Countless Memories at Hadlock in 2020

The moment that everything shut down last March, the Sea Dogs immediately shifted gears from baseball to how they could help the community and what they could do to stay engaged with fans and create Hadlock memories, despite a lack of baseball. In addition to keeping the Sea Dogs full time staff intact and paying game day employees, below are just a few examples of the ways the Sea Dogs were able to contribute to the community and create memories for fans in 2020.

Sluggo's Homework Challenge

In March and April, the Sea Dogs posted regular quizzes using baseball as a teaching tool to aid teachers and parents with at-home learning.

Blood Drive

Answering the call for a desperate need for blood, The Portland Sea Dogs joined Maine Health to sponsor a "Distance Saves Lives" Blood Drive in partnership with the American Red Cross. Thanks to everyone's efforts, 107 pints of blood were collected.

Food Drive

The Sea Dogs, Maine Red Claws, and Maine Mariners teamed-up to help with the need for food during the pandemic. The "Fans for Food" campaign raised over $6,000 for the Good Shepherd Food Bank to assist those in need.

Home Run for Wishes

The Portland Sea Dogs partnered with Make-A-Wish Maine to host a virtual 5K to fundraise to help Make-A-Wish Maine grant wishes. The event was able to raise $17,390. "During a time when so many fundraising efforts have been impacted by the necessary COVID precautions, we are so grateful to the Portland Sea Dogs for hosting this virtual 5K to benefit Make-A-Wish Maine," said Make-A-Wish Maine President and CEO Kate Vickery. "While many of our wishes are on hold due to travel restrictions, we are still safely granting impactful wishes to children throughout Maine at a time when they need it most. As a longstanding community partner, the Sea Dogs have always stood behind providing this hope to our wish kids and this is a wonderful opportunity that they are extending to others to do the same."

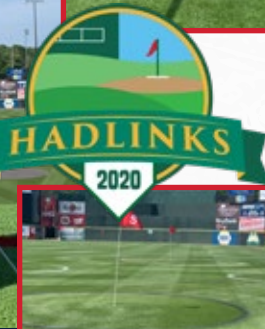

Virtual Sellout

The Sea Dogs partnered with the Maine Children's Cancer Program to attempt virtually selling out Hadlock Field to raise money for the Strike Out Cancer in Kids Program. Through generous donations and sponsorships, the Sea Dogs were able to raise over $20,000 for the Maine Children's Cancer Program.

I Miss Slugger T-Shirts

"I Miss Slugger" t-shirts were created with all of the proceeds benefitting the United Way of Great Portland's COVID Relief Fund. Through these one of kind t-shirt sales, we were able to raise $2,500.

Hadlinks

With no baseball, the Sea Dogs transformed Hadlock Field into the Hadlinks Golf Club, a nine-hole target style golf course. The course was an instant hit selling out within hours, resulting in the Sea Dogs opening the course for additional weekends and corporate outings. Hadlinks will return in 2021. Dates and details will be announced this summer...stay tuned.

Dining on the Diamond

In July and August, the Sea Dogs opened up the ballpark for "Dining on the Diamond". Fans were able to reserve a social distanced table and enjoy a ballpark style dinner right on the Hadlock Field diamond. Sluggerrr stopped by each table for a photo and entertained the crowd with his YMCA performance and 7th inning stretch routine with Take Me Out to the Ballgame. Over the course of the summer, 2,044 people joined us for dinner. If you missed the opportunity to dine at the ballpark last year, it will be returning this season. Look for complete details this summer!

Undefeated T-Shirts

When the Sea Dogs season was officially canceled in June it marked the first time in Sea Dogs history that the Sea Dogs didn't lose a game... Undefeated 2020 Season T-Shirts became the best-selling item for the Sea Dogs in 2020.

Halloween at Hadlock

With many towns cancelling trick-or-treating due to safety concerns, the Portland Sea Dogs stepped up to deliver a safe trick-or-treating experience for fans of all ages. As fans walked the warning track at Hadlock Field, pre-wrapped candy was delivered through PVC piping, to allow for proper social distancing, at various stops throughout the ballpark. Fans were also able to take socially distanced photos with various costumed characters including Old Port Batman and Batgirl.

COVID-19 HEALTH & SAFETY PROTOCOLS

Face Masks Required

In addition to Sea Dogs' staff members, all attendees two years and older must wear a face mask at all times when at the ballpark, except when eating or drinking at their specific ticketed seats. Face masks must cover the mouth and nose. Fans who don't comply will not be permitted at Hadlock Field.

Physical Distancing

Guests are required to practice physical distancing (6 feet apart) inside and outside of Hadlock Field including the concourse, souvenir store, restrooms, and front plaza.

Bag Restriction Policy

Fans are strongly encouraged to leave bags at home to reduce points of contact during the security screening process. The Sea Dogs will permit medical bags, manufactured diaper bags that accompany infants and young children, and 4.5" x 6.5" clutch purses for personal items. We ask that guests only bring necessary items and keep track of their personal belongings at all times.

The Buffer Zone

There will be a 12-foot buffer between the field and seats in areas where players commonly are (dugout, bullpen, on-deck circle) to help protect fans from players and vice versa.

Enhanced Cleaning Procedures

Enhanced daily cleaning procedures include frequent wipe downs of high-touch areas such as countertops, railings, doorknobs, and elevators, nightly disinfection of all interior areas, and frequent trash removal. Use of EPA-certified cleaning products with reduced dwell times. Restrooms cleaned multiple times throughout each game.

Hand Sanitizer

Hand sanitizer stations, presented by Maine Medical Center, will be available at various stations throughout the stadium including all entrances, concourses, and restrooms for staff and guest use. Staff and guests are encouraged to wash their hands and use hand sanitizer frequently.

Mobile Food Ordering

Mobile food ordering will be used exclusively for concessions at Hadlock Field in 2021 to avoid lines and to maintain social distancing. Order your food and beverages online and have them delivered directly to your seat. All orders are cashless and must be paid online with a credit or debit card.

