EXPERIMENTAL MILB RULES

Below is a summary of the experimental rules that will be tested during the 2021 Minor League season, which will vary by level of play: (RULES IMPACTING M-BRAVES GAMES IN RED)

• TRIPLE-A (LARGER BASES): To reduce player injuries and collisions, the size of first, second and third base will be increased from 15 inches square to 18 inches square. The Competition Committee also expects the shorter distances between bases created by increased size to have a modest impact on the success rate of stolen base attempts and the frequency with which a batter-runner reaches base on groundballs and bunt attempts.

• DOUBLE-A (DEFENSIVE POSITIONING): The defensive team must have a minimum of four players on the infield, each of whom must have both feet completely in front of the outer boundary of the infield dirt. Depending on the preliminary results of this experimental rule change, MLB may require two infielders to be positioned entirely on each side of second base in the second half of the Double-A season. These restrictions on defensive positioning are intended to increase the batting average on balls in play.

• HIGH-A ("STEP OFF" RULE): Pitchers are required to disengage the rubber prior to throwing to any base, with the penalty of a balk in the event the pitcher fails to comply. MLB implemented a similar rule in the second half of the Atlantic League season in 2019, which resulted in a significant increase in stolen base attempts and an improved success rate after adoption of the rule.

• ALL LOW-A LEAGUES: Pitchers will be limited to a total of two "step offs" or "pickoffs" per plate appearance while there is at least one runner on base. A pitcher may attempt a third step off or pickoff in the same plate appearance; however, if the runner safely returns to the occupied base, the result is a balk. Depending on the preliminary results of this experimental rule change, MLB will consider reducing the limitation to a single "step off" or "pickoff" per plate appearance with at least one runner on base.

• LOW-A SOUTHEAST: In addition to the limitations on step offs/pickoffs, MLB will expand testing of the Automatic Ball-Strike System ("ABS") that began in the Atlantic League and Arizona Fall League to select Low-A Southeast games to assist home plate umpires with calling balls and strikes, ensure a consistent strikezone is called, and determine the optimal strike zone for the system.

• LOW-A WEST: In addition to the limitations on step offs/pickoffs, following successful pace of game rules testing among Florida State League teams in 2019, on-field timers (one in the outfield, two behind home plate between the dugouts) will be implemented to enforce time limits between delivery of pitches, inning breaks and pitching changes. The on-field timer used in Low-A West will include new regulations beyond the system currently used in Triple-A and Double-A to reduce game length and improve the pace of play.

"We are listening to our fans. This effort is an important step towards bringing to life rules changes aimed at creating more action and improving the pace of play," said Michael Hill, MLB Senior Vice President of On-Field Operations. "These experimental playing rules have been approved by the Competition Committee and the Playing Rules Committee to be tested and analyzed in a highly competitive environment."

"These experimental rules are designed to put more balls in play, create more excitement on the basepaths and increase the impact of speed and athleticism on the field," said Raúl Ibáñez, MLB Senior Vice President of On-Field Operations. "As another important goal of the rules approved by the Competition Committee and the Playing Rules Committee, we expect the new larger bases to increase player safety. We look forward to testing these rules in the Minor Leagues."

"The game on the field is constantly evolving, and MLB must be thoughtful and intentional about progressing toward the very best version of baseball – a version that is true to its essence and has enough consistent action and athleticism on display to entertain fans of all ages," said Theo Epstein, Consultant to MLB. "These rules experiments will provide valuable insight into various ways to create a playing environment that encourages the most entertaining version of the game. What we learn in the Minor Leagues this year will be essential in helping all parties chart the right path forward for baseball."

2019 SEASON NOTES

1,000 MISSISSIPPI BRAVES WINNERS: The Aug. 24, 3-2 win over Biloxi, was the 1,000th all-time win for the Mississippi Braves since 2005.

DREW WATERS NAMED MVP: OF Drew Waters was named the league's Most Valuable Player after leading the Southern League in several offensive categories, despite a promotion to Triple-A Gwinnett on Aug. 5. In 108 M-Braves games, the 20-year-old finished the season by leading the league in batting average (.319), hits (134), doubles (35), triples (9) and extra-base hits (49). He finished among the top 10 in slugging (2nd, .481), OPS (2nd, .847), total bases (3rd, 202), runs (T-5th, 63) and OBP (8th, .366).

Waters became the first M-Brave to claim the MVP award and first for the franchise since Ryan Klesko and Javy Lopez won league MVP in 1991-92 for the Greenville Braves. Waters was the youngest, at 20, to win MVP since Montgomery's Delmon Young claimed the honor in 2005.

POSTSEASON AWARDS: The M-Braves placed a club-record three players on the Southern League Postseason All-Star team with Drew Waters and Cristian Pache being named to the outfield and LHP Tucker Davidson being the top left-handed pitcher.

CASTEEL JOINS 20 HOME RUN CLUB: 28-year-old 1B Ryan Casteel led the club and ranked T-2nd in the league with 21 home runs and had three multi-homer games this season. His three-homer game on Jul. 3 was the first in M-Braves history. Casteel has already moved into seventh place on the M-Braves all-time home run list. His home run on Aug. 24 at Biloxi made Casteel just the second M-Brave to record 20 homers in a season, joining Ernesto Mejia (26) who did it in 2011. Casteel was also the only Southern League player with 20 home runs and 20 doubles.

HISTORY MADE ON JUNE 28: Ian Anderson and Jeremy Walker combined for a nine-inning no-hitter on Friday, Jun. 28 vs. Jackson on the night that the M-Braves saluted the Jackson (MS) Generals with retro Generals jerseys. It was the third no-hitter in team history. The last was a combined no-hitter from Julio Teheran and Tyrelle Harris on Aug. 2, 2010, vs. Mobile. The first and only individual no-hitter came from the late Tommy Hanson on Jun. 25, 2008, vs. Birmingham. Anderson's 14 strikeouts over 7.0 innings in the game matched Hanson's single-game team record set in the same game. Over 2,069 games, the M-Braves have never had a no-hitter of any kind thrown against them.

LIEN TIES DEMERITTE ON ALL-TIME HOME RUN LIST: Connor Lien hit nine M-Braves home runs in 2019, moving him to 32 over his career, tying him with former M-Brave Travis Demeritte on the club's all-time home run list. Lien hit two home runs on Apr. 19 at Chattanooga, his third career multi-homer game and third in three games, and then had another two-homer game against Chattanooga on Aug. 29, his fourth career multi-homer game and third in three games.

THREE MLB REHABS IN 2019: RHP Kevin Gausman made a rehab start for the M-Braves on Jul. 11 allowing one unearned run on three hits over 6.0 innings with no walks and three strikeouts. OF Ender Inciarte was with the M-Braves July 7-8, going 2-for-5 with a run and stolen base. LHP Dallas Keuchel started for the M-Braves on Jun. 15, tossing 7.0 innings of three-run baseball, striking out four and walking one in a no-decision against Mobile.

THE UNOFFICIAL MAYOR OF PEARL: RHP Jason Hursh appeared in his sixth season for the M-Braves and ended the season as the club's career leader in wins (20), innings pitched (365.1), games (144), games started (41) and strikeouts (240).

