 catches and 1,059 yards. It was the 36th 1,000-yard season in franchise history, and he became the 15th Chargers player to top 1,000 yards. Williams also had seven touchdown catches, tied for second on the squad.

Williams led the Chargers with a 15.3-yard receiving average (min. 10 rec.). He had six catches of 40 yards or longer, which tied for most in the NFL and 19 catches of 20 yards or longer which tied for sixth in the League. His 15.3-yard average was 12th in the NFL in 2016.

Williams originally joined the Chargers in 2015 and as an undrafted rookie from Western Oregon. He was one of only four undrafted rookies to earn a spot on the active roster out of training camp. Early on, Williams saw action on special teams before spending two months on the practice squad until he returned to the active roster for the final seven games. For the most part, his playing time was limited to special teams, but in the Bolts 2015 regular-season finale at Denver, Williams was called upon to play wide receiver, and he caught his first NFL pass for an 80-yard touchdown on Jan. 3 at Sports Authority Field at Mile High. It tied for the 11th-longest catch in franchise history, and it was the longest first catch by a player in team annals. It was also the longest first catch by any player in the NFL since 2008.

Williams is the first player from Western Oregon, located in Monmouth, Ore., to play for the Chargers. In fact, Western Oregon was so small that Williams had to hold his pre-draft Pro Day at Oregon State University in Corvallis, Ore., some 20-plus miles from Monmouth. Williams was a three-time first-team All-Great Northwest Athletic Conference at WOU, and he finished his career as the school's all-time leader with 165 catches, good for 2,792 yards and 21 touchdowns. Williams was also the 200-meter champion at the GNAC's 2014 Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

Williams' brother, R.J., also played at Western Oregon. He and Tyrell were teammates though R.J. played cornerback for the Wolves. He now works for Nike in their social media department. The boys' father, Raymond, played football at the Oregon Institute of Technology. Younger sister, Peighton, attends Cascade High School where she competes in basketball, volleyball, and track.

Both of Williams' parents work for the corrections department in Oregon. His father works in youth corrections, while his mother, Vicky, works at the state's maximum-security prison in Salem.

Williams' hobbies include basketball, spending time at the beach, badminton, and pickleball.

MIKE WINDT

Long Snapper
6-1, 237
8th NFL Season
8th with Chargers

Free Agent – '10
Cincinnati
Elder HS
Cincinnati, Ohio

Mike Windt is one of the NFL's most accurate long snappers. He also excels in special teams coverage.

Windt has also been durable, appearing in every game the last four seasons, 66 consecutive games including playoffs, as he heads into 2017.

Windt can credit his father, Joe, for helping him fulfill his potential as a long snapper. Joe is a former bowler and softball pitcher who never played football, but he noted that Windt had the unique ability of launching a football between his legs faster and more accurately than he could throw it overhand, so he convinced his son to give long snapping a try. Windt put his talents to work at Elder High School in Cincinnati and ended up playing on back-to-back state championship teams in 2002 and '03.

Windt is married to the former Kate Fredrikson, a pediatric oncology nurse at Rady Children's Hospital in San Diego. In 2015, she was the recipient of a Nurse of Excellence Award. The couple wed in April 2014 in Encinitas, California.

Windt's hobbies include golf, stand-up paddle-boarding and spending time with his English Bulldog, Hemingway. He also has a taste for fine wines and music. Two of his favorite musicians are Michael Bublé and Frank Sinatra.

WEEK 3 RECAP — INDIANAPOLIS 26, CHARGERS 22

The Chargers lost a heartbreaker in Indianapolis, falling to the Colts 26-22 on a 63-yard touchdown catch-and-run by T.Y. Hilton on 1:17 left in the game.

The Chargers faced a hostile crowd on the road for a late-afternoon kickoff at Lucas Oil Stadium and it faced some early adversity, but the Bolts clawed their way back into the game. The Colts led 13-6 heading toward halftime when Jatavo Brown, subbing for an injured Manti Te'o, made a great play with a sack and forced fumble against Andrew Luck, which was recovered by Caruan Reid and returned 61 yards for a score to tie the game at 13-13. It was the eighth longest fumble return in franchise history and it was caused by Brown's first NFL sack and forced fumble.

The Chargers then took their first lead of the game early in the third quarter when Melvin Gordon capped a 12-play, 80-yard drive with a one-yard touchdown run. The Colts' Antonio Cromartie blocked the PAT, but the Bolts still led 19-13. Indianapolis answered with a touchdown to go back up 20-19, but the Bolts reclaimed the lead with a 27-yard Josh Lambo field goal midway thru the final quarter. After an exchange of punts, the Colts got the ball back down by two (22-20) with 2:29 left in the game. Down to potentially their final play just before the two minute warning, Luck completed an eight-yard pass to Hilton on a 4th-and-7, and two plays later, he and Hilton hooked up again for a 63-yard score that gave the Colts the 26-22 lead.

The Chargers re-took possession with 1:17 to play, but on the third play of their series, Hunter Henry was stripped by the Colts' Clayton Geathers and the Colts went on to close out the victory.

WEEK 4 RECAP — NEW ORLEANS 35, CHARGERS 34

The Chargers lost a 13-point fourth quarter lead and fell to New Orleans, 35-34, after the Saints converted two late turnovers into 14 fourth-quarter points. The game was a back-and-forth affair early on with the teams exchanging touchdowns through the first quarter and a half. The Chargers scored on touchdown catches by Hunter Henry and Dontrelle Inman before a 30-yard field goal after an interception gave the Bolts a 17-14 lead, their first of the game. The Chargers stretched that lead to 10 (24-14) on a one-yard touchdown run by Melvin Gordon just before the end of the first half.

New Orleans trimmed the deficit to three with a touchdown early in the third quarter but it was followed by two straight three-and-outs by San Diego's defense and after the second, the Bolts extended their lead back to 10 following another one-yard touchdown run by Gordon.

Still up 10 at the start of the fourth quarter, the Bolts took advantage of an early fourth-quarter interception by Adrian Phillips and kicked a field goal to stretch the lead to 13 (34-21).

