HISTORY OF THE SENIOR PGA TOUR

The Senior PGA TOUR, tabbed by many as the most successful professional sports venture of the 1980s, began rather inauspiciously from 1979 discussions in which leading senior players expressed an interest in playing several "senior" events, provided sponsors could be found and if the PGA TOUR would administer the tournaments. Prior to that time, only certain special events for tournament professionals over the age of 50 were held, most notably the Legends of Golf and the PGA Seniors' Championship.

A landmark meeting on January 16, 1980 laid the formal groundwork for the Senior PGA TOUR. Attending that meeting were Sam Snead, Gardner Dickinson, Bob Goalby, Don January and the late Dan Sikes and Julius Boros—all leaders on the All-Time Money List. Sikes was named chairman of what became known as the Senior Advisory Council, and Snead was named honorary chairman.

At that meeting, it was recognized that any senior tour would have to trade on the reputations and images made by PGA TOUR players over their long years of activity on that tournament circuit. Eligibility criteria therefore were centered around a player's position on the All-Time Money List and number of career victories.

It also was determined that such a senior tour could succeed only with a format emphasizing pro-am play. So the format for play was set with a field of 50 players (later expanded to 52) so that two rounds of pro-am play could be held, and one of those pro-am rounds could be made an official round of the tournament.

After approval of the new Senior PGA TOUR by the Tournament Policy Board of the PGA TOUR on January 22, 1980, work began on establishing events for Senior TOUR play. Two tournaments were conducted in 1980, one in Atlantic City, NJ (won by Don January) and the other in Melbourne, FL (won by Charlie Sifford).

The Senior TOUR grew steadily over the next few years, with five events in 1981, 11 in 1982 and 18 tournaments by 1983. Prize money offered for players on the 50-and-over circuit exceeded $3 million for the 1983 season. Fellow Texans Miller Barber and Don January emerged as the dominant players. Each won two money titles in the first four years of the Senior TOUR; between them, they won a total of 21 events. Among the other notable performers on the new circuit during that stretch was a five-time winner, Arnold Palmer.

Expansion and growth continued in 1984, with 24 tournaments worth more than $5 million in prize money. That prompted January to state publicly, "If you'd have told me back in 1980 that we'd have this many events and be playing for this much money, I'd have said you were crazy."

By 1985, the Senior TOUR was large enough—27 events worth more than $6 million—to merit its establishment as a division of the PGA TOUR. It became a distinct and separate operating and financial entity, with Senior TOUR net revenue going to fund a newly created Senior Player Retirement Plan. To help guide this fast-growing circuit, a Senior PGA TOUR Division Board was formed consisting of three Independent Directors, three Player Directors and the immediate Past President of the PGA of America. The Division Board later was expanded from seven to nine with the addition of another Independent Director and Player Director.

Of considerable note was the announcement prior to the 1985 season that a cable television package had been put together on ESPN, allowing seven events to enjoy national cable exposure. With the production costs partially funded by Mazda Motors of America, Mazda also helped create the Senior TOUR's first-ever, season-long bonus pool ($300,000) and sponsored a $1 million season-ending team event in conjunction with the LPGA.

While 1985 also saw a separate logo and licensing program developed for the Senior TOUR, on the playing front a different face dominated the scene. Australian Peter Thomson, a five-time British Open winner, won a record nine tournaments during the 1985 season and 10 events in a 12-month stretch. The last event of the year, however, was won by a new senior entry, Gary Player.

The following year, two-time Vardon Trophy winner Bruce Crampton took top honors, with seven Senior TOUR victories from the 28 tournaments on the schedule, while rookies Chi Chi Rodriguez and Dale Douglass finished second and third, respectively, on the final money list.

The start of the 1987 season marked the entry of another major corporate sponsor, as the Vantage brand of R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company introduced its Vantage Program to the 35-event senior circuit. The Vantage involvement included a $1 million, season-long team points competition called the Vantage Cup; sponsorship of the first $1 million tournament on the Senior TOUR, called the Vantage Championship; sponsorship of a series of major Vantage tournaments; sponsorship of a SUPER SENIORS competition for players 60 years and older; and an advanced electronic scoreboard system.

The size of Senior TOUR tournament fields was expanded to 72 players in 1987 and, for the first time, the pro-am portion and tournament portion of events were separated. For standard events, the two-day pro-am was held on Wednesday and Thursday, with pros only competing Friday through Sunday. That format remains in effect today.

The Senior TOUR grew to 37 events in 1988, and Vantage began sponsorship of the Senior TOUR's first-ever statistical program. Season-ending leaders in each of 10 stats categories received cash bonuses. Bob Charles, the most successful lefthander in golf history, enjoyed a record-setting year, establishing a single-season earnings mark on the Senior TOUR as he pocketed $533,929.

