To Our Fans:

On behalf of Major League Baseball, it is my pleasure to welcome you to the new Appalachian League. Baseball has a storied history in Appalachian League communities, and we are proud to continue this tradition in partnership with USA Baseball, the national governing body for amateur baseball.

This season the Appalachian League will include some exciting changes. All 10 teams have rebranded to incorporate names and logos that pay homage to their respective communities. The players across this 54-game season are among the nation's top collegiate athletes. Summer leagues have a long record of developing the next generation of baseball's stars, allowing you to catch a glimpse of the next Cal Ripken Jr., CC Sabathia, Jose Altuve or Jacob deGrom before they excel in the big leagues. The Appy League will be where these prospects showcase their abilities and grow their skills on and off the field.

The Appalachian League plays a central role in our new player development system. These players will benefit from new training methods and state-of-the-art technology, as well as educational programming designed to prepare them for careers as professional athletes. With this modernized system also comes significant enhancements to the fan experience. Our goal is to provide the most fun and excitement possible, the highest level of play and growth opportunities for the players who will be the future of our sport.

As we emerge from an incredibly difficult year for fans, players, clubs and our entire country, we are grateful to the frontline heroes who got us this far – and to you, our fans, for supporting America's Pastime and making this season possible.

Thank you for coming to the ballpark today and supporting our great game. Despite the challenges of the past year, we couldn't be more thrilled to launch this iteration of the Appalachian League and to host high-caliber baseball in your community for years to come. Play ball!

Sincerely,

Robert D. Manfred, Jr.
Commissioner of Baseball

CHARITABLE CONTRIBUTIONS

The Appalachian League continues to give back to the towns and communities our teams call home, making a difference in our neighborhoods in North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia. The league's charitable outreach totaled more than $1.28 million in gift in kind and monetary donations in 2020. Despite the pause of play caused by the COVID-19 pandemic, the league and its teams continued to be a helping hand in their local communities. Along with hosting socially-distanced community events, league executives volunteered at blood drives, school lunch distributions, mask donations, food pantries, family shelters, diaper giveaways, and food delivery to families in need. 18 Appalachian League representatives served at the Senior Center in Pulaski as part of the league service project, assisting with cooking and serving lunch to the center's guests. There were also Appy League-wide initiatives on the Martin Luther King Jr. Day of Service, with league members participating in activities throughout their communities in honor of Dr. King's legacy.

LEAGUE COORDINATORS

RAY BURRIS PITCHING

Ray Burris joins the Appalachian League staff this summer ready to share decades worth of experience as a pitching coordinator. In addition to a lengthy 15-year big league playing career, Burris has also spent the better part of the last three decades coaching in both the Major and Minor Leagues. He has worked in the Philadelphia Phillies organization since 2013, most recently as the club's rehabilitation pitching coach. His coaching career began with a two-year stint as the bullpen coach for the Milwaukee Brewers in 1990-91, followed by a year in the same role with the Texas Rangers in 1992. Burris later worked in the minor league systems for the St. Louis Cardinals and Detroit Tigers organizations as well. On the field the 6-5 righty took the mound 480 times, pitching 2,188.2 innings for seven teams from 1973-87. He recorded 47 career complete games and won 10 or more games in four different seasons. Burris was drafted in the 17th round of the 1972 MLB Draft by the Chicago Cubs for whom he would play the next seven years. He also saw action with the New York Yankees (1979), New York Mets (1979-80), Montreal Expos (1981-83), Oakland Athletics (1984), Brewers (1985, 1987) and Cardinals (1986).

BOB KELLER PITCHING

With over 25 years of experience spanning both the amateur and professional ranks, Bob Keller has been named a pitching coordinator for the Appalachian League. Most recently the Director of Alabama Operations for the Knights Knation Baseball club team, Keller previously spent the 2018 and 2019 seasons as an area scout supervisor for the Seattle Mariners. The majority of the Long Beach, Calif., native's coaching career has come at the collegiate level, beginning with a seven-year stint at Georgia State from 1995-2001. From there, Keller moved to Birmingham-Southern for three seasons before taking the pitching coach position at Michigan in 2005. He would spend six years with the Wolverines with his staff finishing in the top two of the Big Ten in overall team ERA three of his last four seasons. Keller's next stop took him to Dallas Baptist for a season where he helped lead the Patriots to a 42-20 record and the program's first NCAA Super Regional appearance. He then joined the coaching staff at South Alabama from 2012-2017. During his tenure, the Jaguars won three Sun Belt Conference championships and made three NCAA Tournament appearances.

HOMER BUSH HITTING

World Series champion and seven-year MLB veteran Homer Bush will take on the role of hitting coordinator for the Appalachian League this summer. Prior to retiring in 2005 due to recurring injuries, the East St. Louis, Ill., native was a .285 career hitter in the big leagues and saw action with four different teams. Bush hit over .300 in each of his first three MLB seasons, including a breakout year in 1999 with the Toronto Blue Jays when he hit .320 with 55 RBIs and stole 32 bases in 128 games. Drafted in the seventh round of the 1991 MLB Draft by the San Diego Padres, Bush was traded to the New York Yankees in 1997, making his big league debut later that year and helping the club win the 1998 World Series. He spent four seasons in Toronto, finished the 2002 campaign with the Florida Marlins and spent one more year as a Yankee before retiring in 2005 due to recurring injuries. Following his playing career, he has worked as the hitting coach for the Eugene Emeralds in the Padres organization, the Director of Youth Programs for the Texas Rangers and as a hitting instructor for several youth initiatives conducted by the MLB. Bush is also the author of "Hitting Low in the Zone: A New Baseball Paradigm."

DAVE HANSEN HITTING

A 15-year Major League veteran and later the hitting coach for three different big league clubs, Dave Hansen arrives to the Appalachian League with a wealth of knowledge and experience to share as a hitting coordinator. As a player, Hansen made his living as a pinch hitter, recording 138 career hits off of the bench which ranks sixth all-time in MLB history. He also holds the record for most pinch-hit home runs in a season with seven during the 2000 campaign. Drafted by the Los Angeles Dodgers in the second round of the 1986 MLB Draft, Hansen spent 11 seasons in LA in stints from 1990-1996 and 1999-2002. He also played for the Chicago Cubs (1997), Hanshin Tigers in Japan (1998) and spent parts of the 2003 and 2004 campaigns suiting up for both the San Diego Padres and Seattle Mariners. Hansen's coaching career began shortly after as the minor league hitting coordinator for the Arizona Diamondbacks from 2007-10. He then moved up to the Major League level, eventually serving as the hitting coach for the Dodgers (2011-12), Mariners (2013) and Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim (2014-17). Most recently, he worked three seasons as the minor league hitting coordinator for the San Francisco Giants.

LEAGUE HISTORY

The Appalachian League was born in 1911 with teams in Asheville, N.C.; Bristol, Va.; Cleveland, Tenn.; Johnson City, Tenn.; Knoxville, Tenn.; and Morristown, Tenn. That first version of the league lasted just four years, with the league disbanding in the middle of the 1914 season when Morristown and Middlesboro, Ky., folded on June 17.

The league reformed in 1921 with six teams: Bristol; Cleveland; Greeneville, Tenn.; Johnson City; Kingsport, Tenn.; and Knoxville. That incarnation of the league managed five seasons, before again closing up shop midway through 1925.

