IRISH HERITAGE NIGHT

THE LOCUST GROVE

LINDOW THRIVING WITH BLUECLAWS

Ethan Lindow took the mound in the top of the ninth inning as the BlueClaws held a 2-0 lead against Delmarva in front of 8,204 fans at FirstEnergy Park on July 3rd. The southpaw from Locust Grove, Georgia needed just nine pitches to retire the side and earn his first professional save. "The ninth inning was amazing, you don't get that as a starter," said Lindow. "You feel the adrenaline from the fans, trying to seal the win, the ninth inning was awesome."

His pitching coach, Matt Hockenberry, was impressed. "The first three innings he was pitching backwards. In the ninth he went out and threw eight fastballs and one change-up," said Hockenberry. "He threw nine strikes and got three outs. He shifted how he pitched the other team and they didn't pick up on it."

It's been a year of growth for Lindow, a 20 year old that had a 2.19 ERA with Williamsport last year, who moved into the top five in the league in ERA after his July 3rd game. "I think my command has been getting better and better, being able to work hitters and being able to establish all four pitches whenever I want has been the most development I've had this year," he said.

When you're a young pitcher growing up outside of Atlanta, naturally you think about the dominant Braves pitchers of the 1990s and early 2000s. But Lindow was born 13 days shy of the third anniversary of Atlanta's 1995 World Series title. He looked up to Clayton Kershaw, Madison Bumgarner, and, more recently, Dallas Keuchel. However, Lindow got a chance to do something that all young pitchers want to do – work with a Hall of Fame pitcher.

"I think my command has been getting better and better, being able to work hitters and being able to establish all four pitches whenever I want has been the most development l've had this year" Peyton Glavine, Tom's son who plays at Auburn, and Lindow were teammates on a Georgia travel-ball team. Lindow began to watch tape of Glavine and work with the Hall of Famer. "He'd help out when he was around. When I pitched, he'd be in the bullpen with me working on some things," recalled Lindow. "I was extremely lucky to have that opportunity."

After his senior year of high school, the Phillies took Lindow in the fifth round of the draft. He had committed to the University of Alabama-Birmingham and had a decision to make. "I was really close with the pitching coach at UAB and my mom was pushing towards school," he said. "I wanted to get a degree but I'm happy where I'm at right now."

Where he is right now is pushing up the ladder in the Phillies system.

He gave up five runs in 27 innings between May 30th and July 3rd, lowering his ERA to 2.63. His pitching coach is impressed. "I think he knows who he is when he's on the mound. He takes the four pitches that he throws and competes with them," said Hockenberry, who is working with Lindow for the first time this season. "He does a pretty good job studying the other team's lineup and does a great job with his overall preparation.

"His fastball velocities have gone up over the course of the season and has really learned from both sides of the rotation how to start and how to come out of the bullpen." Said Lindow: "[Hockenberry] works with me every day on my mechanics, a lot of mental strength on how to attack the hitters and going out there and doing what I do best, sticking with my strengths." What are those strengths?

"My fastball is the most important pitch. When I can command it both sides of the plate and up and down it's one of my most effective pitches. My change-up has been good, especially off the fastball. Once I command the fastball and establish it, the change-up can be really good to righties."

Meanwhile, while the baseball season is full speed towards the Labor Day finish, Lindow has, in the back of his mind, the start of hunting season in Georgia, something he started enjoying when he was younger. "I do a little fishing but when I get home it's mostly hunting, making sure everything is ready – the tree stands, the corn, the plots and all that stuff. Getting out in the morning before the sun comes up, being out in nature and watching the animals as the sun comes up through the fog, it's so relaxing." And when Lindow has his "A-game" out on the mound, his coaches can relax too, knowing the game is in good hands.

The Medusas de Lakewood have just 2 more appearances this year!

Friday, July 26th (7:05 pm) Wednesday, August 28th (7:05 pm)

Join us as we celebrate the best of Hispanic culture and heritage throughout the summer under our new identity – Medusas de Lakewood!

At each game, we'll have live music from Conjunto Hatuey and food specials from select restaurants like La Casa de la Tia, El Oaxaqueno, and Tornandez Mexicano!

Kids Run the Bases after each game too.

"We are grateful for the support from the community that we have already received and look forward to continued outreach as we build the Medusas into four special nights for the summer," said BlueClaws Team President Joe Ricciutti.

