GROWING THE GAME

When USL launched its outdoor program in 1989, there were only 19 professional soccer teams in the country and no organized lower divisions for the sport. That eight-team USL outdoor league has grown into the 65-team Premier Development League while USL has developed into one of the most sophisticated sports organizations in the U.S. and Canada. Today, USL oversees the development of players, coaches, referees and administrators that participate in six different leagues that encompass more than 100 men's and women's franchises and more than 500 youth teams.

Always a pioneer in the sport, USL launched the W-League in 1995 - long before women's professional soccer was born - and created the first national youth league with the Super Y-League in 1999. In 2013 USL will, through a partnership with IMG Academy, set a new standard for youth soccer with the debut of the Next Generation Series, which will change the way players, coaches, parents and clubs view youth development.

USL has seen many of its players go on to represent their countries in international competition. During the current 2014 World Cup qualifying tournament, the U.S. Men's National Team will feature many players who have developed through the USL system including Tim Howard, Jozy Altidore, Geoff Cameron, Graham Zusi and Sacha Kljestan. Canada continues to be led by 2011 MLS Most Valuable Player Dwayne De Rosario. The list includes veterans who got their break in the professional game in the USL First Division, such as De Rosario with the Richmond Kickers, to Premier Development League products like Cameron, Zusi and Kljestan.

Leading the charge as the first generation of Super Y-League alums to reach the world stage was Altidore. The vertically-integrated structure of USL has been in place for a decade and the dividends of the early years are already beginning to show. With USL and Major League Soccer teams focused on growing the game through a dedicated pyramid of soccer leagues from the youth ranks to the pros, future generations will continue to improve, year after year and tournament after tournament.

The dedication USL has shown to the women's game through the W-League has paid off for not only the U.S. and Canadian Women's National Teams, but also for players from other countries. At the 2011 Women's World Cup in Germany, 62 former W-League players took to the field, including the United States' Abby Wambach, Christie Rampone and Alex Morgan, Canada's Christine Sinclair and Japan's Homare Sawa, who was named the FIFA Women's World Player of the Year after leading her nation to victory.

In January of 2013, the Major League Soccer SuperDraft saw 27 former PDL and super-20 League players selected, including No. 1 selection Andrew Farrell of the River City Rovers and IMG Academy Bradenton, and the NWSL Draft featured 17 former W-League players, including No. 1 selection Zakiya Bywaters of the LA Strikers.

EXPANDING INTERNATIONAL HORIZONS

EXPANDING INTERNATIONAL HORIZONS

USL has long been a leader when it comes to international influence of players, clubs, and executives in North America. Given the organization's unique landscape of clubs from the youth to professional ranks, USL provides many opportunities for foreign clubs to develop affiliations and partnerships with its franchises.

Identifying talented players and creating new commercial opportunities is a priority for clubs around the world, and USL provides clubs the best platform to connect these opportunities with clubs that desire to have a presence in North America.

In 2008, USL embarked on an international development initiative to connect USL clubs with foreign counterparts. As part of this initiative, USL partnered with Beswicks Sports, the specialist sports division of the United Kingdom-based legal group Beswicks. As USL's representative in the UK to broker partnerships between British football clubs and USL franchises, Beswicks Sports has been able to open up new avenues for clubs from across the Atlantic to make new professional partnerships.

The partnership with Beswicks Sports paid immediate dividends for USL, formalizing affiliations with English clubs such as Burnley and Stoke City FC. In addition, Beswicks was integral to the hiring of former West Ham United player Anthony Hudson when he took the coaching reins at Real Maryland FC of the USL Second Division for the 2009 season.

More recently, Beswicks helped broker the deal that led to UK-based VisionPro Sports Institute's 2011 partnership with USL, resulting in plans for a boys academy and the announcement of new teams in USL PRO, the PDL, the W-League and the Super-20 League.

"Forming strategic partnerships with European professional clubs is something we recognize is vital to our growth in the future, at the league and club level," USL Senior Director of International Development Francisco Marcos said.

