SEASON RECAP

The 2020-21 season looked a little different than what hockey fans were used to as the NHL completed a 56-game regular-season schedule with re-aligned divisions. Pittsburgh competed in the 'East Division' along with the Boston Bruins, Buffalo Sabres, New Jersey Devils, New York Islanders, New York Rangers, Philadelphia Flyers and Washington Capitals. An additional caveat to the unusual season was that Pittsburgh only played the teams in their division eight times each [4 home/4 road].

New division? New schedule? Same Penguins. Pittsburgh finished tied for the league's fifth-best record [37-16-3], securing a playoff spot for the 15th-consecutive season. The Penguins 15-year playoff streak is the longest active postseason streak among all major North-American professional sports leagues. Since the 1967 NHL Expansion, the Penguins' 15-season playoff streak is the eighth-longest run of any NHL club.

EAST DIVISION LEADERS

Entering the 2020-21 season, 11 of the last 13 Eastern Conference Champions dating back to 2007-08 were housed in the East Division [Pittsburgh, 4; Boston, 3; New Jersey, 1; NY Rangers 1; Philadelphia, 1; Washington, 1] with the lone exception being Tampa Bay's Stanley Cup Final appearances in 2015 and 2020. The Penguins did more than hold their own in this stacked division – they thrived.

As a team, Pittsburgh finished with a 37-16-3 record and 77 points, good enough to help the club to its ninth division title in franchise history and first since the 2013-14 season. The Penguins .688 points percentage was also the third-best points percentage in team history. Pittsburgh also had no trouble filling the net in this shortened season, as its 193 goals for were tops in the NHL.

From an individual standpoint, Sidney Crosby [62 points] had the second-most points among all East Division skaters, while Jake Guentzel [23 goals] was tied for the fourth-most goals in the division. Defenseman Kris Letang's 45 points were good for third among and NHL blueliners.

NEW REGIME

The biggest surprise of the 2020-21 campaign was when general manager Jim Rutherford resigned from his position on January 27, 2021 due to personal reasons. Less than two weeks later on February 9, 2021, Pittsburgh announced the hiring of Ron Hextall as general manager and Brian Burke as president of hockey operations.

Hextall, an elite NHL goaltender in his playing days, had been in NHL management for more than 20 years prior to being hired, including a four-year stint as GM of the Philadelphia Flyers from 2014-18. Burke, a Harvard Law School graduate, had spent 31 years as an NHL executive and won the Stanley Cup as general manager of the Anaheim Ducks in 2006-07.

Following the additions of Burke and Hextall, Pittsburgh rattled off a 32-11-2 record in 45 games, good for the second-most points (tied) in the league during that span. Their biggest splash in their first year with the team was acquiring two-time Stanley Cup Champion, Jeff Carter, from the Los Angeles Kings at the trade deadline in exchange for conditional 2022 third-round and 2023 fourth-round draft picks. Carter fit into the Penguins' lineup seamlessly, registering nine goals and 11 points in 14 games with the team. His nine goals over that span was the most on Pittsburgh.

HOMETOWN HEROES

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic and government and state regulations, the Penguins had to begin the season with no fans in the stands for their home games. It wasn't until March 2nd versus the Philadelphia Flyers that Pittsburgh played a game with fans in the stands, as it was approved to host fans at 15% capacity [2,800]. The Penguins were then later granted an increased capacity of 25% [4,672] which began on April 15th against the Flyers.

stands provide a home ice advantage, look no further. From their first game with patrons at PPG Paints Arena on March 2nd until the end of the season, the Penguins went 15-3-2 at home. The team's 15 wins and 32 points were third-most in the league at home during that span.

Overall, Pittsburgh's 22-4-2 record at home was best in the NHL while its .821 point percentage was the highest in franchise history, topping the 1992-93 Penguins team that had an .810 home points percentage.

The Penguins' home schedule included three homestands consisting of five games. In March, Pittsburgh played 12 games at home, the most home games in a single month in franchise history and tied for the second-most home games in a month in NHL history.

FOLLOW THE LEADER

While withstanding 273 man-games lost, head coach Mike Sullivan put together another Jack Adams Award-worthy season in 2020-21.

On his way to securing his sixth-straight postseason appearance with Pittsburgh, Sullivan reached a couple of personal milestones. On March 11 against Buffalo, Sullivan earned his 300th career win, becoming the fourth American-born head coach to reach the milestone and was tied for the 13th fastest coach to reach 300 wins. A couple of weeks later on March 20 in New Jersey, Sullivan coached in his 400th game for the Penguins and on the same day surpassed Eddie Johnston [232] for the second-most wins in franchise history.

Sullivan has a 42-34 career record and 39-30 mark with Pittsburgh in the postseason. Sullivan will tie Dan Bylsma for the most playoff series coached [13] and needs four wins to tie Bylsma [43] for the most playoff wins in franchise history.

MVP-CALIBER PLAY

Sidney Crosby did what he's historically done throughout the entirety of his career – lead by example. The Penguins captain finished ninth in league scoring with 62 points [24G-38A] in 55 games. Crosby has averaged at least a point per game in each of his first 16 NHL seasons. Only Wayne Gretzky [19] has started his career with more consecutive point-per-game seasons, and only Gretzky [19] and Gordie Howe [17] have accomplished this feat more than Crosby.

