ABOUT THE MADISON SQUARE GARDEN COMPANY

The Madison Square Garden Company is a fully integrated sports, entertainment and media business comprised of dynamic and powerful assets and brands. Madison Square Garden's business grew from the legendary venue widely known as "The World's Most Famous Arena." Drawing on its celebrated history, the Company builds iconic brands that set the standard for excellence and innovation while forging deep connections with diverse and passionate audiences. With an unparalleled portfolio of strategically aligned venues, content and distribution channels, the Company's three business segments - MSG Sports, MSG Media and MSG Entertainment - work together to deliver exceptional experiences that endure for generations.

MSG Sports owns and operates the following sports franchises: the New York Knicks (NBA), the New York Rangers (NHL), the New York Liberty (WNBA), and the Connecticut Whale (AHL). MSG Sports also promotes, produces, and/or presents a broad array of world-class live sporting events, including professional boxing, college basketball (BIG EAST Championship, St. John's Red Storm, Jimmy V Classic, and others), tennis (BNP Paribas Showdown), WWE, Professional Bull Riders and Harlem Globetrotters, as well as the NFL Draft.

MSG Entertainment (MSGE) is one of the country's leaders in live entertainment and is recognized for its signature combination of event production, entertainment marketing and iconic venues. MSGE creates, produces and/or presents live productions including the number one live holiday family show in America, the Radio City Christmas Spectacular. During the 2012 holiday season, the Christmas Spectacular will celebrate the 85th year of the legendary Radio City Rockettes. In addition, MSGE presents or hosts live entertainment events, including concerts, family shows and special events, in its diverse collection of venues, which includes the Madison Square Garden Arena, The Theater at Madison Square Garden, Radio City Music Hall, the Beacon Theatre, The Chicago Theatre in Chicago, IL and the Wang Theatre in Boston. The Company recently purchased the Forum in Inglewood, CA and is planning a renovation that will return the historic arena into a thriving destination for both artists and music fans.

MSG Media is a leader in production and content development for multiple distribution platforms, including content originating from the Company's venues. MSG Media's television networks include the MSG Networks, which consist of MSG, MSG+, MSG HD and MSG+ HD, and the Fuse national networks, which consist of Fuse and Fuse HD. MSG Networks are home to seven professional sports teams: the Knicks, Rangers, Liberty, New York Islanders, New Jersey Devils, Buffalo Sabres and New York Red Bulls, as well as award-winning original programming. Fuse has established itself as a unique multi-platform music destination that connects music fans with their favorite artists. Fuse focuses on music-related programming including coverage of premier artists, events and festivals, original content and exclusive telecasts of high-profile concerts from the Company's iconic venues, featuring artists such as Red Hot Chili Peppers, Maroon 5, Drake, Dave Matthews Band, Kanye West and John Mayer.

The Company also has more than 20 interactive web sites, social networking sites and mobile applications that support these three business segments. More information on the Company is available at www.themadisonsquaregardencompany.com.

JAMES L. DOLAN

EXECUTIVE CHAIRMAN, THE MADISON SQUARE GARDEN COMPANY

As executive chairman of The Madison Square Garden Company (MSG), James L. Dolan oversees the company's many entities, including its world-famous arena complex, professional sports teams, sports and entertainment networks, and historic showplaces. Mr. Dolan also serves as president and chief executive officer of Cablevision Systems Corporation, one of the nation's leading media and telecommunications companies.

In his role at The Madison Square Garden Company, Mr. Dolan is responsible for the Company's overall growth strategy and manages all of its operations. He also serves as governor to the National Basketball Association and the National Hockey League on behalf of the New York Knicks and Rangers.

To ensure the standing of the Company's premier venues, Mr. Dolan has taken on a number of restoration projects throughout his tenure. In New York, the Madison Square Garden Arena is currently undergoing a complete transformation that will significantly enhance the experience of customers, athletes, entertainers, suite holders and partners. Mr. Dolan was also the catalyst for a restoration of the Company's Beacon Theatre, which was renewed to its former grandeur in early 2009. Among his most significant accomplishments as MSG chairman, Mr. Dolan also spearheaded a multimillion-dollar restoration of Radio City Music Hall in 1999, returning the national landmark and MSG showpiece to its original splendor.

Over the past few years, Mr. Dolan has taken additional steps to expand MSG's entertainment properties. They include the addition of The Chicago Theatre, which was built in 1921 as one of the country's most opulent motion picture houses, and the Forum, which has been a celebrated arena in the Greater Los Angeles area since its opening in 1967. MSG also extended its music business, acquiring a minority-equity interest in Front Line Management, which was recently acquired by Live Nation, the world's largest live entertainment company.

Mr. Dolan has led MSG's response to local and national tragedies. He played a principal role in organizing "The Concert For New York City," which generated more than $35 million in aid for 9/11 victims and heroes, and "From The Big Apple to The Big Easy," which raised nearly $9 million for Hurricane Katrina relief. Mr. Dolan also supports The Madison Square Garden Company's ongoing commitment to the community, particularly through the Garden of Dreams Foundation, the non-profit charity that works closely with all areas at the company to help children throughout the New York metropolitan area.

In addition to his leadership role at The Madison Square Garden Company, Mr. Dolan is president and chief executive officer of Cablevision Systems Corporation, which served as MSG's parent company until February 2010, when the sports, media and entertainment business became a standalone, public company. Mr. Dolan oversees Cablevision's comprehensive portfolio of advanced Optimum-branded digital television, high-speed Internet and phone products, and the nation's largest WiFi network.

Also, under his purview, and serving the New York tri-state area, are Cablevision's local media properties, which include News 12 Networks, MSG Varsity and Newsday Media Group, which features Long Island's leading daily newspaper, Newsday. Other businesses under the Cablevision umbrella include Clearview Cinemas, one of the tri-state area's leading motion picture exhibitors.

Prior to assuming his present posts at Cablevision and The Madison Square Garden Company, Mr. Dolan was CEO of Rainbow Media Holdings the former Cablevision programming subsidiary that became a separate, public company named AMC Networks Inc. in June 2011. Mr. Dolan began his career with Cablevision in the 1970s and served in a variety of executive positions before overseeing Rainbow Media.

Mr. Dolan serves on the board of directors for The Madison Square Garden Company and AMC Networks, and he is a member of Cablevision's board of directors and its executive committee. He is also on the board of The Lustgarten Foundation, an organization he helped found in 1998 which today is the nation's largest private supporter of pancreatic cancer research. In addition, he sits on the boards of Live Nation, C-SPAN and the Breathe Easy Play Hard Foundation, and is a member of the New York University Steinhardt Dean's Council.

HANK J. RATNER

PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER, THE MADISON SQUARE GARDEN COMPANY

Hank J. Ratner is president and chief executive officer of The Madison Square Garden Company (MSG), which includes renowned performance venues, entertainment properties, professional sports teams and television networks. Mr. Ratner directs the overall strategy and day-to-day operations of the business. He also serves as alternate governor to the National Basketball Association and the National Hockey League on behalf of the New York Knicks and New York Rangers.

The Company's signature assets consist of some of the nation's most dynamic and powerful sports, media and entertainment assets and brands. This diverse collection of properties includes a portfolio of iconic venues: New York's Madison Square Garden, Radio City Music Hall and Beacon Theatre; The Chicago Theatre; the Forum in Inglewood, CA; and the Wang Theatre in Boston. In addition, MSG owns and operates professional sports teams, the New York Knicks, Rangers and Liberty; MSG Entertainment and its entertainment properties, including the Radio City Christmas Spectacular, featuring the legendary Radio City Rockettes; regional sports and entertainment networks, MSG and MSG+; and Fuse, a national music network.

In February of 2010, Mr. Ratner led the spin-off of Madison Square Garden from Cablevision Systems Corporation and, today, The Madison Square Garden Company is a thriving, stand-alone, public company. Currently, Mr. Ratner is spearheading the Transformation of the iconic Madison Square Garden Arena, which will significantly enhance the experience of customers, athletes, entertainers, suite holders and partners. The project will ultimately feature a dramatically redesigned Seventh Avenue entrance, new seats, improved sightlines, new Event Level and Madison Level suites, two new one-of-a-kind bridges suspended above the playing surface, and spectacular public concourses. The Transformation will also showcase new food offerings by some of the best chefs in the world, pay homage to the building's storied history and include the restoration of The Garden's distinctive and celebrated ceiling.

Mr. Ratner served as MSG's vice chairman for seven years before being named president and chief executive officer following MSG's spin-off from Cablevision. Throughout his tenure, Mr. Ratner has been influential in formulating and implementing the strategic direction for MSG's multi-faceted business. For example, he has played a key role in bringing some of the country's landmark venues under MSG management. Over the last six years, these have included the Beacon Theatre, The Chicago Theatre, the Wang Theatre and, most recently, the Forum. In addition, Mr. Ratner is the architect of the company's integrated business approach, designed to capitalize on MSG's unique combination of iconic venues, sports and entertainment content, and programming and distribution networks, by strategically aligning these assets to work together to deliver incomparable opportunities and exceptional experiences for partners, entertainers, customers and fans.

As chairman of The Garden of Dreams Foundation, the non-profit that works closely with The Madison Square Garden Company, Mr. Ratner has been the visionary behind the charity's commitment to "make dreams come true for children facing obstacles." Its extraordinary relationship with the company allows the Foundation to do what no other charity in the world can do – use the magic and power of MSG's assets to create on-going, unforgettable programs that improve the lives of kids and their families. Since its inception in 2006, Garden of Dreams has worked with all areas of MSG - including the Knicks, Rangers, Liberty, MSG Media and MSG Entertainment - to create thousands of unique and unforgettable experiences that have brightened the lives of more than 200,000 children.

Mr. Ratner has also served as vice chairman of Cablevision Systems Corporation since 2003. In this role, he helps to set corporate direction and strategy for the media and telecommunications company whose portfolio of operations includes a full suite of advanced digital television, high-speed Internet and phone products, and valuable local media and programming properties. Prior to serving as MSG and Cablevision vice chairman, Mr. Ratner served as COO and then vice chairman of Rainbow Media Holdings, Cablevision's former programming subsidiary which became AMC Networks, a separate company, after its spin-off in June 2011.

Mr. Ratner joined Cablevision as assistant general counsel in 1987. A year later, he moved to Rainbow Media, rising to the position of Rainbow's chief operating officer in 1998. Mr. Ratner was then promoted to vice chairman of Cablevision before also being named vice chairman of MSG in 2003.

Previously, Mr. Ratner was an associate with the law firm of Sullivan & Cromwell. He received a bachelor's degree and doctorate of law with distinction from Emory University.

GLEN GRUNWALD

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT AND GENERAL MANAGER

One of the NBA's most respected and versatile senior executives, Glen Grunwald has put his signature on a Knicks squad that is poised to join the NBA's elite.

Last year, which was his first as the Knicks' senior basketball executive, Glen engineered the stunning preseason trade that brought Tyson Chandler, the eventual KIA 2011-12 NBA Defensive Player of the Year, to New York. In mid-season, he installed Mike Woodson as head coach, and the Knicks responded with an 18-6 finishing kick to nail down their second consecutive Playoff berth. Then, during the eventful Summer of '12, he authored a series of trades and signings that put 10-time NBA All-Star Jason Kidd, veteran floor leader Raymond Felton, four-time All-Defensive selection Marcus Camby and fellow 1999 Finals alumnus Kurt Thomas in Knicks uniforms.

Promoted to executive vice president and general manager of the Knickerbockers on Apr. 24, 2012, Grunwald is currently in his seventh overall season in New York. Originally joining the Knicks on Sep. 28, 2006 as senior vice president, basketball operations, Grunwald now oversees all aspects of the team's basketball operations, including player personnel decisions, trades and acquisitions, and managing the operating budget and salary cap. Prior to his most recent promotion, he had served as New York's interim general manager since Jul. 1, 2011.

"I see this as a year where hopefully we can continue to build and continue to grow towards our ultimate goal of winning a championship," says Grunwald, who finished sixth in the media voting for the 2011-12 NBA Executive of the Year award, won by Indiana's Larry Bird. "We've improved over the past three years and we hope to continue that improvement. We've got a lot of good returning players and I think we've added some good quality veterans who will help us move forward."

Grunwald, 54, has played a key role in the vast rebuilding of the Knicks - resulting in back-to-back Playoff appearances - a decade after facing a similar challenge in Toronto. In 2010-11, he was instrumental in bringing superstars Amar'e Stoudemire and Carmelo Anthony to New York. His longtime experience in player development has been a main factor in the Knicks producing several of the game's most talented youngsters, the most recent being 2012 All-Rookie First Team selection Iman Shumpert. His acquisitions of veterans J.R. Smith and Steve Novak were vital to last season's Playoff push.

"It's been a real blessing to be able to work for the Knicks and in New York City," says Grunwald. "We've made some strides, we're not where we want to be quite yet. We hope that the off-season - which was a lot more hectic and involved than I thought it might have been - enabled us to make some good decisions that'll get us closer to our goal."

Grunwald joined the Knicks following a decade (1994-2004) with the Toronto Raptors, including seven seasons as general manager, a period in which he built the Raptors into one of the elite teams in the Eastern Conference. Glen's success with the Knicks marks the latest chapter in a long and distinguished NBA front office career that spans two decades.

Named Raptors general manager on Nov. 20, 1997, Grunwald spearheaded Toronto's drive toward elite status by acquiring the likes of Vince Carter, Antonio Davis, Morris Peterson and Charles Oakley. Under his direction, the Raptors advanced to the NBA Playoffs for three straight seasons (2000-01-02). In 2001, the Raptors defeated the Knicks in the first round of the Playoffs and came within one game of the Eastern Conference Finals. Grunwald served as Raptors general manager through the 2003-04 campaign.

An original member of the Toronto front office, Grunwald joined the Raptors on Nov. 8, 1994 as vice president, legal affairs and assistant general manager. During the Raptors' formative years, he was responsible for the administrative, financial and legal aspects of the team's basketball operations, playing a key role in all areas from the 1995 expansion draft to player personnel decisions. He also served as the team's resident salary cap expert, and provided his legal expertise in sponsorship, marketing and contract issues.

Prior to joining the Raptors, Grunwald served four years as vice president, general counsel for the Denver Nuggets, and was responsible for all legal, human resources and administrative matters, while managing the club's salary cap. Grunwald joined the Nuggets after working as an attorney with the Chicago law firm of Winston and Strawn.

In joining the Knicks, Grunwald left a position with Toronto's Board of Trade, where he had served as president and CEO since December 2004. A former member of the board of directors of Canada Basketball, he is chairman and part owner of the HoopDome, a multi-court basketball facility at Toronto's Downsview Park.

Grunwald graduated from Indiana University in 1981, where he played alongside Hall of Famer Isiah Thomas and current Knicks head coach Mike Woodson, and co-captained the Hoosiers' 1981 NCAA Championship squad. At Indiana, he was a Rhodes Scholar nominee and a two-time Big Ten All-Academic Second Team selection. He was the Celtics' fifth-round pick (115th overall) in the 1981 NBA Draft.

Grunwald earned his law degree from Northwestern in 1984 and added a master's degree in business administration from Indiana in 1986.

The Chicago native and his wife Heather, a criminal defense lawyer, are proud parents of son Will, 10. Grunwald also has a son, Gabe (19), who plays Junior A hockey, and a daughter, Emma (18), a student at New York's Barnard College. The Grunwald family lives in Westchester.

ALLAN HOUSTON

ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER

After a playing career that stamped him as one of the greatest Knicks ever to wear the orange and blue, Allan Houston continues to forge a new legacy as one of the game's rising young executives. Currently in his fifth season as a member of the Knicks' front office, Houston was promoted to assistant general manager at the start of the 2010-11 season, following two years as assistant to the president, basketball operations. In his current role, Allan oversees the Knicks scouting department (college, pro and international), serves as GM and oversees all operations of New York's D-League affiliate - the Erie BayHawks - and assists executive VP/general manager Glen Grunwald.

With a front office career in full flower, Allan maintains an athlete's mindset which he considers vital to his new role.

"I don't ever want to think of myself fully as an executive because part of what allows me to be in this position is having been good at [playing] the game," says Houston, 41, who officially joined the Knicks front office on Nov. 7, 2008. "With the qualities that allowed me to be good at the game, it allows me to have the perspective to understand what it takes for these guys today to grow and develop. So I don't ever want to be fully an executive because when I have conversations with a lot of our players, I need to continue to understand their perspective, and to challenge them to grow."

The Knicks' single-team affiliation with the BayHawks is currently in its second season, and Houston relishes the unique challenges that come with overseeing a D-League franchise.

"It's a great experience being able to manage the process," says Allan. "Really, you're managing your relationship with the coach, the staff, the training staff, the schedule. You're not only managing a team and its progress, but you're also managing the expectations of players who are trying to get to a whole different league."

A two-time NBA All-Star (in 2000 and 2001), Houston's front office career comes on the heels of a stellar 12-year playing tenure over which he averaged 17.3 points, including two 20-plus scoring seasons with the Knicks. After three years in Detroit, Allan spent nine seasons (1996-97 through 2004-05) with the Knicks and earned a prominent place among the team's greatest performers. He is fourth on the all-time Knicks career scoring list with 11,165 points, trailing only Hall of Famers Patrick Ewing (23,665), Walt Frazier (14,617) and Willis Reed (12,183). Houston is also second among all-time Knicks in three-point field goals (921, to John Starks' 982), third in free throw percentage (.872), and sixth in minutes (21,724).

