Jerry Jones

Owner, President and General Manager

In one of the most dramatic eras of ownership in professional sports, Jerry Jones' stewardship of the Dallas Cowboys has brought unprecedented results to one of the world's most visible sports entities.

Highlighted by Super Bowl victories following the 1992, 1993 and 1995 seasons, Jones became the first owner in NFL history to guide his team to three league championships in his first seven years of ownership.

In addition, the Dallas Cowboys earned the distinction of being the "Team of the Decade" for the 1990s after winning a league-high six division titles and claiming the ultimate prize three times.

In 1995, Dallas also became the first team in NFL history to win three Super Bowls in four seasons, while tying the NFL record for most Super Bowl victories by an organization with five.

Since purchasing the team in 1989, Jones has established himself as one of the NFL's most influential and active owners. His vision in the areas of marketing, corporate sponsorships, television, stadium management and community service has made a visible imprint on the landscape of sports in America.

He has actively contributed to enhancing the NFL's status as the world's premier professional sports league by serving on the NFL's Competition Committee, the Broadcast Committee, the Management Council Executive Committee and the Business Ventures Committee.

Jerral Wayne Jones was born on Oct. 13, 1942 in Los Angeles. He learned his business style from his father, J.W. "Pat" Jones, a successful entrepreneur first in supermarkets, then in insurance.

Pat Jones moved his family to North Little Rock, Ark., soon after Jerry was born. After starring as a running back at North Little Rock High School, Jerry received a scholarship to play football at the University of Arkansas. He was a starting guard and co-captain of the 1964 team that went 11-0, defeated Nebraska in the Cotton Bowl and captured the national championship.

Upon graduating with a M.B.A. from Arkansas in 1965, Jerry joined his father's insurance company, Modern Security Life in Springfield, Mo., as executive vice president.

Jones entered the oil and gas exploration business in Oklahoma in 1970 and soon became a phenomenal success. He now has active interests across the Southwest.

One of a very small number of NFL owners who actually earned a significant level of success as a football player, Jones is currently living his dream of engineering the fortunes of an NFL franchise. A man of varied interests who will not rest on yesterday's achievements, he is a dedicated businessman and family man – sharing a passion for both worlds.

Jerry is also involved in numerous civic and charitable causes. As very strong supporters of The Salvation Army, Jerry and wife Gene were presented the Army's Partner of the Year Award in 1997 on behalf of the Cowboys organization. In each of the last 10 years, Gene and Jerry Jones, along with the Dallas Cowboys, have served as hosts and underwritten the costs for the Super Lunch, a fundraising event for The Salvation Army Irving Corps Community Center and its special projects. This annual event has raised more than $1 million since its inception.

The Gene and Jerry Jones Family Center for Children opened in November of 1998 in conjunction with The Salvation Army. The center offers affordable childcare for low-income families and was made possible by gifts from the Jones family and the Cowboys that exceeded $1.2 million.

For the past six seasons, the Jones family has dedicated the Cowboys annual Thanksgiving Day half-time show as a national showcase to kick off The Salvation Army's annual Kettle Drive. The nationally televised event has created a new holiday tradition, while helping to increase donations to The Salvation Army's annual fund raising efforts by several millions of dollars. Reba McEntire, Randy Travis, Clint Black, Jessica Simpson, Billy Gilman, Creed and LeAnn Rimes have provided the entertainment for the last six holiday extravaganzas.

For their efforts in this area, the Joneses received the Evangeline Booth Award in 1999, one of the Army's highest national community service awards, and have been selected for membership into the prestigious Salvation Army William Booth Society. Gene and Jerry were named to the Salvation Army's National Advisory Board in April of 1998.

In 2001, the Joneses were awarded the Chairman's Award by The Boys and Girls Clubs of America. This award recognizes individuals who have made a positive difference in people's lives – particularly in the lives of children. In June of 2002, Gene and Jerry Jones were recognized as the recipients of the Children's Champion Award for Philanthropy that was presented by the Dallas for Children organization.

Family Gateway, a Dallas community outreach organization, recognized the work of both Gene and Jerry in the spring of 2003 with the Annette G. Strauss Humanitarian Award. The award is given annually to recognize those who enhance and champion causes for the betterment of others and who, by example, encourage people to do the same.

Gene and Jerry Jones are also very active supporters of the Library of Congress. As members of the Library's James Madison Council, Gene and Jerry provided a major gift to the Library to provide for the complete restoration of the Thomas Jefferson Library. The gift was made as a kickoff to the Library of Congress' bicentennial celebration.

The Jones family is also very actively involved with several other community-related organizations, including the Children's Medical Center of Dallas, the National Board for The Boys and Girls Clubs of America, the Kent Waldrep Paralysis Foundation, The Rise School of Dallas, Alexis De Tocqueville Society, Crystal Charity Ball, Family Gateway, The Family Place, Susan G. Komen Foundation/Race for the Cure for Breast Cancer, TACA, UT Southwestern Medical Center and many others.

Jerry and Gene, a former Arkansas beauty pageant winner whom he met while both attended the University of Arkansas, live in Dallas. They have three children, Stephen, Charlotte and Jerry, Jr., and seven grandchildren.

Stephen (6/21/64) is a graduate of the University of Arkansas and serves as the Cowboys' Chief Operating Officer/Executive Vice President/Director of Player Personnel. Charlotte (7/26/66) is a Stanford graduate and serves as the Cowboys Vice President/Director of Charities and Special Events. Jerry Jr. (9/27/69), a graduate of Georgetown University who earned his law degree from Southern Methodist University, is the Cowboys' Chief Sales and Marketing Officer/Vice President/General Counsel.

Chronology Since 1989:

February 25, 1989 – Jones purchases the Dallas Cowboys and the lease to manage Texas Stadium Corp. from H.R. "Bum" Bright. Jerry Jones names Jimmy Johnson as the new head coach.

April 20, 1989 – Jones completes negotiations on Troy Aikman's contract – a six-year deal that is completed two days before Aikman is the top overall selection in the 1989 NFL Draft.

October 12, 1989 – Herschel Walker is traded to Minnesota for five players, six conditional draft choices and a 1992 first round draft choice. Among the players who actually came to Dallas as a result of the trade include Emmitt Smith, Russell Maryland, Kevin Smith and Darren Woodson.

August 10, 1990 – The Cowboys' first-ever in-state training camp concludes at St. Edward's University in Austin. Over 100,000 fans attend workouts, while more than 400 media credentials are issued in the three-plus weeks of work. Austin officials estimate the camp brought an additional $3.2 million of income into the Austin area.

September 5, 1990 – The Cowboys trade Steve Walsh to the New Orleans Saints for a first and third round draft choice in 1991 and a conditional second round pick in 1992.

April 19, 1991 – A deal is made to bring the first overall selection in the 1991 NFL Draft to Dallas in exchange for a first and second round selection and three veteran players. Dallas selected Outland Trophy winner Russell Maryland with the top pick.

April 21-22, 1991 – In an unprecedented action among NFL clubs, the Cowboys sign their top three draft choices on draft day. The team also drafts a club record 17 players.

July 16, 1991 – The Cowboys open training camp in Austin with all 17 of their draft choices under contract. Dallas concludes its second training camp at St. Edward's University, with over 75,000 fans attending the Cowboys' practices.

November 24, 1991 – The Cowboys end the Washington Redskins' 1991 undefeated streak at 11 games with a 24-21 victory at RFK Stadium.

December 15, 1991 – Dallas defeats Philadelphia, 25-13, at Veterans Stadium to secure a wild card playoff spot. The victory marks the team's first trip to the playoffs since the 1985 club went 10-6 and won the NFC Eastern Division title.

December 22, 1991 – Dallas closes the 1991 season with a 31-27 win over Atlanta, marking the team's best record (11-5) since 1983.

January 5, 1992 – Dallas defeats Chicago by a 17-13 score in an opening round playoff game at Soldier Field. The victory marks the Cowboys' first playoff win since 1982, and the first playoff win on the road since 1980.

May 1, 1992 – Jerry Jones is appointed to the NFL's Competition Committee by Commissioner Paul Tagliabue. Jones becomes the first owner to serve on the prestigious committee since the death of Cincinnati's Paul Brown.

December 21, 1992 – Before a national television audience on ABC's Monday Night Football, the Cowboys defeat the Atlanta Falcons (41-17) at the Georgia Dome to claim the NFC Eastern Division Championship. The victory marks the Cowboys' first divisional title since 1985. It is the 14th divisional title in club history.

December 23, 1992 – Six players from the Cowboys offense are selected to play in the Pro Bowl. The six players establish a Dallas Cowboys' record for most offensive players selected to the Pro Bowl.

December 27, 1992 – Dallas defeats Chicago by a 27-14 score at Texas Stadium. The victory is the 13th of the year for Dallas, establishing a new club record for victories in a season. Emmitt Smith finishes the season with 1,713 rushing yards, enabling him to become the first player to win back-to-back NFL rushing titles since Eric Dickerson (1983-84).

December, 1992 – The Cowboys set a team record for road attendance by averaging 72,523 fans-per-road game in 1992. The team also played before a sold-out stadium in all 16 regular season games.

January 10, 1993 – In their first home playoff game since 1983, Dallas hands NFC East rival Philadelphia a 34-10 defeat in a NFC Divisional Playoff Game.

January 17, 1993 – In their first NFC Championship Game since 1982, the Cowboys defeat the San Francisco 49ers by a 30-20 score at Candlestick Park. The victory sends Dallas to Super Bowl XXVII in Pasadena, marking the Cowboys first Super Bowl trip since 1978.

January 31, 1993 – While making a NFL record sixth Super Bowl appearance, the Cowboys defeat Buffalo 52-17 in Super Bowl XXVII at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena. Troy Aikman was named the game's MVP after throwing four touchdown passes. The Super Bowl crowd of 98,374 becomes the largest crowd to ever witness a Cowboys game. The game was witnessed by 133.4 million television viewers, making Super Bowl XXVII the most watched event in television history.

March 5, 1993 – The Super Bowl Champion Dallas Cowboys become the first athletic team to visit the White House under President Bill Clinton's administration. The Cowboys team visit to the White House is the first in club history.

December 28, 1993 – An NFC record 11 Dallas players are selected to the Pro Bowl. That group includes a club record eight offensive selections (seven Pro Bowl starters).

January 2, 1994 – The Cowboys defeat the N.Y. Giants 16-13 in overtime at the Meadowlands. The victory clinches the Cowboys' second straight NFC East title and the 15th division crown in club history.

January 2, 1994 – Emmitt Smith finishes the season with 1,486 yards to earn his third straight NFL rushing crown. He becomes just the fourth man in NFL history to win three consecutive rushing titles. He is also named Associated Press NFL Player of the Year, the first Cowboy so honored.

January 23, 1994 – Dallas defeats San Francisco 38-21 in the NFC Championship Game at Texas Stadium. The victory gives the Cowboys a NFL-record seventh conference championship in the first conference title game to be played at Texas Stadium since Jan. 1, 1978 (a 23-6 win over Minnesota).

January 30, 1994 – Dallas becomes one of just three NFL teams to win four Super Bowls by defeating Buffalo (30-13) in Super Bowl XXVIII. The victory enables the Cowboys to become the only franchise in NFL history to win more than one Super Bowl under two different owners. The game, played at the Georgia Dome in Atlanta, featured two rushing touchdowns by Super Bowl MVP Emmitt Smith.

March 30, 1994 – Barry Switzer is named the new head coach of the Dallas Cowboys – and the third head coach in team history. Switzer replaces Jimmy Johnson, who stepped down as the Cowboys' head coach the previous day.

December, 1994 – For the second straight season, the Cowboys send a club and NFC record 11 players to the Pro Bowl.

January, 1995 – The Cowboys set a Texas Stadium record for home attendance with an average crowd of 64,579 in 1994, the first time Dallas has averaged over 64,000 fans-per-game at Texas Stadium. The previous record was 63,943 set in 1981.

January 15, 1995 – The Cowboys play in their third NFC Championship Game of the decade. The Cowboys are the only NFL team to play in multiple conference championship games in each decade of the team's existence.

December 24, 1995 – Dallas wraps up its fourth straight NFC Eastern Division title – a feat that no other NFC East team had accomplished other than the Cowboys teams from 1976 to 1979.

December 25, 1995 – Emmitt Smith closes the season with a team record 1,773 rushing yards and a NFL record 25 rushing touchdowns. Smith led the NFL in rushing for the fourth time in five years, becoming just the fifth player in NFL history to win at least four rushing titles.

December, 1995 – Ten Cowboys are selected to the NFC Pro Bowl squad. Since 1993, Dallas has earned 32 Pro Bowl selections – the most ever by one team over a three-year period of time.

January 14, 1996 – The Cowboys win a NFL record eighth conference championship game by defeating the Green Bay Packers 38-27 at Texas Stadium. The victory marked the Cowboys third NFC title in four years.

January 28, 1996 – Dallas becomes the first team in NFL history to win three Super Bowls in a four-year period by defeating the Pittsburgh Steelers 27-17 in Super Bowl XXX at Sun Devil Stadium in Tempe, Ariz. The game is witnessed by 138.4 million television viewers, making Super Bowl XXX the most watched event in television history. The victory enables Dallas to earn its fifth Super Bowl title – joining the San Francisco 49ers as the only NFL franchises to win five Super Bowls. The Cowboys have now appeared in an NFL record eight Super Bowls. Dallas also became the first NFL franchise to win Super Bowls with three different head coaches.

December 15, 1996 – The Cowboys clinch a fifth straight division title with a 12-6 win over the New England Patriots at Texas Stadium. The championship enables the Cowboys to become the first team in NFL history to win five straight NFC Eastern Division crowns.

January 5, 1997 – Dallas closes the postseason with a divisional playoff loss at Carolina. The loss marks the first time since the 1991 season that the Cowboys were unable to reach the NFC title game.

December, 1997 – The Cowboys close the 1997 season with a 6-10 record, marking the team's first non-playoff season since 1990.

February 12, 1998 – Jerry Jones names Chan Gailey as the fourth head coach in the history of the Dallas Cowboys franchise. Gailey, who had previously served as the Pittsburgh Steelers offensive coordinator, replaces Barry Switzer, who resigned from his position on January 9th.

July 15, 1998 – The Cowboys open training camp at Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls, TX. Attendance figures for the four-week camp exceed 100,000.

November 8, 1998 – With 163 yards on 29 carries in a 16-6 win over the New York Giants, Emmitt Smith becomes the Dallas Cowboys all-time leading rusher. Smith's performance against New York pushes him past Tony Dorsett (12,036) and into the Cowboys top spot.

December 20, 1998 – After a one-year absence from postseason play, the Cowboys clinch their six NFC Eastern Division title in the last seven years with a 13-9 win over Philadelphia at Texas Stadium. The 1998 division crown is the 19th division championship (15th NFC East title) in the club's 39-year history.

December 27, 1998 – After scoring a first-half touchdown on a one-yard run against the Redskins at Texas Stadium, Emmitt Smith becomes the NFL's all-time leader in rushing touchdowns, moving ahead of Marcus Allen (123). Smith would later add a 26-yard touchdown run in the second quarter to bring his league record total to 125 rushing touchdowns by season's end. The Cowboys closed the year with a 23-7 victory over Washington and a 10-6 record, marking the 23rd season in which Dallas recorded at least 10 wins – an NFL record. The win over the Redskins also enabled Dallas to become the first team in the history of the NFC East to post an 8-0 record in division play.

December 24, 1999 – The Dallas Cowboys NFL-record of consecutive games in front of sold out stadiums comes to an end in a Christmas Eve game against the New Orleans Saints in the Louisiana Superdome. The streak, which included home and away games, came to a halt after 160 games. It began on Dec. 23, 1990 at Philadelphia's Veterans Stadium and included 79 straight sell-outs at Texas Stadium (including playoffs) and 81 straight sell-outs on the road (including playoffs).

January 2, 2000 – The Cowboys close the century as the NFL's most successful team in the decade of the 1990s. From 1990 to 1999, Dallas qualified for the playoffs eight times, won six division titles, made four trips to the conference championship game and won three Super Bowls. The 1999 season ends with an 8-8 regular season record and a wild card playoff loss at Minnesota on Jan. 9, 2000.

January 26, 2000 – Jerry Jones names Cowboys defensive coordinator Dave Campo as the fifth head coach in franchise history. Campo spent the previous 11 seasons as an assistant coach in Dallas and was the defensive coordinator for the 1995 team that won Super Bowl XXX.

August 27, 2001 – Dallas defeats Oakland in a preseason American Bowl game in Mexico City that marks the Cowboys ninth international game. With stops in England (2), Japan (2) Mexico (4) and Canada (1), the Cowboys have played more international games than any other team in the NFL.

October 27, 2002 – In a 17-14 loss to the Seattle Seahawks at Texas Stadium, Emmitt Smith moved past Walter Payton to become the all-time NFL rushing leader. Smith finished the 2002 season, and his Dallas Cowboys career, with 17,162 yards, 436 more than Payton's previous career mark of 16,726.

January 2, 2003 – Jerry Jones names Bill Parcells as the sixth head coach in Dallas Cowboys franchise history. Parcells, a two-time Super Bowl winner with the New York Giants, replaces Dave Campo.

Stephen Jones

Executive Vice President
Chief Operating Officer
Director of Player Personnel

With 14 years of NFL experience under his belt, Stephen Jones's reputation as one of the brightest young executives in professional sports continues to grow. Named a Cowboys Vice President in February of 1989, Jones coordinates the Cowboys' entire player personnel department. He also oversees the negotiation of player contracts, management of the salary cap, the operation of Texas Stadium and a wide range of other club related duties.

Recognized as Owner Jerry Jones's right hand man, Stephen Jones played an integral role in the team's rise from a 1-15 record in 1989 to being the NFL's "Team of the Decade" with three Super Bowl titles in the 1990s.

As he enters his 15th NFL season, Jones is a driving force behind the Cowboys as they strive to return to the elite level in the NFL. His recent work has seen the club restock its roster with some of the games top young talent. One of his tougher tasks came in 2002 when Jones was able to sign the club's entire rookie draft class while making financial room for quarterback Chad Hutchinson in the NFL's rookie salary pool. That group is on track to become the foundation for the future as Hutchinson went on to start nine games and the rookie draft choices included Roy Williams, Antonio Bryant and Derek Ross – three members of the league's All-Rookie team.

In the ever-evolving strategy that dictates a team's competitiveness in the current collective bargaining agreement, Jones's performance in managing the Cowboys salary cap has played a prominent role in the team's ability to compete at the NFL's highest level.

Jones's involvement in shaping the Dallas roster under the salary cap was critical in allowing the Cowboys to maintain one of the NFL's most talented core group of players throughout the decade of the 1990s. His creativity and care taking of the Cowboys' cap played a key role in the team's six division titles and four conference championship game appearances.

During a historic two-year period of time, Jones was involved in signing five Cowboys stars who were considered the best players in the game at their respective positions. Between September of 1993 and September of 1995, Jones helped orchestrate contract agreements with running back Emmitt Smith, quarterback Troy Aikman, fullback Daryl Johnston, wide receiver Michael Irvin and cornerback Deion Sanders.

In the summer of 1992, Stephen Jones was the key figure in the negotiation and signing of 13 veteran contracts – enabling the Cowboys to start the season with a complete roster en route to their run to the Super Bowl XXVII title.

In April of 1991, Jones was part of a Dallas college draft effort that saw the Cowboys select 17 players – all of whom were signed to contracts prior to the start of training camp in July. In addition, 14 of the 17 players drafted by Dallas in '91 went on to earn roster spots in the NFL.

Jones has enjoyed a life-long association with the game of football. A four-year letterman as a linebacker and special teams standout at the University of Arkansas, Jones was a starter for the Razorbacks in the Orange Bowl Classic Game that followed the 1986 season.

Prior to attending the University of Arkansas, Jones was also an all-state quarterback and a three-year starter at Catholic High School in Little Rock.

He graduated from Arkansas in 1988 with a degree in chemical engineering, and immediately went to work in the oil and gas business for JMC Exploration as an engineer.

On Feb. 25, 1989, Jerry Jones purchased the Dallas Cowboys and installed Stephen into a key front office position as one of three vice presidents with the club.

Jones is actively involved with the Young Presidents' Organization and serves on the board of directors for the Kent Waldrep National Paralysis Foundation, Southwestern Bell/SMU Athletic Forum, Cotton Bowl Athletic Association, Episcopal School of Dallas and Circle Ten Council of the Boy Scouts of America. Jones is also a member of the Dallas Citizen's Council.

Jones (6/21/64) was born and raised in Little Rock. He is married to the former Karen Hickman of El Dorado, Ark., and the couple has three daughters and a son: Jessica (8/24/92), Jordan (10/8/93), Caroline (4/4/97), and John Stephen (4/19/99).

Bill Parcells

Head Coach

NFL: 16th Year ★ Cowboys: 1st Year

On Jan. 2, Bill Parcells took over the head coaching reigns of the Dallas Cowboys, marking the union of one of the NFL's most visible and successful franchises with one of the most prominent coaching names in the history of the league. Jerry Jones's appointment of Parcells to the Cowboys top job will give the sixth head coach in Dallas history the opportunity to guide a fourth different team to the NFL playoffs and a third club to the Super Bowl.

All three of the previous NFL teams that have been coached by Parcells can attest to his ability to develop a winner and maintain success. His results with the New York Giants, the New England Patriots and the New York Jets were dramatic and provided a winning foundation for the years that followed his departure.

During his 15 seasons as an NFL head coach, Parcells has posted a record of 149-106-1, including victories in Super Bowls XXI and XXV with the New York Giants and an appearance in Super Bowl XXXI with the New England Patriots. Parcells returns to the NFL as the third winningest active coach, trailing only Dan Reeves (197 in 22 years) and Marty Schottenheimer (166 in 17 years). His 149 career wins place him 13th overall in NFL history.

Parcells has guided his teams to 10 winning seasons, eight playoff berths and an 11-6 postseason record. Parcells-led teams have finished in either first or second place in their division nine times. He is one of only four coaches (Reeves, Don Shula, and Dick Vermeil) in NFL history to have led two separate teams to the Super Bowl. Parcells, Reeves and Chuck Knox are the only coaches to have directed three different teams to the playoffs. Parcells and Denver's Mike Shanahan are the only active coaches to have claimed two Super Bowl titles, and he is one of just six active coaches to have ever won a Super Bowl title.

Parcells' success has taken place in both the pre- and post free agency days in the NFL. His Giants teams were constructed in the days before the NFL's current salary cap and free agency systems were in place. His success with the Patriots occurred in the first days of free agency as the league was implementing the new system.

As the head coach and chief football operations officer of the Jets, he took full advantage of the "new" NFL by making several crucial personnel moves: signing restricted free agent running back and perennial 1,000-yard rusher Curtis Martin away from New England; swaying one of the top young centers in the NFL, Kevin Mawae, to join his efforts; and by signing veteran quarterback and 1998 team MVP Vinny Testaverde shortly after he had been released by Baltimore.

The improvement has been dramatic with each challenge in Parcells's coaching career. His last stop with the Jets saw him take over a club with the worst record in football – with back-to-back seasons of 3-13 and 1-15 – and lead them to a 9-7 record in his first year, showing one of the biggest improvements in pro football history. The following season, his Jets went 12-4 and advanced to the AFC Championship Game.

After taking over the Jets in February of 1997, Parcells guided the team to a 29-19 regular season record in his three seasons. The 29 victories accounted for the fifth most wins in the NFL over that period of time. Additionally, the team won the AFC East title in 1998 and advanced to the AFC Championship Game against the eventual Super Bowl champion Denver Broncos.

Under Parcells, the Jets went from 1-15 in 1996 to 9-7 in 1997 to 12-4 and the AFC Championship Game in 1998 – an improvement of 20 victories. It marked the first time in NFL history that a team had won one game and within two years was playing for a conference championship. The only other team that won one game in a season and then was able to make the playoffs in a two-year period was Vince Lombardi's Green Bay Packers, who were 1-10-1 in 1958 and rose to 7-5 in 1959 and to the NFL West title at 8-4 in 1960.

Under Parcells in 1997, the Jets came within one game of the playoffs at 9-7 and within one game of equaling their victory total for the past three seasons (6-10 in 1994, 3-13 in '95 and 1-15 in '96). The improvement of eight games tied for the second best all-time turnaround, just behind the 1929 New York Giants and the 1963 Oakland Raiders, both of whom improved by nine wins over their preceding year. The turnaround to a plus eight was also accomplished by Ted Marchibroda, who guided the 1992 Indianapolis squad to 9-7 after a 1-15 season in 1991.

In 1983 Parcells assumed the head coaching reins of a Giants team that had just one winning season in its previous 10 years. Parcells took over a 4-5 team from the strike-shortened 1982 season and, following a 3-12-1 campaign in 1983, enjoyed a remarkable run of 9, 10, 14, 10, 12, and 13-win seasons between 1984 and 1990. In 1984 and 1985, the Giants reached the postseason as a wild card team. Each time, the eventual Super Bowl champions elite Super Bowl XXXI against Green Bay.

After a collegiate playing career that included stops at Colgate and Wichita State University, he began his coaching career in 1964 as a defensive assistant at Hastings College (in Nebraska). He returned to Wichita State in 1965 as a defensive line coach before moving east to coach at Army. After four years at West Point (1966-69), Parcells left for stints at Florida State, Vanderbilt, and Texas Tech. His first head coaching position came at the Air Force Academy in 1978. He then moved on to the NFL, as an assistant on Ray Perkins' staff with the Giants in 1979. After one season, he joined the Patriots (1980) as the line-

Maurice Carthon

Offensive Coordinator/Running Backs

NFL: 10th Year ★ Cowboys: 1st Year

Maurice Carthon joins the Cowboys after two years in Detroit. The former NFL running back will serve as the club's offensive coordinator, overseeing game plan preparations, as well as work with the club's running backs.

Carthon served as the Lions offensive coordinator in 2002 after originally joining the team as the running backs coach in 2001. In his two seasons with the Lions, he took over a running game that had averaged 3.9 (2000) and 3.5 (1999) yards-per-carry before his arrival and was instrumental in overseeing those numbers increase to 4.0 in 2001 and 4.1 in 2002. In addition, running back James Stewart posted a career-best 4.8 yards-per-carry average in 2001 and then came back in 2002 to record his second career 1,000-yard rushing season with 1,021 yards on 231 carries (4.4 avg.).

Prior to joining the Lions, Carthon served as assistant head coach/running backs for the New York Jets in 2000, which followed three years (1997-99) as the Jets' running backs coach under Bill Parcells. During his time in New York, the Jets produced four consecutive 1,000-yard rushing seasons from a running back after the franchise had experienced four 1,000-yard rushing seasons in its first 37-years of existence. Pro Bowl back Curtis Martin rushed for 1,204 yards – his sixth 1,000 yard rushing season – and nine touchdowns in 2000 after setting the team's single season rushing record with 1,464 yards in 1999. Martin also finished third on the team with 45 receptions for 259 yards in 1999. Under Carthon's direction, the Jets averaged 122.6 rushing yards-per-game, ranking seventh in the AFC and 12th in the NFL.

In 1998, Carthon worked two new starting backs in Keith Byars and Martin into the Jets' offensive scheme, helping Martin to 1,287 yards, his fourth consecutive 1,000-yard season and the second best rushing total in club history. The explosiveness of the Jets running game came to light against Indianapolis (9/20) when the club amassed 302 yards on the ground, the second best rushing total in a game in team history. Prior to the arrival of Martin, Carthon directed Adrian Murrell to become just the second running back in Jets history to have consecutive 1,000-yard seasons (Freeman McNeil, 1984-85), when he ran for 1,088 yards.

Carthon began his coaching career in New England in 1994 as an offensive assistant on Parcells' staff and shifted to coaching the Patriots' running backs and was a special teams assistant in '95. He became the sole running backs coach in '96. Carthon was partly responsible for the NFL's second highest scoring unit in 1996 (26.1 points-per-game) with New England. It was with the Patriots that Carthon first became strongly tied to the development of three-time Pro Bowler and current Jets' RB Curtis Martin. Carthon began working with Martin in 1995, a season which saw the unheralded third-round draft choice set single-season rushing records with 1,487 yards and 14 touchdowns on 368 carries and became the only rookie selected to play in the Pro Bowl while also garnering Rookie of the Year honors.

A veteran of eight NFL seasons as a player, Carthon began his career in 1985 when he signed with the New York Giants as a free agent. He played the next seven seasons with the team and was a key member of Parcells' 1986 and 1990 Giants Super Bowl championship teams as a punishing blocking full-back. He finished his NFL playing career with the Indianapolis Colts in 1992. Carthon never missed a game due to injury in his career, and he finished his playing days with 950 rushing yards and two touchdowns in 300 attempts and caught 90 passes for 745 yards and two touchdowns.

Prior to signing with the Giants, Carthon began his professional playing career as an eighth-round draft pick of the USFL's New Jersey Generals. He played for the Generals from 1983-85, rushing for 2,102 yards and helping pave the way for the league's leading rusher, Herschel Walker. In 1984, Carthon started all 18 games and finished the season with a career-high 1,042 rushing yards and 11 touchdowns.

Carthon twice earned all-Southland Conference honors while starring at Arkansas State and led the team in rushing with 682 yards as a senior team captain. He attended Osceola, Ark., High School and was named the state MVP in basketball and twice earned all-conference honors in football.

Born on April 24, 1961, in Chicago, Ill., Carthon earned his degree in physical education and science from Arkansas State and was honored as the Osceola Man of the Year in 1991.

Bruce DeHaven

Special Teams

Southwestern College (Kan.)
NFL: 17th Year ★ Cowboys: 1st Year

Bruce DeHaven is a 16-year veteran of NFL sidelines, and he joins the Cowboys as special teams coach. Working alongside kicking coach Steve Hoffman, DeHaven will work to duplicate the success he had in both Buffalo and San Francisco.

Under DeHaven's tutelage the last three seasons (2000-2002), the 49ers special teams have shined. In 2002 return man Jimmy Williams led the NFL with a 16.8-yard punt return average. This performance comes on the heels of a 2001 season that saw Vinny Sutherland break the team record for most kick return yards by a rookie with 1,140. DeHaven was also instrumental in helping punter Jason Baker earn All-Rookie honors the same year. In his first season in San Francisco, DeHaven helped with the improvement of the 49ers coverage units as they became young and aggressive in covering kicks. Six special teams players totaled double-digit tackles in 2000, and three of those six were in their first year with the 49ers.

Prior to joining the 49ers, DeHaven spent 13 seasons with the Buffalo Bills. During his tenure in Buffalo, the club made four consecutive Super Bowl appearances, won six AFC East championships and appeared in 20 playoff games. In those 13 years, DeHaven helped develop two of the greatest special teams players in NFL history: Mike Pike and Steve Tasker. Under DeHaven's tutelage, Tasker was invited to seven Pro Bowls as the AFC's Special Teams Player and was voted the 1993 Pro Bowl MVP. In 1998 kicker Steve Christie set the Bills' single-season club-records for points (140) and field goals (33) and became the franchise's all-time leading scorer. In 1996, The Dallas Morning News, in a ranking of the 19 most important statistical categories, named the Bills special teams unit the best in the NFL. His 1991 punt coverage unit led the NFL in fewest punt return yards allowed with 53, the lowest total since the NFL changed the rules allowing only the ends to release on punt coverage when the ball is snapped. DeHaven also guided the Bills kickoff coverage unit to a No. 1 NFL ranking four consecutive years (1987-90).

Prior to joining the Bills staff in 1987, DeHaven spent three seasons in different coaching capacities in the USFL. He was the running backs and special teams coach with the Orlando Renegades (1985), special teams coach and offensive line coach for the Pittsburgh Maulers (1984) and special teams and assistant offensive line coach with the New Jersey Generals (1983) – where Maurice Carthon was a rookie full-back.

DeHaven began his collegiate coaching career at Kansas (1979-81), working with the defensive backs and offensive line, as well as heading up recruiting. He served as offensive line coach and recruiting coordinator at New Mexico State in 1982 before breaking into the pro ranks.

Before joining the college ranks, DeHaven spent nine years as a high school coach. As an assistant at Wichita, Kan., Southeast High School during part of that time, he helped lead the school to three straight football titles.

DeHaven was born in Trousdale, Kan. (9/6/48). He played eight-man football at Belpre-Trousdale, Kan., High School. A graduate of Southwestern College in Kansas with a degree in history and political science, DeHaven was a basketball standout, leading the team in scoring two consecutive years. He also participated in track and field. He and his wife, Kathy, have a son Tobin Scott (3/17/97) and daughter AnnieMaude (3/23/99).

Bruce DeHaven – Born September 6, 1948, Trousdale, Kan. Attended Southwestern College (Kan.) but did not play football. College coach: Kansas 1979-81, New Mexico State 1982. Pro coach: New Jersey Generals (USFL) 1983, Pittsburgh Maulers (USFL) 1984, Orlando Renegades (USFL) 1985, Buffalo Bills 1987-99, San Francisco 49ers 2000-2002.

Gary Gibbs

Linebackers

NFL: 2nd Year ★ Cowboys: 2nd Year

Gary Gibbs joined the Cowboys coaching staff in 2002 as linebackers coach and brought to Dallas 22 years of coaching experience - including six as a head coach at the University of Oklahoma.

In his first year with the Cowboys, Gibbs unit was one of the club's strongest and most dependable. Dexter Coakley led the team with 173 tackles, the second best single-season total in club history, while Kevin Hardy finished third on the team with 114 stops. Hardy was the only player to appear in the top five of four other defensive statistical categories: first on the team in tackles for a loss (eight), second in passes defended (10), third in sacks (2.0) and fourth in quarterback pressures (18). Dat Nguyen, despite missing eight games following surgery to repair a fractured wrist, finished fifth on the team with 81 tackles, an average of 10.0 stops-per-game.

Gibbs came to Dallas after consecutive one-year assignments as the defensive coordinator at Louisiana State University (2001) and the University of Georgia (2000). The LSU Tigers compiled a 10-3 record, winning the Southeastern Conference title and the Nokia Sugar Bowl. Gibbs' defensive unit finished the year ranked 21st nationally in rushing yards allowed and also led the SEC in interceptions with 18, picking off at least two passes in six of 12 games. While at Georgia, his defense ranked 19th in the nation in total defense and 12th in scoring defense, allowing just 18 points-per-game.

Gibbs had a 23-year career at the University of Oklahoma as a player, assistant and head coach. During that time, the Sooners played in 16 bowl games and won three national titles.

During his six seasons as the head coach at Oklahoma (1989-94), Gibbs guided the Sooners to three bowl games and an overall record of 44-23-2. In his first three seasons after taking over the program from Barry Switzer, Gibbs continued the school's pattern of success, improving Oklahoma's record each season, from 7-4 as a rookie head coach, to 8-3 in the second year. A 9-3 season in 1991, his third year at the helm, included a 48-14 win over Virginia in the 1991 Gator Bowl. After slipping to 5-4-2 in 1992, Gibbs guided the Sooners to another 9-3 season in 1993, including a 41-10 win over Texas Tech in the John Hancock Bowl.

Gibbs began his coaching career as a graduate assistant under Switzer at Oklahoma in 1975. In 1978, he was promoted to the position of linebackers coach. In 1981, Gibbs was named the Sooners defensive coordinator, and he held that post until taking over as head coach in 1989. During his tenure as Oklahoma's defensive coordinator, the Sooners captured the 1985 national title, and their defense led the nation in total defense three straight years (1985-87) and twice finished first in rushing defense (1986 and 1987). Among the players who prospered under Gibbs's tutelage were Lombardi Award winner Tony Casillas, two-time Butkus Award winner Brian Bosworth and co-Thorpe Award winner Rickey Dixon.

Gibbs was a linebacker at Oklahoma from 1972 to 1974, a span that saw the Sooners post a 29-4-1 overall mark and finish No. 1 in the nation in 1974 - with Gibbs recording 114 tackles as a starter. Oklahoma was ranked second in the nation in 1972 and they finished third nationally in 1973. Before joining the coaching staff at Oklahoma, Gibbs went to training camp with the New England Patriots as a free agent in 1975.

He earned his undergraduate degree in marketing from Oklahoma in 1974 and his master's degree in business from his alma mater in 1976.

A native of Beaumont, Texas, Gibbs lettered in both football (linebacker) and baseball (shortstop) at Spring Branch, Texas, High School. He and his wife, Jeanne, have two daughters, Whitley (6/23/81) and Jordan (5/1/84).

Gary Gibbs - Born August 13, 1952, Beaumont, Texas Linebacker Oklahoma 1972-74. College coach: Oklahoma 1975-94 (head coach 1989-94), Georgia 2000, Louisiana State 2001. Pro coach: Dallas Cowboys 2002.

Steve Hoffman

Kickers/Defensive Quality Control

Dickinson College
NFL: 15th Year ☆ Cowboys: 15th Year

Steve Hoffman joined the Cowboys in 1989 and has undertaken the task of identifying and developing young kickers and punters. His challenges over the past 14 years have been highly visible, and his impressive results have allowed him to develop an outstanding reputation around the NFL. His kickers own 15 separate club records, including every single-season mark in the books. In 1990 Hoffman also added quality control duties. He currently coordinates defensive computer scouting of Cowboys future opponents, while providing internal analysis of the Cowboys own tendencies and productivity.

Hoffman has successfully recruited seven rookie or first-year free agent kickers to Dallas. All seven – Ken Willis, Lin Elliott, Chris Boniol, Richie Cunningham, Tim Seder, Jon Hilbert and Billy Cundiff – kicked at least 12 field goals in their first NFL season. Using seven different place kickers over the past 10 years, the Cowboys have connected on 272-of-344 field goal attempts for a success rate of 79.1% – including play-offs and two Super Bowls.

Hoffman has also brought four rookie free agent punters to Dallas – John Jett, Toby Gowin, Micah Knorr and Filip Filipovic. Hoffman helped develop Jett into a four-year veteran who performed on two Super Bowl Championship clubs and Gowin into one of the league's top young punters and kickoff specialists.

Over the past 10 seasons, these two – along with Knorr and Filipovic – combined to average 41.9 yards-per-punt – including postseason play.

In 2002, Hoffman began grooming yet another rookie kicker with the addition of Cundiff. Although given limited opportunities, Cundiff connected on 12-of-19 field goals, including a game-winning 48-yard boot at St. Louis (9/29) on the game's final play. At punter, Hoffman began the season with Knorr, but after struggling early, Knorr was replaced with rookie Filipovic who showed improvement each week.

The 2001 season represented a new challenge for Hoffman. Normally given an entire off-season to find a replacement kicker, a mid-season ankle injury to Seder gave Hoffman one week to find a suitable temp for the job. That replacement was Jon Hilbert, a first-year kicker Hoffman first brought to camp in 2000. Seder started the year 11-of-17 on field goals, and Hilbert stepped right in, hitting 11-of-15 – including nine of his final 11 kicks. The pair combined to hit a field goal in the final 12 games of the season, the third longest streak of games with at least one field goal in club history.

In 2000, Hoffman successfully introduced a rookie kicker and punter to the rigors of the NFL. Both flourished in their first professional season, with Knorr establishing a club rookie record with a gross punting average of 42.8 yards-per-punt. Seder connected on his first seven and 13 of his first 14 field goal attempts to open his pro career. He finished his first season by setting a club record for field goals made in a season by a rookie, hitting 25-of-33. His 75.8% accuracy rate marked the second highest percentage for a rookie in club history, just missing the club mark of 75.9% (Chris Boniol – 1994).

Hoffman's expertise in developing battle-ready kicking specialists was no more evident than in 1997, when he introduced Cunningham and Gowin to the pressures of performing in the NFL. Cunningham responded to the challenge by hitting 34 of his first 37 career field goal attempts, including a mid-season streak of 18 straight successful attempts. After finishing the 1997 season as the NFL's second leading scorer with 126 points, Cunningham was named All-Pro by the Associated Press and The Sporting News.

Gowin turned in a season-long average of 41.8 yards, and his net average of 35.4 was second best among all NFL rookie punters. Gowin capped his best season in Dallas in 1999 by averaging 43.2 yards-per-attempt (seventh in the NFL) before leaving for New Orleans via free agency.

Both Boniol and Jett departed the Cowboys following the 1996 season after very productive careers in Dallas. Boniol nailed his last 27 straight field goal attempts in 1996, after hitting his last 25 in a row in 1995. He closed his three-year Cowboys career by hitting on 81-of-93 field goals (87.1%), while Jett crafted a four-year average of 41.9 yards-per-punt.

As a rookie in 1994, Boniol hit on 22-of-29 field goal attempts (75.9%) to set a team record for field goal percentage by a rookie. In 1995, Boniol hit on 27 of his 28 field goal attempts (a team record 96.4% and the second best mark in NFL history at the time), and he also scored 127 points to establish a club-record for points by a kicker.

In 1993, Hoffman brought free agent punter John Jett to the NFL. The newcomer responded by finishing the year third in the NFL in net punting average (37.7). Hoffman also resurrected the career of veteran Eddie Murray who hit 28-of-33 field goals (.848) after joining the team in late September.

Hoffman discovered a pair of rookie free agent place kickers in 1990 and 1992, and each went on to establish Dallas records for scoring by a rookie. In 1990, Ken Willis set the mark with 90 points, and in 1992, rookie Lin Elliott shattered that standard by scoring 119 points.

From 1985-87, Hoffman oversaw kickers at the University of Miami, where one of his charges was Jeff Feagles, an 11-year pro who punted for Seattle last season. Hoffman also was a top instructor for Ray Pelfrey's kicking camps, where his students included Barry Helton, who booted for the San Francisco 49ers, and Brian Hansen, the Saints' all-time leading punter.

Hoffman spent two springs in Italy as offensive coordinator of the Bellusco Seahawks (1987) and Rho Blacknights (1988). In the fall of 1988, he coached at Sunset High School in Miami.

In 1983, Hoffman punted for the Washington Federals of the USFL. He also went to training camp with the Redskins in 1981 and 1983. Seattle in 1984 and New Orleans in 1985.

Born in Camden, N.J. (9/8/58), Hoffman starred in baseball and football at York Suburban High School in York, Pa. He earned All-Mid-Atlantic Conference honors at Dickinson College, where he played quarterback, punning back and wide receiver while handling the punting and kicking duties. Hoffman earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in economics from Dickinson and a Master of Science in sports administration from St. Thomas (Fla.). He has a daughter, Micaela (10/18/95), and son, Lucas (5/29/97).

Steve Hoffman – Born September 8, 1958, Camden, N.J. Quarterback-running back-wide receiver Dickinson College 1977-80. Pro punter Washington (USFL) 1983. College coach: Miami 1985-97. Pro coach: Dallas Cowboys 1989-2002.

Jim Jeffcoat

Defensive Ends

NFL: 6th Year ★ Cowboys: 6th Year

A five-year member of the Cowboys' coaching staff, Jeffcoat has spent the last three seasons as the defensive ends coach after two years as the club's assistant defensive line coach. Hired as an assistant in 1998, Jeffcoat often calls upon his 15 years of NFL playing experience to help tutor the Cowboys who now follow in his footsteps as one of the franchise's most productive and consistent defensive ends.

Jeffcoat's 2002 line helped Dallas limit opponents to a 3.8 yards-per-carry average on the ground and helped force 19 interceptions with their pass rush. The leader of this unit was five-year veteran Greg Ellis, who led the team with a career-high tying 7.5 sacks and led all linemen with a career-high 87 tackles. It was the third straight season Ellis had increased his single-season tackle total. He also added a team and career-high 30 quarterback pressures.

In 2001, the Dallas defense made a tremendous turnaround from the previous year, allowing 1,710 rushing yards, a figure that was 927 fewer yards than the club allowed in 2000. Those numbers represented the largest turnaround by any defensive unit in the NFL in 2001. Ellis led Dallas in sacks (six), quarterback pressures (26) and forced fumbles (four). He also led all defensive linemen in tackles with a then career-high 83. After Ebenezer Ekuban was fouled with a season ending back injury in Week One, Jeffcoat tutored his replacement, Peppi Zellner, to a fine season. Zellner finished second on the team in pressures (22) and fourth in sacks (3.5).

In Jeffcoat's first year overseeing the defensive ends, his unit accounted for 16.5 of Dallas' 25 sacks, with second-year end Ekuban leading the way with 6.5. Ellis posted 77 tackles to lead all linemen. Under Jeffcoat's guidance, both players overcame adversity with character and persistence. Ekuban handled the responsibility of starting at an early stage in his career while fighting through injuries, while Ellis was forced to battle back from a severely fractured leg that brought an abrupt end to his 1999 season.

In 1998 and 1999, Jeffcoat worked rookie defensive linemen Ellis (1998) and Ekuban (1999) into the lineup. Ellis became the first Cowboys' rookie to start a season at defensive end since Bob Lilly in 1961. Ellis would go on to lead all defensive linemen with 63 tackles as a rookie, leading four Dallas defensive linemen that finished with more than 50 tackles. It marked the first time since 1990 that four linemen had recorded over 50 tackles in a season. The next season, Jeffcoat helped guide Chad Hennings (92 tackles) and Kavika Pittman (74 tackles) to career-high tackle totals. That season Ellis led the team with 7.5 sacks, and Pittman finished second on the team with 10 passes defended, the highest total for a Cowboys lineman since Ed "Too Tall" Jones batted down 14 in 1988.

Jeffcoat joined the coaching ranks after finishing his playing career with 102.5 career sacks, 745 tackles and 194 quarterback pressures. Jeffcoat played in 227 games from 1983 to 1997, placing him among the top 40 players all-time in number of games played. He spent the first 12 years of his career with Dallas after being selected in the first round of the 1983 NFL Draft, and he was a member of the Cowboys' teams that won Super Bowls XXVII and XXVIII. Jeffcoat has played for or coached with all six head coaches in Cowboys history.

During his 12-year stint with the Cowboys, Jeffcoat totaled 698 tackles, 94.5 sacks and 149 quarterback pressures. His best season in Dallas was 1989, when he finished with a career-high 100 tackles, a career-high 42 quarterback pressures, 11.5 sacks and a career-high three fumble recoveries. He registered five seasons with 70-or-more tackles and five seasons with 10-or-more sacks in Dallas. He tied the Cowboys team record for sacks in a game when he registered five sacks at Washington on Nov. 10, 1985. Jeffcoat played his final three seasons with the Buffalo Bills.

Jeffcoat was a three-year starter at Arizona State University from 1980-82, where he earned All-PAC 10 and honorable mention All-America honors. He was inducted into the Arizona State Hall of Fame on Oct. 22, 1994 after being named to the all-time Fiesta Bowl team in 1991. Jeffcoat earned All-America football honors at Matawan, N.J., Regional High School while also lettering in wrestling.

Jeffcoat was awarded the New Jersey SportsWriter's Association Unsung Hero Award for his community service in 1991. At the Cowboys' 2000 training camp, Jeffcoat and his defensive players participated in the club's tackling hunger "Lineman Weigh-In" sponsored by Campbell Soup, donating a total of 21,064 cans of soup to The Salvation Army Irving Corps and Faith Mission Food Bank in Wichita Falls, Texas. He earned his bachelor's degree in communications and his masters in business administration from ASU. He and wife Tammy have four children: Jaren (10/1/87), twins, Jackson and Jacqueline (12/26/90), and Jasmine (2/15/99).

Jim Jeffcoat – Born April 1, 1961, Cliffwood, N.J. Defensive end Arizona State 1979-82. Pro defensive end Dallas Cowboys 1983-94, Buffalo Bills 1995-97. Pro coach: Dallas Cowboys 1998-2002.

Joe Juraszek

Strength and Conditioning

NFL: 6th Year ☆ Cowboys: 6th Year

Joe Juraszek (pronounced jer-AH-sick) joined the Cowboys staff as the strength and conditioning coach in February 1997, and implemented a hands-on approach that stresses strength development, cardiovascular conditioning, flexibility and speed work. His ability to tailor workout programs to individual player needs based on the player's input and workout history has earned him the respect and admiration of the players and the coaching staff.

The rapport Juraszek has developed with the players is evident in the number of participants in his off-season conditioning program each spring. The impact of this intensive program can be seen on the field with the continued successes of seasoned veterans Larry Allen, Greg Ellis, Dexter Coakley, and Darren Woodson as well as in the continued development and contributions from younger players like Roy Williams, Antonio Bryant and Troy Hambrick.

Along with overseeing the strength and conditioning program for the team, Juraszek works with the Cowboys medical staff implementing rehabilitation programs for injured players. His work within these rehab programs has allowed players to return to the field quickly and, usually, stronger. His success can be seen in the performance of Joey Galloway, Raghbi Ismail and Mike Lucky in recent seasons.

Juraszek came to Dallas after serving as the University of Oklahoma strength coach from 1993-96. He joined the Sooners after serving as the strength coach at Texas Tech University from 1987-92. He was a graduate assistant and then a full-time assistant strength coach for Oklahoma from 1981-86.

He attended the University of New Mexico from 1976-81, where he played linebacker and defensive end for the Lobos while earning bachelor's degrees in Physical Education/Health and Economics. He added a master's degree while serving as a graduate assistant strength coach at Oklahoma.

In January 2001, Juraszek was a panel member for the "Get & Stay Fit" Family First Town Meeting hosted by WFAA-TV, Dallas' ABC affiliate. He joined Dr. Kenneth Cooper, founder and president of the Cooper Fitness Center and Clinic in Dallas, and Dr. Joel Steinberg, Medical Director of Children's Medical Center of Dallas, in providing advice on exercise training, preventative health tips and the latest facts on dieting.

A native of Chicago, Ill. (6/8/58), Juraszek and his wife, Camille, have a daughter, Nikki Jo (7/25/90), and a son, J.D. (9/9/92).

David Lee

Offensive Assistant

Vanderbilt
NFL: 1st Year ★ Cowboys: 1st Year

David Lee brings 27 years of coaching experience at the collegiate level to Dallas where he will serve as the club's offensive assistant, overseeing the team's quality control efforts. Included in his 27 years of experience are five as a head coach (1989-93 at Texas El Paso) and eight as an offensive coordinator. During his career, six of his former quarterbacks have been drafted or signed as free agents in the NFL following their collegiate careers.

For the last two years, Lee has served as the quarterbacks coach at the University of Arkansas, helping the Razorbacks to the 2002 Southeastern Conference Western Division title. This past season his work with Matt Jones saw the Arkansas quarterback throw for 1,413 yards and 16 touchdowns, the third highest season total in Arkansas history. Jones also set a school record for rushing yards by a quarterback with 600.

Before moving to Arkansas, Lee served seven seasons at Rice University. In his tenure at Rice as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach, the Owls racked up six of the school's top rushing totals including a school-record 332.7 yards-per-game average in 1997. Rice ranked in the top 10 nationally in rushing three times during his stay. He also helped lead the Owls to a share of the Southwest Conference title in 1994 and their first win over Texas since 1965.

Lee was the head coach at Texas El Paso from 1989-93. He moved to UTEP after his first stint at the University of Arkansas, where he served as quarterbacks coach. Lee was part of Razorback teams that sported a 45-15-1 record and earned five straight bowl appearances. Included in that run was the 1986 season in which Arkansas quarterbacks threw just two interceptions (a SWC record) while helping the Hogs to a 10-2 record and an Orange Bowl appearance. Promoted to offensive coordinator in 1988, Lee helped engineer the Hogs' first Southwest Conference title in nine years with an offensive unit that committed just 13 turnovers in 11 games while featuring a pair of All-SWC sophomores, quarterback Quinn Grovey and fullback Barry Foster.

Lee began his coaching career at Tennessee-Martin (1975-76) where he tutored quarterbacks and receivers for two seasons. After spending one season at Vanderbilt (1977) as quarterbacks coach, Lee moved to Ole Miss (1978-82) where he was in charge of the Rebels' quarterbacks for five seasons, directing two record setting quarterbacks – Kent Austin and John Fourcade. In 1983, Lee was the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at New Mexico.

A three-year letterman at Vanderbilt, Lee served as team captain and was named the team's most valuable player in 1974 after quarterbacking the Commodores to a 7-3-2 record, including a 24-10 upset over fifth-ranked Florida. It was Vanderbilt's first win over the Gators in 15 years. Lee went on to lead the SEC in passing and guide his team to a 6-6 tie against Texas Tech in the Peach Bowl. Lee earned a bachelor's degree in history from Vanderbilt in 1975.

Born on July 2, 1953, in Cape Girardeau, Mo. Lee spent the first 12 years of his childhood in Dexter, Mo. He attended Woodham High School in Pensacola, Fla., where he graduated in 1971. Lee and his wife, Lynne, have four children – daughters Dana (4/3/79) and Shannon (9/16/84), and sons Brian (3/23/77) and Jordan (2/5/86).

David Lee – Born July 2, 1953, Cape Girardeau, Mo. Quarterback Vanderbilt 1971-74. College coach: Tennessee-Martin 1975-76, Vanderbilt 1977, Mississippi 1978-82, New Mexico 1983, Arkansas 1984-88, 2001-02, Texas El Paso 1989-93 (head coach), Rice 1994-2000.

Mike MacIntyre

Assistant Secondary

Georgia Tech
NFL: 1st Year ☆ Cowboys: 1st Year

Mike MacIntyre will serve as the Cowboys assistant secondary coach after spending the past four seasons on the Ole Miss coaching staff. In Dallas, MacIntyre will work closely with defensive coordinator Mike Zimmer in preparing the club's secondary for action.

MacIntyre spent the last four seasons at Mississippi, working two years as wide receivers coach (1999-2000) before moving over to coach the secondary (2001-2002). He was also the Rebels' recruiting coordinator. In 2002, his work in the secondary helped Ole Miss to a 7-6 record, including a win over Nebraska in the Independence Bowl. His troops saw their interception total increase from 12 in 2001 to 17 in 2002. In addition, his defensive backs played a pivotal role in the team's rush defense as strong safety Matt Grier led the team with 12.5 tackles for a loss and 4.0 sacks. Sophomore free safety Eric Oliver posted the highest single-season tackle total since 1994 with 129 stops. During his first season working with the secondary, Ole Miss ranked first in the SEC and fifth in the nation in pass defense, giving up just 161.3 yards-per-game.

MacIntyre coached two of the top receivers – Cory Peterson and Grant Heard – in Ole Miss history during his first two seasons with the Rebels. In the 1999 campaign, Peterson caught 46 passes to finish his career second on Mississippi's all-time receptions list. The following year, Heard not only passed Peterson, but also became the school's all-time receptions leader, hauling in 44 passes for 655 yards and a school-record tying nine touchdowns. Heard finished his collegiate career with 142 receptions for 2,029 yards (second best mark in school history) and a school record 16 touchdowns.

MacIntyre joined the Rebels staff after two seasons coaching defensive backs at Temple University (1997-98). Prior to that, he was at the University of Tennessee-Martin, where he served as co-defensive coordinator from 1993-95 and defensive coordinator in 1996. MacIntyre added recruiting coordinator duties in 1994 and became the assistant head coach in 1995. While with UT-Martin, MacIntyre served as a guest defensive backs coach with the Memphis Mad Dogs (1995) and with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers (1996) of the Canadian Football League.

MacIntyre began his coaching career with a two-year stint (1990-91) as a graduate assistant at Georgia, working with the Bulldogs secondary. He then spent one year as the defensive coordinator at Davidson College (1992). During his time at Davidson, MacIntyre also served as a guest summer coach with the Deggendorf Blackhawks in Deggendorf, Germany in the summers of 1992 and 1993.

A 1989 graduate of Georgia Tech with a bachelor's degree in business management, MacIntyre played two seasons (1986-88) at free safety and punt returner for the Yellow Jackets. Prior to attending Georgia Tech, MacIntyre played for two years at Vanderbilt (1984-85).

MacIntyre earned his master's degree in education with an emphasis on sports management from the University of Georgia in 1991.

MacIntyre grew up around the game of football as his father, George, served as the defensive coordinator at Ole Miss in 1978, before taking over as Vanderbilt's head coach from 1979-85.

Born March 14, 1965, in Miami, Fla., MacIntyre starred at Brentwood Academy in Nashville, Tenn. He and his wife, Trisha, have three children, daughter Jennifer (2/23/92) and sons Jay Michael (4/9/95) and Jonston (11/22/98).

John McNulty

Wide Receivers

NFL: 6th Year ★ Cowboys: 1st Year

John McNulty comes to Dallas as wide receivers coach after five seasons with the Jacksonville Jaguars. He will be working with one of the strengths of the Cowboys' offense as Joey Galloway, Antonio Bryant and Terry Glenn have proven they can each take over a game.

McNulty was the Jaguars' quality control coach in 1998 and '99, and then was promoted to wide receivers coach in 2000. In his three seasons working with the Jaguars' wide receivers, McNulty was fortunate to tutor Jimmy Smith and Keenan McCardell, the NFL's most prolific tandem ever in terms of receptions and receiving yardage during the 2000-01 seasons. Over those two seasons, Smith and McCardell combined to catch 390 passes for 4,903 yards.

Even without McCardell in 2002, Smith posted 80 receptions for 1,027 yards – his seventh consecutive 1,000-yard season and the fourth longest streak in NFL history – and seven touchdowns. From 1996-2002, Smith recorded more receptions for more receiving yards than any player in NFL history other than Jerry Rice in any seven-year span. Smith also earned AFC Pro Bowl honors five consecutive seasons from 1997-2001.

Prior to his move to the NFL, McNulty spent three seasons at the University of Connecticut, working with wide receivers and special teams. He coached 1,000-yard receivers in both 1996 and 1997 and Carl Bond earned All-America honors under his guidance in 1997.

McNulty began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at the University of Michigan in 1991, and he worked with the team's defensive line in 1993 and the wide receivers in 1994. In 1994, he coached the Big Ten's leading receiving duo of Amani Toomer (New York Giants) and Mercury Hayes (former Atlanta Falcon). While at Michigan, the team won two Big Ten titles, earning trips to the Rose Bowl against Washington both years. McNulty also coached in the Holiday Bowl (1994) and the Hall of Fame Bowl (1993).

A safety under Joe Paterno at Penn State from 1988-90, McNulty was a member of two Nittany Lion bowl teams, including the 1989 Holiday Bowl champion squad.

McNulty was born May 29, 1968 in Scranton, Pa. and was a high school standout at Abington Heights High in Clarks Summit, Pa. He graduated from Penn State with a degree in business management and business law in 1990.

McNulty and his wife, Kimberly, have a daughter, Abigail (4/24/02).

John McNulty – Born May 29, 1968, Scranton, Pa. Safety Penn State 1987-90. College coach: Michigan 1991-94, Connecticut 1995-97. Pro coach: Jacksonville Jaguars 1998-2002.

Sean Payton

Assistant Head Coach/ Quarterbacks

Eastern Illinois
NFL: 7th Year ★ Cowboys: 1st Year

Sean Payton, regarded as one of the NFL's bright young offensive coaches, joins the Cowboys as Assistant Head Coach/Quarterbacks in 2003. He comes to Dallas after four years with the New York Giants, the last three as their offensive coordinator. In Dallas, he will oversee the club's passing game while working with the quarterbacks.

Under Payton's tutelage, the Giants had one of the NFL's most productive offenses, while quarterback Kerry Collins posted franchise-record passing numbers. The Giants finished the 2002 season as the NFL's sixth ranked offense, averaging 364.1 yards a game. It was the Giants' highest ranking since the 1985 team finished fifth in the NFL in offense with an average of 367.8 yards a game. Behind Collins' career-high and club-record 4,073 passing yards, New York finished as the NFL's sixth ranked passing offense. Collins also established a club record with 335 pass completions on the year.

Under Payton, Collins became one of the most productive quarterbacks in Giants history. In 58 games with the Giants, including 55 starts, Collins stands third on the team's career list in pass attempts (1,973), third in completions (1,163), fourth in passing yards (13,765) and fifth in touchdown passes (68). Collins set an NFL record by becoming the first quarterback in league history to throw every one of his team's passes in two consecutive seasons (2000-2001). He threw a league-record 1,852 consecutive regular season passes for the Giants before the streak was broken on Dec. 15, 2001 against Dallas.

Payton solidified his reputation as one of the NFL's best young offensive coaches in 2000 when the Giants captured the NFC Championship in his first full season as offensive coordinator. With Payton constructing game plans and calling plays, the Giants scored 328 points, the team's highest total since the 1990 Super Bowl champions scored 335. The Giants rushing yardage jumped from 24th to 11th in NFL rankings, fueling a rise from 17th to 13th in total offense. Collins enjoyed one of the finest seasons of his career, throwing a career-best 22 touchdown passes. And in the NFC Championship Game, the Giants scored 41 points, including 34 in the first half.

Payton was first assigned play-calling duties prior to a game against the Jets on Dec. 5, 1999. In that game, the Giants scored 41 points and gained 490 yards, both regular-season highs in the Fassel era. He retained that assignment through the season's final five games, and then was appointed as the offensive coordinator following the season.

In Payton's three seasons as the offensive coordinator, the Giants' passing attack ranked 13th in the NFL in 2000, tied for eighth in 2001 and then finished sixth in 2002. In the 10 seasons prior to Payton's arrival, it had never ranked higher than 20th.

Others also flourished under Payton. In the past four seasons, Amani Toomer caught 311 passes (79 in 1999, 78 in 2000, 72 in 2001 and a club-record 82 in 2002) to become the first player in Giants history to catch at least 70 passes in four seasons. Toomer totaled 1,183, 1,094, 1,052 and 1,343 receiving yards over the last four years and became the first Giant in history to have four consecutive 1,000-yard seasons. His 1,343 receiving yards in 2002 established a club record. With 5,309 career receiving yards, Toomer is 125 yards shy of Frank Gifford's club mark of 5,434 career receiving yards. In addition, running back Tiki Barber set a franchise record for total yards in 2000 with 2,085, and he has caught 277 passes and rushed for 3,516 yards the last four seasons. With 1,387 rushing yards in 2002, Barber finished second in the NFC and posted the second highest single-season rushing total in club history.

Payton joined the Giants as quarterbacks coach on Feb. 3, 1999. Prior to joining the Giants, Payton spent the 1997 and 1998 campaigns as the Philadelphia Eagles' quarterbacks coach.

Payton sandwiched two coaching stints at San Diego State University (1988-89 and 1992-93) around a stop at Indiana State (1990-91). During his second term with the Aztecs, Payton served as the running backs coach, working directly with Heisman Trophy runner-up Marshall Faulk, now with the St. Louis Rams, before becoming the quarterback coach. In the latter role, Payton guided Tim Gutierrez to All-WAC honors in 1993.

Following the 1993 season, Payton moved to Miami of Ohio (1994-95) where he was the quarterback coach and co-offensive coordinator. He spent the 1996 season as quarterbacks coach at Illinois prior to entering the NFL with Philadelphia.

Payton earned a degree in communications at Eastern Illinois, where as a quarterback he amassed 10,665 passing yards, which was then the third highest total in NCAA Division I-AA history. After leading all Division I-AA quarterbacks in passing in 1986, the three-time Associated Press All-America selection had brief stints with Chicago of the Arena Football League, Ottawa of the Canadian Football League and the Chicago Bears in 1987. Payton was inducted into the Eastern Illinois Hall of Fame in September of 2000.

Payton was born Dec. 29, 1963 in San Mateo, Calif., and raised in Naperville, Ill. He and his wife, Beth, have a daughter, Meghan (3/21/97), and a son, Connor Thomas (5/31/00).

Sean Payton - Born December 29, 1963, San Mateo, Calif. Quarterback Eastern Illinois 1982-86. Pro quarterback Chicago Bruisers (AFL) 1987, Ottawa Rough Riders (CFL) 1987, Chicago Bears 1987. College coach: San Diego State 1988-89, 1992-93, Indiana State 1990-91, Miami (Ohio) 1994-95, Illinois 1996. Pro coach: Philadelphia Eagles 1997-98, New York Giants 1999-2002.

Kacy Rodgers

Defensive Tackles

Tennessee
NFL: 1st Year ☆ Cowboys: 1st Year

Kacy Rodgers joins the Cowboys as defensive tackles coach after a one-year stint as the defensive line coach at the University of Arkansas. Rodgers will work side-by-side with Jim Jeffcoat, the team's defensive ends coach. Rodgers brings nine years of defensive line coaching experience to Dallas, along with a stellar career at linebacker/defensive end for the University of Tennessee.

Last season, Rodgers was the defensive line coach at Arkansas, where he helped the Razorbacks to a 9-5 record, the Western Division title of the Southeastern Conference, a berth against Georgia in the SEC title game and an appearance in the Music City Bowl. The Hogs defense ranked second in the SEC, 18th in the nation, against the run, allowing just 113.6 yards-per-game, and in posting two shut-outs, finished the season ranked 26th in the nation in points allowed at 19.8 per-game.

Prior to joining the staff at Arkansas, Rodgers was the defensive line coach at Middle Tennessee State for three seasons (1999-2001). He also held the duties of assistant head coach for the final two years of that assignment. In his last season with the Blue Raiders, Middle Tennessee State went 8-3 and was co-champion of the Sun Belt Conference. Defensively, the school tied for first in the conference with 27 sacks, and was second in scoring and opponent's third down conversion percentage.

Rodgers began his coaching career as defensive line coach at Tennessee-Martin in 1994. After three years in that position, he added the title of assistant head coach in his final year at UT-Martin (1997). He then spent a year as the defensive line coach at Louisiana-Monroe (1998) before moving to Middle Tennessee.

Rodgers was a four-year letterman at the University of Tennessee (1988-91) and an honorable mention All-Southeastern Conference selection. As a linebacker and defensive end, he contributed to Volunteer teams that won the 1990 and 1991 SEC Championship and played in three New Year's Day bowl games, the 1990 Cotton Bowl, the 1991 Sugar Bowl and the 1992 Fiesta Bowl, winning both the Cotton and Sugar Bowl games. The 1989 Vols squad posted an 11-1 record and finished the year ranked fifth in the country.

Following his collegiate career, Rodgers signed a free agent contract with the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1992 and played with the Shreveport Pirates of the Canadian Football League in 1994. In between, he returned to Knoxville to complete his degree in political science in 1993.

Rodgers was born on June 24, 1969 in Humboldt, Tenn. and starred at Humboldt, Tenn., High School. He and his wife, Marcella, have a son, Kacy II (4/2/92).

Tony Sparano

Tight Ends

New Haven
NFL: 5th Year ☆ Cowboys: 1st Year

Tony Sparano joins the Cowboys as tight ends coach after a year with the Jacksonville Jaguars. He will be asked to bring an offensive punch to the tight end position in both the passing game and the running attack. With four years of NFL experience, Sparano is no newcomer to the offensive intricacies of professional football, having served as an offensive assistant, offensive line and tight ends coach during his time in the NFL.

While with the Jaguars, tight end Kyle Brady hauled in 43 passes for 461 yards and four touchdowns, the second-best numbers in each category for his career. In addition, tight end Pete Mitchell grabbed 25 passes for 246 yards and two touchdowns. Sparano's troops were also directly responsible for a Jags running game that averaged 4.6 yards-per-carry – fifth in the NFL – led by Fred Taylor's 1,314 yards.

Prior to joining the Jaguars, he spent the 2001 season as tight ends coach for the Washington Redskins. In 1999 and 2000, he was an assistant with the Cleveland Browns, his first season as offensive quality control coach and then moving to the offensive line in 2000.

From 1994 to 1998, Sparano was the head coach at the University of New Haven (Conn.), where his teams averaged 32.2 points-per-game and made two trips to the NCAA Division II playoffs, finishing second in 1997. He was named the New York Metropolitan Football Writers Division II Coach of the Year and was the New England Football Writers Division II/III Coach of the Year in both 1995 and 1997.

Sparano began his coaching career at New Haven in 1984, spending four seasons as the offensive line coach and recruiting coordinator. He was the offensive line coach, recruiting coordinator and academic liaison at Boston University in 1988. From 1989 to 1993, he was BU's offensive coordinator, helping the Terriers to an 11-0 mark in 1993.

Sparano was a four-year letterman and starting center at New Haven, where he also earned a degree in criminal law in 1982.

Born on Oct. 7, 1961 in West Haven, Conn., Sparano was a standout offensive lineman at Richard C. Lee High School. He and his wife, Jeanette, have two sons, Tony (10/22/86) and Andrew (8/28/89), and a daughter, Ryan Leigh (8/1/92).

George Warhop

Offensive Line

University of Cincinnati
NFL: 8th Year ★ Cowboys: 1st Year

George Warhop joins the Cowboys after five seasons as the offensive line coach for the Arizona Cardinals. Warhop's experience in working with one of the NFL's largest and most powerful offensive lines in 2002 (6-5, 323-pound average) should pay off in Dallas as he guides Larry Allen, Flozell Adams, Ryan Young, and Andre Gurode.

During his five years with the Cardinals' offensive line, Warhop tutored a group through a steady decline in quarterback sacks allowed from the 78 surrendered in 1997 before his arrival – 50 (1998), 45 (1999), 35 (2000) to 29 (2001). The latter was the second fewest in franchise history in a 16-game season, trailing only the 22-sack effort of the 1978 line.

Despite losing starting right tackle Anthony Clement before the season and center Mike Gruttadauria mid-way through the year, his 2002 squad allowed just 41 sacks. Largely because of Warhop and his troops' work, Arizona averaged 4.5 yards-per-carry on the ground, the 10th best per-carry average in the league and the team's highest average in 17 seasons.

Along with the sack record of 29 in 2001, Warhop's linemen also deserve much of the credit for the Cardinals 5.13-yard average gain-per-play that season, a team best since 1993 (5.18).

In 1998, his first season with the Cardinals, Warhop's linemen allowed 50 sacks, a 28-sack improvement over the previous season when Arizona allowed a league-high 78 sacks. Warhop's first Cardinal line also merited credit for Arizona's 18 rushing touchdowns, exceeding the combined totals of the two previous seasons (eight in 1996 and nine in 1997).

Prior to joining the Cardinals, Warhop spent the 1996-97 campaigns as an offensive line assistant with the St. Louis Rams, working with Jim Hanifan.

Warhop was offensive line coach at Southern Methodist University in 1993, and then served in a similar capacity at Boston College from 1994-95. From 1991-92, Warhop was the offensive coordinator for the London Monarchs of the World Football League, helping the team win the World Bowl in his first season.

He entered the coaching arena in 1983 at his alma mater, Cincinnati, and then served on the offensive staffs at Kansas (1984-86), Vanderbilt (1987-89) and New Mexico (1990-91).

GEORGE WARHOP

Born Sept. 19, 1961 in Riverside, Calif., Warhop was a standout offensive lineman at Rubidoux High School in Riverside, Calif. He went on to play guard at Mount San Jacinto College (Calif.) before moving to the University of Cincinnati where he played center.

Warhop and his wife, Lori, have two children, daughter, Olivia (2/23/96), and son, Jacob (6/24/97).

George Warhop – Born September 19, 1961, Riverside, Calif. Guard Mt. San Jacinto (Calif.) J.C. 1979-80, center University of Cincinnati 1981-82. College coach: University of Cincinnati 1983, Kansas 1984-86, Vanderbilt 1987-89, New Mexico 1990-91, Southern Methodist 1993, Boston College 1994-95. Mike Zimmer

Defensive Coordinator

Illinois State
NFL: 9th Year ★ Cowboys: 9th Year

After helping shape the Cowboys pass defense into one of the NFL's best in the second half of the 1990s, Mike Zimmer was handed the responsibility of coordinating the Cowboys defense on Feb. 1, 2000. During his nine seasons in Dallas, Zimmer has been a part of four NFC Eastern Division titles and the Cowboys Super Bowl XXX win over Pittsburgh. Five times in those nine seasons, the Dallas defense has finished the year ranked in the top 10 in total defense, and six times the club has ranked in the top 10 in pass defense. In three seasons directing the Dallas defense, Zimmer has earned respect and recognition from around the NFL as he oversaw the retooling of his unit into a younger, quicker, faster and better squad in a very short period of time.

Despite playing with the youngest secondary in the NFL in 2002, Zimmer's squad finished the year 18th in the NFL in total defense, 15th against the run and 19th against the pass. On a play-by-play basis, the Cowboys were sixth in the league in yards-per-play, third in rushing yards-per-attempt and 13th in passing yards-per-attempt. Only six teams allowed fewer touchdowns than the 32 given up by Dallas, and the 10 rushing touchdowns given up by Dallas was the fifth best total in the league. Five times during the year, the Dallas defense allowed 13 points-or-less. Setting the pace with young players, Zimmer had two rookies, safety Roy Williams and cornerback Derek Ross, tie for fourth in the NFC with five interceptions each.

In 2001, the Cowboys allowed 1,710 rushing yards, a figure that was 927 yards less than the club allowed during the 2000 season. That figure represented the largest turnaround in the NFL in 2001. The club's overall defense showed a 730-yard improvement when compared to the previous season, jumping the club from an overall NFL ranking of 19th in 2000 to fourth in 2001. The Dallas defense jumped from 31st against the run in 2000 to 13th, allowing an average of 106.9 yards-per-game on the ground. The Cowboys were third in the NFL (second in the NFC) in pass defense, giving up an average of 180.6 yards-per-game. The unit gave up fewer than 200 passing yards in seven of its last nine games, while allowing only one opposing quarterback to throw for more than 300 yards in 16 regular season games.

The Cowboys 2000 defense battled through a string of injuries that forced a total of five key starters to miss a combined 33 games. The Dallas pass defense once again landed near the top of league rankings, finishing third in the NFL (second in NFC), allowing just 168.3 passing yards-per-game. Despite struggles early in the season, Zimmer's troops improved to finish the season ranked 19th in the NFL (ninth in NFC) in total defense, allowing 333.1 yards-per-game.

Prior to being promoted to defensive coordinator, Zimmer spent five years as Dallas' defensive backs coach and a year as a defensive assistant working with the nickel defense. In six years under Zimmer's watchful eye, the Cowboys pass defense surrendered an average of 190.6 passing yards-per-game, the second lowest figure in the league over that time span (Philadelphia – 187.4). In addition to finishing as one of the top two pass defenses in the league three times in that time frame, Dallas was the only team to have allowed fewer than 176.0 passing yards-per-game over a season three times.

Despite using five different starting lineups in the secondary in 1999, Zimmer's defensive backfield helped the Cowboys pass defense finish fourth in the NFC. The unit also tied for sixth in the league with 24 interceptions and returned four for touchdowns, tying the club record (1985, 1995). The Cowboys defense also limited seven opponents to 190 yards-or-less passing.

In 1998, the Cowboys were able to hold eight opponents to 200 yards passing or less, including four to 160 yards or less. Deion Sanders led the team with five interceptions totaling 153 return yards to earn his third consecutive Pro Bowl berth, while Darren Woodson earned his fifth straight Pro Bowl appearance after leading the team with 136 tackles.

The Cowboys finished 1997 at or near the top of several NFL pass defense categories, including fewest completions allowed (253 - first), net yards-per-pass play (4.94 - third) and yards gained-per-completion (10.74 - third). The Cowboys also held five opponents to less than 120 yards passing and 12 to 176 yards or less.

In 1996, Kevin Smith returned from a ruptured Achilles tendon to tie for the team lead with five interceptions. Woodson earned his third consecutive Pro Bowl berth after finishing with 118 tackles and five interceptions to tie Smith for the team lead. Sanders intercepted two passes, knocked away another nine and recovered a team-high three fumbles to earn his fifth career Pro Bowl selection (first with Dallas).

In his first season as defensive backs coach in 1995, Zimmer lost Smith for the year with a ruptured Achilles tendon in the season opener and did not have Sanders' services until Week Nine. Despite the injuries, the secondary surrendered only 204.5 passing yards-per-game, and Dallas returned four interceptions for touchdowns, tying the club record (1985).

As a defensive assistant in 1994, Zimmer worked with the Dallas nickel defense, which helped the secondary finish as the top ranked pass defense in the league (172.0 passing yards-per-game).

Before joining the Dallas staff, Zimmer spent five seasons as the defensive coordinator/secondary coach at Washington State. Zimmer's first Cougar defense in 1989 established a school record with 24 interceptions and 48 sacks. In 1993, the Cougars finished eighth in the nation in total defense and second in rushing defense.

Prior to joining the Cougars' staff, Zimmer was an assistant at Weber State College from 1981-88. Zimmer coached inside linebackers from 1981-84, while adding the duties of defensive coordinator in 1983. From 1985-88, he served as coordinator and oversaw the secondary.

Zimmer began his coaching career as a part-time assistant on defense at the University of Missouri in 1979, coaching, among others, All-Pro cornerbacks Eric Wright (San Francisco 49ers) and Johnnie Poe (New Orleans Saints).

Zimmer played quarterback at Illinois State University in 1974. After redshirting the 1975 season, he suffered a broken thumb in the spring of 1976 and was moved to linebacker. A neck injury, suffered during the 1976 season, led to surgery and the end of his playing career. He graduated with a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1979.

Zimmer was a two-time all-conference quarterback at Lockport, Ill., High School in 1972-73, playing for his father Bill, who played football at Bradley and later with the 49ers. Mike also earned all-conference honors in wrestling and baseball.

Born June 5, 1956 in Peoria, Ill., Mike and wife Vikki have three children, Adam (1/13/84) – a defensive back at Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas – Marki (4/30/87) and Corri (2/22/90).

Mike Zimmer – Born June 5, 1956, Peoria, Ill. Quarterback-linebacker Illinois State 1974-76. College coach: Missouri 1979-80, Weber State 1981-88, Washington State 1989-93. Pro coach: Dallas Cowboys 1994-2002.

Tony Ollison

Assistant Strength and Conditioning Coach

Tony Ollison, in his fourth year with the Cowboys strength and conditioning department, joined the Cowboys in the spring of 2000. He works closely with strength coach Joe Juraszek implementing player workout programs.

Ollison was the assistant strength and conditioning coach at the University of Arkansas from 1998 until coming to Dallas. He started his career in the weight room as a graduate assistant at Arkansas in 1993. He was a graduate assistant in the University of Tennessee weight room in 1994 before serving as the Volunteers assistant strength and conditioning coach from 1995-97 while finishing his masters in sports administration.

Ollison played defensive tackle for Arkansas (1986-90), totaling 63 career tackles despite missing all but one game his senior season. He played on two Southwest Conference championship teams while earning his degree in communications. He tried out with the Indianapolis Colts as a rookie free agent in 1991 and was drafted by the San Antonio Riders of the World League in 1992.

Ollison (3/10/68) and his wife Sherry have a son, Kobe.

Larry Lacewell

Director of College and Pro Scouting

Larry Lacewell joined the Cowboys as Director of College Scouting in May of 1992 and has coordinated Dallas' NFL Draft efforts since 1993. He became the Cowboys' Director of College and Pro Scouting in the spring of 1994, adding the responsibility of coordinating the scouting efforts of all pro personnel to his college scouting duties. Lacewell now directs the Cowboys personnel evaluation for all college prospects, as well as all personnel with the NFL's 31 other teams and in NFL Europe.

Lacewell's work has been a key component in restocking the Cowboys' roster over the last five years. When the Cowboys take the field this fall, at least half of the starting lineup will be made up of players drafted by the club since 1998.

The 2002 draft may soon be seen as the franchise's cornerstone as it builds toward a return to the playoffs. Six of the nine players taken in the draft earned a spot on the active roster, and five of those six became regular starters by mid-season. Of that group, Roy Williams, Antonio Bryant and Derek Ross each earned All-Rookie honors for their debut season.

The 2001 draft provided Dallas another influx of talent as all nine draft choices were on the roster. Of that group, five have become starters or earned a significant amount of playing time in a reserve role. Quincy Carter posted a 6-9 record as a starter, including a 4-2 mark at Texas Stadium. Tony Dixon and Matt Lehr stepped into the mix last season to replace injured teammates and displayed the ability that helped get them drafted.

Impact players from the 2000 draft included cornerback Mario Edwards, who has started 30 of the last 32 games for one of the NFL's top defensive units, and running back Michael Wiley, who continues to see significant playing time on third downs - averaging 6.7 yards every time he touches the ball from scrimmage in his career.

In 1999, seven of the Cowboys eight draft selections earned roster spots, with six making significant contributions from day one. After four seasons, DE Ebenezer Ekuban and LB Dat Nguyen have become fixtures in one of the league's top defensive units.

The Cowboys also enjoyed a productive draft in 1998, as seven of the nine drafted players earned roster spots. The top three picks of 1998, DE Greg Ellis, T Flozell Adams and DT Michael Myers have become a major part of the club's current defensive and offensive lines. Ellis and Adams earned All-Rookie honors.

In 1997, all nine of the Cowboys' draft selections made the club. The class was highlighted by Dexter Coakley, who started all 16 games at linebacker, earned All-Rookie recognition and was the NFL's Defensive Rookie of the Month for October. Coakley earned his first Pro Bowl selection in 1999, his third year as a professional, and returned again following the 2001 season.

In Lacewell's first four drafts (1993-96), 27 of the 35 players selected by the Cowboys earned roster spots. The highlight of those classes is offensive lineman Larry Allen, who was drafted in the second round of the 1994 draft. Allen has earned Pro Bowl honors in seven of the past eight years and is considered one of the NFL's finest offensive linemen. Of the 27 players that earned roster spots, seven moved into the starting lineup by their third season, including Allen and linebackers Darrin Smith (1993) and Randall Godfrey (1996), who earned starting spots as rookies.

Lacewell joined the NFL after a distinguished career in collegiate coaching and athletic administration. Most recently, Lacewell served as defensive coordinator at Tennessee (1990-91). The 1990 Vols captured the SEC Championship and defeated Virginia in the Sugar Bowl. In 1991, Tennessee finished second in the SEC and earned a Fiesta Bowl berth.

As the athletic director and head coach at Arkansas State (1978-89), Lacewell compiled a record of 69-48-4. He was named the Southland Conference's Coach of the Year on three occasions, while the Indians captured two conference titles under his direction.

Lacewell began his coaching career at Alabama in 1959. Following two seasons with the Crimson Tide, he moved on to Arkansas State (1961), Arkansas A&M (1962-63), Kilgore Junior College (1964-65), Oklahoma (1966), Wichita State (1967) and Iowa State (1968). Lacewell rejoined the Sooners' staff in 1969 as assistant head coach/defensive coordinator and helped Oklahoma to six Big Eight titles and two national championships in nine years.

A native of Fordyce, Ark., Lacewell (2/12/37) attended Fordyce High School and then played halfback at Arkansas A&M from 1955-59. In 1996, Lacewell was inducted into the Arkansas Sports Hall of Fame. He and his wife Criss have two sons, Bryant and Logan.

Bryan Broaddus

Pro Scouting

Bryan Broaddus joined the Cowboys in 1999 as the assistant director of pro scouting. His responsibilities include evaluating talent and tracking player movement and development within the NFL and NFL Europe. He came to the Cowboys after one year as the assistant director of pro scouting for the Jacksonville Jaguars. Prior to his time in Jacksonville, Broaddus was the coordinator of college scouting for the Philadelphia Eagles in 1997. He played a key role in drafting Eagles Pro Bowlers Tra Thomas and Jeremiah Trotter. He spent the 1991-96 seasons handling the day-to-day operations of the college scouting department for Green Bay, helping the Packers win Super Bowl XXXI. From 1990-91, he worked for the NFL as an assistant in the personnel department of the World League.

Bryan Broaddus played center for Louisiana State from 1982-86 and graduated with a general studies degree in 1988. He served as a student assistant coach for LSU in 1988 and the assistant recruiting coordinator at Texas A&M in 1989. Broaddus, born Dec. 12, 1963 in Dallas, and wife Cathy reside in Plano, Texas.

Tom Ciskowski

College Scouting

Tom Ciskowski, who originally joined the Cowboys scouting department in 1992, is in his third season as the club's Assistant Director of College Scouting. From this position, Ciskowski sees first hand the top college prospects in the land. In his first season with the Cowboys, he served as a scout administered by the BLESTO Scouting Combine. Ciskowski became an area scout in 1993, working in the West for six years before moving to scout the Southeast from 1998-2000.