Continued growth marked the 1989 season, as Senior TOUR tournament fields were increased to 78 players. R.J. Reynolds sponsored an expanded $1.5 million championship, offered an additional $750,000 in individual bonus money and yet another $750,000 in bonuses to other Senior TOUR tournaments. With the RJR bonus money counting as official prize money, Charles again set the earnings pace with a record $725,887.

In 1990, golf's "Big Four" were reunited on the senior scene. The arrival of Lee Trevino and Jack Nicklaus, together again with Palmer and Player, lifted the popularity of the Senior TOUR to unprecedented levels at the start of the new decade. The year also marked the introduction of Cadillac Motor Car Division as the umbrella sponsor for Senior TOUR cable telecasts.

Though five players surpassed the previous single-season earnings record, Trevino was the dominant performer, notching seven wins and finishing out of the top 10 only twice in 28 starts. His official earnings of $1,190,518 not only made him the Senior TOUR's first "million-dollar man," but also the year's leading money-winner in all of golf.

The list of senior millionaires grew when Mike Hill became the second senior to top the magical seven-digit figure in 1991. Trevino did it again in 1992 and 1994. Dave Stockton and Bob Charles became the first two to earn more than $1 million in official money in the same season, accomplishing that feat in 1993.

New faces became household names on the circuit in the early 1990s. Jim Albus, Larry Laoretti, Tom Wargo and Larry Gilbert, all former club professionals, proved they could compete with seasoned PGA TOUR veterans and pulled off surprising victories.

In 1991, PGA TOUR Productions introduced "Inside the Senior PGA TOUR" as a weekly show on ESPN and aired new programs for 39 consecutive weeks during the season.

Raymond Floyd added his own stories to the senior circuit in 1992, becoming the first player in golf history to claim a PGA TOUR and Senior TOUR event in the same season with victories in the Doral-Ryder Open and GTE North Classic.

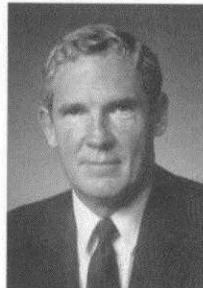

When official prize money approached the $30-million figure in 1994, a record six Senior TOUR players found their way over the $1 million mark in single-season earnings. Trevino got there first, hitting the seven-figure level for an unprecedented third time in his career. Stockton followed, becoming the first to pocket more than $1 million in back-to-back seasons. After Albus became the first former club pro to join the millionaire's club, Floyd, Wargo and Jim Colbert followed him into the elite group at the season-ending Senior TOUR Championship.

In 1995, a year that produced a record 25 different champions, Colbert earned his first Arnold Palmer Award with a single-season earnings mark of $1,444,386. His year-long performance, keyed by a win at the season-ending Energizer SENIOR TOUR Championship, helped propel Colbert to Senior PGA TOUR Player of the Year honors.

Trevino became the all-time victory leader with his 25th career win at the Northville Long Island Classic; the "Merry Mex" later added No. 26 at The Transamerica. Sixty-year-old Jimmy Powell was the first to win both a Senior TOUR tournament and a SUPER SENIORS event at the First of America Classic. And Stockton became the first to go over $1 million three years running, earning $1,415,545.

THE SENIOR PGA TOUR DIVISION BOARD

The Senior PGA TOUR, formerly a department within the overall structure of the PGA TOUR, became an operating division of the PGA TOUR in October 1985. The restructuring, along with the naming of a nine-person Senior PGA TOUR Division Board, gave the Senior TOUR greater ability to deal with its particular policies, opportunities and issues.

The Senior TOUR Division Board is composed of the following:

- Four Player Directors elected by the Senior PGA TOUR membership.
- Four Independent Directors representing the public interest. One serves as Chairman of the Board.
- One PGA Director who is the Past President of the PGA of America.

A Player Advisory Council consults with the Division Board.

ABOUT THE COMMISSIONER

Timothy W. Finchem

Commissioner

Timothy W. Finchem became the third Commissioner in the 25-year history of the PGA TOUR on June 1, 1994.

Finchem, 48, succeeded Deane R. Beman, who had served as Commissioner for 20 years. The late Joseph C. Dey was the first Commissioner of the PGA TOUR, serving from 1969 until 1974.

A 4-handicapper, Finchem combines a love of the game and a respect for its traditions with a vision that will carry the PGA TOUR successfully into the future. In 1995, he oversaw a restructuring designed to prepare the TOUR to move forward into the 21st century and expand golf's international horizons.

