THE N.F.L.'S 16TH CITY

New Orleans, Louisiana

When the National Football League concluded its search for a 16th city to enter professional football's coast-to-coast and border-to-border super league, New Orleans, Louisiana, was the winner! And the NFL couldn't have selected a more historic, more colorful, more unique and, for that matter, a city more ripe for professional football.

"The City that Care Forgot" is perhaps best known for its fabulous Mardi Gras celebration every February. But as historic and fun-loving as New Orleans is as a city, it is also one of the bustling metropolitan centers of the United States, an area with more than one million population with an economy that plays a vital role in the fortunes of a vast area of the south and central part of the nation.

In the enthusiasm over the unique—the Mardi Gras, the French Quarter with its perpetual carnival spirit, the moonlight rides on Lake Pontchartrain and the meandering Mississippi River—the casual newcomer may not realize he is also visiting the nation's second largest seaport—51.4 miles of docks front on the Mississippi and another 11 miles on the Inner Harbor Navigational Canal. The port serves an area covering 55 percent of the continental United States and 40 percent of its population.

The city itself is situated geographically quite unlike any other city in the world. Squeezed between the Mississippi River, numerous bayous and the solid shores of Lake Pontchartrain, the Crescent City's elevation varies only a few feet, from just below sea level to just a few feet above sea level. The only break in the table-flat landscape is the occasional rise that marks a levee of the river, the lake or one of the numerous canals that literally keep the area's million-plus residents sleeping safely each night low and dry, as opposed to the proverbial high and dry situation.

In spite of the city's 63-inch annual rainfall, New Orleans has a delightful sun-dominated climate. Rarely does the temperature rise above 95 degrees in summertime and a snowfall—one did hit just before the Sugar Bowl game in 1966—is about as rare as a sunstroke in Antarctica.

The New Orleans area is a manufacturing and industrial center of the first magnitude with a wide diversity of pursuits in its economy. New Orleans and the state of Louisiana are rich in natural resources. Ranked nationally, Louisiana is second in natural gas, second in petroleum, second in sulphur, first in salt and very high in such other products and industries as alcohol, sugar cane, clay suitable for brick and tile, cotton, gravel, rice, limeshell, sand, seafood and timber.

New Orleans was founded by Bienville in 1718 as a French colony. It became a French crown colony in 1731, was given to King Charles III of Spain secretly by his cousin, Louis XV, in 1762, was under Spanish rule from 1766 to 1803, when it was transferred back to France and then, in the same year, sold to the United States for $15,000,000 in the famous Louisiana Purchase deal. The purchase covered an area that now comprises all or part of 17 states.

The Battle of New Orleans fought in January, 1815, was one of the decisive battles of the War of 1812. And New Orleans was captured early in the conflict by Union forces during the Civil War, mute testimony to the geographically strategic location of the Crescent City to a vast part of the North American continent.

Being able to recall these signs of the past in the landmarks of the present is one reason for the charm of New Orleans. For while New Orleans has grown and modernized, it has also preserved. Comparatively little that occurred during the historical past is not now in some way carried on to the present day.

There won't be another city like New Orleans in professional football—something that can be said with a great deal of pride by the city's exuberant football fans. It's a combination that should produce two big winners—the city with its new NFL membership and the NFL with its newest member—New Orleans!

TULANE STADIUM (Sugar Bowl)

First-Year Home of the Saints

Tulane Stadium, a massive double-decked structure of steel and concrete, will serve as the first home of the Saints, pending the completion of New Orleans' so-called Super-Dome in two or three years. With an official seating capacity of 80,985, it gives the Saints the largest stadium seating capacity in professional football.

Perhaps best known as the site of the famous Sugar Bowl football classic each New Year's Day, Tulane Stadium has been the home of Tulane University's Green Wave football games since October 23, 1926, when the stadium was dedicated with a 35,000-seat capacity.

In the dedication game, Auburn defeated Tulane, 2-0. Since then, the stadium has been the scene of many memorable gridiron battles.

