President

MICHAEL J. HOLOVAK
General Manager and Head Coach

August 15, 1966

Gentlemen:

As one who grew up in your craft I have long held an abiding respect for the gentlemen of the press. Equally as long have I been aware of their major contributions to the progress of any professional sports organization.

May I then salute you for your contributions to the acceptance of the American Football League.

May I thank you for the understanding manner in which you have helped our league grow from childhood to maturity.

May I express the hope that you will visit us frequently in training and in championship competition.

Sincerely,

William H. Sullivan, Jr.

A Brief History of the Patriots

The winning of the Eastern Division title for 1963 in the American Football League's first playoff culminated a four-year competitive battle for the Patriots' organization.

However, the 26 to 8 triumph at snowy Buffalo on Dec. 28, 1963 fulfilled a dream of much longer duration.

A professional football team for Boston had been the constant brainchild of Bill Sullivan, Jr., for 10 years before he secured a franchise on November 22, 1959, in the American Football League that was less than three months old at the time.

Sullivan, who had been prominent in sports previously as publicist at Boston College and Notre Dame during the days of Frank Leahy, followed by a term as Public Relations director of the baseball Braves while they were still in Boston, brought nine other prominent New England industrialists and sportsmen into ownership with him.

They were Dom DiMaggio, the ex-Red Sox star; Dan Marr, former co-owner of the Braves; Joseph E. Sullivan, Bill's uncle and well-known printer; Paul Sonnabend of the family behind the Hotel Corporation of America; Edgar L. Turner, president of the Seven-Up Bottling Co. in Greater Boston; Dean Boylan, president of Boston Sand and Gravel Co.; Ed McMann, Maine blueberry packing tycoon; John Ames, Jr., and the late George Sargent, the last two from two of Massachusetts' most famous families.

William Kemble was named a director later to represent some 1600 stockholders who bought non-voting stock after the Patriots pulled another of their firsts by issuing 100,000 shares of stock for public sale.

Five changes have taken place in the original ownership. Forrester (Tim) Clark, one-time Harvard athlete, bought out Ames and the untimely death of George Sargent saw his brother Francis, present Commissioner of Public Works in Massachusetts, take up George's one-tenth interest. Upon the passing of Edgar Turner, his son Philip assumed that ownership position. The most recent change took place when the interests of Dominic DiMaggio and Dean Boylan were purchased by two young men from New York, Robert C. Wetenhall and David McConnell.

While they were still struggling to acquire a home field (they finally got Boston University field, which was old Braves Field transformed), the new owners lost no time in getting busy on promotion and personnel.

A contest was held to name the new club and "Patriots" was selected by a panel of Boston sports writers in keeping with the New England heritage. Red, white and blue were naturally selected as the team colors.

The first football expert hired ultimately proved to be the most important one right up to the present writing. He was Michael (Mike) Holovak, who had just completed a nine-year tenure as Head Coach at Boston College. Mike was originally hired by the Patriots as Director of Player Personnel.

Next in line for the front office was the selection of Ed McKeever as General Manager. Ed had a quarter of a century of experience in every phase of football—as a player at Texas Tech; a coach at Boston College, Notre Dame, Cornell, San Francisco and LSU; and a general manager-coach of the Chicago Rockets in the old All-American Conference.

Lou Saban, the first head coach of the Patriots, was a virtual unknown when signed out of Western Illinois, although he once captained the Cleveland Browns.

The front office staff was completed with the appointment of Gerry Moore, veteran Boston sports writer, as Director of Public Relations; John Fitzgerald, former airlines representative, as Ticket Manager; and Miss Joanne Parker as receptionist.

Saban brought most of his staff with him from Western Illinois, added Holovak as offensive backfield coach, and the first Patriots' practice of all time was held, fittingly, on July 4, 1960, on the campus of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

As candidates came and went by the dozens almost daily, a 36-year-old former Canadian League and Greater-Boston sandlot star, Ed (Butch) Songin, outlasted 12 other aspirants to become the quarterback who was to lead the Pats through their first season.

The Patriots added to their list of firsts on July 30, 1960, when, following a night-before parade before 100,000 spectators, they played the first AFL exhibition game in history, beating the favored Bills, 28-7, in a contest witnessed by 16,000 spectators in 90-degree heat.

Keeping up on the firsts, the following August 14 the Pats played the first professional sporting event ever held in the famous Harvard Stadium, losing 24-14 to the Dallas Texans in a charity exhibition tilt; then, on September 9, 1961, at Boston University field the Patriots played the first regular season contest in AFL history. They were upset, 13-10, by the Denver Broncos, before 21,597 fans who welcomed pro football back to Boston after an 11-year absence.

The first edition of the Patriots stayed in contention for the Eastern Division championship for the first 10 games with a 5-5 mark, but dropped its last four games to finish in the cellar.

Linebacker Tom Addison and rookie safetyman Ross O'Hanley were named to the first AFL All-star team, while guard Charlie Leo and defensive end Bob Dee earned spots on the second team.

Another vital development in the history of the Patriots occurred during the off-season when the Boston club acquired the services of quarterback Babe Parilli and fullback Billy Lott from the Oakland Raiders in exchange for halfback Dick Christy, fullback Alan Miller and tackle Hal Smith in what still stands as the biggest AFL trade in its six-year history.

The Patriots got off to a floundering start in 1961 and following the fifth game (2-3) Saban was replaced by Mike Holovak as head coach. The one-time Boston College All-America fullback, a PT-boat hero in World War II and professional star with the Los Angeles Rams and Chicago Bears, was named coach on October 10, 1961.

Under Holovak, the Patriots finished that campaign with a 7-1-1 rush, but the Houston Oilers won their last nine in a row to finish one game ahead of the Pats.

Gino Cappelletti became fully established as a split end under Holovak and wound up the 1961 season as the highest scorer in professional football with 147 points.

Holovak also introduced the innovation of alternating quarterbacks Parilli and Songin on each play. This shot-gun system lasted until the last three games of the season when Songin was injured and Babe established himself as the number one QB on the club.

The Patriots landed Charlie Leo on the first official All-League team in 1961 and placed five more—Cappelletti, Addison, Larry Garron, Gerry DeLuca and Dee—on the second team. All except DeLuca of that group appeared in the first All-Star game at San Diego, along with Fred Bruney, who was honored as Co-Capt., and Jim Lee Hunt.

The Patriots switched their training camp to the exclusive Phillips Andover Academy campus. Coach Holovak also added a new coaching staff of Art Spinney, Marion Campbell and Bruney.

By mid-season of 1962 the Patriots were leading the Eastern Division by half a game. They had turned away 10,000 fans for a game with Dallas at B.U. field and Parilli was enroute to his greatest season as a pro.

Then disaster struck. In a game in Houston on November 10 Parilli suffered a broken collarbone and the fortunes of the club were left in the hands of Tommy Yewcic. Babe's understudy had thrown but eight passes in his entire career, and, although he stepped in to do a yeoman's job, the Oilers pulled the game out, 21-17, and went on to win their last four games and the Eastern title for the third year in succession.

The Pats put four players on the All-Star contingent in 1962, Parilli, Addison, Jimmy Colclough and Larry Eisenhauer. This quartet was joined by Charlie Long, Dick Klein, Dick Felt and Bruney for the All-Star game at San Diego.