1995 SEASON: Enjoyed perhaps his finest season in golf, even though he managed to record just one official Senior TOUR victory during the year...Eclipsed the million-dollar mark in single-season earnings for the first time ever, topping the seven-figure mark at the rain-shortened Emerald Coast Classic...Fifth-place finish on the official money list ($45,294 avg.) was easily his highest standing ever and more than $400,000 greater than his previous best senior campaign (1994)...Was among the top-five in over half of his 23 appearances and was only out of the top-15 twice all year...Did not start his season until March, but ended the month with an unofficial victory at the abbreviated American Express Grand Slam in his native Japan...Followed that performance with a playoff loss to Jack Nicklaus at The Tradition the next week...Turned in runner-up efforts at the Quicksilver Classic and the Kroger Senior Classic before claiming his fourth Senior TOUR career title at the Bank of Boston Senior Classic...Birdied the 18th hole to win by a stroke over Bob Charles and Hale Irwin...T2 in defense of his Brickyard Crossing Championship title two weeks later...Reeled off 21 straight par or better rounds during the summer and another 17 consecutive par or better scores during the end of the fall...Finished the season as the Senior TOUR's number one putter (1.738) and was second to Raymond Floyd in birdies per round (4.18)...Successfully defended his Japan Senior Open title at the start of December.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS: 1994 season was highlighted by an outstanding fall campaign...After eight consecutive top-15 showings, he caught fire in September and won back-to-back titles at the Bank One Senior Classic and the rain-shortened Brickyard Crossing Championship, going 25-under-par for those five rounds...One-stroke victory in Indianapolis made him the last senior to win in consecutive weeks...Named September's Senior TOUR Player of the Month in 1994...Came from behind to win his Japanese Senior Tour debut at the Japan Senior Open...Among the top-10 in over half of his '93 appearances (12 in 23 starts)...T2 at the GTE West Classic that year was his top showing...Made debut on the Senior TOUR at the 1992 First of America Classic, one of just seven appearances that season...Pocketed over $300,000 as a rookie, more than twice what he made in his best year on the PGA TOUR (1983)...Picked up his first Senior TOUR victory near Atlanta...After shooting 66 on Saturday and taking a one-stroke lead, he was declared the winner of the Nationwide Championship when the final round was cancelled due to heavy rain...That victory made him the first Japanese player to claim an event on both the PGA TOUR and Senior TOUR...Japan's all-time greatest player with 64 tournament victories worldwide...Is the only Japanese player to claim titles on six different circuits -- PGA TOUR, Senior PGA TOUR, PGA European Tour, Australasian Tour, Japan PGA Tour and Japan Senior Tour...Earned more than $750,000 in his 10-year career on the PGA TOUR...Is best known in the United States for holing a pitching wedge out of the rough from 128 yards for an eagle-3 on the 72nd hole at Waialae Country Club to leapfrog over Jack Renner and win the 1983 Hawaiian Open, his only PGA TOUR triumph...Best year on TOUR was that same season, when he made $146,467 and placed 34th on the money list...Shadowed Jack Nicklaus for four days at Baltusrol GC in the 1980 U.S. Open and eventually lost by two strokes when the Golden Bear became the first to record a 72-hole mark of 272 in a U.S. Open...Was a member of the 1982, 1983 and 1984 Japanese National teams that competed against the United States...Selected to the Japan team in 1985, 1987 and 1988 for the Kirin Cup competition.

PERSONAL: Was the leading money-winner five times on the Japan PGA Tour...Was introduced to golf as a caddie at the Abiko Golf Club while attending Abiko Junior High School...Earned the nickname "Tower" after the Tokyo Tower because of his height...Uses an unorthodox putting stroke but considers that to be the strongest part of his game.

AMERICAN EXPRESS GRANDSLAM

Glen Oaks CC, Kurimotomachi, Japan
Par: 36-36—72 Yards: 6,741

Purse: $680,000
March 24-26, 1995

LEADERS: First Round—Lee Trevino made seven birdies and only one bogey to shoot 6-under-par 66 and take a one-shot lead over Ed Sneed (67). At 68, two behind the leader, were Isao Aoki, Marion Heck and Dave Stockton. Second Round—Rain and cold temperatures made the playing conditions extremely difficult. Aoki managed to shoot 2-under-par 70 to take the lead at 138 (6-under-par). His round included five birdies and three bogeys. Two back of Aoki was Gibby Gilbert, who shot his second consecutive 2-under-par 70, for a 140 total. First-round leader Trevino could only manage a 3-over-par 75, which put him and Graham Marsh at 141, three behind the leader. Final Round—Snow and temperatures in the low 30s forced the JPGA rules staff to shorten the final round to nine holes on Sunday. Aoki shot 1-under-par 35 for a 173 total (7-under-par) to win by two shots over Graham Marsh (34) and Gibby Gilbert (35). Trevino (36) finished fourth at 177.