Before becoming a scout, Ciskowski spent 15 years in the coaching ranks, the first two (1977-78) as an assistant at Pawhuska, Okla., High School. In 1979, he moved into the college coaching ranks, becoming the defensive backfield coach at East Central University in Ada, Okla. While at ECU, he earned his Masters degree in athletic administration. The following year he moved to Arizona State University, working with the defensive line as a graduate assistant for the 1980-81 seasons.

In 1982, Ciskowski moved to Oklahoma State, joining the staff as an assistant to former Dallas offensive line coach Tony Wise, before becoming the offensive line and tight-end coach at Wichita State in 1984. After that season, Ciskowski joined the University of Miami as a volunteer assistant, working with former Dallas defensive coordinator and current Cleveland Browns head coach Butch Davis and the defensive line.

From 1986-89, Ciskowski worked with the offensive and defensive lines, first at New Mexico State for two seasons, and then at UNLV for two more. Before coming to Dallas, he coached the defensive line at College of the Sequoias in Visalia, Calif., from 1990-91. Thirteen of the team's players went on from the junior college to play Division I football in 1992.

A native of Medford, Okla., Ciskowski attended Medford High School, then earned his bachelor's degree from Cameron University, where he also played football. He and wife Jan live in Coppell, Texas, with sons, Jeremy and Joshua, and a daughter Julianna.

Jeff Ireland

National Scout

Jeff Ireland joined the Cowboys scouting department in 2001 as one of the team's national scouts. Ireland came to Dallas after spending four years (1997-2000) as an area scout for the Kansas City Chiefs. Prior to his time in Kansas City, he spent three years (1994-96) evaluating talent for the National Football Scouting combine.

Before becoming a full-time talent evaluator, Ireland was the special teams coach at the University of North Texas from 1992-93. He was the placekicker at Baylor University from 1988-91, finishing his collegiate career third on the Bears all-time scoring list with 213 points. His 45 career field goals, which include a 58-yard effort against Rice in 1991, established a school record for field goals made.

Ireland, an Abilene, Texas, native, is the stepson of Kansas City Chiefs Hall of Fame center/linebacker E.J. Holub and the grandson of former Philadelphia Eagles player and longtime Chicago Bears personnel man Jim Parmer. Jeff and wife Rachel have twin daughters, Haley and Hannah, and a son, Riley.

Drew Fabianich

BLESTO Scout

Drew Fabianich (pronounced FAY-bee-on-itch) joined the Cowboys Scouting Department in 2003 after 17 years as a high school and college coach. He serves Dallas as a scout administered by the BLESTO Scouting Combine.

Prior to joining the Cowboys, Fabianich spent three seasons as the defensive coordinator/linebackers coach at W.T. White High School in Dallas, Texas (1999-2001). From 1996-99, he was the defensive coordinator/linebackers coach at Northeast Louisiana University. Prior to that, he was the defensive coordinator/linebackers coach at the University of Tennessee-Martin (1993-1996). He was on the same staff at Tennessee-Martin with Cowboys assistant coaches Mike MacIntyre and Kacy Rodgers.

Fabianich served as the defensive ends/special teams defense coach from 1991-1993 at the University of Tennessee. In 1989, he worked as a graduate assistant/defensive ends and special teams defense coach at Baylor. He started his coaching career in 1984 at Mesa State College and spent five seasons there as a quarterbacks and receivers coach/passing game coordinator.

Fabianich lettered as a quarterback at Mesa State College and participated in the 1982 N.A.I.A. National Championship Game before a spinal injury in 1983 ended his career. A two-year starter at Longmont, Colo., High School, Fabianich passed for over 2,500 yards and participated in the Colorado high school all-star game.

He graduated with a degree in kinesiology from Mesa State College in Colorado in 1988 and went on to Baylor University to work on his master's degree in administration. Fabianich was born on April 12, 1964 in Massillon, Ohio. He has two children, Ashleigh and Dominic.

Jim Garrett

Northeast Area Scout

Jim Garrett has spent 38 of the past 39 seasons as a coach or scout in the NFL, including the last 16 as the northeast area scout for Dallas.

Although a member of the Cowboys staff since 1987, Garrett also scouted for the Cowboys in 1968-69 and 1974-75. Prior to his first stint in Dallas, Garrett served two seasons as a scout for the BLESTO Scouting Combine. He then coached with the N.Y. Giants (1969-73) before returning to Dallas. Garrett was also an assistant with New Orleans (1976-77) and Cleveland (1978-84). After a season as the head coach at Columbia, he scouted for Buffalo in 1986.

An all-conference fullback at Utah State, Garrett played for Philadelphia (1954), the British Columbia Lions (1955), the N.Y. Giants (1956) and the Ottawa RoughRiders (1957).

He began his coaching career at the Coast Guard Academy in 1958. After one season at Lehigh, Garrett became head coach and athletic director at Susquehanna University, where he compiled a 40-3-1 record and was later inducted into the school's Hall of Fame. Susquehanna also honored him in 2001 with the naming of an athletic complex building, the James W. Garrett Sports Complex.

The Rutherford, N.J., native (6/19/30) attended Rutherford High School, where he was a member of the first induction group of the school's Hall of Fame in April, 1996. He went to spring training with the Pittsburgh Pirates following his rookie year in the NFL.

He and wife Jane have eight children – Jim, Jane, Jennifer, Janine, Jill, John, Jason and Judd – and 27 grandchildren. John, a receiver who went to camp with Dallas in 1988, is a scout with the Cincinnati Bengals. Jason is an active N.Y. Giants and former Cowboys quarterback. Judd, a running back who was on the Cowboys practice squad in 1993, is the offensive quality control assistant with the Dolphins.

Tommy Hart

West Area Scout

Tommy Hart became the Cowboys West area scout in 1998 after spending two seasons (1996-97) as the club's defensive ends coach.

As Dallas defensive ends coach, Hart helped the team register 75 sacks during his two seasons, including 12 by Tony Tolbert in 1996.

Hart, who was inducted into the State of Georgia Sports Hall of Fame in 1993, was an assistant defensive line coach for the San Francisco 49ers from 1983-91 and a part of three Super Bowl champion teams. Hart's 1985 defensive line helped the 49ers register 60 sacks, the second highest total in team history. He moved to the 49ers scouting department for the 1992-93 seasons.

Hart, who has spent 31 of the last 35 years in the NFL as a player, assistant coach or scout, finished his playing career in 1980 with the New Orleans Saints after spending two years with the Chicago Bears and 10 years with the San Francisco 49ers. Originally a 10th round draft choice of the 49ers in 1968, he registered a career-high 17 sacks in 1972, and he set a 49ers club record with six sacks in a single game against the Rams in 1976 on his way to All-Pro and Pro Bowl honors. Hart was a two time winner (1972 and 1976) of the Len Eshmont Memorial Award, given annually to the 49ers player who best exemplified the inspirational and courageous play of Len Eshmont.

Hart earned second team NAIA All-America honors as a senior at Morris Brown College after earning all-conference honors for three consecutive years. Hart earned four letters in football as an offensive guard/tackle and defensive tackle and three letters in track as a sprinter/shot putter.

Born in Macon, Ga. (11/11/44), Tommy and his wife, Cherrie, have four daughters.

Jim Hess

Midwest Area Scout

Jim Hess joined the Cowboys as an area scout for the Midwest in 1997 after 37 years in the coaching ranks, where he compiled a career winning percentage of .610 at all levels of coaching. He spent 22 of the 23 years between 1974-96 as a college head coach at Angelo State (1974-81), Stephen F. Austin (1982-88) and New Mexico State (1990-96) and earned conference coach of the year honors in each of the conferences in which his teams participated. In 1989, he served as athletic director for S.F.A.

Hess led New Mexico State to its first winning season in 14 years with a 6-5 mark in 1992 and was named the Big West Coach of the Year. He posted a 47-30-2 (.608) record, the highest winning percentage of any coach in school history at Stephen F. Austin, including five winning seasons and the schools first-ever conference title (1985). At Angelo State, Hess led the Rams to six Top 20 rankings and the 1978 I-AA national title with a 14-0 record. He posted a 65-23-3 (.731) mark, the highest winning percentage in school history during his time there and remains one of just a handful of men to win more than 100 games at the I-AA level.

A native of Farmersville, Texas, Hess is a 1959 graduate of Southeastern Oklahoma, and he earned his masters degree from North Texas State in 1966. He began his coaching career at the high school level at Farmersville (1959). He then coached across the Texas high school landscape at McKinney (1961-62), Rockwall (1963-64) – where his team captured the 1963 Class AA state championship – and Kilgore (1965-66). In 1967, he became an assistant coach at Rice University (1967-70) before returning to the high school ranks as the head coach at Sterling (1971) in Baytown, Texas. In 1972, he joined Angelo State as an assistant coach.

Hess has been a guest coach in the CFL and is the director/organizer/owner of the Angelo Football Clinic in San Angelo, Texas. The annual summer clinic has grown to over 1,800 visiting high school and college coaches from around the country.

Hess and his wife, Carol, have two daughters and seven grandchildren.

Walter Juliff

Southeast Area Scout

Walter Juliff, entering his 19th season as an NFL scout, has been the Cowboys southeast area scout since 2001. He served as Assistant Director of College Scouting for the club from 1995-2000 after spending the previous eight years as a national and area scout. He was also responsible for signing college free agents from 1992-2000.

Before becoming a full-time scout, Juliff spent two seasons as a graduate assistant at the University of Texas. He was also an assistant with the Abilene Cooper High School football team in 1980, the Houston-Kingwood High School football and baseball teams in 1981 and the Kerrville Tivy football and track teams in 1982.

Juliff began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Angelo State, where he spent two seasons. In 1978, the Rams went undefeated and won the NAIA national championship, then lost in the national semifinals the next year. A native of San Angelo, Texas (6/22/56), Walter starred in football and as a hurdler in track at Central High School.

Juliff, who lives in Austin, Texas, earned his bachelor's degree from Angelo State University, where he also ran track, and his M.B.A. from Texas. He and former Cowboys quarterback Jerry Rhome are cousins.

Henry Sroka

Midwest Area Scout

Henry Sroka joined the Cowboys in 1999 after 18 years as a college coach. This season he becomes the club's Midwest area scout after four years working for Dallas as a scout administered by the BLESTO Scouting Combine. Sroka first gained NFL experience during a coaching fellowship with the Detroit Lions during training camps in 1991-94.

Prior to joining the Cowboys, Sroka spent the 1998 season as defensive backs coach at the University of Redlands. From 1988-97, he coached running backs under fellow Dallas scout Jim Hess at New Mexico State University and was part of the school's first winning season in 14 years when the team posted a 6-5 mark in 1992. Prior to that, Sroka was the strength and conditioning coach, kicking coach and defensive backs coach at Wichita State University from 1985-87. He served as a graduate assistant coach at Arizona State from 1981-85, where he worked with the Sun Devils kickers and running backs.

Sroka graduated from St. Mary's College in California in 1978 and went on to earn a masters degree from Arizona State. He was a running back and kicker for St. Mary's, where he was awarded the Albert Rahill Award for team loyalty. Prior to playing for St. Mary's, Sroka was a running back and kicker for the College of San Mateo.

He was born Oct 11, 1954 in Mexico City, Mexico. Sroka and his wife, Linn, are the parents of daughter Maria del Pilar and sons Dominic and Mikael.

John Wojciechowski

Northeast Area Scout

John Wojciechowski joined the Cowboys scouting department in 2003 and will serve as the team's Northeast area scout. Prior to coming to Dallas, Wojciechowski spent five years scouting for the Jacksonville Jaguars, joining their staff as the Southeast regional scout for the BLESTO scouting organization. Wojciechowski was promoted by the Jaguars to Midwest area scout in 2001.

Before becoming a full time scout, Wojciechowski served as a player personnel assistant for the Pittsburgh Steelers from 1996 to 1998. In Pittsburgh, he evaluated both college and pro talent and did quality control work for the special teams units.

Wojciechowski was an All-Conference defensive end and a first-team All-America non-scholarship Division I-AA player at Duquesne from 1992 to 1995. He was on teams that won a conference championship and a bowl game during his time with the Dukes. He also played baseball at Duquesne.

Wojciechowski received a degree in business administration at Duquesne. He was born Jan. 4, 1974 in Pittsburgh. He currently lives in Pittsburgh.

Robert Blackwell

Video Director

Robert Blackwell is entering his 23rd year in the Cowboys video department, his 15th as the team's video director. In charge of taping and editing Cowboys' practices and games, Blackwell also edits opponents' tapes. He oversaw the change from videotape to digital imaging for Dallas's coaching staff in 2000.

Blackwell is currently serving on the NFL Video Directors sub-committee on video quality control.

A native of Garland, Texas (12/1/50), Blackwell earned his degree in communications from Stephen F. Austin, and later shot game films for Southern Methodist University's basketball and football teams (1979-84).

He and wife Diana have two children, Nathaniel and Lora Ann.

Mike McCord

Equipment Manager

Mike McCord enters his 15th season with the Cowboys, his 12th in the equipment department and his 10th as the equipment manager.

McCord originally joined the Cowboys in 1989 as the assistant ticket manager, spending two years in that capacity before moving to the football operations department in 1991. Before coming to Dallas, McCord spent two-and-a-half years with the University of Texas athletic department, one-and-a-half years as a part-time student assistant before receiving his B.B.A. and then one year as a full-time intern.

A native of Clovis, N.M. (11/6/64), McCord graduated from Roosevelt High School in San Antonio, Texas, and spent two years attending Southwest Texas State before transferring to the University of Texas. He and wife Jan live in Flower Mound, Texas, with their daughter, Megan, and son, Brock.

Bucky Buchanan

Assistant Equipment Manager

William Andrew "Bucky" Buchanan is entering his 10th year as the Cowboys' assistant equipment manager. Buchanan officially joined the Cowboys in 1994 after spending many weekends and summers in the equipment room helping his father, "Buck" Buchanan, the Cowboys equipment manager from 1973-93.

Before coming to the Cowboys, Buchanan spent one-and-a-half years with Willis Medical in Richardson, Texas, and 10 years with the Skaggs Alpha Beta grocery store chain.

A native of Plano, Texas, Buchanan (6/9/61) graduated from Plano High School. He and wife Amy have two sons - Thomas II and Brett.

Jim Maurer

Head Athletic Trainer

Jim Maurer is entering his 14th season as a Dallas Cowboys athletic trainer, serving the last eight years as the club's head athletic trainer.

Maurer took over responsibility of the athletic training department in 1996 after serving as a Cowboys' assistant athletic trainer for six years. He served as a graduate assistant with Dallas for two seasons prior to being hired full-time in 1990.

Maurer was elected to the Professional Football Athletic Trainers Society (PFATS) Executive Board as the NFC head trainer representative in 1999. He was re-elected to the same position in 2001. Following the 2002 season, Maurer and his staff were recognized as the NFL athletic training staff of the year by their peers. Named in honor of Ed Block – a former Baltimore Colts head athletic trainer – the award is given annually to the athletic training staff that exemplifies courage, compassion, commitment and community.

A Dallas native (3/8/65), Maurer earned a degree in physical education in 1988 from Southern Methodist University, where he worked with the football and swim teams.

Maurer worked as a summer assistant with the Kansas City Chiefs in 1987, after spending the summer of 1986 with the Cowboys in the same capacity.

Maurer and wife Rosanne live in Flower Mound, Texas, with their sons, Nicholas and Benjamin.

Associate Athletic Trainer

Britt Brown enters his 12th year as an athletic trainer in the NFL and his eighth as a member of the Cowboys athletic training staff. Brown supervises the Cowboys medical rehabilitation program and assists with treatment programs.

His rehabilitation program was instrumental in the return of speed wide receivers Joey Galloway and Raghib Ismail following season-ending knee injuries during the 2000 season, and in 2001, he accomplished a similar feat with tight end Mike Lucky and defensive end Peppi Zellner. Prior to coming to Dallas, he spent four years (1992-95) with the Miami Dolphins as an assistant athletic trainer.

Brown currently serves as the Program Coordinator for the NFL/Professional Football Athletic Trainers Society (PFATS) Ethnic Minority Scholarship. Following the 2002 season, Brown and the Cowboys athletic training staff were recognized as the NFL athletic training staff of the year by their peers. Named in honor of Ed Block – a former Baltimore Colts head athletic trainer – the award is given annually to the athletic training staff that exemplifies courage, compassion, commitment and community.

Before joining the Dolphins, Brown was the head basketball athletic trainer and assistant football athletic trainer at Southern Methodist University from 1989-92, where he also coordinated travel for the Mustang basketball team. While earning a degree in secondary education/biology with an emphasis in athletic training (1982-87) and a master's degree in physical education/exercise physiology (1988-89) from Texas Christian University, he worked with the Horned Frogs football and baseball teams as a student athletic trainer. Brown worked as a part-time assistant athletic trainer for the Cowboys in 1986 and 1987 while attending TCU.

A native of Lampasas, Texas (7/6/64), Brown and wife Laura live in Double Oak, Texas, with their son, Chase, and daughters, Sydney and Payton.

Greg Gaither

Assistant Athletic Trainer

Greg Gaither enters his third season as a full-time member of the Cowboys athletic training staff after originally serving a two-year stint with the club as a graduate assistant (1997-98). He assists with coordinating player rehabilitation and treatment programs while overseeing all medical records.

Following the 2002 season, Gaither and the rest of the Cowboys athletic training staff were recognized as the NFL athletic training staff of the year by their peers. Named in honor of Ed Block – a former Baltimore Colts head athletic trainer – the award is given annually to the athletic training staff that exemplifies courage, compassion, commitment and community.

Gaither came back to the Cowboys after two years on the athletic training staff at Kansas State University. He originally joined the Wildcats in the summer of 1999 as a graduate assistant working in both football and baseball. The following year he was promoted to a full-time role as assistant athletic trainer.

A native of Dallas, Texas (10/22/73), Gaither graduated from Southern Methodist University with a bachelor's degree, and received his master's degree from Kansas State University. Gaither and his wife, Leah, reside in Dallas, Texas.

JERRY JONES MINORITY COACHING FELLOWSHIP

The Jerry Jones Minority Coaching Fellowship was established 14 years ago to give minority college football coaches an intensive working experience on the NFL level. The purpose of this fellowship is to create an experience that will enable an individual coach to understand all dimensions of coaching with the Dallas Cowboys, from working with players in the classroom and on the field, to studying techniques and strategies with the other coaches, to handling administrative duties.

Beginning with training camp, the fellowship coaches are Dallas Cowboys coaches until responsibilities at their respective institutions begin. The coaches are housed at the Cowboys' training facilities and take part in every aspect of the football program, including on-field coaching, staff meeting participation and daily evaluation of current and prospective NFL players. During their stay with the Cowboys, each fellowship coach develops an understanding of the role of an NFL coach, of how to organize and formulate practice plans and game plans and of player evaluations.

"The fellowship coaches are an important part of our team during training camp," says Cowboys owner Jerry Jones. "We want them not only to learn, but to help us during this crucial time of preparing our team for the season. We believe this experience with the Cowboys will help minority coaches develop the background and contacts to move more rapidly into the NFL."

Flozell Adams

Michigan State

NFL: 6th Year ★ Cowboys: 6th Year

GAMES/STARTS (regular season, playoffs): 1998 (16/12, 1/1), 1999 (16/16, 1/1), 2000 (16/16), 2001 (16/16), 2002 (16/16). Total – 80/76, 2/2.

PRO: In five NFL seasons, Flozell Adams has proven himself to be one of the league's reliable young offensive tackles. After seeing extensive time at right guard as a rookie, Adams has now started 64 consecutive games at left tackle since making the switch in 1999. A picture of durability in recent years, his string of 69 consecutive starts is the longest active streak on the club. His consistency has made him a key figure in a Dallas line that has allowed just 166 sacks in the last 80 games (2.1 per game). With tremendous natural strength and athletic ability, he has rapidly developed into one of the NFL's most promising performers at tackle and is becoming a fixture on the Dallas line. His natural athletic talents have also made him an imposing figure on the Cowboys field goal/PAT defensive unit, where he has blocked four opponents' kicks in his career. Evidence of Adams's effectiveness along Dallas' offensive line can be seen in Emmitt Smith's rushing production. Over the past five seasons, Smith rushed for 5,928 yards, the fifth most in the NFL during that time span, and moved into the No. 1 spot on the all-time NFL rushing list. A Dallas back has rushed for over 100-yards 28 times in Adams' 76 career starts. At 6-7, he is the tallest member of the Cowboys roster.

2002: In a season plagued by injuries and uncertainty on the offensive line, Adams was the one constant as he was the only Cowboys offensive lineman to start and finish every game. After missing a large amount of training camp with a hyperextended right knee (Aug. 6), Adams returned to the starting lineup for the opener at Houston (9/8) and helped Dallas rush for 155 yards. In the win over Tennessee (9/15), he played a key role as the offensive line allowed just one sack in 25 pass plays. After reshuffling the line at St. Louis (9/29), Adams anchored a unit that allowed two sacks in 38 pass plays while helping the Cowboys rush for 112 yards in the last second victory over the defending NFC Champions. In the Cowboys loss to the Giants (10/6), the Dallas line helped rack up 340 yards, including 249 in the air, against the NFL's second ranked defense at the time. The line allowed just two sacks in 44 pass plays against New York. He was the only Dallas offensive lineman to start and play the entire Carolina (10/13) game as Dallas produced 148 yards and 14 points in the fourth quarter to nab a 14-13 win. In the loss to Seattle (10/27), Adams played a key role in NFL history as Smith ran for 109 yards on 24 carries (4.5 avg.) and became the League's all-time leading rusher with an 11-yard run in the fourth quarter. It was Smith's first 100-yard game of the season, and his record breaking run came over Adam's (left) side of the line. In the win over Jacksonville (11/24), the Dallas line provided time for Chad Hutchinson to throw for 301 yards, while the unit helped pace the Cowboys to 118 rushing yards. The 405 net yards against the Jaguars was a season-high. In the Thanksgiving Day victory over Washington (11/28), Adams helped lead the way for a season-high 211 rushing yards, including a season-best 144 yards by Smith, who went over the 17,000 yard mark for career rushing and recorded his fourth consecutive 100-yard day against the Redskins. Adams suffered a sprained left ankle early in the second quarter but returned in the second half. He also blocked his fourth career kick when he got his hands on a James Tuthill field goal attempt in the second quarter. In the loss to San Francisco (12/8), he helped hold the 49ers without a sack in 28 pass plays, marking the first time in 2002 that the Dallas line had not allowed a sack.

2001: As part of a line that helped Dallas finish third in the NFL in rushing at 136.5 yards-per-game, Adams extended his club-long streak of consecutive starts to 53 (48 at left tackle). The 2,184 rushing yards Dallas gained for the season was the second best total by a Cowboys' team in the last 20 years (1995 – 2,201). Also excelling at pass blocking, the line allowed just 34 sacks in 447 pass plays. Just 12 teams allowed fewer and only eight teams lost fewer yards due to sacks than the 190 lost by Dallas. For the season, opponents were held to two sacks or less in a game 10 times. That streak started Week One when the vaunted Tampa Bay (9/9) defense was limited to just two sacks while allowing Dallas to rush 23 times for 99 yards (4.3 avg.). The following week saw the line create holes in the San Diego (9/23) defense as Smith ran for 85 yards on 17 carries (5.0 avg.) and moved past Barry Sanders into second on the NFL's all-time rushing list. Adams excelled on special teams at Philadelphia (9/30), blocking his first career PAT after having blocked two field goals in 1999. Against Washington (10/15), Adams helped lead Smith (107 yards) to his first 100-yard rushing game of the season and Dallas to 211 yards on the ground. He was also part of an offensive line that opened the way for Troy Hambrick (127 yards) and Michael Wiley (85) to rush for 207 yards and a 6.3 yards-per-carry average at Atlanta (11/11). Against Philadelphia (11/18), Adams helped Dallas rush for 132 yards on 23 carries (5.7 avg.) against the NFL's eighth ranked run defense. Working against Hugh Douglas most of the day, Adams limited him to one tackle. He helped Dallas to its third 200+ yard rushing day of the season as the Cowboys ran 44 times for 215 yards, including a 102-yard effort from Smith, at Washington (12/2). The pass protection was again stellar against the N.Y. Giants (12/9), as Adams and his co-workers helped limit the Giants, who entered the game ranked fifth in the league in sacks-per-pass play, to two sacks in 29 pass plays. Smith logged a season-high 128 yards at Arizona (12/23), and the offensive line allowed just one sack in 30 pass plays. In the Cowboys upset win over San Francisco (12/30), Adams and the line led the way to 186 rushing yards, including 126 by Smith, and limited the 49ers to one sack as Quincy Carter threw for a season-high 241 yards. The Cowboys offensive line closed out the season with a sackless performance at Detroit (1/6/02) and led the way as Smith gained 77 rushing yards – putting him over the 1,000-yard mark for the 11th consecutive season, an NFL record.

2000: In his second season as the Cowboys starting left tackle, Adams was part of an offensive line that allowed 35 sacks in 480 pass plays on the season. Only 12 teams surrendered fewer sacks than Dallas. In six games, opponents were held to one sack or less. During Troy Aikman's final 172 pass attempts of the season, the Dallas line allowed him to be sacked only four times – once every 43 attempts. In addition to pass protection, Adams helped Smith (1,203) eclipse the 1,000-yard barrier for the 10th consecutive season. Adams' work also allowed the Cowboys to average 4.2 rushing yards-per-carry for the year, a mark the club has topped just twice in the past 12 seasons. Only four NFC clubs posted a better yards-per-carry average in 2000. Adams' blocking at Arizona (9/10) helped limit the Cardinals to one sack in 35 pass plays as Randall Cunningham threw for 243 yards and three touchdowns. Adams helped lead Smith to his first 100-yard rushing game of the year at Carolina (10/11) when Smith romped for 132 yards on 24 carries (5.5 avg.). In the rematch against Arizona (10/22), the Cowboys rushed for 200 yards, including 112 by Smith, while allowing just one sack. Against Jacksonville (10/29), Smith again eclipsed the 100-yard mark with 102 yards on 24 carries. Adams helped Smith clear the 100-yard barrier for the third consecutive week at Philadelphia (11/5) as Dallas rushed for 204 yards against the league's ninth ranked defense entering the game. Adams and the offensive line held Cincinnati (11/12) sackless in 37 pass attempts, and then duplicated the feat by holding Minnesota (11/23) without a sack in 43 pass attempts. The line's work against the Vikings also allowed Smith to rush for 100 yards on 12 carries before leaving the game in the third quarter with a concussion. For the sixth time during the season, Adams and company led Smith past the 100-yard mark against Washington (12/10) as he rushed for 150 yards. Against the Redskins, the Cowboys rushed for 242 yards as a team, marking the most rushing yards by the Dallas offense since recording 271 yards on the ground at Philadelphia on Oct. 31, 1993.

1999: Adams was the only Dallas offensive lineman to start all 16 regular season games, and he provided the production of a seasoned veteran in his first season at left tackle. He was a key part of an offensive line that allowed just 24 sacks in 531 pass plays (one every 22.1 pass plays), the second fewest sacks allowed in the NFL. The Dallas line also allowed one sack or less in nine regular season games, including five of the final six games. In addition, Adams helped Smith to his highest single season rushing total (1,397) since 1995, while enabling the Pro Bowl running back to collect more 100-yard rushing games (nine) than in any other season in his career other than 1995. In his first NFL start at left tackle, at Washington (9/12), he helped lead the way for a Dallas offense that gained 541 total yards, the highest offensive output by Dallas since Sept. 15, 1985 when the team gained 554 yards against Detroit. In addition, Aikman was sacked just one time in 50 pass plays in the overtime win over the Redskins. The following week, Smith gained 109 yards in a win over Atlanta (9/20), marking just the third time in 29 games that the Falcon defense had allowed a 100-yard rusher. In the win over Green Bay (11/14), Adams and Co. provided run blocking that helped spring Dallas' ground game to 149 yards on 34 carries despite Smith missing the game with an injury. On special teams, Adams blocked a Ryan Longwell field goal, marking the first blocked field goal by a Dallas offensive player since Doug Cosbie blocked one against the St. Louis Cardinals on Oct. 21, 1979. Two weeks later in the Thanksgiving Day win over Miami (11/25), Adams blocked a 47-yard field goal attempt by Olindo Mare in the second quarter. That effort tied the club record for blocked field goals in a season (two), as Adams became the 11th player in club history to accomplish that feat and the first since Leon Lett in 1994. In that same Miami game, the Cowboys offensive line permitted just one sack in 30 passing plays and helped lead Smith to 103 yards rushing against what was the NFL's sixth ranked defense going into the game. Dallas finished the season as the NFL's sixth ranked rushing offense, averaging 128.2 yards-per-game.

1998: The Cowboys second-round choice (38th overall), Adams was forced into extended work as a rookie after injuries to right guard Everett McIver. He started 10 games in place of McIver, who suffered serious injuries to both knees. Adams' 12 total starts were the most ever by a Dallas rookie offensive lineman. Although inexperienced, and playing a new position, he earned All-Rookie recognition and was a key part of a Dallas line that allowed just 19 quarterback sacks – the fewest in the NFL. Adams was marked ready for duty in the Dallas opener against Arizona (9/6), where he was used as a third tight end on short yardage situations. Adams wound up playing the final three quarters of the game at right tackle after starter Erik Williams was ejected. Adams helped the Dallas offense amass 444 total yards (188 rushing) against the Cardinals – both totals were the team's highest since 1996. In addition, the offensive line did not allow a sack of Aikman in 32 pass plays. The next three weeks, Adams saw considerable action at tight end as a short yardage blocker, and earned a starting assignment against Oakland (9/27) as the team opened the game in a two-tight end set. After McIver went down with his first knee injury at Washington (10/4), Adams earned his first start at right guard against Carolina (10/11). Against the Panthers, Dallas rolled up 428 yards of total offense while the line allowed just two sacks in 24 pass plays. In his first five starts at right guard, Adams helped Smith rack up four 100-yard rushing games, including a season-high 163 yards on 29 carries (5.6 avg.) against the N.Y. Giants (11/8). In that battle with the Giants, the Dallas offensive line allowed no sacks to a New York defense that led the NFL in sacks during the 1998 season. Adams did not start against Seattle (11/22), but he entered the game when McIver tore the anterior cruciate ligament in his left knee. Adams started the remaining five regular season games at right guard and earned his first postseason experience by starting against Arizona (1/2/99) in the playoff loss at Texas Stadium.

COLLEGE: Adams spent three years in the starting line-up for Michigan State, and during that time, the Spartans went to three straight bowl games for only the second time in school history. They also had a running back top the 1,000-rushing yard mark each season. Adams started the final 28 games of his career at tackle, and in 34 career starts, he helped a Spartan running back reach the 100-yard mark 21 times. As a senior, Adams moved from right tackle to left tackle and picked up All-America honors and was named the Big Ten Offensive Lineman of the Year by the league's head coaches. One of four offensive linemen who were semi-finalist for the Outland Trophy and Lombardi Award, Adams earned postseason invitations to the East-West Shrine Game and Senior Bowl all-star games. He was a second team All-Big Ten selection at right tackle following his junior and sophomore seasons.

PERSONAL: A high school All-America and all-state selection as a two-year starter on the offensive line at Proviso West High School in Maywood, Ill., Adams also lettered three times in wrestling and four times in track (shot put). He advanced to the state heavyweight wrestling finals as a junior. Adams earned his degree in criminal justice from Michigan State and is a cousin of former NBA guard Hersey Hawkins. Since joining the Cowboys, Adams has participated in the offensive line's support of The Rise School of Dallas with the "First Downs for Down Syndrome" project. In the fall of 2001, the entire offensive line helped paint a Dallas Cowboys Pegasus with the children from The Rise School. The Pegasus, a project to promote the City of Dallas, was donated to the school for a charitable fundraiser. He also served as a guest speaker for the Coppell, Texas, High School football team as part of the NFL High School Tuesday program. The program encourages NFL teams to visit a local high school to speak on the importance of education and the benefits associated with sports.

PRO: As a member of the NFL's All-Decade team for the 1990's, Larry Allen is widely recognized as one of the NFL's premier offensive linemen, and he has established himself as the most decorated offensive lineman in Dallas Cowboys history. In nine NFL seasons since being drafted out of tiny Sonoma State, he is already a seven-time All-Pro selection, six times at guard (1995-97, 1999-01) and one at tackle (1998). With his Pro Bowl selection at tackle in 1998, he became just the third player in league history to be selected to the Pro Bowl at more than one offensive line position during his career, joining Bruce Matthews (guard/center) and Chris Hinton (guard/tackle). An ankle injury in the second week of the 2002 season limited Allen to five games and snapped his seven-year string of trips to the Pro Bowl, the fourth longest streak in club history and the standard for Pro Bowl selections by a Dallas offensive lineman. Allen will be fully recovered from his injury this season and looking to tie Emmitt Smith as the only Dallas offensive player to be selected to eight Pro Bowls. Bob Lilly (11), Mel Renfro (10) and Randy White (9) are the only other Cowboys to be selected to the NFC squad more times than Allen. He has played all but one position along the offensive line in his nine seasons in Dallas, moving between right tackle (1994), right guard (1995-97), left tackle (1997-98) and left guard (1999-01). During his illustrious career, Allen has been a member of an offensive unit that has posted the four lowest sacks allowed totals in club history with 18 in 1995, 19 in 1996 and 1998, and 20 in 1994. He also played a very important part in Smith's race toward the all-time NFL rushing mark, having played a role in eight of Smith's 11 one thousand-yard rushing seasons. Smith gained 11,463 of his 17,162 career yards after Allen joined the Cowboys in 1994. With a career-best bench press of 700 pounds, and a squat lift of 900 pounds, Allen is also considered to be the strongest man to ever play professional football. In March of 2002, Allen signed a contract extension that all but assures the perennial All-Pro will finish his illustrious career as a Dallas Cowboy. Allen joins Darren Woodson as the only players on the Cowboys roster to have been members of the club's Super Bowl XXX team.

2002: Allen's 2002 season was a rough one physically as he fought through off-season surgery and a nagging early season ankle sprain that limited him to five starts for the season. Due to off-season rotator cuff surgery on his left shoulder, Allen was limited in training camp and saw action in just the final two pre-season games. Entering the regular season, he was selected an offensive captain by his teammates. In the season opener at Houston (9/8), Allen manned his usual left guard spot as Dallas rushed for 155 yards. The following week against Tennessee (9/15), he suffered a sprained left ankle in the second quarter. Allen attempted to return in the second half but lasted just two plays before returning to the sideline. Because of the injury, Allen was inactive at Philadelphia (9/22). During practice the week leading up to the St. Louis game (9/29), he moved to right tackle and opened the game at that position before re-aggravating his sprained left ankle and leaving the game in the first quarter. He was back in the lineup at right tackle against the N.Y. Giants (10/6) but came out during the first drive after aggravating his left ankle. He battled the pain and was in and out of the game in the second half at left guard for Kelvin Garmon who had suffered a hip injury. His play helped Dallas rack up 340 yards against the NFL's ninth ranked defense. Following the trade of Garmon to San Diego, Allen returned to left guard against Carolina (10/13) but came out of the game in the second quarter because of continued pain in the ankle. In an attempt to let the injury heal, Allen was inactive the next three games. He returned to practice the week leading up to the Indianapolis game (11/17) but was still in too much pain and was inactive for the fourth straight game. On Nov. 21, his season came to an end when he was placed on injured reserve. He underwent successful surgery on Dec. 3 to remove bone spurs from his left ankle.

2001: Allen closed out the season by being named All-Pro by the Associated Press for the seventh consecutive season. He was also named a Pro Bowl starter at guard, although he did not attend the game in Hawaii due to elbow surgery that was performed after the season (Jan. 18, 2002). It was his seventh consecutive Pro Bowl selection and the most ever by a Dallas offensive lineman. Allen played a key role in a Dallas offensive line that helped the Cowboys finish third in the NFL in rushing at 136.5 yards-per-game. The 2,184 rushing yards Dallas gained for the season was the second best total by a Cowboys' team in the last 20 years (1995 - 2,201). The Dallas offensive line also helped Smith rush for an NFL-record 11th consecutive 1,000-yard season. The Dallas offensive line allowed 34 sacks in 447 pass plays in 2001, only 12 teams allowed fewer sacks for the year and only eight teams lost fewer yards due to sacks than the 190 lost by Dallas. Ten times opponents were held to two sacks or less during the season. In the season opener against Tampa Bay (9/9), Allen helped limit All-Pro DT Warren Sapp to one tackle and no sacks, while the Cowboys were able to rush for 99 yards on 23 carries (4.3 avg.). In the Cowboys next game against San Diego (9/23), Allen led the way as Smith ran for 85 yards on 17 carries (5.0 avg.) and moved past Barry Sanders into second on the NFL's all-time rushing list. In the Cowboys Monday night win over Washington (10/15), Allen and Co. helped lead Smith (107 yards) to his first 100-yard rushing game of the season and Dallas to 211 yards on the ground for the evening. At Atlanta (11/11), Allen played a part in an effort that opened the way for Troy Hambrick to gain 127 rushing yards and Michael Wiley to add 85 en route to the Cowboys gaining 207 yards (6.3 avg.) for the day. In a home loss to Philadelphia (11/18), Allen helped Dallas rush for 132 yards on 23 carries (5.7 avg.) against the NFL's eighth ranked run defense. Allen played a key role in Dallas' 20-14 win at Washington (12/2), helping the Cowboys log their third 200+ yard rushing day of the season as the team ran 44 times for 215 yards (4.9 avg.), including 102 yards from Smith. The Cowboys surprise 27-21 win over San Francisco (12/30) was sparked by a Dallas line that helped account for 186 rushing yards, including 126 by Smith. The Cowboys also helped limit the 49ers to one sack on 26 pass plays as QB Quincy Carter threw for a season-high 241 yards. Allen personally limited Dana Stubblefield to three tackles on a day when the Cowboys ran 44 times.

2000: For the sixth consecutive season, Allen was selected to the NFC Pro Bowl squad and garnered consensus All-Pro and All-NFC honors for his work. He was part of a unit that allowed just 35 sacks in 480 pass plays during the year, and six times during the season opponents were held to one sack or less. On the ground, Dallas averaged 4.2 yards-per-carry, a mark the club has topped just twice in the last 12 seasons. Only four NFC clubs posted a better yards-per-carry average. Despite suffering a fractured right hand in practice on July 20, Allen returned to action by the end of preseason and started all 16 games. Against Arizona (9/10), Allen's blocking helped limit the Cardinals to one sack while protecting Randall Cunningham as he completed 24-of-34 passes for 243 yards and three touchdowns. The next week at Washington (9/18), he was a key part of an offensive line that helped Dallas rush for 153 yards and allowed just one sack in 24 pass plays. Smith posted his first 100-yard rushing effort of the season at Carolina (10/1), picking up 132 yards on 24 carries (5.5 avg.). Allen's blocking against Arizona (10/22) keyed the offense as it picked up 347 total yards, including 200 rushing - 112 by Smith - and allowed just one sack. For the second straight week, Smith topped the century mark with 102 yards on 24 carries against Jacksonville (10/29), and he posted his third straight 100-yard game as the Cowboys ran for 204 yards against the league's 10th ranked defense at Philadelphia (11/5). Not content to merely run block, the line did not allow a sack in 37 pass attempts against Cincinnati (11/12) or in 43 pass attempts against Minnesota (11/23). In addition, Smith ran for 100 yards on 12 carries against the Vikings before suffering a third quarter concussion. At Tampa Bay (12/3) against the league's sixth ranked defense in sacks-per-pass play, Allen and the line helped limit the Bucs to two sacks in 35 pass plays. Personally, Allen helped limit Warren Sapp to two tackles on the day and the entire Tampa Bay starting defensive line to six tackles. Smith rushed for 150 yards and a touchdown against Washington (12/10) and the NFL's fourth ranked defense. In all, the Cowboys ran for 242 yards against the Redskins, the most by a Dallas offense since recording 271 yards on the ground at Philadelphia on Oct. 31, 1993.

1999: Despite starting in his third line position in as many years and missing five games due to injury, Allen was selected to his fifth consecutive Pro Bowl while earning consensus All-Pro honors. He earned this recognition as part of a line that allowed the second fewest sacks (24) in the NFL (Indianapolis - 14) and one or fewer sacks in nine-of-16 games. The Dallas line also led the way for Smith to rush for 1,397 yards. In Allen's first career start at left guard at Washington (9/12), he helped lead the way as the Cowboys gained 541 total yards while surrendering only one sack in 50 pass plays. The offensive output against the Redskins was Dallas' highest yardage total since gaining 554 yards on Sept. 15, 1985 against Detroit. Against Atlanta (9/20), he helped lead the way as Smith (109 yards) became just the third player in the last 29 games to rush for over 100 yards against the Falcons. His blocking helped the Cowboys line allow only one sack in 40 pass plays at Philadelphia (10/10), and he helped limit the Redskins (10/24) to no sacks in 32 pass plays. At Minnesota (11/8), Allen's blocking helped spring Smith to 140 rushing yards and two touchdowns in the first half as the Dallas offense rolled up 205 rushing yards for the game. While helping the Cowboys ground game accumulate 149 yards against Green Bay (11/14), Allen sprained the medial collateral ligament in his right knee during the third quarter and did not return. He missed the first game of his career at Arizona (11/21), snapping strings of 97 consecutive games played and 90 consecutive starts. His knee sprain caused him to miss the next four games as well. He returned to the starting lineup at New Orleans (12/24) and helped the Dallas line surrender no sacks on 39 pass plays while helping Smith rush for his eighth 100-yard game of the season. In the season finale against the N.Y. Giants (1/2/00), Smith recorded his ninth 100-yard game of the year and the line did not allow a sack in 33 pass plays. The Cowboys offensive line closed the regular season by not allowing a sack on the final 94 pass plays of the season. The line again surrendered only one sack in 39 pass plays in an NFC Wild Card Playoff Game at Minnesota (1/9/00) while helping Smith rush for 99 yards, including a Dallas postseason record 65-yarder. Allen underwent arthroscopic surgery on Jan. 18, 2000 to remove loose bodies from his right knee.

1998: After starting the final three games of 1997 at left tackle, Allen was penciled into the position from day one of the 1998 season. In his first full season guarding Troy Aikman's blindside, he earned consensus All-Pro and All-NFC honors. When Allen's peers voted him to the NFC Pro Bowl squad at tackle, he became just the third player in league history to be selected to the Pro Bowl at more than one offensive line position during his career. Allen earned that recognition as a vital cog in an offensive line that allowed just 19 sacks for 110 yards in 493 pass plays for the season - fewest in the NFL. His blocking also helped Smith to seven 100-yard rushing days and 1,332 yards. In the season opener against Arizona (9/6), Allen debuted at his new position and helped Dallas amass 444 total yards (188 rushing) - both totals were the highest since 1996. In addition, the offensive line did not allow a sack of Aikman in 32 pass plays. In an October match-up at Washington (10/4), Allen helped lead the way as Dallas had two running backs top the 100-yard mark for just the third time in club history. Smith finished with 120 yards and one touchdown while Chris Warren added 104 yards and two touchdowns. In November, Allen faced four of the NFC's top defensive ends in Hugh Douglas (fifth in the NFC with 12.5 sacks in 1998), Chad Bratzke (ninth with 11.0), Simeon Rice (tied for 11th with 10.0) and John Randle (10th with 10.5). His streak started at Philadelphia (11/2) when he limited Douglas to one tackle and no sacks. The next week against Bratzke and the N.Y. Giants (11/8), his blocking helped Smith rush for 163 yards on 29 carries (5.6 avg.), and the Dallas offensive line allowed no sacks to a Giants defense that led the NFL in sacks in 1998. At Arizona (11/15), Allen, while limiting Rice to one tackle, was part of a line that allowed no sacks to the Cards defense and helped lead Smith to 118 yards and three touchdowns. Seattle brought the AFC's top sacking defense of 1998 into Dallas (11/22) and came away with just one sack (on an Aikman fumble), while the Cowboys ran for 173 yards on the day. Allen closed out his dominating month against John Randle and the Minnesota Vikings (11/26), limiting him to one tackle and no sacks in 81 offensive plays. In addition, Allen helped set a new club record for pass attempts in a game without a sack (57) and led the way as Smith rushed for three touchdowns to tie Marcus Allen's NFL record of 123 career rushing scores. In the regular season finale against Washington (12/27), Allen was part of a blocking unit that saw Smith run for two more touchdowns to break the NFL's all-time rushing touchdown record.

1997: After spending part of training camp working at left tackle, Allen returned to his right guard spot for the first 13 games of the season. He started his third season at right guard at Pittsburgh (8/31) and helped Dallas gain 380 total yards, including 295 passing yards while not allowing a sack. This kind of play kept Aikman healthy and in the starting lineup for every game for the third straight season. In a win over Philadelphia (9/15), Allen suffered a strained left hamstring in the second quarter and did not return to action. Following the bye week, he returned to the starting lineup against Chicago (9/28) but was forced out of the game in the second quarter when he did not have the strength in his left leg to effectively block. Allen was back in the starting lineup the next week at the N.Y. Giants (10/5). After the loss of Mark Tuinei at left tackle at Washington (10/13), Allen slid out to left tackle in third down passing situations against Philadelphia (10/26) and Washington (11/16). In the Redskins game, the line allowed just one sack in 46 pass plays. Allen became the full-time starter at left tackle against Carolina (12/8) and remained there the final three weeks of the season. Despite moving between guard and tackle during the season, Allen was selected to his third straight Pro Bowl at guard and earned first-team All-Pro honors.

1996: Allen earned his second consecutive trip to the Pro Bowl, along with consensus All-Pro and All-NFC honors, while the Dallas offensive line led the NFL by allowing just 19 sacks on the season, one shy of the club record set in 1995. In a win at Miami (10/27), Aikman was sacked just once while completing a season-high 33-of-41 pass attempts (80.5%) for 363 yards and three touchdowns. For the third straight year behind Allen, Smith ran for over 1,200 yards while topping 100 yards on the ground four times, including a season-high 155 yards and three touchdowns against Washington (11/28). In the first round of the playoffs, Allen's blocking helped lead the Dallas running game to 255 rushing yards against Minnesota (12/28), the second best postseason total in club history. Smith's 6.8 yards-per-carry average in that game was the third best mark in club history.

1995: Allen made his first NFL start at right guard in the season opener at the N.Y. Giants (9/4), helping the Dallas offense roll up 459 yards, including 230 rushing yards – the most by the Cowboys since Oct. 31, 1993. It wasn't until the third game of the season that the Dallas front five allowed a sack, and six times in 1995, Allen and the rest of the line held an opponent sackless. For the season, Dallas finished second in the NFL in fewest sacks allowed with a club record 18. In addition, Aikman was healthy and able to start every game for just the second time in his career, helping Allen earn All-Pro honors. In the regular-season finale at Arizona (12/25), Allen's work with the line enabled Dallas to roll up 474 yards of total offense, the most yardage by a Dallas team since Sept. 15, 1985. The Cowboys finished the season ranked fifth in the NFL in total offense, while Smith gained a club record 1,773 rushing yards, captured his fourth NFL rushing title in five years and scored a NFL record 25 rushing touchdowns. Following the season, Allen, who was in just his first year as a starting guard, was one of a club-record four Dallas offensive linemen to be selected to the Pro Bowl, joining Ray Donaldson, Nate Newton and Mark Tuinei.

1994: Allen was forced into the lineup four games into his rookie campaign when Tuinei suffered back spasms at Washington (10/2). He received a game ball for his play, which held the Redskins sackless on the day. The next week against the Cardinals (10/9), Allen earned his first NFL start, at left tackle for Tuinei, and held Clyde Simmons to five tackles and no sacks while the offensive line did not allow a sack in 28 pass attempts. It was the first time a rookie offensive lineman had started for Dallas since Nov. 24, 1991 when Williams started at right tackle against Washington. Allen returned to spot duty the next two weeks, but early in the morning on Oct. 24, Williams was injured in an automobile accident and lost for the season. Allen moved into the starting lineup at Williams' right tackle spot for good at Cincinnati (10/30). The following week, he was part of an offensive line that helped Dallas amass 450 total yards against the N.Y. Giants (11/7). Both he and Tuinei received game balls for helping hold the Saints without a sack in the Monday night victory at New Orleans (12/19). With 10 regular season starts, Allen tied Burton Lawless (1975) and Kevin Gogan (1987) for the most starts on the offensive line as a rookie in club history at that time (Adams broke the mark in 1998). On his way to garnering consensus all-rookie honors, Allen helped Dallas establish a then team record by allowing just 20 sacks – for losses totaling just 93 yards (fewest yards in the NFL). Smith finished the year third in the NFL rushing race with 1,484 yards, and the Cowboys were fifth in the NFL in rushing yards-per-game. In the playoffs, Allen received a game ball against Green Bay (1/8/95) when the Dallas offense picked up 450 total yards and Aikman completed 23-of-30 passes for 337 yards. Allen sprained his left ankle in that game, but returned to action. In the NFC Championship Game at San Francisco (1/15/95), he struggled through three quarters on the injured ankle before leaving the game. Allen was the 10th offensive lineman selected in the NFL Draft and the first player ever drafted from Sonoma State. Taken in the second round (46th overall), it marked the first time since 1981 Dallas had taken an offensive lineman that high.

COLLEGE: Allen began his college career at Butte Junior College in Oroville, Calif. (1989-90). After a year off, he enrolled at Sonoma State, a Division II school 45 miles north of San Francisco. In two years with the Cossacks, Allen gave up just one sack. During his senior year, Sonoma State set a mark with 334 rushing yards against Cal-State Hayward. A two-time All-America selection, Allen participated in the East-West Shrine Game and the Senior Bowl. In 1992, the Cossacks were primarily a passing team and established 10 new school records – including most yards gained, most touchdown passes, best gain-per-completion and highest passing efficiency.

PERSONAL: A native of Los Angeles, Allen attended a different high school each of his four years of school, finishing at Vintage High School in Napa, Calif. He lettered in football as a freshman at Centennial Senior High in Compton, Calif. Allen has participated in the offensive line's support of The Rise School of Dallas with the "First Downs for Down Syndrome" project. In the fall of 2001, the entire offensive line helped paint a Dallas Cowboys Pegasus with the children from The Rise School. The Pegasus, a project to promote the City of Dallas, was donated to the school for a charitable fundraiser. Larry and wife Janelle have two daughters, Jayla (12/15/94) and Loriana (4/20/00), and a son, Larry, Jr. (7/21/96).

PRO: After playing under new Cowboys Head Coach Bill Parcells for three seasons with the N.Y. Jets (1997-99), Richie Anderson chose to re-join his former coach in Dallas as an unrestricted free agent.

Anderson is a veteran fullback who has the ability to make plays blocking, carrying the ball or catching passes out of the backfield. He finished his 10-year career with the Jets tied for ninth in club annals with 305 career catches, making him the most prolific pass catching running back in Jets history. He also averaged 3.8 yards-per-carry (191 rushes for 722 yards) during his stint in New York. His blocking helped lead Curtis Martin to 6,562 rushing yards and 44 touchdowns over the past five seasons – the most rushing yards of any NFL running back over that time span. Also during Anderson's 10 years in New York, the Jets had a running back eclipse the 1,000-yard rushing mark seven times (Martin – 5, Adrian Murrell – 2). Anderson's blocking skills and his ability to make plays out of the backfield will provide Dallas with a quality third down back who has the ability to step in and play every down as the team's blocking fullback.

2002: Anderson finished his 10th season fourth on the Jets with 45 catches for 257 yards and a touchdown, and he carried the ball five times for 27 yards. While starting all 16 regular season games for the fourth consecutive year, he keyed the running game with his blocking, helping lead running back Martin to 1,094 rushing yards and a 4.2 yards-per-carry average. Anderson kicked off the season by catching three passes for 19 yards at Buffalo (9/8) and five passes for 28 yards against New England (9/15). He caught another four passes for 28 yards at Miami (9/22). He added a 16-yard carry against Kansas City (10/6) as part of a 147-yard rushing day by the Jets. Against the Chiefs, New York averaged 5.4 yards on 27 carries. After posting a two catch for seven yard performance against Minnesota (10/20) and a three catch for 16 yards effort against Cleveland (10/27), Anderson caught a season- and team-high seven passes for 56 yards at San Diego (11/3). His blocking against the Chargers helped the Jets rush for 165 yards on 30 carries (5.5 avg.). After catching two passes against Miami (11/10), he put a string of one catch games together at Detroit (11/17), against Buffalo (11/24), at Oakland (12/2) and against Denver (12/8). Anderson helped New York rush for a season-high 189 yards on 39 carries (4.8 avg.) in the Lions contest and 155 yards on 37 carries (4.2 avg.) in the Bills game. He began a late season push by catching three passes for 23 yards at Chicago (12/15), making him the Jets all-time leading receptions leader among running backs. He also led the way for the Jets to rush for 134 yards on 24 carries (5.6 avg.) against the Bears. The next week at New England (12/22), he tied for the team lead with five receptions for 34 yards. He closed the regular season against Green Bay (12/29) by hauling in two passes for nine yards and a score while helping New York rush for 129 yards on 29 carries (4.4 avg.). He then kicked off the Jets postseason by totaling 66 yards on two receptions – including a career-long 56-yard scoring catch-and-run on a screen pass – against Indianapolis (1/4/03). In the Jets loss at Oakland (1/12/03), he caught two passes for 20 yards while carrying the ball twice for eight yards.

2001: Anderson started all 16 regular season games for the third consecutive season and finished fourth on the team in receptions (40) and fifth in receiving yards (252) with two receiving touchdowns while adding 102 rushing yards on 26 carries. His work as a blocker helped running back Martin rush for a club-record 1,513 yards and finish second in the NFL in rushing (Priest Holmes, 1,555). Anderson opened the season against Indianapolis (9/9) by tying for the team lead with six catches for 53 yards and a touchdown while carrying the ball twice for 21 yards. His blocking helped the Jets total 135 rushing yards on 29 carries against the Colts. He followed the performance with a two catch for 10 yards and three carries for five yards game at New England (9/23). At Buffalo (10/7), he caught two passes for nine yards and a touchdown while picking up eight yards on his only carry of the day. The following week against Miami (10/14), Anderson led the way as Martin rushed for 120 yards and a score on 22 carries. Anderson also rushed once for five yards and caught a 10-yard pass against the Dolphins. Anderson then caught four passes for 34 yards and rushed twice for 13 yards against St. Louis (10/21). He posted another four reception day (12 yards) at Carolina (10/28) while adding 12 rushing yards on two carries. He caught three passes for 42 yards – including a season-long 22-yarder – against Kansas City (11/11) while carrying the ball twice for 10 yards and paving the way for Martin's 113-rushing yard, three touchdown performance. He picked up 21 yards on five catches and 10 yards on two carries at Indianapolis (12/23). In an AFC Wild Card Playoff Game at Oakland (1/12/02), Anderson was second on the team with six catches for 33 yards and a touchdown in the Jets 38-24 loss.

2000: In earning his first Pro Bowl appearance as the AFC's starting fullback, Anderson led the Jets with a team- and career-high 88 catches for 853 yards and two touchdowns while rushing for 63 yards on 27 carries. His blocking helped spring Martin to 1,204 rushing yards. Anderson's performance also earned him All-Pro honors from College and Pro Football Newsweekly, Football Digest and USA Today. He opened the season with three receptions for 41 yards at Green Bay (9/3). In a Week Two Monday night match-up against New England (9/11), he led the team with six catches for 88 yards, including five grabs in the fourth quarter as New York erased a 19-7 deficit to win 20-19. Anderson then contributed four catches for 29 yards against Buffalo (9/17) and six catches for 39 yards at Tampa Bay (9/24). After catching four passes for 34 yards and rushing three times for 10 yards at New England (10/15), he recorded a career-high while leading the team with 12 receptions for 109 yards against Miami (10/23). Seven of his catches against the Dolphins came in the fourth quarter and overtime as the Jets fought back from a 30-13 deficit to defeat Miami 40-37. The following week at Buffalo (10/29), he totaled 24 yards on six receptions. He posted his longest rushing attempt of the season with a nine-yard carry against Denver (11/5). In the Jets rematch at Miami (11/19), he caught five passes for 53 yards before recording six receptions for 69 yards and his first touchdown of the season against Chicago (11/26). While catching five passes for 75 yards and rushing four times for nine yards against Indianapolis (12/3), Anderson helped lead the way for Martin to rush for a team-record 203 yards on 30 carries. In his 100th career game, Anderson caught a team-high eight passes for 103 yards at Oakland (12/10). He caught five passes for 22 yards against Detroit (12/17) before closing the season with 11 catches for a career-high 139 yards and a score at Baltimore (12/24).

1999: Playing in the F-back position (fullback/tight end hybrid), Anderson finished fourth on the team in receptions (29) and receiving yards (302) while adding three touchdowns. He also rushed for 84 yards on 16 carries while helping lead the way for Martin to rush for a then club-record 1,464 yards with six 100-yard rushing days. Anderson kicked off the year by catching a 27-yard touchdown pass and gaining 16 yards on his only carry of the day against New England (9/12). After catching three passes for 40 yards at Buffalo (9/19), he caught a team- and season-high five passes for 71 yards against Washington (9/26). He totaled four receptions for 14 yards against Jacksonville (10/11) and an eight-yard catch to go with 21 rushing yards on four carries at New England (11/15). Against Buffalo (11/21), Anderson caught two passes for 21 yards – including a 20-yarder that pushed him over the 1,000-career receiving yard mark – then recorded two receptions for 13 yards and two rushes for 12 yards at Indianapolis (11/28). He closed out the season by rushing twice for 15 yards at Miami (12/27) and catching three passes for 43 yards – including a season-long 29-yarder – against Seattle (1/2/00).

1998: Anderson totaled three catches for 12 yards and a two-yard carry while seeing extensive special teams duty in the eight games in which he played. He also contributed two special teams tackles. He saw action at fullback at Miami (12/13), springing Martin on a nine-yard touchdown run in the Jets 21-16 victory. He started at fullback in the regular season finale against New England (12/27) for the injured Keith Byars and helped Martin rush for his team-record eighth 100-yard rushing game of the season. After seeing special teams action in New York's divisional playoff win over Jacksonville (1/10/00), he did not play in the AFC Championship Game at Denver (1/17/00).

1997: Anderson saw action in all 16 games, starting six, and finished with 70 rushing yards on 21 carries and 150 receiving yards and a touchdown on 26 receptions. He opened the season at Seattle (8/31) by helping Murrell rush for 136 yards on 24 carries (5.7 avg.). Anderson posted a season-high four receptions for 37 yards against Oakland (9/21). He made his first start of the season at Cincinnati (9/28) and scored his only touchdown of the year on a seven-yard pass from Neil O'Donnell in the fourth quarter. He finished with a season-high tying four catches for 28 yards while leading the way for Murrell to rush for a season-high 156 yards. Anderson rushed for a season-high 28 yards on four carries at Miami (11/9).

1996: Anderson posted the best statistical year of his young career when he caught 44 passes for 385 yards and carried the ball 47 times for 150 yards while starting every game at fullback. His 385 receiving yards were the most by a Jets fullback since Clark Gaines totaled 469 receiving yards in 1977. Anderson's work as a blocker was instrumental in Adrian Murrell gaining 1,249 rushing yards on the season. Anderson carried the ball a season-high seven times for 38 yards and caught three passes for 24 yards at Jacksonville (10/13). Against New England (11/10), he recorded 85 receiving yards – including a career-long 48-yard catch.

1995: Playing in only 10 games, Anderson registered five carries for 17 yards and five receptions for 26 yards. He saw limited action throughout the season on special teams and at fullback. He missed the game against New England (11/5) with the flu, then missed the game against Seattle (11/26) with a high ankle sprain on his right leg suffered during the week. He missed the final four games of the season after being placed on Reserve/Injured with the ankle injury.

1994: Despite seeing action in only 13 games as a reserve (four starts), Anderson finished second on the team with 207 rushing yards and a touchdown on 43 carries and fifth with 25 receptions for 212 yards and a touchdown. He totaled four plays of 20 yards or more during the season. He scored his first professional touchdown on a one-yard jaunt in the season opener at Buffalo (9/4). He started his first career game at fullback for an injured Brad Baxter against Denver (9/11) and caught three passes for 22 yards. He scored on a 27-yard reception at Miami (9/18) before suffering a compound dislocation of his finger against Chicago (9/25) that forced him to miss the next three games. He then gained 35 yards on seven rushes in his only start at running back – for an injured Johnny Johnson – against Buffalo (11/6). The next week at Green Bay (11/13), Anderson ran for a career-high 74 yards on seven carries, including a 55-yarder that set up a field goal. He then rushed for 29 yards on four carries at New England (12/4). Anderson started at fullback against San Diego (12/18) and led the team with 23 rushing yards on six carries and seven receptions for 64 yards. He closed the season as the starting fullback at Houston (12/24) and rushed four times for 29 yards.

1993: Anderson played in seven games as a rookie and finished sixth on the team with six special teams tackles while returning four kickoffs for 66 yards. He saw his first professional action against Philadelphia (10/3) on special teams. He recorded his longest kickoff return – a 22-yarder – against Miami (11/7) before posting a season-high two special teams stops at Indianapolis (11/14). He missed Weeks 11-15 with an ankle sprain before being placed on Reserve/Injured prior to the season finale at Houston (12/9/94). He was originally a sixth round (144th overall) selection of the Jets in the NFL Draft.

COLLEGE: Anderson finished his Nittany Lions career with 1,756 rushing yards and 29 touchdowns on 363 carries and 353 receiving yards and two touchdowns on 37 receptions. He finished second in the nation as a senior with 116 points and 19 touchdowns. He finished his final collegiate campaign with 195 carries for 900 yards and 18 touchdowns while also catching 16 passes for 98 yards and a score. He gained 1,256 all-purpose yards as a junior while leading the team in rushing with 779 yards and one score on 152 carries while catching 21 passes for 255 yards and a touchdown and returning nine kickoffs for 222 yards (24.7 avg.). He redshirted as a sophomore in 1990 after playing mostly as a reserve tailback and returner on special teams as a freshman. He finished his initial campaign with 16 carries for 77 yards while returning seven kickoffs for 156 yards (22.3 avg.).

PERSONAL: Anderson was a consensus All-America selection and was named Maryland Player of the Year by USA Today as a senior at Sherwood High School in Sandy Spring, Md. He rushed for more than 3,500 yards and 40 touchdowns while averaging 8.0 yards-per-carry during his final two prep cam-

Colorado

NFL: Rookie ★ Cowboys: Rookie

COLLEGE: An All-Big 12 Conference performer at tackle as a senior, Justin Bates provided leadership and stability for a Buffaloes squad that went 9-3. Bates possesses good quickness off the ball with an explosive straight-ahead burst. He displayed solid drive blocking skills throughout his collegiate career, while also displaying the ability to recognize and handle stunts and blitzes. Bates won the Dean Jacob Van Elk Award for academic excellence. As one of the Buffaloes strongest players, he displayed his versatility by performing at both guard and tackle. Consistency, durability and production were visible characteristics of his very successful collegiate career. Bates will join fellow Colorado linemate Andre Gurode as he battles for a roster spot for a position as a reserve guard in Dallas.

2002: Bates was a key player at tackle for a Colorado offensive front that helped the Buffaloes roll up 241.2 yards-per-game on the ground. Overall, the Colorado offense averaged 387.9 yards-per-game. Following his final season, he was named All-Big 12 Conference by the Associated Press and the league's coaches. He was also a member of the Buff's Victory Club after grading out at 85 percent for blocking consistency. Bates made a team-high 23 downfield blocks and added 35 knockdowns as he allowed only 1.5 sacks in 882 plays.

2001: As a junior, Bates manned the left tackle position and graded 84.8 percent for blocking consistency as he made 13 touchdown-resulting blocks and 36 downfield blocks. He also allowed only 1.5 sacks for an offense that averaged 434.4 yards-per-game. He played alongside current Cowboys offensive lineman Andre Gurode as the Buffaloes captured the Big 12 Championship Game title with a victory over Texas.

PLAYERS

2000: Bates started 10 games, lining up at left guard in nine contests and at right tackle against Kansas. He participated in 691 plays and graded out at 84.5 percent for blocking consistency. He totaled five touchdown-resulting blocks and eight downfield blocks while allowing only two sacks.

1999: As a redshirt freshman, Bates entered the fall second on the depth chart at strong side guard, but when tackle Victor Rogers went down with a knee injury, he shifted to strong side tackle and started six games. He played in nine games, including the Insight.com Bowl, grading out to 84.4 percent on 315 snaps from scrimmage. He had seven touchdown-resulting blocks and four downfield blocks while allowing only two sacks and two quarterback pressures.

PERSONAL: Bates attended Pomona High School in his hometown of Arvada, Colo. As a senior, he earned Prep Star All-America honors and was a member of the Big 12 Region's Super 30. SuperPrep tabbed him All-America, listing him as the No. 29 lineman in the nation. He was a first-team all-league selection on offense as a junior (honorable mention on defense), and was an honorable mention All-Jeffco pick as a sophomore. He did not allow a quarterback sack as a junior or senior. Bates also lettered in track, placing fifth in the shot put and seventh in the discus at the state meet as a junior and second in both events as a senior. Bates earned degrees in business information systems and finance at Colorado. Bates volunteered at the Children's Museum in Denver and was a volunteer coach for Pop Warner football and a little league roller hockey team. He also volunteered for educational programs such as the National Reading Day and CU's Read with the Buffs at Colorado.

NFL: 2nd Year ★ Cowboys: 2nd Year

PRO: After failing to make the opening day roster for Dallas and then spending the 2002 season as a game-day deactivation with Houston, Willie Blade looks to rebound in 2003. He was originally drafted in the third round (93rd overall) of the 2001 NFL Draft by the Cowboys, and he brings a big, young body to the defensive line rotation. A late bloomer that has seen his talents grow each year since stepping onto the Northwest Community College football field in 1997, Blade is a physical player that plays the run well from either the nose tackle or defensive tackle position. Cowboys coaches are expecting Blade to continue his upward trend and battle for a spot in the defensive tackle rotation.

2002: Blade spent training camp with Dallas, but was released at the end of camp. Houston claimed Blade off waivers, and he remained on the Texans' roster as an inactive player for fifteen weeks. Houston released him on Dec 24th. He re-signed with Dallas following the season.

2001: Blade dislocated his right wrist in training camp on July 25. He underwent surgery to insert two pins in the wrist on July 26 and was placed on injured reserve Aug. 28.

COLLEGE: As a senior, Blade was a semifinalist for the Outland Trophy given annually to the nation's top down lineman. Blade earned conference and national accolades, closing his senior season with 51 tackles, 13 quarterback pressures (second on the team), nine stops for a loss and team-highs with four sacks and two fumble recoveries. As a junior transfer from Butler County, Kan., Community College, Blade totaled 28 tackles, six quarterback pressures, four stops behind the line of scrimmage and a sack as a reserve defensive tackle for the Bulldogs. In his only season at Butler Community College, Blade earned All-Jayhawk Conference honors after posting 42 tackles, 12 stops behind the line of scrimmage and six sacks in helping lead Butler to the National Junior College championship as a sophomore. He spent his freshman collegiate campaign playing for Northwest, Miss., Community College.

PERSONAL: Blade was named to the Peach State Top 40 by the Augusta Chronicle following his senior season at Warner Robins, Ga. High School. The educational psychology major was born in Landstuhl, Germany, where his father was stationed. As a rookie, Blade was a member of the Cowboys inaugural "Rookie Club", a program designed to introduce rookies to community service. Throughout the season, the rookies made visits to and spent time with children at Children's Medical Center of Dallas, Oak Cliff Boys and Girls Clubs, The Salvation Army and its' Christmas Distribution Center.

GAMES/STARTS: 2001 (16/1), 2002 (IR). Totals – 16/1.

PRO: Jamal Brooks will be returning to the playing field this fall after suffering a fractured fibula in pre-season action last year that sidelined him for the entire 2002 season. He originally signed with Dallas as a free agent in 2001 following a spring in NFL Europe. His strong work ethic and ability to make plays stuck with him as he made the squad out of training camp. He went on to play a big role on the Cowboys special teams in 2001. Following injuries to the linebacking corps, Brooks was able to showcase his talent and versatility at all three linebacker positions during the season. This versatility will work in his favor as he battles for a spot on the linebacker depth chart.

2002: Brooks' second season with Dallas never got underway after fracturing his fibula in a preseason game at Jacksonville (8/29). He was placed on injured reserve Sept. 1 and underwent surgery Sept. 3.

2001: Brooks finished second on the Scottish Claymores with 42 tackles, three passes defended and 1.5 sacks after being drafted in the third round (14th overall) of the NFL Free Agent Draft. Dallas signed Brooks as a free agent on July 10, and he saw considerable time on special teams during the season, finishing second on the squad with 20 tackles. At Philadelphia (9/30), he led the team with three special teams stops before finishing second on the team with two special teams stops and a forced fumble at Oakland (10/7). He then tied for the team lead with two special teams tackles against Washington (10/15) and at the N.Y. Giants (11/4) and then led the team with three special teams stops at Atlanta (11/11). He also stepped in for middle linebacker Dat Nguyen in the fourth quarter against the Falcons and recorded four tackles, including one on a goal-line stand. He earned his first NFL start the following week against Philadelphia (11/18), replacing Dexter Coakley (sprained knee) on the weakside, and finished with nine tackles while helping limit the Eagles running game to a 2.8 yards-per-carry average. Against Denver (11/22), he returned to special teams duty and tied for the team lead with two special teams stops. Brooks took over for Markus Steele on the strongside at Washington (12/2) and recorded three tackles. Brooks saw considerable action at strong side linebacker at Detroit (1/6/02) and finished with three tackles.

2000: Brooks signed with the New Orleans Saints as a rookie free agent on April 18 but was released before the season began. He spent the fall out of football.

COLLEGE: A two-year captain at Hampton, Brooks closed his collegiate career second on the team with 75 tackles, 12 stops behind the line of scrimmage, 2.5 sacks and an interception as a senior. During his junior campaign, he finished with 26 tackles, four for losses, and two fumble recoveries. Brooks finished his sophomore season with 46 tackles and one forced fumble. After transferring from Pasadena City College, Brooks recorded 35 stops and one sack in his first year at Hampton.

PERSONAL: Brooks was a standout performer for the Granada Hills, Calif., High School football team. In 2001, Brooks joined the entire Cowboy linebacking corps to "Blitz Hunger" and distribute over 500 hams to those in need at The Salvation Army as part of the Hormel Hams for The Holidays program. He also contributes annually to The Salvation Army Angel Tree program and while on injured reserve in 2002 attended a holiday gathering for over 200 terminally ill and mentally challenged children hosted by Pappas Brothers Steakhouse in Dallas. He received his degree in business management from Hampton and is now pursuing his M.B.A. at the University of Texas at Dallas.

D2b for #02

NFL: 2nd Year ★ Cowboys: 2nd Year

GAMES/STARTS: 2002 (16/15).

PRO: An athletic playmaker who has a flare for making the difficult reception, Antonio Bryant came into the NFL with impressive credentials and answered the calling with a very productive rookie season. Although young and raw – Bryant was the youngest player on the 2002 Cowboys roster – he has all the tools necessary to develop into a dominant receiver in the NFL for years to come. As a rookie, he displayed the ability to catch the ball in a crowd, while also being able to make the leaping catch. Bryant has 4.43 speed in the forty to go along with solid leaping ability and excellent focus. His natural elusiveness and ability to run after catching the ball contributed to a team-high 16.7 yards-per-catch average that was the best among all NFC receivers in 2002. Bryant was the second of two Cowboys second-round draft choices (63rd overall) in 2002.

2002: As only the second Dallas rookie to open the season as a starting wide receiver (Michael Irvin – 1988), Bryant went on to earn All-Rookie honors. He led all NFL rookie receivers with 733 receiving yards, finishing 139 yards ahead of the next rookie wide-out (Dante Stallworth – N.O.). His 44 receptions were the second most by an NFL rookie and second on the Cowboys behind Joey Galloway. His six touchdown receptions were second among NFL rookie receivers and tied for the Cowboys team lead. His reception (44) and touchdown (six) totals were the second most for a rookie in Dallas team history behind the numbers posted by Bob Hayes (46 catches and 12 touchdowns) in 1965. A season ending neck injury to Raghbi Ismail forced Bryant into a baptism under fire as an opening day starter. In his professional debut, Bryant recorded four catches for 47 yards in the season opener at Houston (9/8). In the following week's win over Tennessee (9/15), he registered 87 receiving yards, including a 44-yard grab, on three receptions. At Philadelphia (9/22), he caught four passes and had a 24-yard dash on his first NFL carry, taking a hand-off on an end-around. In the last-second win at St. Louis (9/29), Bryant recorded three catches for 47 yards, including a game-long 34-yard grab. He picked up his first career touchdown reception against the Giants (10/6) with a five-yard scoring catch in the fourth quarter that put Dallas ahead 17-14. In the win over Carolina (10/13), Bryant turned in one of the most spectacular and dramatic catches in recent club history. On fourth-and-14 from the Panther 24-yard line, Bryant leapt high into the air for a pass that he juggled and eventually pulled down for the winning score with 0:56 remaining in a game that Dallas had trailed for 59 minutes. The following week at Arizona (10/20), he registered a touchdown reception that was just as acrobatic as the game winner the week before. His third quarter over-the-shoulder reception of a Quincy Carter bomb covered 78 yards and tied the score at 6-6. The catch was the longest of the season for Bryant and enabled him to join Bob Hayes as the only Dallas rookie to catch touchdown passes in three consecutive games. For the day, Bryant averaged 32.0 yards-per-catch in hauling in three passes for 96 yards. His streak of consecutive games with a touchdown reception ended in the following week's loss at Seattle (10/27) where he caught one pass for 14 yards and threw a solid block on Emmitt Smith's NFL record breaking run. At Indianapolis (11/17), Bryant had three receptions for 44 yards, including a game-long 24-yard grab. He also had a 15-yard run on an end-around against the Colts. In the Thanksgiving Day win over Washington (11/28), he opened the scoring with a 29-yard touchdown catch from Chad Hutchinson in the second quarter. In the loss at the N.Y. Giants (12/15), Bryant recorded three catches for a team-high 31 yards and a touchdown, his fifth of the season. In the season-ending loss at Washington (12/29), Bryant recorded one of the most productive days for a rookie receiver in team history, totaling a career-high seven catches for a career-best 170 yards and a touchdown. His seven receptions came up one shy of Bob Hayes' rookie record of eight, and his 170 receiving yards was the third best in club history by a rookie. His 46-yard touchdown catch with 3:10 remaining pulled Dallas within six points at 20-14. He also had catches of 25, 29 and 43 yards on the day.

COLLEGE: A Biletnikoff Award winner and consensus All-America selection as a sophomore, Bryant left the University of Pittsburgh after his junior year as the school's all-time leading receiver with 3,061 career yards (including bowl games). His 173 career receptions were the second most in school history. He also set the Pittsburgh mark for career touchdown catches with 30, including four in two bowl appearances. Bryant also left an impressive legacy in the Big East, holding conference marks for regular season touchdowns with 26, and 100-yard receiving games with 13. As a junior in 2001, Bryant fought through nagging injuries en route to first-team All-Big East recognition. He finished the season with a team-high 42 receptions and nine touchdowns, while compiling 659 receiving yards (15.7 per catch). He capped his final collegiate season by earning MVP honors in the Visit Florida Tangerine Bowl. A consensus All-America as a sophomore, Bryant was named the winner of the Biletnikoff Award, annually presented to the nation's top receiver, becoming just the second sophomore to win the award (Minnesota Vikings' Randy Moss in 1997). Bryant also was named the Big East Conference's tri-Offensive Player of the Year, the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) Player of the Year, All-Big East, All-East and was Pittsburgh's first underclassman to earn consensus All-America honors since tailback Craig Heyward in 1987. Bryant finished his breakout year with 68 receptions for 1,302 yards (19.1 avg.) and 11 touchdowns while leading the nation with 130.2 receiving yards-per-game. It was the first time a Pittsburgh player led a national statistical category since Heisman Trophy winner Tony Dorsett was the nation's leading rusher in 1976. He ranked third nationally in total receiving yards (1,302, and he was eighth in the country in receptions (6.8 avg.). His 1,302 receiving yards set a Big East and Pittsburgh record. Bryant also emerged as a dangerous punt returner, averaging 11.3 yards-per-punt return (16 for 181 yards) to rank 28th nationally. As a freshman in 1999, Bryant was named to The Sporting News Freshman All-America Team (third team) and Football News All-Freshman Team (second team), he finished his rookie campaign with 51 catches for 844 yards, both Pittsburgh freshman records.

PERSONAL: Bryant was an all-Dade County and all-district selection as a senior at Northwestern High School in Miami, Fla., after recording 53 receptions for 953 yards (17.9 avg.) and 12 touchdowns. He helped lead the Panthers to a 16-0 record and the Florida 6A championship. The team was also ranked fourth in the nation by USA Today. A three-year team captain at Northwestern, Bryant went on to play in the Dade County All-Star Game and earned "Prime Time Prospect" recognition from BlueChip Illustrated. He also lettered twice in track and field. Bryant was an active participant in the Cowboys Rookie Club community service program in 2002. He was also very popular with the preschoolers at the ChildCareGroup carving pumpkins and reading The Great Pumpkin out loud to the group. During the holidays, he provided much needed clothes and toys for several underprivileged children as part of The Salvation Army Angel Tree Program. A scholar-athlete honoree, Bryant graduated from high school with honors and majored in justice administration at Pitt.

NFL: 5th Year ★ Cowboys: 1st Year

GAMES/STARTS (regular season, playoffs): 1999 (12/1 - NYG), 2000 (16/4, 3/0 - NYG), 2001 (16/13 - NYG), 2002 (16/16, 1/1 - NYG). Total - 60/34, 4/1.

PRO: In four NFL seasons, Dan Campbell has proven himself to be a much more valuable contributor than his stats might lead you to believe. The Cowboys took advantage of free agency to add Campbell, the kind of durable player - 48 consecutive games played - and hard worker you want on a young team, to the roster this offseason. Originally a third round draft choice (79th overall) by the Giants in 1999, Campbell has developed into a reliable receiver and sturdy blocker who continues to improve each season. In addition to work on offense, he has also been a valuable blocker on special teams.

2002: Campbell's blocking was instrumental in the career-years of both Kerry Collins (4,073 yards passing, a club-record) and Tiki Barber (1,387 rushing yards, a career-high and the second best total in club history). Despite the addition of Pro Bowl tight end Jeremy Shockey, Campbell started all 16 games and caught 20 passes for 155 yards (a 7.8 yard average) and a touchdown. In the season opener against

San Francisco (9/5), Campbell finished with one reception for nine yards. His blocking in the running game at St. Louis (9/15) helped the Giants gain 103 yards on the ground, and he added two receptions for five yards in the passing game. Although he did not record a catch against Seattle (9/22), he did manage a five-yard kickoff return in the first quarter. Campbell finished with three receptions for 30 yards, including a 20-yard reception on third-and-three that extended the drive that resulted in Marcellus Rivers' game-winning 17-yard touchdown reception at Dallas (10/6). His lead blocking in the game also helped Barber gain 94 yards on 17 carries. Campbell recorded a 19-yard catch against Atlanta (10/13), and he added two receptions for 19 yards against Jacksonville (11/3), where his blocking helped the Giants gain 177 yards on the ground. Campbell had an outstanding day at Minnesota (11/10) when he finished with a career-high four receptions for a career-high 35 yards. He also added a career-long 27-yard reception in the third quarter that helped set up an Amani Toomer 11-yard touchdown reception. Campbell had a key seven-yard reception to convert a third-and-four in the first quarter to extend a drive that would result in a Matt Bryant 43-yard field goal against Washington (11/17). Against Tennessee (12/1), he finished with one reception for one yard and a touchdown. His only touchdown of the season gave the Giants a 10-7 lead in the second quarter. Campbell's blocking prowess helped Barber gain 203 yards on 32 carries in the regular season finale against Philadelphia (12/28) that clinched a playoff berth for the Giants. In the NFC Wild Card Game at San Francisco (1/5/03), Campbell finished with two receptions for 13 yards, and his run blocking helped Barber gain 115 yards on 26 carries.

2001: Campbell played in all 16 games for the second straight year, earning 13 starts. He led Giants' tight ends with 13 receptions for 148 yards and a touchdown. Nine of his 13 catches resulted in a first down. He caught at least one pass in each of the last eight games. Campbell caught his first pass of the season, for a then career-long 22 yards, at Kansas City (9/23). He scored his only touchdown of the season on a one-yard pass from Collins to give the Giants a 16-9 lead in the fourth quarter against Washington (10/7). Campbell contributed a reception for 11 yards and outstanding blocking that helped the Giants rush for 186 yards at Arizona (11/11). The following week, he added two receptions for 29 yards, including a season-long 25-yard catch at Minnesota (11/19). He had an eight-yard reception against Oakland (11/25) and two catches for eight yards at Dallas (12/9). Campbell had one reception against both Arizona (12/15), for 13 yards, and Seattle (12/23), for 16 yards. At Philadelphia (12/3), he finished with two catches for a season-high 31 yards. Both receptions came on a drive in the fourth quarter that ended with Ron Dayne's 16-yard touchdown run to give the Giants a 21-14 lead with 2:43 remaining in the game. Campbell closed out the season with a nine-yard grab against Green Bay (1/6/02).

2000: Campbell started four-of-16 games and finished third on the team in touchdown receptions with three, despite catching just eight passes. He also saw action in double tight end formations and on special teams in all three postseason games but did not record a postseason reception. Campbell started opening day against Arizona (9/3) as the Giants opened the game in a two tight end formation and recorded his first career reception when Collins completed a pass to him for a 10-yard gain. He had a season-long reception of 13 yards at Chicago (9/17). At Tennessee (10/1), the Giants again opened the game in double tight end formation, and Campbell recorded his first career touchdown in the fourth quarter when he caught a one-yard pass. He left the game at Cleveland (11/5) in the fourth quarter after suffering a blow to the head. He contributed a two-yard touchdown reception against Detroit (11/19). Campbell started at Arizona (11/26) as the Giants opened the game in a double tight end formation. In that game, he caught his third touchdown reception of the season on a five-yard pass from Collins.

1999: As a rookie, Campbell played in 12 games with one start. The majority of his action came on special teams, but he also saw action as an extra blocker on offense. He earned his first NFL start when the Giants opened in a two tight end package against the N.Y. Jets (12/5), and his blocking helped the Giants gain a season-high 152 yards on the ground. He suffered a season-ending hamstring injury in the Friday practice prior to the Buffalo (12/12) game.

COLLEGE: As a senior in 1998, Campbell shared tight end duties with Derrick Spiller, starting at the "B" slot against Colorado and Oklahoma, at split end against Texas and at flanker in the North Texas and Baylor clashes. He finished with 12 receptions for 143 yards (11.9 avg) and a pair of touchdowns. He also added three tackles on special teams. Campbell gained 26 yards on two grabs against Iowa State and made a crunching block to open a hole used by Burnest Rhodes for a two-yard touchdown run. He caught a two-yard scoring pass against Baylor and had a 37-yard reception against Texas to set up a touchdown. In 1996, he played in every game, starting at tight end against North Texas and at split end against Texas, finishing the year with eight receptions for 103 yards (12.9 avg).

PERSONAL: An agricultural development major, Campbell was a consensus Texas Top 100 selection while playing a variety of positions at Class 3A Glen Rose, Texas, High School. He combined for over 1,000 rushing and receiving yards as a fullback and tight end, catching 27 passes for 423 yards and five touchdowns in his final year. Daniel Allen Campbell and his wife, Holly, have a son, Cody (7/16/99).

Quincy Carter

Quarterback

Georgia

D-2a for '01 (53rd overall)

NFL: 3rd Year ★ Cowboys: 3rd Year

GAMES/STARTS: 2001 (8/8), 2002 (7/7). Total – 15/15.