During the 1962-63 off-season, another historical development came about when the Patriots signed to play all but one of their home games at Fenway Park, the home of the Boston Red Sox. Their home opener was played at Boston College Alumni field, thereby completing the cycle whereby the Pats have played at all three Greater-Boston universities.

After taking their first Eastern Division title, the Patriots ran afoul of the San Diego Chargers in the championship at San Diego, 51 to 10.

However, no less than 11 Pats remained in San Diego to represent the East coached by Mike Holovak in the annual All-Star classic.

They included unanimous All league selections Tom Addison, Larry Eisenhower, and Houston Antwine. Also Larry Garron, Nick Buoniconti and Billy Neighbors, who were named to some first All-League selections. Rounding out the starry group were Babe Parilli, Gino Cappelletti, Charley Long, Bob Dee and Ron Hall.

Some changes took place in the front office and coaching staff before the 1964 season. Ed McKeever, at his own request, shifted from general manager to director of player personnel. Coach Mike Holovak took on the added duties of General Manager.

The Patriots had their best season record of all time with a 10-3-1 mark but were dethroned as Eastern Division Champions when they lost to Buffalo 24-14 before a record crowd of 38,021 fans in a blizzard at Fenway Park. The Pats still made off with a lion's share of individual honors. Gino Cappelletti was selected unanimously as the American Football League's Most Valuable Player. Babe Parilli was the unanimous choice as All League Quarterback with 3441 yards and 31 touchdown passes. Nick Buoniconti, Larry Eisenhower, and Tom Addison were also All League selections. Joining them at the All-Star game were Bob Dee, Jon Morris, Houston Antwine, and Larry Garron. Ron Hall, Charlie Long and Billy Neighbors also received All-League recognition in polls conducted by the press.

The injury-riddled Patriots hobbled to a 4-8-2 record in 1965, the only losing ledger in the 4½ seasons that Coach Holovak has handled the team. However, the Bostonians finished strongly, taking their last four contests, and an exceptional group of rookies gained the experience necessary for this season's expected championship drive. Nick Buoniconti won several individual awards, including All-AFL Middle-Linebacker, The Sargent Award and The 1776 Club Award. Gino Cappelletti took his fourth league scoring title with 132 points, and led the Pats' All-Star contingent, which included Capt. Tommy Addison, Houston Antwine, Bob Dee, Larry Eisenhower Ron Hall, Jon Morris and Buoniconti.

Bill Sullivan

PATRIOTS PRESIDENT

By Huck Finnegan

(ED. NOTE—In the beginning with the Patriots Huck Finnegan was one of our most constant boosters. He was the first to predict that the Pats would be an exciting and winning team. His columns in the BOSTON AMERICAN brought wide recognition to the Hearst daily.)

They said it couldn't be done; they said nobody could do it . . . make a pro football team go in Boston, that is.

They pointed to failures of the past, to Bob McKirdy and the Boston Bulldogs of the 1920's; to George Preston Marshall and the Redskins of the 1930's; to Ted Collins, Kate Smith and the Boston Yanks of the 1940's.

They said it couldn't be done, and they had good reason for saying so. George Marshall had said on his departure for Washington that Boston had sold its sports heritage to the mutual machines. Ted Collins, starting in the war year of 1944, had the tide against him from the beginning.

And so, in 1959, when William H. Sullivan, Jr. of Wellesly announced proudly that he had obtained a franchise for Boston in the fledgling American Football League and would field a team in 1960, he seemed to be the only one in town who thought he could make a go of it.

"It's suicide," said the skeptics. "He doesn't have a field, a player, a coach or bankroll. He doesn't even have a name for the club. This venture won't get off the ground. He's up against the same proposition Ted Collins faced, and he doesn't have Collins' money."

They didn't reckon with Sullivan's persistence. He had been brought up under Frank Leahy at Boston College and Notre Dame, and Leahy never settled for a tie. They didn't reckon with Sullivan's salesmanship or prescience or his determination to finish what he started.

The optimistic Mr. Sullivan had a sports background in baseball as well as football. He knew the same pessimistic talk greeted the Boston team in the new American Baseball League in 1901, and he knew it took the AL entry only a few years to take the play away from its Boston rival in the National League, which had started 25 years earlier.

He had done much to restore the balance of power when he was information director of the Braves in the '40's. His brochure on Bob Elliot brought the Braves' third baseman selection as the league's Most Valuable Player in 1947. He helped the Braves set an attendance record when they won the NL pennant in 1948.

He did more than that. With the help of broadcaster Jim Britt, he established the Jimmy Fund for cancer research which today is New England's leading charity. He was a doer, and he was forever looking up. He left the Braves for greener pastures (he now is president of Metropolitan Petroleum Co.) and it may be coincidence but the Braves went downhill so fast thereafter, that they were in Milwaukee in 1953.

But this was football, Sullivan's passion. He had been a student of the game since childhood. He knew that the failures of both Redskins and Yanks were due mainly to their lack of a passer, a Sammy Baugh or a Sid Luckman. The world might have beaten a path to a fellow's door in days of yore when he built a better mousetrap, but more than the mousetrap, play was needed to get the halfbacks beyond the line of scrimmage in this day of shifting defenses and mobile line behemoths.

He started digging. He brought in Ed McKeever, another Leahy man, as general manager, Lou Saban as coach, and he hired Mike Holovak as scout. He formed a syndicate of ten to furnish the do-re-mi, and later on when expenses mounted, he sold stock in the club at $5 a share. He oozed ideas, and his optimism remained constant. Climax to all the spade-work came in a press conference at Mayor Collins' office where it was announced that Boston University had opened its gates (old Braves Field) to the Patriots with the proviso that they spend their own money to make the necessary improvements. Then the aggressive Mr. Sullivan made arrangements to have the team train at University of Massachusetts, and the Patriots were in business.

"It couldn't be done," they kept saying, but he did it.

All was not clover that first year. Braves (BU) Field was built in the street car era of 1915, and there were no provisions for parking. And the cost of renovating field and stands was prohibitive. Thus the Patriots lost $600,000 their first year (1960) and skeptics said, "They won't be around next season."

They were, and they cut their losses in half. Now $900,000 is a lot of money to lose in two years, but Sullivan, as usual saw the silver lining. First, the Patriots had obtained quarterback Babe Parilli from Oakland, and they had replaced Saban with Holovak who finished the season with a 6-1-1 record. There was no place to go but up in Sullivan's thinking, and when one of the discouraged owners defected he was replaced by Forrester (Tim) Clark, Harvard '29, a football enthusiast of the highest degree who, usually had a few bucks to spare.

Turning point in AFL fortunes came in the spring of 1962 when the owners met in convention at Hotel Kenmore. Representatives from Atlanta, New Orleans and Kansas City posted $25,000 in attempts to land a franchise; so confident were they of the league's success. Gillette took over the TV sponsorships which would reduce the club's losses appreciably, and in the fall the club was permitted to play a nationally televised game with Houston in Harvard stadium.

