Scoring & Goal Scoring Champions - Romario (Miami FC) & Cam Weaver (Seattle Sounders)

The Scoring and Goal Scoring Championship finished in a tie between two polar opposites with Seattle rookie Cam Weaver and 1994 Brazilian World Cup MVP Romario of Miami completing the season with an identical 18 goals scored and 39 points.

Just as the season was preparing to get underway, expansion Miami sent a stunning headline that traveled the globe with their signing of the former World Cup MVP to join fellow 1994 Brazilian teammate Zinho.

On the other side of the nation, Seattle University's Weaver was the last player to make the squad for the defending champion Sounders.

When Cuban international Maykel Galindo was knocked out of the lineup in a terrible collision to the face in a friendly, he stepped up and shouldered the scoring burden. The 6-4 forward scored four goals in the first five games and found the back of the net in 14 games over the course of the season with a four-game goal scoring streak midseason. He steadily remained ahead of Romario for most of the season, extending his lead to five goals with five games remaining in the season.

That's when the veteran Romario took over and made the charge to close the gap and eventually tie the rookie. He torched Atlanta for four goals, including a hat-trick, in a weekend away-home series to pull within one goal and one point in the two categories. Then a header in the first of two games in Puerto Rico in the final weekend put the pair level in goals and Romario ahead by one point.

The following night Weaver registered an assist to share both titles. The two finished ahead of Puerto Rico's Alen Marcina (13 goals, 26 points) and Vancouver's Joey Gjertsen (12 goals, 31 points).

Assist Leader - Zinho (Miami FC)

Romario's efforts were assisted in part by Zinho, who finished as the Assist Leader on the season to take the league honor for helpers with 10 on the season. He finished three ahead of Toronto's Jamie Dodds, who made a late charge, and Vancouver's Joey Gjertsen, who looked early on to be a contender for the goal scoring championship. The two helped guide the first-year club to the league's best goal total with 47 on the year, five more than Seattle.

Goalkeeper of the Year - Greg Sutton (Montreal Impact)

It was the same old story on the other end of the pitch with Montreal's Greg Sutton earning the Goalkeeper of the Year honor with the lowest goals against average (0.500) for the fourth straight season behind a stellar defensive back line that also helped guide back-up Andrew Weber to second in the same category at 0.571 as both finished above the minimum 1,000 minute plateau for eligibility. The 2004 league MVP opened the season with five shutouts in the first six games before missing the middle part of the campaign due to a broken finger. Weber posted seven shutouts in his absence with Sutton returning to notch a fourth straight clean sheet in his return and posting three straight to close the season.

Rochester's Scott Vallow finished third in GAA, but led the league in shutouts (14), wins (13) and minutes (2,520), concluding the season as the only goalkeeper in the league to play every minute. Atlanta defender Matt Bobo was the only other player to not miss a minute in 2006.

The All-League First and Second Team selections will be announced Wednesday, September 13. The finalists for Defender, Rookie, Coach of the Year and Most Valuable Player awards will be announced Tuesday, September 19 with the winners announced at the championship banquet prior to the USL First Division Championship Saturday, September 30.

The Silverbacks season was highlighted by the opening of Re/Max Greater Atlanta Stadium on June 3. The opening could not have come at a better time with the USL First Division side struggling through their first five on the road with a 0-3-2 mark. They picked up a victory, 3-2 over rival Charleston, in the debut of the stadium and went on to finish the year 7-4-3 at home going 6-0-2 before suffering their first defeat on home soil. Their midseason form surrounding a heavy concentration of home fixtures put them in a play-off race that went down to the last day of the season, coming up just short with a mark of 10-13-5 on the year.

The return of standout goalkeeper Dusty Hudock from Rochester and the addition of Gavin Glinton, who had taken a year away from the game, were among the key factors behind Charleston's return to the postseason for the first time since winning the championship in 2003. The Battery finished third in the league with a mark of 13-8-7 on the year gaining momentum throughout the course of the second half of the campaign, going 8-3-3 and finishing on a five-game unbeaten run at 3-0-2.

