SHAREHOLDERS

- Green Bay Packers, Inc., has been a publicly owned, nonprofit corporation since Aug. 18, 1923, when original articles of incorporation were filed with Wisconsin's secretary of state.
- A total of 5,014,545 shares are owned by 364,114 stockholders none of whom receives any dividend on the initial investment.
- The corporation is governed by a board of directors and a sevenmember executive committee.
- One of the more remarkable business stories in American history, the team is kept viable by its shareholders its unselfish fans. Even more incredible, the Packers have survived during the current era, permeated by free agency and the NFL salary cap. And, thanks in large part to Brown County's passage of the 2000 Lambeau Field referendum, the club will remain solvent and highly competitive well into the future due to its redeveloped stadium.
- Fans have supported the team financially on several occasions, including five stock sales: 1923, 1935, 1950, 1997 and 2011.
- To protect against someone taking control of the team, the articles of incorporation prohibit any person from owning more than 200,000 shares.

IN THE COMMUNITY

FOOTBALL AND COMMUNITY

The Green Bay Packers organization is dedicated to enriching the lives of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan residents by donating time and talents, along with providing diverse community outreach programs. Our programs are designed to assist nonprofit organizations, mentor youth, encourage volunteerism and gain an awareness of the unique needs of our communities. We are committed to taking an active role in leading by example to encourage, inspire and build unity within the communities that have consistently supported us for more than 90 years.

The Green Bay Packers are founded on two principles: football and a commitment to the community. Fulfilling the Packers' mission requires focus and dedication – seven days a week, 52 weeks a year. These efforts have resulted in a 94-year legacy of excellence both on and off the field.

RECOGNITION & GIVING

DONATIONS

The Packers are proud to support thousands of fundraising efforts across the state of Wisconsin. In 2012, more than 10,500 requests were submitted for consideration. Donated items raised more than $3 million to assist with the costs of providing services to those in need. Separate cash donations to local nonprofit groups exceeded $5 million during this same time period.

Those interested in requesting a donation to benefit a nonprofit organization in Wisconsin must apply online at www.packers.com/community/donations.html.

FOUNDATION GRANTS

The Packers Foundation awarded a record-setting $450,000 to 145 civic and charitable groups throughout the state of Wisconsin in its annual distribution of grants.

COMMUNITY QUARTERBACK AWARDS

Since 2000, many of Wisconsin's volunteers have been nominated and selected to receive the Green Bay Packers Community Quarterback Award. Ten more recipients were added to the list in 2012. With the support of Humana Inc., each recipient received a $4,000 grant in the name of the nonprofit organization for which they volunteer their time.

COMMUNITY EVENTS GRANTS

For nearly a decade, the Packers have awarded four grants annually to nonprofit organizations located in Brown County that host events at Lambeau Field. Chosen recipients were ASPIRO, Family Services of Northeast Wisconsin, P.E.O. Sisterhood – Green Bay Reciprocity and St. Vincent Hospital.

PLAYERS' FOUNDATIONS

Many Packers players take their dedication to the community to another level by creating foundations to impact the lives of those around them.

WISH GRANTING

Last season, the Packers were honored to grant the wishes of 16 children and young adults through the Make-A-Wish Foundation. During each visit, the guest of honor has the opportunity to tour Lambeau Field, watch practice, dine with the team and share some very special one-on-one time with their favorite players. The Packers' players, coaches and staff work diligently to make certain each visit is a positive and memorable experience for their special guests.

MILITARY SUPPORT

The Packers remain committed to honoring the men and women of the United States military who have or are currently serving their country. In an effort to do so, the Packers send hundreds of military care packages and messages of support each year. In addition, and as a result of a grant from NFL Charities, the Packers were pleased to make a $5,000 donation to the Wisconsin Department of Veterans Affairs for its new Medal of Honor memorial.

PLAYERS, COACHES & ALUMNI OUTREACH

APPEARANCES BY PLAYERS AND COACHES

Members of the organization – players, coaches and staff – are committed to supporting the community. Throughout 2012, the Packers were granted the opportunity to make nearly 700 appearances. Appearances included nonprofit fundraisers, school visits, athletic banquets and many other events and programs.

APPEARANCES BY ALUMNI

The season featured numerous homecomings at Lambeau Field. During home-game weekends, the Packers and their fans welcomed more than 50 alumni during their returns to the stadium. The visits provided the fans a chance to fondly relive Packers history, as well as obtain autographs from some of their favorite former players.

NFL MAN OF THE YEAR PROGRAM

Each season, the Packers nominate a player for the Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year Award. The honor recognizes NFL players for their commitment to the community. The Packers' nominee for 2012 was wide receiver James Jones. Jones was recognized for the positive impact he makes by way of his Love Jones 4 Kids Foundation, as well as his strong support of various other nonprofit organizations.

EDUCATION

FIT KIDS!

Currently in its ninth year, the Fit Kids! program has been adopted by more than 320 public school districts across the state of Wisconsin, with 76 percent of eligible students benefitting from the curriculum. The program, presented by the Packers and Anthem Blue Cross Blue Shield, is designed to improve children's physical, mental and social health through the instruction of teachers, and has made a difference in the lives of thousands of students.

PLAY 60 CHALLENGE

Ten Wisconsin schools participated in this season's Play 60 Challenge, a program that inspires students to be active for at least 60 minutes per day. Of the 2,620 middle-school students who participated, 9.7 million active minutes were logged in a 28-day span, averaging 133 minutes per student, per day. Valders Middle School proved victorious in the challenge with a daily average of 188 minutes per student.

SCHOLARSHIPS

The Packers have forged an educational partnership with Scholarships, Inc. and Northeast Wisconsin Technical College, funding several scholarships for students who are residents of Brown County and entering four-year colleges or two-year technical or apprenticeship trade programs. The scholarships are awarded based on community service, involvement in athletic activities, academic achievement and financial need.

INTERNSHIPS

In addition to the numerous full-time and part-time personnel the Packers employ, there are several internships available throughout the organization. Departments such as accounting, athletic training, community outreach, fields, human resources, information technology, marketing, media group, public relations and ticketing provide young adults with valuable experience in their academic and professional carreers.

YOUTH FOOTBALL

GREEN BAY PACKERS YOUTH FOOTBALL OUTREACH CAMPS

The Green Bay Packers Youth Football Outreach Camp is a complimentary program that features educational benefits as well as recreational opportunities for second- through fifth-grade students. In 2012, the Packers held 34 camps at elementary schools throughout Wisconsin and provided 4,200 students the opportunity to test their football skills in various drills and obstacle courses.

YOUTH FOOTBALL ON LAMBEAU FIELD

For many years, the Packers have invited local youth football teams to run plays on the field during the Packers Family Night scrimmage, as well as during halftime of a preseason game, as they are cheered on by the thousands of fans in attendance.

NFL PUNT, PASS & KICK COMPETITION

Each year, the Packers host the annual Punt, Pass & Kick Competition prior to a game at Lambeau Field. Forty-one youngsters, ages 8-15, advanced from across the state for the opportunity to compete for the title of Packers Punt, Pass & Kick Team Champion, with three participants scoring high enough to place them in competition at the Punt, Pass & Kick National Finals.

GREEN BAY PACKERS 7-ON-7 REGIONAL PASSING TOURNAMENT

In June 2012, the Packers hosted their fourth annual 7-on-7 Regional Passing Tournament. Eight teams competed in a passing tournament at the Don Hutson Center for the chance to advance to the NFL 7-on-7 National Tournament as representatives of the Packers.

NFL 7-ON-7 NATIONAL PASSING TOURNAMENT

The Packers, along with each of the other 31 NFL clubs, sent a team of high school athletes to represent them in the NFL 7-on-7 National Passing Tournament. The competition was hosted by the Indianapolis Colts in July.

NFL HIGH SCHOOL PLAYER DEVELOPMENT LEADERSHIP PROGRAM

In July, the Packers hosted their first annual NFL High School Player Development Leadership Program for 50 Wisconsin high school football athletes. The HSPD Leadership Program is a one-day event comprised of activities in three different areas – the classroom, the community and leadership, including intensive character development and life skills training.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL COACH OF THE WEEK PROGRAM

Each week during the football season, the Packers honor a Wisconsin high school football coach who demonstrates outstanding leadership on and off the field. Each winner receives $2,000 to be used for the school's football program. One coach, named the Packers High School Football Coach of the Year, is given a $3,000 donation for his football program and is recognized at Lambeau Field during one of the Packers' final home games.

NFL HIGH SCHOOL PLAYER DEVELOPMENT CAMP

Presented by the Wisconsin National Guard, the NFL High School Player Development (HSPD) Camp provides incoming high school freshmen through seniors free training in character development and specific position football skills.

USA FOOTBALL STATE FORUM

The USA Football State Forum brings together youth football leaders from across the state of Wisconsin to discuss various topics impacting the sport. Wisconsin youth league commissioners gain insight on further strengthening player safety and best practices through USA Football's Heads Up Football program, and have the opportunity to network with peers, USA Football representatives and NFL teams.

USA FOOTBALL COACHING SCHOOL

The Packers worked with USA Football to host a coaching school with the goal of developing and sharpening the approach to youth football in the state. The curriculum, aimed at youth football levels, focused on the strategies of the game, as well as the life lessons that young players learn from the game. The event featured multiple classroom sessions at Lambeau Field as well as drill demonstrations.

COMMUNITY EVENTS & OUTREACH

AMERICAN RED CROSS BLOOD DRIVES & DKMS BONE MARROW REGISTRY

The Packers partner with the American Red Cross several times each year to host blood drives for both staff and community members. Throughout the year, nearly 750 units of blood were collected at Lambeau Field, impacting up to 2,250 patients in need of a donation. Attendees of the fall blood drive were also offered an opportunity to register as a bone-marrow donor through DKMS, the largest bone-marrow donor center in the world.

PROJECT LEAP!

Project LEAP! is an event designed to get children and their families out of the house to participate in fun, physical activity in the midst of harsh Wisconsin winters. Among the activities offered at the event are inflatables, climbing walls, bungee trampolines, face painting and entertainment.

65 ROSES CELEBRITY GOLF TOURNAMENT

As part of a long-standing tradition in Green Bay, Head Coach Mike McCarthy served as the honorary chairman for the 65 Roses Celebrity Golf Tournament. For nearly 25 years, the organization has teamed up with Humana to raise more than $615,000 to fight cystic fibrosis.

JERRY PARINS CRUISE FOR CANCER

Jerry Parins, former director of security for the Packers, hosts the annual Jerry Parins Cruise for Cancer each summer. The motor-cycle ride has raised $590,000 over the last nine years for various local cancer-related organizations. The ride was created by Parins a mere 16 months after he was diagnosed with cancer in 2003.

MIKE AND JESSICA McCARTHY GOLF TOURNAMENT

Established in June 2010, the Mike and Jessica McCarthy Golf Tournament benefits the American Family Children's Hospital in Madison, WI. In just three years, the event has raised an impressive net total of more than $500,000, with contributions and participation increasing each year. In 2012, the tournament raised more than $270,000 in net profit, with proceeds going to the hospital's "Sick Kids Can't Wait" campaign. The campaign is designed to meet the needs of sick children by further developing and improving the resources and facilities at the hospital.

PACKERS STAFF COLLECTIONS

Each quarter throughout the year, Packers employees adopted a nonprofit organization in Green Bay, for which they collected items of need. As a result of the staff's generosity, House of Hope, The Salvation Army Coats for Kids Program, Literacy Green Bay and the Northwest Technical College Career Closet all received boxes of contributions to assist them in serving others.

TRAINING CAMP

Each summer, the Packers hold their annual training camp at Ray Nitschke Field. The newly renovated field, which seats 1,500 fans, holds more than 20 practices each year, with an estimated attendance of 100,000 fans throughout camp. Practices are viewed free of charge. The field is located directly across the street from Lambeau Field, which allows players the opportunity to keep alive the long-standing tradition of riding young fans' bikes to practice, providing the kids a memory and a story to last a lifetime.

TAILGATE TOUR

Several players, alumni and staff departed in May 2012 on a five-day journey through Wisconsin for the organization's annual railgate Tour. President/CEO Mark Murphy and players Mason Crosby and Jordy Nelson, as well as alumni players William Henderson, Larry McCarren and Marco Rivera, made stops in La Crosse, Madison, Kenosha, Cedarburg/Grafton and Sturgeon Bay. In addition to impromptu stops, the group made nightly appearances at a tailgate party in each city, with all proceeds benefiting a designated nonprofit organization. Since the tour's inception seven years ago, 30 organizations throughout Wisconsin and Upper Michigan have raised in excess of $825,000 for their work in the community.

NFL HOMETOWN HUDDLE

The Packers, United Way and the City of Milwaukee teamed up in the fall to build a new playground at Smith Park in Milwaukee as part of the NFL Hometown Huddle project. Area schoolchildren were invited to visit the playground construction site as well as meet the Packers players who were helping with the project that day.

WELCOME BACK LUNCHEON

Each year in the midst of training camp, the Green Bay Area Chamber of Commerce hosts the Welcome Back Luncheon. The event welcomes the players and coaches back to the area for the upcoming season, and serves as an opportunity for members of the community to interact with the team, as a player or coach is assigned to each table to mingle and dine with guests.

LADIES OF LAMBEAU

Ladies of Lambeau, a group comprised of female employees and board members, and wives or partners of employees, board members, players and coaches, work to undertake projects that will make a difference in the lives of people near and far. PRO VS. G.I. JOE PROGRAM

As part of the Pro vs. G.I. Joe program, several Packers players connected with active Wisconsin National Guard members in a ericendly battle of the video game "Call of Duty." Soldiers who were stationed in Afghanistan, Kuwait and Qatar were able to compete against the players via a video-conference setup on the Lambeau Field Atrium balcony. Families of the deployed soldiers were also invited to the competition.

In addition to the kids' event, the Packers opened the doors to the Haunted Concourse, a spookhouse designed for area teens.

ECUMENICAL THANKSGIVING DAY DINNER

For the 10th consecutive year, Lambeau Field welcomed local people in need looking to partake in fellowship and a freshly prepared Thanksgiving meal. Nearly 500 volunteers from the community gathered at Lambeau Field to serve a sit-down meal to approximately 900 guests. An additional 1,100 meals were delivered directly to the doors of those who were homebound.

SALVATION ARMY BELL RINGING CAMPAIGN

Packers players and staff lent a hand to The Salvation Army during the holiday season. They could be seen and heard throughout the area ringing bells and signing autographs in an effort to raise funds for the organization and make a difference in the lives of those less fortunate.

FAMILIES OF CHILDREN WITH CANCER HOLIDAY PARTY

Nine Packers players teamed up with the Families of Children with Cancer group to make the holidays a bit brighter for young cancer patients and their families at the group's annual holiday party. Guests enjoyed talking to the players and competing in various games against them, and were thoroughly entertained as they all took to the stage to sing some classic holiday songs.

AWAY-GAME PEP RALLIES

While the Packers travel across the nation to compete in away games, the team's alumni participate in pep rallies at various establishments in some of the cities in which the team is playing. These rallies help gather Packers fans from across the country and build excitement for the team when they are playing away from home.

GAMEDAY ACTIVITIES

OPERATION FAN MAIL

At each home game throughout the season, the Packers and WPS Health Insurance honor and host an active-duty serviceman or woman and their family for their outstanding contributions by way of the Operation Fan Mail program. Since the program debuted in 2007, 56 families have been recognized and enjoyed a game at Lambeau Field.

MIDWEST SHRINE GAME

For more than 60 years, the Packers have designated one preseason game as the Midwest Shrine Game. At the game, the Packers present a donation to the Shrine Tripoli Temple, which operates Shriners Hospitals for Children. The total donated over the years currently stands in excess of $3.4 million.

BISHOP'S CHARITIES GAME

Since 1961, the Packers have designated one preseason game as the Bishop's Charities Game, with a donation being made to the Catholic Diocese of Green Bay. Approximately $3.7 million has been donated to the diocese over the past 51 years.

COATS FOR KIDS COLLECTION

For the last 12 years, the Packers have hosted a Salvation Army Coats for Kids collection prior to a regular-season home game. In October, the team collected nearly $13,000 and 450 coats from giving fans, record totals for collections at Lambeau Field, bringing the grand total to more than 3,000 coats since the partnership's inception.

BREAST CANCER AWARENESS MONTH RECOGNITION

In recognition of Breast Cancer Awareness Month in October, Lambeau Field, as well as the players themselves, was adorned in pink. Zeta Tau Alpha, in partnership with the NFL's A Crucial Catch campaign, handed out complimentary pink ribbons to fans attending the home game.

NFL SALUTE TO SERVICE GAME

The NFL Salute to Service Game at Lambeau Field kicked off with a card stunt performed by the fans, honoring both veterans and current military. Throughout the game, several of Wisconsin's most distinguished military members, as well as a local unit that had recently completed a tour of duty, were recognized. Fans also had the chance to salute soldiers currently serving overseas through a live, two-way video conference on the video boards.

TOYS FOR TOTS COLLECTION

The Packers and the U.S. Marine Corps worked together to host the yearly Toys for Tots collection at Lambeau Field prior to a game in December. Fans attending the game generously donated 1,700 toys and a record-breaking $26,000.

SARGENTO TOUCHDOWNS FOR CHARITY PROGRAM

The Packers and Sargento again partnered for the Touchdowns for Charity program, with Sargento making a contribution to the program for each touchdown scored throughout the season. A total of $100,500 was raised, benefiting the Wisconsin Hunger Task Force in Milwaukee County and Paul's Pantry in Green Bay.

PROTECTION IS THE NAME OF THE GAME CAMPAIGN

The Packers partnered with Verizon Wireless to execute a campaign entitled Protection Is the Name of the Game. The project focused on a season-long cell phone drive, with Verizon Wireless making a $10 donation to its HopeLine program for each used cell phone donated. The program benefits victims of domestic violence in Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

FIRST DOWN FOR TREES

As part of their Green Team initiative, the Packers completed their third season of the eco-friendly First Downs for Trees program. With every first down the team gained, a contribution was made to the fund, resulting in the organization contributing a total of $16,000 to the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources. The program also received a $48,000 grant from the U.S. Forest Service, resulting in a total of 852 new trees being planted.

HOLIDAY MAIL FOR HEROES

The Packers teamed up with the American Red Cross to coordinate a Holiday Mail for Heroes drive at Lambeau Field on gameday. The drive provided fans the opportunity to send a message of holiday cheer to one of the many service members who are currently serving or have served our country.

DNC SPORTSERVICE CONCESSION-STAND EFFORT

Area nonprofit groups volunteer their time and energy to staff concession stands for each and every home game. In turn, donations totaling more than $750,000 were given to the 91 nonprofit organizations that volunteered during the 2012 season.

PACKERS WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION

MAKING STRIDES AGAINST BREAST CANCER RUN/WALK

Members of the Packers Women's Association (PWA) participated in the Making Strides Against Breast Cancer Awareness Run/Walk, with all proceeds going to benefit the American Cancer Society. Despite the rainy, chilly weather the participants encountered that day, the event raised in excess of $76,000 overall. Since Making Strides began 20 years ago, breast cancer death rates have declined 32 percent.

PAUL'S PANTRY FOOD DRIVE

The PWA teamed up with United Healthcare for the 26th annual food drive for Paul's Pantry. The drive was quite successful, netting more than 27,000 food items and $21,000 in the hours leading up to a Packers home game.

PWA CARE FOR KIDS PROJECT

The PWA continued its work on a program started in 2009, the PWA Care for Kids project, created to support pediatric patients at local hospitals. Over 1,000 arts and crafts projects, games and movies were donated to the hospitals for distribution to young patients during their extended and often overwhelming stays in the hospital.

BLANKETS FOR LITTLE PATIENTS

Members of the PWA committed time and resources to a new project, aspiring to send comfort to the babies who are admitted to the St. Vincent Hospital Neonatal Intensive Care Unit in Green Bay. Following the unit's specifications, the ladies created several dozen blankets to be given to the hospital's youngest patients battling various illnesses.

NEW COMMUNITY SHELTER DINNER SERVICE

In 2012, the PWA undertook a new project by offering their services to the New Community Shelter in Green Bay. Members volunteered their time to serve dinner, as well as their homemade desserts, to the less fortunate who look to the facility for assistance and care. The shelter works in cooperation with others in the community to address homelessness and hopelessness through education, counseling, resources and in-house services.

GREEN BAY PACKERS FOUNDATION

The Green Bay Packers organization has enjoyed tremendous fan support through its long and storied history. The community supported the team in times of need by "passing the hat" at games and by buying stock in 1923, 1935, 1950, 1997 and 2011, among other ways. To give back to the community, the team created the Green Bay Packers Foundation in December 1986. The foundation assists in a wide variety of activities and programs that benefit education, civic affairs, health services, human services and youth-related programs.

Last year, in its annual distribution of funds, the foundation awarded $450,000 to 145 civic and charitable groups throughout the state of Wisconsin, Charlie Lieb, chairman of the foundation committee, announced Feb. 12, 2013. With these disbursements, the Foundation has distributed more than $3 million for charitable purposes since it was established in 1986 by Judge Robert J. Parins, then-president of the Packers Corporation, "as a vehicle to assure continued contributions to charity.

The financial breakdown of the Foundation's contributions discloses that 48 grants - aggregating $166,500 - were awarded to Brown County organizations.

Additional grants, totaling $283,500, were made to 97 other groups around the state.

Under the Packers Scholarship Program, established in 2002, an additional $15,000 is being awarded - $7,500 to Scholarships, Inc., for distribution to students in four-year colleges and $7,500 to Northeast Wisconsin Technical College (NWTC) for distribution to students in two-year associate degree or apprenticeship trades programs. A portion of the scholarship funds comes from National Football League Properties which, at the Packers' request, returns to the Foundation royalty fees paid for using the Packers logo on Wisconsin automobile license plates.

In the past year, the Packers Foundation also has distributed an additional $60,375 on behalf of National Football League Charities -$20,000 in "Community Quarterback" awards to civic leaders for contributions to the community, $12,375 in the NFL's "Coach of the Week" program which honors successful Wisconsin high school coaches on a weekly basis throughout the season, $20,000 through the "Hometown Huddle/Youth Fitness Zone" program, $3,000 to the "Play 60 Challenge" to encourage healthy lifestyles amongst our youth and $5,000 for the NFL National Partnership Grant focusing on efforts related to the military.

MARK MURPHY

PRESIDENT & CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Mark Murphy, possessor of extensive experience in professional football and sports administration, is in his sixth year as the Packers' President and CEO.

Under Murphy's guidance, the organization continues to rank as one of the NFL's premier franchises, with highly successful operations both on and off the field. On the field, the team has compiled a 58-30 overall record (.659), made four straight playoff trips, captured two consecutive division titles and earned a victory in Super Bowl XLV. Off the field, the club continues to perform well in its business efforts, which allows the organization to support football operations. The fan experience at Lambeau Field, a top priority for the organization, continues to be ranked among the best in sports.

It was a direction both Murphy and the organization envisioned when Murphy was elected by the Packers Board of Directors as the franchise's 10th Chief Executive Officer on Dec. 3, 2007. He began his work with the organization as president-elect on Jan. 1, 2008, and then formally took over on Jan. 28, 2008.

"I am honored to have been selected and very appreciative of this tremendous opportunity," Murphy said the day of his election. "The Packers are one of the great franchises in all of professional sports, with a rich history and incredible fan support. These are successful times for the Packers. On the field they're performing well, and off the field, they're in great shape, too. I look forward to being a part of that continued success."

Murphy, who holds a law degree and an MBA in finance, brought a unique and highly qualified background to his role as head of one of the NFL's flagship franchises, first drawing from a deep understanding and appreciation of the game that comes from an eight-year playing career with the Washington Redskins. Later, he served a combined 16 years as director of athletics at Colgate University and Northwestern University, and was an assistant executive director of the NFL Players Association and a trial attorney with the U.S. Department of Justice.

In addition to his playing career and work with the NFL Players Association, Murphy had maintained his ties to the NFL through his work on the Commissioner's Player Advisory Committee (1994-2002) as well as the NFL Youth Football Committee (2002-12). Additionally, his NFL experience now includes Super Bowl wins as a player (XVII, 1982) and as a CEO (XLV, 2010), believed to be the first such achievement in NFL history.

NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell, recognizing the unique experience and skills Murphy brought to the NFL as the Packers' CEO, in 2008 appointed him to the NFL's Management Council Executive Committee, the NFL owners' committee whose responsibility was to serve as the bargaining team during negotiations with the NFL Players Association which resulted in a new, 10-year Collective Bargaining Agreement in 2011. The position has allowed Murphy to increase his involvement and contributions at the league level, ensuring the organization has a voice in NFL matters.

"Mark's rare blend of experiences makes him integral to the future of the Packers and the NFL," said Goodell when appointing Murphy. "His accomplishments as an NFL player, his work with the NFLPA, and now his leadership of the Packers, provide a unique perspective to the league and also to the players. He's very effective in discussions with NFLPA executives. Mark is a bright and thoughtful individual who understands what needs to get done to create a system that benefits all sides for years to come. He is very reasonable and wants what's best for fans, the game and players, as we all do."

In 2012, Goodell added to Murphy's NFL-level involvement by naming him to the important Competition Committee, the group composed of team executives and coaches that studies all aspects of the game and recommends rules and policy changes to NFL clubs. Goodell also placed Murphy on the NFL owners' new Health and Safety Committee.

Upon joining the Packers, Murphy broadened his knowledge of the franchise, its operations and its standing in the community by meeting with employees, shareholders, fans and members of the Board of Directors, as well as many community groups.

Among his first initiatives was to update the organization's strategic plan, a process involving all the leadership positions of the organization, including the Executive Committee and football operations. The process created core objectives to serve as a backdrop for all key business decisions. In a move to enhance those objectives, Murphy restructured the management of the organization, which included creating a new senior-leadership staff overseeing administration, finance, football operations and sales and marketing. The structure reflected the growth the organization has experienced in recent years and gives broader coverage across all operations with more people involved on a senior-management level.

Murphy also is directing the organization's master plan involving Lambeau Field, the Lambeau Field Atrium, the practice facilities and property the organization owns adjacent to the stadium. Lambeau Field and the Atrium currently are undergoing a $286.5 million, five-year expansion and renovation that includes a new distributed-audio sound system (2011), two new HD video boards and a new Bellin Health Gate on the north end of the stadium (2012), and approximately 7,000 additional seats in the south end zone served by the Shopko Gate (2013). The Atrium phase includes a larger Oneida Nation Gate (2013), new football facilities (2014) and a new Packers Pro Shop, Hall of Fame and restaurant (2015).

To support the Lambeau Field expansion project, Murphy directed the Packers' fifth stock sale, an effort that netted the organization more than $64 million. More than 268,000 shares were sold during the offering, from Dec. 6, 2011, through Feb. 29, 2012, with more than 250,000 new shareholders joining the Packers' family. All stadium improvements are being financed without public tax money.

Among the other initiatives Murphy has directed is the enhancement of the organization's retail operations, including the purchase of a new warehouse for the Packers Pro Shop, and the establishment of a customer relationship management (CRM) program, with both efforts upgrading customer service to Packers fans.

Murphy also has worked to increase the number of outside events utilizing Lambeau Field, including a Kenny Chesney concert in June 2011, the venue's first major concert since its redevelopment; and LZ Lambeau in May 2010, a welcome back for Wisconsin Vietnam Veterans. Additionally in the community, Murphy has ensured the organization remains a strong community partner, with a charity impact of $6 million in the past year.

Inside the organization, Murphy continues to grow and develop the team's human resources, with new programs for employees such as leadership development.

The 58-year-old Murphy joined the Packers after 4½ years (2003-07) as director of athletics at Northwestern University. At the Big Ten Conference school, Murphy oversaw a 19-sport program with a $40 million budget and 160 fulltime employees. During his tenure, the school won eight individual national championships and three NCAA team titles. Additionally, the university won nine conference team championships and 34 individual Big Ten titles. A total of 49 Wildcats earned first-team All-America distinction. On the football field, the Wildcats participated in two bowl games during Murphy's tenure after playing in just four previous such contests in the program's history. In 2006-07, Northwestern finished 30th in the U.S. Sports Academy Directors' Cup standings with a school-best 626.5 points. The Wildcats ranked among the top 30 in the standings for the last three years of Murphy's tenure and in 2007 finished sixth among Big Ten schools for the third straight year after previously not placing higher than ninth.

The school's athletic success under Murphy was achieved while its student-athletes continued to excel off the field. The NCAA Graduation Success Rate (GSR) data released in October 2007 reported Northwestern's rate at 98 percent, tying it with Notre Dame and Navy for tops in the nation.

Prior to his tenure at Northwestern, Murphy served as director of athletics at Colgate University in Hamilton, N.Y. (1992-2003), the school from which he graduated in 1977. During his 11 years at the helm, the university experienced a renaissance of its football program, going from 0-11 in 1995 to three consecutive appearances in the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs. In 2003, the year after Murphy's departure to Northwestern, the team made it to the championship game; the achievement of that squad – a non-scholarship program remains one of Murphy's proudest moments.

Colgate's other teams experienced success as well, with men's basketball, women's soccer, women's volleyball, women's softball and men's ice hockey teams making NCAA Tournament appearances. The school also achieved graduation rates among the highest for student-athletes in Division I during Murphy's tenure. A proud alumnus, Murphy had the honor of delivering the commencement address for the university's 2012 graduation ceremony.

A former All-Pro safety for the Washington Redskins, Murphy enjoyed an eight-year career (1977-84) after originally signing with the team as a non-drafted free agent in 1977. He was a co-captain from 1980-84, a period that included

THE GREEN BAY PACKERS ORGANIZATION

SPORTS: Each year since 2003, ESPN The Magazine has ranked all 122 franchises in the four major sports based on eight major categories: bang for the buck, ownership, stadium experience, on-field leadership, fan relations, affordability, players' effort and likability, and championships won/ expected to win. The Packers finished first in the inaugural rankings in 2003 and also in June 2011, joining the NBA's

San Antonio Spurs (2004, 2006) as the only team to have garnered the distinction more than once. The franchise also placed in the top 10 in 2004 (third), '05 (eighth), '08 (fourth), '10 (ninth) and '12 (second). Lambeau Field has ranked as the top NFL venue in six of the 10 rankings and landed in the top overall spot across all sports six times, including four of the last five years (2008-09, 2011-12).

I AMBEAU FIFI D RANKED NO. 1 GAMEDAY EXPERIENCE:

In a November 2007 Sports Illustrated poll on SI.com rating the gameday atmosphere for each NFL team, the experience of seeing the Green Bay Packers at Lambeau Field ranked first.

Lambeau Field topped the rankings for a second consecutive season in 2008, according to the SI.com poll. It was the only stadium to achieve a top-five ranking in each of the five categories: affordability & food, tailgating, team quality, atmosphere

"For all the glitz and money the NFL exudes nowadays," the poll summarized, "football's heart is still on that 'frozen tundra,' where tough guys grapple with each other while fans warm themselves on cold bleachers with hot chocolate and fullthroated cheering. And that is still the essence of Lambeau."

two Super Bowl teams (1982-83). He enjoyed his finest season in 1983, leading the NFL with nine interceptions and earning consensus All-Pro honors as well as a trip to the Pro Bowl. Murphy was named as one of the Redskins' "70 Greatest Players," as well as one of the "80 Greatest Redskins," and also is a member of the club's 50th Anniversary Team

Joe Gibbs, the Hall of Fame former coach of the Redskins who led the team during Murphy's 1981-84 seasons, was appreciative of the player's contributions and lauded the Packers' hiring of Murphy.

"Mark meant a lot to the Redskins organization the years he was here and played," Gibbs said. "He was a great person along with being one of the brightest and most competitive people we've had here at the Redskins."

Gibbs had an influence on Murphy as well, as the Packers' CEO attributes much of his leadership style to what he learned from the successful Redskins coach.

"He had many leadership traits that I admired and tried to incorporate into my own leadership style," said Murphy. "He had a very natural way about him with the way he related to people, and he tried to be accessible. He was a very effective communicator, too, as most great leaders are. And when he worked with you, he was very fair and sincere. All those skills and traits fueled his awesome ability to motivate his teams."

A natural leader among his teammates, Murphy served as the Redskins' player representative to the NFL Players Association from 1980-84, including the position of vice president of the players union (1983-84). While a representative, he served on the players' bargaining committee during the 1982 players' strike. Those experiences have served him well in his role on the NFL's Management Council Executive Committee.

During his days with the Redskins, Murphy earned an MBA in finance from American University in Washington, D.C., attending classes full-time in the offseason and evening classes in-season. Upon completion of his playing career in 1985, he joined the NFL Players Association as assistant executive director. While with the NFLPA, Murphy served on the bargaining team, including during the 1987 players' strike, developed the agent-certification system and strengthened the PA's degree-completion and career-counseling programs.

While with the NFLPA, he started work on a law degree from Georgetown University and ultimately finished his studies full-time after leaving the Players Association. Upon receiving his law degree in 1988, he worked at a Washington, D.C., law firm (Bredhoff and Kaiser) before becoming a trial attorney with the U.S. Department of Justice in 1989.

During a four-year career with the Department of Justice, he primarily represented government agencies in trials. Then, in 1992, his alma mater called and he returned to the sports realm.

At ease in public settings and with the media, Murphy enjoyed hosting a weekly radio show during his playing days and later became a sports commentator for National Public Radio (1983-92) and the Anheuser-Busch Radio Network (1986-88), offering his insights into football and sports-related legal issues in general.

Born July 13, 1955, in Fulton, N.Y., Murphy spent some of his formative years in the Houston area before moving back to the Buffalo-area community of Clarence. He was a three-sport star (football, baseball and basketball) at Clarence Central High School and was named the best all-around athlete in Western New York during his senior year. His baseball talents drew attention from Major League scouts. In 2002, he was inducted into the Greater Buffalo Sports Hall of Fame in recognition of his achievements both on and off the field.

Murphy and his wife, Laurie, who also is a Colgate graduate, have been involved in the communities in which they've lived. Over the years the couple has donated their time to numerous organizations, including local schools, the United Methodist Church in Hamilton, N.Y., and the First Congregational Church of Evanston, III. Also while in Chicago, Murphy served on the bid committee for the 2016 Olympics which eventually was awarded to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. While at Colgate University, Murphy formed the Hamilton Youth Basketball League and served as its commissioner. Heavily involved in the community while with the Redskins, Murphy was named the team's "Miller Man of the Year" in 1984 in honor of his work off the field.

In Green Bay, Murphy continues a busy schedule of meeting with fans and shareholders, as well as speaking to a variety of business and community groups. He also has given his time to several community organizations to help their causes, including Big Brothers Big Sisters. Murphy also serves on the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay's council of trustees and on the boards of directors of USA Football and the Positive Coaching Alliance, the latter an organization created to transform the culture of youth sports to give all young athletes the opportunity for a positive, characterbuilding experience. Mark and Laurie are also active supporters of foster-care services in Brown County, Additionally, Laurie established Ladies of Lambeau, a group composed of female employees and board members, and wives or partners of employees, board members, players and coaches. The group undertakes projects that will make a difference in the lives of people near and far, including packaging meals for the hungry in Africa and making blankets for residents at area nursing homes. The group also distributes grants to Wisconsin charities chosen by its volunteers.

Mark and Laurie have four children: Katie, 30, a graduate of Harvard who played basketball for the Crimson and now works at Credit Suisse in New York City; Emily, 28, a 2008 graduate of Middlebury (Yt.) College who played football for the Lord Jeffs and now works for Woven Digital in New York City; and Anna, 22, a recent graduate of Northwestern University who now works for Fox Sports in Los Angeles.

Away from work, Mark enjoys playing golf, fishing and participating in various forms of exercise, including bicycling, cross-country skiing and jogging.

TED THOMPSON

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT, GENERAL MANAGER & DIRECTOR OF FOOTBALL OPERATIONS

Ted Thompson firmly believes that the best way to build a successful team is by drafting and developing players, with free agency playing a complementary role in addressing specific needs.

Now eight-plus years into his tenure as Executive Vice President, General Manager and Director of Football Operations, Thompson's philosophy was further validated in 2010 with a win in Super Bowl XLV over the Pittsburgh Steelers, Green Bay's fourth Super Bowl title and 13th world championship.

À look at the Packers' roster for Super Bowl XLV indicates a team truly built by Thompson. Nineteen of 22 starters and 49 of 53 players on the roster were acquired by Thompson via the draft, free agency, trades or the waiver wire during his time in Green Bay.

Thompson's approach was reaffirmed in 2011 and 2012 as Green Bay added to one of its most successful stretches in team history. While the Packers came up short in their quest to win another Super Bowl championship the past two seasons, Green Bay finished with a franchise-best 15 regular-season wins in 2011 while also capturing back-to-back division titles in 2011-12 for the first time since it won three straight from 2002-04. The 2012 season also marked the Packers' fourth straight playoff appearance and fifth in the last six seasons, making them the only NFC team to accomplish those feats.

Following the 2012 season, four players acquired by Thompson, LB Clay Matthews, QB Aaron Rodgers, C Jeff Saturday and G Josh Sitton, earned Pro Bowl honors. A first-round selection by Thompson in 2009, Matthews became the first Packer to earn Pro Bowl recognition in each of his first four seasons in the NFL. For Rodgers, it marked his second consecutive selection and third overall (also 2009). Thompson's first draft selection as Green Bay's GM in 2005, Rodgers also earned Most Valuable Player honors for Super Bowl XLV and captured the prestigious NFL MVP award following the 2011 campaign. A fourth-round pick by Thompson in 2008, Sitton made his first appearance in the postseason all-star game.

The combined achievements authored by the 2010 and '11 teams assembled by Thompson have a prominent place in Packers' and NFL history. Covering a span of 364 days, Green Bay won 19 consecutive games (including postseason) over the two seasons. The 19-game winning streak began in Week 16 of 2010 and lasted until Green Bay suffered its lone regular-season defeat at Kansas City in Week 15 of the 2011 season. The streak was the longest in franchise history and was the second-longest winning streak in NFL history (including playoffs) behind only the 2003-04 New England Patriots (21 games). Perhaps most impressively, the Packers never trailed in the fourth quarter during their 19-game winning streak.

The 2011 Packers captured their second NFC North title under Thompson and first since 2007, and as a result, earned the NFC's No. 1 seed for the first time since 1996. The Packers finished the 2011 campaign with a perfect 8-0 record at Lambeau Field for the first time since 2002.

Seven of Thompson's players were selected to the Pro Bowl following the 2011 campaign, the most the Packers have had voted to the all-star game since 1967. The selections included WR Greg Jennings, FB John Kuhn, Matthews, NT B.J. Raji, Rodgers, C Scott Wells and CB Charles Woodson. Six of the selections were acquired by Thompson as Jennings, Matthews, Raji and Rodgers were draft picks while Kuhn was claimed off waivers and Woodson was signed as a free agent. It was the fourth straight Pro Bowl selection for Woodson, the NFL Defensive Player of the Year in 2009 who was signed by Thompson in '06.

AT A GLANCE ...

- Of the 53 players on Green Bay's Super Bowl XLV championship roster, 49 of them had been acquired by Thompson since 2005
- Green Bay's seven Pro Bowl selections in 2011 were the most the Packers had voted into the game since 1967, with six of those players either drafted or signed by Thompson.
- Named NFL Executive of the Year in 2008 and 2011 by Sporting News in a vote of his peers.
- 2013 will be the first season during his Green Bay tenure in which every player on the roster was acquired by Thompson.
- Since 2005, 16 rookie free agents have made the opening-day roster under Thompson, including 10 over the past three seasons (2010-12), tying the Packers for second most in the NFL over that span.
- Named to his position on Jan. 14, 2005, his second stint with the organization. Earlier served eight years with Packers (1992-99) – as assistant director of pro personnel (1992), director of pro personnel (1993-96) and director of player personnel (1997-99).
- Served five seasons (2000-04) as the Seattle Seahawks' vice president of football operations.
- Combining the drafts he has run in Seattle and Green Bay, 22 of Thompson's selections have earned Pro Bowl, All-Pro or All-Rookie honors.
- Nine starters on Seattle's Super Bowl XL team, including league MVP RB Shaun Alexander and K Josh Brown, were drafted by the Seahawks during Thompson's tenure.
- Enjoyed a 10-year playing career with the Houston Oilers (1975-84), becoming one of the most durable players in Houston annals by playing in 146 of 147 games, missing just one contest due to injury. Originally signed by Bum Phillips as a non-drafted free agent.
- Was a three-year starter (1972-74) at linebacker and team captain ("74) for SMU, gaining Academic All-Southwest Conference honors, graduating with a bachelor's degree in business administration, and also lettering in baseball as a senior.

In 2010, the Packers posted a 10-6 mark and qualified for the postseason for the third time under Thompson. Winners of three straight playoff games on the road, Green Bay became just the second No. 6 seed (2005 Steelers) to win a Super Bowl since the NFL went to a 12-team playoff format in 1990.

The Packers featured eight Pro Bowl selections in 2010, with five of the players being voted to the initial squad. Four of the eight players were draft picks of Thompson's and two more were signed as free agents.

What made the Packers' championship season in 2010 even more notable was the adversity the team faced due to injuries. Green Bay finished the year with 15 players on injured reserve, and eight of them had started at least one game on the season. Six starters from the opening-day depth chart sustained season-ending injuries in the first seven games.

Because of those injuries, the roster depth that Thompson had built during his tenure came to the fore. Rookies such as T Bryan Bulaga, a first-round draft pick in 2010, and CB Sam Shields and LB Frank Zombo, both non-drafted free agents in '10, were called upon to step into prominent roles. A pair of fourth-year players, LB Desmond Bishop and S Charlie Peprah, moved into the starting lineup and became key cogs on defense after contributing primarily on special teams earlier in their careers. RB James Starks, a sixth-round pick in 2010 who was limited to just three games during the regular season because of an injury, led the NFL with 315 rushing yards in the postseason, third most in league annals by a rookie RB in the playoffs.

The Packers' Super Bowl XLV team was a direct reflection of the philosophy that Thompson has held true to throughout his Green Bay tenure, one that should put the franchise in good position to contend for championships on an annual basis.

Since taking over as GM in 2005, Thompson has focused on rebuilding and improving the bulk of the roster, mostly through the draft.

In his first four drafts from 2005-08, Thompson utilized 14 trades, all but one of them down, to turn 31 picks into 43 selections, plus an extra choice in '09. In 2009-10, however, his trades went in the other direction as the improved roster core allowed him to focus less on the overall quantity of picks. Those two years, Thompson traded up for specific players he had targeted in certain rounds.

In '09, after selecting Raji out of Boston College with the No. 9 overall selection in the first round, Thompson traded a second-round pick and two third-round selections – Nos. 41, 73 and 83 overall – to New England to get another crack at a first-round talent. He moved up 15 spots to No. 26 overall and nabbed Matthews out of Southern California, while also receiving a 2009 fifth-round pick in return from the Patriots.

Just like that, not only did Thompson give the Packers two first-round draft choices for the first time in 16 years, he added highly touted prospects at the two linchpin positions in the 3-4 defense – a middle anchor and outside pass rusher.

In addition to Matthews earning a Pro Bowl bid as a rookie, both he and Raji made the prestigious Pro Football Weekly All-Rookie team. Their success has continued in the subsequent seasons following their rookie campaigns. Matthews has earned four consecutive Pro Bowl invitations (2009-12) while also finishing as the runner-up to Steelers S Troy Polamalu for 2010 Defensive Player of the Year honors from The Associated Press. In 2010, Raji posted 6½ sacks, the most by an NFL nose tackle since 1990, and following the 2011 season. he earned his first Pro Bowl selection.

Bulaga, the No. 23 overall pick in 2010, went on to start the final 12 regular-season contests at RT as a rookie in place of injured veteran Mark Tauscher, and also opened all four playoff games. Bulaga was named to the All-Rookie team by PFW, joining Raji and Matthews as three straight first-round picks by Thompson to be honored by the publication. Since solidifying his role as a starter in 2011, Bulaga has developed into one of the best young tackles in the league.

Despite coming off a world championship in 2010 and featuring one of the deepest rosters in the league, the Packers received consistent contributions from Thompson's 2011 draft class in their rookie seasons. Second-round pick WR Randall Cobb made an immediate impact in his pro debut vs. New Orleans with a 108-yard kickoff return for a touchdown that matched the NFL record. He finished the season ranked No. 2 in the NFL (No. 1 among rookies) with a 27.7-yard kickoff return average and No. 7 in the league (No. 2 among rookies) with an 11.3-yard punt return average. For his efforts, Cobb was named to the Pro Football Weekly All-Rookie team as the kick returner. Cobb continued to excel in 2012, setting a franchise record and ranking first in the NFL with 2,342 combined net yards. Additionally, Cobb led the team with 80 receptions and 954 receiving yards last season.

