The 2017 North American Soccer League (NASL) Season will feature eight clubs competing for the right to lift the Soccer Bowl Trophy.

The San Francisco Deltas enter their inaugural season as the league's first West Coast club during the Modern Era. San Francisco joins FC Edmonton, Indy Eleven, Jacksonville Armada FC, Miami FC, New York Cosmos, North Carolina FC, and Puerto Rico FC.

The clubs will compete under the league's split-season format, which consists of 16 games in the Spring Season (March-July) and 16 in the Fall Season (July-October). The winners of the Spring and Fall Seasons earn a place in The Championship, the league's four-club postseason tournament. The two clubs with the next-best overall records will receive the remaining postseason berths.

The champion lifts the Soccer Bowl Trophy, the third-oldest professional outdoor soccer prize in the North America.

The New York Cosmos enter the 2017 season as the defending champions after besting Indy Eleven in a penalty-kick shootout last November. Defender Ryan Richter converted the winning spot kick to give New York back-to-back NASL titles, as well as its third in four years.

In addition to competing in league play, six U.S.-based clubs will play in the 104th edition of the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup. FC Edmonton will participate in the Amway Canadian Championship, while Puerto Rico FC will compete in the Caribbean Club Championship. The winner of each of those three competitions earns automatic entry into the CONCACAF Champions League.

COMPETITION FORMAT

Structure: The 2017 NASL season will once again be played under a split-season format. The Spring and Fall Season Champions will each host a semifinal in the league's four-team postseason tournament, The Championship, and the pair will be joined by the next two clubs with the best combined records. The top seed in The Championship will be awarded to either the Spring or Fall Champion, depending on which has the better combined record in the regular season. The third and fourth seeds will then be determined by the teams' positions in the Combined Standings. The top-seeded team after the semifinals will host The Championship Final. If one club wins both season championships, the clubs posting the second, third, and fourth-best overall records will enter The Championship.

Schedule: In the 2017 Spring and Fall Seasons, eight teams will play against each other twice - once at home and once away - plus an additional two games.

Point System: Teams will receive three points for a win, one point for a draw, and zero points for a loss.

Referees: All referees for NASL matches played in the United States are nationally certified and assigned by the Professional Referee Organization (PRO), while the Canadian Soccer Association (CSA) assigns referees for all matches played in Canada. CONCACAF will designate officials for the encounters in Puerto Rico.

Game Clock: The official game time for all NASL games will be managed on the field by the referee. If necessary, the referee may also allot extra time (stoppage time) at the end of each half - first, second, and if applicable, first overtime and second overtime during postseason games. The stadium clock will display the time from 0:00 to 45:00 and from 45:00 to 90:00 (plus stoppage time where applicable in each half). For statistical purposes, the minutes for goals, substitutions, yellow cards, etc., will be listed from the first minute until the 90th minute. For example, a goal scored at 15 minutes 10 seconds will be listed as having been scored in the 16th minute.

Team Rosters: During the Season, each team's master roster shall be no less than 20 players and no more than 35 total players. Players can compete on a maximum of two teams per Spring or Fall season.

Active Roster and Inactive Roster: While the total roster size can be 35 players, only 30 are eligible to be on the active roster at a given time. Only the players listed on the active roster can compete in an NASL league game. When a player is on the inactive roster, the player must remain inactive for 30 days. To move a player from the active to inactive roster or vice versa, the team must notify the Registrar, in writing, at least 48 hours before the league game to reflect the changes.

Domestic Players: Domestic players for teams located in the United States are U.S. citizens, permanent residents (green card holders), and holders of a special status (e.g., refugee or asylum status). Canadian citizens are also considered as domestic players for teams in U.S., Canada, and Puerto Rico. For teams located in Canada, domestic players are Canadian citizens, permanent residents (green card holders), landed immigrants (non-Canadian citizenship permanent residents), and players who qualify as domestic in the U.S.

International Players: Each team may list up to seven non-domestic players on its master roster.

Game-Day Rosters: Each team may nominate 18 players from its active roster for a game-day roster. Teams are allowed three substitutions per game.

Cautions and Suspensions: A player will be suspended for one game upon receiving a fifth accumulated yellow card throughout the Spring or Fall Seasons – regardless of the nature of the infraction. After a player has been suspended for five yellow cards, an additional one-game suspension will be added each time after another three yellow cards are accumulated. A player receiving two yellow cards in the same game will receive a red card and will be suspended for the next game. However, that will only count as one red card and not two yellow cards added to the accumulation total. A player that receives a direct red card will automatically be suspended for the next game, and the NASL Disciplinary Committee has the power to suspend him for additional games, depending upon the severity of the red card offense. Card accumulations reset to zero after each season (Spring and Fall).

Card Suspensions: Red-card and yellow-card accumulation suspensions earned in regular season games will be served in that player's next regular-season game. Any suspension for yellow-card accumulation earned in a player's last regular season game will carry over into that season's first postseason game for his team. Any player who receives a red card in his team's last game of the season - NASL regular season or during playoff games - will serve the one-game suspension during their next game (whether it comes in The Championship Semifinals, Final, or in the first regular-season game of the next season). All card suspensions will, if applicable, follow a player to a new team.

