LEAGUE INFO

WEST CO CO

The West Division is a five-team division consisting of teams in the Rocky Mountains and West Coast. The Calgary Roughnecks, Colorado Mammoth, San Diego Seals, Saskatchewan Rush, and Vancouver Warriors make up the West.

The North Division is a four-team division created ahead of the 2019-20 season. It is made up of the Buffalo Bandits, Halifax Thunderbirds, Rochester Knighthawks, and Toronto Rock.

The East Division is a four-team division, and all teams are on the Atlantic Coast. The Georgia Swarm, New England Black Wolves, New York Riptide, and Philadelphia Wings belong to the East.

LEAGUE INFO

DIVISION REALIGNMENT

With the addition of four expansion teams within the past two years, the NLL found itself with 13 teams. Division realignment was in order for competitive balance, as three of the expansion teams were formed in the east of the continent. The West Division remained the same, but the six-team East Division was split evenly into the North and East.

Every NLL team will face the other twelve NLL teams at least once this season, but divisional opponents will clash multiple times throughout 2019-20. For the Georgia Swarm, they will take on the Black Wolves, Riptide, and Wings three times each.

SVARM HISTORY GEORGIA SWARM

The Swarm started play in the 2005 season.

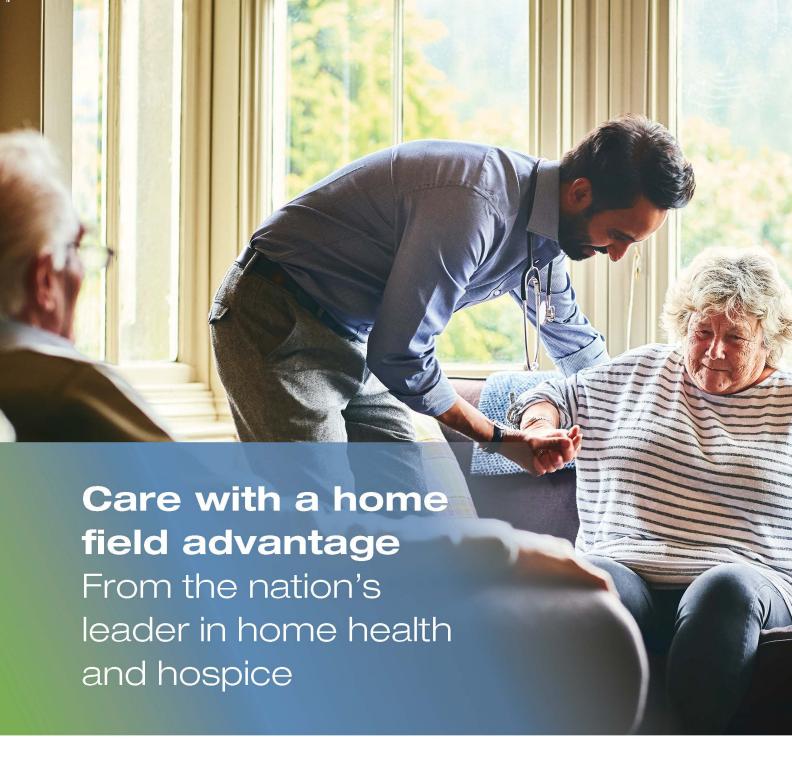

Originally owned by the Minnesota Wild NHL team, the team played its games in the Xcel Energy Center in Saint Paul, Minnesota from 2004-2015. The Arlottas – John and Andy – purchased the team in 2008 before moving the team to Georgia following the 2015 season.

Now the Georgia Swarm, the team found a new home in the Infinite Energy Arena in Duluth, Georgia. The Swarm's first season in Georgia was the 2016 season, and the team went 8-10 and advanced to the playoffs. An exit in the division semifinals served as motivation for the squad, as they went into the 2017 season hungry for more.

The team got that more. A franchise-best 13-5 record and first place finish in the division paved the way for the Swarm's postseason, where the Swarm swept their way to their first-ever NLL Cup. Atlanta's first pro sports world championship in 22 years.

While the Swarm did not win another NLL Cup in the 2017-18 or 2018-19 seasons, the Swarm remained one of the best teams in the league, going to the postseason each season and finishing in the top of the division standings.

Since moving to Georgia, the Swarm have gone 44-28 (61.1 win percentage) and advanced to the postseason every season – one of only three teams in the NLL to accomplish this feat.

OFFSEASON RECAP

After making the postseason for a fourth consecutive season, the Georgia Swarm went into the offseason with very few needs to address. Goaltender Mike Poulin and Jerome Thompson were the team's two unrestricted free agents, but before free agency began on Aug. 1, the team would see its needs grow in July.

