Weekly Storylines:

- Fury FC earned a vital point on the road in Bethlehem with a 1-1 draw against last Saturday that pushed their undefeated streak to three games (2W-1D-0L)
- On Monday, Fury FC announced that they will host the Montreal Impact in a friendly on July 12 at TD Place
- Ottawa has only two losses in its last twelve fixtures in all competitions (6W-4D-2L)
- Callum Irving was sensational Saturday with four clutch saves. He is now 6th in the USL with 30 saves
- Fury FC will play three of their next four games at TD Place

Scouting the Harrisburg City Islanders: After winning two of their first three matches to kick off the 2017 USL campaign, the City Islanders are winless since April 15th when they defeated Bethlehem Steel FC 3-2. Harrisburg is currently on a seven-game winless skid. The club will probably try to feed off its good performances in the U.S. Open cup, as they advanced to the 4th round last week (May 31st), after a victory against Reading United A.C.

Head-to-Head: Saturday will mark the first meeting ever between Ottawa Fury FC and the City Islanders.

MATCH NOTES

MATCH PREVIEW:

After extending their unbeaten streak to three games in Bethlehem on Sunday, Ottawa returns home to host the Harrisburg City Islanders at TD Place Saturday night following their first quiet week in some time with just the lone match to focus on.

Fury FC played 14 games inside the opening 65 days of the season – a match every four-and-a-half days. In fact, since the month of May began with Ottawa hosting Edmonton, Paul Dalglish's squad has played nine games in 32 days, not to mention the travel in between. With the grueling schedule behind them, Fury FC players are finally going to be able to rest their bodies and solely focus on climbing up the USL Standings.

Ottawa has suffered only two losses in its last twelve fixtures, in all competition (6W-4D-2L) and the club is on a two-game winning streak at home, most recently defeating the Richmond Kickers 5-3 with a historic come-from-behind performance.

Harrisburg will have to keep a close eye on Ryan Williams as the British midfielder has been on fire lately picking up two goals and two assists in his last five games. Last Sunday against Bethlehem, Williams came on as a substitute and had an instant impact on the game, setting up Michael Salazar's equalizer.

After winning two of their first three matches to kick off the 2017 USL campaign, the Harrisburg City Islanders are winless since April 15th – they defeated Bethlehem Steel FC 3-2 on that date.

Harrisburg is currently on a seven-game winless skid, but the club will most likely try to feed off its good performances in the U.S. Open Cup, as the City Islanders advanced to the 4th round of the competition last week, after a victory against Reading A.C. Harrisburg will now face the MLS side Philadelphia Union in the 5th round.

Despite playing in the U.S Open Cup on May 31st, Harrisburg will be the fresher side coming into Saturday's game against Ottawa. The City Islanders enjoyed a bye week in the USL last week and will have had ten days off compared to six for Ottawa. Prior to their USL bye week, the City Islanders had lost their last game 3-1 against Bethlehem on May 28.

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING:

Fury FC GM and Head Coach, Paul Dalglish:

"They play quite narrow and the have really good players. The results haven't really matched what the performances have been and we'll have to be at our best to beat them. Our depth has been stretched in the past few weeks and the mentality within this group is truly unbelievable. They've been fantastic and whoever has been asked to play has done well. We're a very difficult team to play against at the moment and we will only get better with full weeks of training to prepare for games."

Fury FC Midfielder, Jonathan Barden:

"They might not have won in a while in USL, but all teams in this league are capable of beating each other, so we'll have to take them seriously just like any other opponent. But if we go into that game with the right mindset and do our job well like we know we can, I'm confident we can take the three points. Also, we'll be home with our fantastic fans, we won't travel so I am confident the team will put on a good performance."

Fury FC Midfielder, Sergio Manesio:

"I expect a really hard game, like any other USL game. We will need to play our game and our style. We want to keep scoring goals and entertaining fans which we've been really good at recently. We expect a tough game, but we will be fresh and ready to go. We will give everything we have to get another win on the board and stack up the points."

ABOUT HARRISBURG:

The Harrisburg City Islanders are an American professional soccer team based in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, United States and were founded in 2003. The Harrisburg City Islanders were announced as a new professional soccer team on September 24, 2003 as a member of the USL Pro Soccer League's Atlantic Division. As the team prepared for its inaugural season, Bill Becher was named the first head coach of the club. Since the USL restructured, the City Islanders have struggled to keep pace, missing out on the playoffs for both the 2015 and 2016 seasons. On January 5, 2017, the United States Soccer Federation granted USL provisional Division II status; making the 2017 season the first time the City Islanders would compete as a Division II team
