DONNIE NELSON

One of the most respected minds in the NBA, Donnie Nelson is involved in every aspect of the Mavericks basketball operations. Nelson, who owns 22 years of NBA experience, came to Dallas on Jan. 2, 1998 after three seasons as an assistant coach with the Phoenix Suns.

Nelson was instrumental in rebuilding a team that suffered a decade-long playoff draught into a perennial playoff team and championship contender. Under Nelson the Mavericks have won 66.0% of their games with three 60+ win seasons, including a franchise-record 67-win season in 2007 which tied for the sixth best record in NBA history. The Mavericks are also one of just six NBA franchises to win 60 games or more three times in a five year span. During his tenure, the Mavericks have made the playoffs seven consecutive seasons, been to the Western Conference Finals twice, reached a franchise milestone in 2006 when they advanced to the NBA Finals, and won their first Division Title in 20 years in 2007.

Nelson successfully coached the Mavericks while his father and former head coach Don Nelson was recovering from cancer surgery in 2000-01. Donnie led the team to a 15-8 record while serving as head coach. He was the top assistant to his father at Golden State, where he served the organization a total of eight seasons (1986-94). Nelson was also a regional scout for the Milwaukee Bucks for two seasons (1984-86).

Since 1990, Nelson has served as an assistant coach for the Lithuanian National Team. In that span, he has helped them win three bronze medals in four Olympiads, a silver medal in the 1995 European Championships and a gold medal in the 2003 European Championships. In appreciation of his contributions, Nelson was awarded the Grand Cross of the Commander by the President of Lithuania in 2004. He also serves as Honorary Ambassador for the League of Industries.

In 1994, Nelson proudly served as a scout for USA Basketball at the World Championships in Toronto. Dream Team II went undefeated on their way to capturing a gold medal that year.

Nelson's tireless efforts helped crack two walls that once seemed unbreakable. He was responsible for signing the first player from both the Soviet Union (Sarunas Marciulionis) and China (Wang Zhizhi) to NBA contracts. In addition, Nelson holds the honor of being the only American coach to participate in a Soviet National training camp. On June 24, 1998, Nelson engineered a deal that brought a relatively unknown German and an unheralded Canadian to Dallas. Both Dirk Nowitzki (2007) and Steve Nash (2005, 2006) would go on to be named the NBA's Most Valuable Player, giving the Mavericks the distinction of being the only team in history to acquire two future MVPs in the same transaction.

"Donnie has been my biggest supporter from day one," said seven-time NBA All-Star and 2007 MVP Dirk Nowitzki. "He works harder than any coach or president in the NBA. He thinks about basketball 24 hours a day."

Nelson also serves as the Chief Advisor for the Chinese National Basketball Team. During his three years of service, they equaled their all-time best Olympic finish (8th) in Athens and won the Gold Medal at the 2005 and 2007 Asian Championships. He is currently working with the Chinese Basketball Association in preparation for the 2008 Beijing Olympics. Nelson's first exposure to the continent of Africa took place in 1992. He has conducted clinics in North Africa, Senegal, Nigeria and South Africa. Nelson is especially proud to be associated with the NBA's Basketball Without Borders program in Africa. This outreach program provides educational opportunities to challenged African athletes. The Mavericks roster currently boasts two African-born players. Nelson founded the "Global Games" in Dallas, which gives area high school kids a chance to test themselves against the top Junior National Teams in the world. The games completed their eighth season this past summer.