Crosby also had the distinction of hitting the 20-goal plateau for the 13th time in his career, surpassing Mario Lemieux [12] and Evgeni Malkin [12] for the most 20-goal seasons in team history. Crosby also led the team in points for the 11th time in his career, tying him with Lemieux [11] for most such instances in franchise history.

Crosby's most notable milestone came on February 20th against the New York Islanders when he became the first player in franchise history to skate in 1,000 NHL games with the team. He also became the 350th player in NHL history to skate in 1,000 games, and his 1,276 points through his first 1,000 games were the eighth-most in NHL history. Crosby was honored with a pre-game ceremony before Pittsburgh's come-from-behind 3-2 win, where he assisted on long-time teammate Kris Letang's game-winning goal.

OFFSEASON ACQUISITIONS

Jim Rutherford may not have finished the season as general manager of the team, but he clearly left his mark on them with the moves he made the previous offseason, helping to set Pittsburgh up for success. Rutherford made multiple trades, acquiring forward Kasper Kapanen (Toronto), defenseman Mike Matheson (Florida) and forward Colton Sceviour (Florida). He also signed free agent defenseman Cody Ceci and forwards Mark Jankowski and Evan Rodrigues to one-year deals.

Maybe Rutherford's best acquisition was the addition of Kapanen, who was originally drafted by Pittsburgh in the first round of the 2014 NHL Draft. Kapanen missed the Penguins' first three games of the season due to immigration issues, but once he was united on the second line with Evgeni Malkin the duo found instant chemistry. Over a 15-game stretch from Feb. 18-Mar. 16, Malkin (5G-12A) and Kapanen (5G-9A) combined for 31 points, helping Pittsburgh go 11-4-0 during that span. Kapanen finished the year with 30 points (11G-19A) in 40 games. His .75 points-per-game average was the best of his career.

Ceci and Matheson teamed up to form a strong second defensive pairing, as they stayed paired for the majority of the year. The 27-year-old Ceci appeared in 53 games for Pittsburgh and registered 17 points (4G-13A) and had the second-highest plus-minus (+18) on the team. Matheson, 27, finished top-three among team blueliners with five goals (2nd) and 16 points (3rd), and also finished a career-high plus-9.

The depth acquisitions of forwards Jankowski, Rodrigues and Sceviour proved to be key as well, as they provided capable minutes for a Penguins squad that lost 273 man-games due to injury. Rodrigues finished with 14 points (7G-7A) in 35 games, finishing two goals shy of his career high of nine while seeing time on all four of Pittsburgh's lines. Jankowski and Sceviour each saw time on Pittsburgh's penalty killing unit.

MARCH OF THE PENGUINS

The Penguins played some of their best hockey of the 2020-21 campaign during the month of March, finishing the month in historic fashion. The team's 12-3-1 record in March gave them an NHL-best (tied) 25 points over that span. It also marked the third-best calendar month of March points-wise in team history:

Sidney Crosby led the way for the Penguins with 21 points (7G-14A) in 15 games in March.

A STAPLE ON THE BLUELINE

Defenseman Kris Letang once again turned in an excellent campaign for Pittsburgh. The 34-year-old Letang finished tied for third in the league in scoring among all NHL defensemen with 45 points (7G-38A) and a plus-19 in 55 games. The 2020-21 season marked the fourth-straight season, and eighth overall, that Letang eclipsed the 40-point plateau.

Letang was as consistent as he's ever been in 2020-21, as he led Pittsburgh in average time-on-ice per game (24:39) for the seventh-consecutive season and 10th time in his career. His 13 multi-point games was tied with Edmonton's Tyson Barrie for the most among all NHL defensemen and were third overall on the team behind Sidney Crosby (18) and Jake Guentzel (14).

From a historical standpoint, Letang's 45 points gave him 582 in his career, as he surpassed Kevin Stevens (555) on March 13th at Buffalo for sole possession of eighth place on Pittsburgh's all-time points list.

GUENTZ- GOALS

Jake Guentzel has found a home on Sidney Crosby's left wing, and has proven to be one of the best pure goal scorers that Crosby has ever had at his disposal. Guentzel finished the 2020-21 season with the second-most goals on the team (23). Only six left wingers scored more goals this season than Guentzel. His seven game-winning goals were also a career high, and tied for sixth-most in the NHL.

Guentzel reached the 100-goal milestone on January 24th against the New York Rangers when he scored the game-winning goal in a 3-2 win. In doing so, he became the 17th player in team history, and 10th fastest, to record their first 100 NHL goals with Pittsburgh, doing so in his 249th career game.

POTENT POWER PLAY

When Todd Reirden was brought back to Pittsburgh as an assistant coach on September 2, 2020, one of his main duties was to bring the Penguins power play to a new level, and that he did. Despite a slow start to the season that saw the power play at one point ranked 26th (15.0%) in the league through 20 games, Reirden's coaching lifted the Penguins to new heights as the season wore on. After 30 games, Pittsburgh's power play progressed to 22nd (18.6%) in the league and then continued to improve. The team's power play moved up to 14th (21.4%) in the league through 40 games, then eighth ranked (22.6%) through 50 games. The Penguins then ended the season with the fourth-ranked power play (23.7%) in the NHL.

The team's power-play success also led to personal success as Jared McCann's team-leading seven power-play goals were a career high. Overall, Pittsburgh got power-play goals from 12 different skaters in 2020-21.