Mobile Merchandise Ordering

The Sea Dogs souvenir store has reduced capacity. Now you can shop directly from your seat. Order Sea Dogs merchandise online and have it delivered right to your seat.

Mainers have Major League Impact

As the state of Maine recently celebrated its bicentennial, we take a look at the impact that Mainers have had in Major League Baseball. 78 Maine born players have appeared in the Major Leagues. For a northern state with a short baseball season and a small population, Mainers have had a significant impact in Major League Baseball both on and off the field. Here is a look at 20 of them...

Jim Beattie

Beattie attended South Portland High School where he starred in baseball and basketball. The right-handed pitcher had a nine-year Major League career with the Yankees (1978-1979) and the Seattle Mariners (1980-1986). After his playing career, he served as the General Manager of the Montreal Expos from 1995 to 2001 and the Baltimore Orioles General Manager along with Mike Flanagan from 2003 to 2005. He most recently served as a scout with the Blue Jays, retiring in 2018.

Del Bissonette

Bissonette, a Winthrop native, played five years in the Major Leagues from 1928-1933, all with Brooklyn, and hit 66 home runs in 604 career games. On April 21, 1930, he became the first player in Major League history to hit a bases-loaded triple and a grand slam in the same game. In 1945 he managed the Boston Braves. Among the managerial and coaching positions that he held over the years, he served as manager of the Portland Pilots of the Class B New England League in 1947.

Mike Bordick

Although Bordick was not born in Maine, he spent much of his childhood in Maine and attended Hampden Academy and the University of Maine. Bordick played 14 seasons in the Major Leagues with the Athletics (1990-1996), Orioles (1997-2000, 2001-2002), Mets (2000), and Blue Jays (2003), where he hit .260 in 1,720 games. He was selected to the American League All-Star team in 2000. Bordick set records for most consecutive error-less games (110) and chances (543) by a shortstop. He was inducted into the Maine Baseball Hall of Fame in 2005 and the Baltimore Orioles Hall of Fame in 2011.

Brian Butterfield

Butterfield, an Orono native, has 40 years of professional baseball experience. The second baseman spent five seasons as a minor league player from 1979-1983 in the Yankees and Padres system before getting into coaching. He has coached both at the minor league and major levels, coaching for the Yankees (1984-1995, 2001-2002), Diamondbacks (1998-2000), Blue Jays (2002-2012), served as the Red Sox third base coach from 2013-2017, and the Cubs (2018-2019). He has served as the Angels infield/ third base coach since 2020.

Bill Carrigan

Carrigan was a catcher and manager for the Boston Red Sox. He had a ten-year playing career from 1906 to 1916, spending the last four years as a player-manager. He led the Red Sox to back-to-back World Series Championships in 1915 and 1916, the only Red Sox manager to accomplish the feat in franchise history. As a player, he was the first American League catcher to be behind the plate for three no-hitters. He was inducted into the Red Sox Hall of Fame in 2004.

John Cumberland

The Westbrook native broke into the big leagues at the age of 21 with the New York Yankees. A left-handed pitcher who spent six years in the Major Leagues with the Yankees, Giants, Cardinals, and Angels, Cumberland produced a 15-16 record with a 3.52 ERA in 110 games from 1968-1974. In his coaching career, he served as the Boston Red Sox pitching coach from 1995-2001.

Ryan Flaherty

Ryan, a Portland native and graduate of Deering High School where he was the Gatorade High School Player of the Year for Maine, had an eight-year Major League career with the Orioles, Braves, and Indians appearing in 859 games. On October 10, 2012, Flaherty hit a home run in Game 3 of the 2012 American League Division Series, becoming the first Maine born player to hit a home run in the MLB postseason. After the 2019 season, Flaherty became an advance scout and development coach for the San Diego Padres. He is the son of legendary University of Southern Maine Coach Ed Flaherty.

Flaherty appeared in three games at Hadlock Field in 2017 on a rehab assignment with the Bowie Baysox.

Dave Littlefield

Portland native, Dave Littlefield, is currently the Vice President of Player Development for the Detroit Tigers, an organization that he has been with since 2014. Before joining the Tigers, he spent seven seasons in the Cubs organization as a Special Assistant to the General Manager and Major League scout. Previously, he spent seven seasons as the General Manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. In 2002 the Pirates, under Littlefield's leadership, were named the Topps Organization of the Year. He also served as the Marlins Assistant General Manager from 1999-2001, at the time the Sea Dogs were a Marlins affiliate.

Pete Ladd

Ladd was born in Portland and attended the University of Massachusetts and the University of Mississippi. The Red Sox drafted Ladd in the 25th round of the 1977 draft, but traded him to the Houston Astros in 1979 in a deal involving Bob Watson. Ladd pitched in parts of six major league seasons with the Houston Astros, Milwaukee Brewers, and the Seattle Mariners. The righty appeared in 205 games and notched a career-high 25 saves in 1983.

Harry Lord

The Porter native attended Bates College, where he was a pitcher on the team. Lord made his major league debut with the Boston Americans in 1907, after stops in the minor leagues with Worcester (New England League) and Providence (Eastern League). In 1908, the Americans changed their name to the Red Sox, and Lord was on the roster, hitting .259 with 23 stolen bases in 145 games. Lord finished his career by playing four years with the Chicago White Sox (1910-14), before managing in the minors. During his post-baseball career, Lord was involved in several business ventures in Portland.

Stump Merrill

Stump has been a fixture in the Yankees system since 1978 when he became the manager for West Haven of the Eastern League. The Brunswick native earned the nickname "Stump" from his UMaine coach Jack Butterfield. Merrill began his baseball career as a catcher for the Maine Black Bears, where he also played football and earned a degree in physical education. The Philadelphia Phillies selected him in the 1966 free-agent draft. Stump took over as Yankees Manager in 1990 when Bucky Dent was fired, and managed the entire 1991 season.

