LETTER FROM THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

Dear American Association Baseball Fan,

Welcome to another exciting season of American Association baseball. The American Association is the premier independent league in North America. Our league has the best stadiums, the best promotions, the best organizations and some of the best baseball in any professional league. For the past thirteen seasons, we have set the bar for independent professional baseball and will strive to make the league better each day.

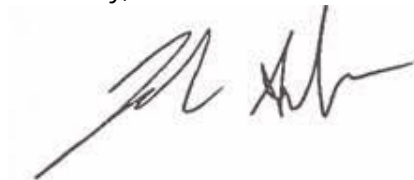

In 2019 we welcome a new team to the American Association. The Milwaukee Milkmen will be playing out of Franklin, Wisc. beginning this season. Their ballpark, Routine Field, will be a magnificent 4,000 seat facility that will feature numerous amenities and anchor a sprawling sports and entertainment district. Milwaukee will continue the American Association tradition of having the greatest operators utilizing the best facilities in professional baseball. Inspired by the past, the American Association will continue to seek new markets throughout the central United States.

Independent baseball, including here in the American Association, is where players keep their dreams alive. Many of our players have been with Major League organizations yet were let go because someone deemed them "not a big leaguer." Others are college players who were never drafted. But they all believe they have the talent and drive to make it to "The Show". Each year dozens of our players are sold to Major League organizations, and this Spring eight former American Association players were on the Opening Day rosters of Major League teams. Thus, the American Association has proven, and will continue to prove, that big league talent exists in our league.

The original American Association began play in 1901 with some of the same cities that are in our current league. The American Association was reformed in 2006 with the combination of teams from the Northern League and the Central League. Some of the original Northern League teams (Sioux City, Sioux Falls, and St. Paul) are now entering their 27th year of operation. It is an indication of the stability of the cities and the dedication of ownership that goes into making for great independent baseball tradition.

We hope you have a fun day at our games. The food, the promotions, and most of all the baseball are special and we are glad you are here to enjoy everything that makes the American Association a great league.

Sincerely,

Joshua E. Schaub

LAST GAME RECAP

The Texas AirHogs stalled Milkmen scoring for a second night. Milwaukee went hitless until the eighth inning, when Garrett Copeland got his 19th double of the year, which resulted to be the only hit.

Riley Pittman scored the Milkmen's only run off a balk in the eighth inning. Milwaukee finished with two men left on base and drawing two walks.

Milkmen starter, Jordan Kraus, took the loss on the night. He pitched 6 1/3 innings, allowing 7 hits, 3 runs, 2 walks and 5 strikeouts

PLAYER SPOTLIGHT

JORDAN KRAUS

Jordan Kraus has been one of the Milkmen's top pitchers during this inaugural season. The Olmsted Falls, Ohio native and Wheeling Jesuit alumni currently holds the most wins of anyone on the team (and at time of writing is tied with former Milkmen pitcher T.J. House) with seven wins. This is all the more impressive when you consider Kraus initially started the season as a reliever. His numbers have been very consistent all season, which is fitting considering "consistent" is probably the very word his teammates would use to describe his style of play.

Kraus, like many of his teammates has seemingly been born and bred for baseball, first getting involved at a very young age through tee ball. Even though he hasn't pitched for any major league level clubs yet, Kraus has immense independent pro baseball experience in both the Pecos and Frontier Leagues. Kraus also has experience living in the Midwest, specifically around Cleveland, so living and playing in Milwaukee hasn't really been too difficult an adjustment.

Kraus says he can't envision what he would be doing or where he would be without professional baseball. He says that even after hanging up his mitt for the final time he will still be married to the game, although whether he would spend his post-playing days as a coach or something completely different he couldn't say, just that baseball was his career and life. Kraus doesn't model his game after anyone either, he is focused on being one of a kind and that copying someone else "takes away from what I do best, so I just try to remain unique, my own pitcher."

Kraus said he doesn't have what he considers special talents, but he does like to golf when not training on his off days.

Kraus says his future goals for his career like everyone else in the American Association all revolve around the opportunity to play affiliate ball and eventually make it on to a major league roster. Regardless of his future, on thing is clear about Jordan Kraus, he is a baseball lifer and no matter where he plays he will be dedicated to being at the top of his craft.

LOVE Never SPOILS

The Milwaukee Milkmen have teamed up with our friends at The Jewelry Center for the Love Never Spoils contest at ten (10) Milwaukee Milkmen home games this year. We encouraged fans to nominate themselves, or loved ones, who may be celebrating an anniversary, engagement, personal milestone or who may be newlyweds, for a chance to have their story shared and during a Milkmen game! Not only were our lucky winners recognized during a game, but they also received a $200 gift card to The Jewelry Center! To learn more about The Jewelry Center, visit ShopTJC.com

Congrats to all of our winners!

MEET BO VINE

Bo Vine is one of the newest members to the Milwaukee Milkmen, and he couldn't be more excited to be a part of the Milkmen's inaugural season in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Bo Vine will be sporting his 2% jersey, which just so happens to be his favorite kind of milk. Bo Vine will be at all the Milwaukee Milkmen home games this season, ready and eager to meet everyone in his new home at Routine Field. Be sure to give him a hug and a high-five when you see him- as a big warm welcome to Milwaukee, Wisconsin!