In 1937, the league was restarted with teams in Elizabethton, Tenn.; Johnson City; Newport, Tenn.; and Pennington Gap, Va. During World War II, while most other minor leagues ceased operations, the Appalachian League played on. It continued right up until 1955. That year legendary minor league slugger Leo “Muscle” Shoals led the league with 33 homers and 134 RBIs in a 126-game season for Kingsport. It was the fifth Appalachian League home run title for Shoals, who had also led in 1939, 1946, 1947 and 1951.

The Appalachian League reformed again in 1957, its first year as a short-season league. Six teams played that year, in Bluefield, W.Va.; Johnson City; Kingsport; Pulaski, Va.; Salem, Va.; and Wytheville, Va. The league, which put 139 former players on MLB rosters in 2021, served as a rookie-level league in Minor League Baseball from 1963 until 2021, when it became part of the Prospect Development Pipeline (PDP) and began fielding teams with collegiate athletes.

A collaborative effort between MLB and USA Baseball, the PDP establishes a player development pathway for amateur baseball players in the United States. Beginning in 2021, the Appalachian League serves as an integral part of the identification and development process for the USA Baseball Collegiate National Team, along with other future national teams. Players receive extensive visibility to MLB Club scouts throughout the season and instruction from former MLB players designed to prepare them for careers as professional athletes.

ABOUT

The 97-year history of baseball in Bluefield continues this summer as the club joins the newly revamped Appalachian League. Most recently an affiliate of the Toronto Blue Jays organization since 2011, Bluefield will sport a new identity this summer as the Ridge Runners.

Reflective of the rich railroad history of the Bluefield area, the name references the fact that historic Bowen Field at Peters Park straddles the state line of Virginia and West Virginia, as did the original namesake of the team.

Beginning in 1964, the original Ridge Runner locomotive circumnavigated a one-mile loop atop East River Mountain, half in Virginia and half in West Virginia. The little train now resides just outside the right field wall of Bowen Field. On warm summer days, you can see and hear the excited passengers as the train makes its loop throughout Lottio Park.

A 13-time Appalachian league champion, Bluefield most recently won the title in 2001. Notable alumni of the club include Hall of Famers Cal Ripken, Jr. and Eddie Murray, as well as current Major Leaguers Kevin Pillar, Daniel Norris, Vladimir Guerrero, Jr., and Noah Syndergaard.

Leading the Ridge Runners into the new Appy League will be manager Joe Oliver who has spent the past six seasons coaching in the Boston Red Sox organization following a 13-year MLB career. Joining him on the bench will be pitching coach Dennis Rasmussen, hitting coach Angel Sanchez and player development coach Garrett Schilling.

COACHING STAFF

JOE OLIVER MANAGER

Joe Oliver comes to the Appalachian League following six years of managerial experience in the Boston Red Sox organization, where he recorded a 359-347 overall record. Oliver was named manager of the Lowell Spinners in 2014 before being tapped to lead the Salem Red Sox for the 2016-2018 seasons. He guided the team to two top-five finishes in the Carolina League, including a first-place finish in his first year at the helm. Most recently, he was the manager of the Portland Sea Dogs in 2019 and was set to continue in that role in 2020 before the season was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Prior to his coaching career, Oliver spent parts of 13 seasons in the major leagues during a 19-year playing career. He was drafted in the second round of the 1983 MLB June Amateur Draft by the Cincinnati Reds, making his debut for the club in 1989 before helping the team win a World Series championship one year later with the game-winning hit in game two of the series. Throughout his career, Oliver collected a .247 batting average and .690 OPS while playing with seven MLB teams from 1989-2001.

DENNIS RASMUSSEN PITCHING COACH

Dennis Rasmussen joins the Bluefield staff with 12 years of major league playing experience under his belt. Rasmussen was selected by the California Angels with the 17th overall pick of the 1980 MLB June Amateur Draft. He made his Major League debut in 1983 and spent his 12-year career with five different teams, including the San Diego Padres, New York Yankees, Cincinnati Reds, Chicago Cubs and Kansas City Royals. In that time, Rasmussen recorded 835 strikeouts, went 18-6 while throwing 202 innings for the Yankees in 1986, and collected a 16-10 record for the Padres over 204.2 innings on the mound in 1988. He began his coaching career in 1996 as the pitching coach for the Butte Copper Kings before working with the Charleston RiverDogs and Lowell Spinners in 1997 and 1998, respectively. Rasmussen played collegiate baseball at Creighton University where he tallied a 3.38 ERA and a school-record 84 strikeouts in 61.2 innings of work as a junior, and was named to the All-Missouri Valley Conference First Team. During his collegiate career, Rasmussen also played for the 1980 Collegiate National Team.

ANGEL SANCHEZ HITTING COACH

Angel Sanchez joins the Bluefield staff after working as a coach in the Los Angeles Dodgers and Red Sox organizations. He began his coaching career in 2015 as a bench coach for the Great Lake Loons and the Ogden Raptors before joining the Red Sox organization to serve as the first base coach for the Salem Red Sox. Most recently, Sanchez was the first base coach for the Portland Sea Dogs in 2019. Before coaching, he was selected in the 11th round of the 2001 MLB Draft by the Kansas City Royals and made his Major League debut in 2006. Sanchez played in 185 Major League games across four different seasons with the Kansas City Royals, Boston Red Sox, Houston Astros, and Chicago White Sox. During his playing career, he hit .254 with 54 RBIs.

GARRETT SCHILLING PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Garrett Schilling joins the Appy League with a plethora of experience in the Bluefield community, having served as the Head JV and an Assistant Varsity Coach at Bluefield College since 2016. The former catcher also had a playing career at Bluefield College, playing his final two years of collegiate baseball for the Rams after transferring from San Diego Mesa Community College. Schilling has also served as a head coach and recruiting specialist in the Palm Springs Collegiate League since 2017.

ABOUT

Bristol will be returning to its roots this season as the club enters the new version of the Appalachian League with the same name it used when it began its second foray into the league exactly 100 years ago as the then-newly renamed State Liners.

In addition to recognizing the centennial anniversary of Bristol's return to the Appy League in 1921, the team's name also celebrates the unique nature of the Twin Cities which share the same name and lie directly across the Tennessee-Virginia border from each other. The boundary between the two cities is also the state line, which runs along State Street in their common downtown district.

To further celebrate the historical connection, the team's logos will use the same blue and red coloring that appear in the American flag, and will incorporate a cream which harkens back to a color found in many old-time baseball jerseys.

A number of notable players have suited up for Bristol over the years, including Hall of Famer Alan Trammell and many other former MLB stars, among them Bobby Thomson, Lance Parrish, Lou Whitaker, Carlos Lee, Gio Gonzalez and Chris Young who is currently the general manager of the Texas Rangers.

Most recently an affiliate of the Pittsburgh Pirates organization since 2014, Bristol also served as a farm team for the Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox over the years. It has won seven Appalachian League championships with its last coming in 2002.

Leading the State Liners into the latest incarnation of the Appalachian League will be Dave Tremblay who brings over 1,500 wins and 25 years of coaching experience at nearly every level of baseball to the Bristol dug-out this summer. He will be joined on the coaching staff by pitching coach Larry McCall, hitting coach Barbaro Garbey, and player development coach Adrian Turner.