Recently, a bunch of the boys were discussing the Patriot's rise, and they attributed it to (1) acquisition of Babe Parilli; (2) replacement of Lou Saban with Mike Holovak as coach; (3) TV money; and (4) shift to Fenway Park.

Not one mentioned the determination of the eternal optimist, William H. Sullivan, Jr., club president. Not one mentioned the man who held the club together through all the vicissitudes of 1960 and 1961. There isn't another man in the state who would have tackled the job.

Sullivan made pro football go in Boston where money men like George Preston Marshall and Ted Collins couldn't. He knew he had something the public wanted, and it was just a question of time until he could give them the finished product.

Sullivan's activities on the AFL negotiation committee along with Buffalo's Ralph Wilson and Kansas City's Lamar Hunt helped to bring about the marriage of the AFL and NFL.

Mike Holovak

PATRIOTS COACH

By GERRY MOORE

The familiar accolade of "Give It To Mike," which has been associated with Mike Holovak around Boston for more than a quarter of a century, took on a new meaning at the close of the 1964 American Football League season when he was awarded a new five-year contract as General Manager and Head Coach of the Patriots.

Although the Pats grudgingly yielded their Eastern Division title to Buffalo in the final game, they compiled their very best season's record of 10-3-1.

This performance followed on the heels of what many observers still feel was Mike's outstanding coaching job in a distinguished career in leading the Pats to their divisional crown in 1963.

Faced with the loss of Ron Burton and Don Webb before the season even started and handicapped further by a stream of problems throughout the campaign, he kept the team together until it finally prevailed in the AFL's only playoff to date—a 26 to 8 triumph at Buffalo.

Yet, neither that achievement nor the spectacular events of 1964 have completely satisfied the retiring, soft-spoken man himself. Nor will he be entirely happy until the Patriots have gone all the way to the Championship flag.

This dedication and determination typifies the entire life of the now 45-year-old Holovak, who lost little time making his presence felt after he first appeared on the Boston College campus in the fall of 1939 as the proverbial "poor boy" from Lansford, Pennsylvania.

As a sophomore, Mike scaled the football heights for the first time when he was a 60-minute fullback on Frank Leahy's undefeated B.C. squad that won the National championship by downing Tennessee, 19 to 13, in the Sugar Bowl, January 1, 1941.

En route to this climax, Mike played 60 minutes during a 19 to 18 triumph over Georgetown at the same Fenway Park where the Patriots now play their home games. That particular contest was described by the late Grantland Rice as the "greatest college football game ever played."

The popular expression of "Give It To Mike" came into being during the 1942 season of mixed emotions when Holovak and Freddy Nautmetz co-captained a squad for the late Denny Meyers that ran roughshod over everybody until the still unbelievable 55 to 12 shellacking from arch rival Holy Cross.

Mike and his shaken-up teammates still went to the Orange Bowl the following New Year's Day and gave good account of themselves before finally succumbing, 38 to 21, to superior Alabama depth and the Florida heat. In a typical performance, Holovak scored all three B.C. touchdowns that day.

During his undergraduate days at Boston College were born the first seeds of associations that led to Mike's being tapped as chief strategist of the Pats many years later.

The then Lowell, Mass., home of Billy Sullivan, B.C. publicist at the time and now founder and president of Boston's professionals, was among the first where young Holovak had dinner away from the Chestnut Hill campus.

Ed McKeever, now Director of Player Personnel of the Patriots, was then Leahy's lieutenant and was chiefly instrumental in convincing the Seton Hall Prep prize to matriculate at B.C. in preference to many other institutions that sought him. McKeever still calls Mike "the best fullback with whom I ever have been associated."

He was graduated in March, 1943 in the stepped-up program of that era and immediately enlisted in the Navy. Typical of his entire career, he chose the dangerous PT service. It is only from his shipmates that one learns about the valiant service he rendered to his country while serving in the South Pacific. He still retains his active reserve status as a Lieut.-Commander, attends weekly meetings and carries out his two-weeks sea duty each year.

Following his separation from the Navy, Mike played one season with the Los Angeles Rams and two seasons with the Chicago Bears. He was remembered with such affection by Windy City NFL followers that when he was appointed head coach of the Patriots on October 10, 1961, one Chicago paper ran an eight-column headline: "Ex-Bear Holovak is new coach of the Patriots."

After three years as a professional came the call to the coaching ranks from his Alma Mater, first as freshman tutor and then for nine years as a varsity mentor, the longest skein of a head coach in B.C. history.

During that stretch, he compiled a 49-29-3 record with squads that often were so thin that Mike had to convert a host of players into strange positions.

Pat's President Bill Sullivan signed Mike in December 1959 as director of player personnel. After Lou Saban became the first head coach, Holovak took on the added duties as offensive backfield coach.

The big change came after fifth game of the second or 1961 season. Saban, with a 5-9 record for the first season and 2-3 for the current one, was replaced with Holovak.

Mike immediately steered his charges to a 7-1-1 mark for the rest of the campaign and finished one game back of the champion Houston Oilers.

The 1962 season was almost a duplicate with the Patriots finishing 9-4-1 and were a half game behind the repeating Oilers going into the final weekend. A Houston victory on Saturday in New York ended the Patriots' hopes.

The 1965 campaign was Holovak's only losing campaign as Head Coach of the Pats. His career mark in the AFL is 37-22-6.

The death of George L. Sargent on April 10, 1962 came as a stunning blow to his best friends.

The Vice President and an owner of the Patriots, he was a member of the University of Virginia eleven.

A group of his closest friends established a Memorial plaque in his name for the Patriots' Most Valuable Player as selected by his teammates at the close of the present season.

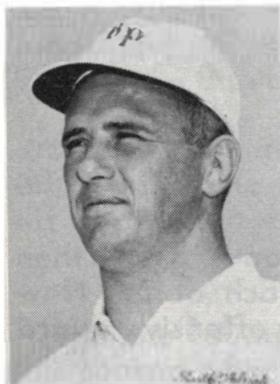

This is a most fitting tribute to the late Vice-President of the Patriots, who was described by President Bill Sullivan, Jr., as "The Greatest Patriot of Them All."

The Assistants

CHARLES WEBER

The defensive backfield coach of the Boston Patriots is Charles (Chuck) Weber, 34-year-old former key defensive star with two championship NFL pro teams.

Weber, who is a native of Philadelphia, was a rookie defensive end when the Cleveland Browns won the National Football League title in 1955 and called the defensive signals from his middle guard berth for the Eagles when the latter took the N.F.L. crown in 1960.

In between times, Chuck played outside line-backer and served as defensive captain for the now St. Louis Cardinals.

Jesse Richardson, the Patriots defensive line coach, was among the highest in recommending the new coach to Holovak.

Chuck is married to the former Virginia Irvin Tiley and they are the parents of Charles 6, Wayne 5 and Tracey 3.

ART SPINNEY

Art Spinney came home to the scene of his early football triumphs to take over as offensive line coach of the Patriots starting with the 1962 season.

At high school in his native Saugus, Mass. and later at Boston College, Art won just about all the honors that were available to a two-way end in those years.

Following his graduation from B.C., in 1950, he joined the Baltimore Colts as an end, but the Army derailed him for the next two years. He returned to the Colts in 1953 and it was then that Weeb Ewbank, present coach of the New York Jets, converted Art into an offensive guard and a brilliant pro career.