San Diego's defense stopped New Orleans again to force a punt, but on the first play after said punt, the Saints' defense forced a fumble by Gordon and New Orleans recovered. Four plays later, the Saints scored a touchdown to cut the deficit to six (34-28). Then on the first play of San Diego's very next possession, Travis Benjamin fumbled after a catch and again New Orleans recovered. Seven plays later the Saints scored on a one-yard run to take a 35-34 lead, their first lead since early in the game. The Chargers got the ball back one final time with 1:57 remaining, but facing a 4th-and-22, the Saints intercepted Philip Rivers and in turn ran out the clock to close out the come-from-behind victory.

WEEK 5 RECAP — OAKLAND 34, CHARGERS 31

The Chargers lost yet another heartbreaker, falling to the Oakland Raiders, 34-31 at the Oakland-Alameda Coliseum. It was a mistake-filled game for the Chargers, who lost four turnovers - two fumbles and two interceptions - and had a potential 36-yard game-tying field goal with 2:07 remaining in the game go awry.

Despite two interceptions and a lost fumble in the first half, the Chargers took a 10-9 lead into the locker room at halftime, their touchdown courtesy of a 29-yard catch by Tyrell Williams. Oakland also turned over the ball once with nose tackle Brandon Mebane snagging his first NFL interception on the game's opening series. In the first half, the Chargers' defense held the Raiders out of the end zone, forcing four field goal tries, one of which sailed wide right.

The floodgates opened in the third quarter as the teams combined for 32 points. The Chargers scored touchdowns on their first two possessions of the quarter - the first by Melvin Gordon and the second by Hunter Henry. Late in the third quarter, the Chargers held a 24-19 lead but all the momentum turned following a Gordon fumble. Oakland capitalized on the turnover and took a 27-24 lead when Michael Crabtree reeled in a 21-yard touchdown catch on a 4th-and-2 play. Oakland's defense then forced a three-and-out which was followed by a 16-yard punt from rookie Drew Kaser that gave the Raiders excellent field position. They took advantage of the miscue and scored another touchdown to go up 34-24. San Diego regained its footing and answered right back with a 12-play touchdown drive to get back within three (34-31) on a four-yard touchdown catch by Antonio Gates, which was followed by a three-and-out by San Diego's defense. On the ensuing possession, the Chargers drove all the way to the Raiders' 18-yard line where they set up to attempt a game-tying 36-yard field goal with 2:07 remaining, but Kaser was unable to handle the snap and the field goal try never went off and the Raiders held on for the 34-31 win.

WEEK 6 RECAP — CHARGERS 21, DENVER 13

The Chargers snapped a three-game losing streak with a hard-fought 21-13 win over the Denver Broncos at Qualcomm Stadium before a national television audience on CBS and the NFL Network's Thursday Night Football. The win helped the Chargers snap a 10-game AFC West losing streak.

The Chargers scored on their first two possessions of the game to stake out to an early 10-0 lead. The scores came courtesy of a five-yard touchdown catch by Hunter Henry and the first of a career-high four field goals from Josh Lambo. San Diego's defense was outstanding, holding Denver to just three first half points and those came only after the Broncos recovered a muffed punt return at the Bolts' 11-yard line.

San Diego's defense pitched a shutout in the third quarter as San Diego added three more Lambo field goals to stretch their lead to 19-3.

Special teams would make another big play to down a Drew Kaser punt at the Broncos' three early in the fourth quarter and on the very next play, Carauin Reid drew a holding penalty against the Broncos in the end zone and the resulting safety gave the Bolts a 21-3 cushion.

Denver scored a touchdown to get within 21-10 midway through the fourth quarter, but on their very next possession, Jatavius Brown forced a fumble against Demaryius Thomas that the Chargers recovered to hold the Broncos at bay. Denver would add a late field goal to get within 21-13 and the Broncos recovered an onside kick to have one last shot at tying the game in the waning seconds, but San Diego's defense came up with a big stop as time expired and the Bolts held on for the 21-13 win.

WEEK 8 RECAP — DENVER 27, CHARGERS 19

The Chargers saw their two-game winning streak come to an end as they fell to the Denver Broncos, 27-19, at Sports Authority Field in Denver.

The Chargers scored on their first possession of the game and led 7-3 after one quarter. The score remained as such until Denver's Bradley Roby returned a Philip Rivers interception off a tipped pass 51 yards for a score and the Broncos took a 10-7 lead. The Broncos were on their way to extending that lead two series later, but Melvin Ingram recorded his team-leading fifth sack of the season along with a forced fumble that the Chargers recovered and the teams went to the locker room with Denver up 10-7.

The Chargers had the ball to open the third quarter but the Broncos intercepted another tipped pass and two plays after the turnover, Devontae Booker scored on a three-yard run and the Broncos went up 17-7. A third interception on San Diego's next offensive series set the Broncos up at the Bolts' nine, but Korey Toomer made a great play to force a fumble at the one, which San Diego recovered to keep the score 17-7. The Chargers took advantage of the take-away and put together their own 98-yard touchdown drive, but the point after try was blocked and instead of climbing within a field goal, the Chargers trailed 17-13. Denver then answered the Chargers' touchdown with one of their own to extend their lead to 11 points at 24-13.

Midway through the fourth quarter, Casey Hayward gave the Chargers new life with a 24-yard interception return for a touchdown to get within 24-19. The Chargers went for two and appeared to get it on a catch by Melvin Gordon, but Antonio Gates was flagged for offensive pass interference and the subsequent try after the penalty was no good and the score remained 24-19. After a Denver field goal made the score 27-19, the Chargers drove all the way to Denver's two, but the Bolts were unable to capitalize in four plays and Denver took over on downs. After a punt, the Chargers had one last chance to drive for a tying score but the Broncos held the Bolts in check and held on for the win.

WEEK 10 RECAP — MIAMI 31, CHARGERS 24

The Chargers lost a heartbreaker, falling to the Miami Dolphins, 31-24, in a game that turned on a 60-yard interception return for a touchdown with 1:01 left in the fourth quarter. It was one of an NFL record-tying four fourth-quarter interceptions by the Dolphins' defense.