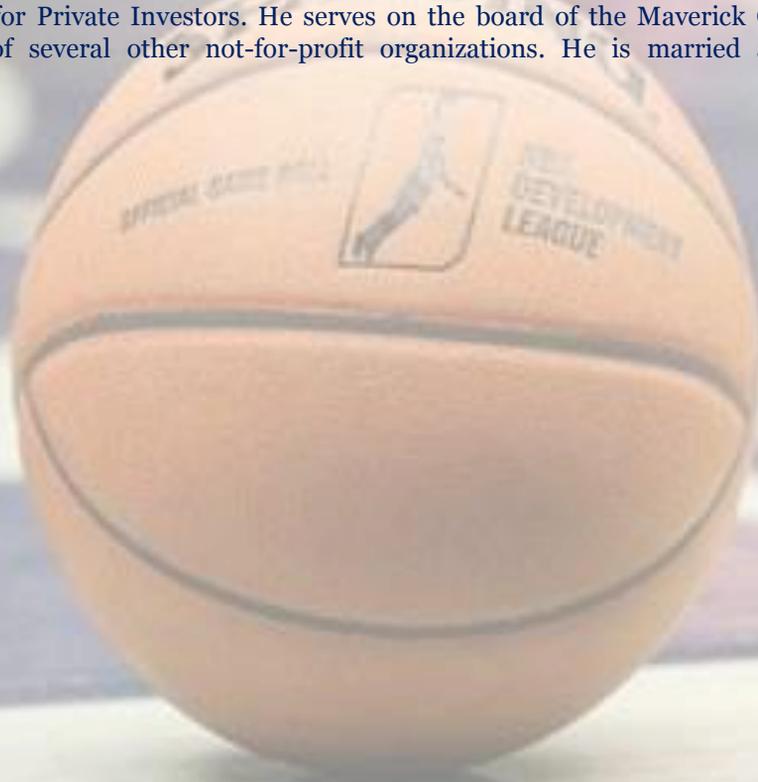

In Dec., 2002, Nelson's heart for disadvantaged youth led to the creation of the Assist Youth Foundation which has since combined with the charity organization known as Heroes. The foundation's goal is to advance opportunities for underprivileged kids in the Dallas/Fort Worth Metroplex and across the globe.

A 1986 graduate of Wheaton College (Ill.), Nelson was inducted into the school's Hall of Honor on Oct. 3, 1997. He led Wheaton in scoring and was an NABC All-Midwest selection. Born Sept. 10, 1962, he and his wife, Lotta, have a daughter, Christie (8/10/92) and son, D.J. (5/24/94).

EVAN WYLY

Evan Wyly is a Founder and an Owner of the Texas Legends, since 2009. He is a Founder of Maverick Capital, an investment management firm, since 1990, serving as a Managing Partner through 2007. He was a Founder and Director of Green Mountain Energy, the nation's leading provider of cleaner energy from 1997 until its sale in 2010, serving as Chairman from 2003. He has also served as a director of three publicly traded companies: Sterling Commerce from 1995 to 2000, Sterling Software from 1992 to 2000, and Michaels Stores from 1992 to 2001. He is a native of Dallas, Texas. He earned a B.A. in Economics from Princeton University and an M.B.A. from Harvard Business School. He is a member of the World Presidents' Organization and a member emeritus of the Advisory Faculty of the Institute for Private Investors. He serves on the board of the Maverick Capital Foundation and has served on the boards of several other not-for-profit organizations. He is married and has 3 children and 2 grandchildren.

SONNY XIAO

When Sonny Xiao, a native of Beijing, China, joined the Legends ownership team, he became the first Chinese-born owner of an NBA-affiliated team.

Xiao's distinguished track-record as a smart businessman spans from his proven achievements as the Director of Business Development/Government Relations for Ticketmaster China. Most notably, he also confounded Reach Media, a digital sports content provider and an exclusive ad agency for multiple Chinese media platforms.

Xiao's professional experience also includes his work at NBA Wasserman Group and Nike. Mr. Xiao attended Southern Methodist University where he received his MBA.

EDUARDO NAJERA-OWNER, GENERAL MANAGER, HEAD COACH

Eduardo Najera retired from the NBA in 2013 to become the first Mexican-born head coach in the NBA Development League, General Manager and minority owner of the Texas Legends, while holding a front office job with the Dallas Mavericks. As General Manager he is involved in all major decisions for the Texas Legends which include player transactions, scouting and drafting.

Eduardo began his twelve year stint as a player in the NBA with the Dallas Mavericks in 2000 following four years of play at the University of Oklahoma. He was the first Mexican-born player to be drafted in NBA history. He played with the Dallas Mavericks, Golden State Warriors, Denver Nuggets, New Jersey Nets, a second stint with Dallas, and finished his career with the Charlotte Bobcats. In 639 career games (85 starts), he averaged 5.2 points and 4.2 rebounds in 18.7 minutes per game.