Art himself decided when his active career was at a close. He launched his coaching career as an assistant to Ernie Hefferle at B.C. in 1961.

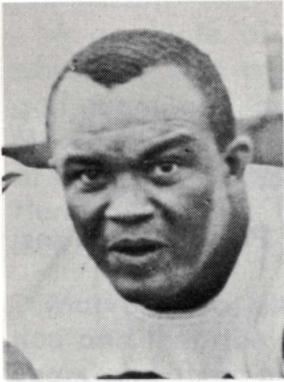

When he became available the following year, Mike Holovak lost no time in bringing Art's vigor and dedication to the Patriots.

JESSE RICHARDSON

Big Jess began playing football before Jon Morris and J. D. Garrett had seen the light of day . . . For nine years "Marlon" as he was called by his team-mates starred for the Philadelphia Eagles . . . He played three years with the Patriots . . . All NFL selection in '59 and '60 Jess was the main reason the Eagles won the championship . . . The last pro in either league to play without a face mask, Jess engendered more enthusiasm on the playing field than the most eager rookie . . . During the off season the affable Philadelphian is an electronics executive.

When Carl Tasseff left the Pats, Mike Holovak moved Chuck Weber to the defensive backfield and asked Jess if he wanted to coach the defensive line. "It took me about two seconds to say yes" said big Jess.

ROMMIE LOUDD

Rommie Loudd joins the Patriot coaching staff this season after a distinguished playing career. Loudd won gridiron fame at UCLA, being chosen as an All-American. He continued to receive honors despite the big step up to the pros, making the AFL All-Star team as a linebacker in 1960, when he was a member of the San Diego Chargers. Loudd was a starting linebacker with the Pats in the 1961 and 1962 campaigns, and finished his active career last season as player-coach for the ACFL Sweepers.

Loudd, the first Negro coach in the AFL, has served as representative of a bread company in the Hub area. He also had a brief tenure as a broadcasting executive with a Boston radio station.

The addition of Loudd brings Coach Holovak's full-time staff to four, the largest it has been since Holovak took the reins in 1961.

WILLIAM T. BATES

Trainer

William T. Bates was named trainer of the Boston Patriots in June of 1961. Bill fought in the Korean War in the front lines. He returned to the states and studied Biology and Physical Therapy at the University of Pennsylvania. He started assisting in the training room at Penn and eventually became the visiting trainer for the Philadelphia Eagles as assistant trainer.

GERRY MOORE

Director of Public Relations

ED. NOTE: (The information below contains excerpts from a column by John Gillooly at the Boston Record American. Although the column was written six years ago its message is still as pertinent now as it was then. Gerry Moore has helped the Patriots become an integral part of the Boston scene in these five years.)

He's a bit shy of six feet tall and he weighs less than 190 pounds but the Patriots yesterday signed on a man who can be of as much value to them as Gone Ron Burton, the back you see now and next see in the end zone.

The name is Gerry Moore and yesterday he was appointed director of public relations by Patriots president Billy Sullivan, who didn't wait ten days choosing his pitchman. It was Moore from the start. No one else was considered for the tub on which Moore will thump out rhythmic and expert releases.

Moore Has The Background

But I, for one, consider the Patriots downright lucky to be able to have a man of Moore's competence available. You don't find Moores too frequently. Here's the perfect prefabricated press-agent, with all the skills and the shining personality.

"I did some thinking about it, sure," said Moore, press secretary to Lt. Gov. Bob Murphy for the past three years and in a good position under the golden dome. "But I was in newspaper and associated businesses for 26 years and my enthusiasm for sports never did rub off. This is like coming home. This could be the most fantastic sports story of our time—the development of the Boston team in the American Football League and I'm fascinated to be playing a part in it."

A graduate of Boston Latin and Boston College, where he was a top scholar-athlete captaining the golf team and goal-tending for the hockey team, Moore began his journalistic career as a sophomore at the Heights. He was student correspondent for the Herald, working his way through at 25 cents per inch of space.

Moore did a hitch on the Transcript after graduation and then the Globe lured him. He was there 12 years and then spent three in the Navy as a lieutenant. After a year as tournament director for the PGA, he returned to the Post in 1947 and was a star sports writer, handling top assignments with a fine flourish, until that newspaper foundered in 1956.

Great Sport Names Laud Appointment

Thereupon he joined Lt. Gov. Murphy and this little pinch of politics should be just sufficient to make him the complete diplomat. Take a veteran of the press and sprinkle him with a few flakes of politics and you have precisely what the Patriots needed, Gerry Moore, who can have just about everything he desires in this department. Indeed, should the Patriots lose a game I'll feel reluctant to say so. I'll blame it on the weather or injuries or bad luck or something.

DR. JOSEPH DORGAN

Team Surgeon

Dr. Joe was born in Lawrence, educated in Lowell, and now lives in Belmont . . . has been with the Pats since the beginning . . . performed disc operation on Ron Burton in 1963 and Ron played 3 months later, a record in pro sports . . . a graduate of Holy Cross (Class of 1941), Joe also attended Tufts Medical where he now teaches.

He is a member of the staffs of Boston City Hospital, St. Elizabeth's Hospital, and Cambridge

City Hospital . . . He is Chief of Orthopedic Surgery at the Malden City Hospital . . . Joe and his wife Mary have three children, Joannie 21, Barbara 18, and Mary Anne 15 . . . The Patriots feel fortunate to have one of the foremost surgeons on their team.

ED McKEEVER

Director of Player Personnel

A native of Texas, Ed starred as a quarterback in his undergraduate days at Texas Tech. Since joining the Patriots six years ago, he was honored as Texas Tech's outstanding athlete of the past 25 years.

He entered the coaching profession and made his first appearance in Boston simultaneously, serving as backfield coach under Frank Leahy with the Boston College Cotton Bowl and Sugar Bowl teams of 1939 and 1940. The latter squad won the national championship by beating Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl.

Ed accompanied Leahy to Notre Dame the following year and when Frank entered the service in mid-1943, McKeever took over as head coach through 1944. During that stretch, the Irish enjoyed a 12-2 record.

He entered the professional ranks for the first time in 1948 as both general manager and head coach of the Chicago Rockets in the All-American Conference.

Ed served for four years as General Manager of the Pats before requesting his present assignment.

Ed lives in Baton Rouge, La. with his wife Gail. They have twin daughters, Jane and Mrs. Charles Corkern.

JOHN FITZGERALD
Business Manager

If you drive by Fenway Park late at night and notice the lights in the Patriots office burning brightly, chances are that John J. Fitzgerald, affable Business Manager of the Patriots is hard at work. John is a native of Everett and first developed his great love for football as a varsity guard for Denny Gildea on the Everett High team.

At the outset of the war Fitz entered the Navy and served under Admiral Bull Halsey and Chester Nimitz as well as Admiral O. A. Littlefield of Duxbury and Commander Bob O'Hayre of Cohasset.

After six years of Navy Blue, John donned the red, white and blue for the first time with United Air Lines. He eventually became manager of United's Boston office.