The game was a see-saw battle that saw six different lead changes. The Chargers scored first before the team's traded touchdowns in the second quarter, including the 109th of Antonio Gates' career, and San Diego led 10-7 at half.

The Dolphins took a 14-10 lead to open the third quarter, but the Chargers came right back and Philip Rivers' 300th career touchdown pass, a seven-yarder to Hunter Henry on 3rd-and-goal, gave the lead back to San Diego, 17-14.

Miami re-took the lead, 21-17 on their next possession on an 18-yard touchdown catch by Damien Williams. During the drive, the Chargers nearly sacked Ryan Tannehill on a 3rd-and-11, but he escaped and scrambled 18 yards for a first down to keep the drive alive. The Chargers were forced to punt on their next drive, but the punt was muffed by Miami's Jakeem Grant and recovered at the five by Darrell Stuckey. The Chargers were unable to take advantage of the takeaway however as Rivers was intercepted by Tony Lippett on a 2nd-and-goal play from the two and Miami maintained the 21-17 lead.

Still down four, the Chargers got the ball again after a three-and-out by the defense, but again Rivers was picked off, this time by Byron Maxwell. The Chargers did capitalize on another three-and-out by their defense, this time re-claiming the lead when Rivers hit a wide open Tyrell Williams for a 51-yard catch-and-run to put the Bolts up 24-21 with 4:04 left in the game.

Unfortunately, Miami answered right back once again with a field goal drive that was aided by a 56-yard completion and a roughing the passer penalty. Rookie Trevor Williams made a key play to break up a pass in the end zone on third down, but the Dolphins still kicked a field goal to tie the game, 24-24.

The Chargers got the ball back with 2:47 remaining and they advanced to Miami's 42, but on a 1st-and-10, Kiko Alonso intercepted a pass intended for Williams and returned it 60 yards for the go-ahead touchdown. San Diego had one last gasp with 1:01 remaining and no timeouts, but Lippett intercepted Rivers for the second time in the quarter and Miami ran out the clock for the 31-24 win.

WEEK 12 RECAP — CHARGERS 21, HOUSTON 13

The Chargers came away with a key post-Thanksgiving win, handing the Houston Texans a 21-13 defeat at NRG Stadium. Philip Rivers keyed the offense with three touchdown passes, while San Diego's defense recorded four takeaways, including three picks off Houston's Brock Osweiler.

The game got off to a slow start with a scoreless first quarter before the teams combined for 21 points in the second. Houston scored first on a one-yard leap by Osweiler, but the Bolts answered right back with Dontrelle Inman getting open on a double-move and catching a 52-yard bomb from Rivers to tie the game at 7-7. On Houston's next possession, Casey Hayward intercepted an Osweiler pass intended for DeAndre Hopkins and the Bolts countered with a 21-yard touchdown pass from Rivers to Tyrell Williams just after the two-minute warning to go up 14-7 at the half.

After a scoreless third quarter, Houston drove inside the Chargers' 10 early in the fourth, but the Chargers held the Texans out of the end zone and Houston settled for a field goal to make the score 14-10. The Chargers answered right back with a score of their own as Hunter Henry caught a 12-yard touchdown pass and the Bolts extended their lead to 21-10. San Diego's defense stepped up big with an interception by Dwight Lowery and a turnover on downs. Late in the fourth quarter, Houston kicked a field goal to get within eight, 21-13, and the Texans recovered an onside kick, but Dexter McCoil put the game away with an interception in the end zone on a "Hail Mary" as time expired and the Chargers celebrated the win.

WEEK 13 RECAP — TAMPA BAY 28, CHARGERS 21

The Chargers' slim postseason hopes were all but dashed as Tampa Bay rallied from behind for a 28-21 win over the Chargers at Qualcomm Stadium. The Chargers scored first and led 14-7 at the half, but the Buccaneers responded by outscoring the Bolts 21-7 in the second half to come away with the win.

The Chargers' two first-half touchdowns came courtesy of a 35-yard catch by Dontrelle Inman on the game's opening possession and a two-yard run by Melvin Gordon. Tampa Bay's lone score came on a two-yard run by Doug Martin.

Philip Rivers passed for 225 yards to move into 12th place on the NFL's all-time list and he threw a pair of touchdown passes, but Tampa Bay recorded two key interceptions in the second half that proved decisive. In the third quarter, linebacker Lavonte David returned a tipped pass 15 yards for a touchdown that gave Tampa Bay their first lead of the game, 17-14. The Chargers came right back with a touchdown of their own to reclaim the lead, 21-17, but the Buccaneers scored the game's next 10 points to take a 28-21 lead. The Chargers put together one last drive late in the fourth quarter in an effort to tie or retake the lead, but the Buccaneers' intercepted Rivers on a deep ball in the end zone with just under three minutes remaining and their offense ran out the clock to close out the victory. With the loss, the Chargers fell to 5-7 on the season.

WEEK 14 RECAP — CAROLINA 28, CHARGERS 16

Five turnovers, a safety and a 23-point hole proved to be too much to overcome as the Chargers lost to Carolina, 28-16, at Bank of America Stadium on a gray and gloomy afternoon in Charlotte, North Carolina.

The Chargers had three turnovers in the first half – an interception and two sack-fumbles – as Carolina built a 23-0 lead. The Chargers finally cracked the scoreboard late in the second quarter on a nine-yard touchdown catch by Hunter Henry, but the Panthers led 23-7 at the break.

The Chargers outscored the Panthers 9-3 in the third quarter as they scored a touchdown and a field goal to get within 10 at 26-16. The Chargers defense answered with a three-and-out, but the Panthers stymied the Chargers' hopes with yet another interception. But first-year cornerback Trovon Reed did his part to keep the Chargers in the game with an interception off Cam Newton at the Chargers' goal line. Reed returned the Newton pick 100 yards for an apparent touchdown that would have brought the Chargers to within three with the extra point and 11 minutes remaining. However officials ruled that Reed was down by contact after the pick and instead of a three-point game, the Bolts took over at their own three. It was a huge momentum swing because three plays later, Philip Rivers was sacked in the end zone for a safety and instead of trailing by three, the Bolts found themselves down 12 at 28-16.

