ABOUT NEW YORK RED BULLS II

NEW YORK RED BULLS II is a professional soccer team that will begin its nine season of competition in 2023, and its first in MLS NEXT Pro. The club resides in the league's Eastern Conference and plays its home matches at MSU Soccer Park in Montclair, New Jersey.

The club has amassed a record of 98-103-52 across all competitions over eight seasons in USL Championship. New York qualified for the postseason in each of its first five seasons, winning nine playoff matches as well as the 2016 USL Cup. During that postseason streak, the club reached the Eastern Conference Final three times and won at least one match in four of those seasons.

The 2016 season was the most historic for New York, as it won a club-record 25 matches between the regular and postseason. The club had a +38 goal differential and had a clean sheet in almost half of its matches. It also led the league in goals as well as fewest goals conceded. New York was the best club during the regular season with 69 points, and won four-straight matches in the postseason for its first-ever USL Cup.

New York has seen a number of its players go on to sign MLS contracts with the New York Red Bulls, including Tyler Adams, Aaron Long, and Florian Valot. Over the past two seasons, the club has seen seven players sign first team contracts.

The club also serves as a platform for Red Bulls Academy players to gain their first professional experience. Notable Academy players to come through the club include Derrick Etienne Jr., Ben Mines, John Tolkin, and Serge Ngoma.

RED BULLS TRAINING FACILITY

RED BULLS TRAINING FACILITY first acquired in 2013 is home to the New York Red Bulls first team, New York Red Bulls II, Red Bulls Academy teams, and hosts training sessions for NY/NJ Gotham FC. The facility has hosted various international teams' and other club teams' training sessions including United States National Team, Mexico National Team, Argentina, Serbia, Greece, and Inter Milan.

In 2018, RBTF expanded to have its own Academy building, which houses Red Bulls Academy U-12 to U-17 teams. The facilities available to our academy players include four team locker rooms, a multipurpose weight/cardio room, treatment room, Audi Lounge, and their own professional grass field. The Academy field was awarded the 2020 Professional Soccer Field of the Year by Sports Turf Management Association.

On October 21, 2021, the Red Bulls announced plans that they will build a new privately funded Training Complex in Morris Township, NJ, which is expected to be complete by 2024. The complex will be located on the former Honeywell site off of Columbia Road. The 80-acres of land will feature eight full-size outdoor soccer pitches and house the team's front office staff. The complex will also be the home for New York Red Bulls Academy and Youth Training programs, North America's leading youth soccer development system.

MSU SOCCER PARK

MSU SOCCER PARK opened in 1998, serving as the home for Montclair State University's men's and women's soccer teams. The venue was the training site for the New York Red Bulls from 2007-2013.

While the Red Bulls trained at Montclair, a new turf surface replaced the grass surface that it had in 2009. Three years later, lights were installed to allow for night matches to be played at the venue.

In 2017, it was named the home venue for New York Red Bulls II. To facilitate the move, seating capacity was expanded to 3,000 in 2017, and eventually expanded to the current capacity of 5,000. New locker rooms were also built next to the playing field.

New York Red Bulls II holds a 36-32-12 all-time record at MSU Soccer Park.

MLS NEXT PRO

MLS NEXT PRO will be a new journey for New York Red Bulls II, with 2023 being the club's first season in the young league. New York is one of seven MLS-affiliated clubs to join the league for the 2023 season, including; Atlanta United, Austin FC, Charlotte FC, LA Galaxy, LAFC, and Nashville SC.

In the introductory season of MLS NEXT Pro for New York Red Bulls II, the schedule is solely focused on conference play (See Conference Table Below). All 28 of the scheduled matches will be against Eastern Conference opponents, with there being a home and away match against each of the twelve other teams and a third match against Philadelphia Union II, NYCFC II, New England Revolution II, and Crown Legacy FC.

New York Red Bulls II (2015-22)

Assistant Coach

Interim Head Coach

Head Coach

Ibrahim Sekagya was named the third Head Coach in New York Red Bulls II history on February 6, 2023.

Sekagya has been part of the Red Bull family since 2007. As a player for Red Bull Salzburg, he helped win three Austrian Football Bundesliga titles over a four-year span from 2008-12. He also was part of the team that won the 2012 Austrian Cup.