Suspension Manipulation: Players suspended from NASL regular-season or postseason games that are called in for national team duty will have their suspensions held in abeyance until they return to their NASL team. Teams will be responsible for informing the League Office of a player's selection to national team duty. Failure to provide the League Office with such notice or to withhold the use of a suspended player when appropriate is subject to sanctions.

League Standings: The team awarded the highest position in the league standings will be the team with the greatest number of points at the conclusion of the respective Spring or Fall Season. In the event that two or more teams have an equal number of points, the following system will be used to determine their rank in the league standings:

1) Goal Differential: The highest position shall be awarded to the team with the greater goal difference against all other teams during the regular season.

2) Total Goals: The highest position shall be awarded to the team scoring the greatest number of total goals against all other teams during the regular season.

3) Head-To-Head Competition: The highest position shall be awarded to the team with the best win/draw/loss record in regular-season games against all other teams equal in points.

4) Away Goal Difference/Away Goals Scored: The highest position shall be awarded to the team with the greater away goal differential than the other teams. If needed, the highest position shall be awarded to the team with the greater total of away goals scored.

NASL OFFICIAL MATCH BALL

Since March 1, 2016, the NASL and Under Armour have been engaged in a partnership in which the sporting goods manufacturer provides official NASL-branded match balls for all training sessions, matches, and community activities. The match ball features the NASL's signature red and blue colors as well as the league's logo. As one of the world's fastest-growing sports companies, Under Armour already has an extensive sports partner portfolio that features dozens of professional teams, college teams and athletes from around the globe.

SOCCER BOWL TROPHY

The Soccer Bowl Trophy, named to honor the heritage of the NASL Legendary Era, will be awarded annually to the winner of The Championship Final. The Soccer Bowl Trophy, which is third oldest men's professional outdoor soccer prize in the United States, was crafted in England and designed by 343RLP+ Creative. Each year, the NASL Champions have their team name engraved on the Soccer Bowl Trophy.

SPRING, FALL CHAMPIONSHIP TROPHIES

Awarded to the winners of the respective Spring and Fall Championships, the trophies were custom made in England and designed by 343RLP+ Creative, the same company behind the Soccer Bowl Trophy and the NASL league branding.

Two seasons ago, the New York Cosmos sent Raúl and Marcos Senna into retirement in fairytale fashion, lifting the Soccer Bowl Trophy for a second time in three years. The question going into 2016 was how the club would defend its title without the pair of legends, but the Cosmos managed to do it, knocking off Indy Eleven in a penalty-kick shootout last November for its third championship in the league's Modern Era.

In 2017, NASL clubs will once again face off in a split-season format, which is balanced with 16 games apiece in both the Spring and Fall Seasons. The competition will then culminate with The Championship, the league's four-club postseason tournament, in November.

"The season has finally arrived, and we couldn't be more excited to get back to playing in front of our fans," said NASL Interim Commissioner Rishi Sehgal. "The pitch is where we're all able to truly celebrate the beautiful game, and we expect this season to bring compelling and entertaining soccer back into our communities. Over the years, our intense split-season competition has produced the drama and excitement that fans crave. The 2017 season will be no different, and we can't wait to watch our clubs battle each other week in and week out."

Cosmos defender Ryan Richter, who scored the winning penalty kick in The Championship Final, returns as a key piece on the back line, along with captain Carlos Mendes and Ayoze. Goalkeeper Jimmy Maurer also re-signed with the club, as well as midfielders Andrés Flores and Danny Szetela. Flores' teammates with the Salvadoran national team, Irvin Herrera and Richie Menjivar, have also joined the Cosmos ranks.

With several returners playing a role in all three title-winning seasons in New York, the club will look to use its past experiences to push for more silverware in 2017.

“Last year was a record-setting season for the club - not only did we obtain our third Soccer Bowl Trophy in four years but we also proved to be a consistent team,” said Cosmos coach Giovanni Savarese. “Several teams have made significant changes for the 2017 Season. We’re proud of the team that we have built and we will honor our philosophy of preparing one match at the time to earn the best possible results.”

The San Francisco Deltas enter as the league newcomer in 2017, competing in their inaugural campaign as a club. With the addition of San Francisco, the NASL will be represented on the West Coast for the first time in the Modern Era. Coach Marc Dos Santos, who reached The Championship Final in 2015, is at the helm and has built a squad capable of getting out of the gate quickly. Former NASL Golden Glove winner Romuald Peiser has joined the side, along with forward Tom Heinemann – both players have played under Dos Santos in the past.

The Deltas roster features some familiar NASL faces and some interesting newcomers like Canadian international Kyle Bekker and Kenny Teijssse, who most recently played in the Dutch Eredivise with Go Ahead Eagles.