A key member of the Knicks' 1999 Eastern Conference Championship team, Allan authored perhaps the single most-famous shot in franchise history, his unforgettable running one-hander that went off both the rim and the backboard before dropping through with :00.8 left to give New York a series-clinching 78-77 win in Game Five of the first Playoff round at Miami (May 16, 1999). Houston scored a career-high 53 points at Los Angeles against the Lakers on Feb. 16, 2003.

Limited by knee injuries to just 70 games over his last two Knicks seasons, Allan announced his retirement as an active player on Oct. 17, 2005, although he did attempt comebacks (both injury-shortened) during training camp in 2007 and 2008. At NBA All-Star Weekend in 2012 in Orlando, he donned his familiar No. 20 and teamed with Landry Fields and the Liberty's Cappie Pondexter to win the Haier Shooting Stars competition on All-Star Saturday.

On Feb. 23, 2011, Houston was honored as a Knicks Legend for the period from 2000-2010. One month later, on Mar. 6, 2011, his No. 20 was retired by the University of Tennessee in honor of a brilliant four-year college career over which he scored a school record 2,801 points (Allan joined former Knicks Bernard King and Ernie Grunfeld as the only Vols in school history to have their numbers retired). Houston also averaged 8.0 points for the gold medal-winning U.S. squad at the 2000 Summer Olympics in Sydney.

Houston's longstanding community efforts have continued in full force in his post-playing career. He oversees the Allan Houston Legacy Foundation, which was founded in 2001 and has served over 1,500 participants across the country through original programs in fatherhood and entrepreneurship to facilitate individual and collective growth through initiatives that: 1) restore a strong family unit, 2) provide economic empowerment through entrepreneurship, 3) encourage education and life skill development and 4) enhance spiritual growth.

Allan co-hosts the annual "Father Knows Best" Basketball Retreat with his father Wade. The Retreat is a Christian faith-based weekend initiative designed to help fathers develop and strengthen their relationships with pre-teen and teenage sons. Currently in its ninth year, the program expanded to Detroit and Atlanta in 2009, Louisville in 2010, and to Orlando and all five boroughs of New York City in 2011 and 2012.

In the summers of 2010 and 2001, Allan traveled to Israel under the auspices of AIPAC (American-Israel Public Affairs Committee), speaking in front of 11,000 at AIPAC's national conference in 2011. In summer 2011, he participated in the NBA's Basketball Without Borders/Rio de Janeiro goodwill trip. Allan was named "Father of the Year" by the National Fatherhood Initiative in 2007, "Social Entrepreneur of the Year" by Tulane University in 2008, and received the President's Council on Service and Civic Engagement Award from the Obama Administration in 2011. Allan created the Wade Allan Houston Scholarship at the University of Tennessee in 2003.

Allan was born on Apr. 20, 1971 in Louisville. He and his wife Tamara are proud parents of seven children: daughter Remie (13; born on Jun. 12, 1999, one day after Allan's 32-point heroics in NY's Eastern Conference-clinching Game Six win over Indiana), son Allan III (11), daughters Rowan (8), Jade (5), Jodi Jean (4) and Truth Grace (2), and newborn son Asher (Apr. 17, 2012). A graduate of the University of Tennessee (BA, African-American Studies), Allan played collegiately for his father Wade, then the Vols' head coach. Allan's father and mother, Wade and Alice, are partners in Louisville-based HJI Inc., the nation's largest minority-owned trucking and storage company.

Mike Woodson wasted no time in putting his stamp on the Knickerbockers.

Named interim head coach on Mar. 14, 2012, his Knicks squad responded with an 18-6 record for the remainder of the regular season, nailing down its second straight NBA Playoff berth. A Knicks team that had been averaging 96.5 points allowed brought that figure down a full five points during Woody's tenure to 91.5 points allowed during his 24-game stretch.

The Knicks' performance over those final hectic weeks earned Woodson a multi-year extension as head coach on May 25, 2012. Currently in his second season in New York and 16th campaign as an NBA coach, an entire city waits to see what happens next for Woodson and his team.

"I'm excited about the Knicks giving me the opportunity to come back and hopefully try to complete the job that I started," says the 54-year old Woodson, the 25th head coach in Knicks franchise history. "That's what it's all about. I'm looking forward to the upcoming season and getting a full training camp under our belt with our whole ballclub. We've added some pieces, pieces that I think can help us in the long run. I couldn't be more excited.

"I know the expectations are always higher in New York, and as I've said a number of times, that's how it should be. I've expressed to the players that that's the only way you should want it. It isn't pressure or anything like that if you go into a season expecting to win, and there's nothing wrong with that. I'm going to push guys to try and win and play at a high level, and then we'll see what happens."

Owner of a long and distinguished NBA coaching record, Woodson originally joined the Knicks as an assistant coach on Aug. 29, 2011, a little more than three decades after his NBA journey began as a Knicks rookie in 1980. He owns a 224-292 (.434) career won-loss mark in seven seasons as an NBA head coach (six with Atlanta, one with New York).

"Woody has taken the years of experience that he's garnered as a player and a coach and formulated an idea of what it takes to win in the NBA," says Executive VP, Basketball Operations and General Manager Glen Grunwald. "He's able to communicate that and motivate players to play the way he knows they need to in order to be successful. He's got a very good way about him. He's firm yet friendly. He'll get the best out of the players while maintaining good relations and their respect."

A constant theme that emerges from Woodson and his coaching philosophy is summed up in one word - accountability. It's something he demands from each of those under his leadership.

"It's very important, and I say that because I know that when they look at me as the head coach, they're going to hold me accountable for what I do," says Mike. "And the fans and the media, when things don't go right, they're going to point the finger at me, and that's okay. I don't have a problem with it. I've been around long enough to know the dynamics of it. Sometimes players don't understand what accountability is, they just don't. They take their craft for granted sometimes. And it's not always that way. In order to win an NBA title, you've got to go through some ups and downs, you've got to be a little lucky, you've got to stay away from injuries, come together and play like a team."

"There are a lot of things that have got to happen. But if you hold everybody accountable to do their job, their part, then you've got a better chance of winning."

Woodson joined the Knicks staff following six seasons as head coach of the Atlanta Hawks (2004-05 through 2009-10), over which he compiled a 206-286 (.419) record. He guided the Hawks to the NBA Playoffs in each of his last three seasons (including 2007-08, ending Atlanta's eight-year Playoff drought), and into the Eastern Conference Semifinals in his last two seasons.

The Hawks increased their win total in each of Woodson's six seasons in Atlanta, going from 13-59 in 2004-05 to 53-29 in 2009-10. Woodson's 206 career wins are fourth-best in Hawks franchise history, trailing only Richie Guerin (327), Mike Fratello (324) and Hall of Famer Lenny Wilkens (310).

Before joining the Hawks, Woodson served for one season (2003-04) as an assistant coach with the Detroit Pistons, where he was one of the chief architects behind Detroit's suffocating defense that helped the Pistons to the 2004 NBA Title. The Pistons held their opponents to 84.3 points per game during their championship season, then held the Lakers to 16 points below their regular season average in the NBA Finals in stunning Los Angeles, four games to one, for the title.

Prior to his six years at the helm of the Hawks, Woodson logged eight seasons as an assistant coach with Milwaukee (1996-97 through 1998-99), Cleveland (1999-2000 through 2000-01), Philadelphia (2001-02 through 2002-03) and Detroit (2003-04).

Woodson enjoyed an 11-year NBA playing career, averaging 14.0 ppg over 786 games for the Knicks (1980-81), New Jersey (1981-82), Kansas City/Sacramento (1981-82 through 1985-86), the LA Clippers (1986-87 through 1987-88), Houston (1988-89 through 1990-91) and Cleveland (1990-91). He scored a career-high 18.2 ppg with Kansas City in 1982-83, and posted 18.0 ppg with the Clippers in 1987-88. Mike also averaged 12.2 ppg in 13 career Playoff games over five post-seasons.

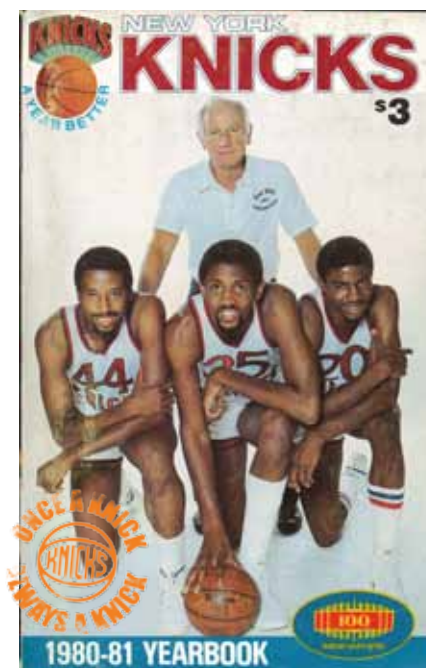

Mike's NBA playing career began in 1980-81, when he averaged 4.7 points over 11.7 minutes in 81 contests with the Knicks. In his first and only season in New York, he helped the Knicks to a 50-win season and a Playoff berth under Hall of Fame coach Red Holzman. As New York's first-round pick (12th overall) in the 1980 NBA Draft, he graced the cover of the Knicks' 1980-81 media guide along with Holzman and teammates Bill Cartwright and Micheal Ray Richardson.

Prior to being drafted by New York, Woodson had a standout four-year career at Indiana University under Bob Knight where he was a two-time All-American, averaging 19.8 points in 104 career games with the Hoosiers. Woodson led IU to the 1979 NIT Championship and overcame back surgery in 1980 to earn Big Ten Most Valuable Player honors in leading the Hoosiers to the 1980 Big Ten title.

Knight's influence proved to be a main factor in Woodson's coaching career.

"Bob Knight, I think, somewhat set the table for me," says Mike. "I didn't know if I really wanted to coach, but then I watched my high school coach, Bill Smith [currently a member of Woody's staff in New York], along with Knight, and they were the coaches who prepared me for working with the pros. They were always prepared, prepared for practice and prepared for whenever they stepped on the court for a game. That kind of lingers in the back of your mind for many years. When I decided to start coaching, that Bill Smith and Bob Knight experience entered my mind."

Born on Mar. 24, 1958 in Indianapolis, Woodson attended Broad Ripple HS, whose alumni include David Letterman. Broad Ripple retired Mike's uniform number in 2006. Mike and his wife Terri have two daughters, Alexis (22) and Mariah (21), both students at Georgia Tech. The Woodson family makes its off-season home in Atlanta.

Jim Todd brings a wealth of coaching experience into his second season (first full campaign) on the Knicks bench.

Formally named to Mike Woodson's staff on Mar. 17, 2012, Todd had started the 2011-12 campaign as an assistant coach for the Sacramento Kings under Keith Smart. But by season's end, he was writing the latest chapter in his coaching history in the world's greatest basketball city.

"It hit me the day I was leaving Sacramento," says Todd, who is currently in his 14th season as an NBA coach. "The Kings were great to me, Coach Smart brought me back into the League last year and they were nice enough to let me leave and go with Woody, who's one of my best friends. It's a move you have to make - it's with your friend, it's closer to home and it's New York. If you grow up in Boston, you've got Boston and New York and that whole rivalry. With the old Boston Garden and now Madison Square Garden, there's not a better place to be."

The move to New York reunited Todd with Woodson, with whom he broke into the NBA as assistants under Chris Ford at Milwaukee in 1996. More than a decade later, Todd would serve on Woodson's staff in Atlanta for two years.

"Jim adds a lot of experience to our staff," says Woodson. "We started together 16 years ago in Milwaukee, and then our paths didn't cross for a long time. He went in one direction and I went in another, and we could never hook back up. Then when I had the opportunity to bring him to Atlanta, I jumped on it because of the fact that he has a great mind for the game. That's why he's here with me in New York. I've been pretty successful with Jim in terms of winning, and he brings a wealth of experience."

Todd's initial two-year stint in Milwaukee (1996-97 through 1997-98) proved to be the first of three separate tenures with the Bucks, as he was also a Bucks assistant from 2002-03 through 2003-04 (under George Karl and Terry Porter) and again in 2007-08 (under Larry Krystowiak).

After serving under Chris Ford in Milwaukee, Todd went with Ford to the Los Angeles Clippers as an assistant coach for two seasons (1998-99 through 1999-2000). On Feb. 3, 2000, he succeeded Ford as head coach of the Clippers for the remainder of the season (4-33), earning his first NBA head coaching victory with a 78-77 triumph over Atlanta on Feb. 26, 2000.

Todd served for three seasons on Sam Mitchell's staff at Toronto (2004-05 through 2006-07). Following the 2007-08 season in Milwaukee, he again teamed with Woodson on Mike's Atlanta staff from 2008-09 through 2009-10. Including the Knicks' march to the 2012 post-season, Todd's teams have reached the NBA Playoffs in six of his 13 seasons in the League.

"I would say that this is definitely the most talented team I've been involved with," said Todd as he prepared for his first full season in New York. "We'll see how the whole thing plays out. We're looking forward to it and we expect to have a great season."

In 2010-11, Todd coached professionally in China and was an assistant coach for the Canadian men's national basketball team at the 2010 FIBA World Championship Games in Turkey. Following his initial NBA stint with Milwaukee and the Clippers, he served for one season (2001-02) as an assistant coach at DePaul.

Todd has been involved in coaching at the high school, college and pro level since 1976. Jim's coaching career began in 1976, when he led Notre Dame (MA) HS to a 26-2 record and the state title. From 1977-86, he worked as a head coach at Fitchburg State, as an assistant coach at Columbia University and Marist College (where he worked with future NBA star Rik Smits), and as an associate head coach at Manhattan College.

Todd was head coach at Salem State from 1987-96, recording a 192-57 (.771) mark and leading the school to eight NCAA Division III tournament appearances. He was named NCAA New England Coach of the Year in 1990. Todd also coached Salem State's golf team to three NCAA appearances.

A native of Billerica, MA, Jim earned a master's degree in education from Fitchburg State (his alma mater) in 1976. He is a member of both the Salem State and Fitchburg State Halls of Fame as well as the New England Basketball Hall of Fame. Jim and his wife Gail live in Westford, MA.

In so many ways, Darrell Walker is back home.

Currently in his 13th season as an NBA coach, Walker returned to the Knickerbockers when he was named an assistant on Mike Woodson's staff on Mar. 17, 2012. He is now in his second season (first full campaign) on the Knicks bench.

Walker's NBA career began thirty years ago in the Big Apple. Now, with a resume that includes a decade each as a player and coach - not to mention a World Championship ring - he returns to a transformed Garden that remains familiar territory.

"When I got that phone call to come, I had to pinch myself," says Walker, 51. "My wife said, 'Wow, you're coming back to the place where you first got drafted.' It's funny. When I was landing in New York on the team plane, it was like, 'Man, I'm back in New York where it all started for me as a player.' It was just funny."

"But it's great to be back. The fans have been great. You know, you've still got some fans who were coming there when I was a player. They've been great to me. It's been fun and a great ride so far."

Prior to joining the Knicks, Walker had served for three seasons (2008-09 through 2010-11) as an assistant coach with the Detroit Pistons.

"I've known Darrell since he was a player, we competed against one another," says head coach Mike Woodson. "The fact that he's had head-coaching experience means a lot to me. His being able to relate to players is also important. Those are the big reasons he's here with me."

Walker brings more than a decade of coaching experience to the Knicks, having served as both an NBA assistant and head coach. He began his coaching career as an assistant coach on the inaugural Toronto Raptors squad of 1995-96. The following year, he succeeded Brendan Malone as Raptors head coach and piloted Toronto for two seasons (1996-97 through Feb. 13, 1998).

In 1999-2000, Walker authored a unique "hat trick" when he piloted three teams in three leagues. He began the season as head coach of the CBA's Rockford Lightning. On Jan. 29, 2000, he was named interim head coach of the Washington Wizards and led the Wizards for the remainder of the season. Then on Jul. 14, 2000, he was named interim head coach for the WNBA's Washington Mystics and guided the club to its first Playoff berth.

Walker remained in Washington for four additional seasons with the Wizards; as director of player personnel (2000-01) and as a scout (2001-02 through 2003-04). He then served for four seasons (2004-05 through 2007-08) as an assistant with the New Orleans/Oklahoma City Hornets, prior to his three-year stint in Detroit.

Walker, who owns a career NBA head coaching record of 56-113 (.331) over three seasons, was an integral part of the Bernard King-led Knicks squad that advanced to the Eastern Conference Semis in 1984. Few can relate the New York basketball experience to younger ears better than he. After enduring last year's compressed schedule, that task might be easier this season.

"We didn't have time to do that last year, it was too busy," says Walker. "Too many games were coming up, too much time was spent watching tape, trying to help Woody prepare for games. Now, since we're going to be back for a full season, we can really put our hands on players more and spend more time with guys. Last year, games were just coming so fast, there was no time to just chit-chat because you're always trying to get ready for a game, or the players were trying to get some rest."

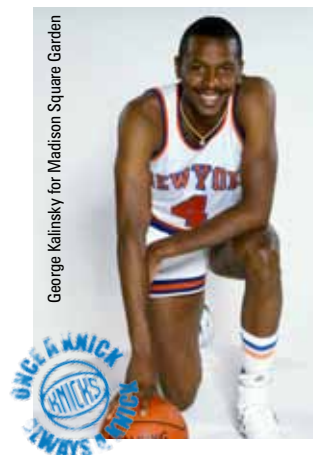

Walker's distinguished 10-year NBA playing career began when he was drafted by the Knicks in the first round (12th overall) in the 1983 NBA Draft. He played his first three NBA seasons in New York, earning NBA All-Rookie Honors in 1983-84. As a rookie, he averaged 7.9 points off the bench and played a key role as the Knicks defeated Detroit in five memorable games in the first Playoff round in '84 and then extended the eventual champion Boston Celtics to seven games in the East Semis. His 15 steals in the first round against the Pistons (including a club Playoff record seven in Game One) are still a Knicks Playoff mark for a five-game series. Darrell scored a career-high 13.5 points with the Knicks in 1984-85.