PRO: After being selected with the Cowboys top selection (53rd overall) in the 2001 NFL Draft, Quincy Carter's professional football career moved quickly. Midway through Carter's first training camp, he was handed the reigns of the Cowboys offense and became just the third rookie in franchise history to open the season at quarterback – Troy Aikman (1989) and Roger Staubach (1969) – and only the sixth rookie quarterback to ever start a game for Dallas – Don Meredith (one start in 1960), Roger Staubach (one in 1969), Kevin Sweeney (two in 1987), Aikman (11 in 1989) and Steve Walsh (five in 1989). Carter exhibited a strong arm, intelligence and athletic ability during his rookie season, despite missing eight games due to injury. These characteristics allowed him to start the 2002 season as the franchise's starting signal caller, leading the team to a 3-4 record before losing the starting job midway through the season to Chad Hutchinson. After leading the team to a 6-9 record during his 15 career starts, Carter will battle Hutchinson for the Cowboys starting quarterback job in 2003.

2002: Carter kicked off his sophomore campaign at the helm of the Cowboys offense, but surrendered the reigns to Hutchinson midway through the season. In leading the team for the first seven games on the season, Carter completed 125-of-221 passes for 1,465 yards, seven touchdowns and eight interceptions. In the process, he threw for at least 200 yards in six consecutive games, marking the longest such streak by a Cowboys signal caller since Aikman accomplished the feat in the first six games of the 1993 season. Carter also completed more than 20 passes in three straight games – the first time a Dallas quarterback has done so since Aikman in Weeks 8-12 of 1996 – and attempted 35-or-more passes in three straight games – the first time a Cowboys quarterback has done so since Aikman in Weeks 10-12 of the 1996 season. Carter struggled slightly in the season opener at Houston (9/8), throwing for 131 yards and an interception on 13-of-30 passing. He bounced back the next week against Tennessee (9/15) to complete 14-of-24 passes for 240 yards and two touchdowns in the Cowboys 21-13 win. After opening the game at Philadelphia (9/22) 11-of-14 for 115 yards, he finished 21-of-35 for 201 yards and an interception. He had a break-out game at St. Louis (9/29), leading Dallas to field goals on their final two possessions of the game to defeat the Rams 16-13. On the final two drives, Carter completed eight-of-12 passes for 64 yards, with three of his incompletions coming as the result of spiked balls to stop the clock. He also gained 24 yards on three carries during those drives. He finished the St. Louis game by completing a career-high 26-of-36 passes for 204 yards, a score and an interception. He came back the next week to throw for a career-high 262 yards and a touchdown on 23-of-42 passing, marking his third straight game with at least 35 attempts. His 42 attempts were a career-high and the most by a Dallas signal caller since Aikman had 43 against Minnesota on Nov. 23, 2000. Against Carolina (10/13), Carter guided the Cowboys to their second last second win in three weeks with two fourth quarter touchdown passes, including a career-long 80-yarder to Joey Galloway to swing the momentum Dallas' way with 3:55 remaining in the game. Facing a fourth down from the Carolina 24-yard line with less than a minute to play, he calmly connected with Antonio Bryant on a 24-yard game-winning touchdown pass. Carter finished the day 15-of-32 for 225 yards, two touchdowns and an interception. The following week at Arizona (10/20), he completed 13-of-22 passes for 202 yards – his sixth straight 200-yard passing day – one touchdown and four interceptions. The following week against Seattle (10/27), Hutchinson took over the starting quarterback duties and Carter served as the club's backup quarterback the final nine games of the season, not seeing any additional playing time.

2001: After being named the starter midway through training camp (Aug. 14), Carter became the first rookie to start the season at quarterback for the Cowboys since Aikman in 1989. Although injuries limited Carter through the first 10 games of the season, he made outstanding progress in his development, and finished the year in very impressive – and productive – fashion. Carter's final quarterback rating of 63.0 ranked ahead of fellow rookie quarterbacks Michael Vick (Atlanta – 62.7) and Chris Weinke (Carolina – 62.0), who also started games. Detroit's Mike McMahon (69.9) was the only rookie with at least one start to finish the season with a higher quarterback rating than Carter. For the year, Carter completed 90-of-176 pass attempts for 1,072 yards, five touchdowns and seven interceptions while being sacked just 12 times. He also ran the ball 45 times for 150 yards. Carter led Dallas to more victories than any other rookie quarterback in club history, and his numbers for pass attempts, completions, yardage and touchdowns ranked third at the time among Dallas rookies – trailing Aikman and Walsh. In the season opener against Tampa Bay (9/9), Carter became just the third rookie quarterback to start a season for Dallas, joining Roger Staubach (1969) and Troy Aikman (1989). He completed 9-of-19 passes for 34 yards in the 10-6 loss to the Bucs. His 17-yard scramble in the first quarter set up a Cowboys' field goal. Three days later in practice

(Sept. 12), Carter suffered a sprained right thumb after hitting his hand on Troy Hambrick's helmet. The injury forced him to miss the next two games (San Diego – 9/23 and at Philadelphia – 9/30) before returning to the starting lineup at Oakland (10/7). However, Carter suffered a severely strained left hamstring against the Raiders after he had run for 21 yards on three carries and completed one-of-five passes. The hamstring injury required surgery on Oct. 15, and Carter used the next seven weeks to rehabilitate the injury and develop his skills. He was inactive for three games before suiting up as the Cowboys third quarterback the next three weeks. He returned to game action at Washington (12/2), and recorded his first victory as a starter by guiding Dallas to a 20-14 win. In the win over the Redskins, Carter completed seven-of-14 passes for 130 yards, including a 64-yard fourth quarter touchdown toss to Raghbi Ismail for his first career scoring pass. The following week against the N.Y. Giants (12/9), Carter led Dallas to a 20-13 victory while completing a season-high 17 passes on 26 attempts for 194 yards. He also ran seven times for nine yards, including a critical 11-yard run on third-and-11 at the Giants 14-yard line to set up his game-winning touchdown pass to Jackie Harris on the next play. Carter attempted a season-high 33 passes in the Cowboys loss at Seattle (12/16), completing 14 for 135 yards and one interception. He also ran six times for a team-high 40 yards. The following week at Arizona (12/23), Carter was 16-of-28 for 176 yards, including a 45-yard touchdown pass to Reggie Swinton, and two interceptions. Carter engineered the Cowboys to a 27-21 win over the San Francisco 49ers (12/30) while throwing for a season-high 241 yards and two touchdowns on 15-of-25 passing. He also ran 10 times, the most rushing attempts in a game by a Dallas quarterback in club history (Randall Cunningham – 9 at Philadelphia Nov. 5, 2000), for 30 yards and his first career rushing touchdown. For his efforts in the 49er win, Carter was named the NFC Offensive Player of the Week. He closed the season by completing 11-of-26 passes for 158 yards at Detroit (1/6/02).

COLLEGE: Carter started every game in which he played (29) at the University of Georgia and led the Bulldogs to a 20-9 record. He finished his three-year career second in school annals in completions (483), pass attempts (853) and passing yards (6,447) and third in career at Georgia touchdown passes (35). Carter finished his final campaign (junior year) by completing 91-of-183 passes for 1,250 yards, 10 interceptions and six touchdowns despite missing four games due to injury. A left shoulder injury forced him out of one game and strained ligaments in his right thumb caused him to miss the final three games. As a sophomore, Carter earned second team All-SEC honors after completing 216-of-380 passes for 2,713 yards, 17 touchdowns and six interceptions while leading the Bulldogs offense to 416 yards-per-game – second in the SEC. Georgia finished the season with a 7-4 record and a No. 14 ranking in the final AP poll. In the Outback Bowl against Purdue, Carter threw for 243 yards and a touchdown on 20-of-33 passing to lead the Bulldogs to the biggest come-from-behind victory in school history. Georgia claimed a 28-25 overtime victory after trailing the Boilermakers 25-0. His 2,713 passing yards – including five 300-yard passing performances in 11 starts – set Georgia's sophomore record. His interception percentage of 1.58 (six picks in 380 pass attempts) was a school record and the second lowest percentage in SEC history. He also compiled the third longest streak in SEC history after throwing 170 consecutive passes without an interception. As a freshman, Carter led the Bulldogs to a 9-3 record and a No. 16 ranking in the final AP poll. He established school freshman marks for pass attempts (290), completions (176), yards (2,484) and touchdowns (12) while throwing for 300 yards or more four times. His performance earned him SEC Freshman of the Year honors.

PERSONAL: Quincy Carter was named Georgia Player of the Year by USA Today, Parade All-America and first-team all-state following his senior season at Southwest DeKalb High School in Decatur, Ga., where he was also a standout baseball player. During his prep football career, he passed for 4,450 yards and 37 touchdowns while rushing for 1,489 yards and 32 scores. The sports studies major was drafted by Major League Baseball's Chicago Cubs in the second round of the 1996 amateur draft and spent three seasons in the Cubs farm system. Carter batted .215 in his first professional season (1996), playing for Ft. Myers (Fla.) in rookie league ball and Daytona (Fla.) at the Class A level. He hit .211 for Class A Rockford (Ill.) in 1997 and .253 for Rockford in 1998. As a rookie, Carter was a member of the Cowboys inaugural "Rookie Club," a program designed to introduce rookies to community and service. Throughout the season, the rookies made visits to and spent time with children at Children's Medical Center of Dallas, Oak Cliff Boys and Girls Clubs, The Salvation Army and its' Christmas Distribution Center. Following his Rookie Club community service experience, Quincy has continued an active role supporting various charitable efforts, including the MDA Muscle Team Bash, the Spina Bifida Annual Bowl-a-thon, the Cowboys United Way Hometown Huddle event for children, The Ronald McDonald House of Dallas, Cans for Kids Food Bank Drive, the Texas Department of Human Services Food Stamp Outreach Campaign and The Salvation Army. Quincy also developed a reading initiative in the fall on 2002 called "Time Out Tuesday," where once a month during the season he would visit an elementary school to read to the children and share his thought with them on the importance of reading and education. Quincy has two children, a daughter, Khai (8/1/95), and a son, Keyshawn (1/10/00).

Trade (Detroit) for '03

NFL: 3rd Year ★ Cowboys: 1st Year

GAMES/STARTS: 2001 (1/0-St.L., 5/0-Det.), 2002 (10/3-Det.). Total: 16/3.

PRO: The Cowboys made a draft day trade on April 27 sending a seventh-round draft choice to Detroit for Aveion Cason. Cason spent the last two years working with new Cowboys Offensive Coordinator Maurice Carthon, and he should make an immediate impact as both a runner and receiver out of the backfield. He has good hands as evidenced by his 23 career receptions, but he also has the speed to make things happen once he has the ball as reflected in his 13.9 yards-per-catch average. Cason also gives the Cowboys an additional element in the return game on kickoffs.

2002: Cason's sophomore campaign saw him take big strides as a contributor to the Lions offensive attack as both a runner and receiver. He finished the season with 26 carries for 107 yards (4.1 avg.) and 19 receptions for 288 yards, two touchdowns and a 15.2 yards-per-catch average. He earned his first career start in the season opener at Miami (9/8) and recorded two receptions for 37 yards (18.5 avg.), including a 19-yard catch. The following week at Carolina (9/15), he recorded two more catches for 24 yards. Cason suffered meniscus damage in his right knee during practice on Sept. 19, and following arthroscopic surgery on the knee, he was deactivated against Green Bay (9/22) and New Orleans (9/29). Cason returned to practice on Oct. 7 and recorded two receptions for 34 yards at Minnesota (10/13), including a 26-yard grab. He led the Lions with three receptions for a career-high 57 yards against Chicago (10/20) but suffered a right ankle sprain during the game. The injury kept him out of uniform at Buffalo (10/27), but he returned to practice on Oct. 30. Cason recorded two kickoff returns for 48 yards against Dallas (11/3) and logged three receptions for 17 yards at Green Bay (11/10). A sprained MCL in his right knee limited him to two receptions for 17 yards against the N.Y. Jets (11/17). He was then inactive at Arizona (12/7), against New England (11/28) and at Chicago (11/24) due to the knee injury. With James Stewart sidelined due to injury, Cason returned to action and a place in the starting lineup against Tampa Bay (12/15), finishing with a career-high 62 rushing yards on 10 carries (6.2 avg.). He also posted a career-long run of 40-yards and a career-long reception of 37 yards against the NFL's top ranked defense in 2002. The next week at Atlanta (12/22), he recorded his first career touchdown with a 15-yard scoring catch in the fourth quarter. Cason added two receptions for 49 yards and his second career touchdown the following week against Minnesota (12/22). For the month of December, Cason averaged 10.8 yards every time he touched the football, racking up 102 yards and two touchdowns on five receptions and 82 yards on 12 carries.

2001: Cason originally signed with St. Louis as a rookie free agent following the NFL Draft. He made the opening day roster and recorded four kickoff returns for 73 yards in the season opener at Philadelphia (9/9). He was released by the Rams on Sept. 27 and signed to the Kansas City Chiefs' practice squad on Oct. 3. The Lions plucked him off the Chiefs' practice squad on Nov. 19, and he saw action in the final five games of the season. His Lions' debut came at Tampa Bay (12/9), and he recorded two carries for 10 yards against Chicago (12/30). Cason saw extended playing time in the season finale against Dallas (1/6/02), carrying the ball five times for 19 yards and adding four receptions for 32 yards.

COLLEGE: Cason played two seasons for Illinois State but did not play in 2000. As a sophomore in 1999, he rushed for 345 yards and six touchdowns on 78 carries as well as adding 34 receptions for 278 yards and two more scores. He ranked sixth in the nation with a 28.1 yards-per-return average on kickoffs, including two 100-yard scoring returns. For the year, he earned Football Gazette All-America and All-Gateway honors. As a freshman, he was named to the All-Gateway Conference Newcomer Team after rushing a career-high 124 times for a career-best 728 yards and eight touchdowns. He also had 33 receptions for 230 yards.

PERSONAL: Aveion Marquel Cason was born and raised in St. Petersburg, Fla. He did not play football during his senior year of high school after transferring, but he racked up 980 rushing yards and a 38.0-yard average as a kickoff return man during his junior season at Lakewood High School in St. Petersburg. He received his degree from Illinois State in industrial technology.

Dexter Coakley

Linebacker

5'10" ★ 236 ★ 10/20/72

Appalachian State

D-3a for '97 (65th overall)

NFL: 7th Year ★ Cowboys: 7th Year

GAMES/STARTS (regular season, playoffs): 1997 (16/16), 1998 (16/16, 1/1), 1999 (16/16, 1/1), 2000 (16/16), 2001 (15/15), 2002 (16/16). Total – 95/95, 2/2.

PRO: Despite being considered an undersized linebacker from a small college, Dexter Coakley has made a lasting impression on the National Football League. After earning the starting weakside linebacker job as a rookie third-round draft choice, Coakley has strung together six impressive seasons – finishing in the top three on the team in tackles each year. His string of six consecutive 100-tackle seasons is the first such streak in the 23 years that tackle records exist for the team. In addition, he has reached double figures in tackles 37 times in 95 career regular season games. Coakley became just the second Dallas linebacker in the last 17 years and only the seventh linebacker in club history to be selected to the Pro Bowl when he earned a spot on the NFC squad following the 1999 season. With another Pro Bowl honor in 2001, Coakley became the first Dallas linebacker to earn multiple trips since Bob Breunig (three times – last in 1982). But none of his accomplishments, including earning All-Pro honors in 1999, came as a surprise to Coakley, who has been exceeding expectations throughout his entire athletic career with his quickness and intensity. His speed and athleticism has earned him the reputation as one of the biggest playmakers in Dallas Cowboys defensive history. The ability to spark the team with a game-turning play has enabled him to tie Dennis Thurman's club record with five career touchdowns on defensive returns (fumble – 1, interceptions – 4). A team leader in the locker room and on the field, Coakley is a focal point on a Dallas defense that is built on speed and pursuit. He has also been a very visible special teams contributor throughout his career. Coakley's leadership ability was documented at the start of the 2002 season when his teammates elected him as a co-captain of the defense along with Darren Woodson. Coakley signed a six-year contract extension on March 8, 2001.

2002: Coakley established a single-season career best mark with 173 tackles, a figure that was the eighth best in the NFL and the third best in the NFC. The tackle total eclipsed his previous career high of 144 in 2000 and became the second highest single-season total in team history behind Eugene Lockhart's 222 stops in 1989. In the season opener at Houston (9/8), Coakley tied for second on the team with seven tackles. He also added a sack, a pressure and broke up a pass as the defense limited the Texans to 201 total yards. In the following week's win over Tennessee (9/15), he again was second on the team with eight tackles but turned the game completely around in the third quarter with a 52-yard interception return for a touchdown to give Dallas the lead for good at 14-10. Strong safety Darren Woodson hit Steve McNair as he was throwing, and Coakley ran under the ball for the interception. It was his fifth career return for a touchdown, tying the club record held by Dennis Thurman, and his fourth interception return for a score. At Philadelphia (9/22), Coakley led the team with 12 tackles, his first double-digit tackle game of the season, while also adding two quarterback pressures. In Dallas' last-second win at St. Louis (9/29), he finished fourth on the team with seven tackles while breaking up a pass and recovering a first quarter Marshall Faulk fumble. Coakley's heads-up play helped limit the Rams to 93 yards on the ground. He recorded his 700th career tackle in the first quarter of the victory over the Rams. In Dallas' 14-13 win over Carolina (10/13), Coakley led the team with a then career-high tying 17 tackles as the Panthers were limited to a 3.5 yards-per-carry average and a long run of nine yards. He established a new personal best for tackles in a game at Arizona (10/20) with 19, the third best single-game total in club history. His 15 solo tackles tied his career-high (at Seattle, 12/16/01) and was the second best single-game total by a Dallas player. He also tied for the team lead with two special teams tackles. In the last second loss at Detroit (11/3), Coakley was second on the team with nine tackles while adding a pressure and breaking up a pass. He helped limit the Lions to 148 total yards, the fewest by a Dallas opponent since Sept. 8, 1996 when the Giants were held to 105 total yards. Detroit ran the ball 23 times for 52 yards (2.3 average) and was held out of the end zone. In the loss at Indianapolis (11/17), he was the team leader with 14 tackles. In the Thanksgiving Day win over Washington (11/28), Coakley totaled six tackles, broke up a pass and helped hold Stephen Davis to 51 yards on 20 carries (2.6 avg.), while the defense allowed just 121 second half yards on eight Redskins' possessions. The following week against San Francisco (12/8), he was third on the team with 10 tackles, while adding a tackle for a loss as the 49ers running backs were limited to 22 carries for 75 yards (3.4 avg.). He established a new personal single-season high for tackles in the loss at New York (12/15) as his 10 stops pushed him to 145 for the year and passed his previous best total of 144 in 2000. He led the team with 10 tackles against Philadelphia (12/21) before posting the second highest tackle total of his career with 18 stops in the season-ending loss at Washington (12/29).

2001: Coakley was a key cog on the NFL's fourth ranked defense, finishing second on the team with 134 tackles. In recognition of his outstanding season and the performance by the entire Dallas defense, Coakley was recognized with the second Pro Bowl selection of his career, replacing Tampa Bay's Derrick Brooks. Coakley opened the season with five tackles against Tampa Bay (9/9) while helping limit the Bucs running game to 71 yards on 33 carries (2.2 avg.), including 22 carries for 56 yards by Warrick Dunn (2.5). The following week against San Diego (9/23), he tied for the team lead in tackles with nine and recovered a third quarter fumble. On the day, LaDainian Tomlinson was held to just a 3.3-yard average on 27 carries. Coakley tied for the team lead with 10 tackles and forced a Brian Mitchell fumble on punt coverage to set up a Dallas field goal at Philadelphia (9/30). He came back the next week to lead the team with 11 tackles at Oakland (10/7). Against Arizona (10/28), Coakley recorded the game's pivotal play when he intercepted a Jake Plummer pass and returned it 10 yards for a touchdown in the 17-3 win. He was also second on the team with 11 tackles and forced a fumble as the Cardinals were limited to 75 rushing yards. Coakley returned an interception for a touchdown for the second consecutive week when he took a pass from Kerry Collins 29 yards for a score at the N.Y. Giants (11/4). He also finished second on the team with nine tackles as the Giants were held to 93 rushing yards on 26 carries (3.6 avg.). Coakley recorded the 600th tackle of his career with five tackles at Atlanta (11/11) but suffered a sprained MCL in his left knee late in the game. That injury forced him to miss the first game of his career when the Cowboys took the field against Philadelphia (11/18), snapping a string of 72 consecutive starts. He returned to the starting lineup and recorded eight tackles against Denver (11/22). The following week at Washington (12/2), Coakley's six tackles helped limit Stephen Davis, the NFC's third leading rusher entering the game, to 53 yards on 17 carries. Coakley tied for the team lead with eight tackles against the N.Y. Giants (12/9) while helping hold the Giants to 245 yards of total offense, including just 73 yards on their final eight possessions. When the Cowboys visited Seattle (12/16), Coakley recorded a then career-high 17 tackles, including 15 solo – the second most in a game in club history. The 17 stops also put him over the 100-tackle mark for the season. He again led the team with nine tackles at Arizona (12/23) before helping hold San Francisco (12/30) and the NFL's second ranked running game (146 yards-per-game) to 56 yards on the ground with seven tackles. Coakley wrapped up his season with a team-high 14 tackles at Detroit (1/6).

2000: Coakley again performed at his expected high level, posting a then career-high 144 tackles to finish second on the team while tying for the team lead with seven tackles behind the line of scrimmage. Six times during the 2000 season, he led or tied for the team lead in tackles in a game and 10 times he posted double-figure tackle totals. He opened the season against Philadelphia (9/3) by leading all linebackers with 10 tackles. He posted 10 stops to help limit the Redskins to 3.7 yards-per-carry at Washington (9/18). He recorded another 10 stops against San Francisco (9/24), and he led the team with a season-high 13 tackles at Carolina (10/1). At the N.Y. Giants (10/15), Coakley led the team with 11 tackles while adding a stop behind the line of scrimmage. He registered another eight stops against Arizona (10/22) in helping limit the Cardinals to 99 total yards through the first three quarters before leaving the 48-7 win. He posted his sixth double-digit tackle game when he tallied 10 stops against Jacksonville (10/29). At Philadelphia (11/5), Coakley helped limit four Eagles running backs to 77 rushing yards on 25 carries (3.1 avg.) while recording 12 tackles. For the third time, he led the team in tackles, recording 12 stops against Cincinnati (11/12) while helping limit the Bengals to 195 total yards of offense. He recorded seven stops at Baltimore (11/19), including the 500th tackle of his career. He tied for the team lead with six tackles against Minnesota (11/23). He recovered a Stephen Davis fumble to set up a Dallas touchdown early in the third period against Washington (12/10). He again led the team with 11 tackles against the N.Y. Giants (12/17), including two stops for losses, to help limit the Giants to 3.2 rushing yards-per-carry. In the season finale at Tennessee (12/25), Coakley led the team with 11 tackles and forced a fumble.

1999: Coakley turned in another phenomenal season, leading the team with four interceptions, tying for the team lead with six tackles for a loss, finishing second with 131 tackles, tying for third with nine passes defended and finishing fifth with 12 special teams tackles. His four interceptions were the most by a Dallas linebacker since Lee Roy Jordan totaled six in 1975, and he was the first linebacker to lead the team in interceptions since Eugene Lockhart in 1989. Coakley's performance throughout the season earned him his first Pro Bowl selection, the first Dallas linebacker to earn a Pro Bowl spot since Ken Norton in 1993. He also earned first-team All-Pro honors from Sports Illustrated and second-team All-Pro honors from College & Pro Football Newsweekly and Football Digest. He opened the season at Washington (9/12) tying for the team lead with nine tackles, including a tackle for a loss on third down that led to a Redskins punt with 3:01 remaining in the game, setting Dallas up for its game tying touchdown drive. Against Atlanta (9/20), he finished with five tackles after intercepting a Tony Graziani pass on the Falcons opening drive and returning it 43 yards to set up a Dallas field goal. He led the team with 11 tackles at Philadelphia (10/10). At the N.Y. Giants (10/18), he posted a season-high 12 tackles while helping limit the Giants to 228 yards of offense. Against Washington (10/24), Coakley posted eight tackles while helping limit the Redskins to 61 rushing yards, and he registered six stops while forcing a fumble at Indianapolis (10/31). He tied for the team lead with eight tackles at Minnesota (11/8) and 11 stops against Green Bay (11/14) as the Packers were held to 40 yards rushing. At Arizona (11/21), he led the team with 10 tackles while recording two tackles for losses and a sack. On Thanksgiving Day against Miami (11/25), Coakley recorded the first multi-interception game of his career, picking off Dan Marino twice, returning the first pick 46 yards for the game's first score. He also finished with 10 tackles and a career-high three passes defended against the Dolphins to earn Phil Simms' Iron Man Award and NFC Defensive Player of the Week honors. Coakley totaled eight tackles, a career-high tying three passes defended and an interception the next week at New England (12/5). He totaled seven stops at New Orleans (12/24) and against the N.Y. Giants (1/2/00). Coakley recorded eight tackles in the NFC Wild Card Playoff Game at Minnesota (1/9/00).

DEXTER COAKLEY

1998: Coakley followed a stellar rookie campaign with a solid sophomore season, finishing second on the team with 127 tackles. He closed the year with eight passes defended, tying the third highest total on the team. Coakley was a big part of limiting the Cardinals to 45 rushing yards and 205 total yards by recording three tackles and two passes defended against Arizona (9/6). At Denver (9/13), he led the team with 11 tackles. The next week at the N.Y. Giants (9/21), he finished with six tackles and two passes defended as the Dallas defense limited the Giants to 56 yards. He posted nine tackles against Oakland (9/27) and seven stops at Washington (10/4). Coakley registered eight tackles while helping the defense hold Carolina (10/11) to 37 yards on 21 carries (1.8 avg.). At Chicago (10/18), he led the team with a season-high 15 tackles while also recording a first quarter sack and picking off a third quarter pass to set up a Dallas touchdown. When the Cowboys limited the Eagles to 200 yards of total offense (96 rushing, 104 passing) at Philadelphia (11/2), Coakley led the team with eight tackles and added his second sack of the season. He was second on the team the next week with eight tackles against the N.Y. Giants (11/8). His eight tackles against Minnesota (11/26) on Thanksgiving Day tied him for the team lead. Over the final four games of the regular season, at New Orleans (12/6), at Kansas City (12/13), against Philadelphia (12/20) and Washington (12/27), Coakley recorded nine tackles a game. In the Eagles contest, he also led the team with two special team tackles, giving him 10 for the season – sixth best on the team. In the season finale, his nine stops helped limit the Redskins to 80 yards rushing. In the first postseason action of his career, Coakley recorded five tackles and a special teams stop against Arizona (1/2/99).

1997: Coakley was awarded the starting job at weakside linebacker in training camp and never relinquished the position. By season's end, Coakley was the NFL's leader among all rookies in tackles with a Cowboys rookie record 136 stops – a total that was third on the Cowboys defensive list. He was named to All-Rookie teams selected by Pro Football Weekly and Football News. His 2.5 sacks were the most by a Dallas rookie since Russell Maryland registered 4.5 in 1991, and his sack total was good for seventh place among all NFL rookie defenders. Coakley was the club leader with 10 stops for losses. He was named the NFL's Defensive Rookie of the Month for October after tallying 31 tackles, one tackle for a loss and a fumble return for a touchdown. Coakley became the first rookie to start a season opener for Dallas since Robert Jones in 1992 when he started at Pittsburgh (8/31). Coakley led the team with eight tackles and added his first career interception in his first NFL game, making him the first rookie linebacker to record an interception for Dallas since Dixon Edwards had one against Cincinnati on Oct. 13, 1991. The next week at Arizona (9/7), he totaled eight stops, two tackles for losses, two quarterback pressures and a pass deflection. He also had a sack in overtime that forced a Kent Graham fumble that Dallas recovered. Coakley finished second on the team with 11 tackles at Washington (10/13). He also picked up a Redskins fumble and returned it 16 yards for his first career touchdown, making him the first rookie defender to record a touchdown for Dallas since Edwards scored against Cincinnati. It was also the first fumble return for a touchdown by a Dallas rookie since Larry Cole ran one back 21 yards at Washington on Nov. 17, 1968. He registered a season-high 12 tackles at Green Bay (11/23) while tying the club record with four tackles for a loss. He also registered a sack in the Packers game and went over the 100-tackle mark for the season. Four days later, he posted a season-high tying 12-tackle performance against Tennessee (11/27). In the process, he broke Robert Jones' single-season record for tackles by a rookie. He recorded his sixth double digit tackle game of the season with 10 stops against Carolina (12/8) before again totaling 10 stops in the season finale against the N.Y. Giants (12/21) while adding his 10th tackle for a loss.

COLLEGE: Coakley recorded a school record 616 tackles and 13 forced fumbles at Appalachian State, totaling double figure tackles in 37 games and at least 20 stops in seven games. Coakley was a first-team Division I-AA All-America and the Southern Conference Defensive Player of the Year as a sophomore, junior and senior, and, in his first year at ASU, he was named the conference's Defensive Freshman of the Year. In 1995, he was named the inaugural recipient of the Buck Buchanan Award, which honors the nation's best Division I-AA defensive player, and he went on to bring home the same award following his senior season. Coakley was also named the Southern Conference's Athlete of the Year as a junior and senior, marking just the seventh time in conference history that one individual had earned that distinction in consecutive years. As a senior, he accumulated a career-high 166 tackles and was named the league's Defensive Player of the Week after having 20-tackle performances against Wake Forest, East Tennessee State and Furman. As a junior, he averaged 13.6 tackles-per-game in 11 regular season outings (150 total). Coakley was the defensive spark behind a Mountaineer team that went undefeated in the regular season and finished the year 12-1 after losing to Stephen F. Austin in a second round playoff game.

PERSONAL: A native of Mt. Pleasant, S.C., Coakley graduated from Wando High School, where he earned four letters in football. He was the team's Most Valuable Player twice and was twice named all-conference as a defensive back. Coakley posted 295 tackles in his final two years of prep football and was named his school's athlete of the year as a senior. He also lettered in wrestling. Coakley earned a degree in communications and advertising at Appalachian State and worked in the school's sports information office. Coakley received the Cowboys Unsung Hero Award in 2002 as selected by his teammates and fans. The Unsung Hero Award honors one player from each NFL team whose determination and commitment transcends the playing field, but whose accomplishments on and off the field are seldom glorified. In November, 2001 Dexter, along with the entire Cowboys linebacker corps, hosted "Blitzed Hunger" and distributed 500 hams at The Salvation Army in the Cowboys/Hormel Hams for the Holidays program. Dexter annually serves as a celebrity escort in the Children's Cancer Fund Fashion Show, which raises funds for pediatric oncology research. He has been a guest football coach at the club's Let Us Play! Sports Camp for Girls, a camp for girls ages 12-15 that are selected from various non-profit agencies in the D/FW metropolitanplex. Dexter also served as a speaker for "Babe's Best," a program created by former Cowboys quarterback and current Dallas CBS affiliate sports anchor Babe Laufenberg to recognize outstanding high school athletes for their efforts on and off the field. In 2002, Dexter played in a local golf tournament that benefited Happy Hill Farm – a home and school for over 100 abused and neglected children which is also home of the Dallas Cowboys Courage House. Dexter and wife, Nicole, have a daughter, Trinity (3/11/03).

Northwestern

FA for '01

NFL: 3rd Year ★ Cowboys: 3rd Year

GAMES/STARTS: 2001 (0/0), 2002 (9/4). Total – 9/4.

PRO: Raw potential, size and athletic ability have enabled Collins to make the transition from collegiate defensive tackle to a promising young offensive lineman in the NFL. Signed as a rookie free agent defensive tackle from Northwestern in 2001, Collins worked on both sides of the line as a rookie before concentrating mostly on offensive tackle toward the end of his first professional season. He spent the spring of 2002 in a learning capacity as an offensive tackle with the Frankfurt Galaxy in NFL Europe, where he helped lead the way for 1,433 rushing yards – the second best total in NFL Europe. Injuries and uncertainty on the Dallas line in 2002 forced Collins into extensive action at right tackle where he showed continued improvement and flashes of promise.

2002: After being inactive for the season opener at Houston (9/8), Collins earned his first NFL regular season game action on the field goal unit against Tennessee (9/15). In the loss at Philadelphia (9/22), starting right guard Kelvin Garmon was injured in the third quarter, prompting starting right tackle Solomon Page to take Garmon's spot. Collins was then inserted at right tackle and received his initial stretch of extended playing time on the offensive line. In the following week's last-minute victory at St. Louis (9/29), Collins moved into the lineup at right tackle for Larry Allen (ankle) mid-way through first quarter. His solid play helped Dallas allow just two sacks in 38 pass plays, while the Cowboys rushed for 122 yards on 27 carries (4.5 avg.). The next week against the N.Y. Giants (10/6), Collins once again took over at right tackle for Allen (ankle) in the first quarter and helped limit DE Michael Strahan to four tackles and no sacks for the day. He made his first NFL start against Carolina (10/13) when he replaced Allen (moved to left guard) at right tackle and helped Dallas gain 311 total yards in a 14-13 victory. Collins earned his second career start at Arizona (10/20) with Allen inactive (ankle), and he helped Dallas rush for 148 yards and a 4.1 yards-per-carry average. The line allowed just two sacks on the day despite two changes at the left guard position because of injuries. Collins earned a spot in history against Seattle (10/27) as Emmitt Smith earned his first 100-yard rushing game of the year and passed Walter Payton as the NFL's all-time leading rusher with Collins at right tackle. Collins, however, suffered a sprained MCL in his right knee on the final extra point of the game and did not return. The injury forced him to miss the next six games. In the loss to Philadelphia (12/21), Collins returned to action after taking over at right tackle for Page, who sprained a knee on the game's second drive. Collins went the distance at right tackle the following week in the season ending loss at Washington (12/29) in place of Page.

2001: Collins was inactive for all 16 games in his first year with the Cowboys. He was one of only four rookie free agents to make the roster out of training camp. After working at nose tackle with the third unit during preseason and recording three tackles, Collins moved to offensive tackle the first week of the regular season. After working on both sides of the ball during the first half of the season, Collins concentrated on offense during the second half of the year.

COLLEGE: During his senior campaign at Northwestern, Collins started at defensive tackle and led all linemen with 49 tackles, a career-high 11 tackles for losses and three sacks. As a junior, Collins finished the year with 38 tackles and led the defensive line with four sacks. Playing in all 12 games and starting five as a sophomore, Collins recorded 36 tackles, three for a loss and one sack. Collins saw action in eight games as a special teams player as a redshirt freshman.

PERSONAL: Javiar Lawrence Collins was named Blue Chip Illustrated All-America and SuperPrep all-mid-west as he recorded 105 tackles, nine sacks and four forced fumbles as a senior at St. Thomas Academy in St. Paul, Minn., to earn all-state, all-metro and all-conference honors in football and basketball. He earned two letters in football and three in basketball. As a member of the 2001 Rookie Club program which introduces rookie team members to community service in the Dallas area, Collins participated in monthly visits to charitable organizations serving children. Collins has also participated in The Salvation Army Angel Tree program for needy children during the holiday season and the offensive line's ongoing support of The Rise School of Dallas in the club's First Downs for down Syndrome program. Collins graduated from Northwestern with a degree in communications.

FA for '02

NFL: 2nd Year ★ Cowboys: 2nd Year

GAMES/STARTS: 2002 (16/0).

PRO: After an intense preseason "kick-off" with Tim Seder, Billy Cundiff won the Cowboys kicking job in 2002 after connecting on seven-of-10 field goal attempts – including a 52-yarder – and all four extra point attempts during preseason action. He became the 10th Dallas kicker since the 1989 season, joining the likes of Roger Ruzek (1989), Luis Zendejas (1989), Ken Willis (1990-91), Lin Elliott (1992-93), Eddie Murray (1993, 1999), Chris Boniol (1994-96), Richie Cunningham (1997-99), Tim Seder (2000-01) and Jon Hilbert (2001). While getting a limited number of opportunities as a rookie, Cundiff still led the team in scoring with 61 points. Versatile enough to also handle kickoff chores, Cundiff should only continue to improve in his second season.

2002: After winning the kicking job in preseason, Cundiff went on the hit 12-of-19 field goal attempts and all 25 of his extra point tries to lead the team with 61 points. He also took over the kickoff chores following the release of Micah Knorr on Oct. 22. Cundiff went on to place two of his 24 kickoffs into the end zone with one touchback. He averaged 60.9 yards (the nine-yard line) per kickoff, and the opponent's average starting position following his kickoffs was the 30.5-yard line. For the season, Dallas finished seventh in the NFC, 13th in NFL, in opponents drive start following kickoffs with a 28.3 yard-line starting spot. Cundiff opened the season by hitting his first career field goal attempt, a 33-yarder at Houston (9/8). He later missed a 42-yard attempt in the second half. He was three-of-three on extra points against Tennessee (9/15) but did not attempt a field goal, snapping a streak of 13 consecutive games in which Dallas had connected on a field goal. At Philadelphia (9/22), Cundiff was back on the field, hitting both field goal attempts, including a 47-yarder. The biggest moment of Cundiff's brief career came at St. Louis (9/29), where he earned NFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors by hitting a 48-yard field goal with 0:00 remaining to give Dallas a 13-10 win. He had earlier nailed a 35-yard kick with 4:23 remaining in the game to tie the score at 10-10. The 48-yard kick was the longest game-winning field goal (in the final 2:00 or overtime) in club history. Despite hitting the right upright on a 45-yard attempt against the N.Y. Giants (10/6), he came back to nail a 32-yarder and two extra points. Cundiff hit both extra points but did not attempt a field goal in the 14-13 win over Carolina (10/13). He missed a 49-yard attempt on his only kick at Arizona (10/20). With the release of Knorr, Cundiff took over kickoff duties beginning against Seattle (10/27) and averaged 66 yards on three kickoffs. The Seahawks average start was their 24-yard line. At Indianapolis (11/17), he hit a 21-yard field goal, his first career attempt inside of 30 yards. It was also his first field goal attempt in three games. His 42-yard field goal with 4:23 remaining in the game against Washington (11/28) put Dallas up 27-20. Cundiff would finish with nine points against the Redskins on three extra points and two-of-three field goals. Against San Francisco (12/8), Cundiff hit 23- and 37-yard field goals in the first quarter but was wide right on a 47-yard attempt in the fourth. He hit all three extra points and also recorded his first career special teams tackle with a takedown of Jamal Robertson to prevent a touchdown on a kickoff return. Cundiff hit his only field goal attempt of the day, a 42-yard effort, against Philadelphia (12/21) and then closed out the season hitting both extra points at Washington (12/29).

COLLEGE: Cundiff – who made eight field goals of 50-yards or more during his collegiate career – finished his time at Drake with 15 school and seven Pioneer Football league kicking records, including career points (284), career field goals (49-of-79) and career PATs (137-of-151). His 49 field goals made ranks 14th on the NCAA I-AA career field goal list, and he owns the second longest field goal in NCAA I-AA history with a 62-yarder against San Diego in 2000. He became the first player in league history to be named first-team All-Pioneer League four consecutive seasons while also earning three consecutive All-Academic team honors from the Pioneer League. As a senior Cundiff earned Division I-AA All-America honors and was named co-recipient of the Jerry Howlett Award, which is presented annually to Drake's outstanding student-athlete. He led the league in scoring with 62 points (11-of-17 field goals and 29-of-33 extra points). Cundiff earned Football Gazette's NCAA I-AA Mid-Major Player of the Year award as a junior when he finished second in the nation with 20 field goals (on 27 attempts) while converting 40-of-44 PATs. For the year he established 15 school records – including field goals made (20) and points by a kicker (100) – while tying two other marks. He connected on a school-record five field goals from 54-, 37-, 32-, 52- and 21-yards against Wisconsin-Stevens Point to help score a school kicking record 17 points. Cundiff set school and league marks with a 62-yard field goal, along with 30- and 29-yards, against San Diego. For the season, he converted five-of-seven field goal attempts from beyond 50 yards. Cundiff led the Pioneer League with 67 points. In his first collegiate season, Cundiff became the first freshman kicker in Pioneer Football League history to earn first-team all-conference honors.

PERSONAL: Cundiff was named Omaha World Herald and Council Bluffs Nonpareil Southwest Iowa Prep Athlete of the Year for the 1997-98 school year after leading Harlan, Iowa, High School to the Iowa Class 3A state football championship and being named to the Iowa Class 3A all-state tournament team in 1998. The two-time all-state football player also led Harlan to the 1995 state football title. The secondary education major finished second in the high jump at the 1997 Iowa state track meet with a jump of 6'6". As a member of the Cowboys 2002 Rookie Club – a program designed to introduce rookie team member to community service in the Dallas area – Cundiff participated in monthly charity visits to non-profit organizations serving children. He also participated in the team's annual United Way Hometown Huddle event hosted at the club's training facility for 100 children from The Salvation Army. In the spring of 2003, Cundiff participated in the Texas Air National Guard – 136th Air Wing Lift Family Day honoring the families of those serving in the military, participated in the Plano Komen Race For The Cure and served as celebrity football coach in the club's seventh annual Dallas Cowboys Let Us Play! Sports Camp for 150 girls from various Dallas area non-profit agencies. Cundiff went back to school in the spring of 2003 and graduated in May with a degree in history from Drake.

PRO: After a record setting career as the quarterback at Clemson, Woodrow Dantzler signed with the Cowboys as a rookie free agent in 2002 and hoped to make the squad as a running back. After a three month stint on the Cowboys practice squad, Dantzler was moved to the active roster and showed coaches his abilities as a kick returner over the final month of the season, including a highlight reel 84-yard touchdown return. Having made an impression on the coaching staff with his attitude and athletic ability, Dantzler is now working in the defensive secondary as a safety. This versatility and ability to make plays in the kicking game will be vital for Dantzler as he works to maintain his spot on the Cowboys roster.

2002: After making the change from collegiate quarterback to professional running back, Dantzler led Dallas during preseason action with a 44.6 kickoff return average while carrying the ball 11 times for 33 yards. He was released on the final cut, but immediately signed to Dallas's practice squad. He remained there for the first 12 weeks of the season before being moved to the active roster on Nov. 26. Seeing most of his action on kickoff returns, he posted a 22.3-yard average on 27 returns over the final five games of the season. He began his NFL career against Washington (11/28), returning three kicks for a 20.3-yard average. The following week against San Francisco, he totaled 185 yards on six returns (30.8 avg.), including one of the most spectacular plays of the season. After catching a 49ers kickoff at the Dallas 16-yard line, Dantzler bounced off a couple of would-be tacklers and headed to the right sidelines. After avoiding another tackle attempt, he tightrope walked the sideline on one foot before gaining his balance and shooting down the sideline for a touchdown. The return followed a San Francisco touchdown and put Dallas back on top 20-17. At the N.Y. Giants (12/15), he tied Mel Renfro's club record with eight kickoff returns for 191 yards (23.9 avg.). He was limited to a 17.5-yard average on six returns against Philadelphia (12/21) while recording his first career fumble. He closed his first NFL season at Washington (12/29) by returning four kickoffs for 60 yards.

COLLEGE: Dantzler finished his collegiate career completing 445-of-773 passes for 5,819 yards, 37 touchdowns and 24 interceptions while rushing for 2,704 yards and 27 touchdowns on 576 carries, becoming only the third signal caller in NCAA history to pass for 5,000 yards and rush for 2,500 yards during his career. He also became the first quarterback in NCAA history to throw for 2,000 yards and rush for 1,000 yards in a single season. He is Clemson's all-time passing yards leader (5,819) and touchdown passer (37). As a senior, Dantzler completed 188-of-311 passes for 2,360 yards, 17 touchdowns and 11 interceptions while rushing for 1,004 yards and 10 touchdowns on 206 attempts. He was a midseason Heisman candidate before suffering a left upper-ankle injury as a junior, finishing the 2000 season with 137 completions on 244 attempts for 1,871 yards, 11 touchdowns and seven interceptions. As a sophomore, he led the 30th ranked offense in the nation by averaging 231 total yards-per-game while completing 112-of-201 passes for nine touchdowns and six interceptions.

PERSONAL: In his three-year prep career at Orangeburg-Wilkinson High School in Orangeburg, S.C., Dantzler completed 507-of-791 passes for 7,113 yards and 60 touchdowns while rushing for 3,134 yards and 35 touchdowns. He was a SuperPrep All-America while also running track and finishing third in the state in the 400-meter hurdles. He received a degree in marketing in August 2001. Dantzler has been very active in the community since becoming a Cowboy. In addition to participating in monthly charity appearances during the season with the team's Rookie Club, he has been actively involved with the Texas D.A.R.E. Foundation, served as a guest speaker at local elementary schools, participated in the annual Spina Bifida bowl-a-thon, visited with patients at Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Children and served as a celebrity guest coach at the Cowboys Let Us Play! Sports Camp for 150 underprivileged girls from area non-profit agencies.

PRO: Keith Davis earned a shot with the Cowboys as a rookie free agent out of training camp. After moving between the practice squad and active roster in 2002 due to injuries in the Dallas secondary, Davis will once again be fighting for a chance to add depth to the secondary while working in nickel and dime packages.

2002: Davis signed with the Cowboys as a rookie free agent and totaled eight tackles and an interception in preseason action. He was released Sept. 1 and signed to the Cowboys practice squad Sept. 2. He was released again on Sept. 10, but re-signed to the practice squad Sept. 16. He was then moved to the active roster on Oct. 12 and recorded four tackles against Carolina (10/13) in his first NFL action. He recorded a tackle, two quarterback pressures and a pass defended at Arizona (10/20). He was waived Oct. 22 and re-signed to the Dallas practice squad Oct. 23. Davis moved back to the active roster on Nov. 22 and went on to record at least one special teams tackle in each of the last six games of the season, including two in the Thanksgiving Day win over Washington (11/28).

COLLEGE: Davis finished his collegiate career by leading Sam Houston with 96 tackles – including a team-high 67 solo stops – while also recording seven passes defended, three forced fumbles, a sack and a fumble recovery. This effort brought All-America honors from the American Football Coaches Association and All-Southland League honors. He finished his Bearkat career fourth on the school's career tackle list with 339 stops. As a junior, Davis was named Southland Football League Defensive Player of the Year and team Most Valuable Player after posting 99 tackles, a team-high 14 tackles behind the line of scrimmage and two interceptions while blocking two punts. Davis earned honorable mention All-Southland honors after recording 104 tackles, 11 passes defended, three forced fumbles, two interceptions and two fumble recoveries as a sophomore. He also blocked three punts during that campaign. Davis started five games as a redshirt freshman for the Bearkats, totaling 40 tackles.

PERSONAL: Davis was a two-time all-state and all-district wide receiver and defensive back for Italy, Texas, High School. The four-year starter blocked five punts and caught 33 touchdown passes during his final two prep campaigns. Davis was a starter on the Gladiators basketball team that won the 1997 Class AA state championship. He was also a starter on the baseball team. As a member of the Cowboys 2002 Rookie Club – a program designed to introduce rookie team members to community service in the Dallas area – Davis participated in monthly charity visits to non-profit organizations helping children.

Tony Dixon

Safety

Alabama

D-2b for '01 (56th overall)

NFL: 3rd Year ★ Cowboys: 3rd Year

GAMES/STARTS: 2001 (8/0), 2002 (16/7). Totals – 24/7.

PRO: Tony Dixon evolved into a very integral part of the Cowboys' defense in his second season in Dallas. Built from the same mold as the club's hard-hitting Darren Woodson, Dixon should help shore up the team's defense against both the pass and run. After a rookie campaign that saw him limited by injuries, Dixon bounced back in 2002 and became a key cog in the secondary and on special teams. His work in the nickel package and in place of an injured Darren Woodson gave him the opportunity to get on the field and show everyone the talent that made him a second round draft choice in 2001. He has shown a willingness to fill the holes and play aggressively near the line of scrimmage, but he is not limited to being a tough tackling run-stuffer. Dixon has also displayed good instincts in the passing game to go with the speed to cover ground in the secondary. On top of the physical package, Dixon also has the smarts to handle the added pressure of calling shots in the defensive secondary, having excelled in the classroom and graduated from Alabama in just three and a half years.

2002: Dixon opened the 2002 season as a vital part of the club's nickel package, replacing Darren Woodson (who moved to the slot) at strong safety. In the 10th game of the season, Woodson suffered a season-ending groin injury that forced Dixon into the line-up full-time. He responded to these demands with 49 tackles, two sacks, two passes defended, four quarterback pressures and his first career interception. He was also third on the team with 16 special teams tackles. Dixon suffered a strained hamstring early in the first half against Tennessee (9/15) and did not return. He was back in action the next week at Philadelphia (9/22), recording a tackle and a special teams stop. At St. Louis (9/29), he recorded three key tackles in the "42" and "nickel" packages while finishing second on the team with three special teams tackles. His play on the coverage teams helped limit Terrence Wilkins to one yard on three punt returns, along with one fair catch. Dixon came on to record four tackles against the N.Y. Giants (10/6), and his three tackles against Carolina (10/13) helped limit the Panthers to 192 net passing yards. Dixon earned his first NFL start at Arizona (10/20) when the Cardinals opened with three wide receivers. His five tackles against Seattle (10/27) helped limit the Seahawks to 170 net passing yards. At Detroit (11/3), Dixon recorded two tackles, broke up a pass and added a quarterback pressure as the Lions were limited to 96 net yards passing and a 13.0% third-down conversion rate. Dixon was forced into the full glare of the spotlight at Indianapolis (11/17) when he took over at strong safety for Woodson in the middle of the second quarter after Woodson suffered a strained groin. He went on to record three tackles on the afternoon. His first career start at strong safety in the standard defensive package came against Jacksonville (11/24), where he went on to record five tackles while helping limit the Jags to 194 net passing yards – including a 9.2 yards-per-catch average and just one pass over 20 yards. Dixon recorded four tackles and a quarterback pressure against Washington (11/28) as the Redskins finished the day throwing four interceptions and generating just 121 second half yards on eight possessions. He tied for fourth on the team with six tackles at the N.Y. Giants (12/15). His first sack of the season came against Philadelphia (12/21), while adding four tackles. Dixon finished the year with one of the best performances of his career, recording a career-high eight tackles at Washington (12/29). He was also involved in forcing three turnovers: recording the first interception of his career with a first quarter pick, and then on back-to-back drives in the third quarter forcing fumbles – one during his sack of Patrick Ramsey – that Dallas recovered.

2001: Dixon entered his rookie season nursing a strained hamstring and was deactivated for the season opener against Tampa Bay (9/9). He saw his first NFL action and recorded two tackles working at safety in nickel packages against San Diego (9/23). He continued to see duty as the club's nickel safety the first half of the season and recorded his first career sack with a take-down of Rich Gannon at Oakland (10/7). He also tied for second on the team with two special teams tackles against the Raiders. While covering the second half kickoff at the N.Y. Giants (11/4), Dixon suffered a high ankle sprain in his left leg. The injury forced him to the sidelines for the next five weeks. He returned to practice during the week leading up to the Seattle (12/19) contest but was inactive for that game as well as the following week at Arizona (12/23). Dixon returned to action on special teams against San Francisco (12/30), and then he was back on the field in nickel packages in the season-finale at Detroit (1/6/02).

COLLEGE: A three-year starter at safety for the Crimson Tide, Dixon finished his career with 252 stops. He finished third on the team with 90 tackles and added two interceptions as a senior free safety. Six times over the final nine games of his college career, he reached double figures in tackles, including a career-high 17 tackles against Tennessee. Dixon split time between strong and free safety during his junior campaign, starting the first five games of the year at free before moving to strong. He went on to finish the year second on the squad with 65 tackles for an Alabama team that went 10-3 and captured the SEC title. He saved his best game for the biggest stage, forcing a fumble and contributing a season-high 13 tackles against Florida in Alabama's 34-7 SEC title game win. Dixon moved into the starting lineup at strong safety as a sophomore. He led the secondary and was third on the team with 75 tackles.

PERSONAL: Dixon graduated from Alabama with a degree in business management in December 2000. As a junior at Alabama, he was one of 300 student-athletes from around the nation selected to participate in the third annual NCAA Foundation Leadership Conference. Dixon was a four-year starter, lettering in football, basketball and baseball at Pickens County High School in Reform, Ala., earning all-state gridiron honors as a senior. He played both ways for the Tornadoes, rushing for 1,450 yards and 18 touchdowns, passing for two touchdowns and catching another score as a receiver. On defense, he had six sacks, four interceptions and two fumble recoveries. As a junior, he rushed for 1,286 yards and 17 touchdowns while recording 115 tackles and six interceptions on defense – three of which he returned for touchdowns. Dixon earned an advanced diploma and finished fourth in his graduating class. He also became the first athlete from Pickens County High School to sign a Division I scholarship. Off the field, Dixon was the school's Boys' State representative and also served as president and vice president of the student council. As a rookie, Dixon was a member of the Cowboys inaugural "Rookie Club," a program designed to introduce rookies to community service. Throughout the 2001 season, the rookies made visits to and spent time with children at Children's Medical Center of Dallas, Oak Cliff Boys and Girls Clubs, The Salvation Army and its' Christmas Distribution Center. Since his rookie season, Dixon has committed himself to volunteering in the Dallas-Ft. Worth community. He has participated in the Plano Komen Race For The Cure, served as a guest speaker at the Rockwall United Way event, the Oak Cliff Boys and Girls Club's Youth Summit and more recently at the 2003 Arlington Silver Eagle Boys Scouts Longhorn Council Annual Fundraising Luncheon. He has also participated in The Salvation Army Angel Tree program providing clothing and toys to needy children, served dinner and interacted with families at the Dallas Ronald McDonald House, served as a football coach at the club's annual United Way Hometown Huddle event for over 100 underprivileged youth and attended the Daryl Johnston hosted MDA Muscle Team Bash as a celebrity guest.

Mario Edwards

Cornerback

6'0" ★ 199 ★ 12/1/75

Florida State

NFL: 4th Year ★ Cowboys: 4th Year

GAMES/STARTS: 2000 (11/1), 2001 (16/15), 2002 (15/15), Total - (42/31).

PRO: As one of three Dallas cornerbacks selected in the 2000 NFL Draft, Mario Edwards has rapidly surfaced as a productive player who benefited from the experience of being a starter on the NFL's fourth ranked defense in 2001. Edwards, the third of those three corners selected (sixth round - 180th overall), immediately caught the attention of Cowboys coaches with his attitude and hard work. While being thrown into the fire as a second-year player in 2001, he displayed poise, athleticism and playmaking ability. He followed that season with another productive year as a starter in 2002. His most visible asset is his ability to locate the ball in the air and make plays on the ball as it approaches an intended receiver. Edwards is an aggressive competitor who rarely gets beat deep. With two years of starting experience under his belt, he will be expected to continue his improvement while facing a more competitive situation for playing time in 2003.

2002: Edwards finished the year eighth on the team with a career-high 72 tackles, while finishing third in interceptions with two. He also broke up eight passes to finish tied for fourth on the team. Edwards opened his second season as a starter at left cornerback at Houston (9/8), contributing three tackles and a tackle for lost yardage while surrendering no Texan pass receptions by the receivers he covered. In the win over Tennessee (9/15), Edwards contributed six tackles and a pass deflection. At Philadelphia (9/22), he had five tackles. In the win at St. Louis (9/29), Edwards contributed five tackles and a pass deflection. He added five more tackles against the N.Y. Giants (10/6) in helping limit the Giants to one pass play of over 20 yards. He missed the win over Carolina (10/13) with a quad contusion suffered in the Giants game. Edwards returned to action at Arizona (10/20) and registered six tackles and a deflected pass. He had three tackles and a deflected pass in the loss at Detroit (11/3) before adding another six stops at Indianapolis (11/17). In the win over Jacksonville (11/24), Edwards was very involved in run support and tallied a career-high 10 tackles. He also recovered a Jags fumble in the end zone that stopped an apparent Jacksonville scoring drive. In the Thanksgiving Day win over Washington (11/28), Edwards registered the first multiple interception game of his career with two picks to go with a career-high tying three passes defensed. The first theft came in the end zone to stop a first quarter Redskins' drive. The second came on the last play of the game. Against San Francisco (12/8), he totaled six tackles, one of which resulted in lost yardage. In the loss at New York (12/15), Edwards contributed five unassisted tackles. He posted two stops against Philadelphia (12/21) before leaving the game in the second quarter with a neck injury. He returned to action in the season finale at Washington (12/29) to record four tackles in helping limit the Redskins to 201 net passing yards.

2001: An opening day starter at left cornerback, Edwards led the Cowboys in passes defensed with 11 and was the eighth leading tackler on the squad with 58 stops. Edwards played a key role in the surprising performance of the Dallas defense that finished the season ranked fourth in the NFL - allowing 287.4 yards-per-game. The Dallas secondary helped limit opponents to 180.6 yards-per-game, which ranked third in the NFL. That ranking was bolstered by Dallas' ability to hold opponents to under 150 yards passing in seven games in 2001. Edwards registered a season-high six tackles in four games during the 2001 season - against Tampa Bay (9/9), Washington (10/15), Arizona (10/28) and Denver (11/22). In the overtime loss at New York (11/4), Edwards returned his first career interception 71 yards for a touch-down to put Dallas up 24-7 at the half. Edwards posted a career-high three passes defensed in the loss to Denver (11/22) to go with six tackles. At Atlanta (11/11), he registered two tackles and broke up a pass while helping limit the Falcons to 46 net yards passing, the lowest passing total by an opponent since the N.Y. Giants were held to 42 yards on Sept. 8, 1996. He broke up two passes in the win over New York (12/9) and then broke up another pass while recording five tackles at Seattle (12/16).

2000: Despite suffering a strained left hamstring in preseason that kept him on the club's inactive list the first four weeks of the regular season, Edwards tied for fourth on the team with 11 special teams tackles. For the season, Edwards recorded a special teams tackle in eight of the 11 games he played and was a key member of a kickoff coverage unit that finished the year third in the league in opponents average starting position following kickoffs. His NFL debut came on special teams at Carolina (10/1), and he responded with one tackle. Against Arizona (10/22), he tied for second on the team with two special teams tackles. As proof of his improvement as the season progressed, Edwards recorded five special teams tackles over the season's final three games. He tied for second on the team with two special teams tackles against Washington (12/10) as Deion Sanders was limited to one return for 11 yards on three punts. The following week, he tied for the team lead with two special teams tackles against the N.Y. Giants

(12/17). In the season finale at Tennessee (12/25), Edwards earned his first NFL start, lining up at left cornerback while Phillippi Sparks moved to safety. He recorded three tackles and broke up a pass while helping limit the Titans to a 10.8 yards-per-catch average.

COLLEGE: Edwards started two national championship games in his final two seasons at Florida State and played for Seminole teams that finished the 1995, 1996, 1998 and 1999 seasons ranked No. 4, 3, 3 and 1 in the nation, respectively. As a senior, he helped the Seminoles to the national title with a win over Virginia Tech in the Sugar Bowl and earned All-ACC honors at left cornerback. After redshirting during his third year at Florida State, Edwards ranked eighth in the nation in interceptions with six as a junior and earned second-team All-ACC honors. While helping the Seminoles lead the nation in pass defense, Edwards led the team with 11 pass deflections and closed the year with 20 tackles. He set a school record, and tied the conference record, by registering four interceptions in a game against Wake Forest.

PERSONAL: A social sciences major at Florida State, Edwards attended Pascagoula, Miss., High School – the same school that produced former Florida State All-America corner Terrell Buckley. Edwards, a high school All-America choice, was one of the most highly regarded high school players in the country in 1995. He finished his high school career with a senior season that included 61 tackles, four interceptions and 14 pass deflections.

Ebenezer Ekuban

Defensive End

 North Carolina
 NFL: 5th Year ★ Cowboys: 5th Year

GAMES/STARTS (regular season, playoffs): 1999 (16/2, 1/1), 2000 (12/2), 2001 (1/1), 2002 (16/15). Total – 45/20, 1/1.

PRO: Ebenezer Ekuban made a full recovery from back surgery in 2001 to post career-best statistics during the 2002 season, demonstrating his continued development as an NFL defensive end. His outstanding size, speed and quickness make him a pass rusher that can create havoc in opponent's backfields, as witnessed by his team leading 6.5 sacks in 2000. Originally a tight end who was converted to the defensive line at the mid-point of his collegiate career, Ekuban's desire and work ethic have contributed to his development at defensive end. His intelligence and enthusiasm to learn the intricacies of the game round out a very promising package.

2002: Ekuban rebounded from his back surgery in 2001 to establish career-highs in tackles (43) and quarterback pressures (20) in 2002 while adding two tackles for losses, a sack and a forced fumble. He returned to the playing field and the starting lineup in the season opener at Houston (9/8) and recorded a tackle, a sack and two pressures as part of a defense that recorded six sacks on the night, the best showing by a Cowboys defense since posting nine sacks against Arizona on Nov. 9, 1997. He helped limit Eddie George to a 3.4 yards-per-carry average against Tennessee (9/15) with four tackles, then tied for the team lead among linemen with five stops and a forced fumble at Philadelphia (9/22). After registering a tackle and two pressures at St. Louis (9/29), Ekuban recovered his second fumble of the season while adding three tackles against the N.Y. Giants (10/6). Against Carolina (10/13), he tallied a season-high six tackles and a tackle for a loss while helping limit the Panthers to a 3.5 yards-per-carry average and a long run of nine yards. He followed that performance by leading the team with three quarterback pressures at Arizona (10/20) while adding four tackles. He again posted four tackles the next week against Seattle (10/27) in helping limit Shaun Alexander to 58 yards on 23 carries (2.5 avg.). At Detroit (11/3), Ekuban tied for the lead among defensive linemen with four tackles and added two quarterback pressures before straining his left quad in the third quarter and missing the remainder of the game. His work helped limit the Lions to 148 total yards – the fewest by a Dallas opponent since the N.Y. Giants were held to 105 total yards on Sept. 8, 1996 – including only 52 rushing yards on 23 carries (2.3 avg.). He was limited by his quad strain at Indianapolis (11/17), but still managed to log three stops in a reserve capacity. He returned to the starting lineup against Jacksonville (11/24), but was held without a tackle. He then posted two stops against Washington (11/28), two tackles and two pressures against San Francisco (12/8) and two tackles, including one for a loss, at the N.Y. Giants (12/15). He closed out the season by posting two tackles and two pressures at Washington (12/29), with his biggest play of the game occurring when he ran down Ladell Betts from behind at the goal line and forced him to fumble out of the end zone for a touchback.

2001: Unknown to everyone at the time, Ekuban's one tackle and quarterback pressure in the first half against Tampa Bay (9/9) would prove to be his season. Forced to undergo a microscopic lumbar discectomy on Sept. 17 to repair the herniated disc between the L4 and L5 vertebrae, Ekuban was deactivated for 12 games following the surgery. He returned to practice on a limited basis on Nov. 9 but suffered continued pain and was forced to take more time off. His season finally came to an end on Dec. 21 when he was placed on injured reserve.

2000: Despite moving from a starting role to a reserve capacity early in the season, Ekuban led the team with 6.5 sacks and tied for the team lead with two forced fumbles while posting 25 tackles, seven quarterback pressures and four stops behind the line. In his first start in a non-injury replacement role, he recorded two tackles and a pressure in the season opener against Philadelphia (9/3). At Arizona (9/10), he teamed with Leon Lett to register his first half sack of the season while also recording five stops in helping limit the Cardinals to 3.0 yards-per-rush on 33 carries. He moved into a reserve capacity at Washington (9/18) and came off the bench to post two tackles, a sack and a tackle for an 18-yard loss to help limit the Redskins to 3.7 yards-per-carry. Ekuban dislocated his right great toe early in the game against San Francisco (9/24), causing him to miss the remainder of the 49ers game, as well as the next four games. He returned to action at Philadelphia (11/5) and tallied two stops before posting two tackles against Cincinnati (11/12). Ekuban recorded one of Dallas' biggest plays against the Bengals when he sacked Akili Smith, forced a fumble on the play and recovered the fumble. It marked the first forced fumble and fumble recovery of his career. Ekuban recorded a tackle, a sack and a forced fumble against Minnesota (11/23) on Thanksgiving Day. He posted two sacks against Washington (12/10) while also recording a career-high four quarterback pressures. Ekuban also saw action at tight end in goal-line situations against the Redskins. Against the N.Y. Giants (12/17), he tallied two stops, including one for a loss, two pressures and a sack. He helped hold New York to 126 net passing yards, and he pressured Kerry Collins into throwing an interception in the Dallas end zone. Ekuban registered four tackles in the season finale at Tennessee (12/25).

1999: Ekuban saw consistent action throughout his rookie season, playing in every game while starting the final two games of the year after Greg Ellis was felled with a broken leg. His performance and development enabled Ekuban to earn All-Rookie honors from Pro Football Weekly and The Football News. Used primarily as a pass rusher in spot situations, he finished the season with 33 tackles and 2.5 sacks. While opening his professional career in Washington D.C., where he attended high school, Ekuban tied for the team lead with two quarterback pressures in the overtime win over the Redskins (9/12). The following week against Atlanta (9/20), he showed his versatility by registering one tackle on defense while also seeing goal-line action at tight end, providing a key block that enabled Emmitt Smith to score the Cowboys' first touchdown. After Ellis suffered a broken leg in the win over Philadelphia (12/12), Ekuban went from part-time player to starter for the remainder of the year. He responded in the win over Philadelphia by recording his first career sack. He ended the day with 1.5 sacks, which marked the most in a game by a Dallas rookie since Russell Maryland recorded 2.0 against Pittsburgh on Nov. 28, 1991. The following week against the N.Y. Jets (12/19), Ekuban saw his most extensive playing time of the season and responded with five tackles. He then earned his first career start on Christmas Eve in New Orleans (12/24), leading the team with a career-high nine tackles while lining up across from Pro Bowl tackle Willie Roaf. He also added a sack and a tackle for a loss as the defensive front helped limit Ricky Williams to 61 yards on 23 carries (2.7 average). The following week in a playoff clinching win over the N.Y. Giants (1/2/00), Ekuban led all defensive linemen with five tackles and tied for the team lead with three quarterback pressures as the Dallas defense limited New York to 74 yards rushing. In the playoff loss at Minnesota (1/9/00), Ekuban recorded four tackles before suffering a sprained left knee in the second quarter that severely limited his effectiveness for the rest of the game.

COLLEGE: Ekuban capped his collegiate career by being named first team All-America by The Sporting News while also earning All-ACC honors as a senior. Although it was his first season as a full-time starter, Ekuban collected 96 tackles and led the Tar Heels with seven sacks. He also set a school record with 23 stops for losses totaling 98 yards. Lawrence Taylor and William Fuller, both of whom had 22, shared the previous school record. He earned ACC Player of the Week honors against Clemson, collecting a career-high 16 tackles, four tackles for losses, two sacks and a forced fumble. As a junior, in his first season as a defensive end, Ekuban played in 10 regular season games and had starting assignments in two of those. Prior to that, he played tight end as a sophomore and freshman, catching six passes for 66 yards and a touchdown.

PERSONAL: In his four years with the Cowboys, Ekuban has made a very visible contribution to the Dallas-Fort Worth community and was recognized by The Sporting News in the annual Good Guys of professional sports article in July 2002. He has supported the Mayor of Dallas's summer reading program from 2001-2003, helped build a playground at Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Children, served as a guest speaker at the 2002 SMU Visioneering event for more than 500 middle school students, hosted and funded a holiday shopping spree for underprivileged children in conjunction with Wal-Mart and Sam's Club of Irving the past two years, and escorted a child from Child Protective Services on a private tour of the Cowboys training facility, which was featured in a Wednesday's Child segment on Dallas's ABC affiliate, WFAA. In April 2001, he served as the Dallas celebrity bedtime story reader on behalf of the National Center for Family Literacy to kickoff National Bedtime Story Month. He also served as keynote speaker at the 18th Annual Boys & Girls Club of Arlington Banquet and local ABC sports anchor Dale Hansen's Scholar Athlete Awards Banquet, emphasizing the importance of education and making smart choices in life. He participated as a "Grim Reaper" in the Fatal Choices/Shattered Dreams program, demonstrating the devastating effects of drinking and driving. He also participated in a school book cover program to teach children the importance of dialing 911. He has been active with the United Way, participating in the Cowboys 1999 and 2002 annual Hometown Huddle events and serving as Co-Master of Ceremonies for the "Run the Runway" annual fundraiser for United Way of Dallas and Tarrant County. He also participates each year in The Salvation Army Angel Tree program providing clothing and toys to needy children. Ekuban, who has participated in the NFL Flag Football Program at school assemblies, annually serves as a celebrity escort for the Children's Cancer Fund of Dallas Fashion Show. He also serves as guest coach for the Cowboys annual Let Us Play! Sports Camp for Girls, coaching girls from several metroplex non-profit agencies. In 2000 and 2002, Ekuban served as Honorary Chairman for the annual fundraiser benefiting Crossroads Interfaith Housing Program, where he has spent time with the children living there. At North Carolina, he was actively involved in the Carolina Outreach Community Service Program, and was involved in helping to raise $6,000 for juvenile diabetes research in September of 1998. As a senior at UNC, he made the Dean's List during his final football season, and he was named the 1998 winner of the Jim Tatum Award, which honors the ACC's top student athlete on the football field. Ekuban earned his degree in exercise and sports science. He was a collegiate teammate of Cowboys defensive end Ellis. Ekuban is a native of Ghana, Africa, and he did not participate in football until his junior year of high school in Maryland. He graduated from Bladensburg High School in Riverdale, Md., where he was a two-way standout as a senior tight end and defensive end. In his final prep season, he caught 28 passes for 546 yards and five touchdowns while also recording 76 tackles and 11 sacks. Ebenezer and his wife, Karen, were married on May 17, 2003.

Greg Ellis

Defensive End

NFL: 6th Year ★ Cowboys: 6th Year

GAMES/STARTS (regular season, playoffs): 1998 (16/16, 1/1), 1999 (13/13), 2000 (16/16), 2001 (16/16), 2002 (15/15). Total - 76/76, 1/1.

PRO: Greg Ellis has overcome the pressure and expectations of being the Cowboys highest draft pick (eighth overall) since Russell Maryland was taken with the first overall pick in 1991, as well as the physical demands of returning from a major injury in 2000. Through it all, Ellis has risen to the top of his profession, becoming one of the games top all-around defensive ends. In his five NFL seasons, he has led the team in sacks three times and four times led all Dallas defensive linemen in tackles (the only year he did not lead the team's linemen in tackles was his injury shortened 1999 campaign). A sign of his growth and improvement can be seen in the fact that he has increased his per-game tackle total in each of his five seasons, from 3.9 tackles-per-game as a rookie to 5.8 per-game in 2002. Having had his 1999 season cut short when he fractured the tibia and fibula in his left leg, Ellis fought through the pain and rehabilitation that accompanied having a titanium rod inserted into the leg during the 2000 season. By the end of the year, he had re-emerged as one of the top young defensive ends in the game, proving his worth to the club both on and off the field. On the field, he led the club's defensive linemen with a then career-high 77 tackles and off the field he was named by teammates as the recipient of the Ed Block courage award for overcoming his injuries. Ellis has continued to firmly establish himself as one of the team's true leaders with a level of consistency and production that showcased his versatility, durability and unselfishness, playing both defensive end positions and tackle in some pass rushing situations. Although he hasn't posted the type of sack numbers that place him among the NFL leaders, Ellis efficiently produces the type of all-around game that makes him one of the league's most complete linemen.

2002: As the team has come to expect, Ellis led all linemen and was fourth on the team with a career-high 87 tackles, topping his previous best of 83 in 2001. He led the team and tied for 16th in the NFC with 7.5 sacks, tying his single-season best from 1999. He also led the team with a career-high 30 quarterback pressures, topping his previous best of 26 set in 2001. Ellis opened the season with a bang, recording at least half a sack in each of the first four games of the season, the longest such streak since Jim Jeffcoat recorded a sack in five straight games in Weeks 7-11 of 1992. He led all defensive linemen with five tackles and three quarterback pressures at Houston (9/8). He also added half a sack and deflected a fourth quarter pass that LaRoi Glover intercepted to end a potential Texans scoring drive at the Cowboys' 14 yard-line. The following week against Tennessee (9/15), he posted a single-game career-high tying two sacks and tied for the team lead among linemen with six tackles while leading the team with three quarterback pressures. His play on the line helped limit Eddie George to a 3.4 yards-per-carry average. Ellis had one of the most dominating games of his career pressuring the quarterback at Philadelphia (9/22), finishing with his second straight two-sack game, as well as a career-high tying six pressures. He broke up one pass at the line and forced a fumble to kill a potential Eagles' scoring drive. It was the first time a Cowboys' player has posted back-to-back multiple sack games since Tony Tolbert in Weeks 5-6 in 1996. At St. Louis (9/29), he recorded two of the biggest plays of the game. On the Rams final drive, Ellis recorded the club's only sack of the day on a third-and-three play at the Dallas 25-yard line. His six-yard sack forced the Rams to attempt a 49-yard field goal that hit the right upright, giving Dallas the ball for its game-winning field goal. In the first quarter, he ended a Rams drive with his second career interception, picking off a Kurt Warner pass. Dallas drove to its only touchdown of the day following the interception. Ellis finished the day with three tackles, a sack, two quarterback pressures and the interception. He then led all linemen with five tackles at the N.Y. Giants (10/6) but did not record a sack, ending his string of consecutive games with a sack at four. Against Carolina (10/13) he again led all linemen with eight tackles and added a quarterback pressure. His play along the line helped limit Carolina to 3.5 yards-per-carry and a long run of nine yards. For the third straight game he was at the top of the linemen tackle totals with seven at Arizona (10/20). Ellis recorded five tackles and a pressure while helping limit Shaun Alexander to a 2.5 yards-per-carry average on 23 carries (58 yards) against Seattle (10/27). He began experiencing headaches from a concussion suffered against Arizona following the Seattle game and was inactive at Detroit (11/3). He returned to the starting lineup at Indianapolis (11/17) and led all linemen with nine tackles. Against Jacksonville (11/24), he led the entire team with a season-high 10 tackles and recorded his first sack since Week 4. He also added five quarterback pressures and a tackle for a loss while helping limit the Jags to 194 net yards passing. Ellis was second among defensive linemen with five tackles against Washington (11/28) and also had a tackle for a loss and a pressure as the Cowboys held Stephen Davis to 51 yards on 20 carries (2.6 avg.). For the game, the defense allowed just 121 second half yards on eight Redskins' possessions. The following week against San Francisco (12/8), Ellis tied for the team lead among defensive linemen with eight tackles while also recording the club's only sack of the game. Ellis was again atop the line tackle chart with six stops at the N.Y. Giants (12/15). In the season finale at Washington (12/29), Ellis as usual tied for the lead among linemen with five tackles and added one quarterback pressure.

2001: As a key contributor to the Cowboys dramatic turnaround on defense, Ellis led Dallas in sacks (six), quarterback pressures (26) and forced fumbles (four). While starting all 16 games at left end, he led all defensive linemen in tackles with a then career-high 83 (fourth on the team), and he was third on the team in tackles for losses (seven for minus 12 yards). Ellis' efforts helped the Cowboys defense rank fourth in the NFL, allowing an average of just 287.4 yards-per-game. The Dallas run defense was 13th in the NFL (sixth in the NFC), allowing an average of 106.9 yards on the ground, while the pass defense closed the year third in the NFL - permitting just 180.6 yards-per-game. In 2001, Dallas allowed 1,710 rushing yards, a figure that was 927 fewer yards than the club allowed during the 2000 season. Those numbers represented the largest turnaround by any defensive unit in the NFL in 2001. In the season opening loss to Tampa Bay (9/9), Ellis led all Dallas defensive linemen with nine stops while posting one of Dallas' two sacks. Against San Diego (9/23), he saw action on all 77 defensive plays and recorded four tackles, including one for a loss. The Dallas front seven limited LaDainian Tomlinson to a 3.3-yard average on 27 carries in the game. The following week at Philadelphia (9/30), Ellis was extremely active, contributing a career-high six quarterback pressures and two pass deflections. At Oakland (10/7), he led the team with three quarterback pressures while working from both the left and right sides. He also led all defensive linemen with four tackles against the Raiders. In the Monday night win over Washington (10/15), Ellis recorded five tackles and his second sack of the year while helping limit the Redskins to 226 total yards. His biggest play of the game came with 2:39 remaining when he recovered a Stephen Davis fumble at the Cowboys 33-yard line to set Dallas up for its game-winning field goal drive. In the win over Arizona (10/28), he led all defensive linemen with seven tackles while helping limit the Cardinals to 75 rushing yards. Ellis also added a tackle for a loss, three quarterback pressures and batted down two passes against the Cardinals. He turned in another outstanding performance at New York (11/4), leading all defensive linemen with eight tackles while also recording his third sack of the season and forcing a fumble on the play. Ellis had two tackles behind the line while helping limit the Giants to 93 yards rushing on 26 carries (3.6 avg.). In Atlanta (11/11), Ellis was second on the team in tackles with seven, and he turned in his first multiple-sack game of the season with two, as the Falcons were limited to 201 total yards. In the loss to Philadelphia (11/18) at Texas Stadium, Ellis led the team with three quarterback pressures, as the Eagles were limited to 227 total yards – 100 yards below their season average. On the ground, the Eagles averaged 2.8-yards-per-carry on 35 attempts. On Thanksgiving Day against Denver (11/22), Ellis led all defensive linemen with six tackles and added a tackle for a loss as the Broncos were limited to 3.1 yards-per-carry for the game. In Dallas' 20-14 win at Washington (12/2), Ellis again led all Cowboys' linemen in tackles with seven. He also added a tackle for a loss, two quarterback pressures and batted down a pass. Stephen Davis, the NFC's third leading rusher entering the game, was held to 53 yards on 17 carries (3.1 avg.). He registered his sixth sack of the year in the win over the N.Y. Giants (12/9), while leading all defensive linemen with six tackles. His sack was a fourth quarter takedown of Kerry Collins that also forced a fumble. Ellis also forced Collins into two bad throws with pressures and helped limit the Giants to just 73 yards of total offense on their final eight possessions. At Seattle (12/16), he suffered a sprained right knee mid-way through the first quarter but returned to action in the second quarter and recorded four tackles, a tackle for a loss and a quarterback pressure while the Seahawks were held to 139 net yards passing. In the 17-10 loss at Arizona (12/23), he recorded four tackles and a quarterback pressure. In the Cowboys upset win over playoff bound San Francisco (12/30), he registered three tackles, two quarterback pressures and recovered a fumble. Ellis played a key role in Dallas being able to limit the NFL's second ranked 49er running game (146-yards-per-game at the time) to 56 yards.

2000: After two years patrolling the left end of the Dallas defensive line, Ellis switched to the right side in 2000 to take pressure off his injured left leg. He went on to lead all defensive linemen with a then career-high 77 tackles, while tying for the team lead with seven tackles for losses and two fumble recoveries. He also finished second on the team with 13 quarterback pressures. After working into camp slowly, Ellis returned to full action for the final two preseason games. In the season opener against Philadelphia (9/3), he led all defensive linemen with eight tackles and a tackle for a loss in his first regular season action since suffering the leg fracture. He recovered a fumble at Arizona (9/10), and then at Washington (9/18), he recorded his first sack of the season on the game's final play to preserve the Cowboys Monday night win. He also recovered a Redskins fumble in the second quarter to set up a Dallas touchdown. Ellis led all defensive linemen and was third on the team with a career-high 11 tackles against San Francisco (9/24). It was the highest tackle total by a Dallas defensive lineman since Chad Hennings recorded 11 stops against the N.Y. Giants on Dec. 21, 1997. Facing perennial All-Pro Tony Boselli, Ellis put together an admirable day against Jacksonville (10/29) with five tackles, a tackle for a loss and a quarterback pressure. He also forced Boselli into two illegal procedure penalties. On special teams, Ellis blocked his first career field goal, getting his hand on a 49-yard fourth quarter attempt by Mike Hollis. Ellis was second among defensive linemen with nine tackles, including two behind the line, at Philadelphia (11/5) while helping limit the Eagles running backs to 25 carries for 77 yards (3.1 avg.). His seven tackles against Cincinnati (11/12) led all defensive linemen, and he recorded his second sack of the season with a takedown of Akili Smith, as the Bengals were limited to 195 total yards. Ellis again led all defensive linemen in tackles and was third on the team with nine stops at Baltimore (11/19). His five tackles against Minnesota (11/23) tied him for second on the team. With four tackles, a sack and two quarterback pressures against Washington (12/10), Ellis helped limit the Redskins to just 79 rushing yards on the day, a season low for the Dallas defense. Ellis wrapped up his comeback season with an all-around game at Tennessee (12/25), recording three tackles, two quarterback pressures and a tackle for a loss.

1999: Despite missing the final three regular season games because of a fractured left tibia and fibula, Ellis led the team with 7.5 sacks, the highest sack total by a Dallas player since Tony Tolbert had 12.0 in 1996. Before the injury, he was eighth in the NFC in sacks and was also tied for the team lead with 17 quarterback pressures. He finished the season with 59 tackles, four passes defended and two forced fumbles. Ellis set the tone for the season early, recording five tackles and a career-best two sacks at Washington (9/12) in the season opener. The first sack came with the Redskins at the Dallas four-yard line and forced a fumble that George Teague recovered to end a potential scoring drive. The second sack came on third and three on the Redskins opening possession in overtime and forced them to punt. Dallas then took the ball and drove 95-yards for the game-winning score. The next week on Monday Night Football, he recorded his first career interception and touchdown when he picked off a Danny Kanell pass and raced 87-yards for a score against Atlanta (9/20). It was the longest touchdown return of any kind by a defensive lineman in club history until the next game. He also led all defensive linemen with six tackles on the evening. Ellis closed out his season opening burst of big plays against Arizona (10/3) by returning a Jake Plummer fumble 98 yards for a touchdown, the longest fumble return in Cowboys history. In doing so, he became the first Cowboys defensive player since Ray Horton in 1991 (vs. N.Y. Giants, 9/29 and at Green Bay, 10/6) to score a touchdown in back-to-back weeks. Ellis logged four tackles at Philadelphia (10/10) before adding seven tackles and a sack in helping limit the N.Y. Giants (10/18) to 2.5 yards-per-carry. Ellis was third on the team, tops among linemen, with seven tackles at Indianapolis (10/31) while also adding a tackle for a loss and a forced fumble. For the second time in 1999, Ellis recorded a career-high two sacks in a game while also leading all defensive linemen with five tackles at Minnesota (11/8). With three tackles and a team-high three quarterback pressures against Green Bay (11/14), he helped limit Brett Favre to a 57.1 QB rating and the Packers to 40 yards rushing, including 31 yards on 15 attempts (2.1 avg.) by Dorsey Levens. He then logged a season-high eight tackles at Arizona (11/21) to finish second on the team, while adding a sack and three quarterback pressures. On Thanksgiving Day against Miami (11/25), pressure from the defensive front was instrumental in forcing Dan Marino into a career-worst five interceptions. Ellis recorded his final sack of the season at New England (12/5) while adding four tackles, but his season came to an abrupt end the next week against Philadelphia (12/12) when he fractured the tibia and fibula in his left leg in the first quarter. He underwent surgery that night to have a titanium rod inserted into the leg and was placed on injured reserve on Dec. 15. Following the season, he also underwent surgery on Feb. 10, 2000 to have a bone chip removed from his right wrist.