“I think our biggest objective is to be competitive right off the bat,” Dos Santos said. “We built a team that has a lot of experience - guys that have been in playoff situations and on championship teams. We wanted to make sure we brought in players that will help us make the playoffs in a competitive league. It is difficult to do in our first season, but we believe we have all the right personnel to compete.”

Runners-up in 2016, Indy Eleven will aim to replicate its success in the new season. The Boys in Blue went unbeaten at Michael A. Carroll Stadium and claimed the Spring Season Trophy last year. Eamon Zayed, the club's leading scorer a year ago, returns along with his strike partner, Justin Braun. The pair combined for 23 goals last year - Zayed scored 15, while Braun found the back of the net eight times. Ben Speas signed for the club during the offseason and will look to aid in creating scoring chances, but he can find the goal himself, doing so four times in 2016.

“There's a lot to play for this year, and we had the opportunity last year to get a taste of what it's like to win a championship and reach a final,” said Indy coach Tim Hankinson. “The expectation for ourselves is to try and win even more and get back to the final, and do a better job this time around. Our real goal this year is to fight to put a star over our crest, so anything less than that would be selling ourselves short after the experience we are bringing back from last year.”

FC Edmonton reached the postseason for the first time since 2011, sporting the league's best defense. The club conceded a mere 21 goals in 32 games in 2016. Goalkeeper Matt VanOekel posted a league record goals against average of 0.55, but he will not be back in Edmonton for the upcoming campaign. The club will also be without leading scorer Daryl Fordyce. The Eddies, though, return a strong cast including captain Albert Watson, midfielders Nik Ledgerwood and Ben Fisk, and forward Jake Keegan. The club added several experienced players such as Netan Sansara and Sabri Khattab, who both featured in Norway recently.

We have to build on last season and we can't just expect to be playoff contenders — we have to prove it,” Eddies coach Colin Miller said. “We raised the level of expectation last year and can't have anyone drop below the standard that we've set.”

Miami FC, which came close to reaching the postseason in the club's inaugural season in 2016, is primed to challenge for a place in The Championship in 2017. Maintaining a strong core that includes forward Jaime Chavez, midfielder Kwadwo Poku, and defender and captain Johnny Borrajo, Miami FC has signed several players that could make a big impact in the upcoming campaign. Former NASL Best XI member Michel, who scored 14 goals a year ago, joins the side along with former NASL Golden Boot and Golden Ball winner Stefano Pinho.

“It's a new year, a fresh start, and just like last year, we are determined to win a championship,” said Miami FC coach Alessandro Nesta. “The technical staff analyzed the good, the bad, and where exactly we could improve for this year. I believe the roster moves that we've made will help us achieve the one goal that we all have in mind. It will not be easy. There are seven other competitive teams in this league but, we're ready to go up against every single one. Miami deserves a winning team and we hope to be just that for our city.”

North Carolina FC, formerly the Carolina RailHawks, is looking to connect even further with its home state, while bringing the Soccer Bowl Trophy to WakeMed Soccer Park after a mid-table finish last year. The club's captain, Nazmi Albadawi, set a league record with 10 assists and will return alongside Tiyi Shipalane, Brian Shriver, and Matt Fondy to lead the attack. The club added Marcel Kandziora, a product of the Borussia Dortmund Academy, as well as Bolu Akinyode and Alex Molano to bolster the midfield.

“We're really looking forward to this season because a lot of good, positive things have happened, both on and off the field,” said North Carolina FC coach Colin Clarke. “We're returning a very strong core group of players and we've added a lot of young and hungry players. That's what we were looking to do this year. We've been training now for a couple of weeks, and I see some very good signs. For us, as always, our goal is a championship."

After a strong finish to the 2016 Fall Season, Puerto Rico FC is aiming to build off that form in 2017. PRFC will take part in the CFU Club Championship in the weeks leading up to opening night and it could propel the club to a fast start this year. Key players such as Puerto Rican internationals Hector Ramos and Jackie Marrero are back with the side, while the club has signed forwards Conor Doyle and Giuseppe Gentile and midfielder Jordi Quintilla to boost the its attacking options.

"We're very excited for our first full season in the NASL," said Puerto Rico FC coach Adrian Whitbread. "We think that we have a much-improved team and we expect to be a serious competitor. It will be a very busy 2017 with the CFU Club Championship taking place, but our team has been training since early February and we have a good core from the previous year coming back. Our new signings have been exciting ones, and I think that we've built competition for starting roles, which we know is essential for any winning team."

Mark Lowry took over as coach of Jacksonville Armada FC at the end of the 2016 season, and the side looked reinvigorated. Now, Lowry will look to continue that momentum to start out 2017 with an energetic and young side. Forward Charles Eloundou, who tied for a team lead with six goals last year, and midfielder Danny Barrow will aim to find more consistency in the coming year. Jacksonville also added promising talents in midfielders Jack Blake and Bryam Rebellón.

"We believe we have put together a roster that not only suits our style of play, but can also compete strongly in what is sure to be a very competitive season for all teams," Lowry said.