Never afraid to be aggressive on draft day, Thompson was at it again during the 2012 and 2013 NFL drafts. The 2012 draft saw him trade up three times over the course of the weekend. Highlighted by first-round pick LB Nick Perry of USC and second-round pick DE Jerel Worthy of Michigan State, Thompson used the first six of the team's eight picks overall on defense. While Perry and Worthy look to rebound from injuries that ended their promising rookie campaigns, second-round pick CB Casey Hayward produced one of the finest seasons by a rookie in team history. Hayward's six interceptions led the team and were tied for fifth in the NFL, en route to him becoming the first Packers cornerback to be named to the Pro Football Weekly/PFWA All-Rookie Team (since 1974). Combining the drafts he has run in Seattle and Green Bay, 22 of Thompson's selections have earned Pro Bowl. All-Pro or All-Rookie honors.

The Packers entered the 2013 draft with eight picks, but Thompson again relied on trades to finish the weekend with 11 selections. In all, Thompson made four trades, including three down, to produce the 2013 draft class. The first round saw the Packers draft a defender out of the state of California for the second year in a row in UCLA DE Datone Jones. However, by the end of the weekend, Thompson had also injected some youth into the offense by selecting two high-profile running backs in Eddie Lacy of Alabama and Johnathan Franklin, also of UCLA.

In addition to building through the draft, Thompson has developed his roster through the signing of undrafted free agents. Since 2005, 16 rookie free agents have made the opening-day roster under Thompson. More impressively, 10 non-drafted rookies have made the opening-day roster in the past three seasons (2010-12), tying the Packers for second most in the NFL over that span.

Thompson followed in the footsteps of his mentor, Ron Wolf, in becoming Green Bay's GM, and in 2008 he joined Wolf in becoming only the second person in the history of the organization to be recognized as the best in his field in a vote of his peers as the NFL Executive of the Year by Sporting News. He further cemented his reputation in the NFL by winning the award for a second time following the Packers' record-setting 2011 season.

Preceding his first award, Thompson left an undeniable stamp on the Packers' successful 2007 season. In just his third campaign as GM, he assembled a roster that was the youngest yet one of the most talented in the NFL, and the Packers went 13-3, won the NFC North Division title, and advanced to the NFC Championship Game for the first time in a decade.

"I'm honored to receive this award on behalf of the Green Bay Packers," the humble Thompson said in 2008. "We view this as a team honor and feel the coaches, players and staff should all be very proud of the job they've done in helping this franchise succeed."

The prestigious award acknowledged Thompson for his diligence and success as the team came within an overtime field goal of advancing to the Super Bowl. But it also served as recognition for Thompson's overall body of work since taking his current position in 2005.

One of the biggest additions to the playoff-bound team came from a key trade. Thompson acquired RB Ryan Grant from the New York Giants at the end of training camp for a sixth-round draft choice, adding the former Notre Dame standout to a crowded but banged-up backfield.

Grant eventually took over as the feature back midway through the season and proceeded to rush for nearly 1,000 yards, adding 201 yards and three TDs in the NFC Divisional playoff victory over Seattle, both Green Bay postseason records. He went on to add back-to-back 1,200-yard campaigns in 2008-09

Surprising many with the hiring of Mike McCarthy as head coach in January 2006, Thompson embarked on turning around a 4-12 team beset by injuries and salary-cap concerns in his first season. The improvement to an 8-8 mark in 2006, followed by the playoff run in 2007, netted McCarthy the Motorola NFL Coach of the Year award and placed both Thompson and his chief hire at the top of their professions.

Thompson's career as a football executive came full circle on Jan. 14, 2005. That day, former Green Bay Packers CEO Bob Harlan gave him full authority over all aspects of football operations for the storied franchise.

In becoming the 10th general manager in club history, Thompson rejoined the team with which he received his start under Wolf in 1992. After working for the legendary general manager through the 1999 season, Thompson spent five years as vice president of football operations for the Seattle Seahawks.

"It's almost a dream come true-type job," Thompson said. "You think about, when you're a young kid, some of the things you'd like to do when you grow up and you think maybe manager of the New York Yankees or maybe the general manager of the Green Bay Packers. So it's a thrill, it's an honor."

For Harlan, the selection of Thompson to lead Green Bay's football fortunes was an easy choice, and Thompson has validated that confidence in his selection by successfully remaking the roster into one he and the organization believe is built for long-term success.

"I feel Ted is a perfect fit for the Packers," Harlan said, introducing Thompson in 2005. "He is a respected National Football League veteran who is a proven talent evaluator and an efficient administrator. He knows the people in our personnel department and he is familiar with how we run our football operation. He embraces the Packers' championship tradition, and he was very anxious to have the opportunity to return to Green Bay." Now in his 32nd NFL season, including 10 years as a player, Thompson knows and respects the position the Packers hold in the hearts of the fans, and around the league.

"The history and tradition of this place is unrivaled in professional sports," Thompson said. "I understand the passion the people here have for their team. Ron (Wolf) told me this is the best job in the National Football League. I never forgot that."

The 60-year-old Thompson not only joined an organization with which he was familiar, but also oversees a respected staff that includes Eliot Wolf, director of pro personnel, Brian Gutekunst, director of college scouting, and Alonzo Highsmith, senior personnel executive.

Former Thompson staffers include current Kansas City Chiefs general manager John Dorsey, Oakland Raiders general manager Reggie McKenzie, Raiders director-college scouting Shaun Herock and Seattle Seahawks executive vice president/general manager John Schneider.

Almost immediately upon taking over, Thompson made a crucial choice for the long-term benefit of the club. In the 2005 NFL Draft, Rodgers had been projected as high as the No. 1 overall pick, but he wasn't taken there and ended up sliding all the way down to the Packers at No. 24. One year later, Thompson handed Rodgers to an accomplished quarterback mentor in McCarthy to mold him into the team's signal caller of the future.

In 2008-09, following the retirement and subsequent trade of Brett Favre, Rodgers became the first quarterback in league history to eclipse 4,000 yards passing in each of his first two seasons as a starter. Rodgers surpassed the 4,000-yard mark again in 2011 and 2012 and has posted 21,332 passing yards the past five seasons. That total ranks first in NFL history for the most passing yards by a QB in his first five seasons as a starter, surpassing the previous mark held by Peyton Manning (20,618, 1998-2002). Rodgers' career passer rating of 104.9 ranks No. 1 in NFL history, and his 122.5 passer rating in 2011 set a single-season NFL record, topping Manning's 121.1 mark in 2004. Additionally, Rodgers' 1.73 career interception percentage is tops in NFL history.

Although Thompson prefers to shift the spotlight in another direction, his fingerprints were also all over the Seahawks' road to Super Bowl XL during the 2005 season. NFL MVP Shaun Alexander, Thompson's first draft pick in Seattle, in 2000, captured the 2005 league rushing title and established a then-single-season NFL record with 28 touchdowns. Nine of Seattle's Super Bowl starters, as well as K Josh Brown, were drafted by Thompson. That list included G Steve Hutchinson, a Pro Bowler in seven of his 12 NFL seasons.

Seattle could've gone in another direction in the 2000 draft. With perennial 1,000-yard rusher Ricky Watters on the roster, the club didn't need a running back in the first round. But with the Seahawks on the clock holding the 19th overall choice, Alexander was the best player available. One year later, in the 2001 draft, Thompson wanted Hutchinson in a similar situation.

"You have to do what you think is best for the organization," Thompson said before the 2006 draft, when he chose LB A.J. Hawk with the fifth overall selection. "A draft is an investment in a player that's going to be here for a number of years."

Thompson's philosophy on building a successful team relies heavily on drafted players as a foundation. In today's NFL, teams can't win consistently with free agency as their primary tool. And in building through the draft, the Packers place a premium on character.

But despite how much value he places on the draft, Thompson also will use the free-agent market as another tool to build the roster. In Green Bay, he has brought in players like Woodson and DT Ryan Pickett, among others, to either take over starting jobs or provide valuable, experienced depth at their positions.

"I think free agency is a very interesting tool to use to help you patch some holes and do some things," said Thompson, who signed five unrestricted free agents in 2006, the Packers' most since 1998. "There's no reluctance on our part. We do try to make certain that what we do is not just fantasy football. We're investing in a player that's got to come in and play a particular role. If we don't think that player can perform to that contract, then it doesn't make sense for us to do it just to say, 'Look what we've spent.""

In Green Bay annals, Thompson is only the fourth general manager to serve exclusively from the front office, joining Verne Lewellen (1954-58), Vince Lombardi (1968) and Wolf (1992-2000).

The low-profile Thompson has a proven track record as an evaluator. Overseeing Seattle's draft board from 2000 through '04, Thompson provided the Seahawks a solid foundation which they used to make three straight playoff appearances (2003-05). His 2003 draft saw Thompson land three players – Brown, CB Marcus Trufant and S Ken Hamlin – who not only made immediate front-line contributions as rookies, but who also became cornerstone players for years to come.

Just one year later, those three were instrumental in Seattle's 2004 NFC West championship. In the Seahawks' playoff game that year, 11 of 22 starters were acquired through Thompson's drafts. In his first two Green Bay drafts, Thompson selected S Nick Collins in 2005 and Hawk, Jennings and G Daryn Colledge in 2006. All four were named to the PFW All-Rookie Team. In '07, he drafted K Mason Crosby, whose 762 career points from 2007-12 are the most in NFL history by a player in his first six seasons.

Prior to 2009, Thompson selected 43 players in his first four drafts as GM, signaling the rebuilding of the roster core that had seen only 27 draft picks in the four years (2001-04) before Thompson returned to Green Bay.

As a result, offseason competition for positions on Green Bay's 53-man roster has been fierce since Thompson took over, and should only become more intense in training camp in 2013. The goal is to improve the team's play through competition, just as it was when Bum Phillips annually brought in younger talent to try to take Thompson's job during the former linebacker's 10-year playing career with the Houston Oilers.

A former Oilers teammate, Mike Reinfeldt, helped to launch Thompson's second football career. In 1992, Reinfeldt, then the Packers' vice president of administration, recommended that Wolf take a look at Thompson as a potential pro scout for his staff. Wolf subsequently brought Thompson in to audition as a personnel evaluator, and Thompson always has felt he learned a lot from Wolf.

"He taught me passion, he taught me work ethic, he taught me believing in yourself, to have confidence, to write down what you see, not what other people see, and to trust yourself." During his first tenure in Green Bay, Thompson was instrumental in providing talent that produced an 83-45 record (648), six straight playoff berths, two Super Bowl appearances and the 1996 world championship. With his help, the team acquired free agents Reggie White, Sean Jones, Don Beebe, Santana Dotson and Desmond Howard.

Through the draft, Green Bay added Darren Sharper, Vonnie Holliday and Donald Driver, one of the franchise's lowestdrafted Pro Bowlers.

A possessor of strong football credentials and keen knowledge of the game gleaned from his decade-long playing career, Thompson credits Wolf with deepening his understanding of the scouting process and cites his experience in Seattle working with Mike Holmgren as very valuable in terms of his growth as a football person, running an organization and making decisions that affect the team in the present and in the future.

A versatile linebacker during his 10-year NFL playing career with the Oilers (1975-84), Thompson also was one of the most durable players in team annals, missing just one of 147 contests due to injury. He started eight games over the course of his career and also played in seven postseason contests (1978-80), with the Oilers going 4-3 in those games, losing the AFC Championship to the Steelers in both 1978 and '79. He originally was signed by Phillips as a non-drafted free agent.

Thompson's Oilers teammates included Pro Football Hall of Famers Earl Campbell, Mike Munchak, Elvin Bethea, Warren Moon and Bruce Matthews (current Packer Clay's uncle). Thompson also served as a reserve kicker and converted all four PATs he attempted in an emergency situation vs. the New York Jets in a 1981 contest.

Collegiately, Thompson was a three-year starter (1972-74) at linebacker and team captain ('74) for SMU. As a sophomore, he played under head coach Hayden Fry, and Phillips, his eventual pro coach, was defensive coordinator. He also served as the team's placekicker as a senior. Following his football career, in the spring of '75, he lettered as an outfielder for the Mustangs' baseball team. Thompson gained Academic All-Southwest Conference honors and graduated with a bachelor's degree in business administration.

Born Jan. 17, 1953, in Atlanta, Texas, Thompson was an all-region player at the city's high school, lining up at running back, linebacker and placekicker. He also lettered in basketball, baseball, track and golf. He is single and enjoys an occasional round of golf in times of leisure.

RUSS

VICE PRESIDENT OF FOOTBALL ADMINISTRATION/ PLAYER FINANCE

Russ Ball, entering his 25th season in the NFL, begins his sixth season in Green Bay as the organization's vice president of football administration/player finance.

Named to the position on Feb. 13, 2008, Ball brings a vast array of experience to the Packers' front office and is highly involved in all team decisions both on and off the playing field. He is responsible for negotiating player contracts and managing the salary cap, in addition to the daily supervision of football-administration departments including athletic training, equipment, video, corporate travel, player development, family programs and public relations.

"The first thing that needs to be said is that Russ Ball is a good man," said Ted Thompson, Packers Executive Vice President, General Manager and Director of Football Operations. "He is a tremendous help to all of us here with the Packers, and his influence is felt throughout the organization. He does a lot of valuable work that often goes unnoticed by many. Russ is also a steady hand and a valued friend that we all come to for advice. He represents the Packers proudly, and we are fortunate to have him with us."

Before coming to Green Bay, Ball spent six seasons (2002-07) with the New Orleans Saints, the final two as vice president of football administration and the first four as senior football administrator. His responsibilities with the Saints included monitoring the salary cap, contract negotiations and roster management, as well as maintaining the team's compliance with NFL and Management Council regulations. Ball also coordinated different areas of the football operations, and was involved in several other administrative functions with the club.

During his time in New Orleans, Ball also served in a similar capacity with the New Orleans VooDoo of the Arena Football League from 2004-07. He was selected by the Saints to attend the 2005 NFL Managers Program at Stanford University's Executive Education Graduate School of Business.

- Entering his 25th season in the NFL, having previously worked for the New Orleans Saints, Washington Redskins, Minnesota Vikings and Kansas City Chiefs.
- Was selected by the Saints to attend the 2005 NFL Managers Program at Stanford University's Executive Education Graduate School of Business.
- Began his NFL career with the Chiefs in 1989 as assistant strength and conditioning coach.

Ball, 54, spent the 2001 season as director of football administration for the Washington Redskins, where his duties included managing the salary cap as well as team operations, as he oversaw the video, athletic training, equipment, strength and conditioning and player development departments.

Ball served as senior football administrator for the Minnesota Vikings from 1999-2000, where he assisted with salary-cap management and player contracts. He began working in the NFL with the Kansas City Chiefs and spent 10 seasons (1989-98) there, the final two in football operations as administrative assistant to then-head coach Marty Schottenheimer. Ball began his career with the Chiefs as an assistant strength and conditioning coach.

RIDING BIKES TO PRACTICE

No one is sure exactly when it started, but Packers players have been riding kids' bikes to training-camp practice for more than half a century.

The tradition is believed to have originated in 1961, when the Packers constructed a newadministration building on the stadium's north concourse.

Vince Lombardi was the first coach to ask his players to ride bikes to practice, in an effort to further the Packers' unique relationship with their fans.

OVERTIME PROCEDURES

MODIFIED SUDDEN DEATH OVERTIME

For the 2010 postseason, the NFL installed a modified sudden death system to determine the winner when the score is tied at the end of regulation. Beginning in 2012, the system has been expanded to cover all NFL games, including regular-season and preseason games.

Modified sudden death guarantees each team a possession or the opportunity to possess, unless the team that receives the opening kickoff scores a touchdown on its initial possession.

Possession: Actual possession of the ball with complete control. The defense gains possession when it catches, intercepts, or recovers a loose ball.

Opportunity to possess: The opportunity to possess occurs only during kicking plays. A kickoff is an opportunity to possess for the receiving team. If the kicking ream legally recovers the kick, the receiving team is considered to have had its opportunity. A punt or a field goal that crosses the line of scrimmage and is muffed by the receiving team is considered to be an opportunity to possess for the receivers. Normal touching rules by the kicking team apply.

DECILI AD SEASON

- At the end of regulation time the Referee will immediately toss coin at center of field in accordance with rules pertaining to the usual pregame toss. The captain of the visiting team will call the toss prior to the coin being flipped.
- Following a three-minute intermission after the end of the regulation game, play will continue for one 15-minute period or until there is a score. Each team has two timeouts. General timing provisions that apply for the fourth quarter will prevail. Try is not attempted if touchdown scored. Disqualified players are not allowed to return.

If the score is tied at the end of the 15-minute overtime period, the game shall result in a tie.

• Instant Replay: No challenges. Reviews to be initiated by the replay assistant.

POSTSEASON

 At the end of regulation time the Referee will immediately toss coin at center of field in accordance with rules pertaining to the usual pregame toss. The captain of the visiting team will call the toss prior to the coin being flipped.

• Following a three-minute intermission after the end of the regulation game, play will be continued in 15-minute periods until a winner is declared. Each team must possess or have the opportunity to possess the ball unless the team that has the ball first scores a touchdown on its initial possession. Play continues in sudden death until a winner is determined, and the game automatically ends upon any score (by safety, field goal, or touchdown) or when a score is awarded by the Referee for a palpably unfair act. Each team has three timeouts per half and all general timing provisions apply as during a regular game. Try is not attempted if touchdown scored. Disqualified players are not allowed to return.

 Instant Replay: No challenges. Reviews to be initiated by the replay assistant.

THE GREEN BAY PACKERS BRAND

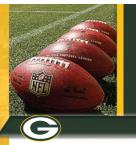

Created in 2007, the Turnkey Team Brand Index serves as the first-ever brand report card of all professional sports teams throughout the four major sports.

It aims to better understand team brands, including their strengths and weaknesses as well as the attributes most closely associated with the team. Results are based upon fan polls in a team's home market.

After finishing 10th in 2007, the Green Bay Packers took the top overall spot in the 2008 standings, finishing ahead of the Boston Red Sox (second) and Pittsburgh Steelers (third). The Packers finished second in the out-of-market rankings behind the New York Yankees, indicating the strength of the Packers brand across the country.

PLANE PIONEERS

The Packers in 1940 became the first NFL team to fly to a road game. Fearing an air disaster would wipe out the entire team, the NFL forced the Packers to split the squad, and fly on two DC-3's (at right, Coach Curly Lambeau posed with half his team and their plane at Austin Straubel Field before a road trip in the early 1940s).

In those days, many fans turned out to see the humongous plane, more than the team. Players also took out life insurance policies. Al Carmichael and Howie Ferguson, for instance, each took out $50,000 policies, making each other the beneficiary. Players dined on food such as cocktail-grilled sirloin.

ELIOTWOLF

DIRECTOR OF PRO PERSONNEL

Eliot Wolf enters his 10th season with the Packers and second as the director of pro personnel after being promoted on May 23, 2012. Prior to his current role, Wolf spent the 2011 season as the team's assistant director of player personnel and the previous three seasons as assistant director of pro personnel (2008-2010).

Originally named as a pro personnel assistant on Feb. 26, 2004, by then-General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman, Wolf spent four seasons in that position.

Currently the youngest pro personnel director in the NFL, his primary duties include scouting teams in the NFL and in-season advance scouting of upcoming Packers opponents. Wolf also is involved with college scouting during the season and is very active in the Packers draft.

The son of former Packers general manager Ron Wolf, Eliot's scouting career unofficially began at age 10, when he joined his father in film sessions at Lambeau Field.

He has also worked 21 consecutive Packers drafts (since 1993), and nine NFL scouting internships - five with the Packers, three with the Atlanta Falcons and one with the Seattle Seahawks. Wolf has attended 21 consecutive NFL scouting combines.

Those internships and prior "unofficial" experiences have provided significant knowledge. Wolf, for example, is familiar with the history of every NFL player, having prepared Packers' details for every draft since 1993.

The 31-year-old Wolf filed his first report at age 14 for the Falcons, and has provided valuable information for the Packers' pro personnel department during previous internships.

DEVELOPMENT CONTINUES AT LAMBEAU FIELD IN 2013

In 2003, the Packers unveiled a completed renovation of Lambeau Field that included additional seating in the stadium bowl, new club seats and luxury boxes, and the construction of the Atrium and its encompassing businesses on the stadium's northeast side. The resulting revenue streams have helped the franchise remain competitive in the ever-evolving landscape of the NFL, despite competing in the league's smallest market and without traditional ownership. The renovation also helped to enhance the fan experience at the stadium, both on gamedays and with year-round attractions like stadium tours and the Packers Hall of Fame.

It was in that very vein that the organization announced another, albeit less extensive, renovation project on Aug. 25, 2011, highlighted by the addition of approximately 7,000 seats in the stadium's south end. The renovation also features the addition of two new entry gates, the Bellin Health and Shopko gates, a rooftop viewing terrace – The North Loft – for club-seat holders on gamedays, two new high-definition Mitsubishi Diamond Vision video boards and a new sound system. The $146 million project was funded by the 2011 stock sale ($64 million), a loan from the NFL G4 program ($61 million) and a contribution from the Stadium District.

In 2013, the Packers announced the second phase of the Lambeau Field renovation that began in 2011, which will focus on the Atrium. Highlights of the project, expected to be fully completed in June 2015, include a new Packers Pro Shop, located in what will be a reavmped lower level of the Atrium, new locations for the Packers Hall of Fame and restaurant, a new east-side entry gate to enhance ingress and egress, and a larger Oneida Nation Gate that includes a plaza area and a more prominent connection to Oneida Street. Additionally, the players' parking lot will move to the south side of the Oneida Nation Gate, with access via a tunnel under the enlarged gate. This enhancement will further open up access to the east side of the Atrium, with parking adjacent to the new east side entrance. The project will cost $140.5 million, with funding coming from the Packers through private financing ($85.5 million) and an NFL G4 program ($55 million) loan.

THE LAMBEAU LEAP

Defensive back LeRoy Butler's spontaneous gesture after scoring a 1993 touchdown has turned into the team's most prominent modern tradition, emulated by many other NFL players. It also symbolizes the team's unique relationship with its fans. No doubt, the initial Lambeau Leap will go down as one of the most memorable moments of Butler's 12-year career.

Butler's leap took place late in a frigid game vs. the Los Angeles Raiders, Dec. 26, 1993, at Lambeau Field. The touchdown gave the Packers a commanding fourth-quarter lead, en route to a 28-0 shutout that clinched a playoff berth, their first of six consecutive postseason trips.

Chronology of the play:

- QB Vince Evans completes seconddown swing pass to RB Randy Jordan, who takes ball to Raiders' 40-yard line.
- Butler forces fumble, recovered by Reggie White at Raiders' 35.
- White returns ball 10 yards before lateraling to Butler, who covers the remaining 25 yards into the end zone and leaps into arms of fans in south bleachers.

The 48-year-old Highsmith began his pro career by playing three seasons in Houston (1987-89), starting 40 straight games with the Oilers. Following offseason knee surgery, he was traded to the Dallas Cowboys prior to the 1990 campaign.

He was with Dallas for 1½ seasons before being waived by the Cowboys on Oct. 4, 1991. Claimed by Tampa Bay, Highsmith spent the remainder of his pro career with the Buccaneers. Due to a series of knee injuries, he retired from the NFL at the end of the 1992 season.

MIKE MCCARTHY

IFAD COACH

21st NFL Season • Ninth Packers Season • Eighth as Head Coach

When Mike McCarthy was named head coach of the Green Bay Packers in January 2006, he said the goal for the franchise would be to win a Super Bowl, and that would never change.

In 2010, McCarthy led the Packers back to the pinnacle of the sport, joining Vince Lombardi and Mike Holmgren as the only coaches in team history to lead the Packers to a Super Bowl title, with a 31-25 win over the Pittsburgh Steelers in Super Bowl XLV.

The path to that world championship was not an easy one as McCarthy joined Pittsburgh's Bill Cowher (2005) as the only Super Bowl-winning coaches to lead their respective teams to three road victories as the No. 6 seed in the playoffs en route to a title.

Since taking over as head coach in '06, McCarthy has an 80-42 overall record (,656), including a 6-4 mark (,600) in the post-season. Entering 2013, his overall winning percentage ranks third among current NFL head coaches (min. 50 games). The past four seasons (2009-12) under McCarthy mark one of the most successful stretches in team history as Green Bay posted a 52-20 record (,722), including the playoffs. Green Bay's 47 regular-season victories from 2009-12 rank No. 2 in the NFL behind only New England (49), and are the second most by the Packers over a four-year span, trailing only the 48 victories from 1995-98.

While the Packers ultimately fell short of the Super Bowl the past two seasons, McCarthy's team was still one of the best in the NFL. Green Bay captured back-to-back division titles in 2011-12 for the first time since it won three straight from 2002-04. The 2012 season also marked the Packers' fourth straight playoff appearance and fifth in the last six seasons, the only NFC team to accomplish those feats.

In 2011, McCarthy led Green Bay to a franchise-best 15 regular-season wins, as the Packers became just the sixth team in NFL history to reach that mark in the regular season. The Packers began the '11 campaign reeling off 13 consecutive wins, easily eclipsing the previous franchise record of 10-0 starts in 1929 and 1962. Dating back to Week 16 of the 2010 season, and including the playoffs, Green Bay won 19 consecutive games before suffering its lone regular-season defeat at Kansas City in Week 15. Covering a span of 364 days, the 19-game winning streak was the longest in franchise history and was the second-longest winning streak in NFL history (including playoffs) behind only the 2003-04 New England Patriots (21 games). Perhaps most impressively, the Packers never trailed in the fourth quarter during their streak.

The Packers' 2011 regular-season success culminated with their second NFC North title under McCarthy and first since 2007. Green Bay's 6-0 mark in the division marked the first time in team history that the Packers posted an undefeated record in their division since the NFL went to the divisional format in 1967. Green Bay also became the first team since the 1987 Chicago Bears to sweep the NFC North/Central. Additionally, Green Bay earned the NFC's No. 1 seed for the first time since 1996 and finished with a perfect 8-0 record at Lambeau Field for the first time since 2002.

McCarthy was runner-up in Coach of the Year voting by The As-sociated Press and saw seven of his players earn Pro Bowl nods following the 2011 campaign, the most the Packers had voted to the all-star game since 1967.

McCarthy guided the Packers to a 10-6 campaign in 2010, high-lighted by seven wins in the final 10 games. What made the Packers' championship season even more impressive was the adversity the team faced due to injuries. Green Bay finished the year with 15 players on injured reserve, and eight of them had started at least one game during the season. Six starters from the opening-day depth chart sustained season-ending injuries in the first seven games.

The Packers became just the third 10-6 team in NFL history to win a Super Bowl, and their six losses on the season came by a combined 20 points. Green Bay never lost a game by more than four points, but even more impressive, it never trailed by more than seven points at any point in a game all season. The Packers became the first team since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger to never trail by more than seven points at any point during the regular season, and became the first championship-winning franchise to do so since the 1942 Washington Redskins.

It was a shining example of the steady, consistent approach that McCarthy has taken in leading the Packers throughout his tenure, one that culminated with the organization's fourth Super Bowl title and 13th world championship in 2010.

PROLIFIC OFFENSES

Prior to coming to Green Bay in 2006, McCarthy was known in NFL circles for his innovative offensive mind and his ability to develop young quarterbacks.

Seven seasons into his tenure with the Packers, that reputation has become firmly entrenched, if not enhanced, by the Packers' offensive prowess before and during Aaron Rodgers' tenure as the team's starting quarterback.

COACHES

During McCarthy's stint in Green Bay, the Packers have registered 2,997 points, the third-highest total in the NFL over the past seven seasons (2006-12). Additionally, the team's 146 total turnovers from 2006-12 were tied for the second fewest in the league.

Six of the seven Packer teams led by McCarthy have ranked in the NFL's top 10 in total yardage - checking in at ninth in 2006, second in '07, eighth in '08, sixth in '09, ninth in '10, third in '11 and 11th in '12. Additionally, three of the franchise's top five singleseason yardage totals have occurred during McCarthy's tenure. In 2008-09, the Packers were the first team in NFL history to produce a 4,000-yard passer (Rodgers), two 1,000-yard receivers (Greg Jennings, Donald Driver), and a 1,200-yard rusher (Ryan Grant) in two consecutive years.

The Packers have also finished in the top 10 in the NFL in total points each of the past six seasons (2007-12), highlighted by a franchise-record 560 points in 2011. The franchise mark also ranks as the second-highest point total in NFL history behind only the 589 points posted by the New England Patriots in 2007. The Packers' 2,697 points over the past six seasons were the most in franchise history over a six-year span, while their 113 turnovers were the fewest over a six-year period. In 2011, Green Bay set a franchise record for fewest giveaways in a season with 14, while ranking second in the NFL. The Packers again took care of the ball in 2012, finishing tied for second in the league and tied for second in single-season franchise history with just 16 turnovers.

En route to earning NFL Most Valuable Player honors, Rodgers guided one of the most successful offenses in NFL history in 2011. In addition to setting a new franchise single-season record for points and fewest giveaways, the '11 Packers set new singleseason marks for touchdowns (70), total net yards (6,482) and net passing yards (4,924). The 70 TDs were also tied with the 1984 Miami Dolphins for the second-most TDs in a season in NFL history behind only the 2007 Patriots (75). Green Bay outscored its opponents 560-359 in 2011, a 201-point differential that ranked No. 2 in the NFL (New Orleans, plus-208). It marked the third straight season (2009-11) that the Packers outscored their opponents by at least 145 points. The last NFL team to accomplish that feat in three-plus consecutive seasons was the San Francisco 49ers from 1991-95.

MAJOR CHANGE

In 2009, McCarthy embarked upon the first major alterations to his coaching staff since his arrival, hiring Dom Capers to be his new defensive coordinator and change the unit from a 4-3 base alignment to the 3-4 scheme that has been the staple of Capers' career.

TOP 10 AGAIN

In six of seven seasons under Mike McCarthy, the offensive play-caller, the Green Bay offense ranked in the NFL's top 10. The only season in which the Packers failed to rank in the top 10 (2012), they ranked 11th. New Orleans is the only club in the league to finish in the top 10 in overall offense each of the last seven seasons, while Green Bay and New England are the only teams to register top-10 rankings in six of the last seven seasons.

In 2012 ...

- Green Bay ranked No. 5 in the league in scoring with an average of 27.1 points per game. It was the sixth straight season that the Packers finished in the top 10 in the NFL in scoring offense, with New England the only other team in the league to do so over that span (2007-12).
- The Packers were tied for No. 2 in the league in fewest giveaways with 16, which also tied for the second-fewest turnovers in a season in franchise history (also 16 in 2009).
- The offense ranked No. 3 in the league in red-zone efficiency with a 68.1 TD percentage and led the league in scoring outside the red zone for the second straight season with 155 points.
- QB Aaron Rodgers led the league in passer rating (108.0) and TD/ INT ratio (4.88), while ranking second in passing TDs (39) and third in completion percentage (67.21).
- WR James Jones became the first Packer to lead the NFL in TD catches (14) in a season since WR Sterling Sharpe did so with a franchise-record

 The Packers scored a franchise-record 560 points, which also ranked as the second-highest point total in NFL history behind only the 589 points posted by the New England Patriots in 2007.

It marked the third straight season that the Packers outscored their opponents by at least 145 points. The last NFL team to accomplish that feat was the San Francisco 49ers from 1991-95.
- Green Bay scored 42 points or more six times on the season, establishing a new NFL record for the most 42-point games in a season since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger.
- QB Aaron Rodgers earned NFL MVP honors after posting an NFL single-season record 122.5 passer rating and setting franchise records with 45 TD passes and 4,643 passing yards.

In 2010 ...
Despite the loss of critical playmakers to various injuries, the offense still managed a top-10 finish (No. 9), averaging just over 358 yards per game during the regular season.

Green Bay was on

- Green Bay was one of four teams in the NFL to have both the offense (No. 9) and defense (No. 5) rank among the league's top 10. It was the first time the Packers accomplished the feat in back-to-back seasons
- Rodgers narrowly missed his third consecutive season of surpassing the 4,000-yard passing plateau, falling just 78 yards short (3,922) after missing 1½ late-season games due to injury. The QB still finished the season ranked in the top 10 in nearly every major passing category.
- The offense featured a particularly balanced passing attack throughout the season that included three WRs (Greg Jennings 76, Donald Driver 51, James Jones 50) posting 50-plus catches for the first time in
- The unit maintained its prolific pace throughout the team's extended postseason run, averaging 30.3 points per game and scoring 12 points in the four playoff contests, the fourth-highest total for a single postseason in NFL history.

In 2009 ...

Averaging more than 379 yards per game, the highest total in McCarthy's four seasons, the Packers' offense finished the year No. 6 in the NFL.

Green Bay scored 461 points, the second most in team history.

- For the third time in franchise history, the club surpassed 6,000 total net yards, now ranking No. 4 in team annals with 6,065.
- Green Bay became the first team in NFL history to have a 4,000-yard passer, 1,200-yard rusher and two 1,000-yard receivers in back-to-back
- The Packers established a then-franchise record with just 16 giveaways, fewest in the NFL
- Rodgers threw for 4,434 yards, finishing just shy of Lynn Dickey's team record (4,458, 1983). RB Ryan Grant also had a career-high 1,253 yards, sixth most in team history.

- In 2008 ...

 The Packers finished the season ranked No. 8 in the NFL in total offense, averaging more than 351 yards per contest.
- Green Bay's 419 points was the fifth-highest total in the league.
- For the first time in franchise history, the club had a 4,000-yard passer (Rodgers), 1,200-yard rusher (Grant), and two 1,000-yard receivers
- Some players etched their names among the greats in Packers history, establishing some of the top single-season marks in passing yards (Rodgers, 4,038, 10th), rushing yards (Grant, 1,203, eighth) and receiving yards (Jennings, 1,292, 10th) in team history.
- The Packers had just 21 giveaways, tying the '95 team for the fifth fewest

- The Packers produced 5,931 total net yards (1,597 rushing, 4,334 passing), which ranks fifth in club history.

- In its first year in McCarthy's West Coast offense, Green Bay began to show some of its big-strike capability. Its skill players produced 2,161 yards after the catch, second most in the NFL.
- The Packers had just 77 negative plays all season, the third fewest in the NFL and the fewest under McCarthy.

The results have been incredibly impactful. With a No. 2 ranking in 2009 and a No. 5 ranking in '10, the Packers finished in the top five in the league in overall defense in back-to-back seasons for the first time since 1968-69. Since '09, Green Bay ranks third in total takeaways (133), first in interceptions (103), second in opponent passer rating (73.8) and fourth in points allowed per game (19.3).

The 2012 defense was led by LB Clay Matthews and the pass rush as he tallied 13 sacks in just 12 games, pacing the defense to 47 total sacks, good for fourth in the NFL. The Packers' sack total last season also tied for fifth best in franchise history (since 1963). Green Bay was No. 4 in the NFL in opponent passer rating (76.8) while limiting its opponent to 20 points or less in eight of the last 10 regular-season games, propelling the Packers to a No. 11 ranking in scoring defense (21.0 ppg). Green Bay finished the season tied for eighth in the NFL with 18 interceptions, contributing to a plus-7 turnover margin in 2012, good for 10th in the league. Green Bay is the only team in the NFL to finish in the top 10 in the league in turnover differential each of the past six seasons (2007-12). Additionally, the Packers have a 56-6 regular-season record (.903) when holding the advantage in turnover ratio during McCarthy's tenure.

In 2011, the defense was at its ball-hawking best as the Packers posted a league-high 31 interceptions, the second time in three seasons (2009) that they led the league in that category. The INT total was the most posted by Green Bay since it registered the same total in 1962. The Packers finished tied for the league lead with 38 total takeaways, leading to a plus-24 turnover ratio that ranked second in the league and tied for second in franchise history.

In 2010, the Packers ranked No. 2 in the NFL in scoring defense at 15.0 points per game, the team's best mark since leading the league in the category in 1996 (13.1). Green Bay tied for No. 2 in the NFL with 47 sacks in '10, its highest league ranking since sacks began to be recorded as a team statistic in 1963.

The defense improved from 20th in total yards allowed in '08 to second in '09, and from 26th in run defense to the top spot, becoming the first Green Bay defense to lead the league against the run and setting a franchise record by allowing just 83.3 yards rushing per contest. The defense also led the league in interceptions (30) and total takeaways (40) in '09.

The '09 season was not a smooth road back to playoff contention, however. Back-to-back losses in early November dropped the Packers to 4-4, and a promising season suddenly appeared in doubt. But McCarthy kept building on the identity that was forming a team that could attack with multiple threats offensively, stop the run defensively and win the turnover battle – and led the Packers out of the adverse stretch to a 7-1 record over the second half of the schedule. Meanwhile, Rodgers earned his first Pro Bowl berth, nearly breaking the franchise's single-season record for passing yards, and veteran cornerback Charles Woodson was named the NFL Defensive Player of the Year.

Unfortunately, the late-season surge ended abruptly with a sudden-death overtime loss at Arizona in the NFC Wild Card contest, but McCarthy had gotten the Packers back on track toward the goal they would reach just a year later.

ON THE BRINK

McCarthy brought the Packers to the brink of accomplishing that Super Bowl goal in just two years. Coming off an 8-8 rookie season that ended with a momentum-building, four-game winning streak, McCarthy led the Packers to a 13-3 mark in 2007 that was groundbreaking in many respects.

The Packers tied the then-franchise record for victories in the regular season and won the club's first NFC North Division title since 2004. They also captured an NFC playoff bye and advanced to the conference championship game for the first time in a decade. It all earned McCarthy 2007 NFL Coach of the Year awards from Motorola and NFL Alumni, and he also was runner-up in Coach of the Year voting from The Associated Press.

The championship he had set as the goal was within reach, as the Packers hosted the New York Giants in the NFC title game on a frigid January day at Lambeau Field. The hard-fought, 23-20 overtime defeat was an opportunity missed, but one McCarthy vowed his team would learn from.

On its way to 13-3, Green Bay secured the team's first playoff bye since 1997, and McCarthy tied Mike Sherman for the most wins by a Green Bay coach in his first two seasons with 21.

Behind Brett Favre's superb final year in Green Bay and the emergence of Grant as the feature back, the Packers with McCarthy as the play-caller finished with the league's second-ranked offense, their highest ranking since 1983. They also compiled season totals in points (435) and net yards (5,931) that rank fifth on the franchise's all-time list.

The postseason began in startling fashion, with Grant fumbling twice in the first minute of the game, setting up two Seattle scores for a 14-0 Seahawks lead in the NFC Divisional playoff. Drawing on a steadfastness that served the team well during some rough spots the previous year, McCarthy and the Packers never panicked and rallied for a dominant 42-20 victory in the snowy "winter wonderland" of Lambeau Field.

In advancing to the NFC Championship Game, McCarthy became the first Packers coach since Lombardi to lead the team to a title game in his second season at the helm.

Though the quest for that championship came up short, McCarthy had returned the Packers to playoff prominence just two years after the 4-12 season that preceded his arrival.

A LEADER OF QUARTERBACKS

In his first two seasons as head coach, McCarthy simultaneously oversaw a mini-renaissance of Favre's career and the development of Rodgers as his backup.

Charged with learning McCarthy's version of the West Coast offense and given more latitude in making decisions at the line of scrimmage, Favre concluded his brilliant Green Bay career with a 95.7 passer rating in 2007, his best in 11 years and fourth best in his career, while completing a then-career-high 66.5 percent of his passes.

Buying into McCarthy's aggressive but controlled approach, Favre's interceptions dropped from 29 in 2005 to 18 in 2006 to 15 in 2007. He finished second in the voting for what then would have been an unprecedented fourth NFL MVP award, and he subsequently passed the torch to Rodgers, his understudy for his final three years in Green Bay and McCarthy's prime pupil for the last five seasons.

Since taking over as the starter in '08, Rodgers hasn't disappointed his main tutor or team as he has developed into arguably the league's best quarterback. Rodgers has topped 4,000 yards passing four times (2008-09, 2011-12), which in '08, combined with Favre's total in '07, marked the first time in league history a team had two different quarterbacks throw for 4,000 yards in consecutive years. In the process, he also became the first quarterback in league history to surpass the 4,000-yard plateau in each of his first two seasons as a starter. In total, McCarthy has been on the coaching staff for six of the 11 4,000-yard passing seasons (1999, 2007-09, 2011-12) in franchise history.

Rodgers posted 21,332 passing yards from 2008-12 to rank first in NFL history for the most passing yards by a QB in his first five seasons as a starter, surpassing the previous mark held by Peyton Manning (20,618, 1998-2002). His career passer rating of 104.9 ranks No. 1 in NFL history, and he is the only QB in franchise annals, and just the second in league history, to post a 100-plus passer rating in four consecutive seasons (2009-12). Additionally, his 1.73 career interception percentage is tops in NFL history.

Following his 2011 MVP performance, Rodgers continued to amaze under McCarthy in 2012. Rodgers led the league in passer rating (108.0) and TD/INT ratio (4.88), while ranking second in TD passes (39) and third in completion percentage (67.21). He became the first quarterback to lead the league in passer rating in consecutive seasons since Manning did so for three straight seasons (2004-06). Additionally, his combined passer rating of 114.9 from 2011-12 was the best two-season passer rating in league history (min. 700 att.).

In 2011, Rodgers and McCarthy teamed up to author one of the greatest offensive seasons in NFL history, highlighted by the former Cal standout's 122.5 passer rating that set a new NFL single-season record. He finished the season connecting on 343 of 502 passes (68.3 percent) for 4,643 yards and a career-high 45 TDs with six INTs on his way to earning NFL MVP honors. His 45 TD passes obliterated the franchise single-season record (Favre, 39 in 1996) and is the fifth-highest total in NFL annals, while his 4,643 passing yards also set a new franchise record. He is the only 4,000-yard passer in NFL history to throw six or fewer INTs in that season.

Rodgers also set an NFL single-season record with 11 consecutive 110-rating games, topping 49ers QB Steve Young's mark of seven straight in 1994, and 12 consecutive 100-rating games, besting Manning's mark of nine in 2004. Rodgers finished the 2011 season ranking second in the league in TD passes (45), first in yards per attempt (9.25), second in completion percentage (68.3), fourth in yards per game (309.5) and first in TD/INT ratio (7.50).

Rodgers has also enjoyed success in the postseason under McCarthy, setting an NFL record with 10 passing TDs in his first three postseason starts. He also became only the fourth signal-caller to throw for 300 yards and three TDs with no INTs in a Super Bowl on his way to earning game MVP honors for Super Bowl XLV.

SUCCESS WITH OUARTERBACKS

Mike McCarthy has worked with quarterbacks who have collectively earned 38 Pro Bowl selections and seven NFL Most Valuable Player awards. Those passers also have made 10 Super Bowl starts and won six world championships.

SOLID FIRST YEAR

Blending a mix of young players with seasoned veterans at key positions, McCarthy fostered a strong team dynamic in his maiden season that helped the team battle back from a slow start.

McCarthy stuck to his plan and his vision as his team stood 1-4 at the bye week and 4-8 with one quarter of the season to play. By turning the team's fortunes around to finish 8-8, he had laid the foundation for the success to come.

McCarthy got his team to bounce back from tough circumstances to remain in the NFC playoff hunt until the final week. The .500 record tied for third best among the seven rookie coaches in the NFL in 2006.

Close losses early to eventual NFC runner-up New Orleans and St. Louis put the Packers at 1-4. But the team used the bye week for extra preparation as well as rest, traveling to Miami to beat the Dolphins in oppressive south Florida heat and, three weeks later, posting another impressive road win at Minnesota's Metrodome to improve to 4-5.

Three straight losses to eventual playoff qualifiers dropped the Packers to 4-8, but again McCarthy used a long road trip to get the team back on track. This one was to San Francisco, where McCarthy had served as offensive coordinator the previous year, and a big win that coincided with a key personnel change provided the springboard to a strong final month.

McCarthy moved defensive tackle Cullen Jenkins to end early in the 49ers game, and the defense quickly improved. The Packers' run defense got a boost on early downs and allowed for a better situational pass rush, and the defense climbed to 12th overall by season's end

The strong defensive play and Favre's veteran leadership fueled a season-ending, four-game winning streak, the final three wins coming over NFC North opponents. A 26-7 win at Chicago in the season finale over the eventual NFC champion Bears put the Packers at 5-1 in the division and barely out of the playoffs, losing a tiebreaker with the Giants, who also finished 8-8.

That impressive early showing within the division was a sign of things to come for McCarthy. Through seven seasons, he has posted a 32-10 (.762) record against NFC North foes, a divisional mark that ranks first in the conference over that span and No. 2 in the NFL, trailing only New England. The Packers have posted a winning record in their division every season with McCarthy at the helm, joining the Patriots as the only teams to do so during that time. Additionally, from 2010-12 the Packers reeled off 12 straight wins against NFC North opponents, the longest divisional winning streak in team history since the NFL went to a divisional format in 1967 and tied for the longest divisional winning streak by an NFL team since realignment in 2002.

THE RIGHT FIT

With a personality to match his blue-collar hometown, McCarthy landed his first NFL head-coaching job in his kind of place.

A Pittsburgh native, McCarthy was named the 14th head coach of the Green Bay Packers on Jan. 12, 2006, the only step left to take after 13 years as an NFL assistant.