"The interest levels in USL and its various leagues have never been higher throughout Europe," said Gary Mellor, partner at Beswicks. "European clubs recognize that USL provides them with unequalled access to North American young talent as well as the opportunity to forge strategic partnerships and the commercial opportunities that follow."

ABOUT THE U.S. SOCCER FEDERATION

As the governing body of soccer in all its forms in the United States, U.S. Soccer has played an integral part in charting the course for the sport in the USA for 100 years. In that time, the Federation's mission statement has been clear and simple: to make soccer, in all its forms, a preeminent sport in the United States and to continue the development of soccer at all recreational and competitive levels.

U.S. Soccer is celebrating its Centennial in 2013, and over the course of a century the sport's exponential growth has been nothing short of remarkable.

From a viewership standpoint, nearly 20 million Americans watched the Round of 16 match at the 2010 FIFA World Cup on television. Soccer-specific stadiums have opened their doors to resounding success. The National Training Center in Carson, Calif., in its 10th year of existence, has been a valuable facility for all levels, including the U.S. Soccer Development Academy, which kicked off at the state-of-the-art complex with much fanfare in 2007.

In 1989, the U.S. Men's National Team had not played in a World Cup in 40 years and the U.S. Women's program was in its early stages. U.S. Soccer was playing games in small stadiums that did not reach capacity, few matches were televised, soccer-specific stadiums were yet to be created and there were no high-level professional outdoor leagues.

Since that time, the state of U.S. Soccer has evolved significantly. Entering 2013, the U.S. MNT played in six consecutive FIFA World Cups and advanced to the quarterfinals at the 2002 event. U.S. Soccer is a world leader in women's soccer at every level, and the U.S. WNT has won two FIFA Women's World Cups and four Olympic Gold Medals – an accomplishment that no other country on the men's and women's side has reached in Olympic competition. The United States has also hosted three World Cups with the support of its members and strong organizational abilities.

Professionally, Major League Soccer continues to grow in popularity and prestige with 19 teams throughout North America, as well as increasing attendance and viewership. Also of significant importance, MLS features 14 clubs competing in 13 soccer-specific stadiums. On the women's side, the U.S. Soccer Federation is administering the launch of the National Women's Soccer League in 2013. U.S. Soccer is subsidizing the salaries of up to 24 U.S. WNT players while the Canadian Soccer Association and Federation of Mexican Football are doing the same for up to 16 players.

From a coaching standpoint in the United States, more classes are continually being offered around the country, and the number of licensed, well-educated trainers and managers is larger than ever. The education level among coaches has been tailored to match the expanding pool of talent in the U.S.

U.S. Soccer continues to set positive trends for referees in CONCACAF, with reinvigorated focus on education and training, including the realm of professional referees. In 2012, U.S. Soccer and MLS created the Professional Referee Organization (PRO) to manage the referee program in professional soccer leagues in the U.S. and Canada. The creation of PRO has been designed to increase the quality of officiating in U.S. and Canadian professional leagues, develop more professional quality officials at a younger age and develop officials who will represent the United States and Canada in FIFA competitions.

Participation in soccer continues at high levels among both youth and adults, with more than 4.3 million registered players among the 24 million participants in the sport, according to the FIFA Big Count.

For more information on all U.S. Soccer programs, visit the official organization website at ussoccer.com.

U.S. SOCCER FEDERATION - HISTORY

Throughout the 100-year history of U.S. Soccer, the organization has been known by three different names:

U.S. Foot Ball Association – 1913-1944

U.S. Soccer Football Association – 1945-1973

U.S. Soccer Federation – 1974-Current

2012 U.S. OPEN CUP REVIEW

Both the Charlotte Eagles and Dayton Dutch Lions made club history in the 2012 U.S. Open Cup, joining the Harrisburg City Islanders in the quarterfinals of the competition in another outstanding year for USL clubs in the historic competition's 99th edition.