CUT: Field of 82 (75 pros and 7 amateurs) cut to 53 (low 50 and ties) at 152 (8-over-par).

PRO-AM: Team competition only; no prize money offered.

WEATHER: Sunny and warm early in the week; turned cloudy and cooler on Friday before rain and cold set in on Saturday. The final round was shortened to nine holes due to early morning snow and temperatures in the mid 30s, which forced a delay of one hour.

Winner: Isao Aoki 68-70-35 173 $102,250

CADILLAC SERIES A MUTUALLY REWARDING PARTNERSHIP

Cadillac
SENIOR
PGA TOUR SERIES

Cadillac Motor Division's involvement with the Senior PGA TOUR has been labeled one of the division's most successful on-going marketing and public relations efforts.

The luxury automaker's partnership with the Senior TOUR ranks second in length only to that of the division's 28-year relationship with the Masters Tournament.

As a result of implementing an integrated marketing program in support of its umbrella sponsorship, Cadillac has realized more than $250 million in vehicle sales directly attributed to its involvement with the Senior TOUR.

Upon becoming partners with the Senior TOUR in 1990, Cadillac established the Cadillac Series, a season-long competition in a select number of ESPN-televized events. At the end of the season, the luxury automaker awards its premium cars to the top three golfers accumulating the most points in Cadillac Series tournaments during the course of the year.

The Cadillac Series began with 14 events on cable and has grown to 21 events in 1996.

Last year's competition came down to the season's final tournament, the Energizer SENIOR TOUR Championship, before Jim Colbert joined Lee Trevino as the only two-time Cadillac Series winners.

Colbert's prize was two Cadillacs valued at more than $85,000: the Northstar-equipped Seville Touring Sedan and the DeVille Concours. Bob Murphy earned a DeVille Concours for finishing second, and Dave Stockton picked up a DeVille for placing third.

Past winners of the Cadillac Series include Charles Coody (1990), Colbert (1991, 1995), Trevino (1992, 1993) and Raymond Floyd (1994).

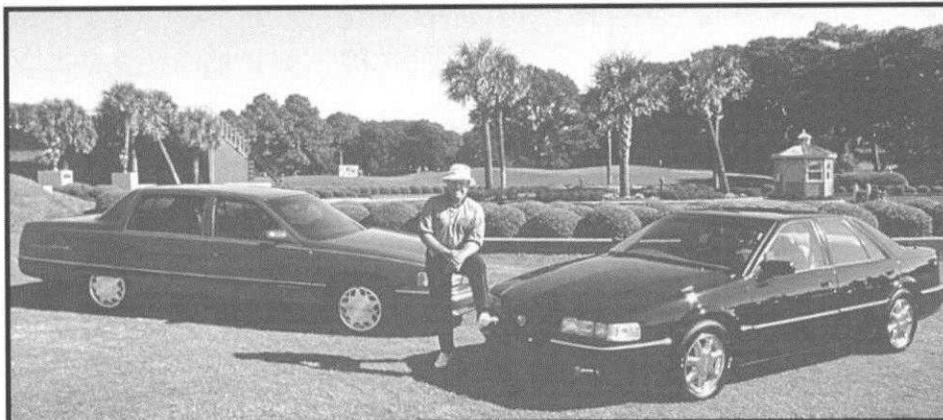

Cadillac's sponsorship also includes the "Official Car of the Senior PGA TOUR" designation and helps boost prize money at each Cadillac Series event.

Another facet of Cadillac's golf program includes Team Cadillac, a group of 13 legendary golfers: Jim Albus, George Archer, Bob Charles, Colbert, Jim Dent, Dale Douglass, Murphy, Arnold Palmer, Jay Sigel, Stockton, Trevino, Tom Wargo and Larry Ziegler.

Additionally, the luxury car sponsors the Cadillac NFL Golf Classic. Since it became an official Senior TOUR event in 1993, the tournament has raised more than $261,000 for Tomorrow's Children's Fund, the event's official charity.

1995 Cadillac Series Standings

1. Jim Colbert 921,562
2. Bob Murphy 837,397
3. Dave Stockton 676,555
4. Raymond Floyd 672,221

MASTERCARD GRAND MASTERS SCHEDULE FOR 1996

Twenty-five Senior PGA TOUR events will host MasterCard Grand Masters competitions in 1996. All players 60 and older in the fields of those events are eligible to compete in these "tournaments within the tournament."