FC Edmonton had one of its best years in club history, reaching the postseason for the first time since 2011, and setting several defensive records.

Goalkeeper Matt VanOekel, who posted a league record goals against average of 0.55, will not be back with the club, nor will the team's leading scorer, Daryl Fordyce. The Eddies, though, have retained several key players from last year's side including Canadian internationals Ben Fisk and Nik Ledgerwood. The club also brought in former Rangers FC midfielder Dean Shiels and Canadian national team mainstay Adam Straith as the club looks to return to The Championship in 2017.

"We're excited about the challenge and the group of players that we have at FC Edmonton this season," said Eddies coach Colin Miller. "There's a lot of continuity from last year and some talented fresh faces have come in that all add experience, quality, and are genuine good people, which is important when you're trying to build a strong squad."

Indy Eleven had a wildly successful season in 2016, making it all the way to The Championship Final. While Indy fell just short, succumbing to the New York Cosmos in a penalty-kick shootout, the club could be just as strong this season.

The forward line of Justin Braun and Eamon Zayed will lead the attack for the Boys in Blue once more. The Indy roster is also packed with veteran experience with goalkeeper Jon Busch, defender Colin Falvey, and midfielders Brad Ring and Mexican world cup legend Gerardo Torrado all remaining with the side. Ben Speas could be an important addition in the final third for the club.

“Ben Speas has come in and he has already shown his incredible qualities,” said Indy coach Tim Hankinson. “We hated to lose Dylan Mares, Greg Janicki, Duke Lacroix, and others like that, but we believe in Ben and he will be very quick to attack this year.

“Craig Henderson is a very intelligent player who is very clean on the ball. He always seems to find the best option with a pass. There will be a rotation in the midfield because we have a very good collective group of experienced guys – names like Gerardo Torrado, Sinisa Ubiparipovic, Brad Ring, and Don Smart. That’s a group that will be fighting all year long for that playing time, and each one brings a different complimentary quality to this squad.”

Coach Mark Lowry took the helm late in the 2016 Fall Season, helping Jacksonville Armada FC improve over the final stretch of the year. The club finished near the bottom of the Combined Standings, but the Armada FC's young and energetic roster will look to take a step forward.

The club's attack will be led by the dynamic Charles Eloundou, who tied a team-high six goals. In the midfield, another dynamic, young talent, Danny Barrow, will aim to find consistency in the coming year. The club also added Jack Blake, another burgeoning talent, to the midfield. Jacksonville signed plenty of experienced players including midfielder J.C Banks, defender Aaron Pitchkolan, while retaining key veterans from last year – forward Jemal Johnson and midfielder Kevan George.

"There is a real buzz around the town as the season draws closer," Lowry said. "The excitement from our fan base is palpable. They have been through a tough couple of years on the field, and it's our job as coaches and players to bring them the success that their passion and loyalty deserves."

After a slow start out of the gate in the 2016 Spring Season, Miami FC nearly ended up reaching the postseason in its inaugural year. The club will now look to be a bonafide title contender in its second year in the league.

Miami returns a strong core that includes defender Jonathan Borrajo, midfielders Michael Lahoud and Kwadwo Poku, and forward Jaime Chávez. The club, though, has added more firepower with the signings of Michel, who scored 14 goals in 2016, and Stefano Pinho, who is a former NASL Golden Boot and Golden Ball winner.

“It’s a new year, a fresh start, and just like last year, we are determined to win the Championship,” said Miami FC Head Coach Alessandro Nesta. “The technical staff analyzed the good, the bad, and where exactly we could improve for this year. I believe the roster moves we’ve made will help us achieve the one goal we all have in mind. It will not be easy. There are seven other competitive teams in this league but, we’re ready to go up against every single one. Miami deserves a winning team and we hope to be just that for our city.”

In 2016, the New York Cosmos completed their title defense, knocking off Indy Eleven in a penalty-kick shootout. Including the club's history in the league's Legendary Era, the Cosmos have now won eight titles – a record for professional men's outdoor soccer in the U.S.

Coach Giovanni Savarese has kept the bulk of the title-winning side together, including the nucleus of the club's experienced back line: Carlos Mendes, Ayoze, and Ryan Richter. Salvadoran international Andrés Flores could have a bigger role in the final third in 2017 and he'll aim to connect with his international teammate, Irvin Herrera, who is on loan from St. Louis FC, to spearhead the Cosmos attack.

"Last year was a record-setting season for the New York Cosmos - not only did we obtain our third Soccer Bowl Trophy in four years but we also proved to be a consistent team," said Cosmos coach Giovanni Savarese. "Several teams have made significant changes for the 2017 Season. We're proud of the team that we have built and we will honor our philosophy of preparing one match at the time to earn the best possible results."

Formerly the Carolina RailHawks, the club has rebranded ahead of the 2017 season. With momentum off the field, the club will try to improve on it after its eighth-place finish in the Combined Standings in 2016.