But while he previously had traveled through NFL cities such as Kansas City, New Orleans and San Francisco, it may be Green Bay that most resembles his native Pittsburgh. And if there was one word used to describe McCarthy's hiring in his first days with the Packers, it was that he was the right "fit," both for a town and a team looking to turn around a disappointing 4-12 season in 2005.

The way McCarthy fits Green Bay, however, goes beyond the toughness in his personality, down-to-earth demeanor, and pride in his upbringing.

He not only spent one of those 13 previous years in the NFL with Green Bay, but he took over the Packers already well-versed in the West Coast offense with a reputation for developing offensive talent, particularly at the quarterback position.

McCarthy is known for taking a hands-on teaching approach with young players and is well-respected around the league, in part because he called plays for six seasons as an offensive coordinator before becoming a head coach. Plus, he has tutored an impressive roster of NFL quarterbacks.

While two of the biggest names he has worked with, Favre in Green Bay and Joe Montana in Kansas City, were at or beyond their peak years at the time, McCarthy has played at least a part in the development of signal callers Aaron Brooks, Jake Delhomme, Matt Hasselbeck, Matt Flynn, Marc Bulger, Rich Gannon and Elvis Grbac.

The entire stable of quarterbacks that McCarthy has worked with, which also includes Jeff Blake, Steve Bono and Dave Krieg, has combined for 38 career Pro Bowl selections, 10 Super Bowl starts, and seven Most Valuable Player awards.

McCarthy's latest protégé îo rise to a starting role is Rodgers, who was drafted in the first round in 2005. General Manager Ted Thompson heavily weighed McCarthy's track record with quarterbacks when he hired him the following year, knowing that since the post-Favre awas inevitable, the right tutelage at the game's most important position would be key to a smooth and successful transition.

PAYING HIS DUES

Much like those players he worked with who rose to prominence, McCarthy paid plenty of dues along the way to his first head-coaching job.

He learned a disciplined and no-nonsense approach to life at an early age. His father, Joe, was a longtime firefighter and police officer who also owned a bar near a Pittsburgh steel mill. McCarthy worked odd jobs at the bar as a teen. It was interacting with the hard-working tavern clientele while also watching a father in uniform dedicated to public service that helped make McCarthy proud of where he came from.

After his playing career as a tight end at Baker University (Kan.) ended, his 27-year coaching career began as a linebackers coach at Fort Hays State (Kan.) in 1987. He cracked the Division I ranks two years later as a volunteer assistant at the University of Pittsburgh.

It was there he displayed the will and determination to make it in the coaching profession, working for free on the football field by day and collecting tolls along the Pennsylvania turnpike during the graveyard shift to make ends meet.

He soon moved into a paid position at Pitt assisting with the quarterbacks, and then coaching the wide receivers, before Panthers head coach Paul Hackett recommended him to the Kansas City Chiefs when they hired Hackett as offensive coordinator in 1993. McCarthy joined Hackett on the Chiefs' staff as a quality-control assistant.

McCarthy considers Hackett the biggest influence in his coaching career, having learned the West Coast offense from him and then installing it himself as offensive coordinator in New Orleans.

It was under Hackett's wing that McCarthy developed the attention to detail, scouting and game-planning skills that would help him move up the NFL ranks.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

The third-youngest head coach in the NFL when he was hired at age 42 (the Saints' Sean Payton was seven weeks younger and the Jets' Eric Mangini was 35), McCarthy took over a team coming off its first losing season since 1991, before Favre arrived as quarterback.

Thompson made it clear when he hired McCarthy he wasn't looking for just an X's and O's guy. He was looking for someone who would impress him with a variety of qualities, including leadership ability, toughness, football knowledge, and an awareness of the Green Bay organization and the team's unique place within the NFL and the local community.

McCarthy, who had interviewed for the Cleveland Browns' headcoaching job five years earlier but admits he wasn't necessarily ready then, fit the bill. In his introductory news conference, he spoke of how taking over the Packers was like buying his "dream house," with the foundation, tradition and resources to help him make the team a championship contender once again.

McCarthy emphasized he didn't feel the Packers were in a rebuilding mode at all, but there was work to be done right away.

He wasted no time constructing the environment he wanted for his team, implementing free weights as the foundation for the players' strength and conditioning.

McCarthy also installed an offseason workout program, and a then-record attendance at those sessions spoke volumes about the level of respect he quickly commanded as a head coach.

CAREER AS NFL ASSISTANT

McCarthy broke into the NFL as a quality-control assistant with the Kansas City Chiefs in 1993. It was then he worked with Montana before moving up to quarterbacks coach from 1995-98, working with starters Gannon, Grbac and Bono, The trio's total of 52 interceptions marked the lowest total in the AFC over that four-year snan

After working with McCarthy from 1995-98, Gannon went on to earn all four of his Pro Bowl selections, the 2002 league MVP award and a start in Super Bowl XXXVII with the Raiders. Gannon credits McCarthy with helping him take the quarterback's game to a higher level.

"He's the guy that really helped catapult my career," Gannon said. "He was the guy who really taught me the West Coast system of football. He really taught me how to prepare for a game, taught me how to watch film, how to break down an opponent, how to study. It was really those things I took with me to Oakland.

"There was never a doubt in my mind he'd be a head coach. He's a great play-caller, great working with the quarterbacks. He's a tough guy, a guy willing to do the work, and he's a leader.

When Gannon left the Chiefs for Oakland in 1999, McCarthy departed Kansas City to become Green Bay's quarterbacks coach. That year, the Packers ranked seventh in the NFL in passing and ninth in total offense. Favre threw for 4,091 yards, the third-highest total in his career at that point.

The following year, McCarthy began a successful five-year stint as the offensive coordinator of the New Orleans Saints. It became the most prolific offensive era to that point in the team's four decades, as the Saints set 10 offensive team records and 25 indi-

Among the more notable accomplishments, the Saints led the NFC with 432 points and 49 touchdowns in 2002, both team records at the time. In his first season in 2000, McCarthy was chosen NFC Assistant Coach of the Year by USA Today.

That year the Saints produced their first 1,000-yard receiver in eight years in Joe Horn, and their first 1,000-yard rusher in 10 years in Ricky Williams. After that decade-long drought of 1,000yard rushers, the Saints had one (either Williams or Deuce McAllister) in each of McCarthy's five seasons running the offense.

In 2005, McCarthy served as offensive coordinator for the San Francisco 49ers.

COLLEGE COACHING & PLAYING CAREER

McCarthy began his six-year collegiate coaching career as a graduate assistant at Fort Hays State in Hays, Kan., in 1987, just after completing his playing career at nearby Baker University in Baldwin City, Kan.

At Baker, McCarthy earned a degree in business administration and was an all-conference tight end and senior captain in 1986, helping lead the Wildcats to an NAIA Division II national runner-up finish. He was inducted into the school's athletic hall of fame in October 2007.

At Fort Hays State under head coach John Vincent, McCarthy coached linebackers for two years while earning a master's degree in sports administration.

The return to his hometown came in 1989 under Pittsburgh head coach Mike Gottfried, now an ESPN college football analyst, followed by three years under Hackett with the Panthers.

As quarterbacks coach, McCarthy worked with Alex Van Pelt, now the Packers' running backs coach, as he topped the school's career and single-season records for passing yards established by Dan Marino.

PERSONAL

Born Michael John McCarthy on Nov. 10, 1963, in Pittsburgh, he grew up one of five children in the Irish-Catholic family of father Joe and mother Ellen in Greenfield, a Pittsburgh neighborhood just a couple of miles from downtown. He graduated from Bishop Boyle High School in Homestead, Pa.

McCarthy's family includes wife Jessica and their five children.

Since returning to Green Bay in 2006, McCarthy has immersed himself in the local community and beyond through participation in numerous philanthropic events and charitable donations. Perhaps closest to his heart is the Mike & Jessica McCarthy Golf Invitational. Established in June 2010, the tournament benefits the American Family Children's Hospital in Madison, Wis. In just four years, the event has helped the hospital take significant steps toward achieving its fundraising goal for the "Sick Kids Can't Wait" campaign. The campaign is designed to meet the needs of sick children by further developing and improving the resources and facilities at the hospital.

Including projected contributions in 2013, the McCarthy Family Foundation has made donations to benefit numerous charities, projects and institutions during his seven-plus seasons as head coach. McCarthy established the foundation with the intent of fostering a long-term philanthropic commitment by his family beyond his NFL career. The beneficiaries have included organizations throughout Wisconsin, Kansas and his hometown of Pittsburgh.

McCarthy's local-event participation is highlighted annually by the Mike McCarthy Cystic Fibrosis Celebrity Golf Open. The 2013 event marked the 27th consecutive year that the Open was hosted by the current Packers head coach, a tradition started by Lindy Infante. The golf outing benefits local and statewide cystic fibrosis organizations and has raised more than $600,000.

Additionally, McCarthy has served as honorary chairperson and participated in numerous charitable events around the state.

In the past, he has participated in the Lombardi Award of Excellence Dinner Ball, which supports the Vince Lombardi Charitable Funds in the fight against cancer, and served as host of the Green & Gold Gala, a fundraiser for Family Services of Northeast Wisconsin. He has also spent time visiting cancer patients at Aurora St. Luke's Medical Center in Milwaukee.

Among several other events, McCarthy has participated in the Jerry Parins Cruise for Cancer Motorcycle Ride, the Edgar Bennett Celebrity Bowl-A-Thon, the team's regular Make-A-Wish Foundation practice and game visits, and various local Get Motivated seminars.

McCarthy was honored with the Distinguished Service Award at the Lee Remmel Sports Awards Banquet in April 2008, and then in the fall as the 2008 Person of the Year from his native Greenfield Neighborhood. He was also voted by the fans as the 2007 Motorola Coach of the Year, and in 2011 was named the Maxwell Football Club's NFL Coach of the Year.

WINSTON

ASSISTANT HEAD COACH/INSIDE LINEBACKERS

15th Season as NFL Coach • Eighth Packers Season

Entering his 26th season in the NFL and eighth with the Packers, Winston Moss begins his seventh year in the role of assistant head coach, with inside linebacker responsibilities for the fifth season.

Named to the current post by Head Coach Mike McCarthy on Jan. 15, 2007, Moss impressed McCarthy with his leadership skills when the two worked together for five seasons in New Orleans and again in 2006 in Green Bay. Moss continues to coach linebackers as well, his original duty upon joining the Packers. His position responsibility was modified to inside linebackers in '09 with the switch to a 3-4 defense and the addition of outside linebackers coach Kevin Greene to the staff.

Since Moss was named assistant head coach in 2007, the Packers rank No. 1 in the NFL in interceptions (144), No. 3 in total takeaways (189), No. 1 in opponent passer rating (73.8) and No. 5 in points allowed per game (19.8) over that span.

In 2012, "Buck" LB A.J. Hawk led the team with 142 tackles and added three sacks. With Desmond Bishop (preseason opener) and D.J. Smith (Week 6) lost to season-ending injuries, LB Brad Jones was inserted into the starting lineup at "Mack" LB after playing on the outside in his first three seasons. Jones started the final 10 games and finished the season with a career-high 102 tackles, two sacks, six passes defensed and a forced fumble.

In 2011, Bishop entered the season as the starter for the first time in his career and went on to be named a Pro Bowl alternate, registering career highs with a team-leading 142 tackles and five sacks despite missing three games due to a calf injury.

With Bishop and Hawk both sidelined with injuries in December 2011, a pair of young LBs, second-year man Robert Francois and rookie Smith, were pressed into duty and responded under the direction of Moss. In his two starts, Francois posted 17 total tackles, an interception and a forced fumble. Smith was the lone Green Bay rookie to appear in all 16 games, and his three starts paced the team's rookies. In those starts, Smith led the team with 30 tackles over that span, while adding an INT vs. Oakland in Week 14.

In 2010, Moss was a member of a staff that helped Green Bay finish No. 2 in the NFL in scoring defense at 15.0 points per game, the team's best mark since 1996 (13.1). The Packers finished No. 5 in overall defense, the team's second straight top-five ranking.

After veteran LB Nick Barnett was lost for the season in Week 4 due to a wrist injury, Bishop stepped into the starting role at MLB for the remainder of the season and flourished under Moss' direction. Bishop finished second on the team with 121 tackles, while posting three sacks. His career-high 10 passes defensed were the most by a Packers LB since John Anderson recorded 15 in 1981.

Hawk played in all 16 contests with 15 starts at BLB and assumed more of an every-down role with nickel LB Brandon Chillar limited to just eight games due to a shoulder injury. Hawk paced the team with 134 tackles, his fifth straight season either leading the team or finishing second in the category. He added a careerhigh three interceptions, which tied for the lead among NFL line-backers, and matched his career best with nine passes defensed to earn Pro Bowl recognition for the first time in his career.

In '09, Moss was part of a staff that guided the defense to a No. 2 overall ranking in the NFL, the highest ranking since the '96 team finished as the No. 1 defense. Green Bay led the NFL in rushing defense for the first time in team history, and its average of 83.3 rushing yards allowed per game set a team record for any season.

Barnett returned from a serious knee injury to start all 16 games at MLB and lead the team in tackles with 122 in '09, a franchise-record fifth time in his career that he led the squad in tackles, and also register a career-high four sacks.

In 2008, Hawk made a rather seamless transition to middle linebacker to fill Barnett's spot after he was lost for the season to a torn ACL in Week 10, while Bishop and Chillar both contributed at Hawk's former weak-side position. In 2007, Barnett was named second-team All-Pro after leading the Packers in tackles for the fourth time in five seasons and posting a (then) career-high 3% sacks along with two INTs and numerous big plays late in games.

Moss spent a total of six seasons with the Saints, where he also coached linebackers. Originally hired by the Saints in 2000 as defensive assistant/quality control, he was promoted to linebackers coach near the end of that season to replace John Bunting, who departed to become head coach at the University of North Carolina. Moss began his coaching career in 1998 as a defensive quality-control assistant for the Seattle Seahawks, the club for whom he played his final three NFL seasons.

A veteran of 11 seasons and 155 NFL games (146 starts), the former linebacker played for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (1987-90) and the Los Angeles Raiders (1991-94), in addition to the Seahawks (1995-97). Over the course of his career, Moss recorded 768 tackles, 20½ sacks, six INTs and a fumble recovery for a TD.

In 1993, when he led the Raiders in tackles on a team that advanced to the AFC Divisional playoffs, he earned the Ed Block Courage Award after a vote of his teammates. Moss also was a three-time defensive captain and received the 1996 NFL Players Association Unsung Hero Award while with the Seahawks.

A four-year letterman at the University of Miami (Fla.), he and current Packers senior personnel executive Alonzo Highsmith helped the Hurricanes win the national championship after the 1983 season under Howard Schnellenberger.

Born Dec. 24, 1965, in Miami, Fla., Moss attended Miami (Fla.) Southridge High School and was an all-state linebacker. Moss and his wife, Zoila, have three sons, Winston Jr., 19, Robert, 14, and Marcus, 11, and two daughters, Victoria, 18, and Isabella, 5. In his spare time, Moss enjoys spending time with his family and playing golf.

DOM CAPERS

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

28th NFL Season • Fifth Packers Season

Entering his 28th season in the NFL, Dom Capers begins his fifth year with the Packers in 2013 as the club's defensive coordinator.

Named to his position on Jan. 19, 2009, by Head Coach Mike McCarthy, Capers is one of the most experienced coaches in the league, spending time with seven different franchises before coming to Green Bay.

Since Capers took over as Green Bay's defensive coordinator in '09, the team ranks No. 3 in the NFL in total takeaways (133), No. 1 in interceptions (103), No. 2 in opponent passer rating (73.8) and No. 4 in points allowed per dame (19.3).

Led by LB Clay Matthews and the pass rush, Capers' young defense made major strides in 2012. Matthews tallied 13 sacks in just 12 games, earning his fourth straight Pro Bowl selection and pacing Capers' defensive unit to 47 total sacks, good for fourth in the NFL. The Packers' sack total last season also tied for fifth best in franchise history (since 1963).

Capers also oversaw a significant improvement in the team's pass defense in 2012, as it finished the season as the 11th-ranked pass defense while surrendering 218.3 ypg, more than an 81-yard improvement from 2011. Additionally, Capers' unit ranked No. 11 in the NFL in scoring defense (21.0 ppg).

In 2011, the Packers led the league in INTs (31) for the second time in three seasons (also '09), and tied San Francisco for the most total takeaways (38). Capers' defense was well-represented in the Pro Bowl with Matthews, NT B.J. Raji and CB Charles Woodson all being honored in 2011. It marked the first time since 1967 that the Packers had a defensive lineman, a line-backer and a defensive back earn Pro Bowl recognition in the same season.

In 2010, Capers coordinated a unit that finished No. 2 in the league in scoring defense, allowing just 15.0 points per game. That was the team's best ranking since finishing No. 1 in 1996 (13.1 ppg), and the 24 TDs allowed were the team's fewest since '96 as well (19). The Packers also finished No. 5 in overall defense (309.1 yards per game), which, coupled with the team's No. 2 ranking in 2009, gave the Packers a top-five overall defense in consecutive years for the first time since 1968-69.

That No. 2 ranking in Capers' first season, when he guided the transition to the 3-4 scheme, highlighted one of the biggest statistical turnarounds in franchise history, as the Packers improved from the No. 20 spot in 2008. They also ranked No. 1 against the run in 2009 after a No. 26 ranking in that category before Capers' arrival. That top ranking in rushing defense was a first in franchise history, and the average of 83.3 rushing yards per game set a team record. In '09, the Packers also led the NFL with 40 takeaways and 30 INTs, the first time Green Bay led the league in INTs since 1965.

Under Capers' tutelage, Woodson posted perhaps his finest all-around season in '09 as he was named NFL Defensive Player of the Year by The Associated Press and was selected to virtually every All-Pro team. It was the third time in Capers' career as a defensive coordinator that one of his players earned the top defensive honor from AP, as Woodson joined Miami DE Jason Taylor (2006) and Pittsburgh CB Rod Woodson (1993). Capers nearly had a fourth protégé win the award in 2010, as Matthews finished runner-up in the voting to Pittsburgh S Troy Polamalu.

Capers was honored with an award of his own in '09 as he was named Coordinator of the Year by Sporting News in a vote conducted by 53 current NFL head coaches and league executives.

Capers joined the Packers after one season with the New England Patriots as special assistant – secondary. Prior to that, he had defensive-coordinator responsibilities for two seasons with the Miami Dolphins, holding the titles of special assistant to the head coach (2006) and defensive coordinator (2007). After inheriting a defense that had allowed 317.0 total yards per game (No. 18) in 2005, Capers made an immediate impact as Miami finished fourth in overall defense (289.1 ypg) in '06.

Capers served as the head coach of the expansion Houston Texans for the first five seasons of the franchise's history. He was hired in January 2001, more than a year before Houston's inaugural season in 2002.

From 1999-2000, Capers was the defensive coordinator in Jacksonville, where under his guidance the Jaguars improved from 25th in the NFL in total defense in 1998 to fourth in 1999. Jacksonville also allowed the fewest points (217) in the NFL in '99, and Capers was named NFL Assistant Coach of the Year by Pro Football Weekly/PFWA and USA Today.

Capers served as a head coach for the first time in his career from 1995-98 with the expansion Carolina Panthers, guiding that team from its origin to the NFC title game in just two seasons. In 1996, Carolina won its last seven games en route to a 12-4 record and the NFC West title. The Panthers defeated the defending Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys in the divisional playoffs before falling to the Packers at Lambeau Field in the NFC Championship. Capers was honored with all of the major Coach of the Year awards in '96. including the AP's honor.

Prior to taking over in Carolina, Capers served as a defensive coordinator for the Pittsburgh Steelers from 1992-94, the first time in his coaching career that he ran a defense. His unit ranked third in the NFL in total defense in '93, second in '94, and the Steelers won the AFC Central in '92 and '94.

Capers' first NFL coaching stop came with the New Orleans Saints, where he served as the defensive backs coach for six seasons (1986-91). He helped the Saints earn their first three playoff berths in franchise history, and he worked under head coach Jim Mora, whom he also assisted with the Philadelphia/Baltimore Stars of the USFL from 1984-85 as the Stars won the leadue title both seasons.

Capers began his coaching career by spending 12 seasons at the collegiate level, beginning with a three-year stint as a graduate assistant at Kent State (1972-74). He went on to coach defensive backs at Hawaii (1975-76), San Jose State (1977), California (1978-79), Tennessee (1980-81) and Ohio State (1989-93)

Capers played safety and linebacker for Mount Union College in Alliance, Ohio, from 1968-71, and graduated with a degree in physical education and a minor in psychology. He also earned his master's degree in administration from Kent State. In May 2012, Capers delivered the commencement address at Mount Union and was awarded an honorary doctorate of humane letters.

Capers grew up in Buffalo, Ohio, where he was a star athlete at Meadowbrook High School. He hosted an annual charity golf tournament for 13 years (1995-2007) in the area to raise money for the Southeastern Ohio Regional Medical Center's cardie crebab unit, and for a college scholarship in the name of Dale Dickson, Capers' former high school football coach who died of a heart attack.

Born Aug. 7, 1950, in Cambridge, Ohio, Capers lives in Green Bay with his wife. Karen.

TOM CLEMENTS

FFENSIVE COORDINATOR

17th Season as NFL Coach • Eighth Packers Season

Tom Clements, entering his 21st season in the coaching profession, is in his second year as Green Bay's offensive coordinator.

Now in his 17th overall NFL season, Clements was named to his current position on Feb. 2, 2012, after serving as Green Bay's quarterbacks coach for the previous six seasons (2006-11). Having originally joined the Packers on Jan. 29, 2006, Clements also served as offensive coordinator for Buffalo (2004-05) and QBs coach for Pittsburgh (2001-03), Kansas City (2000) and New Orleans (1997-99).

During his seven seasons in Green Bay, the Packers have ranked in the top 10 in scoring in six of those seasons and in the top 10 in total offense six times. In 2012, Clements coordinated an offense that ranked No. 5 in the NFL in scoring (27.1 ppg), tied for No. 2 in giveaways (16) and No. 3 in red-zone efficiency (68.1 percent). The 16 giveaways were tied for the second fewest in a season in franchise history, and the team's red-zone TD percentage was the best in a season since the statistic began to be recorded in 1995.

In 2012, QB Aaron Rodgers led the NFL in passer rating (108.0) for the second straight season and also ranked No. 1 in TD/INT ratio (4.88) and No. 2 in TD passes (39). He joined 49ers QB Steve Young (1991-94) as the only QBs in NFL history to register a 100-plus passer rating in four consecutive seasons (2009-12).

WR James Jones led the league with a career-high 14 TD catches in 2012, becoming the first Packer to do so since WR Sterling Sharpe (18) in 1994, and Jermichael Finley set a single-season franchise record for tight ends with 61 receptions.

As QBs coach, Clements' extensive tutelage of Rodgers paid dividends, culminating with a 2011 campaign that saw him earn NFL Most Valuable Player honors from The Associated Press. Rodgers set an NFL record with a 122.5 passer rating and franchise marks for TD passes (45), passing yards (4,643), completion percentage (68.3), yards per attempt (9.25), TD/INT ratio (7.50) and 300-yard games (eight). Clements helped Rodgers become the first QB in NFL history to register two seasons with 500-plus attempts and seven or fewer INTs (2009 and 2011).

Clements also tutored QB Matt Flynn, a seventh-round choice by the club in 2008, as he set single-game franchise records in the 2011 season finale with 480 passing yards and six TDs (later matched by Rodgers) vs. Detroit. Combined with Rodgers' five TD passes the previous week vs. Chicago, it marked the first time in the history of the NFL that a team had two different QBs each throw five-plus TDs in consecutive games.

Rodgers' first 4,000-yard season in 2008 gave the Packers 4,000-yard passers in consecutive seasons for just the second time in team history, and for the first time in league history those back-to-back 4,000-yard passers were different QBs.

The previous two seasons, in addition to tutoring Rodgers as the backup and heir apparent, Clements oversaw a mini-renaissance of Brett Favre's career. In 2006, Favre reduced his interceptions from a careerhigh 29 the year before to just 18, setting the stage for a near-MVP season in 2007, when he surpassed 4,000 yards passing for the fifth time and led the Packers back to the playoffs.

Before coming to Green Bay, Clements spent two seasons (2004-05) as offensive coordinator for the Buffalo Bills. In 2004, the offense increased its scoring output by 152 points and reduced its number of sacks allowed from 51 to 38. In 2005, RB Willis McGahee became the fifth running back in Bills history to register back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons and QB Kelly Holcomb set a club single-season record with a 67.39 completion percentage.

Prior to joining the Bills, Clements served as Pittsburgh's quarterbacks coach for three seasons (2001-03) under Bill Cowher. In 2002, he helped Tommy Maddox earn the Comeback Player of the Year award from AP.

Clements also worked with Pittsburgh's Kordell Stewart (2001) and Kansas City's Elvis Grbac (2000) during each quarterback's best season, both culminating in Pro Bowl berths. Mike Ditka gave Clements his first NFL coaching job, hiring him to coach the Saints' quarterbacks (1997-99), a group that included Jake Delhomme and Kerry Collins.

In 1994, while on the Notre Dame coaching staff, Clements was an adjunct associate professor of law at the university's law school, where he taught "Sports and the Law."

Clements was born June 18, 1953, in McKees Rocks, Pa. He and his wife, Kathe, live in Green Bay. The couple has two grown children: daughter, Stevie, and son, Tom.

NAMES ON THE FACADE

The names gracing the east and west facades, one of the more awe-inspiring features of Lambeau Field's bowl, are often misidentified as the Green Bay "Ring of Fame" or "Ring of Honor."

It's an honest mistake. Most franchises induct former players, coaches and contributors into an exclusive club, usually called a Ring of Honor and containing on average 15-20 individuals. In Green Bay, though, the equivalent to that group is the Packers Hall of Fame, which inducted three more members this summer (Emil Fischer, Kabeer Gbaja-Biamila and Chris Jacke).

And unlike most other stadiums that display names on their facade, most of the Packers' individuals (14) actually played/coached on the field in front of them.

The bowl also lists the years of the Packers' NFL-record 13 world championships and, since 2003, the team's five retired numbers. Plus, in 2006, the Packers honored the architect of the Super Bowl XXXI champions, former Executive Vice President and General Manager Ron Wolf, adding the retired executive's name to the northeast corner.

SHAWN SLOCUM

SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR

Eighth NFL Season • Eighth Packers Season

Entering his eighth year in the NFL, Shawn Slocum begins his fifth season as the Green Bay Packers' special teams coordinator in 2013 after joining the club in 2006 as assistant special teams coach. Elevated to his current position by Head Coach Mike McCarthy on Feb. 3, 2009, following the retirement of Mike Stock, Slocum brings a total of 22 years of coaching experience to his post, the first 15 at the college level.

Having originally joined the Packers on Feb. 6, 2006, Slocum's background in the college ranks has proven valuable in working with young players at the pro level.

The 2012 season was one that saw the Packers get contributions from all areas of their special teams as the team ranked No. 12 overall in the Dallas Morning News' annual postseason rankings, the club's highest finish since 2007 (No. 7), and a year after ranking No. 13 in 2011.

finish since 2007 (No. 7), and a year after ranking No. 13 in 2011.

Last season, Slocum helped guide WR Randall Cobb to a franchiserecord 2,342 combined net yards to rank first in the NFL. Additionally, when Cobb returned a fourth-quarter punt 75 yards for a touchdown in the season opener, he became the only player in NFL history to score on a kick return in Week 1 each of his first two seasons.

Third-year P Tim Masthay continued his ascension under Slocum in 2012, matching the team record for most punts placed inside the 20 (since 1976) with 30, and for the third consecutive season he set a new team record for net punting average (38.93). Last season, Masthay also qualified in the franchise record books for career gross punting average (min. 150 punts), ranking first in team history with a 44.2-yard average over his first three seasons.

The 2012 season saw K Mason Crosby surpass the 100-point mark for the sixth straight season, joining K Ryan Longwell as the only players in team history with six or more 100-point seasons. Additionally, his 112 points brought his career total to 762, ranking him fourth in team history while setting an NFL record for the most points scored by a player in his first six seasons in the league.

In Cobb's rookie season of 2011, Slocum helped guide him to a No. 2 ranking in the NFL in kickoff return average (27.7) on his way to being named a Pro Bowl alternate and to the All-Rookie Team by Pro Football Weekly PFWA.

The 2011 season also saw Crosby set a new career high for field-goal percentage (85.7 percent, 24 of 28) as he finished No. 4 in the NFL among kickers with 140 points. Additionally, his streak of 23 consecutive field goals made (Week 13, 2010 - Week 12, 2011) set a team record, topping Chris Jacke's mark of 17 straight in 1993.

In his second season in 2011, Masthay established a new franchise record for gross punting average (45.6) while becoming the first punter in franchise history to land four punts inside the 20-yard line in consecutive games. He accomplished the feat at Detroit and at the N.Y. Giants in Weeks 12-13, earning NFC Special Teams Player of the Week for his performance against the Giants.

In 2010, Slocum guided first-year man Masthay to a 37.6-yard net average, which matched the best mark by a Packers punter to that point since 1976 (Jon Ryan, 2007). In 2009, Slocum's first year as coordinator, LB Desmond Bishop, S Derrick Martin and TE Spencer Havner each recorded 20-plus tackles on special teams, the first Green Bay trio to accomplish that feat since 1984.

In his three seasons as Green Bay's special teams assistant, Slocum helped tutor CB Will Blackmon as he tied the franchise record with three punt returns for touchdowns, accomplishing that feat over a two-year span (2007-08). Along with his special teams duties, Slocum also previously assisted Winston Moss in coaching the linebackers.

Slocum (SLOW-kumm) joined the Packers from the University of Mississippi, where he served one year as assistant head coach and linebackers coach. Under Slocum's tutelage, LB Patrick Willis garnered first-team All-America honors from College-botballNews.com and The Associated Press as a junior and was a semifinalist for the Chuck Bednarik Award, given annually to the nation's outstanding defensive player. One year later, Willis was drafted in the first round by the San Francisco 49ers.

Prior to Ole Miss, Slocum took a two-year hiatus from coaching, as owner and president of Slocum Development Group, Inc., a custom home-building and commercial-development company in Texas.

Slocum was the special teams coordinator and secondary coach at Texas A&M (2000-02) in his third stint with the Aggies. Slocum's units contributed to a team that appeared in two bowl games during that time.

Before returning to his alma mater, Slocum spent two seasons (1998-99) at the University of Southern California as the special teams coordinator and linebackers coach. During his tenure, Slocum worked with future NFL players Chris Claiborne, David Gibson, Marcus Steele and Zeke Moreno. In 1998, Claiborne earned both All-America recognition and the Butkus Award as the nation's top linebacker in leading the Trojans to the Sun Bowl.

Earlier, Slocum spent seven seasons at Texas A&M (1991-97), and assisted the Aggies to five bowl games, including four Cotton Bowl appearances. During that seven-year term, in which the school was 94-28-2, he coached 14 players who went on to play in the NFL. The 94 wins were sixth in the country and marked the most wins by any Texas Division I school in any decade.

While at Texas A&M as special teams and tight ends coach (1991-93), he helped the Aggies to three straight Southwest Conference championships. The following year, he transitioned from coaching tight ends to linebackers while maintaining his special teams responsibilities. In that role (1994-97), he recruited and coached All-American LB, Lombardi Award winner and future Dallas Cowboy Dat Nguyen.

On special teams, Slocum helped mold eventual Pro Bowl P Shane Lechler, a two-time All-American and three-time All-Big 12 selection in college. Along with numerous school and conference records, Lechler finished his A&M career with NCAA marks for career punting average (44.7) and career games averaging at least 40 yards (37).

Slocum began his coaching career as a volunteer assistant at Texas A&M in 1989. He moved on to the University of Pittsburgh the following season (1990) as a graduate-assistant defensive coach, serving on a Paul Hackett staff that included McCarthy, then a graduate assistant helping with the Panthers' quarterbacks.

A linebacker in college, Slocum earned one letter from Texas A&M in 1984 and was a member of the 12th Man kickoff squad from 1983-84. He earned a B.S. degree in construction management from the school in 1988.

Born Feb. 21, 1965, in Bryan, Texas, Slocum is married to the former Michelle Biehl. He has four children: daughters Tayler, 20, who will be a junior at Texas A&M in the fall, Jordyn, 18, who will be a freshman at Texas A&M in the fall, and Haley, 15, and son Jaxon, 10. His father, R.C., the winningest head coach in Texas A&M history, guided the program for 14 years (1989-2002) and was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 2012. In his spare time, Slocum enjoys golfing, hunting, fishing and spending time with his family.

EDGAR BENNETT

WIDE RECEIVERS

Ninth Season as NFL Coach • 13th Packers Season

Edgar Bennett begins his 21st NFL season in 2013, his 19th in Green Bay and his third as the Packers' wide receivers coach after six seasons as running backs coach.

Warned to his newest position on Feb. 25, 2011, by Head Coach Mike McCarthy, Bennett or originally became a position coach on Jan. 28, 2005, for the running backs. He was re-named to that post on Jan. 17, 2006, for McCarthy's first season at the helm. He continues his "third" Green Bay tour after initially rejoining the club to head player development (2001-04), and after a tenure as one of the most productive running backs in Green Bay history (1992-96).

Following the record-setting season turned in by the wide-receiver group during his first year as its leader in 2011, Bennett's charges overcame injuries and lineup shuffling to have another resoundingly productive season in 2012. In addition to seeing front-man Greg Jennings miss eight full games and parts of others with a groin/abdomen injury, the group also lost Jordy Nelson to a hamstring strain that held him out of four games and most of two more.

In the absence of Jennings and Nelson, James Jones and Randall Cobb ascended to the forefront of the team's passing attack. Jones put it all together under Bennett's direction in 2012, posting new career highs with 64 catches, 734 yards and an NFL-leading 14 touchdowns, becoming the first Packer to lead the league in receiving TDs since Sterling Sharpe (18) in 1994. A uniquely versatile threat, Cobb emerged as the team's leading receiver in just his second season, catching a team-best 80 passes for 954 yards and eight touchdowns. He matched his receiving productivity with his prowess as a returner to set the franchise's single-season all-purpose yardage record, posting a combined 2,342 total yards, while also becoming the first player in NFL history to have 900-plus receiving yards and 900-plus kickoff return yards in the same season.

Under his watch, the group posted one of the most productive seasons in franchise history in 2011, setting new team records and finishing first in the NFL among receiving corps in yards (3,667), yards per game (229.2) and touchdowns (38). The touchdown total was the second highest in league history by a receiver group and all five players at the position posted 25 or more catches for the first time in franchise annals.

On an individual level in 2011, Bennett helped guide Jennings to his second consecutive Pro Bowl berth during a season that saw the sixth-year pro on pace for several career highs before a knee injury kept him out of the final three regular-season games. Additionally, he was instrumental in the development and emergence of Nelson, who in his fourth season posted new career highs in every major statistical category and was named an alternate for the Pro Bowl. Nelson led the team with 68 catches for 1,263 yards and an impressive 15 touchdowns, the third most in team history.

In what is a true testament to the intense emphasis on ball security that marked Bennett's career as a player and now as a coach, the receiver group has not committed a turnover in either 2011 or 2012, despite a combined 489 touches on offense.

Prior to becoming wide receivers coach, Bennett oversaw the development of several key running backs in Green Bay's stable from 2005-10.

James Starks was a sixth-round draft pick in 2010 who missed all of training camp and the first 11 games of his rookie season recovering from a hamstring injury – this after missing his senior season in college following shoulder surgery. But when Starks was healthy, Bennett got him ready to go. He rushed for 73 yards in his NFL debut vs. San Francisco (Dec. 5) and added a franchise rookie playoff-record 123 yards in the NFC Wild Card game at Philadelphia (Jan. 9).

Starks was needed during the team's stretch run because of a seasonending ankle injury to Ryan Grant in Week 1, who became just the third running back in team history to eclipse 1,200 yards in back-to-back seasons in 2008-09. Grant rapidly progressed in 2007, his first season with the Packers, after coming to the team in a trade at the end of training camp.
Quickly brought up to speed under Bennett's tutelage, Grant emerged from a backfield-by-committee to become the starter at midseason, went on to rush for 956 yards (including five 100-yard performances), and then set Green Bay postseason records with 201 yards and three touchdowns in a playoff victory over Seattle.

In 2006, Bennett oversaw the strong recovery from a torn quadriceps tendon by Ahman Green, whose sixth 1,000-yard season set a franchise record.

In his first season as a full-time coach in 2005, Bennett saw the team start five halfbacks and feature six after season-ending injuries claimed Green and Naieh Davenport (ankle).

Faced with steep adversity, Bennett took Samkon Gado, a non-drafted player fresh off the practice squad, and guided him to the second-most productive season by a rookle running back in franchise history. Gado, who had started only two games at Liberty University, ran for 582 yards, including three 100-yard games.

Initially joining the club as its director of player development April 10, 2001, Bennett spent four years helping players become acclimated to their roles as Green Bay Packers, both on and off the field, especially in terms of their expected contributions to their teammates, the community and team chemistry. Bennett's efforts in this area were recognized in 2003 as the Packers' player development department was named the best in the NFC.

Green Bay's fourth-round draft selection in 1992, Bennett is the 10th-ranked rusher in Packers history. The former Florida State athlete gained 3,353 yards over his five seasons in green and gold (1992-96). In 1995, he became only the fifth player in team annals to rush for 1,000 yards in a season (1,067) and the first since Terdell Middleton in 1978. He also continues to hold the club single-season record for receptions by a running back with 78, set in 1994. His accomplishments were appropriately honored in 2005 upon his induction into the Green Bay Packers Hall of Fame.

After a torn Achilles' heel suffered in the Packers' 1997 preseason opener ended his season, a successfully rehabbed Bennett signed with Chicago as an unrestricted free agent in 1998 and led the Bears in rushing that season with 611 yards. After one more season with Chicago, Bennett retired from football in 2000.

A four-year starter at fullback for Florida State (1987, 1989-91), Bennett holds a bachelor's degree in social science, with a primary emphasis in political science and a secondary emphasis in sociology. Previously, he was a first-team all-state back at Robert E. Lee High School in Jacksonville, where he played with former Packers safety LeRoy Butler, who later also would be his teammate at FSU and in Green Bay. Bennett was inducted into the Florida State Athletic Hall of Fame in 2005.

Bennett and his wife, Mindy, have a son, Edgar IV, and a daughter, Elyse Morgan, and live in Green Bay. In 2003, he created the Edgar Bennett Celebrity Bowl-A-Thon, an event that brings together Packers players, coaches and staff. In recent years, the event has supported Families of Children with Cancer, a foundation that gives financial and social support to local families whose children are receiving treatments for cancer or bone marrow failure. In its initial year, the Bowl-A-Thon supported the March of Dimes. In May 2006, Bennett received the Nice Guy Award at the Doug Jirschele Sports Awards Banquet in Clintonville, Wis.

JAMES CAMPEN

WATER TO SELECT THE PARTY OF TH

James Campen begins his 10th campaign as a Packers coach, his 15th overall with the organization.

Promoted to offensive line coach on Jan. 15, 2007, by Head Coach Mike McCarthy, Campen moved up from his position as assistant offensive line coach in McCarthy's first season at the helm. Prior to that, Campen filled the role of assistant offensive line/quality control coach for two seasons.

In all six of Campen's seasons in his current position, the Packers have finished in the top 10 in the league in scoring. Campen has had at least one of his linemen selected to the Pro Bowl each of the last three seasons, the first time since 1967-69 that the Packers had a different lineman honored in three straight seasons.

In 2012, C Jeff Saturday and G Josh Sitton were both selected to the Pro Bowl, the first time since 2003 that the team had two offensive linemen honored. Sitton became the first Green Bay guard to be honored since Marco Rivera in 2004.

Campen's line helped the Packers rank No. 5 in the NFL in scoring (27.1) and tied for No. 2 in fewest giveaways (16) last season. QB Aaron Rodgers led the league in passer rating (108.0) and TD/ INT ratio (4.88) and ranked No. 2 in TD passes (39). With injuries at running back, the Packers had seven different players rush for at least 125 yards on the season, which was tied for the most (1944) in franchise history.

In 2011, the line helped the offense set franchise records for points (560), also the second most in NFL history; total net yards (6,482); total net passing yards (4,924); and fewest giveaways (14). Rodgers was named the NFL Most Valuable Player by The Associated Press after setting an NFL single-season record for passer rating (122.5) and team marks for TD passes (45), passing yards (4,643) and completion percentage (68.3).

Under Campen's guidance, veteran C Scott Wells earned Pro Bowl recognition in 2011 for the first time in his career as he became the first Green Bay center to be honored since Mike Flanagan in 2003, while Sitton was named a Pro Bowl alternate for the second straight season. Campen also tutored second-year T Marshall Newhouse, who started 13 games (10 at LT, three at RT).

In 2010, Bryan Bulaga started the final 12 regular-season games and all four postseason contests at RT after veteran Mark Tauscher sustained a season-ending shoulder injury in Week 4. Bulaga was selected to the All-Rookie team by Pro Football Week-ly/PFWA. Veteran T Chad Clifton earned Pro Bowl recognition for the second time in his career, while Sitton was named the 2010 Offensive Lineman of the Year by the NFL Alumni Association.

In 2009, Sitton started every game at RG in just his second season in the league, while rookie T.J. Lang played three different positions and started games at both tackle spots when needed. Even though injuries contributed to the Packers utilizing six different starting combinations along the line in '09, RB Ryan Grant posted career highs in rushing yards (1,253) and touchdowns (11), and Rodgers was sacked just 10 times over the final seven games.

In the first two years at his current post, Campen worked handson in the development of three linemen – Daryn Colledge, Jason Spitz and Tony Moll – who started a combined 103 games from 2006-08. In 2007, the unit allowed only 19 sacks all season, and Clifton earned his first Pro Bowl appearance.

Campen (KAMP-en) made the transition from assistant offensive line coach smoothly, having worked extensively with Colledge, Spitz and Moll when all three were rookie draft choices in 2006. Alongside Joe Philbin, Campen helped teach the zone-blocking scheme to the youngsters and the veterans.

In 2005, Campen made his mark tutoring young linemen as Wells, then in just his second year, filled in at center for an injured Flanagan on several occasions and for eight games at guard after coaches altered the lineup. He also helped Clifton be named an alternate for the Pro Bowl, while seventh-round draft pick William Whitticker started 14 games at guard and became the team's lowest-drafted rookie to start the season opener since 1972.

Campen's direction in 2004 helped the line set a team record for fewest sacks allowed (14) and block for a 1,000-yard rusher for a sixth consecutive season, a franchise record. Rivera became the first Green Bay offensive lineman in 33 years to make three straight Pro Bowl appearances.

Formerly a player with the Packers, Campen was a Plan B free agency addition from the New Orleans Saints in 1989. He played in 15 games for Green Bay that season, then took over as the starter at center in 1990, starting all 16 games and grading out as the most consistent member of the offensive line. Campen went on to play in 13 games in both 1991 and '92.

Green Bay's starting center on Sept. 27, 1992, vs. Pittsburgh, Campen literally launched Brett Favre's 285-game starting streak, an NFL record among QBs. His playing career came to an end in 1993 when he suffered a torn hamstring in Week 4 at Dallas and later underwent season-ending surgery. Campen played in 61 games overall with the Packers, making 42 of 48 starts from 1990-92.

Campen broke into the NFL by talking his way into a free-agent contract with the Saints in 1986 after going undrafted. Waived during training camp, he made the New Orleans roster in 1987 on his second try and started three games for the Saints.

A two-year starter at Tulane (1984-85), Campen received the school's Dr. Eamon Kelley Award as a senior, honoring the top student-athlete in the class who bettered the campus and community. He was the first football player to serve as a resident advisor in the dormitory. Campen earlier had begun his collegiate career at Sacramento (Calif.) City Junior College (1982-83).

Campen began his coaching career as defensive coordinator at his prep alma mater, Ponderosa High School in Shingle Springs, Calif. After four seasons, he was named head coach and went 29-20-1 over the next five years, competing in the Sierra Valley Conference, one of the most competitive high school leagues in the state. As a Ponderosa student-athlete, he earned two letters in football and three in wrestling.

Possessor of a B.A. degree in social science with an emphasis in criminal justice, Campen served as a reserve deputy sheriff in New Orleans and volunteered with the Green Bay Police Department in a similar capacity while a Packers player.

Campen was born June 11, 1964, in Sacramento, Calif. He and his family make their home in Suamico, Wis. Campen also takes time to be involved in the community, giving talks to local groups.

JERRY FONTENOT

TIGHT ENDS

Eighth Season as NFL Coach • Eighth Packers Season

Jerry Fontenot begins his eighth season with the Packers and his second as tight ends coach in 2013. He was moved to his new post on Feb. 13, 2012, as part of a staff shuffling on the offensive side of the ball that followed the departure of former offensive coordinator Joe Philbin, who was named head coach of the Miami Dolohins.