1998: Ellis finished his rookie campaign leading the team with 22 quarterback pressures and all defensive linemen with 63 tackles. He also closed the year with five tackles for losses, five passes defended and three sacks. Since tackle records began being kept in 1979, Ellis became the Cowboys first rookie to lead all defensive linemen on the team in tackles. This effort earned him all-rookie honors from Football News and Football Digest. Against Arizona (9/6), he became the first rookie to start a season opener at defensive end for Dallas since Bob Lilly in 1961. He finished with two tackles and two quarterback pressures against the Cardinals. He registered five tackles at Denver (9/13) before totaling three tackles and two quarterback pressures at the N.Y. Giants (9/21). He also forced his first career fumble in the fourth quarter and helped limit the Giants to 56 rushing yards. He recorded his first career sack while adding three tackles against Oakland (9/27). He totaled five stops at Washington (10/4), and he registered a season-high nine tackles and 1.5 sacks against Carolina (10/11) while helping limit the Panthers to 37 yards rushing on 21 carries (1.8 avg.). He had three tackles and helped limit the Bears to 2.5 yards-per-rush at Chicago (10/18). He recorded four tackles and half a sack against the Giants (11/8) before recording two tackles and two pressures while helping limit the Cardinals to 32 rushing yards at Arizona (11/15). Against Seattle (11/22), he totaled two tackles and deflected his first NFL pass. Four days later against Minnesota (11/26) on Thanksgiving Day, he led all defensive linemen with four tackles while adding two pressures and two passes defended. He added six tackles and his first career fumble recovery at New Orleans (12/6). He led all defensive linemen with seven tackles and a career-high four quarterback pressures against Philadelphia (12/20), and he registered four tackles and two tackles for losses in the season finale against Washington (12/27). In his first postseason action against Arizona (1/29/99), he led all defensive linemen with eight tackles.

COLLEGE: Ellis teamed with Cowboys 1999 first round draft choice Ebenezer Ekuban on the defensive line at North Carolina. With 32.5 career sacks, Ellis left North Carolina as the school's all-time sack leader, the same school that produced NFL Hall of Famer Lawrence Taylor. As a senior, Ellis earned All-America honors, was a finalist for the Lombardi Award and an All-ACC selection for the third straight season after collecting 87 tackles, nine sacks and 32 quarterback pressures. As a junior, Ellis was named second-team All-America by The Sporting News and first-team All-ACC after closing the season with 62 tackles, a school record 38 quarterback pressures and 12.5 sacks, the second most sacks in a season behind Taylor's 16 in 1979. In 1995, Ellis became the first North Carolina sophomore to be named first-team All-ACC since Reuben Davis in 1985. Ellis was also named honorable mention All-America by UPI while recording 71 tackles and seven sacks. As a back-up defensive end during his redshirt freshman year, Ellis ranked second on the team with four sacks.

PERSONAL: Gregory Lemont Ellis was an all-state selection as a tight end and defensive end at East Wake High School in Wendell, N.C. During his high school career, he intercepted five passes and returned all of them for touchdowns. He also blocked four punts and returned two of them for scores. An outstanding basketball player, Ellis was selected to play in the North Carolina East/West Shrine Game. The Greensboro News and Observer voted him the Male High School Athlete of the Year in 1993. Ellis enjoys spending time with the children at Happy Hill Farm and supporting their program that houses and educates abused and neglected children. Annually, he provides season tickets for the children from Happy Hill Farm to attend Cowboys home football games. Ellis has also served as a celebrity model escort for the annual Children's Cancer Fund Fashion Show, provided clothing and toys for needy children during the holidays for The Salvation Army Angel Tree Program, served as honorary chairman for the Crossroads Interfaith Housing Program in 2001 & 2002 and served as a celebrity guest reader for the Cowboys 2001 and 2002 Kick Off To School Reading night events hosted at the club's training camp site. Ellis received his degree in communications studies at UNC, where he was also a member of the junior varsity basketball team as a sophomore. Ellis' wife, Tangie, was his high school sweetheart. The couple have a daughter, Tyann (1/17/00), and son, Germiah Gregory Ellis (5/29/03).

Georgia
FA for '01

NFL: 3rd Year ★ Cowboys: 3rd Year

GAMES/STARTS: 2001 (16/0), 2002 (4/0). Totals – 20/0.

PRO: Demetric Evans has now logged two seasons in Dallas after signing with the Cowboys as a rookie free agent following the 2001 NFL Draft. After making an impression on the coaching staff as a rookie, he earned time in the defensive end rotation. Coaches will once again be looking at Evans to continue to improve as he works into the action as a reserve defensive end.

2002: Evans finished his second season with seven tackles and two pressures while playing in only four games. In the season opener at Houston (9/8), he picked up two tackles before adding two more in the Cowboys home opening win against Tennessee (9/15). He contributed two more tackles in the loss at Philadelphia (9/22) before being inactive for the next five games. He saw his final action of the season at Detroit (11/3), picking up two quarterback hurries and a tackle. He was then inactive the final seven games of the season.

2001: After making the club as a rookie free agent, Evans played in all 16 games and finished with 35 tackles. In his NFL debut against Tampa Bay (9/9), he recorded two stops in helping limit the Bucs to a 2.2 yards-per-carry average. Against San Diego (9/23), he picked up his first career sack – forcing a fumble on the play while adding three tackles, a quarterback pressure, a pass defended and a forced fumble. At Oakland (10/7), he finished second among defensive linemen with three tackles and then recorded three more at Atlanta (11/11). Against Philadelphia (11/18), he tallied a season-high five tackles and a quarterback pressure helping limit the Eagles to 98 rushing yards. Evans saw considerable action at Seattle (12/16) after Greg Ellis sprained his right knee. He registered four tackles, including one for a loss, and a quarterback pressure. At Arizona (12/23), he led the team with two special teams tackles. Evans then added a tackle and a quarterback pressure while helping limit San Francisco (12/30) to 56 rushing yards. In the season finale at Detroit (1/6/02), he finished second among defensive linemen with four tackles and a quarterback pressure.

COLLEGE: As a senior, Evans played in all 11 games and finished with 32 tackles as a member of the Bulldogs' senior class that finished with a 19-5 home record. As a junior, he started in Georgia's 28-25 victory over Purdue in the Outback Bowl and finished the year with 30 tackles and one sack. Evans played in all 11 regular season games as a sophomore and recorded 19 tackles.

PERSONAL: Demetric Untrell Evans, was named AA Defensive Player of the Year in Louisiana as a senior after recording 75 tackles, 12 sacks, 28 tackles for a loss and 25 quarterback pressures at Haynesville, La., High School. He played both defensive and offensive line and led Haynesville to three consecutive state titles. He also averaged 15 points and nine rebounds-per-game for the basketball team. He was a sports business major at Georgia and has continued the pursuit of his degree in the offseason. As a member of the Cowboys 2001 Rookie Club, a program designed to introduce rookie team members to community service in Dallas, Evans participated in monthly visits to non-profit organizations helping children. Those charitable appearances included stops to Children's Medical Center of Dallas, Oak Cliff Boys and Girls Club and The Salvation Army Angel Tree program Distribution Center. He has stayed active in the community, participating in the Challenge Air for Kids and Friends event for physically handicapped children, providing clothing and toys for needy children through The Salvation Army Angel Tree Program and serving as a guest football coach at the Cowboys Annual Let Us Play! Sports Camp for girls from non-profit agencies in the Dallas area.

Filip Filipovic

NFL: 2nd Year * Cowboys: 2nd Year

GAMES/STARTS: 2002 (9/0).

PRO: After struggling through the first half of the 2002 season with their punting game, the Cowboys brought in Filip Filipovic (pronounced fill-LIP-of-vich) at mid-season to shore up the position. Despite struggling early, Filipovic showed steady improvement as the season wore on, posting his three highest gross punting averages over the final five weeks of the season. His strong leg and poise have impressed coaches, and a full off-season of workouts with kicking coach Steve Hoffman will prove to be beneficial as he battles with veteran Toby Gowin for the team's punting job.

2002: After signing with Dallas as a rookie free agent, Filipovic averaged 37.8 yards on eight punts with two downed inside the 20-yard line during preseason action. He was released at the end of training camp but then re-signed with the Cowboys on Oct. 23 following the release of Micah Knorr. Filipovic proceeded to average 38.2 yards on five punts against Seattle (10/27) in his NFL debut. The following week at Detroit (11/3), he punted 10 times – tying the second-highest single-game total in club history – for a 41.4-yard average with two kicks downed inside the 20-yard line. He then averaged 38.1 yards on seven punts – including a 53-yarder – at Indianapolis (11/17). Three of his kicks pinned the Colts inside their own 20-yard line. After averaging 38.8 yards on five punts against Jacksonville (11/24), Filipovic recorded a season-high 44.3-yard average on seven kicks against Washington (11/28). After suffering his first blocked punt, he rebounded against the Redskins to place four kicks inside Washington's 20-yard line while posting his first career special teams tackle. He punted six times for a 40.2-yard average against San Francisco (12/8). Against Philadelphia (12/21), Filipovic averaged 41.6 yards on eight punts with a season-high net average of 36.9 yards. He closed out the season at Washington (12/29) by averaging 43.8 yards on eight punts – including a career-long 60-yarder – with two punts downed inside the 20-yard line. He also added his second special teams tackle of the year against the Redskins. He finished the season with a 40.6-yard average on 65 punts with 14 downed inside the 20-yard line.

COLLEGE: Filipovic closed out his collegiate career by pulling double duty for the Coyotes of South Dakota, averaging 40.1 yards on 53 punts – with 16 placed inside the 20-yard line – and converting seven-of-10 field goal attempts and 17-of-18 point after tries. His performance helped him earn All-North Central Conference Academic Team honors. As a junior, he ranked seventh in Division II and second in the NCC with a 40.7-yard punting average and 15 punts downed inside the 20-yard line to earn All-NCC honorable mention, All-NCC Academic and South Dakota Special Team co-MVP honors. Filipovic walked-on to the Coyotes as a sophomore in 1999 and averaged 38.1 yards on 57 punts.

PERSONAL: Filip Filipovic is a native of Belgrade, Yugoslavia and came to America in 1992 as a foreign exchange student. Filipovic, who received his degree in physical education, completed his high school education in Warren, Ohio, and attended Urbana College in Ohio and Eastern Michigan before finding a home at South Dakota. During his initial NFL season, Filipovic participated in the Cowboys Rookie Club program, where he and fellow rookie teammates made monthly appearances during the season to various children's charities in the Dallas-Ft. Worth area.

GAMES/STARTS (regular season, playoffs): 1995 (16/16-Sea.), 1996 (16/16-Sea.), 1997 (15/15-Sea.), 1998 (16/16-Sea.), 1999 (8/4, 1/0-Sea.), 2000 (1/1), 2001 (16/16), 2002 (16/16). Total - 104/100, 1/0 (Dallas - 33/33).

PRO: One of the game's most dangerous deep threats, Joey Galloway has the rare speed and game-breaking ability to go the distance from any point on the field. He has averaged a touchdown every 8.5 receptions throughout his eight-year career. His 7,609 career all-purpose yards in 104 games accounts for an average of 73.2 yards-per-game, and he has 16 career 100-yard receiving games. He has 47 receiving touchdowns in his career at an average distance of 32.5 yards-per-score. He caught a pass in the first 74 games of his career and in 101-of-104 career games. From 1995 to 1998, while with the Seattle Seahawks, Galloway registered 36 touchdown receptions - a figure that was topped by only Cris Carter (52) and Carl Pickens (39) over that same period of time. Acquired by Dallas on Feb. 12, 2000 in a trade with the Seattle Seahawks, Galloway's introduction to Dallas was marred by a torn ACL in his left knee in the fourth quarter of the Cowboys 2000 season opener with Philadelphia (9/3/00). The injury required season-ending surgery and a rehabilitation program that concluded with his return to action in the second-to-last preseason game of 2001. Originally the eighth overall pick of the 1995 NFL Draft, Galloway went on to start 67-of-71 games during his Seattle career and was an AFC Pro Bowl alternate in both 1997 and 1998. He led the Seahawks in receiving yards and touchdowns in each of his first four seasons and led the club in receptions from 1996-98 after finishing second on the team as a rookie in 1995. His 12 100-yard receiving games are the third-best total in Seahawks history. In addition to his 47 career receiving touchdowns, Galloway has one touchdown rushing and four touchdowns on punt returns.

2002: Galloway closed the year ranked 12th in the NFC in receiving yardage with 908 while tying for 18th in the NFC in receptions (61). Galloway tied for the team lead with Antonio Bryant in touchdown receptions with six. His six scoring catches came from distances of 38, 80, 39, 43, 11 and 41 yards for an average of 42.0 yards-per-scoring catch. He led or tied for team lead in receptions 10 times in 2002. Galloway opened the year as the Cowboys leading receiver with six receptions for 69 yards at Houston (9/8). He earned a game ball for his performance in the 21-13 win over Tennessee (9/15), catching five passes for 88 yards, including a 38-yard scoring toss from Quincy Carter that gave Dallas a 21-10 lead in the fourth quarter. In the loss at Philadelphia (9/22), he had seven receptions for 70 yards. In the 13-10 win at St. Louis (9/29), Galloway suffered a sprained thumb but still managed to catch four passes for 27 yards. Despite playing with a sprained thumb, Galloway enjoyed one of his finest outings of the year in the loss to the N.Y. Giants (10/6). He had a career-high tying eight catches for 109 yards against the Giants, marking his first 100-yard receiving game of the season. In the win over Carolina (10/13), Galloway's heroics sparked the Cowboys fourth quarter comeback. Trailing 13-0 with just under four minutes remaining, Galloway raced 80 yards with a tipped pass that pulled Dallas to within six points of the Panthers at 13-7. The reception was the longest by a Dallas receiver in 2002 and the second longest of his career. He finished the game with three catches for 104 yards, marking his first back-to-back 100-yard receiving days as a Cowboy and the second time in his career he has done so. At Arizona (10/20), he recorded two catches for 39 yards and had an 11-yard run. The 50 yards in the game gave him 7,046 total yards in his career, moving him past the 7,000 yard mark. In the loss to Seattle (10/27), Galloway caught four passes for 62 yards, including a 39-yard scoring toss that was the first touchdown pass of Chad Hutchinson's career. In the loss at Detroit (11/3), Galloway led all receivers with six catches for 56 yards, including a 30-yard strike from Hutchinson that helped set up the Cowboys only touchdown of the game. At Indianapolis (11/17), Galloway led the team with four catches for 49 yards. He exploded against Jacksonville (11/24), catching seven passes for 144 yards and two touchdowns - a 43-yard catch and run and an 11-yarder that proved to be the game winner. His 144 receiving yards was the second highest yardage total of his career (146 vs. San Francisco, 12/30/01). His two touchdowns marked the first multi-touchdown receiving game for Dallas since Jackie Harris had two against San Francisco on Sept. 24, 2000. It was also the first by a wide receiver since Michael Irvin had two scores at Washington on Sept. 12, 1999. In the win over the Jaguars, Galloway went over the 6,000-yard mark for his career in receiving yardage. In the win over Washington (11/28) on Thanksgiving Day, Galloway pulled in the game winning touchdown on a 41-yard catch-and-run from Hutchinson in the fourth quarter. The touchdown gave Dallas a 24-20 advantage. Galloway finished the game with three catches for 54 yards. Galloway caught only one pass for seven yards against San Francisco (12/8) while spraining his left thumb during the third quarter. He also had a 30-yard punt return against the 49ers. He played with the sprained thumb at the N.Y. Giants (12/15), but caught only one pass for 30 yards, the 400th reception of his career. In the loss to Philadelphia (12/21), Galloway was held without a catch for only the second time in his career, but he turned in a 71-yard punt return, the ninth longest in club history and the longest by Dallas since Deion Sanders ran one back 76 yards at Indianapolis on Oct. 31, 1999. He was shut out again the following week in Washington (12/29), marking just his third career game without a reception.

2001: After fully recovering from major knee surgery that forced him to miss 15 games in 2000, Galloway finished the year second on the team in receptions (52) and receiving yards (699) while leading in receiving touchdowns (three). Galloway was also a threat with his mere presence, forcing opposing defensive backs into nine penalties for 199 yards during the season. Dallas scored a touchdown on five of the nine possessions that included one of those defensive penalties. He led the team with six receptions for 18 yards in the opener against Tampa Bay (9/9), marking his return to action following his ACL injury in Week One of the 2000 season. He was held without a reception for the first time in his career in the Sunday night loss at Philadelphia (9/30). Galloway picked up his first touchdown reception of the year with a 40-yard strike from Anthony Wright at Oakland (10/7). He finished with two catches for 59 yards and one rushing attempt for 10 yards against the Raiders. Galloway was on pace to enjoy his finest game of the year against Washington (10/15) when a second quarter foot sprain forced him to miss the second half. Prior to the injury, he had four catches for 51 yards. He tied for the team lead in receptions (three for 28 yards) in the win over Arizona (10/28). He also drew a pass interference penalty that picked up 47 yards and led to the Cowboys deciding touchdown. In the overtime loss at the N.Y. Giants (11/4), he registered 73 yards and a touchdown on four receptions. Against Philadelphia (11/18), Galloway caught two passes for 20 yards and ran the ball twice for 22 yards. He tied for the club lead in receptions against Denver (11/22) with six for 64 yards. In the 20-14 win at Washington (12/2), he recorded a 13-yard reception and drew an 11-yard pass interference penalty to convert a fourth-down attempt. In his return to Seattle (12/16), Galloway enjoyed a very productive day, catching a season-high seven passes for 82 yards. His biggest play of the game was a 40-yard bomb from Carter in the second quarter. Galloway tied for the team lead with three receptions for 28 yards at Arizona (12/23). With that yardage, he topped the 5,000-yard receiving mark for his career. Galloway set a career-high with 146 receiving yards on six receptions (24.3 avg.) in the upset win against San Francisco (12/30). He was on the receiving end of a season-long 47-yard touchdown pass from Carter while also adding receptions of 44 and 26 yards. He closed the year with three catches for 58 yards at Detroit (1/6).

2000: In the season opener against Philadelphia (9/3), Galloway displayed a glimpse of the ability that first attracted the Cowboys to him. He led the team with four receptions for 62 yards and a touchdown. All four of his receptions gave Dallas a first down, including two on third down. But just as quickly as he burst upon the scene in the first three quarters of the game, his season came screeching to a halt in the fourth quarter when he tore the ACL in his left knee. He was placed on injured reserve Sept. 8 and underwent reconstructive surgery on Oct. 5.

1999: Galloway was activated to the 53-man roster on Nov. 13 after an eight-week contract dispute. Although he didn't start against the Broncos (11/14) in his first game back, Galloway caught four passes for 88 yards, including a key 39-yard reception in the third quarter. He had his largest impact of the season at Oakland (12/5) when he recorded four receptions for a team-high 68 yards and a touchdown. The score, his only touchdown of the season, was from 31-yards out. He led the team again the following week with six receptions for 85 yards against the San Diego Chargers (12/12). For the season, he had 22 receptions for 335 yards (15.2) and one touchdown.

1998: A playmaker all year for the Seahawks, Galloway led the team in receptions and touchdowns for the third consecutive season while being named first alternate for the AFC Pro Bowl squad. He tied for the AFC lead with 10 receiving touchdowns and tied for third with 12 total touchdowns, tying his career-high set in 1997. He finished the season eighth in the AFC with 1,047 receiving yards, the third 1,000-yard season of his career. His punt return average of 10.0 was seventh in the AFC. Galloway led the team with 65 receptions and four 100-yard games on the year. In the season opening victory at Philadelphia (9/6), he posted his ninth career 100-yard game with a then career-high 142 yards on six receptions, including touchdown catches of 35 and 25 yards. He scored another touchdown among his two receptions against Arizona (9/13). Galloway's 10th career 100-yard game came at Pittsburgh (9/27) with a 139-yard outburst on a season-high seven receptions. John Friesz connected with Galloway on a career-long 81-yard touchdown pass at San Diego (10/25) and later connected on a 41-yard pass to the one-yard line to set up the game-winning touchdown. Galloway finished the game with four catches for 130 yards. The 81-yard catch was the second longest in Seahawks history. He also returned a punt 74 yards for his third career punt return touchdown. Galloway returned a punt 56 yards for a score against Oakland (11/15), and caught four passes for 71 yards, including a 44-yard touchdown pass from Warren Moon. In a 20-18 win over Tennessee (11/29), he caught a seven-yard touchdown pass before posting his fourth 100-yard receiving day of the season with 127 yards and two touchdowns on two receptions at the N.Y. Jets (12/6). The touchdowns against the Jets were from 70 and 57 yards out and marked his seventh-career multi-touchdown game. He tied a season-high with seven receptions against San Diego (12/13), including a touchdown, and then led the team in receptions against Indianapolis (12/20) with five, including a three-yard touchdown pass. He presented the ball to a Make-A-Wish child, Sterling Grover, following the touchdown.

1997: Galloway started 15 games, missing only the Tennessee game (10/5) because of an ankle sprain he suffered the previous week at Kansas City (9/27), an injury suffered on a first quarter touchdown reception which kept him out the remainder of that game as well. The Tennessee game marked the first missed game of his career. For the season, Galloway led the team in receptions, yards, and touchdowns for the second consecutive year and set single-season bests with 72 receptions, 1,049 receiving yards, and 12 touchdowns – averaging 28.6 yards on each of his scores. His touchdown total was the most by a Seahawks player since Steve Largent had 12 in 1985 and was one off the club record by Daryl Turner in 1984. Galloway's 12 touchdowns tied for the AFC lead and was the third best total touchdown figure in the NFL. Twice during the season, Galloway tied his single-game high with eight catches at St. Louis (10/19) and again at Denver (11/2), in addition he had at least five receptions in eight games. In a 45-34 win over Oakland (10/26), he had seven receptions for 117 yards and three touchdowns. He scored all three touchdowns in the second half, including the game-clincher with 2:24 left. The Oakland game was one of three 100-yard efforts on the year for Galloway. He caught five passes for 106 yards against San Diego (9/21) and six for 101 with two touchdowns against San Francisco (12/21). He totaled 98 yards receiving at Denver (11/2). In a 37-31 win at San Diego (11/9), Galloway scored the game-winning touchdown on a 40-yard reception with 2:20 remaining. He was a first alternate to the AFC Pro Bowl squad.

1996: Galloway just missed becoming only the fourth receiver in league history to have back-to-back 1,000-yard receiving seasons in his first two years, finishing the season leading the team in receptions (57), yards (987), and touchdowns (seven). He posted two 100-yard games, topped by a season-best 137 yards on five receptions, including touchdowns of 51 and 65 yards in a 22-15 win over the Dolphins in Miami (10/6). He also caught five balls for 108 yards, with a 43-yarder to set up a touchdown at Denver (12/1). Galloway opened the season with a 60-yard reception at San Diego (9/1) before tallying his second career punt return touchdown with an 88-yarder against Denver (9/8). He had a single-game high eight receptions in back-to-back midseason games against Houston (11/3) and Minnesota (11/10). In the Oilers' contest, he had 94 yards receiving and the game-tying touchdown reception with 3:30 left. His eight catches against the Vikings were good for 91 yards and one score. In a late season AFC West showdown with Oakland (11/24), Galloway had three receptions for 99 yards, with receptions of 40 and 42 yards to set up touchdowns. Through the first seven games of the season, he averaged 11.8 yards on 12 punt returns to rank fourth in the AFC before relinquishing those duties to concentrate on offense.

1995: Galloway was the first rookie wide receiver to start every game for Seattle and the first since 1976 to start the opener. Along the way, he was named NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year by College and Pro Football Newsweekly and was a consensus All-Rookie choice. He caught 67 passes for 1,039 yards and seven touchdowns, becoming the 10th rookie in NFL history to surpass 1,000 yards, and the first since 1986. Galloway combined with Brian Blades to form the first duo with 1,000 yards in the same season in Seattle history. He also added 154 rushing yards and a touchdown while returning 36 punts for a 10.0-yard average, and one touchdown. Along the way he set franchise season records for receptions, yards and 100-yard games (three) by a rookie, totals that also led all NFL rookies – as did his seven touchdown receptions. The first record to fall was Daryl Turner's for yardage (715 in 1984) 11 games into the season, and in Week 14, he broke Steve Largent's record for rookie receptions (54 in 1976). Prior to Galloway's arrival, the franchise had seen only five 100-yard games by a rookie, but he almost matched that himself, posting a franchise rookie best three 100-yard games: five receptions for 102 yards and one touchdown at Buffalo (10/15); five receptions for 114 yards and two scores at Jacksonville (11/12); and five catches for 108 yards against Oakland (10/08). In that Jaguars game, Galloway established a franchise record for the longest run from scrimmage with an 86-yard touchdown dash. Accounting for 200 yards from scrimmage in the game, Galloway earned AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for his performance. A club-record 89-yard punt return for a touchdown against the N.Y. Giants (11/5) started Galloway on his way to AFC Special Teams Player of the Month honors for November, a month in which he returned 13 punts for a 13.2 yard average and one touchdown. Both the 89-yard punt return and the 86-yard run were the longest such plays in the NFL in 1995. For the season, Galloway averaged 48.0 yards on each of his nine touchdowns (seven receiving, one rushing, one punt return) and was one of two players in the NFL (San Francisco's Jerry Rice) to score three different ways.

COLLEGE: Galloway finished his college career second in Ohio State history in touchdown receptions with 19 – trailing only Cris Carter's 27 – and had two games with three touchdowns. He finished fourth in both career receptions (108) and receiving yards (1,894). He also added 20 kickoff returns for a 25.0-yard average and one score and 34 punt returns for a 7.8 average. Galloway earned first-team All-Big Ten Conference honors as a junior and second-team accolades as a senior while leading the team in receiving both years. As a senior, he recorded 44 receptions for 669 yards and seven touchdowns. He also returned 18 kickoffs for 462 yards (25.7) and one touchdown, and 16 punts for a 10.6 average. Galloway finished his senior season catching eight passes for 146 yards and two touchdowns in the Citrus Bowl against Alabama, including a career-best 69-yard reception. As a junior, Galloway caught 47 passes for 946 yards and a school record equaling (Carter – 1986) 11 touchdowns. His yardage total ranked third for a single-season in school history trailing Carter's 1,127 in 1986 and 950 in 1985. Galloway posted four 100-yard games, including 186 (third best single-game total in school history) on nine receptions with three touchdowns against Michigan State. Galloway was a National Football Foundation Scholar Athlete and National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics Scholarship recipient.

PERSONAL: Galloway caught 32 passes for 608 yards and eight touchdowns, averaged 26.9 yards on kickoff returns and 15.2 on punt returns as a senior at Bellaire, Ohio, High School. He was also an all-Ohio choice in basketball and lettered in track. In 2003, Galloway started the Joey Galloway Family Foundation to help provide opportunities for less fortunate families and children. He also supported the NFL Hometown Anti-Drug Challenge campaign and helped kick off Dallas' 2002 Red Ribbon Week in the fall of 2002. His support included recording three versions of a anti-drug awareness public service announcement geared toward youth, parents and one for use in-stadium at Cowboys home games, appearances at an elementary school and a youth rehab center as a guest speaker to share his personal anti-drug message and the donation of autographed memorabilia for a Red Ribbon Week Rally for over 1,000 middle school students. In December 2002, Galloway hosted the second "Galloway Holiday," a party for the children at South Dallas' St. Phillip's School and Community Center. During the 2002 off-season, he organized a motivational and goal-setting discussion with the children at Happy Hill Farm Academy and Home, accompanied by a donation of Reebok athletic clothing for the residents. Galloway also spent time as a celebrity football coach at the sixth annual Dallas Cowboys Let Us Play! Sports Camp for Girls - a three-day sports camp for inner-city girls and served as a celebrity escort in the annual Children's Cancer Fund Fashion Show and Luncheon co-chaired by Roger Staubach and Troy Aikman. In 2001, he served as a guest speaker at Bryan Adams High School in Dallas, Texas, for the Teens Driving for Safety program, an assembly highlighting responsible driving practices for America's teens. Despite his injury in 2000, Galloway joined in with the rest of the Cowboys wide receiver corps in distributing 500 hams to needy families as part of the Dallas Cowboys/Hormel Hams for the Holidays program hosted at The Salvation Army. He was a favorite with the preschoolers at the Gene & Jerry Jones Family Center for Children during the visit. During his Seahawks career, he sponsored a group of students, the Galloway Express, at each Seattle home game. During the 1996 season, Galloway appeared on Wheel of Fortune with proceeds from his spins benefiting the Make-A-Wish Foundation. He earned his degree in business/marketing from Ohio State and co-hosts a weekly radio show on WBNS (1460-AM) in Columbus.

Terry Glenn

Wide Receiver

5'11" ★ 195 ★ 7/23/74

Ohio State

Trade (Green Bay) for '03

NFL: 8th Year ★ Cowboys: 1st Year

GAMES/STARTS (regular season, playoffs): 1996 (15/15, 3/3-N.E.), 1997 (9/9, 2/2-N.E.), 1998 (10/9-N.E.), 1999 (14/13-N.E.), 2000 (16/16-N.E.), 2001 (4/1-N.E.), 2002 (15/14, 1/1-G.B.). Total – 83/77, 6/6.

PRO: An explosive and fluid athlete, Terry Glenn brings top-flight receiving skills to the Dallas Cowboys for the 2003 season. Acquired in a trade on Feb. 28, 2003 from the Green Bay Packers, the former Pro Bowl wideout is reunited with Bill Parcells, who was the Patriots head coach when Glenn was first drafted in 1996. His arrival adds a tantalizing target to the club's offensive attack as he brings a proven pass-catching repertoire to the Cowboys' receiver corps. He should prove to be an important cog in the club's offensive machine as well as adding a veteran presence to a relatively young group of receivers. The possessor of sure hands and blazing speed, Glenn is a smooth route runner who performs his task in a seemingly effortless manner. Originally taken in the first round (seventh overall) by New England in the 1996 NFL Draft, he went on to earn all-rookie honors with an NFL rookie record 90 receptions. Glenn would go on to finish his career in New England ranked fifth all-time in receptions and fourth in receiving yards in club annals as well as earning Pro Bowl honors in 1999. In 83 career games, Glenn has amassed 385 receptions for 5,486 yards and 24 touchdowns. He has notched 14 career 100-yard games, including five contests of 148-or-more yards, with a career-high output of 214 (Cleveland, Oct. 3, 1999).

2002: Glenn became the Packers' starter at flanker following his March 11 trade from New England. He was acquired in exchange for Green Bay's fourth-round selection in the 2002 NFL Draft (Jarvis Green) and a conditional fourth-round choice in 2003 (later traded to Denver – Bryant McNeal). He went on to finish third among Green Bay receivers with 56 catches (for 817 yards and two touchdowns), the fifth 50-reception season in his seven years in the NFL. Glenn saw action in 15 games, starting 14. He was inactive for the other contest. He also started the playoff game against Atlanta. Of his 56 receptions, 43 were for a first down (76.8%) – the third-best percentage in the NFC, behind the Cardinals' David Boston (87.5%) and the Seahawks' Bobby Engram (86.0%). Glenn was hampered by a pair of knee injuries during training camp, hyper-extending his right knee in practice on July 29 and then spraining the medial collateral ligament in his left knee on Aug. 7. The injuries kept him out of two weeks of practice. In his Packers debut, he pulled in a 42-yard pass on the Packers' opening play of the second half against Atlanta (9/8), jump-starting a scoring drive that pulled Green Bay to within 21-20 in the Packers 37-34, overtime victory. He finished the Falcons' game with two receptions for 60 yards. At New Orleans (9/15), Glenn caught a game-high nine passes for 81 yards, including a leaping 14-yard touchdown grab just before halftime for his initial touchdown wearing the Green and Gold. He totaled four catches for 55 yards, including three third-down receptions that he converted into first downs, at Detroit (9/22). Bothered by post-traumatic migraine headaches that kept him out of practice except for Saturday, he still played the first half of the win over Carolina (9/29) as the club's third receiver, making a nifty 17-yard grab along the right sideline before he was unable to continue after halftime. Glenn was subsequently able to effectively address the situation with medication. Glenn enjoyed his first 100-yard receiving effort with the Packers – and the 14th of his pro career – at Chicago (10/7), making a team-high eight receptions for 154 yards (his top yardage performance since having a career-best 214 yards on Oct. 3, 1999 at Cleveland), passing the 5,000-yard plateau for career receiving yards in the process. In his return to New England (10/13), Glenn recorded three receptions for 19 yards. He had a terrific 46-yard catch-and-run to the one-yard line just before halftime of the win over Detroit (11/10). The play was initially ruled a touchdown after he dove into the end zone, but replay review ruled him down just shy of the goal line. He finished the day with three catches for 82 yards and also picked up an important downfield block of Lions CB Todd Lyght on Najeh Davenport's 43-yard run up the right sideline early in the second half. The following week at Minnesota (11/17), he again got a downfield block on the Vikings' Corey Chavous to help finish off Driver's 84-touchdown reception, along with contributing four catches for 61 yards. Glenn tied for the team lead with four receptions for 61 yards at Tampa Bay (11/24). He had a pair of diving grabs in the rematch with Chicago (12/1), including a 23-yarder during the Packers' 90-yard drive for a go-ahead field goal (16-14) in the eventual 30-20 win. Late in the second half against the Bears, he suffered a bruised tailbone, causing him to be inactive the next week against Minnesota (12/8). Glenn returned to the lineup at San Francisco (12/15), catching three passes for 46 yards, including a key 22-yarder to help set up a touchdown on the Packers' opening drive of the second half in an eventual 20-14 victory. He followed that up with a four-catch performance against Buffalo (12/22). Glenn filled the void when Donald Driver left the game at the N.Y. Jets (12/29) early in the second quarter due to a shoulder injury, catching a team-high five passes for 76 yards – including a laser-like, 14-yard touchdown throw from Brett Favre just before halftime to pull Green Bay to within 14-10. Glenn recorded one catch for 11 yards in the wild card game against Atlanta (1/4) before leaving the game at halftime due to a mild concussion.

2001: Glenn played in four games, with one start, in his final season in New England. Of the remaining 12 games, he was inactive for seven, served an NFL suspension for four and a team suspension for one. He finished the season with 14 receptions for 204 yards and a touchdown. Glenn made his 2001 debut against San Diego (10/14) after serving a four-game league suspension and notched a season-high seven receptions for 110 yards and a score. After suffering a hamstring injury in practice the following week, he was inactive Weeks 6-11 and then placed under a team suspension for the contest at the N.Y. Jets (12/2). He returned to action against Cleveland (12/9) and had four receptions for 67 yards, moving into fifth place on New England's all-time receiving yardage list. He added three receptions at Buffalo (12/16), including a 19-yarder that contributed to a field-goal scoring drive. He saw action against Miami (12/22) but was then inactive for the season finale at Carolina (1/6/02). During the Patriots postseason run to the Super Bowl title, Glenn was under a team suspension.

2000: Glenn started all 16 games for the first time in his career and finished with 79 receptions for 963 yards and six touchdowns. He finished 10th in the conference in both receptions and yards. He also added four rushes for 39 yards. Glenn opened the season with a 39-yard touchdown reception among his four catches for 56 yards against Tampa Bay (9/3). The following week at the N.Y. Jets (9/11), he led the team with 81 receiving yards on six catches. He pulled in a game-high eight throws, including an eight-yard touchdown, for 69 yards against Minnesota (9/17) and again led the team with five receptions for 65 yards at Miami (9/24). In back-to-back games at Denver (10/1) and against Indianapolis (10/8), Glenn hauled in scoring passes. With an 11-yard reception against Buffalo (11/5), Glenn became just the sixth Patriot to go over the 4,000-yard career receiving mark. Against Cincinnati (11/19), he registered a season-high 11 catches for 129 yards. In New England's 30-24 victory over Kansas City (12/4), Glenn broke free on a career-long 35-yard rush. He shared team high honors in receptions (five) and led the club in receiving yards (63) at Chicago (12/10), registering a touchdown in the process. His key 16-yard reception in overtime helped the club to a 13-10 victory at Buffalo (12/17), and he finished the day with a team-leading six catches for 70 yards. Glenn had a touchdown reception among his two catches against Miami (12/24).

1999: With a career-high 1,147 receiving yards on a team-leading 69 receptions, Glenn had one of the most outstanding seasons of his career despite missing two games. He posted a 16.6 yards-per-catch average and was selected as a Pro Bowl alternate – later taking part in the all-star contest when Tim Brown withdrew due to injury. Nine times during the season he led the club in receptions and eight times he led the team in receiving yards. Glenn started the season averaging 7.4 receptions for more than 127 yards-per-game through the first five contests. He opened the season with two key receptions on the game-winning scoring drive in a 30-28 victory over the N.Y. Jets (9/12), part of a seven-reception, 113-yard effort. The following week against Indianapolis (9/19), he led the team with seven receptions for 122 yards. He hauled in a crucial, 18-yard reception to convert a third down on the drive that resulted in a game-winning, 41-yard field goal in a 16-14 victory over the N.Y. Giants (9/26) and finished with five receptions for 95 yards in the contest. Glenn authored his signature game at Cleveland (10/3) when he set club records with 13 receptions for 214 yards, including 11 receptions for 145 yards by halftime. His 214-yard output was the NFL's highest since the Rams' Isaac Bruce registered 233 yards two years earlier (Nov. 2, 1997). The next week at Kansas City (10/10), he hauled in a 49-yard touchdown, among his five receptions for 92 yards. His five-game streak to start the season came to a halt against Miami (10/17) when he did not record a catch, just the third such game of his career. Glenn bounced back the next week in the win over Denver (10/24) with two receptions, including a 67-yarder, for 80 yards. He registered a 36-yard touchdown among his four receptions for 63 yards at Arizona (10/31). Glenn posted a 45-yard touchdown among his three catches for 69 yards at Buffalo (11/28) despite not starting. He then notched a game-high 148 yards on nine receptions, including a 52-yarder, at Indianapolis (12/12). Glenn was then inactive for the club's final two contests against Buffalo (12/26) because of illness, and then against Baltimore (1/2/00) due to a team suspension.

1998: Glenn posted a team-leading 792 yards on 50 receptions despite playing in just 10 games, missing four games with a hamstring injury and then finishing the season on injured reserve with a broken ankle. Glenn earned "Player of the Game" honors with 102 yards on just four receptions (25.5 avg.) against Tennessee (9/20), including a 51-yard touchdown grab. He topped the 100-yard mark again the ensuing week with 105 yards on four catches in a 30-27 win at New Orleans (10/4). Glenn led the team with seven receptions for 78 yards in the win over the Chiefs (10/11). After suffering a pulled hamstring against the N.Y. Jets (10/19), he missed the next four games. He returned to register seven receptions for 66 yards in a 26-23 victory over Miami (11/23) and then went over the 100-yard mark (104 on eight receptions) against Buffalo (11/29). His fourth 100-yard game of the season came at Pittsburgh (12/6) when Glenn had a season-high 193 yards on nine receptions. His totals included a career long 86-yard touchdown grab. His season came to an end the following week at St. Louis (12/13), when he suffered a broken ankle that would land him on injured reserve Dec. 18.

1997: Glenn's sophomore season was marred by injury and limited to just nine games. He was inactive for six contests due to injury and suited up, but did not play, in a seventh. He was able to start both playoff contests for New England. He finished the season with 27 receptions for 431 yards and two touchdowns. He had three receptions for 74 yards in the season opener against San Diego (8/31), but suffered an ankle injury that forced him to miss the next two games. He returned to the lineup for a Week 4 matchup against Chicago (9/21), but left after the first series without making a reception. The following week at Denver (10/6), he made two receptions. On the Monday night stage against Green Bay (10/27),

Glenn hauled in seven passes for a season-high 163 yards (then the fifth-highest single-game total in franchise history), including 50- and 49-yard receptions. Despite being poked in the eye at Minnesota (11/2), Glenn returned to the contest in the fourth quarter with a protective shield on his helmet and finished the game with five receptions for 45 yards and a touchdown. He had three receptions for 59 yards at Buffalo (11/9) but had to leave the contest with a hamstring injury. He subsequently sat out the next five games before returning to the lineup at Miami (12/12), but aggravated the injury early in the contest and did not finish. He led the team with four catches for 57 yards in the AFC Wild Card playoff win over Miami (12/28). Glenn contributed postseason career-bests with five receptions for 96 yards in the following week's divisional playoff game at Pittsburgh (1/3) before suffering a broken collarbone that ended his season.

1996: Glenn exploded onto the scene as a rookie, finishing the season with an NFL rookie-record and team-leading 90 receptions for 1,132 yards and six touchdowns. His 90 catches ranked second in the AFC, seventh in the NFL, and was the second best single-season total in club history (96 by Ben Coates in 1994). He went on to earn AFC Rookie of the Year honors from United Press International, was an All-Pro selection by USA Today, was named to the All-Rookie team of Pro Football Weekly, Pro Football Writers of America, was runner-up to Eddie George for Associated Press Rookie of the Year honors, was an All-AFC selection by UPI and was the second alternate for the 1997 Pro Bowl. Glenn missed most of training camp and the season opener at Miami (9/1) with a strained hamstring suffered in practice July 31. After missing the season opener, Glenn went on to start the next 18 games, including postseason, and led the team in receptions and receiving yards in nine-of-15 regular season games. He also posted two 100-yard outings. Glenn made his first NFL start at Buffalo (9/8) and finished with six receptions for 76 yards and a touchdown. In that game, he recorded his first career reception (nine yards from Drew Bledsoe) and first career receiving touchdown (a 37-yard strike from Bledsoe). He tied for the team lead with six catches for 89 yards in a 28-25 overtime victory against Jacksonville (9/22), including a 32-yard reception that set up the game-winning field goal. Glenn posted a season-high 10 receptions for 112 yards against Miami (11/3) and collected his third touchdown of the year and rushed for 26 yards on an end-around in a 31-27 win over the N.Y. Jets (11/10). He had to leave the game against Denver (11/17) with a concussion, but he returned the following week to post a game-high seven receptions for 82 yards and a touchdown against Indianapolis (11/24). In the season finale at the N.Y. Giants (12/21), he had a game-high eight receptions for a season-high 124 yards and a touchdown. Glenn paced the Patriots in the playoffs with 12 receptions for 164 yards. He hauled in a postseason career-best 53-yard reception to set up a two-yard Curtis Martin touchdown run in the Divisional playoffs against Pittsburgh (1/5/97) and had a team-high five receptions for 33 yards in the AFC Championship victory over Jacksonville (1/12/97). In Super Bowl XXXI against Green Bay (1/26/97), Glenn recorded four receptions for 62 yards, including a memorable, diving grab of 44 yards to set up a touchdown.

COLLEGE: A three-year letter winner at Ohio State (1993-95), Glenn played in 32 career games with the Buckeyes, making 12 starts, and finished with 79 receptions for 1,677 yards (21.2 avg.) and 17 touchdowns. He also had six career carries for 31 yards and contributed to the return game with 18 kickoff returns for 399 yards (22.2 avg.) and five punt returns for 28 yards (5.6 avg.). He enjoyed a standout season as a junior, his final campaign in Columbus, receiving the Fred Biletnikoff Award, given annually to the country's top wide receiver, and earning All-America recognition. A unanimous All-Big Ten selection, he set school receiving records with 1,411 yards and 17 touchdowns on 64 receptions. Glenn averaged 22.0 yards-per-reception, the highest figure among career Buckeyes with more than 20 catches in a season and started 12 of the Buckeyes' 13 games, sitting out the Minnesota contest with a shoulder separation. His top collegiate game came against Pittsburgh when he set a school record with nine receptions for 253 yards (28.1 avg.) and four touchdowns. He also posted 17 rushing yards, 16 yards on punt returns and 29 yards on a kickoff return to rack up 315 total yards in a 54-14 victory over the Panthers. He saw action in 10 contests as a backup to future NFL pass catchers Joey Galloway and Chris Sanders in 1994, hauling in seven passes for 110 yards. Glenn saw limited action in 10 games during 1993 behind Sanders at flanker and recorded eight catches for 156 yards (19.5 avg.). After redshirting in 1992 as a walk-on – despite scholarship offers from other schools – Glenn earned a scholarship in spring drills.

PERSONAL: Terry Tree Glenn was born in Columbus, Ohio, and later became a three-year letter winner as a wide receiver and cornerback at Brookhaven High School in Columbus. He served as team captain as a senior, finishing with 14 receptions for 416 yards (29.7 avg.) and four touchdowns and earning second-team all-district honors in the process. He also starred as a kick returner, helping the team advance to the playoffs his junior and senior years. Glenn also lettered three years in basketball and track, plus two years in tennis. Terry grew up admiring Buckeyes football, he sold sodas at Ohio State football games as a youth. Raised by Charles and Mary Henley during his teenage years (they served as legal guardians), the Henley's son, June, was drafted by the Kansas City Chiefs in 1997 after playing running back collegiately at Kansas. In Green Bay, Glenn was active with the local D.A.R.E. program, as well as taping a public service announcement for the American Red Cross. He also participated in the Brett Favre Celebrity Softball Game in June of 2002. While in New England, Glenn was active in a Thanksgiving 'Adopt a Family' program. He majored in history while at Ohio State. Glenn has a son, Terry Jr. (5/4/96) and a daughter, Natalie (9/10/02).

La'Roi Glover

Defensive Tackle

6'2" ★ 285 ★ 7/4/74

San Diego State

UFA (New Orleans) for '02

NFL: 8th Year ★ Cowboys: 2nd Year

GAMES/STARTS (regular season, playoffs): 1996 (2/0 - Oak), 1997 (15/2 - N.O.), 1998 (16/15 - N.O.), 1999 (16/16 - N.O.), 2000 (16/16, 2/2 - N.O.), 2001 (16/16 - N.O.), 2002 (16/16). Total - 97/81, 2/2 (Dallas - 16/16).

PRO: In signing La'Roi Glover to a long-term contract on March 12, 2002, the Dallas Cowboys were expecting big things from one of the NFL's most productive defensive tackles over the previous five seasons. They were not disappointed. Glover stepped into the middle of the Cowboys defensive line and posted a career-high 76 tackles while helping the Dallas defense limit opponents to 3.8 yards-per-rush. Glover - who has posted 31.5 sacks over the past three seasons - also earned his third Pro Bowl selection in as many years. The strong, quick lineman has averaged eight sacks-per-season during his seven-year NFL career (56.5). From 1998-2000, only two other NFL players posted more sacks than Glover's 35.5 (Kevin Carter - 39.5, and Warren Sapp - 36). Glover's 17 sacks in 2000 tied the New Orleans single season record that was set by Pat Swilling in 1992, and that figure is the second highest sack total by any defensive tackle in NFL history - since sacks were first registered as an official NFL stat in 1992. As the elder statesman of the Cowboys defensive line, Glover will be expected to help raise the play of young tackles Michael Myers and John Nix while continuing to put up Pro Bowl caliber numbers. His play inside should also aid the talents of defensive end Greg Ellis on the outside.

2002: In earning his third consecutive Pro Bowl selection, Glover made an immediate impression among Cowboys fans by establishing new career-highs for tackles (76) and quarterback pressures (26) while tying his previous career-best with three passes defended. He also added 6.5 sacks (eighth in the NFL among defensive tackles), five tackles for losses and two forced fumbles, all of which earned him All-Pro honors from College & Pro Football Newsweekly, Pro Football Weekly and The Sporting News and All-NFC honors from Pro Football Weekly. In his Cowboys debut at Houston (9/8), he tied for the team lead among linemen with six tackles while leading the club with 1.5 sacks and recording his second career interception, two pressures and a tackle for a loss. His 1.5 sacks were part of a six sack effort by the Dallas defense, its best showing since totaling nine sacks against Arizona on Nov. 9, 1997. Against Tennessee (9/15), Glover posted four stops and two pressures and helped limit Eddie George to 65 yards on 19 carries (3.4 avg.). Glover registered three tackles, two pressures, a sack, a tackle for a loss and a forced fumble at Philadelphia (9/22). Against the N.Y. Giants (10/6), he totaled three tackles, a pressure and his third sack of the season, forcing a fumble on the play which Kerry Collins recovered for the Giants. Glover posted four stops against Carolina (10/13) while helping limit the Panthers to a 3.5 yards-per-carry average on 33 rushing attempts. He tied for the lead among Dallas defensive linemen at Arizona (10/20) with seven tackles while tying for the team lead with three pressures. Against Seattle (10/27), Glover tallied six tackles, two passes defended and the club's only sack while helping limit Shaun Alexander to 58 yards on 23 carries (2.5 avg.) He led all linemen the next week at Detroit (11/3) with four tackles and two pressures while posting the team's only sack. He helped limit the Lions to 148 total yards, the fewest by a Dallas opponent since holding the N.Y. Giants to 105 yards on Sept. 8, 1996. He registered four stops and two pressures at Indianapolis (11/17) before totaling four tackles against Jacksonville (11/24). On Thanksgiving Day against Washington (11/28), Glover posted a season-high eight tackles, a season-high eight quarterback pressures and a sack. His eight pressures were the most by a Cowboy since Charles Haley recorded nine against Green Bay on Nov. 24, 1994, and three of Glover's pressures resulted in interceptions. In helping preserve the Cowboys seven point lead, he stopped Danny Wuerffel for no gain on a third down sneak and Stephen Davis for no gain on a fourth down run up the middle with 3:09 remaining in the game. Glover again tallied a season-high tying eight tackles against San Francisco (12/8) while adding two stops behind the line of scrimmage and two quarterback pressures. He recorded three tackles at the N.Y. Giants (12/15) before leading all defensive linemen with seven stops against Philadelphia (12/21). In the season finale at Washington (12/29), he registered two tackles before leaving the game late in the second quarter with a sprained right knee.

2001: Glover earned his second consecutive Pro Bowl selection after totaling 45 tackles, eight sacks, three forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries. His eight sacks ranked third on the team and helped the Saints lead the NFL in sacks-per-pass play. He opened the season with two stops and a sack at Buffalo (9/9), then posted three tackles and a sack at the N.Y. Giants (9/30). In the Saints' home opener against Minnesota (10/7), he totaled four tackles, two sacks and forced a fumble while holding the Vikings ground attack to just 34 yards. He recorded two stops and two fumble recoveries at Carolina (10/14) before posting four stops against Atlanta (10/21). He tallied four tackles at New England (11/25). Against Carolina (12/2), he recorded three tackles, 1.5 sacks and a forced fumble while helping the defense limit the Panthers to just 49 rushing yards on 19 attempts (2.6 avg.) and 150 total yards. He posted two tackles, a forced fumble and half a sack at Atlanta (12/9) then totaled three stops and a sack against St. Louis (12/17). He recorded a season-high six tackles and a sack against Washington (12/30) before closing the season with three stops against San Francisco (1/6/02).

2000: With one of the more dominating defensive performances in the NFL, Glover was selected to his first Pro Bowl while earning consensus All-Pro honors and NFL Alumni Defensive Lineman of the Year after leading the NFL with 17.0 sacks for losses of 112 yards. This sack total ranks second in NFL annals among defensive tackles, trailing Minnesota's Keith Millard's 18-sack effort in 1989. He also recorded 65 tackles, two forced fumbles and a fumble recovery. His performances earned him NFC Defensive Player of the Week honors an NFC-record three times while earning NFC Defensive Player of the Month for October. At the time, he was just the ninth player in NFL history to win conference Player of the Week honors in two consecutive weeks - at Chicago (10/8) and against Carolina (10/15). He recorded his first sack of the season against Detroit (9/3) while totaling six tackles. He finished with two stops and sacks on consecutive plays at San Diego (9/10) before tallying four tackles and a career-high tying three sacks at Chicago (10/8), earning NFC Defensive Player of the Week honors. He earned Defensive Player of the Week honors the following week against Carolina (10/15) after recording another three sack performance. At Atlanta (10/22), he totaled three tackles and a sack, then registered six stops, two sacks and a forced fumble at Arizona (10/29). He was named NFC Defensive Player of the Month for October after posting 17 tackles, nine sacks and a forced fumble in four games. He recorded his 11th sack of the year at Carolina (11/12), and he earned NFC Defensive Player of the Week honors for a record third time after totaling five stops, a career-high tying three sacks and a forced fumble at St. Louis (11/26). Glover's performance helped the Saints defense limit Rams running back Marshall Faulk to 27 rushing yards. He returned the next week against Denver (12/3) to record a season-high 10 tackles, then forced a key third quarter fumble at San Francisco (12/10) which led to a Saints field goal in a 31-27 victory. In the NFC Wild Card game against St. Louis (12/30), he totaled six tackles and a fumble recovery to help the New Orleans defense limit Faulk to 24 rushing yards in the Saints 31-28 victory.

1999: Glover finished fifth on the Saints with 62 tackles while leading the team with 8.5 sacks. He also posted a forced fumble, a fumble recovery and a pass defended. He recorded his first sack at Chicago (10/3), and he led the team with eight tackles at the N.Y. Giants (10/24). He registered his most productive game of the season at Baltimore (12/19) when he led the Saints with a career-high 11 tackles and a career-high tying three sacks.

1998: In starting 15-of-16 games for the Saints, he led the team with 10 sacks while posting 67 tackles, three forced fumbles, an interception and a pass defended. He was named an alternate to the Pro Bowl while earning All-Pro honors from USA Today and College & Pro Football Newsweekly, second-team All-Pro honors from the Associated Press and second-team All-NFC honors from Football News. He kicked off the season recording two sacks and a forced fumble at St. Louis (9/6). His forced fumble was returned for a Saints touchdown by Joe Johnson. He again posted two sacks and a forced fumble against Carolina (9/13), and he intercepted his first career pass against New England (10/4). He registered a season-high eight tackles and a sack at Carolina (11/1) before tying that mark with eight tackles, three sacks and a forced fumble against St. Louis (11/15). He earned NFC Defensive Player of the Week honors after totaling four stops and two sacks against Dallas (12/6).

1997: Glover spent the spring playing for the Barcelona Dragons, helping the team to the World League title while earning All-World League honors. He ranked third in the league with 6.5 sacks while totaling 36 stops. He was waived by Oakland Aug. 24 and claimed by New Orleans Aug. 25, where he appeared in 15 games, starting two. He finished with 33 tackles and was fourth on the team with 6.5 sacks while also registering a forced fumble and a fumble recovery. Against San Diego (9/7), he registered three tackles and a fumble recovery. He posted three stops at San Francisco (9/14) before recording his first career sack against Detroit (9/21). He tallied his second sack at Chicago (10/5), and he recorded his best game of the season against San Francisco (10/26) when he registered five tackles and a sack. Against Seattle (11/16), he totaled three tackles, a sack and a pass defended. He started his first NFL game at Carolina (11/30) and his second in the season finale at Kansas City (12/21).

1996: After being drafted by the Oakland Raiders in the fifth round (166th overall) of the NFL Draft, Glover was inactive for 13 games with the Raiders. He was active but did not play at Chicago (9/29). He saw his first NFL action against Minnesota (11/19) and totaled two tackles. He again saw action at Seattle (11/26) in the defensive line rotation and on special teams.

COLLEGE: Glover was a four-year starter at San Diego State, serving as defensive captain and earning Aztec Outstanding Defensive Lineman honors as a senior after totaling 36 tackles and 4.5 sacks. He was selected to the All-Western Athletic Conference second-team and to the West squad for the East-West Shrine Game. He was a second-team All-WAC selection as a sophomore and honorable mention selection as a freshman.

PERSONAL: Glover was named Cal-Hi Sports first-team, USA Today second-team All-America, San Diego co-Player of the Year, Los Angeles Times Lineman of the Year and CIF Player of the Year as a senior defensive lineman at Point Loma High School in San Diego, Calif. He closed his final prep campaign with 77 tackles, 17.5 sacks, six fumble recoveries, six forced fumbles and three passes defended. He also earned three letters in track as a shot putter and three letters in wrestling, earning the top heavyweight wrestler ranking in the state of California as a senior. Glover was nominated by teammates for the Saints "Man of the Year" and "Unsung Hero" awards in 1999 and was named Saints Defensive MVP for the 2000 season. He graduated from San Diego State in the spring of 1999 with a double major in public administration and sociology. He spent the past offseason interning with Personalities & Promotions International – a local sports marketing company owned by Hall of Fame quarterback Roger Staubach – helping arrange autograph and speaking arrangements for local athletes. La'Roi and his wife, Spring, have a son, La'Roi Damon Glover, Jr. (3/11/03).

GAMES/STARTS (regular season, playoffs): 1997 (16/0), 1998 (16/0, 1/0), 1999 (16/0, 1/0), 2000 (16/0, 2/0 – N.O.), 2001 (16/0 – N.O.), 2002 (15/0 – N.O.). Total – 95/0, 4/0 (Dallas-48/0, 2/0).

PRO: Originally signed as an undrafted rookie free agent by Dallas in 1997, Gowin has developed into a proven veteran in handling kickoff and punting duties. After three seasons in New Orleans, Gowin returned to his Texas roots this year, signing as an unrestricted free agent. He provides Dallas a solid foundation in the punting game and a strong leg on kickoffs. Gowin has completed each of his six NFL seasons with a gross average of more than 41-plus yards-per-punt.

2002: Gowin enjoyed another solid season in handling both punting and kickoff chores for the Saints, posting a 41.9 punting average. That figured tied him for 11th in the NFL, seventh in the NFC in gross punting, and his career-best 36.9 yard net average placed him seventh in the NFL, sixth in the NFC. As a kickoff man, his six touchbacks tied him for seventh in the NFL. While a quadricep injury kept him out of the season opener at Tampa Bay (9/8) – the only game he has missed in his six year career – he returned to action against Green Bay (9/15) and punted four times for a 40.5 yard average, including one inside the 20-yard line. At Chicago (9/22), he recorded five punts for a 43.0 yard mark. His five punts at Detroit (9/29), included one inside the 20 and averaged 40.4 yards a kick. Gowin recorded his first special teams tackle of the season against Pittsburgh (10/6) while punting three times for a 49.0 yard average. Gowin's only punt of the day against Atlanta (10/27) traveled 44 yards and pinned the Falcons inside the 20-yard line. He also added his second special teams tackle of the year. Gowin punted a season-high eight times for a 46.5 yard average at Carolina (11/10) Three of his five punts at Baltimore (12/8) landed inside the Ravens' 20-yard line, and he also added two special teams tackles in the game. Gowin posted a nice 46.3 yard average on three punts against Minnesota (12/15), including one inside the 20-yard line. At Cincinnati (12/22), he punted six times for 234 yards, including two inside the 20-yard line and had one special teams tackle. Gowin wrapped up the season with seven punts against Carolina (12/29), placing two inside the 20 and averaging 43.6 yards-per-kick on the day.

2001: Gowin saw action in all 16 games for the Saints handling punting and kickoff duties. He averaged 41.8 yards on 76 punts (3,180 yards) and had just seven touchbacks, a figure demonstrating his ability to accurately pinpoint punts. Gowin punted a season-high eight times for a 43.5-yard average, including two inside the 20, at Carolina (10/14). His six punts against Atlanta (10/21) included two inside the 20. Gowin had a season-high four punts inside the 20 among his seven punts against the N.Y. Jets (11/4), and he then downed three-of-five punts inside the 20-yard line in a 28-10 win at Atlanta (12/9). Gowin had a Saints career-long 62-yard boot against Washington (12/30).

2000: Gowin posted a 41.1 yards-per-kick average in his first season with the Saints, kicking 74 times for 3,043 yards. He finished seventh in the NFC in punting average and tied for fifth in the NFL for fewest touchbacks with eight. He tied for sixth in the NFC with 22 punts placed inside the opponents' 20-yard line. Demonstrating his overall athletic ability, Gowin also finished tied for fourth on the Saints with a career-high 11 special teams tackles. His best effort of the season came against Detroit (9/3) when he punted seven times for 340 yards and a 48.6-yard average with one punt inside the 20-yard line and recorded a season-long 58-yard punt. He placed four-of-seven punts inside the 20-yard line against Philadelphia (9/24). In two postseason games, Gowin had 11 punts for 441 yards, including three inside the 20-yard line. In the NFC Wild Card game against St. Louis (12/30), he had six punts for 246 yards and a 41.0 average, tying a postseason career-high in punts.

1999: Gowin again proved to be one of the top punters in the NFL, ranking second in the NFC and seventh in the NFL with a 43.2 gross punting average. He booted 81 punts for 3,500 yards, with a long of 64, and put 24 of his kicks inside-the-20 while totaling just 10 touchbacks. His 43.2 average marked the fifth-best season average in Cowboys history. Gowin closed out the season by landing 11 of his last 20 regular season punts inside the opponents 20-yard line. His 24 inside the 20 ranked fourth in the NFC and 12th in the NFL. He also had at least one punt of 50+ yards in 14-of-17 games on the year, including playoffs. On 71 kickoffs, he averaged 67.3 yards-per-kick, including 12 touchbacks. Dallas opponents' average starting position was the 24.0-yard line, second-best in the NFL. Against Atlanta (9/20), Gowin helped limit Tim Dwight, who ranked third in the NFL in kickoff returns in 1998, to a 16.7-yard average on four kickoffs. Against Arizona (10/3), he had six punts and six kickoffs, helping to pin the Cardinals inside their 20-yard line six times on the day (twice on punts, four times on kickoffs). Four other times he had them pinned inside their 30. He had a season-long 64-yard punt at the N.Y. Giants (10/18). Gowin averaged a season-high 53.3 gross yards (four minimum) against Washington (10/24), earning him NFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors. The 53.3 yard average was the third-best single-game average in Cowboys history. In that game he also posted a career-high 45.3 yard net average with four punts for 213 yards and one touchback. He then tied a career-high and club record with five punts inside-the-20 against Philadelphia (12/12). On 12 drives the Eagles began following punts or kickoffs, eight began at or inside the Eagles 20-yard line, and his kickoffs helped limit Allen Rossum, the NFL's fifth leading kickoff return man with a 25.2 average, to 16.0 yards on three kickoff returns and 5.0 yards on two punt returns. Gowin punted a season-high seven times against the N.Y. Jets (12/19).

1998: After setting two club records as a rookie, Gowin suffered no sophomore slump in 1998, establishing a Cowboys record for punts downed inside-the-20 in a season with 31 (on 77 punts). That broke the mark of 28 set by Mike Saxon in 1986 (on 86 punts). The record breaking figure placed him third in the NFC and fourth in the NFL, and as an average (31-of-77 punts), his 40.3% figure of punts downed inside the 20 was the second best total in the NFC and third best in the NFL. He also improved his numbers in net and gross average, tying for seventh in the NFC in gross punting at 43.3 yards-per-punt – an improvement of 1.6 yards-per-punt over his rookie average. He also tied for seventh in the NFC in net punting at 36.6 yards-per-punt – an increase of 1.2 yards-per-punt. On kickoffs, he averaged 67.6 yards (inside the three-yard line) on 82 regular season kickoffs, including 17 touchbacks. The opponent's average starting field position following his kickoffs was the 22.4-yard line, lowest in the NFL. His 17 touchbacks was the sixth best figure in the NFC, eighth best total in the NFL. Gowin opened the year against Arizona (9/6) by averaging a season-high 49.5 yards on four punts and ended the day with a season-high 44.8-yard net punting average. He helped limit Cardinals return man Eric Metcalf to 19 yards on four punt returns (4.8 avg.) and 41 yards on three kickoff returns (13.7 avg.). Five of his seven kickoffs went into the end zone, resulting in four touchbacks and starting field position for the Cardinals at the 20, 20, 13, 20, 20, 15 and 19-yard lines. He put five-of-six kickoffs into the end zone at Denver (9/13), resulting in four more touchbacks and averaged 51.0 yards on two punts, but his biggest play of the game came on a 33-yard run from punt formation in the third quarter that kept alive a drive and eventually led to a field goal. Gowin had a career high nine punts at the N.Y. Giants (9/21). Beginning his inside the 20 run, Gowin placed four-of-five punts inside the 20 against Oakland (9/27). By putting three-of-six kickoffs into the end zone at Washington (10/4), Gowin logged one touchback and helped limit Brian Mitchell to a 17.8-yard kickoff return average. He also averaged 48 yards on four punts. With a season-long 65 yard punt at Chicago (10/18), Gowin averaged 44.6 yards on seven punts. Between kickoffs and punts, Gowin kept the Eagles in bad field position all night (avg. drive start was the Eagles 21) at Philadelphia (11/2), averaging 46 yards on six punts, including two inside the 20. He topped that the next week by limiting the N.Y. Giants (11/8) to 15.6 yards-per-kickoff return on five kickoffs, and giving the Giants an average starting field position following punts and kickoffs at the 18-yard line. Gowin finished the year out with an incredible run of success, downing 19 of his last 32 punts inside opponents 20-yard line. In addition, five of the remaining 13 punts were touchbacks, leaving opponents with 80 or more yards to go for a touchdown 75.0% of the time. One of Gowin's best all-around performances of the season came at New Orleans (12/6) when he averaged 45.6 yards on seven punts – including three inside the Saints 10-yard line. He also had touchbacks on both his kickoffs. Four times at Kansas City (12/13), Gowin pinned the Chiefs inside their 20-yard line, and he averaged 43.8 yards on five punts. He also suffered the only blocked punt of his career in the second quarter, snapping a string of 152 consecutive punts without a block. For the second straight week, and the third time of the season, Gowin had four of his punts downed inside the opponents 20-yard line when he accomplished the feat against Philadelphia (12/20). That total gave him 29 for the season, breaking Saxon's club record. He also held Brian Mitchell to an 11.4 average on five kickoff returns. In his first career playoff game, Gowin broke yet another Dallas punting record when he established a single-game postseason club record with four punts downed inside the 20-yard line against Arizona (1/2/99). He averaged 41.3 yards-per-punt (39.5 net) on six kicks for the day.

1997: Gowin finished his first NFL campaign by establishing a Dallas rookie record for punts in a season with 86, breaking Mike Saxon's rookie mark of 81 set in 1985 and tying Saxon's club record for punts in a season set in 1986. At 41.8 yards-per-punt, Gowin posted the third highest average by a rookie punter in Dallas history, and he also finished second in the NFL among all rookie punters with a 35.4-yard net average. In addition to handling the punting chores for Dallas, Gowin was responsible for kickoff duties, putting his average kickoff inside the four-yard line and helping Dallas lead the NFL with an opponent's average drive start coming at the 22.5-yard line. His 12 touchbacks on 78 kickoffs were the seventh best figure in the NFC and 11th best in the NFL. His very first NFL punt went 54 yards at Pittsburgh (8/31), and he finished the day with a 46.3-yard average (41.3 net) on four punts. He also had three touchbacks on eight kickoffs. The next week at Arizona (9/7), Gowin averaged 46.8 yards on a season-high eight punts, including four 50+ yarders, and he added three more touchbacks on six kickoffs. The biggest day of Gowin's young career came against Chicago (9/28), when he established a club record by averaging 55.3 yards-per-punt (six punts for 332 yards), topping the mark of 53.4 set by Ron Widby against New Orleans on Nov. 3, 1968. That average included a 72-yard punt, which was the second longest punt in the NFC in 1997 and the longest by a Cowboy since Danny White hit a 73-yarder against the L.A. Rams on Oct. 14, 1979. He also posted a season-high 44.8 net average against the Bears. Gowin's record-setting performances continued on Monday Night Football at Washington (10/13). By placing five of his six punts inside the Redskins' 20-yard line, he tied the club record for punts inside the 20 in a game. Washington's starting field position following punts that night came at the 17, 20, one, seven, 18 and 12-yard lines. Gowin didn't limit his play to punting the ball, recording a key special teams tackle at Philadelphia (10/26) to bring down Mark Seay following a 33-yard punt return. In the cold wind of Lambeau Field, Gowin averaged 43.0 yards-per-punt on six kicks at Green Bay (11/23). He then came back four days later and averaged 46.5 yards-per-punt (41.8 net) against Tennessee (11/27) on Thanksgiving Day. Gowin took over the holding duties on field goals and extra points in the second quarter against Carolina (12/8) when Eric Bjornson suffered a fractured left fibula.

COLLEGE: As a senior at North Texas, Gowin earned All-Big West first-team honors after ranking 15th in the nation with a 44.3 yard average on 89 punts. He was also named to the Associated Press All-America third team, becoming the first Eagle to earn major college All-America honors since NFL Hall of Famer Joe Greene in 1969. Gowin had a career-long 92-yard punt against Vanderbilt. As a junior, he ranked 19th in the nation with a 42.1 yard average. Gowin was an Academic All-Southland Conference choice as a sophomore.

PERSONAL: Gowin was an all-state, all-east Texas and all-district kicker at Jacksonville, Texas, High School. As a senior, he averaged 38.5 yards-per-punt while converting 30-of-32 extra point attempts and five-of-eight field goals. He received his degree in kinesiology from the University of North Texas. While a Dallas Cowboy, Gowin served as a football coach in the clubs' annual Let Us Play! Sports Camp for 150 girls from non-profit agencies in the Dallas area and participated in the annual Joannie Hatcher Memorial Golf Tournament, which benefits the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation. Gowin was inducted into the University of North Texas Athletic Hall of Fame in 2003. Gowin's wife, Nikki, spent the 1995 season on the sidelines at Texas Stadium as a Dallas Cowboys Cheerleader. The Gowin's have a son, Jaeger Brooks (6/7/02).

GAMES/STARTS: 2002 (16/0).

PRO: After long snapper Jeff Robinson tore his ACL in training camp, the Cowboys claimed Jeff Grau (rhymes with WOW) off waivers from the Washington Redskins on Aug. 28. Grau, selected by the Redskins in the seventh-round (230th overall) of the NFL Draft, handled the long snapping duties for the UCLA Bruins each of his four collegiate seasons and was considered the top long snapper in college heading into the 2002 draft. He is a consistent snapper that puts the ball on the mark regularly while being athletic enough to get down the field to cover punts.

2002: Grau made his NFL debut in the Cowboys season opener at Houston (9/8) and recorded his first career special teams tackle while snapping on nine punts. He added his second special teams tackle at Philadelphia (9/22) and another at Arizona (10/20). Against Seattle (10/27), Grau registered a special teams tackle for the second consecutive game and added a third consecutive game with a tackle at Detroit (11/3) while snapping on a season-high 10 punts. For the season, Grau was a key part of 112 punts, breaking the club mark for punts in a season.

COLLEGE: Grau's senior season marked the fourth consecutive year as the Bruins deep snapper. His ability to snap with such consistency helped kicker Chris Griffith connect on 10-of-13 field goal attempts and 41-of-41 PATs. His snapping also led the way for punter Nate Fikse to average 44.2 yards on 53 punts while placing 12 inside the opponent's 20-yard line. With Grau's consistent work as a junior, Griffith was able to convert 11-of-14 field goal attempts and 44-of-46 extra point attempts. Grau also snapped for 75 punts, helping Fikse average 43.3 yards-per-punt while placing 17 inside the 20-yard line. Grau's efforts as the long snapper played an important role during his sophomore campaign as the Bruins indoctrinated two freshmen - Griffith and Fikse - to the kicking game. Griffith made a successful debut, connecting on 13-of-28 field goal attempts and 25-of-25 PATs. Fikse also adjusted to the college game quickly, averaging 42.0 yards on 68 punts, Grau also recorded three tackles on punt coverage. He was one of only five true freshmen to play for a UCLA team that finished the year 10-2, won the Pac-10, a berth in the Rose Bowl and a No. 8 ranking in the final Associated Press poll. As a non-scholarship player, he earned the long snapping job for place kicks during fall camp and added the chore for the punting unit during the season.

PERSONAL: Jeffrey Alan Grau earned two letters in football at Loyola High School in Torrance, Calif. As a senior, he registered 64 tackles and six sacks as a defensive end while catching eight passes for 68 yards as a tight end. The team captain earned all-league honors while helping Loyola become the CIF Division I runner-up. He played quarterback and along the defensive line as a junior. Showing his athleticism, the sociology major earned four letters in baseball as a first baseman and pitcher and was selected all-league three times and team MVP twice. As a member of the Cowboys 2002 Rookie Club – a program designed to introduce rookie team members to community service in the Dallas area, Grau participated in monthly charity visits to non-profit organizations serving children, including Children's Medical Center of Dallas, ChildCareGroup, PaintFest at North Texas Hospital for Children and assistance with The Salvation Army Angel Tree program.

GAMES/STARTS: 2002 (14/14).

PRO: In drafting Andre Gurode (pronounced ger-ODD) in the second round of the 2002 NFL Draft, the Dallas Cowboys viewed the offensive lineman as a talent who had the physical maturity and competitiveness necessary to become a contributor early in his career. He soon answered the call by becoming the first rookie in club history to start at center on opening day. Blessed with intelligence and versatility, Gurode handled the pressure of starting at two different offensive line positions throughout a year that was disrupted by injuries and uncertainty along the Dallas front. Gurode stepped in at the starting center position mid-way through the summer and didn't look back. When the dust had settled on his rookie season, Gurode compiled six starts at center and another eight at right guard. While using each game as a learning experience, he displayed poise and production in handling the difficult task of changing positions as a rookie starter. Throughout the year, he showed flashes of the intensity and athleticism that made him one of the nation's top offensive line prospects coming out of Colorado. As the Cowboys second-round draft choice (37th overall), Gurode was the highest offensive lineman drafted by Dallas since 1981 (Howard Richards – 25th overall).

2002: As the first Cowboys rookie to ever start the season at center, Gurode also became the first rookie starter at the center position since Mark Stepnoski started four games in 1989. In his NFL debut at Houston (9/8), Gurode was part of an offensive line that led the way to 155 rushing yards for Dallas. In the following week's win over Tennessee (9/15), he helped the Dallas line limit the Titans to just one sack in 25 pass plays. Despite numerous changes and injuries on the offensive line at St. Louis (9/29), Gurode was a constant force for a unit that allowed just two sacks in 38 pass plays and helped Dallas rush for 122 yards on 27 carries (4.5 avg.). He missed the following week's loss to the Giants (10/6) and the victory over Carolina (10/13) after suffering a sprained great toe on his left foot in practice on Oct. 2. Gurode returned to the lineup at Arizona (10/20) and helped Dallas rush for 148 yards and a 4.1 yards-per-carry average. He then became part of history against Seattle (10/27) as the starting center on the Dallas line that helped Emmitt Smith eclipse Walter Payton as the NFL's all-time leading rusher. Smith earned his first 100-yard rushing day against the Seahawks with 109 yards and a 4.5 average. Gurode made the move to the starting right guard spot in the last-second loss at Detroit (11/3) – helping provide protection for Chad Hutchinson who threw for over 200 yards against the Lions. In the win over Jacksonville (11/24), the Dallas line provided time for Hutchinson to throw for 301 yards and opened holes for the running game to rush for 118 yards. The 405 net yards was a season-high. Gurode personally helped limit Jaguars defensive tackles John Henderson and Marcus Stroud to two tackles and no sacks on the day. In the Thanksgiving Day win over Washington (11/28), Gurode suffered a strained groin on the extra point following the first Dallas touchdown and missed the rest of the game. Despite suffering a bruised jaw in the second quarter against San Francisco (12/8), Gurode returned to action and helped hold the 49ers without a sack in 28 pass plays. That outing marked the first game of the 2002 season that the line did not allow a sack. He also helped Dallas rush for 110 yards against the 49ers.

COLLEGE: Gurode allowed just 7.5 sacks in 2,653 plays over three-plus years as a starter for the Buffaloes at guard and center. He started his first two and a half seasons at center for Colorado before moving to guard in the middle of his junior year. As a senior in 2001, Gurode earned All-America honors after starting every game at right guard. He was also a unanimous All-Big 12 selection, while pacing a balanced offensive attack that averaged 228.5 rushing yards-per-game and 205.9 passing yards. The 2001 season marked only the third time in school history that both the ground game and aerial attack averaged over 200 yards each in the same season. As a junior, Gurode earned All-Big 12 honors and the John Mack Award, as selected by the coaches for being CU's most outstanding offensive player. Gurode started the first six games of the year at center and the final five games at guard. As a sophomore, Gurode earned honorable mention All-Big 12 honors while helping the Buffaloes to a 7-5 record and a win over Boston College in the Insight.com Bowl. He was the starter all season at center, playing the second-most snaps from scrimmage on the team. After starting 1998 summer practice as the team's right guard, Gurode was switched to center to start the year. In the second week of the season, he tore cartilage in his right knee that forced him to miss the next six games. Gurode returned to start the final three regular season games and the 51-43 win over Oregon in the Aloha Bowl.

PERSONAL: As a senior at North Shore High School in Houston, Texas, Gurode was a PrepStar and SuperPrep All-America, while USA Today selected him as an honorable mention All-America. He was also named to the prestigious Houston Chronicle Top 100 List and made the Austin American-Statesman "Fab 55" team. He earned all-area honors as a senior (second team honors as a junior), and was all-district and all-Greater Houston as a junior and senior (when he also was his team's most outstanding offensive lineman). Gurode lettered three times in basketball and four times in track with personal bests of 186-0 in the discus and 54-1 in the shot put. As a high school junior, he won third place in a drafting competition for intermediate computer design. He earned a degree in ethnic studies at Colorado, where he was a member of the school's "Academic Starters" team. He is currently pursuing another degree in psychology. As a member of the Cowboys 2002 Rookie Club – a program designed to introduce rookie team members to community service in the Dallas area – Gurode participated in monthly charity visits to non-profit organizations serving children.

PRO: After making the squad as a rookie free agent and spending three seasons as Emmitt Smith's apprentice, Troy Hambrick now has the opportunity to grasp the reigns as the Dallas Cowboys featured running back. A big, physical back with deceptive speed in the open field, Hambrick's aggressive running style has allowed him to post a 4.7 yards-per-carry average over the past two seasons. As a change of pace back to Smith in 2001, he finished third among NFL running backs with a 5.1 yards-per-carry average while spending more than half the season as the team's starting fullback. This type of production, along with his size and aggressive style, have Dallas coaches confident that he can step into the starting tailback position and continue to produce at a high level.

2002: Hambrick spent the year as a compliment to Smith and accumulated 317 rushing yards and a touchdown on 79 carries while catching 21 passes for 99 yards. He also excelled on special teams, leading all offensive players and finishing second on the team with 17 special teams stops. He kicked off the season by rushing for 16 yards on four carries at Houston (9/8) as part of a Cowboys rushing game that accounted for 155 yards on the day. At St. Louis (9/29), he carried the ball six times for 40 yards and caught a career-high three passes for six yards. He posted two carries for 19 yards and a five-yard reception on the Cowboys game-tying field goal drive against the Rams before adding a six-yard catch on the game-winning drive. He converted a key second quarter third down with a 10-yard run against the N.Y. Giants (10/6) before rushing three times for 15 yards and leading the team with three special teams tackles against Carolina (10/13). Hambrick posted another big game at Arizona (10/20), averaging 6.8 yards on five carries (34 yards) while adding two receptions for seven yards and leading the team with two special teams tackles. He was second on the team with two special teams stops against Seattle (10/27) while carrying the ball three times for five yards. He scored Dallas' only touchdown at Detroit (11/3) as part of his five carries for 12 yards. He also hauled in two passes for 17 yards and added two special teams stops. At Indianapolis (11/17), he recorded a season-high 42 yards on seven carries while splitting time with Smith at running back. The following week against Jacksonville (11/24), Hambrick registered 71 total yards with four carries for 38 yards and a career-high tying three receptions for 33 yards. He carried the ball nine times for 23 yards and caught two passes against Washington (11/28) on Thanksgiving Day. He posted another all-around game against San Francisco (12/8), rushing six times for 16 yards, catching two passes for 12 yards and recording two special teams tackles. The next week at the N.Y. Giants (12/15), Hambrick carried the ball a season-high 10 times for a season-high tying 42 yards. He totaled four yards on six carries and six yards on a single reception against Philadelphia (12/21) before closing the season with two catches for seven yards and a six-yard run at Washington (12/29).

2001: The 2001 season was truly a breakout year for Hambrick as he went from the life of a street free agent to a starring role as Smith's understudy with two starts at running back and Smith's lead blocker with nine starts at fullback. Hambrick's 579 rushing yards for the year was the highest season rushing total by a Dallas back other than Smith since Smith arrived in 1990 and the most by a back other than Smith since Herschel Walker ran for 1,514 in 1988. In addition, Hambrick finished third in the NFL among running backs in yards-per-carry average at 5.1. The duo of Smith (1,021 yards) and Hambrick (579) made Dallas one of just eight teams with two backs over the 500-yard rushing mark for the season. Proving his all-around worth to the Cowboys, he also led all offensive players and was fifth on the team with eight special teams tackles. After recording just three carries for 16 yards in the first two games of the season, Hambrick's season and career took a major turn at Philadelphia (9/30). Against the Eagles, he ran for 107 yards on 10 carries, including an 80-yard burst in the fourth quarter that was the fourth-longest run in club history. With his performance, Hambrick became the first back other than Smith to rush for over 100 yards since Chris Warren picked up 104 yards at Washington on Oct. 4, 1998. He was also a force on special teams with two tackles and a forced fumble on the opening kickoff that set up a Dallas field goal. Working at both running back and fullback at Oakland (10/7), Hambrick was the team's second leading rusher with 24 yards on four carries. He again added two tackles on special teams. Hambrick's season again took a strange twist at Washington (10/15) as he was second on the team with 68 rushing yards on nine carries (7.6 yards-per-carry average) while the Dallas ground game amassed 211 yards. The twist came in the fourth quarter to fullback Robert Thomas's ankle, forcing Hambrick into the role of fullback full-time. The following week against Arizona (10/28), he earned his first NFL start as the club's fullback with the season-ending injury to Thomas. His second career start came the following week at running back for Smith (sprained MCL in his right knee) at the N.Y. Giants (11/3). Hambrick went on to record a career-high 30 carries for 77 yards and added his first career reception. His 30 carries were the most by a Dallas back since Smith had 31 against Miami on Nov. 25, 1999 and the most by a back other than Smith since Tony Dorsett had 30 carries against Philadelphia on Nov. 24, 1985. Hambrick recorded his second 100-yard rushing game with a career-high 127 yards on 20 carries (6.4 avg.), including bursts of 36 and 47 yards, at Atlanta (11/11). He had 113 yards on 11 carries at the half. He returned to fullback against Philadelphia (11/18) with Smith in the lineup and had three carries for 17 yards. Against Denver (11/22), Hambrick recorded his first career touchdowns with a pair of one-yard runs in the fourth quarter. He ran 10 times for 47 yards while helping the team run for 215 yards on the day as a blocker at Washington (12/2). His 10-yard run on third-and-nine against the N.Y. Giants (12/9) gave Dallas the first down it needed to run out the clock at the end of the 20-13 win. He also recovered a Tiki Barber muff on a first quarter punt at the Giants' 19-yard line to set up a 38-yard field goal. His career-best 27-yard reception came against San Francisco (12/30), while his work as a blocker allowed Smith to run for 126 yards.

2000: Hambrick signed with Dallas as a rookie free agent on June 1 and rushed for 67 yards on 20 carries in five preseason games while catching five passes for 19 yards. He was released Aug. 27 and signed to the Cowboys practice squad Aug. 29. He remained on the practice squad for the first 14 weeks of the season before being moved to Dallas' active roster Dec. 8. He recorded a special teams tackle in his first professional game against Washington (12/10). Two weeks later in the season finale at Tennessee (12/25), he led the team in rushing with 28 yards on six carries (4.7 avg.) after replacing Emmitt Smith in the fourth quarter. Hambrick also led the team with two special teams tackles against the Titans.

COLLEGE: Hambrick transferred from South Carolina to Savannah State as a senior and proceeded to lead the Southern Intercollegiate Athletics Conference in scoring (116 points) while finishing third in rushing (1,189 yards on 183 carries - 6.5 avg.). He finished the year with 18 touchdowns while catching 14 passes for 111 yards and a touchdown. He left South Carolina after rushing for 1,526 yards over his three years as a Gamecock. In Hambrick's final season at USC, he led the team with 701 rushing yards and four touchdowns on 144 carries (4.9 avg.) while catching 22 passes for 166 yards. As a sophomore, he rushed for 604 yards and five scores on 115 carries (5.3 avg.) to lead the team while posting 18 receptions for 143 yards. While carrying the ball 43 times for 281 yards (6.5 avg.) and five touchdowns as a freshman, Hambrick became the first freshman in South Carolina history to rush for more than 100-yards in consecutive games.