The original stadium was constructed with the financial assistance of New Orleans residents who contributed $300,000 in a whirlwind, five-day stadium contribution campaign. Enlargements and improvements of the huge stadium have been largely due to the efforts of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association, sponsor of the annual Sugar Bowl classic.

The first Sugar Bowl game was played January 1, 1935, when Tulane defeated Temple, 20-14. The capacity was upped to 49,000 in 1937 and then to 69,000 in 1939. The massive bowl was enlarged to its present 80,985-seat capacity in 1947.

SAINTS TICKET INFORMATION

SEASON TICKET SALE

The New Orleans Saints made professional football history their very first day of season ticket sales on March 8, 1967, when they sold more than 20,000 season tickets to an obviously football-eager horde of New Orleans, Louisiana and Deep South fans. As of mid-summer, the Saints' first-year season-ticket sale had reached about 34,000, thus ranking the Saints above all AFL teams except New York and about half of the NFL clubs. Late-summer sales may well push the final 1967 season sale near the 40,000 mark.

In addition, Saints tickets may be ordered through Southern Airways offices and Western Union offices in most cities in the several-state geographical area surrounding New Orleans.

MECOM, JR.
President

JOHN W.

John, Jr. and wife Katsy proudly display the Saints flag, a gift to the club from the City of New Orleans.

The personage of the Saints president and principal stockholder, John W. Mecom, Jr., typifies the entire organization of the NFL's sixteenth entry. He's young (28) but schooled in today's dynamic and competitive sports and business world, enthusiastic, determined, personable, energetic and always a winner!

The Mecom magnetism has penetrated the oil industry, real estate, hotels, automotive sports, ranching, and a most fascinating and unusual list of hobbies and diversions—just to pinpoint a selection of his and the family's interests. But John Mecom, Jr.'s efforts during the past 18 months have been flooded into 1) acquiring the NFL's expansion franchise in New Orleans; and 2) developing and guiding that entry—the Saints—into a competitive, exciting addition to professional football.

Though Mecom is a native Texan, fully 90 per cent of the family's U. S. Oil Company holdings are located in Louisiana. The company's headquarters are located on historic Lee Circle in New Orleans, as are the administrative facilities of the Saints.

After being named by the NFL as the New Orleans Saints major stockholder, Mecom organized an ownership distribution to include more than 20 Louisianians long prominent in sports, civic and business circles.

John W. Mecom, Jr. attended the University of Oklahoma and the University of Texas, and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. During undergraduate days at Oklahoma, John met his wife, the former Katsy Mullendore of Pawhuska, Okla. They were married in 1962, and have accounted for John W. Mecom III, a bright three-year-old with inquisitive "Mecom blue" eyes, and Katsy, born in late January, 1967—a full month younger than Daddy's Saints.

Outside of football, Mecom's favorite sport is racing. He's an expert speedboat driver, and most auto racing fans are aware of his reputation as the owner of some famed Indianapolis 500 entries. Mecom-owned cars finished first in 1966 and second in 1967 at the Indianapolis classic.

And, there's another sporting fact about the NFL's newest and youngest official—he and his family are attempting to preserve wild game at their ranch. After several trips to Africa and the Mid-East, dismayed at the relentless slaughter of animals, Mecom is slowly imigrating pairs of more than 150 beleaguered species. He recently donated an elephant and three sable antelopes to the New Orleans Zoo.

BERT E. ROSE, JR. Executive Vice President and General Manager

Bert E. Rose Jr., the Executive Vice President and General Manager of the New Orleans Saints, has been in professional football in various capacities since 1955, when he became public relations director of the Los Angeles Rams. The general manager of the Rams then was Pete Rozelle, now commissioner of major professional football.

Rose, now 47, was with the Rams from 1955 to 1960 when he became general manager of the National Football League's expansion team in the Twin Cities, the Minnesota Vikings. He drew immediate acclaim by setting up the organization that sold a first-year record 25,000 season tickets and helping to formulate a Viking team that defeated the Chicago Bears in their NFL debut and won three games in their first season.