North Carolina FC's attack will be led by captain Nazmi Albadawi, who set a league record with 10 assists last year, midfielder Tiyi Shipalane, and forwards Matt Fondy and Brian Shriver, who scored seven and six goals, respectively. Young shot-stopper Brian Sylvestre will also aim to take another step forward in his development with a chance at the No.1 goalkeeper jersey from the start of the Spring Season.

"We're really looking forward to this season because a lot of good, positive things have happened, both on and off the field," said North Carolina FC coach Colin Clarke. "We're returning a very strong core group of players and we've added a lot of young and hungry players. That's what we were looking to do this year. We've been training now for a couple of weeks, and I see some very good signs. For us, as always, our goal is a championship."

Puerto Rico FC took part in the Fall Season in 2016, and after stumbling early, the club found form at the tail end of the year – a run that included a seven-game unbeaten streak.

Adrian Whitbread's side will compete in the CFU Club Championship, allowing the players to round into form ahead of the start of the 2017 NASL season and the club will look to take advantage. Jordi Quintillà, a Barcelona Academy product, Conor Doyle, and Giuseppe Gentile provide an attacking boost alongside Puerto Rican internationals Jackie Marrero and Héctor Ramos, who scored eight goals in the 2016 Fall Season.

“We are very excited for our first full season in the NASL in which we expect to have a much improved team and be a serious competitor,” said Puerto Rico FC coach Adrian Whitbread. “It will be a very busy 2017 with also having the Caribbean Club Championship, but our team has been training since early February and we have a good core from the previous year coming back. Our new signings have been exciting ones and have built a competition for starting roles that we wanted and we know is essential for any winning team.”

The San Francisco Deltas are competing in their inaugural season in 2017. Leading the team into its maiden voyage is Marc Dos Santos, who has recently led two different teams to finals in two different leagues - Ottawa Fury FC (NASL) in 2015 and Swope Park Rangers (USL) in 2016.

Joining Dos Santos in San Francisco are veteran goalkeeper Romuald Peiser and forward Tom Heinemann, who both played under him in Ottawa. The squad boasts plenty of NASL experience, specifically midfielder Greg Jordan and defender Nana Attakora. Dos Santos has also looked abroad to bring in Kenny Teijssse, who was most recently playing in the Dutch Eredivisie, and Cristian Portilla, who has featured in La Liga during his career.

"I think our biggest objective is to be competitive right off the bat," Dos Santos said. "We built a team that has a lot of experience - guys that have been in playoff situations and on championship teams. We wanted to make sure we brought in players that will help us make the playoffs in a competitive league. It is difficult to do in our first season, but we believe we have all the right personnel to compete."

MEDIA INFORMATION

Game Notes: Teams will provide games notes to media members on the day of a match.

Media Credentials: All teams must print and distribute media credentials to all designated media members who will be working within the grounds of the host stadium. Each team should print both single-game or season-long media credentials. Photographers and/or videographers must be attached to a legitimate media organization to acquire credentials. All teams must provide colored bibs for still photographers and TV broadcast crew members. The two groups should be wearing different colored bibs that are designated by each team.

Press Box: The press box area is a neutral zone. Both home and visiting team personnel and media shall refrain from yelling or cheering. Media must not wear team apparel in the press box and are reminded to remain neutral when in areas made accessible by their credential. Media must not consume alcohol while in possession of a media credential and may not request autographs. Violators may be asked to leave the press box area and/or have their credential privileges suspended or revoked.

Locker Rooms: Team locker rooms will not be open to media members at any time before, during, and after every match – unless a club has received specific clearance from the league office to open them. The home and away team training/treatment areas and referee locker rooms are also strictly off limits to all members of the media. All regulations regarding media access to the locker rooms should be clearly communicated to team staff and security personnel to ensure a secure environment. TV broadcast crew members may film inside the locker rooms prior to the team's arrival, but only after coordinating with home team and visiting team PR staff.

Stadium Access: Credentialed media members will have access to the stadium, professional workrooms, stadium seating, and post-match media activities. During the match, all credentialed media will have access to the press box, which will be regulated by home team PR members. In addition, all accredited media members should be given a seat in the press box if possible.

Traveling Media: The home team shall provide press box seating for traveling media members at each game and should keep in mind the needs of media members traveling from the visiting team's area.

Media Access to Training Sessions: If a training session is declared a closed session, teams must allow media a minimum of 15 minutes for interviews after practice.

Home Team PR Staff Responsibilities: The home team PR staff must be in attendance on game day to attend to working media members before, during, and after the match.

Statistics Crew: Statistical information, such as box scores and league standings, will be distributed to media in the press box and other working media areas throughout the stadium

Still Photography: Still photographers, with the proper bib, are permitted to shoot matches in areas specifically designated by the home team. If a home and/or visiting team PR staff has a specific team photographer at the match, then those individuals will wear a different color bib to indicate that they can be granted special access to any stadium level as long as they do not obstruct the view of spectators, security personnel, medical officials, and emergency exits. At no time are photographers allowed on the field of play.