PERSONAL: After rushing for 1,731 yards and 36 touchdowns as a senior at Pasco, Fla., High School, Hambrick was named all-state, to the Florida Super 24 Senior Team and Tampa Tribune Player of the Year. He was also named Sunshine Athletic Conference Player of the Year and played in the Florida-Georgia All-Star Game. Troy's brother is former Cowboys linebacker Darren Hambrick, and his uncle is former major league pitcher Jim "Mudcat" Grant. In 2001, Hambrick joined Cowboys Peppi Zellner and Anthony Wright in the NFL High School Tuesday program, a day that all NFL teams visited a local high school. The group spoke to the R.L. Turner High School football team in Carrollton, Texas, about the importance of setting goals, focusing on education and planning for the future. Troy has three children, Troy, Jr., Christopher and Kayla.

Pete Hunter*Cornerback*6'2" ★ 212 ★ 5/25/80*Virginia Union*D5 for '02 (168th overall)*NFL: 2nd Year ★ Cowboys: 2nd Year*GAMES/STARTS: 2002 (11/2).

PRO: As the Cowboys fifth round draft choice (168th overall) in 2002, Pete Hunter is looking to capitalize on the experience he gained during his rookie season to become a regular in the Cowboys secondary. His combination of outstanding size (6-2, 212-pounds), speed (4.34 40-yard dash) and smarts (honor student who graduated with a degree in criminal justice) helped him turn into a versatile playmaker at Virginia Union. Hunter is also a commodity on special teams units, recording 10 career blocked punts, field goals and PATs during his college career.

2002: After being inactive for the first two games of the season, Hunter made his NFL debut at Philadelphia (9/22) on special teams. The next week in the win at St. Louis (9/29), he picked up his first career special teams tackle before suffering a sprained left knee. He returned to action against the N.Y. Giants (10/6), seeing time at safety and in nickel packages before spraining his left ankle. Hunter sat out the next two games but returned against Jacksonville (11/24), where he recorded his first career tackle as a member of the defense. He finished with five stops against the Jaguars. Hunter saw significant action on Thanksgiving Day against Washington (11/28), tallying five tackles while adding three more on special teams. He finished with a season-high six tackles, one for a loss, and a quarterback pressure against San Francisco (12/8). He saw extensive second half action at right cornerback against Philadelphia (12/21) in place of Mario Edwards (neck) and tied his season-high with six tackles while picking up his first-career interception and breaking up three passes. Hunter earned his first NFL start in place of Edwards in the season finale at Washington (12/29), picking up five tackles and a special teams stop.

COLLEGE: As a senior, Hunter made the move from free safety to strong safety, giving him the opportunity to captain the defense and make the calls in the secondary. A preseason All-America selection by Street and Smith Magazine, he went on to justify those honors by leading the CIAA conference with 11 interceptions in 11 games. He finished fifth on the Panthers with 50 tackles and had a team-high 13 passes defended while also blocking a conference-high six kicks. As a junior, he returned to the free safety position in the Virginia Union secondary, finishing third on the team with 52 tackles, including nine for losses. Hunter was second on the team with three interceptions – one returned for a touchdown – and three fumble recoveries while leading the team with 13 passes defended. As a sophomore, he moved from cornerback to free safety and hit the ground running. He led the team with six interceptions for 133 yards in returns. He also broke up 10 passes and recovered two fumbles. Virginia Union posted an 8-2 record behind Hunter's 40 tackles and two sacks. On special teams, he demonstrated the first glimpse of his talents with three blocked kicks.

PERSONAL: An honor student at Atlantic City, NJ, High School, Ralph Everette Hunter went on to earn similar honors and his degree in criminal justice at Virginia Union. While in Richmond, he was also a member of the school's Student Athlete Advisory Council. He was selected to the CIAA-All Community Works team for his efforts with the K-8 grades as a substitute teacher and volunteer in the After School program when at home. As a member of the Cowboys 2002 Rookie Club – a program designed to introduce rookie team members to community service in the Dallas area – Hunter participated in monthly charity visits to non-profit organizations serving children. Pete's mother, Carol Derrick, is a casino dealer in Atlantic City.

GAMES/STARTS: 2002 (9/9)

PRO: Chad Hutchinson's development as an NFL quarterback continues as one of the key areas of focus for the 2003 Dallas Cowboys. While making the transition from baseball to football in 2002, Hutchinson displayed flashes of promise and unique ability, while he also experienced the disappointment and frustration of working in an offense that was slowed by injury and inconsistency throughout the season. As the only major league starting pitcher to ever start a game at quarterback in the NFL, Hutchinson displayed toughness, intelligence and arm strength during an up-and-down rookie campaign. While being sacked 34 times in nine starts, he showed the persistence to keep coming back in the face of adversity. Though the rookie results weren't always pretty, Hutchinson's size, strength and competitiveness offered hope for his future as an NFL starter. Hutchinson's final quarterback rating (66.3) was higher than two other high profile rookies who started more than half of their team's games in 2002: David Carr of Houston (62.8) and Joey Harrington of Detroit (59.9). After a long courtship, Hutchinson signed a football only, seven-year contract with Dallas on Jan. 26, 2002. The starting quarterback at Stanford for two seasons (1996-97), Hutchinson spent four years (1998-2001) as a starting pitcher in the St. Louis Cardinals organization, reaching the major leagues briefly in 2001. The Atlanta Braves originally chose Hutchinson in the first round (26th overall) of the 1995 Major League Baseball Draft, but he turned down their contract offer to enroll at Stanford. He signed a professional baseball contract with the St. Louis Cardinals in July of 1998 after being chosen in the second round of the Major League Baseball Draft (48th overall), leaving Stanford with two years of football eligibility remaining. Over four seasons in the Cardinals organization, he moved between Class A and Class AAA ball, compiling a 17-25 record and a 5.63 ERA.

2002: One of the more intriguing stories of the NFL season was the transformation of Hutchinson from major league pitching prospect to the starting quarterback of the Dallas Cowboys. He opened his NFL career with 95 straight pass attempts without an interception, marking the longest such streak in club history by any quarterback beginning his career. After nine starts as a rookie, Hutchinson compiled a quarterback rating of 66.3 and closed the year by completing 127-of-250 passes for 1,555 yards and seven touchdowns. He also threw eight interceptions and was sacked 34 times. Hutchinson's attempts, completions, yardage and touchdown totals placed him second in club history to only Troy Aikman (1989) for rookie quarterbacks. Prior to his debut against Seattle (10/27), he had last played in a regular season football game on Nov. 22, 1997, completing 21-of-25 passes for 194 yards and a touchdown against Cal in a 21-20 Stanford win. Hutchinson couldn't have picked a higher profile game in which to make his starting debut, taking over the job in a game in which Emmitt Smith would become the NFL's all-time leading rusher. In stepping under center against the Seahawks, Hutchinson became the seventh rookie in franchise history to start at quarterback. In the loss to Seattle, Hutchinson completed 12-of-24 passes for 145 yards, including a 39-yard touchdown pass to Joey Galloway. The following week at Detroit (11/3), Hutchinson completed a season-high 22-of-39 passes for 208 yards (with five dropped balls). In directing the Cowboys lone touchdown drive of the game, he completed five-of-six passes for 66 yards on a 12-play, 80-yard drive. At Indianapolis (11/17), Hutchinson threw for 131 yards on 11-of-23 passing. He posted his first career NFL win with a 21-19 decision over Jacksonville (11/24), completing 16-of-24 passes (66.7%) for a season-high 301 yards and two touchdowns to go along with two interceptions. He compiled a quarterback rating of 102.8 for the day, which marked his best individual game rating of the year. His 301 passing yards was the second highest total ever by a Cowboys rookie quarterback, trailing Aikman's 379 at Phoenix on Nov. 12, 1989. Also in the Jacksonville game, Hutchinson had a streak of 95 consecutive passing attempts without an interception come to an end in the second quarter, snapping the longest interception free streak to start a career in club history. In the Thanksgiving Day victory over Washington (11/28), Hutchinson led Dallas to a come-from-behind win in the fourth quarter and the team's only two game winning streak of the year. He completed 12-of-25 passes for 145 yards and found wide receivers Antonio Bryant and Joey Galloway for touchdown strikes of 29 and 41 yards, respectively. The strike to Galloway put Dallas ahead 24-20 early in the fourth quarter and proved to be the game winner. With the victory, he became the fifth different Dallas quarterback to direct the Cowboys to a win over Washington in as many games. In the following week's loss to San Francisco (12/8), Hutchinson completed only 11-of-28 passes for 147 yards with two interceptions. During the 49ers loss, he registered a career-long 58-yard pass-and-run to Tony McGee, while also turning in a season-long 18-yard run on a third-down bootleg. At New York (12/15), he completed just 16-of-40 passes for 161 yards, one touchdown and two interceptions. In a nationally televised Saturday night game against Philadelphia (12/21), Hutchinson completed 15-of-24 passes for 128 yards while suffering seven sacks. He also had a season-high 20 yards rushing on three carries. In the season's final game at Washington (12/29), he hit on 12-of-23 passes for 189 yards in a 20-14 loss. He was sacked five times in the game, intercepted once, and threw a 46-yard touchdown pass to Bryant.

2001: Hutchinson spent most of the season with Memphis (AAA) of the Pacific Coast League, posting a 4-9 record and a 7.92 ERA in 20 starts. He recorded 111 strikeouts in 97.2 innings and had a three game winning streak in July. He opened the season on the major league roster in St. Louis before being sent down to Memphis on April 22, pitching 4.0 innings in three appearances.

2000: Hutchinson struggled through an injury-plagued campaign in which he split time between Memphis (AAA) and Arkansas (AA). He pitched just 56.1 innings on the year, but recorded 63 strikeouts and ranked eighth in the Cardinals organization with 10.1 strikeouts-per-nine innings. He opened the season at Memphis, but got off to a tough start before being sent to Arkansas. He pitched well in eight starts for the Travelers, before being shelved with elbow problems for more than two months. He returned to pitch three games at season's end. He then played for the Scottsdale Scorpions in the Arizona Fall League.

1999: Hutchinson completed his first full professional season with a combined 9-11 mark between Arkansas (AA) and Memphis (AAA). He spent the bulk of the season at Arkansas of the Texas League, where he was 7-11 with a 4.72 ERA in 25 starts. Hutchinson tied for the Travelers' team lead in wins (seven) and finished second with 150 strikeouts in 141.0 innings pitched. He struck out 10-or-more in three of his starts and was involved in three combined shutouts. He allowed just one hit and fanned 11 in 8.0 innings pitched during a win at Shreveport (8/6), which led to his selection as Texas League Pitcher of the Week for the week ending Aug. 8. Hutchinson was promoted to Memphis on Aug. 27 and made two starts for the Redbirds, going 2-0 with a 2.19 ERA. He earned a win at Vancouver by striking out 11 in six innings. He was recalled by the Cardinals on Sept. 27 but did not appear in any games.

1998: Selected in the second round of the June free-agent draft, Hutchinson signed a minor league contract on June 23 and began his professional baseball career at the Cardinals' Class-A New Jersey club, posting an 0-1 record in three starts. He recorded a 5:1 (20:4) strikeout-to-walk ratio at New Jersey and was promoted to Prince William on Aug. 15. He made five starts for the Cannons, going 2-0 with a 2.79 ERA and earned his first professional win against Salem on Aug. 21.

COLLEGE: A two-year starter for the Stanford football team (1996-97) and three-year starting pitcher for the baseball team (1996-98), Hutchinson completed 379-of-627 (60.4%) passes for 4,235 yards, 20 touchdowns and 22 interceptions. He left Stanford ranked seventh all-time in passing, fifth in career completion percentage, seventh in career completions, eighth in career attempts, ninth in total offense and 11th in career touchdown passes. In three years on the mound for the Cardinals, Hutchinson compiled a career record of 25-11 and stands eighth all-time at Stanford in wins and sixth in strikeouts with 299. His career ERA was 4.80. He helped lead the team to the Pac-10 Southern Division championship in 1997 and 1998. In 1997, Hutchinson started all 11 games at quarterback for Stanford, completing 189-of-315 passes for 2,101 yards, 10 touchdowns and 10 interceptions. In 1996, Hutchinson was named Stanford's starting quarterback just four days before the season opener against Utah. He finished the season 190-of-312 for 2,134 yards, 10 touchdowns and 12 interceptions. His best game of the year came in the 38-0 Sun Bowl win over Michigan State, where he earned Most Valuable Player honors by completing 22-of-28 passes for 226 yards and a touchdown. During Stanford's five game winning streak at the end of the season, he completed 95-of-142 passes (67.0%) for 1,050 yards and seven touchdowns. In 1995, he was a redshirt freshman on the Stanford football team before going on to earn first-team Freshman All-America and honorable mention All-Pac 10 recognition after a 7-2 record as a pitcher in the spring of 1996. He helped Stanford finish that campaign with a 41-19 overall record, a second place Pac-10 finish and an appearance in the NCAA West Regional.

PERSONAL: Chad Martin Hutchinson graduated from Torrey Pines High School in Encinitas, Calif., where he played baseball and football. He was a political science major at Stanford. He earned the Gatorade National Baseball Player of the Year award as a senior and was ranked as the nation's top high school prospect. Chad's father, Lloyd, was an outfielder in the Philadelphia system (1969-72), and his brother, Trevor, is currently a pitcher in the Florida Marlins system. As a member of the Cowboys 2002 Rookie Club - a program designed to introduce rookie team members to community service in the Dallas area - Hutchinson participated in charity visits to non-profit organizations serving children. He has also become quite active in the community beyond the Rookie Club, making visits to Happy Hill Farm Academy & Home, participating in the 2002 and 2003 American Cancer Society's Lil' Gunslingers Party for pediatric cancer patients and participation in the Cowboys annual press announcement for the Cowboys Thanksgiving Day Salvation Army Kettle Kickoff. Hutchinson's passion and enthusiasm for helping children is evident as he participated in the team's annual NFL United Way Hometown Huddle event for 100 underprivileged youth and assisted with the Tree Lighting Ceremony at Children's Medical Center of Dallas followed by an evening of pediatric patient room visits. In 2003, he served as a celebrity escort in the Children's Cancer Fund Fashion Show and Luncheon annually co-chaired by Troy Aikman and Roger Staubach, served as the guest speaker at Babe's (Laufenberg) Best High School Football Scholarship Program Banquet, attended and sponsored a child for camp at the Daryl Johnston hosted MDA Muscle Team Bash and served as a football coach at the Cowboys annual Let Us Play! Sports Camp for 150 girls from Dallas area non-profit agencies.

Bradie James

Linebacker

Louisiana State

D-4 for '03

NFL: Rookie ★ Cowboys: Rookie

COLLEGE: One of the more celebrated players to come out of LSU in recent history, Bradie James's collegiate accomplishments spanned the athletic fields and the classroom. James was a two-time All-Southeastern Conference selection on the football field, and a National Scholar Athlete (as selected by the National Football Foundation) and member of the SEC Academic Honor Roll in the classroom. James finished his playing days at LSU as the school's second leading career tackler with 418 – 33 of which were for lost yardage – while also recording 29 quarterback pressures, 14 sacks, eight pass deflections, four forced fumbles, two fumble recoveries and two interceptions. He spent his first three seasons with the Tigers playing weakside linebacker before moving to middle linebacker as a senior and earning All-America honors. James, who possesses a solid work ethic, has a good burst and the speed to make plays from sideline-to-sideline. He will return to the weakside with Dallas, battling for a reserve spot behind two-time Pro Bowler Dexter Coakley.

2002: As a senior team captain, James moved from the weakside to the middle and garnered All-America honors from The Sporting News and the American Football Coaches Association. He was also a semifinalist for the Butkus Award – given annually to the nation's top linebacker – and the Lombardi Award – given annually to the nation's top lineman. An All-SEC pick, James set the LSU single-season tackle record with 154 while adding three sacks, 10 stops for losses of 32 yards, 18 quarterback pressures, three passes defended and an interception. He opened the season in impressive fashion by registering 19 tackles at Virginia Tech and 18 tackles the following week against The Citadel. He picked up his only interception of the year against Miami of Ohio, while deflecting another pass and totaling seven tackles. In LSU's victory over No. 16 ranked Florida, James led the way defensively with 11 tackles. He again posted 11 stops and a tackle for a loss against South Carolina before closing the season with a flurry. At Auburn, he totaled 14 tackles and a tackle for a loss, then registered 15 stops with a tackle behind the line of scrimmage against Alabama. In the season finale at Arkansas, James recorded a season-high 18 tackles and a sack. James closed his collegiate career in the SBC Cotton Bowl against Texas by tallying seven tackles, a tackle for a loss and a pass deflection while carrying the ball once for two yards on the offensive side of the ball.

2001: James earned All-SEC honors at outside linebacker as a junior after finishing second on the team with 113 tackles while adding nine quarterback pressures, eight tackles behind the line of scrimmage, three sacks, three passes deflections and a forced and recovered fumble. LSU posted a 10-3 record, captured the SEC title and a Sugar Bowl win along the way. Against Utah State he recorded 12 tackles and a pair of pressures. The following week at Tennessee, he tallied a season-high 16 tackles while assisting on a sack of quarterback Casey Clausen. James recorded 10 stops and a sack against Florida before totaling eight tackles and forcing a fumble at Mississippi State. He began LSU's late season push with 14 stops and a pass deflection at Alabama, then contributed 11 tackles, three stops behind the line of scrimmage and a sack against Arkansas in a 41-38 win. James registered 10 tackles against the Volunteers as the Tigers knocked off No. 2 Tennessee 30-21 and captured the SEC Championship Game title. Playing in the Nokia Sugar Bowl against Illinois, James posted eight stops, including one for a loss, and a pair of quarterback pressures in LSU's 47-34 win over the No. 7 ranked Illini.

2000: As a sophomore, James started 11-of-12 games – missing a start against Houston when the Tigers opened in a dime package – and earned second-team All-SEC honors after closing the season second on the team (third in the conference) with 110 tackles. He was the team leader with five sacks while adding eight stops for losses and a forced fumble. Despite not starting the game, James contributed 10 tackles and a sack against Houston. He posted 11 tackles, with two behind the line of scrimmage, at Auburn before totaling a season-high 17 stops and two sacks in a 38-31 overtime win over No. 11 Tennessee. He totaled nine stops and a sack at Florida then tied his season-high with 17 tackles, including one for a loss, against Kentucky. He closed out the season with nine stops and a sack against Alabama, nine tackles at Mississippi and nine stops at Arkansas. In LSU's 28-14 Peach Bowl win over Georgia Tech, James recorded six tackles, two fumble recoveries and a sack to earn Outstanding Defensive Player of the Game honors.

1999: As a freshman, James saw action in 10 games as a reserve linebacker and registered 41 tackles, seven tackles for losses, three sacks, an interception and a fumble recovery to earn selection to the SEC All-Freshman Team. He totaled a season-high nine stops, including one behind the line of scrimmage, against Auburn. At Georgia, James contributed six tackles, a sack, a pass defended and a fumble recovery. He recorded his first career interception at Mississippi State, then contributed a sack at Alabama.

PERSONAL: Bradie Gene James earned Parade All-America, all-state, class 5A defensive MVP and district defensive MVP honors after totaling 136 tackles, 10 tackles for losses, five sacks and three fumble recoveries as a senior at West Monroe, La., High School. His play helped lead West Monroe to a state championship while earning him selection to the Louisiana Football Magazine's All-Louisiana team, the New Orleans Times Picayune's Top 20 blue chip list and the Atlanta Journal-Constitution's super southern 100 list. Brady graduated from LSU with a degree in criminology.

Al Johnson

Center

Wisconsin

NFL: Rookie ★ Cowboys: Rookie

COLLEGE: In their quest to find talented, young offensive linemen, the Cowboys drafted Al Johnson in the second round (38th overall) of the 2003 NFL Draft. A three-year starter at Wisconsin, Johnson is a natural center who helped lead the way for a potent Badgers rushing attack. He is a fast-twitch snapper who explodes off the line and establishes leverage immediately coming out of his stance. He also has the speed to get to the linebacker or to pull around the end. Cowboys coaches were also impressed by his ability to make quick reads of the defense and adjust the line while still making solid snaps and blocking his assignment. Dallas feels that Johnson has the intelligence and physical ability to contribute early in his career and will give him every opportunity to earn playing time during his rookie campaign.

2002: As a senior captain, Johnson was a consensus All-Big Ten second-team choice while garnering third-team All-America honors from The Sporting News and honorable mention from CNN/SI. He anchored an offensive line that allowed the Badgers to accumulate 4,610 yards and 43 touchdowns on the season while averaging 190.0 rushing yards-per-game. The blocking of Johnson and the line allowed Anthony Davis to rush for 1,456 yards on 275 carries (5.3 avg.). The Badgers opened the season by rushing for 198 yards against Fresno State. Johnson opened a hole in the middle against the Bulldogs for Matt Bernstein to score on a one-yard jaunt. Wisconsin totaled 447 total offensive yards against West Virginia. Against Arizona, Johnson helped lead the way for 260 rushing yards and 425 total yards by Wisconsin while springing Davis for a six-yard scoring scamper with block on the linebacker. Johnson got to the linebacker in time to clear a path for Davis to go 41-yards for a touchdown against Ohio State. The Badgers then totaled 221 rushing yards at Indiana before accumulating 313 rushing yards and 448 total yards at Michigan State. Against Colorado in the Alamo Bowl, Johnson brought down defensive tackle Tyler Brayton on a four-yard scoring run by Davis as Wisconsin picked up 356 total yards.

2001: As a junior, Johnson started every game at center and earned honorable mention All-Big Ten honors after helping lead the team to 176.9 rushing yards-per-game and 389.9 total yards-per-game. Behind Johnson's blocking, Davis rushed for 1,466 yards on 291 carries (5.0 avg.). Johnson helped the Badgers open the season with 228 rushing yards against Virginia then at Oregon, he opened a hole in the middle of the line that Davis burst through for a 69-yard touchdown jaunt as Wisconsin accumulated 388 total yards. In Wisconsin's 18-6 victory over Penn State, Johnson's block of Jimmy Kennedy paved the way for Brooks Bolinger's three-yard touchdown run that sealed the Badgers victory. In that victory over the Nittany Lions, Wisconsin rushed for a season-high 320 yards while accumulating 434 total yards. He executed a solid reach block on a blitzing linebacker at Ohio State to allow Bollinger time to complete a 42-yard touchdown pass to Nick Davis. Johnson's blocking against Michigan State allowed Wisconsin to throw for a season-high 368 yards while recording a season-high 519 total yards of offense. He paved the way for 172 rushing yards and 434 total yards against Iowa. In the season finale at Minnesota, he anchored a line that allowed the Badgers to rush for 256 yards while totaling 494 total yards on the day.

2000: Johnson took over the starting center duties in the second game of the season and proceeded to earn honorable mention All-Big Ten honors. He took over the center duties when All-America Casey Rabach moved to right guard. Johnson's play in the middle of the Badgers offensive line helped the team average 196.1 rushing yards-per-game and 358.8 total yards-per-game while leading the way for Michael Bennett to rush for 1,598 yards on 294 carries (5.4 avg.). Bennett's 159.8 rushing yards-per-game was the third best average in the country. The Badgers were able to run for 302 yards against Oregon before totaling 352 rushing yards and 505 total yards against Northwestern. He was named Wisconsin's offensive player of the game when the Badgers rushed for 180 yards at Michigan. The following week at Ohio State, Johnson's block led to the team's only score, a 35-yard touchdown run by Bennett. Behind Johnson's blocking, Wisconsin accumulated 216 rushing yards against Minnesota, 228 rushing yards at Indiana and 263 rushing yards at Hawaii to close out the season. In the Sun Bowl against UCLA, Johnson sparked the team with his work inside as the Badgers rushed for 168 yards against the Bruins.

1998: Johnson was redshirted as a true freshman.

PERSONAL: Johnson, a sociology major at Wisconsin, was a standout two-way player at Southern Door High School in Brussels, Wis., earning second-team All-America honors from Prep Football Report and all-state honors from the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel while being named a national top 20 lineman by SuperPrep, the state of Wisconsin's top player by Street & Smith's and the Packerland Conference player of the year. He was also named to Prep Star's all-America "Dream Team" and played in the Wisconsin Shrine Game. The sociology major was also a member of the Southern Door track and basketball teams, winning the state track title in the shot put and being named conference player of the year in basketball.

Matt Lehr

Guard/Center

6'2" ★ 304 ★ 4/25/79

Virginia Tech

NFL: 3rd Year ★ Cowboys: 3rd Year

GAMES/STARTS: 2001 (8/0), 2002 (12/4). Total 20/4.

PRO: The Cowboys believe they addressed their long-term future depth at either guard or center with Matt Lehr (pronounced LAIR), selected with the 137th overall pick in the 2001 NFL Draft. Lehr combines good athleticism with excellent technique to dominate his man at the line of scrimmage. He has worked at guard and center during his first two professional seasons to provide the Cowboys with a more versatile reserve lineman. Entering his third season, Lehr is hoping to continue impressing coaches with his versatility and work ethic as he battles for additional playing time.

2002: Lehr's versatility proved key as he saw action in 12 games, lining up at both guard spots and center during the year. He also earned four starts – two an left guard and two as center – during the season. In the season opener at Houston (9/8), Lehr spelled Kelvin Garmon (knee) at right guard in the second quarter. In the Cowboys home opening win against Tennessee (9/15), Lehr stepped in to replace Larry Allen (ankle) at left guard, helping the line allow just one sack in 25 pass attempts. Lehr earned his first NFL start at left guard in place of Allen at Philadelphia (9/22). The following week at St. Louis (9/29), he took over at right guard for Solomon Page (ribs) in the fourth quarter. Lehr earned his second career start, his first at center, in place of Andre Gurode (toe) against the N.Y. Giants (10/6), and he was part of a line that helped Dallas rack up 340 total yards and allow just two sacks in 44 pass plays. He started his second consecutive game at center against Carolina (10/13) but moved to right guard in the second half when Page (respiratory problems) was forced from the game. At Arizona (10/20), Lehr earned his fourth start of the season, this time back at left guard for Allen. Midway through the first quarter, he suffered a strained PCL in his left knee and missed the remainder of the game. The injury kept him on the sidelines the next two weeks, but he returned to limited action at Indianapolis (11/17). Lehr was active but did not play against Jacksonville (11/24) and then replaced Gurode (groin) at right guard in the Thanksgiving Day win against Washington (11/28). In that game, Lehr was part of an offensive front that led Dallas to a season-high 211 rushing yards, including a season-high 144 yards by Emmitt Smith – putting him over the 17,000 yard mark for career rushing – and his fourth consecutive 100-yard day against the Redskins. Against San Francisco (12/8), Lehr spelled Gurode (jaw contusion) at right guard in the second quarter. He was active but did not play the final three weeks of the season.

2001: Lehr saw his first NFL action as a rookie with a fourth quarter stint at left guard in the second week of the season at Philadelphia (9/30). The following two weeks, Lehr was active but did not play. Against Arizona (10/28), he saw action at both guard spots for Allen and Garmon for a limited number of snaps when they were forced from the game. At Arizona (12/23), Lehr saw considerable time at right guard in the first half, helping Dallas rush for 174 yards on the day, including a season-high 128 by Smith. In the season finale at Detroit (1/6/02), Lehr played almost the entire game at right guard after Garmon re-aggravated a sprained right foot. In the game, he helped protect Carter (no sacks) and block for Smith as he gained 77 yards rushing and topped the 1,000-yard mark for an NFL record 11th consecutive season.

COLLEGE: As a senior, Lehr earned second-team All-Big East and All-America honors while allowing only half a sack and five quarterback pressures and leading the team with 57 knockdown blocks. His performance throughout the season also earned him selection to play in the Hula Bowl. Lehr started all 12 games as a junior at left guard and surrendered only one sack and just three quarterback pressures to earn second-team All-Big East honors and help take the Hokies to the BCS National Championship game. After seeing practice time at guard and tackle during spring workouts of his sophomore year, Lehr injured his ankle during preseason practice and missed Tech's first two games. He saw his first action of the year in the third week and midway through the season he moved into the starting lineup.

PERSONAL: Matthew Steven Lehr played offensive guard and defensive end for Woodbridge, Va., High School. The three-time all-district and all-region selection earned Group AAA all-state honors for his work on the offensive line during his final prep season. He contributed 40 tackles and six sacks on defense while averaging 20 pancake blocks-per-game to garner All-America honors from PrepStar. The finance major averaged 12 pancake blocks a game as a junior to earn all-state accolades. He also garnered all-state honors as a member of the Woodbridge track team in the shot put. During the 2002 and 2003 offseasons, Lehr participated in the Plano Komen Race For The Cure benefiting the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Research Foundation and also served as a football coach for the team's annual Let Us Play! Sports Camp for 150 underprivileged girls from area non-profit agencies. He has also contributed clothing and toys to The Salvation Army Angel Tree program which served needy children. As a rookie, Lehr was a member of the Cowboys inaugural "Rookie Club", a program designed to introduce rookies to community service. Throughout the season, the rookies made visits to and spent time with children at Children's Medical Center of Dallas, Oak Cliff Boys and Girls Clubs, The Salvation Army and its' Christmas Distribution Center. He also took part in the Pegasus Project with the team's offensive line and the RISE School of Dallas, which helped raise awareness for the arts in Dallas. Lehr played the role of the "Grim Reaper" in the Fatal Choices, Shattered Dreams program, a DWI program featuring a mock traffic accident at Oak Ridge High School in Arlington, Texas.

Louis Mackey

Akron

FA for '01

GAMES/STARTS: 2001 (1/0), 2002 (14/0). Total - 15/0.

PRO: As a young player looking to make a name for himself, Louis Mackey took advantage of his opportunity in 2002 to showcase his abilities. Signed as a rookie free agent in 2001, Mackey spent the first half of his initial season on the Cowboys practice squad before being moved to the active roster and immediately fracturing the tibial plateau in his left knee. After months of rehabilitation, he returned to the playing field in 2002 and led the team in special teams tackles while showing he could make plays during his limited work with the defense.

2002: Mackey returned from a fractured tibial plateau, suffered in his first NFL game in 2001, to lead the club with 18 special teams tackles. He posted his first career special teams stop at Philadelphia (9/22) before leading the team with a career-high four special teams tackles at St. Louis (9/29). His four special teams stops were the most by a Dallas player since Lynn Scott tallied four at Oakland on Oct. 7, 2001. Mackey's effort against the Rams helped limit Terrence Wilkins to one return yard on three punt returns, along with one fair catch. Against Carolina (10/13), Mackey saw action at weakside linebacker for Dexter Coakley (hamstring) and recorded three tackles, his first career stops, while helping limit the Panthers to 3.5 yards-per-carry with a long run of nine yards. He tied his career-high with four special teams tackles against Washington (11/28) on Thanksgiving Day, then closed out the season by totaling a team-high three special teams stops at Washington (12/29) to overtake Troy Hambrick as the club leader for the season.

2001: Mackey signed with Dallas on Aug. 10 as a rookie free agent and tallied three tackles and a sack in the preseason. He was released at the end of camp and immediately signed to Dallas' practice squad. After moving to the active roster on Nov 17, he played in his first NFL game against Philadelphia (11/18) but fractured the tibial plateau in his left knee. He was placed on injured reserve Nov. 21.

COLLEGE: Mackey played his final two years of collegiate football at Akron after transferring from Gavilan Junior College. As a senior, he finished third on the team with 67 tackles and tied for second with eight tackles for losses while adding two passes defended, a sack, and a forced fumble. After transferring to Akron from Gavilian, he played in 10 games – starting two – as a junior before having to sit out the following season in order to gain academic eligibility. He began his collegiate career at Gavilian Junior College outside San Jose, Calif., where he played strong safety and linebacker. He earned first-team all-conference honors as a freshman and sophomore at Gavilian.

PERSONAL: Louis Mackey was an all-conference running back and linebacker as a senior at Albany, Calif., High School. He qualified for the Meet of Champions as a member of the track team with performances in the long jump and 4x400 relay. He spent his first three years of high school at Richmond, Calif., High School before transferring to Albany his senior year. In 2001, Mackey joined the Cowboys linebackers and served 500 hams to underprivileged families at The Salvation Army as part of the Dallas Cowboys/Hormel Hams for the Holidays Program. As a rookie, Mackey was a member of the Cowboys inaugural "Rookie Club", a program designed to introduce rookies to community service. Throughout the season, the rookies made visits to and spent time with children at Children's Medical Center of Dallas, Oak Cliff Boys and Girls Clubs, The Salvation Army and its Christmas Distribution Center. While at Gavilian, Mackey helped found and served as the first president of the school's Black Student Union. He earned his degree in interpersonal communications from Akron. Louis and his wife, Anastasia, were married on March 22, 2003.

GAMES/STARTS: 2002 (1R).

PRO: Since the retirement of Daryl Johnston in 1999, the Cowboys have struggled to find a quality, proven blocker at fullback. To remedy that situation, Jamar Martin was drafted in the fourth round (129th overall) of the 2002 NFL Draft. His rookie year was cut short after suffering a torn ACL in his right knee during training camp. In Martin, Dallas hopes to have found the type of powerful fullback who has the explosiveness you need as a lead blocker and the quickness to get out and find the linebacker. He also has the hands Dallas looks for in a fullback coming out of the backfield as a receiver, averaging 9.6 yards-per-reception for his collegiate career.

2002: Martin suffered a torn ACL in his right knee during practice on July 29 and was placed on injured reserve Aug. 27. He underwent surgery to repair the damage on Sept. 3 and spent the year rehabilitating the knee.

COLLEGE: Martin was the Buckeyes team co-captain as a senior, catching a career-high 13 passes for 120 yards and a pair of scores while carrying the ball 22 times for 86 yards. As a junior, Martin was used in a blocking role helping lead the way as Ohio State rushed for 2,199 yards while picking up six yards and a pair of touchdowns on eight carries. Martin started six games as a sophomore, rushing for 100 yards on 19 carries (5.9 avg.). He cleared the way for current Cowboys teammate Michael Wiley, who rushed for 999 yards and 10 touchdowns on 183 carries. As a true freshman, Martin saw action as the back-up fullback, totaling 34 yards and a touchdown on 12 carries while adding 68 yards on five receptions. He was part of a Buckeye offense that rushed for 2,737 yards and 22 touchdowns to finish second in the Big Ten Conference. That squad went on to beat Texas A&M in the Nokia Sugar Bowl and finish with an 11-1 record and ranked second in the nation.

PERSONAL: Martin helped lead McKinley High School in Canton, Ohio, to a 14-0 record and the Ohio big school championship as a senior. He averaged 6.2 yards-per-carry as a senior, gaining 368 yards with five touchdowns on 59 attempts. He also totaled 59 tackles and five sacks at outside linebacker. As a member of the Cowboys 2002 Rookie Club – a program designed to introduce rookie team member to community service in the Dallas area – despite his injured reserve status, Martin participated in monthly charity visits to non-profit organizations serving children. During Thanksgiving week, he joined other players on injured reserve and Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders for a holiday party for 200 terminally ill and mentally challenged children hosted by Pappas Brothers Steakhouse in Dallas. Martin was a political science major at Ohio State. He has a daughter, Jaliyah (1/2/01).

PRO: Marques McFadden joined the Cowboys following a rash of injuries along the offensive line early in the 2002 season. The Cowboys signed McFadden off the Atlanta Falcons practice squad on Sept. 18, and he immediately displayed the type of versatility and athleticism that would enable him to be a contributor at tackle or at guard. Possessing natural athletic talent and size, McFadden will compete for a reserve role on the Cowboys line this fall. He entered the NFL as a rookie free agent with the Green Bay Packers in the fall of 2001.

2002: Injuries and uncertainty on the Cowboys offensive line opened the door for McFadden's signing in September, moving to Dallas from the Atlanta Falcons practice squad. He saw his first splash of NFL action in the Cowboys loss to the N.Y. Giants (10/6) when he replaced right guard Kelvin Garmon (hip injury). McFadden then rotated with the ailing Larry Allen at left guard during the second half of the Giants game. In the following week's win over Carolina (10/13), he moved into the lineup at left guard for Allen in the second quarter and remained in for the rest of the game. That outing marked his first NFL victory as the Cowboys gained 148 yards in the fourth quarter to overtake the Panthers 14-13. In the loss at Arizona (10/20), he took over at left guard for Matt Lehr (sprained knee) midway through the first quarter. McFadden then suffered a left shoulder subluxation midway through the third quarter and missed the remainder of the game. He was placed on injured reserve as a result of the injury on Oct. 24 and underwent surgery to reconstruct the shoulder on Nov. 12. McFadden originally signed with the Atlanta Falcons on Jan. 30 and was allocated to the Amsterdam Admirals of NFL Europe. His blocking helped running back Rafael Cooper finish fourth in the league with 751 rushing yards and eight touchdowns on 155 carries (4.8 avg.) and quarterback Kevin Daft finish second in the league with an 83.0 rating and a league-high 15 touchdowns. McFadden returned to the Falcons but was released at the end of training camp. He immediately signed to Atlanta's practice squad, where he remained until signing with Dallas.

2001: McFadden signed with the Green Bay Packers as a rookie free agent, but was released Aug. 27. He spent the fall out of football.

COLLEGE: A three-time letter winner at Arizona, McFadden started along the Wildcats offensive line for two seasons. He earned second-team All-PAC 10 honors following a senior season in which he started games at left tackle, left guard and right tackle. McFadden started every game as a junior at right guard, helping lead Trung Canidate to 1,643 rushing yards and 11 touchdowns on 253 carries (6.3 avg.). The Wildcats offense averaged 471.9 yards-per-game in 1999. McFadden worked as a reserve lineman during his sophomore campaign (1988) after redshirting as a true freshman in 1996 and missing the 1997 season due to academic difficulties.

PERSONAL: Marques Arthur McFadden helped Capital High School in Boise, Idaho, rush for more than 2,000 yards as a senior while earning all-conference, and second-team all-state accolades. He was also rated the fifth best offensive lineman in the Big Eight region by Blue Chip magazine. The Family Studies major lettered four times in football and once in baseball at Capital. He has a son, Jailen Collins.

PRO: Among the many new faces on the Dallas Cowboys' roster in 2002 was tight end Tony McGee, but it took no time at all for the savvy veteran to become an impact player. McGee arrived in Dallas on April 29 and immediately stepped into the starting lineup. He not only provided the club's quarterback a much needed safety valve in the passing game, but he also provided a veteran voice in the locker room and the offensive huddle. McGee also took on a big role in the Cowboys running game with his willingness to mix it up in the trenches as a blocker. The 10-year NFL veteran also used his first season in Dallas to prove he still had some spring in his step, reaching two major career milestones – recording his 300th career catch and 4,000th career receiving yard – while also breaking loose for a career-long 58-yard catch-and-run.

2002: McGee stepped onto the roster and into the action from day one, starting all 16 games and finishing third on the team in both receptions (23) and receiving yards (294). McGee opened the scoring in the Cowboys' 21-13 win against Tennessee (9/15) with a 17-yard touchdown catch, the 300th reception of his career and his first catch as a Cowboy. His work as a blocker also helped Dallas allow just one sack in 25 pass plays. McGee had two receptions for 27 yards on the club's first quarter field goal drive at Philadelphia (9/22). McGee recorded a season-high four receptions for 27 yards against the N.Y. Giants (10/6). The next two weeks he posted a 12-yard reception against Carolina (10/13) and a 19-yard grab at Arizona (10/20). On Emmitt Smith's record setting day against Seattle (10/27), McGee was part of the blocking that sprang Smith for a 109 rushing yards on his way to breaking Walter Payton's NFL rushing record. McGee also finished second on the team with three receptions for 35 yards. All three of his catches came in the fourth quarter and picked up first downs. McGee was second on the team in receptions at Detroit (11/3), grabbing three passes for 33 yards. Two of his three receptions gave Dallas a first down, including a 17-yard grab on the team's only scoring drive of the game. In the 21-19 win over Jacksonville (11/24), his 13-yard grab from the Dallas one-yard line kick-started a 99-yard touchdown drive. McGee had a record-setting day against San Francisco (12/8), leading the team with three receptions for a season-high 73 yards, including a career-long 58-yard grab in the fourth quarter to set up a Dallas touchdown. It was also the longest reception by a Dallas tight end since Doug Cosbie recorded a 61-yard touchdown grab on Oct. 30, 1983 at the N.Y. Giants. The catch moved McGee past the 4,000 yard mark for career receiving yardage. Against Philadelphia (12/21), he tied for the team lead with three receptions for 28 yards.

2001: McGee started nine-of-11 games (missing two starts because the team opened in multiple receiver sets) before spraining the MCL in his right knee against Tampa Bay (12/10). He finished the season with career-lows in receptions (14) and receiving yards (148) while adding a touchdown. These totals allowed him to move from ninth to seventh on the Bengals all-time receptions list (299), passing James Brooks (297) and Bob Trumpy (298). In the season opener against New England (9/9), McGee hauled in a 25-yard touchdown pass from Jon Kitna. As a blocker, McGee helped lead the way as Corey Dillon rushed for 1,315 yards, seventh in the NFL.

2000: McGee finished the season second on the team in receptions (26) and receiving yards (309) while also playing a key role as a blocker for the league's second ranked rushing offense (144.6 yards-per-game). His team-long streak of 117 consecutive starts came to an end in Week 14 as a left ankle fracture suffered at Tennessee (12/10) sidelined him for the final two games of the season. He opened up the season against Cleveland (9/10) with a reception for 34 yards and added six catches for 74 yards against Miami (10/1). He added three receptions for 23 yards and a touchdown against Arizona (12/3).

1999: For the sixth consecutive season, McGee started every game as he continued to see his role as a blocking tight end expand, helping pave the way for a rushing attack that ranked sixth in yards (2,051) and third in yards-per-carry (4.6). He finished fourth in receiving yards (344) and fifth in catches (26) while adding two touchdowns. He opened the season at Tennessee (9/12) with a three-yard touchdown catch. He added another score on a 12-yard catch against San Diego (9/19). He registered season-highs in catches (five) and yards (77) at Seattle (11/7).

1998: McGee finished the season second on the team in total snaps and yards-per-catch average (13.2) while starting all 16 games for the fifth consecutive season. In the win at Detroit (9/13), McGee hauled in two passes for 53 yards, including a 38-yard catch that set up a third quarter tying touchdown. At Oakland (10/25), he led the team with 35 receiving yards and tied for the team lead with three receptions, then led the team once again against Denver (12/1), with 73 yards on four catches.

1997: McGee again started every game, and he finished the year as the Bengals leader (third in the league among tight ends) with a career-high six touchdown receptions. He finished third on the team in receptions (34) and receiving yards (414) as he helped block for the ninth-ranked rushing game in the league. In the Bengals 28-10 win at Indianapolis (11/9), he celebrated the first multiple touchdown game of his career hauling in a 15-yard score from Jeff Blake and a five-yarder from Boomer Esiason.

1996: For the third consecutive season, McGee started all 16 games at tight end for the Bengals, finishing the year with 38 receptions for 446 yards and four touchdowns. In the season finale against Baltimore (12/21), he hauled in a career-high eight passes for a season-high 93 yards.

1995: In his third year with the Bengals, McGee topped his rookie performance and moved into second place among tight ends in team annals with 55 receptions for 754 yards and four scores. He finished third in yards and fourth in catches among tight ends in the league while finishing second on the team in receptions. McGee registered a career-high 118 receiving yards on six catches at Indianapolis (9/3).

1994: McGee scored his first career touchdown on an eight-yard catch from Jeff Blake against Philadelphia (12/24), finishing the season with 40 receptions for 492 yards. He tallied a season-high 54-yard reception at Arizona (12/18).

1993: McGee was drafted by the Cincinnati Bengals in the second round (37th overall) of the NFL Draft. He finished his rookie campaign with 44 receptions – the most by a Bengals tight end since 1989 – and 525 receiving yards – the most from a Cincinnati tight end since 1990. He sat out against Houston (11/14) with a lower back contusion, missing only one game as a rookie.

COLLEGE: As a senior, McGee earned the starting nod and tied for third on the Wolverines reception list as a tight end with 38 catches for 467 yards and six touchdowns, earning All-America and All-Big Ten honors. He saw action in every game as a reserve tight end, catching three passes for 39 yards as a junior. McGee saw action on special teams and registered one catch for nine yards as a reserve tight end during his sophomore campaign. As a freshman, McGee saw action on special teams.

PERSONAL: As a senior at South Terre Haute, Ind., High School, McGee was selected Best Indiana Lineman of the Year and All-America from the Chicago Sun Times and SuperPrep magazine as he caught 27 passes for 670 yards while helping block for an offense that totaled 4,133 yards. He added Blue Chip honors as a defensive end during his senior campaign. He had 39 catches for 890 yards as a tight end while earning most valuable player honors on the basketball squad as a junior. He graduated with a bachelor's degree in communications from Michigan. McGee participated in the team's annual NFL United Way Hometown Huddle event for underprivileged youth from The Salvation Army and also provided clothing and toys during the holidays as part of The Salvation Army Angel Tree Program for needy children. Already a proven receiver and blocker, McGee expanded on his football skills in the spring of 2003 by heading to the broadcast booth, serving as an analyst on two NFL Europe games for FOX Sports and four Dallas Desperados Arena Football League broadcasts locally.

GAMES/STARTS: 2002 (1/0).

PRO: The Dallas Cowboys signed Jason McKie (pronounced mc-KEE) off the Philadelphia Eagles practice squad Dec. 7. McKie is a versatile back that has the ability to carry the ball or effectively lead the ball carrier into the hole. He has also shown an ability to catch the ball coming out of the backfield. He will need to use this versatility, as well as an ability to make plays on special teams, to his advantage as he battles with Richie Anderson and Jamar Martin for a spot on the Cowboys' fullback depth chart.

2002: McKie signed with Philadelphia as a rookie free agent, but was released at the end of camp. He signed to the Eagles practice squad, where he remained until joining Dallas's active roster on Dec. 7. He was inactive for his first three games with the Cowboys. He saw his first NFL action in the season finale at Washington (12/29), recording a seven-yard reception and two special teams tackles.

COLLEGE: McKie finished his final collegiate campaign second on the team with 227 rushing yards and two touchdowns on 41 carries while catching 10 passes for 57 yards. He started his senior season rushing for a career-high 120 yards – including a career-long 80-yard scoring scamper – on 11 carries against Navy. As a junior captain, he was third on the team with 93 rushing yards on 36 carries and fourth with 20 receptions for 128 yards. He started five-of-11 games as a sophomore, totaling 172 yards on 35 carries and 75 yards and a touchdown on 14 receptions. He started four of the 10 games in which he played as a true freshman and carried the ball 57 times for 201 yards and three touchdowns.

PERSONAL: McKie rushed for 1,281 yards and 16 touchdowns on 183 carries as a senior at Gulf Breeze, Fla., High School, earning Prep Football Final's Offensive Player of the Year honors. He was named Northwest Florida Offensive Player of the Week after rushing for 291 yards and three scores against Crestview. He was also a member of Gulf Breeze's wrestling team, winning the class 5A 238-pound state championship as a senior. The communications major achieved the highest grade point average among senior football players at Gulf Breeze and earned Athletic Director's Academic List honors at Temple in the spring of 2000. Jason is the third cousin of Aaron McKie of the NBA's Philadelphia 76ers.

PRO: A versatile defensive back with outstanding speed and intelligence, Donald Mitchell returns to Dallas and joins the Cowboys in 2003 as an unrestricted free agent from the Tennessee Titans. The Beaumont, Texas, native enjoyed his first football stint in Dallas, producing a stellar collegiate career at Southern Methodist University. With the proliferation of three and four wide receiver sets in the NFL today, Mitchell brings a unique skill to the Dallas secondary having spent the last two seasons working as the Titans' nickel back. His addition, along with the drafting of Terence Newman and the emergence of Derek Ross and Mario Edwards, gives the Cowboys' one of the NFL's top young secondaries. Mitchell is also a special teams standout who will be a valuable asset to the Cowboys in a number of ways, having scored two touchdowns on blocked kicks and logged 43 special teams tackles during his career.

2002: Mitchell saw action in all 16 games with 10 starts as the team's nickel defensive back. In the process, he set career-highs in tackles (51), passes defended (eight), forced fumbles (one), fumble recoveries (two) and quarterback pressures (two). As a major contributor on special teams, he tied for fifth on the team with 11 special teams tackles and added another fumble recovery. Mitchell saw action at cornerback in the season opener against Philadelphia (9/8), recording three tackles and a pass defended in the Titans' 27-24 win. He earned his first start of the season at Dallas (9/15) and recorded one special teams tackle. He played a key role against Cleveland (9/22), starting at nickel cornerback and posting four tackles, a fumble recovery and a special teams tackle. For the second week in a row, Mitchell recovered a fumble while adding five tackles at Oakland (9/29). He broke up two passes, recorded two tackles and added a quarterback pressure against Washington (10/6). At Cincinnati (10/27), Mitchell posted three tackles in a 30-24 Titans win. He posted six tackles in each of the Titans' wins at Indianapolis (11/3) and against Houston (11/10), while also forcing the Colts' Jim Finn to fumble (the ball rolled out of bounds). Mitchell had one of his biggest days of the year against Pittsburgh (11/17), recording his first interception of the season along with four tackles, a pass defended and two special teams stops in the Titans' 31-23 win. His interception of a Tommy Maddox pass in the third quarter set up a Titans touchdown. Mitchell had a pair of tackles from his cornerback spot as well as on special teams at the N.Y. Giants (12/1). In his second go-round against the Colts (12/8), he recorded a career-high nine tackles along with two passes defended and a special teams tackle as Indianapolis was held to 17 points. Mitchell helped hold the Patriots offense to a season-low 176 net yards with three tackles and a pass deflection that was intercepted by Rich Coady and returned 24 yards for a touchdown in the Titans' 24-7 Monday Night Football win against New England (12/16). His play in the nickel defense helped hold Houston (12/29) to three points in the regular season finale. In the AFC Divisional Playoffs, Mitchell recorded three tackles, deflected a pass and recorded his first career sack in the 34-31 win against Pittsburgh (1/11/03). Mitchell then led the team with eight tackles in the AFC Championship game at Oakland (1/19/03).

2001: Mitchell saw action in 12 games with three starts as he returned to action after missing the 2000 season with a torn ACL in his right knee. He had a big impact on the Titans' special teams units, finishing third on the team with 13 special teams tackles while also scoring touchdowns on a blocked punt and blocked field goal return. He blocked the punt he returned for a score. On defense, Mitchell recorded 25 tackles and broke up four passes. In his first action since the injury a year before, Mitchell recorded a career-high four special teams tackles in the season opener against Miami (9/9). He posted five tackles, one pass defended and three special teams tackles at Jacksonville (9/23). At Baltimore (10/7), Mitchell scored his second career touchdown after blocking a Kyle Richardson punt and returning it 26 yards for a score. He blocked the punt after suffering a mild concussion earlier in the game and returning. He also added two tackles in the Ravens game. Mitchell earned his first career start in place of Samari Rolle (injured neck) and tallied three tackles, one pass defended and one special teams tackle in a 31-28 overtime win against Tampa Bay (10/14). He started and scored his third career touchdown on 69-yard blocked field goal return (Jason Hanson kick blocked by Henry Ford) in the Titans' 27-24 win at Detroit (10/21). It was the first time the Titans' had blocked a field goal and returned it for a touchdown since Oct. 15, 1967 when the Oilers played the N.Y. Jets and Ken Houston returned a blocked field goal 71 yards for a score. Mitchell also posted a season-high seven tackles against the Lions. He tallied three tackles and a special teams tackle on Monday Night Football at Pittsburgh (10/29). Mitchell earned another start as the third cornerback and posted two tackles and a pass defended in the Titans' 38-24 win against Jacksonville (11/4). Mitchell left the game at Cleveland (12/2) in the first quarter after spraining his right knee and did not return. He returned to action at Minnesota (12/9), but was then inactive for the final four games of the season because of his knee.

2000: Mitchell was placed on injured reserve Aug. 22 after tearing the ACL in his right knee in practice.

1999: Originally drafted in the fourth round (117th overall) of 1999 NFL Draft, Mitchell went on to play in all 16 games and finish his rookie year fourth on the team in special teams tackles with 19. He registered at least two special teams tackles in eight games. He was also the only Titan to return an interception for a touchdown in 1999, and he became the first Titan rookie to do so since Denard Walker in 1997. Mitchell recorded seven tackles on the season. He tallied a season-high two tackles and blocked a punt, which led to safety against Cincinnati (9/12) in his first NFL game. He collected his first NFL interception at New Orleans (10/17), returning the pick 42 yards for a touchdown. Mitchell had a season-high three special teams tackles at Cleveland (11/28). In the postseason, he saw action in all four playoff games, registering four tackles and the first postseason interception of his career when he picked off a Mark Brunell pass in the fourth quarter of the AFC Championship Game at Jacksonville (1/23).

COLLEGE: Mitchell played in 41 games with 26 starts during his collegiate career at Southern Methodist University. He contributed 160 tackles, six interceptions, two fumble recoveries and four forced fumbles. As a senior, he posted a career-high 74 tackles, 16 passes defended, three interceptions and two forced fumbles. He had a season-best 13 tackles against Ole Miss. Mitchell picked off three passes and recorded 45 tackles as a junior, and he started six games as a sophomore.

PERSONAL: Donald Roosevelt Mitchell was an All-District selection at Central High School in Beaumont, Texas. He was selected to the San Antonio Express-News Top 100 and named one of the top 20 defensive backs in Texas by Texas Football Magazine. He also lettered in track and baseball for the Jaguars. He majored in management information systems at Southern Methodist. Donald's wife, Nikki Leenders, worked as a reporter for WTVF-TV in Nashville.

GAMES/STARTS (regular season, playoffs): 1998 (16/1, 1/1), 1999 (6/0, 1/0), 2000 (13/7), 2001 (16/16), 2002 (16/0). Total - 67/24, 2/1.

PRO: Since the day the Cowboys drafted Michael Myers in the fourth round of the 1998 NFL Draft, the Dallas coaches believed they were getting a quality prospect who just needed time to develop. Over the course of the past two seasons, their patience - and Myers' hard work - paid solid dividends as he has become a productive member of the defensive tackle rotation as both a starter and the first reserve in off the bench. In 2003, he will be counted on to work along side Pro Bowler La'Roi Glover to solidify the interior of the Cowboys defensive line. Though he may be considered undersized for some defensive schemes, Myers is a very comfortable fit in a Dallas defense that emphasizes speed and quickness from its tackles. After displaying flashes of that promise in limited action during his first two NFL seasons, injuries to other players landed him a larger dose of playing time in 2000. During the second half of that year, Myers proved that he had matured into a solid NFL defensive lineman. As a starter for 16 games in 2001, and the first man off the bench in the tackle rotation in 2002, Myers collected 4.5 sacks, 11 tackles behind the line of scrimmage and 23 pressures. He has the ability to create havoc along the line of scrimmage while at the same time consistently finding a way into opponents' backfield. An unrestricted free agent at the end of the 2002 season, Myers signed a one-year deal on April 29, 2003 to stay in Dallas.

2002: Myers played in all 16 games, finishing fifth among defensive linemen with 44 tackles, and tying for second on the team in tackles behind the line of scrimmage with a career-high seven stops totaling losses of 15 yards. He also added eight quarterback pressures, one sack, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery. In the season opener at Houston (9/8), Myers registered three tackles, a sack and a tackle for lost yardage in helping limit the Texans to 201 total yards. In the following week's win over Tennessee (9/15), he tied for the lead among defensive linemen with six stops as the Cowboys limited Eddie George to 65 yards on 19 carries (3.4 avg.). In the loss to the Giants (10/6), Myers had three tackles and forced a Kerry Collins fumble on a hand-off that led to a Dallas touchdown. In the following week's win over Carolina (10/13), Myers recorded four tackles and broke up a pass. At Indianapolis (11/17), he turned in one of his best games as a pro, picking up a season-high seven tackles while adding three tackles behind the line of scrimmage. In the Thanksgiving Day win over Washington (11/28), he had one tackle and another stop for lost yardage while helping the Dallas defense limit Stephen Davis to 51 yards on 20 carries (2.6 avg.). In the loss to Philadelphia (12/21), Myers registered three tackles, a tackle for lost yardage and a pressure. In the season's final game at Washington (12/29), he enjoyed a very productive day after replacing La'Roi Glover who was lost with a knee injury at the end of the first half. Myers tied for the team lead among linemen in tackles with five, while also adding a team-high three quarterback pressures, a deflected pass and a fumble recovery.

2001: As a key contributor to the Cowboys dramatic turnaround on defense in 2001, Myers was the team's sixth leading tackler with a career-high 72 stops. He tied for second on the club in sacks with 3.5 and third in quarterback pressures with 18. Myers' efforts helped the Cowboys defense finish fourth in the NFL by allowing just 287.4 yards-per-game. In 2001, the Cowboys allowed 1,710 rushing yards, a figure that was 927 fewer yards than the club allowed during the 2000 season. Those numbers represented the largest turnaround by any defensive unit in the NFL in 2001. In the season opening loss to Tampa Bay (9/9), Myers was second among defensive linemen with seven tackles and helped limit the Bucs running game to 71 yards on 33 carries (2.2 avg.), including 22 carries for 56 yards by Warrick Dunn. Against San Diego (9/23), he recorded four tackles and a tackle for a loss while helping hold LaDainian Tomlinson to a 3.3 yard average on 27 carries. One week later at Philadelphia (9/30), he recorded five tackles and his first sack of the season while helping limit the Eagles to 276 net yards of offense. At Oakland (10/7), he recovered a fourth quarter fumble to set up the final Dallas touchdown. He also registered three tackles and helped limit the Raiders to a 3.0 yards-per-carry average for the game (101 yards on 34 carries). In Dallas' win over Arizona (10/28), Myers recorded three tackles, a tackle for a loss and a quarterback pressure while helping limit the Cards to 75 total rushing yards. He also earned a couple of snaps at tight end in short yardage/goal line situations. In the overtime loss at the N.Y. Giants (11/4), he recorded six tackles and helped limit the Giants running game to 93 yards on 26 carries (3.6 yard average). He made a number of big plays at Atlanta (11/11) as Dallas limited the Falcons to 201 total yards, including just 46 passing yards. Myers was third on the team with five tackles against the Falcons, while adding a sack of Michael Vick, a quarterback pressure and a batted down pass. He collected a career-high 10 tackles in the loss to Philadelphia (11/18) while adding a tackle for a loss and a quarterback pressure. Myers's effort helped limit the Eagles to just 98 yards on the ground on 35 carries (2.8 avg.). In the Cowboys win at Washington (12/2), Myers recorded the first multi-sack regular season game of his career with 1.5 sacks of Tony Banks. He also added three tackles while helping limit the Redskins' Stephen Davis to 53 yards on 17 carries (3.1 avg.). In the following week's win over the Giants (12/9), he finished with three tackles and helped limit the Giants to 245 yards of total offense, including just 73 yards on their final eight possessions. At Arizona (12/23), Myers was second on the team with seven tackles while adding a tackle for a loss and two quarterback pressures. His effort helped limit the Cards to 209 total yards, including just 75 on the ground. In the season's final game at Detroit (1/6/02), he led all defensive linemen with five tackles and three quarterback pressures.

2000: When given an opportunity after Chad Hennings (neck) and Leon Lett (knee) were forced to the sidelines with season ending injuries at mid-season, Myers had a very productive year in just a few short weeks. He finished with 46 stops, topping his career total through his first two seasons combined (34 tackles). He also contributed four tackles for a loss – good for fourth on the team – and six quarterback pressures. He was able to post these totals despite earning just seven starts in 13 games. After sitting out the first three weeks as a game-day deactivation, Myers took advantage of his first action of the season to record five tackles against San Francisco (9/24). The following week at Carolina (10/1), he saw considerable playing time at defensive tackle when Leon Lett was limited with a strained right hamstring. While he recorded two tackles and a quarterback pressure at the N.Y. Giants (10/15) on defense, Myers' biggest contribution may have been as a blocking tight end in goal line formations when he came in motion and helped lead Emmitt Smith into the end zone for a three-yard touchdown. Myers contributed a big-play on defense against Arizona (10/22) when he tackled Michael Pittman and forced a fumble that the Cardinals recovered but that set them up with second-and-22. The Cardinals were unable to convert that into a first down, and Wane McGarity returned the ensuing punt for a touchdown. Myers also saw action for the second straight week at tight end in goal line situations with Smith scoring again behind his blocking. After Lett suffered a season ending knee sprain in practice Nov. 8, Myers moved into the starting lineup for the final seven weeks. He earned his first career start at defensive tackle against Cincinnati (11/12), and his play helped limit the Bengals to 195 total yards of offense. He then recorded six tackles, including two behind the line of scrimmage, at Baltimore (11/19). Against Minnesota (11/23), Myers tied for third on the team with five tackles and added a tackle for a six-yard loss on a screen pass. He was second among defensive linemen with four tackles at Tampa Bay (12/3). At Washington (12/10), he led the team with a season-high eight tackles. Along the way, he helped limit Stephen Davis, the NFC's third-leading rusher, to 57 yards. Myers closed out his break-through season with seven tackles at Tennessee (12/25). He also recovered the first fumble of his career, falling on a Frank Wycheck loose ball.

1999: Myers saw action in six games, recording 11 tackles, two quarterback pressures and one tackle for lost yardage. In the Cowboys win over Arizona (10/3), he saw action at defensive tackle and recorded four tackles while helping limit the Cardinals to 208 yards of offense. At Philadelphia (10/10), he saw reserve action at defensive tackle and recorded two tackles while helping limit the Eagles to 244 yards of offense. In the Monday night loss at Minnesota (11/8), Myers recorded one tackle that resulted in a three-yard loss for Leroy Hoard. In the season ending win over the N.Y. Giants (1/2/00), he picked up his two quarterback pressures for the year. The following week in the playoff loss at Minnesota (1/9/00), Myers was pressed into duty because of injuries on the Dallas defensive line and responded with two sacks and a season-high six tackles.

1998: After spending most of his first training camp working at defensive tackle, Myers began the season as the top back-up at rush defensive end. Myers opened his rookie campaign with three tackles at Denver (9/13). The next week at the N.Y. Giants (9/21), he again recorded three tackles and batted down a pass. He tallied two tackles at Washington (10/4) before registering a tackle and a quarterback pressure while helping limit Carolina (10/11) to 35 rushing yards on 21 carries (1.7 avg.). At Chicago (10/18), he helped limit the Bears to 2.5 yards-per-rushing attempt with two tackles. He logged his first career sack with a second quarter take down of Bobby Hoying at Philadelphia (11/2). He then recorded a season-high six tackles and his second sack at Arizona (11/15) while helping limit the Cardinals to 32 rushing yards on 21 carries. He contributed two tackles and a pressure on Thanksgiving Day against Minnesota (11/26) before registering three tackles, a pass defended and a quarterback pressure at New Orleans (12/6). Myers saw considerable second half action against Philadelphia (12/20) after Kavika Pittman suffered a strained hamstring. Myers earned his first NFL start the next week against Washington (12/27) in place of Pittman, teaming with Greg Ellis to become the first pair of rookie defensive linemen to start at the same time in club history. He recorded his third sack of the season against the Redskins. He started his first postseason contest against Arizona (1/2/99) in a wild card playoff game and tallied a tackle and a quarterback pressure. Myers, a fourth round draft choice (100th overall), was just the second Crim Tide defensive player ever selected by Dallas.

COLLEGE: Myers was a preseason All-America and All-SEC selection as a senior at Alabama. He started the season with five tackles and half a sack against Vanderbilt but missed the remainder of the season following an NCAA suspension. Myers made the jump from junior college to Division I football by earning All-America honors from The Sporting News and consensus All-SEC accolades after recording 66 tackles, 24 quarterback pressures and 13 sacks in his first season at Alabama. His 13 sacks rank third in school history behind Derrick Thomas' 18 in 1987 and 27 in 1988. He was a two-time JUCO All-America at Hinds, MS, Junior College, where he established a school record with 20 sacks as a freshman.

PERSONAL: The Human Performance major was an all-state and all-region selection as a senior at Vicksburg, Miss., High School, where he also was a member of the basketball team. Myers participated in the Dallas Cowboys/Junior Cattle Baron's "Our Heroes are All Kinds of Cowboys" party, hosted at Texas Stadium for 500 children suffering from cancer. He also annually participates in The Salvation Army Angel Tree Program, joining Dallas Cowboys players, coaches and staff in purchasing holiday gifts for underprivileged children. Myers and his wife, Brandy, have a daughter, Mykayla (11/14/00).

Terence Newman

Cornerback

Kansas State

NFL: Rookie ★ Cowboys: Rookie

COLLEGE: In selecting Terence Newman with the fifth overall choice in the 2003 NFL Draft, the Dallas Cowboys snagged the Jim Thorpe Award winner for the second consecutive year and are assembling one of the most promising and talented young secondaries in professional football. Newman joins last year's Thorpe winner, Roy Williams, as cornerstones of a defensive backfield that should provide play-making ability and production for the Cowboys for years to come. The most decorated defensive player in Kansas State history, Newman became the first Wildcat to win the prestigious Thorpe Award, given annually to the nation's top defensive back. As a senior, Newman was also a finalist for the Bronko Nagurski Award (given annually to college football's top defensive player), while garnering All-America honors as a cornerback and return specialist. He not only dominated on defense and special teams, but proved to be a valuable performer on offense for the Wildcats as well. An explosive return specialist, Newman became only the second player in school history to score a touchdown on a kickoff and punt return in the same season. In 48 collegiate games, he recorded 133 tackles with six stops behind the line of scrimmage, 10 interceptions, 32 pass deflections and a pair of forced fumbles. His 10 interceptions tied for sixth on the school's career list. He also gained 834 yards with one touchdown on 32 kickoff returns (26.1 avg.) and another 417 yards with three touchdowns on 27 punt returns (15.4 avg.). Blessed with tremendous athletic ability, Newman has outstanding speed (4.37 40-yard dash), that translated into three varsity letters with the Wildcats' track team and two Big 12 Conference titles in the 100 meters (junior and senior seasons). Newman was also the Big 12 indoor champion in the 60 meters and finished fifth in that event at the NCAA Championships. Newman possesses exceptional quickness, explosiveness and balance that compliment his speed. He has tremendous ability to change directions and make-up ground with a superb burst to the ball. His above average leaping ability makes him a very solid man-to-man coverage player, but he has experience in working in zone coverages.

2002: A consensus All-America selection as a senior cornerback, Newman was also an honorable mention All-America kickoff returner. He became the first player in school history to win the Thorpe Award while also finishing as a finalist for the Nagurski Award. An All-Big 12 Conference first-team choice and Defensive Player of the Year, Newman started every game at strongside cornerback and registered 54 tackles with three stops for losses of five yards. He also intercepted five passes and deflected 14 others. He returned 13 kickoffs for 370 yards and a touchdown, and his 28.5-yard average ranked fourth on the school's single-season kickoff return list. He added 388 yards and a pair of scores on 26 punt returns. His 14.9-yard average ranks third on KSU's single-season list. When he wasn't shutting down opposing receivers or providing field position with his return skills, Newman posed a threat on offense as a wide receiver, catching four passes for 98 yards (24.5 average) and a touchdown, while adding 26 yards on a pair of rushing attempts. Newman opened his final campaign with four tackles and an interception against Western Kentucky. The following week against Louisiana-Monroe, he scored twice, returning a punt 40-yards for a touchdown and hauling in a 51-yard scoring pass. He also added an interception. One week later against Eastern Illinois, Newman returned a kickoff 95 yards for a touchdown, while also recording six tackles on defense. Newman had five tackles and forced a fumble against Southern Cal, and then set up a score with a 53-yard kickoff return at Colorado. He registered an interception against Texas, while returning two kickoffs for 55 yards. At Baylor, Newman picked off his fourth pass of the season and followed that with an eight tackle performance against Nebraska. He deflected four passes against Missouri, to go along with an interception and a 71-yard punt return for a touchdown. Newman closed out his collegiate career in the Holiday Bowl against Arizona State with a season-high 10 tackles and added three pass receptions for 47 yards on offense.

2001: A consensus All-Big 12 Conference second-team selection, Newman closed his junior season as a semifinalist for the Thorpe Award. As one of eight Wildcats to start every game, he shared the team's Most Improved Defensive Player honors with Terry Pierce. Newman ranked fifth in the Big 12 and 16th in the nation in passes defended with 19, and he ranked fifth on the team with 51 tackles. Newman earned Player of the Game honors against Southern California, Oklahoma, Texas A&M and Louisiana Tech. He intercepted three passes and blocked two kicks while also recovering a fumble and causing another. He also averaged 23.4 yards on nine kickoff returns. Newman posted seven tackles against Southern Cal and had an even more impressive all-around day against Oklahoma, picking off two passes and defending a school-record seven more to go with six tackles. He blocked his first kick of the season at Texas Tech and tied a season-high with seven tackles and another blocked kick against Nebraska. He recorded his third interception of the season to go along with three passes defended and five tackles against Missouri. On the track in the spring, Newman defended his Big 12 outdoor title in the 100 meters with a win at Missouri (10.34). He reached the NCAA semifinals in the 100, but did not make the finals. Along the way, he broke his own outdoor school record in the 100 meters with a clocking of 10.20 at the Jim Click Shootout. He also finished second in the 200 meters at the Big 12 meet with a time of 21.42. Newman collected his first All-America honor by finishing fifth in the 60 meters at the NCAA Indoor Championship with a time of 6.67 and was the Big 12 indoor champ at 60 meters, clocking a 6.65 in the finals after posting a school-record 6.62 in the prelims.

2000: As a sophomore, Newman played in every game with one start – against Louisiana Tech – as a nickel back. For the year, he recorded 20 tackles with a four-yard interception return and three pass deflections. He also returned three kickoffs for 44 yards. Newman intercepted his only pass of the year against Ball State while also batting away two others. Against Oklahoma, he returned a blocked punt 16 yards for a touchdown. On the track, Newman captured his first Big 12 outdoor title in the 100-meters, setting a school record with a 10.22 mark in qualifying. He represented the Wildcats at the 2001 NCAA Outdoor Nationals, reaching the semifinals in the 100 meters. During the indoor season, Newman set a pair of school records at the 2001 Big 12 Indoor Track & Field Championships, clocking a 6.67 in the 60-meter semifinals and a 21.20 in the 200. He placed third in both the 60 and 200 for a Wildcats team that finished fourth. He finished 15th in the 60 meters at the NCAA Indoor Nationals.

1999: As a redshirt freshman, Newman played in every game, recording eight tackles and one interception. He also returned seven kickoffs for 209 yards (29.9 average). His first career interception came against Missouri. In the spring, he finished third in the 60-meter dash (6.76) at the Big 12 Indoor Championships. He was also a member of the Wildcats' 4x100 relay team that placed fifth at the Big 12 Outdoor Championships.

1998: Newman redshirted during his true freshman season.

PERSONAL: Newman attended Central High School in Salina, Kan., where he was an All-Class 5A selection. Coming out of high school, he was listed as one of the top 20 recruits in the state of Kansas by First Down Recruiting. He lettered twice in football, three times in track, three times in basketball and once in baseball. As a senior, he had 10 receptions for 251 yards and three touchdowns as a receiver while recording 45 tackles, five interceptions and five deflected passes on the defensive side of the ball. He also returned 13 punts for 271 yards (20.9 avg.), including two for touchdowns. An outstanding track performer, Newman turned in times of 10.36 in the 100 meters and 21.6 in the 200 entering his senior season. The business major was involved with the "Breakfast Buddy" program in his hometown of Salina, which is similar to the nationwide Big Brothers/Big Sisters program.

Dat Nguyen

Linebacker

5'11" ★ 243 ★ 9/25/75
Texas A&M
D3 for '99 (85th overall)
NFL: 5th Year ★ Cowboys: 5th Year

GAMES/STARTS (regular season, playoffs): 1999 (16/0, 1/0), 2000 (10/5), 2001 (16/16), 2002 (8/8). Total – 50/29, 1/0.

PRO: Dat Nguyen (pronounced WIN) has been overcoming long odds his entire life. The son of Vietnamese immigrants, Nguyen has battled the perception that he was too small to play football for as long as he has been involved in the game. He began proving critics wrong at an early age, and he proceeded to leave Texas A&M as the Aggies career record holder with 51 consecutive starts, 517 career tackles and a 10.7 tackles-per-game average. Despite such an illustrious collegiate career, the "undersized" criticism was still heard from NFL personnel. The Cowboys went ahead and drafted the most productive linebacker in Texas A&M history in the third round (85th overall) of the 1999 NFL Draft. Nguyen made an impact with the Cowboys from the very beginning, leading the team in special teams stops as a rookie and becoming Dallas' starting middle linebacker in his second professional season. In 2001, he completed his first full season as a starting NFL middle linebacker and silenced the critics by recording the second highest single-season tackle total in Cowboys history. Nguyen's keen football instincts give him an uncanny ability to be around the ball, while his speed and quickness allow him to string plays wide while plugging up holes and creases. After paying his dues and earning his spot in the middle of the Dallas defense, Nguyen has displayed the work ethic and leadership skills that will continue to guide one of the NFL's youngest and most rapidly improving defenses for years to come.

2002: The Cowboys defense opened the season with extremely high expectations for the starting line-backing trio of Dat Nguyen (middle linebacker), Dexter Coakley (weakside) and newcomer Kevin Hardy (strongside). That trio was dealt a serious blow in the season opener at Houston (9/8) when Nguyen suffered a broken wrist that forced him to miss the next eight games. Despite his injury, Nguyen finished the Texans game with a team-high 11 tackles with one sack and a tackle for a loss. Following surgery and a two month rehabilitation period, Nguyen returned to practice following the Detroit game (11/3), and assumed his starting spot in the middle of the Cowboys defense at Indianapolis (11/17), finishing as the Cowboys third leading tackler with 11 stops – including one for a loss – while also breaking up a pass. In the following week's win over Jacksonville (11/24), he had six tackles. In the Thanksgiving Day win over Washington (11/28), Nguyen led all Dallas defenders with 13 tackles. Two of those stops were behind the line of scrimmage for losses totaling five yards. Nguyen also played a key role in a defensive effort that helped hold Stephen Davis to 51 yards on 20 carries (2.6 avg.) while allowing just 121 second half yards on eight Redskins' possessions. He was second on the team in tackles in consecutive losses to San Francisco (12/8) with 12 stops and New York (12/15) with eight. In the Saturday night loss to the Eagles (12/21), Nguyen tied for the team lead in tackles with 10. In the season ending loss at Washington (12/29), he had 10 tackles and a key quarterback pressure that led to a Roy Williams interception – returned 85 yards for a second quarter touchdown. Nguyen finished the year by collecting 70 tackles in the final seven games that he played after returning from the injured wrist. He was named by his teammates as the club's 2002 recipient of the Ed Block Courage Award for his battle back from the wrist surgery.

2001: Nguyen, a key component in the Cowboys dramatic turnaround on defense in 2001, led Dallas in tackles with 172 – a figure that was second on the Cowboys all-time list behind Eugene Lockhart's 222 tackles in 1989. Nguyen's tackle total ranked seventh in the NFL for 2001. He led or tied for the team lead in tackles 11 times, while registering double-figure tackle totals in 11 games. His nine tackles behind the line of scrimmage also tied for the team lead. Nguyen's efforts helped the Cowboys defense earn a fourth overall NFL ranking by allowing just 287.4 yards-per-game. In 2001, the Cowboys allowed 1,710 rushing yards, a figure that was 927 fewer yards than the club allowed during the 2000 season. Those numbers represented the largest turnaround by any defensive unit in the NFL in 2001. Nguyen opened the season with a then career-high 15 tackles in the 10-6 loss to Tampa Bay (9/9). His performance marked the highest tackle total by a Dallas middle linebacker since Randall Godfrey recorded 17 stops against New England on Dec. 5, 1999. Nguyen's efforts helped limit the Bucs running game to 71 yards on 33 carries (2.2 avg.), including 22 carries for 56 yards by Warrick Dunn. Against San Diego (9/23), he tied for the team lead in tackles with nine and recorded two tackles for a loss – while helping hold LaDainian Tomlinson to a 3.3-yard average on 27 carries. At Philadelphia (9/30), Nguyen tied for the team lead with 10 tackles despite dislocating the ring finger on his right hand during the game. He underwent surgery to insert a pin in the finger on October 1. At Oakland (10/7), he finished third on the team with eight tackles despite playing with a cast on his right hand. He also recorded a tackle behind the line and a quarterback pressure. In the Cowboys 9-7 win over Washington (10/15), Nguyen led the team with 11 tackles, helping limit the Redskins to 226 total yards. In the win over Arizona (10/28), he led the team with 13 stops while helping limit the Cards to 75 rushing yards. He added another team-high 11 tackles in the overtime loss at the Giants (11/4) while helping limit the Giants running game to 93 yards on 26 carries (3.6 avg.). He again led the team in tackles at Atlanta (11/11) with 14 as the Falcons were limited to 201 total yards. He logged a team-high 14 tackles in the loss to Philadelphia (11/18), while helping hold the Eagles to 227 total yards, 100 yards below their season average, and just 98 rushing yards on 35 carries (2.8). On Thanksgiving Day against Denver (11/22), Nguyen again led the team in tackles, this time with a career-high 16 stops. In Dallas' 20-14 win at Washington (12/2), he tied for the team lead in tackles with eight and added a tackle for a loss and a quarterback pressure. Dallas limited Stephen Davis, the NFC's third leading rusher entering the game, to 53 yards on 17 carries (3.1). In the Cowboys' surprising 27-21 win over playoff bound San Francisco (12/30), Nguyen led Dallas with 10 tackles and added two quarterback pressures as the NFL's second ranked running game (146 yards-per-game) was limited to 56 yards.

2000: Nguyen opened the season as the Cowboys starting middle linebacker and, despite missing six games due to injury, finished the year with 64 tackles, four stops behind the line of scrimmage, four passes defended and two interceptions. In his first professional start, he posted eight tackles and intercepted a pass, which he returned 24 yards against Philadelphia (9/3). At Arizona (9/10), he led the team with 12 tackles despite being slowed and missing playing time with a sprained MCL in his left knee. His knee sprain forced him to miss the next three games. He returned to action at the N.Y. Giants (10/15) and tallied seven stops, one behind the line of scrimmage, before suffering a strained neck in the fourth quarter that forced him from the game. He missed the next three games due to the neck strain, returning to action against Cincinnati (11/12). He saw action against the Bengals at middle linebacker in passing situations and recorded his second interception of the season. Nguyen posted four stops in spot play at Baltimore (11/19) before finishing fifth on the team with eight tackles at Tampa Bay (12/3) despite not starting. He was second on the team with seven tackles against Washington (12/10) while seeing considerable playing time off the bench. His effort against the Redskins helped limit Stephen Davis, the NFC's second-leading rusher, to 57 yards. He returned to the starting lineup at middle linebacker against the N.Y. Giants (12/17) and tied for third on the team with 10 stops. He closed out the season at Tennessee (12/25) tying for third on the club with seven stops in his second consecutive start.

1999: Nguyen made an immediate impact as a rookie with his stellar special teams play and solid performance as a nickel middle linebacker. He finished the season as the Cowboy's leading special teams tackler with 18 stops, recording at least one special teams tackle in 12-of-17 games (including postseason) and earning all-rookie honors for his special teams play. On defense, he had 34 tackles, five tackles for lost yardage, one sack, one interception and a forced fumble. In his first professional game, at Washington (9/12), Nguyen led the Cowboys with three special teams tackles. He also recovered a key fourth quarter on-side kick that helped the Cowboys overcome a 21-point deficit in a game that was won by Dallas in overtime. The following week against Atlanta (9/20), he recorded his first career tackle at middle linebacker in a nickel passing situation. Against Arizona (10/3), Nguyen tied for the team lead among linebackers with a season-high five tackles, including one for a three-yard loss on a screen pass. He also recorded his first career interception with a fourth quarter pick of Jake Plummer. Two weeks later at the N.Y. Giants (10/18), he equaled his season-high with five tackles while playing middle linebacker in nickel situations. Nguyen recorded his first career sack at Indianapolis (10/31) when he brought down Peyton Manning for a 13-yard loss on first-and-goal from the Dallas three-yard line. He also tied for the team lead with three special teams stops against the Colts. In the Monday night loss at Minnesota (11/8), Nguyen tied for the team lead with two special teams tackles while also forcing a fumble on a second quarter kick-off return that Charlie Williams recovered at the Vikings 24-yard line to set up the second Dallas touchdown. Playing mostly in the nickel defense, he recorded four tackles against the Vikings. At Arizona (11/21), he tied for the team lead with two special teams stops and added two tackles at middle linebacker in Dallas' nickel defense. At New Orleans (12/24), he recorded four tackles and had a tackle for a 12-yard loss. In the season finale against the N.Y. Giants (1/2/00), Nguyen took over at middle linebacker in the second half for Randall Godfrey (back stiffness) and went on to tie his season-high tackle total with five while helping limit the Giants to 74 yards rushing. In the playoff loss at Minnesota (1/9/00), Nguyen broke up two passes and recorded three tackles.

COLLEGE: Following his senior season, Nguyen was one of the nation's most decorated collegiate players, earning All-America honors from Walter Camp, The Sports Network, The Sporting News, Burger King/AFCA, Football News and College Football News. The National and Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year, he also won the Lombardi Trophy and Chuck Bednarik Award, while being a finalist for the Dick Butkus and Sullivan Awards. Nguyen was also named the Dallas Morning News Big 12 Male Athlete of the Year. He finished his senior season with a career-high 147 tackles, becoming the first player in school history to lead Texas A&M in tackles four straight seasons. He also added 20 tackles for losses, four sacks, four forced fumbles and two interceptions. He closed his collegiate career with A&M records for consecutive starts (51), tackles (517) and tackles-per-game (10.7). As a junior, he was an All-Big 12 first-team selection and the team MVP. He was also an All-Big 12 first-team selection as a sophomore. In 1995, Nguyen was named Southwest Conference Defensive Newcomer of the Year as a redshirt freshman.

PERSONAL: Nguyen was a consensus Texas Top 100 linebacker following his prep career at Rockport-Fulton High School in Rockport, Texas. He earned district 30-3A Defensive Player of the Year honors as a senior after tallying 188 tackles. He also earned Class 3A second-team all-state honors as a punter. Nguyen graduated from Texas A&M with a degree in agricultural development in August 1998 and took post-graduate classes during his senior football season. He has taken an active role in the Dallas community. During the 2002 season, Nguyen and his wife, Becky, served as guest participants at the Cowboys annual NFL 201 Football Workshop for Women benefiting The Salvation Army. The couple talked about life in the NFL from the player's and the wife's perspective with the female attendees. He annually participates as a celebrity football coach for the club's annual Dallas Cowboys Let Us Play! Sports Camp for Girls. Coach Nguyen led his group to the mock "Super Bowl" victories in 2001 and 2002. In 2001, he took part in the Linebacker's Blitz Hunger at The Salvation Army as part of the Hams for the Holiday program, where players distributed hams to needy families. The Dallas Cowboys Salvation Army Angel Tree program, which provides clothing and toys to underprivileged children, the Children's Cancer Fund Fashion Show and Luncheon annually co-chaired by Troy Aikman and Roger Staubach and the Dallas Race for the Cure benefiting the Susan G. Komen Foundation for Breast Cancer Research are charity events that the Nguyen's continue to support year after year. Dat and wife Becky added a daughter, Aubrey Mai (6/26/03), to their family this offseason.

John Nix

Defensive Tackle

NFL: 3rd Year ★ Cowboys: 3rd Year

GAMES/STARTS: 2001 (16/0), 2002 (14/0). Totals (30/0).

PRO: When the Cowboys drafted defensive tackle John Nix in 2001, they were seeking a defensive tackle who was solid at plugging the middle and stopping the run, a constant pursuit in the NFL. With the departure of Brandon Noble this past offseason, coaches will be looking at Nix to use his stout physical stature, quickness and athletic ability to earn regular playing time in the trenches.