Rose left the Vikings in June, 1964, returned to the Rams briefly as a special assistant to club president Dan Reeves, and in February, 1965, was appointed a special assistant to NFL commissioner Rozelle in charge of college relations. He resigned from that position in the NFL office to join the Saints.

A native of Seattle, Wash., Rose was graduated from the University of Washington with a B. A. in Journalism. He later served as commander of a subchaser in the Navy during World War II and then joined the public relations department of Boeing Aircraft Co.

He began his career in athletics in 1947 as a sports publicity director for his alma mater, Washington. He became assistant athletic director in 1952 and was in charge of Washington's recruiting program for all sports. He left Washington in 1955 to join the Rams as public relations director, the start of his pro football career.

Bert and his wife, Ellen, have three sons — Brian, Steven and Scott.

TOM FEARS
Head Coach

New Orleans' new first-year National Football League Saints also have a first-year coach, Tom Fears, who is starting his head coaching career after eight years as an assistant coach at Green Bay, Los Angeles and Atlanta. But the Saints' head mentor has quickly taken command of his forces and, even from the start, he has been running the Saints' show like a yeteran.

Fears started his coaching career in 1959 at Green Bay under Vince Lombardi, but he switched to the Los Angeles Rams in 1960 and 1961. Then he was back at Green Bay in 1962 and he remained there through the 1965 season, when he joined the staff of the Atlanta Falcons as chief offensive coach.

More than one NFL star can credit a good part of his success to the work Tom Fears put into helping him become a great player. At Green Bay, it was Boyd Dowler, who was rookie-of-the-year in 1959, and Ron Kramer, an all-pro tight end in 1962 and 1963. At Los Angeles, it was Del Shofner, who won all-pro honors for the first time in 1960, and Red Phillips, an all-pro receiver and pass catching-leader in 1961.

It shouldn't have been surprising that Fears could turn out such outstanding receivers, because as a player, Fears knew few equals. He became the first and only player ever to lead the NFL in receiving in his rookie season and he did it in his first three. He caught 51 passes as a rookie and then broke Don Hutson's then-standing record with 77 catches in 1949. The next year, Fears broke his own record with 84 receptions. He continued playing with the Rams through the 1956 season.

Fears' pre-pro days include two years at Santa Clara in 1941 and 1942, three years in the U. S. Air Force during World War II, and two years at UCLA in 1946 and 1947. Fears, who participated in the Air Force's pilot training program, captained the Second Air Force's famous Superbomber eleven in 1944 and 1945.

Born December 3, 1923, in Los Angeles, Fears and his wife, LuElla, have six children. They are Kathleen 14, Patrick 13, Katie 12, Denny 11, Jono 9 and JoJo 7. In addition the Fears' official family includes "Bay," a Labrador Retriever that Fears acquired, as you might guess, when he was working in Green Bay.

GEORGE DICKSON Chief Offensive Coach

Head man of the Saints' offensive coaching staff is George Dickson, a veteran of 18 years of coaching and Tom Fears' first choice as an assistant on the Saints' staff.

Dickson, born September 27, 1924, in Boston, played halfback and quarterback behind Johnny Lujack and George Ratterman at Notre Dame, graduating in 1950. Before his college grid days, he had served with the U.S. 101st Airborne Division in the Battle of the Bulge at Bastogne. He was also middleweight boxing champion in the 101st Airborne division and at Notre Dame.

As a coach, Dickson has served as an assistant at Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Southern California and the College of the Pacific as well as some smaller colleges and junior colleges. He served under Frank Leahy at Notre Dame, where he coached Paul Hornung and Ralph Guglielmi. He served under Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma and, at COP, he coached Dick Bass.