BO VINE

Occupation: Professional Mascot

Company: Milwaukee Milkmen

Favorite mantra: Bo Knows Milkmen

Is there a special meaning behind your name? Growing up, my dad lived on a farm in Kansas City in the mid-80s and was a huge Bo Jackson fanatic. So naturally, when I was born he named me after his hero.

What were you doing before taking this job? The Milkmen found me while I was modeling for a fast food chain, but before that, I was an elite collegiate athlete. I played both football and baseball and received the Holstein Trophy, awarded to the nation's top cow. I've turned my attention to baseball and the Milkmen now!

Why did you choose this line of work? I chose this line of work because I wanted to be adored by millions of people. As the mascot for the Milkmen there is no better way to be showcased to the world. Plus, I look "beefy" in the uniform.

Describe a typical "game day": I like to get my day started off by coming to Routine Field and getting a long workout in. You do not get arms like these by just milking cows. After my work out I head over to the locker room to get my horns sharpened and make sure that they are polished real shiny. You can't be the best if you don't look the best! Once I feel like I look "sharp" enough, I find a uniform that isn't torn from my bulging biceps and head on over to the gate to greet my fans!

What's the most rewarding aspect of your career? Being able to showcase my athletic ability and dance "mooves" to all of our fans.

What's the most challenging part? I would say not charging after people that wear the color red, and not being able to eat the turf.

How did you get your foot in the door? You do not become the best mascot on the planet by getting your foot in the door... You do it by blowing the door off its hinges. I stormed in to Routine Field with confidence and swagger. That is how I am going to take over this league.

What does it really take to make it and succeed in this career? A healthy diet of organic grass, Biceps that cannot be contained by average shirts, and being 100% lean beef

Describe one of the best moments you've had on the job: Whenever I get to race against my other cow friends. Little do they know that I have been training for those races since I was just a young calf.