MIDSEASON ALL-STARS: The M-Braves had seven All-Star selections for the Jun. 18 game at Biloxi. Outfielders Cristian Pache and Drew Waters are joined by pitchers Ian Anderson, Tucker Davidson, Jason Hursh, Kyle Muller, and Jeremy Walker.

ANDERSON AND PACHE START THE FUTURES GAME: RHP Ian Anderson, and OF Cristian Pache both started the SiriusXM Futures Game on Jul. 7 in Cleveland. Anderson tossed a 1-2-3 bottom of the first inning for the NL squad, striking out MLB's top prospect, Wander Franco to start the game. Pache led off and played centerfield, finishing 0-for-4 at the plate.

LEWALLYN RETIRES AFTER 48 YEARS: M-Braves pitching coach Dennis Lewallyn retired after 48 seasons in professional baseball and 37 years as a coach. The 66-year-old Lewallyn was the eighth overall selection in the 1972 MLB draft by the Los Angeles Dodgers. The Pensacola, Florida native pitched for the Dodgers from 1975 to 1979, Texas Rangers in 1980 and Cleveland Indians from 1981 to 1982. Dennis began his coaching career in 1983 with the Dodgers and would eventually serve as a pitching coach or coordinator for the Arizona Diamondbacks, Chicago Cubs, Arizona Diamondbacks, and Atlanta Braves organizations. Lewallyn's pitching staffs have consistently been at the top of the charts over his career, including this season, where the Mississippi Braves led the Southern League with a 3.24 ERA

KNOCKING IT OUT OF THE PARK ON FATHER'S DAY

By Benjamin Hill

@BensBiz

Looking for this year's (2020) top baseball highlight? Look no further than what happened at the Mississippi Braves' home of Trustmark Park on Sunday. Jeremy Williams, coming through in the clutch, hit a Father's Day home run that will never be forgotten.

Williams was one of 26 local dads to sign up for the M-Braves' Father's Day Batting Practice, the Jackson, Mississippi-area team's first ballpark event during the would-be 2020 season. Each participant got to hit for approximately 10 minutes, with their son or daughter providing play-by-play commentary over the ballpark sound system. Not only was Williams the only father to hit a home run, he did it on his last swing. And not only that, he did it despite the fact that he has a prosthetic leg.

"It was the highlight of a lifetime, man," said Williams, who attended the event with his 15-year-old son, Nathan. "Hey, there are still sluggers out here. Maybe with one leg, but we're out here."

The home run won Williams a night in a Trustmark Park luxury suite. And because it was the day's farthest hit ball, he later was awarded a customized jersey and a bat. Then came the media attention, of which this article is, of course, a part. It all added up to the latest -- and perhaps greatest -- baseball moment in a life in which love of the game has been a constant. Williams first became a fan at the age of 5, watching Atlanta Braves games with his granddad. Not long after that, he began playing.

"It started with a tennis ball and one of those old plastic yellow bats, like you get at Walmart," Williams said. "But sometimes we couldn't afford a tennis ball, so what we'd do, we'd take some paper, ball it up really tight, then duct tape it really tight. So it all started like that, me and my brother in the backyard, and it just came natural. It's official, I'm a Braves fan for life. Baseball is life. Then I had my accident, and it just killed my dreams."

Williams' accident, which occurred on railroad tracks when he was 11, resulted in the amputation of his left leg. It may have put an end to his Major League dreams, but he soon decided that it was "my duty to push through this as far as I could."

"I'd go out there with this prosthetic leg and it'd fall off right there on the field," he said. "It was so embarrassing, man, there was nothing I could do. One time, my leg came off and this guy came up to me and said, 'I really hate to do it, but I've got to tag you out.' He gave me back my leg and then he tagged me. The ump is looking at me: 'I hate to call you out, but you're out.'"

But there was nothing that could push Williams away from the game he loves. He said that the funny looks he received and the cruel jokes he overheard only strengthened his desire to stay on the field.

"I had a coach when I was playing in a summer league, Coach Avery. I told him, 'Don't treat me any different. When you treat me different, that's the day I quit.' So he was tough on me, and that's where my strength came from. He said, 'Don't give me any tears. You see that gate? You hit it over that and you won't have to worry about running so fast anymore.' So I started doing push-ups, made sure to eat my Wheaties. I got stronger and started swinging for that gate. People asked me, 'How are you hitting it this hard?' I told them I just hate to run. That was the whole point. I grew and grew, started hitting four or five home runs each season."

Remarkably, Williams went on to compete at the collegiate level. He played for Coahoma Community College, the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff and Tougaloo College, but not long after he decided it was time to "family up" and settle down. The love of the game never left him because, as he put it, "you can't extinguish that fire, bro." (continued next page)

KNOCKING IT OUT OF THE PARK ON FATHER'S DAY

Sunday marked a unique opportunity to hit on a professional baseball field, the Double-A home of Williams' beloved Atlanta Braves. It proved to be a memorable event for all involved.

"Father's Day was something that we were looking forward to, that everybody on the staff had input on," M-Braves vice president and general manager Pete Laven said. "It was exclusively run by our front office staff, from feeding the pitching machine to shagging balls, to creating T-shirts and making hot dogs. It was a good collaborative effort and, being Mississippi, it was 98 degrees out. We were out there for six or seven hours, but we had a blast. The dads would hit and then shag afterward, maybe bring their son or daughter on to the field and play catch."

The event ran from 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. At 1 p.m., Williams stepped into the batter's box.

"This is not a home run ballpark, our players would be the first to tell you that," Laven said. "This is one of the hardest parks in the Southern League to hit one out of."

Williams was undeterred.

"They played the [walk-up] music. I was feeling good, all hyped up," he said. "Two minutes in, I took a breather. After another two minutes, I took a break. But I had three fouls, man, and one of them went straight over [the fence]. OK, bro, wow. It came down to just one more pitch. My son was on the PA system, 'Dad, you got this! I got it over the wall, to the back of the bullpen. Man, you want to talk about the happiest moment of my life!'"

"It wasn't a cheapie" added Laven. "Everyone was running over to congratulate him and he said, 'Just get me to the dugout.' He had a big smile on his face, but he was gassed. We got him some water and then he got his certificate for the luxury suite. Him and his son stuck around for the rest of the day, shagging flies and playing catch. And the whole time he was scouting each of the hitters to see if they could hit a home run."

Williams's blast secured the luxury suite certificate, but he was determined to win the jersey and bat that would only go to the individual who hit the day's longest dinger. Many slugging dads had tried and failed, but many slugging dads still remained.

"There were a couple guys, man. The ball's in the air, they're screaming 'Go! Go! Go!' and I'm saying 'No! No! No!'" Williams said, laughing. "There were a couple close calls, a couple ground-rule doubles. One guy thought he had one that went over. 'No, sir, that is a bouncer!' I was the home run protector, making sure any home runs were verified. We stayed all the way until 6. I would have stayed anyways. I love still being part of the game."