In October of 1959 the Buffalo Bills gained a franchise in the infant American Football League. Fitz was among the leading contenders for the job of Ticket Manager with the Bills. He called his old friend, Bill Sullivan, for a letter of recommendation and Bill suggested that Fitz wait a week. In that week the Pats became the eighth member to join the American Football League. John Fitzgerald donned the red, white, and blue a second time as he was the first person to be hired by the new Boston club. Initially Fitz handled the tickets, but now he is in charge of much of the other business of the club.

John and his wife, the former Margaret Healey of Arlington, now live in Swampscott. They have six children: Mark 15, Kevin 14, Terry 12, Julie 10, Rose Marie 7, and Brian 5.

CHARLES OLIVIERO
Director of Promotions

This is Charlie's second season with the Boston eleven. A native of Everett, Charlie attended B.U. and the Mass. School of Practical Art. He has been in the printing and advertising business for the past 15 years. Charlie handles all the group ticket sales for the Patriots and works in close coordination with Publicist Gerry Moore on all of the Patriot banquet and promotional programs.

WILLIAM FINUCANE
General Counsel

Bill Finucane has served as counsel to the club since its inception.

It seems safe to say that he probably has prepared more contracts over the past few years than many lawyers will handle in a lifetime. For example, in the first year of the Patriots' existence approximately 200 players passed through the mill including those at the tryout camp and at the regular training session at the University of Massachusetts. All had to be protected either with the standard player contract once they actually signed, or with a provisional document during the try-out periods.

In the legislation governing the American Football League recommendations from the desk of William Finucane have been adopted by other clubs and served as tremendous testimony to the wisdom of this attorney.

PETER C. SIRAGUSA

Musical Director

Ever since the spectacular pre-game and half-time presentations that went with the Patriots' triumph over the champion Oilers in the Harvard Stadium, people have been asking who organized the musical end of that program.

The answer is 35-year-old Peter Siragusa, a native of Belmont, who now resides in Brighton with his wife, the former Gloria Assanti of Arlington, and their five children, Francis 12, Stephanie 11, Peter, Jr. 9, Mark 8, and Gloria 6.

He is the same fellow who arranges the schedule of bands for the Patriots' contests at Fenway Park.

In addition to serving as Director of Entertainment for the Pats, Peter is Director of the Boston College and Boston Fire Department bands and is a member of the Music Department in the Boston Public Schools.

JACK NICHOLSON . . . Assistant Publicity Director. Jack is the newest member of the Patriots family and is assisting Gerry Moore in the club's publicity and public relations activities. He was special representative for the Pats in the Central Massachusetts area, writing a weekly column on pro football. Jack is a graduate of Clark University and lives in Holden with his wife Jean and their three children.

JOHN BIRCH . . . ticket assistant. John was the first to buy a Patriots season ticket in 1959. He became friends with Pats' ticket boss John Fitzgerald and Fitz later hired the affable Belmont native.

RALPH DELLO RUSSO

Equipment Manager

The most eligible bachelor of the Boston Patriots is not Art Graham. He is the man who keeps the Pats going—Ralph Dello Russo. This year marks Ralph's seventh year with the Patriots and his twenty-fourth in the equipment business. During his six-year tenure he has outfitted more than seven hundred aspirants to the Red, White, and Blue.

As soon as the war was over he applied for the equipment manager's job at Boston College. He won the job and for seventeen years served the Eagles in every sport.

In 1949 Mike Holovak became Freshman Coach of the Eagles and immediately a strong friendship developed between the husky Polish Pennsylvanian and the stocky Italian. When Mike joined the Pats in their first year, Ralph followed after him.

PHILLIPS ACADEMY, ANDOVER, MASS.

The Boston Patriots have the good fortune to train at the famed Phillips Academy in Andover, Mass. The surroundings are rustic and academic. The people on the Andover staff have made every possible effort to assure the Patriots that they are welcome. The facilities are the best, from the seven football fields, to the Isometric Room, to the swimming pool.

Steve Sorota, the head coach of football at the school, also supervises the Patriots Isometric Program. Sorota is an alumnus of Fordham and his watchful guidance of the Pats has produced a great increase in the strength of the club.

Ted Harrison and Frank Buchan of the Academy staff have arranged a training camp that is second to none.

1966

By GERRY MOORE

All the way to the championship from third place!

That is the ambitious goal set for his Patriots by General Manager and Head Coach Mike Holovak as the 1966 season approaches.

Mike's confidence is based on several factors, among which are included:

1. The best draft signings, quality-wise, the Patriots ever enjoyed. Accent was on big linemen as the Pats were the only team in the American Football League to sign their No. 1 and No. 2 choices in the persons of Tackle Karl Singer of Purdue and Defensive End Jim Boudreaux of Louisiana Tech. They also signed two consensus All-Americans in Singer and Guard Dick Arrington of Notre Dame while nailing down seven of their first 13 selections and three prominent red-shirts.

2. Trades that acquired Punter-Linebacker Jim Fraser from the Kansas City Chiefs and Quarterback John Huarte from the New York Jets.

3. The strong finish the Patriots put on last season. They were unbeaten in their last four games and were the only club in the league to win their last three outings.

Reversing the order of those factors in any discussion, Holovak proclaims: "The boys showed during the last half of last season that we still had the nucleus of a championship club. If just a few key spots are capably filled, as I am confident they can be by our newcomers or young holdovers, we will go all the way."

One thing is certain right now. The nucleus to which Mike refers will be the youngest in Patriots' history.

Seven veterans, most of them familiar faces since the advent of the AFL, have departed since the close of last season that ended with Holovak's only losing record (4-8-2) in the better part of five seasons that Mike has handled the Pats.

Four who went to the Miami Dolphins in their private stockpiling included Guard Billy Neighbors, Safety Ross O'Hanley, Linebacker Jack Rudolph and Quarterback Eddie Wilson.

Halfback Ron Burton and Receiver Jimmy Colclough left in the deals that netted Fraser and Huarte. Finally, Tackle Bob Yates, who was also a left-footed kickoff specialist, retired to enter coaching.

Before the last campaign was concluded, however, the Pats already had taken on a more youthful image. No less than seven rookies had virtually laid claim to starting berths.

This group, which will appear as more polished second-year men next Fall, encompassed Fullback Jim Nance, Tight End Jim Whalen, Tackle Tom Neville, Guard Justin Canale, Cornerbacks Tom Hennessey and Jay Cunningham, and Safety White Graves.

Competition for regular assignments, which always breeds towards success, should be rampant when the Pats convene again at Phillips Andover Academy for pre-season training. The highly rated Messrs. Singer and Arrington, for instance, will have to overcome Neville and Canale, the Miss. State twins, to whom much of the Patriot's late-season success was attributed last year.

The offensive Old Guard of the Pats again will be led by those durable Grand Opera twins, Babe Parilli and Gino Cappelletti. The former finished strong after a slow start last season. Now girded with a new two-year contract and glowing good health, Babe fully expects to lead the Pats to the title as No. 1 quarterback. At the same time, he should help with grooming Huarte and Rookie Billy Laird of Louisiana Tech for the role of his ultimate successor.

