STEVE KALAFER | LATE CHAIRMAN EMERITUS

A Wonderful Life - written by Marc Russinoff

On Wednesday, April 21st, we lost our beloved founder and Chairman Emeritus Steve Kalafer to cancer. He was regarded as a giant in New Jersey business, the car industry, real estate development, the arts, and the sport of baseball. But of all his successes, he was most proud of his family. He was a loving husband to Suzanne for 50 years. They raised two sons, Jonathan and Josh, that married Kori and Rachel, and gave them five grandsons.

“My father was the kind of man who lived all aspects of his life like he was creating a beautiful piece of art,” said Jonathan Kalafer. “From the businesses he created, to his relationships with people, to the time he spent with his family, he always brought a unique energy that was magical. It is still hard to believe he is gone, but I know he didn’t have any regrets in his life and he lived every day to the fullest. Our family will continue to carry on his legacy together through all that he taught us.”

And though Steve passed at the far too young age of 71, he accomplished more than even he could have ever dreamt.

“We saw each other or spoke every day. He was always available to Jonathan and I, to show his love and support in all we did personally and professionally,” said Josh Kalafer. “I knew we were the luckiest people in the world having such wonderful parents, and our sons, so lucky to have them as their grandparents. Because of how we lived our lives together every day, and our sharing of how much we loved each other, all we had left was to say ‘I love you and that we will carry on with all you taught us over the years, especially when teaching your grandkids how to live a meaningful life.’”

Kalafer was born on August 1, 1949 in Essex County and raised in North Caldwell. He developed an early passion for baseball, and especially the New York Yankees, because they were his father Milton’s love. They shared a fondness of the team during countless trips to Yankee Stadium that became a Kalafer tradition for generations.

He took to business early as a 12-year old going door-to-door as a Fuller Brush salesman that helped him pay for college. He graduated from Rider University in 1971 with a business degree.

From 1973 to 1976, he worked as the finance manager at Coleman Oldsmobile in Trenton. Then in 1976, Kalafer purchased a one-car showroom in Frenchtown and built it into one of the most respected and successful franchises in the United States for 40-plus years. Flemington Car and Truck Country Family of Brands, Clinton Honda, and Jaguar Land Rover Princeton became the go-to place for car buyers and a staple in the community.

The consummate salesman, Kalafer often joked when giving speeches at events to audiences of hundreds or thousands of people that there was a sale going on at Flemington Car and Truck Country.

In the mid-1990's, Kalafer had the vision of bringing professional baseball to Somerset County. His track record for success as a businessman made the risky prospect of building a ballpark for an independent franchise even a possibility, let alone a reality. His dream came to life when the Somerset Patriots played their first home game in June of 1999.

Under his guidance, the Patriots went on to change the landscape of professional baseball in New Jersey and impact the perception of "indy ball" across the country. The club built a reputation of winning on and off the field and ranked among the top drawing teams in the minors.

"There is no one like Steve Kalafer. From the first day I met him, I loved him. He treated everyone like family and made you feel like the most important person in the world," said Patriots Manager Emeritus Sparky Lyle. "We became friends when he hired me to manage the Patriots and I learned so much from him about the right way to do things in life and how to conduct yourself in business. Every time I set foot in the ballpark, I will think of him with an unbelievable amount of love, respect, and appreciation. He was the Somerset Patriots, and it will be up to all of us to carry his vision long into the future."

His love for the game and the Yankees was what made the announcement that his beloved Patriots were to be the iconic franchise's Double-A affiliate this past winter that much more special.

"Steve taught us all the value of doing things the right way, of taking the time to build long lasting relationships, and making a difference wherever you can," said Patriots President/General Manager Patrick McVerry. "Everything we have here is because of his tireless efforts. We were fortunate to have such a wonderful chairman, father-figure, and friend. We know his sons Jonathan and Josh will help continue his legacy and our staff will strive to make him proud every day because we know he will always be with us, guiding our path and showing us the ways to succeed."

In addition to the dealerships, baseball team, and real estate ventures, Kalafer produced documentaries to tell stories about subjects he felt needed to be told. His works garnered him three Academy Award nominations and wins at many prestigious film festivals including Sundance and Tribeca.

