BLUE ROCKS BREAKDOWN

HOME: 33-33 | AWAY: 31-36 | STREAK: L1 | LAST 5: 4-1 | LAST 10: 4-6

WILMINGTON'S RALLY DOESN'T HOLD UP AGAINST LYNCHBURG: In a wild, back-and-forth affair between two teams vying for the final playoff spot in the Northern Division, the Wilmington Blue Rocks rallied from a four-run deficit, held a lead, but ultimately fell 10-7 to the Lynchburg Hillcats Tuesday night at Calvin Falwell Field. Emmanuel Rivera and D.J. Burt each hit two-run home runs in the game for the Blue Rocks. With the loss, the Blue Rocks trail the Hillcats by five games with seven to play for the top spot in the Northern Division.

CLINGING TO PLAYOFF HOPES: The setback Tuesday for the Blue Rocks put their playoff chances in jeopardy as Wilmington's elimination number is three games with seven left to play.

-Wilmington will need to try and win the series against the Hillcats in order to try and run the table heading into the final week of the season.

-The Blue Rocks lead the head-to-head series 15-10, but were swept by the Hillcats the last time the two teams played on August 14-16 in Wilmington which put the Blue Rocks behind the Hillcats in the Northern Division race.

-The Blue Rocks are hitting .249 against the Hillcats while the pitching staff has yielded a solid 3.70 ERA.

-The Hillcats are batting .262 against the Blue Rocks with a 4.04 ERA.

OFFENSE SEARCHING FOR CLUTCH HIT: Despite the Blue Rocks' putting up double-digit hits in each of the last five games, the Blue Rocks are a combined 2-for-26 with runners in scoring position through the first two games of the series against the Hillcats.

-Wilmington has scored 35 runs in their last five games and posted double-digit hits in each game, tallying 59 total hits during the stretch.

-In their previous 10 games, the Rocks scored just 17 runs during that stretch.

-Monday, Wilmington collected 11 hits in a thrilling 4-3 win over the Hillcats.

-Sunday, the Blue Rocks racked up 15 hits with Blake Perkins leading the way with four while Emmanuel Rivera and Rudy Martin each picked up three hits.

-On Saturday, eight different Blue Rocks picked up a hit as they tallied 11 hits in the victory.

-In the series opener on Friday, Wilmington used 12 hits, with six being double to push past Salem.

-The six doubles in the contest set a new single-game season high. (Previous was five at Potomac on May 2)

TALE OF TWO MONTHS: The Blue Rocks put together an incredible month of July to help put themselves in a position to make a postseason run.

-Wilmington closed out the month of July with a 19-10 record which was the best record of any team in the CL during the month.

-The Rocks as a team hit .277, the highest batting average of any month this season and also scored more runs (155) than they did in any previous month.

-They also strung together an eight-game winning streak from July 20-28, which was the longest for the club since 2009.

-Unfortunately for the Blue Rocks, August hasn't been as kind with Wilmington going 9-16 through the first 25 games of the final full month of the season.

WALK OR RUN THIS WAY: The Blue Rocks have been near the top in the Carolina League in walks for the majority of the season and also lead the league in stolen bases.

-Wilmington leads the Carolina League in walks with 509.

-The Rocks have swiped 175 bags through 133 games this year, which paces the league, all of Advanced-A tied for second-most in all of MiLB.

-The Blue Crew also have been stealing bases at a rapid clip in the second half and have stolen 98 bases through 63 games of the second half.

-Wilmington has four different active players with double-digit stolen bases including D.J. Burt who is the active team-leader and first in the CL with 31, Blake Perkins is tied for second in the CL with 29 between Potomac and Wilmington, Rudy Martin has 26 stolen bases on the year and Travis Jones has 16.

-The Blue Crew set a new, single-game, season-high with six stolen bases on August 18 at Myrtle Beach.

-Oliver Nunez stole three bases while Brewer Hicklen swiped two and Angelo Castellano stole one.

-On the season, Wilmington has stolen at least five bases in a game eight times.

-Wilmington is the only team in the Carolina League to steal 20 or more bases in each month of the season. (37 in April, 20 in May, 37 in June, 38 in July and have 41 in August)

-They also have an impressive 74% success rate stealing bases this season (175 out of 235).

BURT PROVIDING THE HURT: Second-year Blue Rock D.J. Burt is not suffering from a sophomore slump in the Carolina League and was named a Carolina League All-Star.

-He leads the Carolina League in stolen bases (31), tied for second in on-base percentage (.380) and fifth in batting average (.295)

-He picked up a hit in 20 of 24 games in July to help him post a .330 batting average (31-for-94) with two homers, 18 RBI and a .404 OBP.