Following that sequence, the Bolts were unable to generate much on offense and Carolina ultimately recorded one final interception before running out the clock for the win.

WEEK 15 RECAP — OAKLAND 19, CHARGERS 16

The Chargers stood toe-to-toe with their division-leading rivals, the Oakland Raiders, before falling on a 44-yard Sebastian Janikowski field goal with 2:40 remaining at Qualcomm Stadium.

San Diego's home stadium took on an ominous feel during an afternoon in which Oakland's fans significantly outnumbered the Chargers faithful. The Bolts got off to a fast start though, taking a 7-0 lead on the game's opening possession when Philip Rivers connected with Travis Benjamin on a 47-yard bomb. The Raiders answered with a field goal to get within 7-3, but the Chargers' defense buckled down and recorded takeaways on back-to-back drives.

The game remained 7-3 until late in the second quarter when the Chargers tacked on a field goal to stretch their lead to 10-3. Undeterred, Oakland quickly struck back with a 75-yard touchdown drive in 1:07 and the teams went to the locker room tied 10-10 at halftime.

The Raiders got the ball to start the third quarter and opened with a field goal to take their first lead of the game, 13-10. This time, the Chargers answered back with a 77-yard drive, capped by a seven-yard touchdown pass from Rivers to Hunter Henry. Rivers was outstanding on the drive, completing 5 of 5 for 71 yards, including three completions to Dontrelle Inman for 53 yards. Unfortunately for San Diego though, Josh Lambo's point after sailed wide right and Oakland remained within three at 16-13.

Still up 16-13 early in the fourth quarter, things began to tip in Oakland's favor. The Raiders forced a fumble against Kenneth Farrow at the Bolts' 14-yard line. Oakland recovered and six plays later, Janikowski kicked a game-tying field goal to knot things up 16-16. The Chargers then went three-and-out on offense and Oakland seized on the opportunity and drove for a go-ahead 44-yard field goal with 2:40 left. The Chargers had one last opportunity to drive for a game-tying or go-ahead score, but Reggie Nelson intercepted Rivers on a desperation 4th-and-15 throw with less than two minutes remaining and the Raiders went on to run out the clock for the 19-16 victory. The loss dropped the Chargers' record to 5-9 while the win clinched a playoff berth for the Raiders.

WEEK 16 RECAP — CLEVELAND 20, CHARGERS 17

On a chilly 38-degree day on Christmas Eve, the Chargers lost a heartbreaker to the previously winless Cleveland Browns, 20-17, at FirstEnergy Stadium on the shores of Lake Erie. Two missed field goals in the final 3:49, one blocked and another wide right as time expired, cost the Bolts a chance at the win.

The game was a tight battle throughout the afternoon. The Chargers scored a touchdown on their opening possession on the 110th touchdown catch of Antonio Gates' career to take a 7-0 lead. The Browns came right back on the Chargers with touchdowns on their first two offensive possessions, sandwiched around a Chargers field goal, and Cleveland jumped out to a 14-10 early in the second quarter. The Browns tacked on another field goal later in the quarter and led 17-10 at the half.

The Browns opened the third quarter with yet another field goal to stretch their lead to 20-10, but the Chargers answered right back with a 11-play, 75-yard touchdown drive capped by a one-handed scoring grab by Tyrell Williams to get the Bolts back within three, 20-17.

The score remained 20-17 deep into the fourth quarter when the Chargers appeared to get a golden opportunity. A Drew Kaser punt with 6:59 left pinned the Browns deep in their own territory. San Diego's defense produced a three-and-out, capped by a 10-yard sack back at the three on 3rd-and-8 by Melvin Ingram. Following a short punt and 11-yard return, the Chargers started their next drive at Cleveland's 33 and the Bolts drove to the Browns' 14, but a 32-yard field goal was blocked, allowing the Browns to maintain their three point lead. In the waning minutes, San Diego's defense came up with another stop and the Bolts had one final shot on offense with 1:46 remaining. Philip Rivers found Gates three times for 48 yards, including a 25-yarder on a 4th-and-10 to set up a potential game-tying 45-yard field goal as time expired, but the kick sailed wide right and the Browns hung on for the 20-17 win that put an end to their 0-14 start to the season.

WEEK 17 RECAP — KANSAS CITY 37, CHARGERS 27

The Chargers closed out their 2016 season with a 37-27 loss to the Kansas City Chiefs on New Year's Day at Qualcomm Stadium. The highlights of the afternoon included Antonio Gates' 111th career touchdown catch, which tied Tony Gonzalez for most in NFL history by a tight end, and Jaheem Addae's first-career interception, which he returned 90 yards for a touchdown.

The game was tight early on as the Chargers kicked a field goal on the game's opening drive followed by Gates' touchdown catch early in the second quarter. Kansas City, fueled by a 17-point second quarter, led 20-10 at the half.

The Chiefs came out of the locker room in the third quarter looking to extend their lead, but Addae intercepted the pass that was tipped by Melvin Ingram deep in Chargers' territory and as result of the ensuing 90-yard touchdown return, the Chargers clawed back to within three, 20-17.

Unfortunately that was as close as the Chargers would get. After the kickoff following Addae's touchdown sailed out of bounds, Kansas City answered right back with a 60-yard drive for a touchdown to go up 27-17. Then less than three minutes later, speedster Tyreek Hill returned a Chargers punt 95 yards for a score and Kansas City led, 34-17.

The Chargers scored 10 points in the game's final quarter, including a 12-yard touchdown catch by Hunter Henry, but time ran out on the Bolts and the Chiefs closed out the game for the 37-27 win.

2013 AFC Divisional Playoffs

Denver Broncos 24, San Diego Chargers 17

Sunday, Jan. 12, 2014 - Sports Authority Field (Denver, CO)

The Chargers' storybook season came to an end on Jan. 12 in the AFC Divisional Playoffs at Denver's Sports Authority Field as the Broncos defeated the Bolts, 24-17, to eliminate San Diego from the AFC Playoffs. Weather was a factor early in the game as winds at kickoff were blowing across the field at 17 mph with gusts up to 27 mph. Despite the unfavorable conditions, the Chargers didn't go down without a fight, rallying from a 17-point deficit to get within seven points late in the fourth quarter. Down 24-7 with 8:12 left in the fourth quarter, the Chargers scored a touchdown, recovered an onside kick and kicked a field goal to get within seven points at 24-17. That would be as close as the Chargers would get, however, as Denver took possession with 3:53 remaining in the game and converted two first downs, including a 3rd-and-17, to run out the clock and advance to the AFC Championship Game.