In addition to this story, Williams has been featured in two local television news segments. In one of them, he returned to Trustmark Park and hit another homer (since the first one hadn't been captured on video). It's been a remarkable series of events, to say the least.

"I never would have imagined a story like this coming out of it, but I think I can speak for a lot of people who are inspired by meeting Jeremy," Laven said. "We look forward to seeing him and his family for years down the road. We were definitely rooting for him to take home the prize because of his attitude and the joy he showed by being out here. That and the fact that baseball has been such a part of his journey, and everything he's had to overcome."

That joy was still evident in Williams voice as he reflected on what he called "the best Father's Day ever."

"Man, all these accolades, motivation, inspiration. I just said, 'You know what? I'm going to smash for my team.' Gonna represent for the team that I loved since I was a little boy, back when I was 5, 6 years old watching the Braves. It was a dream come true."

Trustmark Park – Vaccination Site

Since January, Trustmark Park has operated as one of the largest vaccination sites in the state of Mississippi. The Mississippi Braves have provided this to the Mississippi Department of Health, free of charge.

Nearly 100,000 Mississippians have received a Pfizer Covid-19 vaccination at Trustmark Park. MSDH and the Mississippi Army National Guard have provided almost 100,000 Mississippians with a Covid-19 vaccination. Trusty and Tommy Hawk have delivered hot dogs, chips, and drinks to all the workers as a thank you for getting Mississippi vaccinated!

Hot Dog Happy Hours

Since we couldn't enjoy ballpark food at Trustmark Park in 2020, the Mississippi Braves delivered a "Hot Dog Happy Hour" to our local #HealthcareHeroes. From April to December, the Mississippi Braves front office and mascots visited each local hospital and numerous Healthcare Clinics, serving over 2,500 hot dogs. When the M-Braves arrive, they provide a takeout meal all doctors, nurses, support staff and during their shifts that includes a hot dog, chips, and drink free of charge. On top of the meal, the M-Braves create a ballpark-like environment with music and photo opportunities.

Volunteering at The Mustard Seed in Brandon

Members of our front office staff volunteered their Saturday on October 17, 2020 by landscaping the Mustard Seed Community campus in Brandon.

Players Alliance Event

A big semi-trailer truck full of gear and cheer rolled into Hattiesburg on January 8. Adorned with the logo of The Players Alliance, a non-profit organization comprised of more than 150 active and former Major League players, the truck was the embodiment of an effort to put weight behind words and to bring needed COVID-19, food and baseball resources to the underserved in Black communities.

Members of the M-Braves front office joined the Players Alliance, Mississippian Billy Hamilton, and other MLB players in their 20th of 33 stops through the winter to distribute food boxes, baseball equipment, and Covid-19 supplies.

The group's members donated more than $1 million of their game-day salaries to invest in The Players Alliance's cause, and MLB has since donated an additional $1 million worth of supplies and baseball equipment for the Alliance's Gear for Good program.

The result is the two-month tour that began in New York on what is nationally known as Giving Tuesday.

Mississippi Braves Partner with Medgar & Myrlie Evers Institute

In conjunction with the Atlanta Braves, the Mississippi Braves initiated a partnership with the Medgar & Myrlie Evers Institute in their extraordinary effort to empower the youth of color in central Mississippi through education and community activation. In keeping with the Atlanta Braves Foundation's mission to support youth-serving programs in our community, a grant for $5,000 was presented to the Medgar & Myrlie Evers Institute at Trustmark Park on Friday, September 11, 2020.

"Along with our parent club, the Atlanta Braves, we are proud to partner with the Medgar & Myrlie Evers Institute in their mission to impact the lives and future careers of the youth in central Mississippi," added Pete Laven, Mississippi Braves vice president and general manager. "In the spirit of Medgar and Myrlie Evers, the M-Braves look forward to participating in the Institute's efforts in providing equitable environments in our community."

The Evers Youth Empowerment Scholars program (E.Y.E.S.) is about providing Mississippi youth of color with education, training, character development, and team-building skills that will empower them to become actively engaged in their communities. Program components include academic training, community service, and physical activity. These activities instill within our youth honor, confidence, hope, forgiveness, and responsibility. Values we want to see all of our youth embody each day.

In addition to the monetary investment, the M-Braves participated in virtual conversations with these youth scholars about baseball opportunities. Reena Evers-Everette, executive director of the Medgar & Myrlie Evers Institute, and daughter Medgar and Myrlie Evers worked with the M-Braves on a pilot program, "Virtual Healing Café-A Seat at the Table." The program provides skills training and support services—also addressing community trauma aligned with concepts of building resilience, socio-emotional, and social justice awareness. In an award ceremony held at Canton High School in March, scholars praised the program to give them a voice and encourage them to be leaders in their community. Students were awarded between $100 and $150, Braves game tickets, books, and other gifts for their outstanding participation.

"The Medgar & Myrlie Evers Institute is excited about the partnership with the Atlanta and Mississippi Braves," said Reena Evers-Everette. "Now especially, with elevated conversations about racism and demands for change, it is inspiring to have the Atlanta and Mississippi Braves support our mission."

About the Medgar & Myrlie Evers Institute:

Medgar and Myrlie Evers are widely regarded as two of the most outstanding civil rights movement leaders. Medgar Evers was a pioneering visionary for civil rights in the 1950s and early 1960s in Mississippi. From the beginning, Myrlie Evers worked alongside her husband, Medgar. In the years following his assassination, she continued the pioneering work they began together in 1998. She founded the Medgar Evers Institute with the initial goal of preserving and advancing the legacy of Medgar Evers' life's work. Last year, in anticipation of the 50th anniversary of Medgar Evers' assassination on June 12, 1963, and recognizing the international leadership role of Myrlie Evers, the Institute's board of directors changed the organization's name to the Medgar and Myrlie Evers Institute.

Gold Glove Charities Night:

In conjunction with Gold Glove Charities of Kansas City, the M-Braves hosted a special event in August 2019 during a game against the Birmingham Barons recognizing local children fighting cancer. The children, mainly from Batson Children's Hospital of Mississippi, were paired with coaches and players for a pizza party in the afternoon and a special pregame introduction.

All M-Braves players and coaches wore specialty jerseys with each adorning the name of one of the children fighting cancer. Those jerseys were auctioned off on the stadium concourse during the game by Gold Glove volunteers via silent auction with proceeds funding custom designed, once-in-a-lifetime experiences for local children battling cancer. The night was capped off by a Home Run For Life between the top and bottom of the fourth inning in which 12-year-old cancer survivor Jake Craig rounded the bases with both teams cheering him on.

Gold Star Families Tribute:

Memorial Day takes on a new meaning for Gold Star families whose loved ones lost their lives defending our country. Eight of those families were recognized before a Braves game on May 24, 2019. Each family was presented with a white rose and videoboard tribute.

The Mississippi Braves presented Friends of Mississippi Veterans with a donation of $1,500 on August 6, 2019 as a result of a silent auction held during that game.

Friends of Mississippi Veterans is a non-profit organization that was formed in 2007 to support veterans in Mississippi VA's veteran homes and cemeteries.