Kevin Rand

Rand, a Cape Elizabeth native and graduate of Bowdoin College, is currently the Senior Director, Medical Services for the Detroit Tigers, a position he has held since November 2017. Before being promoted to his current role, he served as the Tigers Head Athletic Trainer since 2002. Rand has been in professional baseball for 39 years, 18 with the Tigers organization. Rand was the Head Athletic Trainer for the 2005 American League All-Star team. He was inducted into the Maine Sports Hall of Fame in 2018. His father, Leroy, served as the Sea Dogs official scorer from 1994 to 2001.

Mark Rogers

The Harpswell native attended Mt. Ararat High School and pitched four years for the Eagles and had his number eight retired in 2012. The Milwaukee Brewers selected Rogers with the fifth overall pick in the 2004 draft, and he made his major league debut on September 10, 2010. Rogers went 3-1, 3.92 ERA in 11 games/9 starts during 2010 and 2012 with Milwaukee. On July 29, 2012, Rogers was traded to the Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim, and he would later sign with Seattle and Texas.

Louis Sockalexis

Sockalexis often identified as the first person of Native American ancestry to play in the majors. The former outfielder grew up on the Penobscot Indian reservation near Old Town, and made his Major League debut with the Cleveland Spiders in 1897. Additionally, it is said that Sockalexis and his father entertained crowds at the Bangor Race Track by playing catch across the entire track. He attended High School in Van Buren's St. Mary's.

Each defensive position is represented by a number 1-9, illustrated in the diagram above. Use the symbols in the table to the left to record what happens in each batter's plate appearances. Use the position number to record which defensive player makes each out or error. If multiple defensive players touch the ball, write the position number of each player involved in the order that the players touched the ball. As the runner advances, fill in the basepaths to show how far he reached. If he scores, fill in the diamond. In the example scorecard on the right, Benintendi leads off with a walk, and then steals second base. Devers then hits a home run, scoring Benintendi from second base. Chavis hits a ground ball to the shortstop, who throws it to the first baseman to record the first out. Mars hits a single, and De La Guerra grounds out to the third baseman, who starts a double play to end the inning. In the second inning, Bradley leads off with a double.

Mascot Webster the Duck

@WebsterinAkron

Webster the Duck was unveiled as the new Akron mascot on Opening Day of the 2014 season, joining Orbit the Space Cat and Homer the Pigeon as the official mascots of the RubberDucks. Nominations for the new mascot's name were submitted by the fans, who then voted between five finalists: Bill, Quackers, Rubberto, Tread, and Webster. Webster was selected as the winning name - over 4,000 votes submitted online.

Fun Facts

Changed their name from the Akron Aeros to the Akron RubberDucks in the fall of 2013. The new moniker represents the City of Akron's nickname; the Rubber City, as Akron once housed all four major rubber companies and is still home to Goodyear and the Bridgestone/Firestone Technology Center. | Former Red Sox Manager John Farrell served as the Indians Director of Player Development from 2001 to 2006. | Akron, Ohio is the hometown of LeBron James, Thurman Munson and Mike Vrabel.

Mascot Loco

 @party_with_loco

Altoona introduced a brand new mascot in 2016, Loco the Golden Locatami. According to legend, the Golden Locatami were creatures native to the Allegheny Mountains with golden-yellow fur who helped boost morale and create a fun, high-energy atmosphere for railroad workers building the Horseshoe Curve in Altoona. Steamer, Altoona's former mascot who retired after the 2015 season and is now the team's CFO (Chief Fun Officer), found Loco while making his way around the Horseshoe Curve during his farewell tour in 2015. He taught Loco everything he knows about being a mascot.

Fun Facts

The Curve are named after a historic nearby 2,375 foot horseshoe curve in the railroad tracks that winds through the Allegheny Mountains. | Altoona's ballpark features a roller coaster in right field, part of Lakemont Park. | Altoona's leading hitter in 2012, Brock Holt, was traded to the Boston Red Sox in the deal that also sent closer Joel Hanrahan to the Red Sox.

He also has 12 years of prior minor league managerial experience.

Mascot Rowdy the Pony

@RowdythePony

Rowdy, a fierce rumbling carousel horse, is ready to entertain fans at NYSEG Stadium in 2019. Prior to the 2018 season, the Binghamton Rumble Ponies introduced their new mascot to the Southern Tier without a name on Parade Day, the city's annual celebration for St. Patrick's Day. Rowdy was selected as the team's inaugural mascot after 1,000 fan submissions, the team narrowed down their five finalists to Bing, Buster, Ross, Rowdy, and Rumbleton. The anticipation built following another fan vote. The new mascot was christened "Rowdy" at the Meet the Ponies dinner days before Opening Day.

Fun Facts

On November 3, 2016, the Binghamton Mets become the Binghamton Rumble Ponies. The winning name submission came from Nicole, of Binghamton. Her inspiration for Rumble Ponies came from "The Carousel," a children's book written by Binghamton University professor Liz Rosenberg about carousel horses that sleep in the winter, but come to life in the spring. | In December of 2015, the B-Mets were sold by their owners of 22 years to Evans Street Baseball, Inc. New team owner John Hughes pledged to keep the Mets in Binghamton after a previous group had tried to buy the team with the intention of moving them to Wilmington, Delaware. | Portland fires a no-hitter for the second time in team history at Binghamton on April 25, 2019. Kyle Hart (6.2 IP), Daniel McGrath (1.1 IP), and Adam Lau (1.0) combined on the historic bid.

Manager Buck Britton (2nd year)

Reigning Eastern League Manager of the Year Buck Britton returns to Bowie for his second season managing the Baysox. Britton led the Baysox to the Second Half Western Division title and eventually to the Eastern League Championship Series, the second ELCS appearance in franchise history. Britton made his managerial debut with Class-A Delmarva in 2018, after beginning his coaching career in 2017 as the Hitting Coach for the Shorebirds. He played nine seasons in the minors, including seven in the Orioles organization.