Throughout his NBA career, he was a leader on and off the court and was known as a dependable member of the team and valued member of the locker room. The work ethic that Eduardo exhibited as a player transcended into keeping him on the court in a new capacity as head coach. His knowledge of the NBA game served him well in his first year with the Texas Legends and provides great promise for a long-term future in the NBA.

Eduardo commanded respect both on and off the court from his players. In his first season with the Legends he promoted four players to be called up to the NBA (Dallas Mavericks: Chris Douglas-Roberts, Mike James, Justin Dentmon, and Golden State: Dwayne Jones). He was responsible for hiring and managing a full coaching staff, scouting talent, and coordinating player selection, trades and free agency. He developed extensive plans for training camp and practices, and solicited sponsorships in excess of $1M through his connections in Mexico and Latin America. As a coach, he also has the potential to create new paths for minorities in basketball and develop strong connections between his neighboring native country, Mexico, and the NBA.

His mission is simple: "To carry forward my passion of the game, competitive spirit, and will to win by coaching, mentoring, and leading a team of players. My philosophy is to develop not only great athletes, but great human beings through the game of basketball, which provides values, fundamentals, and lessons that can be used in every aspect of life."

When Eduardo is not coaching or playing, he dedicates the majority of his free time to his family and friends. He enjoys traveling, remaining active, dining, and helping others. He was the Honorary Chairman for St. Jude's in 2013, has hosted more than 300 basketball camps and clinics around the world. He founded The Najera League of Basketball in Mexico, which now has 30,000 boys & girls practicing the sport. He launched Eduardo Najera Foundation for Latin Achievement, participated in the basketball without borders tournament in Rio de Janeiro Brazil in 2004 and Mexico in 2009. He hosted fundraising events for children of war-torn Afghanistan in conjunction with the NBA, US Fund for UNICEF and Pier 1 and has represented more than a dozen brands in and around the world.

COACHING STAFF

Dean Murray has been coaching for 24 years. Murray began his career as an assistant coach in NCAA Division I before joining the NBA Development League in 2001. For the past 13 seasons Murray has split time between the Development League and overseas leagues such as the Korean Basketball League and BJ League Japan. Murray's experience with the NBA Development League provides the Legends with a unique perspective on players and teams across the league, as well as an international viewpoint.

Charlie Parker has coached professional basketball for 17 years both overseas and in the NBA, including as an assistant coach with the Legends' NBA affiliate Dallas Mavericks. Prior to that, he was the Head Coach of Wayne State University and University of Southern California. Parker's diverse background will provide a depth to the coaching staff that will enable players to develop both from an individual standpoint as well as from a team perspective. Parker's NBA experience will be invaluable to players as they pursue their NBA dreams.

Hollis Price recently hung up his playing shoes to begin his coaching career. Price played at the University of Oklahoma, where he was Big 12 Player of the Year in 2003, before pursuing his professional career for nine years. Price played overseas in France, Germany, Spain, Lithuania, Russia and Italy winning numerous awards and serving as a product endorser for brands such as 1 Apparel and Vilnius. Price launches his coaching career alongside fellow University of Oklahoma alum Eduardo Najera as they look to replicate the success each enjoyed as a player under former Oklahoma coach Kelvin Sampson.

Brandon Espinosa comes to the Legends from Dallas Christian College where he played guard from 2007-2011 and began his coaching career as a graduate assistant in 2011. Espinosa has worked with players of all ages. Espinosa will provide support to Legends' players in all areas—both on and off the basketball court.

Tyler Gatlin returns to the bench for his second year of coaching and third year on the Legends' staff. Gatlin was promoted from the scouting staff to the coaching staff last season and utilized his knowledge of the league and devout study of the game to strengthen the bench. Gatlin also assists with team travel, practice schedules, and other logistical areas.

Travis Blakeley joined the team in its inaugural season and has since moved up to the role of Director of Player Development. Blakeley brings an energy and dedication to the team that takes each practice to a new level, and helped Najera establish a franchise record with four call-ups to the NBA (Chris Douglas-Roberts, Mike James, Justin Dentmon, and Dwayne Jones) during the 2012-13 season.