Dickson was an assistant coach with the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League in 1960 and 1961 and then was with the Denver Broncos as a defensive backfield coach in 1964 and 1965. He moved to the Atlanta Falcons as an offensive coach last year and became the Saints' first assistant coach just one day after Fears received his appointment as head coach last January.

Dickson is single.

WALT YOWARSKY Offensive Line Coach

Joining George Dickson on the Saints' offensive coaching staff is Walt Yowarsky, an original member of the Minnesota Vikings' coaching staff who worked six years with the Vikings until Head Coach Norm Van Brocklin resigned last winter. When Yowarsky became available, Fears quickly added him to the Saints' coaching roster.

Yowarsky was an outstanding tackle for the University of Kentucky during his college days and was named the Most Valuable Player in the January, 1951, Sugar Bowl game when the Wildcats upset Oklahoma, 13-7, to end a 33-game Sooner win streak.

Walt was drafted as a second-round choice by the Redskins in 1951 and he played until early in the 1952 season, when he entered the Air Force for two years. He served in West Germany as an air base athletic officer and also coached the line for an Air Force eleven.

He rejoined the Redskins in 1954 and in 1955 he was traded to Detroit as part of a four-player deal. Midway in the 1955 campaign, New York acquired Yowarsky and he played with the Giants until mid-1958, when he went to San Francisco to conclude his playing career. Before starting his coaching stint at Minnesota, Yowarsky served the Giants two years as a scout and assistant coach.

A native of Cleveland, Yowarsky is 39. He and his wife, Bobbie, have two children, Michael 9, and Lisa 6.

JACK FAULKNER Chief Defensive Coach

Faulkner is a former head coach and general manager of the Denver Broncos of the American Football League. Faulkner guided the Broncos to their best season ever with a 7-7 record in 1962 and was named AFL Coach of the Year in that season.

After leaving the Broncos, Faulkner served a year as defensive backfield coach with the Minnesota Vikings and then saw duty in the personnel and scouting department of the Los Angeles Rams in 1966.

Faulkner, a native of Youngstown, Ohio, and a graduate of Miami University of Oxford, Ohio, lettered in football, baseball and track at Miami and, at the same time, began a long association with Sid Gillman, presently head coach-general manager of the San Diego Chargers.

Faulkner started his coaching career under Gillman as an assistant at the University of Cincinnati in 1955. When Gillman joined the Los Angeles Rams as head coach in 1956, Faulkner went as an assistant.

Gillman took over as head coach of the Los Angeles Chargers in the AFL's first year in 1960 and Faulkner went too. When the Chargers moved to San Diego, Faulkner did, too, but his long association with Gillman ended in 1962 when Faulkner joined the Denver staff.

ED KHAYAT Defensive Line Coach

Khayat, 31, is starting his coaching career this season after an illustrious playing career in college and two professional football leagues.

A native of Moss Point, Miss., Khayat attended Millsaps College in Jackson, Miss., for one season and then attended one year at Perkinston, Miss., Junior College. He then transferred to Tulane to complete his last two seasons of varsity football.

Khayat was signed by the Washington Redskins as a free agent in 1957 and then spent nine seasons in the National Football League more or less shuttling back and forth between the Redskins and the Philadelphia Eagles.

Ed played with the Redskins in 1957, 1962 and 1963 and saw service with the Eagles from 1958 through 1961 and again in 1964 and 1965. He completed his active playing career last year with the Boston Patriots in the American Football League. As a professional, Khayat played both defensive end and defensive tackle and should be well qualified to help develop the fledgling Saints' defensive forces.

Ed was married in May, 1966, to the former Miss Deborah Dearing. They have no children.

BOB SHAW Receiver Coach

The third member of the Saints' offensive coaching staff is receiver coach Bob Shaw, who came to the Saints from the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian League, where he had been head coach the last two seasons.

