CHICAGO FIRE

After reaching MLS Cup 2000 at RFK Stadium, only to lose 1-0 to Kansas City, the Fire have a clear goal in 2001: return the MLS Cup title to the Windy City.

The Fire went 17-9-6 a year ago, and return most of the core of that team. Charismatic leader Hristo Stoitchkov has signed on for two more seasons in Chicago, and will combine with midfield general Peter Nowak to provide direction and creativity to the offense. Forward Josh Wolff should improve on his seven-goal total of a year ago, after his solid performance with the U.S. Olympic Team last summer. Wolff enters 2000 as the full-time starter at striker alongside Stoitchkov.

Nowak is surrounded by a host of talented players in the Fire midfield. U.S. National Team starter Chris Armas will once again patrol the defensive midfield. Hard-nosed and versatile midfielder Dema Kovalenko adds an element of skill and power at midfield. Speedy winger DaMarcus Beasley is a bright hope for the Fire and the U.S. National Team and figures to compete for a starting spot. Versatile veterans Jesse Marsch and Diego Gutierrez also factor in the midfield while Sergi Daniv adds depth after coming over from Dallas.

On defense, veteran Lubos Kubik was traded to Dallas, leaving C.J. Brown as the leader of the back line. Brown made 27 appearances a year ago, and will be flanked by 2000 Kellogg's Rookie of the Year Carlos Bocanegra. Adding depth to a solid back line are veteran Andrew Lewis and 2000 Olympian Evan Whitfield.

2000 CHICAGO FIRE LEADERS

Goals	18	Ante Razov
Assists	14	Peter Nowak
Points	42	Ante Razov
Minutes	2658	Jesse Marsch
Games Played	31	Demetris Kovalenko
Games Started	29	Jesse Marsch
Shots	127	Ante Razov
Shots on Goal	63	Ante Razov
Fouls Committed	54	Jesse Marsch
Fouls Suffered	70	Peter Nowak
Game-winning Goals	6	Ante Razov
Penalty Kick Goals	3	Hristo Stoitchkov
Saves	91	Zach Thornton
Goals Against Average	1.28	Zach Thornton

Chicago sports one of the deepest goalkeeper corps in the league. Starter Zach Thornton has become a perennial All-Star, while proven backup Chris Snitko and talented rookie Henry Ring will battle for playing time.

Fire Players to Watch:

F Josh Wolff (seven goals, 19 points) had a productive season in 2000, despite missing time to be with the U.S. Olympic squad. A full year with the Fire as a starter could do wonders for this forward, who has had many promising displays in MLS and with the full national team. F/M Demetris Kovalenko (10 goals, 25 points) played several positions last year, playing equally well at creative midfielder, a defensive midfielder and a striker. F Hristo Stoitchkov (nine goals, 25 points) was a charismatic leader of the Fire and his talented left foot is as lethal as there is in all of MLS.

COLORADO RAPIDS

The Rapids enter the 2001 campaign with great optimism, with a new head coach who vows to play attacking soccer. Playing a conservative style last season due to injuries, Colorado's goal is to incorporate an offensive, possession-style under first-year Head Coach Tim Hankinson, who spent more than two years in Tampa Bay. Hankinson coached the Mutiny to a 16-12-4 record in 2000, racking up an impressive 62 goals in 32 games.

There are several young Rapids who may blossom in the new attacking system. Junior Agogo had 10 goals in 22 games as a 21-year-old last season. Agogo is one of the faster players in MLS, and showed a flair for the dramatic a year ago with five game-winning goals. Creative midfielder Ross Paule, held back by injuries and inconsistency the last couple of seasons, hopes to regain his 1998 All-Star form for the Rapids. International discovery signings John Spencer of Scotland and South Africa's Neathan Gibson have played in some of the top leagues in Europe and will offer great experience.

A promising group of youngsters also figure to fight for a starting spot. Wes Hart made strides as a rookie a year ago. A first-round SuperDraft choice, Hart scored an impressive bicycle-kick goal overshadowed only by captain Marcelo Balboa's MasterCard Goal of the Year. Jason Moore, the top pick in the 1999 MLS College Draft and Nike Project-40's Seth Trembly both saw significant action in last year's playoff run.