The tight ends assignment was another in the line of many that have highlighted the early portion of Fontenot's coaching career, one that started with an internship in the summer of 2006.

Upon assuming the title of tight ends coach, Fontenot was entrusted with several new responsibilities, one of which was overseeing the continued development of talented TE Jermichael Finley. In 2012, Finley started a career-high 14 games on his way to setting the franchise record for receptions by a tight end with 61, also finishing with 667 yards and two touchdowns. The fifth-year pro was particularly productive down the stretch, ranking No. 3 in the NFL among tight ends with 396 receiving vards over the final seven games of the season.

with 396 receiving yards over the final seven games of the season. Additionally, No. 2 tight end Tom Crabtree evolved as a target in the passing game, finishing with career highs in every major statistical receiving category. During the season, Crabtree scored touchdowns spanning 48 and 72 yards, becoming the first Green Bay tight end since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger to have two TD catches of 45-plus yards in the same season.

Before being assigned to the tight ends, Fontenot received his first position-group appointment on Feb. 25, 2011, when Head Coach Mike McCarthy placed him in command of the team's running backs.

In what was a prolific offensive season that saw the Packers score the second-most points in NFL history (560), the running backs played a key role in providing a balance to what was the most productive yardage offense in franchise annals (6,482 yards). Primary contributions from the backfield came from veteran running back Ryan Grant and second-year man James Starks, who became the first pair of Green Bay backs to eclipse the 550-yard mark in the same season since Edgar Bennett and Dorsey Levens did so in 1996.

Grant returned from a season-ending ankle injury that shelved him for almost all of 2010 and hit his stride as the season wore on, particularly in the last four games, when he carried 42 times for 243 yards (5.8 avg.) and two TDs. Starks started strong on the heels of what was a productive 2010 postseason, posting 503 yards on 109 carries (4.6 avg.) in the first nine games.

Fontenot (FON-tin-oh) also helped guide the success of John Kuhn, the veteran fullback who was voted to start the Pro Bowl for the NFC at season's end, the first time he'd been named to the all-star team. Additionally, Kuhn earned second-team All-Pro honors from The Associated Press and led the team's backs with six total touchdowns (four rushing, two receiving), becoming the first Packer to score both a rushing and receiving TD in four consecutive seasons since Ahman Green did so from 2001-04.

Fontenot originally joined the Packers in the summer of 2006 as a coaching intern and remained with the team that season as an offensive assistant, working with the offensive line. He was promoted to assistant offensive line coach by McCarthy on Jan. 15, 2007, and spent the next four seasons in that role.

During his five seasons working with the offensive line, Fontenot contributed to the development of several linemen. In 2010, veteran LT Chad Clifton earned Pro Bowl recognition for the second time in his career as he started all 16 contests. Rookie Bryan Bulaga started 12 games at RT after veteran Mark Tauscher was lost for the season due to a shoulder injury, and went on to earn All-Rookie honors from Pro Football WeeklyPFWA. RG Josh Sitton was named the 2010 Offensive Lineman of the Year by the NFL Alumni Association and was selected as a Pro Bowl alternate.

In 2009, Sitton started every game at RG in just his second season, while rookie T.J. Lang played three different positions at times and started games at both tackle spots when needed. From 2006-08, the '06 draft trio of Daryn Colledge, Jason Spitz and Tony Moll combined for 103 starts.

A starting center for the New Orleans Saints during McCarthy's fiveyear tenure there as offensive coordinator, Fontenot made an indelible impression on McCarthy with his leadership, intelligence, and the respect he commanded in the locker room, qualities he displayed in his first foray into coaching.

Not far removed from his playing days, which concluded after 16 seasons in 2004, Fontenot quickly showed he could relate well to players, prompting McCarthy to retain Fontenot in a full-time capacity in 2007 with the promotion of Philibin to offensive coordinator and James Campen to offensive line coach.

A longtime center, Fontenot played 239 NFL games with the Bears, Saints and Bengals from 1989 through 2004, proving to be extremely durable as a player. Originally a third-round draft choice by Chicago in 1989, Fontenot began a starting streak of 106 games in 1991 with the Bears that continued through his first one-plus seasons with the Saints, whom he joined in 1997 as an unrestricted free agent.

That streak ended with a season-ending knee injury in October 1998. Returning at the start of the 1999 season, Fontenot then started 80 consecutive games for the Saints through the end of the 2003 season before finishing his career with the Bengals in 2004. Fontenot was named a USA Today All-Joe Team selection in 2002 for his excellence without fanfare and his enduring leadership qualities.

In all, Fontenot played on four playoff teams, three with the Bears (1990, '91, '94) and one with the Saints (2000). He spent his first year out of football in 2005 working in broadcasting in the Chicago area, handling various football assignments with both WGN and ESPN, before deciding to give coaching a try, which he feels provides more fuel for his passion for the game.

A standout at Texas Á&M and a sociology major, Fontenot played every position on the offensive line in college and helped lead the Aggies to three consecutive Southwest Conference titles from 1985-87. He earned all-conference honors three times and was an honorable mention All-American as a junior and senior.

Born Nov. 21, 1966, in Lafayette, La., Fontenot was a four-sport star at Lafayette High School, earning all-state honors twice in football, finishing as state runner-up twice in the discus, and winning a state championship in baseball.

He and his wife, Stephanie, have three daughters – Gabrielle, Madeleine and Camille.

OUTSIDE LINEBACKERS

Fifth Season as NFL Coach • Fifth Packers Season

Kevin Greene enters his fifth season with the Packers in 2013 as outside linebackers coach, his first full-time NFL coaching job after 15 years as a standout player.

Named to his position by Head Coach Mike McCarthy on Feb. 3, 2009, Greene brings a wealth of experience at the outside linebacker spot and has played a key role in teaching that position in the Packers' 3-4 defensive scheme the past four seasons.

Since Greene joined the coaching staff in 2009, the Packers have registered 160 sacks, tied for No. 5 in the league over that span, and have allowed 19.3 points per game, No. 4 in the NFL. Greene's linebackers have accounted for 74 of those sacks during that time, with an additional 11½ sacks in the postseason.

In 2012, Greene helped guide LB Clay Matthews to his fourth straight Pro Bowl selection as he became the first player in franchise history to be named to the Pro Bowl each of his first four seasons in the league. Matthews led the team and ranked No. 5 in the league with 13 sacks despite missing four games due to a hamstring injury. His 42½ sacks since entering the league in '09 rank No. 5 in the NFL over that span.

Also under Greene's direction, LB Erik Walden finished No. 5 on the team with 71 tackles and added a career-best two interceptions in '12. Non-drafted rookie LB Dezman Moses appeared in all 16 games with six starts and registered four sacks, which was tied for No. 3 among rookies in the NFC. The outside linebackers helped the team rank No. 4 in the NFL with 47 sacks, with Greene's unit accounting for 22 of them in 2012.

In 2011, Matthews posted career highs in interceptions (three) and passes defensed (nine), while adding 69 tackles and six sacks on his way to earning Pro Bowl honors. He finished No. 4 in the league with a combined 38½ QB knockdowns/hurries and became the first player in franchise history to score a defensive TD in each of his first three seasons in the NFL.

In 2010, Matthews led the team with 13½ sacks, including back-to-back three-sack games to start the season, on his way to becoming the first Green Bay linebacker to earn first-team All-Pro honors from The Associated Press since Tim Harris in 1989. He finished second to Steelers S Troy Polamalu in the AP's Defensive Player of the Year voting. Rookie free agent Frank Zombo moved into the starting lineup midway through the season opposite Matthews due to injuries, opening eight contests and recording 67 tackles, four sacks and two forced fumbles.

In his first season as a coach in 2009, Greene was part of a staff that guided the Packers defense to a No. 2 overall ranking in the league, the highest mark since the '96 team finished as the No. 1 defense.

Under Greene's direction in '09, Matthews registered 10 sacks, the most by a Packers rookie since the statistic became official in 1982. He was selected to the Pro Bowl, the first Green Bay rookie to earn that honor since WR James Lofton in 1978, and also led all NFL rookies with three forced fumbles.

Greene tutored another rookie, seventh-round draft choice Brad Jones, as he was inserted into veteran Aaron Kampman's starting spot after he sustained a season-ending knee injury. Jones posted four sacks, all in the final month of the season, to give the Packers their first rookie tandem with four-plus sacks in franchise history.

As a 3-4 outside linebacker during his playing career, Greene posted 160 career sacks while playing for four different teams, good for No. 3 on the NFL's all-time list behind Bruce Smith and Reggie White and No. 1 all-time among linebackers. In 15 seasons (1985-99), he was a five-time Pro Bowl selection, a two-time first-team All-Pro pick by AP and a second-team se-

ASSISTANT OFFENSIVE LINE

Third Season as NFL Coach • Third Packers Season

Joel Hilgenberg begins his second season as the Packers' assistant offensive line coach after one season as the club's offensive quality control coach, continuing his coaching career after 10 seasons as an NFL offensive lineman.

Named to his new position by Head Coach Mike McCarthy on Feb. 13, 2012, Hilgenberg originally joined the Packers on Feb. 25, 2011, as offensive quality control coach. He had worked as a coaching intern with the team during training camp, minicamp and a portion of OTAs in 2010, primarily assisting offensive line coach James Campen and then-assistant offensive line coach Jerry Fontenot.

In 2012, Hilgenberg's first season assisting with the line, C Jeff Saturday and G Josh Sitton were both selected to the Pro Bowl, the first time since 2003 that the team had two offensive linemen honored. Sitton became the first Green Bay guard to be named to the all-star game since Marco Rivera in 2004.

The line helped the Packers rank No. 5 in the NFL in scoring (27.1) and tied for No. 2 in fewest giveaways (16) last season, while QB Aaron Rodgers led the league in passer rating (108.0) and TD/INT ratio (4.88) and ranked No. 2 in TD passes (39). With injuries at the running back position, the Packers had seven different players rush for at least 125 yards on the season, which was tied for the most (1944) in franchise history.

As the offensive quality control coach in 2011, Hilgenberg's duties included breaking down game film and analyzing the opponent's defensive tendencies while also assisting with the offensive line

Hilgenberg spent his entire 10-year playing career with the New Orleans Saints (1984-93), appearing in 142 games as a center/guard. In 1992, he started all 16 contests and was part of a line that allowed an NFL-low 15 sacks on the season on his way to earning Pro Bowl recognition at center.

Hilgenberg played in all 16 games with 14 starts at center in 1991 and yielded just one sack all season, including a streak of 10 consecutive games without allowing one. In addition to playing on the offensive line, he also handled long-snapping duties for the Saints throughout his career. In 2006, he was inducted into the Saints Hall of Fame.

Hilgenberg was selected by New Orleans in the fourth round (94th overall) of the 1984 NFL Draft out of the University of Iowa, where he earned second-team All-America honors in 1983. He was a first-team All-Big Ten selection as a junior and senior as he started every game in 1982-83 for a Hawkeyes team that went 17-7 and played in two bowl games over that span. Hilgenberg earned his degree from Iowa in interdepartmental studies.

SHOVELING SNOW AT LAMBEAU

In a gesture symbolic of a community-owned team, the Packers for more than 40 years have asked citizens to shovel snow off the Lambeau Field bleachers.

Today, if the team needs help, it will issue a press release alerting the locals. The Packers provide shovels and request fans to not bring their own from home.

During the 2012 season, the Packers activated the plan to clear off the seats prior to the team's Week 16 game against Tennessee and the NFC Wild Card matchup against Minnesota. It marked the 20th and 21st occasions that Packers fans have been asked to shovel snow since 2005.

Fans at least 15 years old who arrive early enough often shovel for several hours. Each participant receives $10/hour at the end of the day.

MCADOO

UARTERBACKS

10th NFL Season • Eighth Packers Season

Ben McAdoo begins his eighth season with the Packers, his second as the team's quarterbacks coach.

McAdoo was appointed to his current position on Feb. 13, 2012, by Head Coach Mike McCarthy, as part of a series of staff changes on the offensive side of the ball that came in the aftermath of former coordinator Joe Philbin being named head coach of the Miami Dolphins. In his current role, McAdoo works closely with three-time Pro Bowl QB Aaron Rodgers, who is entering his sixth season as the franchise's starter under center.

Following his near-unanimous selection as the NFL's Most Valuable Player in 2011, Rodgers continued to flourish under McAdoo's direction in 2012. He was once again voted the Pro Bowl starter for the NFC after completing 371 of 552 attempts for 4,295 yards with 39 TDs against just eight INTs and leading the league in passer rating for the second consecutive season (108.0).

Maybe most impressive was that Rodgers maintained his remarkable level of play in the face of seemingly constant injuries and lineup shuffling on the offensive side of the ball. Throughout the season, he captained an offense that saw five different players start at running back, five different offensive line combinations and the loss of top targets Greg Jennings and Jordy Nelson for a combined 12 games and extended parts of others. Despite the lack of continuity around him, he managed to guide the league's No. 5-ranked scoring offense (27.1 ppg.), while also ranking second in the NFL in touchdown passes and third in completion percentage (67.2).

Prior to drawing his most recent assignment, McAdoo served as the team's tight ends coach for six seasons.

In 2011, he helped then fourth-year pro Jermichael Finley make his return to the field following a season-ending knee injury suffered in 2010. Finley was named a Pro Bowl alternate after playing in all 16 games for the first time and setting new career highs with 767 yards and eight touchdowns, while matching his previous career best with 56 catches and becoming the first tight end in franchise history to post two 55-catch seasons. In addition to Finley, McAdoo helped develop second-year men Tom Crabtree and Andrew Quarless into adept blockers up front. Quarless appeared in 10 games before suffering a season-ending knee injury of his own in Week 13 and Crabtree played in all 16 games, starting a career-high nine of them.

In 2010, Finley got off to a torrid start under McAdoo's tutelage, posting 21 catches for 301 yards and a touchdown in the opening four games. That included back-to-back 100-yard receiving performances as Finley joined Paul Coffman (1979) as the only TEs in team annals to accomplish that feat. Finley's three career 100-yard games already rank No. 2 in franchise history behind Coffman (six).

After Finley sustained his knee injury on the opening series at Washington in Week 5, Quarless, then a rookie, and Crabtree, who held a first-year player designation, moved into more significant roles under McAdoo's guidance. Quarless went on to post 21 receptions for 238 yards, the best marks by a Green Bay rookie TE in both categories since Bubba Franks (34-363) in 2000. Quarless 62 receiving yards at Detroit in Week 14 were the most by a Packers rookie TE since Ron Kramer posted 68 at Detroit on Nov. 28, 1957.

In 2009, McAdoo oversaw one of the most productive seasons in team history by the tight ends. With the emergence of youngsters Finley and Spencer Havner, along with another year of steady production from veteran Donald Lee, Green Bay's tight ends posted a collective 99 receptions for 1,048 yards, franchise records in both categories.

Finley (55 receptions) and Lee (37) became the first tight-end duo in franchise history to each post 35-plus receptions in the same season, and they were one of only two tandems in the league to do so in 2009, along with New Orleans' Jeremy Shockey and David Thomas. Meanwhile, with Finley (five Tbs) and Havner (four), the Packers were the only team in the NFL to have two tight ends catch at least four TD passes apiece.

The emergence of Finley, a third-round draft choice in 2008, was not a surprise after seeing the marked improvement he made in his first season. McAdoo helped Finley steadily learn the pro game as a rookie, and Finley flashed his tremendous potential over the final two games of the season, posting three receptions for 64 yards and his first NFL touchdown.

In 2007, it was former backup Lee enjoying a breakout year as he moved into a starting role. Lee posted career highs with 48 catches for 575 yards and six TDs, and he followed that up with consistent production in 2008-09 to become the first Packers tight end since Coffman (1981-83) to catch at least 35 passes in three consecutive seasons.

Upon arriving in Green Bay in 2006, McAdoo helped the Packers' tight ends adapt successfully to additional blocking and pass-protection duties they hadn't previously been assigned. The added assistance helped a young Originally named to the tight ends post Jan. 17, 2006, the 36-year-old McAdoo replaced Philbin, who was then the lone holdover from the previous coaching staff and had been made the team's offensive line coach after McCarthy had been introduced as head coach. In each of McAdoo's previous two NFL tenures, he has worked with McCarthy.

McAdoo came to Green Bay from the San Francisco 49ers, where he served as assistant offensive line/quality control coach in 2005. In that role, he assisted the offensive line and tight ends.

Prior to joining the 49ers, he had a brief stint at Stanford University as tackles and tight ends coach. He resigned after the '05 recruiting season to take the 49ers position and reunite with McCarthy, then the San Francisco offensive coordinator, with whom he worked in New Orleans the previous season.

McAdoo, pronounced (MACK-ah-doo), entered the NFL coaching ranks in 2004 with the New Orleans Saints as an offensive assistant/quality control. He worked directly with McCarthy and assisted the offensive line and tight ends.

Prior to working in the NFL, McAdoo spent 2003 as an offensive assistant at the University of Pittsburgh, helping the Panthers earn a trip to the Continental Tire Bowl after an 8-5 season. At season's end, the University of Akron hired him as an assistant coach, but he stayed only through the '04 recruiting period before joining the Saints staff.

Earlier, he served as offensive line/tight ends coach at Fairfield (Conn.) University in 2002. After that campaign, the head coach left the team and McAdoo was appointed assistant head coach before the program was disbanded.

He began his college coaching career at Michigan State (2001) as a special teams/offensive assistant, on the heels of coaching four years at the high school level. SCOTT MCCURLEY

DEFENSIVE QUALITY CONTROL

Scott McCurley enters his eighth season with the Packers and fifth as defensive quality control coach. He was hired by Head Coach Mike McCarthy in April 2006 as a coaching administrative intern, promoted to coaching administrator in January 2007, and promoted again to defensive quality control coach on Feb. 3, 2009.

In his current role, McCurley's duties include breaking down opponent game film and analyzing their offensive tendencies. He also provides assistance with the outside linebackers.

As the coaching administrator, McCurley assisted in preparing the team's weekly game plan, preparing game film, and compiling player statistics and grades. His practice responsibilities included working with the scout team and assisting Winston Moss with coaching linebackers. During games, McCurley assisted the defensive coordinator.

Before coming to Green Bay, McCurley enjoyed a lengthy playing and coaching career at the University of Pittsburgh. Initially a walk-on athlete who redshirted his first year, he earned a scholarship after his freshman season and lettered all four years at linebacker (1999-2002).

McCurley holds the distinction of having the last interception and field-goal block in Pitt Stadium, which closed after the '99 season, both achievements recorded in a 37-27 victory against Notre Dame. That same season, he earned a spot on the Big East All-Academic football team and graduated in 2003 with a bachelor's degree in movement science with a coaching minor.

After graduation, McCurley remained with the program as a defensive graduate assistant. The 2004 team he coached won

RON WOLF'S STAMP ON PACKERS HISTORY

Ron Wolf arrived in Green Bay Nov. 27, 1991, with a mandate to rescue the Green and Gold from a quarter-century of mediocrity, an assignment which prompted him to assert, "I was brought here to win."

And win, in the decade to follow, the Packers did – in large part because of his leadership and the "cast" he assembled to execute one of the most electrifying turnarounds in NFL annals . . . rewardingly punctuated by Green Bay's first Super Bowl victory in nearly three decades and back-to-back appearances in professional football's ultimate game.

During the history-making process, he made a more profound impact upon the Packers organization than anyone since the revered Vince Lombardi, who arrived in Green Bay with a similar mission 32 years earlier. Over Wolf's 1992-2000 tenure, the Packers compiled the NFL's second-best regular-season record, a 92-52 mark for a .639 percentage, recorded seven straight winning seasons and made six consecutive playoff appearances.

He converted the Green and Gold from perennial also-rans into consistent winners, exemplified by the fact they also have mounted the NFL's second-best regular-season won-lost record since the 1993 institution of free agency (205-115-0, 641).

Wolf's aggressive stewardship, launched with the hiring of 49ers offensive coordinator Mike Holmgren as head coach and the acquisition of Brett Favre as a franchise quarterback in 1992, is perhaps no better illustrated than by the Packers' immediate, 9-7 turnabout in 1992 – his first year on the job – after the team had been a dismal 4-12 in 1991 and 6-10 in 1990 ... a transformation which brought him recognition as "NFL Executive of the Year" by Sporting News.

Wolf, reflecting upon the overall record from his perspective on the day he announced his retirement, observed with pardonable satisfaction: "What people said couldn't happen here ... happened here (building a winner in Green Bay) ... I'm proud of that."

CHAD MORTON

PECIAL TEAMS ASSISTANT

Fourth Season as NFL Coach • Fifth Packers Season

Chad Morton, a seven-year NFL veteran as a player, enters his fifth season with the Packers and fourth as special teams assistant coach.

Named to his current position on Feb. 15, 2010, Morton originally joined the Packers as the team's coaching administrator in 2009, where part of his duties included assisting with the defensive and special teams units, before he moved into the role of special teams assistant.

The Packers' special teams units continued to build on their 2011 momentum in 2012, holding steady in the top half of the Dallas Morning News' annual rankings, and moving up a spot to No. 12. One of the most tangible areas of contribution from the special teams units was the club's No. 4 ranking in the league in average starting field position (31.2) and also its No. 8 ranking in average opponent position (26.1), the second consecutive season it finished in the top 10 in both categories.

Wide receiver Randall Cobb remained an explosive factor on kick returns and was named a first alternate for the Pro Bowl as a kick returner. Cobb ultimately paired his proficiency on returns with his emergence as the offense's go-to receiver and became the first player in NFL history to have 900-plus kickoff return (964) and receiving yards (954) in the same season.

Tim Masthay led the punting unit to yet another strong season, besting his own franchise record for net average (38.9) for the third consecutive season. Masthay also hit the 150-punt qualifying mark to become the club's all-time leader in gross average (44.2) and tied Sean Landeta's single-season team record for punts landed inside the 20-yard line (30). The coverage team was a strength throughout the season and finished No. 5 in the league in punt return average (7.5) and No. 3 in total return yardage (179). The 179 yards were the second-fewest yards allowed by the Packers since the league went to the 16-game format in 1978.

The 2011 season marked a year of vast improvement for Green Bay's special teams units, one that saw them climb to the No. 13 overall position in the Dallas Morning News' rankings, the club's highest finish since 2007.

Some of the biggest strides were made in the various aspects of the return game, where the rookie Cobb was named a Pro Bowl alternate and to the Pro Football Weekly/PFWA All-Rookie team for his efforts as the team's primary returner. A former return specialist himself, Morton was instrumental in helping acclimate Cobb to the pro game. Cobb finished with 34 kickoff returns for 941 yards and a touchdown, and finished the season ranked No. 2 in the NFL (first among rookies) with a 27.7-yard average, the third highest in franchise history by a player with more than 25 returns.

In addition to the noticeable improvement made on returns, both placekicker Mason Crosby and Masthay had excellent seasons in the kicking game. Crosby set a new career high for field-goal percentage (85.7 percent, converting 24 of 28) and finished No. 4 in the NFL among kickers with 140 points, becoming just the sixth player in league history to post two 140-point seasons.

In his second season in 2011, Masthay continued to build off of the success he had in the second half of 2010. By season's end, he'd established a new franchise record for gross punting average (45.6 yards) and turned in another strong finish that saw him post 48.1-yard (gross) and 43.6-yard (net) averages over the final 10 games.

- With N.Y. Jets in 2002, returned two kickoffs for TDs in same game at Buffalo, including overtime game-winner.
- An All-Pac-10 running back at USC, he ranks 11th on Trojans' all-time rushing list with 2,511 yards.
- Older brother, Johnnie, played wide receiver for 12 seasons (1994-2005) in the NFL, including eight with the Detroit Lions.

Additionally, Morton's commitment to assisting with the instruction of fundamentals and proper techniques helped the Packers cut down on penalties in each of his first two seasons. In 2011, special teams penalties were cut in half from the year before, as just nine accepted fouls went against Green Bay during the regular season, a total that tied with New England for second fewest in the NFL.

During his playing career, Morton was a running back and kick/punt returner who began his career with New Orleans in 2000 as a fifth-round draft pick. Packers Head Coach Mike McCarthy served as the Saints' offensive coordinator at that time. Morton went on to play two seasons with the New York Jets (2001-02), two with Washington (2003-04) and two with the New York Giants (2005-06).

Serving primarily as a returner as a pro, Morton tallied 5,401 career kickoff-return yards and three kick-return scores, as well as 1,431 career punt-return yards and one score, in 93 career games. He was selected as a Pro Bowl alternate as a returner in '02 and '05.

While with the Jets in 2002, Morton returned two kickoffs for touchdowns in a contest at Buffalo, making him the fifth player in NFL history to return two kickoffs for scores in the same game. He is the only player in NFL history to return a kickoff for a TD in regulation and overtime in the same game and joins Chicago's Dave Williams (at Detroit, Nov. 27, 1980) as the only players in NFL history to return a kickoff for a TD in overtime. In 2000 with the Saints, Morton tied the NFL single-game playoff record with 13 receptions, against the Minnesota Vikings.

Morton was an All-Pac-10 selection at Southern California, where he served as the team's primary running back his final two seasons. He led the team with 1,141 yards and 15 touchdowns on 262 carries as a senior, and he ranks 11th on the Trojans' all-time rushing list with 2,511 career yards. He graduated from USC with a degree in sociology.

Born April 4, 1977, in Torrance, Calif., Morton attended South High School in Torrance, where he played running back and also ran track. His older brother, Johnnie, played wide receiver for 12 seasons (1994-2005) in the NFL, including eight with the Detroit Lions.

Morton and his wife, Tamra, reside in Green Bay. They have two sons, Avery and Aiden, and two daughters, Alexis and Ariella. Morton enjoys spending time with his wife and playing with his children. /ETERANS

DARREN PERRY

SECONDARY - SAFETIES

12th Season as NFL Coach • Fifth Packers Season

Darren Perry begins his fifth season with the Packers in 2013 as secondary – safeties coach, his 12th season coaching in the NFL.

Named to his position by Head Coach Mike McCarthy on Feb. 3, 2009, Perry has coached defensive backs in the NFL for the past 11 years and has tutored a Pro Bowl player in six of the last nine seasons.

The 2012 season was one of marked improvement for the Packers' pass defense, as the unit climbed all the way to the No. 11 ranking in the league by season's end and posted an 81-yard improvement from 2011. The defense finished the season allowing an average of 218.3 passing yards per game, while also ranking fourth in the league in opponent passer rating at 76.8.

Perry's safeties were an integral part of that progression, led by third-year pro Morgan Burnett, who started all 16 games for the second consecutive year, and according to NFL participation statistics, was one of only four non-offensive linemen in the league to not miss a single snap the entire season. Burnett's availability allowed him to finish second on the club with a career-heigh 137 tackles (97 solo), while also leading the secondary with a career-best two sacks.

In addition to developing Burnett, Perry also oversaw the transition of veteran Charles Woodson, who made the switch to safety after playing 14 seasons as a standout cornerback. Woodson appeared to be settling into his new role on the back end when he suffered a broken collarbone at St. Louis in Week 7, an injury that would sideline him for the remainder of the regular season.

In Woodson's stead, Perry was charged with inserting second-year man M.D. Jennings into the starting lineup. Jennings, who played exclusively on special teams as a rookie and only sparingly on defense early in 2012, went on to start the final nine games, finishing with 46 tackles (41 solo), an interception that he returned for a TD and six passes defensed.

In 2011, Perry was faced with a different series of challenges, starting with the task of helping to reacclimate Burnett to live action after he had suffered a season-ending knee injury in the fourth game of his rookie campaign in 2010. While Burnett picked up close to where he had left off upon returning to the field in training camp, the group lost Pro Bowl free safety Nick Collins to a neck injury at Carolina in Week 2.

With Collins sidelined, Burnett shifted to free safety and veteran Charlie Peprah was thrust into the starting lineup at strong safety for the second season in a row. The tandem went on to start the ensuing 14 games in the defensive backfield and combined for 203 tackles (163 solo), eight INTs, three forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries. As a unit, the Packers intercepted an NFL-best 31 passes, the most by the franchise since 1962, and helped contribute to the team's takeaway total of 38, which was tied for No. 1 in the league.

Burnett led the secondary with 107 tackles (83 solo), tallied 14 passes defensed and joined Woodson as the only two players on the team to record a sack, an INT, a fumble recovery and a forced fumble during the season. Peprah set new career highs in every major statistical category, including tackles (96), interceptions (inte), INT return yardage (147), and passes defensed (14). His five INTs were tied for third among NFL safeties and his return yardage ranked fourth in the league among all players.

In 2010, a healthy Collins earned the aforementioned Pro Bowl recognition for the third straight season, becoming the first Green Bay safety since LeRoy Butler (1986-98) to accomplish that feat. After Burnett went down with the season-ending knee injury, Peprah moved into the starting lineup and registered 64 tackles, two interceptions and seven passes defensed.

Collins and Peprah were members of a secondary that helped the Packers rank No. 1 in the league in opponent passer rating (67.2) in 2010, the best mark by a Green Bay defense since 1997 (59.0). The Packers also ranked No. 5 in the league in pass defense. allowing their opponents just 194.2 vards per game.

league in pass defense, allowing their opponents just 194.2 yards per game. In 2009, Collins was named to the Pro Bowl and earned second-team All-Pro honors from The Associated Press after finishing third among NFL safeties with six interceptions. SS Atari Bigby picked off four passes in '09 despite missing three games due to injury, giving the Packers their first safety tandem with four-plus interceptions each since 2002 (Darren Sharper, Marques Anderson).

Collins and Bigby helped the Packers lead the NFL in both takeaways (40) and interceptions (30), the first time since 1965 that Green Bay led the league in interceptions. Perry was a member of a staff that guided the Packers defense to a No. 2 overall ranking in the league, the highest ranking since the '96 team finished as the No. 1 defense.

Perry came to Green Bay from Oakland, where he coached the Raiders' defensive backs for two seasons (2007-08). Cornerback Nnamdi Asomugha earned his second Pro Bowl selection and All-Pro honors from AP under Perry's tutelage, as the Raiders ranked in the top 10 each of those years in passing yards allowed. In 2008, Oakland allowed opponents to complete only 56.5 percent of their passes, tied for fourth best in the league.

Perry spent the previous four seasons coaching defensive backs in Pittsburgh under Bill Cowher, the team and coach for whom he played the majority of his career. Perry was the Steleter's assistant defensive backs coach in 2003 and was promoted to defensive backs coach in 2004, when the Steelers finished fourth in the league in both passing yards allowed (177.2 per game) and opponents' completion percentage (55.6). In 2005, Pittsburgh won Super Bowl XL.

Perry was credited for helping the rapid development of Pittsburgh safety Troy Polamalu, who earned the first of five straight Pro Bowl selections in 2004, just his second season. The versatile Polamalu also was an APAII-Pro pick twice (2004, 2005) with Perry as his position coach.

Perry broke into the NFL coaching ranks in 2002, coaching safeties for the Cincinnati Bengals under head coach Dick LeBeau, one of the most respected defensive minds in the game, who also coached defensive backs for the Packers for four seasons (1976-79).

Drafted by the Steelers in the eighth round (203rd overall) of the 1992 NFL Draft – the team's first draft under Cowher – Perry became an immediate starter at free safety for current Packers defensive coordinator Dom Capers. Perry played seven seasons in Pittsburgh (1992-98) and sarted the first 110 games of his career, including postseason. He missed only two of a possible 123 games with the Steelers, both in 1998 due to a groin injury.

Perry was the Steelers' starting free safety in Super Bowl XXX and posted 32 career interceptions, tied for seventh in team history. His seven interceptions in 1994 marked his career high.

Perry went on to sign with the San Diego Chargers in 1999 but did not play due to a neck injury, and he concluded his playing career as the starting free safety for the New Orleans Saints in 2000, McCarthy's first season as the offensive coordinator there. Playing in all 16 games plus two postseason contests, he had three interceptions that season, giving him 35 for his career.

A standout in college at Penn State, Perry intercepted 15 passes in his career, tying him for second in school history. He returned three interceptions for touchdowns and compiled 299 return yards, both school records. As a junior in 1990, Perry intercepted seven passes and returned one for a TD. His senior year, he had six interceptions and two scores.

Perry was an all-district and second-team all-state selection at quarterback for Deep Creek (Va.) High, where he threw for 2,790 yards and 23 touchdowns in his career, and rushed for 1,167 yards and 14 scores. He was a team captain for the football, basketball and tennis teams.

JOHN RUSHING

OFFENSIVE ASSISTANT/SPECIAL TEAMS

Fifth NFL Season • Fifth Packers Season

John Rushing begins his second season as the Packers' offensive assistant/special teams after one season as assistant wide receivers/special teams coach and two years as offensive quality control coach, continuing his first venture into the NFL after 13 years in the college coaching ranks.

Named to his new post on Feb. 13, 2012, by Head Coach Mike McCarthy, Rushing originally joined the Packers on Feb. 3, 2009, as offensive quality control coach after spending the 2008 training camp with the Packers through the NFL's Minority Coaching Internship Program. He was named assistant wide receivers/special teams coach on Feb. 25, 2011.

Last season, Rushing's assignment was to assist with the Packers' running backs. He helped accelerate the transition for the group's new position coach, Alex Van Pelt, by sharing the nuances of the team's offense following his hire in February 2012. Rushing helped prepare five different players to start in the Packers' backfield, a group beset by various injuries throughout the season,

In 2011, Rushing assisted with a wide receiver group that set franchise records and led the league in receiving yards (3,667) and receiving touchdowns (38) as a unit. For the first time in team history, the Packers had five wide receivers each catch 25-plus passes on the season. Rushing also assisted with a special teams unit that was tied for No. 13 in the Dallas Morning News' special teams rankings, the club's best finish since 2007. The Packers tied for No. 2 in the league in special teams penalties with only nine on the season, half the number the team committed in 2010.

Rushing came to Green Bay from Utah State, where he spent six seasons (2003-08) coaching defensive backs. During his tenure there, Rushing coached current Packers cornerback and special teamer Jarrett Bush, who ranked sixth in the NCAA in passes defensed in 2005 with 1.36 per game.

Additionally, Rushing coached the Aggies' punt return unit. In 2007, Kevin Robinson led the nation with an 18.9-yard average on punt returns, and he was selected in the sixth round (No. 182 overall) of the 2008 NFL Draft by the Kansas City Chiefs. Robinson, who is Rushing's younger brother, returned 19 kickoffs for 420 yards (22.1 avg.) and 11 punts for 94 yards (8.5 avg.) in eight games with the Chiefs in '08.

Prior to his time at Utah State, Rushing coached the secondary at Montana State for three seasons (2000-02), where he worked with Joey Thomas, a third-round draft choice of the Packers in 2004.

Rushing's first Division I job was as a graduate assistant coach for the secondary at Boise State for two years (1998-99), where he coached S Quintin Mikell, who most recently played for the St. Louis Rams and was named to the Pro Bowl in 2009. He began his coaching career at Merced Union (Calif.) High School in 1995, his alma mater, before moving on to the college game at Willamette University in Salem, Ore., for two years (1996-97). He coached the secondary there and was a part of Willamette's Division III national runner-up squad in 1997.

MIKE TRGOVAC

DEFENSIVE LINE

19th NFL Season • Sixth Packers Season

Mike Trgovac (pronounced TER-guh-vack) begins his sixth season with the Packers, his second stint with the team, and his 19th season overall in the NFL.

Named to his current position by Head Coach Mike McCarthy on Feb. 3, 2009, Trgovac was also the Packers' defensive line coach in 1999, the same year McCarthy was the team's quarterbacks coach.

Since Trgovac took over as defensive line coach in 2009, the Packers rank No. 3 in the NFL in rushing TDs allowed (33), No. 10 in rushing yards allowed (107.1 ypg) and tied for No. 5 in sacks (160). The 6,856 allowed rushing yards allowed by Green Bay from 2009-12 were the fewest over a four-year span by the club since 1998-2001 (6,633).

In 2012, Trgovac's group helped the Packers to a No. 11 ranking in total defense (336.8 ypg) and a No. 4 ranking in sacks (47). Under his guidance, veteran DT Ryan Pickett led the line with 75 tackles, his highest total since '08. DT B.J Raji was named a Pro Bowl alternate, DE Mike Neal registered a career-high 4½ sacks, and a pair of rookie defensive ends, Jerel Worthy and Mike Daniels, saw significant time in their first season.

In 2011, Raji became the first Green Bay DT to be selected to the Pro Bowl since Bob Brown in 1972. Raji recorded 43 tackles, three sacks, three passes defensed and a fumble recovery. In 2010, he posted career highs in every statistical category on the way to being named a Pro Bowl alternate. His 6½ sacks were the most by an NFL nose tackle since Minnesota's Ken Clarke recorded seven in 1990, and his 66 tackles led all Green Bay linemen.

Veteran DE Cullen Jenkins posted a career high in sacks as well in 2010, recording seven despite missing five contests due to injury. Raji and Jenkins helped the Packers finish No. 2 in the league in sacks with 47, the highest league ranking in club history. Trgovac also tutored veteran DE Howard Green, a midseason waiverwire pickup, as well as young ends C.J. Wilson and Jarius Wynn, as the three all made contributions to a line affected by injuries.

In 2009, Trgovac directed a line that made the transition to the 3-4 defense and helped the Packers lead the NFL in rushing defense for the first time in franchise history. The average of 83.3 rushing yards allowed per game set a team record for any season. The Packers moved up 25 spots in the rushing defense rankings from '08, the biggest one-year improvement in club history.

Trgovac came to Green Bay from Carolina, where he served as the defensive coordinator for six seasons. In that time, Trgovac directed a defense that produced 10 Pro Bowl selections and ranked in the NFL's top 10 in both yards and points allowed three times. In 2005, the Panthers ranked third in yards (282.6), fifth in points (259) and first in takeaways (a team-record 42) in helping Carolina advance to its second NFC Championship Game in three seasons.

His unit's ability to create turnovers had begun to show up in the second half of 2004, when the Panthers had 29 takeaways in the season's final eight games. The 38 total takeaways ranked second in the league and tied the club record at the time, and the defense's 26 interceptions were a league high and team record.

In 2003, Trgovac's inaugural season as a defensive coordinator, Carolina's defense ranked eighth in the NFL in yards (295.3) and 10th in points (304) and held top-10 rankings in a handful of other categories. The defense forced four turnovers in Carolina's 14-3 victory in the NFC Championship Game at Philadelphia, earning the Panthers their first Super Bowl berth.

As defensive line coach in 2002, Trgovac oversaw a dramatic improvement in the Panthers' front four that made a strong case for him taking over as coordinator. Carolina ranked third in the league with 39 sacks and first in rushing yards per attempt. Under Trgovac's tutelage, DE Julius Peppers was named the NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year, while DT Kris Jenkins earned first-team All-Pro honors from The Associated Press.

Trgovac's first stop in Green Bay, in 1999, was the Packers' first season in seven years without Reggie White leading the defensive line. That year, DE Keith McKenzie matched his career high in sacks with eight in a part-time specialist role.

Trgovac broke into the NFL as the defensive line coach of the Philadelphia Eagles from 1995-98. In 1995, their line led the NFL in sacks with 42.5 (team had 48). DE William Fuller topped the club with 13 and made the Pro Bowl for the first of two straight years.

Trgovac's career working with defensive linemen in the college coaching ranks spanned 11 seasons and five schools, beginning with his alma mater, Michigan, as a graduate assistant in 1984. After two seasons there, he moved on to Ball State (1986-88), Navy (1989), Colorado State (1990-91) and Notre Dame (1992-94).

With the Fighting Irish under Lou Holtz, Trgovac saw two of his protégés become early selections in the 1994 NFL Draft, as the San Francisco 49ers took Bryant Young seventh overall and the Chicago Bears picked Jim Flanigan in the third round.

Trgovac's playing career at Michigan from 1977-80 under Bo Schembechler featured three seasons as a starter at middle guard on the defensive line. He was a two-time All-Big Ten honoree and a second-team All-America selection as a senior. He played in three Rose Bowls for the Wolverines and received his degree in education from Michigan in 1982.

Born Feb. 27, 1959, in Youngstown, Ohio, Trgovac was an all-state football player and wrestler at Fitch High School in Austintown, Ohio. He was named Ohio's Defensive Lineman of the Year and also captured the state heavyweight wrestling title as a senior. Trgovac and his wife, Angela, have a daughter, Jordan, 19, and a son, Michael, 14. Jordan is a sophomore at the College of Charleston (S.C.), where she plays on the softball team. Trgovac enjoys spending time with his family and boating.

ALEX VAN PELT

RUNNING BACKS

Eighth Season as NFL Coach • Second Packers Season

Alex Van Pelt enters his 17th NFL season in 2013, his eighth as an NFL assistant coach and his second with the Packers.

Van Pelt was named the Packers' running backs coach by Head Coach Mike McCarthy on February 13, 2012. He joined the club after spending the previous two seasons (2010-11) as quarterbacks coach for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Prior to his appointment with the Buccaneers, Van Pelt spent four seasons (2006-09) on the offensive coaching staff of the Buffalo Bills.

In his first season with Green Bay in 2012, Van Pelt's running backs battled injuries, with five different players starting at least one game and no one starting more than five contests on the season. The Packers had a league-high five different running backs rush for at least 125 yards on the season, the most by the club since 1987 (five).

Van Pelt's group helped the Packers average 122.6 rushing yards per game in the final eight contests, No. 12 in the league over that span. That included a streak of five straight games (Weeks 12-16) with at least 100 rushing yards, Green Bay's longest streak since a five-game stretch in 2007. Second-year RB Alex Green led the team with 464 yards on 135 carries (3.4 avg.), the only player on the team with 75-plus rushing attempts on the season.

Van Pelt was instrumental in the development of first-year RB DuJuan Harris, a street free agent who spent four games on the team's practice squad before being signed to the active roster on Dec. 1. Harris appeared in the final four regular-season games with two starts, highlighted by a 14-carry, 70-yard outing in the season finale at Minnesota. He also started both playoff games, rushing for 100 yards on 28 carries (3.6 avg.) as well as a TD in both contests. Harris also added seven receptions for 64 yards (9.1 avg.) in the postseason.

Prior to arriving in Green Bay, Van Pelt found great success working with young OB Josh Freeman in Tampa Bay. Under Van Pelt's direction, Freeman threw for 7,043 yards in 2010-11, the most passing yards by a Tampa Bay quarterback to that point over a two-year period in franchise annals. That included 3,592 passing yards in 2011, then the second most in team history. Freeman also threw a TD pass in 15 consecutive games (Week 5, 2010-Week 2, 2011), the longest streak in team history.

In his first full season as a starter in 2010, Freeman showed incredible maturation and improvement under Van Pelt. He finished the year as the No. 6-ranked passer in the NFL while throwing for 3,451 yards, 25 touchdowns and only six interceptions. Freeman became the first quarterback under the age of 23 to lead his team to a 10-win season since Steelers QB Ben Roethlisberger in 2004, with five of his victories being fourth-quarter comebacks. Freeman also ranked second among NFL quarterbacks with 364 rushing yards on 68 carries (5.4 avq.).

Van Pelt entered the 2009 season as the Bills' quarterbacks coach before being promoted to offensive coordinator in September. He originally joined the Bills as offensive quality control coach in 2006 and worked in that capacity for two seasons before being elevated to quarterbacks coach in 2008.

In his only season as offensive coordinator, Van Pelt led an offense that featured former backup RB Fred Jackson. He rushed for a career-high 1,062 yards on 237 attempts (4.5 avg.) with two TDs in Van Pelt's offense while also hauling in a career-high 46 receptions, good for second on the team, for 371 yards (8.1 avg.) and two scores. His 1,062 rushing yards ranked ninth in the AFC and his 1,433 total yards from scrimmage ranked 10th in the NFL and sixth in the AFC.

He became only the fifth collegiate player to throw for 2,000 yards in four consecutive seasons. From 1990-91, Van Pelt was coached by McCarthy, who was serving as the Panthers' graduate assistant – quarterbacks.

Born on May 1, 1970, in Pittsburgh, Pa, Van Pelt lives in Green Bay with his wife Brooke and daughters, Payton Dale and Katherine Paige, and son, Jack MacGregor.

JOE WHITT JR.

SECONDARY - CORNERBACKS

Seventh NFL Season • Sixth Packers Season

Entering his seventh season in the NFL, Joe Whitt Jr. begins his sixth with the Green Bay Packers and fifth in his position of secondary – cornerbacks coach.

Originally named defensive quality control coach on March 7, 2008, by Head Coach Mike McCarthy, the 35-year-old Whitt was promoted to cornerbacks coach on Feb. 3, 2009.

Whitt came to Green Bay after one year with the Atlanta Falcons as assistant defensive backs coach. He coached the previous five years in the college ranks, beginning with the 2002 season as wide receivers coach at The Citadel, followed by a four-year stint as cornerbacks coach and recruiting coordinator at Louisville.