COACHING STAFF

DAVE TREMBLEY

MANAGER

Dave Trembley brings over 1,500 wins and 25 years of coaching experience at nearly every level of baseball to Bristol this summer. Most recently, Trembley worked with the Atlanta Braves and the Houston Astros from 2011-2015, serving as Atlanta's Director of Player Development (2014-2015) and field coordinator (2011-2012) and Houston's third base coach (2013). After coaching at the high school level from 1977-1979, Trembley became a scout for the Chicago Cubs in 1984 before he left to manage his first team in the Class-A Carolina League in 1986. After moving to the Pittsburgh Pirates organization in 1987, Trembley managed the Double-A Harrisburg Senators for three seasons where he led the team to an Eastern League title and was named Baseball America's Minor League Manager of the Year in his first season. Afterwards, Trembley went on to manage two teams in the San Diego Padres system from 1991-1993 before re-joining the Cubs as a manager in their minor league system for nine years. During his time in the Cubs system, Trembley earned his second and third manager of the year awards when he was named the Class A Manager of the Year by USA Today/Baseball Weekly in 1995 and 1999. He then moved to the Baltimore Orioles organization, earning his 1,200th win as a minor league manager in 2003 and getting called up to coach with the Major League club in 2007. Trembley worked as the Orioles bullpen coach and interim manager during the 2007 season before serving as the team's manager from 2008-2010. Trembley was inducted into the Lancaster JetHawks Baseball Hall of Fame in 2008, the Antelope Valley College Sports Hall of Fame in 2009 and the Florida State League Hall of Fame in 2012. He was also inducted into his alma mater's hall of fame at the State University of New York at Brockport on October 3, 2015.

LARRY MCCALL

PITCHING COACH

Larry McCall is set to serve as the Bristol pitching coach this season, bringing with him over three decades of experience playing and coaching in professional baseball. He is familiar with the Appalachian League, having begun his professional playing career in Bluefield as a member of the Baltimore Orioles organization in 1971. McCall would make his Major League debut six years later on Sept. 10, 1977 as a New York Yankee. He spent parts of three seasons in the big leagues, earning a World Series ring with the Yankees in 1978 and also pitching for the Texas Rangers in 1979, before his playing career ended in 1981. McCall kicked off his coaching career in 1990, returning to the Appalachian League as the pitching coach for the same Bluefield squad he had previously played for. He continued to work his way up in the Orioles organization, coaching at each level of its minor-league system through the 2010 campaign, including a stint in the Major Leagues as the bullpen coach in 2006. He was also named the winner of the organization's Cal Ripken, Sr. Player Development Award in 2005. McCall later joined the Arizona League affiliate of the San Francisco Giants for four seasons and worked the 2017 campaign as the pitching coach for the Gulf Coast League affiliate of the Atlanta Braves.

BARBARO GARBEY

HITTING COACH

Barbaro Garbey joins the State Liners staff as the team's hitting coach this year following two seasons in the same role with Danville as an affiliate of the Atlanta Braves organization. He spent six seasons with the Braves, having also worked with Double-A Mississippi in 2016. The Santiago de Cuba native began his coaching career in 2002 working in several roles within the Detroit Tigers organization before spending seven seasons coaching in the Chicago Cubs minor-league system from 2006-2012. Following his arrival to the United States from Cuba in 1980, Garbey played parts of nine seasons in professional baseball, including 226 games over three seasons in the big leagues for the Detroit Tigers (1984-85) and Texas Rangers (1988). He made his MLB debut in 1984, hitting .287 with 52 RBIs while helping the Tigers win their fourth World Series title. Garbey also spent seven seasons in the Mexican League, winning another championship in 1992, this time with the Mexico City Tigers, before retiring following the 1994 campaign.

ADRIAN TURNER

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Adrian Turner joins Bristol as the Player Development Coach with years of experience coaching players from the youth through collegiate levels. Turner is currently pursuing a Master's in Sport Administration while serving as a Graduate Assistant with the Grambling State University baseball team. Turner graduated from GSU in 2012 and played four seasons as a pitcher and first baseman (2008-2011) and served one season as an undergraduate assistant. During his time as a player, Turner was named captain twice and earned the Southwestern Athletic Conference Tournament MVP on the way to leading his team to a conference championship in 2010. Turner has also helped develop players through his time working for the Minnesota Twins RBI program. In addition to baseball, he was also the head coach of the Holy Family Catholic High School girls basketball team and was named the Section 2AAAA Assistant Coach of the Year in 2014.

ABOUT

Baseball has long been a sport with an obsession in hosiery. From the Red Stockings to the White Sox, teams have used these colorful uniform accessories to differentiate themselves on the field and brand themselves off of it. Couple that with Burlington, North Carolina's century-long tradition of hosiery manufacturing and you have a perfect match.

Known as the "Hosiery Capital of the South," Burlington decided to embrace its history and tradition when it announced its "sockingly unique" identity for its entry into the newly-reorganized Appalachian League. Fans can certainly say they have a team that is uniquely theirs when they cheer on the Sock Puppets this summer.

With over 80 hosiery mills in Burlington by the early 1900s, the textile industry has always been an important part of the local economy. That was never more true than during the Great Depression when a switch from cotton to a new synthetic fiber called rayon helped the city become one of the largest manufacturers of textiles in the world, which saved it from many of the economic difficulties of the time.

The Sock Puppets will not only carry on that tradition but a strong history of success on the field as well. Most recently an affiliate of the Kansas City Royals organization since 2007, the organization has seen a host of great players don the Burlington uniform over the years, including Hall of Famer Jim Thome, former MLB stars Manny Ramirez, C.C. Sabathia and Bartolo Colon, current Major Leaguers Salvador Perez and Wil Myers and current Cincinnati Reds manager David Bell.

With the club looking to put a strong foot forward in the first year of this new version of the Appalachian League, it will turn to longtime Major Leaguer Jack McDowell to lead the way. The 1993 American League Cy Young award winner has also found success as a coach at the youth, amateur, and professional levels, most recently as the first head coach at Queens University in Charlotte, N.C. He will be joined in the dugout by pitching coach Anthony Essian, hitting coach Rich Glass, and player development coach Chris Botsoe.

JACK MCDOWELL

MANAGER

Jack McDowell brings over a decade of coaching experience at multiple levels to the Burlington Sock Puppets. Most recently, McDowell served as the first-ever head coach at Queens University in Charlotte, North Carolina, from 2018-2019. After coaching his first season at the club level in 2018, McDowell kicked off the program's introduction to NCAA Division II in 2019 by knocking off two nationally-ranked opponents in #23 University of Mount Olive and #14 Catawba College. From 2000-2009 he coached youth baseball and led San Diego Academy from 2006-2013, reaching 27 wins in 2013 and capping off the season as California Interscholastic Federation runners-up. Since then he has managed the Ogden Raptors Advanced Rookie Team in Los Angeles and the Dodgers AZL Rookie Team, both of which finished as second-half champions under McDowell's guidance. In addition to his coaching experience, McDowell also brings a wealth of playing experience to the Sock Puppets. At Stanford University, he was named co-Freshman of the Year in 1985 and led the Cardinal to the College World Series Championship in 1987. After being drafted by the Chicago White Sox with the fifth overall pick in the 1987 amateur draft, McDowell played only six games in the minor leagues before making his Major League debut on September 15, 1987. He pitched seven shutout innings against the Minnesota Twins in his debut to earn the win and finished the season with a 3-0 record and a 1.93 ERA in four starts. Throughout his 12-year big league career, McDowell made 277 appearances and started 275 games on the mound, compiling a 127-87 record, and totaling 1,311 strikeouts for four different clubs. McDowell's success translated into being a three-time All-Star (1991-1993) and winning the American League Cy Young Award in 1993.