With all the offensive talent, the Rapids' defense is not an afterthought. Balboa leads a side that features solid second-year back Lance Key, Scott Vermillion and Chris Martinez. Balboa also contributed to the offense last season, scoring four goals and five assists for 13 points. In goal, second-year pro Adin Brown will be intimidating in front of the net.

Rapids Players to Watch:

GK Adin Brown (2.04 GAA, 2 SO) performed admirably for the Rapids a year ago. The 6-5 'keeper is regarded as a star of the future. M Ross Paule (five points in 16 games) didn't fit into the Rapids defensive system a year ago, and struggled with injuries. The former All-Star may be poised for a bounce-back season. D Stephen Herdsman was a surprise pick in the second round of this year's SuperDraft. The speedy defender will add a different dimension on the back line for the Rapids.

COLUMBUS CREW

The Crew look to put a disappointing 2000 campaign in the past and once again bring MLS Cup Playoff action back to America's first Major League Soccer-specific stadium. With MLS Cup 2001 being played at Crew Stadium on October 21, there will be great incentive to make this "their year".

The Crew fell short of the postseason a year ago, due in part to a defense that allowed 58 goals in 32 games. Columbus made several moves in the offseason designed to shore up the back, adding Ugandan international defender Tenywa Bonseu as an allocation and veteran goalkeeper Tom Presthus from D.C. United. A return to health for striker Brian McBride, midfielder Brian Maisonneuve and defender Ansil Elcock will also boost the Crew's chances in 2001.

Speedsters Brian West and Jeff Cunningham will be looked upon to add to the attack, which was led primarily by veterans Dante Washington and Robert Warzycha in 2000. Cunningham saw his production drop from 15 goals in 1999 to two a year ago. Washington picked up most of the slack, netting 15 goals. When McBride is added to this lineup, the Crew's forward line rivals that of any in MLS.

Service to the frontrunners will come from Colombian John Wilmar Perez, who quickly picked up the pace of MLS last year improved from game to game.

Columbus also nabbed several promising youngsters in the 2001 SuperDraft. First-round pick Duncan Oughton figures to see some time on the wing, while Nike Project-40 striker Edson Buddle adds even more depth up front.

Crew Players to Watch:

F Dante Washington (15 goals) led the team in scoring in 2000, and seems to have put his nagging injuries behind him. Second-year M John Wilmar Perez (three goals, nine points) should be more comfortable after starting 30 games a year ago, and should factor more in the attack. Columbus should have stern competition at its starting goalkeeper job, as both GK Tom Presthus and GK Mark Dougherty have been top-flight starters in MLS. F Brian McBride (six goals in 18 games) will miss time with the U.S. National Team, but if healthy should return to 10 goal-a-year levels for the Crew. Brian Maisonneuve, a U.S. World Cup Team starter in 1998 who missed all of 2000 with an ankle injury, could be the player who elevates Columbus into contention for the Central Division title.

DALLAS BURN

Former Chicago Fire assistant coach Mike Jeffries takes over at the helm in Dallas, one of only two MLS clubs to make the postseason in each of the league's first five seasons. Jeffries' challenge will be to take the perennial playoff side and mold into an MLS Cup caliber team.

All the pieces appear to be in place, starting with arguably the top forward duo in the league. 1999 Honda MVP Jason Kreis and Ecuadorian international Ariel Graziani offer an impressive combination of power, speed and skill up front. Kreis will drop back into midfield and make runs, work combinations and setup teammates. Graziani is the classic inside-the-box finisher.

Feeding the potent duo is a group of dependable midfielders. Colombian Oscar Pareja has proven to be a capable distributor, while veterans Chad Deering and Ted Eck are tenacious defensive players. A host of young players may make an impact in 2001, led by Lazo Alavanja, Antonio "Chivas" Martinez and Paul Broome. The best of the bunch may eventually turn out to be Bolivian Joselito Vaca, a first-round pick in the 2001 SuperDraft, who has been earmarked as the successor to MLS great Marco Etcheverry with the Bolivian National Team. Vaca was recently named Bolivia's top player in 2000 as voted on by the national media.

An offseason trade with Chicago brought Lubos Kubik to the Burn, a player Jeffries is very familiar with. Kubik will lend stability to the Burn's back line, which was inconsistent at times in 2000. Expect Kubik to make his usual forays into the attack, leaving the bulk of the defensive work to veterans Jorge Rodriguez, Richard Farrer and Brandon Pollard. Rookie defender Ryan Suarez, another Burn first-round SuperDraft choice, figures to see significant playing time right off the bat.