Mascot Louie

Louie, the longtime Baysox mascot, is a 6-foot-6-inch Muppet-like creature with green fur and pink hair. He serves as the Mayor or Louieville, MD, the "Kids Capital". In 2011, he was joined by Rocko, a cross between a Rockfish and an Oyster Toad Fish, which both thrive in the nearby Chesapeake Bay. The name Rocko was selected by a fan vote that featured over 1,500 entries.

Fun Facts

Bowie won its first Eastern League Championship in 2015, defeating the Reading Fightin Phils three games to two in the Championship Series. Former Sea Dog Joe Gunkel, who was traded in the middle of the 2015 season, started the fifth and deciding game for Bowie and allowed one run in four innings. Bowie right fielder Mike Yastrzemski, grandson of Carl, went 2-for-4 with two doubles. | In their inaugural season in 1993, the Baysox played their home games as old Memorial Stadium in Baltimore. A handful of games were also played at the University of Maryland and the Naval Academy. | Former Sea Dog and current Red Sox LHP Eduardo Rodriguez started the 2014 season with the Bowie Baysox but was traded to Boston on July 31st for Andrew Miller, and joined Portland.

Official 1949 Portland Pilots Program & Scorecard, the team captured the New England League Governor's Cup and was the last professional baseball team in Portland until the Sea Dogs arrived in 1994.

The Portland Paramounts played in the Eastern League in 1917. The club was owned by Hiram Abrams, president of the Paramount Pictures organization. The Paramounts finished in sixth place in their only campaign. Portland was far removed from the rest of the members of the league, an issue given World War I travel restrictions. The franchise was transferred to Providence prior to the 1918 season.

Former Sea Dogs Manager Arnie Beyeler was named the 18th manager in SeaWolves history in 2020. He replaces Mike Rabelo who led the club 2019.

Beyeler, a native of Moab UT, spent the 2019 season as the first base coach for the Baltimore Orioles. 2020 will mark the 29th professional season for Beyeler as a manager, coach or scout. Prior to his post with the Orioles, he managed the Miami Marlins Triple-A club for three seasons (2016-18). Beyeler was the Red Sox first base coach when the team won the World Series in 2013.

Beyeler spent six seasons in the minor leagues with the Tigers from 1986-1991, reaching Triple-A Toledo. He remained in the Tigers organization following his playing career, assuming the role as an Area Scout from 1992-1996.

Beyeler resides in Atlantic Beach, FL, and has two children (Jordan and Brady). He graduated from Wichita State University where he earned All-Conference honors in three seasons from 1984-86 and was named to the All-Region team in 1985.

BOSTON RED SOX TOP 10 PROSPECTS

Young position talent headlines a system on the mend from myriad trades

by ALEX SPEIER

1. TRISTON CASAS, 1B

AGE: 21. B-T: L-R. HT: 6-5. WT: 245. DRAFTED: HS—Plantation, Fla., 2018 (1st round). SIGNED BY: Willie Romay.

TRACK RECORD: Casas combined elite power in high school with a surprisingly mature approach that became evident against advanced competition in showcase events and playing for USA Baseball's 18U National Team. The Red Sox drafted Casas 26th overall in 2018 and signed him for just over $2.5 million. After most of his 2018 pro debut was wiped out following a strained thumb ligament, his 2019 minor league season didn't disappoint. He joined Xander Bogaerts as the only Red Sox teenagers in more than half a century to hit 20 or more homers in one year and ranked as the top infield prospect in the low Class A South Atlantic League. Casas was set to open 2020 in high Class A before the coronavirus pandemic wiped out the minor league season, and he joined the team's alternate training site in late August. He arrived in tremendous shape and ready to hit against more experienced pitchers.

SCOUTING REPORT: Casas already has the size and strength to launch moonshots from left-center to right field. He has some swing-and-miss to his game, like most big power hitters, but he's shown the self-awareness and aptitude to cover holes. That trait was evident at the alternate site, where he showed an improved ability to turn on and backspin velocity on the inner half, while continuing to drive pitches away to the opposite field. That all-fields approach is evidence of a player committed to being more than an all-or-nothing hitter. Casas, who considers Joey Votto a model, spreads out his stance and chokes up with two strikes. His strike-zone awareness ranks among the best in the system. While Casas was drafted as a third baseman, his future is at first base, where he has a chance to be at least an above-average defender given his wingspan and solid arm strength. Casas is uncommonly mature, showing both an interest in feedback while also having the self-understanding to filter what works for him. He has worked out with big leaguers in South Florida for years, something that helped him remain unfazed against older competition.

THE FUTURE: Casas made a compelling case to open 2021 at Double-A with his performance at the alternate site. Some in the organization believe he is sufficiently advanced to fast track to the majors by the end of the season. Even if Casas travels a more conservative time frame, team officials believe he will become a middle-of-the-lineup staple for years to come. In an era where first basemen are rarely considered top prospects, Casas has an offensive ceiling that allows him to fit the bill.

AGE: 22. B-T: R-R. HT: 5-11. WT: 180. DRAFTED: HS—Miami Gardens, 2017 (1st round supp). SIGNED BY: Hector Otero (Reds).

TRACK RECORD: The Reds traded Downs to the Dodgers before the 2019 season, and when the Red Sox pivoted away from Brusdar Graterol in the Mookie Betts blockbuster, Los Angeles shipped him to Boston prior to spring training in 2020. Downs made his Red Sox debut at the alternate training site and was one of the team's top performers in Pawtucket.