Walker also played with Denver (1986-87), Washington (1987-88 through 1990-91) and Detroit (1991-92 through 1992-93). Signed as a free agent by Chicago on Jan. 28, 1993, he ended his playing career as a member of the 1992-93 NBA Champion Bulls, alongside former Knick teammates Bill Cartwright and Trent Tucker.

Darrell averaged 8.9 points and 4.6 assists over 720 games (356 starts) in 10 NBA seasons. With the Bulls in 1989-90, he ranked tenth in the NBA with a career-high 8.1 assists. During his playing career, he played for four future Hall of Famers: Hubie Brown, Wes Unseld, Chuck Daly and Phil Jackson. After his retirement, Darrell served as a field rep for the National Basketball Players Association from 1993 through 1995.

Walker also enjoyed a standout three-year college career at the University of Arkansas, averaging 14.7 points after transferring from Westark (AR) Junior College following his freshman season. He was honored twice as Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the Year, and was named Second-Team AP All-American as a senior in 1982-83. Walker was enshrined in the Arkansas Sports Hall of Fame with the Class of 2003, and in the University of Arkansas Hall of Honor in 2008.

Walker was born on Mar. 9, 1961 in Chicago. Darrell and his wife Lisa have four sons, Darrell, Jerrell, Jarrett and Jarren. He also has one daughter, Felicia. Darrell and Lisa have one grandchild, Jarrett's four-year old son Jadion.

HERB WILLIAMS

ASSISTANT COACH

No chapter in the history of Knicks Basketball - its past, present, or future - is complete without Herb Williams.

One of the game's most respected figures, Williams is currently in his 11th full season (12th season overall) as a Knicks coach. The senior coach on the Knicks' staff, his tenure is the longest of any on-the-bench assistant coach in franchise history.

As instrumental in the club's fortunes today as he was during his long and distinguished playing career, Herb is among the legion of Knicks loyalists who look forward to the 2012-13 season.

"I'm extremely excited," says the 54-year old Williams. "I look at the strides we made at the end of last year (when) Coach Woodson took over and we went on that run, with Carmelo doing his thing and Tyson getting into his groove. You know, we had players going in and out once the Playoffs started. I thought Coach Woodson did a masterful job as far as handling things and putting pieces together."

"We look forward to coming back this year. We added some real good pieces and veteran players who understand the game. And when you add major pieces, you need a full training camp, which is what we will have this year."

Herb joined the Knicks' staff as an assistant coach on Dec. 29, 2001, and few figures are as synonymous with the team - as player and coach - as he. As a Knicks assistant coach, Williams has served under head coaches Don Chaney, Lenny Wilkens, Larry Brown, Isiah Thomas, Mike D'Antoni and now Mike Woodson. He assumed the reins of the Knicks for the first five games of the 2005-06 season, during Brown's illness.

"He's been around a long time and has a wealth of experience," says Woodson. "He's spent a great amount of time in New York, both as a player and as a coach. I call him a big man coach because it's hard to find coaches that can teach big man skills, and can respect and relate to them and what they bring to a team. Herb brings that to the table. He's great at preparation in terms of putting a game plan together. All of that goes hand-in-hand when you're trying to put together a good staff."

Included in Williams' coaching tenure is an overall mark of 17-27 as Knicks head coach. Succeeding Lenny Wilkens as Knicks headmaster on Jan. 22, 2005, Herb piloted New York for the remainder of the 2004-05 season, going 16-27. He also notched a 120-110 win over Orlando as interim coach on Jan. 14, 2004, prior to Wilkens' formal arrival. Herb has also served as head coach of the Knicks' entries in the 2003 Reebok Boston Summer Pro League and the 2004 LA Summer Pro League in Long Beach.

During his playing tenure, Williams was a force in New York's locker room as a leader both on and off the court. For three seasons (1996-97 through 1998-99), he served as Knicks tri-captain. His knowledge and leadership qualities made him a natural for his post-playing career.

As a Knick, Herb became a Garden fan favorite as Hall of Famer Patrick Ewing's primary backup in the pivot as well as a guiding force off the court. His final on-court appearance - a scoreless minute in Game Five of The 1999 NBA Finals against San Antonio - made him the oldest Knick ever to appear in a game (41 years, four months, nine days). He entered the current season as the only man in Knicks history to play in a game past his 40th birthday, although former teammate Kurt Thomas (on his first appearance) and Jason Kidd (Mar. 23) are slated to join him in 2012-13.

Williams' longtime identification with the Knicks and the world's greatest basketball city was formally cited on Feb. 20, 2012, when he received the fourth annual "Dick McGuire Knicks Legacy Award," given annually to an individual whose contributions both on and off the court mirror those of the late, beloved Hall of Famer. He joined previous winners McGuire, Cal Ramsey and Mike Saunders.

"It was very gratifying," says Herb of the McGuire Award, "because when you talk about past Knicks players, you always talk about Willis Reed and Earl Monroe and Clyde Frazier. Because Dick played such a long time ago, you have to be a true Knick fan to understand what he meant to the franchise and what he did as far as playing, coaching and scouting. He had his blueprint on the Knicks for a long time."

"And then you're talking about one of the toughest players ever to play the game. That's what our team in the '90s tried to stand for; our toughness, our pride in the city. We tried to carry New York on our backs, and when you look at all that, you're going to see Dick McGuire's face...So for me to receive that award was so gratifying. It means everything. You talk Knicks and you're talking Frazier and Willis and Ewing, and Dick McGuire."

Williams' coaching tenure follows a distinguished playing career that spanned 18 seasons (1981-82 through 1998-99), just three shy of the all-time NBA record of 21 shared by Robert Parish and Kevin Willis. According to the Elias Sports Bureau, Herb is one of only nine players in NBA history to appear in a game following his 41st birthday, along with Parish, Willis, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Bob Cousy, Nat Hickey, Charles Jones, John Stockton and Dikembe Mutombo.

Indiana's first-round pick (14th overall) in the 1981 NBA Draft, the 6-foot-11 Williams averaged 10.8 points, 5.9 rebounds and shot .467 from the field for the Pacers, Mavericks, Raptors and Knicks. He scored 11,944 points in 1,102 career games. Herb played the first 7½ seasons of his career with Indiana, and is third in blocked shots (1,094; behind only Jermaine O'Neal and Rik Smits), seventh in games played (577), seventh in total minutes (18,455) and eighth in total rebounds (4,494) on the Pacers' all-time franchise lists.

Williams spent virtually all of the final seven years of his playing career as a Knick, and was one of only two players (along with Ewing) to be a member of both of the Knicks' Eastern Conference Championship teams of 1994 and 1999. He originally signed with the Knicks as a free agent on Nov. 15, 1992. Williams was part of two separate trades (to Toronto on Feb. 18, 1996 and to Philadelphia on Feb. 19, 1998), but quickly returned to the Big Apple just days after both.

Williams averaged 17.6 points and 9.7 rebounds in a four-year college career at Ohio State, and became the first Buckeye in school history to record more than 2,000 career points (2,011).

Born on Feb. 16, 1958 in Columbus, OH, Williams was a recreation major at Ohio State. Herb has four children - Erica (26, a 2008 graduate of George Washington University), Jabrille (20, who is attending Binghamton University in upstate NY and is a member of the school's basketball team) and one-year old twins Jacob and Jayda - and lives in Stamford, CT. Off the court, Herb is extremely involved in the community, spending countless hours with area youth.

ERIE BAYHAWKS

NBA DEVELOPMENT LEAGUE

On Jun. 8, 2011 the Erie BayHawks, the New York Knicks and the NBA Development League announced that the Knicks and BayHawks entered into a single affiliation partnership beginning with the 2011-12 season. The Knicks are the BayHawks' sole NBA affiliate and will have control over the team's basketball operations. In a model similar to other minor leagues, this partnership, also referred to as the "hybrid affiliation," allows for NBA teams to secure control over and cover the expenses related to the basketball operations of an NBA D-League team, while partnering with existing ownership, which maintains responsibility for the team's off-the-court business operations.

Children of Garden of Dreams battle it out with Tug-of-War

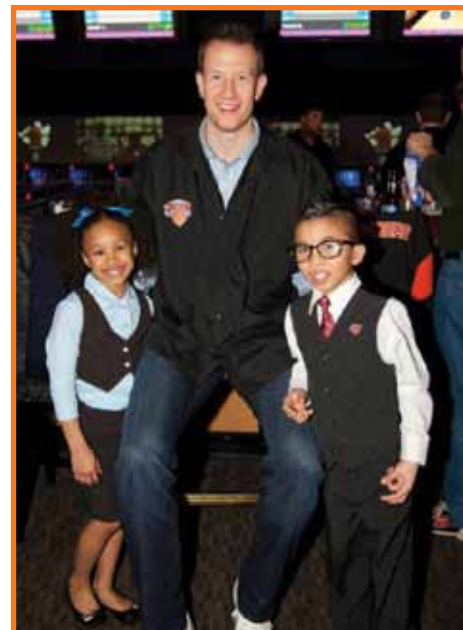

The Knicks and Garden of Dreams teamed up for "Dream Nights" where children and families were treated to unforgettable evenings at Madison Square Garden. The experiences began courtside on the team bench watching the Knicks exclusive pregame warm-ups, which included an opportunity to meet current Knicks players and alumni. Children and families were then given special VIP goody bags and escorted to catered sky box suites to watch a Knicks game.

KNICKS BOWL '13

Knicks players, special guests and fans bowled for a cause at Knicks Bowl '13, which took place at 300 New York at Chelsea Piers. The fun filled, celebrity studded event, gave the team's loyal supporters the opportunity to bowl with their favorite athletes while raising money for the Garden of Dreams Foundation. Since 2000, the Knicks have raised more than $2.1 million through their annual Knicks Bowl event.

Through the Show Kids New York program, the Knicks and Garden of Dreams invited children from partner organizations to experience various New York City landmarks and attractions with Knicks players. This season, children joined players for a Top of the Rock sightseeing tour and a "sweet treat" experience at Dylan's Candy Bar.

HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS

On Monday, December 19, 2011, the New York Knicks and the Garden of Dreams Foundation hosted a "Home for the Holiday's" Season Launch Party for 150 children from Garden of Dreams partner organization, WHEDco, at the Madison Square Garden Training Center. The event included special appearances by Knicks players and the Knicks City Dancers. Interactive elements included pop-a-shot basketball, skee-ball, ping pong, air hockey, a photo booth, and game pro stations (video games), while the Knicks Street Team conducted on-court basketball drills and contests. There were also face painters, a magician, and a DJ to provide more entertainment for the children. Throughout the day, children and players rotated through each station and children had the opportunity to take photos with the players. Each participant received a gift bag filled with a Knicks and Garden of Dreams hat, an "NBA is Back" t-shirt, and a water bottle.

Each month, the New York Knicks honor local heroes with the Sweetwater Clifton City Spirit Award. Named after Nat "Sweetwater" Clifton, the first African-American to play for the Knicks, the award recognizes those who have made a significant difference in the lives of others. Winners are honored on center court during a Knicks home game and receive a $2,000 donation to a charity of their choice. This year marked the 7th year that the Knicks have honored unsung heroes.

Dave DeBusschere's sons Peter and Dennis award Caite Opfer and Armando Dunn at center court on April 25, 2012

On April 25, 2012 the New York Knicks recognized Caite Opfer (age 15) of Somers High School in Lincolndale, NY and Armando Dunn, (age 15) of Boys and Girls Club High School in Brooklyn, NY, as the recipients of the Dave DeBusschere Award for the 2011-12 season. Both students excelled in the classroom as well as on the basketball court, and exemplified the same heroic characteristics that Dave DeBusschere carried throughout his life.

KNICKS SUMMER BASKETBALL CAMP

The summer of 2011 marked the 20th anniversary of the New York Knicks Summer Basketball Camp presented by Powerade and Under Armour. The summer of 2011 focused on the history and tradition of the New York Knicks and featured Knicks Legends such as Walt 'Clyde' Frazier, Larry Johnson, John Starks, Allan Houston, Herb Williams, Charles Smith, Greg Anthony, and former Knicks Coaches Dan D'Antoni and Kenny Atkinson. With locations in Westchester, Manhattan and the Hamptons on Long Island, the Knicks were able to deliver youth basketball to over 1,000 players in the tri state area.

During the 2011-12 season, the Knicks conducted over 20 basketball clinics for fans to participate in and learn the concepts and fundamentals of Knicks basketball at borough playgrounds, local basketball courts, YMCA's and NYC Parks & Recreation Centers. The clinics focused on helping athletes improve their skills and develop their overall basketball game by teaching basic practice drills and emphasizing the fundamentals. The clinics incorporated a healthy lifestyle component within the clinics to teach and expose children to the importance of eating healthy and taking care of your overall health.

THE KNICKS GROOVE TRUCK

During the year, Knicks Groove Truck is out and about on the streets of New York City looking for basketball fans of all ages! During the 2012 season, the Knicks Groove Truck drives the excitement of the Knicks to both community and private events for basketball clinics, skill competitions, Xbox 360 video game tournaments and free throw and 3-point shooting contests with cool Knicks prizes! Throughout 2012, the Groove Truck will be appearing at over 200 local events including street fairs, schools, basketball tournaments and other events to bring excitement and show Knicks support for community events.

JUNIOR KNICKS LEAGUE & KNICKS INSTRUCTIONAL LEAGUE

The New York Knicks, Sprite and Foot Locker partnered with the YMCA of Greater New York, New York City Parks & Recreation's Millennium Winter Basketball League and the City Wide Athletic Association to give over 9,000 children, boys & girls ages 7-18, a chance to play organized basketball in league format. The program consists of instruction, skill development, league play, Knicks clinics and trips to Madison Square Garden to attend Knicks games. The League also includes an amazing opportunity to play on the Garden floor and meet Knicks players and legends. In 2010, the Knicks continued expanding their reach for children in upper Manhattan with partner Fastbreak Basketball - The New York Knicks Instructional Basketball League - participants took part in a nine week skill development program that included clinics, league games, an All Star event featuring former Knicks Geoff Huston & John Starks and trips to the Garden.

NBA CARES

NBA Cares is the league's global social responsibility program that builds on the NBA's mission to address important social issues in the United States and around the world. Through this program, the NBA, its teams and players have donated than $200 million to charity, completed more than 1.9 million hours of hands-on community service, and created more than 720 places where kids and families can live, learn, or play, in 23 countries and territories on five continents. NBA Cares works with internationally recognized youth-serving programs that support education, youth and family development, and health-related causes, including: KaBOOM!, Special Olympics, Boys and Girls Clubs of America, UNICEF, the Make-A-Wish Foundation, and the Global Business Coalition on HIV/AIDS, Malaria and Tuberculosis.

CARMELO ANTHONY | F

Dave Saffran, MSG Photos

2003 NBA Draft, following freshman season at Syracuse; joined Knicks in Feb. 22, 2011 three-way megatrade with Denver and Minnesota......Quoting Head Coach Mike Woodson: "Melo I think now is settling in. He's playing like we all thought he could play. It's beautiful to watch him play because he's doing a lot of things on both sides of the floor. He's making players around him better and it's helping us win and that's what the good players do."

Among The All Timers: Carmelo comes into the 2012-13 season as the 95th leading scorer in NBA history with 15,926 career points...Just ahead of him on the all-time list are Hall of Famer Pete Maravich (94th with 15,948) and former Knicks Kiki Vandeweghe (93rd with 15,980) and Derek Harper (92nd with 16,006)...Career scoring average (24.7) ranks 14th on the all-time NBA list coming into 2012-13 and fourth among active players (behind LeBron James' 27.7, Kobe Bryant's 25.4 and Dwyane Wade's 25.2)...Ranks 17th among active players in total points (15,926)...On Nuggets' all-time franchise lists, Melo is third all-time in points (13,970), trailing only Alex English's 21,645 and Dan Issel's 16,589), third in minutes (20,521), sixth in games played (564), seventh in steals (634), sixth in 3PT FG (410), ninth in rebounds (3,566) and 10th in assists (1,729).

Captain Clutch: One of the game's top clutch performers; has made 17 game-winning shots in the final 10 seconds (16 regular season, one Playoffs)...Has recorded three such shots for Knicks, two in 2010-11 (Mar. 9, 2011 at Memphis; 19-foot jumper with :00.5 left, 110-108; Apr. 10, 2011 at Indiana; 19-foot jumper with :04.9 left, 110-109) and one in 2011-12 (Apr. 8, 2012 vs. Chicago; three-point with :08.2 left in OT, 100-99, capping 43-point game)...In the Playoffs, nailed game-winning three-pointer with :01.0 left to give Nuggets 106-105 win in Game Three of West Semis vs. Dallas, May 9, 2009.

SEASON IN REVIEW

The New York Knickerbockers marked their 66th season as a charter member of the NBA with a 36-30 (.545) regular season mark, good for the seventh seed in the Eastern Conference...Knicks finished second in the Atlantic Division for the second straight year, three games behind division champion Boston.

Winners...Again (36-30): Knicks' 36-30 record marked their second straight winning season...Knicks clinched a .500-plus season on Apr. 22 with win No. 34 (in game No. 64), a 113-112 triumph at Atlanta.