-First on the team with 33 multi-hit games. (Had 20 all of last season)

-The 22-year-old has served as the Rocks' utility man this season, making 36 starts at third base, 32 at second base, 13 at shortstop and 11 in left field.

HAVING A MEIBRYS AT THE PLATE: Blue Rocks' catcher, Meibrys Viloria looks to continue his strong finish to the 2018 season.

-After slashing .209/.317/.281 through his first 57 Advanced-A games, the 21-year-old has been scorching at the plate since July 2.

-During his last 41 games, he is slashing .316/.367/.458 with 21 RBI.

ROLLING ON THE RIVERA: Third baseman Emmanuel Rivera has been scorching hot at the plate over his last 10 games.

-Rivera is slashing .395/.452/.711 with eight extra-base hits and has driven in eight runs.

-The 21-year-old is tied for second on the team with Meibrys Viloria in home runs with six.

-Rivera is coming off a batting title season ago in the South Atlantic League when he hit .310 in 122 games with the Lexington Legends.

THE BOOK ON OFREIDY GOMEZ: Ofreidy Gomez was signed by the Kansas City Royals as an international free agent on May 10, 2012. The 23-year-old native of the Dominican Republic spent last season in Low-A Lexington where he pitched in full-season baseball for the first time in his career. With the Legends, he went 7-12 with a 5.18 ERA in 28 games pitched including 22 starts. He set career-highs in games pitched, starts, innings pitched (137.1) and strikeouts (108). He paced the Legends' pitching staff in starts, innings pitched and strikeouts and tied for second in games pitched and was tied for the most losses in the South Atlantic League. Gomez made his stateside debut in 2016 when he pitched for the Burlington Royals, who made it to the Appalachian League Championship Series that season. With Burlington, the righty went 5-4 with a 5.20 ERA in 12 starts and also tossed a complete game. He worked 55.1 innings and allowed 32 earned runs on 46 hits. He struck out 44 batters and walked 27 while holding opponents to a .236 batting average. The righty spent his first three seasons in the Dominican Summer League with the DSL Royals. He made a good first impression in his professional debut season, going 3-0 with a solid 2.35 ERA in 10 relief appearances. He held opponents to a .192 contact clip and struck out 17 men and walked 14. However, his next two seasons were more of a struggle as he made the transition into a starter. In 2014-15, Gomez went a combined 0-8 with a 4.32 ERA in 26 appearances including 15 starts.

LAST TIME OUT: The right-hander is coming off one of his best starts as a Blue Rock and earned the win against the Salem Red Sox on August 24. Gomez turned in his ninth quality start of the season and matched a career-high with seven innings of work. He allowed just one run (earned) on five hits, walked one batter, and struck out four. Over his last 10 starts, Gomez has allowed 27 runs (18 earned) to yield a solid 2.84 ERA during that stretch 57.0 innings). Entering tonight's start, Gomez ranks fourth in the Royals' organization and sixth in the Carolina League in ERA. He also ranks second on the team in innings pitched (122.0) and strikeouts (91).

STARTING VS. RELIEVING THIS SEASON: Gomez started the season piggybacking with Anthony Bender and alternated starts. As a starter, Gomez is 4-9 with a 3.61 ERA in 20 starts. He has logged 107.1 innings, allowed 109 hits, 57R/43ER, walked 44 and struck out 74 and opposing hitters are hitting .264 against him. Coming out of the bullpen, the 23-year-old has a 3.68 ERA in five relief appearances. (14.2 IP, 10H, 6 ER, 15 BB, 17 K, .200 BAA).

FIRST IMPRESSION OF FULL-SEASON BASEBALL: The 2017 season marked the first season in the right-hander's career that he pitched in full-season baseball. Like all pitchers, Gomez found what worked for him to contribute to his durability last year. "I think I worked on my routine and it helped me a lot. I worked hard every day and focused on what I needed to do. During the season, I continued to work on my pitches during my bullpens and it helped." Last season, Gomez pitched in just 26.1 less innings with Lexington (137.1 IP) than he did in his entire career (163.2). "I think there wasn't a big adjustment, but I did only throw about 55 innings in short season the year before. So I just tried to be better every day. I kept working as much as I could to build up my arm strength."

MAKING IMPROVEMENTS IN THE OFFSEASON: Gomez continued to work on his arsenal this offseason to get ready for the increase in competition in the Carolina League. "I worked on all my pitches including my curveball and changeup to make them better pitches off of my fastball. I also focused on the command of my fastball because it's my best pitch. I can control it better than my other three pitches and I can throw it both inside and outside. Especially inside which helps me make it tough on right-handers."

