Garrett Whitlock's scoreless streak ended after 26 straight innings as the Lakewood BlueClaws shutout Charleston for the second time to finish off a three-game sweep of the RiverDogs, 1-0, on Friday night at FirstEnergy Park.

Garrett Whitlock (2-2) suffered the third consecutive loss for a Charleston starter despite another spectacular outing. The 18th round pick out of UAB struck out four across six innings, with his lone blemish coming on an RBI single by Josh Steven with one out in the second. The Georgia native only yielded four hits while raising his ERA to a 1.13 mark after allowing his first run since an April 10 start in Rome. The RiverDogs scuffled at the plate, managing just three hits off Lakewood (19-15) pitching.

DOGGIE BITES:

- All Staff Appreciation: Charleston pitching has dominated all season long, especially in the month of May, when RiverDogs arms have produced a 1.64 ERA, almost a half run lower than the next best team since the turn of the calendar page (West Virginia, 2.22). Dogs pitching leads all of professional baseball in staff ERA (2.35) and WHIP (1.03). They have also produced one of the lowest walk rates in the minors, issuing a free pass less than 6% of the time.
- Washed out of the Shore: The RiverDogs enter Saturday's tilt in Hagerstown after being swept for the first time this year and dropping three games in a row for the first time since April 18-20. The RiverDogs managed just one run in the entire series (a 2-1 loss on Thursday) against Lakewood while going 0-for-14 with runners in scoring position. Charleston pitching recorded a 1.67 ERA while the bats hit to a tune of a .176 average (16-for-21) collectively.
- Northern Tour: After being swept by the BlueClaws, Charleston continues their road trip up North with a four-game tilt in Hagerstown. The weeklong trip will be the only meetings with the Phillies and Nationals affiliates in the first-half. Both clubs will visit The Joe back-to-back in identical series in Charleston from August 7-13 in the second-half.
- Narrow Margins: Following Friday's 1-0 loss, the RiverDogs have played 18 one-run games this season, the most in Minor League Baseball and contests in which they have gone 7-11. The Holy City has fared much better at home, going 6-3 in games decided by one-run at The Joe versus a 1-8 mark on the road. Despite ranking last in the league in runs scored, the RiverDogs still own a +9 run differential.
- Molina on the Rise: RiverDogs outfielder Leonardo Molina has continued to swing a hot bat in the month of May, hitting safely in his last seven straight, a span in which the Dominican Republic native has gone 11-for-32 (.344). Over the torrid stretch, the 20-year-old has raised his season batting average from .198 to .235. After starting the season on an 0-for-21 slide, Molina has been a .294 hitter (30-for-102) since.
- Hess Heating Up: After playing above the .300 mark for most of April, Hess's average dropped to .280 at the end of April. So far in May, Hess has gone 13-for-30 to raise his average back above .300. His now .324 average ranks fourth among qualified SAL hitters while his .952 OPS places him at third in the circuit.
- It was the Best of Times, it was the Worst of Times: Charleston enters Saturday's matchup with the best ERA (2.35) and the fewest runs allowed (96) in the league. Pitchers have issued the least walks (70) and their 319 strikeouts ranks fifth. Offensively, the Dogs have scored the least runs. They have gotten their opportunities, but Charleston is hitting .196 with runners in scoring position, last in the SAL and just 0-for-14 in such situations on the current road trip.
- Don't Start Without Me: Since April 17th, Charleston starters have posted a 1.99 ERA in 127.2 innings. Over that 23-game span, starters have struck out 131 batters while walking just 14. The RiverDogs are just 11-12 during that dominant stretch.
- You Mess with the Bull(pen), you get the Horns: After allowing no more than a run just once in the first 18 games of the season, the Charleston pen has continued the 2018 campaign on a dominant run, allowing just 19 earned runs in 112.1 innings to start the year (good for a 1.52 ERA). The bullpen hasn't allowed a run since May 4 vs Lexington and are currently riding a 13.0 inning scoreless streak.
- Pinstriped Prospects: Once again, the RiverDogs tap into one of the premier farm systems in baseball with the New York Yankees. Recently rated the second-best farm system by Baseball America pre-season and the sixth-best by MLB.com, the Bronx Bombers boast five of MLB.com's Preseason Top-100 prospects. Charleston's current roster features three of the Yankees' Top-30 prospects (MLB.com, BA): INF Oswaldo Cabrera (--, #26), RHP Alexander Vargas (--, #28), and RHP Rony Garcia (--, #29). In 2017, the Yankees led all of baseball in organizational winning percentage (.602) between the Major and minor leagues and featured seven of their eight domestic affiliates in the postseason.