2002: Nix once again worked behind Noble at nose tackle to post 21 tackles and nine quarterback pressures. In limited playing time in the season opener at Houston (9/8), Nix picked up a tackle and a pressure. He recorded two tackles and a quarterback hurry at Philadelphia (9/22) before being inactive at St. Louis (9/29). He returned to action against Carolina (10/14), picking up two tackles while helping limit the Panthers to 3.2 yards-per-carry on the ground. At Arizona (10/20), Nix recorded a career-high six tackles, two quarterback pressures and a forced fumble. Thanksgiving Day against Washington (11/28), Nix helped limit the Redskins to just 83 rushing yards while picking up three tackles and two quarterback pressures. Against San Francisco (12/8), he tallied two stops and then added two more at the N.Y. Giants (12/15). Nix was inactive against Philadelphia (12/21).

2001: For most of the season, Nix worked behind Noble at nose tackle and finished tied for second on the team with two forced fumbles while posting 22 tackles. Against Tampa Bay (9/9), he saw considerable time in the defensive tackle rotation, recording three tackles and forcing his first career fumble when he brought down Warrick Dunn. Against Washington (10/15), he made one of the biggest plays of the season by stripping Stephen Davis of the ball with 2:39 remaining in the game. Greg Ellis recovered the fumble to give Dallas the ball for their game-winning field goal drive. He also recorded two tackles and a quarterback pressure against the Redskins. Against Philadelphia (11/18), he recorded two tackles and two quarterback pressures, helping limit the Eagles offense to 227 total yards and just 2.8 yards-per-carry on the ground. Nix recorded a season-high four tackles at Seattle (12/16), while helping limit Ricky Walters to 3.7 yards-per-carry.

COLLEGE: As a senior, Nix received All-Conference USA honors as selected by The Sporting News as a key component of a Golden Eagles defense that finished the year second in the nation in total defense. As a junior, Nix was hampered throughout the season with a toe injury. He still managed 21 tackles and two sacks as the Golden Eagles claimed the Conference USA title with a 9-3 record, including a victory over Colorado State in the Liberty Bowl. In his sophomore campaign, Nix started nine-of-11 games and finished the year with a career-high 47 tackles. Following a redshirt freshman year in 1996, Nix was voted to the Conference USA All-Freshman Team and The Sporting News Freshman All-America squad after starting all 11 games at defensive tackle for the Eagles. At Southern Miss, Nix was a teammate of fellow Cowboys 2001 draft pick Daleroy Stewart. That tandem helped form one of the nations most powerful collegiate defensive lines.

PERSONAL: A native of Lucedale, Miss., Nix graduated from George County High School where, as a senior, he registered 75 tackles and was a second-team all-state selection. He was also named district most valuable defensive lineman and was selected to play in the Mississippi/Alabama High School All-Star Game. Nix also excelled in track and field, finishing third in the state in the shot put. He was a sports administration major at USM. As a rookie, Nix was a member of the Cowboys inaugural "Rookie Club", a program designed to introduce rookies to community service. Throughout the season, the rookies made visits to and spent time with children at Children's Medical Center of Dallas, Oak Cliff Boys and Girls Clubs, The Salvation Army and its' Christmas Distribution Center.

PRO: Originally drafted in the seventh-round (229th overall) by the Oakland Raiders, Ken-Yon Rambo fell into the Cowboys lap when the Raiders released him at the end of the 2001 training camp. He immediately provided Dallas a big, physical receiver that is not afraid to go across the middle and fight for the football. After spending two years with the club learning the nuances of the position from Joey Galloway, bigger things will be expected of Rambo in his third season as he is one of the key veterans among the receivers. While battling for more playing time at receiver, he provides the Cowboys with an additional return man, having returned kicks and punts during his career.

2002: Rambo returned for his sophomore campaign and saw extensive time as the third receiver after the season ending injury to Raghbi Ismail (neck) during training camp. In the season opener at Houston (9/8), Rambo saw time as the primary return man with Reggie Swinton deactivated (groin) and totaled four punt returns for two yards and four kickoff returns for 63 yards. Against Tennessee (9/15), he recorded a career-high three receptions for 37 yards, including a key 12-yard catch on the Cowboys fourth quarter 95-yard touchdown drive. In the win at St. Louis (9/29), he caught two passes for 11 yards, helping set up Dallas's game winning field goal. He registered two receptions for 21 yards against Carolina (10/13) then added another catch for six yards against Seattle (10/27). At Detroit (11/3), Rambo posted two receptions for 42 yards, including a then career-long 28-yard grab. He recorded a career-high 65 yards, including a career-long 47-yard catch to set up Dallas's game-winning touchdown, on two receptions against Jacksonville (11/24) before registering a 23-yard reception at the N.Y. Giants (12/15).

2001: Originally drafted in the seventh-round (229th overall) by Oakland, Rambo was released at the end of camp and signed by the Cowboys on Sept. 5. After being inactive the first two games of the season, he saw his first NFL action but did not record a catch at Philadelphia (9/30). Against his former team, Rambo recorded his first career reception with an eight-yard catch on a fourth-and-four play at Oakland (10/7). With Reggie Swinton and Joey Galloway nursing injuries, Rambo became the team's primary return man against Arizona (10/28), logging his first career punt (two returns for 15 yards) and kickoff returns (two returns for 30 yards). Another first came against Denver (11/22) when he recorded his first career special teams tackle. His second catch of the season came against the N.Y. Giants (12/9) with a 14-yard grab. In the Cowboys surprising win over San Francisco (12/30), Rambo recorded a six-yard catch on third-and-five to pick up a first down.

COLLEGE: Rambo closed out his collegiate career eighth on OSU's all-time reception list with 106 career catches, while his 1,849 career receiving yards ranked seventh. He set a school record with 64 kickoff returns for a 22.9-yard average. As a senior, Rambo caught a career-high 53 passes (ninth best total in Buckeye history) for 794 yards (15.0) and two touchdowns. He also returned 17 kickoffs for 478 yards (28.1) and 23 punts for 145 yards (6.3). As a junior, his efforts earned him All-Big Ten honorable mention honors, as well as the Paul Warfield Award, given to Ohio State's top receiver, as he finished second on the team with 41 receptions for 833 yards (20.3) and six touchdowns. He also returned 21 kickoffs for 653 yards (21.1), breaking the previous Buckeye single-season record. Against Ohio University, Rambo posted seven receptions for 181 yards (25.6) with 68- and 15-yard touchdown receptions. His 181 receiving yards placed him eighth in Ohio State's record books for single game receiving yards. Rambo saw limited action his first two seasons with the Buckeyes, logging five receptions for 77 yards as a sophomore and seven receptions for 145 yards and a touchdown as a freshman. He did stand out on special teams, returning 12 kickoffs for 237 yards (18.8) and 19 punts for 128 yards (6.7) as a sophomore.

PERSONAL: The sociology major was a consensus All-America and all-state selection at Long Beach, Calif., Polytechnic High School. USA Today rated Rambo as the top receiver in the country after he caught a school record 79 passes for 1,096 yards (13.9 avg.) and 17 touchdowns as a senior. He also lettered in track as a sprinter. As a rookie, Rambo was a member of the Cowboys inaugural "Rookie Club", a program designed to introduce rookies to community service. The Rookie Club made visits to and spent time with children at Children's Medical Center of Dallas, Oak Cliff Boys and Girls Club, The Salvation Army and its Christmas Distribution Center. He also donated clothing and toys to needing children during the holidays through The Salvation Army Angel Tree Program.

PRO: Jeff Robinson's streak of 144 consecutive games played through his career came to an end after tearing his ACL in a training camp practice Aug. 20. After spending the 2002 season in rehabilitation, Robinson is looking to rebound from the injury and regain his role as the team's deep snapper. He signed with the Cowboys March 5, 2002 after the team struggled to find a consistent deep snapper throughout the 2001 season. Robinson, originally drafted as a defensive end by the Denver Broncos in the fourth round (98th overall) of the 1993 NFL Draft, signed as an unrestricted free agent with the St. Louis Rams in 1997 and showed his versatility while making a mid-career switch from defensive end to tight end. He is an experienced deep snapper and tight end who adds stability to the special teams units.

2002: After signing with the team March 5, Robinson tore his ACL in a training camp practice Aug. 20. He was placed on injured reserve Aug. 27 and underwent surgery Sept. 13. He spent the season rehabilitating from the surgery.

2001: Robinson started a career-high nine games for the Rams, finishing with 11 receptions for 108 yards and a touchdown while adding five special teams tackles serving as the team's deep snapper. In the season opener at Philadelphia (9/9), he tied his career-high with two catches for 26 yards and added two special teams tackles. At San Francisco (9/23), Robinson caught one pass for one yard before tying a career-high with two receptions for 14 yards while making his first start of the season against Miami (9/30). At Detroit (10/8), he caught one pass for five yards, then started at fullback against the N.Y. Giants (10/14), catching a pass for three yards and tallying a tackle on special teams. Against Carolina (11/11), he caught one pass for six yards before starting at fullback and registering two receptions for 27 yards at New England (11/18). Against San Francisco (12/9), he added another catch for 26 yards.

2000: Robinson once again saw action in all 16 games while starting two games at tight end. He ended the season with five catches for 52 yards while adding five special teams tackles. With the help of Robinson at deep snapper, kicker Jeff Wilkins led the NFL and tied the league record for field goal percentage in a season, connecting on all 17 attempts. Robinson started the season opener against Denver (9/4), recording one reception for three yards. He added eight yards on one catch the following week at Seattle (9/12) before earning his second start at San Francisco (10/29) and finishing with two receptions for a career-high 34 yards and two special teams tackles.

1999: He continued his seven-year streak of playing in every game despite making the switch from defensive end to tight end and continuing in the role of deep snapper. He started nine games at tight end, finishing with six receptions for 76 yards and two touchdowns. He recorded his first post-season touchdown on a 13-yard pass in the Divisional Playoff Game against Minnesota (1/16/00) in route to capturing the Super Bowl XXIV title.

1998: Robinson returned to the Rams and posted five tackles and four quarterback pressures while adding 11 special teams tackles. He was the teams deep snapper, helping punter Rick Tuten finish fourth in the NFC with an average of 44.2 yards-per-punt. He recorded his first NFL touchdown on a four-yard pass from Steve Bono against Carolina (11/22).

1997: He was signed by St. Louis as an unrestricted free agent from the Broncos, seeing action in 16 games and recording six tackles and 12 special teams stops – fourth on the team.

1996: As the Broncos' deep snapper, he saw action in all 16 games and the playoff game against Jacksonville (1/4/97). He also saw time at defensive end in reserve roles.

1995: Robinson saw action along the defensive line, posting eight tackles, a pass defended and one fumble recovery. In his first season handling the deep snapping responsibilities in Denver, Robinson helped Jason Elam tie for second in the NFL in scoring among kickers.

1994: He returned to the Broncos for his sophomore campaign, seeing action mainly on special teams. He did register a career-high 14 tackles from his defensive end position.

1993: Robinson was selected in the fourth round (98th overall) in the NFL Draft by the Broncos. He saw action in all 16 games as a rookie, tallying 13 tackles, 3.5 sacks, two fumble recoveries and a forced fumble.

COLLEGE: As a senior, Robinson was named All-America, All-Big Sky Conference and conference Defensive Player of the Year after closing out his senior year with 79 tackles, 13.5 sacks, 27 stops for losses, 35 quarterback pressures, six forced fumbles and five passes defended. In 1991, he was named second team All-America and first team All-Big Sky as he recorded 77 stops, 20 sacks and 28 tackles for losses as a junior. As a sophomore, Robinson was an all-conference academic selection while securing All-Big Sky and defensive MVP honors with 83 tackles, 16 sacks and 21 tackles for losses. As a redshirt freshman in 1989, he started nine games, posting 38 tackles, eight sacks, three forced fumbles, three fumble recoveries and three interceptions. He redshirted his true freshman year.

PERSONAL: Robinson was a three-time all-Greater Spokane League selection at tight end and line-backer during his three-year prep career at Ferris High School in Spokane, Wash. He also lettered in basketball and baseball twice. He graduated Idaho with a degree in finance. While on injured reserve in 2002, Robinson joined other Cowboys injured players Thanksgiving week and attended a holiday party for 200 terminally ill and mentally challenged children hosted by Pappas Brothers Steakhouse in Dallas.

Derek Ross

Cornerback

5'10" ★ 197 ★ 1/5/80

Ohio State

NFL: 2nd Year ★ Cowboys: 2nd Year

GAMES/STARTS: 2002 (14/9).

PRO: It is rare for a rookie cornerback to enter the NFL and have a dramatic impact on the overall production of a defensive unit, but third-round draft choice Derek Ross did just that as a first year pro in Dallas in 2002. He led all NFL rookie corners in interceptions with five, while proving to be the type of physical run stopper that can make a difference in any situation in a game. Ross has a solid physical build to go along with a naturally aggressive style of play. He has an instinctive knack for being around the ball, and he has displayed no signs of being overwhelmed or intimidated by some of the NFL's elite receivers. He is still raw and unpolished in many aspects of his development, but Ross possesses all of the tools – including a competitive temperament – to be a solid corner in the NFL for years to come.

2002: If nothing else, Ross established a league-wide reputation as a rookie playmaker in his first season in Dallas. He led all NFL rookie cornerbacks in interceptions with five, tying for 10th among all NFL defensive backs. His five interceptions were the most by a Dallas rookie since 1981 when Everson Walls recorded 11 and Michael Downs had seven. Rookie safeties Roy Williams and Ed Reed (Baltimore) also had five interceptions in 2002. In addition to tying for the team lead in interceptions, Ross also led the Cowboys in passes broken up with 12. Although he missed the final two games of the year with a hip contusion, Ross was Dallas' ninth leading tackler with 67 stops. Ross was one of only four starting rookie corners in the league in 2002, and only one of those starters was drafted higher than Ross. He finished a stellar season by earning All-Rookie honors from Pro Football Weekly. He made his NFL debut in the season opener at Houston (9/8), where he registered one special teams tackle. In the following week's win over Tennessee (9/15), he saw action in the second quarter at left cornerback due to injuries and broke up one pass. He finished the day leading the team in special teams tackles with three, including one of Derrick Mason for a three yard loss on a punt return. He took over for Duane Hawthorne (strained hamstring) at Philadelphia (9/22) mid-way through the third quarter and recorded one tackle and broke up a pass. He earned his first NFL start the following week at St. Louis (9/29), replacing the injured Hawthorne at left cornerback and finishing second on the team with nine tackles. He started the following week against the Giants (10/6) and responded with seven tackles, two pass deflections and his first career interception. In the 14-13 win over Carolina (10/13), Ross registered six tackles and broke up a pass. After three consecutive starts in place of the injured Hawthorne, Ross returned to the sideline at Arizona (10/20) as Hawthorne moved back into the starting lineup at left cornerback. Ross recorded one special teams tackle against the Cardinals. In the loss to Seattle (10/27) Ross played inside in the nickel package and recorded his second interception of the season. He returned to the starting lineup at Detroit (11/3) and picked off two Joey Harrington passes. It was the first time a Dallas rookie had recorded multiple interceptions in a game since Everson Walls did so against Buffalo on Nov. 9, 1981. He also broke up another pass and added five tackles on the day as the Lions were limited to 96 net yards passing, including a long pass of 13 yards. In the loss at Indianapolis (11/17), Ross recorded a career-high 13 tackles, marking the most tackles by a Dallas cornerback since game-by-game records were kept beginning in 1984. In the win over Jacksonville (11/24), he recorded four tackles, a tackle for a loss and broke up a pass while helping limit the Jags to 194 net yards passing, including a 9.5-yards-per-catch average and just one pass over 20 yards by the Jags three wide receivers. In the Thanksgiving Day win over Washington (11/28), Ross recorded his team leading fifth interception of the season and broke up two passes. He finished the day second on the team with eight tackles as the Redskins were limited to 121 yards on eight second half possessions. In the following week's loss to San Francisco (12/8), he tallied nine tackles and helped limit San Francisco to 17 points through the first 50 minutes of the game before suffering a bruised left hip. The injury kept him out of the final 10 minutes of the game. After missing the week of practice leading up to the loss at the N.Y. Giants (12/15), Ross started the game and responded with four tackles. He then sat out the Philadelphia (12/21) and Washington (12/29) games with lingering problems from his hip contusion.

COLLEGE: In just one season as a starter at Ohio State, Ross emerged as one of the top corners in the college game. As a senior, he earned All-Big Ten Conference second-team selection while starting all season at weakside cornerback. His seven interceptions ranked among the nation's leaders, and his big-play ability allowed him to bring those picks back for 194 yards and a touchdown. His 217 career yards in interception returns ranks fourth on the school's all-time list. He finished his career with 91 tackles and three blocked punts. His seven pass thefts in 2001 ranked fifth on the school's single-season charts, while his 194 yards set a Buckeye record. In addition, Ross recorded 41 tackles, including three stops behind the line of scrimmage, and a sack. Ross spent most of his junior season as the team's third cornerback while excelling on special teams. He recorded 37 tackles and intercepted two passes.

PERSONAL: Ross was an all-state quarterback and the South Carolina Offensive Player of the Year while starring at Northwestern High School in Rock Hill, S.C. Northwestern finished second in the state his senior year with a 12-3 record. Excelling on both sides of the ball, Ross had 15 interceptions for his career as a cornerback and totaled 25 touchdowns as a junior. In 2003, Ross was the recipient of the Torch Award give by the Urban League of Greater Dallas for his off the field contributions to the community. As a member of the Cowboys 2002 Rookie Club – a program designed to introduce rookie team member to community service in the Dallas area – Ross participated in monthly charity visits to non-profit organizations serving children. He majored in criminology at Ohio State.

PRO: Lynn Scott impressed coaches in the 2001 preseason with his bone-jarring hits and smart special teams play, earning a roster spot as a rookie free agent. He has continued his hard hitting and play-making on special teams – evoking memories of another Cowboys rookie free agent success story, Bill Bates – while seeing time in certain nickel and dime packages. Scott is looking to be a key cog in a much improved secondary this season.

2002: Scott returned for his sophomore campaign and saw action on defense right off the bat as he filled in at strong safety for Tony Dixon (hamstring) against Tennessee (9/15). He ended the day with a career-high four stops. At St. Louis (9/29), Scott saw considerable action in the nickel package and tallied three tackles. Against the N.Y. Giants (10/6), he posted a tackle and a special teams stop before spraining his right great toe and missing the entire second half. He was inactive against Carolina (10/13) and at Arizona (10/20) with the toe injury, then returned to action and posted two tackles and a team-high three special teams stops against Seattle (10/27). He batted down a pass working the slot at the N.Y. Giants (12/15). He tallied two stops against Philadelphia (12/21) before adding two more in the season finale at Washington (12/29).

2001: After earning a roster spot with his play on special teams in the preseason, Scott went on to finish third on the team with 15 special teams tackles during the regular season. In the season opener against Tampa Bay (9/9), Scott made his NFL debut as a safety in the nickel package and recorded one tackle. At Philadelphia (9/30), he finished second on the team with two special teams tackles and recovered a fumble on the opening kickoff that set up a Cowboys field goal. He led the team with four special teams stops at Oakland (10/7) and then logged one tackle at safety and one on special teams against Philadelphia (11/18). At Washington (12/2), he logged one special teams tackle. At Seattle (12/16), Scott saw brief action in place of Darren Woodson at strong safety, recording one tackle while adding another on special teams. He was a game-day deactivation against San Francisco (12/30) and at Detroit (1/6/02).

COLLEGE: Scott was a three-time NAIA All-America at Northwestern Oklahoma. As a senior, he was also named All-Central States Football League Defensive Player of the Year after totaling 72 tackles, nine passes defended and four interceptions and returning 26 punts for a school-record 595 yards (22.9 avg.) and four touchdowns. As a junior, he totaled 87 stops and five picks while returning 16 punts for 197 yards (12.3) and a score. He tallied 49 tackles and two interceptions while returning 12 punts for 337 yards (28.1) and two scores to lead the nation as a sophomore. As a freshman, Scott totaled 90 stops and two picks while returning 17 punts for 208 yards. His 1,337 career punt return yards is a NOU record.

PERSONAL: Scott was born in Turpin, Okla., where he starred on the Turpin High School football team. As a rookie, he was a member of the Cowboys inaugural "Rookie Club," a program designed to introduce rookies to community service. Throughout the season, the rookies made visits to and spent time with children at Children's Medical Center of Dallas, Oak Cliff Boys and Girls Clubs, The Salvation Army and its Christmas Distribution Center. Scott holds a bachelor's degree in education.

PRO: Looking to add a big linebacker to their defense, the Dallas Cowboys signed free agent Al Singleton on March 13, 2003. Singleton, originally a fourth-round selection (128th overall) of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 1997, is an experienced linebacker who knows the hard work and dedication it takes to reach the top, having helped the Bucs defense achieve the league's top ranking while propelling Tampa Bay to the Super Bowl XXXVII championship. Working alongside Dexter Coakley and Dat Nguyen, his desire and tenacity will help solidify a young Cowboys defense that continues to show improvement.

2002: Singleton moved into the Bucs starting lineup at strongside linebacker and posted a career-high 89 tackles while adding three passes defended, a sack and an interception. His play helped propel the Buccaneers to the league's top ranking in defense and the Super Bowl XXXVII championship. He opened the season with seven tackles and a special teams stop against New Orleans (9/8), missing the start as the Bucs opened in a nickel package. He started the following week at Baltimore (9/15) and posted a career- and team-high 11 tackles. He tied for the team lead with 10 tackles against St. Louis (9/23) before posting five tackles at Cincinnati (9/29) and another seven stops at Atlanta (10/6). He posted two tackles against Cleveland (10/13) then registered three stops at Philadelphia (10/20). The following week at Carolina (10/27), Singleton totaled six tackles before tallying two stops and his first interception of the season against Minnesota (11/3). He then posted six tackles and a pass defended in the rematch against Carolina (11/17). He totaled five tackles against Green Bay (11/24) despite not starting because Tampa opened in a nickel package. At New Orleans (12/1), he registered five tackles and his first sack on the season, forcing an Aaron Brooks fumble on the play. He totaled eight stops against Atlanta (12/8) before posting four tackles and a pass defended at Detroit (12/15). He registered four tackles against Pittsburgh (12/23), then closed the regular season with four stops at Chicago (12/29). Singleton kicked off the Bucs playoff run with a tackle, a sack, a forced fumble and two passes defended in the NFC Divisional Playoff Game against San Francisco (1/12/03). In the NFC Championship Game at Philadelphia (1/19/03), he recorded a team-high tying seven tackles. He did not start Super Bowl XXXVII against Oakland (1/26/03), but posted a tackle against the Raiders. He finished Tampa Bay's three game postseason jaunt with nine tackles, two passes defended, a sack and a forced fumble.

2001: Playing as a reserve, Singleton saw action in all 16 games and recorded 32 tackles, two passes defended, a sack and 10 special teams tackles, the sixth best special teams total on the team. After opening the season with a special teams tackle at Dallas (9/9), he saw considerable action at linebacker against Minnesota (9/30) and posted four tackles and a special teams stop. He again tallied four stops against Green Bay (10/7) while adding two special teams tackles. He recorded three tackles at Tennessee (10/14) before registering a tackle, a sack and a special teams stop against Minnesota (10/28). His sack against the Vikings was one of four sacks on the day by the Buccaneers defense. In the rematch against Detroit (12/9), Singleton totaled two tackles and a pass defended. The following week in a rematch at Chicago (12/16), he tallied three stops and a pass defended while adding a special teams tackle. He closed the season with a flurry, registering four tackles against Baltimore (12/29) and a season-high five stops against Philadelphia (1/6/02). He then totaled a tackle, a pass defended and a special teams stop in a wild card playoff game at Philadelphia (1/12/02).

2000: After an offseason rehabilitating his fractured ankle, Singleton returned to the playing field and saw action in 13 regular season games as a reserve linebacker and on special teams. He finished the season with 32 tackles, a pass defended and a forced fumble while tying for fifth on the team with 11 special teams stops. He kicked off the season by posting a career-high three special teams stops against Chicago (9/10). The following week at Detroit (9/17), he tallied two tackles playing linebacker, a special teams tackle and a blocked punt at Detroit (9/17). While subbing for Shelton Quarles at strongside linebacker against the N.Y. Jets (9/24), Singleton contributed three tackles. He again recorded three tackles at Washington (10/1) before totaling four stops and a pass defended against Detroit (10/19). He started his first career game at Atlanta (11/5) and recorded a then career-high 10 tackles. He returned to a reserve capacity against Green Bay (11/12) and collected two stops and forced a fumble in spot duty. He posted three special teams tackles against Buffalo (11/26) before suffering a knee injury against Dallas (12/3), which forced him to miss the final three games of the regular season. He returned to action in a wild card playoff game at Philadelphia (12/31) and registered two tackles, half a sack and a team-high two special teams stops.

1999: For the first time in his career, Singleton saw action in all 16 regular season games, recording 26 tackles, his first career interception and 10 special teams stops. He tallied two tackles against Denver (9/26) and two stops, a pass defended and two special teams tackles against Chicago (10/24). His pass deflection against the Bears occurred on a third-and-10 play in the fourth quarter that helped preserve a 6-3 Bucs victory. He registered two tackles and two special teams stops at New Orleans (11/7), then picked off his first career pass at Seattle (11/28), one of five Buccaneers interceptions on the day. He also totaled three tackles and a special teams stop against the Seahawks. He registered three tackles and a special teams stop at Oakland (12/19). Singleton posted a single tackle in a Divisional Playoff Game win against Washington (1/15/00) before fracturing his left ankle in the fourth quarter. The fractured ankle forced him to miss Tampa's NFC Championship Game loss at St. Louis (1/23/00).

1998: Singleton registered 18 tackles and a pass defended while playing in 15 games during his second professional campaign. He also contributed four special teams tackles. He recorded his first career defensive tackle at Minnesota (9/6) then posted three more stops at New Orleans (10/25). He registered two tackles and his first career pass defended in brief action against Minnesota (11/1). He also forced the Vikings only turnover of the game, pressuring Randall Cunningham into a fourth quarter pass that was intercepted by Derrick Brooks to set up a Bucs field goal. He tallied a tackle in brief action against Tennessee (11/8) and two stops at Jacksonville (11/15). He posted a season-high four stops in a Monday Night Football victory against Green Bay (12/7). The only game he missed during the season was the finale at Cincinnati (12/27) when he was inactive.

1997: Singleton saw action in 12 games as a rookie member of the Bucs' special teams units, posting four special teams tackles and blocking two punts, one of which he returned for a touchdown. He was the only member of the Tampa Bay squad to block a punt, and the only defensive player to score a touchdown. He started his rookie campaign with a bang against Arizona (9/28), blocking a Jeff Feagles punt, recovering the ball and returning it 28 yards for the Bucs' first touchdown of the game. That play marked Tampa's first score off a blocked punt since Ricky Reynolds returned a blocked punt 33 yards for a score at Washington on Oct. 22, 1989. Singleton blocked his second punt of the season at the N.Y. Jets (12/14), then recovered the loose ball at the Jets' 23-yard line. Singleton was originally drafted by Tampa Bay in the fourth round (128th overall) of the NFL Draft.

COLLEGE: Singleton finished his collegiate career as Temple's third all-time leading tackler, notching 390 career stops. He also added 11 passes defended, seven forced fumbles, five sacks, an interception and a fumble recovery while starting 39-of-41 career games. He was tabbed the Owls defensive captain as a senior and earned All-Big East honors at middle linebacker after leading the team with 134 tackles, breaking up five passes, forcing two fumbles and intercepting a pass. He started all 11 games as a junior at middle linebacker and posted a career-high 151 tackles to become only the fourth player in Temple history to surpass the 150-tackle plateau. He also added a sack, a pass defended and a fumble recovery while posting double digit tackles in each of the Owls' last 10 games. Singleton played strongside linebacker as a sophomore and finished second on the squad with 74 stops while setting a school record with five forced fumbles. He also contributed five passes defended, a sack and a blocked punt while starting all 11 games. He played in eight games, starting six at strongside linebacker, as a freshman and recorded 31 tackles, 1.5 sacks and a stop behind the line of scrimmage. He missed the final three games of his freshman season with a fractured right arm.

PERSONAL: Alshermont Glendale Singleton was a SuperPrep All-America and second-team all-state selection as a senior at Irvington, N.J., High School. He was also recognized as the fourth rated outside linebacker prospect in the state and was selected to play in the New Jersey North-South All-Star game. Singleton, who graduated from Temple with a degree in sports recreation management, enjoys snakes and owns two boa constrictors. He is a student of the game, listing watching highlight film as a hobby.

NFL: Rookie ★ Cowboys: Rookie

COLLEGE: Always looking for a player who can make plays in multiple facets of the game, the Dallas Cowboys drafted Zuriel Smith with their second pick in the sixth round (186th overall) of the 2003 NFL Draft. Smith, a small college speedster, showed during his collegiate career that he can make plays down the field, averaging 14.6 yards-per-reception while posting an eye-popping 16.8 yards-per-punt return at Hampton. He is a solid route runner who knows how to effectively use his body to shield opponents from the ball while having an explosiveness on punt returns that allows him to quickly clear the initial wave of defenders. Smith, who is looking to make the jump from Division I-AA football to the NFL, will be counting on his big-play ability to land a spot on the Cowboys depth chart as a receiver and kick returner.

2002: Smith closed out his collegiate career by earning AFCA All-America honors after posting a team-high 53 receptions for 773 yards (14.6 avg.) and six touchdowns and returning 27 punts at an 18.5 yards-per-return clip, including one taken back for a touchdown. Smith opened the season with four catches for 72 yards and two scores and a 26-yard punt return against James Madison. He eclipsed the century mark in receiving yards - 109 on four catches with a touchdown - and punt return yards - 102 on two returns - against Howard. He posted seven receptions for 85 yards against Alcorn State and six catches for 92 yards at Delaware State before catching a season-high eight passes for 73 yards and a touchdown against Bowie State. Smith returned five punts for 99 yards against Norfolk State and then posted a season-high 142 receiving yards and a score on seven catches at South Carolina State. In four career games against South Carolina State, Smith caught 35 passes for 536 yards (15.3 avg.) and five touchdowns. He caught seven passes for 71 yards and a score while returning his only career kickoff 57 yards against Florida A&M.

2001: Smith put together a career-year as a junior, catching a team- and career-high 58 passes for 732 yards and six scores to earn All-MEAC honors. He led the conference with 66.5 receiving yards-per-game while ranking second in all-purpose yards. He also continued to showcase his ability to return punts, averaging 17.7 yards on 29 punt returns, including four for touchdowns. He opened the season with nine catches for 98 yards at New Hampshire. He then returned three punts for 178 yards and three touchdowns against Virginia State, tying the NCAA I-AA record for punt return touchdowns in a game. He led the team with five catches for 53 yards against Rhode Island before posting a team-high six receptions for 93 yards and a touchdown at Norfolk State while returning five punts for 55 yards. He set career-highs with 13 receptions for 160 yards while returning four punts for 48 yards against South Carolina State. He had six catches for 74 yards against Florida A&M and nine receptions for 124 yards and three scores at Bethune-Cookman. Smith returned six punts for 132 yards (22.0 avg.) at North Carolina A&T.

2000: Smith caught a team-high 47 passes for 816 yards (17.4 avg.) and five touchdowns to earn selection to the VASIDA All-State team. He also returned five punts for 40 yards (8.0 avg.). He caught six of the Pirates nine completions for 63 yards against Southern before posting five receptions for 122 yards against Delaware State. He caught seven passes for a season-high 150 yards and a touchdown against Norfolk State then posted his third consecutive 100-yard receiving game with 141 yards and two touchdowns on seven catches at South Carolina State. Smith registered five of Hampton's nine completions for 66 yards against Bethune-Cookman and five-of-10 completions against North Carolina A&T.

1999: As a redshirt freshman, Smith saw action in 10 games and closed the year tied for the team lead with 31 catches for 429 yards and four touchdowns. He also averaged 13.0 yards on seven punt returns. Smith posted six receptions for 63 yards and returned three punts for 62 yards against Howard. He then caught a season-high eight passes for a season-high 93 yards and two touchdowns against South Carolina State. Late in the season against Bethune-Cookman, he registered five receptions for 89 yards and a score. He caught five passes for 51 yards, including a 20-yarder, in postseason action against Southern.

1998: Smith was redshirted as a true freshman.

PERSONAL: Smith was a three-sport (football, track and basketball) standout performer for Atlee High School in Mechanicsville, Va. He earned all-state honors as a freshman, sophomore, and junior high jumper, long jumper and triple jumper for the track team, consistently ranking in the top five in the state as a junior. Smith did not join the football team until his junior year.

Markus Steele

Linebacker

6'3" ★ 240 ★ 7/24/79

Southern California

D-4 for '01 (122nd overall)

NFL: 3rd Year ★ Cowboys: 3rd Year

GAMES/STARTS: 2001 (15/10), 2002 (13/2) – Total 28/12.

PRO: Possessing solid speed, aggressiveness and athletic ability, Markus Steele fits the mold for Dallas linebackers. In a defensive scheme that thrives on the quickness and speed of its linebackers, Steele found a home as a rookie starter at strongside linebacker in 2001. He moved into a reserve role as a second-year player in 2002, and should challenge for playing time as a reserve in 2003. A fourth-round selection (122nd overall) in 2001, Steele took over the starting job in Week Six of his rookie season and never looked back. He made a name for himself as a very stout run defender who has the skills necessary to do battle with offensive tackles while also being able to cover tight ends. In his two years in Dallas, he has displayed the versatility to play at either the strongside or middle linebacker positions.

2002: After a productive year as a rookie starter in 2001, Steele moved to a reserve role for most of the 2002 season behind veteran free agent signee Kevin Hardy. Injuries at the middle linebacker position forced Steele into the starting role for three games at that spot mid-way through the season. In his first career start in the middle at Arizona (10/20), Steele posted eight tackles and a tackle behind the line of scrimmage. In the loss to Seattle (10/27), he earned his second start on the inside and recorded three tackles while helping the defense limit Shaun Alexander to a 2.5 yards-per-carry average on 23 carries (58 yards). At Detroit (11/3), he had an outstanding day with seven tackles, good for third on the team, and helped limit the Lions to 148 total yards, the fewest by a Dallas opponent since Sept. 8, 1996 when the Giants were held to 105 total yards. Detroit ran the ball 23 times for 52 yards (2.3 average) and was held out of the end zone. Steele's string of three straight starts ended when Dat Nguyen returned from injury at Indianapolis (11/17). In the win over Jacksonville (11/24), Steele tied for the team lead with two special teams tackles as the Jags were limited to a 17.0 average on four kickoff returns. He blocked a third quarter punt against San Francisco (12/8) to set up a Dallas touchdown. It was the first blocked punt by Dallas since Lemanski Hall blocked one at Indianapolis on Oct. 31, 1999. He also tied for the team lead with three special teams tackles in the loss to the 49ers.

2001: Although just a rookie, Steele handled the pressure of starting 10 games at strongside linebacker with a veteran's poise, finishing the season with 51 tackles. While starting the year as a reserve, he registered one tackle in limited action in his NFL debut against Tampa Bay (9/9). Against San Diego (9/23), Steele took over for starter Darren Hambrick in the second quarter after he suffered a left hip contusion. Steele recorded two tackles before Hambrick returned. He picked up his first career special teams tackle at Oakland (10/7). Following the release of Hambrick on Oct. 23, Steele moved into the starting strongside linebacker spot in the Cowboys win over Arizona (10/28). He responded by finishing the game third on the team with nine stops. He also broke up a Jake Plummer pass in the end zone in the 17-3 Dallas win. In his second career start, at the N.Y. Giants (11/4), Steele was second on the team with nine tackles. He recorded his first career tackle for lost yardage in the loss to Philadelphia (11/18), while finishing the day with nine tackles. Steele's efforts helped limit the eventual NFC East Champions to 227 total yards, including just 98 rushing yards on 35 carries (2.8 avg.). In the Thanksgiving Day loss to Denver (11/22), he was third on the team with nine tackles as the Broncos were limited to 3.1 yards-per-carry on the ground for the day (39 carries for 119 yards). At Washington (12/2), he recorded five tackles and a tackle for a loss before suffering a right knee contusion mid-way through the third quarter that forced him out of the game. In the following week's win over the Giants (12/9), Steele returned to the starting line-up but re-aggravated his right knee in the first quarter and was out for the remainder of the game. The injury kept him out of action at Seattle (12/16). He returned to the lineup at Arizona (12/23) and recorded three tackles while helping limit the Cardinals to 209 net yards of offense. Following his rookie season, Steele underwent surgery to repair the rotator cuff and biceps tendon in his right shoulder.

COLLEGE: As a senior, Steele was an All-Pac-10 Conference honorable mention selection, finishing third on the team with 61 tackles. While playing primarily at weakside linebacker, he also added three sacks and 17 stops behind the line of scrimmage. As a junior, Steele received honorable mention All-America recognition from The Football News while also gaining All-Pac-10 honorable mention honors. He closed the year second on the Trojans in tackles with 91. He also had 12 tackles behind the line of scrimmage, six passes defended, three sacks, three forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries. As a sophomore, at Long Beach City College, Steele earned J.C. Grid-Wire All-America and J.C. Athletic Bureau All-America Defensive Most Valuable Player honors after amassing 93 tackles, including 17 behind the line of scrimmage, eight sacks, three forced fumbles, two blocked kicks, a fumble recovery and an interception. His effort helped lead Long Beach City to a No. 6 national ranking with a 10-1 record. As a freshman, Steele earned J.C. Athletic Bureau All-State Region IV and All-Mission Conference Northern Division accolades after registering 96 stops, 20 tackles for losses, eight sacks and two interceptions.

PERSONAL: Born in Cleveland, Ohio, Steele was a star athlete at Chanel High School in Bedford, Ohio. As a senior, he ran for 17 touchdowns in just six games from the tailback position, while also playing middle linebacker. He also enjoyed a solid career as a power forward in basketball. During the 2003 off season, Steele participated in the annual Spina Bifida Bowl-a-thon and in 2002 he and his wife, Marina, were guest participants in the Cowboys annual NFL Football 101 Workshop for Women presented by JCPenney. At the event, which benefits The Salvation Army, the couple talked about life in the NFL from the player's perspective as well as the wife's vantage point with several hundred female attendees. Annually, the Steele's contribute to The Salvation Army Angel Tree program providing clothing and toys to needy children. As a rookie, Steele was a member of the Cowboys inaugural "Rookie Club," a program designed to introduce rookies to community service. Throughout the season, the rookies made visits to and spent time with children at Children's Medical Center of Dallas, Oak Cliff Boys and Girls Clubs, The Salvation Army and its Christmas Distribution Center. He also participated in the Jr. Cattle Baron's Ball Party for children suffering with cancer and joined the rest of the Cowboys linebackers to blitz hunger distributing 500 hams to underprivileged families as part of the the Hormel Hams for the Holidays program hosted at The Salvation Army Irving Corps. While at USC, he majored in history with a minor in sociology. Steele and his wife, Marina, have a daughter, Jordyn (10/10/00), and a son, Markus, Jr. (5/15/03).

Southern Mississippi

GAMES/STARTS: 2001 (NFI), 2002 (0/0).

PRO: Daleroy (pronounced DALE-roy) Stewart has the size and athletic ability to excel at defensive tackle in the NFL. He brings a complete package of run stuffing ability and upfield pass rush to the defensive tackle rotation. He spent the 2002 season working alongside veterans La'Roi Glover, Brandon Noble and Michael Myers, and with the departure of Noble, Stewart should get his opportunity to get on the field in 2003.

2002: After making the active roster out of camp, Stewart was inactive for all 16 games.

2001: After undergoing surgery March 14 to repair a rotator cuff injury suffered as a senior at Southern Miss, Stewart was placed on the reserve/non-football injury list on Aug. 28. While rehabing his rotator cuff, he suffered a herniated disk in his back that required three injections and limited his ability to practice. He was finally returned to the reserve/non-football injury list on Dec. 4 for the remainder of the season.

COLLEGE: Stewart was a key component of a Golden Eagles defense that finished the year second in the nation in total defense as a senior, allowing just 268 yards-per-game. Stewart saw action in every game and finished 10th on the squad with 38 stops, including eight tackles behind the line of scrimmage. He also contributed four sacks for 32 yards in losses. As a junior, Stewart started the year as a back-up to fellow Cowboys draft choice John Nix, but he moved into the starting lineup and excelled with 47 tackles and 11 stops behind the line. As a reserve his first two seasons at Southern Miss, Stewart saw limited action in the defensive tackle rotation for the Golden Eagles.

PERSONAL: A business administration major, Daleroy Andrew Stewart was an all-state selection after recording 95 tackles, including 13 for losses, and seven sacks during his senior year at Vero Beach, Fla., High School. He was a member of the CompUSA Super Senior team and was selected to play in the Georgia/Florida All-Star game. He helped his high school team to a 23-3 record over his final two seasons and ranked among the best in the state in the discus and shot. As a rookie, Stewart was a member of the Cowboys inaugural "Rookie Club," a program designed to introduce rookies to community service. Throughout the season, the rookies made visits to and spent time with children at Children's Medical Center of Dallas, Oak Cliff Boys and Girls Clubs, The Salvation Army and its Christmas Distribution Center.

PRO: In three years with the Dallas Cowboys, Clint Stoerner (pronounced STERN-er) has proven to be a reliable and valuable back up. After making the team as a rookie free agent in 2000, he solidified his roster spot in 2001 and proved his merit as a quarterback who could start and win in the NFL by earning a victory in his first career start - a 17-3 win over Arizona on Oct. 28, 2001. Stoerner will once again enter the season in a heated battle for a spot on Dallas's quarterback depth chart. The University of Arkansas' most prolific passer, Stoerner possesses solid poise and fine instincts for the position.

2002: Stoerner was inactive for all 16 games as the club's third quarterback.

2001: One-of-four Dallas quarterbacks to earn starting assignments in 2001, Stoerner directed the Cowboys to victory in his first career-start and took the team to the brink of a second straight win before falling in overtime. Injuries to Quincy Carter and Anthony Wright - and the mid-season addition of Ryan Leaf - had Stoerner moving up and down the Cowboys depth chart throughout the season. He finished the year 26-of-49 for 314 yards, three touchdowns and five interceptions. In the season opener against Tampa Bay (9/9), he was a game-day deactivation as the team's third quarterback. Against San Diego (9/23), he was the Dallas back up, behind Anthony Wright after Carter was on the shelf with a thumb injury. Stoerner saw action on only one play – the game's final snap – against the Chargers. At Philadelphia (9/30), Stoerner quarterbacked the final two drives of the game and led Dallas to two touchdowns. In doing so, he completed four-of-seven passes for 44 yards and two touchdowns. With Carter's return as the starter at Oakland (10/7), Stoerner returned to the third quarterback slot. He moved back to the back up role in the 9-7 win over Washington (10/15) as Wright went the distance and finished the game despite suffering a knee injury that would cause him to miss the remainder of the season. With Carter and Wright both out, Stoerner accepted the responsibility of making his first career NFL start against Arizona (10/28). In leading the Cowboys to a 17-3 victory, he became the 10th Dallas quarterback to win his Cowboys starting debut. Stoerner scored the go-ahead touchdown with a six-yard quarterback draw play in the third quarter to put Dallas up 10-3. He finished the game nine-of-19 for 93 yards and one interception. In his second career start, at the N.Y. Giants (11/4), he completed his first eight passes of the game for 119 yards and a touchdown in guiding Dallas to a 24-7 halftime lead. He finished the game by hitting on 13-of-23 passes for 177 yards but was victimized by four interceptions. He was relieved by Leaf late in the fourth quarter before the Cowboys eventually fell in overtime by a 27-24 score. In the Cowboys' next three games, Stoerner served as the No. 2 man behind Leaf. After Carter's return to health – and the starting quarterback position – Stoerner was the team's third quarterback for the final six games of the season. Stoerner spent the spring of 2001 playing for the Scottish Claymores of NFL Europe. He closed the spring season 171-of-307 for 1,866 yards, 10 touchdowns and eight interceptions. He was the fifth-ranked passer in NFL Europe with a 73.8 rating.

2000: Stoerner was signed by Dallas as a rookie free agent on May 5 and turned in a productive training camp before being released on Aug. 27. He was immediately signed to the Dallas practice squad, where he spent the first week of the season. After Troy Aikman suffered a concussion in the season opener, Stoerner was moved to the Cowboy' active roster on Sept. 8. He saw his first NFL action against San Francisco (9/24), completing three-of-five passes for 53 yards and a touchdown. He was inactive as the third quarterback at Carolina (10/1) before being waived on Oct. 10 and immediately re-signed to the practice squad. Following Aikman's back injury against Jacksonville (10/29), Stoerner was again moved to the active roster on Nov. 1. He was inactive at Philadelphia (11/5), against Cincinnati (11/12) and at Baltimore (11/19) before being released Nov. 21. He re-signed to the practice squad Nov. 27 before again moving to the active roster Dec. 13 following Aikman's second concussion of the season, but was deactivated the final two weeks of the season.

COLLEGE: Stoerner completed 177-of-317 passes for 2,293 yards and 19 touchdowns as a senior at Arkansas. His completion and attempt totals were the second highest in school history, and his yardage and touchdown totals were third best in Arkansas annals. He also ranked fourth in the Razorbacks' record books with 2,233 total yards of offense. As a junior, Stoerner earned second-team All-SEC honors after completing 167-of-312 passes for 2,629 yards, 26 touchdowns and eight interceptions. His passing yards, touchdowns and total offensive yards (2,572) established school records. During his junior campaign, he passed for 334 yards against LSU to become the first Razorback to ever throw for more than 300 yards in three different games. As a sophomore, Stoerner set then school records for passing yards in a season (2,347) and in a game (387 against LSU). He finished the year 173-of-357 for 2,347 yards and 12 touchdowns.

PERSONAL: Stoerner earned all-district and honorable mention all-state honors after completing 148-of-247 passes for 2,416 yards and 28 touchdowns as a senior at Lee High School in Baytown, Texas. He took over quarterbacking duties following his junior season, when he caught 50 passes for 670 yards as a receiver. He also earned all-district honors as a punter following his junior season. The Small Business Management major also earned all-district honors after batting .450 as a junior for the Baytown baseball team. Stoerner, along with several Cowboys teammates, has visited Happy Hill Farm Academy and Home to speak to children on the importance of athletics and education. He also participated in the 2002 and 2003 American Cancer Society's Lil' Gunslingers Party for pediatric patients at Medical City of Dallas, and participated in the Cowboys 2002 press announcement for the Cowboys annual Thanksgiving Day Salvation Army Kettle Kickoff. He and fellow Cowboys Darren Woodson and Ebenezer Ekuban volunteered at The Salvation Army Christmas Distribution Center during the 2000 holiday season and helped distribute gifts to families in need as part of the Angel Tree program.

GAMES/STARTS: 2001 (15/1), 2002 (14/0). Total – 29/1.

PRO: After struggling to find a home with six teams in four leagues, Reggie Swinton arrived in Dallas in 2001 and proceeded to re-write the Cowboys kick return record books. He established team records for kickoff returns, kickoff return yards and combined kick return yards (kickoff and punt) to earn All-Pro honors as a rookie, then continued his trek in 2002 by moving into third on the Cowboys career kickoff return average list (24.1 avg.), behind Mel Renfro (26.4 avg.) and Herschel Walker (25.3 avg.). These accolades and records are far removed from his previous treks through the NFL, CFL, XFL and af2. Swinton, who surrendered his return duties late in the 2002 season, is looking to return to form as he tries to reclaim the return duties while continuing to work into the wide receiver rotation on offense.

2002: Swinton's sophomore campaign started and ended auspiciously, but he still managed to finish sixth in the NFC and 10th in the NFL with a 24.9 kickoff return average while catching seven passes for 63 yards and returning 19 punts for 141 yards (7.4 avg.). He also added five special teams tackles, the first of his career. He began the year by straining his hamstring in a preseason game at Carolina (8/17), and the recovery from the strain forced him to miss the first two games of the regular season. He made his first appearance of the season at Philadelphia (9/22) and returned his first kickoff 100 yards for a touchdown. The 100 yarder tied the fourth longest kickoff return in club history and was the first kickoff return for a score by Dallas since Kevin Williams went 87 yards with a return against Arizona on Oct. 9, 1994. Swinton finished the Eagles game with 213 kickoff return yards, breaking the club record of 205 yards set by Jason Tucker at the N.Y. Giants on Oct. 15, 2000, while his 215 combined return yards was the third best total in team history. He also caught three passes for 15 yards. At St. Louis (9/29), he averaged 20.5 yards on two punt returns and 24.5 yards on two kickoff returns. He caught his first passes of the season against the N.Y. Giants (10/6), posting two receptions for 22 yards while filling in for Joey Galloway (leg cramps). Swinton also had a 16-yard punt return and averaged 27.7 yards on three kickoff returns. He recorded a career-long 23-yard run against Carolina (10/13) before returning two kickoffs for 61 yards against Seattle (10/27). His two returns against the Seahawks pushed him past 75 career kickoff returns and moved him onto the club's all-time return list in third place at 24.7 yards-per-return. He returned five punts for 50 yards at Detroit (11/3) despite suffering a sprained right ankle that limited him in the second half. He recorded five kickoff returns for an 18.4-yard average at Indianapolis (11/17). With the coaching staff looking for a bigger spark in the return game, Swinton surrendered return duties to Woodrow Dantzler (kickoffs) and Galloway (punts) against Washington (11/28) on Thanksgiving Day. Swinton then took over the job of gunner on the punt team against the Redskins. He recorded his first two career special teams tackles against San Francisco (12/8), then registered two more special teams stops at the N.Y. Giants (12/15) while catching two fourth quarter passes for 26 yards. He closed the year with a single special teams tackle at Washington (12/29).

2001: Swinton finished the af2 season as the leading receiver for the Arkansas Twisters. In 13 games with the Twisters, Swinton set franchise records with 85 receptions for 1,463 yards and 33 touchdowns. After joining the Cowboys in training camp in August, he went on to set single-season club records for kickoff returns (56), kickoff return yards (1,327) and combined kick return yards – punts and kickoffs – (1,741). His 414 punt return yards in 2001 was the seventh most in club history. He also tied the club mark for combined kick returns (87). He did this despite not taking over punt return duties until Week 7. His 13.7-yard average on punt returns ranked third in the NFL, second in the NFC, and his 23.7-yard average on kickoff returns was ninth in the NFL, seventh in the NFC. Those numbers earned him second-team All-Pro recognition from College and Pro Football Newsweekly as a punt returner. Swinton set the tone for his season in his NFL debut against Tampa Bay (9/9), returning his first kickoff 77 yards to set up Dallas's first field goal. He finished the day with three returns for 131 yards and a 43.7-yard average, the second-highest single-game kickoff return average in club history. Against San Diego (9/23), he moved into the lineup in multiple receiver sets after Raghieb Ismail left the game with a sprained right knee. He finished the day with his first two career receptions, good for 30 yards, while also averaging 25.4 yards on five kickoff returns. Swinton got his first taste of punt return duties at Philadelphia (9/30) when he took over for Wane McGarity (cramps) in the fourth quarter and recorded two returns for 14 yards. At Oakland (10/7), Swinton moved into the starting lineup at wide receiver with the mid-week release of McGarity and the continued injury to Ismail, earning his first NFL start in just his fourth NFL game. He responded with two receptions for 15 yards and continued to shine as a returner with three kickoff returns for 92 yards, including a 51-yarder. Also replacing McGarity as the club's punt returner, he had returns of 49 and 21 yards.

REGGIE SWINTON

PLAYERS

After suffering a strained hamstring in pregame warm-ups against Washington (10/15), Swinton left the game after returning the opening kickoff 10 yards. He was active but did not play while nursing the hamstring against Arizona (10/28). He returned to action at the N.Y. Giants (11/4) and contributed 187 return yards, averaging 14.0 yards on four punt returns and 21.8 yards on six kickoff returns. His 10 returns in the game (6-kickoff, 4 punt) tied the third highest combined total in club history. With seven kickoff returns for 187 yards (26.7 avg.) against Philadelphia (11/18), he tied the mark for the second most kickoff returns in a game in club history (Mel Renfro - 8 in 1964). Swinton's biggest day as a return man came in the Thanksgiving Day match-up against Denver (11/22) when he recorded his first punt return for a touchdown, taking one back 65 yards in the fourth quarter. He finished the day with season highs for punt returns (five) and punt return yards (100) and also added six kickoff returns for another 124 yards. His 11 total returns tied Butch Johnson for the second most in a game in club history, and his 224 total return yards for the game were the second most in club history. He then averaged 41.5 yards on two kickoff returns against the N.Y. Giants (12/9). Despite a slow day due to the weather at Seattle (12/16), Swinton managed to record six kickoff returns for 93 yards, giving him 1,216 kickoff return yards for the season, a club record. He also established a club record for combined kick return yards in a season at 1,554. Not to be forgotten as a receiver, Swinton recorded his first career touchdown reception with a 45-yard grab at Arizona (12/23) on his fifth career reception. He finished the day with three catches for a team-high 72 yards. He also added a 43-yard punt return to set up a first quarter field goal and became the club's single-season record holder for kickoff returns by adding three to his season total, breaking the mark of 51 set by Jason Tucker in 2000.

2000: Swinton went to camp with the Seattle Seahawks but was released prior to the season.

1999: Swinton signed with the Winnipeg Bombers of the CFL on July 13 and was released Aug. 2. He was re-signed Aug. 9 and released again Aug. 16. While with the Bombers, Swinton ranked 10th in the CFL in kickoff returns with a 25.8 avg. and one touchdown. He was picked up by the Edmonton Eskimos of the CFL on Sept. 13, but was released on Oct. 12.

1998: Swinton originally signed as a rookie free agent with the Jacksonville Jaguars but was released on the final cut down day.

COLLEGE: Swinton set Murray State records for most career receptions (133), career receiving yards (2,346) and single season receiving yards (1,042). He ranks second in all-time touchdowns with 27. As a senior, he finished the year with 35 receptions for 642 yards. Swinton was named first team All-Conference and second-team Division 1-AA All-America as a junior.

PERSONAL: Swinton was a standout athlete at Central High School in Little Rock, Ark. He earned all-state honors in football, baseball, basketball and track. As a senior, he was named his school's athlete of the year. His father and uncle were drafted by Major League Baseball teams. During the offseason, Swinton released his first rap CD entitled "Whatcha gone do?". In 2002, Swinton participated in the Cowboys High School Coach of the Week Program and presented the head coach of MacArthur High School in Irving, Texas a $1,000 check for their football program. Swinton has two sons, Ryan (5/15/99) and Reggie II (8/5/02).

NFL: Rookie ★ Cowboys: Rookie

COLLEGE: A late bloomer who took over the starting right cornerback job as a senior at Wisconsin, B.J. Tucker went on to have an outstanding college campaign and should add immediate depth to the Dallas secondary. A superb athlete, Tucker excelled on the football field and the track at Wisconsin. He has learned to tap into his outstanding speed and acceleration to stay with receivers deep, and he has the leaping ability and explosion to go up for the football when it is in the air. Tucker will have the opportunity to grow and mature as a defensive back along with the rest of the Dallas secondary, helping to create a pass defense to be reckoned with in the years ahead.

2002: Tucker started all season at right cornerback and recorded a career-high 76 tackles, forced and recovered a fumble and broke up 12 passes. His five interceptions on the season placed him second in the Big Ten Conference as the Badgers compiled an 8-6 record and captured the Alamo Bowl title. At Nevada-Las Vegas, Tucker deflected two passes and recorded three tackles, and he added another four tackles against West Virginia. He was a defensive force against Northern Illinois, picking off his first pass of the season, deflecting two others, recovering a fumble and posting five tackles. He posted his first career multiple interception game with two picks in a 31-10 win over Arizona, while adding six tackles. Tucker took an interception back 65 yards for a touchdown against Penn State and then registered a career-high 13 tackles the next week at Indiana. In a 42-24 win at Michigan State, he recorded eight tackles, including one for a two-yard loss, and had a pair of pass deflections. Tucker picked off a Brad Banks pass at Iowa and added five tackles and forced a fumble. The following week against Illinois he was credited with nine tackles. Tucker finished his career with a pair of tackles as Wisconsin stunned 14th-ranked Colorado with a come-from-behind 31-28 overtime victory in the Alamo Bowl.

2001: As a junior, Tucker again saw action in nine games with two starts. He recorded 15 tackles and broke up two passes. He registered a season-high five solo tackles in a start at right cornerback against Oregon, and he followed that with five more tackles and a pass break-up against Illinois. On the track, Tucker finished second in the 100 meters as the Badgers' took home the Big Ten Conference outdoor track title in the spring.

2000: Tucker saw action in nine games, earning two starts at right cornerback, recording 23 tackles and seven passes defended. Against Oregon, he recorded a season-high seven tackles and three pass deflections in his second start of the season. He tied his season-high with seven stops against Northwestern. In the spring, Tucker and the Wisconsin track team defended their Big Ten Conference indoor and outdoor titles.

1999: Tucker saw action in one game as a freshman, making a tackle against Iowa. On the track, Tucker was a member of the Badgers' Big Ten Conference Champion indoor and outdoor teams, finishing second in the 60 meters at the 2000 indoor finals.

PERSONAL: Baigeh Joe Tucker was born in Sierra Leone, West Africa. His family moved to Seattle, Wash., in 1990 and later to Milwaukee, Wisc. He starred in football and track at Nicolet High School in Bayside, Wisc. As a senior, he earned SuperPrep All-America and North Shore Conference Defensive Back of the Year honors while also recording 38 receptions for 628 yards on offense. As a junior, he led the team in rushing. Tucker also excelled on the track where he was a four-time team track MVP and Wisconsin's 1998 Track Athlete of the Year. He was the 100- and 200-meter champion at the Nike Junior Olympics meet in Seattle in 1998. He finished his high school career with six state track titles (two each in the 100 and 200 and 400 relay). Tucker majored in legal studies at Wisconsin.

PRO: After fighting the injury bug along the offensive line throughout the first half of the 2002 season, the Dallas Cowboys signed Kurt Vollers off the Indianapolis Colts practice squad on Oct. 22. Vollers is an athletic tackle that showed through his collegiate years an ability to provide solid blocking for the running and passing game. He will be competing for a spot on the tackle depth chart as the line has gone through some off season upgrades heading into the 2003 season.

2002: Vollers signed with the Indianapolis Colts as a rookie free agent but was released at the end of training camp. He immediately signed to the Colts practice squad, where he remained until signing with Dallas on Oct. 22. He was active but did not play in his first four games with Dallas. He took over at left tackle for Flozell Adams (ankle) in the second quarter against Washington (11/28). He was active but did not play in games against San Francisco (12/8), at the N.Y. Giants (12/15) and in the season finale at Washington (12/29).

COLLEGE: As a senior, Vollers earned All-Independent honors from collegefootballnews.com after starting all 11 games – nine at right tackle and two at right guard – helping to clear a path for 188.2 rushing yards-per-game. He started 12 games for the Irish as a junior, including the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl, helping Notre Dame finish the season 14th in rushing (213.5 yards-per-game) and 17th in passing efficiency (136.97). As a sophomore, Vollers saw action in every game on special teams while seeing time with the offense in seven games. He earned the starting nod at left tackle through the final three games of the season after the season-ending injury to starter Jordan Black. As a redshirt freshman, Vollers made the switch from the defensive line to the offensive line in preseason practices. He made his offensive debut at guard against Navy, his only playing time of the season.

PERSONAL: Vollers was a USA Today honorable mention All-America and was rated as one of the top prep recruits in the country following his senior season at Servite High School in Whittier, Calif. – the same high school as former Cowboys quarterback Steve Beurlein. He helped lead Servite to league titles as a junior and senior, posting 29 tackles and eight sacks during his senior campaign. The sociology major also earned two letters in track – winning the league shot put and discus titles as a junior – two letters in basketball and one letter in baseball. When Vollers signed with the club, he became a member of Cowboys "Rookie Club," a program designed to introduce rookies to community service. The rookies made visits to and spent time with children at Children's Medical Center of Dallas, ChildCareGroup, North Texas Hospital for Children for Operation Paint Fest and work with The Salvation Army Angel Tree Program.

GAMES/STARTS: 2002 (10/8).

PRO: Although injuries and uncertainty plagued the Dallas offensive line throughout the entire season, there were a few bright spots in the form of young players who responded well to being forced into starting duty. One of those youngsters who answered the call with solid productivity was center Tyson Walter, who holds the distinction of starting more games as a Buckeye (49) than any other player in school history. He is a strong drive blocker with solid quickness and intelligence, and his experience of performing at a high collegiate level was key to his transition to professional football and a mid-season starting assignment as a Dallas rookie. Walter also came to the NFL with a high level of competitive maturity after spending six years in one of the nation's premier collegiate programs. Injuries forced a pair of medical redshirt seasons for the big lineman. When he was not sidelined with injuries, Walter was a very consistent performer for four seasons at left tackle, where he capably inherited the responsibility of replacing All-America Orlando Pace, who was taken by the Rams with the first overall pick in the 1997 NFL Draft. As an NFL rookie, Walter displayed solid athletic ability for a man of his size while also possessing toughness and a rare level of intelligence as evidenced by his ability to make the calls on the offensive line as a starting center in the NFL. Walter was the first of three Dallas sixth round draft choices in 2002 (179th overall).

2002: Walter was sidelined for almost all of training camp with a high left ankle sprain that he suffered on Aug. 4. Yet, he showed enough promise and tenacity in limited two-a-day drills to earn a roster spot. The injury, however, forced him to be inactive for the first four games of the season. Walter returned to limited practice work on Sept. 25 and was active, but did not play, in the loss to the N.Y. Giants (10/6). He saw his first NFL action in the following week's win over Carolina (10/13) when he took over at center for Matt Lehr mid-way through the second quarter. Walter helped Dallas rush for 138 yards and a 5.8 yards-per-carry average against the Panthers while playing a key role in the two decisive fourth quarter touchdowns that sparked the thrilling come-from-behind win. In the loss to Seattle (10/27), Walter saw limited first quarter action at center for Andre Gurode (ankle injury) and then at right guard on the final drive when Solomon Page moved to right tackle for Javiar Collins (knee injury). Walter earned his first NFL starting assignment at center at Detroit (11/3) as Gurode moved to right guard. In answering the starting call, Walter became the second rookie to start at center – along with Gurode – for Dallas in 2002. In the loss at Indianapolis (11/17), Walter earned his second straight start at center, and he held the job for the remainder of the season. In Dallas's win over Jacksonville (11/24), Walter was a part of a line that helped provide time for Hutchinson to throw for 301 yards and opened holes for 118 rushing yards en route to the club's top offensive outing (405 net yards) of the year. In the Thanksgiving Day win over Washington (11/28), he contributed to a line effort that led the way for the Cowboys to rush for a season-high 211 yards, including a season-high 144 yards by Emmitt Smith. In that game, Smith also went over the 17,000 yard mark for career rushing yards and recorded his fourth consecutive 100-yard day against the Redskins. In the following week's loss to San Francisco (12/8), Walter helped hold the 49ers without a sack in 28 pass plays, marking the first game in 2002 that the line did not allow a sack. Dallas also rushed for 110 yards against the 49ers.

COLLEGE: As a senior in 2001, Walter was an All-Big Ten Conference selection and the winner of the Jim Parker Award for outstanding offensive line performance among Buckeyes. He was also recognized as a first-team Academic All-Big Ten selection. He started every game as a senior. His blocking helped the Buckeyes roll up 370.6 yards-per-game and he was named the Buckeyes' Lineman of the Game four times. Walter's productive senior year marked his return to the field after missing the entire 2000 season with a back infection that caused him to receive a second medical redshirt season. Despite missing most of the summer after undergoing back surgery, Walter started every game at left tackle in 1999, and the team averaged 362.3 yards-per-game. Walter helped clear a path for current Cowboys teammate Michael Wiley, who rushed for 999 yards and 10 touchdowns on 183 carries. In 1998, Walter was an All-Big Ten honorable mention selection after starting every game at left tackle. He played a key role in the Buckeyes finishing the year ranked fifth nationally in total offense (503.5 yards-per-game) and first in the Big Ten in passing efficiency (151.2), total offense (503.5) and scoring (36.9 points-per-game). He was part of an offensive line that helped Buckeye running backs rush for 2,737 yards and 22 touchdowns to finish second in the Big Ten. That squad went on to beat Texas A&M in the Nokia Sugar Bowl to finish with an 11-1 record and a No. 2 national ranking. As a redshirt freshman in 1997, he was called upon to fill the huge shoes of two-time All-America left tackle Orlando Pace. Walter started every game for Ohio State. In 1996, Walter played in the first two games as a reserve offensive tackle before a shoulder sprain sidelined him for the remainder of the season. He was granted a medical redshirt as a result of the injury.

PERSONAL: Walter helped Kenston, Ohio, High School to a runner-up position in the state playoffs as a senior offensive and defensive tackle, earning All-Ohio honors. He graduated from Ohio State at the end of the 2000 winter quarter with a degree in finance. He went on to pursue additional degrees in Economics, Risk Management and Information Systems. As a senior scholar-athlete, Walter was a nominee for a National Football Foundation scholarship. As a member of the Cowboys 2002 Rookie Club – a program designed to introduce rookie team member to community service in the Dallas area – Walter participated in monthly charity visits to non-profit organizations serving children. In the spring of 2003, he served as a guest speaker at the SMU "Visioneering" event for over 500 Dallas middle school students.

GAMES/STARTS: 2001 (PS), 2002 (3/0). Totals - 3/0.

PRO: A physical, athletic defensive end with a good motor, Colston Weatherington is a raw talent who has spent two seasons working on his professional game. Coaches will be looking for him to display the explosive first move off the line of scrimmage he showed in college and honed through the 2002 NFL Europe season as he battles for additional playing time in 2003.

2002: Weatherington spent the spring with the Amsterdam Admirals of NFL Europe, finishing the year with 15 tackles and a forced fumble. After an outstanding preseason that saw Weatherington record two sacks, two tackles for losses and a preseason-high five quarterback pressures, his regular season got off to a slow start as he was deactivated the first four weeks of the season. He made his NFL debut in the Cowboys last-second win at St. Louis (9/29), recording a quarterback pressure. He was then inactive the next four weeks before returning to action at Detroit (11/3). Weatherington was back on the inactive list for Weeks 11-15. Against Philadelphia (12/21), he cracked the lineup and recorded his first career tackle. He was inactive for the season finale at Washington (12/29).

2001: Weatherington was drafted in the seventh round (207th overall) of the NFL Draft. He sprained his left ankle in the preseason opener at Oakland (8/4) and missed the final four preseason games. He was released at the end of camp then immediately re-signed to the Dallas practice squad, where he remained for the entire season.

COLLEGE: In leading the Mules' defense as a junior, Weatherington recorded 32 tackles and 22 tackles behind the line of scrimmage for 108 yards in losses. He also added seven sacks and batted down seven passes to earn All-MIAA conference and Division II All-America honors. Weatherington made an immediate impact in moving from one year of junior college football to the division II level, earning All-America and MIAA Defensive MVP honors. As a sophomore, he led the team with 12.0 sacks and recorded another 19 tackles behind the line of scrimmage. He totaled 52 stops on the year and recovered two fumbles. After sitting out the 1996 and 1997 seasons while enrolled at Northwest Mississippi Community College, Weatherington began his college career in 1998 and recorded 68 tackles with 18 tackles behind the line of scrimmage for NMCC. He went on to earn all-state and all-region honors, recording 13 sacks, three passes defended, an interception, five forced fumbles and three recovered fumbles before transferring to Central Missouri State.

PERSONAL: Weatherington earned all-state honors and helped lead Graceville, Fla., High School to one state title and a runner-up finish. He majored in physical education at Central Missouri. In 1999, Weatherington also played on the Central Missouri basketball team, averaging 1.3 points and 1.5 rebounds in 17 games. As a rookie, Weatherington was a member of the Cowboys inaugural "Rookie Club," a program designed to introduce rookies to community service. Throughout the season, the rookies made visits to and spent time with children at Children's Medical Center of Dallas, Oak Cliff Boys and Girls Clubs, The Salvation Army and its Christmas Distribution Center.

GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 2000 (3/0); 2001 (0/0-IR); 2002 (16/6). Total (19/6).

PRO: James Whalen signed with the Cowboys in 2000 hoping to provide the team with a pass-catching tight end that would make defenses respect the middle of the field. Whalen – the NCAA's single season receptions, yardage and touchdowns leader for a tight end – spent a year on the Dallas practice squad and a year on injured reserve before getting his opportunity to display his talents. When given the chance, he showed coaches the ability to not only make plays catching the ball but also on special teams units, recording 15 special teams stops in 2002. This versatility will only benefit him as he battles with two other veterans and a draft pick for a spot on the Cowboys tight end depth chart.

2002: After missing the 2001 season with a strained right Achilles tendon, Whalen returned to the playing field during training camp and proceeded to appear in all 16 regular season games. He finished the season with 17 catches for 152 yards while ranking fourth on the team with 15 special teams tackles. After making his debut at Houston (9/8) in the season opener, Whalen recorded his first special teams stop at Philadelphia (9/22). He left the Eagles game in the fourth quarter, however, after suffering bruised ribs. He returned the following week at St. Louis (9/29) to record his first career catches, catching a team- and career-high five passes for 38 yards. Three of his grabs gave Dallas a first down, including one on the game-tying field goal drive in the fourth quarter. He caught a career-long 33-yard pass against the N.Y. Giants (10/6). Against Carolina (10/13), Whalen knocked the wind out of kick returner Steve Smith following the Cowboys' fourth quarter go-ahead touchdown, forcing the Panthers to use one of their two remaining timeouts with 0:56 on the clock. Whalen caught two passes for 17 yards at Detroit (11/3) before making his first career start at Indianapolis (11/17) in a two tight end set and catching two passes for 16 yards. He earned his second straight start (two tight ends) against Jacksonville (11/24) and recorded a special teams tackle as Dallas limited the Jaguars to a 17.0 average on four kickoff returns. He posted two special teams stops and forced a fumble against Washington (11/28), then tied for the team lead with three special teams tackles against San Francisco (12/8). He also added a seven-yard reception against the 49ers. He led the team at the N.Y. Giants (12/15) with three special teams tackles while also recovering an on-side kick late in the game and catching a four-yard pass. Against Philadelphia (12/21), he tied for the team lead with three catches for 24 yards and led the squad with two special teams stops. He closed out the season at Washington (12/29) by posting two special teams tackles and one reception for eight yards.

2001: Whalen spent the spring playing for the Scottish Claymores of NFL Europe, where he led the league with 66 catches for 691 yards (second-best in NFL-E) and three touchdowns, while garnering All-NFL-E honors. He was also fourth in the league with 691 total yards from scrimmage. After the spring, Whalen returned the Cowboys active roster but was a game-day deactivation against Tampa Bay (9/9). He suffered a strained right Achilles in practice Sept. 12 and was placed on injured reserve Sept. 22.

2000: Whalen was drafted by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in the fifth round (157th overall) of the NFL Draft but was released Aug. 27. He signed to the Cowboys practice squad Aug. 30, where he remained until being moved to the active roster Dec. 5. He saw special teams action against Washington (12/10) and the N.Y. Giants (12/17). He saw his first offensive playing time at Tennessee (12/25) but did not record a reception.

COLLEGE: Whalen earned All-America and All-SEC honors after leading all collegiate tight ends with 90 receptions, 1,019 receiving yards and 10 touchdowns as a senior. His 90 receptions established an NCAA record for tight ends and set a new school record at Kentucky. He earned Compaq's Best Hustle Play of the Week in College Football following a 57-yard catch-and-run play against Louisville. Whalen made the transition from wide receiver to tight end during spring drills prior to his junior year and finished the season with 23 catches for 239 yards and three touchdowns. As a sophomore transfer, Whalen saw action in 11 games, recording seven catches for 66 yards. He was named the UK Walk-on of the Year as chosen by the Louisville chapter of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame. He spent his freshman season at Shasta Junior College in Redding, Calif., as a wide receiver catching 19 passes for 154 yards and a touchdown.

PERSONAL: James Patrick Whalen, Jr. was a four-year letterman and three-year starter at LaSalle High School in Portland, Ore. He was named all-state and Tri-Valley League Player of the Year after catching 68 passes for 1,502 yards and 18 touchdowns to help lead his team to the league championship as a senior. He posted approximately 75 receptions for 1,300 yards and 25 touchdowns as a sophomore and junior, combined, to earn all-league honors each season. He was also named league player of the year as a senior third baseman/pitcher on the LaSalle baseball team while earning second-team all-state honors as a forward on the basketball team. In 2003, Whalen served as a football coach for the team's annual Let Us Play! Sports Camp for 150 underprivileged girls. He and teammate Demetric Evans were the coaching duo for the group of girls that eventually won the mock Super Bowl at the conclusion of the camp. Whalen participates in an annual golf tournament to raise funds to support the children at Happy Hill Farm Academy and Home, a residency campus for 100 abused and neglected children, where he also spends free time visiting with the children. He participated in The Salvation Army's Angel Tree Program, providing holiday gifts for less fortunate children. Whalen was also part of a Cowboys contingent that helped raise funds to support victims of the 2002 floods in San Antonio, Texas. A communications major, Whalen continued work toward his degree this offseason.

PRO: Michael Wiley is an all-purpose player who has demonstrated the ability to fill the role of a third down back with his solid pass receiving skills and his fine pass blocking ability. After being drafted in the fifth round out of Ohio State in the 2000 NFL Draft, Wiley was initially scheduled to be evaluated at both running back and receiver, but he soon found a niche in the backfield. As a ball carrier, he has excellent vision and burst, and he also has the ability to set up his blocks effectively. A solid route runner with good hands and speed, Wiley has made the most of his opportunities on the field the past three seasons both on offense and special teams. His combination of skills has allowed him to be equally effective as a runner, receiver, pass protector, kickoff returner and coverage man. This season, he will compete for even more playing time at running back with the departure of Emmitt Smith.

2002: Wiley continued to serve as an outstanding big-play threat in his role as the club's third-down back, averaging 8.9 yards from scrimmage every time he touched the football. In all, he touched the football 35 times from scrimmage, picking up 168 yards on 22 carries (7.6 avg.) and 144 yards on 13 receptions (11.1 avg.). On special teams, he contributed on both coverage and return teams – helping spring Reggie Swinton and Woody Dantzler on returns for touchdowns as a lead blocker on the kickoff return unit and contributing nine special teams tackles. After missing most of preseason with a sprained right ankle, Wiley hit the field in the season opener at Houston (9/8) and picked up 46 yards and a touchdown – his first career rushing touchdown – on his only carry of the night. At Philadelphia (9/22), he recorded four carries for 20 yards in the fourth quarter and logged his first kickoff return of the season with a 27-yard dash in the second quarter. In the Cowboys' last-second win at St. Louis (9/29), Wiley recorded three receptions for 23 yards, including two receptions on the game-winning field goal drive – a kick set up by his 15-yard grab to get Dallas to the Rams 35-yard line with 0:13 remaining. He recorded a 25-yard reception on third-and-seven to pick up a first down and set up Dallas for a 32-yard field goal just before the half against the N.Y. Giants (10/6). He also had a six-yard catch to convert a third down in the first quarter and added a special teams tackle. On his first career pass attempt, he was sacked for a four-yard loss on a halfback pass. In the Cowboys' come-from-behind win against Carolina (10/13), Wiley had three carries for 13 yards, including a four-yard run on third down to pick up a first down. Wiley upped his season average to 6.7 yards-per-carry with two runs for 16 yards at Detroit (11/3). At Indianapolis (11/17), he had a 19-yard catch to convert a third down. Wiley tied for the team lead with two special teams tackles against Jacksonville (11/24) as the Jags were limited to a 17.0 average on four kickoff returns. He also added a 14-yard kickoff return and a carry for two yards. On Thanksgiving Day against Washington (11/28), he led the team with a career-high four special teams tackles. He also had two carries for 31 yards, a 16-yard run to pick up a third-and-seven and then a 15-yarder on third-and-17 to set up a Dallas field goal. Wiley recorded a career-long 31-yard reception against San Francisco (12/8), and he also added a 10-yard run on his other touch. Both plays came on third down and gave Dallas a first down on their two first quarter field goal drives. At the N.Y. Giants (12/15), Wiley led the team with four receptions for 31 yards while contributing two carries for 18 yards, giving him 49 yards on six touches for the game.

2001: As a second year pro, Wiley came into his own as the Cowboys third down back. He touched the football 30 times on third down and picked up a first down on 14 of those touches (46.7% conversion rate). To add to those impressive figures, he averaged 6.8 yards every time he touched the ball from scrimmage. He finished the year with 34 rushing attempts for 247 yards (7.3 avg.) and 16 catches for 99 yards and a touchdown, while averaging 22.5 yards on four kickoff returns. Wiley opened the season with three receptions for 16 yards on third downs against Tampa Bay (9/9). At Philadelphia (9/30), he led the team with three receptions for 28 yards, including an 11-yard touchdown – his only scoring reception of the year and the second of his career. Wiley also added two carries for eight yards and recovered a Brian Mitchell fumble on a first quarter punt on special teams to set up a Dallas field goal. In the Cowboys win over Arizona (10/28), he touched the football twice and converted a third down both times, first with a 12-yard run, then with an eight-yard gain on a shovel pass. At Atlanta (11/11), Wiley again spelled Hambrick at running back and recorded a career-best 85 yards on seven carries, including a career-long 58-yard burst to set up the only Dallas touchdown of the day. At Washington (12/2), Wiley logged three carries for 61 yards, including a 46-yard scamper late in the third quarter to set Dallas up for a 38-yard field goal. All three of his carries against the Redskins came on third down and picked up a first down. In the following week's win over the Giants (12/9), he recorded four carries for 15 yards, including a key six-yard gain on third-and-three to pick up a first down and keep alive the go-ahead touchdown drive. He added a season-long 17-yard reception on the earlier game-tying touchdown drive, and he handled two kickoff returns, one on a reverse handoff from Swinton and the other when he fielded a short kick and returned it 40 yards to the Giants' 44-yard line. At Seattle (12/16), he recorded one reception for eight yards before suffering a right hip contusion in the third quarter that knocked him out of the game. He returned to action the following week at Arizona (12/23) and recorded six touches (three runs, three receptions) for 19 yards. In the Cowboys surprise win over playoff bound San Francisco (12/30), Wiley touched the ball four times on third down and converted three of those touches into first downs. His 19-yard run on third-and-seven got the ball to the 49ers two-yard line and set up the final field goal of the game.

2000: While using his rookie season as a learning experience, Wiley's limited action in the early part of the year grew into an expanded third down back role following the release of Chris Warren in December. Wiley closed the year with 14 receptions for 72 yards. His rushing attempts also increased by the end of the year, and in the last four games of the season, he had 23 carries for 87 yards. Wiley also saw action on Dallas special teams, averaging 23.3 yards on 13 kickoff returns while making seven special teams tackles. In his first NFL game, he led the team with three special teams tackles against Philadelphia (9/3) while adding a 10-yard reception. At Arizona (9/10), Wiley scored his first NFL touchdown by plucking a tipped pass from Randall Cunningham out of the air and taking it 15 yards for the score. He finished the night with three receptions for 23 yards replacing Warren (neck strain) on third downs. In the Monday night win at Washington (9/18), he took over the kickoff return duties and fielded four kicks for 89 yards. Against San Francisco (9/24), he averaged 21.3 yards on three kickoff returns. In that game, Wiley also recorded his first career rushing attempt (a one-yard gain). After suffering a sprained right knee in practice on Oct. 11, Wiley worked through a six-game period where he was a game-day deactivation. He returned to the field on Thanksgiving Day against Minnesota (11/23) and contributed an eight-yard reception. At Tampa Bay (12/3), in his first extensive offensive action, Wiley replaced Warren on third down and in multiple wide receiver sets and responded with six carries for 32 yards (5.3 avg.) and three receptions for 13 yards. In the win over Washington (12/10), he was second on the team with 11 carries for 38 yards spelling Smith. The following week against the N.Y. Giants (12/17), Wiley led the Cowboys with four receptions. In the season's final game at Tennessee (12/25), he opened the game by recovering an onside kick by Dallas. He went on to add five carries for 17 yards.

COLLEGE: Wiley came to the Cowboys after one of the most productive careers as a playmaker in the history of Ohio State football. In four years in Columbus, Wiley had a hand in 35 touchdowns in the following fashion: rushing (27), receiving (five), passing (two) and kickoff returns (one). Although he started just two seasons for the Buckeyes, Wiley left Ohio State ranked seventh on the school's all-purpose yardage list with 4,194 yards. His career totals include 2,951 rushing yards, good for seventh on the OSU all-time ground list. Wiley completed an incredible 10-of-11 career passing attempts for 225 yards and two touchdowns while averaging 21.9 yards-per-kickoff return with a career-long 100-yard touchdown effort. He finished his days at Ohio State with career averages of 5.8 yards-per-rush and 11.3 yards-per-reception. Wiley averaged 7.7 yards every time he touched the ball in college. He was a second-team All-Big Ten selection after a senior season in which he led the Buckeyes in rushing with 952 yards and 10 touchdowns on 183 carries (5.2 avg.). In 1998, Wiley enjoyed his finest season as a collegiate player. A first team All-Big Ten selection, he led the Buckeyes in rushing and was second in the conference, with a career-high 1,258 yards and 10 touchdowns on 198 carries (6.2 avg.).

PERSONAL: A consensus high school All-America at Monte Vista High School in San Diego, Calif., Wiley ran for 3,417 career yards and 38 touchdowns. As a senior, he tallied 1,901 yards and 23 touchdowns on the ground en route to being ranked as the country's No. 2 running back prospect by Bluechip Illustrated. He earned four letters in football and track and three in basketball. Wiley was a National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame Scholar athlete at Ohio State, where he majored in sociology. He and wife, Quiana, were married on May 17, 2003.

GAMES/STARTS (regular season, playoffs): 2001 (7/0, 0/0), 2002 (11/0). Totals - 18/0.

PRO: Searching for a big, possession receiver, the Cowboys claimed Randal Williams off waivers from Jacksonville midway through the 2001 season. Williams, who is a raw receiver with the speed and size to win a battle for the football, has not cracked Dallas's receivers rotation but has made a name for himself with his special teams play. He has recorded a special teams tackle in 15 of his 18 career games, including a stop in each of his first 11. Entering his third season, Williams will be working to make a name for himself as a receiver as he battles for a spot on the Cowboys receiving depth chart.

2002: Seeing all his action with the special teams units, Williams finished sixth on the team with 11 special teams tackles. He opened the season at Houston (9/8) with a team-high three special teams tackles while helping limit the Texans to a 5.3 average on four punt returns. He posted one special teams stop and downed a punt at the four-yard line against Tennessee (9/15) before posting another special teams tackle at Philadelphia (9/22). At St. Louis (9/29), he tallied two special teams stops as Terrence Wilkins was limited to one yard on three punt returns with a fair catch. Williams suffered a sprained right ankle early against the N.Y. Giants (10/6) and was held without a special teams tackle for the first time in his career, snapping an 11-game streak. He returned against Carolina (10/13) to contribute a special teams tackle then recorded another special teams stop at Detroit (11/3) in helping limit Az-Hakim to an 8.4 yard average on five punt returns. He suffered a concussion early in the Jacksonville (11/24) game, forcing him from the game and keeping him out of the Thanksgiving Day game against Washington (11/28). He was inactive for the final four games of the season.

2001: Williams signed with Jacksonville as a rookie free agent and finished the preseason with one catch for six yards working with current Cowboys receivers coach John McNulty. He made the Jaguars final roster, but was deactivated for each of Jacksonville's first six games. He was released Oct. 27 and claimed by Dallas Oct. 29. He was inactive at the N.Y. Giants (11/4) then active but did not play at Atlanta (11/11). He saw his first NFL action on special teams, recording one tackle against Philadelphia (11/18). Against Denver (11/22), he added another special teams tackle then recorded his third straight special teams tackle at Washington (12/2). Williams saw action on the punt coverage team and registered a tackle working as a gunner against the N.Y. Giants (12/9). At Seattle (12/16), he recorded another special teams tackle before being deactivated at Arizona (12/23). Against San Francisco (12/30), Williams tallied his sixth special teams tackle before closing the season at Detroit (1/6/02) with his seventh tackle in seven games.