The MasterCard Grand Masters competition concludes one round prior to the end of the overall tournament (i.e. after 36 holes in a typical 54-hole Senior TOUR event). And while Grand Masters earnings are unofficial, the players collect official prize money for their finish in the main tournament.

A player can win both the Grand Masters competition and the overall tournament in the same week. Jimmy Powell became the only player in Senior TOUR history to accomplish that feat when he won both titles at the 1995 First of America Classic.

Gay Brewer captured the first Super Seniors Championship and its accompanying $85,000 paycheck at last year's Energizer SENIOR TOUR Championship. The second MasterCard Grand Masters Championship will be held Nov. 7-9, in conjunction with the 1996 Energizer SENIOR TOUR Championship at the Dunes Golf and Beach Club in Myrtle Beach, SC.

MERRILL LYNCH SHOOT-OUT SERIES

The Senior TOUR version of the Merrill Lynch Shoot-Out series, which has become a popular Tuesday event for golf fans across the country over the past seven years, returns in 1996.

Merrill Lynch Shoot-Outs will be part of 16 Senior TOUR tournaments in the 1996 campaign. The nine-hole competitions feature top Senior TOUR players poking fun at each other and battling for the top prize of $5,000 from a purse of $15,100 at each contest.

A Merrill Lynch Shoot-Out begins with 10 players; on each hole the player with the highest score is eliminated. Ties are broken by a sudden-death "shoot-out," involving a pitch, chip, bunker shot or putt. The individual whose ball comes to rest farthest from the hole is eliminated from the field.

Each Merrill Lynch Shoot-Out consists of the defending champion of that particular tournament, the top three players entered in that tournament from the current money list, the top three players in the tournament from the All-Time money list and three sponsor selections.

At the end of the season, Merrill Lynch will sponsor its seventh Senior Shoot-Out Championship featuring the top two money-winners from the year-long Shoot-Out series, the top five on the 1996 Senior PGA TOUR money list and three players selected by Merrill Lynch. Dave Stockton won last year's championship at The Homestead in Hot Springs, VA.

ARUBA ACES PROGRAM AND CHAMPIONSHIP

1996 marks a new sponsorship of the Senior PGA TOUR Aces program. The island nation of Aruba, located 17 miles off the coast of Venezuela, is now title sponsor of the year-long Senior Aces program and host of the culminating Aces Championship. The Aruba Aces will reward any senior player who makes a hole-in-one during the 1996 season with $2,000; the tournament at which he makes the ace will receive $1,000 for its designated charity.

An additional reward for each player making an ace will be the opportunity to travel to Aruba to compete in the Aces Championship. Aruba long has been known as a premier vacation destination because of its pristine coastline, sandy beaches and warm hospitality. It also has become one of the finest golf destinations in the Caribbean. The Aruba Aces Championship will be played on the Robert Trent Jones II-designed Tierra del Sol Country Club, which opened for play last year. Tierra del Sol is located next to major beachfront resorts near the capital city of Oranjestad. It offers spectacular views of the native terrain and surrounding ocean on every hole.

Up for grabs in the 1996 Aruba Aces Championship will be a purse of more than $200,000, as well as the opportunity to win a $1 million annuity if one of the contestants is successful in making another ace during the Championship. Tierra del Sol will be set up into nine par-3s, and each player will attempt one shot on every hole. The player with the lowest cumulative distance over the nine holes will be the Aruba Aces Championship winner.

The 1996 Aruba Aces Championship, featuring the 1995 season's Aces winners, will be played on January 22. The event will be televised on ESPN on Sunday, March 17, at 2:30 p.m. EST.

CENTINELA HOSPITAL FITNESS CENTER

In 1986, Centinela Hospital Medical Center in Inglewood, CA expanded its association with the PGA TOUR by providing a mobile training center for the Senior PGA TOUR. The Centinela Hospital Fitness Center (CHFC) on the Senior TOUR was officially dedicated at the Seiko-Tucson Match Play Championship on November 1 of that year.

One of the most popular innovations on both the PGA TOUR and Senior TOUR, the CHFC is a mobile gymnasium that includes state-of-the-art exercise equipment, massage tables, television, stereo and a full line of vitamins and nutritional products.

Staffed by qualified physical therapists, the CHFC makes use of Centinela's research to help players attain and maintain optimum fitness. The CHFC travels to the vast majority of Senior TOUR events, providing both rehabilitative and preventive care.