The Eagles, celebrating their 20th season in 2012, had never advanced beyond the third round in their history, nor defeated MLS opposition. That changed when goals by Daryl Roberts and Nate Thornton earned their side a 2-0 victory against FC Dallas in the third round. That victory was the second of three consecutive in the Lone Star State for the Eagles, who defeated the El Paso Patriots in the second round before beating the San Antonio Scorpions in the fourth round to reach the quarterfinals.

Dayton also had never defeated MLS opposition, and the Dutch Lions were up against it trailing the Columbus Crew by a goal in their third-round contest at Crew Stadium entering the final 15 minutes. The introduction of Kyle Knotek off the bench made the difference, however, as the winger assisted on goals by Jan-Gerrit Bartels and Gibson Bardsley to earn a 2-1 victory, delighting the traveling support at Crew Stadium.

Dayton went on to end the Cup dreams of the PDL's standard-bearer in the tournament, the Michigan Bucks, who had sprung a surprise of their own as they took a dramatic 3-2 victory against the Chicago Fire in the third round. Hosting the MLS club at Ultimate Soccer Arenas, Nate Boyden tied the game with 11 minutes remaining before Nermin Crnkic scored in extra time to give his side its second victory against an MLS club in the competition.

Michigan appeared to have a chance for more drama when it faced Dayton in the fourth round, with Anthony Grant's goal tying Eli Garner's opener for the Dutch Lions. Joel DeLass scored what proved to be the game-winner for the Dutch Lions from the penalty spot, however, sending his side to its first quarterfinal appearance.

Harrisburg reached the quarterfinals for the third time in the club's history, earning a thrilling penalty shootout victory against the New England Revolution in the third round after playing to a 3-3 draw after extra time. The Revolution appeared to have clinched the tie at the midway point of extra time, taking a three-goal lead in the opening 15 minutes, but Harrisburg roared back, Brian Ombiji getting the first goal before Sainey Touray made it 3-2 in the 117th minute. J.T. Noone was then on hand in the final minute to tie the game, and when New England's Benny Feilhaber had his effort saved by Nick Noble in the fifth round of the shootout, the City Islanders advanced.

Harrisburg's extra time magic continued in the fourth round against the New York Red Bulls, with Touray and Lucky Mkosana each scoring to give their side a 3-1 victory. The run came to an end against the Philadelphia Union, however, as did Charlotte's against Chivas USA and Dayton's against eventual champion Sporting Kansas City.

USL PRO

USL PRO, formed from the merger of USL's First and Second Divisions into a single league property prior to the 2011 season, was designed to help ensure the long-term stability of professional soccer in North America. In 2013 USL PRO embarks on the next chapter in its growth thanks to a groundbreaking partnership with MLS that includes interleague play between USL PRO and MLS Reserve League teams, and the establishment of several exclusive team affiliations. The first MLS-USL PRO affiliations will see direct working relationships between D.C. United and the Richmond Kickers, the New England Revolution and the Rochester Rhinos, the Philadelphia Union and Harrisburg City Islanders, and Sporting Kansas City and Orlando City.

These initial programs will immediately improve professional player development in the United States and Canada. Additional technical and commercial initiatives between the two leagues will be announced as they are finalized in the coming months.

USL PRO is the strongest, best operated and most experienced North American men's professional soccer league below MLS, both on and off the field. Focused on franchise stability and longevity, USL PRO features 13 teams in 2013 and an unprecedented six teams with more than a decade of operational experience. The league is focused on aggressive but deliberate growth by adding teams fully capable of meeting USL and USSF standards, which are located in markets that further promote regional league play.

USL PRO is a national league featuring a regional competition model to build natural rivalries and reduce travel-related costs. The U.S. Soccer Federation-affiliated league benefits from the leadership of the dedicated and experienced professional staff at USL's Tampa headquarters as well as the developmental support of USL's proven and integrated system of leagues.