COLLEGE: Williams saw action in seven games as a senior at New Hampshire, catching 10 passes for 258 yards (25.8 avg.) and four touchdowns. He also carried the ball 47 times for 163 yards and three touchdowns and returned eight punts for 146 yards (18.3). To compliment his football feats, Williams earned Academic All-Conference honors. As a junior, he caught 10 passes for 149 yards (14.9) and three touchdowns while seeing action in every game. He averaged 6.5 yards-per-carry on four rushes (26 yards) and also saw some playing time as a defensive end, where he recorded one tackle.

PERSONAL: Randal Ellison Williams attended Deerfield, Mass., Academy, where he played split end and defensive end on the football team while running the 100-meters, 200-meters and 4x100 relay for the track team. He tied the Deerfield Academy school record in the 100 and earned a silver medal in the 100 at the New England Prep School Championships. Williams, who was president of the Deerfield Black Student Coalition, graduated from New Hampshire with a double major in business and Spanish. His ability to speak Spanish was a huge benefit for the 2001 Dallas Cowboys Rookie Club, a program designed to introduce rookie team members to community service. The Rookie Club visited The Salvation Army Distribution Center during the holidays to assist with the Angel Tree Program for underprivileged families where Williams was an asset with his ability to communicate with the Hispanic families. In 2002, Williams served as the guest speaker for the Dallas Cowboys Community Quarterback Volunteer Award Program press conference, sharing his thoughts on the importance of volunteerism and how volunteers impacted his life growing up in a single-parent home.

Oklahoma

NFL: 2nd Year ★ Cowboys: 2nd Year

GAMES/STARTS: 2002 (16/16).

PRO: Few Dallas Cowboys rookies have come to the franchise with a higher level of hype and expectation than safety Roy Williams. Even fewer of those heralded newcomers have been able to exceed the advanced billing in the fashion that Williams was able to do in his rookie season. The eighth overall selection in the NFL Draft, and a Dallas starter from his first day of training camp, Williams earned All-Rookie recognition while tying for the NFL interception lead among rookies with five. It is rare for a first year player to create the type of impact that Williams had on the Dallas defense – both as a ferocious run stopper and as a big playmaker in pass defense. As one of the bigger safeties in the league – and a very sure tackler – Williams also has the knack for being able to get all of his body mass into his tackles. Williams has a unique flair for making the big hit that stops opposing runners immediately – without yielding any additional ground. He also possesses outstanding instincts and a natural feel for the game, as evidenced by his ability to shed blockers and find the proper angles of pursuit. Williams aptly fits the prototypical description of the guy who is always around the ball. He is above the standard in size, speed, attitude and instinct, but his greatest asset may be his burning competitive nature. He also has natural leadership ability that has already been positively received in the early stages of an NFL career that is off to a blazing start.

2002: In the 43-year history of the Dallas Cowboys, only a handful of rookies have made the type of vivid impact that Roy Williams brought to the club in 2002. As a starter from day one, Williams not only provided a spark to the Dallas defense, but by mid-season he became a force that was earning league-wide recognition and respect. An All-Rookie selection, Williams tied with teammate Derek Ross (and Baltimore safety Ed Reed) to lead all NFL rookies in interceptions with a team-high five. Those five thefts were the most by a Dallas safety since Darren Woodson had five in 1996. Williams was also the leading scorer on defense – returning two of his interceptions for touchdowns. He closed the year second on the team with 127 tackles, a figure that was tops in the NFL among rookie defenders and the second most ever by a Dallas rookie (Dexter Coakley, 136 in 1997). He also tied for second on the team in tackles for lost yardage (seven for minus 13 yards) and tied for the team lead on defense in forced fumbles (three – ninth in the NFL) and fumble recoveries (two – fourth in the NFL) – he also added a forced fumble and fumble recovery on special teams – while finishing third on the squad in passes broken up with nine. Williams became the first Cowboys' rookie to start the season at safety since Ron Francis in 1987. In his first career start, at Houston (9/8), Williams responded with four tackles and a quarterback pressure. In the victory over Tennessee (9/15), he had five tackles and a quarterback pressure while helping to limit the Titans to just one pass play of more than 18 yards. At Philadelphia (9/22), Williams had his first career double-figure tackle game with 11 stops while adding two tackles for lost yardage and a fumble recovery. He first displayed the kind of big impact that he could have on a game in the 13-10 win at St. Louis (9/29). Williams led Dallas in tackles with a career-high 13 stops against the Rams while also forcing a Marshall Faulk fumble and breaking up a Jamie Martin pass. His pressure of quarterback Kurt Warner resulted in a first quarter interception by Greg Ellis and knocked Warner from the game. In the loss to the N.Y. Giants (10/6), Williams registered five tackles and his first career sack – a five yard take-down of Kerry Collins. In the following week's victory over Carolina (10/13), he recorded six tackles before leaving in the third quarter with a left heel bruise. Still hobbled with the heel injury, he returned to action at Arizona (10/20) and finished fourth on the team with seven tackles while adding his second sack of the season and a season-high two passes defended. In the loss to Seattle (10/27), Williams was third on the team with nine tackles while helping limit Shaun Alexander to 2.5 yards-per-carry on 23 carries (58 yards). At Detroit (11/3), he had seven tackles and led the team with two tackles for losses. At Indianapolis (11/17), he collected 10 tackles while grabbing his first career interception when he picked off a Peyton Manning pass at the Cowboys' 10-yard line to stop a potential scoring drive. He also forced a Colts fumble that went out of bounds. In the win over Jacksonville (11/24), Williams enjoyed one of his finest days as a professional, recording eight tackles, two pass deflections, a forced fumble at the goal line that prevented a touchdown and a diving interception on the sideline that thwarted a bomb to Jimmy Smith, who he had covered step-for-step down the sideline. In the Thanksgiving Day win over Washington (11/28), Williams turned in the key play of the game with an interception return of five yards for a touchdown that cut the Dallas deficit to 20-17. The third quarter touchdown turned the game's momentum and sparked Dallas' fourth quarter rally. It was his third straight game with a pick, becoming the first Dallas player to accomplish that feat since James Washington in Weeks 4-6 of the 1994 season. Michael Downs in 1981 was the last rookie to accomplish the feat. Williams also tied for fourth on the team with six tackles as the Redskins were limited to 121 yards on eight second half possessions. In the loss to San Francisco (12/8), Williams led the team with a season-high tying 13 tackles. He also tied for the team lead with three special teams tackles, including a hit on Jimmy Williams on a kickoff return that forced a fumble that he recovered to set up a Dallas field goal. He wrapped up his outstanding rookie season with a dominating performance at Washington (12/29). He logged seven tackles and was in on two Redskins' turnovers. With 0:56 remaining in the first half and the Redskins driving, he picked off his fifth pass of the season, returning the Patrick Ramsey pass 85-yards for a touchdown to tie the score at 7-7. It was the eighth longest interception return in club history and the second best by a rookie. With the Redskins driving again in the third quarter, Tony Dixon forced Derrius Thompson to fumble at the Cowboys 11-yard line and Williams fell on the loose ball. At the season's end, Williams was one of just 10 defensive backs in the NFL to record multiple sacks (2.0) and interceptions (five) in 2002.

COLLEGE: Considered by many to be the nation's top collegiate football player in 2001, Williams ended a brilliant college career with one year of eligibility remaining. Williams was a unanimous All-America and All-Big 12 Conference selection at strong safety, while also claiming the 2001 Jim Thorpe Award that annually recognizes the nation's top defensive back. Williams was also named the Bronko Nagurski Award winner as the nation's top defender. Williams was also named Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year. In leading the Sooners to a 10-2 record and a victory in the Cotton Bowl, Williams set a school record with 27 pass deflections. He recorded a career-high 101 tackles with two sacks and 11 stops for losses. His 11 stops behind the line of scrimmage were one shy of his own school record for defensive backs (12 in 2000). He also intercepted five passes and recovered three fumbles. As a sophomore, Williams played a very visible role in the Sooners' perfect 12-0 season and march to the national championship. The title marked the first for Oklahoma since 1985, and the championship season was capped with a victory over Florida State in the Orange Bowl. Williams was named All-America and was an All-Big 12 pick. Williams started all 12 games at strong safety and finished the year third on the team with 93 tackles. His 12 stops for losses set a school record for defensive backs, and he had four sacks, two interceptions and nine deflected passes while recovering one fumble. In 1999, Williams played in every game, starting the final five, and recorded 75 tackles with a five-yard sack and six stops for losses of 21 yards. He also intercepted two passes and deflected 11 others while causing one fumble to earn Sporting News Freshman All-America honors. As a true freshman in 1998, he played in the first three games of the season before suffering a back injury that forced him out of action the remainder of the year. He received a medical hardship to regain a year of eligibility.

PERSONAL: Williams played quarterback, wide receiver and defensive back during his prep career at James Logan High School in Union City, Calif. He was the top-rated defensive back prospect in the western region by PrepStar after recording five interceptions and 56 tackles as a senior. He caught 13 passes for 301 yards and five touchdowns as a wide receiver while running for 162 yards and a touchdown on 38 carries. Williams was one of the main reasons that Logan had a four-year record of 38-10, two North Coast Section Class 4A championship appearances (1994 and 1997) and two semifinal appearances (1995 and 1996). He also lettered in track. After signing his first pro contract, Williams made a $100,000 contribution towards a new strength training facility at the University of Oklahoma, as a part of the school's new indoor workout complex. The new area, which carries Williams' name, complements the main Robin Siegfried Complex at the Switzer Center. As a member of the Cowboys 2002 Rookie Club – a program designed to introduce rookie team member to community service in the Dallas area – Williams participated in monthly charity visits to non-profit organizations serving children. He also participated as a guest speaker at the club's annual United Way Hometown Huddle event for 100 children involved with The Salvation Army. During the 2003 offseason, Williams served as a celebrity escort at the annual Children's Cancer Fund Fashion Show and Luncheon co-chaired by Troy Aikman and Roger Staubach and presented the Cowboys High School Coach of the Year Award to the Texas 5A State Champions Head Coach, Todd Dodge of Southlake Carroll High School. Williams majored in sociology at Oklahoma. His aunt, Vecepia Towery, was the winner of the popular CBS television series Survivor: Marquesas in the Spring of 2002.

NFL: Rookie ☆ Cowboys: Rookie

COLLEGE: In three years of college, Jason Witten went from being a defensive end prospect to a third round draft choice as one of college football's top all-around tight ends. In just two years, he became an emerging star and primary target in the Volunteers' passing game, finishing his career third among tight ends on the school's career reception list with 68 and fourth on the receiving yards list with 797. He was regarded by many as one of the best pass catching tight ends in college football, but his love of contact as a former high school linebacker shows up in his desire to search out defenders to deliver blocks up field for the ground game. Witten's size allows him to escape jams at the line and fight for the ball over the middle, while his speed and quickness allows him to outrun linebackers after the catch. He has also proven to be a prolific special teams player. At 21 years of age, Witten is the youngest player on the Cowboys' roster in 2003, having bypassed his final year of eligibility to test his wares in the pros.

2002: Witten closed out his collegiate career by establishing school records for receptions (39) and receiving yards (493) in a season by a tight end while adding five touchdowns. He was a consensus All-Southeastern Conference pick, as well as an Academic All-SEC honoree as he led the conference's tight ends in receptions and receiving yards. Witten was the only Vols receiver to record a catch in every game during the season, recording at least three catches in seven of 13 games. Not just a powerful presence on offense, Witten finished fourth on the team with eight special teams tackles. He started the season with four receptions for 28 yards against Wyoming. The following week against Middle Tennessee, he snared three passes for 55 yards and his first touchdown of the season. Witten recorded a season-high six catches for 61 yards and recovered an onside kick against Florida in the Vols SEC opener. Against Rutgers, he recorded a 13-yard touchdown catch and two special teams tackles. Witten was responsible for the winning touchdown in an epic six overtime 41-38 win against Arkansas when he hauled in a 25-yard scoring pass. That catch capped a night in which he recorded three receptions for a season-high 78 yards. Witten hauled in a touchdown catch in his third consecutive game with a five-yard scoring grab at Georgia. He recorded four catches for 36 yards against Alabama, then had a 28-yard catch against Miami before suffering bruised ribs. At South Carolina, Witten was the club's leading receiver with 72 yards on a season-high tying six receptions. He added a 29-yard scoring grab at Mississippi State. In the Peach Bowl against Maryland, Witten closed out his college career with five catches for 41 yards.

2001: Witten played in every game as a sophomore, starting three, and finished third on the team with 28 receptions for 293 yards (10.5 avg.) and a pair of touchdowns. He also recorded three tackles on special teams and recovered an onside kick. Witten opened the season with two catches for 10 yards against Syracuse, then added four catches for 14 yards at Arkansas. He recorded a career-high seven receptions for 91 yards, including a 21-yard touchdown catch, at Alabama. He added another scoring catch with a 17-yard touchdown against Memphis and had two receptions for 38 yards against Vanderbilt. In the SEC Championship Game against Louisiana State, Witten earned a start and collected 40 yards on three catches. He closed his break-out season in Tennessee's 45-17 thrashing of Michigan in the Florida Citrus Bowl by hauling in six passes for a career-high 125 yards, including a 64-yard touchdown catch.

2000: Because of a personnel shortage at tight end, Witten was given a crash course at that position as a freshman and installed in the lineup behind John Finlayson. A standout linebacker in high school, Witten had also been a four-year starter at tight end in high school, making the transition easier. He went on to see action in 11 games, starting twice. Witten was able to capitalize on his defensive expertise on special teams, recording eight tackles as a member of the coverage units. His lone reception of the season was for 11 yards against Louisiana-Monroe, a game in which he also had three special teams tackles.

PERSONAL: Christopher Jason Witten attended Elizabethton, Tenn., High School and was a consensus All-America selection (Prep Star, Parade, Gridiron Greats, USA Today, Blue Chip Illustrated, Street & Smith) and the USA Today Player of the Year for Tennessee as a senior. He was listed as the No. 1 prospect in Tennessee by the Knoxville News-Sentinel and the Chattanooga Times & Free Press. The East Tennessee Player of the Year, Region Defensive Player of the Year and runner-up for the Mr. Football award, Witten racked up 163 tackles, nine sacks, 27 tackles for loss, eight passes defended, two interceptions, two blocked kicks, five forced fumbles and three fumble recoveries as a linebacker. He also played tight end, catching 26 passes for 345 yards and 14 touchdowns. A four-year starter at linebacker and tight end, Witten led his team to the state semi-finals three times and earned all-state honors his senior and junior years. He holds the school record for career tackles with 450. During the winter, he averaged 15 points and 12 rebounds-per-game for the basketball team. Witten was an Arts and Sciences major at Tennessee.

PRO: As the Cowboys all-time leading tackler (1,251 career stops) and the only member of the team's current roster to own three Cowboys' Super Bowl rings, Darren Woodson's elite position in the club's history is secure. Through 11 NFL seasons, Woodson has clearly and consistently established himself as one of the NFL's premier strong safeties. Woodson's dependability, athleticism, aggressiveness and ability to produce in the big game have put him in the elite level of performers in the NFL. In addition, his versatility at playing both the run and pass at an extremely productive level have separated Woodson from the rest of the strong safety field. He has been selected to five Pro Bowls, been named first team All-Pro four times and played in three Super Bowls. A converted college linebacker, Woodson is the complete NFL package at safety. He combines size (6-1, 219) and speed (4.4 in the 40-yard dash) with great football instincts and hitting ability. He has recorded at least 100 tackles in nine of his 11 seasons. He has started 157 of the club's last 173 games, including playoffs, and he has played in 177 of a possible 191 career games. Woodson has 46 double-figure tackle games in his career, and in 2002, he became the leading tackler in Dallas Cowboys history by passing Lee Roy Jordan (1,236). With 22 career interceptions, Woodson is tied for 10th on the club's all-time list with Don Bishop (1960-65), and he is two interceptions shy of No. 9 Chuck Howley's total of 24. Woodson has maintained the aggressive nature that he displayed as a college linebacker, but has used his quickness and speed to make a very smooth transition to the secondary. Woodson has finished first or second on the team in tackles in five of the last 10 seasons (1993-96, 1998). He also went over the 100 tackle mark in four consecutive seasons (1993-96), becoming the first Dallas player to accomplish that feat since Michael Downs (1983-86). In 1995, he became the first Dallas defensive back to lead the team in tackles (144) since Bill Bates in 1988. He duplicated that feat in 1998. In 1993, he established a Dallas single-season record for tackles by a defensive back (155). In the Cowboys base defensive alignment, Woodson lines up at strong safety, but he has also shown great production when lining up at outside linebacker in certain nickel pass defenses - often covering a slot receiver. His versatility and aggressive attitude makes him a very valuable special teams performer, posting a combined total of 72 special teams tackles in the past five seasons. Woodson's next selection as an All-Pro will enable him to earn that honor more times (five) than any other Dallas safety. He is currently tied with Mel Renfro (1965, 1967, 1969 and 1971) and Cliff Harris (1975-1978), who were each named All-Pro four times during their Dallas careers. Renfro earned a fifth All-Pro selection as a cornerback in 1973. Woodson is one of the team's hardest workers, and his character and leadership ability make him a very valuable asset within the framework of the team. Woodson signed a long-term contract after the 2001 season ended that will assure his place as a Dallas Cowboy throughout his entire career.

2002: Prior to being lost for the season with an abdominal muscle injury in Week 10, Woodson was enjoying a solid season. At the time of his injury, he had totaled 73 stops and was fourth on the team in tackles behind the line of scrimmage with four for losses totaling 10 yards. Woodson finished his abbreviated season with 1,251 career tackles, placing him at the top of the Cowboys all-time tackle list. In the season-opening loss at Houston (9/8), Woodson recorded five tackles while also contributing a tackle behind the line of scrimmage for a loss of four yards. In the home-opening win over Tennessee (9/15), he tied for the team lead in tackles with nine, while his pass rushing skills sparked the biggest play of the game. Woodson deflected a Steve McNair pass attempt in the third quarter that Dexter Coakley picked off and raced 52 yards for a score to give Dallas a 14-10 lead that it would never relinquish. At Philadelphia (9/22), Woodson turned in his first double digit tackle outing of the season with 10 stops, including two for lost yardage. In the win at St. Louis (9/29), Woodson had eight tackles, one pass deflection and an interception that thwarted a second quarter Rams pass that was headed for the end zone. The interception was the 22nd of his career and moved Woodson into a tie for 10th place on the Cowboys all-time interception chart. In the loss to the Giants (10/6), Woodson had eight tackles before a fourth quarter ankle injury forced him to miss the last few series of the game. Woodson played with the injured foot in the win over Carolina (10/13) and collected nine tackles. Still playing on the injured foot, Woodson totaled eight stops and three pressures at Arizona (10/20), moving him within one stop of the club's all-time tackle record. Against Seattle (10/27), Woodson passed Lee Roy Jordan (1,236) and became the Cowboys all-time leading tackler after compiling 11 stops. He added four more stops to his career total at Detroit (11/3). Woodson posted one tackle at Indianapolis (11/17) before missing the final two and a half quarters of the game with a strained abdominal muscle. He injured the muscle covering Marvin Harrison on a deep route early in the second quarter. He was placed on injured reserve Nov. 26 after undergoing surgery to repair his abdominal strain Nov. 22. Prior to the start of the 2002 season, Woodson was selected as co-captain on defense along with Dexter Coakley.

2001: Woodson was clearly the most valuable player on the Dallas defense. He led the team with three interceptions, marking the first time in his career he has led the Cowboys defense outright in that department (he tied for the team lead in 1994 and 1996). He also tied for the team lead in tackles for lost yardage with nine, while his 131 total stops were good for third on the club, trailing Dat Nguyen (172) and Dexter Coakley (134). In an ongoing display of unselfishness, Woodson also racked up 11 special teams tackles, marking the seventh time in his 10-year career that he has reached double figures in special teams tackles. In the opener against Tampa Bay (9/9), Woodson was second on the team with a season-high 13 tackles and helped limit the Bucs wide receivers to 9.7 yards-per-reception, including just one completion over 20 yards. He also recorded his 19th career interception with a second-quarter pick off Brad Johnson while covering Keyshawn Johnson. On the run side, he added two tackles for a loss while helping hold the Bucs to 2.2 yards-per-carry. In the loss to San Diego (9/23), he tied for second on the team with eight tackles. At Oakland (10/7), Woodson was second on the team with 10 tackles while helping limit the Raiders to 101 rushing yards on 34 carries (3.0 yards-per-carry). In the Monday night win over Washington (10/15), he totaled five tackles while helping limit the Redskins to 123 net passing yards on the night. In Dallas' 17-3 win over Arizona (10/28), he was third on the team with nine tackles while helping limit the Cards to 75 rushing yards. At the N.Y. Giants (11/4), Woodson's six tackles moved him past Randy White (1,104 career tackles) and into second place on the club's all-time tackle list with 1,106. He also forced two fumbles in the Giants game, including one on kickoff coverage that set Dallas up at the Giants' 27-yard line. At Atlanta (11/11), he recovered a Michael Vick fumble at midfield to set Dallas up for its only touchdown drive of the game. He also had a tackle for a loss as the Falcons were limited to 201 total yards, including just 46 net yards passing, the lowest passing total by an opponent since the N.Y. Giants were held to 42 yards on Sept. 8, 1996. In the loss to Philadelphia (11/18), Woodson recorded the 20th interception of his career and tied his season high with 13 tackles. He also tied his season-high with two tackles for losses while breaking up two passes as the Eagles were limited to 227 total yards, including just 129 through the air. In the Thanksgiving Day loss to Denver (11/22), he was second on the team with 10 tackles. Woodson's effort helped limit Denver to 160 net yards passing and a 3.1 yards-per-carry average on the ground. In Dallas' big road win at Washington (12/2), he tied for the team lead with eight tackles while adding two quarterback pressures. He spearheaded a defensive unit that limited Stephen Davis to 53 yards on 17 carries (3.1 avg.) and the Redskins passing game to 196 net yards. In the following week's win over the Giants (12/9), Woodson recorded his 21st career interception with a game-icing pick of Kerry Collins in the fourth quarter. He also added two special teams tackles on kickoff coverage against New York. At Seattle (12/16), he was second on the team with 12 tackles despite suffering a right knee contusion in the second quarter. He also broke up a pass and helped limit the Seahawks to 139 net yards passing on the day. In the Cowboys' surprise victory over playoff-bound San Francisco (12/30), Woodson was second on the team with nine tackles. The 49ers were limited to 229 net yards passing, including just 149 through three quarters. On the ground, the NFL's second ranked running game (146 yards-per-game) was limited to 56 yards.

2000: Woodson was enjoying another stellar campaign at strong safety, leading the team in tackles with 123 stops before a fractured forearm at Baltimore (11/19) brought a premature end to his season. Although he missed the final five games of the year and was placed on injured reserve Dec. 14, he still finished the year as the team's third leading tackler and was fourth in special teams tackles with 11. In the season opener against Philadelphia (9/3), Woodson tied for the team lead with 13 tackles. The following week at Arizona (9/10), he finished with nine tackles, a tackle for a loss and a pass defended while helping limit the Cardinals to 3.0 yards-per-rushing attempt. At Washington (9/18), he led the team with 13 tackles and assisted in shutting down the Redskins big-play passing attack by limiting their four wide receivers to 12 catches for 97 yards (8.1 yards-per-catch) with a long of 14 yards. In the loss to San Francisco (9/24), he recorded a team-high 15 tackles, his best performance since recording 17 stops against Atlanta on Oct. 20, 1996. In the overtime win at Carolina (10/1), he led the secondary with 10 tackles while adding a tackle for a loss, forcing a fumble and breaking up two passes – including a key fourth-down pass from Steve Beuerlein that ended a Panthers potential scoring drive in the fourth quarter. At the N.Y. Giants (10/15), he recorded eight tackles and helped limit the Giants to 108 yards passing. In the Cowboys 48-7 win over Arizona (10/22), Woodson led the team with nine tackles and recorded his first interception of 2000 with a third quarter pick of Jake Plummer to set up a Dallas touchdown. He also helped limit Cardinal wide receivers to five receptions for 51 yards through three quarters, including three receptions for 17 yards by starters Boston and Sanders. In addition, Woodson led Dallas with four special teams tackles, tying his single-game career-high. Against Jacksonville (10/29), he recorded his 1,000th career tackle, becoming just the fourth player in club history to reach the 1,000 tackle mark, joining Lee Roy Jordan, Randy White and Ed Jones. He finished that game with 13 stops – second best on the team. The following week at Philadelphia (11/5), Woodson led the team with 16 tackles, the highest single-game tackle total by a Cowboys defender in 2000. He also recorded his second interception of the season with a second quarter pick of McNabb and helped limit the Eagles running backs to 77 yards on 25 carries (3.1 avg.) and their wide receivers to four receptions for 49 yards. In the win over Cincinnati (11/12), Woodson posted eight tackles as the Bengals were limited to 195 total yards and just 56 net passing yards. In that game, he also moved past Ed Jones (1,032 career tackles) into third place on the club's all-time tackle list. Woodson's season came to an abrupt end at Baltimore (11/19) when he suffered a fractured forearm in the second quarter. He returned to action in the second half and registered nine tackles, but the injury eventually forced him to miss the remaining five games of the year.

1999: Although not receiving public accolades, Woodson still performed at a level Cowboys coaches, players and fans have come to expect. Despite missing the game at Philadelphia (10/10) with a sprained left ankle, he finished third on the team with 128 tackles while recording a then career-high seven quarterback pressures, eight passes defended, three tackles behind the line of scrimmage, two interceptions and a sack. While registering five double-digit tackle games during the season, he also finished fourth on the team with 13 special teams stops. Woodson opened the season tying for the team lead with nine tackles at Washington (9/12) while also tying for the team lead with three special teams tackles despite suffering a bruised biceps midway through the game. Against Atlanta (9/20), he tied for the team lead with 11 tackles while leading the team with a career-high four quarterback pressures and adding his only sack of the season. He posted six tackles, a tackle for a loss and a pass defended against Arizona (10/3) before missing the game at Philadelphia (10/10) after suffering a sprained left ankle in practice the Thursday before the game. He returned to the starting lineup at the N.Y. Giants (10/18) and registered nine stops. He led the team with 12 tackles and forced a fumble at Indianapolis (10/31) before tying for the team lead with eight tackles at Minnesota (11/8). Against Green Bay (11/14), Woodson tied for the team lead with 11 tackles to help limit the Packers to 40 yards rushing. On Thanksgiving Day, he registered 10 tackles to help shut out Miami (11/25). At New England (12/5), he posted seven tackles and recorded his first interception of the season when he picked off Drew Bledsoe in the end zone to end a Patriots second quarter scoring threat. Woodson also recorded the 100th special teams tackle of his career against the Pats. He registered six tackles against Philadelphia (12/12) and a week later, he recorded a season-high 13 stops against the N.Y. Jets (12/19). He tied his career-high with three passes defended, including his second interception of the year, at New Orleans (12/24) while tallying six tackles in helping hold Ricky Williams to 61 yards on 23 carries (2.7 avg.). He finished with seven tackles in the season finale against the N.Y. Giants (1/2/00). In Dallas' NFC Wild Card Playoff Game at Minnesota (1/9/00), Woodson recorded a postseason career-high 13 tackles while adding a tackle for a loss and a pass defended.

1998: Back to full health, Woodson regained his spot at the top of the Dallas tackle chart, leading the team with 136 stops – the third best performance of his career. His three sacks tied his career-high, and he posted six double figure tackle games. He was also second on the team with 11 passes defended, the second best total of his career. This high productivity level earned him All-Pro selection by The Sporting News. It was the fourth time in his career he has been named All-Pro, tying Mel Renfro and Cliff Harris as the most decorated safeties in club history. Following the season, Woodson made his fifth consecutive trip to Hawaii as a member of the NFC Pro Bowl squad. The honor that may have meant the most to Woodson was the Ed Block Courage Award, an honor voted on by his Dallas teammates and given to the player who has overcome injuries to return to the field. He opened the season against Arizona (9/6) by finishing with five tackles and helping limit the Cardinals to 205 total yards. He was second on the team with nine tackles at Denver (9/13) before leading the squad with a season-high 12 tackles at the N.Y. Giants (9/21). In the Giants game, the Dallas defense limited New York to 56 rushing yards. Woodson came right back the next week against Oakland (9/27) and tied his season-high with another 12-tackle performance. He again led the team with 11 stops at Washington (10/4) while helping limit the Redskins to 164 yards on 13-of-29 passing (44.8%). His eight-tackle game at Chicago (10/18) helped limit the Bears to 79 rushing yards on 31 carries. Woodson logged his only interception of the season at Philadelphia (11/2) while deflecting two other passes to help limit the Eagles to 104 passing yards, including six receptions for 38 yards from their wide receivers (6.8 avg.). Against the N.Y. Giants (11/8), Woodson recorded the first multi-sack game of his career while leading the team with 11 tackles and three special teams tackles. He again led the team in tackles with 11 at Arizona (11/15) and nine against Seattle (11/22). He also added his third sack of the season against Seattle – which forced a Warren Moon fumble that led to the first Dallas touchdown of the day. For the fourth straight game, Woodson was at the top of the tackle chart, tying for the team lead with eight stops against Minnesota (11/26) while adding a team-high two tackles for a loss. He was second on the team with 10 tackles at New Orleans (12/6), posting his sixth double digit tackle game of the season. His three passes defended at Kansas City (12/13) led the team and tied his single-game career-best. He also totaled eight tackles on the day. Woodson closed out the season with six tackles and a forced fumble against Philadelphia (12/20) and seven-tackles against Washington (12/27). In the Wild Card Playoff Game against Arizona (1/2/99), he led the team with three passes defended, including a fourth quarter interception that stopped a Cardinals drive at the Dallas 16-yard line.

1997: Although Woodson's season was affected by injuries, causing him to miss two regular season starts for the first time since becoming a full-time starter in 1993, he was still recognized as the game's best strong safety, earning his fourth consecutive spot on the NFC Pro Bowl squad. From Week Two of 1993 through Week Seven of 1997, Woodson had started 80 straight games (including playoffs), but that streak came to an end when he was forced to miss the game at Philadelphia (10/26) with a hyperextended right knee. It was the first time he had not suited up for a game in his career (100 consecutive games). He also missed the Thanksgiving Day game against Tennessee with a sprained right shoulder. Woodson's ability to play through injuries earned him the Dallas Cowboys Unsung Hero Award from the NFL Players Association. Despite the two missed games, he still finished the year fifth on the team with 97 tackles, while also leading the team with three forced fumbles. He tied for the team lead in fumble recoveries with two. At Arizona (9/7), he had a career-high two forced fumbles and logged seven tackles. His second quarter sack and forced fumble came on a blitz of Cardinals QB Kent Graham, and the fumble was returned four yards for a touchdown by Chad Hennings. The next week against Philadelphia (9/15), he led the team with 11 tackles as the Dallas defense limited the Eagles to 5.8 yards-per-pass play. Two weeks later, Woodson recorded his first interception of the season to set up a Dallas field goal against Chicago (9/28) while adding six tackles. At Washington (10/13), Woodson tied for fourth on the team with eight tackles despite suffering a hyperextended right knee in practice the Thursday before the game. He also forced a Redskins fumble that Dexter Coakley returned 16 yards for a touchdown. In the victory over Jacksonville (10/19), he registered four tackles before re-aggravating his hyperextended right knee early in the third quarter and leaving the game. After sitting out the Eagles game (10/26) the next week, Woodson returned to the starting lineup at San Francisco (11/2) and was second on the team with a season-high tying 11 tackles. He also led the team with two special teams tackles and recovered a fumble at the Cowboys 17-yard line to end a 49ers threat late in the first half. At Green Bay (11/23), he logged five tackles despite suffering a strained right shoulder in the second quarter. He returned to the game midway through the fourth quarter, but the shoulder injury kept him out of the Thanksgiving Day game with Tennessee (11/27) four days later. At the conclusion of the season, Woodson underwent an exploratory arthroscopic debridement of his right shoulder by Dr. James Andrews on Jan. 14, 1998 in Birmingham, Ala.

1996: Woodson capped another stellar season with his second consecutive All-Pro selection and his third straight Pro Bowl appearance. For the second time in his career, he tied for the team lead in interceptions (five, with Kevin Smith), matching the career-high number of interceptions he collected in 1994. He was also second on the team in tackles with 118 stops, topping the 100-tackle mark for the fourth consecutive season to become the first Dallas player to accomplish that feat since Michael Downs (1983-1986). He finished the year second on the team in special teams tackles (18) and passes defended (10). Woodson also compiled a career-high three sacks - marking the most sacks by a Dallas defensive back since Kenny Gant had three in 1992. In the season opener at Chicago (9/2), Woodson tied for the team lead among defensive backs with eight tackles, while also recovering a fumble to set up Dallas' first field goal. In the loss at Buffalo (9/22), Woodson picked up his first interception of the year while helping limit the Bills to just 89 passing yards. The next week at Philadelphia (9/30), he led the team with 11 tackles while recording his first sack of the year. In the Cowboys win over Atlanta (10/20), Woodson led the team with a season-high 17 tackles. He received a game ball for his performance against the Falcons while also recording two passes defended and a tackle for lost yardage. Woodson was the team leader in tackles with eight stops at San Francisco (11/10) while registering a sack and intercepting a third quarter pass to set up a Dallas field goal. In the Monday night victory over Green Bay (11/18), Woodson intercepted Brett Favre's two-point conversion pass attempt in the fourth quarter. Woodson recorded his third interception of the year with a fourth quarter theft at Arizona (12/8) to set up a Dallas field goal. The following week, he picked off two Drew Bledsoe passes against New England (12/15), marking the second time in his career he has had a multiple interception game (vs. Arizona, 10/9/94). In the win over the Patriots, he also led the team with nine tackles and forced a Curtis Martin fumble on third-and-one from the Dallas 16-yard line to stop a second quarter scoring drive. Later in the third quarter, he returned a pick 21 yards to the Patriots four-yard line to set up a Dallas field goal. His fourth quarter interception ended the Patriots chances with 2:22 remaining. In the playoff loss at Carolina (1/5/97), Woodson picked up his second career postseason interception on the Panther's opening drive of the game to set up a Dallas field goal.

1995: Darren Woodson's fourth NFL season was somewhat of a "dream season," as he closed the year in his hometown of Phoenix, AZ, playing in Super Bowl XXX in the same Sun Devil Stadium where he starred at Arizona State. Along the way to the Super Bowl, Woodson was a consensus All-Pro selection for the second consecutive year, and he earned his second straight starting berth in the Pro Bowl. In doing so, Woodson became the first Dallas defensive back to earn consecutive All-Pro honors since Everson Walls (1982-83) and the first Dallas safety to make back-to-back Pro Bowl trips since Cliff Harris (1978-79). Woodson led the Cowboys with 144 tackles and became the first defensive back to top the team tackle list since Bill Bates in 1988. He enjoyed his most productive all-around day in the loss at Washington (10/1), leading the team with 15 tackles and returning an interception 37 yards for a touchdown, marking his second career interception return for a score. In the Cowboys win over the Raiders in Oakland (11/19), Woodson recorded a season-high 16 tackles, including a career-high tying 11 solo stops. He also had two passes defended and a key interception at the Raiders four-yard line that stopped a fourth quarter drive. His other top tackling performances came in the following regular season games: at Minnesota (12 stops on 9/17), San Francisco (10 on 11/12), at Philadelphia (14 on 12/10) and against the N.Y. Giants (12 on 12/17). In addition to leading the team in tackles during the regular season, Woodson also led the team with 23 postseason tackles, including a team-high 11 stops against Pittsburgh in Super Bowl XXX (1/28/96). In the divisional playoff win over Philadelphia (1/7/96), his hit on Eagles quarterback Rodney Peete forced Peete to leave the game with a concussion.

1994: Woodson's rapid climb to the top level of NFL safeties reached the summit in 1994 – his third year in the NFL and second year as a starter. He was a consensus All-Pro, and he tied for the Cowboys' team lead in interceptions while becoming the first Dallas defensive back to be selected as a Pro Bowl starter since Everson Walls (1985). Woodson's five interceptions ranked fifth in the NFC and 10th in the NFL and were the most by a Dallas safety since Michael Downs had six in 1986. Woodson recorded his second straight 100-plus-tackle season by finishing the year second on the club with 113 stops while tying for third on the team in passes defended with 12. Woodson got off to a blazing start by earning game balls in six of the Cowboys first seven games. Those games and his performances are as follows: at Pittsburgh (9/4) – in the season opener, Woodson's seven tackles helped hold the Steelers to 126 yards in total offense. Against Houston (9/11) – he recorded 13 tackles and picked up his first career regular season interception. At Washington (10/2) – he forced a fumble on the opening kickoff and tied for the team lead in special teams tackles with two. Against Arizona (10/9) – he led the team in tackles with seven and recorded two interceptions that led to Dallas touchdowns. It was the first multiple interception game of his career. Against Philadelphia (10/16) – while leading all Dallas defensive backs with six tackles, he also returned a third quarter interception 26 yards to set up a Cowboys touchdown. At Arizona (10/23) – Woodson registered a season-high 15 tackles. He was named the NFC's Defensive Player of the Week at Philadelphia (12/4) after recording nine tackles and stepping in front of a fourth quarter Randall Cunningham pass and racing 94 yards for a touchdown to ensure the Cowboys 31-19 victory. It was the third longest interception return in club history at the time. He recovered his only fumble of the year at Cincinnati (10/30). Despite earning All-Pro honors at safety, Woodson remained one of the Cowboys top special teams performers, tying for third on the team with 23 special team stops.

1993: As a second-year player, Woodson earned a starting job at strong safety in training camp and then nearly won the team's individual tackle title by collecting 155 stops – just four shy of team leader Ken Norton. Woodson's 155 tackles were the most ever by a Dallas defensive back. Moreover, with eight double-digit tackle games, he joined Eugene Lockhart (16 in 1989) as only the second Dallas player to register at least seven double-figure tackle games in a season (since game-by-game records were kept in 1984). He led the Cowboys in fumble recoveries with three (while forcing another) and contributed four tackles for lost yardage totaling 13 yards. He enjoyed an all-time game in the regular season finale at Giants Stadium (1/2/94) – collecting a career-best 19 tackles (the most ever by a Dallas defensive back in a single game) and one fumble recovery. His 19 tackles against the Giants tied him for second (at the time) on the Cowboys all-time single-game tackle list. For the regular season, Woodson averaged 9.7 tackles-per-game, but over the course of the last nine games, he contributed 11.8 tackles-per-game. That stretch included the Cowboys' four games in the month of November where Woodson turned in double figure tackle totals in all four games and 48 total stops. He closed the month of November with 15 tackles against Miami on Thanksgiving Day (11/25). He was the team's leading tackler in the playoffs with 27 stops. He also registered his first professional interception in the playoffs against Green Bay (1/16/94), and he recovered a fumble in Super Bowl XXVIII against the Bills (1/30/94). Woodson missed the opener at Washington (9/6) as he was still recovering from a fractured right forearm.

1992: Although Woodson was a second-round draft choice of the Cowboys, his play in the nickel pass defense caught almost everyone by surprise. It was thought that moving from linebacker at Arizona State to strong safety in the NFL would take a longer adjustment period. Instead, he quickly became the club's draft surprise. Woodson became a major contributor to the defense while leading the special teams with 19 tackles. In 16 games, he recorded 33 tackles (28 solo), second among Dallas's rookies. Included was a season-high six stops in a start against the Run-and-Shoot offense at Atlanta (12/21). His first NFL start came in a pass situation defense at Detroit (11/8). Two weeks later at Phoenix (11/22), he had a season-high five solo tackles. Against Chicago (12/27), Woodson's first NFL sack forced a first-quarter fumble at Chicago's 30-yard line, but the Bear's recovered. Against Philadelphia (1/10/93) in the playoffs, he forced a fumble at the Eagles' 25-yard line to set up a Dallas field goal at the end of the first half. His standout play on special teams included a game ball for the 27-0 win over Seattle (10/11).

COLLEGE: An All-PAC Ten second-team selection as a senior and honorable mention All-America as a junior, Woodson played linebacker at Arizona State. Coming out of high school, he didn't have the grades to accept a football scholarship from ASU, so he started his career as a walk-on and quickly developed a reputation for being one of the fiercest hitters in the country. As a sophomore in 1989, he had a career-high 16 tackles against Stanford en route to his single-season high of 122 tackles (79 solo). Of his five career interceptions, three came in his senior season.

PERSONAL: Darren Ray Woodson was an All-Metro Division AAA and all-city linebacker and running back at Maryvale High School in Phoenix, Ariz. Darren ran for a career-high 225 yards and six touchdowns against Kofa High in Yuma, Ariz, tying a Phoenix Metro game record and setting a school mark. He earned three letters in football and served as team captain his senior year. He received his degree in criminal justice from Arizona State. In 1996, Woodson served as the Dallas Cowboys spokesman in a nationally televised NFL United Way public service announcement. During the 1999-2000 school year, Woodson headed the Dallas Cowboys/Darren Woodson "Prepare to Pass" Challenge, which encouraged 10th grade students at five Dallas high schools to pass all sections of the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills test. In 2000, Woodson received the Children's Medical Center Athlete Role Model Award presented by the Dallas All-Sports Association. He is also an annual participant in the Children's Cancer Fund Fashion Show co-chaired by Troy Aikman and Roger Staubach, serving as a celebrity escort to children suffering with cancer but who serve as fashion models for the day. During the Cowboys annual Let Us Play! Sports Camp for Girls, Woodson has served as a guest flag-football coach - teaching girls from local non-profit agencies in Dallas-Ft. Worth basic football drills. In February of 2002 - at Super Bowl XXXVI in New Orleans - Woodson was named the 14th recipient of the Athletes in Action Bart Starr Award. That honor is voted on by all NFL players, and it recognizes outstanding character and leadership in the home, on the field and in the community. Woodson was a guest speaker at the club's 2001 United Way Hometown Huddle event for underprivileged youth. Woodson serves on the board of directors for Happy Hill Farm Academy, a home for 100 abused and neglected youth. He is also very active with The Salvation Army, participating in the team's 2001 press conference announcing the celebrity talent for the nationally televised Thanksgiving Day Halftime Show, donating cloths and toys for needy children through the annual Angel Tree program and serving as a guest speaker at the William Booth Society Dinner hosted at the home of Gene and Jerry Jones. Woodson also supports Athletes in Action, The Make-A-Wish Foundation, the Dallas Parks & Recreation "Send A Kid To Camp" program and local hospitals.

Kansas State

NFL: 5th Year ★ Cowboys: 1st Year

GAMES/STARTS (regular season, playoffs): 1999 (16/8 – NYJ), 2000 (16/16 – NYJ), 2001 (16/16, 1/1 – NYJ), 2002 (9/8 – Hou.). Totals – 57/48, 1/1.

PRO: When Bill Parcells took over the coaching reigns of the Dallas Cowboys in January, one of his top priorities was solidifying the offensive line. When the free agency period began, Ryan Young thought he was up to the task of helping Parcells make that happen. Originally drafted by Parcells in the seventh round of the 1999 NFL Draft (223rd overall), Young earned a spot in the Jets starting line-up by midseason of his rookie year and never left, starting 40 consecutive games from 1999-2001. A massive, quick and aggressive blocker, he helped lead the way as Curtis Martin rushed for 3,435 yards in his 40 starts. On Feb. 18, 2002, Young was the second player taken by the Houston Texans in the expansion draft.

2002: Young spent the season battling through injuries for the first time in his career. After seeing action in 48 straight games to start his career, Young suffered a torn muscle in his groin during training camp and missed most of preseason and the first five games of the regular season. He earned his first start of the year at right tackle when the Texans visited Cleveland (10/20), and the Texans racked up a season-high 354 yards of total offense behind his blocking. He went on to start the next two weeks at Jacksonville (10/27) – in Houston's 21-19 road win – and against Cincinnati (11/3). He dressed but did not play because of soreness in his groin at Tennessee (11/10). He returned to action against Jacksonville (11/17) and was in the lineup at right tackle in the Texans' win over the N.Y. Giants (11/24), helping lead the way as Houston picked up 123 yards on the ground. Young battled an ailing knee in December, missing a start against Baltimore (12/15) and being limited to special teams action the next week at Washington (12/22). He returned to the starting lineup at right tackle for the season finale against Tennessee (12/29).

2001: Young started all 16 games at right tackle for the Jets and helped the club rank second in the AFC, fourth in the NFL, in rushing offense. He was also a key part of a unit that yielded just 19 sacks, fewest in the AFC and second fewest in the NFL (Chicago, 17). Young's blocking helped running back Curtis Martin reach his fourth Pro Bowl with single-season club record of 1,513 rushing yards and six 100-yard rushing games. The line set a club-record by not allowing a sack in four consecutive games (Dec. 9 – Dec. 30). His work helped the Jets average 4.7 yards-per-carry in the season opener against Indianapolis (9/9), and to eat up 36:37 of the clock in a 13-12 win at Carolina (10/28). In a Sunday night win at New Orleans (11/4), the club rushed for 142 yards behind his blocking, and the following week against Kansas City (11/11), he aided an offense that racked up 353 yards and allowed no sacks. He helped keep the Steelers' top-ranked defense off quarterback Vinny Testaverde at Pittsburgh (12/9) and helped the offense produce 302 yards in a playoff-clinching triumph at Oakland (1/6/02).

2000: The Jets led the league in sacks allowed-per-pass play and tied Indianapolis for fewest sacks allowed (20) with Young starting all 16 games at right tackle. He contained eventual NFL sack leader Trace Armstrong as the Jets rolled up 455 yards in a wild, 40-37 overtime Monday Night win over the Dolphins (10/23). He then aided an offense that racked up 381 yards against Denver (11/5) and helped spring running back Bernie Parmalee on two fourth quarter touchdown runs in a win at Miami (11/19). Young was on the field the entire day when Martin gained a single-game club-record 203 yards on the ground against the Colts (12/3). He helped the offense rack up 524 yards in the season finale at eventual Super Bowl champion Baltimore (12/24), allowing just one sack in 69 pass attempts.

1999: As a rookie, Young saw action in all 16 games, moving into the starting line-up at right tackle for the final eight games of the season. He helped Martin rush for 1,464 yards on the year. Young made his NFL debut on special teams in the season opener against New England (9/12) and then earned his first NFL start in the Monday Night win at the Patriots (11/15).

COLLEGE: A four-year letterman and three-year starter at both tackle positions for the Wildcats, Young was a team captain as a senior and helped lead Kansas State to an 11-1 regular season mark. His work allowed the Wildcats to average 478.4 yards-per-contest.

PERSONAL: Young was an all-state and two-time all-conference selection at Parkway Central High School in St. Louis, Mo., where he competed on both sides of the line. He interned at the LORD group during the 2000 off-season, doing research and public relations work for websites. He is also involved in the Tex-Mex restaurant Freebirds with locations across Texas. A social science major in college, Ryan and his wife, Julie, have a son, Michael, and a daughter, Morgan.

The 2002 Season At A Glance

Houston 19, Dallas 10

Reliant Stadium, September 8, 2002

Attendance: 69,604

The Dallas Cowboys opened the 2002 season by falling to the expansion Houston Texans 19-10 at Reliant Stadium in Houston. The Texans opened their inaugural season by taking the opening kickoff and driving 64 yards in three plays, capped by a 19-yard David Carr-to-Billy Miller touchdown pass a minute and 14 seconds into the game. After trading punts on the next nine possessions, the Texans' Aaron Glenn intercepted a Quincy Carter pass to setup Houston at the Cowboys 26-yard line. Four plays later, Kris Brown connected on a 42-yard field goal to increase the Texans lead to 10-0. Following two more punts by each team, Dallas got on the scoreboard when Billy Cundiff converted a 33-yard field goal attempt with 0:56 remaining in the first half. The clock ran out on Houston's next possession, leaving the Texans with a 10-3 halftime advantage. Dallas took the second half kickoff and drove 55 yards to the Houston 24-yard line before Cundiff missed a 42-yard field goal attempt wide left. The Cowboys defense forced Houston to punt on their next possession, and Dallas tied the score at 10-10 when Michael Wiley went around left end for 46 yards and a touchdown midway through the third period. The teams traded punts before Carr hooked up with Corey Bradford on a 65-yard scoring strike to give the Texans a 17-10 lead early in the final frame. Ken-Yon Rambo fumbled the ensuing kickoff and Houston recovered at the Dallas 21-yard line. Six plays later, La-Roi Glover intercepted a Carr screen pass to thwart Houston's scoring chance. The teams traded punts on the next four possessions before Quincy Carter was sacked in the end zone by Seth Payne for a safety and a 19-10 Texans advantage. After receiving the ensuing free kick, Houston ran out the clock to seal the victory. The Cowboys defense surrendered only 201 total yards to the Texans on the night and recorded six sacks, the most by a Dallas defensive unit since recording nine against Arizona on Nov. 9, 1997.

Dallas 21, Tennessee 13

Texas Stadium, September 15, 2002

Attendance: 62,527

The Dallas Cowboys secured their first victory of the 2002 season by defeating the Tennessee Titans 21-13 in the Cowboys home opener. The Titans opened the scoring with a one-yard Steve McNair-to-Frank Wycheck touchdown pass on the final play of the first quarter. Quincy Carter quickly drove the Cowboys 71 yards, capped by a 17-yard scoring pass to Tony McGee to tie the score. Tennessee then put together a 13-play drive, culminating in a 37-yard Joe Nedney field goal midway through the second period. Dallas punted on their next possession, and the Titans ran out the clock to take a 10-7 advantage into halftime. After swapping punts to open the second half, the momentum shifted the Cowboys' direction. On the Titans' first-and-10 play from their own 47-yard line, Darren Woodson hit McNair in mid-throw, forcing a fluttering pass that Dexter Coakley intercepted and returned 52 yards for a score and a 14-10 Dallas lead. Following another Tennessee punt, Dallas upped its advantage to 21-10 when Carter hooked up with Joey Galloway on a 38-yard scoring pass early in the fourth quarter. The teams traded punts before the Titans reduced their deficit with a 52-yard Nedney field goal midway through the final frame. The Cowboys defense rose to the occasion as the clock wound down – forcing the Titans to punt and then turn the ball over on downs in their final two possessions – enabling Dallas to run out the clock and secure the victory. Coakley's third quarter interception return was his fifth career return for a touchdown (four interceptions, one fumble), tying Dennis Thurman's club record for touchdowns by a defensive player. McGee's second quarter touchdown reception was the 300th catch of his career. Greg Ellis tied his career-high with two sacks of McNair, while Micah Knorr tied his personal-best with four punts downed inside the 20-yard line. The Cowboys committed only two penalties in the game, their fewest since recording two on Sept. 15, 1996 against Indianapolis.

Philadelphia 44, Dallas 13

Veterans Stadium, September 22, 2002

Attendance: 65,537

The Dallas Cowboys made their final visit to Veterans Stadium, falling to the Philadelphia Eagles 44-13. The Eagles took the opening kickoff to a 51-yard David Akers field goal. Reggie Swinton, seeing his first action of the season following a hamstring injury, returned the ensuing kickoff 100 yards for a touchdown. Swinton's return – the fourth longest in club history – was the first kickoff return for a touchdown since Kevin Williams went 87 yards against Arizona on Oct. 9, 1994. Philadelphia fumbled on their next possession, but Dallas returned the favor when Antonio Bryant fumbled five plays later at the Philadelphia 45-yard line. The Cowboys forced the Eagles to punt, then upped their lead to 10-3 with a 47-yard Billy Cundiff field goal. Following an exchange of punts, Philadelphia tied the score when Donovan McNabb found James Thrash with a 35-yard touchdown midway through the second period. After Dallas punted again, the Eagles drove 80-yards, capped by a two-yard McNabb scoring jaunt. Following another Cowboys punt, Philadelphia increased its advantage to 20-10 with a 20-yard Akers field goal as the first half expired. Dallas opened the second half with a punt, and the Eagles quickly added to their lead with a 59-yard McNabb-to-Antonio Freeman scoring pass. Quincy Carter fumbled on Dallas's next possession and the Eagles recovered at the Cowboys 25-yard line. Two plays later, McNabb pitched to Bryan Westbrook, who hooked up with Todd Pinkston on a 25-yard scoring pass. Dallas then drove 68 yards to set up a 33-yard Cundiff field goal, cutting the Dallas deficit to 34-13. The Eagles responded with a two-yard McNabb-to-Pinkston touchdown pass early in the final frame. Carter again fumbled on Dallas's ensuing possession, but the Eagles returned the favor with a fumble on their next series. The teams traded punts before Carter was intercepted by Sheldon Brown, setting up the Eagles at the Dallas 14-yard line. Four plays later, Akers connected from 32-yards out to give Philadelphia their final points. With 11 carries (for 52 yards), Emmitt Smith passed Walter Payton to become the NFL's career rushing attempts leader with 3,844.

Dallas 13, St. Louis 10

Edward Jones Dome, September 29, 2002

Attendance: 66,165

The Dallas Cowboys closed the month of September by recording their first road victory of the season with a 13-10 win at St. Louis. After receiving the opening kickoff, the Cowboys were forced to punt. The Dallas defense forced a Marshall Faulk fumble on the Rams first play from scrimmage, but Joey Galloway returned the ball to St. Louis when he fumbled on the next play. The Rams then drove to the Dallas 40-yard line where Greg Ellis intercepted a Rams screen pass. On the play, a blitzing Roy Williams hit Kurt Warner as he attempted the pass. Warner fractured the little finger on his passing hand as he hit the turf. Eight plays later, Quincy Carter found Darnay Scott with a 17-yard scoring pass. After trading punts in the second quarter, Warner's replacement, Jamie Martin, was picked off by Darren Woodson at the Dallas three-yard line to end a Rams scoring threat. St. Louis tied the score at 7-7 with 1:25 remaining in the first half when Martin hit Isaac Bruce with a 21-yard scoring pass. The teams traded punts to open the second half, then the Rams went on a 15-play, 65-yard drive that culminated in a 27-yard Jeff Wilkins field goal to give St. Louis a 10-7 lead. Carter was intercepted on the final play of the third quarter, but Dallas forced the Rams into a three-and-out to start the fourth quarter. After trading punts, the Cowboys drove 59 yards and tied the score on a 35-yard Billy Cundiff field goal with 4:23 remaining in the game. St. Louis took the ensuing kickoff and drove to the Dallas 25-yard line. On third-and-three, Greg Ellis broke through and sacked Martin for a six-yard loss. Wilkins then missed a 49-yard field goal attempt with 1:27 left. Dallas took over at its own 39-yard line, and Carter drove the team 31 yards in nine plays to set up the Cowboys up at the Rams 30-yard line with 0:01 remaining. Cundiff booted a career-long 48-yard field goal as time expired to give Dallas the victory. James Whalen, who recorded his first career receptions in the game, led all Cowboys' receivers with five catches.

N.Y. Giants 21, Dallas 17

Texas Stadium, October 6, 2002

Attendance: 63,447

The Dallas Cowboys saw their four game winning streak at Texas Stadium come to an end when the N.Y. Giants handed them a 21-17 defeat. The Cowboys were held on down on the opening possession of the game, but then forced the Giants to a three-and-out. On Dallas's next possession, Micah Knorr was tackled for a 10 yard loss on a fake field goal attempt. New York then went on a 12-play drive that culminated in a 12-yard Kerry Collins-to-Ike Hilliard scoring pass on the first play of the second period. A Derek Ross interception on the Giants next possession setup Dallas at its own 37-yard line. The Cowboys drove 36 yards before Billy Cundiff's 45-yard field goal attempt hit the right upright and bounced out. New York was forced to punt on its next possession and Dallas tied the score three plays later with a 30-yard Emmitt Smith scoring jaunt, his longest touchdown run since going 63 yards for the score at Minnesota on Nov. 8, 1999. The Giants responded with a three play drive of their own, ending with when Collins connected with Amani Toomer on a 56-yard touchdown pass to reclaim the Giants lead at 14-7. The Cowboys then drove to a 32-yard Cundiff field goal, giving the Giants a 14-10 half-time lead. Each team punted twice to open the second half before Collins fumbled at the Dallas 43-yard line and Ebenezer Ekuban recovered the ball. The Cowboys then went on a 13-play drive that was capped with a five-yard Quincy Carter-to-Antonio Bryant touchdown pass - Bryant's first career touchdown - to give Dallas a 17-14 lead. The Giants quickly answered the score when Collins hooked up with Marcellus Rivers on a 17-yard touchdown pass to reclaim New York's advantage at 21-17. Dallas failed to score on its final two possessions giving the Giants the victory. Carter finished the day with a career-high 262 passing yards, his fourth consecutive 200-plus yard passing game. Joey Galloway tied his career-high with eight receptions - for 109 yards - for the Cowboys first 100-yard receiving game of the season.

Dallas 14, Carolina 13

Attendance: 61,773

The Dallas Cowboys evened their record at 3-3 in dramatic fashion with a 14-13 come-from-behind victory over the Carolina Panthers at Texas Stadium. After trading punts on their first two possessions, the Cowboys went on a nine-play, 73-yard drive that ended when Julius Peppers intercepted an attempted screen pass. He returned the ball 21 yards before lateraling to Mark Fields, who ran another 30 yards to the Dallas 32-yard line. Three plays later, Rodney Peete connected with Brad Hoover on a 25-yard scoring toss to end the first quarter. On its next possession, Carolina drove to the Dallas 27-yard line before missing a 44-yard field goal. Neither team could mount a drive in the second quarter, and the Panthers took a 7-0 advantage into the half. Carolina opened the second half with an 11-play, 32-yard drive that ended with a punt. The Cowboys punted on their first possession of the second half, and Carolina drove 31 yards in nine plays to set up a 50-yard Shayne Graham field goal, extending the Panthers' lead to 10-0. Carolina was able to add to their lead with a 44-yard Graham field goal with 4:48 remaining in the final quarter. On the Cowboys ensuing drive, they were facing third-and-14 from their own 20-yard line when Carter scrambled right and found Joey Galloway behind Deon Grant for an 80-yard scoring pass - the longest completion of Carter's career - to cut Dallas's deficit to 13-7 with 3:55 remaining. The Cowboys forced Carolina into a three-and-out on their next possession, and Dallas took over at their own 33-yard line with 2:48 left. Carter quickly moved Dallas to the Carolina 29-yard line at the two-minute warning. After converting a fourth-and-sixth with a Carter-to-Darnay Scott pass to the Carolina 20-yard line, the Cowboys faced fourth-and-14 from the Carolina 24-yard line when Carter hit Antonio Bryant in the end zone with 0:56 remaining in the game to take a 14-13 lead. Carter finished the day 15-of-32 for 225 yards, two touchdowns and an interception, giving him five consecutive 200-yard passing games, the longest streak since Troy Aikman opened the 1993 season with six such games. Galloway recorded his second straight 100-yard receiving game with three catches for 104 yards.

Arizona 9, Dallas 6

Sun Devil Stadium, October 20, 2002
Attendance: 59,702

The Cowboys saw their record fall to 3-4 with a 9-6 overtime defeat to the Arizona Cardinals at Sun Devil Stadium. The Cardinals received the opening kickoff and drove 42 yards to the Dallas 23-yard line before Bill Gramatica gave Arizona an early lead with a 41-yard field goal. On the Cowboys second play from scrimmage, Quincy Carter was intercepted at the Arizona 31-yard line. The teams then traded punts before Gramatica missed a 53-yard field goal. Then the Cowboys drove from their own 43-yard line to the Cardinals 14-yard line, but Carter was intercepted to end the drive. The Cardinals drove 36 yards in the final 4:07 of the first half to add a 23-yard Gramatica field goal, sending the Cardinals into the halftime locker room with a 6-0 advantage. Midway through the third quarter, Carter hooked up with Bryant on a 78-yard scoring pass. The score remained tied after the snap was dropped on the ensuing extra point attempt. Arizona was forced to punt on its next possession, but Carter was intercepted for the third time. After trading punts, John Nix forced a Cardinals fumble that was recovered by Darren Woodson at the Dallas 41-yard line. Dallas drove to the Arizona 14-yard line before Carter was intercepted in the end zone for the second time on the day (his fourth interception of the game). The Cardinals then drove 70 yards in 16 plays, taking 8:42 off the clock before Gramatica missed a 28-yard field goal wide right. The Cowboys took over with 3:24 remaining and drove to the Arizona 31-yard line, but Billy Cundiff missed a 49-yard field goal short. Then Gramatica missed a 51-yard field goal as time expired, sending the game into overtime. Dallas won the toss but was forced to punt on its first two possessions. Arizona then drove from their own 33-yard line to the Dallas 22-yard line, where Gramatica connected on a 40-yard field goal to win the game. Bryant's touchdown reception was his third consecutive game with a touchdown catch, the first time a Dallas player has recorded scoring catches in three straight games since Jackie Harris in Weeks 2-4 of the 2000 season.

Seattle 17, Dallas 14

Attendance: 63,854

On a record setting afternoon, the Cowboys saw their record fall to 3-5 with a 17-14 defeat at the hands of the Seattle Seahawks. However, Emmitt Smith surpassed Walter Payton (16,726) and became the NFL's all-time rushing leader. Needing 93 yards to eclipse Payton, Smith came out on fire with 55 rushing yards in the first quarter. After not adding to his total in the second period, he accumulated 25 yards in the third quarter to leave him 13 yards shy of Payton entering the final frame. After picking up three yards on Dallas's first play from scrimmage in the fourth quarter, Smith burst over left tackle on second-and-seven to pick up 11 yards and become the league's all-time leading rusher. He finished the game with 16,743 career rushing yards. The game opened with the teams trading punts on their first two possessions. Derek Ross intercepted Trent Dilfer late in the first quarter, but three plays later, Smith fumbled the ball back to Seattle. On the next possession, Dilfer tore the Achilles in his right leg and left the game. After trading punts, Matt Hasselbeck led the Seahawks on a 14-play, 64-yard drive that culminated in a Shaun Alexander two-yard touchdown run just before halftime. Dallas opened the second half with a punt, and then Duane Hawthorne thwarted the Seahawks next drive when he picked off Hasselbeck. The Cowboys, however, failed on a fourth down attempt, giving the ball back to Seattle. The Seahawks were forced to punt and the Cowboys went on an 80-yard drive that was capped with a 39-yard Chad Hutchinson-to-Joey Galloway touchdown pass to tie the score. The Seahawks then marched 74 yards in 11 plays to reclaim the lead on a five-yard Alexander touchdown run. Dallas returned the favor on a drive that featured Smith's record breaking run as well as his 150th career rushing touchdown, a one-yard drive to tie the score at 14-14. Seattle's ensuing possession led to a Rian Lindell 20-yard field goal with 0:25 remaining to end the scoring. Darren Woodson entered the game needing two tackles to become the Cowboys all-time leading tackler and achieved that mark in the first quarter, surpassing Lee Roy Jordan (1,236). Hutchinson made his first career start, becoming the seventh rookie in club history to start at quarterback.

Detroit 9, Dallas 7 Ford Field, November 3, 2002 Attendance: 61,789

The Dallas Cowboys and Detroit Lions struggled to put points on the board, but the Lions finally escape Ford Field with a 9-7 win. The Lions opened the game by punting on their first five possessions and the Cowboys did no better, punting on their first four. Midway through the second quarter, Chad Hutchinson was sacked and fumbled, giving Detroit the ball at the Dallas 32-yard line. Joey Harrington was then intercepted by Derek Ross in the end zone on the Lions second play. The teams traded punts twice more before the half ran out, leaving the score deadlocked at 0-0. On Dallas's second play of the second half, Hutchinson was again sacked and fumbled the ball to Detroit at the Cowboys 17-yard line. The Dallas defense forced the Lions back seven yards before Jason Hanson got the Lions on the scoreboard with a 42-yard field goal. Following another Cowboys punt, Hanson increased the Lions lead to 6-0 with a 44-yard field goal. Following a Cowboys punt, Ross picked off Harrington for the second time on the day, returning the theft to the Dallas 47-yard line. The Cowboys were forced to punt on that possession, but the Dallas defense forced a Lions punt to start the fourth quarter. On their first drive of the final frame, the Cowboys traveled 80 yards in 12 plays, culminated by a three-yard Troy Hambrick touchdown run to give Dallas a 7-6 advantage. The clubs traded punts again before Detroit went on a 38-yard drive to the Cowboys 25-yard line. Hanson then connected on his third field goal of the day - a 43-yarder - to give the Lions a 9-7 win. The Cowboys defense held the Lions to 148 total yards of offense, their best showing since holding the N.Y. Giants to 105 yards on Sept. 8, 1996. The 148 yards of offense by Detroit was 137.7 yards below the Lions season average. The Lions 52 rushing yards on the day were the fewest allowed by a Cowboys defense since limiting Green Bay to 40 yards on the ground on Nov. 14, 1999.

Indianapolis 20, Dallas 3 RCA Dome, November 17, 2002 Attendance: 57,057

The Dallas Cowboys fought through another defensive battle before falling to the Indianapolis Colts 20-3 at the RCA Dome. The teams exchanged punts to start the game before Roy Williams intercepted his first career pass at the Dallas 10-yard line to thwart a Colts scoring chance. Punts were exchanged twice more to close a scoreless opening period. Early in the second quarter, Mike Vanderjagt missed a 23-yard field goal to leave the score tied. The teams exchanged punts again, before Dallas took over at the Indianapolis 35-yard line following a 28-yard punt. Five plays later, Billy Cundiff converted a 21-yard field goal to give Dallas a 3-0 lead. The Colts quickly responded by driving from their own 17-yard line to the Dallas 30, where Vanderjagt connected on a 48-yard field goal to tie the score. Dallas drove to the Indianapolis 34-yard line, where Cundiff missed a 52-yard field goal attempt as the first half expired. After Dallas punted on their first possession of the second half, Vanderjagt again missed a field goal attempt, this time from 42 yards out. The Cowboys were forced to punt on their ensuing possession, and the Colts then drove from their 10-yard line to the Cowboys 14-yard line before Vanderjagt converted a 32-yard field goal attempt. After Dallas punted for the seventh time early in the final frame, the Colts drove 80 yards in 12 plays, capped by a 31-yard Peyton Manning-to-Marvin Harrison touchdown pass with less than five minutes remaining. Two plays later, Chad Hutchinson was sacked and fumbled the ball with the Colts recovering at the Dallas eight-yard line. Four plays later, Manning found Harrison with a one-yard scoring toss and a 20-3 advantage with just over two minutes left in the game. On second-and-17 from the Dallas 13-yard line, Hutchinson was again sacked, fumbling the ball with Indianapolis recovering at the Dallas six-yard line with 1:37 remaining on the clock. The Colts then ran out the remaining time to secure the victory.

Dallas 21, Jacksonville 19

Attendance: 62,204

Dallas exploded against Jacksonville, recording a season-high 405 yards of offense while defeating the Jaguars 21-19. There was no scoring in the first quarter, but Chad Hutchinson was sacked in the end zone early in the second quarter, fumbling the ball. Ross Tucker recovered the loose ball but was tackled for the safety and a 2-0 Jaguars lead. Kevin Hardy sacked Mark Brunell on the ensuing possession, forcing a fumble that Brandon Noble recovered. The teams traded punts, then Hutchinson threw his first interception of the season, which was returned to Dallas's 21-yard line. Four plays later, Tim Seder missed a 41-yard field goal attempt for the Jaguars. The Cowboys moved to the Jacksonville 43, where Hutchinson hit Joey Galloway on a quick slant that he took 43-yards for a touchdown and a 7-2 Dallas lead. Jacksonville drove 65 yards in 10 plays, culminated by a 31-yard Seder field goal as the half expired. The Jaguars opened the second half with a punt that pinned Dallas at its own one-yard line. The Cowboys then put together a 13-play, 7:05, 99-yard drive that was capped by a one-yard Emmitt Smith touchdown run. Roy Williams intercepted Brunell two plays later, but Hutchinson returned the favor with an interception of his own. Jacksonville then drove for a three-yard Stacey Mack touchdown run to cut their deficit to 14-12. Dallas answered when Hutchinson found Galloway with an 11-yard scoring pass to re-establish Dallas's nine point advantage early in the final frame. Fred Taylor fumbled the ball at the goal line on Jacksonville's next possession and Mario Edwards recovered it for a touchback. After a punt, the Jaguars drove 70-yards capped by an eight-yard Brunell-to-Kevin Lockett scoring toss with 1:54 remaining to cut their deficit to 21-19. Dallas recovered the onside kick and ran out the clock. Hutchinson finished the day with 301 passing yards, the second highest passing total by a rookie quarterback in franchise history. Galloway finished with seven catches for 144 yards, the second highest receiving yards total in his career.

Dallas 27, Washington 20

Attendance: 63,606

Dallas recorded its 10th consecutive victory over Washington with a 27-20 Thanksgiving Day triumph. After the two teams punted on the game's first three possessions, the Redskins drove to the Dallas 31-yard line before Mario Edwards intercepted a Danny Wuerffel pass at the one-yard line. Dallas was forced to punt again, but Derek Ross recorded his fifth interception of the season when he picked off Wuerffel on Washington's next drive. The Redskins then blocked a Filip Filipovic punt, but had their ensuing 36-yard field goal blocked by Flozell Adams. Four plays later, Chad Hutchinson connected with Antonio Bryant on a 29-yard scoring pass. The Redskins responded with a 40-yard Wuerffel-to-Rod Gardner touchdown pass to tie the score. Dallas then drove from their own 25-yard line to the Washington two-yard line but had to settle for a 21-yard Billy Cundiff field goal. The Redskins drove 67 yards, capped by a 16-yard Wuerffel-to-Zeron Flemister scoring pass and a 14-10 halftime lead. Washington took the second half kickoff and drove for another touchdown, this one an 11-yard Wuerffel-to-Derius Thompson pass, but a missed extra point left the score 20-10. Dallas punted on its next possession, but pinned the Redskins at the three-yard line. Three plays later, Roy Williams intercepted Wuerffel, returning it five yards for a touchdown to cut Dallas's deficit to 20-17. Washington was forced to punt on their next drive, and the Cowboys marched to the Redskins' 19-yard line but Cundiff missed a 37-yard field goal attempt. Washington then punted twice - sandwiched around a Cowboys punt - before Hutchinson connected with Joey Galloway on a 41-yard touchdown pass to give Dallas a 24-20 lead early in the fourth. Following another Washington punt, Cundiff converted a 42-yard field goal. With 144 rushing yards on the day, Emmitt Smith became the only player in NFL history to eclipse the 17,000 career rushing yards mark (17,021) and only the third player to surpass 20,000 career yards from scrimmage (20,032). Williams intercepted a pass in his third straight game, becoming the first Dallas defender to post a theft in three straight games since James Washington in 1994 and the first rookie since Michael Downs in 1981. The Cowboys intercepted four passes on the day, the most since getting five against Miami on Nov. 25, 1999.

2002 SEASON

San Francisco 31, Dallas 27

Texas Stadium, December 8, 2002

Attendance: 64,097

The Cowboys lost a heart-breaker to the San Francisco 49ers, falling 31-27 on a last-second 49ers touchdown. San Francisco's Jeff Chandler missed a 44-yard field goal attempt on the 49ers opening drive. Dallas drove to the San Francisco five-yard line before opening the scoring with a 23-yard Billy Cundiff field goal. Roy Williams forced a 49ers fumble on the ensuing kickoff and Dallas recovered at San Francisco's 31-yard line. Seven plays later, Cundiff connected from 37 yards out, staking Dallas to a 6-0 lead. Following a 49ers punt, Tony Parrish picked off Chad Hutchinson but the defense held and San Francisco had to punt. Mid-way through the second quarter, Jeff Garcia scrambled 21 yards for a score and a 7-6 49ers lead. Just before the half, San Francisco drove to the Dallas 37-yard line, where Chandler was short on a 55-yard field goal attempt as the first half expired. Dallas forced the 49ers to punt on the second half's first possession, but Hutchinson was intercepted again by Parrish, setting up the 49ers at the Dallas 17-yard line. Four plays later, Chandler converted a 47-yard field goal attempt. After another Dallas punt, Markus Steeple broke through and blocked a Bill LaFleur punt, giving the Cowboys the ball at the 49ers 13-yard line. Emmitt Smith scored on a five-yard touchdown run two plays later to give Dallas a 13-10 advantage. San Francisco then drove 58 yards in 12 plays, culminated by a three-yard Jeff Garcia-to-Terrell Owens touchdown pass. Woodrow Dantzler fielded the ensuing kickoff at the Dallas 16 and bounced off most of the 49ers coverage team before tipping down the right sideline 84 yards for a touchdown and a 20-17 Cowboys lead. Following a 49ers punt, Dallas drove 71 yards - including a career-long, 58-yard Tony McGee catch and run - and added a touchdown on a one-yard Smith run. The 49ers quickly answered with a 23-yard Garcia-to-Tai Streets scoring pass. Cundiff then missed a 47-yard field goal attempt with 2:21 remaining. San Francisco took over and drove 63-yards in 13 plays for the winning touchdown - an eight-yard Garcia-to-Owens pass with 0:12 remaining.

N.Y. Giants 37, Dallas 7

Giants Stadium, December 15, 2002

Attendance: 78,698

The Cowboys struggled in their visit to the Meadowlands, falling to the Giants 37-7. After Dallas opened the game with a punt, New York drove 63 yards in 11 plays, capped by a one-yard Tiki Barber touchdown run. On Dallas's next possession, Chad Hutchinson was sacked at the Giants 44-yard line and fumbled the ball. Kenny Holmes recovered the fumble and rumbled 50 yards for a touchdown and a 14-0 Giants lead. Dallas was forced to punt on its next possession, and the Giants took advantage, driving 80 yards for their third touchdown of the quarter. Tiki Barber's 60-yard run was the key play of the drive, setting up a four-yard Ron Dayne touchdown run. The Cowboys were again forced to punt on their next possession, and New York drove to the Dallas 20-yard line before Matt Bryant connected on a 38-yard field goal attempt. Hutchinson was intercepted at the Giants three-yard line with 0:17 remaining in the half and the Giants ran out the clock to take a 24-0 lead into halftime. New York opened the second half with a 50 yard drive that ended with a 35-yard Bryant field goal. The teams again traded punts before Hutchinson's pass, intended for Galloway, was intercepted at the Giants 38-yard line. New York returned a Filip Filipovic punt 37 yards to the Dallas 16 early in the fourth quarter. Four plays later, Bryant converted a 31-yard field goal attempt for a 30-0 New York lead. Dallas was again forced to punt, and the Giants went on a 54-yard drive that culminated with a three-yard Dayne touchdown run. The Cowboys answered the score by driving 56 yards in eight plays, capped by a nine-yard Hutchinson-to-Antonio Bryant touchdown pass. Dallas recovered the ensuing onside kick and drove to the Giants 33-yard line before being held on downs. New York ran out the final eight seconds of the game to secure the victory. The win allowed the Giants to sweep the season series for the second time in three years. Woodrow Dantzler returned eight kickoffs on the day for 191 yards, tying the club record for most kickoff returns in a game.

Philadelphia 27, Dallas 3

Attendance: 63,209

The Cowboys battled through their home finale but fell to the Philadelphia Eagles 27-3 at Texas Stadium. The teams traded punts to open the game before the Eagles jumped on the scoreboard midway through the first quarter when Duce Staley went up the middle on a five-yard touchdown run. Following two more Dallas punts, the Eagles went on a 73-yard drive that culminated in a 14-yard A.J. Feeley-to-Todd Pinkston touchdown pass. After trading punts again, Philadelphia drove from its own two-yard line to the Dallas 14-yard line before converting a 32-yard David Akers field goal as the half expired, giving the Eagles a 17-0 advantage. Chad Hutchinson was sacked and fumbled three plays into the third quarter, giving the Eagles the ball at the Dallas 42-yard line. Five plays later, Roy Williams intercepted Feeley in the end zone to thwart Philadelphia's scoring chance. Dallas was forced to punt on its next possession, but the defense held, forcing an Eagles punt which Joey Galloway returned 71 yards to the Philadelphia nine-yard line. Four plays later, the Cowboys turned the ball over on downs. Following another Eagles punt, Dallas drove from Philly's 38-yard line to the 24-yard line before Billy Cundiff got the Cowboys on the scoreboard with a 42-yard field goal. Pete Hunter intercepted Feeley on the Eagles ensuing possession, but two plays later, Shawn Barber picked off Hutchinson and returned the theft 80 yards for a touchdown and a 24-3 advantage. Woodrow Dantzer fumbled the ensuing kickoff and the Eagles recovered at the Dallas 30-yard line. Four plays later, Akers connected on a 39-yard field goal for the final points in a 27-3 Eagles win. Emmitt Smith played in his 200th career game, becoming only the third running back in NFL history to play in 200 games (Marcus Allen and Earnest Byner). Galloway's 71-yard punt return was the ninth longest in club history and the longest by Dallas since Deion Sanders went 76 yards at Indianapolis on Oct. 31, 1999.

Washington 20, Dallas 14

FedEx Field, December 29, 2002

Attendance: 84,142

Dallas saw its 10-game winning streak over the Redskins come to an end when Washington claimed a 20-14 victory at FedEx Field in the season finale. Tony Dixon intercepted Patrick Ramsey at Dallas' 12-yard line in the first quarter to end a potential scoring drive, but Dallas was forced to punt. In the second quarter, Chad Hutchinson was sacked by Renaldo Wynn, forcing a fumble that LaVar Arrington recovered at the Cowboys 24-yard line. Four plays later, Kenny Watson scored on a five-yard jaunt to give Washington a 7-0 lead. After Dallas punted again, the Redskins had an apparent touchdown reversed by replay and Dallas took over at their own 20-yard line when it was ruled Ladell Betts fumbled out of the end zone before crossing the goal line. The teams traded punts before Kevin Mitchell intercepted Hutchinson. Five plays later, Roy Williams stepped in front of a Ramsey pass and raced 85 yards with the theft to tie the score at 7-7 just before half-time. On the first possession of the second half, Dixon sacked Ramsey and forced a fumble that Michael Myers recovered at the Cowboys 23-yard line. After Dallas was forced to punt, Dixon forced another fumble when he stripped Derrius Thompson of the ball and Williams recovered. Five plays later, Hutchinson was sacked by Bruce Smith and fumbled the ball, which was recovered by Arrington in the end zone for a touchdown and a 14-7 Washington advantage. Following another Dallas punt, the Redskins drove to the Dallas four-yard line before settling for a 22-yard field goal late in the third quarter. Antonio Bryant fumbled early in the final frame and Jessie Armstead recovered the ball at Washington's 30-yard line. The Redskins then drove to the Cowboys 20-yard line before upping their advantage to 20-7 with a 38-yard field goal. Hutchinson connected with Bryant on a 46-yard touchdown pass to bring Dallas within 20-14 with just under two minutes remaining in the game. The Redskins converted a first down on their next possession and proceeded to run out the clock to secure the victory. Bryant led all receivers with a career-high seven catches for a career-high 170 yards and a touchdown.

Ring of Honor

The Cowboys honor former players and coaches who made outstanding contributions to the club by inducting them into the Ring of Honor at Texas Stadium. Their names and the years of service are prominently displayed in silver on the wall above the Cowboys' bench at Texas Stadium. Members of the Cowboys' Ring of Honor:

2003 INDUCTEE ★ TEX SCHRAMM

Texas Earnest Schramm Jr., served 29 seasons as president and general manager of the Dallas Cowboys, turning a 1960 expansion team in Dallas into one of the most successful franchises in NFL history. Under Schramm, the team reached five Super Bowls, winning two, made 18 playoff appearances and compiled an NFL-record 20 consecutive winning seasons, one of the longest such streaks in all of professional sports. Schramm was an NFL pioneer and innovator. He was instrumental in creating the Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders, the first of their kind in professional football, developing the Cowboys' Ring of Honor and bringing an annual Cowboys Thanksgiving Day game to the nation. Schramm's position as chairman of the NFL Competition Committee from 1966 to 1988 changed the face of the NFL. He was a driving force behind the development and implementation of instant replay, giving the head referee a microphone for penalty announcements, shortening the play-clock and helping to develop the wild-card playoff system. One of Schramm's most significant accomplishments was coordinating the merger of the NFL and the American Football League in 1966. He was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1991.

★ TONY DORSETT ★

Running back, 1977-87. Tony Dorsett finished his career as the second leading rusher in NFL history and played in five NFC Championship Games, two Super Bowls and four Pro Bowls. After guiding the University of Pittsburgh to the 1976 national title and claiming the Heisman Trophy, Dorsett captured rookie of the year honors in 1977. He also holds the NFL record with a 99-yard touchdown run. Inducted into the Ring of Honor in 1994, Dorsett was also elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1994. Dorsett was inducted into the Ring of Honor at halftime of the Cowboys game against Arizona on Oct. 9, 1994.

★ BOB HAYES ★

Wide receiver, 1965-74. Bob Hayes led the Cowboys in receptions three times and accumulated 365 receptions for 7,295 receiving yards during his 10-year career. His 71 career touchdown receptions remains the Cowboys club record. Hayes also registered remarkable career numbers for average yards-per-catch (20.0) and average yards-per-punt return (11.1). He was a three-time Pro Bowl selection and four-time All-Pro. One of the greatest sprinters in the history of track and field, Hayes joined the Cowboys with the title of "World's Fastest Human" after winning the Olympic gold medal in the 100 meters in Tokyo in 1964. Hayes was inducted into the Ring of Honor at halftime of the Cowboys against San Diego on Sept 23, 2001.

★ CHUCK HOWLEY ★

Linebacker, 1961-73. When Chuck Howley retired in 1973, Tom Landry said "I don't know that I've seen anybody better at linebacker than Howley." A six-time All-Pro, Howley was the most valuable player in Super Bowl V. The Cowboys traded for Howley, who was drafted by Chicago in 1958. He was an All-America center at West Virginia. A six-time Pro Bowl selection, Howley was inducted into the Ring of Honor at halftime of the Cowboys against Detroit, Oct. 30, 1977.

★ LEE ROY JORDAN ★

Linebacker, 1963-76. The inspirational leader of the Cowboys' first championship teams was Lee Roy Jordan. The Cowboys' first-round draft choice in 1963 following an All-America career at Alabama, Jordan anchored the "Doomsday Defense" from his middle linebacker position for 14 years. He was named to the Pro Bowl five times and All-Pro twice. Jordan was inducted into the Ring of Honor at halftime of the Cowboys against Arizona on Oct. 29, 1989.

★ TOM LANDRY ★

Head Coach, 1960-88. The first head coach of the Cowboys, Tom Landry led Dallas to two Super Bowl wins and five NFC titles in his 29 years at the Cowboys helm. He compiled a career record of 270-178-6, the third most wins in NFL history, and was elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1990. Landry was inducted into the Ring of Honor at halftime of the Cowboys against N.Y. Giants on Nov. 7, 1993.

★ BOB LILLY ★

Defensive tackle, 1961-74. Nicknamed "Mr. Cowboy," Bob Lilly was the franchise's first draft choice in 1961, the first name in the Ring of Honor in 1975 and its first inductee into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1980. A seven-time All-Pro, Lilly was named to a club-record 11 Pro Bowls. He was a two-time All-SWC pick and an All-America at Texas Christian University before being drafted by Dallas. Lilly was inducted into the Ring of Honor at halftime of the Cowboys against Philadelphia on Nov. 23, 1975.

★ DON MEREDITH ★

Quarterback, 1960-68. Don Meredith led the Cowboys to their first winning season and their first NFL Championship Game in 1966. Signed by Clint Murchison, Jr. before Dallas was granted its NFL franchise, "Dandy Don" played in two Pro Bowls and was named NFL Player of the Year in 1966. A two-time All-America at SMU, Meredith was inducted into the Ring of Honor at halftime of the Cowboys against N.Y. Giants on Nov. 7, 1976.