Additionally, Centinela Hospital Medical Center provides each Senior TOUR player with a personal physical conditioning program based on that individual's current level of fitness. It also provides internationally recognized orthopedists Dr. Frank Jobe and Dr. Lewis Yocum of Centinela's Fitness Institute for consultations with players. Dr. Jobe, Medical Director of the PGA TOUR, is also team physician for the Los Angeles Dodgers; Dr. Yocum, Assistant Medical Director of the PGA TOUR, is an orthopedic consultant to the California Angels.

The CHFC has made its impact over the past 10 years, with many players finding the van and available technicians an invaluable aid to their success on the Senior TOUR. In fact, many players have commented that they would have been unable to compete in some tournaments without this facility.

"There is no question that we are very fortunate to have the Centinela Hospital Fitness Center on the Senior TOUR," said Bruce Crampton. "Originally, I was looking for a program that would provide me with flexibility and longevity for the TOUR. Working out in the van makes me much more relaxed on the course. I ride the bike and get rid of stress."

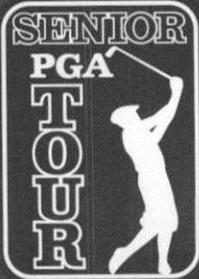

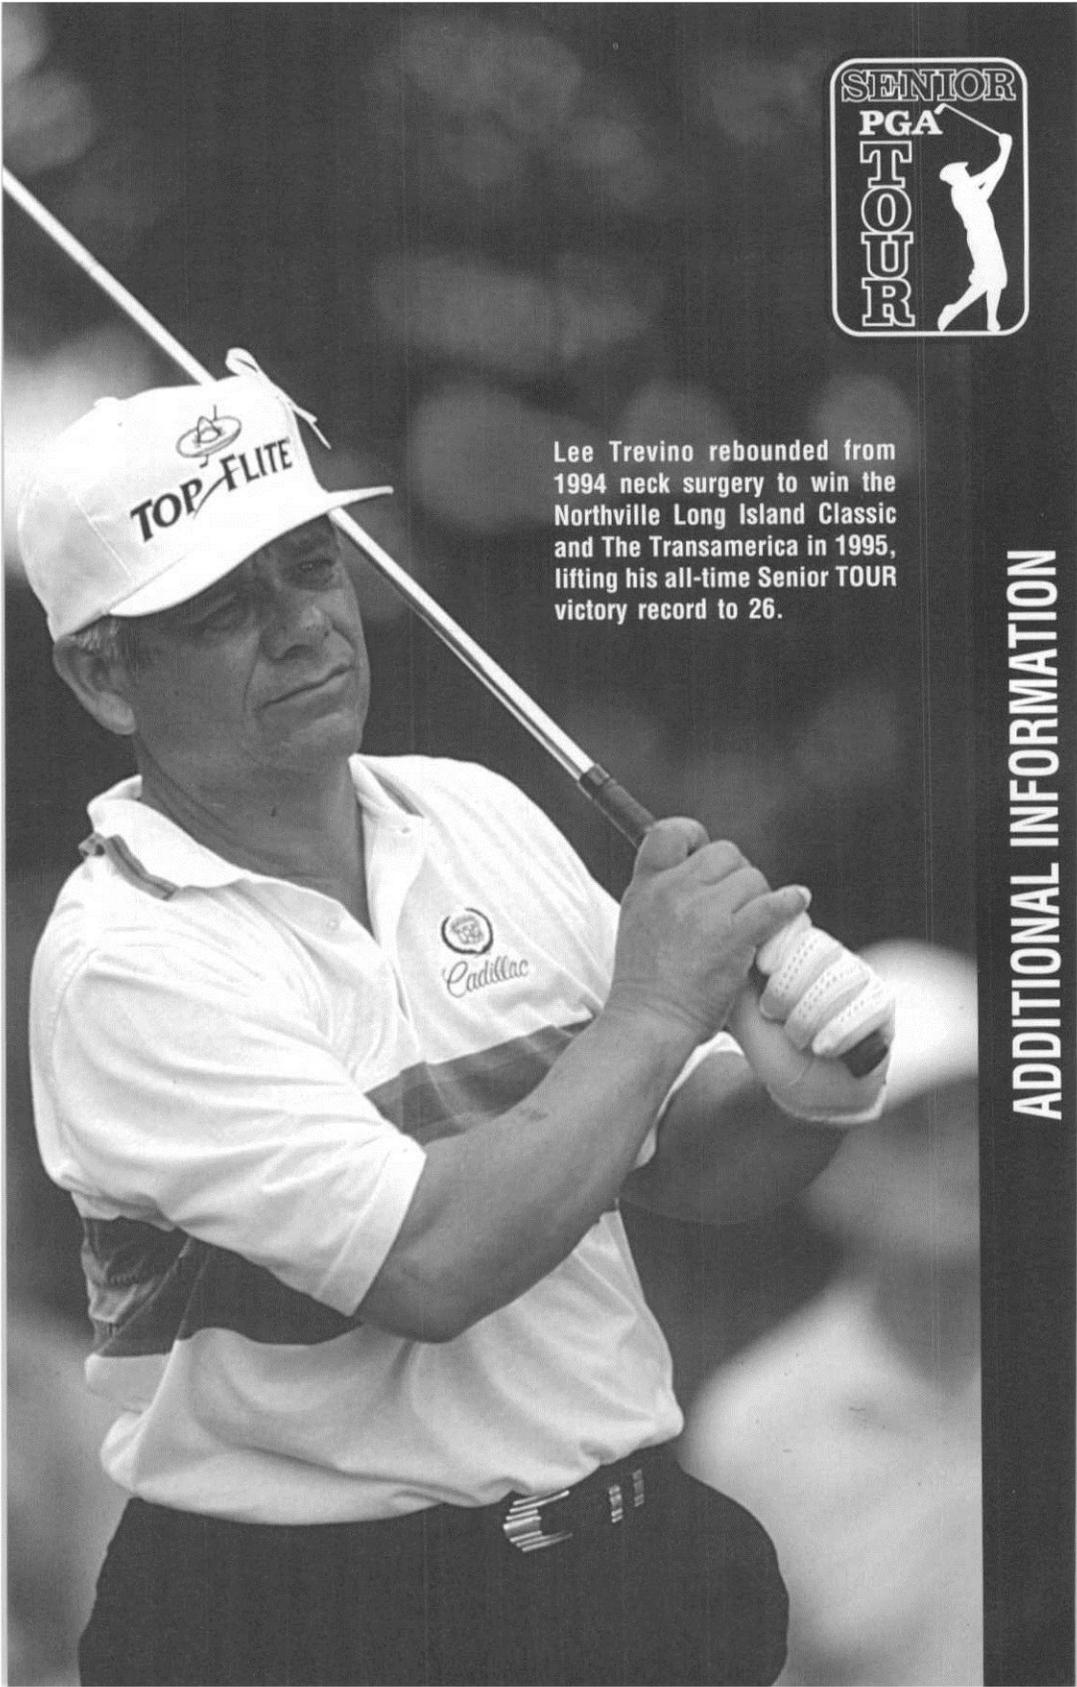

Centinela's Biomechanics Laboratory has done research and testing on professional golfers' swings and, based on the results, developed scientific exercise programs which are available through books and videotapes. These programs, designed by Dr. Jobe and Dr. Yocum, have helped countless golfers stretch their potential while minimizing their risk of injury. Information about the programs may be obtained from Centinela Hospital Medical Center.

