Message from NBA G League President Shareef Abdur-Rahim

Dear Delaware Blue Coats Fans,

Welcome to the NBA G League's 19th season! We're excited to have you join us for a game today to support the Delaware Blue Coats - one of a record 28 teams playing in our league this season.

The NBA G League continues to be a training ground for some of the NBA's top young talent. Last season, 52 percent of NBA players had NBA G League experience, more than 60 percent of the 2018 NBA Draft class spent time in our league, and an impressive total of 50 NBA G League players made the jump to the NBA. Those are numbers we're proud of, and we're grateful to have you witness this progress.

Thank you for being here today and, when you're away, don't miss any Blue Coats action - tune in via phone, tablet or computer to ESPN or NBA TV. You can check out even more of the NBA G League on Twitter and Instagram (@nbagleague) and on Facebook at facebook.com/gleague to stay up-to-date on your favorite teams and players.

It's a fantastic time to be in the NBA G League family as we continue to grow and enhance our on-court product. You're a special part of our league, and we hope you'll come back soon.

Enjoy the game!

Message from NBA Commissioner Adam Silver

Dear NBA G League Fan,

Thank you for attending today's NBA G League game in Delaware. With a record 28 teams this season, the G League plays a vital role in developing NBA players, coaches and executives and serves as a testing ground for new on-court rules.

Last season, more than half of the players in the NBA had G League experience - and Nick Nurse, the head coach of the Toronto Raptors, became the first former G League head coach to win an NBA championship.

Today, you will see the next generation of NBA talent on display and observe experimental rules that could be part of the future NBA experience. We are grateful that you could join us.

Enjoy the game and thank you for your support.

Sincerely,

ABOUT THE NBA G LEAGUE

The NBA's official minor league, the NBA G League prepares players, coaches, officials, trainers and front-office staff for the NBA while acting as the league's research and development laboratory. Featuring 28 teams with direct affiliations with NBA franchises for the 2019-20 season, the league offers elite professional basketball at an affordable price in a fun, family-friendly atmosphere. Fifty-two percent of all NBA players at the end of the 2018-19 season boasted NBA G League experience. In fostering the league's connection to the community, its teams, players and staff promote health and wellness, support local needs and interests, and assist in educational development through NBA Cares programs.