SCOUTING REPORT: Downs has an efficient swing with impressive whip, driving the ball from gap to gap for doubles and homers. His bat speed buys time for good pitch recognition, allowing him both to manage the strike zone and identify pitches to drive. Downs has crushed lefthanders while doing enough against righties to suggest a potential regular. While he's mainly spent time at shortstop, his solid but unspectacular range suggests a future at second base. Downs features average speed that plays up with his excellent baseball IQ and strong feel for the game.

THE FUTURE: Downs could open 2021 in Triple-A with a solid spring and will be part of Boston's depth equation. With offense down at second base across the majors in recent years, Downs projects as an above-average regular at the position with a chance to be an all-star.

AGE: 25. B-T: R-R. HT: 6-4. WT: 225. DRAFTED: Arizona, 2016 (4th round). SIGNED BY: Vaughn Williams.

TRACK RECORD: Dalbec's elite power made him first-round candidate in the 2016 draft, but his struggles as a junior caused him to slide to the fourth round.

The Red Sox signed the two-way standout for $650,000. He made that slide look misguided in pro ball with a combined 59 home runs in 2018 and '19. He continued that power display with eight home runs in 19 games in his big league debut.

SCOUTING REPORT: Dalbec has massive all-fields power with enough strength and leverage to allow even some mis-hits to leave the yard to right field. He also has sizable holes for big league pitchers to exploit, both on elevated fastballs as well as breaking balls and offspeed pitches below the zone. The cerebral Dalbec posted a 42.4 percent strikeout rate in the big leagues but has shown the ability to adjust and lower his strikeout rate throughout his pro career. While Dalbec spent most of his time at first base in Boston, he continues to be somewhat stiff there and remains a work in progress. He is more natural at third base, where he is a solid defender and his arm plays as double-plus—but he's blocked by Rafael Devers.

THE FUTURE: Dalbec's first exposure to the majors validated the impression he can become a valuable power hitter and corner infielder. He'll open 2021 back in Boston.

4. BRYAN MATA, RHP

AGE: 21. B-T: R-R. HT: 6-3. WT: 225. SIGNED: 2016, Venezuela. SIGNED BY: Alex Requena/Eddie Romero.

TRACK RECORD: Signed for just $25,000 during the 2015-16 international signing period, Mata quickly emerged as one of the organization's top pitching prospects. After reaching Double-A in 2019, he made his way to the alternate training site in 2020 and solidified his standing as the pitcher with the best pure stuff in Boston's system.

SCOUTING REPORT: Mata has a diverse arsenal of pitches anchored by a mid-to-high-90s two-seam fastball and a nasty slider that tunnels well off his two-seamer. His two-seamer and slider have the shape and power of plus offerings or better, eliciting bad contact and swings and misses. His four-seamer, changeup and curveball are inconsistent but create options to attack righties and lefties in different parts of the zone. Below-average control remains the focus of Mata's development, but he has improved, dropping his walk rate from 7.3 per nine innings in 2018 to 3.6 per nine in 2019. To continue that progress, Mata adjusted his delivery at the alternate site in hopes that fewer moving parts will result in a more consistent attack.

THE FUTURE: Mata's combination of big stuff but below-average control suggests a No. 3 or 4 starter. He has a chance to put himself on the radar as a major league depth option in 2021.

5. JARREN DURAN, OF AGE: 24. B-T: L-R. HT: 6-2. WT: 200.

DRAFTED: Long Beach State, 2018 (7th round). SIGNED BY: Justin Horowitz.
TRACK RECORD: In college, Duran was a second baseman whose speed and offensive performance pointed to bottom-of-the-order or utility skills. Area scout Justin Horowitz believed Duran had more potential based on his bat life and strength and that he could unlock greater defensive impact in the outfield. In his first full season, Duran raced to Double-A Portland, then made offseason swing adjustments that led to eight home runs at the alternate training site.

SCOUTING REPORT: Duran's swing was originally calibrated to take advantage of his plus-plus speed with a flat bat path that resulted in grounders and liners to all fields. Duran has since lowered his hands in his stance, an alteration that allowed him to keep a clear path to turn on inside pitches. With more aggressive swings may come an uptick in strikeouts, but Duran's plus-plus speed and ability to spray liners on two-strike counts should help sustain solid batting averages. Duran relies more on speed than route efficiency to track balls in the outfield but has shown enough improvement to convince the Red Sox that he has a future in center. His arm is below-average.

THE FUTURE: Duran's speed gives him an avenue to the majors. If his swing adjustments hold, he could become a dynamic power-speed threat.

AGE: 22. B-T: L-L. HT: 6-6. WT: 250.
DRAFTED: HS—Barnegat, N.J., 2016 (1st round). SIGNED BY: Ray Fagnant.
TRACK RECORD: One of the top high school talents in the 2016 draft, Groome has pitched just 66 minor league innings due to injuries, including having Tommy John surgery that wiped out his 2018 season and most of 2019. The Red Sox sent him to their alternate training site in 2020 to get innings, and he held his own against more advanced hitters while offering a reminder of why he'd been so highly-regarded as an amateur.

SCOUTING REPORT: Groome has the raw materials of a lefthanded starter, including a powerful build, a controlled, repeatable delivery and giant hands that allow him to manipulate the ball. He typically works at 92-94 mph with his four-seamer, and the deception in his delivery resulted in lots of whiffs on fastballs at the alternate site. The plus-plus curveball he featured pre-Tommy John has not come back, but still flashes above-average to plus. Groome emphasized his changeup while rehabbing, and the pitch projects as average. He's also started experimenting with a slider, and could feature either that or a cutter as a fourth pitch.

THE FUTURE: Groome possesses mid-rotation potential but still has a lot to prove, including whether he can stay healthy over a full season. He'll likely open 2021 in high Class A.

7. GILBERTO JIMENEZ, OF AGE: 20. B-T: B-R. HT: 5-11. WT: 220.

SIGNED: Dominican Republic, 2017.
SIGNED BY: Eddie Romero/Manny Nanita.
TRACK RECORD: Jimenez signed for just $10,000 out of the Dominican Republic but quickly surpassed many players who signed for more. He began switch-hitting after signing with the Red Sox and was a stand-out in the college-heavy short-season New York-Penn League as an 18-year-old. The 2020 season, unfortunately, represented a lost year of development.