Shaw, 43, is a former all-America football and basketball at Ohio State. A big man at 6-4 and 240 pounds, he played professional basketball for the Toledó Jeeps in the NBA but football was his game, as can be evidenced by an eight-year pro playing career and a 14-year coaching career. Bob was a member of the Cleveland

Bob was a member of the Cleveland Rams world championship team in 1945 and later was a member of the Rams' western division championship team in 1949 after the Ramshad moved to Los Angeles. A broken neck suffered late in the 1947 season kept. him out of action in 1948.

Shaw's greatest day as a professional football player came in 1950 when, as a member of the Chicago Cardinals team, he caught five touchdown passes, an NFL record that still stands. He played at Calgary in 1951 and 1952 and at Toronto in 1953.

After coaching high school football in Ohio, Shaw saw service as a head coach at New Mexico Military Institute, as an assistant coach with both the San Francisco 49ers and the Baltimore Colts and as a head coach with the Saskatchewan Roughriders before joining the Toronto staff.

Shaw, a native of Richwood, Ohio, and his wife, Mary, have two children, Webb 15, and Amy 8.

VIC SCHWENK Director of Player Personnel

The most critical early job of a new organization, that of director of player personnel, went to Vic Schwenk, veteran scout and former player personnel director of the Los Angeles Rams. Schwenk was the first person to join John W. Mecom Jr.'s organization last winter.

Schwenk, who has spent most of his life in Los Angeles, was a 60-minute end on the UCLA Rose Bowl team of 1947. He later finished his college playing career at Occidental College.

His coaching career began at Colton High School and San Marino High School in southern California and concluded with a four-year head coaching stint at Occidental. His record there was 23 wins and 12 losses and included two conference titles.

Schwenk joined the Los Angeles Rams staff in 1954 as a scout. He became director of player personnel in 1963. He was a member of the Rams offensive coaching staff in 1964 and 1965 and then joined the Edmonton Eskimos in the Canadian League as general manager in 1966. However, illness in his family forced his return to Los Angeles and he served as a special game scout under George Allen with the Rams in the 1966 season.

He joined the Saints' staff and began the arduous task of starting a new team's player personnel program in December, 1966.

THE SAINTS TRAINERS

FRED "Pete" PETTERSON

Peterson's experience as an athletic trainer goes back to 1945 when he became assistant trainer for the Chicago Black Hawks hockey team. Since then, he has been head trainer at Ohio Wesleyan, Wyoming, for Ottawa of the Canadian Football League, and more recently, with Fullerton (Calif.) Junior College and Occidental. Additionally, he has worked with the Los Angeles Rams trainer for the past five years.

Pete, a former national director of the National Athletic Trainer's Association, joined the Saints' organization as_co-trainer early in 1967.

Peterson was educated at Cornell and Oberlin College. He is married (Annie).

BOBBY J. YARBOROUGH

After six and one-half years as assistant trainer and equipment manager of the AFL's Kansas City Chiefs, Yarborough was appointed co-trainer of the Saints in April.

Yarborough, 30, attended the University of Texas where he served as student trainer under the veteran Frank Medina. He was the trainer for the old Houston Buffs for their final games in the Texas League, and joined the then Dallas Texans (now the Chiefs), in 1961.

The Yarborough family, wife Joyce and sons Craig (14), Keith (12), Chris (10) and Brian (5) make their home in suburban Jefferson Parish.

THE SAINTS EQUIPMENT MEN

CHARLIE SHEPHERD

The Saints' Equipment Manager is 29-year-old Charlie Shepherd, a native of Atlanta, Ga. Shepherd served as the Atlanta Falcon's assistant equipment man during 1966. Before his assignment with Atlanta, was in the sporting goods business.

WALLACE BROWN

The native New Orleanian attended Dillard University, and formerly worked with the New Orleans Recreation Department as park supervisor and coach.

Brown and his wife Connie expect their first child this year.

SAINTS MASCOT

A true "Saint," a Saint Bernard puppy bred and donated by the Heiligehof Kennels in Morrison, Colorado, will serve as the official Saints mascot in 1967. The puppy will be six months old in August, 1967, and its care has been donated to the Saints by the Louisiana Restaurant Association. The Association, official local sponsor of the puppy, in mid-summer, 1967, started a public contest to pick a name for the Saint Bernard. ?????? will be on hand for every game the Saints play at home.