USL's professional staff includes not only experienced league administrators, but also a large staff of sports professionals to assist teams in the areas of franchise development, international partnerships, marketing, ticket sales, corporate sponsorships, communications, new media, broadcast production, web services and player registration.

USL also features a full-time National Technical Director, Peter Mellor, to assist teams with player identification and to help create opportunities for player advancement both domestically and internationally. Mellor, a longtime U.S. Soccer Staff Coach, oversees the annual USL Men's Combine at IMG Academy in Bradenton, Florida, which has helped more than 175 players sign professional contracts with USL, MLS and international squads since its debut in 2006.

Beneficiaries of the event include rising star Tom Heinemann, who signed with the Charleston Battery following the 2008 Combine. Heinemann was named MVP of the 2010 USL-2 title game, finished the 2010 season in the USSF D2 League and is now a member of the Vancouver Whitecaps of MLS.

CHARLESTON CLAIMS USL PRO TITLE

The Charleston Battery kept their perfect record in championship games intact at Blackbaud Stadium, capturing the 2012 USL PRO Championship with a 1-0 win against the Wilmington Hammerheads.

Game MVP Jose Cuevas created the only goal the Battery would need to send the crowd of 4,963 home happy, threading a pass through the Wilmington defense in the 74th minute to Mike Azira, who hit a first-time left-footed shot into the far corner from the left side of the penalty area, giving Wilmington keeper Alex Horwath no chance.

It was the fourth title in four trips to the final for Charleston, which also captured championships in 1996, 2003 and 2010. The Battery entered the post-season as the No. 3 seed, and took out No. 6 Harrisburg and No. 2 Rochester to advance to the title game. However, Battery Head Coach Mike Anhaeuser said it was a regular-season contest in Rochester on August 11 that put his squad on track for the title.

"In the beginning of the season after the first three or four games, I really felt like we had a team that could win it," Anhaeuser said. "We had a little hesitation or hiccup in the middle of the season, but when we won that game in Rochester 4-0, and I saw the guys play the way they did, I knew that we could beat anybody."

The No. 5-seed Hammerheads, who reached the championship game after upsetting top-seeded Orlando City in the semifinals, fell just short of capturing their second title.

"I thought [Charleston] deserved to win," Wilmington Head Coach David Irving said. "The occasion may have gotten to us a little bit, but just to get here and the way we played the past few games is a credit to the boys. We just weren't ourselves tonight and we definitely didn't play the way I know we can play."

The teams spent most of the first half feeling each other out through hard tackles and physical play, as both felt the weight of the evening's proceedings. A steady rain and blustery wind hurt both teams' possession for much of the half, and Charleston midfielder Ryan Richter had the first good look at goal in the ninth minute, bending a left-footed shot from the top of box just wide of the far post.

It wasn't until the 40th minute that the first true scoring chance came courtesy of Cuevas – named USL PRO Rookie of the Year on Friday – who flicked a strong header toward the top left corner that was tipped over the bar by Horwath to keep the game scoreless at the half.

Wilmington brought on All-USL PRO Second Team midfielder Bryce Taylor to start the second half to try to boost its offense. It appeared to work as the Hammerheads began to press into the Charleston end more down the left wing, but the Battery soon went back on the attack. They came close once again in the 62nd minute, when Amadou Sanyang met Nicki Paterson's corner perfectly in the Wilmington penalty area, only to see his uncontested header trickle wide of the left post.

After Azira put Charleston into the lead, Wilmington pushed everyone forward and sent ball after ball in the Battery's penalty area, but the veteran defense led by John Wilson and Colin Falvey and backed up by keeper Andrew Dykstra, was able to hold tight.

USL PRO, MLS ENTER INTO GROUNDBREAKING PARTNERSHIP

Major League Soccer and USL PRO announced a groundbreaking, multi-year partnership in early 2013 that will enhance the development of professional players in North America, strengthen the competition in both leagues, and establish a solid foundation for future collaboration.