Those interested in donating tickets for underprivileged children in the area to attend their first Medusas game can email copa@blueclaws.com.

INNG

The next wave of BlueClaws ballpark enhancements comes in the form of brand-new, revamped Investors Bank Picnic Areas will be available for BlueClaws fans throughout the season.

Included with the new picnic area is an extensive redesign that will incorporate comfortable mesh swivel seats, tables and food service. The area also comes with better views of the game for fans, and new food and beverage menus as well.

The new picnic area on the third base side is perfect for business and networking opportunities.

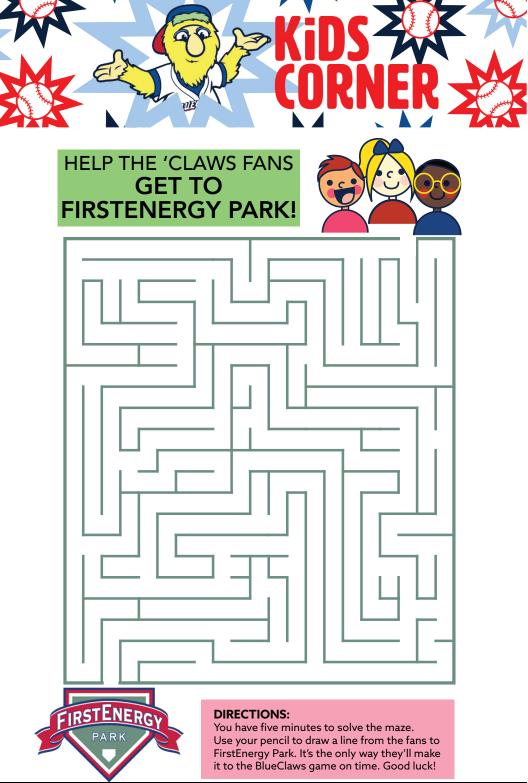

Meanwhile, the picnic area that is located on the first base side of the stadium, near Mini Golf and Shore Town Soft Serve, is ideal for family outings and other parties.

The picnic re-design comes one year after the BlueClaws opened a brand-new Mini Golf Course in right field, the Toyota World of Lakewood Home Run Pavilion in centerfield, and the Biergarten down the line in left field.

BlueClaws Notebook Rutgers Catcher Joins BlueClaws

Nick Matera became the first Rutgers player to join the BlueClaws when he made his debut on July 4th in Greensboro. Drafted in the 34th round last year, Matera was a Third-Team Big Ten catcher in 2017 for the Scarlet Knights.

After beginning this season with Williamsport, he was added to Lakewood's roster on July 3rd. Matera made an instant impact, going 2-4 with a home run and three RBIs in his July 4th debut, and added a second home run on July 6th.

The Phillies hadn't drafted a player from Rutgers since 1990, when they took first baseman Sean Ryan in the 38th round. Ryan eventually reached Triple-A Scranton Wilkes-Barre.

Throw Them Out

Through games of July 6th, BlueClaws catcher Rafael Marchan led the league by throwing out 23 out of 62 potential base-stealers (37%). West Virginia catcher Jake Anchia threw out 23 as well, but in 73 attempts (31%). Last year, Rodolfo Duran threw out 39 of 95 (41%), the most in the league. Edgar Cabral had led the league in 2017, throwing out 31 of 68 (46%) before a promotion to Clearwater in July of that season.

Bohm Reaches Futures Game

Alec Bohm, who hit .367 in 22 games with the BlueClaws at the start of the season, was selected to play in the MLB Futures Game in Cleveland as part of MLB All-Star festivities. Bohm hit .329 with Clearwater across 40 games before reaching Double-A Reading where he hit three home runs in his first 10 games.

Bohm joins JP Crawford (2014), Jarred Cosart (2010), Adrian Cardenas (2007), and Carlos Carrasco (2006) as players to play in the Futures Game in the same year in which they played for the BlueClaws.

Morales Settles In, Rolls Along

In 26 innings beginning June 7th, Francisco Morales gave up just two earned runs while striking out 30 hitters. Through a start in Greensboro on July 6th, Morales had 85 strikeouts in 60 innings pitched, or 12.7 Ks / 9 innings. He has four games with at least seven strikeouts and struck out 10 Delmarva Shorebirds over four innings on May 22nd.

The 19 year old is the #8 prospect in the system per MLB Pipeline.