Cappelletti once again demonstrated his incomparable competitive qualities in retaining his individual scoring title. Entering the final game trailing Pete Gogolak by 11 points, Gino produced another personal record of 28 points during a 42 to 14 rout of Houston to win his fourth scoring crown going away with 132 points. He added some frosting to the cake by setting an All-Star record with four field goals during the Stars' victory over the champion Bills in the new-fangled classic.

A good darkhorse for All-League honors could be Artie Graham, the all-purpose split end, who professed during the off-season to be completely cured of the ills and injuries that harassed him during his first three seasons with the Pats.

With Nance having shown definite signs of filling the fullback slot, the Pats should be able to feature a more balanced attack than they have shown in the recent past. Additional running should come from Larry Garron, J. D. Garrett and such rookies as Bob Cappadona of Northeastern.

Up front on offense, the Pats again will have such stand-bys as Center Jon Morris, Co-Captain and Guard Charley Long, Tackle Don Oakes and Tight End Tony Romeo.

Leading the Boston defense as usual will be everybody's All-Middle Linebacker Nick Buoniconti, who won just about every honor available to him last year with the exception of the league's Player-of-the-Year, which usually goes to an offensive performer.

Nick's company in stopping the enemy will be a wide variety of the old mixed with the new, such familiar All-Stars as Capt. Tommy Addison, Bob Dee, Houston Antwine, Ron Hall and Larry Eisenhower mingling with a flock of eager youngsters.

The Patriots have made one significant coaching addition. He is Rommie Loudd, former Patriot linebacker, who has been put in charge of the linebackers and is the first Negro to attain such distinction in the AFL.

Charles (Chuck) Weber, erstwhile defensive backfield coach, has moved up as Holovak's No. 1 assistant while Art Spinney and Jesse Richardson continue in charge of the offensive and defensive lines, respectively.

This is the first time that Holovak has had four assistants since Mike took over the Patriots' helm back in October, 1961.

A Pro Football Marriage

A marriage of the two professional football leagues took place on June 8, 1966, when the announcement was made that the American and National Football Leagues had joined hands. From this spectacular new peace between the AFL and the NFL came the following main points:

1. A world championship game will be played between the AFL and the NFL at the end of the 1966 season. The game is set for January, 1967. The site is yet undetermined.
2. A common draft will be held in January, 1967. The signing of any "futures" or "red shirts" from last season's draft will be subject to competitive bidding.
3. Exhibition games between AFL and NFL teams will be played in pre-season 1967. Some games have already been arranged.
4. Two new franchises will be added no later than 1968. The NFL will add a city in 1967 and the AFL will follow with a new franchise in 1968.
5. Eventually, two new franchises will be added after 1968. The ultimate objective is 28 teams in 27 cities, with two leagues, possibly with each split into two divisions.
6. All existing franchises will be kept, and none will be transferred from its present city. This is subject to an edict of the merger that, by 1970, each team must be playing in a stadium with a minimum of 50,000 seats.
7. The expanded league will play one schedule in 1970. There will also be no inter-league trading until this time.
8. There will be continued two-network TV coverage. It is likely that the two-network (NBC-CBS) system will continue even when the league fully expands to its 28 teams.
9. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle will assume jurisdiction over the total league with Milt Woodard as president of the AFL. Al Davis voluntarily stepped down as AFL Commissioner after his major and dynamic contributions to the league's effort and growth.

There are many more specific points of dissonance to be resolved between the two leagues. One of those most active in arranging for the marriage and currently engaged in making final arrangements is Patriots' president Bill Sullivan. He is a member of the league's merger committee.

The future of pro football in Boston and throughout the country is looking better than ever now that the AFL and NFL have joined together for the practical and sensible good of the sport.

PRESS BOX PERSONNEL

Vin Maloney, veteran Boston newscaster, handles the majority of the Pats' games as Public Address Announcer. He is assisted by Charlie Lowe of Weymouth and Jimmy Kane, former B.C. quarterback.

The man with all of the right figures is chief statistician Jack Dwyer and play-by-play recorder is Fred Ciampa.

The cheerful and energetic Tommy McCarthy serves as press box steward.

1776 Club

Probably the most enthusiastic group of fans that can be found anywhere in the American Football League are the members of the 1776 Club of the Boston Patriots. This Club was founded at the beginning of the 1962 season by a small group of avid fans headed by John F. Gildea, a Greater Boston businessman. Meetings were held in the early part of June, and invitations to join were sent out to season ticket holders. A tremendous turnout came to the first meeting, and plans were formulated for the season. Various club members have been responsible for the large number of season ticket sales.

At the start of each training season, the 1776 Club sponsors a Family Day Barbecue at the Andover training camp. At this time, the coaches introduce the new players to the fans. Various contests are run off. These contests consists of running, passing, and kicking and the 1776 Club awards prizes to the winners.

When the football team leaves on a trip, there are members of the 1776 Club at the airport to give them a sendoff. And when the team returns after a trip, there are 1776ers at the airport to welcome them home no matter what the hour.

The Club also sponsors a dinner which kick-offs the season, and quarterback luncheons where prizes are given to the offensive and defensive players of the week.

This year's officers are:

Thirty-nine American Football League games—more than two-thirds of the AFL telecast schedule—will be presented by NBC Television in color, it was announced by Carl Lindemann Jr., Vice-President, NBC Sports.

The colorcasts will involve 37 regular games and the two post-season contests — the AFL Championship and All-Star games.

The NBC-TV schedule includes 20 playing dates during the regular season involving 16 Sundays, two Saturdays, one night game and Thanksgiving Day. Seven of these dates are national games and all will be colorcast. Of the remaining 13 dates devoted to regional telecasts, at least two and at times three games will be presented by NBC-TV in color.

THE PATS ON RADIO . . .

BOB STARR and GIL SANTOS

James Robert ("Bob") Starr has been named to do the play-by-play of the Boston Patriots' pro football games on WBZ Radio.

For the past nine years, Starr has been a Midwest broadcast sports reporter and football and basketball play-by-play announcer. During this time he has called more than 60 games a year, including the schedules of Bradley University, Illinois State University, and Illinois Wesleyan University. He comes to the Group W stations from WMBD Radio-TV, Peoria, Illinois, where he has been a sports broadcaster.

Born in Oklahoma, the 33-year-old Starr attended the University of Kansas and Western Illinois University. He played varsity football, basketball and baseball in high school and college. He began his broadcasting career in May, 1956, at KXGI, Ft. Madison, Iowa.

Gilbert A. ("Gil") Santos has been named as color announcer for the Boston Patriots' football coverage over WBZ Radio. Santos, along with Bob Starr, named this week as play-by-play announcer, will form the announcing team for the complete radio schedule of 18 games.

A resident of New Bedford where he will continue as Sports Director of WBSM, Santos is a graduate of the New England School for Radio and TV Broadcasting.

In making the announcement, WBZ Radio General Manager Perry B. Bascom, stated: "Gil Santos is the perfect choice to compliment Bob Starr's play-by-play duties. In his function as color announcer, Santos will be largely responsible for bringing the excitement of Patriots' football to the WBZ audience. We feel that Bob Starr and Gil Santos will make a particularly dynamic sports announcing team."