2008 AFC Divisional Playoffs

Pittsburgh Steelers 35, San Diego Chargers 24

Sunday, Jan. 11, 2009 - Heinz Field (Pittsburgh, PA)

The Chargers' run through AFC Playoffs came to abrupt end in Pittsburgh as Steelers dealt Chargers 35-24 setback on cold and snowy day in Steel City. Chargers staked out to early lead on long touchdown catch by Vincent Jackson and led or were tied for most of first half, but game's momentum changed right before and after half-time. Down 10-7, Pittsburgh drove 66 yards for touchdown just before halftime, giving them their first lead of night at 14-10. Steelers got ball first coming out of locker room and drove 77 yards for another score that extended lead to 21-10. Darren Sproles' 63-yard kickoff return gave ball to Chargers at Pittsburgh's 23-yard line, but Philip Rivers' first-down pass was tipped and intercepted by Steelers. Though replays showed ball appeared to hit ground, play without instant replay challenge and Pittsburgh maintained possession. Chargers' defense held and forced punt, but punt inadvertently hit unknown Eric Weddle and Steelers recovered and took over at Chargers' 23. Again Chargers defense would hold, stopping Pittsburgh on downs at one, but with Bolts offensive unable to get out of shadow of its own goal line, Steelers got ball again in San Diego territory and 49 yards later, Steelers scored to take 28-10 lead. San Diego managed pair of late touchdowns, including 62-yarder by Sproles, who finished game with 274 all-purpose yards, but Pittsburgh held Bolts at bay and held on for win.

2008 AFC Wild Card Playoffs

San Diego Chargers 23, Indianapolis Colts 17 (OT)

Saturday, Jan. 3, 2009 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The San Diego Chargers' miracle season of 2008 stayed alive as Bolts rallied from 17-14 fourth quarter deficit behind outstanding defensive effort and legs of Darren Sproles to defeat Indianapolis Colts, 23-17, in overtime in Saturday night home playoff game at Qualcomm Stadium. After trailing 7-0 and 10-7, Chargers rallied and led 14-10 at half. In third quarter, Colts caught Chargers off-guard while substituting defenders and made them pay with 72-yard TD pass from Peyton Manning to Reggie Wayne. San Diego's defense settled down though and did not allow Colts any more points. Key defensive stand late in fourth quarter, fueled by Tim Dobbins' sack of Manning at Colts' one-yard line, allowed offense time for one final drive in regulation. Philip Rivers drove Bolts to Colts' eight-yard line and Nate Kaeding's field goal from 26 yards out tied game with 31 seconds left. San Diego won coin toss in overtime and Rivers led offense on 11-play, 75-yard march that ended with 22-yard touchdown run by Sproles to win game in overtime. Sproles finished night with 328 all-purpose yards, third-most ever by player in NFL Playoff game. Dobbins' sack that enabled Bolts to begin comeback was first of his career.

2007 AFC Championship Game

New England Patriots 21, San Diego Chargers 12

Sunday, Jan. 20, 2008 - Gillette Stadium (Foxborough, MA)

Despite playing with torn ACL in his right knee, Philip Rivers started and played entire game. Contest was played in sub-freezing weather with kickoff temperature of 23 degrees and wind-chill factor of nine degrees. Chargers were doomed by their inability to score touchdowns inside red zone, instead settling for four Nate Kaeding field goals. NFL rushing champion LaDainian Tomlinson, who was suffering from strained MCL in his left knee, tried to go, but was unable to complete game. Chargers struck first following Tom Brady interception. Chargers were also hurt by turnovers as second-quarter interception thrown by Rivers resulted in TD and 14-6 lead for Pats. Chargers made another run at Patriots in third quarter, intercepting Brady on opening drive. It would lead to one of game's most critical plays. After turnover, Chargers drove to New England's four, but on 3rd-and-1, Michael Turner was tackled for two-yard loss by former Bolt Junior Seau and Chargers had to settle for another field goal. New England made Chargers pay three series later as Wes Welker caught six-yard pass from Brady and Patriots extended their lead to 21-12. After San Diego punt, New England took ball with 9:13 to play in fourth quarter and killed entire clock, overcoming 2nd-and-18 early in drive. With win, Patriots advanced to Super Bowl XLII to face New York Giants.

2007 AFC Divisional Playoffs

San Diego Chargers 28, Indianapolis Colts 24

Sunday, Jan. 13, 2008 - RCA Dome (Indianapolis, IN)

The Chargers advanced to AFC Championship game in New England with 28-24 win in final-ever game at RCA Dome. contest included multiple lead changes that were sparked by handful of reserves who were forced into action after key starters were sidelined with injuries. Down 7-0, Philip Rivers threw interception and Colts drove to Chargers' 17-yard line, but Antonio Cromartie forced fumble by Marvin Harrison to end threat. Chargers capitalized, tying game on touchdown pass from Rivers to Vincent Jackson. Late in second quarter, Cromartie snagged his second takeaway when slightly overthrown Peyton Manning pass went off Reggie Wayne's fingertips. Cromartie returned interception 89 yards for what appeared to be go-ahead score, but holding call during return brought play back to midfield and teams went to locker room with first 10-7. Chargers scored on their opening possession of second half and took their lead up at 14-10. Indianapolis then drove to Chargers' four, but rookie safety Eric Weddle intercepted pass intended for Kenton Keith. On last play of third quarter, Rivers tossed his third touchdown pass of day, short screen that Darren Sproles took 56 yards to house, but euphoria of 21-17 lead was temporarily dampened as Rivers left game with sprained right knee suffered on play. With Rivers out, LaDainian Tomlinson also battling sore knee and Colts retaking lead 24-21, backups Billy Volek and Michael Turner were called on to carry load. And they delivered with Volek giving Chargers lead one final time on one-yard quarterback sneak with 4:54 remaining. Colts had two late tries to reclaim lead, but Bolts defense buckled down with two stops on downs, including one at Chargers' seven yard line and another that started far down field thanks to 66-yard punt by Mike Scifres as Chargers held on for victory.