SCOUTING REPORT: Jimenez represents one of the most intriguing talents in the Red Sox organization: a player with the athleticism, strength, hand-eye coordination and elite speed to perform well even while learning. He is still developing his swing path after a choppy approach to the ball resulted in a 64% percent groundball rate in 2019. Nonetheless, his sub-four seconds times to first base allow him to turn many of those grounders into hits, particularly from the left side. Jimenez is still learning to hit lefthanded but hit .374 against righties in 2019, and all three of his homers came while hitting lefthanded. His plus-plus speed and arm strength suggest impact potential both on the bases and in center or right field.

THE FUTURE: The 2021 season should offer Jimenez his first exposure to full-season ball. There's a lot of development left, but he has a ceiling rivaled by few in the system.

AGE: 24. B-T: R-R. HT: 6-5. WT: 220.
DRAFTED: Missouri, 2017 (1st round). SIGNED BY: Todd Gold.
TRACK RECORD: When the Red Sox drafted Houck, they believed he had the athleticism and aptitude to add to his sinker/slider and emerge as a starter. In 2020, Houck made good on that belief as he refined his delivery and pitch mix over two months at the alternate training site and made a dazzling big league debut with one earned run over 17 innings while dominating three playoff teams.

SCOUTING REPORT: Houck quieted his crossfire delivery at the alternate site to establish better direction to home plate. He also raised his low three-quarters arm slot a tick, establishing a better release point for his 90-93 mph sinker, 92-94 four-seamer and low-80s slider. After struggling for much of his career to handle lefthanded hitters, Houck shelved his changeup in favor a splitter, which he rarely used in the big leagues but shows potential as a viable third pitch. He demonstrated excellent poise in the majors and adapted well to whatever was working, alternately emphasizing his two- and four-seam fastballs while displaying a wipeout slider against which hitters were 0-for-15 with 10 strikeouts.

THE FUTURE: Houck put himself in position to open 2021 in the big league rotation with his debut performance. The development of his splitter will likely determine his career path.

9. NICK YORKE, 2B

AGE: 19. B-T: R-R. HT: 6-0. WT: 200.
DRAFTED: HS—San Jose, 2020 (1st round). SIGNED BY: Josh Labandeira.
TRACK RECORD: The Red Sox stunned the industry when they drafted Yorke with the 17th overall pick last June, but the team had years of familiarity.

Area scout Josh Labandeira believed Yorke's ability to drive the ball to center and right-center at an early age harbored similarities to what he'd seen in the minors playing against David Wright. The Red Sox signed Yorke for a below-slot $2.7 million bonus and invited him to the alternate training site, where he reached base in seven of 10 plate appearances.

SCOUTING REPORT: There is an ease about Yorke in the batter's box, where his quickly accelerating bat allows him an extra beat to recognize pitches and make smart swing decisions. He barrels balls to the entire field, creating the potential for high batting averages and on-base percentages with high extra-base hits totals. Yorke added 15 pounds of muscle his senior season to add more power to his game, but he always projects to hit for average over power. While Yorke will move off his high school position of shortstop, the Red Sox believe he can stay in the middle of the diamond at second base.

THE FUTURE: Yorke should open 2021 in low Class A. The Red Sox believe his advanced bat and uncommon maturity could allow him to jump on the fast track.

10. THAD WARD, RHP

AGE: 23. B-T: R-R. HT: 6-3. WT: 192.
DRAFTED: Central Florida, 2018 (5th round). SIGNED BY: Stephen Hargett.
TRACK RECORD: Ward was largely overlooked as a swingman who worked chiefly out of the bullpen at Central Florida. The Red Sox thought he had the ability to emerge as at least a reliever and might be able to start, so they took a flier on him in the fifth round in 2018. Ward rewarded that decision with a standout 2019 season in which both his ERA (2.14) and strikeout rate (11.2 per nine innings) were among the best in the minors by any pitcher who threw at least 100 innings. He spent the canceled 2020 season working out on his own and developing a changeup.

SCOUTING REPORT: Thanks to strength gains in pro ball, Ward's sinker ticked up from a low-90s offering to a 93-96 mph pitch in 2019. Both that pitch and a cutter he developed in 2019 allow him to miss barrels and generate bad contact early in counts. Ward's mid-80s slider is his putaway pitch. While those three pitches are his primary options, Ward is willing to employ additional pitches—including a four-seamer and changeup—to further unbalance opponents and to give him game-planning options. He has an easy delivery but struggles with walks at times.

THE FUTURE: Ward likely will open 2021 in Double-A. He has back-of-the-rotation potential.

LIFE THREW HIM A CURVEBALL, HE FIRED BACK WITH A STRIKE OF HIS OWN.

It was supposed to be a day of celebration. Spirit Eagle had handed in his letter of retirement just hours before, when he collapsed on the stairs in his home. His wife recognized the signs of a stroke and called 9-1-1. A team at Maine Medical Center was waiting for him when he arrived by ambulance. After administering a clot-busting drug and performing surgery to remove the rest, Spirit's medical team had him on his way to a full recovery. Less than a month later, Spirit was back to celebrating. He even threw out the first pitch at a Sea Dogs game—using the arm that had once gone numb. Through MaineHealth, you are connected to better.

Manager Cesar Martin (1st year)

After leading the Advanced-A Dunedin Blue Jays to a first-place finish (80-55) in 2019, Manager Cesar Martin makes the move to New Hampshire in 2021.

Dunedin won division titles in the first and second half of last season, and led the Florida State League with a .339 on-base percentage, 165 stolen bases, 220 doubles and 4.5 runs per game. On the mound, the D-Jays ranked third in ERA (3.29), second in shutouts (19), and second in fewest walks allowed (369).