MOBILE CRISIS Response TEAMS

Funding for the M-CeRTs is a result of monies provided by the Mississippi State Legislature to address expanding community-based mental health services.

In an effort to expand crisis services in the community, DMH has provided grants to the local Community Mental Health Centers to establish Mobile Crisis Response Teams.

What are Mobile Crisis Response Teams?

Mobile Crisis Response Teams provide community-based crisis services that deliver solution-focused and recovery-oriented behavioral health assessments and stabilization of crisis in the location where the individual is experiencing the crisis.

Mobile Crisis Response Teams work hand-in-hand with local law enforcement, Chancery Judges and Clerks, and the Crisis Stabilization Units to ensure a seamless process.

Mobile Crisis Response Teams ensure an individual has a follow-up appointment with their preferred provider and monitor the individual until the appointment takes place.

Who Can Be Served By a Mobile Crisis Response Team?

Mobile Crisis Response Teams target individuals experiencing a situation where the individual's behavioral health needs exceed the individual's resources to effectively handle the circumstances.

How Can a Mobile Crisis Response Team Help?

Without mobile crisis intervention, an individual experiencing a crisis may be inappropriately and unnecessarily placed in a jail, holding facility, hospital, or inpatient treatment program. The goal is to respond in a timely manner to where the individual is experiencing the crisis or meet the individual at a designated location such as the local hospital.

Who Makes Up a Mobile Crisis Response Team?

A Mobile Crisis Response Team is staffed with a Master's level Mental Health Therapist, Community Support Specialist and Peer Support Specialist.

How Can I Access a Mobile Crisis Response Team?

Individuals, families, law enforcement, clergy, ERs, chancery courts, and anyone concerned about an individual who is experiencing or at risk of a psychological crisis can request assistance from a Mobile Crisis Response Team. The Teams are available 24 hours a day, seven days a week throughout a CMHC catchment area.

For decades, the Springfield Dominican Sisters have answered God's call to care for the Jackson community. Since arriving in 1946 to operate the then-named Jackson Infirmary, the Sisters have welcomed thousands of men and women to share in their ministry of compassionate care to Mississippi families.

St. Dominic's has served as an enduring sign of strength—of hope and healing—as our community and healthcare have grown and changed. Embracing new services, technology and access while remaining grounded in our attention to the poor and vulnerable, we extend the healing ministry of Jesus Christ to each person in need. Even in these most recent trying and tragic pandemic months, we have encountered new blessings and inspiration for our purpose. Faith sustains St. Dominic's strength and service to all.

We are humbled to answer God's call today and grateful for the trust you place in us each day. While 75 years is a significant milestone, to us, it's just the beginning.

St. Dominic's is part of the Franciscan Missionaries of Our Lady Health System, which also includes St. Francis Medical Center - Monroe, Our Lady of the Lake - Baton Rouge, Our Lady of Lourdes - Lafayette and Our Lady of the Angels - Bogalusa.

WYATT TOREGAS MANAGER

Toregas, 38, is a former catcher who played in 22 major-league games across two seasons with Cleveland (2009) and Pittsburgh (2011). After spending the previous five minor-league seasons managing in the Pittsburgh Pirates organization, the upcoming campaign will be his first with the Braves, including most recently with High-A Bradenton in 2019. In five seasons, Toregas holds a 293-263 (.527) record as a skipper.

A native of Reston, Virginia, and a Chickasaw citizen, Toregas played three years of college ball at Virginia Tech before being selected in the 24th round by Cleveland during the 2004 Major League Baseball draft. He hit every level of the Indians minor league system before eventually making his major league debut with the Indians on August 1, 2009, one day after regular catcher Victor Martinez was traded to the Boston Red Sox. He went 1-for-5 with an RBI in his debut against the Detroit Tigers.

Toregas spent 2012 as a player-coach for Indianapolis before getting the call to be a part of Clint Hurdle's staff with the Pirates, doing advance video work scouting future opponents during the 2013 and 2014 seasons. In 2015 he was named the West Virginia Black Bears' inaugural manager and led the club to a New-York Penn League championship in Morgantown's first two seasons. In 2015, he guided the West Virginia Black Bears to the New York-Penn League championship in his first season as a minor league manager.

Toregas spent the 2017 and 2018 seasons as the manager for the Low-A West Virginia Power.

DAN MEYER PITCHING COACH

Meyer, 38, enters his first season as M-Braves pitching coach and seventh overall with the Braves. Meyer was a former first-round pick of the Braves in 2002 who played parts of five seasons with the Braves, Oakland Athletics, and Florida Marlins as a left-handed reliever.

Meyer has played a vital role in developing many current Atlanta Braves pitchers, including Ian Anderson, Mike Soroka, Max Fried, and others. The New Jersey native became a coach with the Danville Braves in 2014 and was promoted to Minor League Pitching Rehab Coordinator by the Braves before the 2015 season. He served as pitching coach for the Rome Braves from 2016-2018 and Florida Fire Frogs in 2019.

EINAR DIAZ HITTING COACH

Díaz, 48, enters his first season as hitting coach with the M-Braves and second in the Braves organization. Díaz spent his first season with the organization as a coach with Triple-A Gwinnett following six seasons (2013-18) on the Major League staff of the Baltimore Orioles. He assisted in all aspects of Orioles coaching from 2016-18 after spending 2013-15 as the assistant hitting coach.

Díaz's 12-year coaching career includes five seasons in the Orioles minor league system and two spent as the manager for rookie-level Bluefield (2009-10), where he compiled a record of 56-80 (.412). He also served as the field coach at four different levels, including the rookie-level Gulf Coast League Orioles (2008), Short-A Aberdeen (2008), Double-A Bowie (2011), and Class-A Delmarva (2012).

SNITKER AMONG FINAL SOUTHERN LEAGUE HOF CLASS

The Southern League of Professional Baseball Clubs added five members to the Southern League Hall of Fame's final class in February, 2020. Among the five-member class being inducted was former Mississippi and Greenville manager and current Atlanta Braves skipper Brian Snitker.

Snitker managed the Greenville Braves for three years before moving with the team to Pearl in 2005. The inaugural Mississippi Braves club had some of the brightest prospects in the organization and promoted an unprecedented 11 players to Atlanta, including Jeff Francoeur and Brian McCann. Snitker compiled a 260-283 (.479) record over four seasons as Atlanta's Double-A manager, three in Greenville and one in Mississippi. As a player, Snitker spent three seasons with Double-A Savannah in the Southern League from 1978-1980. In 108 career minor league games, primarily as a catcher, "Snit" hit .254 with 23 home runs, 112 RBIs, and ten stolen bases.

"The Southern League has a long and proud baseball history, and it's an honor to be recognized as a member of the 2020 Hall-of-Fame class," said Snitker. "It was a privilege to be able to manage so many talented young players in Greenville and Mississippi that have gone on to have tremendous careers."

Snitker is the fourth representative of the Braves in the Southern League Hall-of-Fame, which began in 2014, joining Dale Murphy (Savannah, 2014), Chipper Jones (Greenville, 2015), and Tom Glavine (Greenville, 2017).