Cancel That Vacation...Again: Knicks earned their second straight trip to the NBA Playoffs...Knicks mathematically clinched an NBA Playoff berth on Apr. 19 (off day), with Milwaukee's 118-109 loss at Indiana...Knicks fell to the eventual NBA Champion Miami Heat, four games to one, in the Eastern Conference first round.

Woody: Knicks went 18-6 (.750) under Mike Woodson, following his Mar. 14 appointment as interim head coach...Prior to that night's game against Portland, it was announced that it was mutually decided that Mike D'Antoni would no longer be the head coach of the Knicks, and that Dan D'Antoni and Phil Weber would no longer be assistant coaches...Woodson, New York's first-round pick in 1980 who joined the staff as an assistant coach on Aug. 29, 2011, became the 25th head coach in franchise history...Woodson became the first head coach in Knicks history to win his first five games in his first year with the team (wins over Indiana twice, Portland, Toronto and Philadelphia)...D'Antoni coached the Knicks to an 18-24 (.429) mark this year and went 121-167 (.420) in 3½ seasons as Knicks head coach, becoming the sixth-winningest coach in franchise history, trailing Red Holzman (613), Joe Lapchick (326), Jeff Van Gundy (248), Pat Riley (223) and Hubie Brown (142).

Glen: On Apr. 24, it was announced that Glen Grunwald had been named Knicks executive vice president and general manager. Grunwald had been serving in this role on an interim basis since July 2011...Grunwald originally joined the Knicks on Sep. 6, 2006 as senior vice president, basketball operations, following a decade with the Toronto Raptors (1994-2004), including seven seasons as general manager.

At Home (22-11): Knicks finished 22-11 (.667) at home, and their home winning percentage of .667 was their highest since 2000-01 (30-11, .731)...Knicks ran off a nine-game home winning streak from Mar. 14-Apr. 13, beating Portland, Indiana, Toronto, Detroit, Milwaukee, Orlando, Cleveland, Chicago and Washington in their first nine home games under Mike Woodson...Knicks' home season included four victories over 2011-12 divisional champions (defeated Boston 106-104 on Dec. 25 and 118-110 on Apr. 17; defeated Chicago 100-99 in OT on Apr. 8, defeated Lakers 92-85 on Feb. 10).

On The Road (14-19): Knicks finished 14-19 (.424) on the road...Longest road win streak was three (twice); longest road losing streak was six (Feb. 23-Mar. 12)...One of NYK's biggest road wins of the season, a vital 111-107 triumph over Milwaukee on Apr. 11, snapped a four-game losing streak at the Bradley Center...On Apr. 18, Knicks made their last visit to New Jersey a winning one with a 104-95 triumph over Nets. Knicks finished with all-time records vs. Nets of 6-4 at the Rutgers Athletic Center, 23-44 at The Meadowlands and 3-0 at the Prudential Center.

On The Leader Board: Carmelo Anthony finished sixth in the NBA with 22.6 scoring average (has ranked among NBA Top 20 in scoring in each of his nine pro seasons). Tyson Chandler led the NBA with a franchise-record .679 field goal percentage. Tyson also finished ninth in the League in rebounding (9.9), and 19th in blocks (1.44)...Steve Novak led the NBA in three-point shooting with .472 (133-282), becoming just the second Knick to lead the League in three-point shooting, joining Campy Russell in 1981-82 (.439 on 25-57 from Downtown)...Iman Shumpert ranked seventh in the NBA with 1.71 steals per game and 15th in steals-per-turnover ratio (0.91). Among NBA Rookies, Iman finished second in steals (1.71 to Minnesota's Ricky Rubio at 2.22) and ninth in scoring (9.5)...On the NBA Rookie Leader Board, Josh Harrellson ranked 15th in rebounding (3.9) and ninth in blocks (0.54).

Post-Season Honors: Knicks' post-season was highlighted by a series of major honors...Carmelo Anthony and Tyson Chandler were both named to the 2011-12 All-NBA Third Team (fifth career All-NBA selection for Anthony, first for Chandler)...Chandler was named 2011-12 KIA NBA Defensive Player of the Year (first Knick ever to win the award) and 2011-12 NBA All-Defensive Second Team (second career All-Defensive honor)...Iman Shumpert was named to the 2011-12 NBA All-Rookie First Team...Jeremy Lin was named Atlantic Division winner for the NBA's 2011-12 Sportsmanship Award (Joe Dumars Trophy), eventually won by Dallas' Jason Kidd...Anthony was named KIA NBA Eastern Conference Player of the Month for April.

New Faces Of '12: Following the lockout-shortened training camp and free agent period, a total of 10 players made their Knicks debuts in 2011-12: Jeremy Lin, J.R. Smith, Tyson Chandler, Iman Shumpert, Steve Novak, Baron Davis, Josh Harrellson, Mike Bibby, Jerome Jordan and Dan Gadzuric...At season's end, Toney Douglas ranked as the senior Knick in terms of continuous service with three full NBA seasons in New York...A total of 17 players saw action for the Knicks in 2011-12, NYK's lowest total since 2007-08 (15); Knicks had used 20-plus players in each of the last three seasons.

East/West: Knicks went 28-20 against the Eastern Conference, 8-10 against the Western Conference...Of the teams NYK played more than once, the Knicks recorded season sweeps over Detroit (3-0), Washington (3-0) and Sacramento (2-0)...Knicks notched their second straight season sweep over Washington (3-0 in 2010-11), their first sweep over Detroit since 1995-96 (4-0) and their first sweep over Sacramento since 1996-97 (2-0).

Dee-Fense: Knicks finished 11th in the NBA in points allowed (94.7) and 10th in the League in field goal shooting allowed (.442)...Knicks' defense recorded its best points allowed since 2003-04 (93.5) and best shooting allowed since 2003-04 as well (.429)...Knicks' rank of 11th-best in points allowed was their best since 2000-01, when they led the NBA with 88.7 against, and their rank of 10th-best in shooting percentage allowed was their best since 2003-04 (eighth with .429)...Through the season's first 42 games (Dec. 25-Mar. 12), Knicks averaged 96.5 points allowed (4,052) and .447 shooting percentage allowed (1,510-3,379). For the season's final 24 contests (Mar. 14-Apr. 26), following the appointment of Mike Woodson as interim coach, they averaged 91.5 points allowed (2,195) and .434 opposition shooting (806-1,859)...Knicks were 30-15 when holding the opposition under 100 points...Knicks held the opposition under 80 points seven times, winning all seven games (had five sub-80 opponent games in that final 24-game stretch)...On Apr. 13, Knicks held Washington to a microscopic .278 from the field (22-79) in wire-to-wire 103-65 win at MSG, recording season-lows in both points allowed and opposing field goal percentage. Wiz' shooting was lowest allowed by NYK since post-clock club record opposition low .250 (21-84) by Orlando on Nov. 3, 2003; 65 points were just three more than all-time NYK post-clock opposition low (62 by Jazz on Nov. 14, 2005; the "Larry Miller Game").

"You go out on the road to play Playoff basketball, you've gotta be tight and solid with everything that you do. It's almost like you've got to play a perfect game on the road. You can't play like you play at home, on the road. You can't turn it over, you've got to execute offensively. And defensively, you've got to get after people. You've got to rebound the ball as a unit...all the little intangible things that win games, you've got to do on the road." - Mike Woodson, Apr. 25

(Knicks finish regular season at 36-30; second in Atlantic, 3 GB)

The Playoffs (1-4) First Round vs. Miami (1-4)

Game One (Saturday afternoon, April 28 at Miami: Heat 100, Knicks 67): Knicks' 2012 Playoff run gets off to inauspicious start with 33-point loss at Miami...LeBron James leads Heat with 32 points (10-14) while Dwyane Wade adds 19...J.R. Smith leads Knicks with 17 points off the bench as Heat hold Anthony to 11 points (third-lowest career Playoff game) and Stoudemire to nine... Shumpert (0 points, 19 minutes in start) suffers torn left ACL and meniscus in third quarter, sidelining him for the rest of the series...Margin of defeat (33 points) is fourth-biggest in Knicks' post-season history; Knicks tie a post-clock club Playoff low with 67 points (also in Game Two of '99 Finals, 80-67 loss at San Antonio on Jun. 18, 1999)...Knicks-Heat renew Playoff rivalry that produced four unforgettable series over four years from 1997-2000 (Knicks 3-1). Despite going 6-12 shooting (.286) in first quarter, Knicks trail by just six (24-18) after one and then pull to within one point (30-29) when Smith buries a three-pointer with 6:53 left in second...Then Heat take command with a devastating 32-2 run that stretches over 9:21, bridging the second and third quarters (James scores 15 of Miami's 32 points during the game-busting run)...Heat lead at halftime, 54-31, outscore Knicks 30-13 in the second quarter and 57-29 over the second-third stanzas, then eventually build the lead to as many as 37 points (84-47). Knicks shoot just .357 (25-70), Heat shoot .486 (34-70)...On the line, Heat go 24-33 from the line (.727) while Knicks go just 10-11 from the line (.909)...Knicks go 7-21 (.333) from Downtown, Heat 8-21 (.381)...Knicks pick up three technical fouls (Head Coach Woodson, Stoudemire, Anthony) and a flagrant (Chandler)...Knicks tie a team Playoff mark with 27 turnovers (38 Miami points).

Game Two (Monday night, April 30 at Miami: Heat 104, Knicks 94): Wade scores 25 points, Chris Bosh adds 21 and James 19 with nine assists as Heat's Big Three dominate Game Two, handing Knicks 104-94 loss and sending NYK to 0-2 series deficit...Anthony scores a game-high 30 points while Stoudemire adds 18 prior to suffering a lacerated left hand post-game, an injury which will sideline him for Game Three. Knicks briefly take four-point lead in early going (6-2). Heat respond with 9-0 run and lead the rest of the way (as many as 15)...Anthony scores 21 points in the first half but Knicks trail at intermission, 53-47... Knicks pull to within four (72-68) on Chandler's dunk with 1:37 left in the third quarter, but get no closer...A 6-0 Heat spurt midway through the fourth quarter pushes the lead to 15 (92-77) and all but decides matters...Heat's Mario Chalmers scores nine of his 13 points in the fourth quarter. Knicks shoot .494 from the field (38-77), but allow .521 (38-73) to Miami, including .556 (20-36) in first half...Knicks rebound Heat, 40-33...Heat commit just eight turnovers (5 NYK points).

Game Three (Thursday night, May 3 at MSG: Heat 87, Knicks 70): Knicks return home to welcoming roar from frenzied, star-studded Garden sellout, but fall short in second half of 87-70 loss in Game Three...Anthony scores team-high 22 points while Chandler - fresh off honor as KIA 2011-12 NBA Defensive Player of the Year - adds 10 points and game-high 15 rebounds as Knicks play without Stoudemire (hand)...James pours in a game-high 32 points, 20 in the second half...Wade adds 20 and Chalmers 19 (5-8 from Downtown)...Knicks shoot just .319 (22-69), their all-time post-clock Playoff low (prior NYK Playoff low was .329 on 27-82 in Game Two of '99 Finals vs. Spurs, Jun. 18, 1999). Teams are tied 19-19 after one, but Knicks bridge first and second quarters with a 14-0 run to take a five-point lead (24-19) less than two minutes into the second...Lead balloons to 11 (40-29) on Baron Davis' layup+FTM with 1:44 left...Heat close gap to 40-36 at halftime, in midst of bridging second-third quarters with a 10-0 run...Heat outscore Knicks 22-16 in the third quarter (Wade 12 points), holding NY to 3-15 shooting (.200) in the stanza and taking a 58-56 lead into the final 12 minutes...Heat open fourth quarter with an 8-0 run and never look back, outscoring Knicks 29-14 in the quarter with James outscoring the Knicks by himself in the stanza (17-14).

Heat outscore Knicks 51-30 in the second half and hold NYK to just .242 shooting (8-33) in the final 24 minutes...Heat shoot .426 overall (29-68)...Knicks go just 4-20 (.200) from Downtown; Heat go 11-29 (.379) in the second half...Heat run 20 Knicks turnovers into 23 points.

Game Four (Sunday afternoon, May 6 at MSG: Knicks 89, Heat 87): With their season on the line, Knicks take their cue from roaring Garden house and, behind 41 points from Anthony, grind out a two-point win in Game Four matinee to keep their Playoff hopes alive...Stoudemire returns following one-game absence (hand) for 20 points and 10 rebounds in inspirational performance...Bibby adds six points, five rebounds and two assists in key 23-minute bench stint...Knicks lose Davis in third quarter (torn ACL and medial collateral ligaments/dislocated right patella) for the remainder of the Playoffs...James leads Heat with 27 points, Wade adds 22.

Heat lead at halftime, 44-38, as both teams shoot poorly (Heat .385 on 15-39 shooting, Knicks .382 on 13-34)...Both teams are shut out from three-point range in first half (Heat 0-9, Knicks 0-8)...Bosh's jumper gives Miami an 11-point lead (51-40) with 8:40 left in the third, but Knicks respond with 10 straight points to kick off a 24-7 push which produces a 64-58 lead in the quarter's final minute...James' three-pointer closes the quarter and pulls Miami within three (64-61) heading into the final 12 minutes...Carmelo's short fadeaway produces an 81-81 tie with 2:03 to go, then Bibby rings up a three-pointer from the left corner with 1:23 left (84-81), and Knicks never trail again...Anthony scores four straight points on a three-point bomb (:54.5 left) and 1-3 free throws (:25.9 left) for an 88-84 lead; James responds with a layup+FTM with :20.3 left to make it 88-87...After Stoudemire goes 1-2 FTA (Haslem foul) with 14.8 left (89-87), Knicks come up winners when Wade's contested three-point bomb from the right side misses at the buzzer.

Anthony scores 23 points in the second half, including 12 of Knicks' last 16 points...Knicks shoot .427 overall (32-75), hold Miami to .411 (30-73)...After the first-half shutout, Knicks go 5-22 (.277) overall from Downtown, Heat 3-19 (.158)...Knicks go 20-29 from the line (.690), Heat 25-35 (.686)...Game features 12 lead changes and 11 ties.

Game Five (Wednesday night, May 9 at Miami: Heat 106, Knicks 94): Anthony pours in a game-high 35 points for his third 30-plus game of the series, but it can't offset 67 points from Miami's Big Three (James 29, Wade 19, Bosh 19) in decisive, series-ending 106-94 Game Five loss at Miami...Chandler notches game-high 11 rebounds as shorthanded Knicks play their final game of the season with three key players sidelined: Lin (entire series), Shumpert and newly-injured Davis.

Early spurt lifts Knicks to 20-14 lead with Bibby scoring eight points in the first quarter; Heat close quarter with a 14-4 run, take a 28-24 lead after one and never trail the rest of the way...Wade scores 12 points in the second quarter as Heat expand lead to 55-44 at halftime...Knicks get no closer than eight (64-56) during second half, as Heat stretch lead to as many as 19 (96-77 on James' 2-2 free throws with 5:47 left in the fourth)...Anthony scores 20 of Knicks' 50 second-half points.

Knicks shoot .474 (36-76) and hold Heat to just .436 (34-78)...But Heat go 9-19 (.474) from Downtown while Knicks go just 4-13 (.308) from long range...Heat go 29-34 from the line (.853) with James 13-15, Knicks go 18-21 (.857)...Heat rebound Knicks, 42-36...Knicks' 66th NBA season ends at 9:35 p.m. Eastern Time as buzzer sounds.

Attendance Notes

- Knicks ranked fifth in the NBA in total and average home attendance (33 dates, 652,179 total, 19,763 average, 33 sellouts) for the 2011-12 regular season...Knicks averaged better than 19,000-plus in home attendance for the 18th time in the last 20 seasons.
- Knicks sold out each of their regular season home games (33) for the first time since 2001-02, the final full season of the legendary 433-game Sellout Streak which spanned from Feb. 4 1993-Nov. 2, 2002...Two additional sellouts in the 2012 Playoffs against Miami gave the Knicks a streak of 68 consecutive home sellouts (preseason + regular season + Playoffs), entering the 2012-13 season...Last non-sellout at the Garden (pre-season, regular season or Playoffs) was on Dec. 12, 2010 vs. Denver (19,387).

HISTORY

THE KNICKERBOCKERS STORY

Ned Irish: The Founding Father

The Beginning

It all began on Jun. 6, 1946, when Madison Square Garden was granted a charter franchise in the newly-formed Basketball Association of America. The legendary Ned Irish, who would eventually be enshrined in the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, was the Knicks' founding father and one of the infant circuit's pioneers.

The newly-christened Knickerbockers debuted on Nov. 1, 1946, edging the Toronto Huskies, 68-66 at famed Maple Leaf Gardens. Former Manhattan College mentor Neil Cohan was the Knicks' first head coach, while Ossie Schectman, Stan Stutz, Jake Weber, Ralph Kaplowitz and Leo Gottlieb made up the inaugural starting lineup.

THIS NEARLY WAS MINE

New York was playoff-bound in each of its first 10 seasons, nine of those under the leadership of Joe Lapchick, the coaching genius whose 326 career wins helped him carve a niche in the Hall of Fame.

The City's Team. The City Game. More than six decades of heroes and heroics. That's the legacy and tradition of the New York Knickerbockers, a charter member of the National Basketball Association and one of the benchmark franchises of American sports.

It is a history that includes six of the 50 Greatest Players in NBA History – Patrick Ewing, Willis Reed, Walt Frazier, Dave DeBusschere, Earl Monroe and Jerry Lucas...a tradition that embraces four of the 10 Greatest Coaches in League history, led by the legendary Red Holzman...a legacy written across eight trips to the NBA Finals and two World Championships, with the fabled 1970 team cited as one of the 10 Greatest Teams in League annals.