2007 AFC Wild Card Playoffs

San Diego Chargers 17, Tennessee Titans 6

Sunday, Jan. 6, 2008 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers won their first playoff game since 1995 on cold day with intermittent rain showers before capacity crowd at Qualcomm Stadium. Bolts overcame slow start and 6-0 deficit at half to rally and outscore Titans 17-0 in third and fourth quarters to win game, 17-6. Chris Chambers and Vincent Jackson became first pair of Chargers to each record more than 100 yards receiving in playoff game since 1983 as Chambers went for 121, while Jackson tallied career-high 114, including touchdown catch that proved to be eventual game winner. Nate Keating field goal to open third quarter made score 6-3 and after defensive stop, Philip Rivers tossed 25-yard TD pass to Jackson for 10-6 lead. Tennessee drove deep into San Diego territory on their next drive, but Rob Brown pushed 38-yard field goal wide to left and Chargers made them pay. Rivers engineered 12-play, 72-yard drive and LaDainian Tomlinson scored from one yard out on fourth-and-one play to put game away. Chambers 39-yard catch on third-and-10 play set up score. Late in game Tennessee was stymied in its comeback effort by three set-out and Drayton Florence interception. Titans finished their year 10-7, while Chargers advanced to face Indianapolis in AFC Divisional Playoff round.

After sluggish start by both teams, San Diego took 14-3 lead in second quarter on touchdown runs by LaDainian Tomlinson and Michael Turner, but Bills defense gave up late score and Patriots trailed only 14-10 at half. New England added field goal in third quarter to climb within point, but Chargers drove 83 yards in nine plays early in fourth and took 21-13 lead when Tomlinson scored from three yards out, game appeared to be all but over when Marlon McCree intercepted Tom Brady on following drive, but Patriots' Troy Brown stripped McCree during runback and Patriots recovered. Five plays later, Reche Caldwell caught four-yard touchdown pass and Pats tied it up on successful two-point conversion. Chargers got ball back with chance to reclaim lead but instead went three-and-out and New England took 24-21 lead on 31-yard field goal with 1:10 left in quarter. 2004 AFC Wild Card Playoffs

New York Jets 20, San Diego Chargers 17 (OT)

Saturday, Jan. 8, 2005 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers' 2004 postseason came to early end as in 20-17 overtime loss to New York Jets in Wild Card Playoff Game at Qualcomm Stadium. sellout crowd of 67,536 braved elements as Drew Brees led furious fourth quarter comeback during which Chargers outscored New York 10-0 to send game into overtime. Given new life by roughing-the-passer penalty on what appeared to be San Diego's last play of game, Brees found Antonio Gates in end zone for one-yard touchdown pass with 11 seconds left to send game to extra period. It was only second overtime playoff game in team history. Both teams traded possessions in extra period before Nate Kaeding's game-winning attempt from 40 yards sailed wide right, opening door for Kaeding to drive down and kick game winner with five seconds left in overtime. Keenan McCardell scored game's first touchdown on 26-yard catch. He was initially ruled out of bounds, but San Diego challenged call and ruling was reversed. It was McCardell's sixth-career touchdown catch in post-season. Brees opened game by completing his first eight passes and on McCardell touchdown drive, he was 5 of 5 for 61 yards and touchdown. He finished night 31 of 42 (738), setting team playoff record for completion percentage.

1994 AFC Divisional Playoffs

San Diego Chargers 22, Miami Dolphins 21

Sunday, Jan. 8, 1995 - Jack Murphy Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers advanced to AFC Championship Game with 22-21 victory over Miami Dolphins in front of San Diego-record home crowd of 63,381 fans. Win moved Chargers to AFC title round for only third time in team history and first time since 1982. Dan Marino threw three first-half touchdown passes and Dolphins led 21-6 at half. San Diego's offense came alive and dominated third quarter. Chargers took opening drive of second half and marched 15 plays to Dolphins' one-yard line before losing ball on downs. But on Miami's first play from scrimmage, Reuben Davis stopped Bernie Parmelee in end zone for safety to make score 21-8. San Diego took ensuing kick and Natrone Means finished 54-yard drive with 24-yard scoring run, breaking several tackles away and Dolphin lead was trimmed to 21-15. teams traded possessions through fourth quarter before Stan Humphries hit Mark Seay for what would prove to be game-winning touchdown. But before that could happen, Marino moved Dolphins to San Diego's 30-yard line with 35 seconds left and positioned Pete Stoyanovich for 48-yard field goal attempt, but kick sailed wide right. San Diego dominated game's time of possession, controlling ball 39:20 compared to Miami's 20:40. Another factor was San Diego's running game, which rolled up 202 of team's 466 total yards. Means rushed for personal best 139 yards and Humphries completed 20 of 26 attempts in second half.

On opening drive of third quarter, San Diego reclaimed lead when Lydell Mitchell scored on eight-yard run for 14-10 lead. Houston came back later in quarter as Mike Renfro caught 47-yard touchdown pass from Gifford Nielsen and Oilers jumped back out to 17-14 lead. Chargers tried to fight back in fourth quarter, but two Dan Fouts interceptions proved costly and Houston upset Chargers and eliminated them from playoffs.

1965 AFL Championship Game
Buffalo Bills 23, San Diego Chargers 0
Sunday, Dec. 26, 1965 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

It was same two teams that met in 1964 Championship game with scene shifting from East to West Coast. But there obviously was no hometown advantage for San Diego Chargers. Coach Lou Saban's Buffalo Bills found 59-degree weather much to their liking in San Diego's Balboa Stadium, rolling to 23-0 victory before 30,361 downhearted fans. San Diego's offensive unit was unable to generate any type of serious attack after first quarter and Jack Kemp-led Bills broke loose in second period. Kemp teamed with end Ernie Warlick for initial score, 18-yard pass capping 60-yard drive. Just 2:20 later, Bills struck again on 74-yard punt return by Butch Byrd and at halftime, Buffalo was ahead 14-0. In second half, Chargers were able to contain Buffalo's ground game and Kemp's passing, but couldn't stop talented toe of placekicker Pete Gogolak. His soccer-style kicks connected twice in third quarter from 11 and 39 yards and once more in final period from 32 yards.