For 2013, the partnership will include interleague play between USL PRO and MLS Reserve League teams, and the establishment of several exclusive team affiliations. The first MLS-USL PRO affiliations will see direct working relationships between D.C. United and the Richmond Kickers, the New England Revolution and the Rochester Rhinos, the Philadelphia Union and Harrisburg City Islanders, and Sporting Kansas City and Orlando City.

These initial programs will immediately improve professional player development in the United States and Canada. Additional technical and commercial initiatives between the two leagues will be announced as they are finalized in the coming months.

"This partnership represents the first step in a long-term alliance between MLS and USL PRO to connect domestic professional soccer through a system that benefits player development, competition and the overall business of our sport," MLS Executive Vice President of Player Relations & Competition Todd Durbin said. "Over the past several years, USL PRO has made great strides in restructuring in a manner that serves to complement the objectives of MLS. This is a win-win for all involved and it demonstrates our strong commitment to growing North American professional soccer at all levels."

Each club affiliation will be customized to meet the needs of the respective teams, but all will include at least four players on long-term loan from the MLS parent club to its USL PRO affiliate. Those MLS teams with formal USL PRO affiliates will not participate in the 2013 MLS Reserve League. Neither MLS nor USL PRO clubs are required to enter into an affiliation, and specific affiliations will be announced in the coming days.

Each of the 13 USL PRO teams will compete in two interleague games against MLS Reserve teams. With the exception of Antigua, which will play both of its games at MLS Reserve teams, USL PRO teams have been paired with a single MLS team to play a home and home series. All interleague games will count in both the official USL PRO and MLS Reserve League standings. Details of the fixtures will be announced in conjunction with the forthcoming release of the official 2013 USL PRO schedule.

"USL PRO has for the past several years been the most sophisticated and competitive professional soccer league under MLS," USL CEO Alec Papadakis said. "This new partnership with MLS will elevate and strengthen the level of competition for domestic professional soccer while simultaneously creating a more sustainable financial model for team owners. As a result, we expect this partnership will forge a seamless system for the development of players and coaches, and promote the expansion of professional soccer into new North American markets."

STABILIZING FORCE

Holt: MLS partnership strengthens USL PRO on and off the field

By Charles Cuttone
Executive Editor, Big Apple Soccer

Professional soccer in the United States, especially in lower level leagues, has always lacked stability. USL PRO is hoping to change that thanks to a new agreement with Major League Soccer.

"Not only do we think that this partnership will elevate and strengthen the level of competition on the field for USL PRO, but we also think off the field it helps create a more sustainable financial model for our team owners," said Tim Holt, President of United Soccer Leagues.

"I think we have created an attractive option for players," said Holt. "I think it's one that will help both immediately help boost the level of play and the product that we put on the field, and I think it's also a step in the right direction towards creating a sustainable vibrant business model for professional soccer below MLS—lower division professional soccer in this country."

The partnership, unveiled in January, calls for a variety of initiatives. MLS teams can directly affiliate with USL PRO clubs, which four already have done, and supply at least four players on long term loan to their affiliate. Those MLS teams with formal USL PRO affiliates will not participate in the 2013 MLS Reserve League. Teams without affiliates will have their reserve teams play against USL PRO teams as part of the regular league schedule.

"What we had announced to date as the initiatives, which tangibly are the interleague play component and the affiliations, it's just the first step or phase in a long term relationship with MLS that beginning in 2014 is going to expand further and become more and more integrated in the years to come," Holt said of the groundbreaking deal.

Holt said the affiliate model is in some ways a hybrid of what sports fans may be familiar with in baseball, where major league teams have minor league affiliates, but also incorporating a European element where top flight clubs have reserve teams playing in a lower division.

"What we are trying to do is borrow models from lower level professional leagues in sports that have worked in the United States and what's worked in soccer abroad and combining those into a new model which can be beneficial to MLS in terms of supporting its player and market development initiatives but also be very positive for USL PRO in terms of further developing its niche in this country's soccer market," said Holt.

The future plan calls for fully integrating MLS Reserve teams into USL PRO.