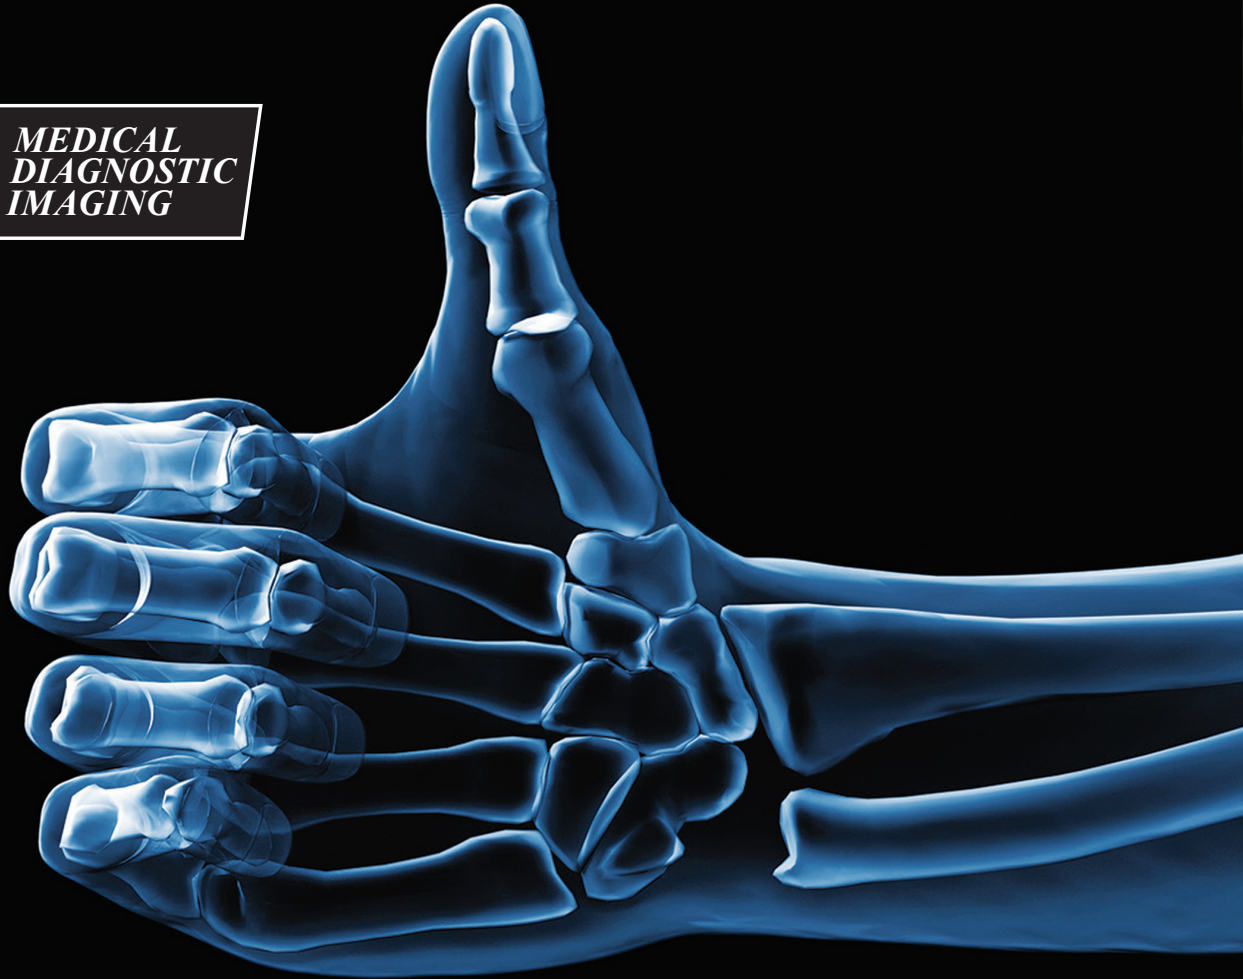

What's the hardest part of the day? The hardest part of every day is being mistaken for a mechanical bull. People think they can just hop on whenever they please.

What's your most interesting encounter you've ever had with a person on the job? I once had a young man ask to take a picture of me while he was eating a cheeseburger...

Do you have a goal for this season? I hope the team does a 'BO KNOWS' campaign for me!

That leads me into my last question, why the number 2% on your jersey? I chose 2% for two reasons, 2% is exactly how much body fat I have and it is my favorite kind of milk.

VAN "THE MILKMAN" MCNEIL

Van "The Milkman" McNeil, an Illinois native, had always wanted to be in broadcasting. He distinctly recalls a day watching baseball with his dad and saying "I want to do that!" Play baseball? "No, I wanna be one of the guys that's talking on the TV!" His wish became a reality as he built an illustrious career running the radio and TV circuit and studying at Second City in Chicago until moving north and expanding into Milwaukee. He started KISS FM in 1998 and over the next 15 years bounced around stations until landing on his current ones 92.1 VTY Country and 92.5 BUZZ - and, of course, as Van "The Milkman", face of the Milwaukee Milkmen pro baseball team.

Along with his radio and TV work, Van is also heavily involved in philanthropy through an organization called This Time Tomorrow and greatly values the unifying aspects of his career, saying "we're a platform that keeps communities, people, together and updated and really we're a companion. We do serve the public. I love it, I love radio and TV - just communicating."

Regarding the Milkmen, he's excited "to bring the level of entertainment from all the things I've done in my career, from performing and studying in Chicago, improve there, as well as all the radio and TV stuff that I've done, putting that all together and putting on a big show that's a lot of great baseball and a lot of fun, getting emotion out of people - that's what I'm looking forward to." But, most importantly, what is Van "The Milkman's" favorite kind of milk? Chocolate, though "it's gotta be homemade - you gotta take the milk, Hershey's chocolate, and you have to be generous with the chocolate." Van has been generous with not just his chocolate, but his talents as well.

Reflecting on all he's accomplished, Van sees that everything he's done has been for a reason. "I've been on channel 12 news for 6 years now, done philanthropy work for over a decade, and been in sports for over 2 decades now; all that knowledge has carried over into where I am now." Looking forward, Van is ecstatic about the future of the franchise - "We just plan on having a ton of fun for the entire family, everybody can come; even grandma, even if you're not a fan of baseball you can still come - you can have a great time." Catch Van "The Milkman" McNeil at Milwaukee Milkmen home games and be on the lookout for him around the community!

Noble Brothers Dairy Products

Noble Brothers Dairy Products is the family business of brothers Jay and John Noble. As sixth-generation Wisconsin dairy farmers, we have a passion for the dairy industry that is our heritage. Moving on from milking cows to pursuing the creation of specialty dairy products has given us a new direction.

Starting several years ago with an artisan cheese business, which now includes Ice Cream and Frozen Custard manufacturing, we are continuing our commitment to the dairy industry that has been in our family for generations. We are Wisconsin Licensed Cheesemakers who proudly make real Wisconsin dairy products with real Wisconsin milk, and it shows.

Enjoy!

Milkmen STRIKE OUT HUNGER

WaterStone Bank (WSB) is committed to supporting organizations that embrace and connect our communities like the Milwaukee Milkmen and Hunger Task Force. WSB has been supporting Southeastern Wisconsin for almost 100 years and we realize improving our neighborhoods depends on partnerships and working together. If you'd like to partner with us for your financial needs, visit us at any of our 11 locations or online at wsbonline.com.

Hunger Task Force is Milwaukee's Free & Local food bank and Wisconsin's leading anti-hunger organization. The food bank delivers healthy food free of charge to local pantries, meal programs and senior centers. Each month, over 50,000 people are served through this network. A key source of this healthy food includes fresh produce from Hunger Task Force's 208-acre Farm in Franklin. The Farm grows 25 types of fresh fruits and vegetables for the express purpose of feeding the hungry. Annually, half a million pounds of locally-sourced produce are grown and distributed through the Hunger Task Force network, increasing access to fresh and healthy foods for local hungry families.