ANTHONY ESSIEN

PITCHING COACH

With over decades of coaching experience under his belt, Anthony Essian is set to serve as the pitching coach for the Burlington Sock Puppets this summer. He is currently in his sixth season as an assistant coach at Reedley College where he has helped lead the Tigers to three appearances in the California state playoffs. He previously worked as an assistant coach at Clovis High School for 17 years where he was part of three state championships and coached over 50 players that would later play at the collegiate level. Essian's coaching career began in 1992 as the pitching coach at Bishop Montgomery High School in Torrance, Calif. He was a three-year letterman at Narbonne High School in Harbor City, Calif., before moving on to Mendocino Junior College in 1990 where he was a pitcher for the Eagles.

RICH GLASS

HITTING COACH

Rich Glass will make his Appalachian League coaching debut this summer as the hitting coach for Burlington. Currently the volunteer coach at State College of Florida in his hometown of Bradenton, Fla., Glass has over 15 years of coaching experience at the high school, club, and collegiate levels. Prior to joining the Manatees, he spent five seasons at the helm at Palmetto High School where he won 67 games following stints as an assistant coach at Bayshore High School and Manatee High School. A 2005 graduate of the University of South Florida, he played at Potomac State College in 2002. Glass is also certified in many data analytic programs and kinetic movement training, including OnBase University, K-Baseball, and Rapsodo.

CHRIS BOTSOE

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Chris Botsoe comes to the Appalachian League fresh off his playing career and will take on the duties of player development coach for the Burlington Sock Puppets. In three seasons as an outfielder at Eastern Kentucky, Botsoe played in 107 games, hitting .256 with 53 RBIs and 20 stolen bases. He is familiar with the summer collegiate circuit as well, having played two seasons in the Northwoods League with the Green Bay Bullfrogs and Kenosha Kingfish. As a senior in 2020, Botsoe earned the Ohio Valley Conference Medal of Honor, which is given annually to the student-athletes that achieve the highest grade point average in a conference-sponsored sport. He was also twice named to the OVC Commissioner's Honor Roll. Botsoe is a USA Baseball alum as well, having played on the gold-medal winning 2011 14U National Team which went undefeated at the COPABE Pan American Championships in Venezuela.

ABOUT

For the first time in almost three decades, baseball in Danville has its own unique identity, one formed by ideas from fans and community members and which represents Danville and the Southside to the fullest extent.

Derived from two overwhelming themes the team heard in conversations with fans and saw in a name submission contest - the playfulness and symbolism of otters and the future of STEM education and new industry across the southside of Virginia - the organization will now be known as the Danville Otterbots.

The Otterbots' primary blue is designed to honor the Dan River and highlight the role it played in building the tobacco and textile industries that defined Danville for generations. The team's secondary orange, featured in the otter's eyes, is closely aligned with the color of the HOME sign, formerly above Dan River Fabrics, currently adorned in the River District on Main Street. The tobacco industry, the mills and the HOME sign were three more recurring themes seen in name submissions.

The neon typeface, which will be proudly displayed on the team's jerseys, is a tribute to two additional themes: the blur of the cars racing by at nearby speedways and race tracks and the bright lights of the casino that will soon call Danville home.

Having been an affiliate of the Atlanta Braves organization from 1993-2020, Danville has seen its fair share of talented players suit up for the home team. Among them are former Major League stars Andruw Jones and Kevin Millwood, as well as current big leaguers Adam Wainwright, Elvis Andrus, Jason Heyward, Craig Kimbrel, Ozzie Albies, and Ronald Acuña, Jr.

Another former MLB standout is set to lead the Otterbots into their first season in the new Appalachian League as Desi Relaford will serve as the team's manager. An 11-year MLB veteran, he began his coaching career in 2018 with the Cincinnati Reds' Advanced-A affiliate. Helping him guide the club will be pitching coach Clyde Keller, hitting coach and Danville native Ed Fulton, and player development coach Xavier Paul.

COACHING STAFF

DESI RELAFORD

MANAGER

Desi Relaford brings a plethora of baseball experience and knowledge from nearly every spot on the diamond to the Otterbots. In 2018, Relaford began his coaching career as the bench coach for the Daytona Tortugas, Advanced-A Affiliate of the Cincinnati Reds, where he helped guide the team to a 69-66 overall record and a Florida State League Championship Series berth. Prior to the start of his coaching career, Relaford was drafted by the Seattle Mariners in the fourth round of the 1991 MLB June Amateur Draft. He spent 11 seasons with seven different teams in Major League Baseball, including five years with the Philadelphia Phillies. Throughout his career, Relaford hit .243 with 308 RBIs and finished the 2001 season with a career-best .302 average, as well as eight home runs and 36 RBIs for the Mets. Though he excelled at the plate, Relaford was also known for his versatility in the field. He played every position on defense except first base and catcher throughout his career, and accumulated a .960 career fielding percentage. After retiring in 2008, Relaford started his own record label, 6 Hole Records, in Jacksonville before getting back into the game as a coach in 2018.

CLYDE KELLER

PITCHING COACH

With a background of success in both amateur and professional baseball, Clyde Keller arrives to Danville to take on the role of pitching coach for the Otterbots. Most recently he served as the pitching coach at Florida State in 2019 after three seasons as the volunteer assistant for the Seminoles. He also coached in the collegiate ranks from 1997-2000 as the pitching coach and recruiting coordinator at Western Kentucky. Keller then moved to the professional level as the pitching coach for the Single-A Auburn Doubledays in the Toronto Blue Jays organization for the 2001 campaign. His coaching career began in 1994 when he became the head coach at Berkeley Prep in Tampa. In four years at the helm he made three trips to the regionals and one appearance in the state championship. He later returned to the school as its pitching coach from 2011-14. The Fair Oaks, Calif., native was a two-way player for FSU from 1988-89, earning All-Metro Conference first team honors both seasons. He was also a participant in the 1987 Pan American Games in Indianapolis as a member of the USA Baseball Collegiate National Team. Selected in the 32nd round of the 1989 MLB Draft by the St. Louis Cardinals, Keller spent five years in the minor leagues and was twice named the runner-up for the Rolands Minor League Reliever of the Year Award (1991, 1992).