The 2019 Expansion Draft to construct rosters for the New York Riptide and re-vamped Rochester Knighthawks saw forward Holden Cattoni go to Rochester and defenseman John Ranagan join New York. The Swarm now had to add defensive depth and add left-handed offensive weapons now.

Free agency started big for the Swarm, as Owner and General Manager John Arlotta once again signed Poulin to a three-year deal. Arlotta also signed goaltenders Kevin and Steven Orleman to new deals, helping solidify the Swarm's netminder needs.

Offensively, Arlotta re-signed forwards LeRoy Halftown (who spent the 2018-19 Swarm season on the practice roster), Miles Thompson, and Zed Williams. He also brought transition player Joel White back on a one-year deal and signed rookie free agent Sergio Perkovic to the team.

September was huge for the Swarm and where the team made most of its offseason roster moves. The team traded a second-round pick in the 2019 NLL Entry Draft to the San Diego Seals for Zach Miller, a left-handed forward who was injured in the Seals' first game.

That same day, the Swarm participated in the 2019 Entry Draft, starting the evening 10 draft picks after the trade for Miller. Three picks were traded for future considerations and the final one waived, but the Swarm came away with six new names:

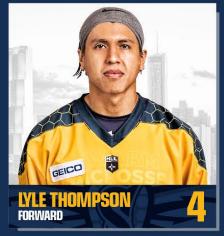

In the first round, the team selected Kason Tarbell (Cornell University) and Ryan MacSpadyen (Mercy College), two strong defenders who could slot right into the Swarm's defensive system. The Swarm went on to select TJ Comizio (Villanova University), Gunnar Schimoler (UMBC), Jordan Gillis (Hamilton Bengals Jr. B), and Mikey Herring (University of Virginia).

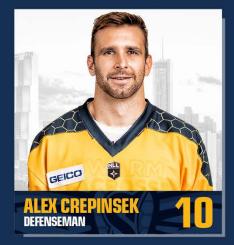

All set for training camp, the Swarm split three weeks between Six Nations in Canada and Atlanta to narrow down the number of players to fill out the 21-man Active Roster and four-player Practice Squad. They were rigorous camps, but the Swarm are now delivering the team they believe can bring Atlanta another World Championship in 2020.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Swarm Fan,

Welcome to another season of Swarm lacrosse, a season that promises to be the biggest and best one we've experienced yet!

The 2019-20 NLL season will be the Swarm's fifth season here in Georgia, and we're ready to take to the floor in our continual quest to bring this great state another deserving world championship. As an organization, we grew significantly this offseason in terms of personnel on the team, the front office, and our new Sting City Memberships – the most exclusive lacrosse membership group in the South.

I feel we've gotten to this new level because of our vision and mission as an organization. We truly believe in being champions on and off the floor - from front office personnel to our coaches and players. Our values as an organization are the Swarm Way - Teamwork, Execution, Character.

- We want team players only. Others need not apply.
- We will be fast, flexible, and innovative. It's our culture.
- We do what is right. Not what is easy.

By focusing on talent, excellence, and character in everything we do, this has allowed us to consistently raise the bar and deliver what I believe to be the best sports entertainment product in the South.

Thank you for your continued support as Swarm fans. You're the lifeblood of our franchise, and your support will help us bring back another World Championship to Georgia!

Respectfully,

ANDY ARLOTTA

Lacrosse is the fastest growing sport in North America, outpacing soccer, football, baseball, and every other youth sport. The continent's first sport continues to speak to the hearts of all young and old and tie generations together.

The Georgia Swarm are proud to nuture this wonderful sport in Georgia, helping grow it through numerous lacrosse camps and clinics throughout the years and the Jr. Swarm program.

On Sunday, April 19, the Swarm will close out the season reveling in the beautiful game that is lacrosse and celebrating how it captures the hearts and imagination of children and adults in North America, especially right here in the Metro Atlanta area.

COMMUNITY

The Georgia Swarm and DoMyOwn teamed up to donate to Children's Healthcare of Atlanta. For every save a Swarm goalie made in the East Division Semifinals, the Swarm donated $50, and DoMyOwn matched the final total.

Once again, the Swarm wore special theme jerseys - Star Wars uniforms in 2018-19 - and auctioned the jerseys off following their Dec. 15 game. The Swarm donated $4,000 to the Rally Foundation to battle childhood cancer.

Before every Swarm home game, the Swarm honored the families of U.S. Armed Forces members who died as a result of his or her service through their partnership with T.A.P.S. (Tragedy Assistance Program for Survivors).

