A Dermis Garcia eighth inning, three-run home run got the Charleston RiverDogs within one, but the tying and winning runs were stranded in the ninth as the Delmarva Shorebirds completed the three-game sweep on Friday. Garcia uncorked his eighth of the season off Delmarva reliever Nick Gruener. The 20-year-old collected two hits, extending his season-best hitting streak to eight games.

Down 6-0 after the top of the fifth, the RiverDogs got their runs in the home half of the frame when designated hitter Mitchell Hansen stroked a two-run triple to right off the glove of first baseman Ryan Riken, plating Lopez and center fielder Leonardo Molina. The three-bagger marked Hansen's third triple in 10 games since joining the RiverDogs. The Holy City dropped its fourth consecutive game for the first time since May 15-18 and lost its third straight home game for the first time all season.

DOGGIE BITES:

- Home, Not-So-Sweet Home: The RiverDogs' seven-game homestand is off to a slow start as Delmarva swept their three games series. Charleston had done an exceptional job of hanging around in games late this year, but Wednesday's six-run shutout loss and Thursday's five-run defeat marked just their third and fourth losses by five or more runs this season and their first in almost a month (a 1-6 loss to Asheville on June 12 at The Joe). The Dogs have lost three consecutive home games for the first time all season and four straight games for the first time since May 15-18.
- Down Late, Not Great: After Friday's one-run loss, Charleston is now 1-29 when trailing after eight innings. The RiverDogs are 4-29 when trailing after five and have not won a home game when trailing after seven innings, going 0-15. The Dogs scored five runs in the final two innings on Thursday and Garcia's three-run blast on Friday got the Dogs within a single tally, but Delmarva clung on in both contests. Charleston got its first victory when trailing after eight on Sunday in Columbia on the strength of a controversial grand slam from Oswaldo Cabrera.
- McFearsome: Charleston outfielder Matt McPhearson extending his hitting streak to six games on Thursday and is 8 for his last 20 (.400) at the plate. Over the last month, McPhearson has raised his average from .170 to .262. The Baltimore-area native is 17-for-45 (.378) in the second half, going hitless in just one of the 13 games that he's gotten a plate appearance.
- Dermis Doing Dermis: Following his two-hit night with his eighth homer, infielder Dermis Garcia is on a season-best eight-game hitting streak in which he is hitting .333 (10-for-30) and has a three home runs. The Yankees preseason top-20 prospect struggled to start his season when he joined the team in May, starting 11-for-71 (.155) in his first month of action.
- Second-Half Surge: The RiverDogs are out to a Southern Division-best 12-8 start to the second-half as they continue their weeklong homestand. Charleston surged out of the gates with an 8-2 start, its best 10-game stretch of the season, and has had at least a share of first place in every day of the half. The Dogs rank third in the league in run differential since the All-Star break, outscoring their opponents 104-84 (+21) and ranking top-5 in the league in runs scored and runs allowed over that span. Charleston only trails Delmarva and Greenville in second-half run differential, but the three-game sweep pushed the RiverDogs' difference with the former out to a 23-run margin as the Shorebirds have accumulated a +44 differential.
- ERA Climbing: Charleston's team ERA raised to 3.04 on Friday, the highest it has been since the Dogs' April 12th home opener. The RiverDogs entered play on Friday with an even 3.00 ERA, the highest since May 18. Relievers Anderson Severino and Kyle Zurak combined for 5 2/3 innings on one-run baseball out of the bullpen.
- Narrow Margins: Following Monday's 2-1 defeat, the RiverDogs have played 39 one-run games this season, the most in the South Atlantic League and contests in which they have gone 18-21. 51 of the Holy City's first 87 games have been decided by two runs or fewer, the second-most in the league to Kannapolis.
- Pinstriped Prospects: Once again, the RiverDogs tap into one of the premier farm systems in baseball with the New York Yankees. Recently rated the second-best farm system by Baseball America pre-season and the sixth-best by MLB.com, the Bronx Bombers boast five of MLB.com's Preseason Top-100 prospects. Charleston's current roster features five of the Yankees' Top-30 prospects (MLB.com, BA): RHP Deivi Garcia (#16, #24), INF Dermis Garcia (#22, #20), INF Oswaldo Cabrera (--, #26), and RHP Alexander Vargas (--, #28). In 2017, the Yankees led all of baseball in organizational winning percentage (.602) between the Major and minor leagues and featured seven of their eight domestic affiliates in the postseason.