Martin, 40, was voted 2019 Florida State League Manager of the Year for his work at the Advanced-A level. Following the 2019 season, Martin was named manager of the Scottsdale Scorpions in the prestigious Arizona Fall League, where he worked with Fisher Cats infielders Cullen Large, Logan Warmoth and Kevin Smith

Like 2018 Fisher Cats manager and current Blue Jays major league coach John Schneider, Martin has steadily risen through the Blue Jays organization over the last few years. He managed the Class-A Lansing Lugnuts for two seasons, and earned a promotion to Dunedin after an 80-60 campaign in 2018.

Mascot Fungo

Fungo the Fisher Cat was born in the woodlands of New Hampshire and has been with the team since the beginning in 2004. He enjoys fishing on Lake Winnepesaukee, eating ballpark food, and spending time in Burlington, VT, listening to his favorite band Phish. Fungo's favorite cousin, Slider, is originally from Dunedin, FL, but had to come to New Hampshire when he heard about how much fun Fungo was having. They're joined by Ollie the Golden Retriever, Ram of War, Tooth Fairy and Molly the Molar, and "His Roliness" the Rah-Lee Llama.

Fun Facts

The Fisher Cats' largest home crowd in franchise history, of 8,903, came on May 26, 2009 against the Portland Sea Dogs. John Smoltz was Portland's starting pitcher, appearing with the team on a Major League rehab assignment. The righty allowed one run on three hits over three and one-third innings. Manager Shawn Williams (2nd year)

Williams returns to Reading for his second season, after leading the club to a playoff berth in 2019. In 2018, the Threshers won the second-half title in the Florida State League North Division. Over the past two seasons, Williams led the Threshers to a 144-131 record. Prior to his time in Clearwater, Williams also managed in Lakewood (A) for two seasons (2015-2016). He joined the Phillies player developmental staff in 2014 as a manager for Williamsport (A). Mascot Crazy Hot Dog Vendor

@CrazyHotDogVndr

The Fightin' Phils have 5 mascots who together form their own band. The members include Screwball (Captain and drummer), Quack the Duck (lead singer), Blooper the Hound Dog (lead guitar), Change-Up the Turtle (bongos), and Bucky the Beaver (left-handed, upside-down bass). They play a set in the pavilion before each Reading home game. Fans also love the Crazy Hot Dog Vendor, who comes out every game during the second inning riding his ostrich Rodrigo and flinging hot dogs into the stands.

Fun Facts

Former Reading manager Dusty Wathan and his brother Derek both played for the Portland Sea Dogs in 2001. They are the only brothers in Sea Dogs franchise history to have been teammates. | Reading has been the AA affiliate of the Phillies since 1967 and is tied with the Lakeland Flying Tigers for the longest affiliation in all of Minor League Baseball.

Manager Jose Alguacil (2nd year)

Alguacil was the Flying Squirrels' manager in 2015 and led the team to a 72-68 record, the third-best mark in the franchise's history and its most recent season with a winning record.

The 2020 season marks Alguacil's 14th overall with the Giants organization. He spent the last three seasons as the Giants' first base coach while also overseeing bunting instruction and assisting with infield defense and baserunning.

As a player, Alguacil signed with the Giants as an infielder in 1993. He played nine professional seasons in the minors and independent leagues, spending time with the Giants and Chicago White Sox organizations.

Following his playing career, Alguacil served as an instructor in the minors for the Montreal Expos from 2002-03. He began his managerial career in 2004 with the Vermont Expos, Montreal's short-season Single-A affiliate in the New York-Penn League. He remained with the organization as it transitioned to becoming the Washington Nationals in 2005 as a minor league infield coordinator. Alguacil, a native of Caracas, Venezuela, joined the Giants as a roving infield instructor in 2007 and held that role for eight years prior to being appointed as Richmond's manager in 2015. He managed the Triple-A Sacramento River Cats in 2016 before being named to the major league staff the following year.

Mascot Nutzy the Flying Squirrel

Nutzy is one of the most recognizable figures in the Richmond community, making hundreds of appearances throughout the city during the year. He of course continues to be a fixture at The Diamond, but is also a regular at area schools, charitable functions and anywhere else there is a need for a superhero!

On April 14 2016, Nutasha took the field for the first time, joining Nutzy in the Opening Day festivities. Nutasha's name was selected by the fans after thousands of votes submitted through the Richmond Times-Dispatch. Nutzy and his pal Nutasha enjoy helping fans have the best possible experience in and outside of The Diamond. From their 71 home games to over 400 community appearances each year, the Flying Squirrels mascots are friendly, outgoing and lots of FUNN!

Fun Facts

Richmond hosted Triple-A baseball from 1966-2008, as the International League affiliate of the Atlanta Braves. | The Diamond is shared with the Virginia Commonwealth University baseball team.

Manager Julio Mosquera (1st year)

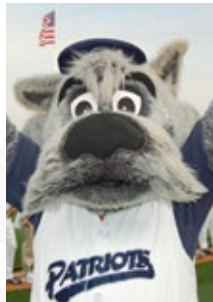

Julio Mosquera enters his first season as manager for Somerset and his 16th overall in the Yankees organization. He becomes just the third person in Patriots history to serve in the position, following Sparky Lyle (1998-2012) and Brett Jodie (2013-2020).

Mosquera managed the Single-A Charleston Riverdogs in 2018 and 2019, where he most recently guided the team to a 73-66 record. His prior managing service came with Single-A Staten Island, where he led the short-season club to a 46-29 record in 2017 and first place finish in the NYPL McNamara Division.

He made his managing debut in 2015 with the GCL Yankees 1 and followed it up in 2016 with the GCL Yankees West.