ED FULTON

HITTING COACH

The Otterbots didn't have to look far to find their hitting coach as Danville native and longtime head coach at nearby Averett University Ed Fulton will take over those responsibilities this summer. In 21 seasons at the helm of the Averett program, Fulton won 404 games, claimed the 2003 USA South Conference championship, and had three players chosen in the Major League Baseball Draft. Before joining the Cougars coaching staff in 1997, he played nine seasons of Minor League baseball, including one year in the Appalachian League with Johnson City and six at the Triple-A level. Fulton was chosen by the St. Louis Cardinals in the 16th round of the 1987 draft out of Florida State where he helped the Seminoles win 230 games and advance to the College World Series twice during his collegiate career. As a member of the 1986 USA Baseball Collegiate National Team, Fulton hit .351 with six home runs and 35 RBIs in 39 games.

XAVIER PAUL

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Making his coaching debut in Danville this summer is former Major League outfielder Xavier Paul who will be the player development coach for the Otterbots. The Slidell, La., native spent six seasons at baseball's highest level with the Los Angeles Dodgers (2009-11), Pittsburgh Pirates (2011), Cincinnati Reds (2012-13) and Arizona Diamondbacks (2014). Paul was a .250 hitter in 349 career MLB games, driving in 71 runners and stealing 23 bases. After being named the 2003 Mr. Baseball for the state of Louisiana out of Slidell High School, he was chosen in the fourth round of the 2003 MLB Draft by the Dodgers. Paul is also a two-time USA Baseball alum, having suited up for the 16U National Team twice. He helped lead the team to gold medals in both the 2000 COPABE Pan American Youth Championships in Monterrey, Mexico, and the 2001 IBAF World Youth Championships in Veracruz, Mexico.

ABOUT

The most successful team in Appalachian League history with 14 championships, Elizabethton will look to keep that storied history alive as it transitions into a new identity as the River Riders this summer.

Surrounded by the Watauga and Doe Rivers and with Watauga Lake just miles away, Elizabethton has become a popular destination for aquatic recreation, including whitewater rafting, kayaking, and fishing.

The Watauga River, which runs parallel to the third-base line of Northeast Community Credit Union Ballpark, has some of the highest quality whitewater in the Southeast with Class I, II, and III rapids.

The drier surface of the baseball diamond has proven to be a little more predictable for Elizabethton over the years as the organization has won an Appy League-high 14 championships, including back-to-back titles in 2017-18. Most of that success came as an affiliate of the Minnesota Twins organization, a relationship that dated back to the 1974 campaign.

Alumni of the Elizabethton club include Hall of Famer Kirby Puckett, former Major Leaguers Gary Gaetti, Kent Hrbek, and Joe Mauer, as well as current big leaguers Byron Buxton, Miguel Sano, Jorge Polanco, and Max Kepler.

Manning the helm for the River Riders will be Kevin Riggs who brings over a decade of minor league coaching experience to the manager position. Assisting him will be pitching coach Josue Matos, hitting coach Jeremy Owens, and player development coach Justin Thomas.

KEVIN RIGGS

MANAGER

Kevin Riggs brings over a decade of minor league coaching experience to the River Riders. Riggs coached in the Colorado Rockies minor league system from 2007-2014, including serving as manager of the Tulsa Drillers from 2013-2014, before moving to the Pittsburgh Pirates and Philadelphia Phillies organizations. Most recently with the Phillies, Riggs was part of the player development field staff as a minor league hitting coach for the Reading Fightin Phils from 2018-2019. Riggs led the Phils' offense to a league-most 141 homeruns in his first season as the hitting coach and then built on that success in 2019. Under Riggs' guidance, the 2019 team topped the league in home runs (119), triples (47), walks (503), and OPS (.704), and tied for the lead in slugging percentage (.386). Prior to his coaching career, Riggs was drafted in the 28th round by the Cincinnati Reds in 1990, playing for eight seasons in the minor leagues and one season overseas. Throughout his nine-year professional playing career, Riggs put together a .381 slugging percentage, 270 RBIs and 729 hits.

JOSUE MATOS

PITCHING COACH

Josue Matos joins the Elizabethton staff as pitching coach after four seasons in the same role within the New York Mets organization. The Mayagüez, Puerto Rico, native was most recently a member of the High-A Brooklyn staff in 2019 when he helped lead the Cyclones to a New York-Penn League championship. He is also a veteran of the Appalachian League, having spent the 2017 and 2018 campaigns with Kingsport. Matos also coached with the 2016 Gulf Coast League Mets, was an assistant pitching coach for his hometown team in the 2015 and 2016 Puerto Rico Winter Leagues and previously served as pitching coach at Inter-American University of Puerto Rico from 2010-2013. Matos' playing career consisted of eight seasons of minor league baseball, where he climbed as high as Triple-A, in addition to three years pitching at the independent level and stints across a variety of international leagues, including the Chinese Professional Baseball League in Taiwan, the Mexican League and the Puerto Rican and Venezuelan Winter Leagues. He was also selected to pitch for Puerto Rico in both the 2006 and 2009 World Baseball Classics as well as the 2008 Americas Baseball Cup. Matos attended Miami Dade College and was a 27th round selection by the Seattle Mariners in the 1996 MLB draft.

JEREMY OWENS

HITTING COACH

Joining the River Riders as hitting coach this season will be Jeremy Owens. A native of nearby Johnson City, Owens arrives in Elizabethton with over two decades of playing and coaching experience at the professional level. The former outfielder was drafted in the eighth round of the 1998 draft out of MTSU by the San Diego Padres. He played five seasons in that organization, two with the Boston Red Sox and finished his affiliated career with the Tampa Bay Rays organization playing for the Montgomery Biscuits in 2006 and Durham Bulls in 2007. Owens continued his playing career with the independent Southern Maryland Blue Crabs from 2008-2014 before moving into the coaching ranks as the team's manager in 2016. He spent the 2017 campaign with the independent New Jersey Jackals before returning to affiliated ball, coaching with the Low-A Bowling Green Hot Rods for two seasons. Owens was set to serve as an assistant coach for the Port Charlotte Stone Crabs in the Tampa Bay Rays organization in 2020 before the season was cancelled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

JUSTIN THOMAS

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

A successful head coach and a veteran of the summer collegiate circuit, Justin Thomas will be Elizabethton's player development coach this season. Thomas is currently in his third year at the helm of the Bethany College squad in West Virginia where he has guided the Bison to some of the best seasons in program history, including an appearance in the 2019 Presidents' Athletic Conference championship game. He previously led Voorhees College in South Carolina for four seasons and was the pitching coach at Penn State University - Greater Allegheny in 2012. Thomas has stayed busy in the summers as well, coaching in the Cal Ripken Collegiate League, Prospect League, New York Collegiate Baseball League, Ohio Valley Collegiate League, Myrtle Beach Collegiate League and Carolina-Virginia Collegiate League.

ABOUT

With a history dating back exactly a century to 1921, baseball has long been a part of Greenville's narrative. That tradition will continue this year as the newly rebranded Greenville Flyboys will continue to play in the Appalachian League, now one of the nation's premier wooden bat collegiate summer leagues.

Flyboys was chosen as the official name of the club in reference to the fact that the team's stadium was constructed near to the location of an old airfield, as well as the strong history of patriotism in the area.

The "jewel of the Appalachian League," Pioneer Park opened in 2004 in conjunction with Tusculum College and was built just a few hundred feet from the former runway of Tusculum Field, the first airport in Greene County.