His vast business empire allowed Kalafer to make a difference in the community and his philanthropic efforts rivaled any of his professional successes. Over the years he donated millions of dollars to non-profits and causes of importance to the Kalafer family, most often anonymously. His generosity was usually on display at events where he'd pledge donations on the spot and request others that could to match his contributions.

He was giving of his name, time, and wealth. Kalafer was the Chairman Emeritus of the Somerset Health Care Foundation and served on the Board of Directors of RWJBarnabas Health. He was also a trustee on the board of New Jersey Manufacturers Insurance, a Co-Chair of the Chairman's Council of The Actors Fund of America, and a trustee of the Joe Torre Safe At Home Foundation.

Whenever Kalafer was needed, he was there for the community. He'd honor the commitments made and do more than anyone could ever expect.

“Over the incredibly difficult past 13 months, Steve has been vital to so many people by ensuring that our food banks were filled during the holidays, pushing for advanced medical services at RWJ Somerset, and even entertaining us with baseball during the height of the COVID pandemic after the Patriots season was cancelled,” said Somerset County Commissioner Director Shanel Robinson.

A lifetime of achievements as an entrepreneur and philanthropist in the state made him an easy choice for induction into the New Jersey Hall of Fame as a member of the 2020 Class.

At the virtual ceremony, Kalafer said, “Our roles as entrepreneurs, as capital formation builders, as job builders is to make certain that every day, we go out to work so that the dreams of others can be met; to be entrepreneurial in the giving back business.”

New Jersey Governor Phil Murphy added, “Steve leaves a tremendous legacy in business and philanthropy that will be hard to match.”

Kalafer's philosophy of life was engraved on the back of commemorative coins he loved to give out:

- Be kind
- Be fair
- Work hard
- Earn Money
- Do good

“Steve was a wonderful human being who was generous to a fault. No one will ever know all the non-profits in our area that benefited from his generosity, as he never looked for recognition, only to do the right thing,” said state Senator Kip Bateman. “He will always be remembered for bringing baseball to Somerset County.”

McVerry first joined the organization in 1998 as the newly-founded team's Director of Marketing. He became the team's Assistant General Manager briefly in 2000 before becoming President/General Manager in 2002.

The Patriots organization has been a pillar of success not only in the Atlantic League, but across the entire landscape of minor league baseball under McVerry's guidance.

On the field, the team won five Atlantic League championships (including back-to-back titles in 2008 and 2009) and over 1,000 regular season wins. Off the field, the Patriots have welcomed over 7,000,000 fans and become an integral part of the Central Jersey community. That includes over $5.5 million in donations to non-profits throughout the community

McVerry has been named the Joe Klein Executive of the Year -- an award given to the top general manager in the Atlantic League -- three times during his tenure, most recently in 2018. The Patriots organization also received the Ken Shepard Award for Promotional Excellence for each of their last three seasons (2017-'19) in the Atlantic League under McVerry.

McVerry has oversaw three ALPB All-Star Games at the now-named TD Bank Ballpark in his 23 previous seasons with the team, including two All-Star Games (2008 and 2017) as the President / General Manager.

Sparky Lyle

SPARKY LYLE | MANAGER EMERITUS

World Series champion and Cy Young award winner Sparky Lyle was the first employee ever hired by the late Somerset Patriots chairman emerits Steve Kalafer. Since that point, Sparky has become synonymous with the Patriots. His reach has stretched from being the team's mascot's namesake to a 15-year run as the most successful manager in the history of the Atlantic League. But his story starts well before his time in Somerset

Lyle was a three-sport athlete growing up in Reynoldsville, Pennsylvania, a borough 92 miles Northeast of Pittsburgh with a population less than 3,600 people at the time. Despite his success in football and basketball, it was when he began playing American Legion Baseball during his junior year of high school that people started to take notice.

In one state tournament game alone, the southpaw pitched in 14 of 17 innings and struck out 31 batters. He caught the eye of the Baltimore Orioles, who signed him as an amateur free agent in 1964. Two years later, he was selected by the Boston Red Sox in the first-year draft.

During his time in the minors, Lyle was introduced to one of the greatest hitters in the history of the game, whose advice changed his life forever.