SAINTS CHEERLEADERS

Tryouts were held late in July for high school juniors and seniors who will serve as the Saints cheerleaders for all 1967 home games. The area students cheer for the Saints on a voluntary basis, with their uniforms and supplies furnished by the club. The young ladies will be attired in a costume similar to the one worn here by Mrs. Joanne Goldman of the Saints ticket staff.

1967 HALFTIMES

Outstanding high school and college bands from the Louisiana and Mississippi area will perform at halftime during the Saints first season. And, of course, fans in Tulane Stadium and television viewers across the land, will be seeing lots of the Saints' own Al Hirt and his band. The famed jazzman is one of the Saints owners—and one of their biggest fans. Hirt and his band will play before and during each of the home games . . . and make sure that the "Saints Go Marchin' In".

THE SAINTS FROM THE EXPANSION DRAFT

To assure the fledgling New Orleans Saints a nucleus of veteran players, the National Football League used the same procedures to stock the Saints that were used in the formation of the Atlanta Falcons club a year earlier.

With the exception of Atlanta, which was exempted from the expansion draft this year, each of the other 14 clubs in the NFL were allowed to freeze 29 players, thus leaving 11 players from their active 40-man roster eligible to be selected by the Saints. After the Saints had selected one player from each club, each club then froze two more players and then the Saints selected two more players from each club's remaining eight unfrozen players. Altogether, the Saints selected 42 players from the other clubs in the National Football League.

While the teams in the NFL are limited to 40 active players for each game, the Saints will be allowed to carry 46 players on their active roster for the first two games and 42 players thereafter. However, 72 hours in advance of each game, the Saints must designate 40 players that will actually be eligible for the coming game.

CUOZZO, GARY SAMUEL
(Pronounced "Kwa-zo")
6-1, 198, Quarterback, 5th Year, Virginia
Born April 26, 1941 at Montclair, New Jersey
Joined Saints: Trade with Baltimore, 1967

PRO: Signed as a free agent by the Baltimore Colts after a star-studded career at Virginia. Cuozzo developed into one of the top back-up quarterbacks in pro football behind Johnny Unitas at Baltimore . . . Obtained by the Saints in a trade with Baltimore that also brought Butch Allison to New Orleans in exchange for Bill Curry and two draft choices, including the Saints' No. 1 pick . . . Cuozzo first came into the spotlight in the 1965 season, when he replaced Unitas, who was injured . . . In his first "fireman" role against Chicago, he threw the winning touchdown pass against the Bears . . . The next week, in his first starting assignment, Cuozzo passed for a record five touchdowns in a 41-21 rout of the Minnesota Vikings . . . He completed 16 of 26 passes for 208 yards that day . . . Later that year, in another critical game against Green Bay, Cuozzo was felled by a shoulder separation, went out for one series of downs and then came back to finish the game in an unusual show of determination and courage . . . Cuozzo helped the Colts notch 27 points, completing 20 of 38 passes for 212 yards and one touchdown, but Green Bay did eventually prevail . . . Following the game, he was forced to undergo surgery that ended his playing for the season . . . Cuozzo's top 1966 game was against Detroit, when he completed 12 of 18 passes for 178 yards and one TD . . . General concensus is that Cuozzo is ripe for a No. 1 quarterback job and he'll get that chance with the Saints.

COLLEGE: A three-year regular at Virginia, Cuozzo completed 98 of 181 attempts for a 54.1 percentage as a senior . . . A phi Beta Kappa dental student, he was by-passed by pro scouts who felt he more likely would pursue a dental career than try the pro football game.

PERSONAL: In the off-season, is still a dental student at the University of Tennessee dental school in Memphis . . . Attended Glen Ridge, N. J., high school . . . Hobby is golf . . . Married (Peggy) . . . Two children (Kimberly and Elizabeth) . . . Now resides in Glen Ridge, N. J.