LEGENDS ANNOUNCE GROUNDBREAKING PARTNERSHIP WITH STATE OF VERACRUZ, MEXICO

(Dec. 13, 2012) The NBA Development League's Texas Legends and the state of Veracruz, Mexico, announced a historic marketing partnership highlighted by "Veracruz Incomparable" being prominently featured on the front of the Legends jersey beginning on Saturday, December 15, with their home game against the Rio Grande Valley Vipers.

The new multi-year agreement makes the historic state of Veracruz the first non-team city to have its name and slogan prominently featured on the jersey of a professional sports team.

As presenting partner of the Legends, the team's home arena will now be called the "Veracruz Court at Dr Pepper Arena" with the Veracruz logo displayed on center court. Additionally, Veracruz will receive significant in-arena signage and television exposure throughout the Legends' market through the team's family of local television networks.

"It's truly an honor to partner with a historic and dynamic city like Veracruz," said Texas co-owner Donnie Nelson. "This destination has it all, and we are excited to further showcase this city to Texas and across the United States, while extending the Legends brand to fans in Mexico."

Designed to promote tourism and commerce for the cities of Veracruz and Frisco, and to create greater exposure for the Legends and the NBA D-League outside of the U.S., this partnership signifies another first for the NBA's official minor league. Recently, it was announced that the NBA D-League would have more than 350 games streamed live on YouTube during the 2012-13 regular season on NBADLeague.com and the NBA D-League YouTube channel, the most live games on YouTube by a major professional sports league, creating greater exposure for the league and its teams internationally, including throughout Mexico.

"With the campaign 'Incomparable Veracruz', the Department of Tourism, Culture, and Cinematography of Veracruz aims to increase the number of tourists to our destination resorts," commented Secretary of Tourism Harry Grappa. "Dallas has direct international flights to Veracruz, which makes this a natural partnership. Additionally, this partnership is a first of its kind in Texas, where we believe there is a significant potential for tourism to Veracruz. We look forward to Texans considering Veracruz as a primary travel option on future vacations."

Through this partnership, Veracruz presents its wide range of cultural attractions, historical, archaeological, and natural products. Highlighting sites like El Puerto de Veracruz and its folklore and history; Tajin Archaeological Zone with its great cultural heritage and traditions; and Tlacotalpan, considered as a World Heritage Site by UNESCO. Furthermore, Veracruz offers nature and adventure activities such as rafting, canyoneering, and diving in the third largest reef area in the world.

"Veracruz has long been the gateway to Mexico, and it's no surprise the city is on the cutting edge of building a Mexican-American bridge of commerce and tourism," said Legends head coach Eduardo Najera. "I'm proud to bring the Legends and Veracruz families together in this historic partnership." The official unveiling of "Veracruz Court at Dr Pepper Arena" and the Legends home jerseys featuring the Veracruz logo, will debut on Saturday, December 15 at 7 pm CT when the Legends take on the Rio Grande Valley Vipers.

SEASON RECAP

LEGENDS TAKE BUSINESS AND BASKETBALL TO NEW HEIGHTS IN 2012-13

(May 14, 2013) – The Texas Legends (presented by Veracruz-visit Veracruz.mx) led the NBA D-League in overall sales, sponsorship sales, and season ticket sales, each for the third straight year. Along the way, the Texas Legends signed a historic and innovative presenting partnership with the state of Veracruz, Mexico. The Legends also unveiled new and exciting elements to their game presentation, while becoming the league’s flagship franchise for charitable jersey nights as more than half of the team’s home games centered around unique jerseys. Finally, thanks to the best fan base in the entire NBA D-League, the Legends led the league in attendance.

“It was an inspired season-our best yet,” stated Texas Legends’ President Bill Boyce. “I’m fortunate to lead a very talented group of individuals who accomplished notable things individually and extraordinary things as a team. Foremost, we created a family-friendly environment for the entire community. I enjoyed tremendously seeing countless smiles on the faces of kids, parents, and grandparents. And, it was extremely gratifying to work with many charities to make this community a better place to work and live. We’re so fortunate to be a part of North Texas. I couldn’t be more proud of the owners, management, staff, interns, and others who joined together to accomplish incomparable results this season.”

The Texas Legends successfully partnered with the NBA D-League to revise a rule limiting the number of alternative jersey nights to six. As a result, the Texas Legends produced thirteen jersey nights this past season, each of which benefitted a charity or non-profit. The Legends currently anticipate that it will be partnering with the NBA D-League to produce twenty-four jersey nights next season, each of which will benefit a charity or non-profit.