The Knicks made three consecutive trips to the NBA Finals, in 1951, 1952 and 1953. But they would be denied the summit all three times: first by Rochester, and then by the dynastic Minneapolis Lakers in 1952 and 1953.

Carl Braun was the club's premier scorer during those early days, averaging 14.1 points over a career that spanned 12 seasons and five All-Star selections. Braun's teammates included Harry Gallatin, the ferocious rebounder who still holds the club record of 610 consecutive games played; the great Dick McGuire, who set a playmaking standard by leading the club in assists for seven straight seasons (1950-56), popular Ernie Vandeweghe and pioneer pro Nat "Sweetwater" Clifton. The greatness of the early Knicks has been certified with the enshrinements of Gallatin and McGuire into the Hall of Fame, joining Lapchick and Irish.

Lean Years

New York made the playoffs only once in a 10-year span from the late '50s into the '60s, a period in which Iona's Richie Guerin earned a permanent place in Knicks lore with his sensational scoring and hard-nosed play. A six-time All-Star with New York, Guerin was the first Knick to score 50 points in a game when he poured in 57 on Dec. 11, 1959 against Syracuse, just one of 13 40-point performances during his career. Willie Naulls, Ray Felix, Jumpin' Johnny Green and Ken Sears were also major Knick heroes in those days.

The head coaching assignments during that era were handled by Vince Boryla, Fuzzy Levane, Braun, Eddie Donovan, Gallatin and McGuire.

TAKE IT ALL!

Following a decade in the doldrums, the Knicks franchise would ultimately reach its zenith under William "Red" Holzman, the Hall of Fame coach who took over the reins in late 1967, just prior to the team's move from the venerable Old Garden on 49th Street to the gleaming New Garden above Penn Station. As Holzman assumed the helm, the team's "Golden Era" - which would include four 50+ win seasons, three Eastern Conference Championships and, of course, two NBA titles - was launched.

The Knicks climbed to basketball's pinnacle in 1969-70, riding a club record 18-game winning streak and a 60-22 regular season mark to the team's first NBA World Championship. Captain Willis Reed, the League's MVP, will forever be remembered for stepping onto the Garden court in spite of his severely injured leg, to the deafening roar of a capacity crowd... the impetus for a stirring and decisive seventh game triumph in the Finals against the Los Angeles Lakers. With Reed scoring the Knicks' first two baskets and Walt Frazier adding 36 points and 19 assists, New York nailed down its first NBA title with a 113-99 Game Seven win, forever stamping May 8, 1970 as the ultimate red-letter day in team history.

Along with Reed's contributions, the unprecedented success was keyed by fabled teammates such as Frazier, Bill Bradley, Dave DeBusschere and Dick Barnett, along with "Minutemen" Mike Riordan, Cazzie Russell and Dave Stallworth. Smart drafting and shrewd trades by Holzman and general manager Eddie Donovan - especially the fabled December 1968 acquisition of DeBusschere from Detroit - laid the foundation for success.

Holzman's club led the NBA in team defense five times over a six-year span from 1968-69 to 1973-74. The team captured the citizenry of the world's greatest basketball city, selling out the New Garden 26 times in 1969-70 after recording just six regular season sellouts in 22 seasons at the Old Garden.

Earl "The Pearl" Monroe, a Knicks nemesis during his days with the Baltimore Bullets, joined the Knicks in 1971-72 and teamed with Frazier to form one of the greatest backcourts in NBA history. Also acquired to shore up the front line was perennial All-Star Jerry Lucas.

In 1971-72, despite the season-long absence of Reed due to injury, the Knicks won the Eastern Conference title with Playoff wins over Baltimore and Boston. In 1972-73, Reed returned and a veteran Knick squad gutted its way to its second NBA Championship. They outlasted Boston in a classic Eastern Final series and then beat the Lakers in the Finals, becoming the first team in NBA history to defeat two 60-win teams en route to a title.

In tribute to the championship heroes, the retired numbers of Reed, Bradley, Frazier, Barnett, DeBusschere and Monroe hang from the Garden rafters. Reed, Bradley, Frazier, DeBusschere, Monroe and Lucas have all joined Holzman in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame.

Slump, then Surge

New York was a playoff force for nine straight seasons (1966-67 through 1974-75). But then a period of lean times befell the club as the '80s dawned, despite headline performances by Spencer Haywood, Ray Williams, Micheal Ray Richardson and future Hall of Famer Bob McAdoo. Holzman and Reed presided as coach as the Knicks made the Playoffs only twice in a seven-year span from 1976 to 1982.

Two dynamic and unforgettable personalities played the central roles as the Knicks' fortunes turned in the early '80s...head coach and future Hall of Famer Hubie Brown, and scorer extraordinaire Bernard King. In 1984, Brown guided the Knicks to a memorable first-round playoff victory over Detroit. King developed into perhaps the greatest offensive force in club history, becoming the first - and so far the only - Knick ever to lead the NBA in scoring with a 32.9 average in 1984-85.

Bradley and Reed exalt in '73 title

Jackpot!

On Mother's Day 1985, the Knicks won the rights to Georgetown superstar Patrick Ewing in the first-ever NBA Lottery. It would prove to be a major turning point in the club's history. Ewing authored 15 memorable years in New York, becoming an 11-time All-Star, the all-time club leader in virtually every category and arguably the greatest player to ever wear the orange and blue, a headline performer whose No. 33 would be hoisted to the Garden rafters in 2003. But a crippling 1985 knee injury to King set off a three-year dry spell in which the Knicks would win only 24, 23 and 24 games, missing the Playoffs all three years as Garden attendance plummeted.

But a decade-plus period in which the Knicks would again reign as one of the game's elite began in 1987-88. Under General Manager Al Bianchi and Head Coach Rick Pitino and buoyed by Rookie of the Year Mark Jackson, the Knicks gained a playoff spot in the season's final game. The next year, with newly-acquired Charles Oakley and Kiki Vandeweghe on board, the Knicks won 52 games (including 26 straight at home) and the Atlantic Division title. In 1989-90, behind an MVP-caliber season by Ewing, the Knicks rose from an 0-2 hole and defeated the arch-rival Celtics in the first playoff round with an emotional Game Five triumph at Boston Garden.

All-Stars Oakley, Ewing and Starks

It's All About Soul

Club president Dave Checketts - named on Mar. 1, 1991 - and eventual President and General Manager Ernie Grunfeld then guided the Knicks into an unforgettable era by hiring future Hall of Fame coach Pat Riley and adding the likes of Xavier McDaniel, Rolando Blackman, Anthony Mason, Doc Rivers, Charles Smith and Derek Harper. The Riley Era - 1991-92 through 1994-95 - resulted in an unprecedented four consecutive 50+ win seasons, two Atlantic Division titles, two trips to the Eastern Conference Finals, and a series of electrifying Playoff runs that captivated the entire nation.

In 1992-93, the Knicks rewrote the club record book with a franchise-record-tying 60 wins, a club record 37 home victories and, ultimately, their first appearance in the Eastern Conference Finals in nearly two decades.

Then, keyed by one of the greatest defensive units in NBA history (91.5 points allowed) and All-Star seasons from Ewing, Oakley and John Starks, the 1993-94 Knicks ended the three-year championship reign of the Chicago Bulls with an emotional playoff triumph, then bested Indiana to earn their first Eastern Conference Championship in 21 years, only to be denied the ultimate prize in a seven-game nail-biter NBA Finals series against Houston. A 55-win season in 1994-95 and a heartbreaking seven-game Playoff loss to Indiana was followed soon after by Riley's resignation as head coach.

As a final, fitting postscript to the Riley Era, both Ewing and Riley earned first-ballot election to the Basketball Hall of Fame with the Class of 2008.

Jeff's Time

After seven years as an assistant coach, youthful Jeff Van Gundy succeeded future Hall-of-Famer Don Nelson as head coach on Mar. 8, 1996. Following the 1995-96 season, Grunfeld engineered an extensive off-season facelift that put Larry Johnson, Allan Houston, Chris Childs and Buck Williams in Knicks uniforms. The results were a 57-win season in 1996-97, followed by an emotional first-round Playoff triumph over Miami in 1997-98, a season marred by a wrist fracture suffered by Ewing that sidelined the All-Star center for the final two-thirds of the regular season.

Electrifying Latrell Sprewell and youthful Marcus Camby came aboard in 1998-99 to help write one of the most memorable chapters in the club's storied history. Following a 27-23 regular season, the Knicks stormed from the East's eighth seed to win the Eastern Conference title with thrilling Playoff triumphs over arch-rivals Miami and Indiana and a decisive four-game sweep of Atlanta, before the ultimate heartbreak of a five-game Finals loss to San Antonio.

In 2000, the Knicks made their second straight march to the East Finals, highlighted by their third straight Playoff triumph over Miami, as Ewing concluded his 15-year, Hall of Fame Knick career. Van Gundy, meanwhile, would ultimately log 248 career wins to become the third-winningest coach in franchise history, behind only the storied duo of Holzman and Lapchick.

THE KNICKS ARE BACK...

Following the end of both the Knicks' string of 14 consecutive Playoff appearances and their decade-long streak of 433 home sellouts, Hall-of-Famer Isiah Thomas was appointed president, basketball operations on Dec. 22, 2003. Over the next five seasons, Hall-of-Famers Lenny Wilkens, Larry Brown and ultimately Thomas would coach the Knicks, with Wilkens leading New York to a Playoff berth in 2004.

The Knicks' journey back toward elite status began in the spring of 2008, with the naming of New York native Donnie Walsh as president, basketball operations and the hiring of Mike D'Antoni as head coach. In 2008-09, D'Antoni engineered a nine-game improvement in the win column. The following year, David Lee became the Knicks' first NBA All-Star since 2001, Nate Robinson capped a span in which he won three NBA Slam Dunk Championships, and Italian import Danilo Gallinari emerged as one of the game's deadliest three-point threats.

Meanwhile, Walsh presided over an extensive roster makeover climaxed by an eight-month period over 2010-11 in which the Knicks acquired perennial All-Stars Amar'e Stoudemire from Phoenix and Carmelo Anthony from Denver. In 2010-11, the Knicks marched to their first winning record in a decade and their first Playoff berth since 2004.

The Knicks' rebirth continued in 2011-12 with the promotion of Glen Grunwald to the general manager's chair, his acquisition of eventual 2012 NBA Defensive Player of the Year Tyson Chandler, and the Mar. 14 naming of NBA coaching veteran Mike Woodson as head coach. In a season highlighted by an 18-6 record under Woodson, an All-Star performance by Anthony and the mid-season heroics of unheralded free agent signee Jeremy Lin, the Knicks nailed down their second straight NBA Playoff berth while extending their home sellout streak to 68...all of which gave a stunning validity to Stoudemire's original 2010 promise that, "The Knicks are back!"

Now, with renewed spirit and youth — further embodied by 2012 All-Rookie First Teamer Iman Shumpert and the acquisitions of perennial All-Star Jason Kidd and 1999 stalwarts Camby and Kurt Thomas - amid the spectacular setting of a transformed Garden, New York's Team faces the 2010s with the promise of even greater heights.

WHAT IS A KNICKERBOCKER?

HISTORY

The Name...

The term "Knickerbockers" traces its origin to the Dutch settlers who came to the New World - and especially to what is now New York - in the 1600s. Specifically, it refers to the style of pants the settlers wore...pants that rolled up just below the knee, which became known as "Knickerbockers", or "knickers".

In 1809, legendary author Washington Irving solidified the knickerbocker name in New York lore when he wrote the satiric A History of New York from the Beginning of the World to the End of the Dutch Dynasty under the pseudonym Diedrich Knickerbocker. Later known as Knickerbocker's History of New York, Irving's book introduced the word "knickerbocker" to signify a New Yorker who could trace his or her ancestry to the original Dutch settlers.

With the publication of Irving's book, the Dutch settler "Knickerbocker" character became synonymous with New York City. The city's most popular symbol of the late 19th and early 20th centuries was "Father Knickerbocker", complete with cotton wig, three-cornered hat, buckled shoes, and, of course, knickered pants.

At the same time, the term "Knickerbocker" became indelibly linked to anything and everything New York...from Jacob Ruppert's Knickerbocker Beer to the 1938 Broadway musical Knickerbocker Holiday (which starred Walter Huston and featured the haunting "September Song") to famed society gossip columnists Cholly Knickerbocker (the nom de plume used by Maury Paul and Igor Cassini) and Suzy Knickerbocker (Aileen Mehle).

The Knickerbocker name had its first use in the sports world in 1845, when Alexander Cartwright's Manhattan-based baseball team — the first organized team in baseball history — was named the "New York Knickerbockers" or the "Knickerbocker Nine." The Knickerbocker name stayed with the team even after it moved its base of operations to Elysian Fields at Hoboken, NJ in 1846. (The baseball link may have prompted Casey Stengel to joyously exclaim, "It's great to be back as the manager of the Knickerbockers!" when he was named pilot of the newborn Mets in 1961).

Thus, the Knickerbocker name had been an integral part of the New York scene for more than a century when the Basketball Association of America granted a charter franchise to the city in the summer of 1946. As can best be determined, the final decision to call the team the "Knickerbockers" was made by the club's founder, the legendary Ned Irish.

The late Fred Podesta, the longtime Garden executive who passed away in 1999, once recalled, "The name came out of a hat. We were all sitting in the office one day - Irish, (publicity man) Lester Scott and a few others on the staff. We each put a name in the hat, and when we pulled them out, most of them said Knickerbockers, after Father Knickerbocker, the symbol of New York City. It soon was shortened to Knicks."

In keeping with another New York tradition, the team's colors have always (except for the years from 1979-80 through 1982-83) been orange, blue and white...the official colors of New York City.

So now you know.

The Logo...

Including minor color and style alterations, the Knicks have used only three primary logos in their 67-year history:

Father Knick: The original Knicks logo, used from the inaugural 1946-47 season through 1963-64, was that of a smiling Father Knickerbocker dribbling a basketball, the brainchild of famed sports cartoonist Willard Mullin of the New York World-Telegram.

Old School Classic: For the 1964-65 season, the Knicks unveiled their "classic roundball" logo, created by artist Bud Freeman of the J.C. Bull advertising agency. It was the logo under which the Knicks won both of their NBA Championships, and, with minor color and style alterations, remained in use through 1991-92, a total of 28 seasons.

Alterations to the "classic roundball" logo included maroon lettering (1980-81 through 1982-83), and the "brown ball" (1983-84 through 1988-89) and "orange ball" (1989-90 through 1991-92) versions that were introduced to more closely conform to standard PMS colors.

During the late '60s and early '70s, the Knicks also used a secondary "ball-in-the-box" logo on game tickets and selected club merchandise.

The Triangle: On Jun. 17, 1992, the Knicks unveiled a unique, updated version of the club logo, featuring three-dimensional, modernized lettering newly framed in a triangle. The new logo was designed by NBA Marketing, an effort headed by creative director Tom O'Grady.

In 1995-96, the words "New York" were added at the top of the logo. In 2011-12, several subtle style changes were made, including bolder trim, a shade of silver and the elimination of the black dropshadow beneath the letters.

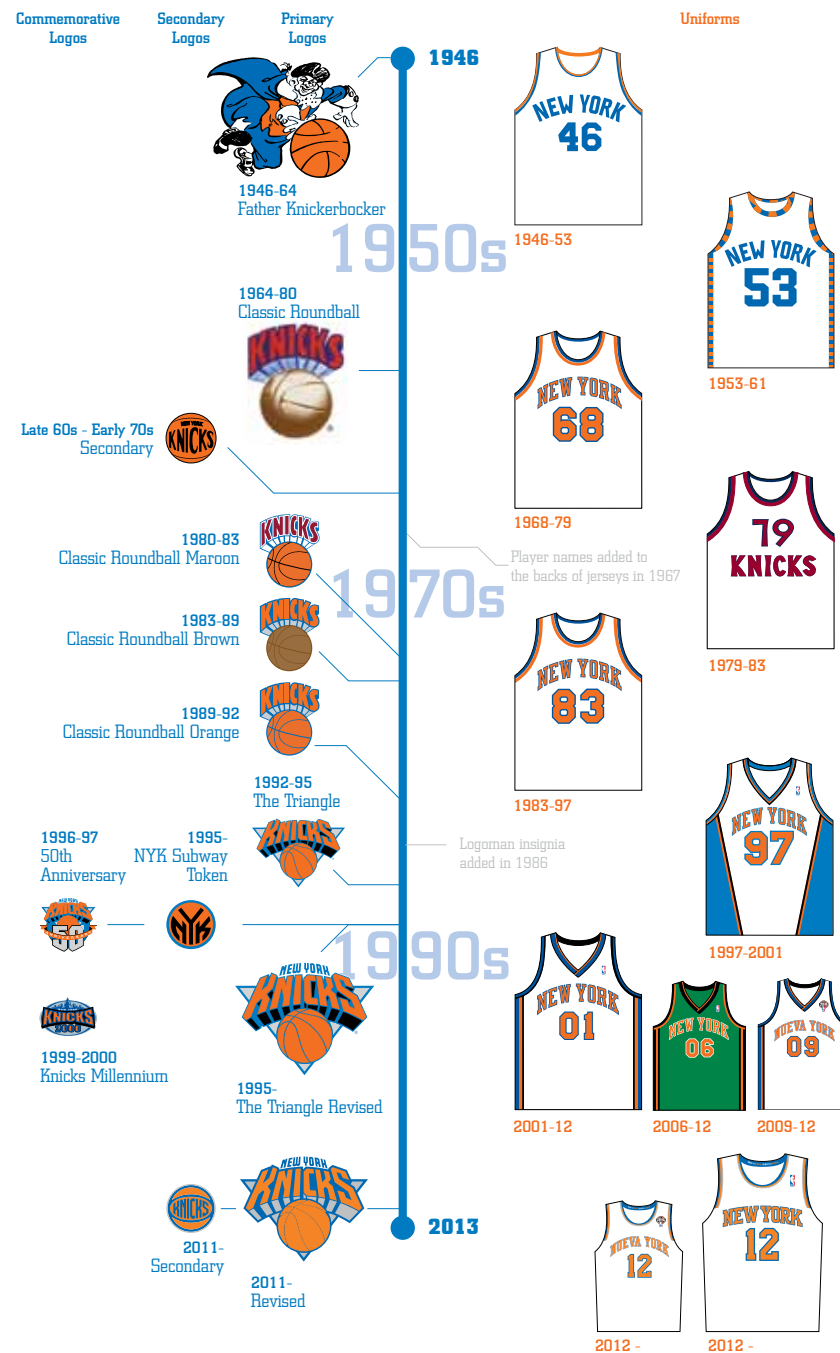

The "triangle" logo will be in use for its 21st season in 2012-13. While the Knicks logo has sometimes been depicted without the triangle in recent years, the "triangle" version - and nothing else - is the definitive primary club symbol.