1965 BOSTON PATRIOTS

The Season at a Glance

September 11, 1965—45,502 at BUFFALO

Patriots 7, Bills 24

Riddled by injuries, and the mumps having struck co-captains Tommy Addison and Charlie Long, the Patriots took an early lead, but the Bills came on to tie the score at the half. By the end of the third period, the defending champions moved into a commanding lead and coasted the rest of the way.

Using ten rookies, the Pats could not muster any running attack worthy of the name, and Babe Parilli was forced to take to the air 35 times. The Pats' lone touchdown came on an eleven-yard toss from Parilli to Gino Cappelletti, who thereby got off to a good start in defense of his scoring title by scoring all the Boston points.

September 19, 1965—32,445 at HOUSTON

Patriots 10, Oilers 31

The Patriots took to the road again for the second week in a row. They lost linebacker Lonnie Farmer for the season early in the going and took a lopsided trounce from the fired up Oilers. The score was 14 to 10 at the half, but from then on it was all Oilers.

The Fraziers — Charlie and Willie — did the most damage. Smaller Charlie caught 6 passes for 182 yards and registered 2 touchdowns. Big Willie (now with San Diego) snagged 4 for 64 yards and a touchdown. Little Ode Burrell chipped into the field day by galloping 63 yards for one of Houston's many scores.

September 24, 1965—26,782 at BOSTON

Patriots 10, Broncos 27

Still reeling from their two road setbacks, the Patriots were literally ground into the Fenway Park turf during their home opener which saw Cookie Gilchrist and the Broncos compile a 27 to 10 decision.

The score was 10 to 10 at the halftime, but the Broncos took the second half kickoff and held the ball for 10 minutes as they slowly but surely punched out the go-ahead touchdown march. Little Joe Bellino made his starting debut at half-back in this one and did the best he could by gaining 25 yards in 7 tries. For Denver, the celebrated Cookie ran for 142 yards in 32 tries but was overshadowed during the second half by rookie Wendell Hayes who gained 81 yards in 14 attempts, many of them on key first down plays.

October 3, 1965—26,773 at KANSAS CITY

Patriots 17, Chiefs 27

The Patriots put up a better battle in their third road appearance in four weeks, but the result was the same with the Chiefs finally prevailing, 27 to 17. In the end it was a couple of pass interceptions turning into touchdowns that provided the margin of victory.

After Gino put the Pats out in front 3 - 0, Bobby Bell clipped a Babe Parilli aerial and sped 38 yards into the end zone. With the Pats attempting to battle back late in the game and trailing by only 3 points, Willie Mitchell got in front of another Parilli aerial and ran 37 yards for the score that sewed it up.

October 8, 1965—24,884 at BOSTON

Patriots 10, Raiders 24

The Raiders came into Boston and finally presented Al Davis with his first victory ever at Fenway Park. Big Art Powell had one of the greatest of his many great catching nights. He hauled down eleven for 206 yards and 2 touchdowns, one of which was a 65 yard team up with Tom Flores. An idea of the controlled game the Raiders engineered was proven by the fact that they had to punt only once during the decisive conquest.

October 17, 1965—20,924 at BOSTON

Patriots 13, Chargers 13

The Pats finally did not lose but had to settle for a deadlock after soundly outplaying the Chargers.

The Pats had many more scoring opportunities than the Chargers, but they could crash through for only one touchdown. Eddie Wilson made his first start at quarterback in this game, but after a 3 to 0 deficit at the quarter, Babe Parilli entered and quickly combined with Ron Burton on a 73 yard touchdown pass.

The Chargers soon came back and in the same manner, with Johnny Hadl teaming up with Lance Alworth on an 80 yard bomb. Gino Capelletti and Herb Travenio each made two field goals to complete the scoring.

October 24, 1965—20,858 at OAKLAND

Patriots 21, Raiders 30

The Raiders were the first team to complete a sweep on the Patriots for this season when they achieved a 30 to 21 win in chummy Frank Youell Field.

Babe Parilli looked like his old self again as he completed 15 out of 31 passes for 222 yards. Included in that was a 67 yard gainer on which Jim Whalen was the receiver. However, once again the interception bugaboo reared its ugly head. The Patriots were trailing by only 2 points with a minute to go when Gus Otto speared an attempted Parilli aerial and raced 34 yards to the touchdown that put the issue beyond recall.

October 31, 1965—33,366 at SAN DIEGO

Patriots 22, Chargers 6

The Pats finally crashed through to their first victory of the season and fittingly enough it was at the expense of the Chargers in their own back yard. The Patriots are still the only club in the league that holds a lifetime edge over San Diego in regular season competition.

Jay Cunningham tackled Speedy Duncan in the end zone for a safety that started the Patriots' scoring. Only a few seconds later the Grand Opera Twins teamed up for a 39 yard scoring pass to put the Patriots out front 10 to 0. Gino added another field goal and touchdown, before San Diego, shut out only three times in the league history, finally managed to score midway in the final session.

November 7, 1965—24,415 at BOSTON

Patriots 7, Bills 23

The Pats returned home only to run into another epidemic of their early season mistakes and succumbed again to the champion Bills. Despite problems, the Pats remained in contention until Charlie Warner raced 102 yards for a touchdown on the kickoff following the Patriots making the score 7 to 13. This happened only seconds before the first half ended. The Patriots did end the great streak of the Buffalo line when J. D. Garrett went into the end zone for the Patriots touchdown. The Bills' defense had gone through more than two seasons not yielding a touchdown on the ground.

November 14, 1965—18,589 at BOSTON

Patriots 20, Jets 30

Fumbles, intercepted passes, and all kinds of mistakes handed the Jets a 17 to 0 lead before the fans had hardly settled in their seats.

Parilli attempted to bring off an old fashion Boston comeback when he completely outpassed Joe Namath while piling up 275 yards for 2 touchdowns. However, when the Pats finally reduced the margin to 24 to 17, the Jets turned to ball control and added a couple of more field goals before the end.

November 21, 1965—13,056 at BOSTON

Patriots 10, Chiefs 10

Having shed 14 pounds in the previous week, big Jim Nance finally emerged to show his early promise in this one as the Patriots roundly outplayed the talented Chiefs before finally being forced to settle for a tie.

Ironically, a fumble by Nance kept the Pats from winning in the closing stages, but the plaudits of his teammates showed that Nance had arrived. Big Jim picked up 66 yards in rushing and another 22 while catching 3 passes, most of this done on key plays.

November 28, 1965—59,334 at NEW YORK

Patriots 27, Jets 23

Continuing to show that they were whole again, the Patriots pulled off a typical Garrison Finish to win this one before the largest crowd which ever watched them in regular season action.

The winning touchdown came with less than a minute to play when Babe Parilli hit Tony Romeo in the end zone on a 4th down 2 yard pass. Jim Colclough, destined to wind up with the Jets this season, enjoyed one of his greatest days when he snagged 5 key passes for 96 yards and two touchdowns. Jimmy was still suffering a slight concussion when his teammates presented him with the game ball.

December 12, 1965—27,207 at DENVER

Patriots 28, Broncos 20

The Patriots continued to roll and brought to bear their best balanced attack of the season as they turned back the Broncos.

Jim Nance set the stage by outrushing Cookie Gilchrist 79 yards to 73 yards, thereby enabling Parilli to mix up his passing and running game. Babe hit on 11 out of 22 attempts for 201 yards and 3 touchdowns.