“The game atmosphere and customer service at the Legends is second-to-none,” commented Legends suite owner Jason Schwartz. “Having been to sporting events around the country – in premium seats – the Legends charitable mission and willingness to go above and beyond what is expected to create a first class experience separates them from any other hospitality platform. With the Legends I don’t have to ask when next season starts, because the season never really ends – there is always a next event.”

The Texas Legends also successfully partnered with the NBA D-League to revise a rule to expand when music can be played during games. This change increased the energy and augmented an already dynamic game presentation.

“The Texas Legends games are one of the most entertaining and stimulating experiences from a fan’s perspective that I can recall in over 25 years of watching NBA, NHL, D-League, WNBA, MLB, and minor league baseball games,” added NBA Vice President Jerry Murphy.

The Texas Legends also built a TV production trailer that emulates the production trailers used by NBA teams. The trailer was custom designed and built by North Texas Trailers, the workflow is powered by NewTek equipment, and the graphics are generated by Chyron. Utilizing this trailer, the Texas Legends became the first NBA D-League team to produce twenty-three games for local TV and the first NBA D-League team to televise all twenty-four regular season home games live on broadcast or cable TV.

In addition, the Legends set a new franchise record for attendance while leading the league in attendance. The Legends accomplished this benchmark in part by selling the most group tickets in the history of the NBA D-League.

In basketball operations, the Legends also set a franchise record for call-ups to the NBA as the Legends saw four players coached by Eduardo Najera make their way to the NBA (Chris Douglas-Roberts, Mike James, Justin Dentmon, and Dwayne Jones). Mike James became the first Legends player to be called up and subsequently start in the NBA as he was announced the starting point guard for the Mavericks for the final 23 games of the Mavericks season.

The Firm ranked number six on the 25 best medium-size companies to work for in the United States, published in FORTUNE magazine, and was recently named to the 2013 Working Mothers 100 Best Companies list. The Ryan Foundation has contributed over $4 million and countless hours of service to over 18 organizations including Susan G. Komen, March of Dimes, and the Make-A-Wish Foundation. Through the generosity of their employees Ryan maintains a focus on service to the community and has chosen to extend this outreach through Texas Legends Care.

"Ryan's success has resulted in substantial rewards for our associates, and it is their generosity and our Firm's culture of giving back to the community that has inspired our partnership with The Texas Legends," said G. Brint Ryan, Chairman and CEO of Ryan. "All of us at Ryan are proud to support the youth programs and community development initiatives of the Texas Legends Care Foundation"

Texas Legends Care is a 501c3 non-profit organization, presented by Ryan LLC, which is organized and operated to provide assistance to young people from our community through programs stressing education, good health and skills necessary for their future success. In the months of June and July, Texas Legends Care launched basketball clinic initiatives in both South Dallas and Las Vegas.

"We are excited to have Ryan as the presenting partner of Texas Legends Care," commented Legends owner Donnie Nelson. "Giving back to the community in a variety of ways has been in the Legends DNA since day one, as I know it has been at Ryan, LLC – and the partnership with Texas Legends Care is a great way to continue to give back on a year-round basis."

CREDENTIALS: You must have a Legends credential (season or single-game) or an NBA Development League media pass to be admitted to Dr Pepper Arena, and your credential must be visibly worn at all times. Credentials should be requested through the Legends' Media Director. Your credential does not guarantee a seat. All credentials can be picked up at the media entrance located inside the loading dock/valet entrance. Season and single-game credentials are non-transferable and any unauthorized use will subject the bearer to ejection from Dr Pepper Arena and the forfeiture of the credential. No autographs are allowed during media access periods.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Photographers are asked to keep off of the sidelines and to be considerate of the season ticket holders seated directly behind them.

Photographers are asked to wear rubber-soled shoes and are required to have rubber lens shades for their cameras. Only television photographers doing postgame interviews will have access to locker room areas.

LOCKER ROOMS: *In accordance with NBA policy, both locker rooms are open to members of the media during pregame for a 45-minute period that ends 45 minutes before the scheduled game time.