Since Whitt took over as cornerbacks coach in '09, the Packers have registered a league-high 103 INTs, with more than half of them (54) coming from Whitt's cornerbacks, the most in the league by a CB group over that span. Since 2009, the Packers rank No. 2 in the league in opponent passer rating (73.8), completion percentage (56.9) and TD/INT ratio (0.95).

In 2012, with veteran Charles Woodson shifting to safety in the team's base defense and CBs Sam Shields and Davon House both missing time due to injuries, Whitt was charged with preparing rookie CB Casey Hayward to contribute immediately. Hayward led all NFL rookies with six interceptions (tied for No. 5 overall), becoming the first Packer to lead the league's rookies in the category since Mike McKenzie in 1999. Hayward was named to the All-Rookie Team by Pro Football Weekly/PFWA, becoming the first Green Bay CB to be honored since the team was first selected in 1974, and finished third in voting for the NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year by The Associated Press.

Veteran CB Tramon Williams matched his career high with 24 passes defensed in 2012, his fourth straight campaign with 20-plus under Whitt. Shields posted a career-high 16 passes defensed despite missing six games and registered an INT in both of the Packers' playoff contests, bringing his career postseason total to four INTs (tied for No. 1 in club history). Whitt's group helped the Packers post a league-high five games with less than 120 net passing yards allowed, the most by the team since 1988 (also five).

In 2011, the Packers led the league in interceptions (31) for the second time in three seasons, and Green Bay was the only club to have three CBs each register four-plus INTs (Woodson, Williams, Shields). Green Bay posted 85 INTs from 2009-11, Whitt's first three seasons as comerbacks coach. It marked the most by the Packers over a three-year period since 1943-45 (95 INTs) and the most by an NFL team since Minnesota and San Francisco each posted 86 INTs from 1986-88.

Woodson's seven INTs in 2011 tied him for the league lead as he earned his fourth straight Pro Bowl bid, the first Green Bay CB to do so since Herb Adderley (1963-67), as well as first-team All-Pro recognition from AP. Woodson also posted two sacks to become the first CB in franchise annals (since 1982) to register two-plus sacks in four consecutive seasons.

Under Whitt's tutelage in 2011, Williams recorded four INTs, his fourth straight season with four or more picks, the only non-drafted player in the NFL to accomplish that feat over that span. Shields also posted a careerbest four INTs in the nickel-back role.

In 2010, Whitt's work with Williams culminated in his first Pro Bowl bid. Williams led the team in interceptions (a career-high six) and passes defensed (23), and added three more INTs in the playoffs, which tied the franchise single-postseason record. Whitt also was instrumental in the rapid development of the rookie Shields, another undrafted prospect who became the team's nickel back by the season opener – despite playing the corner position only one season in college – and helped the Packers advance to the Super Bowl with two interceptions in the NFC title game at Chicago.

Woodson posted career highs in tackles (105) and forced furmbles (five) and earned a Pro Bowl bid and second-team All-Pro honors in '10, when the Packers led the league in opponent passer rating (67.2) and finished second in INTs (24).

In 2009, Whith was part of a staff that guided the Packers defense to a No. 2 overall ranking in the league, the highest ranking since the '96 team finished as the No. 1 defense. Green Bay led the league with 40 takeaways and 30 interceptions, the first time the Packers led the league in INTs since 1965 (tied with Washington that season with 27).

Also in '09, Woodson posted a career-high nine INTs as part of perhaps his finest all-around season on his way to earning NFL Defensive Player of the Year Honors from AP as well as All-Pro honors from virtually every publication. Then 33, Woodson became the oldest defensive back to win the player of the year award and just the fifth cornerback to do so since the award's inception in 1971.

In Whitt's first season with the Packers, his duties included breaking down opponent game film and analyzing their offensive tendencies while also assisting with the defensive backs and special teams.

In 2007 with Atlanta, Whitt worked alongside veteran coach and former Packers defensive coordinator Emmitt Thomas in tutoring the Falcons' defensive backs.

During his time in Louisville, Whitt's recruiting efforts helped bring the program into national prominence as the Cardinals went 41-9 over that four-year stretch. After joining the staff in 2003, Whitt worked diligently to improve the Cardinals' recruiting efforts, and the program landed its first top-25 recruiting class in 2005.

On the field, he coached All-Big East first-team selection William Gay, who led the team with six interceptions and was a fifth-round draft pick of the Pittsburgh Steelers in 2007. Whitt also had a hand in helping safety Kerry Rhodes, most recently with the Arizona Cardinals, and Antoine Harris, most recently with the Philadelphia Eagles, make it to the NFL.

Whitt broke into the collegiate coaching ranks in 2002 as wide receivers coach at The Citadel. In his only season there, the Bulldogs saw their passing output increase by 81.3 yards per game over 2001, averaging 219.8 yards in 2002. Under Whitt's guidance, all of the team's receivers produced career highs in 2002, most notably Scooter Johnson, who improved on his six catches for 104 yards as a junior to bring in 69 passes for 950 yards and seven touchdowns to earn first-team All-Southern Conference honors as a senior.

A native of Auburn, Ala., and a walk-on as a player at Auburn University, Whitt eventually earned a scholarship and played for a coaching staff that included his father, Joe Sr., a longtime Auburn assistant coach.

Whitt worked his way into Auburn's rotation at wide receiver and contributed on special teams, battling several injuries along the way. After four shoulder surgeries and reconstructive knee surgery, he was granted a medical hardship waiver and became a student assistant at Auburn for two seasons, coaching alongside his dad.

Born July 19, 1978, in Auburn, Ala., Whitt graduated from Auburn in 2001 with a degree in communications. He and his wife, Ericka, have three children, a son, Joseph Barrington, and two daughters, Ava Jeneé and Zoë Jade.

Tim Terry, a former NFL linebacker, enters his 10th season with the Packers' pro personnel department after joining the team on Oct. 11, 2004. Terry's primary duties are scouting professional prospects in the NFL, CFL and Arena Football League, working under Executive Vice President, General Manager and Director of Football Operations Ted Thompson. He also is involved with in-season advance scouting of upcoming Packers opponents.

In 2008, Terry was named assistant director of pro personnel after serving as a pro personnel assistant the previous three years. During the 2007 season, he continued to work in the personnel department while also serving as the director of player development, helping to maintain locker-room cohesiveness and assisting players in acclimating to their roles, both on and off the field. Former Packers long snapper Rob Davis took over that position in 2008.

The 39-year-old Terry originally entered the NFL as a nondrafted free agent out of Temple with the Cincinnati Bengals in 1997. As a rookie, he saw action in five games, logging three stops and five special teams tackles. Terry spent the 1998 season on the team's practice squad.

Former Packers general manager Ron Wolf's many accomplishments in Green Bay have been well-documented since his retirement in 2000. A finalist for the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2012, Wolf engineered one of the most impressive turnarounds in the history of the sport after assuming control of the Packers' football operation late in 1991.

In the nine seasons under his leadership, Wolf's teams posted a 92-52 regular-season record, played in two Super Bowls (highlighted by their victory in Super Bowl XXXI, the franchise's first in 29 years), and accounted for seven consecutive winning seasons and six straight playoff berths. All of that success, and yet Wolf's enduring contribution to the organization and the league might lie in an entirely different realm.

Wolf was initially ushered into the business and mentored by former Oakland/Los Angeles Raiders owner Al Davis in the 1960s. Following Wolf's ascent, he placed an emphasis on paying that stewardship forward for young personnel types looking to develop the same knack for talent evaluation and procurement associated with his own career in the National Football League. Throughout his time at different stops, he shared his wealth of knowledge and training with scouts of all ages, men who have since gone on to have remarkable careers of their own running personnel departments across the league.

Most impressively, Wolf's lineage currently features general managers representing four NFL franchises, in addition to several other senior-level evaluators for other clubs and many of the high-ranking members of the personnel staff in Green Bay.

A look at the collection of personnel men who have studied under Wolf:

One of the more visible people in the organization, Pepper Burruss embarks upon his 21st season as the club's head trainer, his 37th in the NFL overall. Overseer of the team's medical care on a daily basis, Burruss, a certified athletic trainer and physical therapist, joined Green Bay in 1993 following 16 seasons with the New York Jets as an assistant athletic trainer.

The 59-year-old Burruss was hired by the Jets in 1977 after receiving his B.S. degree in physical therapy from Northwestern University Medical School. One year earlier, he had graduated with honors from Purdue University, where he earned a B.A. degree in health and safety education. At Purdue, Burruss was fortunate to be a student trainer working under a legend in the field, the late William "Pinky" Newell.

Burruss has won several awards during his NFL tenure. Most recently, he earned the NFL Physicians Society's Outstanding NFL Athletic Trainer award for the 2012 season at the annual NFL Scouting Combine.

The Packers' athletic training staff was honored by its peers with the NFL Athletic Training Staff of the Year award in 2011. It was the second time Burruss had won the award; the first came as a member of the Jets' athletic training staff in 1985. Burruss' Jets staff also was honored at the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA) clinical symposium in 1994 by former Jets defensive lineman Dennis Byrd, who credited the team's emergency care as a contributing factor in his miraculous recovery from quadriplegia. Byrd had suffered a fractured neck after an on-field collision in a 1992 game against Kansas City at the Meadowlands.

Burruss has been involved in multiple head, neck and spinal-care initiatives. In 2010, he was chosen by the NFL to represent the Professional Football Athletic Trainers Society (PFATS) on the league's Head, Neck and Spine Medical Committee, which led to his subsequent serving on both the Equipment Standards and Return to Play Criterion subcommittees.

Professionally, Burruss has served two terms on the executive committee of the PFATS, first as an AFC assistant athletic trainer representative, then as the NFC head athletic trainer representative.

A product of Wappingers Falls, N.Y., where he attended Ketcham High School, Burruss was inducted into the school's hall of fame in 2000, and in 2011, he was also inducted into the Wisconsin Athletic Trainers Association (WATA) Hall of Fame.

Born Thomas Pepper Burruss on April 15, 1954, in Beacon, N.Y., he is married to Nancy, with whom he has a son, Shane, 24, and a daughter, Christina, 19.

Also a medical practitioner, Nancy has her Ph.D. from Indiana University and is a professor at Bellin College in Green Bay, where she is also the director of the undergraduate nursing program.

Burruss currently serves on the board of directors of the Northeast Wisconsin Curative Rehabilitation Center. He is active in the Packers' annual "Rebuilding Together" (formerly "Christmas in May") house-renovation project, serving as a house co-captain.

Rob Davis, who played 12 years in the NFL, enters his sixth year as the team's director of player development. Before being named to the new position, he had spent the previous 11 seasons as the Packers' long snapper before retiring in March 2008. He was named director of player development on March 26, 2008, by Ted Thompson, Executive Vice President, General Manager and Director of Football Operations.

As the director of player development, Davis is vital in maintaining locker-room cohesiveness and overall player health. He assists players in acclimating to their roles, both on and off the field and in the Green Bay community.

Davis also oversees the Packers' wide range of programs designed to meet the needs of players and their families in today's NFL. The department provides a framework of assistance within which players and their immediate family members can address the pressures created by daily life and complicated by the demands of playing professional football. The program is also set up to get players prepared for life after football, and helps players seek educational ovocational opportunities. Davis also developed a mentorship program, aimed at joining Packers players with community leaders who serve as professional mentors.

Davis served as the Packers' long snapper for 11 seasons (1997-2007) and played in 167 straight games in a Green Bay uniform, the third-longest streak in team history. Only Brett Favre (255) and Forrest Gregg (187) played in more consecutive games for the Packers than Davis.

Davis worked three years for an opportunity to play in the NFL, spending two training camps with the N.Y. Jets

Now enjoying his 13th year in Green Bay, Mike Eayrs is the Packers' director of research and development.

Named to the newly created position within the Packers' organizational structure on March 9, 2001, Eayrs had spent the previous 16 seasons on the football staff of the Minnesota Vikings.

Eayrs manages databases and develops research reports for coaches, player personnel and management based on the analysis of statistical and tactical trends.

Having developed computer applications within football for 32 years, Eayrs (pronounced A-ers) is in his 29th season working in the NFL. He spent the first 16 seasons as director of research and development for the Vikings. During his Minnesota tenure, the club tallied 201 victories and appeared in three NFC Championship games (1987, '98 and 2000)

Also a 13-year coaching veteran, including 11 seasons at the college level, Eayrs earned a bachelor's degree in social studies and physical education from Augsburg College in Minneapolis, where he participated in football.

(1993-94), a year with the CFL's Baltimore Stallions (1995) and a preseason with Kansas City (1996). In 1996, Davis signed with Chicago and played all 16 games as the team's long snapper. Released by the Bears near the end of the '97 training camp, he signed with Green Bay in November and handled all long-snapping duties the last seven regular-season games, as well as all three playoff contests, including Super Bowl XXXII.

The 44-year-old Davis was named the Packers' player representative in 2005, which entails being a liaison between the players and the union and relaying proper information to the players regarding rights and benefits. Prior to 2005, he was an alternate player representative for five seasons.

Davis became the first player ever from Shippensburg (Pa.) University to play in the NFL and was named to the school's athletic hall of fame in October 2003. Accompanying his induction, he also became the first player to have his jersey retired by Shippensburg in any sport.

Davis resides in De Pere with his wife, Tara, his daughter, Marlee, 9, and his son, Kahli, 6. In his spare time, he enjoys RV camping, boating, listening to audio books and making an impact in the community.

He recently developed a program for at-risk youth called The Culture (Care, Understanding, Loyalty, Toughness, Utilization, Respect, Education). The program works with area school districts and their at-risk students through hands-on programs customized for the students with the assistance of the schools.

Davis earned his master's degree in applied leadership for teaching and learning from the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay in 2013.

MIKE EAYRS

DIRECTOR OF RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

The 62-year-old Eayrs began his coaching career in Winnebago, Minn., before becoming an assistant coach at the University of South Dakota two years later in 1974. He subsequently coached at the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse (1975-80), Mankato State University (1981-83) and Luther College (1984) before joining the Vikings. During his 11 seasons in the college ranks, Eayrs received four teaching excellence awards and his teams won five conference championships.

Born Jan. 30, 1951, in West Concord, Minn., Eayrs also holds a master's degree in physical education from the University of South Dakota and an educational doctorate in physical education and recreation management from the University of Oregon.

Eayrs and his wife, Mary Jo, reside in Green Bay and have three children: Matthew, 35, Elizabeth, 33, and Brian, 31; the couple has two granddaughters, 5-year-old Ashlyn and 1-year-old Mary. In his spare time, Eayrs is an avid reader and enjoys movies and fitness.

Now in his 13th season as Green Bay's video director, Bob Eckberg is enjoying his 32nd year with the Packers overall.

In 2001, Eckberg became only the second full-time video director in franchise history.

In his position, Eckberg oversees the production and editing of all game and practice tapes for the coaching and personnel staffs, as well as the regular exchange of video with other teams. In addition, he is in charge of the purchase and maintenance of the team's vast array of video equipment.

Eckberg directs the video department's taping of all workouts on prospective players and maintains a video library of all games for the previous three years. Additionally, the video staff compiles college player-profile tapes for use during NFL Draft preparation. Eckberg also attends and shoots video of prospective players at the NFL Scouting Combine, held every February in Indianapolis.

helped process all of the Packers' game film and in 1974 started shooting end-zone-angle coaching film for home games played in Green Bay and Milwaukee. In the early 1980s, videotape technology became standard in the television industry, and the Packers purchased the film-lab setup from WBAY and hired Eckberg as assistant video director in 1982. In 1986 the entire NFL switched to videotape technology and Eckberg assisted in the decisions of which video equipment to buy. Today, the video department is completely digital, allowing the players and coaches to watch film anywhere on their iPads, laptops and other mobile devices.

In addition to almost three decades of NFL games, Eckberg also has shot numerous postseason games, including the 1987 Hula Bowl, the 1982, 1987 and 2001 Senior Bowls, the 2005 Cactus Bowl, the 2008, 2012 and 2013 Pro Bowls, and Super Bowls XXXI, XXXII and XLV.

Born Oct. 10, 1950, in Green Bay, Eckberg is a 1969 graduate of the city's Premontre High School. He and his wife, Terri, also a Green Bay native, enjoy spending time with their children and grandchildren at their family cabin in northern Wisconsin.

Hired in advance of the team's offseason training program in 2010 as strength and conditioning assistant, Thadeus Jackson enters his fourth year with the Packers. His primary duties include designing, organizing and executing strength and conditioning procedures, as well as assisting with practice and the defensive staff on gamedays.

Prior to coming to the Packers, Jackson spent 2009 as the head strength and conditioning coach at Hinds Community College (Raymond, Miss.), the same school where he started his career. He developed all strength and conditioning and speed programs for the football team, and also assisted with the on-field coaching of the wide receivers.

Jackson started his career in sports at Hinds as a student athletic trainer from 2000-2001, working with the football, baseball, track and field, and basketball teams. He also assisted with the strength and conditioning program, specifically offseason workouts. During his first stint at Hinds, he worked with future lowa quarterback and 2002 Heisman Trophy runner-up Brad Banks.

Following the completion of his associate's degree at Hinds, Jackson moved on to the University of Alabama, where he served as a student athletic trainer from 2002-05. In 2005, he was hired as a strength and conditioning assistant at Alabama, spending the majority of his time with the football program. During his time at the school, Jackson worked with numerous future NFL players, including DeMeco Ryans (Houston/Philadelphia) and former Packers safety Charlie Peprah.

While still working at Alabama, Jackson got his first NFL experience, serving as an athletic training intern for the New England Patriots during the team's 2003 training camp.

Jackson left Alabama in 2007 to serve as a manager and training coordinator at Young Champions Academy in Waco, Texas. He developed and coordinated programs designed to teach children basic coordination, movement and sports-specific skills. He also made staff schedules, gave tours and assisted in marketing and advertising for the academy.

The 33-year-old Jackson holds a B.S. in science from the University of Alabama and is currently working toward his M.S. in strength and conditioning, which he started at Jackson State University (Jackson, Miss.).

Jackson attended New Hope High School in Columbus, Miss., starting three years and earning two letters as a defensive back. He was named team captain as a senior.

Born Sept. 1, 1980, in Columbus, Miss., Jackson is single and resides in Hobart, Wis. In his spare time, he enjoys cooking, hunting, fishing, traveling and working out. He is also an avid reader and enjoys books about leadership, health, and strength and conditioning.

Entering his 15th season with the Green Bay Packers, Matt Klein begins his eighth as football administration coordinator. Named to the position by Head Coach Mike McCarthy in January 2006, Klein, 37, previously served as assistant director of football administration. He originally joined the Packers as administrative assistant/football in 1999, when he first worked with McCarthy, who was then serving as the team's quarterbacks coach.

Klein is responsible for coordinating all facets of the team's daily operations, including the coaching staff's schedule. He serves as a point of communication in administering every Packers practice and team function, including offseason minicamps, organized team activities and the annual training camp. Additionally, Klein serves as the coaching staff's liaison on all matters relating to the athletic training, equipment, public relations and video departments.

Klein's responsibilities also include arranging team travel for the club's home and away games; his duties include coordinating air and ground transportation and securing hotel accommodations for the team, coaching staff and traveling support-staff members. In 2010, he served as part of a group of team staffers that helped plan the arrangements needed to move the organization's operations to North Texas for the week leading up to Super Bowl XLV.

Born Aug. 29, 1976, in Clintonville, Wis., Klein spent five seasons working with Barry Alvarez's football staff at the University of Wisconsin. He contributed to a program that earned berths in four bowls, including a victory in the Rose Bowl after the '98 season.

Klein left school early to accept a position with the Packers in 1999. He completed his coursework at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay and earned his bachelor's degree in marketing, with a minor in economics.

In his spare time, Klein enjoys golf, reading and spending time with his family. He also enjoys following his friend Matt Kenseth in the NASCAR Sprint Cup Series and tries to attend at least one race per year.

strength and conditioning assistant. His primary duties include designing, organizing and implementing strength and conditioning programs as well as speed and agility sessions, and providing recovery strategies and nutritional quidance.

Prior to coming to Green Bay, Woodfin had served as a performance specialist at Athletes' Performance in Los Angeles since 2007, where he trained various NFL, NBA, MLB and Olympic athletes. His main focus was NFL veterans in the offseason as well as college athletes preparing for the NFL Combine. Woodfin also gained experience training tactical athletes of the United States Special Forces while at Athletes' Performance.

Before that, Woodfin worked at his alma mater, the University of Alabama at Birmingham, as well as the University of Alabama, in 2007. At UAB, he assisted with the football, men's and women's basketball, and track and field programs. Woodfin was a volunteer assistant for Alabama's football team, assisting the head strength coach with the team's in-season program.

Woodfin got his start in the field as an intern at UAB in 2006 when he helped supervise the speed, agility and strength training for the football team. He also interned briefly at Athletes' Performance in '07.

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING ASSISTANT

As a player, Woodfin entered the NFL in April 2005 with the Packers as a non-drafted free agent linebacker out of UAB. He was released by Green Bay in the final roster reduction, but spent the first seven games of the season on the Packers' practice squad. Woodfin also spent time on the practice squads of New Orleans and Baltimore in '05, and was signed to the Ravens' active roster toward the end of the season. He was also with the Houston Texans briefly in the summer of 2007.

Woodfin was selected in the first round of the NFL Europe Draft by Frankfurt in 2007, and started for a Galaxy team that advanced to the World Bowl that season.

Woodfin finished his career at UAB as the school's alltime leading tackler with 372, and earned first-team All-Conference USA honors as a junior and senior. He recorded a then-school-record 149 tackles in 2003, topping the mark he had set in 2002 (120).

The 30-year-old Woodfin holds a B.S. in exercise science from UAB and is certified through the NSCA and USAW. He attended Prattville (Ala.) High School, where he earned allstate and all-metro honors as a senior. A four-time letterman, he also played fullback and tight end in high school.

Woodfin was born March 19, 1983, in Montgomery, Ala. He and his wife, Fawn, reside in Green Bay with their infant son, Valor. In his spare time, he enjoys hiking, mountain biking, golf, traveling, reading, working out and spending time with family and friends.

THE LOMBARDI SWEEP & ITS COMPANION PLAYS

Vince Lombardi was convinced that defenses had become so sophisticated that it was time for the offense to go back to the basics - to avoid frills and to carry out fundamentals well. These principles were borne out in his Green Bay sweep (top), with either Paul Hornung (5) or Jim Taylor (31) carrying the ball, following pulling guards Fuzzy Thurston (63) and Jerry Kramer (64) in a devastating end run.

The weak-side slant (lower left) and the companion play it set up (lower right) became the heart of the Packers' offense after defenses found ways to stop the sweep. Taylor "ran to daylight" wherever he found it.

PRO HIGHLIGHTS:

- ➤ Opened each of the team's 16 games (plus both playoff contests) for the second consecutive season in 2012, pushing his starting streak to 35 games (including playoffs). - ➤ Participated in all 1,088 plays for the Packers' defense in 2012, and, according to NFL participation statistics, was one of only four non-offensive linemen in the NFL to appear on 100 percent of his team's snaps, joining St. Louis LB James Laurinaitis, Indianapolis QB Andrew Luck and San Diego QB Philip Rivers.
- Started each of the team's 16 regular-season games in 2011, the first two at strong safety and the final 14 at free safety in place of an injured Nick Collins (neck), one of only two Green Bay defenders to start all 16 games (NT B.J. Raji).

- Despite the injury, continued to fill in the statistics sheet in first full season of action, posting a secondary-high 107 tackles (83 solo) and new career highs in passes defensed (14), interceptions (three), forced fumbles (two) and fumble recoveries (two). Also added his first career sack.
- ➤ Was one of only two players on the team (CB Charles Woodson) to record a sack, an interception, a fumble recovery and a forced fumble in 2011.

- ➤ Started the first four games at SS before his rookie campaign was cut short by a season-ending knee injury (ACL) sustained in Week 4. Became just the second Packers rookie to open the season as a starter at safety since Cecil in 1988, joining Collins (2005).
- ➤ Was selected by the Packers in the third round of the 2010 NFL Draft with the No. 71 overall pick. Green Bay traded up 15 spots from No. 86 to get him, surrendering that selection plus a fourth-round pick (No. 122 overall) to the Philadelphia Eagles, the third straight year GM Ted Thompson moved up in the draft to select a defensive player.

No. 4 in the NFL in opponent QB rating (76.8)...According to league participation information, he appeared on all 1,088 of the Packers' defensive snaps, one of only two defenders (Laurinaitis) and four non-offensive linemen in the NFL to achieve 100-percent participation in 2012...Vs. New Orleans (Sept. 30): Finished as the team's leading tackler with 13 stops (six solo) and a pass defensed. Made a key tackle for loss on a short pass from QB Drew Brees to RB Mark Ingram on a first-down play from the Green Bay 1-yard line in the third quarter. The subsequent two plays were incomplete passes and New Orleans was forced to attempt a FG on fourth down... Vs. Jacksonville (Oct. 28): Started at SS instead of his customary FS position due to Woodson's injury, responding with a strong, well-rounded performance. Finished with 11 tackles (nine solo), a sack, both a forced and recovered fumble, and three passes defensed during the game. Tallied the second sack of his career when he came free on a blitz early in the third quarter and dropped QB Blaine Gabbert for a 16-yard loss, also managing to jar the ball loose from Gabbert's grasp on their way to the ground. Earlier in the game, recovered a fumble when he pounced on a loose ball that LB Brad Jones punched free from RB Rashad Jennings...At Detroit (Nov. 18): Posted a secondary-high nine tackles (eight solo) and his career-high second sack of the season, throwing QB Matthew Stafford for a 9-yard loss in the first quarter... Vs. Minnesota (Dec. 2): Had one of his most impactful games as a pro, making two game-changing INTs inside the Green Bay 20-yard line in the third quarter with the Vikings threatening to score. According to the Elias Sports Bureau, he became the first Packer to record two INTs in the same game on plays that both started at the Green Bay 25-yard line or in since CB Doug Evans did so vs. Minnesota on Oct. 22, 1995. The first turnover came early in the second half when he intercepted a throw from QB Christian Ponder intended for WR Michael Jenkins in the end zone. Came back to haunt the Vikings again on the final play of the third quarter when he was matched against TE Kyle Rudolph, who he undercut on a deep crossing route toward the sideline, diving to pick off Ponder's pass at the Green Bay 13. The pair of INTs marked the second multi-INT game of his career (also at Chicago, Sept. 25, 2011). Finished the game with a secondary-leading nine tackles and three passes defensed... At Chicago (Dec. 16): Part of a pass defense that limited Chicago to just 107 net passing yards and held them without a third-down conversion during the game. Finished with eight tackles (all solo), a forced fumble and a pass defensed. Fumble came late in the second quarter after he punched the ball loose from WR Brandon Marshall near the line of scrimmage, but it was recovered by Bears T Jonathan Scott.

2011: Hit the ground running in training camp, guickly reclaiming his starting position at SS opposite the veteran Collins in the defensive backfield...Wound up starting all 16 games of the regular season, joining Raji as the only two defensive players to do so...Opened the first two games at SS, but played out the remaining 14 at FS following a seasonending neck injury to Collins in Week 2...Suffered an injury of his own when he sustained a fracture in his right hand during practice leading up to the team's Week 6 game vs. St. Louis...Played the ensuing six contests with a cast covering his hand, but still managed to set what were then career highs in every major statistical category...Led the secondary and finished second on the team with 107 tackles (83 solo) and posted 14 passes defensed, three INTs, two forced fumbles, two fumble recoveries and a sack...Joined Woodson as the only two players on the team to record a sack, an interception, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery during the season... Vs. New Orleans (Sept. 8): Started his first regular-season game since Week 4 of 2010 and picked up where he left off, posting a career-high and team-leading 14 tackles (nine solo) from the SS position. Most critical tackle came on the game's final play, when he came over the top of the first wave of defenders at the goal line and teamed with LB Clay Matthews to stop Ingram from advancing as time expired, preserving the 42-34 win...At Carolina (Sept. 18): Showed his dynamic array of skills throughout the game, finishing with three tackles (all solo), a sack, a forced fumble and an INT. Forced fumble came when he punched the ball out from WR Steve Smith following a 25-yard gain in the third quarter and it was recovered by Woodson. On the following possession, made his third career INT on an overthrown ball by former Atlanta high school foe, QB Cam Newton. Was in a deep zone behind WR Legedu Naanee, who was running to the post when the ball sailed beyond his hands and Burnett dove at the Carolina 49 to pick it off. First career sack came later when his coverage responsibility. TE Greg Olsen, stayed in to block and he chased a rolling Newton to the right sideline, dropping him for a 3-yard loss. Became the first Packers defender since Woodson (Nov. 26, 2009, at Detroit) to record a sack, INT and forced fumble in the same game...At Chicago (Sept. 25): Led the secondary and placed second on the defense with six tackles (all solo) and two passes defensed, posting the first two-INT game of his young career. Flashed his impressive range on the first INT in the first guarter when he came from the hashes to haul in a deep QB Jay Cutler pass intended for WR Roy Williams along the Chicago sideline. The second INT came early in the fourth quarter when Cutler sailed a throw to Williams and he reached back to make the INT. With the two INTs, became the first Packer since Cecil in 1988 to record four INTs in his first seven NFL games. Also teamed with Woodson to become the first Packers teammates to register two-INT games in back-to-back weeks since Cecil and CB Ron Pitts did so in Weeks 5-6 in 1988... Vs. St. Louis (Oct. 16): Suffered a fracture in his right hand at practice during the week and played the game with a club cast. Still managed to place third on the defense with 10 tackles (five solo) and posted his second forced fumble of the season. Lowered his shoulder into the back of RB Steven Jackson on a fourth-quarter carry, jarring the ball loose on impact, though it was recovered by St. Louis... Vs. Detroit (Jan. 1): Made six tackles (five solo) and added two passes defensed and a fumble recovery. Was involved in his fifth turnover play of the season when he picked up a fumble caused by LB Desmond Bishop in the first quarter and returned it 15 yards. The Green Bay offense would score a TD seven plays later... Vs. N.Y. Giants (NFC Divisional, Jan. 15): Made his playoff debut, finishing with five tackles (four solo), two passes defensed and an INT. The INT came in the second guarter after he'd dropped into a zone coverage and dove forward to catch an overthrown pass from QB Eli Manning intended for WR Hakeem Nicks, returning it 12 yards on what was the Giants' lone turnover of the game.

2010: Opened the first four games of the season at SS before sustaining a season-ending injury to his left knee in Week 4 vs. Detroit...Recorded 15 tackles (12 solo) and an interception in four games...Placed on injured reserve on Oct. 7...At Philadelphia (Sept. 12): Joined teammate Collins (2005) as the only Packers rookie safeties to start a season opener since Cecil in 1988. Recorded four tackles (three solo), tied for second among DBs, in his NFL debut. Part of a secondary that limited WRs Jeremy Maclin and DeSean Jackson to a combined eight catches for 68 yards. Along with CB Sam Shields, who started at nickel CB, became the first Green Bay rookie defensive-back tandem to start the season opener since the AFL-NFL merger in 1970. They were the first rookie duo to both start a regular-season game in the secondary since Collins and CB Mike Hawkins did so at Baltimore (Dec. 19, 2005)... Vs. Buffalo (Sept. 19): Posted his first career interception in the 34-7 win over his former college coach, Bills head coach Chan Gailey. On the Bills' opening drive of the fourth quarter, attacked the line of scrimmage before the snap and met WR Roscoe Parrish immediately as a Trent Edwards pass arrived, wrestling the ball away for his first career INT at the Green Bay 43. The turnover led to a five-play, 52-yard TD drive that put the Packers ahead, 34-7. Added four tackles (three solo) and a pass defensed, including a stop of RB Marshawn Lynch for no gain up the middle on the play before his INT... Vs. Detroit (Oct. 3): Posted three tackles (two solo) in 23 snaps, but suffered a torn ACL in his left knee, ending his debut season...2010 Draft: Selected by the Packers in the third round with the No. 71 overall pick. Green Bay traded up 15 spots, from No. 86, to get him by surrendering that selection plus a fourth-round pick (No. 122 overall) to the Philadelphia Eagles, the third straight year Thompson moved up in

GREEN BAY'S UNIQUE TRAINING-CAMP EXPERIENCE

The Packers are one of a growing number of teams who do not leave their regular-season practice facility during training camp.

But beyond practice and meetings, the team does use a college setting to sleep, bunking at St. Norbert College in De Pere, a 10-minute drive from Lambeau Field.

The Packers' 56-year training-camp relationship with St. Norbert, launched in 1958 by head coach Scooter McLean, is the longest in league history. The Vikings (Minnesota State-Mankato, 48 years) and Steelers (St. Vincent College, Latrobe, Pa., 47 years) are the only other teams with comparable training-camp tenures. The Packers' full list of training-camp sites, since Curly Lambeau launched the tradition in 1946:

1946-49 Rockwood Lodge (Bayshore area, north of Green Bay)

1950 Northland Hotel (Green Bay)

The ensuing possession resulted in a 47yard FG by Crosby... Vs. Arizona (Nov. 4): Keyed a special teams coverage effort that helped the Packers win the fieldposition battle by 263 yards during the game (579-316) and limited talented return man CB Patrick Peterson to just four punt returns for 19 yards (4.8 avg.). At Detroit (Nov. 18): Tied his career high with nine catches for 74 yards (8.2 avg.), highlighted by a game-winning 22-yard TD catch with 1:55 remaining that gave Green Bay a 21-20 lead in the 24-20 victory. The catch came on a corner route against CB Jacob Lacey as he hauled in the pass from QB Aaron Rodgers while avoiding S Ricardo Silva, who converged on the play just after the ball arrived...Vs. Detroit (Dec. 9): Notched his second 100yard receiving game of the season, matching the 102-yard effort he posted at Houston in Week 6. Totaled a team-high seven grabs for 102 yards (14.6 avg.)... At Chicago (Dec. 16): Posted his second straight 100-yard effort, racking up a career-best 115 yards on six catches (19.2 avg.). Did not find in the same season...Became the first Packer since Preston (1998) to register a punt return for a TD and a kickoff return for a score in the same season... Caught 25 passes for 375 yards (15.0 avg.) and a TD and rushed for 5 yards on two carries (2.5 avg.)... Missed the season finale vs. Detroit (Jan. 1) due to a groin injury he sustained the previous week vs. Chicago... Vs. New Orleans (Sept. 8): Exploded onto the NFL landscape with a 108-yard kickoff return for a TD in the third quarter, which matched Patriots CB Ellis Hobbs' return (Sept. 9, 2007) for the longest kickoff return in NFL history. Nearly lost his footing near the Green Bay 20 after spinning out of a hit by CB Leigh Torrence, but was held up by teammate John Kuhn, returned to his feet and went the rest of the way untouched for the score. Marked the Packers' first kickoff return TD since Allen Rossum's 92-varder vs. Indianapolis (Nov. 19, 2000) and bested Carmichael's previous franchise record (106 yards) for the longest kickoff return in team annals. At 21 years, 17 days old, became the youngest NFL player to return a kickoff for a TD since the Chicago Bears' Andy Livingston did so on Dec. 13, 1964 (20 years, 53 days). The kickoff score marked Cobb's second TD of the game as he made his way into the end zone in the first quarter on a 32-yard catch-and run from Rodgers. Became the first Packer since WR Javon Walker (Sept. 8, 2002) to catch a TD pass in his pro debut. Became just the second player in NFL history to catch a TD pass and score on a kickoff return in his pro debut, joining Detroit's Bill Bowman (vs. Chicago, Sept. 26, 1954). Became the first Packer to post both in a game since Wuert Engelmann on Oct. 25, 1931, vs. Providence... Vs. Denver (Oct. 2): Finished with two receptions for a season-high 75 yards (37.5 avg.), highlighted by a career-long 61-yard grab late in the third quarter. It marked the longest reception by a Green Bay rookie since WR James Jones' 79-yard TD at Denver on Oct. 29, 2007... Vs. Minnesota (Nov. 14): Made another splash on national television, this one coming on Monday Night Football as he returned the first punt of the game 80 yards for a TD. The play made him the first rookie in team history to post a punt return for a score and a kickoff return for a TD in the same season and marked the first punt return for a TD by a Packer since CB Will Blackmon's 65-yarder at Minnesota on Nov. 9, 2008. Added a 55-yard kickoff return in the third guarter to set up a TD as he became the first NFL player since Kansas City's Dante Hall (Dec. 8, 2002) to post an 80-plus-yard punt return and a 55-plus-yard kickoff return in the same game and the first Packer to do so since Williams (Nov. 2, 1969)... At Kansas City (Dec. 18): Saw increased time on offense with Jennings sidelined with a knee injury and led the team with a season-high four catches for 53 yards (13.3 avg.)...2011 Draft: Was selected by the Packers in the second round (No. 64 overall). Became the Packers' highest draft pick from Kentucky since QB Babe Parilli was selected No. 4 overall in 1952. Was the first player drafted by Green Bay from Kentucky since DT Bill Bushong (seventh round) in 1972.

COLLEGE: Played in 36 games with 33 starts, catching 144 passes for 1,661 yards (11.5 avg.) and 13 TDs and rushing for 1,313 yards and 22 TDs on 228 carries (5.8 avg.)... Completed 62 of 122 passes for 689 yards and five TDs with five INTs...Averaged 9.8 yards on 63 punt returns with two TDs and posted a 24.6-yard average on 44 career kickoff returns...Holds the Kentucky career record for TDs with 37 while ranking fourth in career scoring with 226 points...Was a teammate of Packers P Tim Masthay with the Wildcats...

A SEASON FOR ALL INTENTS AND PURPOSES

Wide receiver Randall Cobb burst onto the scene in 2011 when he earned NFC Pro Bowl alternate status as a kick returner and was named to the prestigious Pro Football WeeklyJPFWA All-Rookie team. He ranked No. 2 in the NFL in kickoff return average (27.7) and became the first Packers rookie to return both a kickoff and a punt for a TD in the same season. A versatile threat with untapped potential on offense, the question quickly became, what would he do for an encore?

Cobb answered that question emphatically in 2012, being voted the first alternate for the Pro Bowl as a return man and proving himself to be one of the most dynamic weapons in the league. He paired his prowess as a returner with an expanded role on offense that saw him post a team-high 80 catches, en route to becoming the first player in NFL history to have more than 900-plus receiving yards (954) and 900-plus kickoff return yards (964) in the same season.

Combining those two totals with his 292 yards on punt returns and an additional 132 yards on carries out of the backfield, he set the franchise record for all-purpose yardage in Week 16 vs. Tennessee.

A look at the top single-season all-purpose yardage totals in franchise history:

Vs. Chicago (Sept. 13): Converted each of his three FG attempts, highlighted by a 54-yarder in the fourth quarter that marked the longest FG by a Green Bay kicker in Lambeau Field history (previous mark was 53 yards by several others). Also had a hand in the game's most memorable play, a fake FG late in the first half that resulted in a 27-yard TD pass from P Tim Masthay to TE Tom Crabtree. Successfully executed a surprise onside kick that followed the Packers' first TD in the first quarter. Bounced a high kick that was bobbled by CB Trumaine Johnson and was eventually recovered by LB Jamari Lattimore at the St. Louis 49. Capped the ensuing possession with a 47-yard field goal... At Detroit (Nov. 18): Missed his first two FG attempts, but recovered to make a 39-yarder with 19 seconds remaining in the game to extend Green Bay's lead to 24-20 and force Detroit to attempt a desperation TD drive in the waning moments... - > Spent two different stints on the active roster and three on the practice squad in 2010, appearing in the final five regularseason contests and all four postseason games for the club.
- > Saw time in a total of eight games in what was his first participating season, mostly on special teams, but also played some inside and outside linebacker, with one start.
- First came to Green Bay in 2009, spending the final four weeks of the season plus the playoffs on the practice squad. Originally entered the NFL as a non-drafted free agent with Minnesota and spent parts of the '09 preseason with both the Vikinas and Detroit Lions.

2012 SEASON: Played in a career-high 16 games (plus both playoff contests), appearing exclusively on special teams...Placed second on the club with a career-high 13 special teams tackles on the coverage units, one of four players on the team to finish with double digits in that respect...Part of a punt coverage team that ranked No. 5 in the NFL in opponent punt return average (7.5) and No. 3 in the league in punt return yards allowed (179)...At Indianapolis (Oct. 7): Helped lead the special teams, notching a tackle in punt coverage as part of a unit that limited Indianapolis to just two returns for 13 yards (6.5 avg.) on seven kicks... Vs. Jacksonville (Oct. 28): Recorded a tackle on kickoff coverage. Was also part of the punt return/rush unit that blocked P Bryan Anger's secondquarter attempt, allowing LB Dezman Moses to recover the ball in the end zone. On the play, rushed off the left edge, teaming with LB Jamari Lattimore to occupy blockers and freeing up CB Davon House to streak into the backfield to make the block. Marked the Packers' first punt block since the 2003 season and the first they had returned for a TD since 1990... At Minnesota (Dec. 30): Had one tackle as a member of the kickoff team, his 13th of the season. Also downed P Tim Masthay's second-quarter punt at the Vikings' 11-yard line, Masthay's franchise-record-tying (since 1976) 30th of the season to have landed inside the opponent's 20-yard line.

2011: A member of the active roster for the entire season, the versatile LB saw the most playing time of his career and responded with career highs in every major statistical category...Appeared in 11 games, and made two starts at the "Buck" LB position after regular starter Hawk suffered a calf injury in the first half of the team's Week 12 game at Detroit (Nov. 24)...Filled in admirably for Hawk, posting all of his 21 tackles (15 solo), two interceptions, three passes defensed and a forced fumble in the ensuing two-plus games...Also added four special teams tackles during the season...At Detroit

AT A GLANCE ...

 Settled into a regular role as a core special teams player in 2012, appearing in all 16 games and posting a career-high 13 tackles on the coverage units.

- 1 Saw the most extended playing time of his career from scrimmage in 2011 when he appeared in 11 games and made two starts as an injury replacement for LB A.J. Hawk.
- Set new career highs in every major defensive category in 2011, including the first two interceptions of his career over a threegame span in Weeks 12-14.
- Originally entered the NFL in 2009 as a non-drafted rookie with Minnesota, and also spent time in the '09 preseason with Detroit.
- A four-year letterman at Boston College, he played in 52 college games and helped the Eagles win consecutive Atlantic Coast Conference Atlantic Division titles.
- Was a teammate of Packers DT B.J. Raji at Boston College.

(Nov. 24): Saw his most extended playing time of the season to that point, coming on in relief of an injured Hawk in the second quarter and playing the entire second half. Was the last man standing after fellow reserve LB D.J. Smith had already replaced an injured Desmond Bishop, who suffered a calf injury of his own. Finished the game with four tackles (three solo) and made an outstanding play to record his first career INT in the third quarter. On the play, QB Matthew Stafford tried to lead TE Brandon Pettigrew with a throw over Francois' head, but the LB adjusted and made a leaping INT at the Green Bay 34-yard line. The Packers' offense would score a TD on the first play of the ensuing possession on a 65-yard TD pass from QB Aaron Rodgers to WR James Jones that extended the lead to 21-0...At N.Y. Giants (Dec. 4): Started his second career game and first of 2011 as both Bishop and Hawk were inactive with calf injuries. Finished with five tackles (four solo, one for loss) and a pass defensed... Vs. Oakland (Dec. 11): Made his second consecutive start in the absence of Hawk and tied for the team lead with 12 tackles (eight solo), also causing two turnover plays with his second INT in three games and his first career forced fumble that was returned for a TD. Made the INT just before halftime when he covered TE Kevin Boss deep on a post pattern, leaping to intercept the high throw from QB Carson Palmer in the end zone and downing it for a touchback. Forced fumble came on Oakland's second possession of the third quarter, after Palmer had completed a short throw over the middle to FB Marcel Reece. Francois came up to tackle the ball-carrier, punching the ball out with his left hand. The ball traveled several yards backwards before being picked up by LB Erik Walden, who returned it 5 yards for a TD to extend the Packers' lead to 43-7.

2010: Went back and forth between the practice squad and active roster throughout the season, ultimately playing in eight games with one start... Was waived in the final roster reduction at the end of training camp on Sept. 4 and signed to the practice squad the next day... Was released from the practice squad on Sept. 15, then re-signed to the practice squad on Sept. 23... Was signed to the active roster on Oct. 13 after S Derrick Martin was placed on injured reserve... Was waived

FRANCOIS

Vs. N.Y. Giants (Dec. 26): Started at ROLB due to injuries to Frank Zombo (knee) and Walden (quad), though Walden was active. Recorded two assisted tackles and provided pressure with three QB hits...At Philadelphia (NFC Wild Card, Jan. 9): Had one special teams tackle...At Atlanta (NFC Divisional, Jan. 15): Had two special teams tackles...At Chicago (NFC Championship, Jan. 23): Saw extended playing time on defense in the second half for Walden (ankle) and had three tackles (two solo).

SUPER BOWL XLV: MOST-WATCHED TELEVISION PROGRAM AT THE TIME

The Packers' 31-25 defeat of the AFC's Pittsburgh Steelers in Super Bowl XLV was historic for several reasons. For the franchise, it marked a fourth Super Bowl title and record 13th world championship.