And More: While the "triangle" logo remains the Knicks' primary trademark, the club has used several additional secondary logos, including the Golden Anniversary logo in 1996-97, the "Knicks 2000" millennium logo in 1999-2000, the familiar "NYK Subway Token" logo, and — introduced in 2011-12 — a newly-designed "roundball" logo that updates the "ball-in-the-box" emblem of the late '60s and early '70s.

First introduced in 1995-96 and widely used over the past decade, the "NYK Subway Token" logo was added to the backs of the players' jerseys in 2002-03, and took on additional nostalgic value with the formal retirement of the subway token by the city's Transportation Authority in spring 2003. Several subtle changes, including a thinning of the letter font, were incorporated into the "Subway Token" logo in 2011-12.

A listing of some of the milestone dates in the Knickerbockers' 66-year history as a charter member of the NBA.

Jun. 6, 1946: The Knicks are born at the first organizational meeting of the Basketball Association of America. New York is granted a charter franchise, along with Boston (Celtics), Philadelphia (Warriors), Providence (Steamrollers), Toronto (Huskies), Washington (Capitols), Chicago (Stags), Cleveland (Rebels), Detroit (Falcons), Pittsburgh (Ironmen) and St. Louis (Bombers)...Of the 11 original NBA franchises, only the Knicks, Celtics and Warriors remain, with the Knicks and Celtics the only two charter members still in their original cities.

Jul. 23, 1946: New York's BAA entry announces its name...the Knickerbockers.

Nov. 1, 1946: The First Game in Knicks History. Knicks defeat Toronto, 68-66 at fabled Maple Leaf Gardens. Leo Gottlieb leads the Knicks with 12 points.

Nov. 11, 1946: The Big Apple sees New York's Team for the first time, as the Knicks make their home debut. Before a crowd of 17,205 at the Old Garden on 49th Street, the Knicks lose to Chicago in overtime, 78-68. CCNY's Sonny Hertzberg leads the Knicks with 14 points.

Apr. 12, 1952: In the first game of the NBA Finals against the Lakers at St. Paul, the Knicks are victimized by a legendary non-call by officials Sid Borgia and Stan Stutz. Late in the first period, New York's Al McGuire hits a driving layup, and is fouled. However, McGuire is sent to the line for two free throws...Borgia and Stutz merely called the foul, and neither saw the ball go in the basket! Despite the protestations of coach Joe Lapchick (including a personal appeal to NBA commissioner Maurice Podoloff, seated at courtside), the call stands. McGuire goes to the line and hits one of two free throws. So, instead of a possible three points on the play, the Knicks get just one. Ultimately, it proves most costly as the Lakers win in overtime, 83-79, en route to a seven-game series triumph.

Jan. 21, 1954: The Old Garden hosts the NBA All-Star Game for the first time, and 16,487 see the East triumph in overtime, 98-93 behind Bob Cousy's 20 points. George Mikan's two (underhanded) free throws with no time left in regulation send the game into the extra session. It's the first of three NBA All-Star Games that will be played at the Old Garden.

Mar. 2, 1962: In the greatest single-game scoring performance in NBA history, Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain scores 100 points as the Warriors defeat the Knicks, 169-147 at Hershey, PA. Philadelphia's 169 points still stand as an all-time opposition high vs. Knicks.

Dec. 9, 1967: Before a packed Garden house of 18,499 (one of only six times the Knicks sold out the Old Garden) and a worldwide press contingent, Bill Bradley makes his long-awaited Knicks debut. Entering the game at the start of the second quarter, Dollar Bill nails his first pro shot, a left side baseline jumper. Bradley winds up with eight points in 20 minutes, but it isn't enough as the Knicks lose to Detroit, 124-121.

Dec. 27, 1967: Red Holzman is named head coach, replacing Dick McGuire (the two exchange positions, with McGuire named head scout).

Jan. 23, 1968: Three weeks before closing its doors forever, the Old Garden plays host to its third and last NBA All-Star Game. Before a sellout crowd of 18,422, Philadelphia's Hal Greer scores 21 points (19 in the third quarter) to lead the East to a 144-124 win. Of the 27 players and coaches selected to participate in the 1968 Game, 15 of them would be named among the NBA's 50 Greatest Players at the League's Golden Anniversary celebration in 1996-97. The '68 All-Star Game is the first NBA All-Star Game to be televised live from coast-to-coast on a major network (ABC) in prime time.

Feb. 10 and 14, 1968: Farewell to one home, hello to another. On the 10th, the Knicks play their last game at the Old Garden; then, four days later, play their first game at the New Garden. The Knicks win both, taking the finale on 49th Street, 115-97 over the 76ers, then winning their first game at 33rd and Seventh, 114-102 over San Diego.

Dec. 19, 1968: The Trade...Walt Bellamy and Howard Komives to Detroit for Dave DeBusschere.

Nov. 28, 1969: "What a game! What a game!" shouts TV voice Bob Wolff. Knicks score six points in the final 16 seconds to defeat Cincinnati, 106-105, and run their winning streak to a then-NBA record 18 straight games (the streak will end the next night with a loss to Detroit at MSG). The game against the Bob Cousy-coached Royals is played at the old Cleveland Arena, later the original home of the Cavs and immortal in rock 'n roll history as the site of Alan Freed's legendary 1952 Moondog Coronation Ball.

May 8, 1970: CHAMPS! Knicks 113, Lakers 99 in Game Seven of the Finals at MSG. Willis Reed's (4 pts, 27 min) last-minute entrance ignites the Garden, then Knicks get 36 points and 19 assists from Walt Frazier to nail down their first NBA title.

Nov. 18, 1972: Trailing Milwaukee 86-68 late in the fourth quarter, Knicks run off 19 straight points in the game's final 5:11 to defeat the Bucks, 87-86 at MSG, in perhaps the most famous regular season game in club history.

Apr. 22, 1973: Roaring back from a 17-point second-half deficit, Knicks outlast Boston 117-110 in a double-overtime thriller in Game Four of the East Finals at the Garden. Walt Frazier leads the way with 37 points as Knicks take a 3-1 series lead over Boston.

Apr. 29, 1973: After squandering a 3-1 series lead with losses in Games Five and Six, Knicks nail down the Eastern Conference title with a do-or-die 94-78 Game Seven triumph at Boston, becoming the first team ever to defeat the Celtics in Game Seven of a Playoff series.

May 10, 1973: CHAMPS AGAIN! Knicks 102, Lakers 93 in Game Five of the Finals at the LA Forum. Earl Monroe scores a game-high 23 points while Willis Reed (16.4 points, 9.2 rebounds) is named Finals MVP for the second time in four years.

Jan. 31-Feb. 1, 1984: Back-to-back 50-point games for Bernard King (at San Antonio and Dallas).

Dec. 25, 1984: Bernard King authors the greatest single-game scoring performance in franchise history, pouring in 60 points in a 120-114 Christmas Day loss to New Jersey at the Garden.

Mar. 23, 1985: On his way to becoming the first and only Knick to lead the League in scoring (32.9), Bernard King suffers a torn right anterior cruciate ligament in a game at Kansas City, an injury that will haunt the Knicks for years to come.

May 12, 1985: Knicks win the first-ever NBA Lottery, enabling them to select Georgetown center Patrick Ewing in the upcoming NBA Draft.

Jan. 15, 1990: Trent Tucker's three-point bomb off a Mark Jackson inbound (coming with the bare minimum of 0:00.1 showing on the clock) gives the Knicks a 109-106 Martin Luther King Day win over Chicago at the Garden and leads the following year to the institution of the 0.3-second "Trent Tucker Rule".

May 6, 1990: Knicks complete one of the most stunning turnarounds in Playoff history with a 121-114 Game Five victory at Boston, enabling them to snap an overall 26-game losing streak at Boston Garden and become just the third team in League history to rally from an 0-2 deficit to win a best-of-five series.

Dec. 18, 1992: Two years after their fabled 1990 Playoff win, Knicks end another losing streak at Boston Garden with 113-87 rout of Celtics, snapping a 23-game regular season losing streak on the fabled parquet floor (first regular season win at Boston since Feb. 29, 1984).

May 25, 1993: In the final minute of Game Two of the East Finals against Chicago, John Starks authors perhaps the single most famous play in Knicks history, splitting the Bulls defense for "The Dunk", a driving, left-handed tomahawk slam that sends the Garden into a frenzy. Coming with :47.3 left, The Dunk gives the Knicks a five-point lead in their eventual 96-91 win. (Knicks led series 2-0 after this game, but would fall to the Bulls in six).

Dec. 16, 1993: Patrick Ewing becomes the Knicks' all-time leading scorer with his 14,618th career point, passing Walt Frazier (14,617)...Ewing's record-breaker is a 12-foot baseline jumper (Oakley assist) with 9:39 left in the third quarter of a 108-85 win over the Lakers at MSG.

May 22, 1994: Knicks end the three-year championship reign of the Chicago Bulls with an 87-77 win in Game Seven of the East Semis at MSG.

Jun. 5, 1994: Knicks earn their first trip to the NBA Finals in 21 years, defeating Indiana 94-90 in Game Seven of the East Finals at MSG. Ewing (24 points, 22 rebounds) authors the game's key play, a follow-up, two-handed slam of Starks' missed layup, to give NY the lead for good with :26.9 left.

Jun. 22, 1994: Knicks title dreams fall one game short of reality as they lose Game Seven of the NBA Finals, 90-84 at Houston. It's their 25th Playoff game of the season, an all-time NBA record that would not be broken until 2008 (Boston).

Mar. 28, 1995: The Double Nickel Game...Two weeks after returning to basketball, Chicago's Michael Jordan scores 55 points (21-37 FGA, 3-4 from Downtown, 10-11 FTA) to lead the Bulls to a 113-111 win over the Knicks at MSG.

Jun. 15, 1995: Pat Riley resigns as head coach, after leading Knicks to four 50+ win seasons, two Atlantic Division titles, two trips to the Conference Finals, and the 1994 Eastern Conference Championship.

Oct. 29, 1996: The NBA unveils its 50th Anniversary team to include Dave DeBusschere, Patrick Ewing, Walt Frazier, Jerry Lucas, Earl Monroe and Willis Reed.

Nov. 1, 1996: Fifty years to the day after playing their first game, the Knicks return to Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens to open their 50th Anniversary season, defeating the Raptors 107-99.

Dec. 30, 1996: The team records its 2,000th regular season victory, defeating the New Jersey Nets, 98-86, at Madison Square Garden.

Dec. 20, 1997: Ewing suffers the most devastating injury of his career, a Lunate dislocation and torn ligaments of the right wrist, in the final seconds of the first half of a 98-78 loss at Milwaukee. The injury will sideline the perennial All-Star until the second round of the Playoffs.

Feb. 8, 1998: Garden IV hosts its first NBA All-Star Game, the first mid-season classic in New York in 30 years. An All-Star for the 12th time, Chicago's Michael Jordan earns MVP honors with 23 points in the East's 135-114 win.

Nov. 13, 1998: Leukemia claims the life of Hall of Fame Coach Red Holzman at age 78.

May 16, 1999: The Shot (first version)...Allan Houston's running one-hander hits off both the rim and the backboard, then drops through with :00.8 left, giving the Knicks a thrilling 78-77 win in the deciding Game Five of the first Playoff round at Miami. Knicks become just the second eighth-seeded team in Playoff history to defeat a first-seed, and knock the arch-rival Heat out of the Playoffs for the second of three straight years.

Jun. 5, 1999: The Shot (second version)...Larry Johnson's first career four-point play (3PT FGM, fouled by Antonio Davis, FTM), with :05.7 left, echoes throughout the basketball world and gives the Knicks a 92-91 win over Indiana in Game Three of the East Finals at MSG.

Jun. 11, 1999: Knicks become the first eighth-seeded team in NBA history to win a conference title, defeating Indiana 90-82 in Game Six of the East Finals at MSG, to earn their second Eastern Conference Championship in the decade of the '90s.

Jun. 25, 1999: One of the most memorable Playoff runs in club history ends as Knicks drop Game Five of the Finals, 78-77 to San Antonio at MSG, as Latrell Sprewell's last-second miss gives Spurs their first NBA title. It's the latest game calendarwise in NBA history.

Sep. 20, 2000: An unforgettable era comes to an end as future Hall of Famer Patrick Ewing - the all-time franchise leader in virtually every category and arguably the greatest Knick of all time - is traded to the Seattle SuperSonics in a four-team, 12-player trade, at the time the largest single trade in NBA history.

Mar. 14, 2004: In the biggest recorded comeback in team history, Knicks roar back from a 26-point deficit (65-39) to defeat Milwaukee, 103-100, at the Bradley Center.

Oct. 17, 2005: Allan Houston announces his retirement as an NBA player and finishes his career as the franchise's fourth leading scorer with 11,165 points.

Dec. 20, 2006: David Lee's soaring tip-in of Jamal Crawford's inbound (coming with bare-minimum of 0:00.1 left) completes a modern-day Miracle on 33rd Street and gives Knicks 111-109 double-overtime win over Bobcats at the Garden.

Sep. 5, 2008: In their first years of eligibility Patrick Ewing and Pat Riley are enshrined into the Naismith Memorial Hall of Fame in Springfield, MA.

Jul. 9, 2010: Extensive off-season makeover ignited with acquisition of perennial NBA All-Star Amar'e Stoudemire via sign-and-trade with Phoenix.

Feb. 22, 2011: Knicks acquire four-time NBA All-Star Carmelo Anthony to climax stunning eight-month makeover.

YOUNGEST/OLDEST PLAYERS

In 2004 and 2005, Trevor Ariza and Jackie Butler surpassed Carl Braun as the youngest man to have ever worn the blue and orange. Braun signed a baseball contract after his sophomore year at Colgate and forfeited his amateur status across the board in all sports. The Knicks signed him in the summer of '47, two years before his class graduated and he made his pro basketball debut on Nov. 13, 1947 against Washington.

The oldest player to appear in a game for the Knicks was current assistant coach Herb Williams, who was 41 years, four months and nine days when he made his final appearance in Game 5 of the 1999 NBA Finals against San Antonio on Jun. 25, 1999 to register one minute played. His last regular season appearance was on May 2, 1999 at Indiana at 41 years, two months and 16 days old.

NEW YORK KNICKERBOCKERS

Madison Square Garden Entrant

IN THE BASKETBALL ASSN. OF AMERICA

307 WEST 49th STREET, NEW YORK 19, N. Y.

April 28, 1952

Mr. Bert Cook
Utah State Agricultural College
Logan, Utah

Dear Bert:

We are happy to write you that at the meeting of the National Basketball Association in Milwaukee on Saturday, the New York Knickerbockers received the rights to negotiate for your services as a basketball player.

We are interested in learning what your future plans are and if playing professional basketball is included in them. If it is--and we hope it is--we will then be glad to talk contract with you.

To facilitate reaching you will you let me have your address and phone number at college and your home address and phone as well.

Looking forward to hearing from you, I am,

Sincerely,

Joe Lapchick
Basketball Coach

Mikan-Led Lakers Battle Knicks in Garden

Champs Here November 16

The mighty Minneapolis Lakers head the parade of six National Basketball Assn. rivals who oppose the New York Knickerbockers, in Madison Square Garden, on their remaining home dates in November. Two of these programs will be pro league doubleheaders.

The Lakers, with the turbulent George Mikan, engage Joe Lapchick's New York squad here, Thursday, Nov. 16, and two days later the vastly improved Philadelphia Warriors furnish the opposition on the Garden hardwood.

Then come the Boston Celtics, with Bob Cousy and Ed Macauley, Tuesday, Nov. 21, and the first league twin bill. That evening's opening game, at 7:30, pairs the Baltimore Bullets with the Tri-Cities Blackhawks. Thursday, Nov. 23, the Washington Capitols, with Dick Schnittker, Big Ten scoring champion from Ohio State, make their seasonal bow.

Syracuse, with Adolph Schayes, Gerry Calabrese and Don Lofgran, make its second league appearance, Tuesday, Nov. 28, engaging the Knicks in the windup of another league doubleheader. The opener finds the Philadelphia Warriors tackling the Boston Cel-

Going up! The Knicks' three big men, Sweetwater Clifton, Connie Simmons and Harry Gallatin, in action. Clifton is 6-6, Simmons 6-8 and Gallatin 6-6.