Since taking over as the Braves manager in 2016, Snitker has compiled a 353-317 record (.527). In 2018, Snitker guided the Braves to 90 wins and the N.L. East title, an 18-win improvement from the previous season and 17-of-30 first-place votes and 116 points, 17 more than Milwaukee's Craig Counsell to win the BBWAA N.L. Manager of the Year award. Before Snitker, Bobby Cox (1991, 2004-05) was the only other Braves manager to win the award. Snitker finished third in that voting in 2019 and fourth in 2020. Also, Snitker was the Sporting News' N.L. After being named Manager of the Year in consecutive seasons, 2018-19, becoming the fifth manager in history to win in back-to-back seasons. The award has been given out annually since 1936. Snitker is in his 45th season in the Braves organization, including his sixth as the major-league manager.

Snitker joined the organization in 1977 as a non-drafted free agent. He spent seven seasons as the major league club's third-base coach from 2007 to 2013. He also had two stints with the major league staff as the bullpen coach in 1985 and from 1988 to 1990. Snitker began the 2016 season as the Manager at Triple-A Gwinnett before joining the Braves in Pittsburgh for his first game, a 12-9 loss, on May 17. He earned his first win the next day against the Pirates, and his first home win came on May 27 vs. Miami. The team went 59-65 (.476) over the final 124 games.

Serving 20 seasons as a minor-league manager, Snitker compiled an overall record of 1,301-1,309 (.498). He managed at Triple-A (Gwinnett, 2014-16; Richmond, 2006), Double-A (Mississippi, 2005; Greenville, 2002-04), High-A (Myrtle Beach, 1999-2001), Single-A (Macon, 1997-98, 1992; Durham, 1987 and 1983-84, Sumter, 1986, Anderson, 1982) and Rookie Level (Danville, 1996). Five of his minor-league clubs advanced to postseason play, and he won two league titles (consecutive championships with Myrtle Beach in 1999-2000) and two managers of the Year Awards (Myrtle Beach in 1999-2000).

Snitker began his coaching career as a roving instructor for the Braves in 1981 and was originally hired by Hank Aaron. He served as a coach in the Atlanta farm system for three seasons, 1993 and 1994 (Danville) and 1995 (Durham). The former catcher played four seasons (1977-80) in the minors. Born October 17, 1955, in Decatur, Illinois, Snitker graduated from Macon (Ill.) High School and played baseball at the University of New Orleans. Brian and his wife Veronica reside in Marietta, Ga, and have two children, Erin and Troy, and two grandchildren. Troy was drafted by Atlanta in the 19th round of the 2011 draft and is now the assistant hitting coach with Houston.

Joining Snitker in the 2020 class was Asheville manager George Lee "Sparky" Anderson and Chattanooga Lookouts third baseman Edgar Martinez. Wade Vadakin, batboy, Mobile BayBears, was also elected to the Southern League Hall of Fame via the league's annual Special Consideration Ballot. At the yearly Southern League Hall of Fame meeting in December, the committee members also endorsed President Lori Webb's proposal to induct Frances Crockett Ringley, Charlotte O's general manager, and owner into the league's Hall of Fame.

ALL-DECADE TEAM

The Mississippi Braves, Double-A affiliate of the Atlanta Braves, celebrated the end of the decade by unveiling the All-Decade squad from 2010 to 2019. The criteria for being named to the team are production while playing in Mississippi - weighed equally to results in major league baseball. The players selected were compiled by current and former M-Braves staff, broadcasters, and fans.

We begin with what was the most challenging category to trim to a five-man rotation. Arguably, the Braves have produced the best starting pitchers in baseball for the last three decades. During the decade, no M-Braves pitching staff finished worse than fifth in the Southern League in pitching - ending the year second, four times, and first, twice. These five pitchers have combined for three Futures Game selections, three Baseball America Double-A All-Star selections, three MLB All-Star Selections, and 160 MLB wins.

Ian Anderson - The top pitching prospect for the Atlanta Braves went 7-5 with a 2.68 ERA, 147 strikeouts, 47 walks in 111.0 innings during the 2019 season. Anderson started the 2019 Futures Game in Cleveland, was named a Southern League Midseason All-Star and a Baseball America Double-A All-Star and Braves Minor League Pitcher of the Year. Anderson, who turned 21 in May, limited opponents to a .202 average, the second-lowest mark in the Southern League, while leading the league in strikeouts through August 4. He made the third-most starts in the league, logged the eighth-most innings, and the sixth-best WHIP (1.16). Anderson capped his season combining with Jeremy Walker for a combined no-hitter on June 28, matching Tommy Hanson's club record with 14 strikeouts in a single game.

Mike Minor - The two-time M-Braves Opening Day starter (2010 and 2014) was a no-brainer for this spot, more so because of what he has done since leaving Double-A. Ironically, despite just 15 M-Braves starts, Minor is the only player to make two Opening Day starts for the club. The seventh overall pick in the 2009 draft out of Vanderbilt went 2-6 with a 4.03 ERA in 87.0 innings over 15 starts for the M-Braves, logging 109 strikeouts to just 34 walks over that period. Minor represented the Braves in the 2010 Futures Game.

Minor had an All-Star season in 2019 for the Rangers, joining Lance Lynn on their pitching staff with 200 innings and 200 strikeouts. It's the first Rangers duo to do so since 1990 when Nolan Ryan and Bobby Witt both accomplished the feat. Minor threw 126 pitches in his final start, the most since Yu Darvish threw the same more than five years ago. Since making his major league debut in 2010, Minor has posted a 70-60 record and 3.90 ERA, and six saves over 1,095.2 innings for Kansas City, Texas and Atlanta in 236 games and 170 starts. He has posted 986 strikeouts and 315 walks.

Sean Newcomb - The big left-hander pitched one season for the M-Braves and set the single-season strikeout record with 152 punchouts during the 2016 campaign. He led the league in strikeouts and topped the club in virtually every pitching category. Newcomb made 27 starts and went 8-7 with a 3.86 ERA, 152 strikeouts, 71 walks over 140.0 innings. In three seasons for the Braves, Newcomb is 22-21 with a 3.87 ERA, 333 strikeouts, 167 walks over 332.1 innings in 105 games, and 53 starts. Newcomb finished ninth in the National League in 2018 with a .226 opponents' batting average.

Mike Soroka - Like Newcomb, Soroka made the most of his one season in the Southern League. The right-hander is currently fourth in M-Braves history with a 2.75 ERA, which was second-best during the 2017 campaign. Over 26 starts, he was 11-8 with 125 strikeouts, 34 walks over 153.2 innings pitched; Soroka represented the Braves in the Futures Game and was a Baseball America Double-A All-Star. Soroka posted the longest scoreless streak in club history at 27.1 innings from June 5 to June 15.

In Soroka's first two MLB seasons, he went 15-5 with a 2.79 ERA, 163 strikeouts, 48 walks over 200.1 innings in 34 starts. After a shoulder injury limited his 2018 season, Soroka was named to the Baseball America All-Rookie Team in 2019, was an NL All-Star, and finished third in the NL in ERA at 2.68. His 13 wins were good enough for 10th in the NL. Soroka's 2.68 ERA led all rookies and ranked fifth in the major leagues, and he did it while holding up over 174.2 innings, tied for third-most among rookies. He proved especially adept at keeping the ball in the park. His home run rate of 0.72 per nine innings was the second-lowest in the majors.