For the FOX television network, it marked a record outing for viewership. According to The Nielsen Company, Super Bowl XLV drew a total audience of 162.9 million viewers nationally, making it the most-watched show in United States television history at the time, and it wasn't even close. That total surpassed the record from the previous year's Indianapolis Colts-New Orleans Saints Super Bowl XLIV by approximately 9.5 million viewers.

The game averaged 111 million viewers and was the fourth consecutive record-setting audience for the Super Bowl. In 2013, a new record was set in the XLVII matchup between the Baltimore Ravens and San Francisco 49ers. In terms of total audience, Super Bowls account for the 22 most-watched programs in television history.

A look at the top five most-watched television programs of all-time:

Date	Event	Total Viewers

Jack Yuenger first dubbed Green Bay "Titletown" after the team's 1961 NFL championship, a 37-0 triumph over the New York Giants. Yuenger, Green Bay Press-Gazette advertising manager, printed the city's new nickname on celebratory signs for fan distribution. The '61 title, the Packers' sixth of an NFL-record 13 world championships — and first under Vince Lombardi — was earned in Green Bay, the first championship game ever played in the city.

RECENT STUDY SHOWS PACKERS' ECONOMIC IMPACT ON THE COMMUNITY

As the only franchise in professional sports to be owned and sustained by its fans, most people know how much the community has meant and continues to mean to the Green Bay Packers. But one question has gone long unanswered: "What do the Packers mean to the community?" To answer that very question from a quantifiable and tangible economic standpoint, the Green Bay/Brown County Professional Football Stadium District commissioned what is regarded as the most comprehensive economic impact study of the last 10 years on the subject when it contracted the firm AECOM Economics in 2009. Below are some of the findings and highlights of the report:

-Found the total economic impact of the Packers and the renovated Lambeau Field on the community to be an estimated $281.5 million in 2009. That total included the existence of 2,560 jobs and more than $124 million in earnings.

-The Packers' 10 home exhibition and regular-season games in 2009 had a $123.3 million impact on Brown County. For each game, the team generates approximately $12.3 million in economic impact to the community.

-When including the days visitors are in Green Bay to attend summer's training camp, the impact increases by another $7.4 million.

-Showed that in 2009, the total economic impact attributed to spending by the Packers and Lambeau Field was $141 million, including the creation of 760 jobs and the generation of $80.6 million in wages.

-The fiscal impact of taxes to local and state governments courtesy of both training camp and Packers games was an estimated $8.7 million.

This year, the New South End will open, which includes the addition of approximately 7,000 new seats. The project employed 1,600 workers over the past two years and generated more than $70 million in wages. The anticipated additional spending impact of the added seating is expected to be approximately $11 million each year. In addition to the newly added seats, the Packers announced in January the second phase of the Lambeau Field renovations, which will bring significant changes to the Atrium. Included in the project are new homes for the Pro Shop, restaurant and the Packers Hall of Fame, among other changes. The second phase, to be completed by June 2015, is expected to employ approximately 1,500 workers and provide more than $60 million in wages.

LINEBACKER - OHIO STATE

Eighth NFL Season Eighth Packers Season

Ht: 6-1 Wt: 247 • Born: January 6, 1984 • NFL Games Played/Started: 110/107 • Acquired: D1-06

PRO HIGHLIGHTS:

- > Productive, assignment-sure defender entering his eighth season, having played in 110 of a possible 112 regular-season games with 107 starts in his first seven years following selection as a top-five draft pick.
- ➤ Has posted 872 tackles (622 solo), 13½ sacks, eight interceptions, 34 passes defensed, two forced fumbles and four fumble recoveries during his career, and has registered 100-plus tackles in six of his seven seasons in Green Bay.
- ➤ The lone constant in an ILB group beset by injuries in 2012, he started all 16 games for the first time since 2008 and led the defense with 142 tackles (105 solo), the second-highest total of his career. Also recorded three sacks, his most since 2008.
- ➤ Has either led the team or finished second in tackles in six of his seven seasons in Green Bay and his 110 regular-season games played as a Packer is tied for the most on the current roster with CB Jarrett Bush.
- > Started all 14 games in which he appeared in 2011, missing the first two contests of his career following a calf injury suffered in the first half of the team's Week 12 game at Detroit.
- Finished third on the team with 104 tackles (73 solo), in addition to posting 1½ sacks and five passes defensed. Was also voted by teammates to serve as a playoff captain for the second consecutive season.
- ➤ Enjoyed one of his best seasons in 2010 as he took on a bigger role than in previous years, assuming the lead communicator duties between the coaches and the huddle in the absence of LB Nick Barnett, who missed the final 12 games with a wrist injury.
- ➤ With injuries to Barnett and veteran LB Brandon Chillar, rarely came off the field in 2010, and wound up leading the team with 134 tackles (97 solo) and posting a career-high three interceptions, which tied him for the NFL lead among linebackers.
- ➤ Was named a Pro Bowl alternate in 2010, but was credited with his first career selection because he would have been added to the all-star roster as an emergency injury replacement had the Packers not been preparing for Super Bowl XLV.
- ➤ Despite seeing his snap count go down in '09 compared to his first four seasons because of the Packers' frequent use of sub-packages, was one of only 10 linebackers in the NFL to post at least 85 tackles, two interceptions and a sack.
- ➤ In 2008, played through chest and groin injuries to lead the Packers in tackles for the second time in his career after moving from weak-side to middle linebacker the second half of the season to replace the injured Barnett.
- ➤ His team-leading 155 tackles in 2006 were the second most ever recorded by a Packers' rookie (Rich Wingo, 166 in 1979), and his 112 solo tackles ranked third in the league.
- Finished third in The Associated Press Defensive Rookie of the Year voting and earned a spot on the Pro Football Weekly/ Pro Football Writers Association All-Rookie Team.
- The first linebacker taken in the 2006 draft after being a consensus All-American each of his final two seasons at Ohio State. One of only two linebackers taken among the top five selections over a period of nine NFL drafts (1998-2006), joining LaVar Arrington (No. 2 overall, 2000).

CAREER TRANSACTIONS

- 2006 Selected by Green Bay Packers in first round (fifth overall) of '06 NFL Draft, April 29...Signed first contract, July 29.
- 2011 Released by Packers, March 2...Re-signed by Packers, March 3.

HISTORY OF THE SACK STATISTIC

In 1947, the NFL implemented a new team statistic, yards lost attempting to pass. The new category allowed the league to separate gross yards passing from net yards, to more accurately reflect a team's passing performance. Net passing yards included yards lost by backs tackled on passing plays.

In 1963, Seymour Siwoff, president of the league's official statistical company, the Elias Sports Bureau, made a suggestion. Recognizing the "yards lost attempting to pass" figure needed a complement, he argued for a new category: number of times losing yards attempting to pass. The league agreed, and one of the NFL's top executives, Jim Kensil, first coined the term "Sack," which is a dark-ages word, meaning to plunder a captured town. Kensil, who handled NFL public relations among other responsibilities, popularized the term in his stories and publicity materials.

In 1982, convinced by member team PR directors (many of whom were convinced by their players), Elias and the NFL agreed to make individual sacks an official number. New rules were written, such as only two players can share in a sack.

Today, it's arguably the game's most popular defensive stat. Siwoff, whose bureau also tracks official numbers for MLB, the NBA and the NHL, still has the final word on every challenged sack, spending Tuesday or Wednesday in the film room at the league office.

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 187 • Born: July 25, 1988 • NFL Games Played/Started: 31/10 • Acquired: FA-11

PRO HIGHLIGHTS:

- ➤ Appeared in all 16 games in 2012, seeing his role expanded when he became the primary injury replacement for veteran Charles Woodson (collarbone) and went on to start the final nine regular-season games at free safety.
- > Registered the first defensive statistics of his career, finishing with 46 tackles (41 solo), six passes defensed and an INT that he returned for a touchdown.
- The INT came in the third quarter of a division showdown at Detroit (Nov. 18), and his 72-yard return for a score marked the longest INT return for a TD by a Packer since S Aaron Rouse's 99-yarder vs. Indianapolis, Oct. 19, 2008.
- ➤ Also factored on special teams for the second consecutive season, tallying a career-high 10 coverage tackles, a total that was tied for third on the club.
- Originally signed by Green Bay as a non-drafted free agent on July 28, 2011, and became one of 10 rookies and three non-drafted free agents to make the club's opening-day roster that season
- ➤ Was a healthy scratch for the season opener vs. New Orleans (Sept. 8), but played in each of the 15 regular-season games that followed, becoming the team's No. 3 safety after veteran Nick Collins suffered a season-ending neck injury in Week 2.

Appeared on 27 defensive plays, finishing with three solo tackles. Was also a key part of the well-executed surprise onside kick the Packers called late in the first quarter. DEFENSIVE TACKLE - TEXAS A&M

Fifth NFL Season Fifth Packers Season

Ht: 6-3 Wt: 325 • Born: February 21, 1983 • NFL Games Played/Started: 48/39 • Acquired: D6a-06

PRO HIGHLIGHTS:

- ➤ Veteran defensive lineman who returns to the club following a three-year hiatus due to an NFL-issued suspension for violation of the league's substance-abuse policy. Had his suspension lifted by the commissioner on March 4, 2013, and rejoined the team in early June for the conclusion of the offseason program.
- > Started all 16 games for the second straight season in 2009, making the move from tackle to end in defensive coordinator Dom Capers' 3-4 scheme.
- ➤ Led the defensive line with 75 tackles (33 solo), along with a career-high 11 passes defensed that season.
- ➤ His 11 passes defensed in 2009 set a franchise record for defensive linemen (since team began recording the stat in 1980), eclipsing the mark of teammate Cullen Jenkins (nine in 2007), and was the most by an NFL defensive lineman in 2009.
- ➤ With a blocked field goal, an interception and a fumble recovery in '09, became the first Packer since CB Doug Evans in 1993 to record all three in the same season. One of only six NFL players to block a field goal in both the 2008 and 2009 seasons.
- Continued to show his run-stopping ability in role at left end as he was part of the Packers' top-ranked rushing defense in the NFL in '09 (a franchise-record 83.3 yards per game), the first time in club history that the team was No. 1 in the league against the run.
- Started all 16 games at defensive tackle in 2008 and posted a career-best 82 tackles (50 solo). Also recorded the team's first blocked field goal in three years vs. Indianapolis (Oct. 19, 2008) that season.
- ➤ In 2007, had season cut short by shoulder injury after starting seven of that season's first 10 games, alternating with Corey Williams, having landed starting interior spot alongside veteran Ryan Pickett following an impressive training camp.
- ➤ Had come on strong late in his rookie 2006 campaign, catching the coaching staff's eye with his work in practice, prompting him to be active for the final four contests after playing in just two of the first 12 games.
- ➤ In 48 career games over four seasons, has 192 tackles (100 solo) with two sacks, four fumble recoveries and 22 passes defensed.
- > Posted three batted passes in his first NFL start, the '07 season opener, vs. Philadelphia (Sept. 9).
- ➤ Was the first of the Packers' two selections in the sixth round (183rd overall) in 2006, missed the team's first postdraft minicamp because of an ankle injury, the likely reason he wasn't drafted earlier.

2010 - 2012 SEASONS: Suspended by the commissioner for violating the league's substance-abuse policy.

2009 SEASON: Started all 16 games for the second straight season and led the defensive line with 75 tackles (33 solo)...Also started team's playoff game...Led the line with a career-high 11 passes defensed, the most by a Packers defensive lineman since

AT A GLANCE ...

At St. Louis (Sept. 27): Came up the middle to block Josh Brown's 48-yard FG attempt with his left hand on the Rams' first possession; the block was the first by a Packer since Jolly's block of an Adam Vinatieri 45-yard attempt vs. Indianapolis in Week 7 in 2008. Recovered a fumble by QB Marc Bulger on the next series to set up a Mason Crosby FG; LB Aaron Kampman forced the fumble on a sack and Jolly made a diving catch...Vs. Posted his only sack of the season when he brought Cutler down for a 4-yard loss early in the fourth quarter, but picked up a 15-yard face-mask penalty on the play as he attempted to strip the ball... Vs. Seattle (Dec. 27): Led the line with five tackles (four solo), including a stop of RB Julius Jones for a 2-yard loss on third-and-2 from the Green Bay 7; Seahawks were forced to settle for a FG. Posted two passes defensed, the first coming when he tipped a Matt Hasselbeck pass intended for Jones with his right hand, nearly gathering the ball in for an INT as he fell to the ground. The pass breakup was his 10th of the season, giving him the record for Green Bay defensive linemen...At Arizona (NFC Wild Card, Jan. 10): Started and led the defensive line with four tackles (three solo).

2008: Started all 16 games for first time as a pro at RDT and made a career-high 82 tackles (50 solo), which ranked second on the defensive line...Tied for the lead on the line with five passes defensed...At Tampa Bay (Sept. 28): Led the defensive line with six tackles (five solo), including a stop of RB Earnest Graham for a 1-yard loss in the fourth quarter... Philadelphia (Sept. 9): Made first NFL start in season opener, batting away a teamigh three passes and making five tackles (one solo)...At Minnesota (Sept. 30): Picked up a Vikings fumble and returned it 19 yards; Favre threw his record-setting 421st career TD pass to Greg Jennings on the following drive to give Green Bay a 7-0 lead...Vs. Washington (Oct. 14): Started and posted seven tackles (four solo), stopping Clinton Portis for a 2-yard loss in the first quarter...At Kansas City (Nov. 4): Provided a key block on Charles Woodson's 46-yard INT TD return in the fourth quarter, blasting RB Priest Holmes out of the way...Vs. Returned to the game, but exited for good before halftime and missed the rest of the season.

2006: Sixth-round pick played in six games and was inactive for the other 10... Was inactive for a pair of five-game stretches, sandwiched around two games played in Weeks 7-8...Then played in each of the final four contests (the Packers were 6-0 with him in uniform)...Played from scrimmage in five games (73 snaps), collecting four tackles (three solo) and breaking up one pass...At Miami (Oct. 22): Played his first pro contest and saw 20 plays on defense, coming away with his first career tackle... Vs. Arizona (Oct. 29): Played season-high 21 snaps and made a solo tackle... At Chicago (Dec. 31): Had a pass defensed and two stops (one solo)...2006 Draft: First of the Packers' two selections in the sixth round (183rd overall). Green Bay acquired the choice from St. Louis with a fourth-round pick (109) - obtained earlier in the draft from the Eagles - for a third-round choice (93). The Packers originally picked up that third-round pick (93) from Atlanta after swapping with the Falcons the second-round choice obtained from Denver in the Javon Walker trade on Day 1 of the draft.

- > Posted the team's lone sack in the Divisional playoff contest vs. the N.Y. Giants, and also became the first Packer since Cletidus Hunt in 2002 to block a FG attempt in a postseason game.
- > Started five of the first six games in 2010, and posted 37 tackles (20 solo), before aggravating a shoulder injury in Week 7 that had first bothered him in training camp. Was placed on injured reserve on Oct. 27.
- > Took over the starting job in 2009 during Week 12 of his rookie season after veteran Aaron Kampman sustained a season-ending knee injury the previous game.
- ➤ Started seven games and became only the fifth Packer (since 1982) to record four sacks as a rookie, with all of them coming in the final five games. Was one of only six NFL rookies in 2009 to post four or more sacks, joined in that group by teammate Clay Matthews.

IMPOSTER

During the 1923 season, the Green Bay Press-Gazette published a major story announcing the Packers had signed Jack "Dollie" Gray, an end who'd received All-America honors at Princeton.

According to participation charts kept by George Calhoun, Gray started his only game played - a 24-3 loss to the Racine Legion at Bellevue Park.

Made suspicious by Gray's performance, Curly Lambeau checked the player's background, only to discover he was an imposter. Lambeau quickly gave the player - whoever he was - his walking papers.

However, because he did play in a game, the Packers still list him on their all-time roster.

WHERE TITLETOWN MEETS TINSELTOWN

The 2008 release of Leatherheads, starring George Clooney and Renee Zellweger, was inspired by the tales of Johnny "Blood" McNally, who spent seven seasons in Green Bay. A member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, Johnny "Blood" led the Packers to four championships (1929, '30, '31 and '36).

- Actor Matthew McConaughey's father was drafted by the Packers. The team selected James (Jim) McConaughey, an end, out of the University of Houston in the 27th round (319th overall) of the '53 draft. The elder McConaughey didn't see action in a league game.
- Alan Autry, who played Captain Bubba Skinner in the hit series In the Heat of the Night, also was drafted by Green Bay. GM/Head Coach Bart Starr drafted him in the 12th round (296th overall) of the 1975 draft. During training camp, Autry met director Robert Altman, who would give him a small part in the 1978 film Remember My Name. Autry's legal name was Carlos Brown (including his 1975-76 Packers tenure) until 1981, when he changed it while filming Southern Comfort, after meeting his biological father. Autry now owns a production company, and produced and starred in his first full-length film, The Legend of Jake Kincaid.
- The Packers were the subject of a 1937 MGM/UA movie, Pigskin Champions (left, Don Hutson and Arnie Herber collect autographs from one of their "co-stars," Pete Smith, while in Hollywood).

- Brett Favre made a cameo in the comedy There's Something About Mary (Cameron Diaz, Ben Stiller), as Mary's mysterious boyfriend.
- Gary Knafelc, Lambeau Field's former P.A. announcer who also caught the game-winning touchdown in the stadium's inaugural game, was an actor as well. Using the screen name Gary Kincaid, he had roles in Palm Springs Weekend (1963) among other films.
- Ray Nitschke had roles in The Longest Yard (1974), starring Burt Reynolds, and Head (1968).
- ■Offensive lineman Matt Willig appeared in all 16 games for the Packers during the 1998 season. Since his playing career ended in 2005, Willig has become a successful actor, having appeared in a number of popular television shows including Dexter, Chuck and Cold Case, and has also landed a handful of roles in various films.
- ■Former Packers wide receiver Greg Jennings showed his versatility when he made a guest appearance on the CBS television series Criminal Minds in May 2010. Jennings' brief speaking role saw him play a Behavioral Analysis Unit technician.
- Donald Driver, who recently finished his 14-year Packers career, won the 14th season of ABC's hit television show Dancing with the Stars in May 2012. He partnered with Peta Murgatroyd to defeat 11 other pairs and become the third football player to win the Mirror Ball Trophy.

Also registered 11 tackles on special teams...At St. Louis (Sept. 27): Rushed for a TD and caught a TD pass, becoming the first Packers FB to do both in a game since Henderson (Nov. 29, 1998, vs. Philadelphia). Scored from 1 yard out on a dive play in the second quarter and caught a play-action pass in the right flat from Rodgers in the fourth quarter and took it in for the 10-yard score ... At Cleveland (Oct. 25): Helped clear the way for Grant's season-high 148 yards on 27 carries (5.5 avg.), the second-best regular-season performance of Grant's career, and helped the team post a season-high 202 yards on 41 carries (4.9 avg.)... Vs. San Francisco (Nov. 22): Saw time on special teams, playing with a club cast on his broken hand sustained the previous week vs. Dallas...At Pittsburgh (Dec. 20): Inactive for the first time in his career, ending streak of 54 straight games played (45 in Green Bay)... At Arizona (NFC Wild Card, Jan. 10): Scored on a 1-yard plunge early in the fourth quarter to even the game at 38.

- His 31 starts over the past two seasons are the most by a Green Bay offensive lineman.
- Has started 34 games in his first four seasons as a pro, opening contests at three different positions (27 at LG, five at RT, two at LT).
- Served as reserve at tackle and guard in 2010 while also seeing limited action on defense as an emergency lineman in shortyardage situations.
- Started games at both tackle spots in 2009 and became the first Packers rookie to start consecutive games at left tackle since Chad Clifton in 2000.
- Began his college career as a defensive lineman, but converted to the offensive line as a sophomore and started 36 straight games (10 at RT, 26 at LT) over his final three years.
- Was just the third draft pick in franchise history from Eastern Michigan, and the first in 37 years (LB Dave Pureifory, 1972).

TDs with no INTs on 30-of-37 passing... Vs. Arizona (Nov. 4): Started at his customary LG spot but shifted out to RT in the second quarter after regular starter Bryan Bulaga sustained a hip injury. Remained at RT for the remainder of the game and was part of a run-blocking unit that pounded out 176 yards on 39 attempts (4.5 avg.), the most rushing yards by the Packers since Oct. 25, 2009, at Cleveland (202 yards)...At Detroit (Nov. 18): Started at RT for the first time on the season, his first of three consecutive starts at the position... Tennessee (Dec. 23): Helped block for a unit that produced a season-high 460 yards and 55 points, the most points recorded by the Packers since they posted the same number in a 55-14 win vs. Tampa Bay on Oct. 2, 1983. PACKERS SPRING MINICAMP HISTORY

Dan Devine coached collegiately for 16 years before Green Bay hired him in 1971. Shortly after his arrival, he implemented a college tradition: spring practice. That April, Devine took his new players to the University of Texas at Arlington and the Packers' first minicamp, where he got his first look at No. 1 draft choice John Brockington. In 1977, the Packers' revolutionary indoor facility allowed spring practice in Green Bay. However, the team migrated to Arizona in '94, so the Don Hutson Center could be finished.

- ➤ Tied Sean Landeta's (1998) franchise record by landing a career-high 30 punts inside the 20-yard line in 2012 (No. 7 in the NFL).
- ➤ Also spearheaded a stingy punting unit that ranked No. 5 in the NFL in opponent return average (7.5) in 2012 and allowed the third-fewest return yards in the league with 179, the second-lowest total in franchise history (113 in 2007).
- ➤ After clearing the career 150-punt mark in 2012, his 44.2yard gross average now qualifies for No. 1 in franchise history.

- ➤ Became the first punter in franchise history to land four punts inside the 20-yard line in consecutive games when he did so in Weeks 12 and 13 in 2011.
- Finished 2011 in a similar fashion to his run at the end of 2010, posting a gross average of 48.1 yards and a net average of 43.6, while dropping 19 punts inside the 20-yard line over the final 10 games of the season.
- ➤ Posted a 37.6-yard net average in 2010, which matched what was then the best mark by a Green Bay punter since 1976 (Jon Ryan, 2007) and placed 25 punts inside the 20 on the season, the most by a Packer since Josh Bidwell registered 26 in 2002.
- ➤ Was especially productive over the final nine games of the regular season in 2010, ranking No. 3 in the NFL in net average (39.9), No. 9 in gross average (44.2), and tied for No. 4 in punts inside the 20 (20) over that span.
- Carried his production into the playoffs as he tied the franchise playoff record (since 1976) with five punts inside the 20 at Chicago in the NFC Championship Game, matching the previous mark set by Craig Hentrich at San Francisco (Jan. 11, 1998).
- Signed with the Packers on Jan. 14, 2010, and battled Australian Chris Bryan for the punting position during training camp, earning the job with a strong showing in the Family Night scrimmage as well as his 41.5-yard gross average and 38.0-yard net on four punts during his first preseason.
- ➤ Entered the NFL as a non-drafted free agent with the Colts in 2009 and went through the offseason program and the early portion of training camp with the club before being released Aug. 11 of that year.

2012 SEASON: Showed continued improvement and consistency, refining specific areas of his game and turning in another solid season...Punted 70 times for 3,043 yards (43.5 avg., 38.9 net), landing a career-high and franchise-reord-tying 30 inside the 20-yard line (Landeta, 1998)...During the season, had the 150th punt of his career, hitting the qualifying thresh-

AT A GLANCE ...

- Posted a 37.6-yard net average in 2010, which matched the best mark by a Packers punter since 1976 (Jon Ryan, 2007). Went on to improve upon that number, upping it to 38.6 in 2011 and then 38.9 in 2012, twice establishing a new franchise record.
- In addition to a successful season in the net-punting department, he also set a new franchise record with a 45.6-yard gross average in 2011, eclipsing the 45.0-yard mark set by Craig Hentrich in 1997. After clearing the career 150-punt mark in 2012, his 44.2yard gross average now qualifies for No. 1 in franchise history.
- Placed a career-high 30 punts inside the 20-yard line in 2012, tying Sean Landeta's franchise record set in 1998.
- In the 2010 NFC Championship Game at Chicago, tied the franchise playoff record (since 1976) with five punts inside the 20, matching Hentrich's mark set on Jan. 11, 1998, at San Francisco.

old to make his career punting average of 44.2 yards rank No. 1 in franchise history...Also led a punt team that allowed the third-fewest return yards in the NFL (179) and ranked No. 5 in opponent return average (7.5)...The 179 yards allowed were the second fewest in franchise history (113 in 2007)...Had just five of his attempts go into the end zone for touchbacks, tying for the second fewest in club annals for a player with 70-plus punts in a season...Also completed a shovel pass on a fake FG attempt in Week 2 vs. Chicago, a play that went for a 27-yard TD...Had one tackle on special teams...Vs. San Francisco (Sept. 9): Opened the season with a difference-making performance against the 49ers. Punted six times for 289 yards (48.6 avg., 41.5 net), landing four of them inside the 20-yard line and three of them inside the 10. Limited the 49ers to just one return and left them with an average starting position at their own 16-yard line following his six attempts... Vs. Chicago (Sept. 13): Followed up the opener with a memorable performance in a Thursday night contest against the division rival. Punted five times for 238 yards (47.6 avg., 42.0 net), landing three inside the 20-yard line and limiting WR Devin Hester to just 8 yards on two returns (4.0 avg.). Highlight play of his night came from his role as the team's holder for placements. Flipped a shovel pass to TE Tom Crabtree on a fake FG attempt late in the second guarter that went for a 27-yard TD to convert a fourth-and-26. Was credited with his first career TD pass, becoming the first Green Bay punter to throw one since Ron Widby threw a 68-yarder to WR Dave Davis at Houston on Nov. 19, 1972... Vs. Arizona (Nov. 4): Finished with six punts for 255 yards (42.5 avg., 36.0 net), landing three inside the 20-yard line. Contributed to a fieldposition battle that the Packers won by 263 yards (579-316). Saw a fourth-quarter punt muffed by CB Patrick Peterson at the Arizona 10-yard line that was recovered by CB Jarrett Bush at the 2...At Minnesota (Dec. 30): Punted three times for 128 yards (42.7 avg., 30.7 net). Had his final punt in the second quarter downed by LB Robert Francois at the Vikings' 11-yard line, his franchise-record-tying 30th of the season to be downed inside the opponent's 20...Vs. Minnesota (NFC Wild Card, Jan. 5): Tied his postseason career high with eight punts, landing three inside the 20-yard line and forcing five fair catches... Helped cause a turnover with his kick early in the fourth quarter that was muffed by CB Marcus Sherels and recovered by LB Dezman Moses. Also held for K Mason Crosby's 20-yard FG in the second quarter, a successful conversion that set a new franchise record, as it was his sixth consecutive make in the playoffs (all of which were held by Masthay).

2011: Punted 55 times for 2,506 yards, setting the franchise record for gross average (45.6) and what was then a career high in net average (38.6), and landing 23 of his kicks inside the opponent's 20-yard line...Bested the previous gross-punting mark of 45.0 set by Craig Hentrich in 1997 and topped the net-average record of 37.6 he had shared with Ryan (2007) after 2010... Similar to his inaugural campaign, grew stronger as the season wore on and was especially effective in the final 10 games when he posted averages of 48.1 (gross) and 43.6 (net), dropping 19 of his 34 attempts inside the 20...Also became the first punter in team history to have back-to-back games with four or more punts inside the 20, doing so in Weeks 12 and 13...Served as the team's holder for the second consecutive season, helping Crosby to a career-high 85.7 field goal percentage... Vs. St. Louis (Oct. 16): Punted five times for 222 yards (44.4 avg.), including a then-career-long 67-yarder in the fourth quarter that was the longest by a Green Bay player since Ryan's 72-yarder vs. Detroit on Dec. 30, 2007. Recorded his lone special teams tackle of the season when he took down WR Austin Pettis after a 39-yard return early in the fourth quarter... At Minnesota (Oct. 23): Set career highs in both gross (59.3) and net (55.3) averages (min. three attempts), landing three punts inside the 20-yard line, helping to limit Minnesota to an average starting position at their own 20 on 11 possessions. Net average was the highest by a Packer with three or more attempts since the NFL began tracking net punting in 1976. Was also the highest gross average by a Green Bay punter with three or more attempts since Don Chandler's 59.7 mark on Oct. 10, 1965. Most critical of his kicks was a 64-yarder that came late in the fourth guarter when the Packers punted from their own 34-yard line holding a narrow 33-27 advantage. Had to rush to get the ball off as it was nearly blocked by DE Everson Griffen, booming the kick deep into Vikings territory and getting a roll that took it to the Minnesota 2-yard line. Also held for Crosby's franchise-record 58-yard FG in the third quarter... Vs. Tampa Bay (Nov. 20): Had three punts for 163 yards (54.3 avg., 42.3 net), landing one inside the 20. Also recorded his first career carry when LB Jacob Cutrera came free on a rush, forcing Masthay to pull the ball down and run. Cutrera punched the ball out, but Masthay recovered it in stride and advanced 6 yards for a first down... At Detroit (Nov. 24): Punted five times for 207 yards (41.4) avg., 37.8 net), dropping a season-high four punts inside the Detroit 20-yard line, a key factor in the Packers winning the game's field-position battle by more than 150 yards. Average starting position for the Lions following his five punts was their own 16-yard line and he was instrumental in limiting return man WR Stefan Logan to just one return that resulted in a 2-yard loss...At N.Y. Giants (Dec. 4): Earned NFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors for the second time in his career after punting five times for 221 yards (44.2 avg., 44.2 net), landing four of his kicks inside the 20-vard line for the second consecutive week, and not allowing the Giants a single return. Became the first punter in franchise history to drop four or more punts inside the 20 in back-to-back games since the statistic began being recorded in 1976. The Giants' average starting position following his five punts was at their own 13-yard line and their possessions that followed his punts ended with an INT, three punts of their own and a FG. Marked his second career game at MetLife Stadium and he won NFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors following both of them...At Kansas City (Dec. 18): Punted five times for 267 yards (53.4 avg., 46.2 net), dropping three inside the 20 and seeing his career-long 71-yard kick come in the second quarter. The gross and net averages were both career highs (min. four attempts) and ranked No. 4 and No. 3 respectively in franchise history (since 1976).

2010: Handled all punting duties during the regular season, registering a 43.9-yard gross average and a 37.6-yard net average...His net average tied the best mark by a Packers punter (since 1976) to that point, matching Ryan's net average in 2007...Also served as the holder for all placements and field goals...Dropped 25 punts inside the 20 on the season, the most by a Green Bay punter since Hentrich's 26 in 2002... After getting off to a slow start, was one of the most effective punters in the league over the second half of the season...Ranked No. 3 in the NFL in net average (39.9), No. 9 in gross average (44.2), and tied for No. 4 in punts inside the 20 (20) over the final nine contests...Posted a 40.2-yard gross average and a 34.7-yard net average on 18 punts in the postseason...At Philadelphia (Sept. 12): Posted a 41.5-yard average with a net average of 38.0 on four punts in his NFL debut. Helped limit WR DeSean Jackson to just 14 yards on a pair of returns...At N.Y. Jets (Oct. 31): Dropped five punts inside the 20, tying David Beverly (vs. Chicago, Oct. 28, 1978) for the single-game franchise record (since 1976) on his way to earning NFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors. Became just the second punter in franchise history to receive that recognition, joining Hentrich (Week 11, 1994, vs. N.Y. Jets). Despite punting eight times on the afternoon, the Jets did not record any punt-return yardage, the first time the Packers had allowed no return yards since vs. Tampa Bay (Nov. 16, 2003). The Jets' best starting field position following a punt was their own 23, which proved critical in the Packers' 9-0 victory...At Detroit (Dec. 12): Posted then-career highs (min. four attempts) with a 50.5-yard gross avg. and a net avg. of 43.4. Placed three punts inside the 20 and booted a career-long 62-yarder in the first quarter. Became the first punter in franchise history to post a 50-yard average in a game with eight or more attempts. Posted four 50-yard punts on the afternoon, becoming the first to do so since Ryan recorded the same number at Minnesota (Nov. 12, 2006)... Vs. Chicago (Jan. 2): With a playoff berth on the line, had a strong showing in challenging conditions against the league's best return man in Hester. Dropped four of his eight punts inside the 20 and recorded a 36.6-yard net avg. Limited Hester to just two returns, with neither going beyond the Chicago 30. Repeatedly pinned the Bears deep in their own territory, highlighted by two kicks in the fourth quarter that were downed at the Chicago 3 and 2, respectively. Combined with his effort at the N.Y. Jets in Week 8, became the first punter in franchise history to post four-plus punts inside the 20 in two games in a season...At Atlanta (NFC Divisional, Jan. 15): Was limited to holding on PATs and FGs. It marked the first time in franchise history that the Packers did not punt during a postseason contest...At Chicago (NFC Championship, Jan. 23): A key contributor in the victory, punting eight times with a gross average of 41.8 and a net average of 34.5. Limited Hester to a 5.3-yard return average and a long return of 11 yards on three returns. His 65-yard punt in the third quarter was a franchise postseason record. Biggest punt came with 3:07 remaining and the Packers holding a 21-14 lead. From the Green Bay 24, drilled a 58-yard punt to the Chicago 18 that Hester returned 11 yards before being brought down by CB Brandon Underwood at the Bears' 29 for a 47-yard net...Vs. Pittsburgh (Super Bowl XLV, Feb. 6): Punted six times, registering a 40.5-yard gross average and a 36.3-yard net average. Helped limit the Steelers to just 5 total punt return yards.

2012 SEASON: Made the offseason transition back to his original position of ROLB and flourished in his return to what is the blindside for most QBs...Was on track to have what would have been his most prolific statistical season when a hamstring injury sustained in the second half of a Week 10 contest vs. Arizona sidelined him for the ensuing four games, the most extended hiatus of his career...Finished the regular season having played in 12 games (all starts), posting 60 tackles (45 solo), 13 sacks, four passes defensed and a forced fumble...Selected to the Pro Bowl, becoming the first player in franchise history to be named to the all-star game in each of his first four seasons in the league...Was also named a second-team All-Pro by The Associated Press...The sack total was the second highest of his career and ranked fifth in the NFL and second in the NFC, despite his missing a month of action...Marked his third double-digit sack season, placing him third all-time in team history in that category behind DEs Kabeer Gbaja-Biamila and Reggie White (four)...Also started both playoff games and added three sacks, bringing his career total to 7½, trailing only White for the most in franchise postseason history (eight)... Vs. San Francisco (Sept. 9): Finished the season opener with four tackles (three solo) and 21/2 sacks. Beat LT Joe Staley twice for sacks of QB Alex Smith during the game, the seventh multi-sack outing of his career... Vs. Chicago (Sept. 13): Had one of the most dominant outings of his career, finishing with seven tackles (six solo) and a career-high 31/2 sacks and a pass defensed. Combined with his efforts in Week 1, the six sacks matched his personal best for the most sacks in a two-game span in his career (also had six in Weeks 1-2 of 2010). The 31/2 sacks were the most in a game by a Green Bay defender since DE Kabeer Gbaja-Biamila had four at Chicago on Jan. 2, 2005, and the yardage total (29) was the second highest of his career and helped result in a net passing total of 74 yards for the Bears... At Houston (Oct. 14): Did not trigger the sack column but was a menace in the run game and was a key part of a front that limited Pro Bowl RB Arian Foster to a career-low 1.7-yard average (min. 15 att.) on 17 carries for 29 yards. Had back-to-back plays to thwart a drive in the first quarter, first beating LT Duane Brown to trip up Foster for a 1-yard loss in the backfield and then exploding between C and LG to force QB Matt Schaub into a throwaway on third down that forced a punt... Vs. Arizona (Nov. 4): Started the game and appeared on 35 plays before suffering a hamstring injury in the third quarter. Fell awkwardly while wrapping up QB John Skelton and limped off following the play and did not return... At Chicago (Dec. 16): Returned to action after more than a month off and made his presence felt almost immediately. Finished with seven tackles (all solo), two sacks and a pass defensed. Made both of his sacks on stunts through the middle of the Bears' protection unit. Also was active in the run game, twice tackling RB Matt Forté behind the line of scrimmage for losses... Vs. Minnesota (NFC Wild Card, Jan. 5): Delivered another difference-making performance in the postseason, setting the tone for a defense that dominated the Vikings for the first three quarters as the Packers mounted a 24-3 lead. Finished with five tackles (four solo), two sacks, six QB hits and a forced fumble that he also recovered. Beat T Matt Kalil around the edge on Minnesota's first drive of the third quarter, punching the ball free from QB Joe Webb and quickly recovering it. Also helped cause another turnover later in the quarter as he diagnosed a play-action bootleg to his side, breaking down on Webb in the open field and forcing a wild throw that was intercepted by CB Sam Shields downfield.

2011: Voted a Pro Bowl starter for the NFC for the second consecutive season and became the first Packer since RB John Brockington (1971-73) to be named to the all-star game in each of his first three seasons in the NFL...Was again one of two OLBs to earn All-NFC honors from Pro Football Weekly/PFWA... Started each of the first 15 games before being rested in the regular-season finale with the No. 1 seed in the playoffs secured... For the season, tallied 69 tackles (49 solo), six sacks and three forced fumbles...Marked his third straight season leading the team in sacks and despite the lower total, his combined 38½ QB knockdowns and hurries still ranked No. 4 in the NFL according to STATS LLC...Also showed continued development in pass coverage, registering new career highs with nine passes defensed and three interceptions, one of which he returned for a TD...The TD return came at the N.Y. Giants in Week 13 when he intercepted QB Eli Manning and raced 38 yards down the sideline, becoming the first player in franchise history to score a defensive TD in each of his first three seasons in the league... Also joined Miami's Kevin Burnett as the only two NFL LBs to return an interception for a TD in both 2010 and 2011... Vs. New Orleans (Sept. 8): Recorded five tackles (three solo, one for loss), and was an integral part of a short-yardage defensive stand to help preserve a victory in the season opener for the second consecutive year. On the game's final play, got clear of T Charles Brown and fought off a block from TE David Thomas to lay the initial hit on RB Mark Ingram at the goal line as time expired to preserve the 42-34 win... Vs. St. Louis (Oct. 16): Credited with two tackles (one solo), a career-high three passes defensed and his second sack of the season in the team's 24-3 win. Registered his first sack since Week 2 on the Rams' final drive of the game after he lined up on the inside and darted past LG Jacob Bell to drop Bradford for a 7-vard loss that resulted in a turnover on downs and allowed Green Bay to run out the remaining time... Vs. Minnesota (Nov. 14): Posted six tackles (five solo) and a season-high two sacks, the sixth multi-sack game of his career. Sacked QB Christian Ponder on the Vikings' opening drive of the game, also jarring the ball loose, but it was recovered by Minnesota. Second sack came in the third quarter when he ripped his way past RT Phil Loadholt and chased Ponder before slamming him down for an 11-yard loss on a drive that ended with a turnover on downs...At N.Y. Giants (Dec. 4): Had arguably his best all-around performance of the season. Finished with three tackles (two solo) and forced two turnovers with a sack-fumble and his then-career-high second INT. Became the first Packers LB since Nick Barnett in 2003 to record an INT in back-to-back games when he intercepted Manning on the first play of the second quarter, returning it 38 yards for a TD, his second career INT-TD. On the play, stepped in front of Manning's pass intended for RB Ahmad Bradshaw in the right flat, catching the ball in stride and going untouched down the sideline to give Green Bay its first lead, 14-10. With the return, became the first player in franchise history to score a defensive TD (fumble or INT return) in each of his first three seasons in the league and tied Mike Douglass for first place in franchise history for TD returns among LBs. Later in the quarter, recorded his sixth sack of the season when he fought past RT Kareem McKenzie and hit Manning, forcing the ball out as the QB cocked his arm back to release it. NT B.J. Raji picked up the ball and upon review, it was ruled a fumble, robbing the Giants of yet another possession. With the sack, tied LB Tony Bennett's team record for most sacks in his first three seasons with 291/2... At Kansas City (Dec. 18): Matched his career high with nine tackles (six solo) and a QB hit. Stayed home on an end-around to RB Dexter McCluster in the second quarter, forcing the elusive RB to the inside where LB D.J. Smith and DE C.J. Wilson tackled him for a 1-vard loss. Also maintained close coverage on McCluster on a third-down red-zone play in the fourth guarter, tackling him at the Packers' 2-yard line to force a FG...Vs. Chicago (Dec. 25): Once again made a series of impactful plays during the game, finishing with eight tackles (six solo, one for loss), a QB hit, a forced fumble, and added to his career high with his third INT of the season. Tackle for loss and forced fumble came when he blew up a

A FRANCHISE FIRST

Packers LB Clay Matthews has enjoyed a meteoric rise since Green Bay traded up to select him as the second of two first-round picks in the 2009 NFL Draft. A one-time collegiate walk-on, he has developed into one of the most dynamic and impactful defensive players in the league. The early portion of Matthews' career in Green Bay has been defined by an instinctive, all-out style that features a knack for game-changing plays.

His popularity amongst fans is equaled by the respect he garners from players, coaches and media alike, and it is that combination that has made him a recurring candidate for several postseason awards.

In 2009, Matthews became the first Green Bay rookie since WR James Lofton in 1978 to be selected to the Pro Bowl, and has gone on to be voted to the all-star team every year since. In doing so, he became the first player in franchise history to earn the honor in each of his first four seasons in the league and is one of only six active players to have achieved the feat.

The Packers cashed in on the turnover with an 8-yard TD pass from QB Aaron Rodgers to WR Greg Jennings eight plays later, extending their lead to 28-17, ultimately the difference in the game. EARNING THE HONOR

While the Packers achieved the ultimate team success on the field in 2010, winning the franchise's 13th world championship and fourth Super Bowl, there were also a number of individual accolades that accompanied the collective accomplishment.

When the initial voting for the Pro Bowl was released, five Green Bay players (T Chad Clifton, S Nick Collins, WR Greg Jennings, LB Clay Matthews and CB Charles Woodson) were named to the NFC's all-star team. Following the addition of three alternates (WR Donald Driver, LB A.J. Hawk, and CB Tramon Williams), the Packers' list grew to eight players. The eight selections tied for the second most in team history and was the largest representation the organization had on the Pro Bowl roster since it sent nine in 1967.

Fortunately, though, none of the Packers' selections ever appeared in the game (played Jan. 30, 2011), as they were preoccupied with preparations for the upcoming Super Bowl XLV on Feb. 6.

A look at the most-represented Packers teams in the Pro Bowl since its inception in 1951:

PACKERS HELMETS

- The Packers added their first and only helmet logo in 1961, the Lombardi "G" emblem. Since, the club has made no significant changes to its helmet.
- Only two other teams have made no significant changes (including color alterations) since the "G" first went on the Packers helmet in '61. The Baltimore/ Indianapolis Colts have sported their blue horseshoe since 1959. The Cleveland Browns shifted to "bald" helmets in 1960. The Pittsburgh Steelers introduced their unique helmets, with one bald side, the year after the Packers added the "G", in 1962.
- Designed for Lombardi by equipment manager Dad Braisher, the "G" is one of the most recognizable team marks in sports, borrowed by several colleges and high schools, including Grambling State and the University of Georgia.
- The actual raised helmet "G" oval measures 3.125 inches at its tallest point, and 5 inches at its widest point. The thick decal is applied to each Riddell helmet by current equipment manager Red Batty and his staff.
- The middle white stripe is exactly 1 inch wide; the two green stripes are each 11/16 of an inch.

LAMBEAU'S TWIN FLAGS

The twin American flags above Lambeau Field enter their 10th season in 2013. The impressively sized flags, 15 feet by 25 feet, were raised May 28, 2004, on Memorial Day

Located on top of the stadium's indoor club seats on the north end of the facility, the flags are the culmination of the desire to improve Lambeau Field's honoring of America, an effort first discussed in Fall 2003, at the end of the stadium's 32-month renovation.

"Once the Lambeau Field redevelopment project was complete and we had our first games in the stadium, we realized the old flag and flagpole appeared a bit small compared to the larger size of the new facility," said Packers then-CEO Bob Harlan.

"We needed something more prominent to appropriately honor our country and decided to upgrade that component of the stadium. We also heard from a few fans that they had trouble locating the flag during the anthem, so this will definitely help in that area, too.

'The new, larger flags are a great way to honor America and the timing worked out for it to be done for Memorial Day weekend."

The flags are positioned atop 72-foot high flagpoles which are stationed on top of the northeast and northwest corners of the stadium, above the club seats. All told, the flags are flying at 180 feet above ground.

Once the plans were set, the team worked with Kocken and Associates, of De Pere, Wis., on the design and engineering of the project. A major challenge of the design was ensuring both the structure and the flagpoles themselves could withstand the extreme wind load from the two large flags at that height.

Physical preparation for the new flagpoles began months prior with structural work, including reinforcing the area above the ceiling and on the roof with additional steel and concrete to support the extra load

The two flags fly 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and are illuminated by spotlights at night.