DAVIS, RICHARD KENNETH (Ted) 6-1, 232, Linebacker, 4th Year, Georgia Tech Born July 27, 1942, at Memphis, Tennessee Joined Saints: Expansion Draft, 1967 (from Baltimore)

PRO: No. 1 draft choice of the San Diego Chargers and No. 4 draft choice of the Baltimore Colts in 1964 . . . Spent some time as a tight end as a rookie with Baltimore and also has played all three linebacking spots at Baltimore . . . Intercepted one pass with 15-yard return in 1966 . . . Played in all 14 games with Baltimore in 1964 and 1965 and then in 10 games last year.

COLLEGE: A natural athlete, Davis played end in college, was also Georgia Tech's top blocker . . . Named to Georgia Tech's modern "all-time" team in recent vote . . . Played in College All-Star game in 1964.

PERSONAL: A student at Georgia Tech in the off-season . . . Hobby is golf . . . Married (Linda Dale) . . . Now calls Atlanta, Georgia, home.

GARCIA, JAMES RONALD (Chico) 6-4, 250, Defensive End, 3rd Year, Purdue Born March 7, 1944, at Chicago, Illinois Joined Saints: Expansion Draft, 1967 (from New York)

PRO: Garcia was the Cleveland Browns' initial draft choice (although actually in the second round) in 1965 . . . Also the No. 7 choice of the Denver Broncos the same year . . . Traded to Giants prior to the 1966 season and was moved to a startling defensive end role when Roosevelt Davis was injured . . . Injury (chipped bone in foot) sidelined Garcia tail end of 1966 season, but he saw action in 10 games.

COLLEGE: An all-Big Ten and all-America tackle selection while at Purdue . . . Played in both the East-West and College All-Star games in 1965.

HALL, THOMAS FRANCIS

6-2, 195, Flanker, 6th Year, Minnesota Born April 3, 1940, at Wilmington, Delaware Joined Saints: Expansion Draft, 1967 (from Minnesota)

PRO: No. 8 draft choice of Detroit and No. 22 of Buffalo in 1962 . . . Played two years at Detroit and then was purchased by Minnesota prior to the 1964 season . . . Biggest pro season was in 1964, when he had 23 receptions for 325 yards and two TDs . . . Caught six passes in Minnesota's 24-23 upset of Green Bay in 1964 . . . Played in all 14 Minnesota games in 1966.

COLLEGE: An all-Big Ten end at Minnesota and a key man on two Gopher Rose Bowl teams.

PERSONAL: Received degree in education from Minnesota in 1964 . . . Hobby is wood-carving . . . Married (Julie) . . . Now calls South Minneapolis, Minnesota, home.

1967 SAINTS TRAINING CAMP

To prepare for their first season of competition in the National Football League, the New Orleans Saints opened training camp on July 1 at beautiful California Western University in San Diego, Calif. The eager Saints were the first pro team into training camp with some 76 players (mostly rookies) reporting on that first day of July.

The Saints veterans reported to Coach Tom Fears and his staff on July 8.

Two-a-day workouts and numerous scrimmages were held during the first month of practice as the Saints, players and staff alike, seemed dedicated to becoming a competitive, representative team early in their NFL days.

With the sites of their pre-season games spanning the country (Anaheim, Portland, Ore., Charleston, S. C., with dates in between in Baton Rouge and Shreveport), the Saints will remain in California until Aug. 25 when they journey to Portland, After the game there on the 26th, they return to Louisiana to finish their pre-season training at St. Paul's in Covington—just an hour's drive from New Orleans.

Thereafter, the Saints will work at their new facilities on David Drive at Airline Highway in Jefferson Parish.