The expansion side took the headlines from the beginning with the signings of several international star players which included 1994 Brazilian World Cup champions Romario and Zinho. The pair helped lead the club to the playoffs in their first year in the league with a record of 11-11-6 to finish fifth. The first-year squad survived a rough stretch in the middle of the campaign before finishing out with a run of 5-2-1 as they chased a spot in the playoffs.

In the first year under new head coach Amos Magee following the retirement of USL Hall of Famer Buzz Lagos, the Thunder struggled in a league that had seen the bottom teams improve dramatically. Although Minnesota finished last in the table, they were in the playoff hunt with a couple weeks remaining and, with a mark of 7-15-6, only finished with three fewer wins than the final playoff squad.

The Impact's stellar defense posted another outstanding year, finishing with 15 goals allowed for a third straight season while winning their second straight regular season championship. After suffering a loss in their third match, the Impact went on a 8-0-4 run to move well ahead in the table and held on through the final weeks as Rochester made a push for the Commissioner's Cup. The Impact finished the year with three consecutive shutout performances.

Under first-year Head Coach and General Manager Chris Agnello, who took the Utah Blitz to two USL Second Division titles, the Timbers began a rebuilding process that opened with a modest 5-4-5 record before struggling to finish out the second half of the season with a mix of young and veteran players. The squad finished 11th in the table with a mark of 7-15-6, just three fewer wins than the final playoff team.

The Islanders advanced to the playoffs for the first time in their brief three-year history despite losing two of their top scorers from a year ago, capitalizing on a fantastic 8-3-3 home record compared to a 2-7-5 mark on the road. A run of six straight on the road led to stretch of 0-4-3 through August, but the Islanders rebounded to close the season on a positive three-game unbeaten run, posting a draw and win over playoff bound Miami.

Despite the prospect of opening the season with seven straight on the road, the club was more than willing to sacrifice for the opening of the long-awaited PAETEC Park. That day came on June 3rd in a 2-2 draw. The sacrifice proved minimal with the team running off five straight wins to open the year to bring a mark of 5-0-2 home with them. The home draw was one of six straight ties for the team as they kept pace with the Impact at the top of the table, going 5-0-6 before suffering their first defeat, which came in Montreal. The Rhinos finished just as strong with a 3-0-4 run for a final record of 13-4-11 for a playoff bye to the semifinals.

The defending champions had plenty of hurdles to overcome before the season really even got underway with the loss of standout goalkeeper Preston Burpo and forward Brent Whitfield to Chivas USA of MLS and USL First Division Defender of the Year Taylor Graham to the New York Red Bulls. Then, in a friendly against Chivas USA, Cuban international Maykel Galindo went down to injury in a collision with Burpo. During the several month absence to injury rookie Cam Weaver emerged from nowhere to shoulder the team and despite missing the playoff cut on the final day of the season finished with an honor very few can claim, tying World Cup MVP Romario in scoring for the year.

Despite a positive preseason outlook for the Lynx, it looked as though it was going to be the worst campaign in the club's history as they opened with a 0-9-2 mark. Despite never giving up more than two goals in a game, it seemed the Lynx's inability to find the back of the net was the difference, but once the first victory came on July 5th, the floodgates opened. The club finished the final 17 on an unbelievable 8-3-6 run that included a 3-0-4 stretch to end the year. The Lynx finished with the third-best point total in the second half of the season and were just six points shy of the playoff cut.

The Whitecaps opened the year on a 3-0-3 run before suffering their loss and then promptly returned to their successful ways with a 1-0-4 stretch to open the year 4-1-7. Led by Joey Gjertsen, who scored regularly to open the year, the club dipped a bit midseason before peaking again behind Gertsen down the stretch in the playoff chase with their best run of the year at 5-1-2 over their last eight. The injury bug bit the squad early on with Eduardo Sebrango returning to the squad late in the year to help spark the team heading toward the playoffs.

In their first campaign under new coach Jay Hoffman, the Mariners opened well with a run of 3-1-4. But, as was the case throughout the league, parity proved too much for a rebuilding Mariners squad as they slipped down the table throughout the remainder of the season. The side finished the year ninth with a mark of 8-12-8 for the season.
