NYRB II HISTORY

NEW YORK RED BULLS II

NEW YORK RED BULLS II is the New York Red Bulls MLS Next Pro affiliate, which was founded on January 21, 2015. This step in the development pyramid of the New York Red Bulls has allowed academy players, USL players, draft picks, and other MLS loaned players to play competitive and professional games in working to earn a spot for the First Team.

NYRB II has found a lot of success in the seven seasons since its inception and have had some special moments. On July 22, 2015, the NYRB II hosted English Premier League champions Chelsea FC in the 2015 International Champions Cup, where NYRB II won, 4-2.

The club has made it to the postseason in five of the seven seasons, which includes their playoff run to the USL Championship Final in 2016. NYRB II defeated Swope Park Rangers, 5-1, in the final and won the USL regular-season title and the USL Cup in the same year.

Since 2015, NYRB II has sent numerous amounts of players to the First Team. That list includes first-ever NYRB II signing Tyler Adams, 2016 USL Defender of the Year Aaron Long, and 2019 USL All-League selection Jared Stroud.

This will be New York Red Bulls II first season in MLS Next Pro after exiting the USL

RED BULLS ACADEMY

RED BULLS ACADEMY is an integral part of the club's player development pathway with the mission of identifying, attracting, and developing players for the professional ranks. Recognized as the nation's leading Academy system, this fully funded program has a proven track record for producing home-grown players.

The Academy has implemented new initiatives to improve the system such as an homestay program and new education initiatives. The Homestay Program provides an opportunity for talented Academy players to reside with a host family in close proximity to where the teams train, which is Red Bulls Training Facility.

The Academy has teams from the U-12 to the U-17 age group and they participate in MLS Next, while also competing in tournaments that have the players competing against top international competition.

Red Bulls Academy has produced 30 homegrown players for the First Team, including Red Bull Leipzig midfielder and United States Men's National Team captain Tyler Adams.

In 2021, the Red Bulls Academy was the highlight of Bleacher Report's 'The Academy' series, which provided an in-depth, behind the scenes coverage of the next generation of soccer stars on and off the field as they compete to join the professional ranks.