"It could be in the very same market in the same stadium (as the MLS team), it could be in the same market in a different slightly smaller venue, but one that still meets the minimum standards of USL PRO. It could be in a satellite market," Holt said of how the reserve team integration might work.

MLS

While the agreement helps to provide a clear path to MLS from the lower divisions, it also helps the USL PRO teams stabilize, since some salaries will be borne by the MLS team.

"There is some increased profile and awareness that may come with being a formal affiliate of a Major League Soccer team," Holt said of some initial benefits.

Beyond that, things still need to shake out, but could include MLS and Soccer United Marketing helping with generating revenue for USL PRO.

"We don't know exactly how that could be monetized in terms of revenue generation, with sponsors, with fans, that will be one of the things that we learn a little bit, but I think that's something that we work with," Holt said.

USL PRO has all 11 of the teams that played last year returning for the 2013 season, plus the league has added a team in Phoenix and one in Sacramento that starts play in 2014.

"With our teams it's just a matter of continuing to find ways to generate new revenue and have a model for professional soccer that doesn't require expenses that are out of whack with what can be generated on the revenue side each and every year.

"I think that's been lower division professional soccer's problem over the last 20 years. Those two things aren't synched. When we restructured USL PRO 2-3 years ago, that was part and parcel of what we were doing, where the league model allowed them to achieve profitability on an annual operating basis, provided they were able to maximize those opportunities -- ticket sales, youth programs, sponsorship, etc. -- in their markets. We feel like we are getting there each year with more and more teams."

Holt says part of the process included jettisoning teams that could not meet the new standards, while also being more stringent about who was allowed to join the league.

"We've stabilized and now we are starting to experience some growth, and we've added this (MLS) partnership, so there's a lot of momentum going on. The teams feel very positive about the current and future of the league."

USL HALL OF FAME

TEN SELECTED FOR USL HALL OF FAME

THREE CLUBS ALSO HONORED

Ten men and women who have proven to be highly influential in North American soccer were chosen for induction into the USL Men's, Women's and MISL Hall of Fame wings in 2012. These individuals were recognized for helping to make USL and the MISL a success through the years because of their tremendous efforts and personal sacrifices made on behalf of the sport of soccer in North America. Additionally, three USL clubs were honored as 10+ Clubs after having completed 10 years in the PDL.

Honorees were chosen through a vote of current Hall of Fame members, USL teams and the USL Hall of Fame Committee.

2012 USL MEN'S HALL OF FAME INDUCTEES

Builder – Bill Rudisill, Wilmington Hammerheads

Rudisill oversaw some of the greatest successes in the Hammerheads' history as the club's owner, with Wilmington winning the USL Second Division championship in 2003, a year that also saw it reach the quarterfinals of the U.S. Open Cup. After the Hammerheads went on hiatus in 2010, he then returned to lead the club into USL PRO in 2011, which saw the Hammerheads average more than 4,000 fans a game, continuing his outstanding commitment to soccer in the Wilmington area. The success continued in 2012 as the Hammerheads reached the USL PRO Championship, falling against the Charleston Battery.

Coach – Laurie Calloway, Des Moines Menace, Syracuse Salty Dogs, Rochester Rhinos

Calloway, the all-time wins leader for the Des Moines Menace, found success as a manager in USL at both the professional and PDL levels. The PDL Coach of the Year in 2002 when he led the Menace to an undefeated regular season, Calloway won an APSL title with San Francisco Bay in 1991 and also took the USL First Division's Syracuse Salty Dogs and Rochester Rhinos to the verge of championships in his time in the professional ranks. He spent 1996-97 in MLS as coach of the San Jose Clash.