Most recently an affiliate of the Cincinnati Reds since 2018, Greenville was also a longtime affiliate of the Houston Astros from 2004-17, winning Appy League titles in 2004 and 2015, and played host to two versions of the Greenville Burley Cubs from 1921-25 and 1938-42.

Among the many future Major Leaguers to play in Greenville are current stars Jose Altuve, Lance McCullers, Jr., Carlos Correa, J.D. Martinez, and Joe Musgrove.

Alan Regier will pilot the Flyboys coaching staff with 28 years of MLB scouting and player development experience for five different organizations having prepared him for the managerial position. He will work alongside pitching coach Mack Jenkins, hitting coach Robert Sasser, and player development coach Clay Martin.

COACHING STAFF

ALAN REGIER
MANAGER

Alan Regier joins the Greenville Flyboys with 28 years of Major League Baseball scouting and player development experience under his belt. From 2009-2020, Regier was a special assignment scout for the Chicago White Sox after starting with the organization in 2006 as a minor league field coordinator and serving as the Director of Player Development from 2007-2008. Prior to joining the White Sox organization, Reiger spent time scouting for the Texas Rangers (1992-1995), Atlanta Braves (1996-1998), Milwaukee Brewers (2000-2002) and Boston Red Sox (2003-2005). Regier played collegiate baseball for Chabot College and the University of Arizona, and spent one year in the minor leagues with the Redwood Pioneers where he posted a .172/.297/.216 slash line with 20 walks in 37 games. Following his playing career, Regier spent a decade as an assistant coach at the University of California, Berkeley, from 1982-92.

MACK JENKINS
PITCHING COACH

Mack Jenkins brings over three decades of coaching experience to the Greenville Flyboys staff in 2021. During a 23-year stint in the Cincinnati Reds organization, Jenkins coached at every level from Rookie Ball to Triple-A before joining the Major League staff in 2012 as the assistant pitching coach. In the 2014 season, Jenkins became the Reds’ bullpen coach before being named the team’s pitching coach in 2016. The veteran coach then returned to the minor leagues in 2019 as a pitching coach in the Washington Nationals organization. Prior to his coaching career, Jenkins also played in the Reds organization from 1986-1988.

ROBERT SASSER
HITTING COACH

Robert Sasser joins the Greenville Flyboys coaching staff as the hitting coach after nine years serving in the same role in the Chicago White Sox organization. Sasser was drafted by the Atlanta Braves in the 10th round of the 1993 MLB Draft and had a 13-year minor league playing career before starting his coaching career. He appeared in 1,169 games for nine different organizations and played at every position on the field except for pitcher and catcher, serving primarily as a third baseman. In his time coaching in the White Sox system, Sasser spent a majority of his time with the organization’s Class A affiliate as the team’s hitting coach.

CLAY MARTIN
PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Clay Martin comes to the Appy League as the player development coach for the Greenville Flyboys after spending the last two seasons as the pitching coach and recruiting coordinator at Westminster College. Before coaching, Martin played college ball at Washington and Jefferson College where he holds the school record for career saves (13) and single season saves (12). The Canonsburg, Pennsylvania, native played in two NCAA Division III College World Series’ during his time at Washington and Jefferson.

ABOUT

The baseball jerseys in Johnson City will sport a new logo for the first time in over 45 years this summer as it joins the newly-reorganized Appalachian League as the Doughboys.

The nickname is in reference to a statue behind their home stadium, TVA Credit Union Ballpark, named "Spirit of the American Doughboy." Doughboys was a nickname for American soldiers during World War I and the statue honors U.S. infantrymen who died in service to their country.

The Doughboys moniker also harkens back to the city's baseball past as Johnson City's original Appalachian League team was called the Soldiers from 1910-38.

Johnson City is the most recent champion of the Appy League, winning its 11th title in 2019. It had served as an affiliate of the St. Louis Cardinals since 1975, counting among its alumni former Cy Young winners Ron Guidry (1978) and LaMarr Hoyt (1983), 1991 National League MVP Terry Pendleton, and current big leaguers Yadier Molina, Paul DeJong, and Jordan Hicks.

Rick Magnante is set to serve as the skipper for Johnson City, returning to the Appalachian League for the first time since beginning his managerial career with Bristol in 1987. He has managed for 16 seasons throughout his career, primarily within the Oakland A's organization. In the dugout with him will be pitching coach Cody Stull, hitting coach Dean Green, and player development coach Cody Gabella.

COACHING STAFF

RICK MAGNANTE MANAGER

Rick Magnante has become accustomed to the role of skipper over the years, having spent 16 seasons as a manager for various teams throughout his career. He was a part of the Oakland Athletics organization for 12 of those seasons, serving as manager of the Vancouver Canadians (2006-2010), the Vermont Lake Monsters (2011-2013), the Beloit Snappers (2014) and the Stockton Ports (2015-2018). He was also named manager for Vermont again in 2020 before the season was cancelled. Magnante began his managerial career in 1987 for the Appalachian League's then-Bristol Tigers. In his first two seasons in Bristol, Magnante compiled a 66-76 overall record, with a 26-game improvement from 1987 to 1988. Since then, Magnante has coached in over 1500 games and holds a 739-783 record. In 2018, Magnante was named the California League Manager of the Year after he led the Stockton Ports to a first half division championship title and a 77-63 overall record. The Ports made it to the semifinals of the league championship that year and finished the season ranked first in pitching, second in fielding and third in batting. Before he took on the role of a coach, Magnante was drafted by the Cleveland Indians in the 13th round of the 1969 MLB June Amateur Draft after playing for the University of California, Santa Barbara. Following his playing career, Magnante started with the Athletics as a scout in 1996 and was credited with signing impactful players such as Barry Zito, Eric Byrnes, and Bobby Crosby. Additionally, he managed the South African national team during the inaugural World Baseball Classic in 2006.

CODY STULL PITCHING COACH

Cody Stull arrives in Johnson City this summer following a successful playing career. Set to serve as the pitching coach for the Doughboys, Stull brings with him six seasons of experience at all levels of the Oakland Athletics minor league system. After being selected in the 29th round of the 2014 MLB Draft out of Belmont Abbey College in North Carolina, he opened his career in the Arizona League where he posted a 1.47 ERA over 14 appearances. Stull continued to build on that success and worked his way up to Triple-A Nashville just two years later. The 6-2 southpaw would go on to help lead the Double-A Midland RockHounds to back-to-back Texas League titles in 2016 and 2017. Overall, Stull pitched in 197 games, accumulating 279 strikeouts in 300.0 innings with a 3.69 ERA and 12 saves.

DEAN GREEN HITTING COACH

Dean Green will join the Johnson City Doughboy's as the club's hitting coach for the 2021 campaign. An 11th round selection by the Detroit Tigers in the 2011 MLB Draft, he was a career .306 hitter with 76 home runs and 401 RBIs over six seasons of affiliated baseball, including two stints with the Triple-A Toledo Mud Hens. Green later took his talents abroad as he spent the 2017 season with the Tokyo Yakult Swallows in Japan and part of the 2018 campaign with the Toros de Tijuana in the Mexican League. The Tulsa, Okla., product also played at the independent league level from 2018-19, suiting up for the New Jersey Jackals (Can-Am League), Sioux City Explorers (American Association) and Southern Maryland Blue Crabs (Atlantic League).