After hours that night perfecting the grip and movement, Lyle had added his signature pitch that became as much his trademark as his handle-bar mustache was later in life. He made his Major League Baseball debut on July 4, 1967 and remained with Boston until the 1971 season.

In what many believe to be one of the worst trades in baseball history, Lyle was sent to the Yankees for Danny Cater prior to the 1972 season. Lyle's impact was immediate as he set a then American League record for saves with 35 in year one.

Through the next few years in the Bronx, Lyle established himself as one of the best pitchers in the game, cemented by the 1977 Cy Young Award, the first won by a reliever in American League history. His 13-5 record, 2.17 ERA, 26 saves and 68 strikeouts over 137 innings pitched in 72 games helped chart the path to the Yankees first of back-to-back World Series titles.

The 1978 season would be Lyle's final one with the Yankees, but despite contributing to the team's on-field success, that year would forever be tied to his best-selling book, The Bronx Zoo, with author Peter Golenbock. The memoir documents the 1978 Yankees season and all the turmoil around the team. Released in 1979, the book spent 29 weeks on the New York Times Best Sellers list.

By the time Lyle concluded his 16-year major league career, the two-time champion and three-time All-Star had 99 wins and 238 saves.

Lyle continued his standout success once he transitioned into his role as manager of the Somerset Patriots. After a rough first year at the helm without playing any home games, Lyle’s squad rebounded with strong showings in the first two years of the Patriots shiny new home ballpark.

It wasn’t until 2001 that the Patriots not only won their first postseason game, but earned their first Atlantic League championship.

Fast forward 15 years later, Lyle established himself as the most successful manager in the history of the league. Over his tenure, Lyle led Somerset to a 1,025-912 record, 23 postseason wins, 12 half championships, eight division titles, five league championships and three manager of the year awards.

Lyle’s final season as manager was in 2012 before he transitioned into the role of manager emeritus; one he continues to hold with the team entering the 2021 season.

TEAM HISTORY

A Remarkable Journey - written by Marc Russinoff

For the past 22 years, the Somerset Patriots were a model of consistency. As a founding member of the independent Atlantic League, the Patriots built their brand and helped grow a league from the ground up.

The dream of bringing baseball to Somerset County began when New Jersey businessman Steve Kalafer wanted to bring the game he loved to an area currently not being served by Major League Baseball or minor league teams. When it was determined that the only way his vision would become a reality was to go the independent baseball route, Kalafer joined the newly founded Atlantic League and pushed on.

When TD Bank Ballpark originally opened as Somerset Ballpark in June of 1999, it received rave reviews and put the Patriots on the path to becoming the premier community gathering place in Central New Jersey and a true anchor for the Atlantic League.

Though they constantly battled the negative perception associated with “indy ball,” the Patriots proved the doubters wrong. While many teams had strong attendance numbers early in their existence and eventually declined, Somerset maintained over 5,200 fans per game over a 20-plus year period and even grew their audience over time. When new facilities were being built with all the modern bells and whistles for Atlantic League teams, the longest tenured franchise in the oldest ballpark outdrew them all.

The club also saw its share of winners on the field, led by New York Yankees legendary relief pitcher Sparky Lyle. The 1977 Cy Young Award winner and two-time World Series Champion became the team’s first manager when he purchased a car from Kalafer’s Ford dealership.

Despite struggling as a road team in the league’s inaugural season in 1998, Lyle’s Patriots began to hit its stride when it won its first championship in 2001. By the time Lyle stepped down as manager, and handed over the role to longtime pitching coach Brett Jodie after the 2012 season, the Patriots had won over 1,025 games, five league championships, eight division titles, and 12 half championships.

Jodie continued the Patriots winning tradition. In his first season as manager, he guided his squad to a franchise record 90-win season on their way to the first of six straight playoff appearances. Somerset captured their league-record sixth championship in 2015. Jodie remained at the helm through the 2020 season.

The team’s success on and off the field began to increase its reputation throughout the baseball community. Players came to Somerset for the chance to compete at a high-level of the game and the chance to play for the love of the game in front of packed houses. The culture encouraged players to win, have fun doing it, and fall in love with the game all over again. Fans and the organization made them feel like Somerset was their home, and it led to it becoming many players’ favorite place to play throughout their careers.