Player – Dustin Swinehart, Charlotte Eagles, Hampton Roads Mariners, Indiana Blast

One of the most enduring players in USL's professional divisions, Swinehart joined the Charlotte Eagles in 1998 after a season each with the Hampton Roads Mariners (1996) and the Indiana Blast (1997), and remained in Charlotte for 12 seasons, calling it quits in 2009. With the exception of two brief loans to the Richmond Kickers, Swinehart spent his entire professional career with the Eagles, tallying 125 career goals in 228 appearances. The Eagles reached the playoffs in all but one of Swinehart's seasons, capturing USL Second Division titles in 2000 and 2005 and reaching the final on four other occasions. Swinehart was named the MVP of the 2000 championship game, and in 2001, after the Eagles moved up to the USL First Division, he was named to the All-League First Team. He was named to the USL-2 All-League First Team in 2005, 2006 and 2008, and in 2008 he was also named the USL-2 MVP.

USL HALL OF FAME

2012 USL WOMEN'S HALL OF FAME INDUCTEES

Builder – John Pugh, Ottawa Fury

In July 2002, Pugh acquired the Ottawa Fury Soccer Club and transformed a single W-League franchise into a club that boasts W-League, PDL, Super Y-League and academy teams along with several grassroots programs. Since Pugh took over the Fury, the W-League team has captured nine consecutive division titles, five conference championships and has made seven Final Four appearances with four trips to the Championship Game. The club captured its first championship at home in 2012. Internationally, more than 50 Fury players have been capped by their respective countries. In 2010, the Fury U17 Girls captured the Super Y-League North American Championship, highlighting the success of the Club's Youth Academy which has seen more than 85 players earn NCAA scholarships. Pugh is currently a member of the USL W-League Executive Committee, the OSA Technical Committee and was a member of the Site Organizing Committee for the Ottawa portion of the 2007 FIFA U20 World Cup.

Coach – Nino DePasquali, New York Magic

The man behind the bench for all 16 of the Magic's W-League seasons, DePasquali has led the club to the conference quarterfinals in 2002 and 2003 and the final four in 1998, and 1999. The Magic were division champions in 1998. A native of Roma, Italy, his professional career spanned more than 15 years having played for Roma and Brescia in Italy, Cologne in Germany, San Gallo in Switzerland and Real Betis in Spain. In 2005, he was inducted into the Hall of Fame for the Eastern New York State Amateur Soccer Association.

Coach – Charlie Naimo, Pali Blues, Central Jersey, Jersey Sky Blue, New Brunswick, NJ Wildcats

Head coach of the Pali Blues, Naimo directed his squad to yet another title game in 2012, falling against Ottawa in the final. Naimo spearheaded the Blues to a cumulative 21-0-3 record in 2008 and 2009, capturing a pair of titles in the club's first two years without experiencing defeat. Naimo spent the 2007 season coaching Jersey Sky Blue of the W-League with the team finishing 12-2 in the regular season before falling to the Ottawa Fury in the conference semifinal. Naimo first put on the head coaching hat in 1998 with the New Jersey Splash, receiving W-League Coach of the Year accolades in 1999. After a stop with the New Brunswick Power, he took over a struggling New Jersey Wildcats club and orchestrated an entire reconstruction of the organization. In his three seasons with the team, Naimo compiled a 41-1 regular season record, leading the club to regular season titles in 2004 and 2006 while winning the W-League championship in 2005. In 2005 the Wildcats were named the USL Franchise of the Year, and Naimo won the W-League Coach of the Year award in 2006.

2012 MISL HALL OF FAME INDUCTEES

Builder - Earl Foreman

The driving force behind the creation of the MISL in 1977, Foreman served as the league's commissioner from 1978-85 and again from 1989-92. Along with Ed Tepper, Foreman introduced a league that featured six teams that played a 24-game schedule from December, 1978 to March of the following year. Under Foreman's leadership the MISL blossomed into a 14-team league averaging 9,000 a game with nationally televised games on ESPN and CBS.

Coach - Ron Newman, San Diego Sockers

A member of the National Soccer Hall of Fame, Newman led the Sockers to eight MISL titles in nine years, posting a career regular season record of 286-158. His teams only lost one playoff series in nine years and carried an 80-37 playoff record. Newman won the 1987-88 MISL Coach of the Year award, and is credited with revolutionizing how the game was played.