CODY GABELLA PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Cody Gabella returns for his second coaching stint in Johnson City as he will be the player development coach for the Doughboys this summer. He previously served as the hitting coach for the club in 2018, helping the then-St. Louis Cardinals affiliate lead the league with 75 home runs. Gabella spent five seasons as a coach in the minor league system for the Cardinals, also working with the Class-A State College Spikes and the Gulf Coast League Cardinals. He was set to join the High-A Peoria Chiefs in 2020 before the season was cancelled to the due COVID-19 pandemic. His coaching career began in 2015 with the independent Watertown Bucks. Gabella was drafted by San Diego in 2011 and played 47 games in the Padres system from 2011-12. He is the son of longtime minor league manager Jim Gabella who spent three seasons coaching Burlington, winning the Appalachian League title in 1993.

ABOUT

In 1775, Daniel Boone and 35 axmen began clearing forests in East Tennessee, near present-day Kingsport, to create the Wilderness Road.

Little did they know that they would later be memorialized by a baseball team over 200 years later, but that is exactly the case as the Appalachian League's Kingsport organization has been rebranded as the Axmen in honor of that group of frontiersmen.

Much like how the Wilderness Road led early settlers from the East into Kentucky, the Kingsport Axmen hope that this new identity will help lead them to continued success in the new-look collegiate wooden bat Appy League.

It is the first name change the club has seen since 1980 when it became an affiliate of the New York Mets. En route to seven league titles over the years, dozens of future big leaguers have passed through Kingsport on their way to The Show, including Dale Murphy, Darryl Strawberry, Dwight Gooden, Kevin Mitchell, Jose' Reyes, David Wright, and two-time National League Cy Young Award winner Jacob deGrom.

Guiding the Axmen into their first season will be Daren Brown who arrives in Kingsport with over two decades of managerial experience, including a brief stint as the interim manager of the Seattle Mariners in 2010, and over 1,200 wins. At his side will be pitching coach Stan Kyles, hitting coach Jermaine Curtis, and player development coach Billy Barker.

COACHING STAFF

DAREN BROWN MANAGER

Daren Brown joins the Kingsport Axmen with over two decades of managerial experience at various levels throughout the Seattle Mariners organization and over 1,200 wins as a manager. Brown was most recently the skipper for the Triple-A Tacoma Rainiers in 2019, returning to the club after also serving at the helm from 2007-2013. He got his start in coaching while playing for the Amarillo Dillas in the Texas-Louisiana League, serving as the team's pitching coach from 1994-1997. After his playing career, Brown stayed on as manager for the Dillas until 2000, leading the team to first place finishes in all three seasons as manager and earning Texas-Louisiana League Manager of the Year honors after winning a league championship in 1999. Brown also won a league championship in 2016 with the Double-A Jackson Generals, leading the team to an 84-55 record in the Southern League. In a brief stint as the interim manager of the Mariners in 2010, Brown collected 19 MLB wins and later rejoined the big league club in 2013 to serve as the team's third base coach. Before getting into coaching, Brown spent four years in the Toronto Blue Jays organization after being drafted by the team in the 29th round of the 1989 MLB Draft. The Holdenville, Oklahoma, native then spent five years with the Dillas, where he not only began his coaching career as a player/coach, but was also named the league's Pitcher of the Year in 1995, 1996, and 1997 and was a Texas-Louisiana League All-Star from 1995-1998.

STAN KYLES PITCHING COACH

Stan Kyles arrives in Kingsport with a wealth of baseball knowledge to share as the pitching coach for the Axmen this season. He has coached at either the Major or Minor League level for over three decades, including four seasons as the bullpen coach for the Milwaukee Brewers from 2009-12. Kyles began his coaching career with the independent Bend Bucks in 1991 and has since worked in the minor league systems for the Chicago Cubs (1992-93, 1997-2000), Colorado Rockies (1994-96), Brewers (2001-2009) and Pittsburgh Pirates (2013-20). Drafted in the fourth round of the 1979 MLB Draft by the Chicago Cubs, Kyles pitched for 11 seasons in the minor leagues with the Cubs (1979-83), Oakland Athletics (1984-87), Los Angeles Dodgers (1988), San Francisco Giants (1989) and Brewers (1989). He completed his playing career after the 1989 campaign with a lifetime ERA of 3.86 and 508 strikeouts.

JERMAINE CURTIS HITTING COACH

Jermaine Curtis will make his Appy League coaching debut this summer as the hitting coach for the Kingsport Axmen. A versatile defender and a lifetime .274 hitter, he played professionally for 12 seasons culminating in a call up to the Major Leagues with the St. Louis Cardinals in 2013. After helping lead UCLA to three consecutive postseason appearances, Curtis was drafted by the Cardinals in the fifth round of the MLB Draft in 2008. He also played in the minor league systems for the Cincinnati Reds (2014-16), Oakland Athletics (2017) and Minnesota Twins (2018), spending parts of seven different seasons at the Triple-A level.

BILLY BARKER PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Billy Barker joins the Kingsport Axmen staff this summer as the player development coach. Currently an assistant coach at Paradise Valley Community College in Phoenix, Ariz. The Tacoma, Wash., native graduated from Henry Foss High School in 2012 and played two seasons at Green River Community College in Auburn, Wash., where he was a catcher. Barker then transferred to Central Washington University where he graduated with a degree in business administration in 2018.

ABOUT

When the Appalachian League's Princeton organization started to look for a new nickname, it didn't have to look far.

Near to the team's home, Hunnicutt Field, is a small creek where you can often spot one of the area's more adorable, albeit pesky, animals.

While they might normally be referred to as groundhogs, that is not the case in West Virginia where residents often call them by the more colloquial name of whistlepigs, based on the high-pitched whistling sound they are known to make when they feel threatened.

That was as far as the search for a new team name needed to go and how the Princeton Whistlepigs became part of the new-look Appy League.

Previously known as the Princeton Rays due to their affiliation with Tampa Bay since 1997, the West Virginia town has seen its fair share of future big leaguers suit up for the hometown team, including Carl Crawford, Josh Hamilton, Kevin Kiermaier, Blake Snell, and current Minnesota Twins manager

Rocco Baldelli.

Taking the reins as manager of the Whistlepigs this summer is Patrick Anderson who arrives in Princeton with over two decades of coaching experience, including seven years as a manager in the Minor Leagues and three more as a collegiate head coach. Assisting him will be pitching coach Hector Mercado, hitting coach Joe Szekely, and player development coach Mac Seibert.

COACHING STAFF

PATRICK ANDERSON

MANAGER

Patrick Anderson arrives to the Appy League with coaching experience that dates back over two decades, including seven years of managerial experience. Anderson most recently served as the manager for the Single-A Hagerstown Suns in the Washington Nationals organization. In six years as the Hagerstown skipper, he led the club to a 428-399 record, finishing first in the South Atlantic League in 2016. He got his coaching career started in 1996 as an assistant coach at Gannon University before holding the same position at Hofstra University from 1999 to 2001. Anderson then returned to Hofstra as the head coach from 2009-2011 after spending nine years in various levels of the Kansas City Royals organization, including a season as the hitting coach for the Burlington Royals in the Appalachian League. In 2013, he joined the Nationals organization as the club's Gulf Coast League manager, where he led the team to a first place finish and league championship with a 49-9 record before taking over at the helm of the Hagerstown Suns in 2014. Prior to starting his coaching career, Anderson played at Mars Hill College and spent three seasons in the Frontier League, where he hit .287 in 181 games.