Interview Area: The home team PR director will designate a suitable postgame interview area on or near the field of play. This area shall be equipped with a team/sponsor backdrop to create a 'Coaches TV Area' where interviews may be conducted. Home and visiting team PR staff are responsible for bringing their own coach and players to the Coaches TV Area upon the conclusion of the game.

Player Interviews: Players giving interviews who should have played a significant role in the outcome of the match will be selected at the PR director's discretion. Media may request a specific player, and the team PR directors will dictate the length of the interview. Additional post-match interviews for coaches and players can be done in the designated media mixed zone area, which is between the locker room and the team buses at the venue.

Official Interviews: The NASL Commissioner and team owners may be made available for interviews to media at the discretion of the home and visiting PR Directors and after consultation with the League's communication staff.

Game officials will not be available for interviews and the official's locker room remains off limits to all media.

As the governing body of soccer at all levels in the United States, U.S. Soccer has played an integral role in charting the course for the sport for more than 100 years. In that time, the federation's mission statement has been clear and simple: To make soccer, in all its forms, a preeminent sport in the United States and to continue the development of soccer at all recreational and competitive levels.

In 1989, the U.S. men's national team had not played in a World Cup in almost 40 years and the U.S. women's program was in its early stages. Since that time, though, the state of soccer in the U.S. has been transformed.

In Brazil in 2014, the men's national team competed in its seventh consecutive FIFA World Cup. The team progressed to the Round of 16 for the second straight tournament.

U.S. Soccer is a world leader at every level of the women's game. The American women have won two FIFA Women's World Cups (1999 and 2015) and four Olympic gold medals (1996, 2004, 2008, and 2012) – an accomplishment unmatched, men or women, in Olympic competition. The United States has also hosted three wildly successful World Cups (men in 1994; women in 1999 and 2003) with the support of its members and anchored on strong organizational abilities.

From a coaching standpoint in the United States, more classes are being offered around the country, and the number of licensed, well-educated trainers and managers is getting larger and larger. The education level among coaches has been tailored to match the expanding pool of talent in the U.S.

U.S. Soccer continues to support the development of referees in CONCACAF, with a reinvigorated focus on education and training, including the care and nurturing of professional referees. In 2012, the Professional Referee Organization (PRO) was created to manage the referee programs and to increase the quality of younger officials in professional leagues in the U.S. and Canada. The top referees are considered for FIFA competitions.

NASL teams have competed in the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup since 2012, having sent teams to the quarterfinals in three different years.

The Carolina RailHawks, now North Carolina FC, have had the most success, reaching the quarterfinals in 2013 and 2014. The club's forward, Brian Shriver, leads all NASL players in goals in the competition with seven. The Atlanta Silverbacks also reached the quarterfinals in 2014, while the Fort Lauderdale Strikers reached the quarterfinal stage in 2016 after defeating a pair of MLS sides, D.C. United and Orlando City SC.

The Cup has helped foster rivalries for NASL teams, regardless of league affiliation. The RailHawks knocked out the Los Angeles Galaxy of MLS three years in a row from 2012-14. The New York Cosmos have ousted a New York metropolitan-area MLS side three straight years. The Cosmos defeated New York City FC for the second Played annually since 1914, the Open Cup (a single-elimination tournament open to all affiliated amateur and professional teams) is the oldest cup competition in the United States. The Cup winner qualifies as one of the four American teams for the CONCACAF Champions League.

CANADIAN SOCCER ASSOCIATION

In Canada, the sport is governed by the Canadian Soccer Association (CSA), which was established in 1912.

There are nearly 850,000 registered Canada Soccer members in 1,500 clubs across the 144 districts that operate in 12 provincial/territorial member associations. The CSA also has five National Training Centers – British Columbia, Prairies, Ontario, Quebec, and Atlantic.

After its only qualification for a FIFA World Cup (Mexico 1986), Canada has gone on to stage five FIFA tournaments: U-17 World Cup (1987), U-20 Women's World Cup (2002), U-20 World Cup (2007), U-20 Women's World Cup (2014), and the Women's World Cup (2015).

Canada's national teams have won nine confederation championships. The men's national team has won the CONCACAF Men's Championship (1985) and the CONCACAF Gold Cup (2000); Canada's women's team has won the CONCACAF Women's Championship (1998 and 2010). The men's youth team won the CONCACAF Under-20 Championship (1986 and 1996), while the women's youth team won the CONCACAF Women's U-20 Championship (2004 and 2008), and the CONCACAF Women's U-17 Championship (2010).

FC Edmonton has featured in the Amway Canadian Championship since 2011 and will compete against three MLS sides – Vancouver Whitecaps FC, Montreal Impact, and Toronto FC – and one USL side, Ottawa Fury FC.

The Eddies narrowly missed out on reaching the competition's final in 2014 and 2015, conceding late goals to the Impact and Whitecaps, respectively. Eddies forward Tomi Ameobi is the competition's leading scorer with five career goals.