The Swarm teamed up with the Navy
SEAL Foundation and Johnny Mac
Soldiers Fund to donate ticket proceeds ahead of the Swarm's Heroes Night, honoring the men and women in the U.S. Armed Services and local first responders during the March 2 game.

Partnering up with Georgia Power, the Swarm coaches led free clinics before Swarm Saturday home games. These free youth clinics helped teach lacrosse to underprivileged youth from Walton County Boys & Girls Club, 100 Black Men Dekalb, Browns Chapel in Marietta, After School All-Stars, and J.M. Tull YMCA.

A better return on life begins with us.

Q&A WITH OWNER & GM JOHN ARLOTTA

You made a lot of roster additions before the season's start. How key was it to bring in the players you did?

It was huge. Signing goalie Mike Poulin up for three year solidifies our defensive end, and returning Jordan Hall and Joel White to the roster has paid dividends beyond their on-floor contributions. Their veteran leadership will surely help us in the 2019-20 season.

Adding Kason Tarbell and Ryan MacSpadyen in the 2019 NLL Entry Draft gave us talented depth in our defensive end. Both have the potential to make an impact in the NLL, and we're excited by the energy and skill they've brought to our team.

How did the loss in the 2018-19 East Division Semifinals motivate the team this offseason?

Every team wants to be the last one to win, and failing to advance in the postseason was certainly not what we had planned. However, we did not dwell on the loss long and instead used it as motivation to better the Swarm organization from top to bottom.

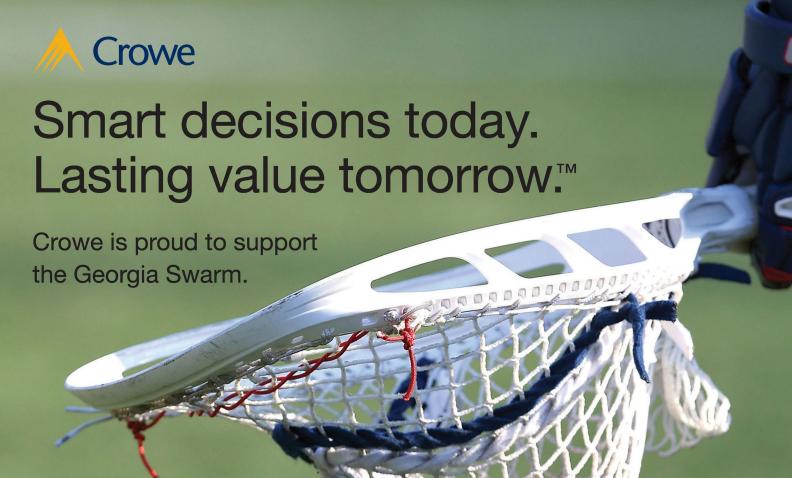

One step we took was to do season-ending exit interviews with every player in order to get their feedback on what we could do better in the upcoming season. As a result, we made a number of changes in everything from strength and conditioning to practice plans. We're excited to see how these changes will impact our performance.

How would you describe the 2019-20 Georgia Swarm?

The 2019-20 edition of the Georgia Swarm is probably the deepest and most talented team we have ever had in my time owning the Swarm. From top to bottom, we have players that could play for any team in the NLL. However, we also know that talent is never enough.

Therefore, our emphasis with this team has been to provide the players with the tools to perform at their best, and on the players side to emphasize accountability for the physical and mental preparation required to bring another World Championship back to Georgia.

installed new turf at Harrah's Cherokee Casino Field at Infinite Energy Arena during the 2019 offseason. Manufactured by Turf Nation in Dalton, GA, the new playing surface has more cushion and better traction than the turf utilized by the team since the franchise relocated to Georgia in 2015. Turf Nation has manufactured turf used in four of the last five Super Bowls and is the industry leader in indoor/outdoor athletic playing surface solutions.

INSTALLATION/STORAGE:

The Georgia Swarm playing surface consists of 14 strips that roll horizontally onto the field and attach to each other via heavy-duty interlocking Velcro inserts, which eliminate seams and keep the field flat to the surface. The turf itself is installed over a padded layer directly on top of the Arena's ice hockey rink and rolled up and stored for hockey games. The longest of these 14 turf rolls are 85 feet long and 15 feet wide.

BUILT FOR SPEED, COMFORT, & SUCCESS: Players got their first taste of the new turf during an open Training Camp practice in November of 2019. Players and coaches commented on the surface being much more forgiving in terms of its pliability and cushion, while several immediately recognized the new turf's improved traction. The playing surface is doubly-reinforced at the center team logo in order to accommodate a World Championship trophy celebration when the time comes.