IDOLIZING FORMER DOMINICAN REPUBLIC GREATS: Hailing from a hot bed for baseball talent, Gomez grew up idolizing a trio of former MLB greats that lived two hours east of Gomez in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic. "I actually have three favorite players. Pedro Martinez, Manny Ramirez and David Ortiz. They were my favorites growing up as a child. I liked when Pedro would pitch aggressively and wanted to be the best every day. He had really good command of his pitches and that's what I want to have. Especially with his fastball, he was able to throw it up and in and I can throw mine in on hitters." The fandom for David Ortiz and Manny Ramirez comes from Gomez being a two-way player when he was younger. "I liked Ortiz and Ramirez because when I was a kid I loved to hit. I don't want to hit in the minor leagues, but with my friends back home I will."

I ended the season in Idaho and pretty much knew about my streak but when I started in Lexington in 2016. I didn't even think about it. Made just one error behind the plate. They said it: (Worked on in offseason) "I would say definitely attitude was huge for me. Learning how to take each at-bat at a time and move forward from the negative things and take the positives of each at-bat and that's helped me relax at the plate... (On driving in seven runs in a game) No. Absolutely not. I never had seven RBIs before. It was really cool. I guess the coolest thing about it was that I had no idea how many RBIs I had until the game was over and my teammates were telling me. I think that's the only reason why it happened. If I went in to each at-bat saying I already have four, let me get another RBI, it wouldn't have happened for me and messed with my attitude. I don't think it would've been as successful as a game... (On importance of defense behind the plate) I think that's the reason why I'm here. I really pride myself on defense. I try to come out every day to run a pitching staff, keep the ball in front of me and not let runners advance. I think that's what I pride myself on the most... I don't have a specific catcher. I can give you one guy. (Player grew up idolizing) I was a big Jorge Posada fan of the New York Yankees. Just the way he was so agile behind the plate and lanky. He wasn't a big stocky dude because I'm not like that either, but I liked the way he moved behind the plate for sure... (On type of teammate he is in the clubhouse) Definitely an energizer bunny for these guys. I think I provide a lot of energy on the field, in the bullpen or the clubhouse. Someone that can provide energy day in and day out because we all know the season can get long."

We harp on keying on what certain pitchers do, studying them and the game so it could help me during the season. I might notice that a pitcher has a quick pickoff move, but he's slow to home. So things like that help me. Stealing bases is what I have to do...(Player he tries to emulate) "A guy I look at now is Mookie Betts. He doesn't strikeout a lot, he can steal bases, he's not the biggest guy and he plays hard every day...(On dealing with injuries past two seasons) "The year before last I broke my hamate bone and that was in Spring Training. That was pretty frustrating because I couldn't get a chance to go to a full-season club and show what I could do. I overcame that and then last season, I suffered the face injury when I ran into Gabriel Cancel, our second baseman. I was having decent years, but I have good teammates and they have helped me overcome those injuries. If a play like that happens (collision with Cancel) again, I still won't think twice about going for the ball."

They said it: (On success in Lexington last season) Just going to the cages every day with my hitting coach in Lexington really helped me. We did a bunch of different drills hitting of the tee and front toss. I continued to work hard every day and it was a good year... (On bouncing back after tough first two seasons in system)... The first two seasons in the organization was very hard for me. I never saw pitchers throw 90-94 m.p.h. It took me about a season to get adjusted to that kind of pitching. Last year, I was able to see the pitches better and it was great. It's important to make adjustments and I was late at the plate when I first started and worked on my timing and now I feel comfortable... (On going through a transition on defense)... Before I was signed, I played shortstop. After my first practice, the coaches moved me to third base. I played shortstop for five years before joining the Royals. I miss it sometimes. I played it since I was five years old. At third base, the reaction time is the biggest difference from the two positions. It takes a lot of practice to get better with my reaction... (On coming to the U.S.)... I came to the U.S. four years ago and the biggest difference was the language. I try to speak English the best I can. My family and friends are still in Puerto Rico and were effected by Hurricane Irma. They had no lights, no gas, no power for months. It was bad. I've talked to my friends and family and they were telling me how bad it was. It's getting better now, but where I grew up, it was hit by the storm. My family still lives in the house I grew up and it was damaged."

They Said It: (Thoughts on last season) "It was a long season last year. I tried to go out and play hard every night. I started out struggling, but I worked with my hitting coach and it helped me a lot. I watched a lot of video on my swing to watch my mechanics. I hit with a leg kick which is more difficult. If you don't have your timing down with a leg kick, you don't have a chance. I had to make adjustments mentally during the first month of the season. If you aren't strong mentally, you can't play this game...(On feeling pressure as one of the youngest player in the SAL) I felt pressure being in A-ball for the first time in my career. I just wanted to go out and just play. I wanted to just play my game and put the ball in play...(Lifestyle in Columbia) It's too hot. Where I'm from in Cartagena it is really hot. We have everything though. We have a lot of beaches and lakes and it's fun. I miss the food the most, especially the fish. I miss my family too.