Burn Players to Watch:

GK Matt Jordan (13 wins, 1.69 GAA, 7 SO) had another impressive season a year ago. He may be able to elevate his game even higher with a better defense in front of him. F Jason Kreis (11 goals, 13 assists) has been one of the league's most consistent players over MLS five seasons. F Aleksey Korol (five goals in 21 games) has found it hard to find playing time behind Kreis and F Ariel Graziani (15 goals), but may fight his way on the field after a solid rookie campaign.

MLS SPRING TRAINING 2001 MEDIA GUIDE

South Florida: March 14 - March 24, 2001

D.C. UNITED

After missing the playoffs for the first time in club history in 2000, the Black-and-Red made more offseason changes than any club in MLS. United GM Kevin Payne traded away veterans Jeff Agoos, Carlos Llamasa, Richie Williams, Tom Presthus and Geoff Auger while reloading with some of the best young talent in the league.

United does return proven veterans in an effort to return to the postseason. U.S. National Team defender Eddie Pope is now the senior member of the back line, and he will be flanked by fellow UNC Tar Heel Carey Talley, former Canadian international Mark Watson and either second-year defender Eric Denton or offseason acquisition Brian Kamler. Veteran goalkeeper Mike Ammann, who enjoyed one of his best seasons in MLS with the MetroStars in 2000, was brought in to upgrade the goalkeeping situation.

The midfield is in good hands, with maestro Marco Etcheverry back for a sixth season as United's on-field leader. The youth movement in midfield starts with New Zealander Ryan Nelsen, Mark Lisi, 16-year-old Santino Quaranta and promising Peruvian Jose Alegria. They will join 17-year-old Bobby Convey, who lived up to the hype last season, with a strong performance in a revamped midfield. Up front, Bolivian Jaime Moreno and Salvadoran Raul Diaz Arce will look to rebound from their injury-marred campaigns of a year ago and will face stiff competition from players of the level of 2000 Olympian Chris Albright and offseason acquisition Abdul Thompson Conteh.

Getting off to a good start will be paramount to success for United in 2001. D.C. lost nine of its first 12 games a year ago, putting an early damper on postseason hopes.

United Players to Watch:

F Jaime Moreno (12 goals, seven assists in 2000) will again be heavily counted upon for United's offense. GK Mike Ammann (1.61 goals-against average, 11 wins) comes over from the MetroStars to become D.C.'s number one 'keeper. F Chris Albright, who played long stretches at right midfield last season, is expected to permanently move to forward in 2001. With a year under his belt, M Bobby Convey will look to continue the steps toward the stardom that many observers are predicting for him.

KANSAS CITY WIZARDS

Even winning teams tinker a bit. The defending MLS Cup 2000 champions have made several significant changes to their squad in an effort to repeat as league champions. However, the rock-solid defense will return intact to lead the charge in 2001.

Goalkeeper Tony Meola won nearly every major award he could a year ago – Honda MVP, Aquafina Goalkeeper of the Year, Ace Comeback Player of the Year, MLS Cup 2000 MVP, while earning a spot on the Pepsi Best 11. In front of Meola are three formidable defenders, BIC Defender of the Year Peter Vermes and rising youngsters Nick Garcia (runner-up for 2000 Kellogg's Rookie of the Year) and Brandon Prideaux, who enjoyed a breakthrough season last year.

Defensive midfielders Matt McKeon and Kerry Zavagnin also worked wonders in tandem, disrupting opposing teams' offenses a year ago with McKeon jumping into the attack when needed. Changes were made to the wings and attack, but Wizards fans will likely bet on Head Coach Bob Gansler's ability to judge talent after his successful overhaul of the team last offseason.

Left-sided midfielder Chris Henderson, the clubs' top scorer in 2000, was sent to Miami for MLS' all-time leading goal scorer, striker Roy Lassiter. "Rocket Roy" will be asked to fill the shoes of retired MLS Cup Playoff hero Miklos Molnar, who had the lone goal at MLS Cup 2001. Promising Trinidadian international Gary Glasgow may fit in alongside Lassiter, with veteran Mo Johnston coming out of a brief retirement and ready for his 21st professional season.