★ DON PERKINS ★

Running back, 1961-68. Don Perkins was the first Cowboys player to rush for more than 6,000 yards. A six-time Pro Bowl selection, Perkins finished among the top 10 NFL rushers in each of his eight seasons. He was named NFL Rookie of the Year in 1961 and All-Pro in 1962. Perkins was signed before Dallas was granted its NFL franchise. A three-time All-Skyline pick at New Mexico, Perkins was inducted into the Ring of Honor at halftime of the Cowboys against N.Y. Giants on Nov. 7, 1976.

★ MEL RENFRO ★

Defensive back, 1964-77. Mel Renfro was named to the Pro Bowl his first 10 seasons in the NFL. He is the club's all-time interceptor with 52 and kickoff returner with a 26.4-yard career average. Renfro was drafted in the second round in 1964 after a career as an All-America halfback and world class sprinter at Oregon. A five-time All-Pro, Renfro was inducted into the Ring of Honor at halftime of the Cowboys against Miami, Oct. 25, 1981. In 1996 Renfro was elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

★ ROGER STAUBACH ★

Quarterback, 1969-79. Roger Staubach led the Cowboys to six NFC Championship Games, four Super Bowls and two Super Bowl titles. A great clutch performer, Staubach led Dallas to comeback victories 23 times, 14 in the last two minutes or overtime. A five-time Pro Bowler, he was drafted by Dallas in 1964 after winning the Heisman Trophy and Maxwell Award at the Naval Academy. Staubach was inducted into the Ring of Honor at halftime of the Cowboys against Tampa Bay, Oct. 9, 1983. Roger was elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1985.

★ RANDY WHITE ★

Defensive tackle, 1975-88. A nine-time Pro Bowler during his 14 years with Dallas, Randy White established a club-record with eight straight All-Pro selections. White was co-MVP (with teammate Harvey Martin) in the Cowboys' Super Bowl XII victory over Denver. A consensus All-America defensive end for Maryland in 1974, White won both the Outland Trophy and the Vince Lombardi Awards. White was inducted into the Ring of Honor at halftime of the Cowboys against Arizona on Oct. 9, 1994. Randy was also elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1994.

Cowboys in the Hall of Fame

Seven members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, have been elected based on their accomplishments with the Cowboys—Bob Lilly in 1980, Roger Staubach in 1985, Tom Landry in 1990, Tex Schramm in 1991, Tony Dorsett and Randy White in 1994 and Mel Renfro in 1996. In addition, six other players with ties to the Cowboys have also been enshrined in Canton: Herb Adderly, Lance Alworth, Mike Ditka, Forrest Gregg, Tommy McDonald, and Jackie Smith.

★ BOB LILLY ★
Defensive Tackle, 1961-74

Before earning the nickname "Mr. Cowboy," Bob Lilly was the first player ever drafted by the Dallas Cowboys in 1961. So it is fitting that Lilly not only became the first Cowboys player inducted into the Ring of Honor in 1975, but also became the franchise's first player inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1980.

During the course of 14 seasons with the Cowboys, Lilly was named Rookie of the Year in 1961, was selected to the Pro Bowl a club-record 11-times – 10 consecutive selections between 1964-74 – was named to the All-Pro team seven times and played in two Super Bowls, including the club's very first Super Bowl victory, 24-3 over Miami in Super Bowl VI.

As the foundation of the famed "Doomsday Defense," Lilly's intensity was readily apparent in an infamous scene after the Cowboys' Super Bowl V loss to the Baltimore Colts when he ripped his helmet off and hurled it into the air. The following year, the Lilly-led Cowboys defense held Miami to only a field goal in Super Bowl VI, the fewest points every given up in Super Bowl history.

"The competition is what I love," Lilly once said. "That makes me a lot more intense. Personalities don't enter into it at all. My objective is to get the man with the ball. Nobody better get in my way."

Lilly is the Cowboys' all-time leader in consecutive games played at 196, is tied for second with 14 seasons played and second all-time with 194 games started. Lilly led the Cowboys in sacks three consecutive years, beginning with his rookie season.

"A man like that comes along once in a lifetime," late Cowboys head coach Tom Landry said in 1972. "He is something a little bit more than great. Nobody is better than Bob Lilly."

Lilly was a two-time All-American defensive end at Texas Christian University and a two-time all-Southwest Conference team selection.

He was born July 26 1939, in Olney, Texas.

Lilly's Accomplishments:

- ★ 11-Time Pro Bowl (Franchise Record)
- ★ 7-Time All-Pro
- ★ NFL 75th Anniversary Team
- ★ AFL-NFL 25-year Anniversary Team
- ★ National Football Foundation Hall of Fame
- ★ Super Bowl VI Title
- ★ 2 NFC Titles
- ★ 4 Eastern Conference Titles
- ★ November 23, 1975 declared "Bob Lilly Day" in Dallas, Texas
- ★ College Football Hall of Fame

★ ROGER STAUBACH ★
Quarterback, 1969-79

Good things come to those who wait, and certainly the Dallas Cowboys' patience in the mid-60's was supremely rewarded, landing one of the best players in franchise history because they were willing to wait for Roger Staubach to fulfill his military commitment.

For that five years of patience, the Cowboys landed the guy who became better known as "Roger The Dodger" over the next 11 years when he was selected to six Pro Bowls – including five consecutively – and was named the NFL Players Association Most Valuable Player in 1971. Staubach led the NFL in passing four times and was selected to the All-NFC team four times.

"He is one of the finest to ever play the game," Green Bay Packers Quarterback Bart Starr once said of Staubach. "I think if I had some of that Staubach competitiveness, I'd have been much better."

Staubach, the 1963 Heisman Trophy winner, was drafted by the Dallas Cowboys in 1964 from the Naval Academy, but did not join the team until 1969 due to his Navy commitment. Former president and general manager Tex Schramm signed Staubach to a futures contract in a hotel room in 1964, actually scribbling out the details on a legal-sized tablet that would have Staubach paid annually to participate in training camp practices when he had enough leave built up.

The 1963 Heisman Trophy winner showed up in Dallas as a 27-year-old rookie, but in those 11 seasons still managed carve out the franchise's all-time leading quarterback rating of 83.42 and became a four-time NFL passing champion. But Staubach almost became better known for his scrambling ability, and to this day ranks eighth on the Cowboys' all-time rushing list with 2,264 yards.

Staubach owns the second most passing yards in club history, 22,700, and his 3,586 in 1979 still ranks as the second most passing yards in a single season for the Cowboys. He also still leads the club with a career average of 7.67 yards per attempt and his three, 300-yard passing performances in 1979 has him tied for the single-season lead with Don Meredith and Danny White.

Staubach also become known as "Captain Comeback" for his 23 fourth-quarter come-from-behind victories in regular season and playoff games, including 14 in the final two minutes or overtime. Never was this more apparent than in a 1975 playoff game against the Minnesota Vikings when Staubach connected with wide receiver Drew Pearson on a desperation 50-yard "Hail Mary" touchdown pass that knocked the Vikings out of the playoffs.

"You could never defeat Roger mentally or physically," late Cowboys head coach Tom Landry said in 1983. "He was like that in a game, in practice, or in the business world."

Staubach ended his Cowboys career with four Super Bowl appearances, including wins in Super Bowls VI and XII. In Super Bowl VI, Staubach was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

Following the 1979 season, Staubach retired, fearing the after-effects of recurring concussions.

In 1983, Staubach became the sixth member of the Dallas Cowboys Ring of Honor and two years later was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

He was born Feb. 5, 1942, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

★ TOM LANDRY ★ Head Coach, 1960-88

Tom Landry paced the sidelines as the "only head coach" in Dallas Cowboys history for 29 years in his trademark fedora. By the time Landry's coaching career ended following the 1988 season, he had compiled a 270-178-6 record, the third most wins in NFL history.

That distinguished career was good enough for Landry to gain entry into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1990 and the Cowboys Ring of Honor in 1993, thanks to leading the Cowboys to two Super Bowl titles, five Super Bowl appearances, five NFC Championships, 13 division titles and an incredible 20 consecutive winning seasons.

"This team has always played for me," Landry said. "That was the key to why I continued coaching. If they wouldn't play for me, I would have been out a long time ago. They always played hard and tried hard."

Landry's head coaching career did not start out very smoothly, coming over from the N.Y. Giants staff to take over the expansion Cowboys in 1960. That first year ended with an 0-11-1 in 1960, the tie coming against Landry's former team the Giants, preventing the Cowboys from going winless. The Cowboys went on to suffer through losing seasons in the first five years, before going 7-7 in 1965.

But from that point on, Landry turned the franchise into "America's Team," the Cowboys reeling off 20 consecutive winning seasons from 1966-85, one of the longest winning streaks in all of professional sports.

As a player-coach with the Giants before coming to the Cowboys, Landry helped to develop what would eventually become a base defense in the NFL, the 4-3. It was innovations like this that caught the attention of Cowboys owner Clint Murchison Jr. and president Tex Schramm when it came time to select the franchise's first head coach.

As head coach of the Cowboys, Landry introduced more innovations to the game, including offensive motion. Very seldom did the Cowboys run a play from the formation they initially lined up in after breaking the huddle. Landry brought back the shotgun formation, popularized situational substitutions and concocted the "Flex" defense.

Walking the sidelines characteristically stoic, Landry was always thinking a couple of plays ahead and what the long-term effects of each play he called might be. He coached football as if it were a chess match, positioning his team in the best way to win in the end. And in the end, no one coached with more success for a longer period of time than Landry.

That success was the impetus for Landry's induction into Pro Football Hall of Fame less than two years after he coached his last game.

"I think it's always good to have recognition for success," Landry said at the time. "That's what athletics is all about: achieving. Winning seasons. Super Bowls. Individual honors. It makes the kids look up and think of a time they might be up there."

The legendary coach, born Sept. 11 1924 in Mission, Texas, died Feb. 12, 2000 of leukemia.

Landry's Accomplishments:

- ★ 20 Consecutive Winning Seasons (1966-85)
- ★ Super Bowl VI and XII Titles
- ★ 2 NFL Championship game appearances
- ★ 5 NFC Titles
- ★ 13 Divisional Titles
- ★ 1966 NFL Coach of the Year
- ★ 1975 NFC Coach of the Year

★ TEX SCHRAMM ★ Cowboys President and General Manager 1959-1989

Texas Earnest Schramm Jr., better known as "Tex," rose to Professional Football Hall of Fame status during his 29 seasons as president and general manager of the Dallas Cowboys, turning a 1960 expansion franchise in Dallas into one of the most successful franchises in NFL history.

With Schramm overseeing the birth and growth of the Cowboys organization, the team reached five Super Bowls, winning two, made 18 playoff appearances and compiled an NFL-record 20 consecutive winning seasons, one of the longest such streaks in all of professional sports.

Schramm was an NFL pioneer and innovator. Under his watch, the Dallas Cowboys were always on the cutting edge with revolutionary ideas and visions. He was instrumental in creating the Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders, the first of their kind in professional football, developing the Cowboys' Ring of Honor and bringing an annual Cowboys Thanksgiving Day game to the nation.

Schramm's work was not just focused on the Dallas Cowboys, as his tireless efforts changed the face of the entire NFL. He was a driving force behind the development and implementation of instant replay, giving the head referee a microphone for penalty announcements, shortening the play-clock and helping to develop the wild-card playoff system.

A tough negotiator, Schramm was the engineer in building the Cowboys foundation from the ground up. His tough stance in labor negotiations was also evident in his support for using replacement players during the 1987 NFL strike. After just three weeks, the move proved successful and the players returned to work. The benefits of this would be apparent in future years as lasting labor peace was reached with the NFL Players Association in 1992 and has continued since.

His position as chairman of the NFL Competition Committee from 1966 to 1988 aided his innovative efforts. Schramm's impact on the league was widespread, and probably his most cherished legacy since the one-time TV-executive at CBS who first came up with the idea of televising the Winter Olympics in 1960 from Squaw Valley was such a firm believer in preserving and making history.

One of Schramm's most significant accomplishments in the NFL was coordinating the merger of the established NFL and the fledging American Football League in 1966, holding what amounted to as secret meetings with Kansas City Chiefs owner Lamar Hunt at the insistence of NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

The merger of the two warring leagues led to what became known as the Super Bowl, and when the leagues combined in 1970, the most powerful sports league in the world.

After Schramm departed the Cowboys in 1989 when Jerry Jones bought the club, he went international, becoming president of the upstart World League of American Football, later to become known as NFL Europe. He was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1991.

"I'm not one of the great athletes like the men behind me," a jubilant Schramm said during his Hall of Fame induction speech. "But I'm thrilled to be standing in front of them. Many of the men in here were my heroes. To be rubbing shoulders with them, it's beyond my comprehension."

In all, Schramm spent 44 years of his life in professional football, starting as a sportswriter for the Austin American-Statesman in 1947 - a natural step for the California-born Schramm who earned a bachelor's degree in journalism from the University of Texas. Schramm spent 10 seasons with the Los Angeles Rams (1947-56), where Schramm first came in contact with Rozelle, who originally hired him to be the Rams' public relations director. Schramm then spent a brief period (1957-59) at CBS before being hired by Clint Murchison in 1959 to oversee the startup of the Dallas expansion franchise.

Schramm was born on June 2, 1920, in San Gabriel, Calif.

Tex Schramm's NFL Legacy

During Schramm's 25 years as chairman of the NFL's Competition Committee, the NFL implemented the following:

Year	Contribution
1970	Moved the official game time to the scoreboard clock
1972	Moved the hash marks toward the center of the field to aid offense
1974	Implemented stricter pass defense rules to influence scoring
1974	Moved goalposts from the goal line to the end line for safety and to help offensive play
1974	Developed the sudden-death overtime concept for breaking ties
1975	Gave the referee a microphone to announce calls to the crowd and TV audiences
1977	Made defensive linemen's head slaps illegal
1979	Implemented the in-the-grasp rule to protect quarterbacks
1986	Instituted Instant Replay to aid officials
	Enabled Quarterbacks to stop the clock by throwing the ball directly into the ground

★ TONY DORSETT ★
Running Back, 1977-87

Tony Dorsett arrived in Dallas in 1977 via a draft-day deal the Cowboys swung with the Seattle Seahawks for the sole intention of selecting the Heisman Trophy winner from the University of Pittsburgh. Then Cowboys president and General Manager Tex Schramm paid what seemed like a bundle for the right to draft Dorsett: One first-round, and three second-round choices.

As his 11-career turned out in Dallas, a steal of a deal for an eventual Pro Football Hall of Fame player.

The Dorsett deal paid dividends in his very first year with the Cowboys, the four-time All-American picking up where he left off in college, rushing for 1,007 yards to earn NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year honors and set the rushing bar for rookie running backs in Dallas.

"A lot of the people said I wouldn't last in this league," Dorsett said in 1987. "I was the skinny little kid from Aliquippa, Pa., who wasn't supposed to make it."

Dorsett did make it, in fact he became one of the greatest running backs in NFL history. On Sept. 26, 1988 while playing his final NFL season with the Denver Broncos, Dorsett moved into second place on the NFL all-time rushing list with 12,306 rushing yards, and eventually finished his career with 12,739 yards. At the time, Dorsett trailed only Walter Payton when he retired after suffering a knee injury the following summer, but now ranks fifth behind Payton, Emmitt Smith, Barry Sanders and Eric Dickerson.

By the time Dorsett completed his 12-year career, he had collected a victory in Super Bowl XII, four Pro Bowl selections, one All-Pro honor and three All-NFC selections.

One of the most notable moments of Dorsett's career came on Jan. 2, 1983, before a Monday Night Football television audience playing against the Minnesota Vikings. Dorsett received a handoff from quarterback Danny White and proceeded to run 99-yards for a touchdown, thus recording an unbreakable NFL record. Dorsett's greatest season came in 1981 when he rushed for 1,646 yards, a franchise record at the time, a total that now ranks third to only Emmitt Smith's two, 1700-yard seasons.

"When he came to us, we hadn't had a strong running attack for about three years," Hall of Fame quarterback Roger Staubach once said. "Tony Dorsett is one of the greatest backs in NFL history."

Dorsett was the Heisman Trophy winner in 1976 and was the first Pitt football player to have his jersey retired. Dorsett left Pitt as a four-time All-American and four-time 1,000-yard rusher. His final collegiate highlight was a 27-3 victory over Georgia in the Sugar Bowl to claim the national title.

In 1994 Dorsett became the ninth Cowboys player inducted into the Ring of Honor, and that same year he was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

He was born April 7, 1954, in Rochester, Pa.

Dorsett's Accomplishments:

- ★ 4-Time Pro Bowl
- ★ 1-Time All-Pro
- ★ NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year
- ★ 3 All-NFC selections
- ★ Super Bowl XII Title

★ RANDY WHITE ★ 54
Defensive Tackle, 1975-88

Randy White came to the Cowboys from the University of Maryland as the No. 2 pick in the 1975 NFL Draft. Before his career was over, 14 years later, he would become known as the "Manster" – half man, half defensive monster – setting numerous franchise records as the heart-and-soul of the famed "Doomsday Defense".

White struggled in his first two years with the Cowboys when then head coach Tom Landry moved White from his familiar defensive tackle position to linebacker. But, after Landry moved White back to right tackle in 1977, White became one of the NFL's most dominating defensive linemen and a coveted co-Super Bowl MVP.

"Coming out of college a lot was expected of me," White said. "But I never did feel comfortable playing linebacker. Those first two years I was fighting for my life out there. Then they switched me to defensive tackle, where I was a lot more comfortable and from there my career took off."

White played 14 seasons, tying him for second all-time in franchise history, and he set a franchise record with eight All-Pro selections. White also was selected to nine Pro Bowls, ranking third in franchise history for Pro Bowl appearances. White's 16 sacks in 1978 rank third in franchise history for a single season, and he still remains third all-time in career tackles with 1,104 and second with 701 career solo tackles.

"His performances range anywhere from spectacular to spectacular," Landry once said. "He could outmatch anybody's intensity from game to game."

In his career, White played in six NFC Championship Games and three Super Bowls, claiming victory in Super Bowl XII and co-MVP honors with teammate Harvey Martin. Even more astounding, White only missed one game in his 14-year career.

In 1994, White was inducted into the Ring of Honor with teammate Tony Dorsett, the same year he was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

"Any honor I receive is a reflection on the great teammates and coaches I had in my career," White said. "There's a real special group of guys with the Cowboys, and to be a part of that was a great honor."

He was born Jan. 15, 1953, in Pittsburgh, Pa.

White's Accomplishments:

★ MEL RENFRO ★
Defensive Back, 1965-77

Mel Renfro first came to the Cowboys a highly-acclaimed running back out of the University of Oregon. But Cowboys head coach Tom Landry saw Renfro as a defensive back when they selected him in the second round of the 1964 draft.

And what a defensive back he was, becoming arguably the best safety-cornerback during his 14-year career to ever play for the Cowboys, and one of the best to ever play in the NFL. His 52 career interceptions and 26.4-yard career kick-off-return average still stand as team records, both a tribute to his running ability.

The NFL certainly got to know Renfro in a hurry, having been elected to the Pro Bowl in each of his first 10 seasons in the NFL – the first six at free safety and the final four at cornerback. His 10 Pro Bowl appearances is second to only Bob Lilly's 11 for the Cowboys.

On top of his 10 Pro Bowls, Renfro was a four-time All-Pro, playing in four Super Bowls and eight NFC Championships. He became the fifth member of the exclusive Ring of Honor in 1981, and was finally elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1996 in his 14th year of eligibility.

Renfro's 14 seasons with the Dallas Cowboys ties him for second in club history, just one shy of the record.

While at Oregon, Renfro led the team in rushing three consecutive years and was a two-time All-American. Despite coming to the NFL as an acclaimed runner, Renfro only ran the ball eight times during his career, all in 1966. Landry saw a free safety first, Renfro spending his first six seasons at safety and the final eight at corner.

In the middle of Renfro's All-Pro 1969 season, Landry was uncharacteristically complimentary toward one of his players, calling him "the best in the league at free safety."

But the Cowboys certainly figured out a way to capitalize on Renfro's running ability, having him return punts and kickoffs early in his career. He led the NFL in kickoff and punt returns his rookie season, and had seven interceptions, returning one for a touchdown. Renfro still is tied for the franchise lead with two career touchdown returns, and his 30-yard kick-off return average in 1965 still remains as the single-season high.

But it was interceptions Renfro was best known for during his career. In his first six years at free safety, Renfro totaled 30 interceptions. His interception totals declined somewhat when Landry moved him to cornerback for good in 1970. The decline had more to do with quarterbacks' reluctance to throw his way than any diminishing skills or quickness. His 626 interception return yards still stands as a career record for the Cowboys.

That 1971 Pro Bowl possibly was the greatest indication of Renfro's all-round ability. Not only did he play cornerback, but he also returned two punts for touchdowns, leading the NFC to a 27-6 win and earning the game's Most Valuable Player award.

He was born Dec. 30, 1941, in Houston, Texas.

Renfro's Accomplishments:

- ★ 4-Time All-Pro
- ★ 10-Time Pro Bowl
- ★ 3-Time All-NFC
- ★ Cowboys Career Record 52 interceptions
- ★ Cowboys Career Record 26.4-yard kickoff-return average
- ★ Cowboys Career Record 626 interception return yards
- ★ Super Bowl VI and XII Titles
- ★ 4 NFC Championships
- ★ 9 Division Titles
- ★ Consensus All-American, 1962

Historical Highlights

LANDRY HIRED – Clint Murchison, Jr., and Bedford Wynne sign N.Y. Giants defensive assistant Tom Landry to a personal services contract on Dec. 27, 1959, with the intention of naming him head coach once they are awarded an expansion franchise by the NFL.

NFL FRANCHISE – Clint Murchison, Jr., and Bedford Wynne were awarded an expansion franchise in the NFL at the annual league meeting in Miami Beach, Fla. The Cowboys were to play as a "swing" team, playing every other team one time during the first season, although listed in the Western Conference standings (January 28).

COWBOYS STOCKED – A player pool was set up in the league meeting in Los Angeles, with each of 12 NFL teams freezing 25 names on its roster and the Cowboys allowed to pick three from each team for a total of 36 veterans. Dallas, once given the list, had to select its 36 players within 24 hours (March 13).

TRAINING STARTS – Rookies report to first Cowboys camp at Pacific University in Forest Grove, Oregon (July 9).

FIRST PRE-SEASON GAME – The Cowboys, less than six months in existence, get their first test and drop a 16-10 preseason game to San Francisco in Seattle (August 6).

FIRST HOME GAME – In their Dallas debut, in the Salesmanship Club preseason game, the Cowboys led the world champion Baltimore Colts into the final minute before a 62-yard pass from Johnny Unitas to Lenny Moore gave the Colts a 14-10 victory (August 19).

FIRST VICTORY – In a preseason game at Louisville, KY, the Cowboys beat the New York's Giants, 14-3, with Frank Clarke catching touchdown passes for 73 yards (Eddie LeBaron) and 74 yards (Don Meredith) (August 27).

FIRST LEAGUE GAME – In their first league game, Dallas fell to Pittsburgh, 35-28, with Bobby Layne leading a fourth-period Steelers rally (Sept. 24, Saturday night).

STREAK SNAPPED – Dallas snaps a 10-game loss streak by tying New York, 31-31, at Yankee Stadium (Dec. 4).

TRAINING STARTS – Rookies launch training at new campsite – St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn. (July 9).

FIRST LEAGUE WIN – Scoring 10 points in the final 56 seconds, the Cowboys score their first NFL victory, 27-24, over Pittsburgh in the '61 league opener in the Cotton Bowl. Allen Green's 27-yard field goal on the game's final play won it before 23,500 spectators (Sept. 17).

TRAINING STARTS – Team begins training at new campsite – Northern Michigan College in Marquette, Mich. (July 13).

PENALTY HISTORY – For the first time in anyone's memory in an NFL game, points were awarded for a penalty. The Cowboys were holding in the end zone on a 99-yd. TD pass from LeBaron to Clarke, and Pittsburgh was awarded a safety. The Steelers eventually won, 30-28 (Sept. 23).

100-YARD FIRSTS – Cowboys' Amos Marsh returned a kickoff 101 yards and Mike Gaechter returned a pass interception 100 yards, both plays for fourth-quarter TDs in a 41-19 win over Philadelphia in Dallas. It was the first time in NFL history that two 100-yard runs had been made in the same game, much less by the same team in the same quarter (Oct. 14).

CALIFORNIA TRAINING SITE – The Cowboys open training at California Lutheran College in Thousand Oaks, Calif. (July 12).

HOWTON SETS RECORD – Bill Howton broke Don Hutson's all-time receiving mark with a 14-yard catch at Washington. Hutson's record was 7,991 yards and the catch gave Howton an even 8,000 yards (Sept. 29).

LANDRY CONTRACT – With one year to go on his original contract, Tom Landry is signed to a 10-year extension, in effect giving him an 11-year pact, possibly the longest in major pro sports history (Feb. 5).

1965

FIRST SELLOUT – An overflow crowd of 76,251 jams the Cotton Bowl for the Cleveland game, notching the team's first home sellout. Cleveland won, 24-17 (Nov. 21).

1966

PLAYOFF BOWL – After defeating New York, 38-20, in the season finale (and winning five of their last seven games) to get into the Playoff Bowl at Miami, the Cowboys fall to Baltimore, 35-3 (Jan. 15).

MERGER – Peace comes to pro football with Cowboys General Manager Tex Schramm completing two months of negotiations with AFL's Lamar Hunt, merging the two leagues under the NFL banner (June 8).

SCHRAMM ELEVATED – Texas E. Schramm, Vice-President and General Manager of the Cowboys from the beginning, was named President of the club by Owner Clint Murchison, Jr., who retained the title of Chairman of the Board.

NEELY CASE SOLVED – Dallas and Houston reached agreement in the Ralph Neely case. Neely remained with Dallas with Houston receiving the Cowboys Nos. 1, 2 and two fifth round picks in the 1967 draft (Nov. 17).

THE CHAMPIONSHIP – The Cowboys won their first championship, capturing the Eastern Conference title with a 10-3-1 record, but lost the NFL Championship Game to Green Bay, 34-27.

TEXAS STADIUM – On Dec. 23, Owner Clint Murchison, Jr., formally announced plans to build Texas Stadium in suburban Irving. The stadium, to be financed through a bond-option plan, would be ready for the 1970 season. The stadium would seat a minimum of 58,000.

SECOND CHAMPIONSHIP – Under the NFL's new format, the Cowboys easily won the Capitol Division and defeated Cleveland, Century Division winner, 52-14, in the Cotton Bowl for the Eastern conference championship. However, on Dec. 31 in Green Bay, the Cowboys lost their second bid for an NFL title, falling to the Packers, 21-17, in the 13 degree below weather.

WIN CAPITOL – For the second straight year the Cowboys won the Capitol Division, but for the first time in three years the Cowboys did not win the Eastern Championship, being upset at Cleveland, 31-20, on Dec. 21. Dallas won the Runner-Up Bowl over Minnesota, 17-13.

TEXAS STADIUM – Ground was broken for Texas Stadium in suburban Irving on January 25, and on June 29 Bert Rose was named general manager of the stadium.

ORIGINALS RETIRE – An era ended for the Cowboys in July. On July 5th at a press conference in Dallas, quarterback Don Meredith, the last of the original Cowboys, announced his retirement. Then, on July 18th, the day the veterans were to report to training camp, all-time rushing great Don Perkins officially retired.

REPEAT CAPITOL WINS – Once again the Cowboys rolled to the Capitol Division Championship with an 11-2-1 season. However, the Cowboys failed to win the Eastern Championship when on Dec. 28, the Cowboys lost to Cleveland, 38-14, in the Cotton Bowl.

FIVE STRAIGHT PLAYOFFS – The Cowboys won their last five games to finish 10-4, claim the Eastern Division championship and make the playoffs for the fifth year in a row. They defeated Detroit, 5-0, in the opening round to get a shot at the National Conference championship.

FIRST NFC TITLE – The Cowboys captured the biggest prize of their 11-year history on Jan. 3, 1971 when they downed San Francisco, 17-10, for the NFC crown. A 16-13 loss to Baltimore in the Super Bowl Jan. 17 left Dallas with one major goal still unrealized.

TEXAS STADIUM – The Cowboys opened a new era in their sparkling Irving, Tex., home with a 44-21 victory over the New England Patriots on Oct. 24. Duane Thomas scored the first touchdown in the new stadium, a 56-yard run just two minutes and 16 seconds after the opening kickoff. Attendance was 65,708.

SIX STRAIGHT PLAYOFFS – The Cowboys won their last seven games to finish 11-3, claim the Eastern Division championship and make the playoffs for the sixth year in a row. They defeated Minnesota, 20-12, in the opening round.

SECOND NFC TITLE – For the second consecutive year, the Cowboys met the San Francisco 49ers in the National Conference showdown. This time Dallas won 14-13, to qualify for its second straight Super Bowl.

FIRST WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP – The Cowboys downed the Miami Dolphins, 24-3, to win Super Bowl VI in New Orleans on Jan. 16. It was the 10th victory in a row for Dallas as Roger Staubach passed for two touchdowns and was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

FIRST 1,000-YARD BACK – Calvin Hill became the first Dallas player to rush for 1,000 yards when he gained 111 on Dec. 9 against the Washington Redskins in Texas Stadium. Hill wound up with 1,036 yards for the season on a record 245 carries.

SEVEN STRAIGHT PLAYOFFS – The Cowboys qualified for the NFL playoffs a record seventh consecutive year, their 10-4 record earning them the National Conference Wild Card berth. Roger Staubach passed for two touchdowns in the last 1:30 to give the Cowboys a 30-28 victory at San Francisco in the first round. Then, at Washington on New Year's Eve, Dallas was foiled in its bid for a third straight NFL title with the Redskins win, 16-3.

100 VICTORIES – The Cowboys and Coach Tom Landry recorded their 100th victory with a 40-3 Texas Stadium win over the New Orleans Saints on Sept. 24. Landry ended the season with a career mark of 108-80-6 to rank ninth on the list of the NFL's all-time winningest coaches.

EIGHT STRAIGHT PLAYOFFS – The Cowboys regained the NFC Eastern Division title with a 10-4 record and broke their own NFL record by reaching the playoffs for the eighth year in a row. Dallas defeated the Western Division champion Los Angeles Rams in the first round, 27-16, but fell to Central Division winner Minnesota in the NFC Championship Game, 27-10.

FIRST TOP DRAFT CHOICE – For the first time in their history, the Cowboys had the very first choice in the NFL Draft. The No. 1 pick came to Dallas from Houston in exchange for Tody Smith and Billy Parks. The Cowboys selected Ed "Too Tall" Jones, a 6-9, 260-pound defensive end from Tennessee State.

PLAYOFFS MISSED – The Cowboys' record breaking string of eight straight years in the NFL playoffs was broken when the club's 8-6 record failed to qualify.

LILLY HONORED – "Mr. Cowboy" was honored on Bob Lilly Day at Texas Stadium at halftime of the Philadelphia game on Nov. 23. It was first such recognition ever given to a Dallas player. Lilly never missed a game in 14 years with the Cowboys, earning All-Pro honors seven times at defensive tackle before retiring prior to the '75 season.

TEN STRAIGHT WINNING SEASONS – The Cowboys' 10-4 record earned them the NFC Wild Card berth in the playoffs. The composite record over 10 straight winning seasons was 101-37-2.

THIRD NFC TITLE – After shocking Minnesota in the first round, 17-14, on Roger Staubach's 50-yard "Hail Mary" pass to Drew Pearson, the Cowboys traveled to Los Angeles for the NFC showdown. Staubach threw four touchdown passes, three to Preston Pearson, and Dallas won, 37-7. Pittsburgh won Super Bowl X on Jan. 18 in Miami, 21-17.

ELEVEN STRAIGHT WINNING SEASONS – The Cowboys won the NFC Eastern Division title with their 11-3 record, giving them their 11th straight winning season and 10th playoff berth in that period. A 14-12 first round loss to Los Angeles – the first time Dallas had lost in the first round under the current playoff setup – ended the season.

HOWLEY HONORED – Former All-Pro linebacker Chuck Howley, a Cowboy from 1961 through 1973, became the fourth member of the Ring of Honor. Howley was honored during ceremonies at halftime of the Detroit Lions game on Oct. 30.

TWELVE STRAIGHT WINNING SEASONS – Getting off to an 8-0 start, their best ever, the Cowboys rolled to a 12-2 record, the championship of the NFC East, and their 12th consecutive winning season. They opened their 11th visit to the playoffs in those 12 years with a 37-7 first-round victory over the Chicago Bears at Texas Stadium.

FOURTH NFC TITLE – Dallas crushed the Minnesota Vikings at Texas Stadium, 23-6, for National Conference crown No. 4 and the right to meet the Denver Broncos in Super Bowl XII.

SECOND WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP – The Cowboys stopped the Denver Broncos, 27-10, to win Super Bowl XII in New Orleans on Jan. 15, 1978. In the process, Dallas tied Minnesota for most Super Bowl appearances (four) and Green Bay, Miami and Pittsburgh for most Super Bowl victories (two). Defensive linemen Harvey Martin and Randy White were named co-MVPs in the game.

THIRTEEN STRAIGHT WINNING SEASONS – After a mediocre 6-4 start, the Cowboys won six straight games to finish the expanded regular season with a 12-4 record and their 10th division crown. It marked the Cowboys' 13th consecutive winning season and 12th trip to the playoffs in that span. Dallas rallied to beat Atlanta 27-20 in a divisional playoff at Texas Stadium, sending the Cowboys to their seventh NFC championship game in the past nine years.

FIFTH NFC TITLE – Dallas shut out the Rams in Los Angeles 28-0 in the National Conference title game to advance to the Super Bowl a record fifth time, including three of the last four. In the first Super Bowl rematch, Pittsburgh edged the Cowboys 35-31 for the NFL championship on Jan. 21 in Miami's Orange Bowl.

TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY – The Cowboys celebrated their 20th anniversary season at halftime of the St. Louis Cardinals game at Texas Stadium on Oct. 21. Stars from each of those 20 seasons plus Coach Tom Landry were introduced during the halftime ceremonies.

FOURTH STRAIGHT NFC EAST TITLE – The Cowboys won their final three regular season games to finish with an 11-5 record, their 11th division championship, including the past four NFC East titles, and 14th consecutive winning season. The Cowboys made their 13th trip to the playoffs in those 14 years, but were eliminated by Los Angeles 21-19 in a divisional playoff at Texas Stadium.

STAUBACH RETIRES – At a press conference at Texas Stadium on March 31, quarterback Roger Staubach announced his retirement after 11 record-breaking years with the Cowboys. Staubach held all major Cowboys' passing records and was the all-time leading NFL passer.

LILLY ENTERS HALL OF FAME – Bob Lilly, a seven-time All-Pro defensive tackle in his 14-year career with the Cowboys from 1961-74, became the first Cowboys' player to be inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Enshrined along with Lilly on Aug. 2 at Canton, Ohio, were Herb Adderley, who played for the Cowboys from 1970-71, Jim Otto and Deacon Jones.

FIFTEEN STRAIGHT WINNING SEASONS – Behind new starting quarterback Danny White, the Cowboys rolled to their 15th consecutive winning season with a surprising 12-4 record, tied for best in the league with Philadelphia and Atlanta. The Cowboys lost the NFC East title to Philadelphia on a tie-breaker, but entered the playoffs for the 14th time in 15 years, this time as a wild card team. The Cowboys beat Los Angeles 34-13 at Texas Stadium in the NFC Wild Card Game and rallied past the Falcons at Atlanta 30-27 to advance to the NFC Championship Game at Philadelphia. But the Cowboys lost 20-7 in their bid for a sixth Super Bowl appearance.

LANDRY'S 200th VICTORY – Tom Landry joined George Halas and Curly Lambeau as the only coaches with 200 NFL victories when the Cowboys beat Los Angeles 34-13 on Dec. 28 at Texas Stadium in the NFC Wild Card Game, raising Landry's record to 200-119-6, counting regular season and playoff games.

HISTORY

RENFRO HONORED – Former All-Pro defensive back Mel Renfro, the Cowboys' all-time leading pass interceptor, became the fifth member of the Cowboys' Ring of Honor. Renfro, who played for Dallas from 1964 through 1977, was honored during halftime ceremonies of the Cowboys-Miami Dolphins game at Texas Stadium on Oct. 25.

TWELFTH DIVISION CHAMPIONSHIP – The Cowboys regained the NFC Eastern Division Championship, their 12th division title since 1966, with a 12-4 record and tied Oakland's NFL mark of 16 consecutive winning seasons. Entering the playoffs for the 15th time in that span, the Cowboys advanced to the NFC Championship Game for the ninth time in 12 years by routing Tampa Bay 38-0 at Texas Stadium. But for the second year in a row Dallas lost the conference title game. San Francisco scored a last-minute touchdown at Candlestick Park to edge the Cowboys 28-27 for a berth in Super Bowl XVI.

200TH REGULAR-SEASON VICTORY – The Cowboys beat Washington 24-10 at RFK Stadium on Dec. 5 for the club's and Coach Tom Landry's 200th regular season victory.

SEVENTEEN STRAIGHT WINNING SEASONS – The Cowboys finished the strike-shortened regular season 6-3 to establish an NFL record of 17 consecutive winning seasons. Entering the playoffs for a record-tying eighth straight year and for the 16th time in 17 years, the Cowboys beat Tampa Bay 30-17 and Green Bay 37-26, both at Texas Stadium, to advance to the NFC Championship Game for the third year in a row. But again the Cowboys come up short, losing 31-17 at Washington.

STAUBACH HONORED – Former quarterback Roger Staubach, who led the Cowboys to four Super Bowls, became the sixth member of the Ring of Honor during halftime ceremonies of the Cowboys-Tampa Bay game on Oct. 9.

NEW HEADQUARTERS – Ground was broken on Nov. 29 for the Cowboys' new headquarters and training facility at The Valley Ranch in northwest Dallas County.

EIGHTEEN STRAIGHT WINNING SEASONS – The Cowboys extended their NFL record to 18 consecutive winning seasons with a 12-4 finish. The club also set a league record with its ninth straight playoff appearance, qualifying as a wild card entry. The L.A. Rams eliminated Dallas from the playoffs, however, with a 24-17 upset victory at Texas Stadium in the NFC Wild Card Game on Dec. 26.

SILVER SEASON – The Cowboys kicked off their 25th anniversary with a news conference at Texas Stadium on Jan. 27. President Tex Schramm announced the Cowboys would celebrate their 25th anniversary during 1984 under the theme "Silver Season."

OWNERSHIP CHANGES HANDS – The sale of the Cowboys from the Murchison family to an 11-member limited partnership headed by Dallas businessman H.R. "Bum" Bright was approved by NFL owners on March 19 at the league's annual meeting in Honolulu. The sale was completed on May 18.

NINETEEN STRAIGHT WINNING SEASONS – The Cowboys defeated the Eagles 26-10 in Philadelphia to extend their NFL record to 19 consecutive winning seasons. The Cowboys finished 9-7 and missed the playoffs for the first time in 10 years and only the second time in 19 years.

STAUBACH ENTERS HALL OF FAME – Roger Staubach, the master of the comeback victory during his 11-year career as a Cowboys quarterback, was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility. Enshrined with Staubach on Aug. 3 at Canton, Ohio, were Pete Rozelle, Joe Namath, O.J. Simpson and Frank Gatski. Staubach joined Bob Lilly as the only players who spent their entire career with the Cowboys to be elected to the Hall of Fame.

TEXAS STADIUM IMPROVEMENTS – Texas Stadium unveiled a new look when the Cowboys opened their preseason schedule against Green Bay on Aug. 10. The stadium became the first to have two DiamondVision color scoreboards, and the addition of 118 Crown Suites gave Texas Stadium more private suites, 296, than any stadium in the nation.

COWBOYS RANCH OPENS – Cowboys players and coaches reported on Aug. 27 to the team's new headquarters and training facility at Cowboys Center in Valley Ranch.

DORSETT PASSES 10,000 YARDS – On a 19-yard sweep around left end, Tony Dorsett, became the sixth player in NFL history to rush for 10,000 yards. Dorsett's feat highlighted a 27-13 victory over Pittsburgh at Texas Stadium on Oct. 13.

THIRTEENTH DIVISION CHAMPIONSHIP – The Cowboys edged the New York Giants 28-21 on Dec. 15 at Texas Stadium to capture the NFC Eastern Division championship for the first time since 1981. Picked in most season previews to finish third or fourth in the division, the Cowboys rallied for their NFL record 20th consecutive winning season, a 13th division title in 20 years and a playoff berth for the 18th time in that span. But in their NFL record 36th playoff game appearance, the Cowboys fell 20-0 to the Los Angeles Rams in Anaheim Stadium on Jan. 4.

COWBOYS GO TO LONDON – The Cowboys began preparations for their first trip to a foreign country when the NFL announced on March 12 that the Cowboys would play the Super Bowl champion Chicago Bears in a preseason game at London's Wembley Stadium on Aug. 3.

100TH WIN AT TEXAS STADIUM – Dallas defeated St. Louis 37-6 for the club's 100th victory at Texas Stadium. Since the facility opened in 1971 the Cowboys have compiled a 100-25 (.800) record.

STREAK BROKEN – The Cowboys' streak of 20 consecutive winning seasons from 1966 through 1985, third longest in professional sports history, came to an end when the club finished with a 7-9 record after losing seven of its last eight games. Only baseball's New York Yankees (39 straight winning seasons, 1926-64) and hockey's Montreal Canadiens (32 from 1951-52 through 1982-83) surpassed the Cowboys' accomplishments.

FOUNDER DIES – Cowboys founder Clint Murchison, Jr., died March 30 after a long illness. Murchison, 63, who owned the club until 1984, acquired the expansion Dallas franchise in the NFL in 1960. He hired Tex Schramm as general manager, gave Tom Landry a 10-year contract when his coaching career was in doubt in 1964 and was instrumental in the building of Texas Stadium.

DORSETT GETS 12,000 YARDS – Tony Dorsett became the fourth rusher in NFL history to gain more than 12,000 yards when he registered 52 yards against the Rams on Dec. 21 for a career total of 12,036. The only runners ahead of Dorsett were Walter Payton, Jim Brown and Franco Harris.

LANDRY TIES LAMBEAU – Dallas opened the 1988 season against Pittsburgh on Sept. 12 and Tom Landry tied an NFL record held by Curly Lambeau by coaching in his 29th consecutive season with the same team. Lambeau led the Green Bay Packers from 1921-49.

JONES ACQUIRES COWBOYS, NAMED JOHNSON COACH – Jerry Jones reached an agreement to purchase the Cowboys from Bum Bright on Feb. 25 and announced that University of Miami Coach Jimmy Johnson would replace Tom Landry.

SALE APPROVED, SCHRAMM RESIGNS – The sale of the Cowboys to Jerry Jones was unanimously approved by NFL owners on April 18 at a special meeting in New York. At the same meeting, Tex Schramm was named president of the new World League of American Football. He announced his resignation as president and general manager of the Cowboys after 29 years with the club.

AIKMAN SIGNED – The Cowboys, holding the No. 1 pick in the NFL Draft for only the second time in their history, announced the signing of quarterback Troy Aikman to a six-year contract on April 20.

WALKER TRADED – Herschel Walker is traded to Minnesota on Oct. 12 for five players, six conditional draft choices and a 1992 first round draft choice. Among the players who actually came to Dallas as a result of the trade include Emmitt Smith, Russell Maryland, Kevin Smith and Darren Woodson.

JORDAN HONORED – Former All-Pro linebacker Lee Roy Jordan, a Cowboy from 1963-76, became the seventh member of the Ring of Honor. Jordan was honored during ceremonies at halftime of the Phoenix Cardinals game on Oct. 29.

AUSTIN TRAINING CAMP – Beginning on July 18, nearly 100,000 fans visit the Cowboys' first ever in-state training camp at St. Edward's University in Austin, Tex.

LANDRY ENTERS HALL OF FAME – Tom Landry, who led the Cowboys to five Super Bowls and 20 consecutive winning seasons as the Cowboys head coach from 1960-88, was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility. Enshrined on Aug. 4 at Canton, Ohio, Landry joined former Dallas players Bob Lilly and Roger Staubach as the only Hall of Fame members who built their achievements with the Cowboys.

SMITH ROOKIE OF THE YEAR, JOHNSON COACH OF THE YEAR – Following a dramatic turn-around season where the team posted a 7-9 record and missed the playoffs by one game, Jimmy Johnson was named the NFL Coach of the Year by the Associated Press. Running back Emmitt Smith, who led all NFL rookie running backs in rushing yardage and touchdowns, was named the A.P.'s NFC Offensive Rookie of the Year.

RECORD DRAFT HAUL INCLUDES MARYLAND AS NO. 1 OVERALL PICK – After a pre-draft trade with the New England Patriots, the Cowboys used the No. 1 overall selection in the NFL Draft for only the third time in franchise history. Dallas chose Outland Trophy winner Russell Maryland (DT) with the top pick. The Cowboys went on to acquire 16 more choices, setting a club record for most selections in a 12-round draft with 17 overall.

SCHRAMM ENTERS HALL OF FAME – One of the NFL's true innovators, and the guiding force behind the development of America's Team, Tex Schramm was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame on July 27, 1991. Schramm, who served as the President and General Manager of the Dallas Cowboys from the team's inception in 1960 until his retirement in 1989, joined Staubach, Lilly and Landry with his enshrinement in Canton, Ohio.

RETURN TO THE PLAYOFFS – After winning the final five games of the season, Dallas finished with an 11-5 record – the team's best mark since the 1983 season. The initial spark to the winning streak was a 24-21 win over the eventual World Champion Washington Redskins on Nov. 24. The win, at Washington's RFK Stadium, ended the Redskins' bid for a perfect regular season after 11 straight wins. Dallas finished second in the NFC East and qualified as the NFC's No. 2 Wild Card Playoff entry, marking the club's first postseason trip since 1985. Dallas traveled to Chicago and defeated the Bears 17-13 in the opening round Wild Card Game before dropping a 38-6 decision at Detroit the following week.

SMITH AND IRVIN LEAD NFL – Emmitt Smith and Michael Irvin became the first two players from the same team to lead the NFL in rushing yardage and receiving yardage in the same season. Smith had 1,563 yards rushing, while Irvin set single-season club records for receptions (93) and receiving yardage (1,523). Both players were named to the NFC Pro Bowl squad along with tight end Jay Novacek and quarterback Troy Aikman. The Cowboys sent four offensive players to the Pro Bowl for the first time since 1979, and Irvin was named the MVP of the Pro Bowl Game.

JONES NAMED TO COMPETITION COMMITTEE – On May 1, Jerry Jones, was appointed to the NFL's Competition Committee by Commissioner Paul Tagliabue. Jones became the first owner to serve on the prestigious committee since the death of Cincinnati's Paul Brown.

FOURTEENTH DIVISION CHAMPIONSHIP – Before a national television audience on ABC's Monday Night Football, the Cowboys defeated the Atlanta Falcons (41-17) at the Georgia Dome to claim the NFC Eastern Division Championship. The victory marked the Cowboys' first divisional title since 1985.

RECORD NUMBER OF OFFENSIVE PRO BOWL SELECTIONS – Six players from the Cowboys offense were selected to play in the Pro Bowl: RB Emmitt Smith, TE Jay Novacek, QB Troy Aikman, WR Michael Irvin, G Nate Newton and C Mark Stepnoski. The six players establish a Dallas Cowboys' record for most offensive players selected to the Pro Bowl.

CLUB RECORD FOR VICTORIES/SMITH EARNS SECOND RUSHING TITLE – On Dec. 27, Dallas defeated Chicago by a 17-14 score at Texas Stadium. The victory was the 13th of the year for Dallas, establishing a new club record for victories in a season. Emmitt Smith finished the season with 1,713 rushing yards, enabling Smith to become the first player to win back-to-back NFL rushing titles since Eric Dickerson (1983-84).

ROAD ATTENDANCE RECORD SET – The Cowboys set a new team record for road attendance by averaging 72,523 fans-per-road game in 1992. The team also played before a sold-out stadium in all 16 regular season games for the first time since the 1981 season.

SIXTH NFC TITLE – On January 17, 1993, the Cowboys defeated the San Francisco 49ers by a 30-20 score at Candlestick Park. The victory sends Dallas to Super Bowl XXVII in Pasadena, marking the Cowboys first NFC title, and Super Bowl trip, since 1978.

THIRD WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP – While making an NFL record sixth Super Bowl appearance, the Cowboys defeated Buffalo 52-17 in Super Bowl XXVII at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena on Jan. 31, 1993. The victory enabled the Cowboys to become the only franchise in NFL history to win more than one Super Bowl under two different ownerships. The Super Bowl crowd of 98,374 was the largest crowd to ever witness a Dallas Cowboys game. The game was also witnessed by 133.4 million television viewers, making Super Bowl XXVII the most watched event in television history.

WHITE HOUSE VISIT – The Super Bowl Champion Dallas Cowboys became the first athletic team to visit the White House under the Clinton administration. The Cowboys team visit to the White House was the first in club history. (March 5).

LANDRY HONORED – Former Head Coach Tom Landry, who led Dallas to two Super Bowl wins and five NFL titles in his 29 years at the Cowboys helm, became the eighth member of the Ring of Honor during half-time ceremonies of the Cowboys-New York Giants game on Nov. 7.

RECORD NUMBER OF PRO BOWL SELECTIONS – An NFC-record 11 Dallas players were selected to the Pro Bowl, including a club-record eight offensive selections (seven Pro Bowl starters).

FIFTEENTH DIVISION CHAMPIONSHIP – In the final game of the regular season, the Cowboys defeat the New York Giants 16-13 in overtime at Giants Stadium to claim their 15th division crown and their second consecutive NFC East title (Jan. 2).

SMITH EARNS THIRD RUSHING TITLE – Emmitt Smith finishes the season with 1,486 yards to earn his third straight NFL rushing crown. He becomes just the fourth man in NFL history to win three consecutive rushing titles.

SEVENTH NFC TITLE – Dallas defeats San Francisco 38-21 in the NFC Championship Game at Texas Stadium. The victory gives the Cowboys an NFL-record seventh conference championship in the first conference title game to be played at Texas Stadium since Jan. 1, 1978 (a 23-6 win over Minnesota).

FOURTH WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP – Dallas becomes one of just three NFL teams to win four Super Bowls by defeating Buffalo (30-13) in Super Bowl XXVIII. The game, played at the Georgia Dome in Atlanta, featured two rushing touchdowns by Super Bowl MVP Emmitt Smith. Dallas raised its NFL record number of Super Bowl appearances to seven (one fourth of all the Super Bowl games played).

SWITZER NAMED HEAD COACH – Barry Switzer is named the new head coach of the Dallas Cowboys – and the third head coach in team history – on March 30. Switzer replaces Jimmy Johnson, who stepped down as the Cowboys' head coach the previous day.

DORSETT AND WHITE ENTER HALL OF FAME – Tony Dorsett, the Cowboys all-time leading rusher in his 11-year career with the Cowboys from 1977-87, and Randy White, a nine-time Pro Bowl defensive tackle in his 14-year career with the Cowboys from 1975-78, are both inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in their first year of eligibility. Enshrined on July 30 at Canton, Ohio, both men join former Dallas players Bob Lilly and Roger Staubach as well as Tom Landry and Tex Schramm in the Hall of Fame.

NFL RECORD CROWD IN MEXICO CITY – The Cowboys travel to Mexico City to play the Houston Oilers in a preseason game in front of 112,376 fans, the largest crowd to ever witness an NFL game (Aug. 15).

DORSETT AND WHITE HONORED – Former All-Pro, running back Tony Dorsett and defensive tackle Randy White, became the ninth and tenth members of the Ring of Honor. They were honored during ceremonies at halftime of the Arizona Cardinals game on Oct. 9.

SIXTEENTH DIVISION CHAMPIONSHIP – The Cowboys clinched the NFC Eastern Division Crown in the first week of December with a 31-19 victory over the Eagles in Philadelphia (Dec. 4).

RECORD NUMBER OF PRO BOWL SELECTIONS – AGAIN – For the second straight year, the Cowboys send 11 players to the Pro Bowl, tying the NFC record that Dallas established in 1993.

NFL RECORD FOR TITLE GAME APPEARANCES – While making an NFL record 13th NFC Championship Game appearance, the Cowboys become the only team in NFL history to advance to at least two championship games in every decade of the team's existence. Dallas fell short of its third straight Super Bowl with a 38-28 loss to the San Francisco 49ers at Candlestick Park on Jan. 15, 1995.

SEVENTEENTH DIVISION CHAMPIONSHIP – On Dec. 24, Dallas wrapped up its fourth straight NFC Eastern Division title – a feat that no other NFC East team has accomplished other than the Cowboys teams from 1976 to 1979.

SMITH WINS FOURTH RUSHING CROWN – Emmitt Smith closes the season with a team-record 1,773 rushing yards and an NFL record 25 touchdowns. Smith led the NFL in rushing for the fourth time in five years, becoming just the fifth player in NFL history to win at least four rushing titles.

TEN PRO BOWLERS SELECTED – Ten Cowboys are selected to the NFC Pro Bowl squad. Since 1993, Dallas has earned 32 Pro Bowl selections – the most ever by one team over a three year period of time.

EIGHTH NFC TITLE – The Cowboys win an NFL record eighth conference championship game by defeating the Green Bay Packers 38-27 at Texas Stadium on Jan. 14, 1996. The victory marked the Cowboys third NFC title in four years.

THREE SUPER BOWL TITLES IN FOUR YEARS – Dallas becomes the first team in NFL history to win three Super Bowls in a four year period by defeating the Pittsburgh Steelers 27-17 in Super Bowl XXX at Sun Devil Stadium in Tempe, AZ. The game, played on Jan. 28, 1996, is witnessed by 138.4 million television viewers, making Super Bowl XXX the most watched event in television history. The victory enables Dallas to earn its fifth Super Bowl title – joining the San Francisco 49ers as the only NFL franchises to win five Super Bowls. The Cowboys have now appeared in an NFL record eight Super Bowls – three more than any other team.

SMITH PASSES 10,000 YARDS – On a six-yard dash up the middle against Washington on Thanksgiving Day, Emmitt Smith became the 12th player in NFL history to rush for 10,000 yards. Smith's feat highlighted a 21-10 win over the Redskins at Texas Stadium on Nov. 28.

NINE PRO BOWLERS SELECTED – A NFL-high nine players are selected to the NFC Pro Bowl squad, the fourth straight year Dallas has led the NFL in Pro Bowl selections. Over the past four seasons, Dallas has sent 41 players to Hawaii, the most ever in the NFL in a four-year period. The next highest total was posted by the 1971-74 Miami Dolphins with 38.

EIGHTEENTH DIVISION CHAMPIONSHIP – On Dec. 15, Dallas wrapped up its fifth straight NFC Eastern Division title – a feat never before achieved in the NFC East – and the eighteenth division title in team history with a 12-6 win over New England at Texas Stadium. The Carolina Panthers eliminated the Cowboys from the playoffs in a divisional playoff loss at Carolina.

IRVIN TOPS 10,000 YARDS – On a 14-yard touchdown reception at Washington on Oct. 13, Michael Irvin became the 14th player in NFL history to record over 10,000 yards receiving.

PLAYOFF STREAK SNAPPED – The Cowboys close the 1997 season with a 6-10 record, marking the team's first non-playoff season since 1990.

GAILEY NAMED HEAD COACH – Jerry Jones named Chan Gailey as the fourth head coach in the history of the Dallas Cowboys franchise on Feb. 12. Gailey, who had previously served as the Pittsburgh Steelers offensive coordinator, replaced Barry Switzer, who resigned from his position on January 9th.

TRAINING CAMP OPENS IN WICHITA FALLS – The Cowboys open training camp at Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls, Texas on July 15. Attendance figures for the four-week camp exceed 100,000.

SANDERS SETS RETURN MARK – On Sept. 21, Deion Sanders returned a punt 59 yards for a touchdown in the first half at the New York Giants and then ran back an interception 71 yards for a score in the fourth quarter. It was the first time in club history that one player had scored two touchdowns on returns of any kind in the same game.

SMITH BECOMES CLUB'S ALL-TIME RUSHER – With 163 yards on 29 carries in a 16-6 win over the New York Giants on Nov. 8, Emmitt Smith becomes the Dallas Cowboys all-time leading rusher. Smith's performance pushes him past Tony Dorsett (12,036) and into the Cowboys top spot.

NINETEENTH DIVISION CHAMPIONSHIP – After a one-year absence from postseason play, the Cowboys clinch their sixth NFC Eastern Division title in the last seven years with a 13-9 win over Philadelphia at Texas Stadium on Dec. 20. The 1998 division crown is the 19th division championship (15th NFC East title) in the club's 39-year history.

SMITH BECOMES NFL'S ALL-TIME RUSHING TOUCHDOWN LEADER – After scoring a first-half touchdown on a one-yard run against the Redskins at Texas Stadium, Emmitt Smith becomes the NFL's all-time leader in rushing touchdowns, moving ahead of Marcus Allen (123). Smith later added a 26-yard TD run to bring his record total to 125 rushing touchdowns by season's end.

COWBOYS POST 10 WINS AND SWEEP NFC EAST – The Cowboys closed the year with a 23-7 victory over Washington and a 10-6 record, marking the 23rd season in which Dallas recorded at least 10 wins – a NFL record. The win over the Redskins also enabled Dallas to become the first team in the history of the NFC East to post an 8-0 record in division play.

COWBOYS EXTEND NFL-RECORD WITH 25TH PLAYOFF APPEARANCE – The Cowboys extended their NFL record for postseason appearances to 25 with a 20-7 loss to Arizona in a NFC Wild Card Playoff Game at Texas Stadium on Jan. 2, 1999.

COWBOYS COMEBACK – The Cowboys overcome a 21 point fourth quarter deficit and pull out an overtime win over the Washington Redskins in the season opener on Sept. 12. After the team scored 21 points in the fourth quarter to tie the game – tying the largest deficit overcome to win a game – Troy Aikman connected with Raghieb Ismail on a 76-yard bomb in overtime to provide the final margin of victory.

IRVIN RECORDS FINAL CATCH – On Oct. 10 at Veterans Stadium in Philadelphia, wide receiver Michael Irvin went across the middle and hauled in an eight-yard reception for the 750th catch of his career. The catch would be the last of his career as he suffered neck and back injuries on the play and was never able to return to the playing field. Irvin finished his career tied for 10th on the NFL's all-time reception list and was ninth all-time in receiving yards.

SELLOUT STREAK ENDS – The Dallas Cowboys NFL-record of consecutive games in front of sold out stadiums comes to an end on Dec. 24, 1999 in a Christmas Eve game against the New Orleans Saints in the Louisiana Superdome. The streak, which included home and away games, came to a halt after 160 games. It began on December 23, 1990 at Philadelphia's Veterans Stadium and included 79 straight sell-outs at Texas Stadium (including playoffs) and 81 straight sell-outs on the road (including playoffs).

AIKMAN NFL'S WINNINGEST QUARTERBACK – With eight wins in 1999, Troy Aikman became the winningest starting quarterback of any decade in NFL history with 90 wins in the 1990s. He broke the mark of 86 wins set by Joe Montana in the 1980s.

TEAM OF THE 90'S – The Cowboys close the century as the NFL's most successful team in the decade of the 1990s. From 1990 to 1999, Dallas qualified for the playoffs eight times, won six division titles, made four trips to the conference championship game and won three Super Bowls.

SMITH BECOMES NFL'S ALL-TIME LEADING POSTSEASON RUSHER – Emmitt Smith ran for 99 yards in a 27-10 loss at Minnesota in an NFC Wild Card Playoff Game on Jan. 9, 1999. The total gave Smith the NFL record with 1,586 career postseason rushing yards, moving him past Franco Harris (1,556).

CAMPO NAMED HEAD COACH – Jerry Jones named Cowboys defensive coordinator Dave Campo as the fifth head coach in franchise history on Jan. 26. Campo spent the previous 11 seasons as an assistant coach in Dallas and was the defensive coordinator for the 1995 team that won Super Bowl XXX. He replaced Chan Gailey, who was fired on Jan. 11.

TOM LANDRY DIES – After a long battle with leukemia, Tom Landry died on Feb. 12 at the age of 75.

SMITH ECLIPSES 15,000 YARDS – With 150 yards rushing against Washington on Dec. 10, running back Emmitt Smith became just the third player in NFL history to rush for over 15,000 career yards, joining Walter Payton and Barry Sanders. Smith's effort also pushed him past the 1,000-yard mark for the season, marking the 10th consecutive season he has done so. Barry Sanders is the only other player to have accomplished this feat.

AIKMAN RETIRES – At a press conference at Texas Stadium on April 9, quarterback Troy Aikman announced his retirement after 12 seasons with the Cowboys. Aikman departed holding or tied for 47 separate club passing records.

2002

SMITH BECOMES NFL'S ALL-TIME LEADING RUSHER – On second-and-seven from the Dallas 30-yard line with 9:28 remaining in the fourth quarter against Seattle at Texas Stadium on Oct. 27, Emmitt Smith burst up the middle on an 11-yard run to become the NFL's all-time leading rusher. With that carry, he moved past Walter Payton's mark of 16,726 career rushing yards. Smith finished the day with 109 yards on 24 carries. By season's end, he had extended the record to 17,162 career rushing yards.

PARCELLS BECOMES SIXTH COACH IN CLUB HISTORY – On Jan. 2, Bill Parcells was named the sixth head coach in club history, replacing Dave Campo who was fired on December 30. In 15 seasons as a head coach with the New York Giants, the New England Patriots and the New York Jets, Parcells has posted a 149-106-1 record, including victories in Super Bowls XXI and XXV with the Giants and an appearance in Super Bowl XXXI with the Patriots. His 149 career wins place him 13th in NFL history.

EMMITT SMITH RELEASED – On Feb. 27, Emmitt Smith was released after 13 seasons with the club. He departs as the NFL's all-time leading rusher and holds or is tied for 62 club records. On March 27, Smith signed a two-year contract with the Arizona Cardinals.

TEX SCHRAMM TO BE NEWEST RING OF HONOR INDUCTEE – At a press conference at Texas Stadium on April 16, Jerry Jones announced that Tex Schramm will become the 12th member of the club's Ring of Honor. The first president and general manager of the club, Schramm was a driving force in turning a 1960 expansion team into one of the most popular and successful sports franchises in the world.

Cowboys During the Week

The Dallas Cowboys have a tradition of showing up on the football schedule just about any day of the week. Besides the annual Thanksgiving Day games, the Cowboys have also played on Christmas Day. Besides Sundays, the Cowboys have shown up on Thursdays, Fridays, Saturdays and Mondays. When it comes to prime time, the Cowboys are also front and center on Sunday and Monday nights.

Thanksgiving Day Games (22-12-1)

Since 1966, the Cowboys have been a fixture on Thanksgiving Day, having hosted the annual contest for 36 of the last 38 years. In 1975 and 1977, the St. Louis Cardinals played host to the game in place of Dallas. In 1978, the game returned to Dallas for good. The Cowboys have posted a 22-12 record in the holiday classic and a 23-12 mark the following week. Here are the Cowboys annual Thanksgiving Day results:

Texas Stadium

The glittering showcase of Cowboys football is Texas Stadium, a state-of-the-art modern football facility built at a cost of $35 million in 1971. The Cowboys opened their facility on Oct. 24, 1971 with a 44-21 victory over New England. Since then, the Cowboys have posted a 182-82 record (.689) overall, including a 16-5 (.762) mark in postseason, at home. Prior to moving to Texas Stadium the Cowboys spent the 1960-71 seasons at the Cotton Bowl, where they posted a 45-33-4 record, including a 2-2 mark in postseason.

Located in the Dallas suburb of Irving, Texas Stadium has a seating capacity of 65,529 and features two Daktronics color replay screens, 381 luxury suites, three sports bars, 52 concession stands, 40 specialty stands, 86 restrooms, 115 drinking fountains and 130 acres of parking. Texas Stadium's most unique feature is the partial roof which covers fans from inclement weather, but leaves the game outdoors. Texas Stadium also boasts the luxurious Stadium Club, one of Dallas' premier locations for private parties, banquets and convention gatherings.

The Corral, outside Gate 8, features food, beverage, entertainment and large screen televisions for fan hospitality before, during and after all Cowboys home games and special events.

Complete banquet, catering and special event services are available for private groups at Texas Stadium. Information on hosting an event can be obtained by calling 972-785-4000.

Tours of Texas Stadium are available hourly Monday through Saturday from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., and Sundays, when no events are scheduled, from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Call 972-785-4780 for more information.

The Cowboys souvenir shop, The Pro Shop, is also open daily on the grounds outside the stadium at Gate 8.

Cowboys Summer Training Camp

One of the annual highlights for Dallas Cowboys fans is the opportunity to visit Dallas Cowboys Training Camp. This year's camp will take place at the Alamodome in San Antonio, Texas. The 2003 camp marks the team's 14th in Texas.

Since moving their training camp to Texas, the Cowboys have had seven winning seasons, won six NFC Eastern Division titles, three Super Bowls and played in four NFC Championship Games. The team has also compiled a composite record of 128-97 for a winning percentage of .569 since moving to Texas from Thousand Oaks, Calif., prior to the 1990 season.

San Antonio is a convenient location for Cowboys fans throughout Texas and the neighboring states to visit. In each of the past 12 seasons, the Cowboys have drawn an average of nearly 100,000 fans to the summer practice sessions and scrimmages with other NFL teams.

The camp at The Alamodome offers a rare opportunity for Cowboys' fans from all over the State of Texas and the Southwest to get an "up close and personal look" at their favorite team with all practice sessions free and open to the public.

The team will dress and conduct practice at the Alamodome. A state-of-the-art Sportfield NT synthetic grass system will be installed inside the dome. The team will also conduct meetings and eat meals at the Alamodome this year. The San Antonio Marriott Riverwalk will again be the Cowboys home away from home for lodging. Located at 711 East Riverwalk, the hotel is on the city's scenic River Walk.

- LOCATION: The Alamodome, San Antonio, Texas
- DATES: This year camp opens on Friday, July 25 and runs through Tuesday, Aug. 19
- SAN ANTONIO: San Antonio has a population of 1,144,646 people as of the 2000 U.S. census and is the third largest city in Texas. With a metropolitan area of 1,592,383, San Antonio has the 30th largest metropolitan population in the United States. There are over 30,000 hotel rooms in the San Antonio metro area.
- ALAMODOME: The Alamodome opened on May 15, 1993 and has hosted a number of major sporting events in its short history. Along with the annual Alamo Bowl, the facility also hosted the 1997 and 1999 Big XII Championship football game. In 1998, the Alamodome was home to the Men's NCAA Final Four and in 2002 hosted the Women's NCAA Final Four. The Alamodome has also been selected as the site for the 2004 Men's NCAA Final Four. Home to the NBA's San Antonio Spurs from 1993-2002, the Alamodome hosted the 1996 NBA All-Star Game and the 1999 NBA Finals won by the Spurs. The facility has also been the home of numerous state political conventions and concerts. The Alamodome is a multi-purpose facility that seats up to 72,000 and has 160,000 square feet of floor space.
- PRACTICES: Cowboys practice sessions at the Alamodome are open to the public free of charge. Public parking is available on site during practice times for $6.00.

When first introduced at Texas Stadium in 1972 as a new form of entertainment for football fans, little did the Dallas Cowboys know that their cheerleaders were the start of something special, something so special, in fact, it has grown to be an international phenomenon. They initially captivated the Cowboys fans with their unique blend of glamour and dance. Then came the television viewers and the motion picture audiences. Today it's crowds across America and around the world who instantly recognize the women wearing the traditional star-spangled blue and white uniform as an American icon...The Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders.

The image and style of the Cowboys Cheerleaders has had an enormous influence on entertainment in sports, but while the Cowboys Cheerleaders have been imitated throughout the sports world, no one has been able to equal their stature.

The strength of their national popularity was evident during the 1970's when two made-for-TV movies about the Cowboys Cheerleaders drew top ratings. That popularity grew through the '80's and 90's with annual ESPN Swimsuit Specials, guest appearances on Saturday Night Live, the Today Show, Late Night with David Letterman and many other television shows. More recently, the Cheerleaders had a featured role in Robert Altman's film "Dr. T and the Women" starring Richard Gere, have appeared in several national television commercials and are regularly the subject of magazine and newspaper articles.

Besides being an integral part of Cowboys games at Texas Stadium, the Cheerleaders have an ongoing demand for performances at numerous festivals, sporting events and corporate conventions around the country. They have performed alongside celebrities as diverse as Creed, Jessica Simpson, Leann Rimes, Wayne Newton, Neal McCoy, Reba McEntire, Randy Travis, Shania Twain and Clint Black at nationally televised Texas Stadium spectaculars and on stages around the world.

The Cowboys Cheerleaders also donate their time to many charitable and civic causes. Every year the Cheerleaders visit hospitals, nursing homes and schools. They perform at telethons and other fund-raising events around the United States. And they bring their special brand of goodwill and appreciation to the men and women of the American military on USO/DoD Tours in places like Korea, Iraq, Cuba, Afghanistan, Panama, Italy, the Indian Ocean, Bosnia, Kosovo and the Persian Gulf.

The Cowboys Cheerleaders annual trips every Christmas and spring have become a special tradition. Since 1979 the Cheerleaders have visited and entertained hundreds of thousands of United States soldiers, sailors, airmen and Marines all over the world on 51 USO/DoD tours. In 1997 the squad received the first-ever "Spirit of Hope Award" from the USO in recognition of distinguished service to American troops stationed overseas, they were also honored to receive the USO's 50th Anniversary Award, and last year were inducted into the Veteran of Foreign Wars Hall of Fame.

Cowboys on Radio

KLUV 98.7 FM is the radio home for the Dallas Cowboys and flagship station of The Dallas Cowboys Radio Network. On "Oldies Radio 98.7 KLUV", an Infinity station, all Cowboys games are heard in brilliant digital stereo.

Brad Sham, the award-winning play-by-play voice of the Dallas Cowboys, is celebrating his 25th season with the broadcast team. Brad is once again joined in the booth by former Cowboys quarterback Babe Laufenberg who serves as color analyst. As the sideline reporter, Kristi Scales provides instant updates from the field.

KLUV pre- and post-game coverage is anchored by Wally Lynn. Former Cowboys All Pro defensive back Charlie Waters provides analysis during the pre-game show, and former All Pro Cowboys wide receiver Drew Pearson co-hosts the post-game call-in show.

In 2003, KLUV is proud to welcome legendary broadcaster Pat Summerall to the Dallas Cowboys Radio Network crew. Pat's pre-game commentaries and a weekly exclusive interview with head coach Bill Parcells brings a new dimension to the game day lineup.

Cowboys on Television

Dallas Cowboys Broadcasting Network

The Dallas Cowboys Broadcasting Network is the television production and syndication unit of the Dallas Cowboys Football Club. Now in its 12th year, the Dallas Cowboys Broadcasting Network produces and distributes some of the most-watched programs in the region — Dallas Cowboys preseason games, weekly programs, and specials throughout the year. These programs are televised in Dallas/Fort Worth and over 25 other markets throughout Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

The Cowboys weekly shows during the preseason and regular season keep Dallas Cowboys fans abreast of the latest Cowboys stories making news and of key issues in the National Football League:

“Cowboys Special Edition with Jerry Jones”

Cowboys owner/general manager Jerry Jones discusses the hottest topics with different members of the media. Also included on the show in 2003 are scheduled visits from former Cowboys cornerback Deion Sanders. The show airs Saturdays at 6:30 p.m. from July 19, 2003 through the postseason on KTVT/CBS11 in Dallas/Fort Worth and at locally scheduled times throughout the Dallas Cowboys syndicated network.

“Cowboys Huddle”

Host Babe Laufenberg sits down with Coach Bill Parcells to give fans an inside look at the team. With regularly scheduled visits from Pat Summerall and other Cowboys players and coaches, fans will be able to get a fresh perspective of the team. The show will air Sundays at 10:00 a.m. from Sept. 6, 2003 through the postseason on KTVT/CBS11 in Dallas/Fort Worth and at locally scheduled times throughout the Dallas Cowboys syndicated network.

Cadena de Plata

Cadena de Plata broadcasts all Dallas Cowboys games in Spanish to affiliates throughout the Southwestern United States and the Republic of Mexico. Cadena de Plata (Silver Network) began broadcasting Cowboys preseason games in 1995 with original Spanish language television productions. Programs currently aired on the network include the Cowboys scrimmage, preseason games and Vaqueros de Dallas Edicion 2003, four one-hour specials during the season. Cadena de Plata has also expanded to provide radio broadcasts of all Cowboys preseason, regular-season and postseason games to markets in the United States and Mexico.

Community Outreach and the Dallas Cowboys

GENE AND JERRY JONES FAMILY DALLAS COWBOYS CHARITIES

For the past 14 years, Jerry Jones and his family have owned and operated the Dallas Cowboys with a management style that places just as much emphasis on community leadership as it does on the goal of winning the Super Bowl. The dominant theme which underscores the Cowboys role in the community is to maximize the visibility, energy and celebrity of the world's most recognizable sports franchise and use those dynamic forces as a powerful means to help others.

The results on the field have brought championships to Dallas. The results away from the field have touched the lives of thousands.

THE MISSION

"In the area of community service, our organization's mission is built upon an overall philosophy of helping those who don't have the strength, the resources or the means to help themselves," says Jones. "As a sports entity that has enjoyed unprecedented success and recognition for more than four decades, we feel a very strong obligation to transfer that championship tradition and the magic that it creates toward the bigger purpose of making a difference."

Jones enlists the talents, skills and resources of his entire family, all of the Cowboys players, and every member of the organization to provide a cutting edge approach to community outreach. "Any personal contact with an individual member of our organization can provide help for hundreds of people in need," adds Jones. "The star on the helmet can move mountains."

Chad Hutchinson made new friends while participating in the team's annual NFL/United Way Hometown Huddle event hosted for youth from The Salvation Army - the event is a league initiative where every NFL team performs community service on the same day.

THE ARMY AND THE STAR

The Jones family's dynamic association with The Salvation Army is a visible example of the creative and innovative manner in which the Cowboys can make a difference in the world.

For the past six seasons, the Jones family has dedicated the Cowboys annual Thanksgiving Day halftime show as a national showcase to kickoff The Salvation Army's annual Kettle Drive. The team's association with network television has spawned a donation of $20 million worth of airtime to present nationally televised entertainment extravaganzas that have created a new holiday tradition.

Under the direction of Charlotte Jones Anderson, the Cowboys have produced the annual halftime event and welcomed nationally renowned entertainers Reba McEntire, Randy Travis, Clint Black and Billy Gilman & Jessica Simpson, Creed and LeAnn Rimes to highlight each of the six Kettle Kickoff celebrations. The efforts have helped raise over $500 million dollars, for the Army, while reaching over 250 million people nation-wide.

On the local Salvation Army front, The Gene and Jerry Jones Family Center for Children opened in November of 1998 in conjunction with the Army. The center offers low-income families accessibility to affordable childcare programs that meet the needs of quality care and intellectual development. In each of the last 10 years, Gene and Jerry Jones Family Dallas Cowboys Charities has served as host, and underwritten the costs, for the Super Lunch, a fundraising event for The Salvation Army

For the past six years, the Dallas Cowboys have dedicated their nationally televised halftime shows, viewed by 250 million people nationwide, to launch The Salvation Army National Red Kettle fundraising campaign which has helped raise over $500 million dollars.

Gene and Jerry are members of The Salvation Army's Dallas County Board and the National Advisory Board, respectively. The family was presented the Army's Partner of the Year Award in 1997 and in 1999 received the Evangeline Booth Award, one of the Army's highest national community service awards. Annually, the entire Cowboys organization supports the Army's Corporate Angel Tree Program, helping those in need during the holiday season. Individuals in the organization, including front office staff and players adopt "angels" to provide clothing and toys to underprivileged families.

MAGIC BY ASSOCIATION

Maximizing the "magic" of the Dallas Cowboys celebrity, and using that influence to assist others through community service, is the backbone of the organization's mission away from the field of competition. Each year, the team fulfills thousands of requests for ticket packages and autographed memorabilia items that can produce proceeds that range from $100 to tens of thousands of dollars per donation. Non-profit player appearances for charity and "Make-A-Wish" visits are a staple item for every Cowboys player. In addition, the Gene and Jerry Jones Family Dallas Cowboys Charities is the active philanthropic arm of the organization that annually makes significant contributions to organizations on both the local and national levels. In April of 1999, Gene and Jerry Jones made a $1 million gift to the Library of Congress for the purpose of promoting education on the national and international levels. In their continuing desire to enhance education and support young people in the community, the Jones family served as the underwriting sponsor for The

A wide variety of charitable efforts highlight the Jones family's continued activity in the local community. Some of those programs and events include "First Downs for Down Syndrome," a program in which the Cowboys' offensive production on the playing field produced corporate funding for down syndrome; a record setting celebrity roast of Jerry Jones for St. Phillips School in Dallas, a facility

Jerry Jones's passion for helping those who have been hit with adversity has inspired him to enlist the assistance of his players on several goodwill missions that have touched the hearts of those in need. The organization's presence in these areas often extends far beyond the boundaries of the Dallas-Fort Worth area. In the spring of 1997, Jones joined Cowboys Troy Aikman, Herschel Walker and Charles Haley on a relief trip to the tornado-ravaged state of Arkansas. Three years earlier, the entire World Champion Cowboys team went to the Oklahoma City bombing site within two weeks of the tragedy. For years, Gene and Jerry Jones have been avid supporters of the Susan G. Komen Foundation and Race for the Cure for Breast Cancer. Annually, the Cowboys participate in the Fort Worth, Plano and Dallas Race for the Cure events. Additionally, the Dallas Cowboys honored the Komen Foundation and 450 breast cancer survivors in a special halftime tribute at Texas Stadium on Oct. 24, 1999.

The Cowboys are also very active in raising a large portion of the annual funds for the Happy Hill Farm and Academy. The Dallas Cowboys Family Cookbook and the team's annual Kickoff Luncheon serve as major revenue producers for the local academy that houses and educates abused and neglected children. The academy is also home to the Dallas Cowboys Courage House.

Under the enthusiastic guidance of Gene Jones, who serves as a member of the board of trustees for Children's Medical Center of Dallas, the entire Cowboys team has conducted annual Christmas visits to local children's hospitals in each of the past 14 years. The holiday visitation program, which involves not only every player, but also the Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders, now extends to five different hospitals throughout Dallas and Ft. Worth.

Ebenezek Ekuban conducts football drills at the team's seventh annual Dallas Cowboys Let Us Play! Sports Camp for 150 inner-city girls from area non-profit agencies - the complimentary camp promotes the benefits associated with athletics and education.

Each year, the Cowboys underwrite and produce the annual "Dallas Cowboys Let Us Play! Sports Camp for Girls," a three-day camp for inner-city girls between the ages of 12 to 15 which encourages involvement in athletics with a focus on building character and self-esteem in at-risk youths. From 1998-2002, the team sponsored a free coaching clinic for regional youth league and middle school coaches, from seven states, who spent a day at Texas Stadium with the entire Cowboys coaching staff.

POWERFUL PARTNERSHIP WITH THE NFL

Through national public service announcements, local promotional events and their association with the NFL, the Cowboys are responsible for $1 million in annual support of the United Way each year. The inaugural NFL & United Way Hometown Huddle took place on October 19, 1999 when the Dallas Cowboys and NFL players nationwide showed support in their communities. In 2000, the Second Annual Hometown Huddle on October 17th involved the Dallas Cowboys secondary serving lunch to the homeless and visiting with children at The Salvation Army, Carr P. Collins Social Service Center. In 2001 and 2002, the team hosted the Hometown Huddle event at their training facility, inviting 100 boys and girls to participate in a junior training camp.

In addition, the Cowboys and the entire NFL have formed a partnership that will designate over $1 million of annual support to the development of youth football programs throughout the country. In conjunction with that effort, the Cowboys have made possible three new or refurbished football fields in the Dallas-Ft. Worth area including: a $100,000 grant in 2002 to Pierce Football Field, located in Joppa, one of Dallas' most impoverished neighborhoods, a $100,000 grant in 1999 to the St. Philips School and Community Center in South Dallas to help fund a new $750,000 recreation center that will include a football field and in 1998, the Cowboys presented Dallas Moorland YMCA with the funding to build new football fields to support their growing youth football program.

Annually, the club participates in the Dallas Cowboys Community Quarterback Award, a league-wide volunteer recognition program that donates nearly $1 million each year to community organizations served by outstanding volunteers. The 2000 Cowboys award was given to Coach Robert Green from St. Philip's School & Community Center, the 2001 Cowboys award was given to Mrs. Dudie Weber from Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Children and the 2002 Cowboys award was given to Ms. Marilyn Giles from Dallas CAN! Academy. Each award winner received an $11,000 grant from the Gene and Jerry Jones Family Dallas Cowboys Charities donated in their name to the nominating charity organization.

During the 2002 holiday season, the world famous Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders embarked upon their 50th USO Tour - performing for United States Military Troops serving overseas.

AMBASSADORS OF GOOD CHEER

The world famous Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders organization is completely subsidized by the club for the primary purpose of providing goodwill and a sense of caring on a local, national and international platform. Aside from their obvious presence on game days and their diligent work in local hospitals and homes for the elderly, the Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders have now made more U.S.O. visits to U.S. military troops stationed overseas than the legendary Bob Hope.

A FAMILY PASSION

The operation of the Dallas Cowboys is a very visible family passion for Gene and Jerry Jones and their three children. Jerry Jones serves as the club's owner and general manager, while Stephen Jones-Chief Operating Officer/Executive Vice President/Director of Player Personnel, Charlotte Jones Anderson-Vice President/Director of Charities and Special Events and Jerry Jones, Jr.-Chief Sales and Marketing Officer/Vice President/General Counsel are all actively involved with the daily management of the club. Their shared dedication to community involvement has been a family source of pride for several years, and it extends far beyond the realm of the athletic world.

In the spring of 1998, the Jones' hosted a celebrity fundraiser at their home with Lauren Bacall as the featured guest. On that one evening, for the benefit of SMU's Meadows Foundation, the family helped produce the single largest fund raising event in University history. As a result of her efforts, the University established the Gene Jones Scholarship in her honor. More recently, the Jones Family has hosted fundraising affairs for the John Goodwin Tower Center Medal of Freedom with President George H. W. Bush and the Dallas Center for Performing Arts with Beverly Sills.

Family Gateway, a Dallas community outreach organization, recognized the work of Gene and Jerry Jones in the spring of 2003 with the Annette G. Strauss Humanitarian Award. The award is given annually to recognize those who are dedicated to enhancing the well being of others, who champion causes for the betterment of individuals and by example, encourage people to do the same. In

June of 2002, the Joneses were recognized as the recipients of the Children's Champion Award for Philanthropy that was presented by the Dallas for Children organization.

Gene Jones is also a current member of the advisory board for the Meadows School for the Arts at Southern Methodist University, the board of directors for the John G. Tower Center for Political Studies at SMU, the board of directors for the Dallas Center for Performing Arts, the advisory board for Family Gateway and the Children's Medical Center Trustees. She has previously served on the advisory board for the March of Dimes, the executive board of TACA and the executive board of the Mental Health Center. She has also been a member of the Dallas Symphony League and the Associates of the Dallas Museum of Art.

Jerry Jones has a lifetime association with the Boys and Girls Clubs of America. In 2001, the Joneses were awarded the Chairman's Award by The Boys and Girls Clubs of America. This award is given to recognize individuals who made a positive difference in people's lives – particularly in the lives of children. The Chairman's Dinner, chaired by daughter, Charlotte Anderson, raised $1.9 million for The Boys and Girls Clubs. Jerry currently serves as a national trustee for the Southwest region of the organization and was previously named the Man of the Year by the Boys and Girls Clubs of Little Rock, Arkansas.