The Amway Canadian Championship has been held annually since 2008 and the winner of the competition qualifies for the CONCACAF Champions League.

PUERTO RICAN SOCCER FEDERATION

The Federación Puertorriqueña de Fútbol (FPF) was founded in 1940 and admitted to FIFA in 1960.

Its mission is to grow soccer on the island at all levels while promoting values, therefore creating a legacy and a solid base for future generations. The Puerto Rican national teams are active at the Under-15, U-17, U-20, U-23, and senior levels for both men and women.

Also, Puerto Rico was chosen by FIFA as the trial base for FIFA 11, a program that was extremely successful, and now, the FPF staff has been granted the responsibility of growing and cultivating it around the region.

The Copa Luis Villarejo is organized by the Puerto Rican Soccer Federation (Federación Puertorriqueña de Fútbol) to crown the domestic cup champion and doubles as the island's qualifier to the Caribbean Club Championship.

In 2016, the NASL was represented by its newest club Puerto Rico FC (PRFC) in the Copa Luis Villarejo competing against the island's other domestic league teams from Liga Nacional de Fútbol de Puerto Rico and the Puerto Rico Soccer League.

PRFC won all five of its matches in the Copa Luis Villarejo while outscoring its opponents 14-1 on its way to its first Puerto Rican title and became the first NASL team since 2012 to qualify for the Caribbean Club Championship.

The Confederation of North, Central America, and Caribbean Association Football (CONCACAF) is the sport's governing body in the region, and one of six continental confederations that administer the sport along with FIFA, the world's governing body. It has 41 member associations through offices located in Miami, Guatemala City, and the Jamaica, and is composed of a Congress, Executive Committee, General Secretariat, and several other committees.

CONCACAF – formed in 1961 from the merger of the Football Confederation of Central America and the Caribbean (CCCF) and the North American Football Confederation (NAFC) – consists of three sub-regions: North America (three countries), Central America (seven countries under the regional entity Unión Centroamericana de Fútbol - UNCAF), and the Caribbean (31 countries under the regional entity Caribbean Football Union - CFU).

At the CONCACAF Ordinary Congress held on April 19, 2013, in Panama City, Panama, five national associations that previously held associate member status – French Guiana, Guadeloupe, Martinique, St. Martin, and St. Maarten – became full members. The island of Bonaire was accepted by the Congress as an associate member.

As the administrative body for the region, CONCACAF manages competitions, offers technical and administrative training courses, while also actively promoting and developing the game.

The biennial Gold Cup for full national teams and the annual Scotiabank Champions League for club teams are CONCACAF's most visible competitions. The confederation organizes championships at the U-17 and U-20 levels for men and women that lead to direct qualification for FIFA competitions. It also supports FIFA in coordinating qualifying tournaments for the World Cup, the Women's World Cup and Olympic Games, and also the Beach Soccer and Futsal World Cups.

ALL-TIME U.S. PROFESSIONAL OUTDOOR CHAMPIONS

When the New York Cosmos won The Championship Final in 2016, not only did the club win its third title in the Modern Era, but the club's eighth title in a single league, moving into a tie with Philadelphia German-American of the American Soccer League (ASL) with the most by a United States professional outdoor soccer team.

Below is a brief listing and history of other U.S. professional outdoor clubs and the professional titles they've won:

Philadelphia German-American

was founded in 1933 and competed later that season in the second version of the American Soccer League (ASL) until 1965. During the 1953-54 ASL season, the club was bought by trucking magnate and renamed Uhrik Truckers. The club in total won eight ASL titles by finishing first in the regular season with no playoff games taking place. The Philadelphia side did win one U.S. Open Cup in 1936.

Fall River Marksmen, who originally played as Fall River United before being named after their owner, Sam Mark, began its first season in 1922 during the first version of the ASL (American Soccer League). One of the most successful clubs in the ASL from 1922-31, the team from Fall River, Massachusetts, captured six league championships (1923-26, '28-30). Fall River also added four Open Cups ('24, '27, '30-31) to its trophy case.

Philadelphia Ukrainian Nationals

was founded in 1950 and competed as Ukrainian Nationals in the ASL Second Version seven years later. The Philadelphia club won four consecutive ASL titles (1960-64) and added two more (1967-68, '70) for a total of six in league play. The Ukrainian Nationals added four Open Cup (1960-61, '63, '66) crowns to its trophy case, with the last one earning them a spot as the U.S. representatives into the CONCACAF Champions' Cup (now Champions League) in 1967.

West Hudson Athletic

Association, who was also known as West Hudson Athletic Club or West Hudson Athletic Club Football, was founded in 1906 and was one of the dominant U.S. soccer teams in the early 20th century. After one season in the Metropolitan Association Football League, the team from northern New Jersey (Hudson County) competed in the NAFBL (National Association Foot Ball League) until 1918, where it captured five championships (1906-07, '09-10, '11-13, '14-15).