1964 AFL Championship Game
Buffalo Bills 20, San Diego Chargers 7

Sunday, Dec. 26, 1964 - War Memorial Stadium (Buffalo, NY)

Lou Saban sent his Buffalo Bills out for post-Christmas gift after three lean years and one near miss in American Football League. Bills found what they were looking for and wrapped up defending champion San Diego Chargers, 20-7, for AFL Championship before 40,242 howling hometown fans. Chargers started out as if they meant to repeat their 51-10 conquest of Boston Patriots in 1963 title game. They boomed from their own 20 in four plays with payoff 26-yard strike from retiring quarterback Tobin Rote to tight end Dave Kocourek. Keith Lincoln's PAT at 2:16 of first period was last time San Diego got on scoreboard. Disaster struck visitors when Lincoln was forced out of action with broken rib on "the tackle heard around world" by Buffalo linebacker Mike Stratton. Coupled with absence of Lance Alworth, injury to Lincoln left Chargers offense impotent. Buffalo forced to 13-7 halftime lead on field goals from 12 and 17 yards by rookie ace Pete Gogolak and four-yard touchdown run by halfback Wray Carlton. Bills tallied again in final quarter on sneak by quarterback Jack Kemp.

1963 AFL Championship Game
San Diego Chargers 51, Boston Patriots 10
 Sunday, Jan. 5, 1964 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

Before 30,127 in Balboa Stadium and 30 million more on national television, Keith Lincoln ran, caught and passed like no other athlete ever has in professional title match as Californians crumbled Boston Patriots, 51-10. Chargers' offense produced 610 yards. Lincoln accounted for 349 of them in virtuoso performance that included touchdown sprint of 67 yards, touch-down reception of 25 yards, 206 yards gained rushing, 123 gained pass receiving and 20 gained passing. Lincoln's heroics were mightily abated by others on San Diego team that played with brilliance. It was powerhouse show by team that had failed in two previous tries to win AFL title. But Patriots, with league's proudest defensive outfit, were no match for San Diego. Splendidly prepared by Sid Gilman to combat Boston's almost constantly rushing linebackers, Chargers scored on their fourth scrimmage play, as well as their sixth and 10th. Patriots' ground attack suffered after full-back Larry Garron incurred head injury midway through second period. Garron later returned to game but remained in it only briefly.

1961 AFL Championship Game

Houston Oilers 10, San Diego Chargers 3

Sunday, Dec. 24, 1961 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The 1961 American Football League Championship game in San Diego's Balboa Stadium was carbon copy of previous season's title game in that Houston Oilers beat San Diego Chargers 10-3. On Jan. 1, 1961, Oilers edged Chargers, 24-16, in Houston's Jeppesen Stadium. live audience of 29,556 fans and nationwide television audience estimated in vicinity of 40 million viewers witnessed monument to defensive football at its best. crowd at stadium was limited because game was played on Christmas Eve and game was telecast into Los Angeles area and many San Diegans received LA's ABC affiliate, Channel 7. Oilers scored on 46-yard field goal by George Blanda midway through second quarter and added clincher, 35-yard touchdown pass by Blanda to Billy Cannon, late in third quarter. Chargers only scoring came on 12-yard field goal early in final period. Indication of evenness of ballgame is that both clubs had total net offense of 256 yards.

1960 AFL Championship Game

Houston Oilers 24, Los Angeles Chargers 16

Sunday, Jan. 1, 1961 - Jeppesen Stadium (Houston, TX)

The American Football League's first championship game took place Jan. 1, 1961 between Eastern Division champion Houston Oilers and Western Division champion Los Angeles Chargers in Jeppesen Stadium, home of Eastern tilts. Outcome: Houston 24, Los Angeles 16. In 50 degree weather with 70 percent humidity due to week-long rains, Chargers took on Oilers before live crowd of 32,183 and television audience of approximately 45 million viewers. Ben Agajanian kicked field goals of 38 and 22 yards to give Chargers 6-0 first quarter lead. In second quarter, Houston's George Blanda hit Dave Smith on 17-yard touchdown pass, added conversion and kicked 18-yard field goal. Agajanian kicked 27-yard field goal with five seconds left in half to make score Houston 10, Los Angeles 9 at half. In third quarter, Blanda completed seven-yard touchdown pass to Bill Groman and kicked conversion. Chargers responded when Paul Lowe slanted over from two-yard line and Agajanian's conversion score was Houston 17, Los Angeles 16, at end of three quarters. In fourth quarter, Blanda and Billy Cannon teamed up on 88-yard pass-run touchdown play to conclude scoring. Player of game honors went to Cannon, with Blanda and Lowe deadlocked vote behind. Lowe's total yardage on day was 271 yards compared to Cannon's 259. Inability of Chargers to take ball in for touchdowns early in game, settling for three first-half field goals on each occasion, and several bad breaks late in game proved to be difference.

Jan. 31—The late Junior Seau is elected for induction into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility. Seau becomes the eighth former Chargers player or coach elected to the Hall of Fame.

May 18—Chairman of the Board Dean Spanos names A.G. Spanos President—Business Operations and John Spanos President—Football Operations.

Oct. 18—Philip Rivers records the first 500-yard passing game in franchise history as he sets team records for completions (43), attempts (65) and yards (503) in a 27-20 loss to the Green Bay Packers at Lambeau Field.

Nov. 22—LaDainian Tomlinson has his No. 21 retired and joins the Chargers Hall of Fame. At halftime, a banner bearing his No. 21 is unveiled in the stadium's rafters and his name is added to the team's Ring of Honor.