Mosquera served as the catching coordinator for his first nine seasons (2006-'14) in the Yankees organization

The Panama native enjoyed a 15-year playing career as a catcher with the then-Tampa Bay Devil Rays (1999), Yankees (2000-2001), Texas Rangers (2002, 2004), Seattle Mariners (2003), and Milwaukee Brewers (2005). He made his MLB debut on August 17, 1996 and appeared in 12 games with the Blue Jays and Brewers across three seasons (1996-97, 2005).

Mascot Sparkee

@PatriotsSparkee

One of the Somerset Patriots' official mascots is a dog named Sparkee. He wears the team's home uniform with white sneakers. The mascot debuted in 1998, at the Atlantic League's first All-Star Game at Bernie Robbins Stadium in Atlantic City. Sparkee's name refers to the Patriots first manager, Sparky Lyle. The team also employs another character, a cat named Slider. After training with Sparkee for several months, he debuted in the 2007 season. Slider wears the Patriots' navy blue alternate jersey with gray pants. The team also has a live mascot known as "General Admission" who wears the traditional uniform donned by those fighting for the colonies during the American Revolution complete with the three cornered hat and musket.

Fun Facts

Yankees legend and 1977 Cy Young Award Winner Sparky Lyle is their Manager Emeritus. Lyle managed the Somerset Patriots from 1998-2012 | Since the team began play in 1998, 21 former Somerset Patriots have either returned to the MLB level or made their Big League debut after their Atlantic League service in Somerset.

MLB Announces experimental playing rules

TO BE TESTED DURING 2021 MINOR LEAGUE SEASON

Major League Baseball (MLB) will be testing of a variety of experimental playing rules at various levels of the Minor Leagues during the 2021 season. These experimental playing rules have been approved by the Competition Committee and the Playing Rules Committee. MLB will closely monitor and analyze the impact of each rule change throughout the 2021 season and report to Clubs on their effects for further analysis. Consistent with the preferences of fans, the rule changes being tested are designed to increase action on the basepaths, create more balls in play, improve the pace and length of games, and reduce player injuries.

Below is a summary of the experimental rules that will be tested during the 2021 Minor League season, which will vary by level of play:

DOUBLE-A: (DEFENSIVE POSITIONING)

The defensive team must have a minimum of four players on the infield, each of whom must have both feet completely in front of the outer boundary of the infield dirt.

Depending on the preliminary results of this experimental rule change, MLB may require two infielders to be positioned entirely on each side of second base in the second half of the Double-A season. These restrictions on defensive positioning are intended to increase the batting average on balls in play.

Sea Dogs third baseman Bobby Dalbec plays the field in a 2019 game at Hadlock. This season, Sea Dogs infielders will be required to have both feet inside the outfield grass when the pitch is delivered.

TRIPLE-A: (LARGER BASES)

To reduce player injuries and collisions, the size of first, second and third base will be increased from 15 inches square to 18 inches square. The Competition Committee also expects the shorter distances between bases created by increased size to have a modest impact on the success rate of stolen base attempts and the frequency with which a batter-runner reaches base on groundballs and bunt attempts.

HIGH-A: ("STEP OFF" RULE)

Pitchers are required to disengage the rubber prior to throwing to any base, with the penalty of a balk in the event the pitcher fails to comply. MLB implemented a similar rule in the second half of the Atlantic League season in 2019, which resulted in a significant increase in stolen base attempts and an improved success rate after adoption of the rule.

LOW-A:

ALL LOW-A LEAGUES: (PICKOFF LIMITATION)

Pitchers will be limited to a total of two "step offs" or "pickoffs" per plate appearance while there is at least one runner on base. A pitcher may attempt a third step off or pickoff in the same plate appearance; however, if the runner safely returns to the occupied base, the result is a balk. Depending on the preliminary results of this experimental rule change, MLB will consider reducing the limitation to a single "step off" or "pickoff" per plate appearance with at least one runner on base.

MLB Experimental Rules

LOW-A SOUTHEAST: (ABS)

In addition to the limitations on step offs/pickoffs, MLB will expand testing of the Automatic Ball-Strike System ("ABS") that began in the Atlantic League and Arizona Fall League to select Low-A Southeast games to assist home plate umpires with calling balls and strikes, ensure a consistent strike zone is called, and determine the optimal strike zone for the system.

LOW-A WEST: (PITCH TIMER)

In addition to the limitations on step offs/pickoffs, following successful pace of game rules testing among Florida State League teams in 2019, on-field timers (one in the outfield, two behind home plate between the dugouts) will be implemented to enforce time limits between delivery of pitches, inning breaks and pitching changes. The on-field timer used in Low-A West will include new regulations beyond the system currently used in Triple-A and Double-A to reduce game length and improve the pace of play.

"We are listening to our fans. This effort is an important step towards bringing to life rules changes aimed at creating more action and improving the pace of play," said Michael Hill, MLB Senior Vice President of On-Field Operations. "These experimental playing rules have been approved by the Competition Committee and the Playing Rules Committee to be tested and analyzed in a highly competitive environment." "These experimental rules are designed to put more balls in play, create more excitement on the basepaths and increase the impact of speed and athleticism on the field," said Raúl Ibáñez, MLB Senior Vice President of On-Field Operations. "As another important goal of the rules approved by the Competition Committee and the Playing Rules Committee, we expect the new larger bases to increase player safety. We look forward to testing these rules in the Minor Leagues."

"The game on the field is constantly evolving, and MLB must be thoughtful and intentional about progressing toward the very best version of baseball – a version that is true to its essence and has enough consistent action and athleticism on display to entertain fans of all ages," said Theo Epstein, Consultant to MLB. "These rules experiments will provide valuable insight into various ways to create a playing environment that encourages the most entertaining version of the game. What we learn in the Minor Leagues this year will be essential in helping all parties chart the right path forward for baseball."

MLB also continues its three-year partnership agreement with the Atlantic League of Professional Baseball (ALPB), which was announced in 2019. This partnership agreement allows MLB to test and adjust experimental playing rules and changes to equipment each season.