THE USS GREEN BAY

The U.S. Navy on July 15, 2006, christened a 684-foot warship, and dubbed it the USS Green Bay at a shipyard in the New Orleans area.

Constructed in Avondale, La., at a shipyard owned by Northrop Grumman, it is the second Navy vessel to be called the Green Bay, following a small gunboat that patrolled the seas during the Vietnam era.

The newest Green Bay, used to carry troops for rapid deployment, launch and recovery, will become a significant part of the U.S. amphibious fleet.

Former Green Bay Packers quarterback Bart Starr appeared in a video that was played at the July 15, 2006, christening ceremony. And Nancy Croy, principal at Green Bay's Lombardi Middle School – named after Starr's legendary coach Vince Lombardi – traveled to attend the christening as part of the school's relationship with the Navy.

Members of the Packers' front office, including President and CEO Mark Murphy, toured the ship in November 2008 during the team's road trip to New Orleans for a game against the Saints.

Commissioned Jan. 24, 2009, it can carry 360 Navy sailors and as many as 800 Marines. The ship is assigned to the U.S. Pacific Fleet; its home home port is at the naval base in San Diego, Calif.

Flashed the play-making ability that made him a promising prospect when healthy his rookie season, appearing on 32 plays and recording a sack and three QB hits during the game. The sack came on a stunt with Matthews in the second quarter, when he went around the outside and corralled QB Andrew Luck for a 9-vard loss, moving Indianapolis from Green Bay's 26-yard line back to the 35 where an ultimate 53-yard FG attempt was unsuccessful. Sack was the second of his career and first since Oct. 10, 2010, at Washington... Vs. The sack was bittersweet as he came free off the left side and delivered a jarring hit to QB Andrew Luck, knocking the ball loose on what was nitially an 8-yard loss. The play was flagged as officials ruled that he led with the crown of his helmet on the hit and a 15-yard unneccessary roughness penalty was enforced, nullifying the fumble and lost yardage...At Houston (Oct. 14): Started and appeared on 10 plays, making a solo tackle. Part of a defense that held opponents to under 90 net rushing yards a league-high 12 times on the season, also a franchise record.
- Was designated as the team's franchise player on Feb. 24, 2010, but agreed to a contract extension with the Packers on March 12, 2010.
- ➤ Though many of his contributions don't always show up on the stat sheet, does have 464 tackles (224 solo) in 103 regularseason games in Green Bay over seven seasons, posting five or more tackles 48 times (52 including playoffs). Now has 872 tackles (419 solo) with 9½ sacks and 34 passes defensed for his career.

2012 SEASON: Showed impressive durability by starting all 16 games in the trenches in what was his 12th season... Marked the first time since 2008 that he'd played every game and he was the only Packers DL to do so in 2012...Ranked fourth on the club with 75 tackles (27 solo), his highest total since 2008, which also marked the last season before the defense switched to a 3-4 alignment...Also added a pass defensed... At Seattle (Sept. 24): Turned in an excellent performance, finishing with a season-high-tying 10 tackles (four solo) and helping to spearhead a defense that allowed just 91 yards in the second half and only 238 total yards during the game...At Houston (Oct. 14): Started at NT in the absence an injured Raji (ankle) and appeared on 32 plays, leading a run defense that limited the Texans to just 99 yards on 31 carries (3.2 avg.). Recorded three tackles (two solo) as part of the effort that held Pro Bowl RB Arian Foster to a career-low (min. 15 attempts) 1.7-yard average on 17 carries (29 yards)... Vs. Jacksonville (Oct. 28): Started at LDE with Raji making his return to the lineup. Made seven tackles (two solo) as part of a run defense that limited Jacksonville to just 62 yards on 20 carries (3.1 avg.) during the game... At Detroit (Nov. 18): A recipient of one of the defensive game balls after turning in a well-rounded performance that saw him finish with three tackles (one solo) and a pair of key pressures that resulted in big plays. The first came when he shot between C and RG and flushed QB Matthew Stafford outside the pocket where he was sacked for a 9-yard loss by S Morgan Burnett. The second saw him walk back RG Stephen Peterman into Stafford's face late in the second quarter, forcing a hurried throw that was intercepted by CB Casey Hayward...Vs. Minnesota (NFC Wild Card, Jan. 5): Started his 11th career postseason contest and appeared on 33 plays, posting three tackles (one solo). All three of his tackles came in the run game, where he and the defensive line set the tone for a unit that allowed standout RB Adrian Peterson just 99 yards on 22 attempts (4.5 avg.), his second-lowest yardage total since Week 7 of the regular season.

2011: Started all 14 games in which he appeared, leading the defensive line with 54 tackles (24 solo)...Also added two passes defensed...Opened the first 13 games of the season at what was listed as LDE, but played various techniques and was predominantly lined up over the center as one of two defensive linemen in the team's nickel defense...Suffered a concussion vs. Oakland in Week 14 and was sidelined for the next two games...Returned to open the season finale and divisional playoff game...Vs. New Orleans (Sept. 8): Had a productive day, leading the defensive line with six tackles (two solo) and was part of the swarm at the goal line that stopped RB Mark Ingram's progress and sealed the win as time expired. On the play, shot underneath RT Zach Strief, clearing a lane for LB Clay Matthews and Burnett to apply the hit to Ingram...At Chicago (Sept. 25): Started and finished with one tackle, but made significant, if not statistically glamorous, contributions, occupying blockers up front as the run defense yielded just 13 yards on 12 carries (1.1 avg.), the fourth-lowest singlegame total in franchise history. Lone tackle went for a loss when he lined up over the nose and shed C Roberto Garza, moving laterally down the line of scrimmage to drop RB Matt Forté for a 2-yard loss...At Atlanta (Oct. 9): Posted five tackles (one solo) and was an integral part in helping to limit the effectiveness of standout RB Michael Turner, who finished with 56 yards on his 16 carries (3.5 avg.), including just 20 rushing yards in the second half...At Detroit (Nov. 24): Made four tackles (one solo) and also recorded a pass defensed when he was on the front end of one of the game's most impactful turnover plays in the second guarter. On the play, lined up at LDE, first engaging a block, but then sliding laterally into a zone coverage where he read Stafford and got his hand on a thrown ball, deflecting it high into the air for Matthews to intercept it. The Green Bay offense would score the game's first points two plays later... Vs. Oakland (Dec. 11): Finished with four tackles (three solo), but suffered a concussion during the game and did not return... Vs. Detroit (Jan. 1): Returned to the field after missing the previous two games and tallied three tackles (one solo)... Vs. N.Y. Giants (NFC Divisional, Jan. 15): Led the defensive line with seven tackles (three solo, one for loss) and also added a pressure.

2010: Appeared in 14 games with 12 starts at LDE, making the transition to end after working at NT in '09...Registered 53 tackles (27 solo), a sack, a pass defensed and a fumble recovery...Started all four postseason contests and led the defensive line with 14 tackles (five solo) in the playoffs...At Philadelphia (Sept. 12): Posted four tackles (two solo), seeing significant action as one of only three healthy defensive linemen for the bulk of the game...At Chicago (Sept. 27): Recorded four tackles (one solo), a QB hit and a pass defensed. Helped limit the Bears to just 77 yards rushing, with 37 of those yards coming on three scrambles by QB Jay Cutler...Vs. Detroit

(Oct. 3): Registered four tackles (three solo) and a fumble recovery, falling on RB Jahvid Best's fumble forced by DE Mike Neal in the second quarter. The turnover led to a TE Jermichael Finley TD catch three plays later. The fumble recovery was his first since his first season in Green Bay (at Chicago, Dec. 31, 2006)...At Washington (Oct. 10): Started, but sustained a sprained ankle on the Redskins' second play from scrimmage. Did not return, and was inactive the following week vs. Miami (Oct. 17)... Vs. Minnesota (Oct. 24): Returned to the starting lineup, but aggravated the injury seven plays into the game and did not return. Sidelined once more the next week at the N.Y. Jets (Oct. 31) and re-aggravated the ankle again vs. Dallas (Nov. 7)...At Minnesota (Nov. 21): After bye week, returned to the field and had a pair of tackles (one solo)... At Detroit (Dec. 12): Recorded a season-high 10 tackles (seven solo), his highest total since posting a career-high 12 at Seattle (Nov. 27, 2006). Forced QB Drew Stanton out of bounds for a 2-yard sack late in the first half... Vs. N.Y. Giants (Dec. 26): Registered five tackles (one solo) as the defense limited the Giants to just 90 yards on 21 carries, one of only three times on the season that New York didn't rush for 100 yards...At Chicago (NFC Championship, Jan. 23): Recorded five tackles (two solo) as the unit limited the Bears to just 83 yards rushing and a 7.7 conversion rate (1 of 13) on third down... Vs. Pittsburgh (Super Bowl XLV, Feb. 6): Finished with four tackles (two solo) while also having a hand in one of the game's biggest plays with the Steelers trailing 21-17 but in Green Bay territory. On the first play of the fourth quarter, slipped inside of pulling C Doug Legursky and dove into RB Rashard Mendenhall's left hip. Matthews converged on the right side, jarring the ball loose, and the fumble was recovered by LB Desmond Bishop. The Packers would score a TD eight plays later to extend their lead to 28-17.

2009: Played in 13 games with nine starts at NT; only nonstarts came when team opened up in nickel...Also played in team's playoff contest...Part of top-ranked rushing defense in the NFL (a franchise-best 83.3 yards per game), the first time in franchise history that the team was No. 1 against the run... Posted 47 tackles (25 solo) and a pass defensed...Inactive for three games late in the season due to a hamstring injury... At St. Louis (Sept. 27): Led the line with six tackles (two solo), including a stop of RB Steven Jackson for a 2-yard loss on first-quarter run...At Minnesota (Oct. 5): Didn't start as team opened in nickel, but led the defensive line with seasonhigh seven tackles (six solo). Hawk, stopped Peterson for a 1-yard loss on fourth-and-1 from Green Bay's 7 midway through the second guarter... Vs. Baltimore (Dec. 7): Posted four tackles (two solo) and a QB hit, but sustained a hamstring injury with under nine minutes remaining in the game and did not return. Injury would go on to sideline him for three of final four regular-season games...At Arizona (NFC Wild Card, Jan. 10): Didn't start as team opened in nickel, but registered two tackles (one solo).

PACKERS CHEERLEADERS

The Green Bay Packers once had official cheerleaders, but after the 1988 season the decision was made not to reinstate them. While some Packers fans supported the official cheerleaders, many were opposed or indifferent, at best.

Helping the Packers make the decision to discontinue the program was a television news poll in which fans were generally split over whether they wanted the program to continue.

Bob Harlan, then the Packers' executive vice president of administration, was quoted in an official release Feb. 7, 1989, saying: "In general terms, the poll disclosed there were as many fans who expressed opposition to the return of the cheerleaders as there were those in favor of restoring them. On that basis, we felt the appropriate decision at this time would be to continue without them."

At this time, there are no plans to return to official cheerleaders.

For several years, the team has used cheering squads from two local schools, St. Norbert College in De Pere, Wis., and the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay. Compared to other stadiums, though, they are not as much a part of the gameday experience at Lambeau Field.

2008: Started all 16 games for the fourth time in five seasons, opening up every game at LDT...Was third on the defensive line with 81 tackles (38 solo), the sixth time in his career he posted 80-plus stops...Tied for lead on the line with five passes defensed...Posted 11/2 sacks, his most in a single season as a Packer...Vs. Minnesota (Sept. 8): Returned to the starting lineup after missing entire preseason with hamstring injury suffered just prior to the start of training camp... Vs. Atlanta (Oct. 5): Led defensive line with seven tackles (four solo), including a stop of Turner for a 3-yard loss in the first quarter...At Seattle (Oct. 12): Registered three tackles (one solo), but left game midway through third quarter with triceps injury and did not return...Vs. Indianapolis (Oct. 19): Started after being limited all week in practice with triceps injury, which required a harness for protection during game. Registered three tackles (one solo) and batted down a QB Peyton Manning pass on third down in the second guarter to force a Colts punt...At Tennessee (Nov. 2): Finished second on the defensive line with seven tackles (five solo), registered his first sack of the season when he brought down QB Kerry Collins for a 4-yard loss early in the third quarter, and batted down a Collins pass intended for TE Bo Scaife in overtime... Vs. Houston (Dec. 7): Tied for lead on defensive line with a season-high nine tackles (two solo)... At Chicago (Dec. 22): Shared a sack of QB Kyle Orton in the third guarter with DE Michael Montgomery for a 4-yard loss on third down. Tied for lead on the defensive line with seven tackles (five solo).

2007: Started 14 games, plus both playoff contests, recording 63 tackles (38 solo), with one sack and one pass defensed...Inactive for final two regular-season games with a groin injury, snapping a string of 74 consecutive starts (77 including playoffs) dating back to early 2003 and 101 straight games played (107 including playoffs) dating back to midway through his rookie season...Didn't even miss the preseason opener, having arrived in Pittsburgh (Aug. 11) the morning of the game following the birth of his son, Ryan Jr. ... At Minnesota (Sept. 30): Made his first sack of the season and first as a Packer, felling QB Kelly Holcomb for a 6-yard loss in fourth quarter; made a season-high seven total tackles (six solo)... At Denver (Oct. 29): With time running out, stopped Cutler for no gain at the Green Bay 4-yard line on a QB draw. Denver was forced to kick a FG that tied the score 13-13 and led to an OT period; QB Brett Favre connected with WR Greg Jennings on the first play for an 82-yard score and the victory... At St. Louis (Dec. 16): Made six tackles (one solo) but missed a good part of the second half after suffering a groin injury and then missed the next two games... Vs. Seattle (NFC Divisional, Jan. 12): Returned to the starting lineup for the postseason and made six tackles (four solo), including stop of RB Shaun Alexander for a 1-yard loss in third guarter.

Was held to fewer than five tackles just four times all season and had six or more on eight occasions... At Philadelphia (Oct. 2): Played in spite of an ankle injury suffered the week prior at Detroit...At Seattle (Nov. 27): Tied a regular-season career high with 12 tackles (six solo), including three for loss. Also helped to end the Seahawks' first possession by tipping a pass that was intercepted by CB Charles Woodson, setting up a Packers TD...Vs. N.Y. Washington (Dec. 4): Tied his career high with 12 tackles (six solo).

2004: Started all 16 regular-season contests and two playoff games, finishing with 81 tackles (36 solo) and two sacks, and playing his best football late in the year and into the postseason...Led the team in tackles twice and led or tied for tackle lead among defensive linemen on three other occasions, all in final month of regular season and playoffs...At Carolina (Dec. 12): Led team in tackles with 11 (five solo), one shy of regular-season career high...Vs. MORE ABOUT THE FROZEN TUNDRA

- The Lambeau Field playing surface underwent an offseason makeover prior to the 2007 season that brought the latest technology to the hallowed ground and made future in-season re-sodding unnecessary.
- In a project that took several months to complete, DD GrassMaster, a natural grass surface reinforced with man-made fibers developed by Desso DLW Sports Systems, was installed on top of a completely new drainage and heating system. The new surface and underlying systems represent the latest developments in field management.
- The new grass surface wasn't entirely new for the players, though. It was identical to the surface on the team's Clarke Hinkle Field. That surface, installed prior to 2005 training camp, had garnered rave reviews from the players. The team again used the surface in 2009 for the new Nitschke Field.
- According to the Packers' fields manager, Allen Johnson, the Packers had been following the evolution of the relatively new system for several years, going back to its development on European soccer fields.
- DD GrassMaster's advantage mainly is attributed to the sand-based soil, which allows superior drainage and softer, more consistent footing over the previous clay-based field. Because a sand-based root zone has less stability, the system employs millions of strands of polyethylene and polypropylene materials eight inches below the surface with one inch exposed on the top. This gives the field firm footing and eliminates clumps of sod tearing from the surface. Even after a full season's wear late in the year, the footing remains excellent due to the soil-strengthening strands.
- The Packers and Denver Broncos are the only two NFL teams to use the system in their respective stadiums. However, the surface has gained increasing popularity overseas and is used by some of Europe's top soccer clubs, including Arsenal, Liverpool and Manchester City.

- Due to the enhanced drainage capabilities, fans at Lambeau no longer notice a perceptible crown on the field. A slight slope exists, about a half-degree decline, to assist with water and snow removal when the field is covered with a tarp.
- Also included in the '07 project was a new service path encircling the field. Cement was replaced with a rubberized surface, similar to the one adjacent to the Don Hutson Center on the side of Hinkle Field. The rubberized path still allows for equipment use, but is safer for players who run far out of bounds.

com...As a senior, earned second-team all-state and first-team all-county honors as he posted 600 receiving yards, 325 rushing yards and nine TDs...During his junior season, caught 39 passes for 843 yards and six TDs, and also recorded 50 tackles and 16 sacks on defense...Began his prep career at Holy Trinity H.S. in Hicksville, N.Y....Community involvement: Took part in the United Way's annual Hometown Huddle project in October 2011 at the Bay Beach Wildlife Sanctuary...Attended the annual Families of Children with Cancer party, participated in the Edgar Bennett Celebrity Bowl-A-Thon, and helped coach at a local Oneida Nation football clinic...Also was part of the United Way's annual Hometown Huddle project, helping to refurbish existing and construct new playground equipment at Tank Elementary School...At Penn State, worked with local Special Olympics and Habitat for Humanity programs... Didn't throw an INT for the fifth straight game, the first Packers QB to do so since Starr in 1966. Had a pair of TD passes of 55-plus vards for the first time in his career. connecting with Jennings for a 57-yard score in the second quarter and with Driver on a 61-yard TD in the third quarter... At Detroit (Dec. 12): Threw for 46 yards on 7-of-11 passing before departing due to a concussion. With just over three minutes remaining in the first half, scrambled for an 18-yard gain to the Green Bay 43 but took hits from S Amari Spievey and LB Landon Johnson, with his head hitting the turf. Took three more snaps before being replaced by Flynn for the remainder of the game. Prior to his exit, saw his career-long streak of 181 attempts without an INT come to an end when a deep pass in the first quarter bounced out of Jennings' arms and into Spievey's. It was his first INT since his final throw of the first half vs. Minnesota in Week 7, a streak that put him at No. 2 in the team record books behind only Starr (294, 1964-65)... At New England (Dec. 19): Inactive due to the concussion, which snapped a streak of 45 consecutive starts that was the fourth-longest streak in the league among active QBs at that point... Vs. N.Y. Giants (Dec. 26): Returned to action and turned in one of the best outings of his career on his way to earning NFC Offensive Player of the Week honors. Threw for 404 yards, at the time a regular-season career high, on 25-of-37 passing while matching his career high at that point with four TD passes. His yardage total was the most by a Green Bay QB in the regular season since Dickey's 418-yard game vs. Tampa Bay (Oct. 12, 1980), and it was the first 400-yard, four-TD, zero-INT performance in franchise annals. It also marked the 10th time in his career that he threw three-plus TDs and zero INTs in a game, the most in NFL history by a QB within three seasons of his first start (Warner, nine, 1999-2001). Led the Packers to 515 total yards, the most since the team posted 548 at Oakland (Dec. 22, 2003)...At Atlanta (NFC Divisional, Jan. 15): Had one of the finest playoff games by a QB in NFL playoff history, connecting on 31 of 36 passes for 366 yards and three TDs. His 136.8 passer rating was the highest in league postseason history among QBs with 35-plus attempts. The 31 completions and 86.1 completion percentage were franchise single-game postseason records, and the completion percentage ranks No. 1 in NFL history for QBs with 35-plus attempts. Became the first QB in NFL playoff history to throw for 350 yards, three TDs and zero INTs and rush for a TD in a game. Completed all 10 of his third-down passing attempts for 151 yards. Helped lead the Packers to a franchise postseason-record 48 points. Combined with the 45-point outing at Arizona in the 2009 Wild Card contest, the Packers became the first team in NFL history to record 45 points in a game in consecutive postseasons. His three TD passes gave him 10 in his first three postseason starts, the most in NFL history as he surpassed Jeff George, Daryle Lamonica and Marino (nine each). Along with his 121.4 rating at Arizona in the '09 playoffs and his 122.5 rating at Philadelphia the week before, became the first QB in NFL history to register a 120-plus rating in each of his first three postseason starts. Also became the first QB in NFL postseason history to throw for three-plus TDs in each of his first three playoff starts... Vs. Pittsburgh (Super Bowl XLV, Feb. 6): Closed out his torrid postseason by earning Super Bowl MVP honors with a masterful performance in the world championship game. Completed 24 of 39 passes for 304 yards and three TDs. Joined Montana, Young and Jake Delhomme as the only QBs to throw for 300 yards and three scores with no INTs in a Super Bowl. First TD pass came on a perfectly placed throw to Nelson for a 29-yard score. Threaded a pass into the hands of Jennings for a 21-yard TD in the second quarter with S Ryan Clark just missing the ball and S Troy Polamalu's hard shot from behind failing to knock it free from the WR's arms. Found Jennings once more in the back right corner of the end zone in the third quarter to extend the lead to 28-17. Perhaps his best throw of the game came on the Packers' clock-killing drive late in the fourth guarter. On third-and-10 from the Green Bay 25, fired the ball to Jennings down the seam just beyond the outstretched arms of CB lke Taylor as he hit the WR in stride for a 31-yard gain and a new set of downs. The drive burned 5:19 off the clock and set up a 23-yard Mason Crosby FG to extend the lead to 31-25, forcing Pittsburgh to drive for a TD instead of a game-tying FG.

2009: Selected to the Pro Bowl for the first time in his career... Started every game for the second straight season and completed 350 of 541 passes (64.7 percent) for 4,434 yards, 30 TDs and seven INTs for a 103.2 rating, which ranked fourth in the NFL...Ranked fourth in the league in passing yards, fourth in TD passes and first in INT percentage (1.29), the latter mark second at the time in team history to Starr's 1.20 in 1966 as Rodgers posted 12 games without an INT to break Starr's franchise mark of 11 in 1964...Nearly broke Dickey's single-season team record for passing yards set in 1984 (4,458) while joining Favre (1998-99) as the only QBs in team history to post backto-back 4,000-yard seasons and joining Dickey and Favre as the only Green Bay QBs to hit 30 TDs in one season...Had a 133.5 rating on third down, which led the league and was the highest since Warner (137.3) in 1999; third-down production included an NFL-best 14 TDs, no INTs and a league-high 1,710 yards, the most yards by an NFL QB since the stat began to be kept in 1991...Tied for NFL lead (with Donovan McNabb and Romo) with 17 completions of 40-plus yards...Was tied for second in the league (with Romo and Brees) with 39 completions of 25plus yards, trailing only Eli Manning's 42...Rushed for 316 yards and five TDs on 58 carries (5.4 avg.), the second-most yards by any QB in 2009 (David Garrard, 323) and the most runs of 10plus yards with 14...His five rushing TDs were the most since Majkowski posted the same number in '89...Became the first QB in NFL history to throw 30 or more TDs and seven or fewer INTs and rush for five TDs in the same season... Earned NFC Offensive Player of the Month honors for October... At Minnesota (Oct. 5): Threw for a season-high 384 yards on 26-of-37 passing for a 110.6 rating. Was intercepted for the first time on the season when CB Antoine Winfield picked off his pass intended for Jennings on the right sideline at the Minnesota 23 early in the second quarter; the INT snapped a then-career-best streak of 159 passing attempts without one, then the third longest in team history behind Starr (294 in 1964-65) and Favre (163 in 2001-02)... Vs. Detroit (Oct. 18): Completed 29 of 37 passes for 358 yards, two TDs and one INT for a 113.7 rating, giving him two career firsts - back-to-back games with 350plus yards and three straight contests with a 110.0 rating or better. His 78.3 completion percentage was the second-best single-game performance in team history at the time (min. 35 attempts), trailing only Favre's 79.5 percent on 31-of-39 passing at Minnesota on Nov. 21, 1998... At Cleveland (Oct. 25): Completed 15 of 20 passes for 246 yards, three TDs and no INTs for a 155.4 passer rating, the best single-game rating in franchise history (min. 20 attempts). San Francisco (Nov. 22): Posted 344 yards passing and a season-high 32 completions on 44 attempts with two TDs and no INTs for a 108.0 rating. The four TD passes matched a franchise playoff mark held by Starr (at Dallas, Jan. 1, 1967) and Dickey (vs. St. Louis, Jan. 8, 1983). The yardage total was tied for No. 5 in NFL playoff history at the time, and his 319 yards passing after halftime set an NFL playoff record, eclipsing the previous mark of 274 yards set by Marino (at Buffalo, Dec. 30, 1995). Became one of only six QBs in the Super Bowl era to throw for 400 yards/four TDs in a postseason game, and one of only two signal callers to post 400 yards/four TDs and a rushing TD in a playoff game (Peyton Manning, vs. Denver, Jan. 9, 2005). Completed six passes of 25-plus yards as he helped team come back from 21-point deficit in the second half to tie the game, with the longest score coming on a 30-yarder to Jones on fourth-and-5 early in the fourth quarter.

2008: Took over as the starter after waiting patiently for three years for his opportunity behind Favre...Became the first QB other than Favre to start a Packers game since Majkowski (Sept. 20, 1992), starting all 16 games and ranking third in the NFC and sixth in the NFL with a 93.8 passer rating...Completed 341 of 536 passes (63.6 percent) for 4,038 yards, 28 TDs and 13 INTs...Under center for 1,039 of 1,049 (99.1 percent) offensive plays...Ranked fourth in the league in both TD passes and passing yards...Became just the fourth QB in team history to surpass 4,000 yards in one season (Favre, Dickey, Majkowski) and only the second in NFL history to throw for 4,000 yards in the first season that he started a game (Warner, St. Louis, 1999)...Third in the NFL with a 105.8 passer rating on third down, including 14 TDs, which trailed only Rivers' 15... Minnesota (Sept. 8): Started first NFL game and completed 18 of 22 passes for 178 yards and a TD with no INTs. His 81.8 completion percentage ranks as the secondbest mark in league history by a QB in his first start (min. 20 attempts), behind only former Jacksonville QB Rob Johnson's 83.3 percentage (20 of 24) in 1997. Scored first career rushing TD on a 1-yard plunge in the fourth guarter to give Green Bay a 24-12 lead...At Detroit (Sept. 14): Posted first 300-yard passing day in NFL career and threw three TD passes. Detroit (Dec. 28): Completed 21 of 31 passes for 308 yards and three TDs for a season-high 132.2 passer rating, matching his season best with the three TD passes. With Lions having just scored a TD to narrow Green Bay's lead to 24-21, connected on season-long pass when he found Driver deep down the right sideline midway through the fourth quarter for a 71-yard score. The pass also put him over the 4,000-yard mark for the season.

On the Packers' final drive of the first half, found Jennings for a 43-yard catch-and-run and connected with him again on an 11yard TD (Rodgers' first TD pass as a pro). In the third quarter, led a 12-play, 69-yard drive that finished with a 1-yard Ryan Grant TD plunge; on the series, completed all six passes for 61 yards, including throws of 22 and 17 yards. In the fourth, led the team's final scoring drive that culminated in a 52-yard Crosby FG...Injured a hamstring the following week in practice and was inactive for the final four regular-season games before recovering to serve as Favre's backup in the postseason... 2012 SEASON: Played in the final five regular-season games and both playoff contests after spending five games on the Packers' practice squad...Saw time primarily on special teams and limited action on offense...Signed to the practice squad on Oct. 17 and then was signed to the active roster on Dec. 1...Posted a 25.8-yard average on four punt returns in the regular season and a 28.7-yard average on three kickoff returns...Returned two kickoffs for 28 yards (14.0 avg.) in the postseason...Was with the Colts during the preseason before being released by the club on Sept. 1... Vs. Minnesota (Dec. 2): Made his NFL debut, seeing time on special teams...At Chicago (Dec. 16): Appeared in the game on special teams and was part of one of the game's most memorable plays when the punt return unit attempted a throwback play with just under eight minutes remaining in the game. Peeled away from his blocking responsibilities at the start of the return in an effort to catch a cross-field lateral from WR Randall Cobb. With coverage players closing in, he bobbled the throw from Cobb and it was recovered by S Anthony Walters at the Green Bay 16, ultimately resulting in a Chicago FG...Vs. Tennessee (Dec. 23): Played on special teams, assuming kick-return duties when Cobb departed in the third quarter due to a knee/ankle injury and did not return. After a fair catch on his first opportunity, he took full advantage of the second, breaking off to the left side of the field and knifing his way through the coverage team for a 58-vard return to the Tennessee 7 early in the fourth quarter. It was the longest punt return by a Packer since Cobb's 75-yard TD in the 2012 season opener and set up a Ryan Grant TD run on the very next play. Also got one snap on offense, his first action from scrimmage as a pro...At Minnesota (Dec. 30): Became the team's primary return man with Cobb inactive due to the injury. Returned two punts for 41 yards (20.5 avg.), including a 32-yarder in the second quarter that gave the offense the ball at the Minnesota 42 and set up the Packers' first TD drive. Also returned three kickoffs for 86 yards (28.7 avg.), highlighted by the first of his career that he returned for 44 yards, trailing only Cobb's 46yard return at Houston in Week 6 as the longest by a Packer on the season...Vs. Minnesota (NFC Wild Card, Jan. 5): Was the team's primary kickoff returner and had two returns for 28 yards (14.0 avg.), even though the second one consisted of him picking up the ball and stepping out of bounds on a squib kick late in the fourth quarter...At San Francisco Plays can either be reviewed by an on-site NFL replay official or on behalf of a coach's challenge. The following is a look at the results of instant replay over the past 14 regular seasons:

CORNERBACK MIAMI

Fourth NFL Season Fourth Packers Season

Ht: 5-11 Wt: 184 • Born: December 8, 1987 • NFL Games Played/Started: 39/21 • Acquired: FA-10

PRO HIGHLIGHTS:

- Worked his way into the starting lineup after the beginning of the regular season in 2012, taking over as the No. 2 CB in the team's base defense following veteran Charles Woodson's transition to safety.
- ➤ Started Weeks 2-6 at RCB before suffering a shin/ankle injury at Houston (Oct. 14) that sidelined him for the next six games. For the season, appeared in 10 games with eight starts and registered career highs with 38 tackles (27 solo) and 16 passes defensed, also ranking second on the club with three interceptions, in addition to his first career sack.
- ➤ Also opened both of the team's 2012 postseason contests and posted 12 tackles (all solo), two INTs (including one he returned for a TD), and five passes defensed.
- ➤ Has now made four INTs in seven career playoff games, a total that ties him with CB Herb Adderley, DB Joe Laws, CB Craig Newsome and S Eugene Robinson for the most all-time in franchise postseason history.
- ➤ Appeared in 15 games with seven starts in 2011, collecting 36 tackles (32 solo), a career-high four INTs, 14 passes defensed and a forced fumble.
- ➤ A true speedster who made a major impact as a non-drafted rookie in 2010, earning the nickel CB job despite playing the position only one year in college. Finished his first season with 27 tackles (22 solo), two INTs and nine passes defensed.
- ➤ With the exception of two missed games due to injury, held the nickel job throughout the regular season and playoffs in 2010, recording two interceptions in the regular season and two more in the NFC Championship at Chicago, the final one sealing the conference title in the game's final minute and sending the Packers to the Super Bowl.
- ➤ Also contributed as a return man and punt-team gunner, utilizing the speed that made him a productive receiver and special teamer his first three seasons at Miami.
- Made the transition to cornerback as a senior and progressed rapidly as a rookie under the tutelage of position coach Joe Whitt Jr., who considered him a potential high draft pick based on raw talent alone.

2012 SEASON: Played in 10 games with eight starts... Emerged from a training-camp competition that featured a host of players battling for the No. 2 CB position opposite Tramon Williams following Woodson's move to safety... Made a push late in camp and worked his way into the starting lineup for the team's Week 2 contest vs. Chicago...Opened the ensuing five games at RCB before suffering a shin/ankle injury at Houston in Week 6 that cost him the next six games...Returned for the Week 14 contest vs. Detroit and then started the final three games of the regular season and both playoff contests...For the season, achieved new career highs with 38 tackles (27 solo) and 16 passes defensed, while also adding three INTs and his first career sack...Also continued to contribute on special teams, where he made four tackles on the coverage units...Played especially well down the stretch following his return from the injury, particularly in the playoffs where he picked off passes in each game, including one he returned

AT A GLANCE ...

 Has established himself as one of the team's top cover men and will compete for starting duty among a young and talented cornerback group in 2013.

- Entered the NFL as a non-drafted free agent who earned the nickel cornerback job in 2010 as a rookie despite playing defense for just one season in college. Played primarily wide receiver and special teams his first three seasons at Miami.
- Was one of the club's top performers during the 2012 postseason, recording interceptions in both the Wild Card and Divisional games (including one he returned for a TD), and his career total of four INTs is now tied for the most in franchise playoff history.
- In 2010, matched his regular-season total with two interceptions in the NFC Championship at Chicago, becoming just the fifth player in franchise history to record two interceptions in a playoff game.
- Also in that game, became the first NFL rookie (since 1982) to register two INTs and a sack in a postseason contest.
- Was honored with Miami's Most Improved Player Award as a senior and was voted the team's Special Teams Player of the Year as a junior after bursting on the scene as a collegian with the most pass receptions by a Hurricane freshman since Reggie Wayne nine years prior.

for a TD at San Francisco in the Divisional round...Posted 12 tackles (all solo), five passes defensed and the two INTs in the postseason...Vs. Chicago (Sept. 13): Reclaimed starting duties at CB on the strength of his outing in the season opener. Opened the game at RCB and played a key role in helping to limit Chicago to just 74 net passing yards... At Indianapolis (Oct. 5): Started at RCB and finished with a career-high seven tackles (five solo) and two passes defensed...At Houston (Oct. 14): Had a solid day in coverage, tallying four tackles (three solo) and his first INT of the season. The INT came on Houston's first drive of the fourth quarter when he dove to intercept a low throw from QB Matt Schaub. Suffered an injury on Houston's next play from scrimmage when in pursuit of a run play, he was inadvertently kicked in the lower leg by a teammate and did not return... Vs. Detroit (Dec. 2): Returned to action following a seven-week hiatus due to the ankle injury. Did not start the game, but replaced Davon House in the first quarter and went on to see action on 58 plays in an impressive return. Recorded five tackles (three solo) and two passes defensed, including his second INT of the season. Also contributed on special teams, where he made a tackle on kickoff coverage, running down WR Stefan Logan as he attempted to get to the outside following a 20-yard return in the second quarter...At Chicago (Dec. 18): Reassumed his starting role in the base defense and had one of the finest games of his young career. Was matched regularly with talented rookie WR Alshon Jeffery. Finished with three tackles (two solo) and three passes defensed, while also drawing three offensive pass interference penalties against Jeffery during the game... Vs. Minnesota (NFC Wild Card, Jan. 5): Started his third career postseason game, appearing on 62 plays and tying for the team lead with seven tackles (all solo), an INT and two passes defensed. Picked off a pass in the third quarter when he ran with WR Devin Aromashodu deep down the sideline, leaping to intercept QB Joe Webb's errant throw...At San Francisco (NFC Divisional, Jan. 12): Turned in another excellent individual performance in spite of the team's losing effort. Posted five tackles (all solo), three passes defensed and an INT that he returned for his first career TD. Started the game with a bang on the 49ers' opening drive, trailing TE Vernon Davis as QB Colin Kaepernick first attempted to scramble before making an off-balance throw. Shields jumped in front of Davis to intercept it at the Green Bay 48-yard line and raced up the sideline, evading a tackle by Kaepernick and going the rest of the way untouched for the score to give Green Bay an early 7-0 lead. The INT was the fourth of his career in the postseason, tying him with Adderley, Laws, Newsome and Robinson for the most in franchise playoff history.

2011: Returned to his role as the team's nickel CB and appeared in a career-high 15 contests with seven starts...Was inactive for the Week 7 contest at Minnesota with a concussion suffered on an INT return in the second half of the previous week's game vs. St. Louis (Oct. 16)...Posted 36 tackles (32 solo), a career-high four interceptions, 14 passes defensed and his first career forced fumble...Chipped in six tackles on special teams...Vs. New Orleans (Sept. 8): Saw extensive action as the Packers spent most of the game in the nickel defense. Started the game as the third CB and appeared on 72 plays, finishing with six tackles (five solo) and three passes defensed, also forcing his first career fumble. Recorded the forced fumble when he stripped WR Devery Henderson following a 9-yard gain in the third quarter and the ball rolled out of bounds. Made one of the more unsung plays of the game on special teams, serving as the "safety" on the kickoff coverage team and showed his impressive speed by coming from the opposite side of the field to track down RB Darren Sproles and run him out of bounds following a 57-yard return in the third quarter, likely saving a TD...Vs. Denver (Oct. 2): Had an INT early in the fourth quarter. On the INT, was in single coverage on WR Brandon Lloyd. Circled through the end zone and used his speed to bring it out and advance it for a career-long 60yard return to the Denver 46-yard line... Vs. St. Louis (Oct. 16): Posted six tackles (five solo) and also matched his rookie season total by recording his second INT. INT came when he picked off an underthrown ball by QB Sam Bradford in the end zone. Attempted to return the ball out of the end zone, running horizontally and was sideswiped by WR Brandon Gibson, who delivered a punishing hit that caused him to suffer a concussion and be removed from the game... At Minnesota (Oct. 23): Missed the practice week while dealing with lingering effects of the concussion, and was inactive on gameday for the first time since Week 5 of the 2010 regular season... Vs. Detroit (Jan. 1): Started as the No. 2 CB with Woodson (coaches' decision - rest) on the inactive list for the regular-season finale. Finished with five tackles (four solo), a pass defensed and a game-clinching INT in the waning moments of the fourth quarter to seal the 45-41 win. On the play, stepped in front of a QB Matthew Stafford throw intended for WR Nate Burleson at the Packers' 20-yard line, returning the INT 2 yards. INT was the defense's 31st of the season, matching the highest total by the franchise since 1962. Effectively ended the game, helping the Packers secure a perfect division record for the first time since the modern format was adopted in 1967 and finish the season with an unblemished 8-0 record at home for the first time since 2002.

2010: Played in 14 games with six starts, missing two early-season contests with a calf injury...Also played in all four postseason games with two starts...In the regular season, posted 27 tackles (22 solo) with two INTs and nine passes defensed, and returned 21 kickoffs for 452 yards (21.5 avg.) with a long of 49...Added 13 tackles (eight solo) with two INTs, a sack, a forced fumble and five passes defensed in the playoffs...At Philadelphia (Sept. 12): Started at nickel CB in his first NFL game and teamed with S Morgan Burnett to become the first Packers rookie DB tandem to open the season since the 1970 AFL/NFL merger... Vs. Miami (Oct. 17): Returned to the lineup after missing previous two games with a calf injury and had four tackles (three solo) and a pass defensed... Vs. Dallas (Nov. 7): Notched his first pro INT with a leaping, one-handed grab of QB Jon Kitna's deep sideline throw intended for WR Miles Austin. Also took over as kickoff returner to open the second half and posted a season-long 49-yard return, starting from 6 yards deep in the end zone... At New England (Dec. 19): Had a 45-yard kickoff return among six attempts for 128 yards total (21.3 avg.)...At Philadelphia (NFC Wild Card, Jan. 9): Started as the Packers opened in nickel and recorded three tackles (all solo) and two passes defensed, one a superb play on a deep ball to WR Jeremy Maclin that he knocked away just as the ball hit the receiver's hands...At Chicago (NFC Championship, Jan. 23): Turned in his biggest performance of the year with four tackles (all solo), a sack, a forced fumble and two INTs. Used as a surprise blitzer, sacked QB Jay Cutler for an 8-yard loss late in the first half, forcing a fumble that Bears RB Matt Forté recovered. Later, in the fourth guarter, came on a blitz from QB Caleb Hanie's blind side, forcing a bad throw that was intercepted and returned for a TD by NT B.J. Raji. His two INTs came at nearly the same spot on the field, the first a leaping pick on Cutler's deep ball to WR Johnny Knox just before halftime, keeping the Bears scoreless at the time. The second came with Hanie facing fourth-and-5 from the Green Bay 29, as Shields undercut Knox for the game-clinching INT with 37 seconds left. Became just the fifth player in franchise history to record two INTs in a playoff game, and became the first NFL rookie (since 1982, when sacks became official) to record two INTs and a sack in a postseason contest... Vs. Pittsburgh (Super Bowl XLV, Feb. 6): Had two tackles (one solo), but sustained a shoulder injury during the second guarter and was used sparingly the rest of the way...2010 Draft: Signed by Green Bay as a non-drafted free agent on April 30.

In Green Bay, where the local time is always 1963, the citizens worship their Packers with religious fervor, and Lambeau Field is their ageless cathedral. The benches are aluminum, the grass (when not iced over) is resplendent, and the fans are rabid but realistic without being rude. No wonder Packers players leap into the stands after scoring touchdowns. On a truly cold day you can feel the spirit of Vince Lombardi – even if you can't feel your toes.

2012 SEASON: A constant in the defensive backfield, he was the lone CB to start every game in 2012, almost always drawing the most difficult coverage assignment...Finished the season with 61 tackles (51 solo), two INTs and a career-hightying 24 passes defensed (No. 2 on the team)...Helped contribute to a pass defense that made an 81-vard per game improvement from 2011 (218.3 ypg.) and climbed to No. 11 in the league rankings by season's end...Defense also finished with the NFL's fourth-lowest opponent passer rating (76.8)... Vs. Chicago (Sept. 13): Delivered an excellent performance against the rival Bears, tallying four tackles (all solo), two INTs and two passes defensed. Found himself matched against standout WR Brandon Marshall for much of the game and was part of an effort that helped limit him to just two catches for 24 yards (12.0 avg.). Marked the second regular-season multi-INT game of his career (also Week 11 of 2011 vs. Tampa Bay). First INT came when he undercut a crossing route intended for WR Earl Bennett. Second INT came in the fourth quarter when he leapt to tip a deep pass to himself before scampering 38 yards down the sideline on the return. The offense wasted little time taking advantage, as QB Aaron Rodgers hit WR Donald Driver for a 26-yard TD on the ensuing play to put the game out of reach at 23-3... At Indianapolis (Oct. 5): Appeared on all 96 defensive plays, posting six tackles (all solo, one for loss) and was credited with a career-high five passes defensed. Passes defensed were the most by a Packer since Woodson was credited with six at Minnesota on Oct. 23, 2011...At Chicago (Dec. 16): Fared well in a much-anticipated matchup with the Bears' Marshall. The secondary held Marshall to just five catches for 56 yards (9.3 avg.), well below his season averages, and just one of those receptions (a 9-yard catch in the first quarter) came against Williams. Part of a pass defense that limited the Bears to just 107 net passing yards and a combined 181 net passing yards in the teams' two contests, the lowest in a season for Green Bay against Chicago since 1977 (158 yards)...Vs. Minnesota (NFC Wild Card, Jan. 5): Appeared on all 62 defensive plays, finishing with a team-high-tying seven tackles (four solo) and a team-best three passes defensed.

2011: Started all 15 games in which he played, setting a new career high for tackles with 65 (51 solo)...Posted his third consecutive season with 20-plus passes defensed with a new career-high and team-leading 24...Also collected four interceptions, including one he returned for his first regular-season TD at San Diego in Week 9...Suffered a shoulder injury in an awkward collision with Collins in the fourth quarter of the season opener...Missed the ensuing practice week and was inactive for the first time in his career in Week 2, snapping a streak of 72 consecutive games played (including playoffs)... Vs. New Orleans (Sept. 8): Finished with four tackles (three solo, one for loss), a fumble recovery and a pass defensed. Recovered a WR Margues Colston fumble that was forced by Collins on the Saints' second play from scrimmage, the fourth recovery of his career. Left the game in the fourth quarter after getting his arm caught in a collision with Collins. Sustained a shoulder injury and did not return... At Carolina (Sept. 18): Saw his streak of 72 consecutive games played (including playoffs) come to an end when the shoulder injury suffered the week before forced him to the inactive list for the first time in his career...At Chicago (Sept. 25): Returned to the lineup and appeared on all 54 defensive plays, finishing with one solo tackle and two passes defensed...At San Diego (Nov. 6): Made two tackles (one solo) and recorded his first INT of the season in the first quarter, one that he returned 43 yards for the first regular-season TD of his career. On the play, broke hard on a quick-out to the sideline thrown by QB Philip Rivers intended for WR Patrick Crayton, stepping in front of the WR and going untouched down the sideline for the score to extend Green Bay's lead to 21-7 late in the first guarter... Vs. Minnesota (Nov. 14): Posted three assisted tackles, two passes defensed and his second INT in as many weeks. INT came on a second-quarter play that saw him stay home on his assignment, picking off a flea-flicker attempt on a deep throw from QB Christian Ponder to his man, WR Devin Aromashodu. Williams undercut the WR and intercepted the ball, returning it 21 yards. Marked the fourth time in his career that he posted an INT in back-to-back games... Vs. Tampa Bay (Nov. 20): Racked up a season-high nine tackles (all solo), and recorded the first regular-season multi-INT game of his career with two picks of QB Josh Freeman. Marked his third consecutive game with an INT, the second such stretch of his career (Weeks 4-6, 2008). The first came when he undercut a drag route, darting in front of WR Mike Williams to make the diving INT. Second INT was late in the fourth quarter when TE Kellen Winslow had a ball deflect off of his fingers and into the hands of Williams. who was in coverage behind the play. Returned the ball 28 yards on what was his fourth INT of the season and 20th of his career...At Detroit (Nov. 24): Totaled two tackles (one solo) and three passes defensed, serving as a central piece of the gameplan designed to stop explosive WR Calvin Johnson. Johnson finished with just four catches for 49 yards (12.3) avg.), with just one of them, a 5-yard completion, coming against Williams... Vs. N.Y. Giants (NFC Divisional, Jan. 15): Finished with six tackles (four solo) and a pass defensed.