Speedy winger Mark Santel was acquired from Dallas to fill Henderson's spot. Chris Klein, whose breakout season in 2000 earned him a spot on the U.S. National Team, will man the other flank aptly.

Wizards Players to Watch:

What can GK Tony Meola (15 wins, 0.92 GAA) do for an encore after shattering a league record with 16 shutouts in 2000? F Roy Lassiter (eight goals in 27 games with Miami) will be on the spot to produce goals for the Wizards. His track record would not suggest otherwise. M Kerry Zavagnin was possibly the key to last year's team. The link between attack and defense, his passing was invaluable to the maneuver.

LOS ANGELES GALAXY

The Galaxy started off 2001 by winning The Football Confederation Champions Cup in January, and as a result earned passage to the FIFA Club World Championship this summer (July 29 – August 12) in Spain. Los Angeles will lock horns with renowned world powers Real Madrid, Palmeiras, Boca Juniors and Galatasaray.

Los Angeles is led by its standout defense and counter-attacking offense. Goalkeeper Kevin Hartman is the linchpin, playing behind a formidable defense that includes U.S. National Team members Greg Vanney and Robin Fraser, as well as Ezra Hendrickson, Paul Caligiuri and second-year standout Danny Califf. In addition, MLS icon Alexi Lalas has come out of retirement to play for the Galaxy and was a key factor in their Champions Cup run.

Creative veteran Mauricio Cienfuegos and workhorse Simon Elliott, the team's Honda MVP a year ago, fuel the midfield. The New Zealand international plays both ends of the field and appears to be just beginning to scratch the surface of his talents. Cienfuegos, meanwhile, remains one of the best passers in MLS. Second-year players like Sasha Victorine and Peter Vagenas should also have important roles in 2001, with veterans Danny Pena and Brian Kelly providing depth.

A full season with Mexican great Luis Hernandez at striker will go a long way toward making the Galaxy a complete team this season. Los Angeles also solidified the forward corps by nabbing promising forwards Isias Bardales, Jr. and Brian Mullan in the first round of the 2001 SuperDraft to provide options in attack.

Galaxy Players to Watch:

D Greg Vanney (six goals, 14 points) has not only developed into the best passing defender in MLS but he is also arguably MLS' top penalty-kick taker. F Luis Hernandez (four goals, 14 points in 16 games) has half an MLS season under his belt, and might be ready to leave a mark in this MLS campaign. M Peter Vagenas (seven points in 16 games) was one of the U.S.' best players in the 2000 Olympic Games and may see more action in the Galaxy midfield as a second-year player.

METROSTARS

The MetroStars underwent a remarkable transformation in 2000, going from last place to their first Eastern Division championship. After finishing with the second-worst record in the league in 1999, the Metros went 17-12-3 last season and advanced to the MLS Cup Playoff Semifinals.

Head Coach Octavio Zambrano and General Manager Nick Sakiewicz continued to tinker with the roster after the season, adding a pair of skillful midfielders. U.S. National Team defensive midfielder Richie Williams came over from D.C. United, while the Metros landed Colombian midfielder Pedro Alvarez to help generate more offense through the midfield.

The acquisition of the two new players was made possible by the trade of veteran 'keeper Mike Ammann, which now leaves 21-year-old Tim Howard as the undisputed starter in goal. A member of the U.S. Team at the 2000 Olympic Games in Australia, Howard excelled in nine starts for the MetroStars in 2000.

On defense, All-Star Mike Petke heads a solid group of young defenders. Steve Jolley made 27 starts a year ago, while Daniel Hernandez returns from a serious knee injury.

The team returns all of the key pieces to their offense and defense from a year ago. Up front, U.S. National Team forward Clint Mathis will look to build off his breakthrough performance of the last campaign. Colombian strikers Adolfo Valencia and Alex Comas, who each had solid first campaigns in MLS last season, support Mathis.

MetroStars Players to Watch:

M Tab Ramos (two goals, 10 points in 20 games last year) shook off several injury-plagued seasons to return to form in 2000. The creative midfielder, who was recalled to the National Team last year, has retired from international duty in part to concentrate on playing for the Metros. F Clint Mathis (16 goals, 14 assists) became one of MLS' top scorers a year ago and finished third in the league's Honda MVP voting. GK Tim Howard (1.59 GAA, 4 SO) is considered by many to be MLS' next standout goalkeeper and will get his first chance as a full-time starter. D Daniel Hernandez, who was named to the 2000 East All-Star squad before suffering a season-ending injury, will anchor a defense that will be without retired stars Lothar Matthäus and Thomas Dooley.