December 18, 1965—14,508 at BOSTON

Patriots 42, Oilers 14

The Patriots pulled out all the stops for this finale and rolled over the slumping Oilers for one of the most decisive wins in the history of the famous Boston-Houston rivalry.

Individually the spotlight was on Gino Cappelletti who entered the game trailing Pete Gogolak by 11 points in the individual scoring race. Gino responded with his individual high of all times by compiling 28 points, thereby walking off with the scoring crown for the fourth time in six years. Gogolak was blanked the following day in New York, but the Jets' victory on that occasion kept the fast finishing Patriots from gaining second place. However, their showing in the final half of the 1965 season convinced Coach Mike Holovak that he had a good nucleus around which to build for the upcoming campaign.

PATRIOTS BASKETBALL TEAM

The Boston Patriots Basketball Team was organized in 1964 by Pats' publicist Gerry Moore, who serves as General Manager of the quintet. In the off football season of 1966, the Pats' hoopsters made their third season another winning one, recording a 15-10 slate.

On the squad were Tom Yewcic, Babe Parilli, Gino Cappelletti, Ron Burton, Ross O'Hanley, Larry Garron, Tom Addison, Jon Morris, Len St. Jean, Larry Eisenhauer, Charley Long, Jim Colclough, Art Graham and Nick Buoniconti. There was such a surplus of hoop talent that the team enjoyed the luxury of a taxi squad.

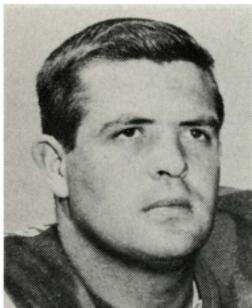

The team completed the cycle of playing in all six New England states in April when they invaded Maine to play in Brunswick and Rockland. Larry Eisenhauer replaced Tom Yewcic as the club's leading scorer in '66.

H. P. Hood & Sons, once again sponsored the team through the kindness of Tom Feenan, who is director of Hood's program for youth fitness.

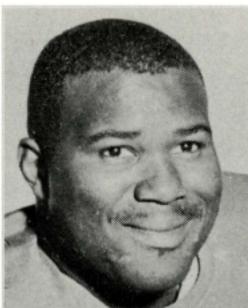

Anyone wishing to challenge the Pats should phone Gerry Moore or Jack Nicholson at CO 2-1776.

Jay Cunningham DB 23 5'10" 180 Bowling Green

Among the top Boston rookies of '65 . . . one of the fastest men on squad . . . thrilled fans last season with darting runbacks of kickoffs and punts . . . led Pats and finished ninth in league in kickoff returns . . . averaged 22 yards every time . . . of Pats handling more than one punt, he had highest average return . . . can go all the way . . . also showed up well on suicide squad . . . makes up for lack of size with tremendous drive and eagerness . . . "Jay the dart" set all sorts of running records at Bowling Green where he excelled as a running back . . . was All-Conference for three years and received All-American mention . . . an exciting performer, could probably bust a few open in '66.

Bob Dee DE 30 6'4" 250 Holy Cross

"Bubba" was one of the original Patriots, joining Boston's pros after a year of coaching at Holy Cross . . . previously was a regular for Washington Redskins . . . left the NFL despite the persuasive efforts of Redskins' coaches . . . played in East-West Shrine Game after starring at Holy Cross . . . has been a standout regular for Pats since their first campaign . . . was defensive captain for two seasons . . . was named to his fourth All-Star team in '65 . . . one of those rare pro veterans who gets better and better with each season . . . getting ready for a title try in '66, Bob has gone over 250 with new weight lifting program . . . has some of his best games against AFL's premier tackle, Chargers' Ron Mix . . . San Diego coach Sid Gilman has called Bob "best in the league" . . . has helped others on Pats' defensive front with his knowledge of the maneuvers that work . . . scored first touchdown in AFL history when Pats beat Bills in inaugural exhibition in '60 . . . probably stresses finesse more than any other defensive end in league on the pass rush.

Larry Garron HB 29 6' 195 Western Illinois

This high stepping, hard running Patriot has been, since the team's inception, the prime, consistent ground threat . . . when in the past the running game was on the spot, there was Larry to bring home the bacon . . . also excited Fenway crowds with his explosive kickoff returns . . . set Boston record when he went 85 yards from scrimmage against Buffalo Bills in '61 . . . an original

Patriot, he's also one of the most popular . . . was cut in 1960 but came back 30 pounds heavier in '61 to stick for good as a self-made star . . . unsurpassed determination and second effort . . . three time AFL All-Star . . . can play fullback or halfback . . . also excels as pass receiver . . . was voted Boston's most valuable player in '63 . . . much like Houdini at getting away from tacklers . . . "one of the best backs at catching passes I have ever played with," were the words of Babe Parilli on this smiling, unassuming half-back ace . . . broken collarbone sidelined Larry for first part of '65 . . . but he is looking forward out to his greatest season yet in 1966.

Charley's aim for '66 is a Boston championship.

Jon Morris C 23 6'2" 240 Holy Cross
One of the top gridgers in Holy Cross history . . . captained Crusaders in 1963 . . . played sixty minutes in every ball game as linebacker and center . . . could have been outstanding pro linebacker had not his ability as offensive center been so exceptional . . . #2 draft choice of Green Bay Packers . . . Rams had eagerly scouted him since his sophomore year . . . captained All-Star Senior Bowl team . . . also drew praise from Coach Otto Graham for his outstanding performance in Chicago's College All-Star Game . . . Jon's father is with New York Times office in Washington, D.C. . . . batting .1000, the ex-Crusader was AFL East's All-Star center for second year in a row . . . in poll of AFL players during his rookie season, Jon missed by one vote being named top center in entire league . . . a year ago one national sports publication named him top pivotman in either pro league . . . very able at handling two rushers at once . . . should end up as one of the best of all time . . . anxiously awaiting head-to-head competition with the NFL.

Jim Nance FB 23 6'1" 245 Syracuse

After a slow start, "Big Bo" had an impressive finish as rookie fullback in '65 . . . showed awesome running power in late season games . . . often carried two or more tacklers with him through the line . . . if he continues in '66 as he left off in '65, he can become pro football's most overpowering fullback . . . was high draft choice of Chicago Bears . . . Syracuse coaches rated Jim with Jimmy Brown and Ernie Davis . . . remarkable blocking ability when he turns it on . . . tied Boston record by scoring five times on the ground in rookie season . . . also showed ability as pass receiver . . . gives Pats their biggest inside running threat ever . . . was NCAA Heavyweight Wrestling Champ in '63 and '65 . . . Eastern title winner three years in a row . . . won 91 out of 92 matches . . . was Athlete-of-the-Year at Syracuse as a Senior . . . kept in shape in off-season as a rigger in Quincy Shipyard . . . he feels "this is the year for Babe, who really guides the Pats, so Boston should take it all." . . . Nance was a cause for smiles in pre-season Andover, and with fellow (Syracusan) Jim Brown retiring, many feel he has the stuff it takes to be the game's number one cruncher . . . '66 should be a year of "crash 'n carry" for big Bo.