Bayer Aspirin supports the Centinela Hospital Fitness Training Centers by providing players with one of the leading pain-relievers on the market. Bayer also conducts consumer sampling at tournaments and explores new ways to provide better healthcare products for golfers.

The products contributed by each sponsor of the Centinela Hospital Fitness Center have helped make the facility a success on both the PGA TOUR and Senior PGA TOUR.

The Centinela Hospital Fitness Center travels the Senior PGA TOUR again in 1996.

Lee Trevino rebounded from 1994 neck surgery to win the Northville Long Island Classic and The Transamerica in 1995, lifting his all-time Senior TOUR victory record to 26.

TOURNAMENT PLAYERS CLUBS

An original concept of the PGA TOUR, Tournament Players Clubs have gone from a dream to a Network that now encompasses 15 courses in 10 states and, with the addition of Non-Domestic TPCs, three foreign countries. Last November, the TPC at Mission Hills near Shenzhen became the first facility to serve as host for a major golf competition in the People's Republic of China when it was the venue for the 41st World Cup of Golf.

It was the TOUR's view that the spectator had been left out in golf course design throughout the years. When it came time for the PGA TOUR to build its own course, the opportunity presented itself to design a course that not only challenged the players but also allowed spectators to see the action as never before.

It's called "Stadium Golf"—and once you've viewed a tournament on a Stadium Golf Course, you'll understand why the network has grown in such a short period of time.

Spectator mounds afford fans unrestricted views, whether on tee shots, fairway shots or on the greens. In fact, the 18th hole at the original TPC at Sawgrass can accommodate crowds of some 30,000 people--all with a clear view of the action. You won't see any periscopes at an event on a Tournament Players Club golf course.