Los Angeles Galaxy, founded in 1996, is currently the club with the most MLS (Major League Soccer) titles with five (2002, '05, '11-12, '14). The Galaxy has also captured two Open Cup crowns ('01, '05) and are the last U.S. team to win a CONCACAF title (2000).

Legendary Era

After the creation of the North American Soccer League in 1968, the league's championship game was known as the NASL Final until 1974.

The Atlanta Chiefs, Dallas Tornado, Los Angeles Aztecs, New York Cosmos, Philadelphia Atoms, and Rochester Lancers were crowned champions after winning the NASL Final (in either a single game, home-and-away playoff, or best-of-three series). The exception was in 1969 when no championship game was played and the Kansas City Spurs were crowned the league winners, after amassing the most points in the regular season.

The NASL also recognized two champions in 1967: the Oakland Clippers of the NPSL and the Los Angeles Wolves of the USA, before they were merged into the NASL.

Soccer Bowl

The NASL Soccer Bowl began in 1975, when the league's commissioner, Phil Woosnam, conceived a week-long, neutral-site championship event similar to the NFL's Super Bowl.

Unlike the Super Bowl, the Soccer Bowl was not denoted by Roman numerals; instead the last digits of the year were used (for example: Soccer Bowl '75).

In 1984, the league changed the neutral-site format to a best-of-three series played at each team's home field. That year the event was promoted as the Soccer Bowl Series '84, though it was still generally acknowledged as the Soccer Bowl.

The Tampa Bay Rowdies were the first team to lift the Soccer Bowl Trophy, in 1975, when they defeated the Portland Timbers, 2-0, at San Jose's Spartan Stadium.

Former Portugal international striker Eusébio led Toronto Metros-Croatia to the NASL title in 1976, helping the club become the first from Canada to win the trophy. The next year, Brazilian forward and three-time World Cup winner Pelé concluded his playing career by leading the New York Cosmos to their first Soccer Bowl title after posting a 2-1 win over the Seattle Sounders at Portland's Civic Stadium(now known as Providence Park).

In 1978, a record crowd of 74,091 was on hand at Giants Stadium in East Rutherford, N.J., as the Cosmos topped the Rowdies, 3-1, to win Soccer Bowl '78.

Giants Stadium again staged the Soccer Bowl in 1979, when the Vancouver Whitecaps became the second Canadian team to win the NASL title, defeating the Rowdies, 2-1.

The Cosmos regained the title in 1980, blanking the Fort Lauderdale Strikers, 3-0, at RFK Stadium in Washington.

After losing the 1981 title to the Chicago Sting at Toronto's Exhibition Stadium, the Cosmos captured their fourth Soccer Bowl, and the club's fifth NASL Championship, in 1982, with a 1-0 shutout of the Seattle Sounders in San Diego.

Vancouver became the second Canadian city to stage the Soccer Bowl as the Tulsa Roughnecks topped the Toronto Blizzard, 2-0, at BC Place in 1983.

The next year, the Soccer Bowl was a best-of-three series as the Sting won their second league title, sweeping the Blizzard in two matches, first at Chicago's Comiskey Park and then at Toronto's Varsity Stadium, to capture the 1984 title.

Modern Era

With the launch of the new NASL and the start of play in 2011, the NSC Minnesota Stars and Tampa Bay Rowdies captured the first two championships of the league's Modern Era, playing under a two-leg series format. Minnesota defeated the Fort Lauderdale Strikers in 2011 and then lost to the Rowdies in a penalty-kick shootout the following year.

In 2013, the format shifted to a single-game NASL Final (for the first time since 1983) between the winners of the Spring Season (Atlanta Silverbacks) and the Fall Season (New York Cosmos). New York captured its sixth championship, 1-0, on a goal by Spanish star Marcos Senna.

The Championship, the league's four-club postseason tournament, was introduced in 2014. The winner of the Spring Season (Minnesota) and the Fall Season (San Antonio), plus the two teams (New York and Fort Lauderdale) with the next-best point totals in the Combined Standings also advanced. After the Cosmos and Loons were eliminated, the hosts, the Scorpions, captured their first Soccer Bowl Trophy, defeating the Strikers, 2-1, at Toyota Field in The Championship Final.

In 2015, the Cosmos again reigned supreme in the NASL, defeating Ottawa Fury FC, 3-2, in the league's final. New York, the Spring Season Champion, defeated the Strikers in The Championship Semifinals. Ottawa, the Fall Season winner, ousted Minnesota United, 2-1, in extra time to advance. The Championship Final was played before a Modern Era record crowd of 10,166 at Shuart Stadium in Hempstead, NY.

The Cosmos claimed back-to-back titles in 2016, lifting the Soccer Bowl Trophy for a third time in four years. Heading into a penalty shootout in The Championship

Final, Ryan Richter scored the decisive spot kick to defeat Indy Eleven. It was the club's eight overall title, tying the record for most championships won in men's professional outdoor soccer. The Cosmos had a comeback 2-1 victory in the semifinal round against Rayo OKC, while Indy defeated FC Edmonton, 1-0, to advance to the title game.
