Weekly Storylines:

- Fury FC are coming off an impressive 2-2 draw against the Eastern Conference-leading Charleston Battery on Saturday night in South Carolina. The draw extended their unbeaten streak to three games. Ryan Williams and Ramon Martin Del Campo both scored their first goals of the season in the draw – Del Campo's first with Fury FC
- Kyle Venter made his Fury FC debut against Charleston – his first professional match in almost 18-months after the defender recovered from a significant knee injury
- Wednesday will mark the 16th match all-time between Ottawa and Edmonton, but the first since Fury FC joined the USL. Ottawa are 4W-4D-7L lifetime against their Canadian rivals
- After Edmonton eliminated Ottawa in the Canadian Championship preliminary round in 2014 and 2015, Fury FC claimed a 3-2 aggregate win in 2016 advancing to semifinals for the first time where they were eliminated by the Vancouver Whitecaps 3-2 on aggregate
- FC Edmonton are last in the NASL Standings and winless on the road this season. The Eddies have not won a road game in competitive play since August 20, 2016 (1-0 Win @ Tampa Bay)
- Ottawa will be facing a familiar in former Fury FC midfielder Mauro Eustaquio (now with FC Edmonton)

Scouting FC Edmonton: The Eddies didn't begin the 2017 campaign very well suffering three straight losses, before picking up their first win two weeks ago against Puerto Rico. Colin Miller's side is coming into Wednesday's match after dropping a 2-0 decision to Miami FC on Saturday night in Florida. Edmonton has been outscored 8-3 after 5 games played.

Head-to-Head: Both teams faced each other fifteen times in the North American Soccer League, with Fury FC holding a record of 4W-4D-7L. In the Canadian Championship, Ottawa has an all-time record of 1W-4D-1L against Edmonton.

Injuries/Suspensions: Carl Haworth: Ankle (March 14: Out 4-6 weeks); Gerardo Bruna: Ankle (Apr. 26: week-to-week)

MATCH NOTES

MATCH PREVIEW:

After extending their unbeaten streak to three games last weekend with a 2-2 draw against the Charleston Battery, Fury FC will now quickly shift their focus towards the Canadian Championship and the date with FC Edmonton on Wednesday night in the first leg or the preliminary round at TD Place.

After three consecutive positive results that showcased Ottawa's fight and determination, Fury FC will enter Wednesday's match with a lot of confidence and will be looking to reproduce their Canadian Championship run from last year when they knocked out FC Edmonton and moved on to face the Vancouver Whitecaps.

FC Edmonton on the other hand have not opened their 2017 NASL campaign as planned. After dropping their opening three matches, the Eddies picked up their first win two weeks ago, but enter Wednesday night's affair coming off a tough loss (2-0) in Miami.

There is no love lost between Fury FC and FC Edmonton and despite Ottawa's move to USL, expect Wednesday's first leg to have a very familiar vibe to the previous 15 contests between these Canadian rivals.

Both squads are loaded with Canadian talent and with the new tournament rule that requires at least three Canadians in the Starting XI expect to see these Canadians bringing their best as they look to pace their respective sides to an early advantage in the first leg.

With a semifinal date with Toronto FC on the line, expect the first leg to be filled with intensity as these Canadian rivals look to set the tone for the return leg in Edmonton next Wednesday (May 10).

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING:

Fury FC GM and Head Coach, Paul Dalglish: "This is our most important game of the season. The reward, if we can get through these two legs is bringing Toronto here. On so many levels it's so important for our organization. If our guys do well against Edmonton and go through they have the opportunity to showcase themselves against MLS opposition. It starts Wednesday and we want to offer our fans a good performance."

Fury FC Defender, Eddie Edward: "They're a solid group of guys and they are going to be a good opposition for us. Colin Miller's teams are always super organized, sometimes it takes time and I think they are, just like us, trying to find their form. We want to represent the USL and Ottawa as best as possible, it's an exciting completion and obviously are guys want to move on and face an MLS team."

Fury FC midfielder, Jamar Dixon: "It's going to be exciting for us to play that game. It's going to be my first experience in the Canadian Championship and I'm really looking forward to it. I believe we will do well. Everyone looks fresh after the trip to Charleston so it looks good. This team did very well last year and I was watching the games down from Finland. So we definitely want to reproduce that performance this year and face MLS opposition."

ABOUT FC EDMONTON :

The team's first joined the North American Soccer League (NASL) in April 2011 and played their first league match on April 9, 2011 and played against the Fort Lauderdale Strikers to a 2-1 victory. With a playoff finish after the first season, FC Edmonton looked to embrace the success heading into the second. However, with a last place finish in 2012, the Eddies looked to make some changes. The 2012-2013 off season saw Colin Miller take over the helm of the club, along with assistant Jeff Paulus. The present looks great but the future looks even brighter for the young FC Edmonton squad and professional soccer is officially back in Edmonton.