Oct. 9—Philip Rivers completed three passes of 50-plus yards at Oakland, equaling the most in his career. Rivers hooked up with Hunter Henry for 59 yards, Travis Benjamin for 54 and Tyrell Williams for 50. It marked the first time since Oct. 20, 1968 versus Denver that three different Chargers receivers had catches of 50 yards or longer in a game.

Oct. 13—Philip Rivers passed for 178 yards against the Broncos and raised his career yardage total to 43,094 to pass Dan Fouts (43,040) for the all-time franchise passing mark. Rivers also passed Fouts for 13th in NFL history.

Oct. 23—Melvin Gordon scored a career-high three touchdowns, two on the ground and one through the air to help the Chargers defeat the eventual NFC Champion Atlanta Falcons, in overtime, 33-30.

Nov. 6—Melvin Gordon amasses 261 total yards, including 196 on the ground to record the third-most yards from scrimmage in franchise history.

Dec. 11—Antonio Gates played in his 201st career game, surpassing Junior Seau and Russ Washington for the most games played by a full-time position player in franchise history. Seau and Washington appeared in 200. The only player to appear in more games is former long snapper David Binn, who played in 256 career games.

HISTORY OF CHARGERS UNIFORM

1960

Helmet was white with gray facemask. It had dark blue bolt and black numbers outlined in gold. Home jersey was Collegiate blue with white numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in gold. White strip on each shoulder had dark blue bolt outlined in gold. Road jersey was white with Collegiate blue numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in gold and white lightning bolts on sleeves outlined in gold. Was also Collegiate blue strip on each shoulder with white bolt outlined in gold. Pants were white with dark blue lightning bolt outlined in gold running down each leg. Owner Barron Hilton chose lightning bolts because he associated "Charge" of lightning with lightning bolt. He also liked bolts that were on helmets of Air Force Academy football team, but wanted something slightly different, so had "Chargers Bolt" designed to be different and placed on uniforms.

Bolt on helmet, shoulders and pants is changed to gold. On home jersey, helmet and pants, bolt is outlined in blue. On road jersey, it is outlined in white.

1966

Bolt on helmet is changed to dark blue. Pants are changed to gold with solid white stripe running down each leg, outlined in blue. Stripe replaces lightning bolt.

1967

Gold bolt is placed back on helmet with blue outline. Home jersey is darker shade of blue and has white numbers on front, back and sleeves, and white strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt. Road jersey had darker blue numbers also on front, back and sleeves and blue strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt. Lightning bolt is placed back on pants, dark blue and outlined in white.

1968-71

Home jersey is changed to Powder blue with white numbers on front, back and sleeves with white strip on each shoulder and gold lightning bolt outlined in blue. Road jersey is still white with Powder blue numbers on front, back and sleeves, and Powder blue strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt outlined in white.

1972

Lightning bolt on pants is again replaced by solid white stripe running down each leg, outlined in Powder blue.

1973-78

Numbers on home uniform are changed to gold outlined in white. Numbers on road uniform remain Powder blue outlined in gold.

1979-83

Helmet is changed to Navy blue with gold facemask and gold lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and white. Primary jersey is white with Royal blue numbers outlined in white and gold. Secondary jersey is Royal blue and features gold numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in blue and white. Lightning bolt is brought back to pants. It is white with Royal blue outline.

1984

White lightning bolt on pants is placed inside blue strip. Patch is worn on front of jersey celebrating Silver Anniversary of Chargers being original AFL franchise.

1985

Home jersey is changed to Navy blue with gold numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in Navy blue and white. There was white strip on each shoulder that had gold lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue. Road jersey is white with Navy blue numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in white and gold, and Navy blue strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and white. Strip on pants is changed to Navy blue. Lightning bolt on pants is gold with Navy blue and white outline.

1986-87

Number on front, back and sleeves of home jersey is changed to white with Navy blue and gold outline.

1988-89

Lightning bolt on helmet is changed from gold to white and features Navy blue and gold outline. Facemask on helmet is changed from gold to Navy blue. White strip on Navy blue home jersey is removed, leaving white lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and gold. Lightning bolt on shoulders of road jersey is changed to white with Navy blue and gold outline and remains on Navy blue strip. Lightning bolt on pants is removed and replaced with Navy blue strip outlined in white and gold.

1990-91

Road pants are changed to Navy blue with white stripe down each pant leg outlined in Navy blue and gold.

1992-06

White lightning bolt returns to pants. On home white pants, it is outlined in Navy blue and gold and is in blue strip down each pant leg. On road Navy blue pants, there is just white lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and gold down each pant leg. There is no strip on road pants.

2007-11

Uniforms feature Navy blue jerseys and white pants for most home games, white jerseys and Navy pants for road games, and Powder blue jerseys with white pants for designated home games. On all jerseys, bolt has been moved down sleeve, below shoulder. Bolt is Gold and outlined in both powder blue and Navy. On Navy and Powder blue jerseys, bolt is in white strip, and on white jerseys, bolt is in Navy blue strip. Numbers are now on shoulder above bolt. Front of all jerseys have Chargers scripted across front above numbers and below NFL shield. Team name, numbers and player's names all feature new font. Home white pants feature strip down side of each pant leg with curved bolt in Navy strip to be worn with Navy jerseys and Powder blue strip to be worn with Powder blue jerseys. Navy pants feature same bolt inside of white strip down each pant leg. Helmet is changed to metallic-white and features Gold bolt outlined in Powder blue and Navy.

2012

In 2012, Nike became the official uniform provider for the NFL. The Chargers' color scheme did not change. The only changes to the uniform were a thin white flap that previously followed the V-neck line now stops just below the shoulder numbers, and Nike's emblematic swoosh appears on the left hip of the pants as well as on the right shoulder pad. Nike's uniform technology is hailed as less restrictive with greater ventilation.

The Chargers made some slight modifications to the team's jerseys for 2013. The home jersey (Navy blue) now has a blue collar that is the same color as the jersey. The nameplate has changed to two colors. The white road jerseys now feature a Navy blue nameplate outlined with gold. The Navy blue home jerseys feature a gold strip on the nameplate outlined in powder blue and the "Power Blue" alternate jerseys are white outlined in Navy blue. Socks feature a gold stripe. The helmets and pants remain the same.