Alex Wood - The final starting spot goes to Wood, who only made ten starts for the M-Braves during the 2013 season, but made the most of the opportunities. Wood was 4-2 with a 1.26 ERA, 57 strikeouts, 15 walks over 57.0 innings. Wood was a Southern League Pitcher of the Week and was promoted to Atlanta directly from Mississippi, becoming 13th player to do so in club history. He also worked 19.1 consecutive innings without allowing a run (33.2 IP without giving up an earned run) during his M-Braves tenure.

ALL-DECADE TEAM

On July 30, 2015, in a three-team trade, the Dodgers acquired Wood, Mat Latos, Michael Morse, Bronson Arroyo, Jim Johnson, Luis Avilán, and José Peraza, while the Marlins acquired minor league pitchers Victor Araujo, Jeff Brigham, and Kevin Guzman. The Braves received Héctor Olivera, Paco Rodríguez, minor league pitcher Zachary Bird and a competitive balance draft pick for the 2016 draft. What a trade. His 2017 season began in the bullpen and moved to the rotation after an injury to Rich Hill. He won the National League Player of the Week Award for the week of May 8-14 after he pitched 11 scoreless innings with 21 strikeouts over two starts that week. A few weeks later, he was also awarded the NL Pitcher of the Month Award after he went 5-0 with a 1.27 ERA and 41 strikeouts in May. Wood eventually had his scoreless innings streak snapped at 28 on June 10. On July 5, Wood became the first Dodgers starting pitcher to begin the season 10-0 since Don Newcombe in 1955.

Honorable Mention: Tucker Davidson, Randall Delgado, Scott Diamond Aaron Northcraft, Wes Parsons, Lucas Sims, Julio Teheran

BULLPEN

Brandon Beachy - A 2010 Southern League All-Star, Beachy began the decade by splitting the season between the rotation and the bullpen. The right-hander went 3-1 with a 1.47 ERA over 27 games and six starts, logging one save and posting 100 strikeouts to just 22 walks over 73.2 innings. Beachy moved to the M-Braves rotation in June, and his top performance of the season occurred on July 15 when he struck out 13 of 19 batters against the Huntsville Stars.

Over parts of five seasons at the major league level, Beachy went 14-12 over 48 games with the Braves and Dodgers, posting a 3.36 ERA with 280 strikeouts and 92 walks over 275.2 innings. Beachy was named to the 2011 Baseball America All-Rookie squad after going 7-3 with a 3.68 ERA in 25 starts that season for the Braves.

Ryne Harper - The right-hander appeared in 112 games for the M-Braves from 2013 to 2015 and went 15-9 with an impressive 2.17 ERA, logging 12 saves. He struck out 187 batters and walked just 53 over 165.2 innings. Among qualified pitchers, Harper is the M-Braves all-time leader in ERA (2.17), second in wins (15) and games (112), third in strikeouts (187), and logged 11 saves during the 2013 season.

On December 11, 2015, Harper was sent to the Seattle Mariners to complete an earlier trade for José Ramírez. Harper was called up to the majors for the first time on May 28, 2017. He was outrighted on June 17, 2017, without making an appearance. He elected free agency on November 6, 2017. In 2019, Harper was given a non-roster invitation to Minnesota Twins major-league spring training. Harper made the Twins' Opening Day roster out of spring training. He made his major league debut on March 31, 2019, against the Cleveland Indians, recording one scoreless inning of relief. He got his first career save on May 28 against the Milwaukee Brewers and finished his rookie season 4-2 with a 3.81 ERA over 51 games with 50 strikeouts and ten walks over 54.1 innings.

Jason Hursh - The 2015 Opening Day starter for the M-Braves, Hursh holds the M-Braves career record for innings pitched (236.0), wins (17), appearances (144), starts (41), strikeouts (240) while standing fifth in saves with 17. Over parts of six seasons in Mississippi, Hursh, who retired this past offseason, is 20-19 with a 3.55 ERA over 144 games and 41 starts, logging 240 strikeouts and 125 walks in 365.1 innings. The Madison MS native was a 2019 Southern League All-Star and went 3-3 with a 3.45 ERA and two saves in 34 games this year.

The Braves' first-round selection in 2013 appeared in 11 games for the Atlanta Braves over 2016 and 2017. Being promoted to Atlanta for the second time in 2016, he replaced the injured Bartolo Colon. Hursh posted a 1-0 record with an 8.25 ERA, eight strikeouts, seven walks over 12.0 innings in 2016 and 2017.

Mark Lamm - The 2013 Southern League All-Star is the lone member of this section that did not make a major league debut. Lamm made his mark on the franchise with the second-most appearances (114) and fourth-most saves (21) in club history. Lamm finished 7-11 with a 3.22 ERA and 21 saves over parts of three seasons in Mississippi. Vanderbilt's former sixth-round selection struck out 124 and walked 61 over 114 games and 148.1 innings. Lamm had ten saves and posted a 2.56 ERA 35 games in 2013, earning a promotion to Triple-A Gwinnett late in the season.

Arodys Vizcaino - Vizcaino was traded from the Yankees to the Atlanta Braves with Melky Cabrera, Mike Dunn, and $500,000 in exchange for Javier Vázquez and Boone Logan on December 23, 2009. The hard-throwing right-hander made his way up to Double-A in 2011 and went 2-3 with a 3.62 ERA primarily as a starting pitcher, striking out 62 and walking just 18 over 15 games, eight starts, and 54.2 innings.

Vizcaino was called up to the majors for the first time on August 10, 2011. He made his MLB debut that day, pitching in relief, walking two batters and hitting another in the ninth inning. Vizcaino earned his first MLB win in the Braves' 2-1 extra-inning victory over the San Francisco Giants on August 16. In 17 games with the Atlanta Braves, Vizcaino had a 1-1 record, 4.67 ERA and 17 strikeouts in 17.1 innings. After a stint with the Cubs, the Central Division club traded Vizcaino back to Atlanta in 2014, and three international signing bonus slots to the Braves for Tommy La Stella and an international signing bonus slot. In parts of seven MLB seasons, Vizcaino is 13-11 with a 3.01 ERA, 50 saves, with 218 strikeouts, 90 walks in 206 games over 194.1 innings.

ALL-DECADE TEAM

CATCHERS

Christian Bethancourt - Arguably the best catching prospect of the decade for the Braves, Bethancourt, a native of Panama, went to three straight Futures Games, two of which were in 2012 and 2013, while with the M-Braves. Bethancourt posted big numbers, despite his 2012 season being cut short after breaking his left hand after being hit by a pitch. Over 161 M-Braves games, Bethancourt hit .262 with 26 doubles, 14 home runs, and 77 RBI.