FIRST ANNUAL N.F.L.—A.F.L. CHAMPIONSHIP GAME January 15, 1967

The first annual N.F.L. Championship Game, popularly called the "Super Bowl," was staged January 15, 1967, before 61,946 fans at Los Angeles' Memorial Coliseum. The N.F.L. and its champion, the Green Bay Packers, prevailed over the A.F.L. champion, the Kansas City Chiefs, 35-10, with a stirring and powerful second-half blitzkreig settling the issue. Each winning Packer player received $15,000 for his efforts while each losing Chief received $7,500.

THE SAINTS ON TELEVISION. 1967

The Saints will appear before the cameras of the Columbia Broadcasting System in every one of their 14 regular-season games in 1967. Road games will be telecast on nine stations of the Saints' home-area network, including WWL-TV in New Orleans. Home games will be telecast by stations outside a 75-mile radius around New Orleans and to the home network area of the visiting team.

Don Criqui will handle the play-by-play of Saints' games on television with Norm Van Brocklin doing the color.

The Saints' TV network:

WKRG-TV	Mobile, Alabama	WWL-TV	New Orleans, Louisiana
WAFB-TV	Baton Rouge, Louisiana	KSLA-TV	Shreveport, Louisiana
KLFY-TV	Lafayette, Louisiana	WCBI-TV	Columbus, Mississippi
KNOE-TV	Monroe, Louisiana	WJTV	Jackson, Mississippi
	WTOK-TV	Meridian, Miss

THE SAINTS ON RADIO, 1967

All 1967 New Orleans Saints games, both home and away and pre-season and regular season, will be broadcast on a multi-station network with WWL in New Orleans the originating station, Al Wester, veteran sportscaster, will handle the play-by-play and Maury Magill will do the color.

The Saints radio network (as of July 7, 1967 - more stations may be added before the start of the season):

SAINTS' INFORMATION GUIDE, 1967

This information guide has been prepared for the convenience of National Football League newspaper, radio and television personnel. If more detailed information, pictures or other publicity materials are desired, please contact Donald R. Smith, Director of Public Relations, 944 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans, Louisiana 70130, or call (504) 524-1421. The public relations assistant is Miss Pat Cross and she may be contacted at the same address and phone number.

WORKING PRESS INFORMATION

Working Press Credentials

Seats in the Tulane Stadium press box for Saints' games in 1967 will be limited to working press ONLY and will be restricted to daily newspapers, wire services and leading radio and television representatives performing a specific reporting task at the game for either the Saints or their opponents.

Requests for working press accommodations should be made to Donald R. Smith, Director of Public Relations, New Orleans Saints, 944 St. Charles Ave., New Orleans, La., telephone (504) 524-1421. Except in obvious cases where a season-long coverage is assured, working press accommodations will be issued on a single-game basis only.

Working press credentials will also serve to admit you to the dressing rooms after the games once the prescribed "cooling-off" period established by the coaches has elapsed.

Complimentary tickets for non-working press are very limited but will be distributed by the Public Relations Department.

Photographers

Photographers will be issued special field passes. Except in unusual circumstances, caption writers will not be permitted on the field and will not be issued credentials.

Photographers' credentials will be issued to daily newspapers, wire services and television stations; special assignment or free-lance photographers will be screened very closely. All photographers must stay behind the restraining lines and they will not be permitted to shoot pictures in front of the bench of either team.

Western Union

Requests for Western Union circuits should be made to Terry O. Young, Western Union sales representative, 334 Carondelet St., New Orleans, La., 70130, or by phoning (504) JA 5-9696.

Press Box Services

The Saints' statistical crew will supply the following information during each home game: play-by-play and field chart after each quarter, halftime team and individual significant statistics, final team and individual statistics, scoring summary and participation listing, ball possession and drive chart for both teams and defensive statistics.

Spotters for radio and television stations will be furnished on request; requests should be received no later than Wednesday before each game. Each radio and television station using spotters will be responsible for paying that spotter a reasonable fee for his services.

Sandwiches and refreshments will also be available in the Tulane press box before each game and at halftime.