In addition to over a hundred player contracts being purchased throughout its history, the Patriots have helped 21 players realize their dream of returning to the majors or making their MLB debut. Through a working agreement, Major League franchises are able to sign Atlantic League players and assign them to any of their affiliate clubs. As the Atlantic League grew into the premier independent baseball circuit in the country, that working agreement became a ground-breaking partnership with MLB.

In recent years, MLB began to research ways to increase interest in the game. The major themes were that baseball needed to quicken the pace of play and add more action into a game that was dominated by strikeouts and home runs.

In 2019, the two leagues entered into the MLB-ALPB Partnership to test experimental rules and equipment in real-time to see how they impact the game with the hopes to adopt some at the highest level of the sport. The Atlantic League implemented several new rules for the season and gained international exposure, with the most prominent change being the Automated Ball-Strike System (ABS) that used radar technology to help umpires call balls and strikes.

The Patriots found themselves in a leadership role in the MLB-ALPB Partnership, often hosting Major League Baseball executives on site to see the rules in play. Somerset also became a popular destination for media looking to cover the updates potentially being made to America's favorite pastime.

The Patriots were once again thrust in the spotlight in 2020 when they created a league of their own to bring professional baseball to their fans during the COVID-19 pandemic. At a time when very few teams outside of MLB were able to play, the Patriots found a way to safely execute a series with local players. The drive behind it all was to honor their commitment of bringing entertainment to the community in an unprecedented time of need.

The hard work as an organization on the field and behind the scenes, has made the baseball world take notice. This past summer, the New York Yankees reached out to tour TD Bank Ballpark and discuss whether the Patriots were interested in becoming a minor league affiliate.

After months of communications and discussions between the two teams, it was announced on November 7th that the Patriots were the new Double-A affiliate of the Yankees.

The partnership was made official at a press conference at the ballpark days later. Lyle was joined by other New York icons Joe Torre and former teammate Willie Randolph to usher in the next chapter of Somerset Patriots Baseball.

Now the Patriots are joining the Yankees family, an organization that they modeled themselves after and looked up to as the gold-standard in sports. Both franchises built their brands on their winning traditions, pride, and passion.

Julio Mosquera was named the third manager in Somerset Patriots history on March 19, 2021. Mosquera is the first to manage the Patriots during their partnership as the New York Yankees Double-A affiliate. The former catcher spent parts of three seasons in the majors with the Toronto Blue Jays (1996 & 1997) and the Milwaukee Brewers (2005), making his major league debut on August 17, 1996. He appeared in 12 total major league games and spent 13 seasons in the minor leagues with Toronto, Tampa Bay, Texas, Seattle, Milwaukee and Yankees affiliates. Mosquera initially signed with the Blue Jays as a non-drafted free agent in 1991.

While in the Yankees' minor league system, Mosquera and former Patriots manager Brett Jodie played together in 2000 and 2001. Additionally, Mosquera played at TD Bank Ballpark in 2004 while spending 17 games with the Newark Bears before his contract was purchased by the Texas Rangers.

After wrapping up a 15-year playing career, Mosquera joined the Yankees organization as the catching coordinator. From 2006-'14, Mosquera mentored the Yankees' young backstops working with players such as Gary Sanchez, Austin Romine and Jesus Montero. In 2015, Mosquera was promoted to his first managing position leading the GCL Yankees 1 and then GCL Yankees West in 2016. Mosquera guided the 2017 Single-A Staten Island Yankees to a first-place finish in the New York-Penn League McNamara Division. His 46-29 record was the highest win total for Staten Island since 2009 when the team went 47-27.

Mosquera managed the Single-A Charleston Riverdogs from 2018-2019. Most recently, the Panamá City native was slated to lead the Yankees' 2020 Double-A affiliate before the minor league season was cancelled due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Instead, he worked under Aaron Boone on the New York Yankees 2020 coaching staff.

ALL-TIME PURCHASED CONTRACTS

The independent Atlantic League of Professional Baseball, of which the Somerset Patriots were members from the 1998-2019 seasons, had a system established with Major League organizations that allowed for the purchase of ALPB player contracts. Major League organizations purchased these player contracts from Atlantic League teams for a pre-negotiated amount of money. After the contract was purchased, players would then negotiate a contract with the Major League organization. Once signed, they players were assigned to a level of that Major League organization, often times directly to either Double-A or Triple-A.