Ironically, Bethancourt played in 161 major league games from 2013 to 2017 for Atlanta and San Diego, batting .222 with 20 doubles, eight homers, and 46 RBI. In 2014, Bethancourt was promoted to the major leagues when fellow All-Decade catcher Evan Gattis went on the disabled list on June 28. He recorded his first major league RBI on July 1 against Daisuke Matsuzaka. Bethancourt hit .240 with the Braves in 13 games and was demoted to the minor leagues on July 21, when Gattis was activated from the disabled list. He was to be promoted back to the Braves on September 2. On December 10, 2015, Bethancourt was traded to the San Diego Padres for right-hander Casey Kelly and Ricardo Rodriguez.

Evan Gattis - The Texan and World Series champion began his 2012 season with a .385 batting average, nine home runs, and 29 RBI in High-A for the Braves and was promoted to Mississippi at the end of April. With Brian McCann starting for the Braves and top prospect Christian Bethancourt regarded as an excellent catcher, Gattis was shifted to left field.

Gattis made 17 appearances behind the plate and 30 appearances in left field for the M-Braves. Gattis was the top power hitter in the league over his Double-A stretch, batting .258 with 13 doubles, four triples, nine home runs, 37 RBI, and .865 OPS in just 49 Southern League games. His numbers made him a Baseball America Double-A All-Star at the end of the season.

The Braves invited Gattis to spring training in 2013 as a non-roster player. With a 19-for-53 (.358) performance in the Grapefruit League and McCann starting the season on the disabled list, the Braves added Gattis to their Opening Day roster to share catching duties with Gerald Laird. On April 3, 2013, Gattis made his major league debut. He recorded his first hit as a major leaguer, a home run off of Roy Halladay, in his second at-bat. He batted .333 in his first eight games, also homering off of Stephen Strasburg. Gattis was named NL Rookie of the Month for April 2013, in which he batted .250 and led all major league rookies with six home runs, a .566 slugging percentage, 16 RBI, and 43 total bases. Gattis hit 43 home runs over his two seasons with the Braves before being traded to Houston in 2015, with James Hoyt for Mike Foltyniewicz, Andrew Thurman, and Rio Ruiz. Battling injuries and another move to left field, Gattis still provided plenty of big moments for the Braves, including being the first catcher in club history to have 20+ homers in his first two seasons. Gattis went on to win a World Series for the Astros in 2017 and finish his career with 139 home runs, 116 doubles, 12 triples, and 410 RBI over 706 MLB games.

Honorable Mention: Matt Kennelly, Braeden Schlehuber, Barrett Kleinknecht

INFILDERERS

Ozzie Albies - The 2016 Southern League batting champ and Baseball America Double-A All-Star hit a club-record .321 for the M-Braves with 22 doubles, seven triples, four home runs, 33 RBI, 21 stolen bases and a .858 OPS over 82 games before a promotion to Triple-A.

The Braves brought up Albies on April 25, 2017, and he made his MLB debut that night at Cincinnati at the age of 20 years, 128 days. He became the youngest player to debut for the Braves since Julio Teheran debuted at the age of 20 years, 100 days on May 7, 2011. The last younger position player was Wilson Betemit in 2001. Albies has posted a .279 career batting average with 92 doubles, 18 triples, 54 homers, 186 RBI, 37 stolen bases, and a .806 OPS in 375 games. The Braves second baseman was a 2018 NL All-Star, 2019 NL Silver Slugger winner, and led the NL in hits in 2019 with 189.

Tommy La Stella - Had La Stella tallied 21 more plate appearances in his 2013 season for the M-Braves, he would have held the Southern League batting title and posted the best average in franchise history. Over 81 games, La Stella hit .343 with 21 doubles, two triples, four homers, 41 RBI, seven steals, and a .896 OPS. After the season, he was named a Topps Double-A All-Star. The former eighth-round selection out of Coastal Carolina posted a club-record 23-game hitting streak from July 5 to August 5.

La Stella debuted at the major league level on May 28, 2014. La Stella hit his first major league home run on August 8 against Stephen Strasburg of the Washington Nationals. He finished the year with a .251 batting average in 93 games. On November 16, 2014, the Braves traded La Stella, along with an international signing bonus slot, to the Chicago Cubs for Aroldys Vizcaino and three international signing bonus slots. Over 476 games with the Braves, Cubs, and Angels, La Stella is a .272 career hitter with 58 doubles, two triples, 26 home runs, and 138 RBI.

ALL-DECADE TEAM

Ernesto Mejia - The only infielder on the All-Decade team to not make a big-league debut is Mejia. Regardless, the power hitter made the most of his 137 games in Mississippi during the 2011 campaign. On September 3, 2011, the first baseman became the M-Braves career home run leader with 25 home runs with a two-homer night. He broke Matt Esquivel (2006-07) and Michael Rosamond's (2005-06) previous number of 24 career home runs. Mejia finished the season with 26, raising the bar for both career and single-season records. The Southern League All-Star is the club's single-season record holder in homers, games (137), hits (148), runs (82), RBI (99), slugging (.531) and OPS (.906).

Tyler Pastornicky - The star shortstop capped off his stellar tenure with the M-Braves by completing the only cycle in club history on July 5, 2011. He did so with an eighth-inning triple to right-center against the Jackson Generals. After striking out in his first at-bat, Pastornicky launched a homer to left in the third inning, singled in the fourth, and doubled in the fifth. He lined out in the seventh before the history-making triple. Pastornicky led the club with five triples and 20 stolen bases during an All-Star season.

On July 15, 2010, the Blue Jays traded Pastornicky along with Álex González and Tim Collins to the Braves for Yunel Escobar and Jo-Jo Reyes. The fifth-round pick of the Jays finished 2010 with Mississippi. In total, he hit .257 in 115 games with 35 stolen bases in 44 attempts. Pastornicky played 2011 mostly with Mississippi but also played 27 games for Triple-A Gwinnett. With Mississippi, he hit .299 in 90 games and stole 20 of 28. He was named to the Southern League All-Star Game. In 127 games in Mississippi, Pastornicky hit .286 with 18 doubles, seven triples, eight home runs, 51 RBI, and 31 stolen bases.

Pastornicky was called up to the majors for the first time on September 28, 2011. He made his major league debut on April 5, 2012, as the Opening Day shortstop for the Braves against the Mets. Pastornicky recorded his first hit that day, a triple off of Ramón Ramírez. He was sent back down to Triple-A Gwinnett and was replaced by Andrelton Simmons, who was called up from Mississippi on June 2. Pastornicky was designated for assignment on January 8, 2015, and never played in the majors again. He posted a .243 MLB batting average with 11 extra-base hits, 15 RBI, and two stolen bases in 124 career games for Atlanta in parts of three seasons.

Andrelton Simmons - The run of top prospect shortstops continued for the M-Braves in 2012 with Simmons. The Braves' second-round selection in 2010 was promoted to Atlanta on May 31 after just 44 games in Double-A. He became the 12th M-Brave to be promoted straight to Atlanta. The youngster made the most out of those 44 games, batting .293 with nine doubles, two triples, three homers, 21 RBI, ten stolen bases, and a .791 OPS.