HECTOR MERCADO

PITCHING COACH

Hector Mercado will join the Princeton Whistlepigs as the club's pitching coach for the 2021 season. The southpaw was selected by the Houston Astros in the 13th round of the 1992 MLB June Amateur Draft and made his Major League debut less than a year later on April 4, 2000. Mercado appeared in 112 major league games during his career with the Cincinnati Reds and Philadelphia Phillies and then spent several seasons playing internationally, in the Atlantic League, and in the Texas Rangers and Detroit Tigers systems before starting his coaching career. Mercado most recently served as the pitching coach for the Gulf Coast League Phillies and was set to be the pitching coach for Class-A Advanced Clearwater before the 2020 season was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Mercado also spent time coaching in the Houston Astros organization from 2010-2011.

JOE SZEKELY

HITTING COACH

Joe Szekely returns to the Appalachian League in 2021 with over 20 years of coaching experience in the Atlanta Braves, Kansas City Royals, and Tampa Bay Rays organizations. Szekely was drafted in the second round of the 1982 MLB Draft and spent 11 seasons in the minor leagues with the Royals, Los Angeles Dodgers, Toronto Blue Jays, and Braves. After his playing career, he stayed on as a coach in the Braves organization for several years before joining the Royals organization as the Charleston Alley Cats manager in 2000. Szekely went on to serve as the manager for the Burlington Bees from 2001-2003 before becoming the Royals' minor league catching coordinator in 2004. From 2005-2019, Szekely served in various roles within the Rays organization, including managing the Appalachian League's Princeton Rays in 2008. A majority of his time with the Rays was spent in two stints with the Charlotte Stone Crabs, working for the team as a coach from 2009-2016 and again from 2018-2019.

MAC SEIBERT

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Mac Seibert is set to make his coaching debut in 2021 with the Princeton Whistlepigs as the team's player development coach. Although originally selected in the 36th round of the 2012 MLB Draft by the San Diego Padres, Seibert started his professional career a year later when he was drafted in the 34th round by the Atlanta Braves out of Meridian Community College (Meridian, Miss.). The Cantonment, Florida, native spent four years playing in the Tampa Bay Rays organization, last suiting up for the Charlotte Stone Crabs during the 2019 season. Seibert is also an Appy League alumnus, having played for the Princeton Rays during the 2017 season.

ABOUT

According to the Virginia Herpetological Society, 20 different species of turtles reside within the state's boundaries, over half of which can be found in the New River Valley where the town of Pulaski is located.

In a nod to that New River Valley heritage and its waterways teaming with terrapins, the newly-restructured Appalachian League's Pulaski franchise has been rebranded as the River Turtles.

The inspiration behind the River Turtles name was based on feedback from the local baseball community, as well as a renewed commitment to a family-friendly culture at Motor Mile Field at Calfee Park.

Most recently an affiliate of the New York Yankees, Pulaski is a four-time Appy League champion since joining the league in 1946. Its alumni include former MLB stars David Justice, Steve Avery, and Javy Lopez, and even legendary football coach Urban Meyer who spent two seasons in the Atlanta Braves organization.

Set to take over as the manager of the first-ever bale of Pulaski River Turtles is Clark Crist who brings with him 41 years of professional baseball experience with seven different MLB organizations. At his side in the dugout will be pitching coach Ted Power, hitting coach Roger Hill, and player development coach Chris Jacobs.

COACHING STAFF

CLARK CRIST

MANAGER

Clark Crist brings 41 years of professional baseball experience to the helm of the River Turtles. From 2015-2020, Crist served as a National Junior College Cross Checker for the Arizona Diamondbacks, overseeing all junior college prospects in the country for the club. He has also served as a scout for various other Major League Baseball teams since 1985, including the Houston Astros (1985-1992), Boston Red Sox (1992-1994), Cleveland Indians (1994-1995), New York Mets (1995-1997), St. Louis Cardinals (1997-2006) and the Cincinnati Reds (2006-2015). Additionally, Crist played collegiate baseball at the University of Arizona, where he was the starting shortstop for the 1980 team that put together 19 late-inning comebacks en route to being crowned national champions. The team also set the all-time school record for stolen bases with 135 throughout the season. After his time at Arizona, Crist was drafted by the Seattle Mariners in the 14th round of the 1980 MLB June Amateur Draft and spent four seasons in Minor League Baseball, eventually serving as a player-coach for the Mariners Double-A affiliate, the Chattanooga Lookouts, from 1982-1985.

TED POWER

PITCHING COACH

Longtime Major League pitcher and coach Ted Power arrives in Pulaski this summer to serve as the pitching coach for the River Turtles. Most recently the bullpen coach for the Cincinnati Reds from 2016-18, he also worked throughout the club's minor league system as the pitching coach for the Rookie Advanced League Billings Mustangs (2000-01), High-A Dayton Dragons (2002) and Triple-A Louisville Bats (2006-16). Over the course of his 13-year MLB playing career Power pitched for eight different teams, posting a 4.00 ERA over 564 appearances with 701 strikeouts and 70 saves. In his first of two stints with the Reds, he led the National League with 78 appearances in 1984, recorded a career-high 27 saves in 1985 and amassed 204.0 innings over 34 starts in 1987. In 1990, Power helped the Pittsburgh Pirates reach the NL Championship Series, starting game six for the Bucs. He also pitched for the Los Angeles Dodgers, Kansas City Royals, St. Louis Cardinals, Cleveland Indians and Seattle Mariners. Power was drafted in the fifth round of the 1976 MLB Draft out of Kansas State.

ROGER HILL

HITTING COACH

Roger Hill will join the Pulaski River Turtles as the club's hitting coach for the 2021 season. He is currently in his seventh year as an assistant coach at West Los Angeles College where he also began his collegiate playing career. Hill previously coached at Compton Community College and Washington Preparatory High School in California, as well as two seasons in the Cleveland Indians minor league system. As a player, Hill was named the California State Junior College Co-Player of the Year before moving on to the University of Nebraska where he earned All-Big 8 First Team honors in back-to-back seasons. He was then drafted in the 14th round of the 1982 MLB Draft by the Seattle Mariners and played five professional seasons, ascending as high as Triple-A.

CHRIS JACOBS

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Chris Jacobs will make his Appy League coaching debut as the player development coach for Pulaski this season. From Winston-Salem, N.C., Jacobs concluded a 13-year professional career after the 2019 campaign. Drafted in the 17th round by the Los Angeles Dodgers in 2007, he played 10 seasons in the minor leagues and three more at the independent level. After eight years in the Dodgers organization, Jacobs reached as high as Triple-A Charlotte for the Chicago White Sox in 2015 and spent the 2016 campaign at Double-A Springfield in the St. Louis Cardinals system. He then played three seasons of independent ball for the Sussex County Miners in the Can-Am League and both the Sioux Falls Canaries and Fargo-Moorhead RedHawks in the American Association. A lifetime .274 hitter, Jacobs smashed 173 career home runs and drove in 641 runs.