The Network began in 1980 with the TPC at Sawgrass, which annually is host to THE PLAYERS Championship, and quickly grew into the present number of 15. All TPCs are designed to serve as host sites for PGA TOUR or Senior PGA TOUR events, and the clubs have been designed by some of the top architects in the business — Pete Dye, Arnold Palmer, Arthur Hills, Jay Morrish, Mark McCumber, Tom Weiskopf, Bob Von Hagge and Jack Nicklaus, to name just a few.

In addition, one of the things that adds a bit of spice to all TPCs is that a PGA TOUR player (or, in some cases, two) is assigned to serve as consultant to the designer. Ed Sneed, Fuzzy Zoeller, Hubert Green, Craig Stadler, Ben Crenshaw, Al Geiberger and Chi Chi Rodriguez have been among those lending their expertise to the TPC Network.

The Network, in reality, is a nationwide country club. A premium membership at one TPC affords the member a chance to play at any of the other clubs across the country and an opportunity to view the greatest players in the world in action on his own course once a year.

Since the Tournament Players Club at Sawgrass opened, the TPC Network truly has become "the best set of clubs in America."

HUALALAI: FIRST PGA TOUR RESORT

A PGA TOUR RESORT

A designated PGA TOUR Resort provides the highest quality in a total resort facility: five-star accommodations, a championship golf course capable of holding a TOUR event and other outstanding amenities, such as tennis facilities, health spa and beach.

A PGA TOUR Resort will receive special promotion by the TOUR and be utilized as a destination for certain TOUR business functions.

The first facility to be designated a PGA TOUR Resort, Hualalai on the Big Island of Hawaii embodies the absolute quality and character that has become synonymous with the TOUR.

Hualalai is as unique as it is exclusive, an oceanside resort that provides the total vacation experience. Featuring a five-star Four Seasons hotel, its amenities include an outstanding Jack Nicklaus-designed golf course carved from the dramatic lava landscape, a tennis facility with eight championship courts, a health and wellness center and white-sand beach. Complementing the quality of facilities is the quality of service, preserving the warm ambiance of "Old Hawaii."

The exclusivity of Hualalai is consistent with the very nature of the tournament that will call it home for years to come, beginning in 1997. The Senior PGA TOUR's MasterCard Championship, held in January, is an elite gathering of Senior TOUR champions from the previous season.

Hualalai features a beautiful Jack Nicklaus-designed golf course.

WORLD GOLF VILLAGE

Florida's First Coast, home of THE PLAYERS Championship since 1977 and the PGA TOUR since 1979, soon will welcome one of the most exciting projects in the history of the game of golf: the World Golf Village.

Situated on Interstate 95 in St. Johns County, just 22 miles south of Jacksonville and eight miles northwest of St. Augustine, the World Golf Village will offer year-round golf and resort facilities, anchored by the new 75,000-square-foot World Golf Hall of Fame. Additional amenities will include a major hotel and conference center, 54 holes of golf, a PGA TOUR Golf Academy, both corporate and vacation villas, an upscale festival shopping area, the International Golf Library and Resource Center, new video and television studios for PGA TOUR Productions, a Mayo Clinic Sports Medicine facility and more. The first phase of the World Golf Village is scheduled to open in late 1997.

The new Hall of Fame will contain a 325-seat, big-screen theater, along with 36,000 square feet of exhibits that balance the history and traditions of the game with more contemporary interactive exhibits. They are being designed by Ralph Applebaum Associates of New York, designers of the acclaimed Holocaust Museum, and the work is being overseen by an Advisory Board that includes representatives of all major golf organizations, among them the PGA TOUR, LPGA, PGA of America, USGA, Royal & Ancient, Augusta National, National Golf Foundation and the PGA Tours of Europe, South Africa, Australasia and Japan.

"This endeavor represents the first time that all the major entities in the game have united behind a project of this magnitude," says World Golf Village Executive Director Ruffin Beckwith. "We believe this is destined to become something very special for the game of golf, for its great players and for all its fans and supporters."

Also within the building will be exhibits honoring the members of the restructured World Golf Hall of Fame, which includes all inductees into the old World Golf Hall of Fame in Pinehurst, NC, as well as all members of the LPGA Hall of Fame. Details of the restructuring will be announced later this year, with the first elections under the new structure to occur shortly thereafter.

"Nothing is as important to the game as the great players and other individuals who have contributed to golf's traditions of honor, integrity and competitive excellence," Beckwith said. "More than anything, we hope this new facility is an appropriate tribute to their accomplishments."

The World Golf Village is part of a 6,300-acre development called St. Johns, which will also include 7,200 residences and more than six million square feet of office, commercial and industrial space.