MIAMI FUSION

Charismatic Ray Hudson begins his first full season as the Fusion's Head Coach, and has already done much to stamp his personality on the team. In the offseason, Hudson and General Manager Doug Hamilton acquired standout veterans Carlos Llamosa, Chris Henderson and Preki with an eye to get Miami back into the MLS Cup playoffs.

Llamosa, who spent the last four seasons with D.C., will be slotted in the center of the Fusion defense, a position that has seen him excel to National Team status. The native of Colombia will be flanked by talented young players like 2000 All-Star Pablo Mastroeni, Leo Cullen and Jamaican international Tyrone Marshall.

Preki, a five-time MLS All-Star and former U.S. National Team standout, adds tremendous experience and offensive prowess to the Fusion midfield. Preki is the only 50-goal, 50-assist man in MLS history.

Jay Heaps, also an All-Star in 2000, may move up the right wing in the midfield to provide quality to match Henderson's characteristic work on the left wing. Captain Jim Rooney will continue his tireless work in filling the gaps at defensive midfield, while new signings Ian Bishop (England) and Alex Pineda Chacon (Honduras) should impact the creative side of the game, offering quality service to the forwards.

Up front, the Fusion will again depend on the strike force of Colombian Diego Serna, who led Miami with 16 goals while adding 10 assists in 2000. In addition, Goalkeeper Nick Rimando was a real revelation in goal last season for Miami. The former third-round SuperDraft choice moved from third-string to become the Fusion's starter and posted 10 of the squad's 12 wins. Veterans Jeff Cassar and Garth Lagerwey will be ready to step in when called on.

Fusion Players to Watch:

M/D Jay Heaps (five goals, six assists), the 1999 Rookie of the Year, continues to show significant improvement from season to season. M Preki (15 a, 3 g, 21 pts.) adds much needed scoring and distributing talents to Fusion attack. F Diego Serna (16 goals) can carry the offense for spells, but needs to show more consistency. Defenders Leo Cullen, Pablo Mastroeni and Ivan McKinley may need to adjust to new roles with the addition of D Carlos Llamosa, who many consider to be the best man-marker in MLS.

NEW ENGLAND REVOLUTION

The Revolution made a return to the postseason in 2000 for the first time since 1997, thanks to the efforts of first-year Head Coach Fernando Clavijo and a host of new players. New England looks to build on that success, led by a proven mix of experienced veterans and promising youngsters.

Among those leading the way is striker Wolde Harris, who enjoyed a breakthrough campaign a year ago after coming over from Colorado. The Jamaican international scored 15 goals while playing in 31 Revs' matches. Striker Eric Wynalda, who appeared in just five games in 2000 due to injury, looks to regain the form that made him the all-time leading scorer in U.S. National Team history.

Young attackers like Johnny Torres, Jamar Beasley and William Sunsing will be counted on to add some punch in 2001. Sunsing should benefit from competing on the Costa Rican National Team in World Cup qualifying throughout the year. Veterans John Harkes, Leonel Alvarez and Mauricio Ramos will provide leadership and creativity from the midfield. The defense is led by Costa Rican Mauricio Wright, who stabilized the Revs back line after being acquired from San Jose midway through last season. Wright made frequent forays into the attack, adding another dimension to an already gritty defense. The youthful Rusty Pierce and Joe Franchino showed they can be counted on at the outside back positions after impressive 2000 campaigns. Central defender Brian Dunseth will look to shake off an inconsistent 2000 season while rookie Nick Downing, a Nike Project-40 player as Pierce was last year, will also be pushing for playing time.

Revolution Players to Watch:

F Wolde Harris (15 goals, 37 points) looks to build off a stellar season and may have earned a permanent roster spot for Jamaica in World Cup qualifying. F/M Jamar Beasley (three goals, nine points in 19 games) hasn't gotten the attention that his younger brother, DaMarcus of the Chicago Fire, has, but has shown flashes of brilliance. He figures to push for minutes at forward and wide midfield this year. GK Jeff Causey (1.55 GAA, 3 SO) had a solid season in 2000 and again looks to be the frontrunner as Revs' starter in goal.