2010: Started all 16 contests for the first time in his career, opening each game at RCB...Recorded 63 tackles, six interceptions, 23 passes defensed and two fumble recoveries...Led the team in INTs and passes defensed, and his regular-season INT total tied for No. 5 in the NFL...Added a sack, two fumble recoveries and a forced fumble...Named a first alternate for the Pro Bowl, he was selected to the all-star game as an injury replacement for Samuel, but he did not appear in the game as the Packers were preparing for Super Bowl XLV...Earned All-NFC recognition from Pro Football Weekly...Handled puntreturn duties for the Packers, posting an 8.0-yard average on 41 returns...Started all four postseason games as he led the league with three interceptions, including one returned for a TD, during the playoffs...Became the first NFL player since the N.Y. Giants' R.W. McQuarters (2007) to post three INTs in a postseason...Also led the defense with eight passes defensed in the postseason...At Philadelphia (Sept. 12): Recorded a season-high three passes defensed (matched in Week 4 vs. Detroit) and recovered a fumble by RB Eldra Buckley in the third quarter that was forced by Woodson...At Chicago (Sept. 27): Led the team with seven tackles (all solo) and added a sack. Early in the second quarter, timed his blitz perfectly to come through untouched as he dropped QB Jay Cutler for a 5-yard loss...At Washington (Oct. 10): Posted his first INT of the season, picking off QB Donovan McNabb on the final play of regulation at the Green Bay 3. Weaved through traffic before finally being tripped up at the Washington 33 for a 64-yard return, the second longest of his career. Registered a 52-yard punt return in the second guarter, also the second longest of his career, as he joined CB Deion Sanders (Sept. 21, 1998) and CB Darrent Williams (Sept. 13, 2005) as the only NFL players since the merger to record an INT return of 60-plus vards and a punt return of 50-plus vards in the same game...Vs. Miami (Oct. 17): Recorded seven tackles (all solo), including one for a loss, along with an INT. Picked off QB Chad Henne's pass intended for Marshall at the Green Bay 14 late in the first quarter to halt a Miami scoring opportunity... At N.Y. Jets (Oct. 31): Turned in a stellar all-around performance, posting five tackles (all solo), an INT, a forced fumble, a fumble recovery and two passes defensed. It was the first time in his career that he posted an INT, a forced fumble and a recovery in the same game...At Minnesota (Nov. 21): Registered three tackles (two solo), an INT and two passes defensed. With the Packers leading 10-3 late in the first half, halted a promising Minnesota drive by stepping in front of WR Percy Harvin on a slant at the Green Bay 18 to pick off QB Brett Favre. The INT gave the offense the ball with just over a minute remaining, enough time for them to march for a quick TD and a 17-3 halftime lead...Vs. N.Y. Giants (Dec. 26): Posted his career-high sixth INT of the season, cutting in front of WR Hakeem Nicks at the Green Bay 47 in the first quarter to intercept QB Eli Manning...At Philadelphia (NFC Wild Card, Jan. 9): Made the game's defining play, leaping to intercept QB Michael Vick's pass intended for WR Riley Cooper in the end zone with 33 seconds remaining to clinch the victory. Did not bite on a Vick pump fake, running step for step on a goroute to the end zone. Turned to find the ball and used his leaping ability to secure the pick against the 6-foot-3-inch Cooper. Finished the game with a team-high three passes defensed and three tackles (two solo)...At Atlanta (NFC Divisional, Jan. 15): Posted one of the most electrifying performances of the postseason, intercepting passes on back-to-back possessions in the second quarter. First made a leaping INT of QB Matt Ryan in the end zone on third-and-21 in front of WR Michael Jenkins, who lost his footing on the play. On the following drive, made what was arguably the key play of the game with a 70-yard INT return for a touchdown in the closing seconds of the first half to extend Green Bay's lead to 28-14 at the break. With 10 seconds remaining, Atlanta called a timeout with the ball at the Green Bay 35 and attempted to pick up more yardage to move into FG range. Ryan threw toward the sideline to WR Roddy White, but Williams jumped inside the route to intercept the pass in stride, swerving past a pair of Falcons on his way to the end zone. The INT return was the second longest in franchise postseason history, trailing only S George Teague's 101-yarder at Detroit (Jan. 8, 1994). Became just the fourth player in team history to record multiple INTs in a playoff game...Vs. Pittsburgh (Super Bowl XLV, Feb. 6): Finished with six tackles (three solo) and a team-high three passes defensed, including one that sealed the game on fourth down on Pittsburgh's final drive. On the final play, a fourthand-5 from the Pittsburgh 33, perfectly read a curl route by WR Mike Wallace and jumped to knock the ball away to secure the world title.

Vs. Chicago (Sept. 13): Intercepted Cutler's pass deep down the middle intended for WR Johnny Knox in the second quarter at Green Bay's 32 and returned the pick 67 yards to Chicago's 1 to set up a Ryan Grant TD run on the next play; the 67-yard return was his career long and the season long by a Packer. Posted three passes defensed and also tied for the team lead with two special teams tackles... Vs. With Green Bay trailing 14-13 early in the fourth quarter, also had a key pressure when he came on a corner blitz and got in Cutler's face to force a bad throw to the left sideline that Collins picked off and returned 31 yards to the Chicago 11; Grant scored two plays later on 1-yard TD run for winning score... At Arizona (Jan. 3): Recorded four tackles (three solo), an INT and two passes defensed. Indianapolis (Oct. 19): Started and posted six tackles. At Minnesota (Nov. 9): Intercepted QB Gus Frerotte's pass over the middle intended for WR Bernard Berrian with just under 30 seconds remaining in the first half and returned the pick 19 yards to the Minnesota 40, which helped set up Mason Crosby's 47-yard FG as time expired in the half to narrow the Vikings' lead to 14-10... Vs. Chicago (Nov. 16): Played extensively as the nickel back in a secondary that allowed just four receptions by Bears WRs. Also matched season high with two stops on special teams... Vs. THE COMPENSATORY SYSTEM

The Packers were awarded one compensatory draft selection from the league in 2013, a fifth-round choice. Since the first compensatories were awarded in 1994, only Baltimore (37) has received more than the Packers (31).

Under terms of the NFL Collective Bargaining Agreement, a team losing more or better compensatory free agents than it acquires in a year is eliqible to receive compensatory draft picks.

The number of picks a team receives equals the net loss of compensatory free agents up to a maximum of four. The 32 compensatory choices announced every March supplement the original choices in the seven rounds of the NFL Draft.

Compensatory free agents are determined by a formula based on salary, playing time and postseason honors. The formula was developed by the NFL Management Council. Not every free agent lost or signed by a club is covered by this formula.

Teams are no longer allowed to trade compensatories, although they were during the early years of the system. Because of that clause, the Packers acquired two compensatory choices in 1994 from San Francisco. In other words, Green Bay has actually drafted 33 compensatory players, but the league only has awarded the team 31.

Raji (ankle). Started and appeared on 34 plays, helping to key a run defense that held Pro Bowl RB Arian Foster to a career-low 1.7-yard rushing average (min. 15 att.) on 17 carries for 29 yards. Made three tackles (two solo), a sack and his first career pass defensed. ROOKIES VS. FIRST-YEAR PLAYERS

College totals (four years)....45 24

Rookies are players in their first year of pro football who have not been on another pro football team's roster for any regular-season or postseason games. First-year players are those who have played in other pro sports leagues (Arena Football League, etc.), have participated in previous NFL training camps, or have been on an NFL team's active, inactive or reserve list fewer than six games.

The rule originated when Lawrence McCutcheon, drafted by the Los Angeles Rams in 1972, played only three games his "rookie" season, then rushed for 1,097 yards in 1973. Today, due to McCutcheon and because rosters began expanding around the 1970 NFL-AFL merger (reserve lists formalized, etc.), that year is considered the beginning of the rookie rule. So today, for records purposes, the Packers use 1970 as a separator. From 1921-69, anyone who had yet to play three league games was generally considered a rookie.

NFL BROADCASTING POLICIES

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

- Franchised Market Television market (ADI or DMA) that has an NFL franchise (i.e., Buffalo, N.Y., or Phoenix, Ariz.).
- Secondary Blackout Market Television market in the home territory (with station[s] having signal penetration to within 75 miles of the game site) of an NFL franchise that is subject to blackout restrictions.
- Early Game Game with kickoff at 12:02 p.m. CT.
- Late Game Game with kickoff at 3:05 or 3:25 p.m. CT.

BLACKOUT POLICY

To ensure an NFL club's ability to sell all of its game tickets, and to make televised games more attractive to viewers through the presence of sellout crowds, the following policy is observed by the NFL:

For a home game to be aired locally in the franchised market and in any secondary blackout market(s), the game must be sold out 72 hours in advance of kickoff. If the game is not a sellout by the 72-hour cutoff, both the home franchised market and the secondary markets of the carrying network will air an alternate game.

NUMBER OF GAMES IN A MARKET

With regard to the number of NFL games seen in a particular market on a Sunday afternoon, there are three situations.

- An NFL franchised market (i.e., New York, Chicago, Dallas, etc.) On a week when the NFL team (or teams) in a market is on the ROAD Sunday, Monday or Thursday night, or Saturday afternoon, the market will receive three Sunday afternoon games: Two telecasts by the network with the doubleheader week and one game by the network with the single-game week. When an NFL team in the market is playing at HOME on Sunday afternoon, the market will receive two games: One game on FOX and one game on CBS, regardless of which network has the doubleheader week. That is, unless 1) the home team's assigned telecaster that day (CBS or FOX) also is on the doubleheader network and 2) the game is sold out 72 hours in advance. In that case, the three games would be the home team's and two other games in the remaining early or late window.
- All other television markets (including secondary blackout markets) Network affiliates in these markets will receive three games on Sunday afternoon, two on the doubleheader network (one early and one late) and one game on the single-game network (either early or late).

SELECTION OF GAMES TO BE TELECAST REGIONALLY

By network contract, all team road games must be telecast back to that team's home territory (franchised market and secondary blackout markets). Other than this requirement, the televising network is the sole selector of which game(s) will be aired in all markets.

NICKNAME ORIGIN

In the Green Bay Press-Gazette on Aug. 29, 1919, two weeks before the team's first organized game, sports editor and Packers co-founder George Calhoun first publicly identified the team as the "Indian Packers."

Curly Lambeau received $500 from his employer, the Indian Packing Co., for uniforms and equipment, and for use of the company's lot for practice. In exchange, Lambeau and Calhoun agreed to call the team "Packers." Early fans, many of whom were working-class citizens, immediately embraced the name, widely publicized by Calhoun.

Calhoun also called them simply "Indians" briefly in 1919, but that moniker seemed to fold with the company, soon purchased – along with the team – by Acme Packing Co. in 1921, the team's first season in what is now the NFL, its owners had "Acme Packers" put on the jersey, setting the name in stone.

While "Packers" has served as the primary nickname since the team's embryonic stages, fans and sportswriters also have called them the Big Bay Blues, or the Bays. Lambeau in 1922 applied with the name "Blues," but public opinion quickly vetoed him.

A packer is someone who works at a packing house, an establishment for slaughtering, processing and packing livestock into meat, meat products and byproducts. "Green Bay Packers" is the longest-standing team name in NFL history.

STRENGTH OF SCHEDULE, PACKERS HISTORY

Phil Bengtson, Vince Lombardi's hand-picked replacement, might have dealt with more pressure in 1970 than anyone who's ever coached the Packers. That season, his third and final as Green Bay head coach, ended at 6-8, with losses in four of his last five games (all on the road). What's more, Bengtson faced the toughest schedule ever thrown at the Packers. The toughest schedules in team history, based on opponent records at the end of that season:

	W	L	Pct	Packers Finish	Notable opponents
1970	113	74	.604	6-8-0, tied for third, division	Super Bowl V champion Colts (twice), NFC champion Cov
1921	21	14	.600	3-2-1, tied for sixth, league	League champion Chicago Staleys (9-1-1) in season finale

1926	79	55	.590	7-3-3, fifth in league	14-1-2 league champion Frankford Yellow Jackets
1953	82	58	.586	2-9-1, sixth in conference	10-2 NFL champion Lions (twice), 11-1 Browns
1957	81	63	.563	3-9-0, sixth in conference	Only one team with eventual losing record: Bears (5-7, tw
1954	77	60	.562	4-8-0, fifth in conference	9-2-1 conference champion Lions (twice)

A player will be credited with a year of NFL experience for each season in which he accumulates six games on the Active List, Inactive List, Reserve/Injured List, or Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform List – six games on a combination of any of these lists. Rookies are players in their first year of professional football who have not been on the roster of another professional football team for any regular-season or postseason games. Players who have played in other professional sports leagues (Canadian Football League, etc.), have participated in previous NFL training camps, or have been on the above lists for fewer than six games are listed as first-year NFL players ("1").

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Sept. 9, 2012. Attendance: 70,523. Time: 3:25. Weather: 72° F, Humidity: 40 percent, Wind: NW 11 mph GREEN BAY, Wis. — With the arrival of Randy Moss and a few other additions in the offseason, quarterback Alex Smith knew the San Francisco 49ers were serious about beefing up their passing game. Facing a Green Bay Packers team that lost only once in the 2011 regular season was a tough opening road test, the 49ers were more than ready. Things went so well for San Francisco that when David Akers tried a 63-yard field goal at the end of the first half, it bounced off the crossbar and then kept going through the uprights to tie an NFL record.

Still, the most impressive part of Sunday's effort was on defense, where the 49ers smothered quarterback Aaron Rodgers and the Packers offense for three quarters, then made one last stand to stop a late rally to seal the win.

The 49ers took a 16-point lead into the fourth quarter, then twice let Rodgers and the Packers cut the lead to 8. But the defense held firm on a potential game-tying drive in the final minutes. It was a harsh reality check for the Packers, who came into their opener with hopes that a rebuilt defense and improved running game could help get them back to the Super Bowl after coming up short in the playoffs last season.

Quarterback Aaron Rodgers finished 30 of 44 for 303 yards with two touchdowns and an interception, but the Packers couldn't really move the ball before the fourth quarter.

Rodgers also finished the game as the Packers' leading rusher, with new addition Cedric Benson gaining just 18 yards on nine carries.

GREEN BAY 23, CHICAGO 10

Lambeau Field, Thursday, Sept. 13, 2012. Attendance: 70,543. Time: 3:12. Weather: 60° F, Humidity: 67 percent, Wind: 0 mph

GREEN BAY, Wis. — The Green Bay Packers rattled and robbed Jay Cutler while Aaron Rodgers and Co. sputtered at times against the stout Chicago Bears defense.

So with all those stars on the field for the NFL's most storied rivalry, the biggest play of the day was a gutsy call for a perfectly executed fake field goal in Green Bay's 23-10 victory at Lambeau Field on Thursday.

With the Packers facing a 4th and 26 from the Chicago 27 and lined up for a field goal late in the second quarter, punter Tim Masthay flipped the ball to backup tight end Tom Crabtree, who streaked into the end zone.

The Packers' defense did the rest.

Cutler threw four interceptions, including a pair to Tramon Williams. Facing a fierce pass rush all night, Cutler was sacked seven times, including 3.5 for Clay Matthews. New Bears wide receiver Brandon Marshall was held to two catches for 24 yards.

Cutler threw a late touchdown to Kellen Davis, cutting the lead to 23-10 with 6:49 remaining. But the Bears couldn't mount a comeback as Matthews and the Packers kept turning up the heat.

It was an impressive rebound for the Packers from an unsettling season-opening loss to San Francisco.

Chicago Bears

Rodgers finished the game 22 of 32 for 219 yards with a touchdown and an interception.

SEATTLE 14, GREEN BAY 12

CenturyLink Field, Monday, Sept. 24, 2012. Attendance: 68,218. Time: 3:16. Weather: 67° F, Humidity: 49 percent, Wind: NW 3 mph. SEATTLE - M.D. Jennings was convinced he had the ball pinned to his chest the entire time and would be awarded an interception to cap a Green Bay Packers comeback victory.

A crew of replacement officials had other views - the ones that counted.

The result is a bizarre ending that gave the Seattle Seahawks a 14-12 victory Monday night that capped a tough weekend for the replacement

Russell Wilson threw a disputed 24-yard touchdown pass to Golden Tate on the final play of the game, a game that finally ended 10 minutes later when both teams were brought back on the field for the extra point.

Wilson scrambled from the pocket and threw to the corner of the end zone as the clock expired. Tate shoved Green Bay's Sam Shields out of the way, then wrestled with Jennings for possession. It was ruled on the field as a touchdown and after a lengthy review, referee Wayne Elliott came out from under the hood and announced "the ruling on the field stands" and CenturyLink Field erupted in celebration.

The Packers shook off a disastrous first half, when Aaron Rodgers was sacked eight times, and completely controlled possession in the final 30 minutes. Green Bay ran 41 offensive plays in the second half, and got field goals of 29 and 40 yards from Mason Crosby and Cedric Benson's 1-yard TD run with 8:44 left to take a 12-7 lead.

Rodgers finished 26 of 39 for 223 yards and no turnovers.

GREEN BAY 28, NEW ORLEANS 27

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Sept. 30, 2012. Attendance: 70,571. Time: 3:18. Weather: 64° F, Humidity: 58 percent, Wind: E 7 mph.

GREEN BAY, Wis. — Garrett Hartley missed a field goal in a wild ending at Lambeau Field, where the New Orleans Saints (0-4) blew a fourth-guarter lead and lost to the Green Bay Packers 28-27 on Sunday.

Aaron Rodgers threw a go-ahead touchdown to Jordy Nelson in the fourth quarter.

Soon after, Packers fans were howling about what appeared to be yet another bad call - this time by the regular officials, not the replacements.

Darren Sproles appeared to fumble the ensuing kickoff, but officials ruled that he was down by contact. Replays showed that the ball clearly came out, but the Packers were out of replay challenges, leaving Packers fans screaming at the officials for the second week in a row.

The Packers committed a personal foul on a Saints field goal attempt later in the drive, giving New Orleans first-and-goal on the 1. But the defense held, forcing a 20-yard field goal by Hartley to cut the lead to 21-17 with 9:41 left in the third quarter.

Rodgers marched the Packers down the field again but needed attention from the team's training staff after a face mask by New Orleans' Malcolm Jenkins. Rodgers came out of the game for one play and backup quarterback Graham Harrell came in - then tripped and fumbled as he tried to hand it off, allowing the Saints to get the ball back in the middle of a scrum.

Drew Brees then found Joseph Morgan wide open behind the defense for an 80-yard touchdown and a 24-21 lead with 3:49 left in the third quarter. Things got even worse for the Packers, as Rodgers then threw an interception to Patrick Robinson on a deep throw intended for Nelson. Brees then completed a pair of third-and-long situations, and the Saints drove for a 27-yard field goal by Hartley to take a 27-21 lead with 13:04 remaining.

With the Packers trailing by 6, Rodgers threw an 11-yard strike to Nelson as the Saints' Corey White tried to wrap his arms around the ball at the same time as Nelson - briefly re-creating a scene eerily similar to the controversial game-ender in Seattle on Monday. This time, though, Nelson clearly came away with the ball and spiked it emphatically.

INDIANAPOLIS — The Green Bay Packers had an 18-point halftime lead and seemed to be in control Sunday afternoon.

Then, suddenly, Andrew Luck, Reggie Wayne and the rest of the emotionally charged Indianapolis Colts turned things around.

Playing for an ailing coach Chuck Pagano, Luck rallied the Colts in the second half, throwing for a career-high 362 yards and a 4-yard TD pass to Wayne with 35 seconds to go, giving Indy a stunning 30-27 victory.

Luck threw an 8-yard TD pass to Dwayne Allen and set up Adam Vinatieri for a 50-yard field goal to make it 21-13 midway through the third quarter. He then ran it in from 3 yards with 18 seconds left to go in the quarter to get the Colts within 21-19.

A few minutes later, Vinatieri hit a 28-yard field goal to give Indy its first lead, 22-21.

But Aaron Rodgers got Green Bay's offense back in sync in a hurry.

Alex Green ran 41 yards on the Packers' first play, and Rodgers threw an 8-yard TD pass to James Jones on the next one to give the Packers a 27-22 lead with 4:30 to go.

Houston Texans

Reliant Stadium, Sunday, Oct. 14, 2012. Attendance: 71,702. Time: 3:07. Weather: (Indoors)

HOUSTON — Aaron Rodgers and the Green Bay Packers finally put it all together.

The reigning MVP set a career high and tied a franchise record with six touchdown passes and the Packers played their best game so far this season, beating the previously unbeaten Houston Texans 42-24 on Sunday night.

Jordy Nelson caught three touchdown passes and James Jones had two, including a beautiful, diving one-hander in the fourth quarter for the Packers (3-3). Tom Crabtree had the other, a 48-yarder that Rodgers threw just before taking a hit from Texans' outside linebacker Brooks Reed.

Rodgers completed 24 of 37 passes for 338 yards. He tied Matt Flynn's franchise record for TD passes in a game, set in last year's regular-season finale against Detroit with Rodgers resting on the sideline in advance of the playoffs.

Rodgers completed 15 of 21 passes for 187 yards and was only sacked once in the first half. He connected with six receivers, and didn't miss Greg Jennings, who sat out again with a groin injury.

Arian Foster scored two touchdowns, but ran for only 29 yards for the Texans (5-1).

Trailing 28-10, Texans rookie receiver Keshawn Martin made two first-down catches late in the third quarter and Foster scored again. Randall Cobb returned the ensuing kickoff to the Packers' 43, and Rodgers went back to work. On third down, he scrambled to his right and threw to Crabtree, who was wide open and waltzed into the end zone to give the Packers a 35-17 lead.

Sam Shields intercepted Matt Schaub and fans started filing for the exits, with more than 14 minutes remaining.

ST. LOUIS — Aaron Rodgers never worried about topping himself. A second straight turnover-free performance on the road witnessed by thousands of cheeseheads was perfectly satisfying.

The Green Bay Packers' quarterback threw for 342 yards and three touchdowns in a 30-20 victory over the St. Louis Rams on Sunday. A week earlier. the numbers were a lot gaudier when he tied the franchise record with six touchdown passes and no picks Rodgers set a couple firsts anyway, reaching 150 touchdown passes with the fewest interceptions in NFL history. Rodgers has thrown 42 interceptions, beating the record set by Dan Marino with 150 TDs and 69 picks.

He hit 81.1 percent of his passes, going 30 for 37 to set a single-game franchise record with a minimum of 35 attempts. The Packers were a season-best 9 for 15 on third-down conversions.

Randall Cobb caught two touchdown passes and Jordy Nelson had eight receptions for a season-best 122 yards and a TD for the Packers (4-3), who handed the Rams (3-4) their first home loss. Rodgers was sacked three times in the first half, but got the ball out a lot quicker the rest of the way and was 30 for 37 for 342 yards.

The Packers, who were 15-1 last season, are above .500 for the first time after alternating losses and wins the first six weeks. A week earlier, they ended the Texans' unbeaten start.

After dominating in time of possession in the first half, holding the ball for more than 18 minutes, the Rams ran just seven plays in the third quarter and were held to minus-7 yards while the Packers had 129 yards and 11:39 in time of possession.

GREEN BAY, Wis. - The Green Bay Packers needed another score from special teams, a 4-yard touchdown pass from Aaron Rodgers to Donald Driver in the fourth quarter and a makeup field goal by Mason Crosby to hold off the Jacksonville Jaguars in a 24-15 win.

It was the third straight win for the Packers (5-3) and their 16th in their last 17 games at Lambeau.

The Packers were without their two best receivers, with Jordy Nelson joining Greg Jennings on the inactive list with a hamstring injury. Charles Woodson also was on the sidelines, with a broken collarbone.

But the Packers are better equipped than most teams to overcome injuries, particularly now that Randall Cobb has emerged to join James Jones as a big-play threat.

Still clinging to a 14-12 lead after Crosby's 32-yard field goal attempt bonked off the upright with less than two minutes left in the third quarter, the Packers finally found their rhythm on a seven-play, 52-yard drive that ended with Rodgers' TD pass to Driver.

The Jaguars marched to the Green Bay 12, only to stall on back-to-back incompletions by Blaine Gabbert. Josh Scobee kicked his third field goal of the day, but then booted the kickoff out of bounds, giving the Packers the ball at their own 40 with less than 7 minutes left.

A quick three-and-out gave the Jaguars the ball back with a chance to make things interesting. After Gabbert's first two passes to Justin Blackmon from midfield fell incomplete, they finally connected on the third try for a 6-yard gain. They went for it on fourth down, but the only player who got near the ball was Green Bay cornerback Tramon Williams.

GREEN BAY 31, ARIZONA 17

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Nov. 4, 2012. Attendance: 70,504. Time: 3:14. Weather: 39° F, Humidity: 57 percent, Wind: NE 7 mph.

GREEN BAY, Wis. — The Green Bay Packers had a powerful incentive to beat the Arizona Cardinals.

Packers coach Mike McCarthy gave his banged-up team the whole week off after the Packers beat Arizona 31-17 Sunday. Less than a minute after Arizona kicked a 20-yard field goal to pare what had been a 17-point lead to a touchdown, Tom Crabtree chugged 72 yards for a late thirdquarter score that sealed the victory.

Green Bay (6-3) takes a four-game winning streak into the bye, which it desperately needs. Greg Jennings, Charles Woodson and Cedric Benson headline a laundry list of injured Packers, and three more got hurt against Arizona. Clay Matthews tweaked his hamstring, Bryan Bulaga hurt his hip and Jordy Nelson, who missed last week's game and much of practice this week with a bad hamstring, injured his ankle.

The Packers are second in the NFC North behind Chicago, with five of their last seven games against division opponents

Criticized all year for their anemic efforts on the ground, the Packers broke free for 176 yards, their most since gaining 202 against Cleveland on Oct. 25, 2009. Four players - Aaron Rodgers, Randall Cobb, James Starks and Alex Green - had 25-plus yards rushing, the first time that's

All that running must have left them tired, however, because the Packers came out sluggish in the second half. They failed to pick up a first down on any of their first four drives, and got only a 33-yard field goal from Mason Crosby despite getting the ball at their own 48, Arizona's 17 and midfield.

GREEN BAY 24, DETROIT 20

Ford Field, Sunday, Nov. 18, 2012. Attendance: 63,716. Time: 3:15. Weather: (Indoors)

 ${\tt DETROIT-M.D.\ Jennings\ caught\ the\ deflected\ pass,\ and\ there\ was\ no\ doubt\ about\ this\ interception.}$

Then it was simply a matter of how far he could return it.

Jennings went 72 yards to the end zone in the third quarter, and the Green Bay Packers went on to beat the Detroit Lions 24-20 Sunday, moving a step closer to solidifying their playoff chances in the NFC.

It was Jennings who had both hands on the ball in the end zone at the end of a game at Seattle earlier this season, but replacement officials ruled simultaneous possession by him and receiver Golden Tate, giving the Seahawks the winning touchdown.

Green Bay (7-3) has won six of seven since then, including five in a row. The Lions took back the lead after Jennings' touchdown, but they couldn't hold on. Aaron Rodgers threw two touchdown passes on the day, including a 22-yarder to Randall Cobb with 1:55 left that gave the Packers a 21-20 lead.

Mason Crosby added a 39-yard field goal with 19 seconds to go after missing two kicks earlier in the game.

Rodgers was 19 of 27 for 236 yards with two TDs, the first of which was a 20-yard connection with wide-open Jermichael Finley early in the second quarter to give Green Bay its first lead at 7-3. He also threw an interception.

N.Y. GIANTS 38, GREEN BAY 10

MetLife Stadium, Sunday, Nov. 25, 2012. Attendance: 80,365. Time: 3:00. Weather: 34° F, Humidity: 60 percent, Wind: WSW 17 mph

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — The Packers' five-game winning streak came to an end as Eli Manning threw three touchdowns and the New York Giants routed Green Bay 38-10 in a nationally televised game Sunday night.

Coming on the heels of last season's loss in the playoffs, it was the Packers' second straight lopsided loss to New York (7-4) and this one seemed worse than the 37-20 setback. It also left them a game behind Chicago (8-3) in the NFC North.

The Giants dominated in all phases on a night that Manning set a franchise record with his 200th career touchdown pass.

The 38 points were the most given up by Green Bay this season and it came in a game in which Aaron Rodgers was sacked five times and hit at least as many times.

The Packers were missing such key starters as linebacker Clay Matthews, defensive back Charles Woodson and receiver Greg Jennings, and it showed.

New York struck early with a brilliantly conceived screen pass to Ahmad Bradshaw off a fake reverse to Victor Cruz. Bradshaw sped down the field before being caught at the Green Bay 2, a 59-yard pickup that led to Andre Brown's scoring run.

Green Bay didn't flinch, with Jordy Nelson getting behind Corey Webster in single coverage down the right sideline for a 61-yard TD reception from Rodgers. The scoring flurry went back in the Giants' favor - and pretty much stayed there - when Manning hit Rueben Randle in the back of the end zone for a 16-yard TD. It was the first score for the rookie and Manning's first touchdown throw in four games, and he set it up with, of all things, a scramble in which he laid his shoulder into Packers cornerback Tramon Williams for a 13-yard gain.

Groon Bay Backers

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Dec. 2, 2012. Attendance: 70,567. Time: 2:58. Weather: 45° F, Humidity: 79 percent, Wind: NW 8 mph.

GREEN BAY, Wis. - If any more Green Bay receivers go down, the Packers could always use Morgan Burnett.

With the Minnesota Vikings rolling behind Adrian Peterson, the Green Bay Packers safety picked off Christian Ponder twice in the red zone in the second half. Mason Crosby converted the miscues into a pair of field goals, James Starks gave Green Bay its first touchdown on the ground in almost two months and the Packers overcame Peterson's monster day for a 23-14 win.

The victory was Green Bay's 10th straight over an NFC North opponent and gave the Packers (8-4) a share of the division lead after Chicago lost to Seattle in overtime.

Peterson finished with 210 yards rushing, the most he's had since blowing out his ACL and MCL last December. That included a career-long 82-yard touchdown that gave Minnesota a 14-10 lead at halftime.

The Packers didn't panic despite injuries to Jordy Nelson (hamstring) and T.J. Lang (ankle) leaving the offense scrambling and Peterson almost single-handedly wiping out Green Bay's early 10-0 lead. He put the Vikings in great position to pad that lead, ripping off a 48-yarder on the first play of the second half that gave Minnesota the ball at the Green Bay 12.

But two plays later, Ponder got flushed out of the pocket. Rather than take the sack or run out of bounds, he heaved the ball into the end zone - and right into Burnett's hands.

The Packers ground out an 11-minute drive in the fourth quarter before Crosby sealed the win with his third field goal of the day, a 31-yarder. Rodgers made three big third-down conversions to keep the drive alive, running for one and finding Greg Jennings (8 yards) and Randall Cobb (33 yards) on the others.

GREEN BAY 27, DETROIT 20

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Dec. 9, 2012. Attendance: 70,382. Time: 3:08. Weather: 33° F, Humidity: 92 percent, Wind: E 10 mph.

GREEN BAY, Wis. — While other teams face complicated playoff scenarios and confusing tiebreakers, the task is quite simple for the Green Bay Packers. Beat the Bears at Soldier Field next weekend and the NFC North title is theirs.

The Packers opened a one-game lead over Chicago with their 27-20 victory over the Detroit Lions on Sunday night. The Bears had lost at Minnesota a few hours earlier, ceding control of the division to a team that began the year 2-3.

Calvin Johnson had 118 yards receiving to put him over 1,500 for the year, but it wasn't enough to keep the Lions (4-9) from dropping their fifth straight. After touchdowns on their first two drives gave them a 14-0 lead, the Lions crossed midfield six times but could only manage a pair of field goals by Jason Hanson.

The season's first significant storm dumped almost 3.5 inches of snow on Green Bay, making Lambeau Field look like a snow globe for most of the night and the football glisten with moisture. As Matthew Stafford drew his arm back to throw midway through the second quarter and with the Lions up 14-0, the ball slipped out of his hands.

And Packers rookie Mike Daniels was right there to scoop it up, rumbling 43 yards for the score that pulled Green Bay within 14-10. He became Green Bay's first rookie defensive lineman to return a fumble for a TD since 1941.

Aaron Rodgers gave the Packers their first lead of the day, scrambling away from Lions defensive end Willie Young and running 27 yards for the score. It was the longest scoring run of Rodgers' career, and also was Green Bay's longest rushing touchdown of the season.

Soldier Field, Sunday, Dec. 16, 2012. Attendance: 62,534. Time: 2:58. Weather: 44° F, Humidity: 79 percent, Wind: W 9 mph.

CHICAGO — The Green Bay Packers delivered the ultimate comeback to the Chicago Bears on Sunday, a 21-13 victory that gave Green Bay its second straight NFC North title and put a serious dent in Chicago's playoff hopes. Aaron Rodgers connected with James Jones on all three touchdowns, and Clay Matthews continued his dominance of Jay Cutler with two more sacks as the Packers won their sixth straight against their archrivals.

The Packers are assured of a home playoff game and, at 10-4, are still in the running for the No. 2 seed in the NFC.

Brandon Marshall scored Chicago's only touchdown, but finished with 56 yards on six catches, his fewest totals in a month. Cutler had another dismal day against the Packers, throwing an interception that led to the game-winning touchdown. He's been picked off 17 times by the Packers, including 10 in his last five games

The Bears managed only 67 yards the entire second half, and Alshon Jeffery was whistled for offensive pass interference three times - yes, three - in the final 16 minutes of the game.

The Packers piled almost 400 yards on Lance Briggs and his buddies, and turned a 7-0 deficit into a 14-7 lead over the last 4:19 of the second quarter thanks to a pair of Rodgers-to-Jones TDs sandwiched around a Casey Hayward pick.

The Packers made it 21 unanswered points on the first drive of the second half. In another third-and-long situation, Rodgers threw incomplete to Jermichael Finley.

But Green Bay got a second chance when Chris Conte was called for pass interference. After a delay-of-game penalty, Rodgers found Jones for a 6-yard score. It was Jones' first three-touchdown game and the fourth multiple-TD game of his career.

GREEN BAY 55, TENNESSEE 7

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Dec. 23, 2012. Attendance: 70,508. Time: 3:06. Weather: 24° F, Humidity: 68 percent, Wind: NW 9 mph.

GREEN BAY, Wis. - The Green Bay Packers sure look ready for the playoffs.

Aaron Rodgers threw for three touchdowns and ran for another, Ryan Grant scored twice and the Green Bay defense picked on Jake Locker early and often in a 55-7 rout of the Tennessee Titans on Sunday.

It was the most points scored by the Packers since they put up the same number against Tampa Bay on Oct. 2, 1983, and their largest margin of victory since a 52-3 win over New Orleans on Oct. 9, 2005.

The Packers (11-4) moved up to the No. 2 seed with Seattle's victory over San Francisco. Green Bay finishes the regular season next Sunday at Minnesota, and a victory would give the Packers a first-round bye.

The Packers have been one of the NFL's best teams over the past two months, winning nine of 10 games. But they haven't always been at their best against inferior teams, struggling to put away the likes of the Jaguars, Cardinals and Lions.
That wasn't the case against Tennessee. Far from it.

The Titans had one of the NFL's stinglest defenses since giving up 51 points to Chicago on Nov. 4, allowing an average of 17.6 points to their past five opponents.

But Rodgers and the Green Bay offense may as well have been playing the Madden NFL video game for as easily as they piled up the yardage and the scores on the Titans.

Green Bay scored on nine of its first 12 drives - one of those misses was the end of the first half - and was six of seven in the red zone.

MINNESOTA 37, GREEN BAY 34

Minnesota Vikings

Mall of America Field at HHH Metrodome, Sunday, Dec. 30, 2012. Attendance: 64,134. Time: 3:20. Weather: (Indoors)

MINNEAPOLIS — Back and forth they went, Adrian Peterson and Aaron Rodgers going at each other with so much on the line. The emotional pendulum swung wildly in one of the most memorable games of this long and bitter rivalry.

It was a game so good that it deserves a rematch. And that's just what it will get.

Peterson rushed for 199 yards to become the seventh player to surpass 2,000 in a season and scored two touchdowns to help the Minnesota Vikings to a 37-34 victory over the Green Bay Packers on Sunday that sets up a playoff rematch next weekend.

Christian Ponder threw for 234 yards and three touchdowns in the best game of his young career and Blair Walsh kicked a 29-yard field goal as inchristian the Vikings (10-6), who won the last four games of the regular season to squeak in as the final NFC wild card. Peterson finished with 2,097 yards in his remarkable comeback season, just nine yards shy of breaking Eric Dickerson's single-season record set back in 1984.

The two teams will meet again at Lambeau Field on Saturday night because the Packers (11-5) once again couldn't find a way to stop Peterson. He needed 102 yards to join the 2,000-yard club and 208 to surpass Dickerson coming into the game. After rushing for 210 yards at Lambeau on Dec. 2, Peterson plowed through the Packers again on the one-year anniversary of surgery to repair two from ligaments in his left knee.

Rodgers completed 28 of 40 passes for 365 yards and four touchdowns, overcoming a slow start to bring the Packers roaring back into the game. The Vikings jumped out to a 13-0 lead early in the second quarter, with Peterson scoring from seven yards out and Walsh kicking a 54-yard field goal and a 37-yarder to get the Metrodome crowd rocking. Peterson went over 2,000 yards with a 20-yard burst in the third quarter, getting serenaded with chants of "MVP!" along the way.

But Rodgers isn't ready to give up his crown just yet. He hit Greg Jennings and James Jones for touchdown passes in the third quarter and Mason Crosby's second field goal of the game tied it at 27 early in the fourth quarter to set up the wild finish.

GREEN BAY 24, MINNESOTA 10

Lambeau Field, Saturday, Jan. 5, 2013. Attendance: 71,548. Time: 2:55. Weather: 29°F, Humidity: 78 percent, Wind: SW 9 mph.

GREEN BAY, Wis. — Deep on offense and scary-good on defense, the Green Bay Packers were way too much for the Minnesota Vikings.

Aaron Rodgers, Charles Woodson and the Packers reminded everyone of how dangerous they can be when they're at full strength Saturday night, overwhelming the Vikings 24-10 in an NFC Wild Card game that was never really close.

John Kuhn scored two touchdowns. DuJuan Harris added another and Rodgers connected with an NFL playoff-record 10 receivers as he threw for 274 yards in his first playoff victory at home. Defensively, the Packers (12-5) finally managed to contain Adrian Peterson and were all over Vikings Tot Z/4 yards in this lines playor including a normal post-based play and a local control of the local control of the play and a local control of the play and the second time in the last 11 games that he was held below 100 yards. Webb, who hadn't thrown a pass all season, was sacked three times and off target all night. His only highlight was a 50-yard scoring pass to Michael Jenkins late in the fourth quarter, but it was far too late for the Vikings (10-7).

With a little over a minute left, Packers fans began taunting the Vikings (10-7) with chants of "Nah-nah-nah-nah ... goodbye." The win snapped a two-game losing streak at Lambeau Field in the playoffs, and sent the Packers to San Francisco next Saturday for an NFC divisional game with the 49ers. The teams met in the season opener, with San Francisco winning 30-22.

Rodgers used so many different options other NFL quarterbacks must have been drooling. He went with Harris on Green Bay's first scoring drive, mixed it up between James Jones, Tom Crabtree and Greg Jennings on the second, and had 22- and 23-yard completions to Jordy Nelson before Kuhn scored on a 3-yard run that put the Packers up 17-3 just before the half.

Harris, who didn't play in the first game against Minnesota this season because he'd only been elevated from the practice squad a day earlier, led the team in receiving (five catches for 61 yards) and rushing (47 yards on 17 carries). Jennings and Jones had four catches each and Nelson had three before hobbling off late in the fourth quarter.

SAN FRANCISCO 45, GREEN BAY 31

Candlestick Park, Saturday, Jan. 12, 2013. Attendance: 69,732. Time: 3:10. Weather: 48°F, Humidity: 50 percent, Wind: W 5 mph.

SAN FRANCISCO — The unproven kid thoroughly beat the former Super Bowl champion and reigning MVP.

With a strong arm that allowed him to pick the Green Bay Packers apart from the pocket and speedy legs that helped him break free for big gains, Colin Kaepernick did a little bit of everything in a record-setting, sensational playoff debut.

Kaepernick passed for 263 yards and ran the San Francisco 49ers right back to the NFC championship game with a 45-31 win over Green Bay in an NFC divisional game Saturday night.

Kaepernick rushed for a quarterback playoff-record 181 yards and two touchdowns and threw two scoring passes to Michael Crabtree.

Aaron Rodgers never got in sync for the Packers (12-6), finishing 26 of 39 for 257 yards with two touchdowns.

Those Green Bay road stars of two years ago -- they won three away from Lambeau Field on the way to the Super Bowl -- didn't have it this time against San Francisco's stingy defense and a no-fear, second-year quarterback who would not be denied. A kid who was born in Milwaukee and grew up a big Green Bay fan until the day he was drafted in 2011 out of Nevada.

The strong-armed Kaepernick brushed off the interception he tossed on the fourth play of the game that Sam Shields ran back 52 yards for a touchdown, then took control with his pinpoint passing to his favorite go-to guy — Crabtree — and with his quick-burst ability out of the pocket.

Kaepernick bounced back from the early interception and again after a second-quarter taunting penalty in which he threw the ball down in the face of safety M.D. Jennings after being hit by Jennings and Erik Walden.

Two plays later, Kaepernick found Crabtree for his 20-yard TD as San Francisco capitalized on another Packers turnover.

Green Bay Packers

Rodgers answered right back on the Packers' next chance, driving his team 80 yards on six plays and hitting James Jones on a 20-yard touchdown of his own that tied the game at 21.

JOHNNY BLOOD

In 1922 while in college at St. John's (Minn.), John McNally had the chance to pick up some extra cash playing pro ball for the Duluth Eskimos. Problem was, college players were not allowed on pro teams. In order to keep his eligibility, he needed an alias.

Allegedly, he and a teammate were strolling through Minneapolis and noticed a marquee on Hennepin Avenue advertising the movie Blood and Sand, starring Rudolph Valentino. McNally got his alias, dubbed his buddy "Sand," and lived the rest of his colorful life to its fullest.

ENDING THE SEASON ON A HIGH NOTE

If history is any indicator, a Green Bay winning streak to end the regular season means good things for the coming season. In 2006, the Packers were one of four clubs to finish the regular season with four consecutive victories. It marked the third time that decade the club had ended the season with four consecutive wins, and each following season it earned a playoff berth.

Since the NFL implemented postseason play, the Packers on 10 occasions have closed a regular season with at least four wins.
 Green Bay has failed to reach the playoffs in the following season only twice – in 1940 and '42.

HERBER-TO-HUTSON: DID YOU KNOW?

The Packers' Arnie Herber became the NFL's first long-bomb passer, and he did it with unusually small hands. At Green Bay West High School, Herber learned he could improve his distance and accuracy by palming the ball, rather than using the laces. His mostfeared target, the incomparable Don Hutson, had flat feet, and trainers had to tape them in a special way. That taping job gave Hutson a strange running motion, which totally stumped opponents, because his loping style disguised his true speed.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY ASSISTS PACKERS TO 1961 CHAMPIONSHIP

Vince Lombardi won an incredible nine straight postseason games, a streak he might not have launched without the help of President John F. Kennedy. The 1961 NFL championship took place during the Berlin Crisis, and the United States had called Ray Nitschke, Paul Hornung and Boyd Dowler into service. With Lombardi's persistence, Nitschke and Dowler obtained special weekend passes to play. Private Hornung, however, wasn't released until Lombardi called an old acquaintance, Kennedy.

"Paul Hornung isn't going to win the war on Sunday, but the football fans of this country deserve the two best teams on the field that day," Kennedy assured Lombardi, days before the game against the New York Giants.

The best team was Green Bay, by a 37-0 count, and after Kennedy released Hornung, the Golden Boy scored 19 points, an NFL title-game record.

The Berlin Crisis pitted the U.S. against East Germany for several months, until the East German government backed down. The crisis ended in the summer of 1962. Kennedy visited Berlin and delivered a famous speech before he died in 1963.