Bob Cousy Off to Good Start With Boston Celtics

Exhibitions and early season games indicate Bob Cousy, former Holy Cross All-American, is headed for a successful pro year with the Boston Celtics, who engage the Knicks, in the Garden, Tues. Nov. 21, in the windup of a pro doubleheader, featuring the Baltimore Bullets and Tri-Cities in the curtain raiser.

Cousy, Holy Cross' all-time

scoring champion, averaged 19.4 points per game for the Crusaders last season and was the driving force in the Cross' 26-game winning streak. He proved a sensational ball-handler, feeder and scorer in collegiate competition and is expected to continue this all-around skill as the Celtics' backcourt man.

Teaming with Cousy to make Boston one of the strongest outfits in the NBA are Chuck Cooper, of Duquesne; Ed Leede, Dartmouth; Ed Macauley, St. Louis; Sonny Hertzberg, ex-Knick from CCNY, and Andy Duncan, purchased from the Rochester Royals.

With only one regular and two reserves from last season, Coach Red Auerbach is starting from scratch but he has the makings of a successful campaign.

The Celtics' key man, of course, is big Macauley, who totalled 1,081 points in his pro debut last season with St. Louis, fifth best in the league.

Welcome to the 2012-13 Knickerbockers season, New York's 67th campaign as a charter member of the NBA. Here are a few guidelines which we hope will assist you in your coverage this season:

Credentials: Three media credentials are honored for admission to the Garden: 1) Knicks 2012-13 season working media passes; 2) Knicks daily passes (good for that specific game only), and 3) 2012-13 NBA working media passes. Knicks and/or NBA season working media passes must include the headshot of the bearer. Holders of daily passes may be asked to submit a valid government-issued photo ID. NO OTHER CREDENTIALS WILL BE HONORED.

Application for season or game credentials may be made by emailing knicks.credentials@msg.com or calling (212) 465-6471. Requests for single game credentials must be made by phone to the Knicks' office at least 24 hours prior to game time. Day-of-game requests will not be honored. Radio stations, magazines and weekly newspapers will be accommodated on a game-by-game, space-available basis. When applying for the first time, requests from magazines and weekly newspapers, radio and TV stations must be made on company letterhead and must include copies of the publication (if applicable). Applying for credentials does not guarantee confirmation. When in the Garden, media members must wear their credentials in clear sight at all times. All credentials are non-transferable. Please adhere to the above to avoid embarrassing situations for both yourself and for us.

Coaches Pre and Post-Game: Knicks Head Coach Mike Woodson will conduct his pre and post-game media sessions in the interview room, located down the hall from the visitors lockerroom, on the fifth floor. A multi-box/amplification system will be set up. During post-game coach's media sessions, priority must be given to those media on deadline (print and live broadcast), and interviews should be limited to game comments during the deadline crunch.

Game-Day Interviews: Participating radio and TV stations/networks are strongly urged to conduct their game-day interviews at the morning shootaround, rather than at the arena prior to the game.

Locker Rooms: Both the Knicks and visitors' locker rooms are located at court level on the 33rd Street (player benches) side of the Garden. As per NBA regulations, the Knicks' locker room will be open for a 45-minute period, ending 45 minutes prior to game time (for example, the room will be open from 6:00 p.m. to 6:45 p.m. for a 7:30 start). The room will reopen within 15 minutes after the final buzzer. During post-game media sessions, priority must be given to those media on deadline (print and live broadcast), and interviews should be limited to game comments during the deadline crunch. Your cooperation is asked in maintaining a work atmosphere in the locker rooms at all times. Any media members using their credentials for the purpose of obtaining autographs or taking photographs for personal use will have their credentials immediately revoked.

Notes: Game notes are available in the John F.X. Condon Press Room beginning two hours prior to game time. (For visiting media, game notes, credentials, programs and recent news clips will be delivered to their hotel the night before, or the morning of, the game). Game notes, running sheets, quarter-by-quarter sheets and box scores are all available from the Knicks' gamenight staff, as well as in the press workroom during and after the game. Post-game quotes, notes, practice information and boxscores of other NBA games will be available in the press workroom as soon as possible after the game.

Parking: There is no media parking area at Madison Square Garden. However, there are numerous pay indoor and outdoor parking areas in the immediate vicinity.

Phones: Media wishing to order a phone line for their exclusive use should call Bill Bolan of Garden Telecommunications at (212) 465-6009, and must also inform Knicks PR so that a specific location can be assigned. Due to the quick changeover for other Garden events, all post-game stories should be filed from the press workroom and not from the press seats.

Photographers: Positions for credentialed photographers are numbered and located on the baselines at the Seventh Avenue and Eighth Avenue ends of the Garden. There are no photo positions along the sidelines. Freelance photographers will not be credentialed unless they are on specific assignment from a magazine or daily newspaper. No "roving" passes are issued.

Please Note The Following Photo Regulations:

- Please consult the posted photo charts for your assigned positions.
- Please do not move from your assigned photo positions during game action. Movement is permitted only during timeouts and quarter breaks.
- Please shoot only from your assigned positions unless cleared to move by a Knicks PR representative.
- Please do not move into any photo position marked "Reserved".
- Messengers are not permitted to sit at courtside.
- Please store all coats, jackets and extra equipment in the press room.
- Please keep your courtside equipment to a bare minimum (one small Domke bag).
- All still and TV photographers must observe the NBA's mandatory "Three-Foot Lane" rule.

Baseline photo positions are extremely limited. Due to frequent national TV coverage of Knicks home games, additional space must be reserved for hand-held TV cameras and will greatly reduce the available space for still photographers.

In addition to the "Three-Foot Lane" rule, please be aware of other NBA-enforced regulations: All still and TV cameras must have rubber-capped lenses. Cameras mounted on the basket stanchion must be set back at least four inches from the edge of the padding. Cameras mounted behind the backboard cannot be visible inside the target box from any angle. Tripods and remote cameras placed on the court surface are not permitted. Use of flash is not permitted.

Practices: Knicks practice sessions are held at Madison Square Garden Training Center in Greenburgh, NY, located in Westchester County approximately 28 miles north of New York City.

On off-day practices, players will be available on the court for 15-30 minutes after practice. Player availability will be preceded by a media session with Coach Woodson. At game-day shootarounds, players will be available either before or after the session.

Knicks practices are always subject to last-minute change and/or cancellation. Media covering practice should always call the Knicks' PR office to confirm times before trekking to Greenburgh.

The Road to Greenburgh: Here are the suggested routes to MSG Training Center:

Northbound, from Manhattan West Side: Henry Hudson Parkway to Saw Mill River Parkway North to exit marked "Saw Mill River Road-Eastview." Bear right on Saw Mill River Road for approximately ¼ mile.

Northbound, from Manhattan East Side: FDR Drive North over Willis Ave. Bridge to Major Deegan Expressway North to NY State Thruway North to Saw Mill River Parkway North to exit marked "Saw Mill River Road-Eastview". Bear right on Saw Mill River Road for approximately ¼ mile.

Northbound, from Long Island: Whitestone Bridge into the Bronx, then bear left off the bridge to the Hutchinson River Parkway North. Take northbound Hutchinson River Parkway to I-287 West (Cross Westchester Expressway) to Saw Mill River Parkway North. Take northbound Saw Mill River Parkway to exit marked "Saw Mill River Road-Eastview." Bear right on Saw Mill River Road for approximately ¼ mile.

Southbound from upstate NY: I-684 or Taconic State Parkway South to Saw Mill River Parkway South to exit marked "Saw Mill River Road-Eastview." Bear left on Saw Mill River Road for approximately ¼ mile.

Eastbound from New Jersey: New York State Thruway across Tappan Zee Bridge to Route 287 East (Cross Westchester Expressway) to Exit 1, "Saw Mill River Parkway-North." Stay on Saw Mill River Parkway for approximately two miles to exit marked "Saw Mill River Road-Eastview." Bear right on Saw Mill River Road for approximately ¼ mile.

Westbound from Connecticut: From Route 287 West, take Exit 3 onto Sprain Brook Parkway North to exit marked "100C-100 Eastview." Go left on Route 100C for approximately one mile. Bear right on Saw Mill River Road and follow for approximately ¼ mile.

Press Entrance: Madison Square Garden's press entrance (8 Penn Plaza) is located on the southeast corner of 33rd Street and 8th Avenue. Day-of-game credentials may be picked up there starting two hours prior to game time.

Use the press elevator to enter the Garden arena. The locker rooms and court are located on level five, the press room on level six.

Press Room: Named in memory of the legendary public address voice of the Garden, the John F.X. Condon Press Room is located on the first promenade level of the Garden at 33rd Street and Eighth Avenue (behind the Knicks' bench, one level up). From the press entrance, take the elevator directly to level six.

The dining area (hot and cold buffet) opens 90 minutes prior to game time. The press workroom is located above the dining area, with work stations for print, photo and broadcast media. The press workroom is for the exclusive use of working media filing on deadline. Please confine all social gatherings, arguments, debates and other such conversations to the dining area, so that a professional atmosphere can be maintained in the workroom. If you are not a working media member filing on deadline, please show a sense of professionalism and leave the work area for those who are.

Your $8 contribution to the press room will benefit "Garden of Dreams," the 501 C 3 non-profit charity that works closely with the Knicks and Rangers to make dreams come true for kids in crisis. Thank you for your support.

Your press room hosts are Joe Pinto, Roberto Gutierrez, Tom Matthews and Anthony DiGiovanni.

Seating: Press seating at the Garden has been altered since the Transformation began. Please check with Knicks PR to assist in your seating needs.

Taxi: Taxi service is readily available virtually 24 hours a day at various points around the Garden, especially at the main entrance to Penn Station (Seventh Avenue between 31st and 33rd Streets) and immediately outside the 8 Penn Plaza press entrance (southeast corner of 33rd Street and Eighth Avenue, across from the Post Office).

Television Regulations:

Live Shots: Stations intending to produce live shots from the Garden must inform Knicks PR and MSG Electricians at (212) 465-6194 for appropriate coverage. All in-arena taping and live shots must be concluded by one hour prior to game time.

Game Footage: With the exception of NBA Entertainment, TV crews are not permitted to shoot game footage. All requests for game footage must be made through NBA Entertainment.

Electricians: Any TV stations or organizations whose equipment is not battery-operated must use MSG Electricians for connection to power. Call (212) 465-6194 for more information.

When usually I came to visit him at dusk there was nothing to do. He stood in the shack, counting tickets and rubbing his belly. The radio was always on. "Man, have you dug that mad Marty Glickman announcing basketball games – up-to-midcourt-bounce-fake-set-shot, swish, two points. Absolutely the greatest announcer I ever heard." He was reduced to simple pleasures like these.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

The images are endless, burning, unforgettable...Hope and Crosby on Opening Night...Willis Reed out of the tunnel for Game Seven...Pete Stenkowski in triple OT...19 straight points against Milwaukee...Sinatra in The Main Event...Ali and Frazier in The Fight...Ed-die, Ed-die...The Dunk...Patrick Ewing slam dunking the Knicks into the Finals...Mark Messier, Cup in hand, wiping out 54 years of frustration...LJ's four-pointer...The Great One's farewell...The Stones and The Dead and The King and The Pope and Streisand and Carter and Clinton and Bush...

It could all only happen in one place...Not a mere building but a state of mind...The greatest of the great in sports, arts and entertainment, summed up in three words...Madison Square Garden...The World's Most Famous Arena...

1879-1889: 26th Street and Madison Avenue

Beginnings

The current Garden – located between 31st and 33rd Streets and Seventh and Eighth Avenues on Manhattan's West Side – is the fourth building (third site) to be named Madison Square Garden.

Garden I was located at Madison Square: 26th Street and Madison Avenue. It was originally opened in 1874 (at a cost of $35,000) by the legendary P.T. Barnum as "Barnum's Monster Classical and Geological Hippodrome". However, it was soon renamed "Gilmore's Garden" when the lease was auctioned off to bandmaster Patrick S. Gilmore (the term "Garden" was used often during this period to denote a place of public gathering and entertainment).

The building, which had 28-foot walls without a roof, hosted a varied schedule of social and fraternal meetings, flower shows and commercial exhibitions. When Gilmore's lease expired in 1878, it was picked up – briefly – by W. M. Tieson. The following year, William Vanderbilt of the New York Central Railroad assumed control of the facility and officially renamed it "Madison Square Garden" on May 31, 1879. Featuring a sports and entertainment program that stressed such events as boxing and the National Horse Show, Garden I stood until its demolition in 1889.

Garden II was constructed on the site of Garden I, opening on June 16, 1890 at a cost of $1.5 million. It contained an 8,000-seat main arena, 1,500-seat concert hall, 1,200-seat theatre and the world's largest indoor swimming pool. The Spanish Renaissance-style structure was topped by its most famous feature: a 32-story tower and roof garden atop which stood Augustus Saint-Gauden's gold statue of Diana, Goddess of the Hunt.

Stanford White, the renowned architect who designed Garden II, also figured in its most famous – and infamous – event. On the night of June 25, 1906, White was gunned down in the Garden's rooftop garden by Pittsburgh millionaire Harry Thaw, allegedly in revenge for White's long-standing affair with Thaw's wife, showgirl Evelyn Nesbit. The White-Thaw-Nesbit love triangle was ultimately immortalized in the 1955 film The Girl in the Red Velvet Swing – starring Ray Milland as White and Joan Collins as Nesbit – and in the recent best-seller American Eve by Paula Uruburu (Riverhead Books, 2008). Nesbit died in obscurity in California at age 81 in 1967.

Garden II hosted a sporting card heavy with boxing, wrestling, six-day bicycle races and horse shows, along with national events such as the 1924 Democratic National Convention, a marathon that lasted through 16 days and 103 ballots. Movie buffs will recall that in Orson Welles' 1941 classic Citizen Kane, Charles Foster Kane's acceptance of the 1916 New York gubernatorial nomination takes place at Garden II (although, obviously, it wasn't actually filmed there).

Garden II closed with a boxing card on May 5, 1925, followed by a mournful eulogy by ring announcer Joe Humphreys: "Farewell to thee, o temple of fustiana. Farewell to thee, o sweet Miss Diana...". The New York Life Insurance Building (51 Madison Ave.) occupies the former site of Gardens I and II, while Diana found a new home at the Philadelphia Museum of Art.

Garden III – the "Old Garden" was built in just 249 days at 49th Street and Eighth Avenue under the watchful eyes of promoter Tex Rickard and architect Thomas Lamb. The fabled 18,000-seat arena, built at a cost of $5.6 million, opened with a six-day bicycle race on November 24, 1925, and for 43 years was America's premier sports and entertainment showplace. Ironically, Rickard did not live to see the blossoming of Garden III, suffering a fatal appendicitis attack on January 6, 1929.

1890-1925: 26th St. and Madison Ave.

Anyone who ever set foot in the Old Garden remembers its unforgettable atmosphere...the sky-high balcony...the haze from decades of cigarette smoke...the main lobby, a schmoozer's paradise...the marquee...G.O. Cards...the organ (played first by Gladys Gooding, later by Virginia Thomas)...the unmistakable voice of John Condon...the Nedick's and Adam Hats stores that flanked the main entrance...

1925-1968: 49th Street and Eighth Avenue

Sports – especially basketball, hockey, boxing and track – would be the lifeblood of the Old Garden. But it also hosted entertainment extravaganzas ranging from the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus and the Gene Autry Rodeo to star-studded spectacles like Mike Todd's 1957 anniversary party for his film Around the World in 80 Days and President John F. Kennedy's May 19, 1962 birthday party which featured Marilyn Monroe's breathless version of "Happy Birthday". On the screen, the Garden provided the inspiration (and title) for the 1932 Paramount epic Madison Square Garden, starring Jack Oakie and ZaSu Pitts, as well as the on-location backdrop for the harrowing final reel of John Frankenheimer's 1962 classic The Manchurian Candidate.

The Knicks played their first game at Garden III on November 11, 1946, losing to the Chicago Stags 78-68 in overtime. In the 22 years the Knicks played on 49th Street, they would record just six sellouts, including the most famous of all – the long-awaited pro debut of Bill Bradley against Detroit before 18,499 fans and a worldwide media contingent on December 9, 1967.

Garden III played host to three NBA All-Star Games: in 1954, 1955 and 1968. And although the Knicks made the NBA Finals three straight years in 1951-52-53, the Old Garden never hosted a Finals game. Due to circus scheduling conflicts, all Finals games in those three seasons were moved to the 69th Regiment Armory on Lexington Ave. The Garden didn't host an NBA Finals game until 1970, two years after the move to 33rd and Seventh.

The Knicks played their final game at the Old Garden on February 10, 1968, a 115-97 win over Philadelphia. The last event ever was the Westminster Dog Show, over February 12-13, 1968. After the Old Garden was demolished, the site was used for years as a Kinney parking lot. The Worldwide Plaza office/apartment complex, which opened in 1989, now occupies the site.

Garden IV

On November 3, 1960, Garden president Irving Mitchell Felt announced plans for a new Madison Square Garden – Garden IV – to eventually be built at 33rd Street between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, atop Pennsylvania Station.

Prospective sites for a New Garden had been discussed throughout the mid- and late-'50s, especially the area at Columbus Circle which would eventually house the New York Coliseum and, ultimately, the Time Warner Center.