SAN JOSE EARTHQUAKES

Armed with a new Head Coach, a U.S. National Team defender, and the top draft pick in the 2001 SuperDraft, San Jose enters the season with high hopes. First-year Head Coach Frank Yallop, a former standout defender in MLS and abroad, has overhauled the Earthquakes roster quickly.

The changes started in the back, with the draft-day acquisition of Jeff Agoos from D.C. United. One of the best defenders in the league and a perennial national team fixture, Agoos will bring his strong defensive skill, dangerous left foot and veteran leadership to the 'Quakes back line.

Agoos will lead a young defense that includes Jamie Clark, Jimmy Conrad and newcomers Zak Ibsen and Craig Waibel. Ibsen and Waibel were both members of the Los Angeles Galaxy team that captured the Football Confederation Champions Cup in January. A pair of capable young goalkeepers returns for San Jose, as Joe Cannon and Jon Conway's performances in goal in 2000 were among the highlights of the campaign.

Most significantly, San Jose has added some firepower up front. The Earthquakes selected Chris Carrieri from the University of North Carolina with the top pick in the 2001 SuperDraft. Carrieri was the NCAA's leading scorer with 25 goals in 24 games at UNC in 2000. Canadian international Dwayne DeRosario was also added as an allocation, after tearing up the A-League for 16 goals as a 22-year-old in 2000. The return to health of top striker Ronald Cerritos, who played in just nine matches a year ago, will also provide a huge boost for San Jose.

Earthquakes Players to Watch:

F Ronald Cerritos had a career best 15 goals in 1999 and appeared primed to become one of MLS' elite strikers until a quadriceps injury affected his availability last season. Finally healthy again, he will be an important, experienced presence for San Jose in 2001. M Richard Mulrooney may be asked to play a variety of roles this season as he has in the past. He led the 'Quakes with nine assists a year ago, playing mostly a right midfield position. M Dario Brose was an All-Star in 2000, and provides punch and creativity from the central midfield position. Another new acquisition, M Manny Lagos will also lend his scoring touch and dribbling skills at several positions as needed.

TAMPA BAY MUTINY

The high scoring Tampa Bay Mutiny will look to break a familiar pattern in 2001. Tampa Bay went 16-12-4 a year ago, but was bounced out of the MLS Cup playoffs in the first round for the second consecutive season.

The Mutiny did score the second most goals (62) in the league last season and under new Head Coach Alfonso Mondelo have vowed to shore up the defense in order to join MLS' elite. Mondelo added first-round SuperDraft pick Craig Demmin, a Trinidadian international, to bolster the back line. Returning players like Joe Addo, Chad McCarty and Steve Trittschuh will have to adjust to Mondelo's system.

The offense figures to again be one of MLS' best units, led by the league's all-time assist leader, Carlos Valderrama. "El Pibe" has shown no signs of slowing down, dishing out an MLS-record 26 assists at age 38 a year ago. Adding to an impressive midfield are wingers Steve Ralston and Eric Quill, who can both score a setup goal-scoring chances. The main beneficiary in 2000 of the Mutiny's creative midfield was striker Mamadou "Big Mama" Diallo. The All-Star game MVP posted 26 goals in 28 games and figures to benefit from the presence of first-round SuperDraft choice Ali Curtis as a partner up front.

Game-winning Goals	6	Mamadou Diallo
Penalty Kick Goals	1	Mamadou Diallo
Saves	184	Carlos Valderrama Raul Diaz Arce Scott Garlick
Goals Against Average	1.53	Scott Garlick

Goalkeeper Scott Garlick set an MLS record by making 184 saves a year ago, a dubious mark that pointed to the Mutiny's defensive inconsistencies. Mondelo's system figures to cut down on shots against, as Tampa Bay looks to become a complete team that challenge, for MLS Cup 2001.

Mutiny players to watch:

F Mamadou Diallo (26 goals, 56 points) made quite a splash in his first MLS campaign. "Big Mama" possesses a combination of speed and power that is difficult for most defenders to handle. M Steve Ralston (five goals, 17 assists) is a constant threat on the right flank, while M Eric Quill (five goals, 11 assists) is developing into a similar player on the opposite wing. D Joe Addo (started all 32 games) was a workhorse a year ago, and may receive more attention in 2001.