Player - Hector Marinaro, Cleveland Crunch, Cleveland Force, Los Angeles Lazars, Minnesota Strikers

Marinaro began his MISL career as a sparingly used defender for the Cleveland Force in 1983, and after brief stops with the Minnesota Strikers and Los Angeles Lazars, he became one of the MISL's great scoring stars upon his return to Cleveland in 1989. With the Crunch (renamed the Force in 2002), Marinaro tallied an amazing 1,099 goals in 533 games from 1989-2004. He led the MISL in scoring during the 1987-88 and 1991-92 seasons.

Player - Slavisa "Steve" Zungul, New York Arrows, San Diego Sockers, Golden Bay Earthquakes, Tacoma Stars

The owner of nearly every MISL record thanks to a memorable 11-year career, Zungul, known as "The Lord of All Indoors," scored 652 goals and added 471 assists for a total of 1,123 points in 423 games. He added another 189 points in 77 playoff games while winning eight championships with the New York Arrows and San Diego Sockers. Named MISL MVP six times, Zungul also captured the championship series MVP nod four times. Amongst his most impressive feats are his 108-goal season in 1980-81, a 76-game point scoring streak from 1978-81, and scoring three goals in 37 seconds in a game in 1982.

2012 USL 10+ CLUBS

BYU Cougars

The BYU Cougars were a unique addition to the PDL in 2003, becoming the first team owned and operated by a university to join the league. BYU entered the PDL with a strong pedigree, having already dominated the Collegiate Club Soccer Championships for a decade, winning national championships in 1993, 1995, 1996, 1997, 1998, 1999, and 2001. The team enjoyed its best PDL season in 2007, posting a 13-1-2 record to claim the Northwest Division title before falling to Fresno in the Western Conference Final.

Fresno Fuego

The Fuego have been one of the PDL's great success stories since joining the league in 2003, routinely packing thousands of fans into Chukchansi Park to always be at the top of the league's attendance rankings. On the field, the Fuego have never endured a losing season, compiling an impressive 96-45-23 mark, three division titles and a trip to the conference final in 2011.

West Virginia Chaos

Founded in 2003, the West Virginia Chaos have provided West Virginia soccer talent with an opportunity for advancement for the past 10 seasons. Among the chaos alums who have moved on to play professionally is West Virginia native Chase Harrison of the Philadelphia Union. The Chaos are on the upswing recently, having put together back-to-back winning seasons in 2011 and 2012, narrowly missing out on a playoff berth this past summer.

PARTNERSHIPS

UNITED SOCCER LEAGUES MOVES TO THE NIKE BRAND

Following the sale of the Umbro Brand by NIKE, Inc., the sponsorship of United Soccer Leagues (USL) has transferred from Umbro to Nike, starting with the 2013 season. The sponsorship will continue to involve support of USL PRO teams and events.

USL is the organizer of several soccer leagues with teams in the United States, Canada and the Caribbean. It includes men's and women's leagues. In 2011 it also assumed the operations of the Major Indoor Soccer League.

"We are really excited to be developing the relationship between USL and NIKE, Inc. and look forward working with USL and member teams to elevate the game of soccer in the U.S.," commented U.S. Soccer Sports Marketing Director, Joe Elsmore.

"We are very excited about this new partnership with Nike," USL CEO Alec Papadakis said. "We've gone from a partnership with an iconic soccer brand to a partnership with the world's biggest sports and soccer brand, which is great news for everyone involved with USL. We expect this relationship to benefit all USL clubs, and we are eager to start working with Nike to develop programs that will benefit USL's properties both now and in the future."

USL PARTNERSHIPS

United Soccer Leagues has outstanding partners in various categories which enhance the operations of its leagues and teams. The current partnership roster includes National Guard, The Sport Source, Demosphere, Uni-Sport and Enterprise Rent-A-Car.