Then the Garden Corporation obtained the coveted "air rights" above Penn Station from the Pennsylvania Railroad in 1961. The Railroad had entertained the idea of selling Penn Station's air rights as far back as 1951, when faced with a $72 million deficit. In 1955, Railroad president James Symes and famed real estate developer William Zeckendorf signed an agreement to option the Station's air rights for an industrial-commercial "Palace of Progress", with a new, renovated Penn Station below street level. When the project fell through, the Railroad sold the air rights to the Garden Corporation. Above-ground demolition of Penn Station began on October 28, 1963, with new concrete poured starting on May 1, 1964.

The effort was not without its critics, one of whom called the destruction of Penn Station "an act of irresponsible public vandalism." Ultimately, Penn Station's legacy was the New York City Landmarks Preservation Commission, the guiding force behind a series of laws that today protect more than 1,000 individual city landmarks.

Garden IV opened as a glittering sports and entertainment showplace, with its distinctive circular, cable-suspended roof above the 19,000-seat arena, its 5,000-seat Felt Forum, 48-lane Bowling Center, 500-seat cinema, Hall of Fame Club, National Art Museum of Sport, 50,000-square foot Exposition Rotunda and 29-story office building (Two Penn Plaza) attached by a pedestrian mall.

The first element of the New Garden complex to open its doors was the Bowling Center, on October 30, 1967. On November 26, 1967, the Felt Forum opened with a performance of the Welsh and Scots Guards.

The "New Garden" itself officially opened on February 11, 1968, when Bob Hope and Bing Crosby hosted "The Night of the Century", a star-studded salute to the USO. Three days later – February 14, 1968 – the Knicks played their first game in their new home, a 114-102 victory over the San Diego Rockets in the nightcap of an NBA doubleheader.

1968- Present: 33rd Street and Eighth Avenue

INSIDE THE GARDEN

- Cost for design and construction of the present Garden was $43 million.
- Garden IV was built by Turner Construction and the Del E. Webb Corporation. The building was designed by Charles Luckman, the famed entrepreneur and architect who died in 1999. Luckman also designed The Forum in Los Angeles (of which The Madison Square Garden Company assumed ownership in 2011), the Los Angeles Convention Center, CBS Television City, the Prudential Center in Boston and the Johnson Space Center in Houston.
- The Garden arena is 425 feet in diameter, 13 stories high, and occupies 820,000-square feet of real estate.
- Each of the four entrance/exit towers is over 100 feet high and contains at least 10 escalators.
- Seating capacity for Knicks basketball is 19,763. From Feb. 4, 1993 to Nov. 2, 2002, the Knicks compiled a streak of 433 consecutive home sellouts (regular season plus Playoffs), the sixth-longest sellout streak in NBA history. The Knicks entered the 2012-13 season with a streak of 68 consecutive home sellouts.
- The Garden opened the 2012-13 season as the second-oldest arena in the NBA. Only Oakland's Oracle Arena (originally opened in 1966 as the Oakland Coliseum Arena) is older. The Garden and Oracle Arena have both undergone extensive renovations over the last two decades. The 2012-13 campaign will mark the Knicks' 45th full season (46th season overall) in Garden IV.
- And even though the original Penn Station was demolished nearly a half-century ago, several of its features survive. Sculptor Adolph Weinman's bronze statue of Pennsylvania Railroad President Samuel Rea, which once overlooked the main waiting room of Penn Station, now stands proudly at the Seventh Avenue entrance to Two Penn Plaza. Two of Weinman's 22 concrete eagles, which had adorned the Station's outside perimeter for 53 years, guard Seventh Avenue in front of Two Penn.

THROUGH THE YEARS

A look at the improvements/enhancements at Garden IV over the years:

1972: Garden IV becomes the first New York sports venue to install luxury boxes, formally named "Hall of Fame Lounges." The original deck of 11 luxury suites – each measuring 23x15 feet and accommodating 10 people – is installed above the mezzanine level on the 33rd Street side... Due to the ongoing luxury suite construction, basketball broadcast locations are moved to courtside and directly above center-court exit tunnels. Previously, they had been located in a two-level booth suspended from the roof.

1977: Original end zone scoreboards replaced by new 36-foot long scoreboards in each end zone, and smaller auxiliary boards on the facing of the mezzanine at center court. New boards feature tenth-of-a-second timing capabilities and black-and-white animated matrix boards.

1983: For TV purposes, basketball team benches and scorers' table moved from 31st Street side to 33rd Street side.

1989-91: Over a three-year span, the Garden complex undergoes an extensive renovation program. Initially announced on January 26, 1989, it is a multi-million dollar effort in which...

- Each of the original red, orange, yellow, green and blue seats is removed and replaced. Primary color scheme is now purple and teal.
- Existing scoreboards are replaced by a new computerized system that features the eight-sided Center Display Board (37 feet wide at the top, 34 feet wide at the bottom), complete with "GardenVision" color replay screens and multi-colored end zone boards, by White Way Company of Chicago. It is the first eight-sided scoreboard in a major U.S. arena. Original Garden sound system is also completely overhauled, including the replacement of the original center-hung "sound cluster" with an entirely new system of speaker clusters affixed to the arena ceiling.
- Original Hall of Fame Lounges (luxury boxes) are removed and replaced by a completely new deck of 89 Club Suites that encircles the entire arena, including a double-deck of suites on the Seventh Avenue end.
- The Paramount, a state-of-the-art, 5,600-seat theatre which quickly becomes a hub of Big Apple live entertainment, is constructed on the former site of the Felt Forum (renamed The Theatre in 1995, the WaMu Theatre in 2007, The Theatre at Madison Square Garden in 2009). Fronting the main entrance is the Garden Walk of Fame, which opens in 1992.

- Two major dining facilities – The Club Restaurant and the Play-By-Play sports bar and restaurant – are constructed on the former site of the Bowling Center and the Hall of Fame Club.
- Garden exterior completely renovated, including the installations of animated color matrix boards above the Seventh Avenue entrance to Penn Station and the Eighth Avenue facade.
- Dramatic upgrades and improvements in virtually all other facets of the Garden, especially concession stands (including all-new Food Courts), locker rooms, press room, box office, Garden Team Store and broadcast facilities.

1995: Knicks and Rangers locker room areas are further renovated and expanded, including increased player/locker space, expanded training and x-ray facilities and individual offices for all coaches.

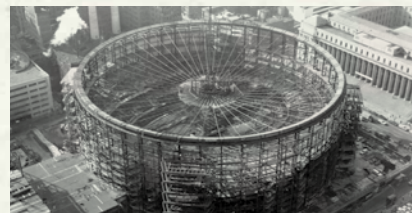

2000-08: Ongoing improvement program in the new century featured "GardenVision" upgraded to HDTV format and continued expansion of locker rooms, coaches offices, arena sound system, video facilities and exterior advertising capability. Also added were fan amenities including an all-new Team Store at Gate 75, the Garden Pub at Gate 70, The Prime Rib at Gate 76, and the Live at the Garden music museum/pub at Gate 66. New courtside Club seating for Knicks basketball was established in 2006, with an entirely new LED and Matrix center scoreboard and side out-of-town boards installed the following year.

The improvements and upgrades that opened the 21st Century at the Garden served as the prelude to one of the most ambitious arena projects in American history, formally announced on Apr. 3, 2008.

And a New Era Dawns...

Last year work commenced on the three-year, historic Transformation of Madison Square Garden. The comprehensive, top-to-bottom Transformation will provide a significantly enhanced experience for customers, athletes, entertainers, suite holders and marketing partners, from the first row to the last. The project involves over 2.6 million man hours of union labor, the equivalent of at least 1,300 full-time jobs, creating as many as 3,700 union construction jobs. It will also restore The Garden's iconic ceiling and pay homage to the building's storied history. The project's architect is Brisbin Brook Beynon, Construction Manager is Turner and Project Manager is JLL.

Extensive research and focus groups were conducted and the feedback was used to develop the plans for the Transformation. The transformed Garden is expected to attract even more high profile sports and entertainment events, major concerts and awards shows, as well as provide new and unique opportunities for marketing partners to drive their business objectives

MSG IV construction, 1966

- JPMorgan Chase has become Madison Square Garden's first ever Marquee Partner and Anheuser-Busch, Coca-Cola, Delta Air Lines, Kia Motors and Lexis have signed on as Signature Partners. Some of the many major upgrades that fans will experience when the project is complete, include:

- Beautiful new Chase Square Seventh Avenue entrance, which will be nearly double the previous size and feature interactive kiosks, retail, climate controlled space, and broadcast studio
- Public concourses doubling and tripling in size, some with spectacular city views
- New first-class food and beverage options available throughout the building featuring some of the best chefs and restaurants of New York
- Larger, more comfortable seats
- Improved upper bowl sightlines that puts patrons seven to 10 feet, or three rows, closer to the action
- Two new Chase Bridges that will provide one-of-a-kind views of the arena floor and offer a unique perspective for fans
- State-of-the-art lighting, sound and LED video systems in HD, and new fiber-optic cabling throughout the building
- New dressing rooms, locker rooms, green rooms, and production offices
- 50-percent more restroom facilities and 60-percent more food and beverage points of sale
- Corporate offerings: 58 Madison Suites that will be 40-percent larger and half the distance to the events and includes seats in the arena bowl, 20 Event Level Suites that offer a lounge/entertaining atmosphere and the best seats in the house, and 18 remodeled ninth level Garden Suites. There will also be several new all-inclusive club spaces, the 1879 Club presented by J.P. Morgan, the Delta Sky360 Club on the event level, and the Madison Club on the seventh floor of the Arena

Phase I of the Garden Transformation debuted for the 2011-12 season and included:

- New Lower Bowl seating area with larger, more comfortable seats
- Expanded Madison Concourse (sixth floor) with city views, more restrooms, additional retail locations and enhanced concession stands with new menus featuring Coca-Cola products and MSG Signature Collection's exclusive food items from leading chefs Jean-Georges Vongerichten and Andrew Carmellini, renowned restaurateur Drew Nieporent and Aquagrill's chef and owner Jeremy Marshall, along with offerings from Carnegie Deli and Hill Country Barbeque
- 20 new Event Level Suites offering a sophisticated atmosphere for entertaining and prime seating
- New Delta Sky360 Club offering exclusive dining options and views of athletes entering and exiting the locker room area

- New 1879 Club Presented by J.P. Morgan, a prestigious club featuring exclusive dining options, luxury amenities and the best seats in the house
- Open areas on the eighth floor concourse and new West Balcony (10th floor), which provide fans with direct views into the Arena bowl, as well as new seating, walkways and concession stands
- New Knicks and Rangers locker rooms and star dressing rooms

This season fans will experience the benefits of Phase II of the Transformation, including:

- New Upper Bowl seating area with more comfortable seats and significantly improved sightlines moving fans seven to 10 feet or three rows closer to the action
- Expanded Garden Concourse (eighth floor) with city views, more restrooms, additional retail locations and enhanced concession stands with new menus featuring Coca-Cola products and MSG Signature Collection food options (Select amenities will debut throughout the 2012-13 season)
- 58 new Madison Suites that are larger, feature bowl seating, and are 50-percent closer to the action than before
- New all-inclusive Madison Club with seating in the Arena and exclusive club space available for corporations and individuals looking to entertain at Knicks and Rangers games as well as other sports events at the Arena
- Homage to The Garden's storied history on the Madison Concourse

Phase III will mark the completion of the Transformation, amenities debuting for the 2013-14 season will include:

- New Chase Square Seventh Avenue entrance nearly double in size, featuring new interactive zones, retail locations, box office and a broadcast studio
- Two spectacular new Chase Bridges that will be suspended above the ice for a one-of-a-kind view of the action
- New Budweiser Fan Deck (10th floor) offering a selection of new food and beverage options and a unique social gathering space with direct views into the Arena bowl
- New state-of-the-art GardenVision center-hung scoreboard
- 18 completely remodeled Garden Suites (ninth floor)
- Restoration of the iconic Garden ceiling

"New York is not a city. It is a set of cities, dozens of them, divided by caste, class, taste and blood. Most of us are welcome in a few of these cities, barred from others by tradition, or fear, or indifference, or income. But all of us hold safe conduct passes to The Garden. It is a center of experience for the same reason New York is: nothing is out of place there. Walk through a neighborhood of New York and you will find people who would never dream of setting foot in Carnegie Hall, the Empire State Building, the Fillmore East, Sunnyside Gardens, The Four Seasons, or the Bronx Zoo. Madison Square Garden is alien to none of us."

- Jeff Greenfield, 1974

With today's professional athletes having to compete at a higher level than ever before, the New York Knicks, along with the NHL's Rangers and WNBA's Liberty started to train year-round in the state-of-the-art Madison Square Garden Training Center in Greenburgh, NY in September of 2002. This facility is another proactive element of the organizations' continuing commitment towards supplying Madison Square Garden sports fans with the most competitive teams in their respective leagues.

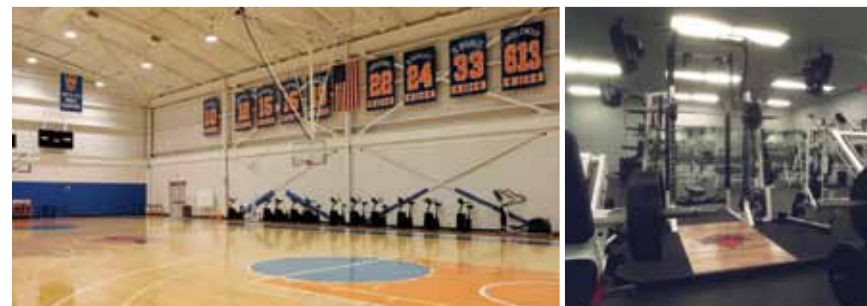

Madison Square Garden Training Center offers the Knicks, Rangers and Liberty the opportunity to utilize the best equipment, the best training regimen, the best diets, the best environment – to elevate their performances when they open their respective schedules in the NBA, NHL and WNBA. The 105,000 square foot facility, set on 16 acres of private land in Westchester County, is equipped with well-appointed private areas and office space, exercise rooms with dedicated equipment for each team, the latest technology and first-class amenities.

The facility features two basketball courts and one NHL regulation-sized hockey rink. Each team's area within the Madison Square Garden Training Center includes:

- 1,800 square foot complete cardiovascular and weight room
- Steam rooms, whirlpool and cold plunge
- Players' lounges with leather sofas, lounge chairs, 42" High Definition Television, pool and ping pong tables and refreshment center.
- Gated parking lots located adjacent to a private entrance into the players' lounge.
- Tiered classrooms with high-back theater style seating
- State of the art video editing rooms
- Coaches' lounge/offices

The training center also features amenities to be shared by all teams, including a Hydro Worx 1000 aquatic therapy pool, a dining room with seating for 40 people and auxiliary locker rooms which can be utilized for visiting teams in need of additional practice time during their stay in New York.

Media accommodations include dedicated media rooms with workstations, pre-wired for phone and internet access, an interview room for one-on-one or small group interviews, as well as cabled locations for remote broadcast. The basketball courts and hockey rink are all equipped with dedicated seating for attending media.

7th AVE SQUAD

The members of the 7th Ave. Squad are true, die-hard Knicks fans. This energetic group lives for every home Knicks game at Madison Square Garden. They love to cheer, dance and have fun to create electricity and deafening noise to give their Knicks the home court advantage. You can catch this group at every home Knicks game also launching T-shirts into the crowd, honoring lucky fans or their favorite section and bringing energy to the game.

NEW YORK AIR ELITE

New York Air Elite is the new Knicks dunk team that will take flight at The Garden this season. They will jolt the crowd with excitement and amazement, combining incredible athleticism with action-packed trampoline dunks. New York Air Elite is acrobatic entertainment that will surely get Knicks fans to their feet!

The Knicks City Kids are the kids of New York. An embodiment of vibrancy and spirit, they are known for their youthful vignettes that act as a magical portal, enticing fans to follow them into a different world — a childhood fantasy come alive. Their sheer joy for play, for camaraderie, for fun, reminds us that if we watch a game through a child's eyes, we will leave with a smile on our face. The KCK are the original NBA kids dance team, celebrating their 14th year performing on the hardwood floor of Madison Square Garden. This gifted group of 7 to 14 year olds promises their best, most fantastical performances ever during the 2012-13 Season at weekend and holiday games.

KNICKS MUSIC

The Knicks Music Team is responsible for keeping the Garden rocking at every Knicks game. Led by MSG Music Director Ray Castoldi, the Knicks Music Team continues the Garden tradition of live organ music going back to 1946, and updates it with the modern sounds of today. The Knicks Music Team takes the energy and passion of Knicks basketball and amplifies it back to the fans.

On Oct. 30, 1996, New York was selected as one of eight charter members of the Women's Basketball Association (WNBA). Within four months, Carol Blazejowski, a member of the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame, was named Vice President and General Manager for the New York franchise. Rebecca Lobo and Teresa Weatherspoon joined as the team's first players and the franchise name and logo were introduced.

The Liberty's and WNBA's first game was played on Jun. 21, 1997 in Los Angeles. Led by Head Coach Nancy Darsch, the Liberty defeated the L.A. Sparks, 67-57, before a crowd of 14,284 at the Great Western Forum. On Jun. 29, 1997, in front of a crowd of 17,780, the Liberty scored their first win at home, defeating Phoenix, 65-57.

The 2012 season marked the 16th Season for the Liberty and the WNBA, with John Whisenant as the club's general manager and head coach. The New York Liberty have become synonymous with summertime excitement, electricity and excellence. Next season, the team will be playing its third straight season's home games at the Prudential Center in Newark, NJ during MSG's Transformation.

The team has finished first or second in the Eastern Conference seven times, reached the WNBA Finals four times.