He joined the New York Red Bulls in July of 2013 and spent two seasons with the club. Sekagya was part of the 2013 Red Bulls team that clinched the club's first-ever MLS Supporters' Shield.

Following his retirement in February of 2015, Sekagya was named an Assistant Coach for New York Red Bulls II, which began its first season of play in USL that same year. On July 2, 2022, he was named the Interim Head Coach of the club after serving as an assistant for eight seasons.

With Sekagya on the staff, Red Bulls II has seen 21 players go on to sign MLS contracts with the New York Red Bulls. Two, Tyler Adams and Aaron Long, were part of the United States Men's National Team for the 2022 FIFA World Cup.

He has also spent time assisting in first team training sessions and continues to work with players on the team.

Sekagya's professional playing career began with Kampala Capital City Authority Football Club in Uganda, and he later moved to Argentina, where he logged 196 appearances for three clubs. His last two seasons in Argentina were spent with Arsenal Futbol Club in the Primera Division, the top level of competition in the country.

On the international level, Sekagya served as the captain of the Ugandan National Team. He participated in a number of competitions for Uganda, including World Cup Qualification and qualification for the Africa Cup of Nations.

ASSISTANT COACHES

Daniel Gutierrez will enter his first season as an assistant coach with the New York Red Bulls II in 2023.

Gutierrez has been with the New York Red Bulls organization for over three years, serving as an Academy Head Coach for U-12 and U-13. In July of last year, he was called up by Head Coach Ibrahim Sekagya to serve as an assistant for Red Bulls II. Daniel has a long experience of developing young talent throughout the country, making stops in Atlanta and Florida before ending up in New York.

Jeremy Proud will enter his second season as the goalkeeper coach with New York Red Bulls II in 2022.

Prior to coming on the staff in 2021, Proud spent two years as the Goalkeeper Coach for Red Bulls Academy. He spent 14 years coaching at the Men's NCAA Division One Level, including stops at University of Akron, University of Louisville, Loyola University of Chicago, and SIUE.

He played at Fresno State University, where he left the school as the all-time saves leader and earned All-Pac 10 honors his senior year in 2022.

REACHING THE NEXT LEVEL

Since its creation in 2015, New York Red Bulls II has helped develop many players in the New York Red Bulls system, with many players moving on to sign MLS contracts with the first team.

Some of the most notable names include Tyler Adams, Aaron Long, and Florian Valot. Adams made 59 appearances for the New York Red Bulls from 2016 to 2019 before joining RB Leipzig. Long has appeared in 140 matches with the first team since 2017. Both have also featured on the United States Men's National Team.

The 2022 New York Red Bulls II roster saw four players go on to sign MLS contracts (Steven Sserwadda, Hassan Ndam, and Curtis Ofori).

In total, 21 players have signed MLS contracts with the Red Bulls after playing for Red Bulls II. Seven of them currently reside on the first team's roster.

RED BULLS ACADEMY

Red Bulls Academy is a cost-free program that aspires to develop the best talent in the Tri-State area.

The program provides a professional training environment staffed by elite-level coaches. It is based at the Red Bulls Training Facility, which is also used by both the MLS and USL teams.

Every season, several Red Bulls Academy players get their first professional experience with New York Red Bulls II. Many have gone on to have major roles within the team and eventually work their way towards a MLS contract with the New York Red Bulls.

In 2021, the relationship grew to new heights, as 11 players saw time with NYRB II, totaling 5,681 minutes, seven goals, and three assists. Austin Brummett set a new club record for Academy players with 24 appearances.

The 2022 season saw a major individual milestone, as Sam Williams set the new all-time record for an Academy player in club history with 37 matches and 2,078 minutes for his career.

After setting a club record 5,681 minutes for Academy players in 2021, Red Bulls II saw a lot of new milestones for Academy players in 2022.

Three of the five youngest players in club history made their professional debuts (Nathan Worth, Davi Alexandre, and Alan Rutkowski).

Worth became the youngest player to start a match in club history, and Rutkowski became the youngest goalkeeper in club history.

Sam Williams set the new all-time career record for Academy minutes with 2,078, as well as the only Academy player to eclipse 2,000 minutes.