HALL OF FAME ACCOLADES

On January 18, 2017, outfielder Tim Raines became the first (and currently only) former member of the Somerset Patriots to be inducted into the National Baseball Hall of Fame. He entered with 86% of the vote alongside Jeff Bagwell and Ivan Rodriguez. Raines, who had a 23-year Major League Baseball career, played for the Patriots during the 2000 season while attempting to make the United States Olympic Baseball Team. Somerset was Raines' first time playing baseball after being diagnosed with lupus in the summer of 1999.

Raines hit .346 (9-for-26) over seven games with the Patriots with two RBI, three doubles and five runs scored. Additionally, He played 17 innings in the longest game in team history on August 16th, 2000 that went six hours and 14 minutes.

Raines is one of three members with Atlantic League ties to be inducted into the Hall of Fame, joining former Long Island Ducks manager Gary Carter (2003) and former Newark Bears outfielder Ricky Henderson (2009).

BRANDON LEIBRANDT - 2020

With COVID-19 shutting down all of minor league and independent baseball seasons in 2020, the Somerset Patriots founded the SOMERSET Professional Baseball Series in an effort to bring baseball back to New Jersey. The league consisted of two teams comprised of local players that were managed by the Patriots. The 13-game schedule took place at TD Bank Ballpark and featured two teams: the Somerset Patriots and the New Jersey Blasters.

Featured on the Blasters was 25-year old left-handed pitcher Brandon Leibrandt. Son of 14-year MLB veteran Charlie Leibbrandt, Brandon made three starts with the Blasters, posting a 1-0 record with a 0.75 ERA and 15 strikeouts over 12 innings of work. In his final start for the Blasters on August 1st, Leibrandt tossed five shutout innings and allowed just two hits with one walk and seven strikeouts for the win over the Patriots.

On August 6th, Leibrandt's contract was purchased from by the Miami Marlins. He was immediately assigned to the Marlins' Alternate Training Site and added to the team's "taxi squad." A little more than two weeks after being added by the Marlins, Leibbrandt made his MLB debut. The southpaw tossed four shutout innings in a long-relief appearance against the Washington Nationals on August 23rd, yielding just one hit and one walk while striking out Nats star outfielder Juan Soto.

It took Leibrandt just 22 days to advance from his last appearance with the upstart Blasters to his MLB debut with the Marlins. If included with the 21 official Patriots who made it to the Majors after playing in Somerset during an official Atlantic League season, Leibbrandt's ascent to the Majors is the fastest in franchise history.

FASTEST TO THE BIGS

Tyler Cloyd, a former Major Leaguer in his own right, spent two seasons playing for the Somerset Patriots (2017, 2019). But it was what he did after just three appearances with the team in 2017 that has him in the record books.

Cloyd's Patriots contract was purchased by the Seattle Mariners on May 10th, 2017. He was initially sent straight to the team's Triple-A affiliate in Tacoma. His last Patriots appearance was on May 6th. On Jun 2nd, Cloyd's contract was selected by the Mariners and he was promoted to the big league club. Seven days later, Cloyd made a relief appearance in a game against the Toronto Blue Jays.

It took Cloyd just 23 days after his contract was purchased from Somerset to join a MLB club and just 29 days between appearances with the Patriots and Mariners. Both feats still rank as franchise bests.

BILLY HALL: STOLEN BASE KING

Billy Hall had speed unlike any other player ever seen in the Atlantic League. This was never more evident than in his historic 2000 season: his first as a Somerset Patriot.

Hall set a professional baseball record at the time of 66-straight stolen bases without being caught that season. Ultimately, Hall ended his standout campaign with 104 stolen bases: a team record and an Atlantic League record that still stands. The closest to ever get to Hall's impressive mark in the league was Lancaster's Darian Sandford, who stole 82 bases in 2018.

Hall also tallied the second-most stolen bases in a season for the Patriots in 2001 when the speedster swiped 72 bags. He remains the franchise's all-time leader with 290 stolen bases across four seasons in Somerset (2000-2002, 2005).