The Curacao native made his Major League debut on June 2 against the Washington Nationals. He got his first hit, a double, on June 3. Simmons was named National League Rookie of the Month for June 2012 after hitting .333 with six doubles, three home runs, and 14 RBIs. He led all NL rookies in batting average and on-base percentage. The M-Braves alum is a four-time Gold Glove award winner and five-time Wilson Defensive Player of the Year. In 1,030 games for Atlanta and LA, Simmons has a .268 career batting average with 67 homers, 396 RBI, and 65 stolen bases.

Dansby Swanson - It's only fitting that another M-Braves star shortstop is the final member of this list. After 84 games in 2016, the former number one overall pick in 2015 became the 20th M-Brave to be promoted to Atlanta, directly from Pearl. He joined the M-Braves at the end of April and posted a .261 average with 13 doubles, five triples, eight home runs, 45 RBI, six stolen bases and .745 OPS. The former Vandy star represented the M-Braves in the MLB Futures Game and Southern League All-Star Game in 2016.

On August 16, the Braves announced that Swanson would be promoted to the major leagues the next day. Upon his call-up, He went 2-for-4 in his MLB debut, including his first career hit off of Twins pitcher Kyle Gibson. Swanson hit an inside-the-park home run against the Nationals on September 6, his team's first such home run since 2001. With the hit, Swanson followed Paul Runge as the second Brave to make an inside-the-park home run his first career home run. Swanson finished the year in the majors, recording a .302 batting average, .361 on-base percentage, and a .803 OPS.

ALL-DECADE TEAM

Ronald Acuña Jr. - Quite possibly the MVP of the All-Decade squad (since Freddie Freeman and others were 2009 or earlier), Acuña swiftly made his way through the Atlanta farm system on his way to the majors in 2018. Acuña played just 57 games with the M-Braves in 2017, but those two months were possibly the most productive 62 days in club history.

The 19-year-old was twice named Southern League Player of the Week, first earning the honor after batting .560 with six runs and 10 RBI from May 9-14, his first week in the league. He garnered the award again two weeks later after hitting .417/.400/.667 from May 22-28, earning Southern League All-Star honors, despite not playing the first month in the league. Acuña hit .326 with 14 doubles, a triple, nine home runs, 30 RBI, 19 stolen bases, and a .895 OPS for the M-Braves before being promoted to Triple-A Gwinnett on July 13, after participating in the Futures Game.

Acuña was named Minor League Player of the Year by Baseball America and USA Today, Hitting Prospect of the Year by MLB Pipeline.com, and Organizational Player of the Year by the Braves.

Acuña was promoted to Atlanta on April 25, 2018, and made his MLB debut that night at Cincinnati at the age of 20 years, 128 days. Acuña finished his first major league season, hitting .293 with a team-high 26 home runs and a .917 OPS in 111 games. He won the National League Jackie Robinson Rookie of the Year Award, collecting 27 of 30 first-place votes. No player in baseball has more leadoff homers since he entered the league. This past April, he made his third career Opening Day roster after winning his second consecutive Silver Slugger award last season and was a Second Team All-MLB.

Travis Demeritte - In just two seasons with Mississippi, Demeritte set the career home run record with 32 long balls. Splitting time between second base and third base in 2017, he hit 15 home runs in 124 games and hit 17 blasts in 2018 over 128 games as an outfielder. Demeritte became just the fourth M-Braves player since 2005 to record 16 homers in a single season and was named a Southern League All-Star. He led the club in runs (69), extra-base hits (44), home runs (17), RBI (63), total bases (178), games (128), and walks (57). Demeritte had 43 doubles, 11 triples, 32 homers, 108 RBI and a .720 OPS over 252 games.

Demeritte was traded along with Joey Wentz to the Tigers in exchange for Shane Greene in 2019. At the time of the trade, he was hitting .286 with 24 home runs and 74 RBI for Triple-A Gwinnett. On August 1, the Tigers selected Demeritte's contract and promoted him to the major leagues to take the place of outfielder Nicholas Castellanos, who was also traded on July 31. He made his major league debut on August 2 against the team that drafted him, the Rangers, hitting a triple off Lance Lynn for his first MLB hit. On August 8, against the Royals, Demeritte hit his first major league home run. In 169 at-bats for the Tigers, Demeritte hit .225 with three home runs and 10 RBI. Demeritte was signed by the Braves this winter after being DFA'd by the Rangers.

Mallex Smith - Like Acuña, Smith made the most of his time in Mississippi - and then some. Over 57 games at the beginning of 2015, Smith hit .340 with five doubles, two triples, two home runs, 22 RBI, 23 stolen bases, 35 runs scored and a .830 OPS. Smith was named a Southern League All-Star but was promoted to Triple-A before the game was played. Smith came back to Mississippi for five rehab games in 2016 and hit .438.

The Braves promoted Smith to the major leagues on April 11, 2016. He debuted that night against the Nationals, starting in center field, going 1-for-3 in his first game, with a strikeout and a single against Max Scherzer. On January 11, 2017, the Braves traded Smith, along with Shae Simmons, to the Mariners in exchange for minor-league pitchers Luiz Gohara and Thomas Burrows. On November 8, 2018, the Rays traded Smith back to the team that drafted him, the Mariners. In 2019, Smith led the majors with 46 stolen bases and, in 2018, finished second in the AL with 40. He led the league in 2018 with ten triples. In 428 games for the Braves, Rays, and Mariners, Smith is a career .259 batter with 61 doubles, 27 triples, 13 homers, 111 RBI, 118 stolen bases, and a .696 OPS.

ALL-DECADE TEAM

Drew Waters - The All-Decade squad's final member is the only M-Brave ever to be named league MVP and just the second to win the batting title. In 2019, Waters led the Southern League in several offensive categories, despite a promotion to Triple-A Gwinnett on August 5. In 108 M-Braves games, the 20-year-old finished the season by leading the league in batting average (.319), hits (134), doubles (35), triples (9) and extra-base hits (49). He finished among the top ten in slugging (2nd, .481), OPS (2nd, .847), total bases (3rd, 202), runs (T-5th, 63) and OBP (8th, .366).

Waters' MVP award was the first for the franchise since Ryan Klesko and Javy Lopez won league MVP in 1991-92 for the Greenville Braves. Waters was the youngest, at 20, to win MVP since Montgomery's Delmon Young claimed the honor in 2005. He became the first player in the Southern League and Double-A baseball to the 100-hit mark on June 30 and the first player in MLB and MiLB to 120 hits on July 13 in his 89th game. The Woodstock, GA native ended the season with 134 games between Mississippi (108) and Gwinnett (26) ranked among the MiLB leaders in doubles (T-3rd, 40), hits (5th, 163), at-bats (6th, 163), and games (T-7th, 134).

Waters had a league-best 18-game hitting streak in a pitcher's league that began on June 4, batting .417 with eight doubles, two triples, two home runs, nine RBI, 12 runs, four walks, and a .462 OBP. The streaks were the longest this season in the Southern League, and the on-base streak was the third-longest in club history. Waters extended his streak 14 times during his first at-bat.

Honorable Mention: Willie Cabrera, Todd Cunningham, Mycal Jones, Connor Lien, Tyler Neslony, Cristian Pache, Antoan Richardson