JIM MAGRANE TRIPLE CROWN SEASON

When Patriots fans think of the championship teams in 2008 and 2009, the production from all-time great bats like Josh Pressley, Jeff Nettles, Matt Hagen and more come to mind. But hidden in the 2009 season was a historic campaign from right-handed pitcher Jim Magrane.

That season, Magrane became the first pitcher in Atlantic League history to earn a pitching "Triple Crown." The former New York Mets draft pick led the league in wins (15), ERA (2.70) and strikeouts (134). He is one of only two pitchers in league history to pull off the feat.

Magrane was named the league's Pitcher of the Year for his remarkable season.

NEAR PERFECTION (NO-NO HISTORY)

No pitcher has ever thrown a no-hitter nor a perfect game in Somerset Patriots history. There have been two no-hitters thrown against the Patriots (most recently 9/16/11 by the Camden Riversharks). However, southpaw Rick Teasley came the closest to both on July 26th, 2019 when he threw nine perfect frames against the Long Island Ducks. Unfortunately, the Patriots failed to score and ultimately lost the game 1-0 in the 10th inning after Teasley was pulled from the game.

That includes setting the league’s single-season record with 49 saves in 2014. The Somerset Patriots, the Double-A affiliate of the New York Yankees, have announced initial “Phase 1” plans of renovations at TD Bank Ballpark. These plans are to meet specifications put forward by Major League Baseball ahead of the 2021 and 2022 seasons.

Included in these renovation plans are expansions on player facilities, new buildings, and upgrades to the playing surface and game presentation setup that will enhance the in-house experience for fans.

The Somerset Patriots have already begun demolition and cleaning of their home clubhouse to allow for better flow for players and coaches. The old gym inside the clubhouse will be relocated to a brand new 3,100 square foot gym facility located where the current maintenance yard rests. There will also be a new dedicated dining and kitchenette area in the clubhouse area per MLB specifications, along with renovated coaching and players spaces.

The new 3,100 square foot gym will be in a new building constructed to include approximately 1,000 square feet of storage and maintenance space for field equipment and materials. This will be one of two new buildings constructed on the TD Bank Ballpark site.

The other will be an approximate 4,300 square foot multipurpose indoor space. This will feature two new, retractable batting tunnels allowing for year-round training. It will be built parallel to the first base gate, extending slightly into the red lot.

Inside the ballpark, the location of the current batting cage will be transformed into new rooms for various use. This includes: a new, dedicated female staff locker room, New York Yankees video room, umpire’s locker room, a roving instructors locker room, a new grounds crew office and additional storage space.

Other cosmetic changes fans can anticipate for the 2021 season include: a renovated home bullpen that will be moved off the playing surface and into a portion of the existing lawn seating area with cover for the players, new safety padding all around the interior walls and outfield walls of the ballpark, and brand-new ballpark lighting as a first step to make TD Bank Ballpark both more energy efficient and upgrade the playing surface for the team. The home and visiting dugouts will also be refinished with new benches, racks, and flooring.

New for 2021, TD Bank Ballpark will be outfitted with a brand-new multi-camera broadcast/in-game entertainment system to enhance the fan experience. This new broadcast system will provide an upgraded visual experience on the team’s existing scoreboard, including instant replay.

A “Phase 2” of ballpark renovations will continue in the fall of 2021. These will likely include, but not limited to: visitor clubhouse upgrades, a relocation of the team’s executive office, and possible further scoreboard upgrades.

MARC SCHWARTZ | DIR. OF BROADCAST / MEDIA RELATIONS

He previously worked as the lead broadcaster for the Keene Swamp Bats (NECBL) in 2012 and the High-A Charlotte Stone Crabs (Florida State League) in 2013 before joining the Long Island Ducks as a broadcast assistant in 2014. In addition to his broadcast roles, the Quinnipiac University graduate also works as the team's primary video producer, assists in all media relations and communications for the team and is responsible for the sales of marketing partnerships and ticket packages.

In May of 2019, a video of Schwartz catching a foul ball while simultaneously providing play-by-play commentary of the catch went viral. The video was featured on national TV programs including ESPN's SportsCenter, along with ABC's Late Night with Jimmy Kimmel. It received multiple millions of views online, was picked up by blogs, prominent websites, and local affiliates around the country. A t-shirt campaign followed featuring the phrase "Boy am I impressive" that generated thousands of dollars for local charities.
